

Shelter gets ok

Tuscola county will get $200,000 for construction of a new animal shelter, and the county road commission, $144,000 for reconstruction of a road, the county board of commissioners decided Tuesday.

For county projects, the county is receiving $344,000 in federal public works funds, which have to be split between county government and the road commission.

According to Maynard McConkey of Cass City, county board chairman, the commissioners decided it was difficult "to build part of a building," so decided to keep enough money to pay the entire cost of constructing the animal shelter. Some county funds may be needed to equip the new structure, however.

The animal shelter will replace the present one on land leased from Caro, which the village may need to expand its nearby sewage treatment plant.

The road commission sought $385,000 in public works funds to rebuild part of Vassar Road into a Class A all-weather road from M-46 north to the site of a new elevator.

The $144,000 the road commission will receive, McConkey said, will allow it to do part of the reconstruction.

Commissioners met in the morning with road commission engineer Robert Wellington to discuss the public works funds, bridge projects for the coming year and the layoff of road commission employees. (An article on the layoffs appears elsewhere in the Chronicle.)

Commissioners appointed Don Graf as head of the county equalization department, replacing the late Mac O'Dell. Graf had been an assessor in the department. His salary will be $15,500 a year, plus fringe benefits.

Graf learned Tuesday that he had passed his level 3 assessor's examination, which he took recently, and is mandatory for heads of equalization departments.

Commissioners met with the new director of the Thumb District Health Department (Tuscola and Lapeer counties), John Niederhauser, formerly from Ottawa County. He replaces Bruce Bragg, who left for a job elsewhere.

The department is now looking for a new medical director, who must be a doctor.

Four bids were received for a van to be equipped as a mobile crime lab for the sheriff's department. Burton-Moore Ford, Inc., of Caro, was awarded the bid, for $8,689, with delivery in one week.

The other bids were lower, however, one bidder could not promise a delivery date and the other two didn't meet specifications.

Commissioners signed a lease with the department of social services for continuation of its using space in the building also housing the health department until its new building on M-81 is ready in late fall.

Commissioners also decided to spend $3,000 for construction of new toilet facilities at Vanderbilt County Park near Quinacasse. Comprehensive Employment and Training Act-funded employees will build the structure.

DROWNING SCENE -- Taking of the drowning victim last Thursday at Kingston Hills Camp, Sara Jane Stutz, to Caro Community Hospital was delayed, sheriff's deputies reported, when the first ambulance to arrive had engine trouble. A second ambulance then had to be called. Revival efforts at the hospital continued until 6:18 p.m., about two hours after the child drowned. (Neitzel photo)

Decides to take bids

Village council switches on industrial park installation

The Cass City Village Council Tuesday night reversed itself from action it took a week earlier and decided to advertise for bids for installation of water and sewer lines in the industrial park in the southwest corner of the village.

Provided the action was legal and had the okay of the Farmers Home Administration (FHA), the council voted at the special meeting June 21 to award the work to two local contractors.

The council took the action after the Cass City Industrial Development Corp. made a verbal agreement with the contractors, Phil Brack and Andy Barnes, to have them do the work.

Although a letter was received from the FHA during the week stating that bids were not required if the project cost less than $50,000 -- the agency is providing $45,000 for the project; the development corporation the rest -- Village President Lambert E. Althaver recommended the council advertise for bids locally.

First, he said that in checking the state law, he found the council's 3-1 vote in favor of not seeking bids did not constitute a legal majority. Two trustees were absent last week.

Secondly, he explained after the meeting, it was thought a week ago that an industrial firm was interested in locating in the park this summer. That is no longer the case, so the project isn't as urgent as it was thought.

The project calls for installation of 1,500 feet of 12-inch sewer line and 1,200-feet of 8-inch water line.

The bids will be opened at the next regular council meeting, July 26.

INSURANCE

The council was informed that Farm Bureau Insurance, after being contacted by state Sen. Alvin DeGrow's office, has now agreed to provide auto and workers compensation insurance for another year.

Farm Bureau provides all of the village's insurance needs, with June 30 marking the end of the second year of what was to be a three-year package.

However, the company had informed the village that it wouldn't provide auto and workers compensation coverage for a third year, although the rest of the package would continue.

The village protested, ultimately to the state senator's office.

The total insurance package will cost the village about $13,000 this year, as opposed to about $10,000 last year.

TREATMENT PLANT

The council received a report from wastewater treatment plant superintendent Nelson Willy that monitoring at the Wesley's Quaker Maid plant showed that in comparison to a year ago, when the plant was using 16-19 per cent of the wastewater plant's flow capacity, the average is down to around 5 per cent. This month the figure has been 4.4 per cent.

Althaver said the reason for the drop is that the company has installed a recirculation system in its plant to reuse water.

He also reported that a step II grant from the federal Environmental Protection Agency, to pay for designing of the treatment plant expansion and improvements, may be approved as soon as next week. After that, a special council meeting may be called in July to discuss "where do we go from here?"

LANDFILL

The council received a letter from Roy Messer, Elmwood township supervisor, asking that township residents be allowed to use the Cass City village landfill, with residents either paying on a per-load basis or the township paying on a per capita basis.

The Thumb District Health Department is closing the Elmwood landfill, as well as six others in the north part of the county, for health reasons.

Council members voted to accept Messer's proposal on the same basis as the three other area townships -- Novesta, Ellington and Elkland -- currently use the village landfill. Elmwood will have to pay $3.75 per resident, prorated for a half-year, which will allow either residents to use the landfill directly or a private contractor picking up trash in the township to use it.

The council also authorized advertising for bids for digging of a new trench at the landfill. The trench will take about one year to fill with trash.

Road commission axes 30 employees

The Tuscola County Road Commission Friday laid off 30 employees for an indefinite period. It appears some won't get their jobs back.

The main impact felt by the general public, according to James Miklovic, the road commission's clerk, will be those persons who travel on unpaved roads. Grading and bringing (to keep down dust) won't be done as often.

Patching on paved roads will be done when needed, but it likely will take longer before workmen get to each job.

Those laid off were laborers and equipment operators. A total of 48 laborers, equipment operators and mechanics remain on the job.

Those working and the ones laid off belong to the Tuscola County Road Commission Employees Association.

Of the 30, according to road commission engineer Robert Wellington, 25 were paid mostly with federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) funds. The other five were regular employees.

According to the commission's contract with the employees association, layoffs were made on the basis of seniority.

CETA funds pay up to $10,000 in annual salary. Wellington said a few employees made less than that but most made more, the supplement being paid by the road commission.

mission.

It appears likely that many of those CETA employees won't get their jobs back.

Frank Lenard, director of the Thumb Area Consortium, which coordinates the CETA program, told the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners Tuesday that the 25 positions allocated to the road commission can now be allocated to other governmental units in the county who want to hire workers after the federal funds.

The primary reason for the layoffs, Miklovic said, was lack of money. As of June 14, the road commission was 22 per cent over budget for the fiscal year, which ends Dec. 31.

A related factor was lack of work, mainly due to townships cutting back on the amount of work they have done by the road commission, which meant less work for its employees to do.

Wellington said that the townships don't decide on what work they want done until May or June, after their annual meetings in April.

Although it appeared the road commission was going to have financial problems, he explained, the severity of the problem and the resulting need for layoffs couldn't be known until after the townships decided what road work they wanted done. "You don't enjoy laying people off," he commented.

Even with CETA paying a large part of 25 employees' salaries, the layoffs mean a savings to the road commission in terms of equipment not being used.

The townships may have cut back some on road work due to their own financial problems. In addition, Miklovic said, some are having some work done by private contractors instead of by the road commission.

For instance, one township is having a private contractor haul gravel. The contractor has larger trucks than those used by the road commission, thus can do the work at less cost.

Other reasons for the financial problems, the clerk explained, included snow removal this past winter costing more than was budgeted, despite a supplement from the county board, and increases in the cost of supplies and equipment.

Revenue hasn't increased as rapidly as expenses, he said.

Both Miklovic and Wellington indicated that the future is unsure, that, in the words of the clerk, "we'll just wait and see." He added that further layoffs are possible "if we don't accomplish what is anticipated (in saving money)."

Efforts by the Chronicle to contact William Stewart, the president of the employees association, were unsuccessful. He is one of the 30 who were laid off.

Rescue efforts futile

4-year-old girl drowns in pool

Four-year-old Sara Jane Stutz of Kingston drowned Thursday afternoon, June 23, in a swimming pool at Kingston Hills Camp on Kingston Rd.

She was found in the bottom of the pool by her mother, Carol J. Stutz, who was the camp nurse.

Revival efforts by the camp's assistant director, assisted by a sheriff's deputy, and later at Caro Community Hospital, all proved unsuccessful.

Mrs. Stutz told deputies that she had left her daughter in the camp's main building, along with all other youngsters, for a 4 p.m. program.

When she returned a few minutes later, she didn't see her daughter, so started looking for her. She found her about 4:15 or 4:20 at the bottom of the pool.

Louis Flores, 18, of Detroit, heard the mother's screams and ran to the pool and pulled the youngster to the surface. The camp assistant director, Richard Hill, began revival efforts.

Deputies reported that the pool was fenced but were unable to determine if the gate had been open or closed. All youngsters in the camp and staff members were in the main building for the 4 p.m. program when the drowning occurred.

Revival efforts at the Caro Community Hospital continued until 6:18 p.m.

School transfer arguments heard

The Michigan Court of Appeals in Lansing Friday heard arguments in the appeal of the denial by an Ingham County Circuit Court judge of the transfer of the so-called "Goslin parcel" from the Owendale-Gagetown to the Cass City school district.

The lawyer for Keith Goslin and other affected property owners who are making the appeal, James Barley of Howell, said that no date was announced when the appeals court will make its decision. Based on past practice, he estimated it will do so in about 30 days.

In addition to Mr. Barley, also presenting arguments before the court Friday were James F. Schouman of Dearborn, attorney for the Owen-Gage district, and Charles Keeley, attorney for the state board of education.

The case involves the request of Goslin and several others in the northwest corner of Elmwood township to have their properties transferred from the Owen-Gage to the Cass City district.

The request was initially rejected by the Owen-Gage school board and then by the boards of education of the Tuscola and Huron County Intermediate School Districts.

The property owners appealed to the state board, which approved the property transfer May 19, 1976.

The school district then appealed to Ingham County Circuit Court, the state board action having taken place in PAPER PICK UP -- Weekly pick up of newspapers by Human Development Commission SPEDY workers began in Cass City Wednesday, June 29, and will continue through August. Five of the workers in the recycling project are from Cass City, including, from left, Dave Keyser, Terry Bruce, his brother Tim, and Clayette Lane. The fifth Cass City worker is Tim Fortson.

Newspaper recycling starts

Pick-up of newspapers in Cass City for recycling began this week by youngsters employed in the Summer Program for Economically Disadvantaged Youth (SPEDY).

SPEDY is a federally-financed program for low-income youth ages 14-21, who are paid the federal minimum wage of $2.30. The program is coordinated by the Human Development Commission (HDC) in Caro.

Six youngsters plus a driver will be working in the newspaper pick-up project, of which five are from Cass City: Tim Fortson, Dave Keyser, Clayette Lane and brothers Terry and Tim Bruce.

Papers will be picked up once a week in Cass City, Bad Axe, Vassar and Sandusky. Pick-up day in Cass City will be on Wednesdays, starting this week.

The program will end approximately the last week of August. If it is a success, however, according to Judith A. Murphy, commission education and training director, it is hoped a means can be found to continue the program throughout the Thumb.

Cass City residents were notified of the existence of the program via notices hung on their doorknobs last week by the SPEDY workers.

Persons with newspapers to be picked up should leave them by the curb in time for early pick-up Wednesdays. The papers must be tied in bundles or stuffed in grocery bags. During wet weather, they should be put in plastic garbage bags. No magazines will be accepted.

Villages other than the above-mentioned four have been notified of the project, according to Ms. Murphy. If persons in those communities wish, they can collect and store the papers for pick-up later.

Those with large quantities requiring special pick-up can contact the HDC in Caro at 673-6153.

The newspapers will be sold by the HDC to an Indiana firm which will convert them into cellulose insulation for homes. The firm will pick up the collected papers in Caro.

Ms. Murphy said it is hoped that possibly $7,000 can be made from the sale of the collected newspapers. At $30 per ton plus $500 for expenses, that means that 250 tons of papers will have to be collected in order to make the $7,000.

Use of a van and trailer for the project is being donated by an individual in Caro. The SPEDY workers are paid with federal funds.

The proceeds will be used either as a local match to receive federal funds for an HDC program or most likely, to purchase insulation for Project TEAM, the agency's home weatherization program.

According to figures supplied by the insulation firm buying the papers, one ton of old newspaper converted into cellulose insulation can save 1,100 gallons of fuel annually in a home. One semi-trailer load of newspaper converted into the insulation is enough for 20 average-size homes, which will save 312,000 cubic feet of natural gas or 260 tons of coal.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

That new man at the Chronicle's editor's desk is Mike Eliasohn (pronounced like Elias of fast food chain fame). He comes to town from Monroe where he worked for the Evening News.

If you haven't seen him yet his picture appears over his column that starts this week on page 5.

Ah! A friendly small town. Karen Fischer, one of many quilting for the celebration at the Presbyterian Church in Cass City, reports this good deed.

The group was hustling to prepare the quilt for the first Sunday celebration and ran out of colored thread.

First call was to Gerald Prieskorn to see if he would open Ben Franklin. He would, but had no stock of the right color.

Prieskorn did the ladies a turn by finding Bill Kritzman at the golf course (where else) and he went to his store for the thread and the quilt was ready and waiting when the festivities began.

Okay, I don't mind telling one on myself. Last Sunday I went to Flint to buy a set of golf clubs. The type I wanted was available in last year's model at a savings of $60 over the 1977 edition.

The pro took me to the driving range to check my swing and after two hits immediately suggested that I buy last year's model and spend the 60 bucks saved on golf lessons.

Remember please that Monday is the Fourth of July. With the Monday holiday, the Chronicle loses an important production day. All deadlines have been advanced a day. Your usual fine cooperation will be appreciated.

According to the present schedule announced by Ken E. Jensen, administrator at Hills and Dales General Hospital, construction financed by the recent campaign will start in November.

Since final drawings and approval by the state is yet to be completed it will be surprising if hammers are pounding in 1977.

Anytime governmental bureaucracy is involved be that it will take longer than anyone can reasonably expect.

Evidently folks in this area like moonlight bargains. Participating merchants report gratifying response to the bargains offered for three hours last Thursday.

Now for the commercial: nearly all of the print advertising for the event came to readers in the Chronicle. End of plug and end of column.

DITCH DIGGING -- Tuscola County Road Commission workmen last week removed a clogged drain tile along the south side of M-81 between Dutcher and Akron roads and replaced it with the new tile seen in the foreground. In addition to installing the new tile, a few hundred feet of the open ditch was cleaned out, with about a quarter-mile to be cleaned out later with a larger excavating machine. The tile enabled a farmer to cross the ditch to get to his field but soil eroding from the field clogged the tile, necessitating installation of a new one to prevent flooding. Cost of the two-day project, according to road commission foreman Bill Heinlein, was about $600 to $700, paid by the Department of State Highways as M-81 is a state road. State highways in the county are maintained by the road commission under contract with the highway department.

At Cass City park

Churches combine for 2nd 'heritage' worship

Cass City churches will be repeating an event Sunday, held for the first time last year as part of the community's bicentennial celebration. The community worship service will start at 11 a.m. near the pool in the Cass City Recreational Park. Bleacher seats will be provided.

In case of rain, the service will take place in the Campbell Elementary School gymnasium.

General chairman is the Rev. Russell Stanley of the Church of the Nazarene.

His daughter, Joyce, will be soloist at the service. The Good Shepherd Lutheran church choir will sing.

Four ministers will give the sermon, each speaking on something related to the nation's heritage.

The Rev. Byron Hatch of the Trinity United Methodist church will speak about the Declaration of Independence.

The Rev. Harry Capps of the First Presbyterian church will discuss President Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation.

The subject of the Rev. Robert Taylor of the Cass City Missionary church will be the Statue of Liberty.

The Rev. Eldred Kelley of the Salem United Methodist church will talk about the American flag.

The Rev. James Van Dellen of the Good Shepherd Lutheran church will begin the service. The Rev. Charles Thompson of the Mizpah Missonary church will end it. Some participating churches will be holding their own services prior to the community service; others will not.

The organ to be used at the service is being donated by the Kingston United Methodist church. Use of the public address system is being donated by Gary Bader.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

More than once I've been accused of being a male chauvinist. Usually by my wife. But what does she know?

But there I go again. Getting off the subject. It's related I guess, but not really the main thrust of these little pearls that I send your way.

This discourse was triggered by an article in a metro daily about a court case. The United States Circuit Court of Appeals heard a charge of discrimination by Victoria Ann Cape because girls don't play basketball with the same rules as boys in Tennessee.

I side with Ms. Cape. In Tennessee they still play basketball like they did in Michigan 35 years ago.

Three girls on one side of the center line and three on the other. Only the forwards shoot and much of the time the girls stand around waiting for the ball to get in their court.

They played that way when I was in high school and it was a dull, dull game.

The reason given for these rules is that boys' basketball is too strenuous for the girls. I can hear the laughter now of 50 or more girls in every Michigan school that participate in sports.

You'd have a hard time convincing them (or me) that playing basketball according to boys' rules was any more strenuous than girls participating in the mile or 2-mile run . . . or the shot put or discus throw for that matter.

It's never been proved that healthy teen-age girls are more susceptible to injury from athletics than healthy teen-age boys.

Girls' basketball has come a long way in a few short years in the Thumb. Frankly, for me it's still got a way to go to generate the interest that the boys' game does.

And judging by the crowds at the games I stand with the majority here.

But it's a lot more interesting today than it was four years ago when the girls couldn't make a lay-up one handed and thought their left hand was for keeping their hair in place.

Every year they become more skilled and therefore more interesting.

More important in the long run is that it is starting to do for the girls what it has always accomplished for the boys.

It gives school a new dimension for a selected group of students that they would not otherwise have.

The more interest shown by the fans, the better the reward for the participants.

There's no chance that the girls' game will revert back to the 1940's here . . . it's growing by leaps and bounds under the regular basketball format.

If the school moguls in Tennessee could visit Michigan during the season and see the results of the girls playing "boys' rules" it wouldn't take a court case to make them switch systems.

It doesn't take a genius to recognize a good thing when he sees it.

"If It Fitz. . ."

I'll never be rich

By Jim Fitzgerald

It is probably fitting that the Wall Street Journal should confirm what I've always suspected—I am never going to be rich.

A Journal article said most high-powered executives get that way by saving minutes. You know . . .

They dictate into recorders while flying. They shave and read stock reports while being chauffeured along freeways. They eat lunch at their desks—or with clients while scribbling $1 million figures on the table cloth.

Time is money; don't waste it.

The Journal told about a Detroit physician who used to have a tank of tropical fish in his office. He got rid of the fish because he was wasting too much time talking about them with his parents. Joe Sick would come in and say, "What kind of fish is that red one?" instead of immediately plopping his broken leg on the table. The doctor had to answer, and there went two minutes, or $200.

The Journal also described a new startup desk which is popular with Big Business. It has a perch seat "so the executive will remain more alert and will be able to walk his visitors to the door without being trapped in a desk situation."

Oh me. I would not lie and tell you I wouldn't like to have a million bucks. I realize money doesn't buy happiness, but it certainly buys a lot of marvelous things that make me happy. I can be as ambitious and greedy as the next guy. Unless the next guy is one of those go-go minute counters described in the Journal.

Poor as I am, I feel sorry for a millionaire who hasn't got time to share his goldfish with a customer.

It was in 1973 that the New York Times described the typical day of a top White House aide: "Up before 7 o'clock, at his desk before 8, back home 12 hours later, he is the epitome of the nose-to-the-grindstone man the president likes, admires and appoints."

That White House aide's name was H.R. Haldeman. What this country needs is more sloth in the White House. If guys like Haldeman over start working 24 hours a day, the Republic may not survive.

Give me a White House aide who sometimes doesn't get back from lunch because of an exciting game of eight ball. A guy who goes home at 5 p.m. every evening and yells at his kids to stop watching TV and come to dinner. A guy who does no constructive work on Saturday but instead goes to baseball games or simply sits in the woods and watches the squirrels squirrel around.

I am sick of reading about congressmen who chin themselves 1,456 times before breakfast and then skip lunch so they can go to a gym and make their muscles sore.

It was easy to stifle a sob when I heard about the sweat-suited senator who was mugged while jogging through a Washington slum. What did the turkey expect, rose petals strewn in his path?

If God had intended man to swim or sink, He wouldn't have invented Ivory soap. The big shots should learn to float with the tide, coast in neutral and walk on the grass.

Relax. Sure, the fastest runner will get free TV time to explain his shortcuts. But what does it profit a man if he wins the sweepstakes but loses his place in line at the Laurel and Hardy Film Festival?

This nation rewards—and elects—men who never waste a second. Men who buy sex from their secretaries to save on mileage, and then go home and take a dictaphone to bed. This nation rejects men who loiter around pretty girls in the park, and waste lunch hours looking for old Fats Waller records in crummy second hand shops.

Life is a goldfish, and I must watch closely how it glitters and splashes before it slips away.

It should be the other way around. The ambitious men, with rowing machines and cots in their offices, have made a terrible mess of things. They have forgotten that noses weren't created for grindstones. Noses were created to smell a flower or nuzzle a little kid.

A lazy man knows about noses. And he knows that sometimes the greatest thing to do is to do nothing at all. Just sit and watch and remember nice things. Go fishing without a pole. Go walking without a sweatshirt.

Don't tell anyone, but I often let the phone ring on week ends. I realize it might be someone offering me gold. But they should call back on Monday.

No, I'll never be rich by Wall Street standards. I'll never make the White House except on guided tour. I don't have time.

Life is a goldfish, and I must watch closely how it glitters and splashes before it slips away.

Waste causes energy crisis

A majority of Americans, according to a recent national survey, believe that the real energy crisis consists of continually rising prices of energy supplies. They do not believe that the "crisis" exists because of a shortage of various fuels.

Jim Schwanitz, who sells used cars for a living, believes that a large part of the energy problem is due to waste.

"Our government is wasting piles of it (energy)," he said, "such as for shots to the moon."

But individuals also waste a lot of fuel, he continued.

Examples of such waste, he said, include people driving their cars a few blocks when they could walk and driving two or three times a day into town, when by planning ahead they could take care of all of their errands in one trip.

Even if all waste were eliminated, there might still be an energy problem, he feels, but the problem would not be as bad.

A resident of Pigeon, Schwanitz is a salesman at the recently opened B & W Auto Sales on Main Street in Cass City.

He and his wife, Lenore, have two children, Dena and James Jr.

Local 4-Hers join in state meet

Joining 4,057 other delegates from every part of the state, 20 Evergreen Guys & Gals 4-H members and leaders attended the annual exploration days program at MSU last week.

A three-day program, youngsters and leaders signed for various learning options of their choice. This year's theme was "A Time to Grow". After a full day of learning, the evenings were filled with many forms of entertainment, from dancing to a program at the planetarium. For many, the evenings were a chance to renew old acquaintances and develop new ones.

During the program, the district winners in the various 4-H project areas were interviewed and the state winners were announced at a banquet Friday evening. The only district winner this year representing Evergreen Guys & Gals was Steve Agar, in the wood science project.

It's impossible to find a good substitute for reliability.

Promotional booklets to be made

The Cass City Chamber of Commerce board of directors decided Monday night to have booklets printed to promote Cass City.

The booklets will be business-oriented for purposes of promoting the village to potential new businesses. They should be ready in one to two months.

Probably 1,000 copies will be printed, at a cost of $1,360, according to board secretary Bob Stickle.

He was elected to the position at the meeting, replacing Jim Ketchum.

Russ Schneberger and Richard Britt are to be notified they are now members of the board, to fill vacancies. They were first alternates in the chamber board election.

The beautification committee asked merchants to clean weeds from around the trees planted downtown and to keep the trees watered.

The list of non-member businesses to be contacted concerning chamber membership was divided among the board members.

The 1978 spring community banquet was scheduled for April 28.

The next board meeting will be July 25 at 7:30 p.m.

PEDALING AROUND

Getting shelved

By Mike Eliasohn

This is my third newspaper job in five years. Not that I was ever run out of town; I mention that only to point out that I have moved a lot.

And whenever I move, it is now traditional that soon afterwards, I get visited by my mother, father and sister.

The official purpose is for them to look over the new town. Actually, the real purpose is for my mother to make sure I get all the kitchen shelves and drawers lined with shelf paper.

After having labored many times lining shelves and drawers, I have now concluded that shelf paper had to be invented by a mother.

After all, what's the difference between putting dishes and pots and pans on a clean shelf or on clean shelf paper on top of a clean shelf?

It's just that using shelf paper denotes cleanliness and if it has anything to do with cleanliness, it had to be invented by a mother.

What amazes me after now having lined probably miles of shelves and drawers, is that I have yet to find a shelf or drawer that is the same width as the shelf paper. They were probably built by carpenters who had a secret grudge against their mothers.

Although my mother has corrupted me to the point that I do line all my shelves and drawers when I move into a place -- unless I can get my family to do it when they come for their traditional visit -- she still can't get over the fact that I am basically a slob.

For instance, when I first ventured out into life on my own, my mother thought I should have a bedspread.

Only after much arguing did I convince her that since I never make my bed -- other than once a week when I do my laundry; I may be a slob but at least I'm a clean one -- there was no sense in my having a bedspread.

I did lose the argument on curtains, though. In my last apartment, there were window shades there when I moved in but no curtains.

The only purpose of curtains, I felt, was to hang there and get dirty, but my mother thought otherwise, and since she paid for them, how could I argue?

I got my revenge though. In my 2 1/2 years in that apartment, they only got washed once -- after about 2 years.

As I said, I'm sloppy but clean. And unlike clothes and sheets, I don't wear curtains or sleep on them.

Piano selections were presented by Tammy Connolly, Paula Ewald, Randy Teichman, Whitney Walpole, Janie and Rob Hartwick, Sandy McDonald, Deanne Zmierski, Lori and Linda Whittaker, Norene Hartwick, Becky Speirs, Lori Ewald, Debbie Tuckey and Karen Wagg.

Judge denies plea for reconsideration of case

A motion for reconsideration of the sentence against Gary Tetreau, formerly of Cass City, was denied Monday by Tuscola County Circuit Judge Norman A. Baguley.

Tetreau was arrested May 10, 1974 on a charge of delivery of a controlled substance (phencyclidine). He was found guilty of the charge by a circuit court jury July 31, 1975.

He appealed to the state Court of Appeals and then to the state Supreme Court. Both affirmed the original conviction.

In denying the defendant's motion for reconsideration of the sentence, Judge Baguley confirmed his original sentence, made Sept. 8, 1975, for Tetreau of 1 1/2-7 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson.

Tetreau has been employed for the past 10 months as a labor foreman at a hospital construction project in Cheboygan.

Two Mayville youths, charged in connection with an April 30 break-in of a cabin on Phelps Lake Rd. in Dayton township, appeared before Judge Baguley Monday.

Michael E. Phelps, 18, stood mute to three charges of breaking and entering. A plea of innocent was entered and a pretrial hearing was scheduled for July 25. Bond of $1,000 was continued.

John A. Folsom, 17, pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling. The plea was accepted, with sentencing scheduled Aug. 8. Bond of $1,000 was continued.

Donald E. Lindsey, 33, of Davison, stood mute to a charge of arson in connection with the March 14 burning of a building on Boucher Rd., Otter Lake, in Watertown township. A plea of innocent was entered and a pretrial hearing scheduled July 25. Bond of $3,000 was continued.

2 fires occur on Thursday

Elkland township firemen responded to two calls Thursday.

At 11 a.m., they were called to the Greenleaf township hall on Gilbert Rd. in Huron county. Workmen clearing brush around the building started burning the cut-down brush and the fire spread to the surrounding grass.

Some cinders were blown onto the roof of the township hall. Firemen tore off some of the wood shingles to make sure the roof wasn't burning. There was smoke inside the attic.

At 4 p.m., firemen went to the Gerald Whittaker residence, 6766 Third St., where a riding lawn mower caught on fire while it was being used. Damage to the mower was estimated at $200.

Hot weather has found Cass City children flocking to the pool in record numbers. Approximately 150 local children have been using the facilities each afternoon.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

A trial blackout planned to embrace all five counties of the Thumb - Tuscola, Huron, Sanilac, Lapeer and St. Clair - will darken this area between 10:30 and 10:45 p.m., July 19.

Rainy weather and other unavoidable difficulties have delayed the work of paving M-81, five miles northeast of Caro.

Honoring Rev. and Mrs. Wendling H. Hastings, who are leaving Cass City for Lafayette, New Jersey, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald MacLachlan, who are moving to Bay City, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Law entertained a number of friends at their home.

Ex-resident named to council post

Thomas A. Jones of Okemos has been appointed executive director of the Michigan Planning Council for Developmental Disabilities.

He is a 1962 graduate of Cass City High School. He has a bachelor's degree and master's degree from the University of Michigan, both in social work, earned in 1966 and 1971, respectively. He completed a special program at Harvard University in health systems management in 1973.

His parents no longer live in Cass City.

He at one time served as director of the Thumb Area Family Counseling Center in Caro. Since 1975, he has been special assistant to the director of the Michigan Department of Mental Health.

Under direction of the council, recently appointed by Gov. Milliken, Jones and his staff will perform various duties, including preparation of a state plan dealing with developmental disabilities. The plan will include goals and objectives, identification of service gaps and determination of funding priorities.

The developmentally disabled include the mentally retarded and those with cerebral palsy, epilepsy, autism, dyslexia and related disorders of the nervous system.

Bean problems

By Don Kebler

I do not need to remind our navy bean producers of the bean problems we are seeing this year.

Some of the causes of poor emergence, stunting slow growth, we can diagnose and the symptoms can be caused by one or more reasons.

Perhaps the most prominent cause of sickly and dying plants is the large numbers of seed corn maggots causing destroyed seed or sickly weak plants. Plants with maggots in the stems usually die or never do amount to anything.

These maggots are found more in wet cold soils high in decomposing organic matter. They hatch from eggs laid by a small fly as early as early May in the soil. The flies are attracted to the soils with a strong odor of decomposing manure, heavy plowdowns of sod and even crop refuse.

The eggs hatch into maggots which if close to the seed, will burrow into the seed, feed, and change into a fly in about a 3-week period from egg to fly. Therefore, we could have three to five generations per year with the egg and pupae overwintering for next year.

One of the best natural ways to reduce maggot infestations is to plant shallow on a well prepared seed bed, sufficiently late to insure quick germination and emergence of the plant out of the ground.

Unfortunately we didn't have these conditions for quick germination partially due to a cold spell at the time of bean planting. Many producers experienced from one to three weeks time necessary to get their beans out of the ground.

The causes of this slow emergence could vary from planting too deep, overworking plowed ground to degrees of compaction and dry soil conditions.

Seed treatment with an accepted insecticide will help to control the maggot and once the seedling emerges from under the soil, maggots don't burrow into the underground stem portion.

Other non-insect caused bean problems are the usual soil compaction, cold soil temperatures, and some root rot. There is talk going around that our navy bean varieties have lost their genetic vigor. Maybe this is true but right now there is no research proof of such.

Let me say here, that where I have found maggot injury and asked producers if their seed was treated, their answer if treated, was yes. However, the seed tag says treated with captan alone or with streptomycin. Neither of these pesticides will control insects, only fungus and bacterial organisms on the seed coat are controlled by these respective pesticides.

Experience teaches that few ever get even by taking odds.

Pursuant to the resolution of the Village Council dated May 31, 1977, notice is hereby given that a petition from the Village Council for the enlargement of the Village of Cass City Village limits will be presented to the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners at their regular meeting on Tuesday, July 12, 1977, at 9:30 o'clock a.m. at the Commissioners Room of the Tuscola County Court House in Caro, Michigan. Any persons interested in said petition or who wish to object thereto, may appear before the Board of Commissioners at that time. The description of the property proposed to be annexed to the Village is as follows:

Fire trucks in parade

Both the Elkland and Gagetown fire departments were represented Saturday morning in the Michigan State Firemen's Association parade in Bad Axe, held as part of the organization's 101st annual conference.

Elkland was represented by a 1944 pumper, the department's oldest unit, driven by Chuck Hughes. Also, Roger Bergman drove his miniature Model T fire truck, which he won in a contest a few years ago.

Gagetown Fire Chief Chuck Wright drove the oldest truck his department still has in operation, a 1946 pumper.

More than 1,000 firemen from throughout the state attended the Wednesday through Saturday conference, headquarters for which was the Bad Axe fairgrounds.

A get-acquainted party Friday night and the annual banquet Saturday night were held at the Colony House near Cass City.

Clients beat lottery — but it was only for a day

Lady Luck has not been entirely on the state's side as it begins its first fling with a daily lottery.

On its first day, the numbers game drew $296,000 in bets, netting $222,000 for the state general fund.

The next day, the people were lucky and collected $25,947 more from the state than they bet.

"One of the exciting aspects of the game is that on certain days, the customers will beat us," said state Lottery Commissioner Gus Harrison after his bad luck.

The reason for the state's loss was that more people picked the winning numbers than the state had statistically planned on. A Lansing lottery agent had predicted the winning number - 137 - on television that day, and apparently people seized on it.

The agent says he plans no more predictions.

Numbers betting has been illegal in Michigan for a century.

VANITY PLATES WIN ATTENTION

There are about 13,000 people in this state "vain" and gussy enough to spend $25 for license plates that say something.

And for many of them, a lot gets said back by passing motorists.

Jack Waters of Birmingham, for example, gets lots of V for Victory signs because his plates read GO BLUE. But Dennis Burns of Lansing, an Ohio State University alumnus, gets other not-so-polite gestures for his GO BUCS plates.

Ginger Sharp of Lansing put I'M LOST on her plates and has found lots of unsought advice on how to get to anywhere. One woman coming out of church spotted the plates, insisted Ms. Sharp needed saving and went back into church to pray for her.

Money from the so-called "vanity plates" - which totals about $300,000-$400,000 a year - goes to clean up roadside litter.

Other appropo plates include A-A-A-G-H, belonging to a Birmingham doctor; AHCHOO for a Franklin doctor; and UNWED for a St. Clair Shores bachelor.

WATER RATES WRANGLE

A bill that has won House approval would give Detroit suburbs a bigger voice in how the Detroit Water Department is run. It also would require an annual audit of the giant system, which provides water to not only the city of Detroit but 93 other communities as well.

The measure is sponsored by a Redford lawmaker, John Bennett, who's tried to win approval for such measure before, but unsuccessfully.

Besides the audits, the bill would expand the Board of Water Commissioners - which basically sets rate hikes - from seven to nine members, with four elected from the suburbs. Suburbs buy water from the city at rates the board sets but have complained they do not have true representation on the board.

Some Detroit lawmakers say the bill would just harass the city. They were able to tag on a line that would force the state to pay for the annual audits and require suburbs to audit their own operations, too.

Water rates have been steadily rising in the Detroit area, and some angry suburbs are wondering if it might not be because the system is improperly run.

It provides water for about 40 per cent of Michigan residents.

GILL NET ISSUE STILL TANGLED

It was in 1974 that fishermen were first told they would be unable to use large mesh gill nets because the nets - while handy for catching whitefish - also killed lake trout, a favorite of sportsmen. Last week, the Department of Natural Resources ordered 38 fishermen who still have not complied with the rule to immediately stop using the nets.

But DNR officials are worried that the ban may be unenforceable. Fishermen have vowed to take the fight to court.

Some $1.5 million has been appropriated to, among other things, reimburse the fishermen for purchases of new gear or loss of fish they cannot catch because of the ban. But some fishermen say the formula for making the payments is unfair while others, who say they are Indians, claim 19th century treaty rights allow them to fish unimpeded by state fishing rules.

DNR officials say as long as the battle over the gill nets continues, millions of dollars spent on restocking the Great Lakes with trout will be swimming down the drain.

SUMMER HEALTH TIPS

Rules key to good vacation

By Frank Chappell, American Medical Association

The traditional summer vacation of the American family is highly recommended by your doctor.

The family needs to get away from customary home and office chores, forget day-to-day worries for a short time and generally get rejuvenated and ready to face another year.

Whether your vacation will be a short trip to a nearby lake, camping out in a national park, a plane trip abroad, or what have you, there are a few things to keep in mind that will help avoid having the holiday spoiled by illness.

Depending on where you're going, you may need some vaccination shots. Tetanus, certainly for anyone who expects to include some out-of-doors activities. Typhoid, if your journey includes areas where the water supply is uncertain. Ask your doctor about these, and possibly other immunizations.

The American Medical Association suggests that you remind yourself to use common sense about your vacation diet. Many a family trip has been spoiled by too many roadside hamburgers and soft drinks.

A sound rule while driving crosscountry is to eat lightly. Be cautious about heavy, rich meals, particularly if you're not accustomed to such fare at home.

Know what sort of climate you will encounter at your vacation spot and dress accordingly. It can get cold in the mountains at night, even in midsummer. Good walking shoes are important to the travel wardrobe.

If you wear glasses, take along an extra pair. Or at least a copy of your prescription. If you're taking a regular medication, make certain of your supply before you leave.

And, finally, don't overdo it. Almost no one other than a trained athlete is ready for 36 holes of golf or five sets of tennis under a broiling sun. Schedule your vacation to allow daily rest periods. Do most of the driving in the morning hours and stop for the day in early or mid-afternoon.

Your vacation should be a holiday for rest and relaxation. It should not be a grind that necessitates another vacation to rest up from the vacation.

Scout Camp July 11-15

The Mitten Bay Girl Scout Council's Riverdale Day Camp, near Owendale, will be in session July 11-15.

Girls, both Scouts and non-Scouts, are reminded that registrations must be mailed to the registrar, Mrs. Nancy Rocheleau in Owendale, by July 1. Volunteer leaders are also needed.

The camp will run daily from 9 a.m.-3 p.m., with an overnight camp for juniors and cadettes Wednesday, July 13.

The camp, according to Mrs. Rocheleau, will give girls the opportunity to learn in the out-of-doors and meet new friends.

Perry reunion held Sunday

The Joseph and Amanda Perry reunion was held Sunday, June 26, at the Phil Timko farm. A basket dinner, swimming, horseshoe and visiting highlighted the gathering.

In the absence of president William C. O'Dell, vice-president Lynn J. Perry was in charge of business with Mrs. Leta Gelatt, secretary and treasurer.

Lucy Hutchinson, who was unable to attend, was given honorable mention as the only older relative left in the Joe Perry family. A remembrance card was mailed to her.

There were nine cousins present of their generation. A total of 50 relatives attended. Get-well cards were sent to Mrs. Cecil Downing and Mrs. Velma Woodard.

Excerpts were read of a letter from Lily Pengilly of Cardiff, England, whom her cousins have never seen.

The oldest couple attending were Harry and Jessie Turner. The youngest child was Chad Aleksink, 16 months old. Lynn and Rachael Perry of Millersburg, Mich., came the farthest, 187 miles.

Hostess Jean Timko invited the family to return for the 1978 reunion to be held the Sunday following Father's Day.

Meeting was closed with prayer by Rev. Milton Gelatt.

Police chase suspect

Several injury mishaps among rash of accidents

Five persons were injured in an accident early Saturday in Almer township, of whom four are still hospitalized.

Two persons are still hospitalized, the victims of hit and run drivers last week.

Of the five injured early Saturday, four are members of the same family, Santos Zamora, 35, of Akron, and children Maricela, 16, Olga, 11, and Joseph, 12. All were transferred from Caro Community Hospital to Saginaw General Hospital, where all but Joseph, who was released Sunday, were reported in good condition Tuesday afternoon.

The other driver involved, Beatrice A. Jones, 63, of Caro, was reported in satisfactory condition Tuesday afternoon in Caro Community Hospital. Sheriff's deputies cited Mr. Zamora in the accident for disregarding a stop sign. They said Mrs. Jones was northbound on Colling Road when her car struck the Zamora vehicle, which was eastbound on Akron Road.

Harold DePottay, 61, of Vassar, was reported still in critical condition Tuesday afternoon in the intensive care unit of St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw.

Deputies reported he was traveling northeast on M-15 on his motorcycle just west of Vassar, Wednesday night, June 22, when his motorcycle was struck by a vehicle headed in the opposite direction. The driver fled the scene.

James K. Ewald, 17, of Caro, was riding his bicycle east on E. Dayton Rd., just east of M-24, about 10 p.m. Thursday, when a motorist struck his bike and sped away.

The youth was reported in satisfactory condition Tuesday afternoon at Caro Community Hospital.

Both hit and run accidents are still under investigation by the sheriff's department.

Nancy L. Hawkins, 21, of Unionville, was reported in fair condition Tuesday afternoon at Hills and Dales Hospital in Cass City.

Sheriff's deputies said she was eastbound on Gilford Rd., west of S. Kingston Rd., Sunday evening when her vehicle ran off the right side of the road, then crossed to the other side of the road into a ditch and struck a tree.

Roland L. Nicholas, 32, of 6627 Seed St., Cass City, was treated and released at Hills and Dales Hospital early Saturday morning after an accident on M-81.

Deputies reported he was eastbound, east of Dodge Rd., when his vehicle went off the north side of the road, hit a sign post, then slid sideways, hit a tree, and came to rest upside down.

Cass City police reported that Carl H. McComb, 18, of Caro, escaped injury in an accident at 12:30 p.m. Friday. They said he was westbound on Elmwood Rd. and started to turn right onto Cemetery Rd. His car crossed Cemetery and landed in a ditch on the west side of the road.

Charles A. Stover, 18, of 5654 Milligan Rd., Cass City, was ticketed by Cass City police Saturday evening on a charge of being unable to stop in an assured clear distance.

They said that Shirley A. Johnston, 49, of 4604 Oak St., Cass City, was eastbound on Main Street and while turning right into the service station at the corner of Seeger St., her vehicle was struck in the rear by the Stover auto.

Tyrus W. Hamel, 64, of Mayville, was ticketed by Caro state police last Thursday afternoon on a charge of violation of the basic speed law.

Troopers said Randy L. Barrigan of Caro was northbound on Cat Lake Rd. and was struck in the rear by the Hamel auto when he stopped at M-46. Hamel told officers a bee flew into his car and when he attempted to swat it, he braked too late to avoid hitting the other car.

State police reported that Thomas L. Tye, 37, of 3853 Cemetery Rd., Cass City, drove into the parking lot of the Crestwood Lounge, 1080 E. Caro Rd., Monday afternoon and struck a large concrete porch.

Mary A. Albin of 1988 E. Dayton Rd., Caro, sheriff's deputies reported, was headed northeast on M-81, north of Seeley Rd., early Sunday morning, when her car went off the left side of the road into a ditch and rolled over. She sought her own treatment for injuries.

Cass City police were to seek a warrant from the prosecutor's office for the arrest of a DeFord man after a chase that started in Caro early Tuesday.

A Caro police officer, Brad Owen, just getting off duty and reportedly still in uniform, started chasing the man in his private car. The chase led down M-81 to Deckerville Rd. to Cemetery Rd. into Cass City.

Cass City Patrolman Philip Klaus, while on patrol, was told there was an unmarked car chasing another car on Garfield St. He then saw one of the cars, the one driven by Owen, who stopped to tell Klaus what was happening.

Klaus returned to patrol, but was flagged down by two citizens, one who reported a reckless driver and the other who gave him the hub cap, which fell off the car being chased. He also identified the driver.

The Cass City officer was then dispatched to the John Rands residence at the northeast corner of Brooker and Third Streets. The car being chased, it was reported, was westbound on Third when the driver lost control while turning ing onto Brooker. He then drove across Rands' lawn to get back to Third St.

Klaus then drove down Main Street to Seeger Street, where he saw Owen with the hood of his car up, his car being halted by a broken generator belt.

Patrolman Donald Miller

Jr. said the department would seek a warrant from the prosecutor charging the DeFord man with either reckless driving or malicious destruction of property (Rands' lawn).

As of Tuesday afternoon, no warrant had been issued.

Name Thumb B baseball stars

Cass City failed to place a player on the Thumb B Conference all-star baseball team, reflecting the club's poor record in league competition.

The Hawks did place three players on the second team. They were Tony Doerr, sophomore outfielder; Jeff Hartel, junior catcher, and Rick Richards, senior pitcher.

The first team reflected the play of the teams they represented. Caro, Lakers and Bad Axe dominated the selections.

The team: outfielders - Dave Troyer, Bad Axe, Tom Binder, Lakers, and Dan Wade, Vassar.

Infield: Fred Schmitt, Bad Axe, Mark Geister, Marlette, Randy Romain, Caro, and Dan Fleming, Marlette.

Catcher: Dan Braden, Bad Axe.
Pitchers: Rick Boylan, Caro, Kurt Belew, Bad Axe, and Rick Maurer, Lakers.

Besides the Cass City players, others named to the second team were: outfielders - Rick Hendricks, Caro, and Matt Rodammer, Frankemuth.

Infield: Gary Banker, Sandusky, Todd Gunden, Lakers, Mark Bates, Vassar, and Bill Kovacs, Caro.

Catcher: Randy Ruth tied with Hartel.

Pitchers: Larry Eisner, Frankemuth, Bill Louks, Caro.

The honorable mention list: outfielders - Pat Flannery, Bad Axe, Greg Knechtel, Lakers, Greg Clurka, Marlette, Bob Hassler, Sandusky; infield - Mark Grabowski, Bad Axe, Doug Henry, Sandusky, Jim LePage and Mark Farver, both of Lakers; catcher - Scott Tyson, Vassar; pitchers - Mike Behr, Marlette, Jim Carlisle and John Solgat, both of Vassar.

Babe Ruthers on top of league

Cass City's number one baseball team is sitting on top of the Huron County Babe Ruth League after three games with a perfect record. Coach Dean Hoag's charges have combined good pitching with a potent hitting attack to chalk up the wins.

During the week Cass City garnered two wins. Bad Axe number 2 fell Monday, 14-4.

Ken Martin was in charge all the way as he gave up just three hits while striking out seven and walking one. Thygesen pitched for Bad Axe and couldn't find the plate. He walked 10.

Brian deBeaubien lashed out two hits to lead the way to the win. Helping with doubles were Tim Johnson, Tim Fahrner and Martin.

Wednesday, June 22, Port Hope fell 15-0 in a game called at the end of five innings.

Earny Stoutenburg hurled a no-hitter. He struck out nine and walked three in the five innings. Cass City collected 12 hits.

The game was decided in the second inning when Cass City scored seven times. Stoutenburg tripled, Fahrner doubled, Todd Comment doubled, Rusty Hoag tripled, Johnson doubled and Martin doubled in the rally.

In the third, Cass City scored four more times. A walk, an error and singles by Comment and Hoag highlighted the rally.

Four more runs in the fourth ended the scoring. Three errors and three hits highlighted the attack. Singles were picked up by Kevin Wagg, Mike Maxwell and Shawn Papp.

NUMBER 2 TEAM

Cass City's number 2 team is having a hard time breaking into the win column.

It looked as if the first win of the season was coming Friday against Bad Axe number one team.

Coach Clarke Haire's charges moved in front 15-4 after three innings only to lose 19-15.

Larry Harrison pitched the first four innings and Dan Dickinson finished to take the loss. T. Duggan was the winner.

For Cass City, Brad Hartel had two hits. Dickinson, Bob Paskowski and Faron Alexander each collected a single safety.

Cass City was held to two hits by K. Pichla as Uby won in six innings, 13-2.

Dickinson took the loss. He was hurt by too many errors by his teammates. Cass City's hits were picked up by B. Lapp, a double, and Alexander, a single.

Summer games open to all

Athletes ages 8-80 will have a chance to compete in the first annual Thumb Area Summer Games, July 23.

Events have been scheduled in various communities. Swimming competition will take place in the Helen Stevens Memorial Pool in Cass City.

Other activities will be softball, baseball, basketball, track and field, freestyle wrestling, and horseshoe pitching.

Rain date will be July 30. The event is based on the three-day Mid-Michigan Olympics, held each summer in Alma. Credit for the idea of holding a similar event in the Thumb is given to Steve Hoffman, director of community services for the Caro Community Schools.

The emphasis for the Thumb games will be on having fun, according to one of the organizers, Stevens pool director Linda Koepfen. There will be no community vs. community competition.

Swimming is the only event for which no advance entry is required. Registration deadline for other events is July 19.

As of now, there will be no entry fees. Community school programs are paying some expenses and additional funds may be raised by selling T-shirts.

After the final event, the track competition in Caro, contestants are invited there for a party and professional frisbee demonstration. Buses may be provided to take participants to Caro.

Team events will be softball, baseball and basketball.

Softball divisions, both slow and fast pitch, will be ages 10-12, 13-15 and 16 and over for girls and 13-15 and 16 and over for boys.

The only baseball division will be for boys ages 9-12.

The competition will be held in Vassar, with the first event starting at 8 a.m.

Teams wanting to compete must register with Jamie Smith in Vassar at 823-8904.
