The board followed the announcement by Supt. Ronald G. Erickson by scheduling 3 p.m., June 29 as the time for bonds, with a special meeting to follow at 8 p.m. to award the bid to the low bidder.

According to the Supreme Court order, the application for rehearing was denied because court rules provide for the filing of such applications only in opinion cases.

The high court originally threw out the suit March 24 after the plaintiffs' attorney failed to file pleadings in response to an application and motion filed with the new football uniforms and state Court of Appeals in paying for the already pur-January.

Board approves 8% pay hike for non-union staff

In a break from tradition the Cass City School Board this week announced raises for administrative and nonunion employees at the

The increase for all nonunion employees is estimated to amount to about $20,000, boosting the non-union payroll from some $251,600 to about $271,500. There will be a natural increase in retirement benefits costs that is based on salary.

Normally, administration salaries are not adjusted until after the district settles with the Cass City Teachers' Association (CCTA).

The break in tradition is significant because it pinpoints the rocky road ahead that negotiations face with

In many previous years a settlement had been reached not even started!

That's because the CCTA wants area bargaining and the school wants bargaining within the district. A court case is pending and it is nearly sure that it will be many months before an agreement is reached.

Facing this prospect the board evidently decided to grant the raises before settlement with the teachers.

Cost of the wage package was estimated at eight per cent over the previous year's contract. Last year the wage increase averaged a little over seven per cent.

While the average is seven per cent, some of the employees received jumps of over eight per cent and others were less than that amount.

Mrs. Jacqueline Freiburger outlined plans for seeking Federal funds under Title L She said that a request for a school counsellor will be in addition to the eight teacher aides and two reading specialists that served under the program last year.

The reason for the increase is the $92,000 the program cost last year was $32,000 short of using the money that was available. The new program estimated at $110,000, if approved, is designed to use the money that was carried Trustees signed regulations that give handicapped Americans special rights in employment. Trustees bound the school to special efforts to make employment possible for handicapped. For instance, Crouse told the board, if a blind teacher is working here the mere fact that blindness keeps her from handling discipline problems is not enough for her to lose her position.

The okay of the board was necessary if the school was to continue to receive well over $100,000 in Federal funds.

The gown featured an Empire line bodice, wedding band neckline and bishop sleeves. The skirt had a demibell silhouette outlined with Venise lace that encircled the complete hemline of the chapel train. She wore an ivory garden hat accented with Venise lace and silk illusion veiling forming a bow at the base of the crown.

She carried an arm bouquet of four peach silk roses accented with baby's breath and fern, tied with ivory ribbon. Mrs. Philip Nichols of Caro, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Nancy Kitchen of Wyoming, M sister of the groom, Marsha Roberson of Marlette, Pam Lyons of Caro and Debbie Ouvry of Cass City, sister of the groom.

They chose sleeveless aqua chiffon gowns of the Gatsbylook, featuring a ruffled neckline. A bow secured the natural waistline of the skirt. Ivory necklaces, a gift from the bride, adorned their gowns. They carried a single ivory silk rose accented with baby's breath and fern, tied with ivory ribbon.

Ronald Ouvry of Cass City was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Richard Kitchen of Wyoming, Mi., the groom's brother-in-law, Bob Facea of East Detroit, James Reihl of St. Clair Shores and the bride's brother.

The bride's mother elected to wear a floor-length gown of soft pink polyester featuring princess line styling with a collar edged in pearls. Mrs. Ouvry wore a tan dress.

A reception was held at Colony House for 150 guests. The couple went to Florida and some Southern states on their honeymoon and are making their home in Cass

"If It Fitz..." Toilet wins, 3 to 1

By Jim Fitzgerald

A judge has decreed that the trouble with this nation is most people are so selfish that they would rather go to the bathroom than go to court.

The Lapeer County Press recently surveyed its readers, asking them which they wanted to spend tax money on - a public toilet or a new courthouse. The toilet won by a 3-to-1 margin District Judge John Spires was outraged. In a letter to the editor, he said:

'. . . Human beings are, for the most part, incapable of seeing beyond their own little egocentric world. They cannot take the broad view, looking to the best interests of their community and the nation. They sit on the throne of their water closet and see only the contents of the bathroom, with no conception of things beyond those four walls. And it is this shortcoming of human nature which will ultimately lead to the destruction of our democracy.'

Wow. In case you haven't been paying attention, Lapeer county is where I used to live and work. It's 60 miles north of Detroit. I still have strong ties there, including a son who swipes the ties and a house I can't sell. I still care about what happens to the people

And I must confess that one of the things I always have cared most about is what happens to the people in downtown Lapeer who have to go to the bathroom but can't find one. I worry more about them than I do about lawyers and drunks who might sweat on each other because there's no air conditioning in an old courtroom.

I always figured that my preference for public plumbing over new courtrooms was an innocent — even noble choice, caused by an ordinary compassion for the human condition. I didn't think I was doing any great harm beyond prompting courthouse employes to grind their teeth at people want their money

But now Judge Spires says my preference for johns can lead to the destruction of our democracy. As I said earlier, Lapeer has the oldest courthouse still in use in Michigan distinction noted by a historical marker on the front lawn. Most residents of Lapeer are proud of the wooden building, and they guard it jealously against whippersnappers who would replace it with a monument of bricks and mortar. It generally is agreed that the ancient courthouse, built in 1839, will always stand and will someday be a museum, after the judges have been moved into new chambers. But when will that move be made? The judges say it is years overdue. The state's oldest courthouse may be quaint, but it also is cramped and cold in the winter and hot in the summer. When juries need a rest room, they must be marched across the street to a restaurant.

Years ago there was a public rest room in the courthouse basement, but it was closed because of vandalism. The space was converted into offices for Judge Spires and his staff. One night a troubled soul, irked by the absence of public facilities, used the judge's carpet.

The downtown area was renewed recently with millions of federal dollars, but public toilets were not included. The last gas station has closed. A couple of bars offer johns, but many women do not want to parade their squirming children through

Most of the stores hide their rest rooms and issue maps to employes only. I know a young man who once had to go so bad that he accepted employment at Kroger's as a checkout boy just long enough to cure his discomfort,

It is a problem that has bugged downtown Lapeer shoppers for many years. I am not surprised that these spent on $30,000 public rest rooms before a $3 million courthouse is built. The average person may get inside a courtroom once in a lifetime. How often does he go to the Judge Spires claims that our democracy will be destroyed by persons who worry more about bathrooms than courtrooms. I suggest that he is forgetting what a democracy is all about. It is government by the people. The people decide what is most important to the people. Democracy suffers when the people don't get what they want. This happens when the people's power is abused by government officials who stop looking to the best interests of their community two minutes after they get the keys to the executive washroom.

Natural gas available for home use

Southeastern Michigan Gas Company has announced that natural gas service is now available for new customers. Company president Robert J. Thomson made the announcement at a special stockholders meeting.

Thomson said Southeastern has increased its local exploration and found sufficient reserves to begin accepting applications for new customers requiring natural gas for residential purposes.

All inquiries concerning information and details for new natural gas service should be directed to the nearest company division office. Division offices are located in Albion, New Baltimore, Port Huron and Sandusky.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

It's a noble experiment they have going at Laker High

Let me fill you in.

Under the tutelege of Ed Wolford, the Green and White from Huron county won district, regional and quarter championships. They won conference championships. Nearly every year they were one of the teams to beat.

At Laker High basketball was king, the Lakers were kings of basketball and Wolford was king on the court.

Wolford resigned to take a job in administration and then returned to coaching at Bay City Western and later at two other schools. When Wolford left, basketball went into a sharp decline and the Lakers haven't been a significant factor in basketball since.

Given these 'factors it's natural that as far as Laker fans are concerned the answer is simple. Bring back Wolford and bring back championships. Sounds logical. After all it's the same school with the same facilifies that were there when Wolford led his teams to the glory years.

He's the same coach now as he was when he was at Lakers before and at Pigeon before that. A proven winner. Fans also point to the tallest front line in the league and better than average guards as more reason for optimism. The stage is set for the king to ascend the throne.

I submit to you that all is not the same.

The players are different now than they were five years ago. The game is different, too. Wolford is older.

He's been connected with the game and that should

JUDGE AND JURY

Many people set up their own standards of right and wrong and judge others ac-

I remember, I remember, says Floyd "Shorty" Luettke. A year ago on flag day you remarked that there were no flags flying on Main Street. Shorty made sure to point this out as the flag in front of his station was the only one flying at the time. Incidentally, Tuesday was flag day but this is also flag week and the suggestion is to fly the flag every day.

Mrs, Dottie Scollon and Mrs. Linda Albee asked us to tell you that the individual trophies and the metal plaque that is attached to the school trophy is an origination of the American Association of University Women of Cass City. It goes to the outstanding girl athlete-scholar at the school.

The club pays for the trophies and the enscribing of the names on the master trophy.

The ladies are interested in the publicity, they say, because many of the projects of the AAUW go unnoticed because they are not publicity generating events.

The club is alive and well (13 new members) but everyone still asks, what do you do?, the ladies wail.

Two golf trophies within 7 days is a little much even for Ken Eisinger who has enough to fill anyone's mantel already. The latest were for victories in the Lions Club tourney Sunday, June 5, and the Hillaker Opener last Thursday.

If all goes well and according to plan, I expect to fly to Lewiston Thursday for the annual Cass City golf day at Garland . . . the course deemed among the finest in the State. The pilot for this safari will be Wayne "Buck" Rabideau. I won't say that I'm nervous about this excursion but if I happen to play up to my feeble handicap it will be a major miracle. ++++++++

I suspect that it was a kindly employee of the village, but I'm not certain. Anyway, a pile of brush that we placed in front of the house until we could haul it away suddenly disappeared. Eureka!

Who said that the neighborliness of small town Cass City was no more? You are wrong, wrong, wrong, pardner.

++++++++

There's beauty in Cass City. You'd better believe, says W.E.

You have to get up in the morning to find it. Monday morning as day was breaking he saw what he describes as a breathtaking scene.

The moon was still showing, a star was vivid in the east, the air was absolutely free of pollution, he explained.

It was so tranquil and breathtaking that I went to the park (Cass City Recreational Park) to see it and there flying in the breeze was Old Glory just showing in the twilight.

+++++++++ Scenes like that described by Walpole are rare and almost impossible to recreate. The odds are great that if you were there at daybreak tomorrow it wouldn't be anything like what impressed Walbro's chairman of the board. But most of us can appreciate what he is saying because most of us have similar experiences locked away in our memory as part of life's treasured moments.

Camping industry sees boom year at all sites this season

With more than 70,000 campsites available, Michigan's camping industry is ready for what could be its busiest summer ever, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Many operators are finding that people can't wait to get outdoors after the state's worst winter. Private campground use so far this spring is up an average 10 per cent and the increase is likely to carry into summer," stated Joseph Ratke, Auto Club tour-tors' claims. "But while crowds continue to increase, the added spaces listed this year should ensure adequate sites to handle demand," Ratke said.

Auto Club's 1977 guide lists 381 private campgrounds with 32,957 sites 14 per cent more sites than last year and representing roughly half the 70,000 campsites available statewide.

State forest campgrounds sites have increased by 11 per cent and now total 3,427. State park and federal sites remain at 13,976 and 2,300, respectively. The 8,200 county, township and city park sites also have not increased.

The state park campground reservation system, now in its third year, can guarantee accommodations at half of the almost 14,000 spaces available at 70 state parks if stays of four nights or more

As growth continues

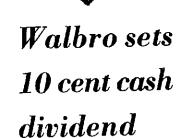

Walbro board elects 3 executives to top posts

Continuing to move forward with the restructuring of the company to keep pace with its domestic and international growth goals, the directors of Walbro Corporation elected three executives to new top level posts at their regular meeting June 6.

Howard A. Bacon, corporate vice-president and the company's ranking manufacturing executive, was elected executive vice-president, a position that had been held by Lambert E. Althaver for six years until he was made president and chief operating officer Jan. 1.

Robert H. Walpole, vicepresident-international operations, was advanced to senior vice-president of Walbro's carburetor group, and given executive responsibility for the engineering, production, and marketing activities of that group on this continent and overseas.

Victor M. Guernsey, vicepresident-automotive product sales, was advanced to senior vice-president of Walbro's automotive products group with responsibility for all phases of that operation.

At a regular meeting in Flint, June 6, 1977, the Board of Directors of Walbro Corporation (NASDAQ: WALB) declared a second quarter cash dividend of 10 cents a share on Walbro common

This dividend is payable July 29, 1977 to stockholders of record, June 30 this year.

Faulty stove starts minor house fire

Elkland township firemen were called at 3:15 Sunday afternoon to the Clifford Seeley residence, 5217 Buehrly Rd., after a malfunctioning control on the oil stove caused it to overheat. According to Fire Chief Jim Jezewski, the wall became very hot, some ceiling tile was scorched and there was minor smoke damage. The owner threw water on the wall to cool it which solved the problem before firemen Jezewski estimated damage at $100.

As pointed out by Althaver, Walbro now has four product and or service groups: carburetor group; automotive products group; injection molded plastics group (Arjay Manufacturing Co., a subsidiary); die casting group (Auburn Diecast Corp., a subsidiary). Each group operates as a decentralized profit center, with its basic activities co-ordinated and monitored by the office of the executive vice-president--an office that is, among other things, highly experienced in manufacturing and quality control technologies.

NEW COMPANY OPERATING GROUP

The directors also agreed to the appointment of a new Company Operating Group (COG). It is made up of L. E. Althaver, Howard A. Bacon, Robert H. Walpole and Victor M. Guernsey and James L. Ware, vice-president-finance and treasurer. The duties and responsibilities of James L. Ware's office have been substantially broadened and enlarged, Althaver says. Among other things, Ware is now charged with the responsibility of developing better and more precise budgeting procedures, for measuring financial progress, in order that the accountability of all company operations can be accurately and systematically eval-

HOWARD A. BACON

Walbro's new Executive Vice-president, Bacon, 47, came to the company in 1954 as production foreman, carburetor division, after two years with General Motors and three years with Wolverine Products, in manufacturing capacities.

He was made superintendent of Walbro's carburetor plant in 1957; general manager of its Arjay subsidiary in 1960; vice-president-manufacturing, Walbro, 1962, and corporate vice-president in

ROBERT H. WALPOLE

Walbro's new senior vicepresident of the carburetor group, Robert H. Walpole, 37, joined the company in 1970 as sales office manager after having spent six years in sales and marketing with the Lincoln-Mercury Division, Ford Motor Company. He has an M.B.A. from Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., and a B.A. from Principia College, Elsah, Ill.

Walpole was appointed manager of international operations for the company in first lieutenant, three years in 1972; became vice-president of international operations for both the carburetor and automotive products divisions in

VICTOR M. GUERNSEY

Walbro's new senior vicepresident of the automotive products group, Victor M. Guernsey, 46, is a 1952 graduate of Michigan State Uni-

After graduation, he spent two years in the Army as a newspaper work in Michigan and Maine, and joined the company's Autopulse division in sales in 1957.

In 1958 Guernsey was made assistant to the sales manager. He was appointed aftermarket sales manager in 1964; vice-president of aftermarket sales, both carburetors and electric fuel pumps in 1967; vice-president-electric fuel pump sales in 1970, and vice-president-sales of Walbro's automotive products division in 1974.

Scholarships available for area 4-H'ers

Eight college scholarships totaling $5,000 are available to present or former county 4-H youths. The scholarships are funded by the Milwaukee Road, the Chicago and Northwestern Transportation Co., and the Edwin T. Meredith oundation.

Candidates for the two $500 Milwaukee Road scholarships should show interest in grain production and marketing. Current or former 4-H'ers must be juniors or seniors in high school, or enrolled or planning to enroll in college.

College students majoring or minoring in agribusiness, ag economics, or forestry may be eligible for one of the four $500 scholarships funded by the Chicago and Northwestern Transportation Co. Candidates must be enrolled this fall as juniors, seniors, or graduate students.

Three of these scholarships require candidates to submit a paper on some phase of marketing and transportation of forest products. A paper on some phase of marketing and transportation of agricultural commodities must be submitted for the other $500 scholarship.

Two $1,000 scholarships will be awarded to two prospective college freshmen by the Edwin T. Meredith Founda-

These eight scholarships are among more then 270 educational grants valued at about $250,000 offered in 1977 through the National 4-H Council. More information is available from the Michigan State University 4-H office or your local 4-H office.

Area youth in band tour of Europe

A student musician from Gagetown is among students preparing for a month-long goodwill tour of three European countries with a week of intensive rehearsals and orientation at Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp.

Robin Sullivan was carefully selected by competitive audition and interview from last summer's Blue Lake campers to participate in the 83-member Blue Lake International Band, directed by Prof. Kenneth G. Boomquist, Director of Bands at Michigan State University. Students were chosen on the basis of character as well as musical ability. The musicians will play at least one concert in eight cities throughout Sweden, Norway and Denmark.

The tour will be more than a musical learning experience for the students, as they will be offered a unique look at the culture and people of the countries visited by staying in homes and with families.

The music performed will be entirely American in order to give foreign listeners a taste of the outstanding music being written for concert band in this country today.

Ford's pitch for museum

funds moves ahead slowly

Former President Gerald Ford had no more success seeking money from Michigan's legislature than do state bureaucrats. He got only some of what he asked for.

Ford was in town trying to persuade lawmakers to appropriate $3 million to help build a museum in his honor in Grand Rapids, his home

But the legislature, controlled by Democrats, was skeptical. Why should it approve money for a guy who might later run for office against Democrats? What had Ford done for Michigan

while he was President? Why isn't he now living in his home state if it's so important to leaders, Ford all but ruled himself out of the 1980 presidential race and said he wasn't interested in the U.S. Senate either. He carefully bring the total to $3 million but slowly.

The appropriations bill has passed the House and still needs Senate approval. But lawmakers, no matter what party, are not expected to

Weed control problems

By Don Kebler

Effectiveness of weed control by herbicides used on field crops is most erratic this

Soil, but more so the hot dry period this year contributed to lower herbicide efficiency. Slow germination emergence and growth of the weeds make herbicides less effective and we saw these conditions where pre-emergence herbicide applications were made. Also, many preemergence applied herbicides need a rain after application to be most effective and this we didn't have.

Another factor is that there are still some crop producers who experiment with herbicides contrary to the rates, chemicals and application methods recommended.

There is another possibility we may be confronted with esses of weeds to be genetically developing strains resistance to the herbicides we

We have no findings of this yet in our Michigan weeds. However, herbicide resistance has been identified in three weeds in Ontario and the northwestern United States. The two weeds, common lambsquarter and redroot pigweed have strains resistant to Atrazine in these two places.

It appears our cash crop producers are beginning to be more restrictive in their use of the Atrazine herbicides. This is not because this chemical is not an effective herbicide if applied as recommended. The restriction on its use appears to be the result of residue carryover restricting the amount of farm land acres where crops other than corn, sorghum and sudangrass strains can be safely grown.

There is nothing wrong with Atrazine, it is one of several excellent herbicides recommended especially for quackgrass control in corn, sorghum and sudangrass crops. Where the problem has generated is that rates and-or procedures not recommended for effective quackgrass killing control have been used more frequently than not. The manufacturer's label and Michigan State University research recommends four pounds of active ingredient Atrazine per acre to kill quackgrass. Both research and actual on the farm observations shows lesser rates will not kill quackgrass.

However, too many crop producers have been applying lesser rates which may burnoff but not kill quackgrass too often on too many acres.

In other words, a two-pound active ingredient rate per acre applied two years consecutively means only corn can safely be grown on that field for the next three years. One annual application of four pounds active ingredient per acre in one application or in two split applications, where all or part of the herbicide is applied on the quackgrass for foliage, will make that field usable only for corn production for two consecutive years.

All this information is spelled out in the annual Michigan State University Chemical Weed Control Guide for Field Crops Bulletin

When you do the calculations, together the decisions mean bills will be bigger, by about 13 cents in June and even more thereafter.

The rate decisions were made by the state Public Service Commission, which also set up a reward-punishment system for Edison that will mean more rate hikes for the company whenever it operates its generating plants more efficiently than it is

Rates would drop, however, if the plants were broken down or shut down for repairs too often.

Exploration Days slated

Approximately 90 Tuscola county youths and adults will attend the state 4-H Exploration Days program, June 23-25, at Michigan State University.

Exploration Days is a three-day "action-learning" event that attracts more than 4,000 Michigan youth who participate in learning options ranging from arts and livestock to communication, crafts, science and international understanding.

The finale of Exploration Days is Action Day, where the youths demonstrate the skills they have learned. More than 100 exhibits and demonstrations will be shown that day, as well as a variety of live performances, a petting zoo and picnic area.

Special attractions that day will include a glass beehive, horse skeleton, talent and fashion shows, chick hatchery, and solar oven cooking.

Free and open to the public, the Action Day activities will run from 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Saturday, June 25.

Centennial celebration starts Sunday

Presbyterians look ahead after 100 years

Presbyterian Church of Cass City mark their 100th anniversary as a congregation later this month, they'll be doing more than just looking over their shoulders at the

It's a time to look at where the church has been, but more importantly, it's a time to decide what the church's future should be and how to accomplish it, according to Rev. Harry Capps, pastor.

Rev. Capps, together with general chairpersons Mrs. Frederick Auten, Mrs. Clark Boylan and Mrs. Roger Little, are helping put together the celebration.

The festivities begin Sunday, June 19, when the choir will present a choral drama celebrating the life of Jesus and the life of the church. Special readings will be given and communion will be in a special service Sunday, June 26. at 10:30 a.m. when three former pastors will speak.

A reception will follow, hosted by youth of the church. The centennial culminates

These include Rev. Wendling Hastings, who served from 1939-1942; Rev.

When members of First 1944-1958; and John Hall Fish, who served from 1958-1963.

Following the service, an anniversary banquet will be held in the church fellowship hall. A crowd upwards of 250 persons is expected for both

OLDEST BUILDING, ORGAN

The 196-member congregation occupies the oldest church building in Cass City. Organized in June, 1877, the congregation first met in a small one-room building.

Through the efforts of their first minister, Rev. John Kelland, a frame church building was dedicated in October, 1878 at the corner of Seeger and Church Streets.

The original Gothic-style building was rebuilt in 1906-07. The main building retained its original shape, but instead of wood, cement blocks and brick were used in the new construction.

A wing to the south was added, along with new pews and floors, memorial windows and a tower.

At the same time, a nowrare Tracker organ was installed. The origins of the organ are unknown but it is Melvin R. Vender, pastor believed to have come from a emeritus, who served from church in Pontiac and may have been in another church in Detroit earlier.

The organ was probably constructed during the 1840's, and is valued at about $50,000. The company which manufactured the organ flourished in Europe during the 15th and 16th centuries.

"The Tracker organ is noted for its rich pipe sound and mellow tones," Rev.

The organ has also been recognized by J. Paul Schneider of the State Organ Historical Society. Schneider is compiling a list of existing Tracker organs in the state.

THEMES

The church's centennial celebration is being built around three basic themesheritage, horizon and festival. The heritage theme includes several projects.

Among them are establishing a church organ fund and an evaluation of the instrument to see what should be done with it, Rev. Capps said.

Another project will be establishing a historical showcase in the church annex to display church documents and pictures. A hand-made quilt, with names of all the families in the church, is currently being made and will also be displayed in the showcase.

The horizon theme which includes becoming involved in a three-year "risk evangelism'' establishing a bell choir, updating the building and applying a recently-established endowment fund. Festival includes the two special Sunday services. At the first century mark, Rev. Capps sees a strong, growing congregation. Its latest surge began shortly before he was appointed pastor in November, 1975, church elders committed themselves to major renovations in the building.

Since Rev. Capps has been in Cass City, the church has re-established its Sunday School and choir and taken on several new families. He sees part of the church's strength in diversity.

"Many churches worship sameness," he says. "Our strength comes from the differences within it from conservative to liberal.

"We have wide

ferences in interests, abilities and income. But we've been able to utilize all the differences for the common ministry.'

He points to the involvement of church members in community leadership as a sign that the church is alive and takes part in Cass City.

'We take an interest in the community and we see this as an affirmation of our faith,' he says.

PART OF First Presbyterian church's centennial observance includes production of this unique guilt. The leaves carry names of families in the church. Shown working on the quilt are (from the left) Mrs. Rita Capps, Mrs. Norma Wallace, Mrs. Karen Fischer, Mrs. Mary Ann Opanasenko and Mrs. Marsha Krider. The quilt will be displayed in a showcase at the church.

Pastor Lloyd Streeter left the community this week and he was recalling the stands and the turmoil created as he spearheaded for changes at the school.

He was a spokesman for a group who were shocked at the language and the sex scenes in a school library book, "Acapulco Gold".

The group stormed the school board and demanded that the book be banned from the library. It took several meetings and heated discussion before a compromise was worked out and the book placed in a special spot with safeguards before it could be available to students.

Significant, perhaps, is the fact that "Gold" is not on the library shelves today.

That was Mr. Streeter's first brush with the school. Another came when he led another group protesting the school dress code. He wasn't as successful with this one as school officials pointed to the law and said that dress standards suggested were probably illegal.

It's sure that the former pastor of the First Baptist church in Cass City would feel the same today as he did when the issues first sparked the community into two

What would be different is the method. He's worked for his convictions but without the strident campaigns that marked his sortie into the affairs of the community several years ago.

That's a hard question to answer, he says. Several persons have asked me and the best answer that I can give is that it is the will of Another pastor here may bring different emphasis to his ministry and further enrich the congregation.

It's been rewarding for me here, he says, and I appreciate the many fine remarks of members of the church that highlighted the farewell open house Sunday.

In his 712 years, Mr. Streeter can point to statistics that indicate he has done his job. Church Sunday School attendance is up 23 per cent. Church attendance is up 32 per cent in the regular service and 33 per cent in the evening service. Membership has increased 51 per cent. Finances are up 80 per cent from 1969. While finding it hard to pull up stakes (Cass City is home to us now, he says) he looks Leaving has not been a sudden decision. Mr. Streeter told his congregation months ago that he felt it was time to leave and that he was looking for a new congregation.

of supporters of the millage would take place Friday at his house. Without the 6.25 mills, the district is left with only 17.25 mills for operations. With the amount of a tax anticipation loan being based on 50 per cent of a district's millage times its state equalized valuation, he said the district would not be able to borrow enough money because of the reduced millage to continue school to December, when property tax revenue starts coming in.

In answer to a direct question from a board member about the effect if the millage isn't passed the next time, the superintendent replied, imagine we shut the school Board members and their supporters in the audience speculated that one reason for the millage defeat was that for legal reasons, the ballot proposal said the 6.25 mills was an increase instead of a decrease, which caused some voters to be misled.

Concern was also expressed about the effects of literature passed out by opponents of the millage, which stated that the levy meant an increase in

One of the opponents of the millage renewal, Keith Goslin, told the Chronicle he thought one reason for the defeat was the district's loss of $40,000 in state aid.

Another factor was the district's dispute with a state education department official over when he could examine the district's financial records, which shows, he said, they must "have something to hide.'

Lastly, he claimed, because of increased assessments, the district will have more revenue next year even with the millage defeat.

Goslin said his group will oppose the millage renewal when it comes up on the ballot

A total of 965 persons voted in the election, out of about 1,050 registered, according to Erickson

West Michigan good bike route

Rolling countryside, steep hills, winding roads and the meandering Muskegon River make a 70-mile route through western Mecosta and Newaygo counties one of Michigan's most interesting bicycle trips, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

From Big Rapids' Ferris State College, the circle tour climbs, winds and dips along M-20 through open and heavily treed areas before connecting with M-37 and taking pedal pushers to the cities of White Cloud and Newaygo.

terrain changes abruptly to include the Muskegon River, which traces the 16-mile southern part of the journey. Bicyclists are taken over the river's widest stretches at Croton and Newaygo dams.

The final portion is as interesting as the beginning and cyclists requiring a night's sleep can stop at one of the area's state or private campgrounds. Motels also are available at Newaygo, White Cloud and Big Rapids.

M-20 is an excellent road for riders since it is seldom used by motorists from Big Rapids to White Cloud because of its hills and hairpin curves. Three steep hills await cyclists upon leaving Big Rapids. Once leaving Mecosta and entering Newaygo county, there are about three miles of tree-lined highway. At Woodville, a tiny community marked only by a closed service station about eight miles west of Big Rapids, the terrain becomes gently rolling until reaching M-37 north of White Cloud.

Two miles north of White Cloud on M-37 is an old frame house with hundreds of antiques and old farm machinery scattered on the front lawn. This is a good spot to stop and browse.

The White Cloud Airport is situated one mile farther south. A 15- to 20-minute pleasure flight around the area costs $5. Airplane rides are available daily from 8 a.m. until dark.

White Cloud has a wellkept city park on M-37 with picnic tables, charcoal grills and shuffleboard courts. For those wishing to camp, White Cloud State Park is located on M-20, just outside the city browsing After through the downtown sections, bikers can begin the 12-mile trip to Newaygo on rolling M-37.

To enter the Newaygo area, bikers cross a narrow twolane bridge spanning Penover Creek and continue straight on Croton Road. To visit Newaygo, bikers must turn right and cross the Muskegon River bridge.

Along Croton Road, cyclists pedal uphill one-quarter-mile. After conquering the trip's steepest grade, bikers can enjoy a magnificent view of

The Department of Michigan convention was announced for July 14-17, to be held in Lansing.

Business included election of officers for the coming vear. Elected were: president, Mrs. Reva M. Two parks are located here. Shaw Park has picnic tables for lunch breaks while the adjacent Henning County Park has space for camping, with a boat launching ramp, baseball fields, tennis courts and rest rooms nearby.

Riders must pedal eight miles over gentle to steep terrain before reaching Croton Dam, where the Muskegon widens. Croton Township Park offers overnight camping facilities.

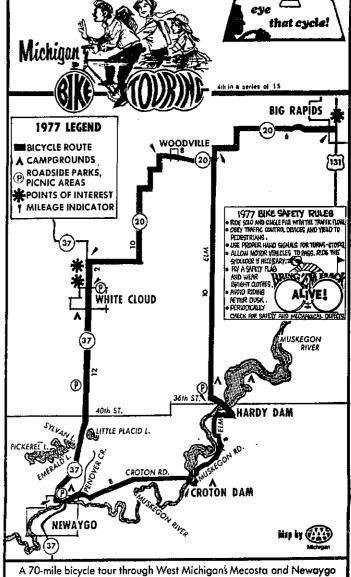

The eight-mile stretch from Croton Dam to Hardy Dam is fairly hilly. Unlike Croton Dam, which must be viewed from a distance, bicyclists go over Hardy Dam. The view here is panoramic as the river widens to a mile across.

There is a roadside park immediately after crossing the dam. Campers will find 99 wooded campsites at Newaygo State Park, located about three miles from Hardy Dam on 36th and 32nd streets.

After crossing the dam, bicyclists must turn right on Elm Street. A rusted-out sign and grocery store are the only markers. Bikers travel 10 miles over fairly steep countryside to rejoin M-20 and take the final six miles back to Big Rapids. Signs directing travelers to several private campgrounds along the western edge of the Muskegon River are located along Elm.

Bicyclists should pace themselves according to their ability. The League of American Wheelmen estimates the average bicyclist can cover 35 to 50 miles a day with ease. A card and pamphlet containing bicycle safety trips are available free at all Automobile Club of Michigan offices.

counties travels through some of the state's most picturesque rolling countryside and offers a bankside look at the beautiful Muskegon River. The tour follows a winding course punctuated by steep, hilly terrain through the Big Rapids, White Cloud and Newaygo areas. State, county and private campgrounds dot the route with motel accommodations also available. Except for the 12-mile stretch of M-37 between White Cloud and Newaygo, most of the route is lightly traveled by autos. Main points of interest noted by Automobile Club of Michigan include Ferris State College at Big Rapids and Hardy and Croton dams in southeastern Newaygo County. At White Cloud, there is an antique farm and an airport offering airplane rides.

SSI payments increase in July

Basic Federal supplemental security income (SSI) payments will be increased starting in July to keep up with the cost of living, according to Helen M. Bivens, social security field representative in Saginaw. The SSI program pays monthly checks to people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 and over or blind or disabled. The amount people get depends primarily on other income they might have and their living arrangements.

"The maximum Federal payment people could receive under the SSI program has been $167.80 a month for one person and $251.80 for a couple," Bivens said. "Starting in July, those amounts will go to $177.80 and $266.70. People who get SSI payments don't have to do anything to get the raise. Any increase due will be added to checks automatically.

A cost-of-living increase will also be added to social security retirement, disability, and survivors benefits, starting with checks delivered in July.

Social security checks count as income under the SSI program, "People who have been getting both social security and SSI payments may have their eligibility for SSI or their SSI payment amount affected by the increase in security benefit social amounts," Bivens said.

People can get information about SSI at any social security office.

The SSI program is administered by the Social Security Administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Wel-

LETTER TO

EDITOR

Gratitude offered for support

Dear Chronicle,

Would you please express my gratitude to the people of Cass City for their support of our uniform drive. The uniforms are finally ordered and are promised in time for fall. It was a hectic year and I know that some people hated to see a band member coming. However, when the Cass City Marching 100 appears next year I think it will have been worth the trouble.

To list everyone who donated time, effort, or money would probably look like the new Cass City census, I would like to thank a few of the people who were instrumental (pardon the pun) in our project: B.A. Calka for starting the drive off with a generous donation, Dale Deering for his coupon project, the uniform committee for all their time and efforts, the Cass City School Board for its support, and the Charles Carpenter family for the donation of the prize pig for our successful raffle.

Without doubt I have forgotten someone who deserves to be mentioned--I apologize and hope they will receive their reward in the satisfaction of a job well done.

I am sure the marching Red Hawks' pending performances will display a new pride and level of performance due to the obvious interest in our program.

By the way, speaking of performances, you might be interested to know that the Cass City Red Hawk band was one of the 50 bands selected from over 150 to attend the University of Michigan Band Day next fall. Due to ticket sales, U of M has reduced the size of Band Day by 50 per cent. Thanks again.

> Sincerely, George L. Bushong Director of Bands Cass City Public Schools

Gavel Club ox roast big success

The Hills and Dales General Hospital building fund is more than $1,000 richer, thanks to Saturday's ox roast sponsored by the Cass City Gavel Club.

Approximately 475 persons attended the first-time ever event, held at the Colony

The proceeds will go towards the Gavel Club's $2,500 pledge to the hospital's building fund. As the event was considered a success, the club plans to make the project an annual event, with proceeds going towards its present and future commitments.

Entertainment was provided at the ox roast by the Dick Stevenson Trio and "Windfall," with a special guest appearance by Jim Kot. former Cass City High School band director, who has played with Doc Severenson and Henry Mancini.

Ox roast chairman was Anton Peters.
