

Pair charged in rash of Cass City, Kingston larcenies

Two men were arraigned in Tuscola County District Court Monday on a total of nine warrants involving a rash of area breaking and enterings and larcenies, including the theft of several pieces of electronic equipment from the Cass City Gamble Store.

Alan Jeffery Dandron, 18, of Kingston, and Mike Walker, Caro, were both charged with breaking and entering and larceny at the Gamble Store in Cass City Monday, Dec. 2.

The pair were also charged in connection with breaking and enterings and larcenies of Zorn's Food Store in Mayville where a quantity of meat and cash were taken, the Mayville Legion Hall, and the Wilmot Home and Building Center.

In addition, Walker was charged with a breaking and entering at the Union 76 gas station in Kingston.

Preliminary examination for the pair was set Tuesday, Dec. 17, at 11 a.m.

Walker's wife, Margo, was also charged with concealing property stolen from Zorn's, including meat, candy and a quantity of cash. Her preliminary exam was also set for Dec. 17.

Authorities believe the arrests will put an end to a wave of breaking and enterings in the Cass City-Kingston-Mayville area.

The arrest of Dandron came late last week when Cass City Police Chief Gene Wilson spotted a suspicious vehicle in Cass City and found one of the tape players stolen from the Gamble Store.

A stakeout of the car by police and Tuscola County Sheriff's officers, including Detective Ronald Phillips, led to Dandron's capture.

Subsequent investigation also led to Walker's arrest the following day. Police seized a large quantity of stolen merchandise.

Bond was set at $3,000 on each count and had not been posted Tuesday. Mrs. Walker was released on personal recognizance.

ASSAULT

A rural Cass City man was reported in serious condition Tuesday following what police describe as a beating he suffered early Monday night just outside Jack's Bar in Cass City.

Dennis Hurley was reportedly assaulted as he attempted to leave the bar by a rear entrance. He told police two men jumped at him from the darkened alley.

Police Chief Gene Wilson said officers were summoned to the scene but by the time they arrived, the assailants had fled.

Hurley was taken to Hills and Dales General Hospital where he was treated for multiple head injuries, Wilson said.

Police have no suspects and their investigation of the incident continues.

KINGSTON AREA LARCENIES

The Kingston area suffered under a rash of larcenies last week. One larceny was at the Edward Schultz residence on Rossman Road, Kingston.

Three suspects are under investigation but no arrests were reported Wednesday morning, Caro State Police said.

Police said a color television set, a rifle, furniture and $300 in cash were taken from the home.

Stereo tape deck equipment valued at $291 was reported stolen from a pickup truck belonging to Dean Clinesmith of Kingston Saturday.

Sheriff's officers said the truck was not locked and the equipment was removed relatively easily. Police have no suspects.

Carl Van Horn of Mushroom Road, Deford, reported the larceny of a Christmas tree from a sale lot Thursday. The tree was valued at $5 and Sheriff's deputies investigated.

Caro State Police arrested two men on charges of breaking and entering and possession of stolen property Friday in connection with the theft of property from a home owned by Donald Bass of Kingston and located at 4480 S. Kingston Rd.

Police said the suspects allegedly entered the house by breaking a lock off a rear door.

Arrested were John Charles Albert, 30, of Sterling Heights, and Randy Robert Benoit, 19, of Roseville.

CASS CITY Police Chief Gene Wilson examines an assortment of speakers and tape decks stolen from the Gamble Store early last week. The equipment was recovered Thursday after Wilson spotted one of the stolen tape decks in a parked car.

DR. AND MRS. Efrén Dizon, husband and wife pediatrician team, are welcomed to Cass City by B.A. Calka, member of the Hills and Dales Hospital Board. Dr. Dizon will begin his practice in Cass City in early January, with his wife joining him in June.

Natives of Philippines

Newest Cass City doctors keep practice in family

By Jim Ketchum

When Dr. and Mrs. Efrén Dizon decided to marry around nine years ago, they ended up not only marrying each other—they married each other's medical practice as well.

Both are pediatricians who will begin their medical practice in Cass City around Jan. 1, and will work from the same office. They are the first known husband-wife team to practice in this area and will be the only pediatricians in the entire Thumb region.

Their office will be located in the recently-completed clinic which also houses the offices of Dr. Yongkyun Kim and Dr. J.Y. Lee.

The Drs. Dizon are natives of the Philippines and are both graduates of the University of Santo Tomas in Manila. On a short visit to Cass City one day last week, they recalled that both had completed their education in the school without having met.

"It was a very strict Catholic school," Dr. Dizon recalled, smiling broadly, "so we were kept completely apart. The men and women used separate elevators, separate front doors; everything was separated. Yet I knew most of the girls in her class and she knew most of the boys in mine."

The two future pediatricians eventually met at a travel agency that was making final preparations for their flight to the United States where they were destined to take their internships at the same hospital in Summit, New Jersey.

Once they met, however, things moved swiftly, and they married the next year.

After their internships, they completed residencies in pediatrics at Marlboro Medical Center of the New Jersey College of Medicine and Children's Hospital of Newark.

Presently, their office is located in Trenton.

So far, both agree their professional lives have meshed well with their personal lives.

"He doesn't feel I'm a threat to him," Mrs. Dizon, the former Perla Espino, laughed. "We definitely aren't married to the office."

Both agree that one reason they've been a successful husband-wife physician team is that they leave their professional problems at the office at the end of the day and concentrate on the outside world at home.

"I think we complement each other very well," she said.

CAME FOR TRAINING

The Drs. Dizon said they came to the United States for a more complete medical education.

"We came to the U.S. because it was our mother country, much as England is the mother country of the United States," Dr. Dizon said. "The culture here is not much different than you find in Manila. Manila is just another large city and very much like American cities."

They have two sons, John, 8, and Jason, 18 months old.

Dr. Dizon indicated he plans to begin the practice alone in January. His wife

Balky pipe cuts Kingston water

It was water, water everywhere, except for about half the residents of Kingston Monday as a four-inch water main along River Street on the north edge of town broke twice over the week end, cutting water supply for most of the time to about 200 residents.

The trouble was isolated north of M-46 and kept village residents high and dry until well after 5 p.m. Monday.

The problem began Friday when a break occurred in the line and was temporarily repaired. A more serious break occurred around 10 p.m. Sunday, cutting off water during the night.

Another temporary patch job allowed water to be turned on for two hours Monday morning before be-

History has a way of repeating itself and no where is it more evident than in the regular meetings of the Cass City Board of Education.

Over the years almost certain to be topics at least once or more during every school year are school athletics and the hot lunch program.

Monday was the night for both to surface again. . . and as usual there were no cut and dried answers.

The athletic program was reviewed because of a couple of complaints about players not seeing enough action at the grade level.

One complaint concerned the sixth grade. Trustee Dean Hoag said that it would be hard to evaluate the program so soon because the team has had only two practices.

Supt. Donald Crouse said that basically the question boils down to playing intramural or inter-school competition.

When the action is inter-school, Crouse feels, the teams will always play to win. Intramural leagues allow anyone, regardless of talent to play.

The board did not get into a detailed discussion of the program but it is likely that the program will be re-evaluated before the start of the next basketball season.

The hot lunch program was reviewed because Supt. Crouse asked that $5,000 be transferred to it from the general fund.

That kicked off the old question of how to make the program pay for itself. Crouse said that increased cost of food and slowness of the payment from Federal sources made it necessary to have the money to pay the bills.

He said that the books show so far this year the program is in the black. Trustee Lynn Albee then asked why the money could not be transferred back to the general fund when payments are received.

Crouse said that historically any money put in the program remains in and is used for increased costs of supply on hand or by inflation that pushes the hot lunch program into the red.

Another casualty of inflation is chocolate milk at the school. The cost of chocolate milk has increased so rapidly that the school loses money on each sale. About five times as much chocolate milk is sold but the cost is now 10.6 and rising. White milk has remained at 9.5 per half-pint. Rather than charge 11 cents per serving of chocolate milk the board decided to phase it out of the program. It is expected to be gone following the Christmas holidays.

SEEK FUNDS

Ron Sullins, Career Education Planning District (CEPD) co-ordinator, appeared before the board to ask support for a one-mill tax for operation for the Intermediate School District to widen the CEPD program.

He told trustees that the ideal solution would be a skill center building costing about 2 1/2 to 3 mills, but that he wasn't seeking this support immediately.

Sullins sees the need for a machine shop and retailing courses in the district.

No action on either request was made by the board but the consensus appeared to be that now was a poor time to be thinking of adding to the school taxes.

OTHER BUSINESS

On the recommendation of the superintendent, the board okayed the addition of a third special education teacher for the second semester.

Crouse said that the student population in special ed was becoming too large for the two teachers. The third teacher will equal out the load and allow the three teachers time to deal with special problems as they occur.

Special education teachers salaries are three-quarters funded by the State.

The board refused to authorize a request for $1,000 to set up a legal fund for the Michigan Association of School Boards.

Finally, a resolution was adopted to protect the privacy of students' records as required by a recently enacted law.

Cass City school board eyes athletic program, hot lunch costs

Field lights will glow again, Owen-Gage board promises

The athletic field lights will glow for night football games next year at Owen-Gage High School if the Board of Education carries out a pledge made at its regularly scheduled meeting Monday night in Owendale.

The board gave Athletic Director James Barr the nod to schedule night home football games next year. Implied in that approval was that the lights would be ready.

Board member Eldon Dietzel said fixing the lights should be a top priority and the work should be done whether or not the board is certain about financing.

"I think we should fix the lights first and then fight for the funds," Dietzel said. "I think it should be done as soon as possible because if it isn't, the summer athletic program is in jeopardy as well."

Again, financing the project is the major stumbling block. Three solutions were suggested, none of which found unanimous board support.

One would float the $12,166 project out of the general fund. A second suggestion would pay the bill by levying an additional mill. Trustee Fred Cooley said this would take the burden off the general fund, but was unsure when the additional millage could be voted on.

A third suggestion, put forth by board President Ronald Good would finance the project through fund equity built up over recent years. The only drawback here is that the school's financial cushion would be all but wiped out.

No decision was reached, other than a commitment by the board to fix the lights. Trustees instructed Supt.

I WILL BE at the Plinney State Bank Friday, Dec. 13, to collect taxes. Elkland Township treasurer. 12-5-4

Glenn Sanford to get another estimate on the job before final action is taken.

ATHLETIC PROGRAM

Anton Peters, Owendale, came before the board to suggest a complete review of the school's athletic program in general and of the girl's athletic program in particular.

Peters was upset over how the girl's basketball program was handled this season. Specifically, he said, in his opinion, players did not benefit from the program as much as they could.

Athletic Director James Barr said the newly-created athletic council, made up of both coaching and non-coaching faculty, would check into the situation.

He said the council would investigate and make recommendations to the school board on how to improve the program.

Barr defended the girls' program by explaining that one person is presently responsible for five girl's sports, while there are five coaches for boys' sports.

"Perhaps we should consider hiring an assistant for girl's sports programs," Barr said.

The board remained non-committal, other than to say the situation would be reviewed. Some trustees expressed concern over press coverage of the situation and emphasized they were not conducting a vendetta against any one person.

Supt. Sanford also defended the program, saying an assistant in the program is almost a certainty. He said the program demands too much from one person as presently structured.

OTHER BUSINESS

The board spent considerable time discussing special education needs in the district. Elementary Principal Bill Britt told the board a

Trinity sponsors missionaries

Members of Trinity United Methodist Church realized a long-sought goal this week when it was announced that the church will sponsor a husband and wife missionary team next year.

The couple, Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Vreeland, who have served in India, will serve at the Red Bird Mission in Beverly, Ky.

The announcement was made Sunday during worship services by Rev. E.D.K. Isaacs.

The Vreelands will serve as missionaries of Trinity and will make regular reports to the congregation.

Born and raised in Michigan, both Mr. and Mrs. Vreeland attended Michigan State University, where Mrs. Vreeland took her bachelor of arts degree in elementary education.

Vreeland will serve as business administrator of the Red Bird Mission.

The mission was organized in 1921 and provides programs in education, medicine, resource development and the church to residents of the area.

The complex also includes a 21-bed hospital served by three doctors and 11 nurses.

Trinity had originally set a goal of June, 1975 as the date for beginning the sponsorship.

Funds received in the church's Christmas offering will go toward support of the Vreelands. The couple will officially assume their duties in Kentucky in July.

"If It Fitz . . ."

Fingered by the Pentagon

BY JIM FITZGERALD

A couple of years ago, in New York, I left a dinner early to avoid hearing a speech by the nation's top military officer. Thus I probably blew my chance to learn inside information on why Negro soldiers tap-danced before dying in Vietnam.

The current chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff is General George Brown. In a recent speech to Duke University law students, he explained the trouble in the mid-east. The trouble, he said, is that rich Jews own all the banks and newspapers in the United States.

Gen. Brown probably felt safe parading his prejudices before a bunch of future lawyers. After all, lawyers were responsible for a famous break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. Everyone knows Ellsberg exposed the Pentagon Papers simply so he could play the big shot at neighborhood bar mitzvahs.

But one of those Duke law students must have been a guy named Green with a nose job. Gen. Brown's speech became worldwide news, exposing him for what he really is — a typical high-ranking officer in the U.S. Military.

President Ford reprimanded Gen. Brown, threatening him with the loss of a valet if he doesn't confine his future philosophizing to restroom walls.

The Senate Armed Services Committee voted 11 to 4 against questioning Gen. Brown about his Duke remarks. Questioning generals is risky. The world might learn the U.S. bombed Cambodia because it is full of slant-eyed gooks.

Gen. Brown accepted amnesty gracefully. He apologized, admitting his remarks were "unfortunate and inaccurate." He said he will no longer make speeches on subjects he knows nothing about and from now on will devote his full time to military duties. And one of his top military priorities is the bombing of the Duke law school.

A lot of naive people expressed shock that a bigot is chairman of the joint chiefs. This is because most people do not understand the function of the joint chiefs. You probably think their primary job is running the Navy, Army, Marine Corps and Air Force. You're wrong.

The primary function of the joint chiefs is the protection and preservation of the Haldeman Haircut, pretrial. Every West Point graduate knows a short haircut is the bumper sticker of a true American. Hairy people are automatically furtive. It is much easier to find a communist in a bush if he is bald.

The test is that no lock of a man's hair should be longer than the 1st joint of his middle finger. It is up to General Brown and the other chiefs to administer the joint test and to enforce necessary penalties.

So naturally they are called the joint chiefs.

Men charged with this tremendous responsibility can hardly be expected to have time for the niceties of civilization. They leave it to the pinko bleeding hearts to keep the Negroes in the front of the bus and the Jews out of the gas ovens. The joint chiefs have more important things to do. They are ever-vigilant, protecting their nation from the longhair menace, night and day.

As General Brown might explain: "I can never lock up the joint and go home."

Walbro declares

9 cent dividend

At its regular meeting Dec. 2, the Board of Directors of Walbro Corporation declared a regular semi-annual dividend of 9 cents per share, plus a special year-end dividend of 2 cents per share, on the 766,820 shares of Walbro common stock outstanding.

This semi-annual dividend of 11 cents per share compares with a similar dividend of 10 cents per share in 1973.

It is payable Jan. 24, 1975, to shareholders of record Dec. 27, 1974.

Total dividends for 1974 will be 20 cents per share of common stock, compared to 18 cents in 1973.

Net sales for 1974 are expected to be about 15 per cent ahead of 1973 ($13,281,360); and 1974 net earnings, while not yet computed, are also expected to be up slightly over last year's $830,727 or $1.08 per share.

Ten lucky persons got an added Christmas shopping boost Saturday when their names were drawn to receive 20 Christmas dollars to be redeemed at participating Chamber of Commerce businesses in Cass City.

Six Cass Cityans, two persons from Caro and a Decker and Marlette resident were winners in the drawing held in front of the Cass Theatre, conducted by Dick Hendrick and Keith McConkey.

Winners included Ervin F. Thompson, Jan Finkbeiner, Louise Buehrly, Linda Euard, Mary Miller and Alvin Hutchinson, all of Cass City; M.J. Seifert and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Strickland, both of Caro; James Gretz of Decker and Allan Shaw of Marlette.

Two more drawings are scheduled, Dec. 14 and 21. The Chamber plans to give away a total of 600 Christmas dollars. Each Christmas dollar is worth one dollar in merchandise or service when redeemed at a participating store.

All Christmas dollars must be redeemed by Dec. 31.

Missionary to speak at Deford

Miss Treasure Berens, missionary to Mexico with World Gospel Mission, will speak at Deford United Methodist Church Sunday, Dec. 15, at 9:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Miss Berens, a native of Michigan, is a graduate of Bethel College, Mishawaka, Ind. She has worked in Mexico since 1967.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

The show must go on. Yeah, it must. It must because the cast of characters won't let it die. Probably I should have said the characters won't let it die. Just in the interest of accurate reporting, you understand.

I said cast, because the way the nomination for vice-president of Nelson Rockefeller is going has to remind you of either a three-ring circus or a two-act comedy. But a title on it and make a million. (Join Rocky.)

"Can a billionaire find happiness in government?"; or "How much money does Rocky have, anyway"; or "Is the vice-presidency really worth it?"

The regulars on the show are "on" whenever there is a possible opportunity to genuflect before the camera. It reminds you of those football fans in the stands at football games who wave and perform for the folks back home whenever the magic eye scans their way.

The politicians scramble for star billing and prime time exposure like the starlet waiting her big moment on the stages at Las Vegas.

And our nomination show has a format just like those that have become classic on the entertainment stage.

Professional shows almost invariably open extolling the virtues of Sally Shapley while the orchestra comes up with a fanfare to put the audience in the proper frame of mind.

Our political show starts when the chairman raps his gavel and one of the actors says, "Mr. Rockefeller, let's go back a minute to those gifts. (That's trip 1001.) In 1969, did you or any of your relatives give to Joe Doakes a silver-lined spoon so he could stir his coffee?"

That's the plot and the dialogue for the whole show. Act I plays in the Senate and Act II plays in the House. It's drama, man. But that's not all. Our show has comic relief, too.

You'll find it sprinkled through the whole show. It's called special interest questioning.

The Blacks, the left wings, the right wings and even the anti-abortionists get a piece of the action.

It's hard to understand what makes all this questioning relevant. Let's assume that Rockefeller is a (lawful) racist and his social legislation repugnant to the entire spectrum of minorities and-or special interest groups.

So what? Certainly, it's pertinent to find out, if possible, if Rocky is morally and legally an honest man. Given the intensive background investigations conducted, about a day should take care of it.

The way these hearings are going, it's like summer television. . . you're seeing again and again what wasn't too darn good or interesting in the first place.

But using time to show that Rockefeller is against abortion is not pertinent. His political conservatism or liberalism isn't an issue either.

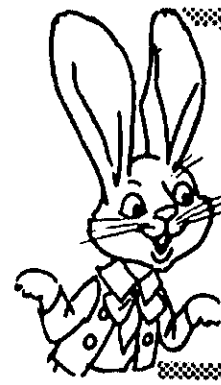

He's the man selected by the president and the advise and consent of the legislature should be granted and granted as swiftly as possible.

That's the only course that makes any sense. (That's probably the reason it dragged on and on.)

Take heart, it should be over shortly now. Because this show is dying at the box office and the actors will be looking for another showcase for their talents.

Maybe they could visit that Wilbur Mills hang-out and come up with a whole line of chorus girls. It might be more fun for them and certainly it would be more fun for us.

And make just as much sense.

A thank you letter these days is common enough, but 20 thank you letters has to be a little unusual. Especially since they came from 20 kids that Harold Isard, personnel manager at Walbro, has never met. Now that's charisma for you.

The letters came from a class taught by Nancy Licht, Elkton, who helped her way through school with four summers at Walbro.

They were written because Ms. Licht conned Harold out of some real live carburetors for instructional purposes. Ms. Licht writes that the kids were a little upset because a girl had to show them how to reassemble them, but after learning of her work experience they were "more than willing to accept my assistance".

Okay, match this if you can. Fred Jaus dropped in to renew his Chronicle the other day and reported that he has taken the Chronicle as long as anybody.

That's a safe boast, too. Because Fred received issue number one and has been subscribing ever since. Not only that, the 93-year-old youngster reports that he also subscribed to the "Enterprise", the paper that preceded the Chronicle in Cass City.

I can't report what Mr. Jaus does while reading, but I can say that I've never seen him wear a pair of glasses on the street.

It's nice to be able to report that the word is that Dick deBeaubien is recovering nicely after major heart surgery in Grand Rapids recently.

deBeaubien is a fairly recent arrival to town, but he's one of those kind of guys that everybody likes almost instantly.

I'd imagine that this semi-retired lumber salesman is more well-known already than many who have spent a decade in the village.

All right, all you cooks. Let's hear it. Your favorite recipe for the holidays. The Chronicle would like to pass along a few for the benefit of the readers.

We're making this pitch primarily to the ladies, but in this day of equal opportunity we would really welcome something from the man in the house who dreams up something special for the family.

According to the annual report the company lost $1.5 million in its operations in the year ending last July. In Cass City the occupancy rate was 78 per cent, the lowest among four new units.

Rep. Armbruster criticizes operations at Thumb Treatment Assistance Center

Operations at the Thumb Treatment Assistance Center in Caro have come under criticism again, this time from a state legislator.

In a letter released this week, State Rep. Loren S. Armbruster (R-Caro) told Thumb TAC Medical Superintendent Dr. Fulvio Ferrari that operations at the facility regarding admissions and patient releases should be reviewed.

Armbruster's letter came in response to a series of recommendations made by Ferrari on how to improve the effectiveness of Thumb TAC. Armbruster said the idea of increased medical attention for mentally disturbed persons and maintaining a "nearness to a home" operation, isn't working.

In the letter, Armbruster said, "I . . . stated that patients in my opinion should be retained in your facility until they have reached total normalcy without medication."

He said some patients have been released from the facility while still under the need of medication. Without supervision, he said, "that person then might very easily revert back to the condition which prevailed in causing that person to become your patient to begin with. This is the problem I've heard so much about. Apparently, it is existing."

Armbruster also touched on readmission policies at Thumb TAC which came under criticism during a July meeting between Ferrari, the County Board of Commissioners and the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department.

"And furthermore, I understand it is difficult to have a patient re-entered once cleared from your center unless normal court proceedings are followed for re-institutionalizing the patient," Armbruster said. "And this doesn't appear to work out as was again clearly demonstrated very recently."

Armbruster referred to a recent case in which an area man could not be re-admitted and eventually was institutionalized in Wayne county.

"I have received a number of calls and furthermore personal contacts have been made with people of the community who feel considerably endangered because of their wording 'too early a release from your center,'" Armbruster said.

Armbruster complimented Ferrari for efforts to set up a desirable and effective staff. "I compliment you for these efforts," the Caro legislator said. "Nevertheless, it appears to me that your goal should be to rehabilitate these people, but upon releasing them they should be totally free from endangering themselves as well as endangering anyone in the community."

"And furthermore, the patients should become active participants in community life without the thought hanging over the head of people of the community that there might be some danger involved with the presence and/or participation of people from the center who at times cause questionable reaction," Armbruster said.

Armbruster called Ferrari's plan for the center "sound, sensible and sane on paper and hopefully can be made acceptable and effective from a realistic point of view."

"However, the question arises whether or not the public is getting everything out of the dollars appropriated for this program and furthermore whether or not some changes might be made to enhance the value of the program," Armbruster said.

Armbruster criticized a state reorganization program put into effect within the last two years, saying it made Thumb TAC and other TAC agencies in the state less effective.

The problems involving TAC are not new. The confrontation last summer apparently produced pledges from Ferrari to work more closely with courts and law enforcement agencies on admissions.

At the time, Sheriff Hugh Marr complained that his department could not obtain admissions at Thumb TAC, even on a 48-hour emergency basis. Legally, the department could not hold such persons if they had violated no law.

A committee composed of Second District Commissioner Maynard McConkey, Cmmr. J. Benson Collon and Cmmr. Kenneth L. Kennedy was assigned to look into the situation at Thumb TAC and issue a report.

The committee apparently found no problems at the institution and the question remained unsettled.

New doctors keep practice in family will join him at the end of school in June and will take her place in the practice at that time. Until then, there will probably be a lot of commuting between Cass City and Trenton.

LIKE THE PEOPLE

Both doctors said their number one reason for deciding to come to Cass City was the friendliness of the people.

"These people are the friendliest I've ever met," he said. "I noticed it the first time I came last summer and I think it's genuine."

"They were also impressed by the medical complex existing in Cass City and both agree the hospital has great potential as a facility to serve the entire Thumb.

"I'm impressed with the community spirit here," Mrs. Dizon said. "It seems as though everybody takes a hand in everything."

Both will practice on a full-time basis, once Mrs. Dizon joins her husband in June. They will both see each patient and will act as a mini-group practice.

"I think it's a good way to practice," he said. "It gives us both a chance to call on the other's knowledge."

"There won't be a problem of office space in the clinic. Their suite will contain six rooms which will accommodate them.

They've had a chance to meet most of the other practicing physicians in Cass City and are beginning to feel at home. Both frankly admit making the move from populous New Jersey to the Thumb of Michigan didn't come without some deep thought.

"My family is back there, and so are many of our friends," Mrs. Dizon said. "But I'm sure we'll be very happy here."

The couple have not seen their homeland since they left 10 years ago, although relatives have visited over the years. One goal is to make a return trip.

But chances are that will wait while they build a practice in Cass City. Both seem anxious to begin.

Lights will glow, board says need exists in the district for a full-time special ed teacher in a classroom designed specifically for special ed students.

Rough estimates place the cost of setting up such a program at Owen-Gage at one additional mill in the beginning. Conceivably, Sanford said, once it was under way, the levy could be cut back to a third or quarter-mill.

He said rough figures place the cost of special education in the district to run around $200 per child more than the district would receive in state aid.

Sanford also reported on the recent property transfer hearing held in Lansing involving property petitioning to join the Laker School District. He told the board a final decision is not likely until April at the earliest.

Sanford said the board will probably receive tentative drawings on a new building by its January hearing. He said nothing more has been received from the state fire marshal regarding the future of the 1913 high school building.

Board okays extra sheriff's patrols in Millington area

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners approved a request from Sheriff Hugh Marr to hire two additional deputies and purchase another patrol car to concentrate in the Millington-Arbela township portion of the county.

The approval came during the board's regular Tuesday session.

Marr and Undersheriff Bruce Tait made the request in light of rising numbers of breaking and enterings and larcenies in and around Millington.

Marr estimated the cost of the extra manpower and equipment at between $25,000 and $30,000. Funding for the project will come from federal revenue sharing monies.

The sheriff said it was unclear when the added patrols would begin since the officers are yet to be hired. If certified personnel can be hired, Marr said, patrols could begin almost immediately.

If not, it could take up to two months before the extra enforcement can begin.

In other board business Tuesday, Commissioners agreed to purchase four new police cars from Bell-Greig in Caro. Total cost of the cars was set at $18,500 for four Pontiacs.

A total of nine bids from seven county dealerships were presented, including two from Cass City. The Bell-Greig bid was lowest of the nine. High bid was $20,150.

The board also submitted a counter-proposal to the Intermediate School district in negotiations for purchase of the district's building across from the courthouse.

The district placed a price tag on the structure of $245,000 plus 10 acres of county property at the edge of Caro. The board countered by offering to pay $225,000 plus the land, plus an option on another 30 acres for five years.

No decision is expected soon.

KETCHUM'S KNAPSACK

Things are tough

By Jim Ketchum

My friend and colleague, Dick Allen, writing in that other weekly county newspaper recently, asked what happened to all the eternal optimists? Why, asks the loquacious Allen, do we in this business spend our time dishing out doses of doom across our pages?

Well, Dick, I guess it's simply because things are tough all over. Take the go-go lounges in Detroit for instance. The economy has gotten so bad that at least 50 of them are going broke because 17 others continue to offer nude entertainment while they must conform to higher standards.

In fact, the city of Detroit has gone to bat for them in Wayne county circuit court, asking that those 17 slackers toe the mark and quit driving their counterparts to the unemployment lines.

In a UPI dispatch on the situation, one lounge owner is quoted as saying his business place offers bottomless dancing but denies it's lewd.

"This town wants to be a convention town," the owner said, "but it closes down the only fun around."

I'll wager the economy is largely responsible for this situation. Customers with less to spend demand more for their hard-earned dollars. And, they reason, why settle for the crumbs when you can have the whole cheesecake?

In former times, it didn't matter as much. But, if you go in for that kind of thing, which I must admit I don't, you have to stretch your pennies.

Just think, what would happen if all those go-go lounges had to lock up? For one thing, those girls would have to learn to keep their clothes on and get paid for it.

This could cause great psychological damage. And think of the customers? What could they do for kicks? Why, they'd be confined to such unexciting activities as taking long walks on sunlit afternoons, going to a ball game or the theatre or, if they were really brave, maybe even a Sunday or two at church.

But alas, the judge has ordered those 17 purveyors of sin and slut to cease and desist pending a full hearing next week.

It is generally accepted that Detroit is a "tank town", that is, a place that you'd rather be coming from than going to. To borrow from W.C. Fields' immortal line about Philadelphia that he had chiseled into his tombstone, "I'd rather be here than in Detroit."

Being the tank town it is, admittedly, there really isn't much to do there, other than find one of these 17 fun spots and live it up, if you go in for that sort of diversion.

Outside of the Fisher Theatre, it lacks a theatrical or dramatic core. It has little of the flavor of the international city it is. I remember my best friend tried to write a term paper in college on Detroit as a world city. It took him nearly three terms to finish it and when he did, I think he more or less collapsed because he discovered that the Motor City flunked the test as a cosmopolitan cultural center.

After all, how cosmopolitan can you get next to an assembly line?

So you see, Dick, things are tough all over. That's why there's so much depressing stuff on your front page and mine.

One bright note. Just be glad you're not an unemployed go-go dancer.

Your neighbor says

I'd stay right here

If you could live anywhere in the world, where would you pitch your proverbial tent? As far as Arlan Hartwick of 6675 Seed St., is concerned, he'd stay in Cass City.

Why? It's home. "I like the people who live here," Hartwick says. "I was born and raised here. It's home. And to me, that's what's important. The people are nice and they've been good to me. No, I wouldn't want to live anywhere else."

Hartwick, who retired two years ago from a grocery store he'd operated over 35 years, lived for a time in Kalamazoo, but gave it up to return to his native Cass City. "I just prefer it here," he says.

Hartwick has served as treasurer of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Cass City the past 20 years. "Thought I'd give it up after 15 years or so but, you know, if I did that, they'd probably just find something else for me to do."

Hartwick and his wife have three children and 12 grandchildren.

She married Albert L. O'Connor in Detroit in 1918. Following their marriage, they made their home in the Detroit area. He died Nov. 10, 1972.

Mrs. O'Connor moved to Chilhowee, Mo., in 1972.

Local businessmen look for good Christmas shopping year

While this year's Christmas shopping season in Cass City may not break all-time records for volume or dollars spent, most merchants agree it should be a good year. That's the consensus of a spot check made by the Chronicle of several businesses late last week. Businessmen have generally ordered merchandise for the Christmas season with the idea that, come Dec. 26, most of it will be sold.

November, most say, was an exceptionally good month and businesses are gearing to continue the trend into December.

Mike Weaver of Coach Light Pharmacy says part of the reason for continuing good sales is that Cass City is not tied directly with the depressed auto industry.

"I'm looking for a better year this year than last year," Weaver said. "The only way to look at the situation is one month at a time, not at four or five days at a time."

He said customer volume at Coach Light is about the same as last Christmas season to date.

Bill Kritzman of Kritzmans', Inc., agreed. He said volume had been down slightly late last week but said he expected an upturn soon.

"A little snow would change things in a hurry," Kritzman said. "That would bring more people in."

Lloyd Bryant, Gamble Store owner, said shoppers are more selective this year than in past Christmas shopping seasons. He said more shoppers are also taking advantage of lay-aways.

"We've had more customers shopping earlier this year," Bryant said. "So far, our dollar volume is about the same even though we may have had a small decrease in traffic."

Bryant indicated many customers are looking for more practical gifts this year and aren't buying as extravagantly as in past years.

Keith McConkey of McConkey's Jewelry said despite economic conditions nationwide, he remains optimistic that this Christmas season will be good.

"I've been through these little setbacks before," McConkey said, recalling the days of the Great Depression of the 1930's. "We didn't panic then and we won't panic now."

He said one of the biggest problems for his store so far this year has been bad checks. McConkey blames part of this on layoffs in auto plants.

He said that a local clientele built up over the years continues strong and expects as good a year as last year.

"We bought just as if we were expecting another excellent year," McConkey said. "We live in an area that is pretty diversified. We aren't tied directly to auto manufacturing. We've got our own factories here and we've got farming and other businesses. This will pull us through."

McConkey said he has placed more emphasis this year on selling customers items they can realistically afford. He said some customers have either bought smaller or decided to hold off on a big purchase until later. He said he has received a few cancellation orders as well.

Still, McConkey remains optimistic.

"I haven't lost 10 minutes sleep over it," he said. "I will admit, though, that there is definitely a scarcity of the multitude."

Mary Rabideau of the Ben Franklin Store said so far, it's been pretty much business as usual.

"This year, so far at least, it's been spotty," she said. "We'll get times when we're really busy and then other days, it'll be fairly quiet. It's a hard thing to describe."

He said many customers have taken advantage of lay-aways this year and many shopped early.

"Our dollar volume has been strong this year," she said. "Of course these days, you can't look strictly at the dollars. It's the units sold that count, with this inflation the way it is."

To date, Ben Franklin and the two pharmacies are the only businesses to institute Sunday afternoon store hours during the Christmas shopping season. It is not known whether or not other businesses will follow this lead.

So far this shopping year has had generally good weather for shopping. Downstate retailers bemoaned the gigantic snowstorm that dumped from 10-20 inches of snow the first week end of the shopping season, along with layoffs and inflation.

Clarence "Bud" Schneberger of Schneberger's Furniture says it's too early to tell how things will go this Christmas shopping season but so far, he's optimistic.

"Our business generally picks up about a week before Christmas," Schneberger said. "Until then, we sell mostly smaller items. A lot of people like to wait until late to make more of a surprise out of it. At least that's the way it's always worked before."

He said good weather tends to send people to shop in the city, although so far traffic into the store has remained about the same as last year.

"When most people buy a major appliance, they're looking for someone to take care of it," Schneberger said. "People looking for something like that won't travel outside the Thumb."

He said it's really too early to draw any conclusions about this Christmas shopping season.

FOUR OF THE 19 Methodist youth rocked for 24 hours over the week end. They were: Karen Wallace, David Watson, Kathy Allen, Sharry Jones.

Sentence Caro man Monday

An 18-year-old Caro man was sentenced to two years' probation and 30 days in the Tuscola County Jail Monday in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

Charles Smutek was sentenced by Judge James P. Churchill to fines and costs totaling $200 after being found guilty of conspiracy to defraud. Smutek was found guilty of writing a fraudulent check for $75.

Vern Allen Durocher, 37, Deford, was arraigned on a charge of rape. He stood mute and a plea of innocent was entered in his behalf. Pre-trial examination was set for Jan. 10.

Durocher was arrested Oct. 28, in Kingsion township.

Frederick Miller, 21, Millington, was arraigned on charges of assaulting a police officer. He stood mute and a plea of innocent was entered in his behalf. Pre-trial examination was set for Jan. 10 and bond was continued.

Miller was arrested in Vassar Oct. 27.

arraigned on charges of breaking and entering, larceny and carrying a dangerous weapon. He stood mute and a plea of innocent was entered in his behalf.

Pre-trial examination was set for Jan. 10, and bond was continued.

Tracy A. Miller, 28, Roseville, was arraigned on charges of carrying a concealed weapon. He stood mute and a plea of innocent was entered in his behalf.

Pre-trial examination was set for Jan. 10 and bond was continued.

Miller was arrested in Cass City Nov. 18 and charged with carrying a concealed .38 caliber pistol in his car.

Sentencing for Leonard Wilkinson, 18, Millington, was delayed until July, 1975. Wilkinson had pleaded guilty to larceny in a building in Vassar township Sept. 5.

Pre-trial examination was held in a case involving Earl Scott Jr., 26, Caro, charged with selling a stolen motorcycle Aug. 30. A one-and-a-half day trial was set.

NEWS FROM District Court

Charles Thompson Jr., Cass City, was found guilty of driving under the influence of liquor, second offense. He paid a $100 fine, $50 in costs and was ordered to serve 10 days in the Tuscola county jail.

Alvin James Scouryneck, Gageton, was found guilty of careless driving. He paid a $25 fine and $25 costs.

It's too late to stop and think after the accident happens.

Decker kids on their rockers

Nineteen United Methodist youth of the Shabbona, Elmer and Decker churches participated in a rock-a-thon that raised over $600 for a trip to Florida over the Christmas holidays.

The youth were to have rocked for 24 hours with five minutes off each hour. Sponsors supported their favorite rockers with a pledge of so much for each hour completed. Four of the 19 went the entire 24 hours.

The trip is a "retreat" for the youth who will travel by bus, leaving Dec. 18 and returning Dec. 23. Plans call for a day in the Smokey mountains, a day at the beach and a day at Disney World.

The youth will sleep on the bus.

M-29 provides scenic drive

Driving M-29 along the St. Clair River between Algonac and Port Huron provides 29 miles of boat watching, hard-to-beat scenery, unusual chances to visit Canada, historical attractions, and good restaurants, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Take boat watching. On no other long stretch of highway in Michigan can ships be seen gliding so close to shore, so near that observers can make out every feature," said Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager.

The St. Clair River is one of the world's greatest and busiest shipping waterways, Ratke pointed out. Ships coming from the upper Great Lakes enter the river at Port Huron and pass the river towns of Marysville, St. Clair, Marine City and Algonac before heading across Lake St. Clair and entering the Detroit River. In contrast, cruisers and speed boats pulling water skiers can be seen skimming over the river's surface.

Algonac is the most southern point on M-29 to begin ship watching. Besides Algonac's City Park, Algonac State Park, two miles north, is an excellent spot for this pastime. At the latter, ships pass by about as close as anywhere since the river is only a half-mile wide at this point. Camping also is available at this park.

Henry's and Sid's at Algonac both offer a combination of good food and ship watching.

Marine City, eight miles north of Algonac, also offers good boat watching in two waterfront parks.

Inn, you can watch the big freighters almost in its front yard. A similar dining spot is Fisherman's Wharf, between St. Clair and Marysville. St. Clair's excellent shopping center has been described as America's unique urban renewal project. Its setting offers a breathtaking view of the river.

Port Huron, onetime French trading post, is at the end of the drive and offers varied attractions. The largest city in this section of eastern Michigan, it is the U.S. end of the Blue Water Bridge, a leading Michigan gateway to Canada. The bridge is one of the few open to pedestrians, thereby also affording a good spot for ship watching.

Overlooking Port Huron and the St. Clair River is the Fogcutter, atop the Peoples Bank Building, another good spot to combine dining and panoramic ship watching.

Port Huron's most famous all-time citizen is Thomas A. Edison, even though the noted inventor spent only the period from his seventh to sixteenth years here before striking out on his own as a journeyman telegrapher.

At the northern edge of Port Huron, the Fort Gratiot lighthouse can be viewed. Built in 1861, it is one of the oldest on the upper Great Lakes and is still in operation.

An unusual way to get to Canada is by ferry. Three are along this stretch of the river, all crossing to small Ontario towns. They are Algonac to Walpole Island, Marine City to Sombra and Roberts Landing to Port Lambton. All offer year-around service, have different auto capacity and crossing time varies from 2½ to five minutes.

Church group fasts to help feed world's hungry

By Jim Ketchum

If you think there isn't anything you can do about the world's hunger problem, ask the nine students and three adults from Good Shepherd Lutheran Church. They'll tell you there is.

They personally took a look at what hunger really means a couple of weeks ago when they voluntarily fasted for 24 hours in an effort to focus attention on world hunger and to raise money for the needy.

The idea began with the Circuit Youth Board which is involved with all Thumb area Lutheran Churches. Youth Director Pastor Dennis Borchers of Immanuel Lutheran Church in Sebawaing first proposed the idea at a meeting of area churches Nov. 6 in Bad Axe.

From there, several churches grabbed the idea, including Good Shepherd.

Pastor James Van Dellen, who took part in the fast himself, explained the students raised five cents for each hour they fasted that day. All of them made it.

The fast itself began Tuesday, Nov. 26 at 8:30 p.m. and ran for the next 24 hours. During that time, the dozen persons got to know what hunger means on a first-hand basis.

"We didn't do it just to get the money," Karen Krug, one of the participants explained. "We did it to help ourselves understand hunger better. When we felt hungry, we prayed for the hungry in the world.

"I think we came closer to God because of it," she said.

With the number of hungry and starving in the world in the tens of millions, it might seem ridiculous for a small group of young persons and adults to go hungry for a day to raise money for the starving. But they don't think so.

"Sometimes it was kind of hard to explain to people why we were doing it," Gordon Okerstrom Jr. said. "Some people would think it was silly. But we wanted to know what we were asking for and we figured this was the best way."

How did things go that day? While it was a little rugged for some, most didn't mind it. Rev. Van Dellen said he came away with a better understanding of how much food Americans waste at each meal.

"I remember that night as I was feeding our young children and having not eaten, I couldn't help but notice how much food these kids were really wasting," he said. "It makes you wonder what someone from a starving nation would have thought if they'd been there."

The group spent a good part of the day at the church conducting prayer services. They also baked small loaves of bread distributed at a church service that night. "That was the hardest part," Diane Stine said. "Smelling that bread and not being able to eat any of it." Mrs. Loretta Hacker remembered she had to prepare a turkey for Thanksgiving the next day as she fasted. "It was really a challenge not to eat anything but I really think it was worth it."

The group agreed being together much of that day helped them all make their goal. They spent what would have been their lunch time praying and studying about the problem of hunger.

BACK TO FOOD

When their fast ended, nearly all those involved said they found they didn't overeat to make up for the day they lost.

"I was surprised that I really didn't feel like eating a great amount once the fast was over," Pastor Van Dellen said. "Thanksgiving day, I think we all approached the meal a little differently than we had in the past. I think we all thought a little more about those who didn't have enough to eat and how we could help them."

LOAVES AND LETTERS

The effort to raise money to fight world hunger didn't end that Thanksgiving day, however. The group is behind a plan called "loaves and letters" through which they hope to continue the struggle.

Under the plan, each person agrees to skip at least two meals a month and to give the equivalent of that or the savings resulting from it to the World Hunger Appeal of Lutheran World Relief.

The second half of the plan calls for participants to write their Congressman and all other officials involved in food distribution to commit the United States to send more food to the starving nations.

Pastor Van Dellen agrees there's a lot of work to be done and hopes the example set by this group will get more persons interested in the program.

He says this is something concrete that the average citizen can do to help.

"I think we all feel as though we accomplished something here," he said. "I think it was worthwhile."

The group agreed and most said they'd do it again.

"You can't really do enough," one student said. "We waste more food in this country than we consume. We have to do something."

The pastor said the group raised around $200 for their hungry hours, which may turn out to be the most raised by any of the churches that participated.

They all agreed that the United States must take the lead, and said they'd go through another fast because they felt it was worth the effort.

They hope their recent fast will help in some way. Most believe it already has.

Fitzgeralds keep Michigan Senate seat in the family

A freshman senator is following his uncle as Democratic leader in the Michigan Senate.

Democrats, who hold a 24-14 majority in the upper house come January, named Sen. William B. Fitzgerald as their leader at a recent caucus. He succeeds retiring Sen. George Fitzgerald, who led Democrats during the current session.

Fitzgerald moves into the Senate after serving in the House since 1971-in the seat he won after his father died in office.

Some folks are even suggesting the young Fitzgerald as potential gubernatorial material in four years.

The now 32-year-old bachelor, a lawyer from Detroit's west side, appears to be something of a "bright light" -- as well as a new face -- in Michigan's Democratic Party. How he fares in the Senate leadership post could ultimately decide how bright a light party chieftains decide he is.

There's talk in Lansing also of gubernatorial possibilities for the new Speaker of the House, Rep. Bobby Crim, D-Davison.

Crim, who is well liked generally and considered a competent leader, had thought of running for the Democratic nomination this year, but changed his mind after testing the political winds.

ABOUT THOSE EXPORTS

With food prices ever climbing higher, consumers may well become irritated with thoughts of Michigan exporting farm products to other countries. "Leave the goods here and maybe they'll help bring food prices down," might be the suggestion.

Michigan Agriculture Director B. Dale Ball doesn't quite figure it that way.

"It is completely unrealistic to think that we might keep all of our home grown food within the U.S., for the benefit of U.S. consumers alone," Ball says in a recent column printed in a department publication.

"There are too many products essential to our economy that we must import--and pay for," he continues.

What he's talking about is balance of trade.

Products imported by the United States must be paid for by exports, Ball contends.

"Just as we all have to balance our family budgets or go broke, the United States has to balance its world trade budget," Ball says. And, he adds, "in recent years, farm exports have been the bright spot in our balance of payment picture."

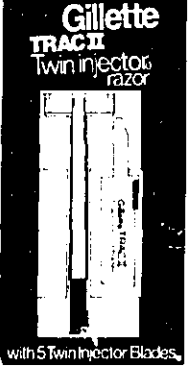

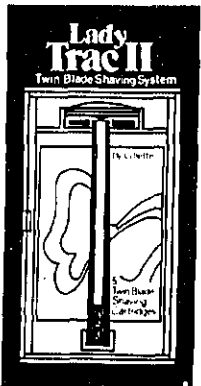

Ball points to Japanese imports as one example, citing such items as cars, cameras, cutlery and cloth-

Three injured in one-car crash near Cass City Sunday

A Deford mother and her two children were hospitalized with multiple injuries Sunday afternoon after their car went out of control and slammed into a ditch on Cemetery Road at Severance Road.

Mrs. Diana Doris Zagorski, 33, of Mushroom Road, and her two children, Kimberly, 9, and Susan, 2, were injured when the car which Mrs. Zagorski was driving north on Cemetery Road went out of control on slippery pavement, crossed the centerline and struck a deep ditch on the west side of the road near the intersection, Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies said.

The three were taken to Hills and Dales General Hospital where Mrs. Zagorski and daughter Kimberly were reported in fair condition Tuesday. Susan was released Tuesday morning.

The mishap took place at 1:55 p.m.

Police reported several other property damage accidents last week.

Wednesday, a car driven by Carol Jean Thane, 23, of 3677 E. Cass City Rd., went out of control and struck a ditch while traveling north on Hurds Corner Road near Elmwood Road.

Sheriff's deputies reported Ms. Thane was taken to Hills and Dales General Hospital and treated for minor injuries. The accident occurred at 9:45 p.m.

Several other minor mishaps were reported by area police Wednesday, cars driven by Myrtle Lorene Rabideau, 41, of 6432 Garfield St., and Jean Marie Spencer, 20, of 2034 Englehart Rd., Deford, collided at the intersection of Main and Oak Streets in Cass City.

Police said the Rabideau vehicle pulled from a parking place on Main Street headed east as the Spencer vehicle entered the intersection from the north.

Neither driver was injured. No ticket was issued. The mishap took place at 2 p.m.

Saturday, cars driven by Clinton Smith, 26, of 5106 Jacob Rd., Gageton, and Ronald Leinweber, 42, of Unionville, collided on Colwood Road at Hoppe Road.

State Police from the Caro Post who investigated said the Smith vehicle was west-bound on Hoppe Road and could not stop for the stop sign at the Colwood Road intersection due to icy pavement, striking the Leinweber vehicle which was headed south on Colwood Road.

Smith was cited for failure to yield the right of way. Neither driver was injured. The accident took place at 4 p.m.

Monday, a car driven by Harold Groth, 30, of 4545 Leach St., went out of control and struck a sign at the intersection of Church and Leach Streets.

Cass City Police reported Groth was headed north on Leach when it spun out of control. Groth was ticketed for driving too fast for conditions. He was uninjured.

Two accidents in Cass City were reported Tuesday. At noon, vehicles driven by Joseph Gruber of 6432 Church St., and Howard Hill of Robinson Road, collided on Church Street near West.

Cass City Police said the Gruber vehicle was backing out of a driveway, saw the Hill vehicle approaching but could not get back in time to avoid a collision.

No ticket was issued and neither driver was injured.

At 1:50 p.m., cars driven by Kenneth Jay Kilbourn, 18, of Phillips Road, and Bruce Anthony Thompson, 62, of 4295 Maple St., collided at the intersection of Seeger and Garfield Streets.

Cass City Police said the Thompson vehicle which was headed west on Garfield, had stopped at the intersection and started again, pulling into the path of the Kilbourn vehicle headed south.

Neither driver was injured and no ticket was issued.

CAR-DEER ACCIDENTS

Two car-deer accidents were reported Sunday, a car driven by R. Dell Howard, 24, of Lapeer struck and killed a deer while traveling south on Kingston Road near Cartwright Road, south of Kingston.

State Police from the Caro Post said the deer ran from the east side of the road into the path of the vehicle.

Howard was not injured. The accident occurred at 12:10 a.m.

Monday, a car driven by Ronald Nicol, 18, of Kingston, collided with a deer while traveling west on M-46 at Shaw Road.

State Police said Nicol was not injured in the 7:25 p.m. accident.

Letter to the Editor

You are wrong, Mr. Haire

Dear Mr. Haire:

You are wrong in your headline. I highly approve of boys sports AND girls sports. I do object to your biased opinions and reporting. For instance, I have yet to see any articles about the boy's losses highlighted in bright red.

Our girls did well this year, only losing three of their regular games. One was with Frankenmuth where you told, in great detail, about their loss. Where were you during the first game with Frankenmuth when Cass City won? By the way, I understand the Lutheran school that feeds Frankenmuth has had girls' grade school basketball for years. Practice does help.

I have watched the girl's basketball team, in just three years, progress from one or two spectators to a packed gym for their district playoffs. I doubt very much that the boys could have done better in any sport with the opposition that the girls have endured with the local press and several members of the school board. After all, taxes are paid by all the people for the benefit of all the students.

As to your editor's comment, I realize I should have prefaced my statement with a "For instance", as you did.

Patricia Gee

ELKLAND TOWNSHIP NOTICE

To all property owners and renters within Elkland Township

- As you no doubt heard our Michigan legislature passed, and Governor Milliken signed into law the so called "circuit breaker" property tax relief, known as Act 20. With this law all property owners and renters are eligible for tax relief. Those who pay state income tax will be given credit for that portion of tax for which they qualify.
- Disabled veterans will have their forms completed by county V.A. administrator. Those who receive blind exemptions can get help from local assessors.
- Those who qualify for senior citizen eligibility get additional exemptions. To qualify for this you must be 65 years of age or have a spouse 65 years of age or older or be a widow or widower of a spouse who was 65 years of age or older at time of death.
- To assist senior citizens in preparing their forms the township office (fire hall) will be open on Saturday, Dec. 14, and Wednesday, Dec. 18, from 9 in the morning to 4 in the afternoon. We have the forms for you; if you want help you must bring with you, your tax bill, your social security number and total earnings and itemized deductions for 1974.
- If you file a state income tax statement you will have to see your tax consultant as we are not qualified to do this work.
- By filing this form and sending it in during December you should receive your check in time to pay 1974 property tax.
- Farmers who live and farm their land can use total tax bill on that description in their computation; others who own and live on their farm can use only that portion which is one acre and their home. See supervisor for a break-down on this property.
- Renters may use 17% of total rent paid as a tax base and those who rent space in a trailer park may use the 3 dollars per month (36 dollars a year) as a tax base.

Bring preprinted Act 20 form (if you have it.)

Remember: Senior Citizens Dec. 14 and Dec. 18 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Fire Hall. Others who have questions may also come in.

First big test due Friday at Lakers

How sweet it is! Hawks post 2 victories to tie for lead in Thumb B

CHUCK BLISS goes up and over Randy Liebler for a close-in shot that misses Tuesday night.

Michigan ambassadors

Ambassadors of Michigan tourism, they're to be called. So says the office of Gov. William Milliken, in reporting the designation to be conferred upon five individuals who have "contributed significantly to Michigan's tourist industry."

Awards go to: Leonard Barnes, editor of the Automobile Club of Michigan magazine; Noel K. Black, retired hotel executive from Grand Rapids; Mrs. Beulah Groehn, who led a fight to preserve an historic district of Detroit; Lawrence

A. Rubin, executive secretary of the Mackinac Bridge Authority, St. Ignace, and Win Schuler, the Marshall restaurateur.

And that's not all, in this formal recognition of tourist promotion, Michigan also will have five "embassies of tourism." They are: the Grand Haven Coast Guard Festival, Inc.; Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn; Motor News magazine; the Upper Peninsula Power Co. at Houghton, and Zehnder's, Inc. of Frankenmuth.

It wasn't supposed to happen this year... and it might not last. It probably won't last, but right now, right at this moment in the Thumb B Conference title chase, Cass City High School is undefeated and tied for the league lead.

This happy turn of events came about following Tuesday night's mild upset victory over Sandusky, 58-53, and the game wasn't even as close as the final score indicated.

But the Hawk cage team had scarcely any time to savor the victory this week for looming large and menacing is a trip to Lakers Friday to play one of the pre-season favorites to cop the title.

Cass City's hurry up offense and clawing defense will have to be at its very best to stem the green and white led by big, rugged Tom Matteson.

One of the keys to the win over the Redskins was Cass City's ability to hold its own on the boards even though, as usual, they were at a height disadvantage.

The game started slowly as neither team was able to generate a sustained offense. At the end of the first period the score was 12-12.

The Hawks went ahead to stay in the second period, again featuring balanced scoring. Some fine passing by Chuck Bliss and Dave Zawilinski helped Ken Lowe and Clark Hillaker connect on short jumpers in close to pace the rally.

But it was in the third period that the Hawks staged the rally to give the team the first comfortable lead of the evening.

The attack was paced by rapidly improving Charlie Walsh who came off the bench to pick up key rebounds and become one of the scoring leaders of the night playing about half the game.

At the end of three periods Cass City was in front 45-32 and stretched this margin to as much as 16 points before Coach Ron Nurnberger benched his veterans and Sandusky closed the gap to the final 58-53 margin.

Lowe was the leading scorer with 15 points and Walsh added 13 to pace Cass City's attack. Nine of the 10 players in the game shared in the scoring.

tion last Friday as Coach Ron Nurnberger's charges parlayed a tenacious defense with a last quarter rally to walk off with a 64-51 decision over the Bad Axe Hatchets.

While the game wasn't an artistic masterpiece, the Hawk quintet was as good as it had to be to top the Hatchets.

The Hawks bench probably helped the team to victory Friday. In an effort to overcome a height disadvantage that Cass City faced against the Hatchets and will face against all the teams in the league, the Hawks play a scrambling, pressing game which is physically demanding.

Nurnberger has been able to use 10 men in his first two games and the brief rests Friday kept all the players reasonably fresh for the final five minutes of the game when Cass City walked off with the victory.

The game might not have been as close as it was if Cass City had been able to cash in on some close-in shots in the first period.

The Hawks moved the ball well and were in close for several shots that failed to fall.

The Hatchets weren't much better and the low scoring first quarter ended with the visitors in front, 12-11.

The tempo picked up in the second quarter and the Hawks forged in front to stay. Featuring balanced scoring, Cass City scored 22 points while the Hatchets netted 18.

At the intermission Cass City led, 33-30, but it was still anybody's ball game.

For all of the third and the first half of the final period, neither team was able to sustain a rally and put the game out of reach.

All that changed in the final five minutes. With the defense causing several turnovers, coupled with stone-cold shooting by the visitors, the Hawks put the game away.

With three minutes left the lead had stretched to eight points and Coach Nurnberger switched to a control ball offense.

The team did it without losing the ball and the results were several easy lay-ups that stretched the final margin to 64-51.

Cass City used 10 players and nine of them broke into the scoring column. In double figures were Ken Lowe, 13; Chuck Bliss, 12. White and Rogers led Bad Axe with 13 and 12 points respectively.

According to the game shot chart, Cass City hit 38 per cent from the floor as compared to 33 per cent for Bad Axe. The Hawks picked off 30 rebounds and Bad Axe, 25.

Reflecting the pressing game the team plays, Cass City was credited with 15 steals but was also guilty of 12 bad passes, six lost balls and five other violations. In the coaches rating system that gives the team a point for each steal, held ball and assists while charging a point for personal fouls, violations, lost balls and bad passes, Cass City ended with a minus 23 rating.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The preliminary game was even closer than the varsity contest. The JV squad lost, 65-57. Cass City led by six points with about three minutes left only to bow to a full court Hatchet press to lose their second game of the year.

SWEAT AND TEARS

Accomplishments are the results of our mistakes that have been corrected again and again.

MAGNETIC

Principles may be good to talk about, but it's the almighty dollar that has the drawing power.

BAD AXE GAME

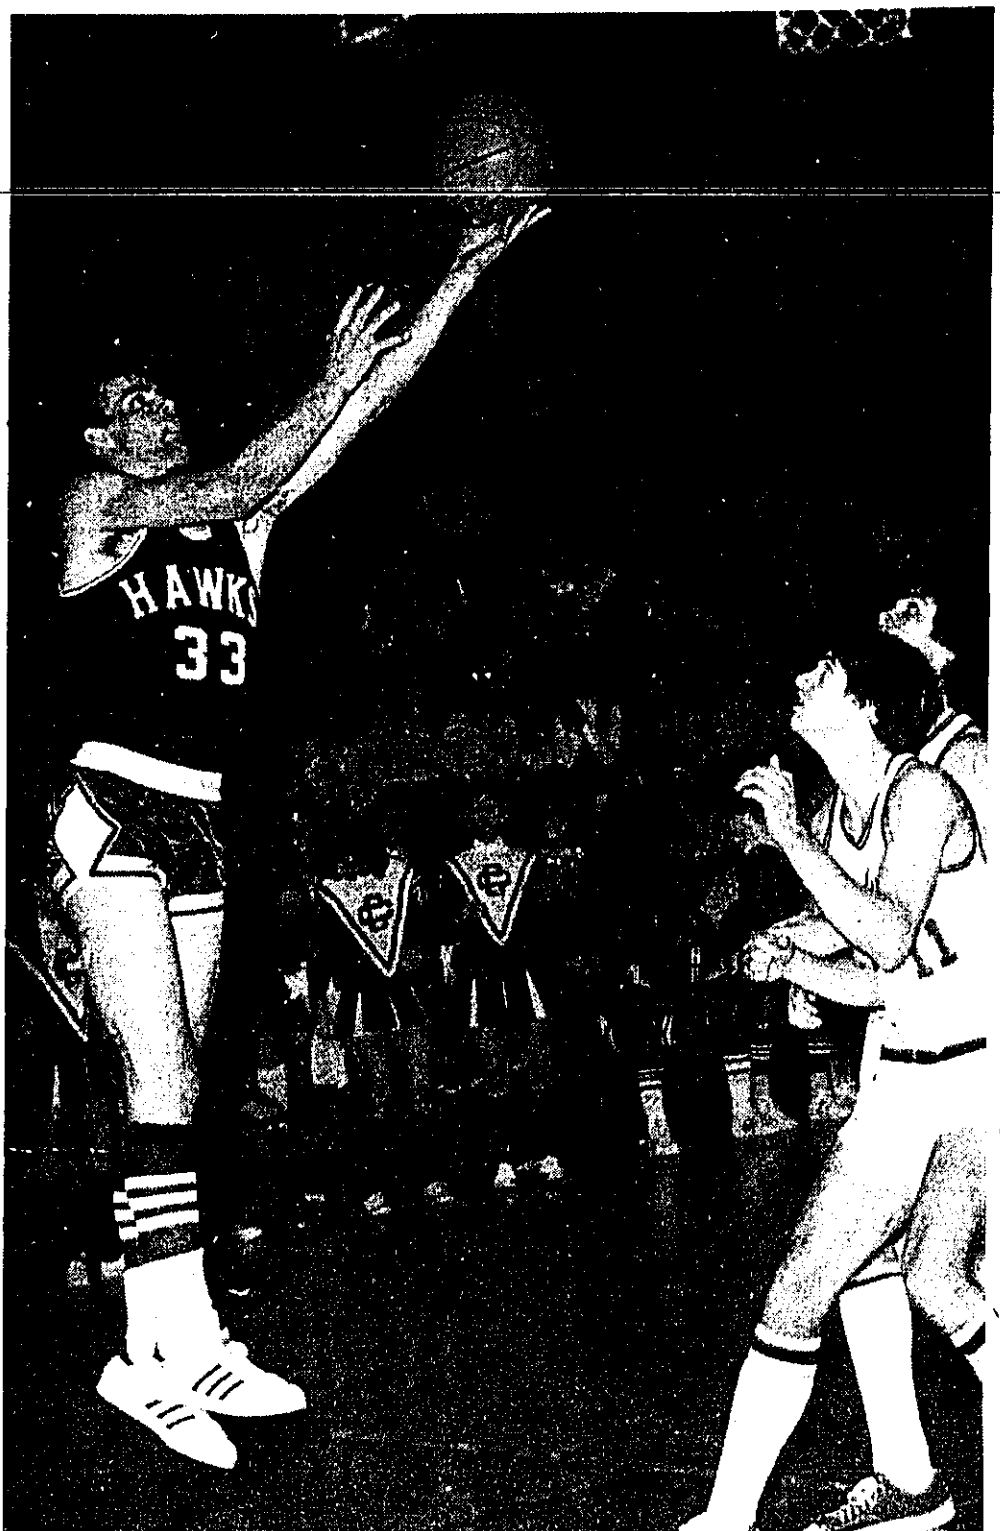

The Cass City Red Hawks got off on the right foot in Thumb B Conference competition last Friday as Coach Ron Nurnberger's charges parlayed a tenacious defense with a last quarter rally to walk off with a 64-51 decision over the Bad Axe Hatchets.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The junior varsity lost its third in a row in the preliminary as Sandusky led all the way while racking up a 63-56 decision.

BAD AXE GAME

The Cass City Red Hawks got off on the right foot in Thumb B Conference competition last Friday as Coach Ron Nurnberger's charges parlayed a tenacious defense with a last quarter rally to walk off with a 64-51 decision over the Bad Axe Hatchets.

KEN LOWE missed this short driving lay-up Friday against Bad Axe but the Hawks made enough other buckets to defeat Bad Axe in the opening league game of the season.

Ubly to host strong district C tourney

Tournament pairing has been announced by the Michigan Athletic Association and the District Class C tourney for the area will be held this year at Ubly.

The Ubly site will host one of the strongest class C fields in recent years.

Odds on favorite to walk off with district honors will be Unionville - Sebawaing which bowed last year in the regionals to Cass City.

USA has a solid team with good height and good speed. They are undefeated.

If USA should slip there are other strong teams in the six-school field. They are: Cass City, Bad Axe, Harbor Beach, Lakers and Ubly.

Pairing will be selected Feb. 17 and the tournament will open Feb. 24. There will be single games Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday.

It will be the first time in recent years that Cass City has not hosted the tourney.

Outlook bright for newest varsity sport

Cass City High School's Girl's Gymnastics team is looking forward to an expanded schedule this season including some of the best competition in the Thumb in its first year of its existence as a varsity sport.

The squad's first meet this season is set for Jan. 18 against Davison and Mayville. A second meet is scheduled against Unionville-Sebawaing, Millington and Vassar Feb. 8.

Again the highlight of the season promises to be the third annual Thumb Invitational meet scheduled for Cass City March 15, bringing a host of area schools together under one roof.

Three demonstrations by the squad are also scheduled this season. The first is set for Ubly during half-time of the Cass City-Ubly basketball game.

Other demonstrations are set Feb. 4 and 21 at home, both during half-time.

Coach Ms. Brenda Breiding said experience should make this year's squad better than last year, with only three freshmen on the team.

"It'll make a big difference this year because we're a varsity sport," she said. "Last year we practiced, but there really wasn't much to practice for. This year we've got an extra meet and this gives the girls more of a goal to work toward."

She said the squad picked up some valuable pointers in floor exercise from Ms. Lora Frankel, dancer in residence this fall, who worked nearly a week with the team.

At the Christmas Dance, each person is asked to bring a $1.00 gift to exchange if they wish to participate in the giving and receiving of gifts. Men bring a gift for a man and the women bring gifts suitable for a woman.

Louise Campbell of Deckerville has special Christmas refreshments planned for the evening. Dorothy Wood of Port Sanilac is hostess for the evening. Isabelle Brinker has four mixer dances planned and these will give everyone a chance to dance.

There are still a few tickets available for the club's New Year's Eve Dance to be held at the Applegate Community Center. Mr. Kay will cater the midnight dinner of baked ham and fried chicken with all the trimmings. The Noblemen Orchestra will furnish the music. Doris Ball of Sandusky and Barney McConnachie of Deckerville are in charge of tickets.

At the last dance, 120 members and friends attended the square dances called by Bob Loomis as well as modern, polkas, and swing dances. Single persons over 30 years of age are welcome to attend. Carrie Sabada of Crosswell will answer any questions about membership.

Lions hear energy program

The Cass City Lions Club heard their third in a series of programs on the Energy Problems of Michigan during their regular meeting Monday, Dec. 2.

The Detroit Edison Company presented information on its latest water power storage system that is designed to help during peak demand cycles. Earlier this fall, Consumers Power Company presented a program concerning its underground natural gas storage facilities.

The Standard Oil Company also informed the club of the oil shortage and overseas transportation problems last spring.

So far this year, the local club has provided seven pairs of eyeglasses for the needy, one white cane and $336 to the Tuscola Sight Screening Program, which checks children's eyes in school.

The late Mrs. George Murray had previously donated her eyes to the Michigan eye bank, it was noted.

BETTER HEALTH

Immunizations drop sharply

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ and DR. WILLIAM J. WELCH

Polio, measles, German measles, mumps, diphtheria, whooping cough and lockjaw. That list reads like a procession of the bad dreams of yesterday.

But those bad dreams threaten to become the ominous realities of today unless something is done about reversing the alarming decline in young children's immunizing "shots".

Young parents today and indeed, lots of young doctors, have never seen a half paralyzed three-year-old hopping along on braces, or tried to put a tube past a bloody grey diphtheritic membrane in the throat of a suffocating two-year-old. Or remembers that whooping cough was the number one killer in the first year of life. Or sweated out the grisly risor sardonicus and arching back of a youngster with lockjaw.

These catastrophes, along with little black baby funeral coaches and little white cemetery headstones, are thought to have been consigned to an unregretted past. But the figures that have recently been released concerning the failure, both of parents and doctors, to insist that youngsters be appropriately immunized against these maimers and killers, suggest that we may be in for a tragic come-uppance unless the trend is reversed.

In 1963, 84 per cent of all one to four-year-old children were immunized against polio. The remaining 16 per cent were living for the most part in an immune population. In 1973, only 60 per cent were immunized, leaving a pool of 40 per cent of children susceptible to an epidemic.

Hardly half of preschool children in this country are immunized against rubella (German measles) and fewer than 75 per cent are protected against lockjaw, diphtheria and whooping cough.

Part of the blame for this unconscionably casual attitude can be attributed to the fact that most young parents have no idea what epidemics of these age-old killers were like. And unfortunately many doctors do not take an aggressive attitude towards the problem, perhaps because there still prevails among some the notion that soliciting their services is not ethical.

With all the lip service given these days to the responsibility of doctors to furnish preventive medicine, it should be noted that it is just here that our only well-established preventive medicine begins. In fact, these are about the only diseases that we actually can prevent, and consequently never have to treat.

Immunizations just a few years ago were "miracles" given to the medical profession to perform like magic. But as with so many of yesterday's miracles, familiarity dulls appreciation, and in the case of "immunity shots", we seem to have forgotten what all the shouting was about. A cynic might say that immunization of the young will only allow them to grow old enough to die of the diseases that attack oldsters.

And that is true enough. But it is a poor reason to return to the days when almost every mother and father had to resign themselves to losing one or more of their children in successive waves of epidemics.

Good Shepherd

Ladies Aid

meets Dec. 2

The Good Shepherd Lutheran Ladies Aid met Dec. 2 at the fellowship hall with 13 members and one guest present.

The program opened with a devotional reading entitled "The Night That Was". Christmas hymns were sung intermittently, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Herman Umpfenbach.

The annual Christmas party for Good Shepherd members will be held Dec. 14 at the home of Rev. and Mrs. James Van Dellen, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Persons attending the potluck dinner are asked to bring a $1.00 gift to exchange.

Mrs. Maynard Stine, Mrs. Gerald Guinther and Mrs. Peter Zell served a dessert following the meeting.

100 students in Thanksgiving retreat

Over 100 area high school students enjoyed a "Thanksgiving Retreat" at the Ramada Inn in Midland.

Dec. 26, chartered buses will be leaving for "Wrap-Up '74 Toronto". The theme of this event is "Value Shortage. . . Please Recycle!"

$90.00 will cover the entire expense for the three days and nights of Dec. 26-29. To sign up for this Campus Life event, contact the Campus Life Office, 3041 Main St., Marlette, or call your Campus Life Director.

TRY AN EXPERIMENT

Turn out the lights some night, touch a match to a single candle, and watch the miracle that happens. The flame wavers and then steadies. The whole room is bathed in a soft glow, showing new shadows and depths, new softness and warmth. It seems like you are living in another place, in another age. Switch the lights on again and they seem dazzling, harsh, until your eyes get used to them. Two entirely different atmospheres have been created in the same room. The candlelight has wrought a kind of magic; electricity has brought with it reality. In our lives we need both magic and reality—and the place to find them is in church. The Church offers the magic of peace and relaxation; yet its message is real, sometimes even harsh. Its teachings are as old as time, yet as new as tomorrow. Go find out for yourself.

BPW holds Christmas party Dec. 19

Twenty-seven members of the Business and Professional Women's Club and seven guests were present Dec. 4 when the regular monthly meeting and Christmas party was held at Veronica's Restaurant.

Mrs. Martha Putnam presided over a short business meeting. Miss Betty Carmer, a member of the district nominating committee, reported on the recent district meeting which she attended.

A gift was presented to Mrs. Leota Anthes in appreciation of outstanding work done by her on the calendar project.

Provincial House is the objective of the club's "do something" project and Dec. 19 is the date set for the Christmas party there, with a program starting at 7 p.m.

Entertainment at the close of the business meeting included pictures which were taken at the club's "fun meeting"; accordion music by Sherry and Janis Sealey; a reading by Mrs. Thelma Pratt and Christmas carol singing.
