

Owen-Gage moves to drop Grant township lawsuit

The Owen-Gage School Board decided to drop further legal action against the Grant Township Board for withholding district property taxes at a special board meeting held Monday night in Gagetown.

In a split decision, the board approved a resolution to withdraw its suit against the township scheduled to be heard April 1 in Ingham County Circuit Court as part of another case.

The resolution, approved 5-1 with trustee Joe Warack dissenting, states that the withdrawal will be based on school attorney James Schouman's counsel.

Board members earlier turned down a resolution instructing Schouman and Supt. Ronald Erickson to recover all real costs and reasonable damages from the Grant township board.

The resolution died in a split 3-3 vote, with trustees Warack, Ron Reinhart and Lee LaFave voting in favor. Board president Ronald Good, Jack Brinkman and Don Cummins cast "no" votes. Trustee Jack Laurie was absent.

Good led opposition to further prosecution by questioning how much goodwill the district would build in Grant township if Owen-Gage took the township board to court.

Last week, the Grant board agreed to withdraw its resolution to withhold the 5.79 debt retirement millage from five parcels totaling $928. The district was sent an initial check for the amount which was unsigned by township treasurer Ephraim Knight.

A second, signed check was later sent.

Good said he believed Knight made a mistake when he failed to sign the first check.

Erickson favored court action since he said it would set an example for other townships in the district.

"By giving in to unwarranted action, it would lose us more people who would support us than if we fought it," Erickson said.

The board learned Schouman apparently implied to Grant attorneys that if they paid the withheld tax money, the school board might not pursue litigation.

Erickson said the statement was made without prior consultation with the board.

Had the case gone to court, the board would have sought to recover $225 in attorney fees along with $1.78 in interest on the withheld tax money.

Trustee Jack Brinkman also favored conciliation with Grant township.

"We have to draw this community back together," Brinkman said.

"After we win, we can draw it back together," Erickson responded.

BOND SALE

The road to sale of $1.675 million in school bonds was cleared last week when the Michigan Supreme Court ruled in favor of the district.

In a decision announced Monday, the court upheld a ruling issued by Circuit Judge Allen E. Keyes in Bad Axe last December favoring the district and against six property owners.

The court in effect threw out the action since the plaintiffs, Delmar Miller, Bernard Neister, Barbara Burdon, Marilyn Pritch, Joyce Loeffler and Geraldine Jantz, failed to file a pleading in response to an application and motion filed with the Michigan Court of Appeals Jan. 17.

The Miller suit sought to stop sale of the bonds until property transfer cases had been resolved. The six plaintiffs also wanted to be excluded from paying debt retirement millage on the bonds until the property transfer cases were settled.

The group sought to be included in a ruling issued in November by Ingham Circuit Court Judge Michael C. Harrison which excluded nine other property owners who are seeking to transfer their land out of the Owen-Gage district.

The November ruling called for a delay on forcing residents involved in land transfer suits to pay debt retirement millage until the State Court of Appeals rules on whether or not their property can be transferred to the Cass City district.

Erickson said Monday night the bonds should be ready for sale in late April. He said the school's bond prospectus may need to be updated since the district's SEV has risen nearly 70 per cent in the past year.

He called the Miller action a "harrassment suit" and said there is a "definite possibility" that lawsuits may be filed against the group for delaying the sale.

Erickson reported on a meeting with Robert Hornberger, service agent of the Department of Education, who reportedly threatened to cut categorical state aid to the district because the school finished the last fiscal year with a deficit.

According to the law, state aid payments must be cut off to districts which operate in the red.

Erickson said school attorneys blamed the State Board of Education for forcing Owen-Gage into red ink because of its legal battles. They called the deficit "artificial".

The school also implied it might file suit against the state board if the aid payments were cut off. Erickson said the latest word was that the payments will continue, at least for the time being.

OTHER BUSINESS

The board voted to hire Jeffrey Davidson of Gagetown to conduct its school census. Davidson will be paid out of CETA funds.

Trustees voted tenure for teachers Robert Colestock and Judy Campbell and second year probation for Wanda Schave and Leslie Sigby.

They endorsed Tom Laurie, a former Owen-Gage board member, as a candidate for the Huron Intermediate Board.

The board met in executive session for nearly 1 1/2 hours to discuss a discipline problem. Another executive session was held after the regular meeting adjourned.

Spring-end grass fires plague Elkland, area firemen

Late March winds and tinder-dry grass combined to keep Elkland township firemen on the run Saturday and Sunday as they fought a total of six grass fires.

The string of blazes began Saturday morning shortly after 10:00 a.m. when 25 acres of grass burned on property owned by J.L. Cody of Cass City and located on Ritter Road, seven and a half miles northeast of Cass City.

Fire Chief Jim Jezewski said Cody was apparently attempting to burn out a stump when the fire got away from him.

About 40 minutes later, firemen were called to extinguish about a half-acre of grass at the residence of Bernice Kloc on Shabbona Road, 5 1/2 miles southwest of Cass City.

Jzewski said the fire apparently started from an incinerator.

At 2:30 p.m. Saturday, firemen were called to fight a blaze that scorched another 25 acres of grass along Kelly Road, 2 1/2 miles west of Cemetery Road.

Jzewski said the owner of the property had not been identified at press time. The property borders the Cass River and was believed set afire by a cigarette tossed from a passing auto. Department of Natural Resources personnel were also called to fight the fire.

Fire trucks started rolling again early Sunday afternoon when the department was called to extinguish a blaze that burned over 30 acres belonging to Wayne Champagne on Severance Road, about five miles southeast of Cass City.

Firemen believe a spark thrown from a motorcycle engine touched off the fire. DNR equipment was called in a second time to help halt the spread of flames. The department was called at 1:12 p.m.

At 2:20 p.m., Elkland firemen were called to the scene of a grass fire at the Cass City Gun Club, southeast of Cass City along Severance Road. The blaze was reportedly out by the time the department arrived at the scene.

About a half-hour later, a fire of undetermined origin burned over 10 acres of land owned by Robert Hicks along Lamton Road southeast of Cass City.

Rain which began falling late Sunday largely eliminated the grass fire threat. A total of nine grass fires were reported throughout Tuscola county Sunday afternoon alone.

Elkland firemen escaped much of the trouble that plagued three Huron county fire departments Sunday afternoon as a fire scorched 30 acres of undeveloped wooded farm land near Owendale.

Trucks from Owendale, Elkton and Bad Axe became stuck in axle-deep mud while fighting the blaze on property owned by Edmund Good Sr., Gagetown, and located along Sebawaing Road, three miles east of Owendale.

Owendale firemen were called to the scene initially but were forced to request help after three of their trucks became stuck.

Two trucks from Elkton and a third from Bad Axe were also mired for a time before the blaze was finally extinguished.

Firemen were initially called at 2:00 p.m.

CAR FIRE

A fire of unknown origin damaged a car owned by Robert Fickling of Cass City and driven by Mike Bryant of Cass City, Friday.

The fire, at the corner of Main and Seeger, was out by the time Elkland fire trucks arrived at the scene at 1:45 p.m.

Jzewski said those involved declined to comment on the fire.

ONE OF the sure signs of spring is the annual outbreak of grass fires. Last week end was no exception as the Elkland Township Fire Department answered six alarms Saturday and Sunday. Here, fireman Danny Gee works to stop a fire line that scorched 25 acres along Ritter Road northeast of Cass City, Saturday morning.

Kingston man injured in two-car Saturday crash

A Kingston area man was treated for injuries suffered in a two-car crash at the intersection of Ross and Buren Streets in Kingston, early Saturday morning.

J.M. Nickens, of 4058 S. Kingston Rd., Kingston, was treated for injuries at Marlette Community Hospital.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies who investigated, said Nickens was hurt when his car struck the side of a vehicle driven by Sylvia Gail Graham, 21, of Vassar.

Officers said Ms. Graham attempted to make a right turn from the left lane of Ross Street and the Nickens vehicle struck the Graham auto in the right side.

A passenger in the Graham auto, Cindy Distelrath, 19, of 3459 Linden St., Kingston, sought her own treatment for minor injuries.

Ms. Graham was ticketed for making an improper turn. The accident took place at 2:30 a.m.

Mrs. Lucille Sommers Frank, 70, of 6577 Huron St., was shaken up Saturday afternoon in a two-car accident at the intersection of M-81 and Schwegler Rd.

Cass City Police who investigated reported Mrs. Frank was eastbound and apparently misjudged the location and speed of an oncoming vehicle driven by Arthur Joseph Polk, 46, Bad Axe.

Mrs. Frank attempted a left turn onto Schwegler Road when the vehicles collided.

She was treated at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

No ticket was issued. The accident took place at 3:47 p.m.

Charles Allen Reynolds, 44, of 4454 Maple St., Cass City, was uninjured Monday afternoon in a two-car accident on M-24, about a mile south of Caro.

Caro State Police said Reynolds was headed south, following a car driven by Sue Ann Kelsey, 18, Caro. Ms. Kelsey told police she attempted a left turn and was struck by the Reynolds auto.

Reynolds told officers he flashed his headlights to indicate he was passing and did not see a turn signal on the Kelsey auto.

No ticket was issued. Neither driver was injured. The accident took place at 2:00 p.m.

Gloria Ann Arroyo of Elmwood Rd., Cass City, was uninjured when the car she was driving struck a deer on Deckerville Road, 1 1/4 miles east of Deford, Wednesday, March 23.

Sheriff's deputies said Miss Arroyo was westbound and was unable to avoid a large group of deer crossing the road. She was uninjured. The accident took place at 8:50 a.m.

Police arrest Cass Cityan on attempted burglary charge

Terry Lee Young, 20, of 5720 S. Van Dyke, Cass City, faces preliminary examination April 22 in Tuscola County District Court following his arrest early Sunday morning on an attempted burglary charge.

Young was apprehended by Cass City Police officer Phillip Klaus after he allegedly attempted to enter the Quaker Maid Dairy Store at 6614 Main St., shortly before 3:30 a.m.

According to the police report, Klaus was on foot patrol when he heard the sound of smashed glass in the vicinity of the store. The officer reportedly chased the suspect into an alley at the rear of the store and finally apprehended the suspect when he climbed into a parked truck.

In his report, Klaus said Young tried to slip away after his arrest, but was apprehended a second time.

Police said they found a window on the west side of the store building smashed. Police Chief Gene Wilson said entry was impossible since the windows had been boarded up following a similar break-in attempt last year.

Young was arraigned before District Judge Richard Kern Monday. He had not posted a $1,000 bond at press time and remained in the Tuscola County Jail, court authorities said.

Cass City Police investigated the theft of an anchor and 100 feet of nylon rope from a boat owned by Lester Kappen of 6795 Severance Rd., Cass City.

The rope was taken sometime Sunday night and was valued at $50.

A 10-speed bicycle was reported missing from a garage at Little's Funeral Home Sunday. The theft was

She's a barber Gerry Pittman likes working in 'clip joint'

Gerry Pittman is young, single and attractive. With her Farrah Fawcett-Majors haircut, you'd expect to find her on a Hollywood sound stage.

But she's about as far from "Tinseltown" as you can get. These days, she stars as a barber at Jack's Barber Shop in Cass City as the village's first woman barber.

Well, actually she isn't a barber, even though she cuts men's hair with all the tonorial skill you could find. Technically, she's a beautician.

She's a beautician, but her customers are men. And as far as she's concerned, that makes her a barber.

"I like cutting hair and being around guys," Miss Pittman, 19, said one morning recently as she sat down in her barber chair and took a break from her routine.

"I was a beautician in Caro for about a year, but I really didn't like it that much," she said. "I wanted to work as a barber."

Last year, she contacted her current boss, Jack Generous, about a job. He said as soon as she completed her year's training and became licensed he'd hire her.

Following study at Caro Beauty Academy and working in a beauty shop, she took Generous up on his offer.

"I was a little nervous when my first customer sat down in my chair," Miss Pittman said, recalling her first day on the job. "I was afraid I might make a mistake. But I guess it turned out all right."

She's been on the job less than a month, but already she's glad she made the switch from beauty shop to barber shop. For one thing the customers aren't as picky, she says.

"You ask them how it looks and they say, fine," Miss Pittman says. "There's no problem."

Another reason she likes the barber shop is that she gets to meet more customers during the day. The hours are longer and she spends more time on her feet, but she really doesn't mind.

Miss Pittman was able to get her job due mostly to a change in Michigan law allowing women to cut men's hair and men to cut women's hair. With the sex barriers eliminated, it opened a whole new field of employment for women.

Generous likes having another barber (oops, beautician) in his shop for a couple of reasons. Not only can she take some of the work load off his hands, but it also allows the shop to offer more styling for men.

"If someone comes in and wants a styling like an afro or a permanent, she can probably handle it better than I can," Generous said.

Having another person in the shop will also allow him a day off now and then. Working alone made it impossible to leave without locking the door.

So far, at least, customers like the way Miss Pittman handles a pair of shears and clippers. "I had one fellow tell me I'd never get to cut his hair again, that he wants Gerry to do it from now on," Generous said.

She likes cutting men's hair, but says it's harder cutting short hair. "If you make one nick, it shows more than with long hair," she says.

Miss Pittman's appearance at the barber shop hasn't changed things too much, she said, although she thinks some of the language doesn't get as risqué as it did before.

Her career as a barber has gone over well with family and friends, especially her mother. "She likes to tell everybody that her daughter is a barber," she says.

So far at least, she's been well-accepted. "Sometimes I think some of the men are a little reluctant to have me cut their hair because they've never had it done by a woman before," she says.

"Little kids especially don't like it because they think a barber should be a man," she added.

She says there might be a little latent discrimination among older men against a woman barber, but that's about as far as it goes.

For the time being, the 1976 Cass City High School graduate plans to continue working at Generous's barber shop. She's unsure about her long-term future, other than to say she doesn't want to own a barber shop. Too many headaches, she says.

These days, when work is over, she enjoys bowling or just being with friends.

She enjoys life, she says, even if it is a little "hairy".

GERRY PITTMAN, 19, Cass City's newest barber, warms up her shears on the head of her boss, Jack Generous, owner of Jack's Barbershop. Miss Pittman, who trained as a beautician, decided she enjoyed cutting men's hair more than women's. So far, there haven't been any complaints from her customers either.

Yes, there is a bonus for sports lovers. At least part of the time. Ask Ken Copeland. Ken spent the day in Ann Arbor watching the State basketball finals.

No, that's not the bonus. The bonus is that he has three sons that are keen on basketball, too. Two live on the western side of the state. The third lives in Bad Axe.

The bonus comes as Ken and his three sons gather to watch the games, dine out and spend the day together.

That 1935 basketball team player we couldn't identify last week is named Davidson. He may not have been a cage star but does hold one record, according to Jim Milligan, who quotes Fred Auten.

As usual there is a dire need for more adult participation, Tonti says.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS got a boost for their fund raising campaign for retarded children in the county when Village President Pro-tem Dr. D.E. Rawson signed a proclamation declaring April 1-3 as "Help the Mentally Retarded Days" in Cass City. K of C members will be soliciting contributions in Cass City this week end. Looking on are village clerk Lynda McIntosh and John Young, Caro.

Kof C set to help retarded children

The Caro Knights of Columbus will sponsor a drive to help mentally retarded adults and children this week end, April 1-3 throughout the county. K of C members will be asking for donations and in return, present each donor with a Tootsie Roll as a token of appreciation.

K of C members will be wearing special hats and aprons and carry canisters emblazoned with "K of C Help the Mentally Retarded".

The week end will culminate Sunday, April 3, with eight hours of festivities beginning at 1:00 p.m. at the K of C Hall on Ryan Road near Caro.

Music will be provided by two bands and food and refreshments will be available. Tickets are $2.50 each and are available from the Tuscola Association for Retarded Citizens. Tickets will also be sold at the door.

Call-in pledge numbers are 673-7747, 673-7748 and 673-9040. The group hopes to exceed last year's goal of $3,200. Funds raised are split 80 per cent for local programs and 20 per cent for state programs.

"If It Fitz..."

Who sings to the car?

By Jim Fitzgerald

The average driver doesn't care what type of engine is in his car. That's not important. The only important question to consider when buying a new car is: Who sings to it?

Recently I described the anguish I suffered trying to dim the lights on my new Oldsmobile. I kept stomping my foot on the car floor where the dimmer button is supposed to be, but nothing happened. I finally had to stop at a bar and learn from a tambourine player that the dimmer is hidden just below the steering wheel, disguised as a turn-signal switch.

Several readers responded empathically. Bill Small, for instance, admitted he'd owned a new Olds for almost two months and didn't know how to dim the lights until he read my column on the subject.

"I have read your column for many years and this is the first time I ever got anything out of it," he said.

Small is an itinerant printer currently smudging ink in Richmond, Mich. I have known him for many years and I'm not surprised he could drive a car for two months without locating the dimmer control. He is usually not allowed out after dark.

I also heard from some readers who wondered why I bothered griping about such a minor item as a dimmer button.

"You bought an Oldsmobile Delta 88," one man wrote, "so how do you feel when you lift up the hood and see a Chevrolet engine?"

No problem. I don't know how to lift up the hood.

But I did phone the man who sold me the Olds. I also talked with automotive experts who don't sell cars, and therefore have no axe to grease. They all agreed that the Olds-Chevy engine flap is silliness, a mere tempest in a radiator hose. (I certainly hope you notice the clever way I am throwing in all this automobile language. Otherwise I'll cut it out and get this thing written a lot quicker).

Interchangeability of parts among various models is common in the auto industry. There are Olds engines in Cadillacs, and Ford transmissions in AMC Ramblers.

Crossbreed substitutions are frequently made whenever shortages occur. This keeps the assembly lines moving and the prices down. The cars run the same, whatever.

That's what the auto experts say, and I wouldn't argue the point. There is as much difference between a $5,000 Ford and a $5,000 Chevrolet as there is between a 54-cent gallon of Texaco gasoline and a 54-cent gallon of Shell.

That is why no one got very upset about buying an Olds containing a Chevy engine. My Olds dealer claims he hasn't received one complaint. Not even about truth-in-labeling, which obviously doesn't apply to the auto industry where the operative label is "car."

A Chicago newsman started the fuss about Chevy engines in Oldsmobiles. He was reaching for Watergate, claiming neither GM dealers nor customers knew exactly what was under their hoods. Everyone shrugged. There were no front-page headlines.

For automotive news to interest the public, it must titillate. As when John DeLoe marries a movie actress, or Henry Ford fires Bunkie Knudsen.

You probably remember the marvelous job done by the media when Knudsen had the heave-ho as Ford president. The most poignant moment came when Knudsen had to admit he was so distraught he couldn't answer a reporter's penetrating question concerning his personal cars.

Bunkie couldn't remember whether he had seven Fords and 10 Lincolns, or 10 Fords and seven Lincolns. Thanks to such compassionate and thorough reporting as this, the world was able to keep along with Bunkie.

Everyone wants to know the important differences between Henry Ford's ex-wife and his current girlfriend. Everyone already knows there are no important differences between similarly priced cars.

That's why car advertising skips crankshafts and stresses the unnatural relationship between the car and a famous actor.

Do you want to own a car that is sung to by Jack Jones, talked to by Ricardo Montalban, or caressed by Rex Harrison?

If an engine fell on my feet, I wouldn't know whether to swear at Oldsmobile or Chevrolet. But if Farrah Fawcett-Majors is behind the wheel I will not mistake her for Sergio Franchi.

Too many car buyers can't find the dimmer button because they were born on dim. Which is nice for the car sellers.

Few can give reasons, but most everyone can give excuses.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

I don't believe it. According to a story that hit the metro papers a couple of weeks ago the gal sports writers for the New York papers wander around among the nude athletes seeking stories after athletic contests.

Don't get me wrong. This I believe. What they can't make me buy is that the girls are treated with total unconcern by the men. Treated just like any male reporter, is about the way the story put it.

This I don't believe. As long as men are men and women are women sex was, is and will be a factor.

And when society as a whole dictates that women cover tops and bottoms and men cover bottoms there's always going to be a difference between men and women in the dressing room.

Certainly if the rule was for men to jog around sans everything in front of women there would be no constraint by either sex.

And if all society went topless, bare breasts would cause no more of a ripple than a pretty face walking down the street.

But that's not the way it is. College kids found that out in the co-op dorms.

It was going to be great when the girls occupied one room and the boys the room next to it.

Officially it would teach each sex how to live with the other on a day-to-day basis.

Unofficially the sex jocks were rubbing their hands in gleeful anticipation. But it didn't turn out that way for the vast majority... men or women.

What happened is that the easy, casual freedom for both sexes went up in smoke.

The guys no longer could run around without a thought of what they were (or were not) wearing.

Girls didn't dash through the halls in their undies either.

It turned out to be a bore and a good many opted to throw this new freedom into the ash can and get back the freedom of movement and casual relaxation of no boys or no girls.

But back to the girl reporters. The story said that most of the jocks accepted them and a lot of the guys ran around the room just as if they weren't there.

I'm all for equal opportunity but I've just got to believe that a gal can't get as good a story from a man in the locker room as a man can. The jock's mind just might wander.

That's not male chauvinism either. I don't think that a man could do his job as well as a girl in the girls' locker room.

I say that knowing full well that it would be easy, oh so easy, to get a lot of reporters I know to give it a first class effort.

They maintain that they would fight to produce a red hot story... I maintain that they would go down blushing.

KETCHUM'S KNAPSACK

An end to 'weeks'

By Jim Ketchum

Brace yourself folks. This is "Michigan Nonsmokers' Week". It says so on a news release that came across my desk today.

Governor William Milliken took time from his busy schedule to sign the proclamation. That was just after he declared May 1-7 as "Michigan Spinal Health Care Week".

Before you know it, the governor will declare "Michigan Paint-up, Fix-up and Repair-up Week", "Fasten Your Seatbelt Week" and "Write a Nasty Letter to your Smart-Aleck Newspaper Reporter Week".

While the governor is wasting his time and your tax money signing proclamations, drivers continue to get away with no points for breaking the 55 mile-an-hour speed limit and the state treasury is borrowing against the 1993-94 fiscal year budget in order to keep from going into debt.

Name any cause and before the paste on the first poster of a tearful child has a chance to dry, somebody will declare a week for it and ask for a contribution.

Sure, I realize we all have problems. Large numbers of persons have bad spines, for instance. I'm one of them.

But having the governor declare a week in honor of my aching vertebrae won't make me or my spine feel any better. In fact, I feel a little worse knowing my taxes are going to finance the printing and distribution of a parchment-like executive proclamation reminding me of it.

I understand it's sometimes a good thing to give a cause such as healthy lungs some publicity. But there are limits.

It gets about as ludicrous as having Jonathan Winters appearing on the tube as Maude Frickert plugging "do-yourself-a-shelf-time".

Cass City's village government gave up on Michigan Week and its "Mayor's Exchange Day" several years ago after realizing it accomplished very little.

Besides, Cass City has no mayor. It does have a village president because it's a village and not a city. Maybe if they instituted a "Village President's Exchange Day", we might reconsider.

Personally, I'd like to see a moratorium on all special "Week" celebrations, opting instead for one week in the year when everybody gets their licks in at once.

Just think. There'd only be one week a year when you had to think about persons with bad backs, kidneys, lungs, hearts, eyes and ears.

By doing away with the more or less useless observations and concentrating on solving the cause of bad backs, kidneys, lungs, hearts, eyes and ears, we'd be doing mankind a greater service than having the governor sign proclamations.

Until it happens, I'll propose yet another week. I'm declaring this week "National Lets Put an End to Weeks Week". The purpose is to bar publicity hounds from public officials, freeing them to do their jobs for a change.

Hereto I affix my signature.

Four stand mute at drug arraignments

Four persons arrested in late February on drug charges were arraigned Monday before Judge Martin E. Clements in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

The four were David Richard Popp, 23, William Charles Magiera, 19, George Steven Buniak, 20, and Joseph Alfred Payne, 21, all of Caro. Each was charged with delivery of the drug PCP and all stood mute.

Innocent pleas were entered in their behalf and pre-trial examinations were set for April 25.

Popp and Buniak were each charged with two counts and bonds of $2,500 on each count were continued. Bonds of $1,000 for Magiera and $3,000 for Payne were also continued.

The four were among a dozen persons arrested by Tuscola County Sheriff's officers and members of the Thumb Intelligence Group in raids on the Cornerstone Bar in Unionville and a residence in Kingston.

In other court action Monday, John R. Tetrick, 20, Caro, faces from two to 14 years in Jackson Prison after being sentenced on a guilty plea to an uttering and publishing charge (bad checks).

Tetrick will receive credit for 74 days already served. A motion to dismiss another charge was granted. Tetrick was arrested Jan. 14, in Caro.

David John Warren, 18, Caro, was sentenced to serve from 32 to 48 months in Jackson Prison following his guilty plea to a larceny charge. He receives credit for 68 days served.

Warren was arrested in connection with a break-in in Juniata township Jan. 1. Antonio Vallegos, 25, Saginaw, was sentenced to fines, costs, probation and restitution after pleading guilty to a bad check charge.

Vallegos was placed on 36 months' probation and ordered to pay fines and costs totaling $200 and restitution of $116, payable at a rate of $20 per month.

He was also given a 90-day suspended jail sentence. Motions to dismiss two other warrants were taken under advisement. Vallegos was arrested in Vassar in April, 1976.

Two Mayville men face sentencing May 9 after entering guilty pleas to attempted delivery of the drug LSD. Kerry Penland, 19, and Robert Okony, 19, were arrested in December, 1975, on separate warrants.

Their pleas were taken under advisement pending a pre-sentence investigation order.

Three persons stood mute during their arraignments on charges of unlawfully driving away an auto from the Burton-Moore Ford dealership March 7.

Jerry Ray McDonald (no age given) and Trent Leon Lincoln, 17, both of Caseville and Martin Anthony Perlaki, 24, Caro, had innocent pleas entered in their behalf.

Pre-trial examination for Perlaki and Lincoln was set for April 11 while McDonald faces examination May 7.

Ronald Ray Hughey, Swartz Creek, was sentenced to 36 months' probation and ordered to pay fines and costs after being found guilty of breaking and entering of an unoccupied dwelling.

Hughey was ordered to pay fines and costs totaling $400 and restitution of $150, along with serving 90 days in the county jail. He receives credit for 52 days already served.

Hughey was also given permission to leave the state by first informing his probation officer.

He was arrested following a Jan. 4 break-in in Millington township.

THAT TEN-CENT phone call will be only a memory by the end of the week, according to General Telephone Co. officials. The utility announced this week that local calls will jump to 20 cents. Rising wages and equipment costs were blamed for the hike. Repairman Dick Hendrick is shown changing over a pay phone in Cass City.

Hold that dime! Call to cost 20 cents

An era is coming to an end this week for Cass City pay telephone users. General Telephone Co. announced that by the end of this week, it will cost 20 cents to make a local call from most Thumb area coin telephones.

Callers have been dropping dimes into coin telephones since 1954. Prior to that, a nickel did the trick. Company officials said the increase was necessary because of skyrocketing costs.

"For instance, the wages of coin collectors rose 250 per cent and wages of installer repair persons rose 300 per cent," Gen-Tel Division Manager C.R. Kowalski said.

"In addition, the coin telephone instruments increased 84 per cent and booth cost increased 100 per cent over the same period," he said. The switch to 20-cent local calls is being made in the Cass City, Elkton, Caseville and Kingston exchanges this week. The conversion should be completed statewide by fall.

The change began last year

Red Squad files to open

As more tales are told of illegal surveillance of everyday people by Michigan police agencies, state legislators are pushing for permission to take a long hard look at the practice.

The type of surveillance legislators and civil libertarians are most concerned about includes files kept on politicians, lawyers, professors, students, reporters, housewives and others never involved in crime. The Michigan State Police "Red Squad" alone kept files on some 38,000 persons and 400 individuals, according to the attorney representing the state in a Wayne county suit.

Attorneys for the state and plaintiffs in that suit now are trying to figure out how every person named in those State Police files and in thousands of similar dossiers kept by the Detroit Police Department can be notified of their existence.

Already the first fallout has begun in an Ingham county suit through which some 200 people will get to see their Red Squad files. Former Congressman Raymond Clevenger of Ann Arbor whose file was the first released, said he was shocked that it included only information on his activities as a member of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU). Clevenger threatened a suit over his file.

Following reports of Clevenger's file, House lawmakers introduced a proposal to create a committee with subpoena power to probe police agencies in general. Claims are that the Red Squad did not act alone, but worked with and supplied information to police departments across the state.

Originally created under a 1950 law, the Red Squad also supplied data on prospective appointees to the governor's office and on prospective employees to the Panax Corp., a newspaper chain based in East Lansing.

Hutchinson

conducted

Mrs. Pearl Hutchinson, 79, Cass City, died Sunday, March 27, at Provincial House following a long illness. She was born Aug. 14, 1897, in Big Rapids, daughter of the late Edward and Minnie West.

She married Will Frantz in Ubyly in 1935. He died in 1948. She married J.C. Hutchinson in Cass City, July 23, 1949.

Following their marriage, they made their home on a farm near Cass City, later moving to Tucson, Ariz. She returned to Cass City in July, 1976.

She was a member of Trinity United Methodist church of Cass City and was also a life member of the Ubyly Miriam Chapter 214 OES. She served as a registered nurse in Michigan, Arizona and California for many years.

Survivors include her husband; three stepdaughters, Mrs. Ray Clensy of Tucson, Ariz., Mrs. Henry Krug and Mrs. Edna Nelson, both of Ubyly; four stepsons, Harold Frantz of Ubyly, Willis Frantz of Youngstown, Ohio, Dr. Douglas Frantz of Traverse City and Elwood Frantz of Los Angeles, Calif.; three nephews, Don and Dean Hutchinson, both of Cass City, and Norman West of Bow, N.H.; one niece, Mrs. Donald (Nancy) Bauer of Jackson, and a number of grand-nieces and nephews. Two brothers preceded her in death.

An OES memorial service was held Tuesday at Little's Funeral Home under the auspices of Ubyly Chapter No. 214 OES.

The funeral was held Wednesday at the funeral home with Rev. Eldred Kelley, pastor of Salem United Methodist church, officiating. Burial was in Elkland cemetery.

Wickes Agriculture

Soybeans fertilized with Unipels return a higher profit/acre.

You buy fertilizer for one reason—RESULTS! And results of Midwest on-farm check plots show that soybeans respond profitably to fertilization with Ortho's Unipel® 10-20-20.

Two recent field trials showed the value of Unipels over a blend and the importance of adequate Unipel fertilization. A preplant application of Unipel 10-20-20 resulted in an extra profit per acre of $17 compared to a 6-24-24 blend—with soybeans valued at $5 a bushel. In a comparison with no fertilizer, preplant applications of 200 lbs/acre of Unipel 10-20-20 returned more than the fertilizer investment; while a 400 lbs/acre application produced a return of $40 per acre over fertilizer investment.

Unipel 10-20-20 is an ideal starter for soybeans. It provides a sound base of Nitrogen, Phosphate and Potash for growing top yields of soybeans.

An important benefit of Ortho Unipel 10-20-20 involves the interaction between the chemical combination of quick and long-lasting forms of Nitrogen and Phosphate. This interaction increases the plants' use of Phosphorus by more than 50% over separately-applied N & P. And the Potash is water-soluble for immediate action.

Results with Unipel 10-20-20 demonstrate that you get added value in soybean fertilization. We'd be glad to recommend to you a complete Unipel fertility program for your crops, including one specifically for soybeans.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

The village council inched forward towards a new swimming pool Tuesday night when it unanimously approved a motion calling for a bonding proposition to be put before the people as soon as it can be properly prepared.

The village council authorized a fourth police officer, a new police car and a used street sweeper Tuesday at the regular meeting of the village council.

A threat of a bomb in the building forced Cass City High School students to stand outside in the cold for about one-half hour Tuesday while police searched the building. No bomb was found.

William D. Benkelman, a Cass City native, has been named president of Cadillac Plastic and Chemical Company in Detroit.

Carolyn Smith and Linda Battel won a first rating in the State Division of the Michigan High School Orchestra Band Solo and Ensemble contest Saturday.

TEN YEARS AGO

A rampaging Cass River rose to its highest level in 19 years Monday, inundating area roads and isolating some houses near the river.

Charles F. Haythorn, 56, Ferndale, has been named administrator at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

Still determined to receive $1.00 per hundred increase in the price for milk, members of the NFO this week began picketing milk processors throughout a 30-state area. The strikers began picketing the Wesley's milk plant in the village Saturday and were still picketing Wednesday morning.

The village seems just a whisker away from securing a new 40-acre dump site, about 1 1/2 miles south and a half mile east of Cass City.

Members of the Cass City Rotary Club were told Tuesday noon that a branch organization of the Bay City YMCA is entirely feasible for Cass City.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

In the first meeting of the Cass City Village Council since the election, President Cliff Croft asked the council to start forming a three-year plan for activities in the village.

The assessed valuation for Cass City in 1952 is $43,150 higher than it was in 1951, according to figures turned in to the council by village assessor Harold Jackson Tuesday night. The total assessed valuation this year is $1,813,050, compared with $1,769,900 for 1951.

Discussing a police radio in the village, the council reaffirmed its position that it would wait until such time as the village owned a car to place it in.

Tim Burdon and Bill Mar-tus, two husky athletes from the junior class at Cass City High School, play featured roles in the hilarious comedy, "Good Night Ladies", to be presented at the auditorium April 3 and 4.

The Rev. and Mrs. Melvin

R. Vender were in Lansing Monday and Tuesday to attend a legislative seminar sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Lucille Elaine Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.U. Brown, earned the valedictory honors of the Class of 1942, Cass City High School. Salutatorians were Lowell Sickler Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Sickler Sr., of Novesta township and Isabelle Gertrude Stirton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Stirton of New Green-leaf.

About 100 local residents have enrolled in three first aid classes being conducted here by the Red Cross with sessions held Monday, Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Mrs. Grant Patterson of Cass City has been named secretary of the county Federation of Women's Clubs.

At a meeting of a group of Elkland township voters last week, it was unanimously decided to circulate petitions requesting State Rep. Audley Rawson to become a candidate for State Senator from the 20th district of Michigan, which comprises the counties of Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola.

Mrs. C.M. Wallace was elected president of the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian church at a meeting held Wednesday afternoon.

DeGrow clarifies rail stand

Sen. Alvin J. DeGrow (R-Pigeon), clarified his stand this week on the formation of a short line railroad to operate track in the Thumb.

In a written statement, De-Grow said he supports the concept of a short line but that support should not be taken as an endorsement of Michigan Thumb Producer's Railroad's move to buy Chessie System track from Port Austin to Sandusky.

"I do not feel it would be proper for me to promote any particular rail interest," he said. I supported a short line railroad and not any particular endeavor."

MTPR has been the only successful short line railroad to date which has been able to move into the area. It announced last week that an agreement to purchase the Chessie tracks had been reached and that operations would begin soon.

DeGrow's statement supporting the short line concept is considered by observers as a major shift. Previously, he had strongly supported subsidies for existing rail operators.

Chessie earlier said it was not interested in continuing

Your Neighbor says

I'm soured on saccharin ban

Unless Congress intervenes, Americans will be cut off from their supply of saccharin beginning in July, thanks to a ruling from the Food and Drug Administration. The FDA says saccharin causes cancer in laboratory rats.

Do you agree with the ban? Mrs. Anton Peters of Cass City doesn't.

"I think it's silly," she says. "I think the government has a right to protect us, but with these tests, the amount they gave the rats was so great that a human couldn't consume that much."

Even though she doesn't use saccharin, Mrs. Peters doesn't think there's that much harm in it.

"They could probably find something harmful in almost everything we eat if they looked hard enough," Mrs. Peters says. "If they did, we couldn't eat anything."

She says if the ban does take effect, it could cause unemployment among food processors who use saccharin.

processors who use saccharin.

She would favor making the artificial sweetener available by prescription if the FDA ban isn't overridden by Congress.

Mrs. Peters is a Gagetown area native and is a teacher in the Cass City Public School system. She and her husband, Anton, have five children.

Cancer Society meets

The Tuscola County Unit American Cancer Society met at the Moose Lodge in Caro Monday evening, March 21, for their 1977 crusade kickoff meeting. A potluck supper preceded the meeting where Pastor Harry Capps of Cass City gave the prayer.

Mrs. Robert Cassidy, 1977 Crusade chairperson, was master of ceremonies for the evening. She introduced board members, followed by a minute of silence, which was observed for Gretchen Haines. It was decided to dedicate this year's crusade to Mrs. Haines.

It was announced that Mr. and Mrs. Owen Cheek will again be in charge of "Bar Bucks", a special project with bar owners participating.

Addressing the door to door volunteers, Mrs. Cassidy stressed that life saving information be given first, followed by acceptance of a contribution. Volunteers are still needed in the Kingston, Silverwood and Koylton areas. Volunteers may call 823-7828 or 823-8286.

She announced the Cancer Bowl Down is underway and will end April 2. Arlene and Holly Wirth are coordinators of the Bowl Down with all alleys in the county participating.

Jack McDaniel shared some of his experiences while undergoing treatment for cancer of the throat.

It was announced that more than $9,100 has been received as memorials since September. Mrs. Ruth Hoffman, Division Representative, asked the volunteers to make an effort to call at every home in the county this year. She said last year 45 per cent of all money collected in the county was returned to be used in the county.

Mrs. Joe Young, service chairman, announced she had to purchase additional equipment.

Mrs. Pat McIntyre in Vassar is educational chairman. She may be called for films. Several vocal selections by Gail Gengler were presented.

ASK DR. ELIZABETH

Test tube babies? Forget it

By Dr. J. Elizabeth Morgan, M.D.

Sometimes when you read about advances in research, it seems that soon scientists will be popping babies out of test tubes as easily as magicians pull rabbits out of hats. You may think this new method isn't as much fun as the old-fashioned way of making babies.

Dear Dr. Morgan: I hear that scientists are close to growing babies in test tubes. Is this true — the idea sounds awful.

A. We still need sex and mothers to grow babies. Scientists can grow human tissues in a nutritious broth of proteins and sugar. This research method, called tissue culture, is limited, as only a thin layer of tissue grows. Besides, though skin and liver cells will live in the broth, they can't organize into skin or liver. 2. Scientists can isolate DNA. This substance is what makes a human cell HUMAN — and a parakeet a parakeet, not a crocodile. Some researchers can blend the DNA's of different bacteria together (and there is a risk that DNA experiments might inadvertently produce more dangerous bacteria), but bacteria are infinitely less complex than jellyfish, let alone man. We can't now, and may never, produce any higher animal, including man, in a tube.

Dear Dr. Morgan: Is there a way to tell if my sniffles are a cold or an allergy?

A. Yes, there are several clues. It can still be hard to tell, since both cause a runny nose, itchy throat and red eyes. Allergies don't often cause fevers, so if you run a temperature of around 100, you probably have a cold. Allergies don't cause a sore throat and you don't feel sick, the way you do with a cold. Allergies do come the same season every year. So if you have the runny nose and red eyes every spring, you may be allergic to pollens being shed at this time. Your doctor can examine nose drippings under a microscope. If he sees allergic cells, called eosinophils, you have an allergy. You should see your doctor anyway if symptoms, especially fever, last more than a day or two.

Dear Dr. Morgan: I've heard of people being in a coma after car accidents, then recovering completely weeks later. Is there any way to predict if someone will recover from a coma?

A. You can not predict how long coma will last after any head injury. Only time will tell. Usually, the greater the injury, the longer and deeper the coma. Light coma can be an irritable, delirious state, reacting to the slightest touch. In the deepest coma, there is no motion. After a head injury there can be extensive bleeding and swelling in the brain. It may be a year before complete recovery because blood and swelling take that long to be absorbed and replaced by scar tissue. But, the sooner coma improves, the better. It should start to improve within a few weeks. Young healthy people make the best recovery.

Dear Dr. Morgan: I'm determined to work off the fat I gained last Christmas. I'm 190 — and should be 175. Can I exercise off this weight, or must I diet?

A. Just exercise will make you lose weight, if you burn more calories than you eat. If you double your exercise or halve your food, you'll lose about 2 pounds a week (more at first). One pound equals 3,500 to 8,000 calories, depending on how much water is in the fat. You lose weight fastest if you exercise and eat less.

Instead of calculating calories, try this: Exercise at least an hour a day. No snacks. No junk food. No cakes - candies - colas - cookies - pies - ice cream, etc. No second helpings. You'll be in shape soon. And, yes, occasional cheating is allowed on week ends.

shape soon. And, yes, occasional cheating is allowed on week ends.

Honor Society students tapped at Cass City High

One hundred and two students from Cass City High School were inducted into membership in the National Honor Society in an evening ceremony this week. The induction program, planned by Mrs. Karen Wallace and Mrs. Kathleen Jackson, honor society advisors, was scheduled at the high school gymnasium, Wednesday evening, March 30.

The purpose of National Honor Society is to recognize outstanding students who are actively involved in the school and community.

Additions to the society's membership are made each spring by a faculty council from a list of students who meet the scholarship requirement.

To be eligible for membership, freshman students must have a cumulative grade point average of 3.3; sophomore students must have a 3.2 average; juniors must have a 3.1 average, and seniors must have a 3.0 average. Additionally, potential members must meet high standards in leadership, service and character.

Leadership is based on the student's participation in two or more community or school activities or election to an office. To meet the service requirement, the student must have been active in three or more service projects to the school or community. Character is measured in terms of integrity, behavior, ethics, and cooperation with both students and faculty. Seniors graduating as Honor Society members are:

Historical society sought

A move toward establishing a Cass City Historical Society gained momentum Tuesday night as 15 persons gathered at Cass City High School to discuss forming a local chapter.

Guest speaker was Harold Richards of Harbor Beach, president of the Huron County Historical Society. He discussed ways of forming a Cass City chapter and outlined how it should be structured.

Jack Esau agreed to serve as a contact person for area residents interested in forming and serving in such a group. Esau suggested the society should look toward getting either written or taped interviews with area senior citizens and possibly collecting a photographic history of Cass City.

The group viewed the slide and sound presentation "Thumb Area Historic Overview", narrated by Don Richards.

Another meeting to elect officers and to discuss drawing up by-laws is slated May 3, at 7:30 p.m. at the high school.

Dioxin poisoning threat could overshadow state PBB disaster

Some state officials say that potent poisons found in a common wood preservative could ultimately mean a broader and more costly tragedy for agriculture than did Michigan's PBB crisis.

Eight Michigan dairy herds have been quarantined already on the suspicion that their milk or meat may contain detectable amounts of highly "toxic" dioxins that occur as a contaminant in the wood preservative pentachlorophenol, or penta.

Dioxins already have been found in animal livers from one of those herds, but tests are continuing on the others, particularly their milk.

The situation is puzzling because penta has been widely used for four decades, and dioxins have been a contaminant in penta the entire time. Officials theorize that either the Michigan herds got wood treated with badly-contaminated penta batches, or that other states have simply never looked for dioxins in their mysteriously sick animals.

Regardless of why no one else has complained about penta, the problem is now a national concern, officials say.

The Federal Food and Drug Administration already has stepped into the Michigan situation to perform complex and expensive dioxin tests.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Environmental Protection Agency which registers penta as a pesticide also have an eye on the problem.

Not even all of the eight farmers whose herds were quarantined are willing to blame penta or its dioxins. Some still maintain their problems are due to PBB.

But the most serious impact believed due to dioxins is at the Cedar Springs farm of George LeMunyon, who has watched 100 of his cows die in a year. He intends to file suit against whomever is responsible for the apparently deadly treatment on his barn wood, but so far tracing back the penta used to treat the wood has been impossible.

PARENTS VS. KIDS VS. CONTRACEPTIVES

A federal court judge in Grand Rapids says parents must be told that their minor children are receiving contraceptives.

Both lauders and boos have greeted Judge Noel Fox since that controversial ruling, however, an Ingham county family planning center says it will appeal.

The ruling has particularly ruffled state public health officials who worry about the rising number of teenage pregnancies. They say that many kids would refuse to go to a public clinic if they knew their parents would find out.

"It will only serve to drive the frightened or shy teenager away from these public programs, which may represent their only means to prevent an unwanted pregnancy," said state public health director Maurice Reizen.

More than 25,000 babies are born to teenage Michigan mothers each year, 500 of them to mothers less than 15 years old, Reizen said.

But Fox in his ruling said parents have a right to counsel their children about such important questions, and that providing contraceptives to children without telling their parents helps break up families.

The retort from critics of the ruling is that children under 18 have rights too. They cite a U.S. Supreme Court ruling allowing minors to get abortions without parental consent, and say Fox's ruling simply contradicts that high court decision.

Auto costs can be deductible

Michigan motorists who itemize deductions on federal income tax returns may include many of the costs related to owning and operating an automobile, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Copies of a pamphlet listing tax deductions for car owners, whether they use their automobiles for personal or business use, are available to Triple-A members at any Auto Club office.

The following deductions to which all car owners are entitled, even if their automobile is used solely for pleasure, are listed by the Auto Club:

State gasoline taxes. In Michigan, nine cents per gallon. (Divide the miles per gallon consumed by the car into the total miles driven in 1976 to determine the number of gallons used. For the amount deductible, multiply gallons used by nine cents.)

Interest paid on automobile loans and finance charges on revolving charge accounts used to purchase gasoline, oil or accessories.

The four per cent Michigan state sales tax on the amount paid for a new or used car, parts, accessories and supplies.

Damage to, or loss of, an automobile due to fire, theft, collision, vandalism, storm, etc., not reimbursed by insurance or other means, if not due to willful negligence. (Deduction for damage to property used for personal purposes is limited to the amount of each loss in excess of $100.)

Persons itemizing deductions may claim as a charitable contribution any actual unreimbursed out-of-pocket expenses of operating an automobile in the course of services to a charitable organization.

The actual expenses of using an automobile to obtain medical or dental services may be claimed as a medical expense.

In lieu of itemizing actual costs, a standard rate of seven cents per mile for such mileage, plus any parking fees or tolls, may be used in figuring deductions for charitable contributions and medical expenses.

Auto Club reminds motorists that the cost of license plates and driver licenses are not deductible items, unless the car is used for business purposes.

If a car is used for business, the following items (in whole or in part, depending upon the extent of business use) are deductible: Auto Club membership cost; state automobile license plate fees; driver license fees; automobile insurance premiums; car depreciation; judgement for damages due to negligent driving; gas, oil and lubricating expenses (also winterizing and anti-freeze charges); loss on sale of automobile; cost of repairs, maintenance and accessories; washing and polishing expenses; garage rental, parking charges and toll road fees.

Instead of maintaining detailed records itemizing the costs of operation, a person who operates an automobile for business purposes may, under certain conditions, figure the cost of such operation by taking a standard mileage rate.

The standard mileage rate is 15 cents per mile for the first 15,000 miles of business driving and 10 cents per mile for additional business mileage. A log should be kept of mileage and parking and toll charges accumulated during business use.

Automobile expenses incurred in connection with business use should be computed on Internal Revenue Service Form 2106, which should be attached to the individual income tax return.

Auto Club points out that costs incurred in driving from home to a regular place of employment and returning home are not tax deductible.

HURRY, HURRY . . . That's the message from Automobile Club of Michigan to passenger car owners who haven't purchased 1977 license plate tabs. The ribbon on the finger of Auto Club secretary Laurie Berjeski serves as a reminder that April 1 is the day motorists must have tabs displayed on Michigan's Bicentennial license plates. The '77 tab must be placed in the upper right corner of the rear plate. To obtain a tab, motorists must present either the prepared renewal form from the Department of State, the 1976 registration or the certificate of vehicle title plus proof of public liability and property damage insurance.

Federal CETA program translates into job, future for Darrell Fader

$136,000 program

By Jim Ketchum

Each weekday morning, Darrell Fader, 20, leaves his home in Caro and drives 14 miles to his job as a parts manager trainee at Rabideau Motors in Cass City.

There's nothing much unusual in that fact, except for one thing. If it hadn't been for a federally-funded CETA Title I program administered by the Thumb Area Consortium, Fader might still be trying to stretch a part-time income across full-time expenses.

Fader is one of 37 persons making a living through the CETA on-the-job training (OJT) program designed to teach skills while providing a steady income.

The basic idea boils down to matching unemployed persons with jobs they can learn. According to Roy Allen, Consortium project coordinator, employers are reimbursed up to 50 per cent of the trainee's regular 40-hour wage over the training period.

Normally, most employers aren't anxious to hire someone they have to train because they can't make the company any money for a year, Allen says.

By providing a cash incentive, the employer cuts his losses and has someone who can start making him money sooner.

The Consortium plans to spend $136,000 on the program in the tri-county area during the current fiscal year, with nearly all of it spent for wage reimbursement. That's $3,700 per trainee.

For someone like Fader, the program translates into a job and more importantly, a steady income. It hasn't always been that way.

"I'd gone to Saginaw Valley State College for a year and a half and then I took custody of a 12-year-old child," Fader recalled. "I went to work as a painter but by November it was too cold to paint and the only steady job I had was working four hours a night as a maintenance man at the court house."

Trying to make $80 a week stretch for two persons doesn't work, he said. As his savings continued to dwindle, he learned about OJT and thought he'd apply. "I really didn't expect to get this job," he said. "I was surprised when they told me I had it."

He admitted he was "very apprehensive" when he showed up for work that first morning last January. He'd had some experience working with books and figures, but knew little about being a parts manager.

"I was uncertain about how it would work out," he said. "But I'm very pleased with the way it turned out."

So is his boss, Lee Rabideau.

"I'm very happy with it," Rabideau says. "I would recommend it to other businessmen."

Rabideau says it costs money to train any person to any job, whether he's got a skill or not. "An employer is less likely to take on a new man than he is someone with experience," he says. "When you hire someone, even if he's worked in the job before, it takes him time to adapt to the way you do things."

"With this program, you still lose money in training at the beginning, but by the time he's trained, you can come out ahead sooner," he says.

Rabideau said he heard about the program after Allen contacted him. He had an opening and of the candidates available, Fader fit the job as close as anyone.

"That's an important part of OJT, Allen says.

"If we sent out all the people who come in saying they want to be auto mechanics, there's no way we could place them," he says. "Our problem is getting the job to match the person."

He admits having 37 persons in the program isn't "setting the world on fire", but at least it's a start. Allen says there's some reluctance among employers to get involved with the federal program because they fear the red tape involved. But according to Rabideau, it's relatively simple.

"It's a lot like the old GI training program years ago," Rabideau says. "I had four or five fellows who I hired under it and I was satisfied."

The idea of OJT isn't new in the Thumb, Allen says. It's been run the past few years by other social agencies, but this is the first year the Consortium has handled it.

Allen admits only about 20 per cent of the OJT applicants actually end up with jobs, due in large part to the area's high unemployment rate.

He sees a potential for growth once the word gets out. The Consortium has taken out ads in several Thumb newspapers promoting OJT.

"The program gets out by word of mouth," Allen says. "We also furnish eligibility cards to the people in our program which they can present to any prospective employer."

Still, any success the program achieves depends on employers who are willing to get involved, Allen says. Sometimes, he says, there's a feeling that the people in the program are somehow inadequate.

"We try to find out where their interests are and what they can do," he says. "In some cases we administer the General Aptitude Test Battery (GATB). But it's a 2½ hour test and we can't give it to everybody."

Allen sees potential for growth of OJT if more employers would consider the program.

As far as Darrell Fader sees it, he's glad the program came along when it did. "I always thought that government spending for jobs was a good thing if it was done wisely and you put a man where he works best," he says.

"I know I'd recommend this program. I have. It's good for anyone willing to work."

LETTER TO EDITOR

March 29, 1977

Dear Editor,
We would like to inform the public about the dangerous recreational facilities in the Cass City Park. Because of a minor accident while swinging, we realized how insecurely the chains are fastened to the pole. One of the chains slipped out of the hook and the swinger was thrown to the ground. Because of this incident we are deeply concerned for the safety of other swingers. Perhaps better care could be taken during the construction of park equipment. Thank you.

Sincerely submitted,
Concerned Swingers

believed to have occurred during the past week.

Vandals did extensive damage to a 1970 automobile owned by Paul Anthony Rohleder of 4462 Jacob Rd., Cass City, sometime Saturday.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies said the vandals entered a barn where the car was parked and smashed all the windows in the vehicle.

They also destroyed the car's battery, both headlights and damaged all four tires.

No damage estimate was available. No suspects have been arrested.

GAYL NICOL of rural Cass City cheerfully parts with a pint of her blood during a community blood drive staged last Wednesday, March 23, at St. Pancratius Fellowship Hall. A total of 99 pints were collected. Shown watching the progress is nurse Lee McLaughlin.

Blood drive nets 99 pints

A total of 99 pints of useable blood were collected during last week's drive held Wednesday, March 23, at St. Pancratius Hall.

Hills and Dales Hospital Auxiliary spokesperson Mrs. Ruth Whittaker said a total of 112 donors were accepted.

Mrs. Whittaker said blood collected at the drive was shipped to Flint where it was processed by the regional American Red Cross Chapter. Since Hills and Dales is a member of the region, it can receive blood supplies at no cost other than administrative fees.

"The hospital serves Deford, Kingston, Ubyly, Gagetown and we appreciate all the support we can get from these areas," Mrs. Whittaker said.

She emphasized local blood drives are community projects and said participation is needed by other than just Cass City residents.

"The hospital serves Deford, Kingston, Ubyly, Gagetown and we appreciate all the support we can get from these areas," Mrs. Whittaker said.

Over 300 new traffic control signs will begin sprouting in Cass City starting this week. Village Supt. Lou LaPonsie said Tuesday crews are poised to begin erecting the signs at intersections and along streets.

LaPonsie said every intersection in the village will have either a stop or yield right-of-way sign to control traffic.

The project is part of a federal uniform traffic sign act and is 90 per cent federally funded. Cost of the project to Cass City is pegged at $1,200.

A BLEND

We all live in the present, but everyone should make sure to remember that it is made up of little bits of the past.

She said persons who missed last week's drive may donate during another drive slated May 5 at Cass City High School. Hours for the drive are 9:00-4:00 p.m.

AROUND THE FARM

Crop production costs soar

By William Bortel

Agriculture is facing a real dilemma this year as the farmer finds himself in a tremendous price-cost squeeze. The cost of production in relation to commodity prices of today have risen so rapidly that a farmer must push a very fine pencil in 1977. A farmer is looking for an economical crop to grow this year or where he will lose the least money in 1977.

I've put together a set of crop production costs for comparison between commodities. This was compiled from many individuals and I'm not saying it is right for you, but it will at least show comparisons.

The land rent costs will vary from $5.00 to $100 per acre. Put in your own figures of what you are paying for rent. Also, there is not a risk factor figure for dry beans which you may also wish to calculate.

	Corn	Sugar Beets	Wheat	Dry Beans	Soybeans

Baer wins Air Assault badge

Army Private First Class Edward W. Baer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baer, 1463 Church St., Decker, recently was presented the Air Assault Badge upon graduation from the Air Assault School at Ft. Campbell, Ky. Trainees learned the art of rappelling down a wall, free rappelling from a helicopter, medic procedures combined with rigging and sling loading operations, and troop ladder and free landing platform techniques. The private, a gunner with Support Company, 2nd Battalion of the 101st Airborne Division's 327th Infantry at Ft. Campbell, Ky., entered the Army in March 1976. Pfc. Baer is a 1970 graduate of Mariette High School. His wife, Sheila, is with him near the fort.

Tuscola County Sheriff's investigators have ruled the deaths of two Fairgrove persons last Wednesday, March 23, as a murder-suicide. The bodies of Walter Albin Hutchinson, 71, and Catherine G. Shephard, 50, were discovered sometime before 9:00 a.m. in the West Darbee Road home they shared. Investigators said the Shephard woman died of a single .12 gauge shotgun wound to the back while Hutchinson was killed by a shotgun wound to the throat. Detectives were called to the scene after Alex Bilinski of 4757 Darbee Rd., had stopped at the house and failed to get a response. He entered the home and found the grisly scene. According to a report filed by Detective Ronald Phillips, Mrs. Shephard was found in the kitchen of the home while Hutchinson was found in the bedroom. Two spent .12 gauge shells were found. No motive for the slayings has been discovered and no suicide note was reported found at the scene. Police theorized the pair had been dead less than 24 hours.

Correction

Names were transposed in an accident report last week involving Mrs. Yvonne Gabler of Mayville and Joseph J. Gruber of Cass City. The report should have stated that Gruber was parked in his snowplow along Main Street when he was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Gabler. Neither driver was injured. The accident took place Friday, March 18.

Haire heads Thumb B all-star basketball squad

Cass City's Clarke Haire led the balloting of coaches for the Thumb B Conference all-conference basketball team announced this week by league authorities. Haire polled 64 votes under the system where coaches rank the top 10 players on the other seven teams in the league. A perfect rating would be 70 points. Frankenmuth was the only team in the league that placed two players. They were Paul Bernthal and Frank List. Paul Battel, Cass City, was named to the second team and Rick Richards and Jeff Hartel received honorable mention.

There were two repeaters from last year's team as Mike Weaver of Bad Axe and Mark Green of Caro also received the accolades of the coaches.

The complete teams and the votes received:

Clarke Haire, junior, Cass City	64
Paul Bernthal, senior, Frankenmuth	59
Mark Green, senior, Caro	57
Mike Weaver, senior, Bad Axe	45
Frank List, junior, Frankenmuth	44
Second team
Kurt Belew, senior, Bad Axe	36
Joe Leipprandt, junior, Lakers	27
Paul Battel, junior, Cass City	26
David Freville, senior, Caro	19
Bill Stevenson, senior, Caro	19

Players receiving honorable mention were required to have received at least one vote. All the players named received more than one vote, authorities reported.
