WASH DOWN — Building supervisor Jim Fox was washing the walls last week in one of the stairwells at the Cass City Intermediate School. Holding the scaffold was Jim Dicks. Fox is also transportation director for the Cass City schools.

Summer about over; school starts soon

It won't be long now. Summer vacation is almost over and soon it will be back to books, football games, and homework for area students.

The first district in the area to begin the new school year will be Kingston, which has a half-day of classes Tuesday, Aug. 30. Ubyly also starts before Labor Day, Sept. 1.

The first day of classes in Cass City and Owendale-Gagetown is Tuesday, Sept. 6.

CASS CITY

Principals of the district's five buildings will be in their offices next week to register new students. Calling ahead to make an appointment is advised.

Room assignments for students at Campbell Elementary and the Intermediate School will be posted Thursday, Sept. 1. All sixth, seventh, and eighth grade students from Deford and seventh and eighth grade students from Evergreen will attend school in Cass City.

Classes start Tuesday, Sept. 6, with a full-day session, with the exception of Campbell Elementary kindergarten. Afternoon kindergarten there will meet Tuesday and Thursday; the morning group, Wednesday and Friday. Kindergarten at Deford and Evergreen will meet each morning that week.

Other than for kindergarten, the elementary school day will run from 8:25 a.m.-3:15 p.m.; intermediate, 8:25 a.m.-3:15 p.m., and high school, 8:35 a.m.-3:35 p.m. High School students should report the first day at 8:35 to the gymnasium for a general meeting.

The first few days, buses will travel the same route as last year with needed adjustments made as soon as possible.

Elementary lunch prices will be 50 cents; intermediate and high school, 55 cents, and adults, 73 cents.

New teachers have their orientation Aug. 31, with orientation for all teachers Sept. 1.

KINGSTON

Teachers report Aug. 29. Classes start the following day with a half-day session. The regular schedule for all grades except kindergarten is 8:30 a.m.-3:15 p.m.

Parents of kindergarten children will be notified by letter of the day and time for kindergarten classes. Kindergarten classes start Wednesday, Sept. 7.

Other than for kindergarten, students will have three full days of classes, Aug. 31-Sept. 2, and then be off until Sept. 7.

Buses will initially follow last year's routes. New students should be by the road by 7:30 a.m. to be sure of pick-up.

The elementary (grades K-6) and high school offices are open weekdays from 8 a.m.-3 p.m. for new students to register. Parents of kindergartners should bring their youngsters' birth and immunization records.

Lunch prices will be the same as last year -- 45 cents for students and 55 cents for adults.

OWEN-GAGE

Teachers and other staff members meet Sept. 1 in Owendale for a luncheon and meeting.

Classes for all grades except kindergarten start at 8:30 a.m., Tuesday, Sept. 6, with a full-day session. The school day will be from 8:30 a.m.-2:47 p.m. Elementary grades will start then, but as of last week, it hadn't been decided yet when the school day will end.

Kindergarten will not start Sept. 6. Parents of kindergartners will receive a letter notifying them of the time and section their child will be assigned to and other information.

Bus schedules will remain about the same as last year, although some routes have been changed slightly. The first week, students should be ready for pick-up by 7:30 a.m.

Due to the high school construction, the district is renting St. Agatha School in Gagetown this year. Previously, grades K-4 plus part of the fifth went to school in Gagetown; the rest of the fifth and K-12 in Owendale. This year, grades K-7 will go to school in Gagetown, 8-12 in Owendale.

Lunch prices have been raised five cents -- to 35 cents for grades K-6; 45 cents for 7-12, and 60 cents for adults.

High school students should pick up their assignments, books, and lockers according to the following schedule:

Monday, Aug. 29 -- Seniors, noon-3 p.m.

Aug. 30 -- All juniors and sophomores, A-L, 9:30 a.m.-3 p.m.

Aug. 31 -- Sophomores, M-Z, and all freshmen, 9:30 a.m.-3 p.m.

Sept. 1 -- Any students who missed the above dates and all new high school students, 9:30 a.m.-3 p.m.

New elementary students should come in or call to either Gagetown or Owendale before the start of school, if possible.

UBLY

New teachers meet Aug. 30 and all teachers Aug. 31.

Classes start with a full-day session Thursday, Sept. 1. Students in grades 7-12 should report to the gymnasium for a general assembly.

The school day in Ubyly will be 8:30 a.m.-3:34 p.m.

Letters have been sent to parents of kindergartners advising them which session their children will attend.

Bus routes will be similar to last year's. Lunch prices remain the same, 35 cents for elementary students, 40 cents for secondary students, and 60 cents for adults.

The Ubyly Community Schools have a new superintendent, David L. Landeryou. He had been principal of Ubyly Elementary School since March, 1971. He replaces Douglas J. Brownrigg, who resigned to become superintendent of the Pinconning schools.

The appeal must be made within 20 days of the Aug. 15

Owen-Gage board okays property vote, appeal

Owendale-Gagetown voters will go to the polls Oct. 22 in an election authorized by the school board Tuesday night for residents to decide whether property should be transferred from the district.

The board also approved an appeal to the Michigan Supreme Court on the recent appeals court decision okaying one transfer, were told the district will receive accreditation once the high school is finished, and tabled a decision on where the basketball team will play its 1977-78 games.

Holding of the election was recommended by the board's attorney, James F. Schouman of Dearborn.

Schouman told those present, "I think you need an election to tell the court this district plans to survive."

The election -- assuming residents vote against the property transfers -- will show that the "board has the support of the community."

The wording of the ballot proposal hasn't been prepared yet. Schouman indicated it will ask "whether the detachment of territory is approved by the electors of the district."

The appeal to the supreme court was also recommended by Schouman.

It will be of the state appeals court's Aug. 15 decision approving the transfer of the "Goslin parcel" to the Cass City School District on the grounds the Owen-Gage board did not have legal standing to appeal the state board of education approval of the transfer to the circuit court.

Ingham County Circuit Judge James T. Kallman later rejected the state board's approval, so the dissident property owners appealed to the appeals court.

The appeals court, in upholding the dissidents, said individual residents, not the school board, should have appealed the state board's ruling.

Schouman said Tuesday that decision ran counter to prior court rulings that school board members are elected by residents of a school district to represent them.

It is on those grounds, plus the argument that the Goslin parcel exceeds 10 per cent of the district, therefore the public must vote on its transfer, that the appeal to the supreme court will be made.

The appeal must be made within 20 days of the Aug. 15 appeals court decision. A stay of the appeals court order will also be requested. If not granted, Schouman said, the Goslin parcel will become part of the Cass City district.

The attorney for the Goslin parcel property owners, James Barley of Howell, said in light of the appeals court decision, "Our position is, they (the board) can hold all the elections they want and they're meaningless."

Because of deadlines, Barley was contacted by the Chronicle prior to Tuesday's board meeting.

He said if a special election was scheduled, he and partner James Kleeb would review the matter prior to making any decision. "I'm not sure we would take any action," Barley said, as he felt an election "doesn't make any difference."

If legal action is taken, he continued, it could be made with the Ingham County Circuit Court, Huron County Circuit Court, or the appeals court.

Petroglyph park work starts

Groundbreaking ceremonies were held Monday afternoon for erection of a shelter over the Indian carvings (petroglyphs) in Sanilac county.

Construction of the shelter is the first phase in what may some day be a mile-square state park.

The petroglyphs, believed to be 500-1,000 years old, are located off of Germania Road, south of Bay City-Forestville Road.

Although ground was broken Monday, construction of the picnic-type shelter isn't actually slated to begin until mid-September. Scheduled completion date is Nov. 15.

Contractor for the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR) project is Hillyer Construction Co. of Birmingham. Cost will be $33,240.

Master of ceremonies for the groundbreaking was District Judge Ira Butterfield, of Bay City, who was one of three trustees who purchased the 80 acres on which the petroglyphs are located for the Michigan Archaeological Society. The MAS took possession in 1967 and by 1969 had collected the funds necessary to buy the 160 acres to the south.

The north and south forks of the Cass River flow through the property.

The MAS turned the 240 acres over to the DNR in 1970. Funds for the park project were appropriated in 1972 by the state legislature. The delay in spending them, it was explained Monday, was partially due to a bureaucratic wrangle between the DNR and the Michigan History Division of the Department of State over who would have jurisdiction over the park.

State Rep. Quincy Hoffman, R-Applegate, and State Please turn to page 3.

GYMNASIUM

Tabled until the board's Sept. 12 meeting in Gagetown was a decision on where the varsity basketball team will play its games during the upcoming season.

Erickson told the board, "I don't think there's any possibility" of using the present Owendale gym during the high school construction, which includes building of a new gym.

With basketball coach Phil Gray saying he would prefer not to have to play in the Gagetown gym due to its smaller floor size, the board directed athletic director James Barr to explore renting of a gym, including the times it would be available and the cost.

The board was also scheduled Tuesday to act on renting or buying of a portable classroom unit to house home economics classes.

Erickson reported that so far he has been unable to find a suitable unit at a reasonable price.

Until one is found, he said, the Owendale teachers' lounge will be used as the home economics room. It will be large enough to accommodate 20 students, eight sitting at sewing machine cabinets and 12 at tables. A microwave oven will be purchased for cooking.

ROOFING

The board accepted the bid of Thomas Roofing of Cass City for installation of four-ply roofing over the cafeteria, gymnasium, and two classrooms in the old portion of Gagetown Elementary School.

The board had three bids: From Pioneer Roofing of Bay City for $13,950 for installation of a new roof over the above mentioned areas; from D & W Roofing of Caro for $6,550 for patching the cafeteria roof and a new roof on the rest, and an original bid from Thomas Roofing of $4,317 for patching and coating over the cafeteria and a three-ply roof over the rest.

The latter firm's owner, Thomas Bills, was in the audience and recommended, after he was asked, a four-ply roof for all three areas. The four-ply would be good for 20 years, he said, and he could have the job finished by the start of school.

Bills was asked for a new bid for four-ply roofing, which he said would cost $8,040. His bid was then accepted by the board.

Board President Ronald Good said after the meeting that the board, in soliciting bids, reserved the right to reject any or all bids.

DEPOSITORY BIDS

Bids from two banks were received for depository of funds from the sale of $1.675 million in construction bonds.

The board decided on Erickson's recommendation that some of the money be deposited in each bank.

Long-term funds of $545,000 will be deposited in the Community Bank of Bad Axe.

Short-term funds, of $1.13 million, to May, 1978, will be deposited with Citizens Commercial and Savings Bank of Flint.

Interest paid to the school district for deposit of the funds will range from 5 to 6.55 per cent, depending on the amount deposited and length of deposit.

The district will receive about $70,000 in interest, according to the superintendent.

Drug dealer nabbed

Federal Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) agents last Thursday arrested a former Cass City man in a raid on a Detroit drug manufacturing operation.

Arrested on a charge of conspiracy to manufacture amphetamines was J.L. Cody, 32, whose Cass City address was Rt. 1 Ritter Road. He is listed in the 1977 Cass City phone book but a call to that address found the telephone had been disconnected.

Seven others were arrested along with Cody, according to Al Pringle, DEA deputy regional director in Detroit, all on the same charge.

The arrests, Pringle said, stemmed from a search warrant served on the address where the drugs were being manufactured.

Cody was arraigned before a federal district court magistrate Friday. Bond was set at $10,000 cash, which was paid, according to the DEA official.

The next step will be for a federal grand jury to hand down an indictment. Cody will then be arraigned on the charge in the indictment and a trial date will be set. Pringle expects an indictment will be handed down within about a week.

He said Cody was also arrested April 19 along with several others in Detroit by DEA agents on a charge of conspiracy to manufacture phenylcyclidine (PCP). Several others were also arrested then.

Cody has been free on bond since then, awaiting trial on the charge. No trial date in federal district court has been set.

Conviction on either the amphetamine or PCP charge carries a possible penalty of 3-5 years in prison.

Earl Butz: profit essential for farmers

Hard work and profit. That's the message of former U.S. Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, and that's the message he believes farmers and farm families have to bring to the rest of America.

Butz spoke to several hundred persons Monday night at the Colony House at the annual meeting of the Elkton Co-Operative Farm Produce Co. and Elkton Petroleum Co-Operative, Inc.

The theme of his 45 minute address was "Let's Keep a Little Profit in Agriculture," a topic he delivered with a mixture of passion and humor.

Shortly after he started, the dean emeritus of agriculture at Purdue University asked the women in the audience who had been shopping at a supermarket within the past week to raise their hands.

When the hands were down again, he asked the women who thought they had paid too much at the supermarket for food to raise their hands.

Those that did would later wish they hadn't. "In this farm audience, I saw 100 hands," he remarked. "If this had been an urban audience, they would have all been up."

Consumers pay 17 per cent of their take-home pay (after paying taxes) for a loaf, Butz explained. "It's a steal."

"I'm kind of proud of that," the 1932 Purdue graduate said of the 17 per cent figure. "Because we only spend 17 per cent, we have 83 per cent for everything else that makes life great in America."

He mentioned cars and luxuries enjoyed by Americans, and added, "I grew up on an Indiana farm) with four rooms and a path. On those cold winter mornings, you learn to do things in a hurry."

Despite food being the "biggest bargain in America," he said consumers are more conscious of its cost because it's one of the few things they still buy with cash.

He was especially critical of what he called "demagogues" who preach the philosophy of cheap food.

He aimed most of his barbs at AFL-CIO President George Meany, who kept dockworkers a few years ago from loading wheat bound for the Soviet Union. The labor leader claimed the action would lower bread prices.

Because housewives believed Meany, Butz commented sarcastically, "He's no stupid ass. Well, he's not stupid, anyway."

The U.S. agriculture secretary from December, 1971 to October, 1976, then brought out a loaf of bread.

One bushel of wheat is enough to make 70 loaves of bread, he explained. If wheat were selling for $2.10 a bushel (Monday's price was $1.68), it would mean that of the cost of a loaf of bread, only 3 cents went for the wheat in it.

Butz's loaf of white enriched bread cost 39 cents, the cheapest loaf in the store.

He then mentioned speaking in Kalamazoo about 14 months ago, when pickets carried signs, "Food is for people, not profit." Another Butz jibe: "Not all (the pickets) were long-haired; some were girls."

"There better be a little profit in the food business," Butz warned, "or there won't be any food for people."

"We've got to get the point across we're not just in (the farming) business for fun."

"You can't convince me a dairy farmer gets up at 5 a.m. just because he likes to associate with Holstein cows."

The Indiana resident was critical of the new federal farm programs. The aim of them, he commented, is to even out the boom and bust cycles for farmers, but "the first thing they will even out is the boom."

U.S. farm exports in 1976 totaled $23 billion. Some of those exports went to Communist countries, and Butz commented, "It's far better exchanging bushels than bullets."

Communist countries having to come to the U.S. for food is proof of the productivity of the American farmer "because he's working for himself."

"There is no such thing as a free lunch," Butz emphasized.

"It's a lesson we've got to teach America... an honest day's work for an honest dollar."

Profit, he continued "is as American as apple pie and cheese."

The importance of profits and hard work is a message rural America needs to convey to the rest of the country, Butz concluded.

"If we can do that, and I have every confidence we will, America's third century will be her best of all."

FARM SPEAKER -- Earl Butz, as he spoke at the Elkton Co-op banquet Monday night. Butz was dean of the school of agriculture and then dean of continuing education at Purdue University before becoming U.S. agriculture secretary in 1971.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

A conversation piece among our city cousins visiting over the week end for the invitational softball tourney in Cass City was the fire whistle.

The first time the players and visiting fans heard it they couldn't figure what was coming off.

As you know that whistle is L-O-U-D at the park. After the initial shock wore off subsequent whistles called for smart talk about "firemen's dinner" from the visitors.

25 dumb seagulls don't know that school isn't open yet. Friday afternoon they congregated in the parking lot at the school and hung around for awhile before taking off.

No one could tell me what they were doing in land-locked Cass City . . . or where they came from.

There was a raft of players in the softball tournament over the week end and their conduct was good. We didn't see or hear of any incidents that marred a fun time for teams entered.

There were a few players drinking beer. I suspect that it was because they weren't familiar with the park rules. I saw the Cass City Police tell one player about the rule and the visitor cheerfully and quickly put aside the beer he was drinking.

All-in-all it was a very fine use of the facility and must have been very satisfying to the persons in charge and the village authorities.

Jack Esau says there are many, many persons who know about Indian Dave.

Esau, president of the newly organized Cass City Historical Society, says he has had letters from Detroit and other areas and half a dozen phone calls from persons ready, willing and able to add to the Society's information about him.

Greg Mark reports that he was pleased with Sunday's one-man art show. I kind of figured that there would be about 100 show up, he said, and there were about 135 attending.

Art appreciation is alive and well in Cass City.

GROUNDBREAKING -- Handling the shovel at Monday's groundbreaking for the shelter over the Sanilac county petroglyphs was Andrew Bierlein of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. Looking on are, from left, Judge Ira Butterfield, Martha Bigelow of the Michigan History Division, Sen. Alvin DeGrow, Commissioner Joseph O'Connor, and Rep. Quincy Hoffman. The sandstone on which the petroglyphs are carved is in the foreground.

Start Petroglyphs Park

Sen. Alvin J. DeGrow, R-Pigeon, intervened and the dispute was settled last November, clearing the way for advertising for bids for the shelter construction.

The two legislators were among the participants in the groundbreaking.

Another participant, Andrew Bierlein, in charge of plans and budgeting for the Parks Division of the DNR, said funds are available to complete the purchase of needed property (at a reasonable price) and for some of the park construction.

Two parcels are needed to complete the proposed park, he explained, however, the owners of one parcel don't want to sell and the other owners want too much money.

Tentatively planned for the spring is construction of a small parking lot and restrooms on the present 240 acres.

Planned sometime for the future is lighting underneath the shelter which will accent the petroglyphs. The shelter will be enclosed during the winter months to protect the badly eroded petroglyphs, carved in sandstone, from further erosion.

Long-range plans for the park, once the property purchases are made, call for an entrance off Bay-City-Forestville Road, orientation center, picnic area, and nature trails.

Also participating in the groundbreaking ceremonies were Martha Bigelow, director of the Division of Michigan History, and Joseph O'Connor of Minden City, vice-chairman of the Sanilac County Board of Commissioners.

The purpose of the sandstone carvings is not known, nor the Indian tribe that made them. Due to the large number of animal figures and animal tracks carved, it is thought they may have been carved to appease gods or spirits of the hunt to insure a successful killing of game.

The first historical report of the petroglyphs dates from 1892, although reportedly, they were uncovered by the great fires of 1871 and 1881.

They are the only known such carvings east of the Mississippi River.

Prior to the erection of a chain-link fence around the petroglyphs about 10 years ago by the MAS, some of the carvings were removed by souvenir hunters.

ART SHOW -- Sunday's showing of works by Cass City artist Greg Mark drew 135 persons. Among them, seen here examining some of Mark's photographs, were Mr. and Mrs. Don Loomis of Cass City and daughter Becky (at right). Sponsored by the Cass City Arts Council, the show was held in the Cultural Center.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

I used to feel that Blue Cross was maligned when it was accused of ripping off its subscribers and the public.

I don't anymore. I think that the Blues are as much to blame for the horrendous increase in health insurance costs as the doctors, the hospitals and the giant groups who use the service.

When Charles Chomet was kicked off the Blues board for representing the consumer, the Blues lost all their creditability with me.

If it weren't so painful it would be funny. Now the auto industry is mad and demanding more controls.

Let's face it. The big three in a single stroke could do more for leveling off health costs than all the investigations and controls that the Blues currently are suggesting.

What they can do is make the persons covered in their plan pay the first $100 of hospital costs.

Right then it becomes profitable for the user to stay out of the hospital. Chances of that happening are as remote as the JAW voting Republican.

What is likely is more of what we've been getting. Rhetoric and higher prices.

What Walter J. McNerney, president of the Blues, has done is announce a new program. No, he's not about to hire back Chomet who told it like it is, much to McNerney's embarrassment.

What we're going to get is educational programs that stress prevention of unnecessary and inappropriate use of health care.

We're going to get an analysis of each claim to see if subscribers are getting all of the service they have been billed for.

There are others, but you can see how it is, I'm sure. It promises to create a bureaucracy that would make even the old pros at Washington proud.

It also promises to do very little for providing health care at a sensible cost.

Hospital costs are going up twice as fast as other costs. Blue Cross hospital insurance is going up faster than that.

There isn't apt to be a change until we find a way to get the self-interest members of the Blues board off and more guys like Chomet on.

If any meaningful change in the health care system is to come the persons on the top have to step on some toes.

Sorry, but I can't see that happening. When the current flap is over it will be business as usual.

A bigger insurance bill and less service.

"If It Fitz. . ." A 'Blue' grass pupil

By Jim Fitzgerald

When I saw the mammoth hole being dug in the Blue Cross-Blue Shield lawn, I figured the cost-containment problem had been solved.

But not at small expense. The Blues headquarters is surrounded by the lushest, best-kept lawn in downtown Detroit. Insurance covers the cost of aborting weeds. Automatic sprinklers are spaced like teeth in a comb. When the lawn is mowed, every severed blade of grass is individually bagged and immediately shipped out of sight.

I am a student of this splendid lawn because I walk by it twice every weekday. As a Blue Cross subscriber, my interest is as proprietary as it is aesthetic. When my premium was recently increased 44 per cent, I began snarling at Blue Cross workers who walked on my lawn.

So, when I saw the excavation in the blues' west I was startled. But I wasn't angry, because I knew they wouldn't mess up that beautiful lawn except for good reason.

And I figured the good reason was surely to build an underground container for costs.

You may recall it was last June when I first became concerned with the Blues' methods of containing costs. It was Charles Chomet who turned me on.

Chomet was then a member of the Blues' board. He was upset by a pay raise given to John McCabe, the Blues' president. Chomet said:

"In an era concerned with cost containment, this is a bad precedent, a bad image. The record of Michigan Blue Cross-Blue Shield in cost containment has not been all that good, so I think there is a question whether the increase was warranted."

It occurred to me that the trouble might be in the container, so I visited the Blues building to investigate. I discovered that many costs were contained on the top floor in a room with no ceiling. I also learned McCabe had the only key to that room, and he used it whenever he couldn't contain himself from asking for an increase in his $110,000 salary.

It was almost three months ago that I publicized these obvious flaws in the Blues' container. I was certain McCabe and his board would take steps to improve their policy of containment. But I was momentarily discouraged by what happened to Chomet.

After griping about McCabe's pay raise, Chomet continued to complain to the press about other costs escaping from Blues' containers.

For example, he revealed that the Blues had made a $10 million overpayment to nursing homes, which certainly indicated that McCabe may have reached for a container in the dark and grabbed a sieve by mistake.

Chomet's fellow board members reacted to his complaints by voting him off the board. Their prevailing wisdom is that subscribers do not mind paying uncontained costs if they don't know it was ever possible to contain the costs in the first place.

"After a person has bought something for $10, he only gets angry if you tell him he could have bought it for $5 less around the corner. We don't want to make our subscribers angry," a board member explained to me.

This board member forbade me to publish his name. "McCabe doesn't allow us to talk to newspaper people," he said. "John gave me hell when he found out I answered the door Saturday when the Free Press carrier came to collect."

As I said, this anti-Chomet attitude was discouraging, and I was beginning to despair of the Blues ever doing anything to improve their cost containers. But the other morning I saw that big hole in the ground, and my heart leaped. What better way to contain costs than to bury them? Brilliant.

I phoned the Blues to confirm my elation. A man said a 30,000-gallon storage tank was being buried in the huge hole. For liquid costs? No, for oil.

The blues' building is heated by gas, but an insurance company can't have too much insurance. Their burners can be converted to oil if the gas company ever quits subscribing to Blue Cross. The conversion would be awkward if the oil had to be carried into the building in gallon cans. So now there will always be a 30,000-gallon tank and connecting pipeline buried under the side lawn, just in case.

I couldn't find out how much it cost to ruin the lawn, buy the tank and fill it with oil. I was told that those costs were contained briefly on the top floor, but had disappeared before they could be totaled.

IMMUNIZATIONS

Act 299, Public Acts of 1975, authorized the Director of The Michigan Department of Public Health to specify, by regulation, the immunizations and tests required of all children enrolling in Michigan schools for the first time. This year the following immunizations are required:

Diphtheria, Tetanus, Rubella, Pertussis, Measles, and Poliomyelitis.

In addition, each new school entry must have had a vision screening test.

The parent or guardian who, because of religious or other convictions, does not want his child protected from these diseases must submit a signed statement to that effect.

As part of our school admission procedure for your child, we must enforce the law stated above. We must have the health record or a similar statement in order to admit your child officially to school.

If you have questions about this, please consult your local school, your doctor, or the Thumb District Health Department.

PEDALING AROUND

The King remembered

By Mike Eliasohn

I remember seeing Elvis Presley the first time he appeared on the Ed Sullivan show back in 1956.

The camera only showed him from the waist up when he performed and after it was over, Ed put his arm around Elvis' shoulders and said something like, "He really is a good boy."

Parents across the country needed that reassurance. Many were sure their kids' devotion to "the Pelvis" would lead them down the path to sin and other bad habits.

We now know, of course, that what Elvis did is rather mild in comparison to what is now done on stage under the guise of music.

I also remember seeing Elvis' first movie. It was a Civil War drama, if I remember. The movie opened with a shot of a farm field and the camera slowly closed in on a young man guiding a plow being pulled by a mule. When it became obvious the young man was Elvis, there were some shrieks and sighs. Mild ones - after all, it was in a movie theatre.

The only other Elvis movie I paid to see was called "Speedway." I was in the Army then, and a buddy of mine, whom I thought was hip, persuaded me to go with him to see it.

Even though I like auto racing - the theme of the picture as you might guess - I thought the picture was awful. I never forgave my friend for persuading me to go see it.

I think I saw only one Elvis flick on television. I forget the name of it, but in it, Mary Tyler Moore played a nun.

From all this, you have probably gathered I never was an Elvis fan. Not that I disliked him; I didn't care one way or the other.

But when someone as young as 42 dies, it is especially sad. In Elvis' case, maybe more so. He probably more than anyone was a victim of his fame.

Even the Beatles, who, of course, are no longer the Beatles, can go out in public without being mobbed. Once he became famous, Elvis never could do that.

Other than for performances, according to news reports, he usually only went out at night. If he wanted to see a movie, he rented the theatre after the final public showing for the night.

If he wanted to go to an amusement park, he rented it after the hours for the public were over.

He would bring along his friends. But when one is rich and famous, one probably has doubts over who are your true friends and which ones are your friends only because you are rich and famous.

As I write this, I am wondering why I am doing so. After all, Elvis was only a "show business celebrity."

The answer I suppose is that I can think of no one else whose death would be as big news everywhere. Radio stations around the world broke into regular programming to announce his death and some began to exclusively play his records - and that included many countries where English is not the native language.

The King is dead.

NOT EASY

As a man climbs the ladder of success in this life he finds many rounds of failure.

LITERARY QUACKS -- John Scollon, 14, and his brother Mike, 6, dressed as "big rubber ducky" and "little rubber ducky" respectively, provided some of the entertainment last Thursday afternoon for children who completed the Rawson Memorial Library summer reading program. Thirty-five did so, by reading at least 12 books. Nancy Rands read the most -- 33 books.

CETA to pour $5 million into tri-counties in 1977-78

Almost $5 million in federal Comprehensive and Employment Training Act (CETA) funds will be flowing into the three Thumb counties in 1977-78 to provide jobs.

Combined with leftover funds and money from an anticipated year-round youth employment program, the total for the fiscal year starting Oct. 1 will be well over $5 million.

The CETA program in Tuscola, Huron, and Sanilac counties is administered by the Thumb Area Consortium. Its administrative board last Thursday approved allocations for the three counties for two CETA programs.

The allocations for the two programs are based 50 per cent on population and 50 per cent on the number of unemployed in each county from January-June, 1977.

The CETA Title II program provides transitional employment - government jobs intended to eventually become jobs entirely funded by the employing unit or agency.

For 1977-78, the consortium will receive $673,469. Minus $3,469 for administrative costs, the rest will be divided among Tuscola, $271,350; Huron, $214,400, and Sanilac, $184,250.

In addition, there will be $336,733, previously allocated, received but not spent for the period June-September, plus there is expected to be a surplus from the fiscal year ending Sept. 30.

At present, there are 76 people in the three counties hired with Title II funds. Consortium Executive Director Frank E. Lenard said there should be enough money for 1977-78 to fund 100 jobs.

That will mean 24 new jobs, plus he estimated 16 of the present positions will become fully supported by the employing local governmental unit, thus freeing CETA funds to create 16 new positions.

The other program for which allocations were approved Thursday was Title VI. That provides funds for full-time jobs while funds last or when terminated for other reasons and help to do temporary projects, such as preparing a building.

The total for regular jobs will be $2,408,737. Minus $38,737 for administrative costs, Tuscola county will receive $959,850; Huron, $758,400, and Sanilac, $651,750.

As of July 31, Tuscola county had 84 persons employed with Title VI funds; Huron, 70, and Sanilac, 33. With the new funds for 1977-78, the totals are expected to increase to 94, 75, and 64 jobs respectively. That will mean a total of 46 new jobs being created.

For the temporary projects, there will be $1,763,011 available. By county, the amounts will be Tuscola, $714,019; Huron, $564,164, and Sanilac, $484,828.

There presently are 251 persons employed in the Title VI special projects program.

The $1.76 million is enough to provide the equivalent of about 195 full-time jobs in 1977-78. Leftover funds from the current fiscal year will boost that by an as yet undetermined number.

SALARIES

In other business, the administrative board recommended approval of new contracts for executive director Lenard and Program Coordinator Alfred E. Berry. The contracts are for October, 1977 through September, 1978.

As Huron county is the sponsoring county for the consortium, the contracts, including salary increases, must be approved by that county's board of commissioners.

The recommended salary for Lenard is $22,000 for the contract period, an increase of $4,000. Lenard has held the position for 27 months; he started at $16,500.

Board members approved the recommended increase because he is handling a more than $5 million budget annually and because the $22,000 is comparable to what others in positions with similar responsibilities receive.

For Berry, board members recommended an increase from his present $14,310 annually to $15,500, to cover the increased cost of living and increased responsibilities.

REVIEW

Board members were present with a copy of a letter from Richard E. Donahue, director of the Bureau of Employment and Training of the Michigan Department of Labor, concerning a survey by the bureau of the consortium and 10 other similar agencies in the state.

"The results indicate that the Thumb Area Consortium is providing effective administration of the CETA program," Donahue wrote.

Two minor problems were discovered, which Lenard said are being corrected.

RENT

The board approved a new rental agreement for its two offices in the Hahn Real Estate Building in Cass City for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1978. Rent will be $340 a month, $20 more than at present.

Also okayed was renting of a soon-to-be-vacant office in the Hahn building for an additional $85 a month.

Employment up

The unemployment rate in the three Thumb counties declined during the first six months of 1977.

Huron county had the highest average for the period, 13.5 per cent. In Tuscola county, the average was 9.1 per cent; in Sanilac, 8.0.

The figures, compiled by the Michigan Employment Security Commission, were used by the Thumb Area Consortium as part of the formula in allocating federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act Title II and VI funds for 1977-78 to the three counties.

For Tuscola county for the six months, there was an average of 20,550 persons employed and 2,067 unemployed. From January through June, the month-by-month unemployment rate was 11.1 per cent, 10.7, 9.8, 8.8, 7.5, and 7.1.

For Huron county, there was an average of 11,625 persons employed during the first half of the year, and 1,808 unemployed. The month-by-month unemployment figures, starting in January, were 14.9 per cent, 16.6, 17.1, 12.9, 10.1, and 9.6.

For Sanilac county during the first six months, an average of 14,629 persons were employed and 1,279 were unemployed. Starting in January, the month-by-month unemployment rate was 9.9 per cent, 9.5, 8.8, 7.6, 6.5, and 6.7.

Social security aids some women

Almost half of the married women in the nation now work in jobs covered by Social Security, according to Helen M. Bivens, Social Security field representative in Saginaw.

More than 22 million married women—47.1 per cent of them—have jobs outside their homes compared to 43.6 per cent 10 years ago, according to the U.S. Department of Labor. Nine out of 10 jobs are covered by social security.

Monthly Social Security benefits can be paid to a wife on her work record even if her husband keeps working, according to Ms. Bivens.

"If a woman has worked long enough in jobs covered by Social Security and then retired, becomes disabled, or dies, her children can be paid benefits on her record until they're 18—or until 22 if they are full-time students in school and remain unmarried."

Full Social Security retirement benefits can start when the worker is 65, reduced benefits at 62. Disability benefits can be paid to workers under 65 and their families when the worker is disabled and not expected to be able to do any substantial work for a year or more.

People retiring in 1977 generally can get Social Security retirement payments with as little as 6½ years of work covered by social security.

To get Social Security disability payments, disabled workers generally need 6½ years of work covered by Social Security with at least five years of it in the 10 years before the disability began. "But workers disabled before 31 may be eligible for payments with as little as 1½ years of work covered by Social Security, depending on age," Ms. Bivens said.

Medicare starts for most people at 65, she noted. "But disabled people under 65 can get Medicare if they've been entitled to Social Security Disability benefits for at least 24 consecutive months," she said.

AROUND THE FARM
Farm tours scheduled

By Don Keblor

Plans are all made for an early preview tour of the 1977 Expo crops-soils demonstration plots at the John Homakie farm Tuesday, Aug. 30. The Expo is Oct. 4-5.

This early preview will allow close-by crop producers to view and have explained to them the demonstrations before the Expo dates.

We've set the tour into two sections to meet the convenience of the farmer. The second section will be a repeat of the first one. Section 1 will start at 10 a.m. and continue until noon. Section 2 will start at 1:30 p.m.

What you'll see and have explained will be herbicide demonstrations on navy beans, corn and sugar beets; corn variety comparisons; corn yield challenge plots, and mechanical vs. non-mechanical damaged bean seed response on both compacted soils and non-compacted soils.

Dr. Bill Meggitt, our MSU extension herbicide specialist; Larry Copeland, MSU dry bean specialist, and Phil Brimhall, Michigan Sugar Co. agronomist, will explain the plots. The tour site is seven miles north and one mile east of Caro on Cass City Road.

I met with the County Bean Producers Committee Wednesday and they have planned a twilight bean tour for Monday, Aug. 29. They felt it is the best time before bean harvest to accomplish the following: Allow the bean producers to see the variety plots and hear an update on bean marketing and market situation and the current developments of the Michigan Bean Commission.

Dr. Russ Frazer, agronomist for the Bean Commission will explain the variety plots. Dale Kuenzli will be here from the Michigan Elevator Exchange in Lansing to give the present bean market situation and forecasts. Don Keinath will briefly update the activities of the Bean Commission.

This twilight bean producers tour and presentations will be at Rolan Roth's farm on M-81, a half-mile east of Reese.

President William Kirk announced also that the tentative date for the annual Tuscola County Bean Day is Jan. 14, 1978.

White mold, bacterial blight and halo blight on beans are always an annual uncertainty as to their infection development and spread.

The fungus and bacterial organisms are always present in dormant stages either in or on the soil or seed. They are just waiting for the ideal moisture and temperature conditions to gain entrance into plant tissue, grow and spread.

Clean, disease free and treated seed is one way to reduce the chances of these diseases. Crop rotations is another. Spraying with pesticides is always an emergency measure to try to prevent or stop the disease spread. There is no spray for common bacterial blight control.

If one spray application stops or prevents halo blight and/or white mold, consider yourself fortunate because even at times multiple periodic applications are not successful.

St. Michael's Guild meets

The August meeting of St. Michael's Ladies Guild was opened by prayer, led by President Vida Champagne.

Rose Ann Wolfrum reported on the bloodmobile to be held Oct. 24, from 2:00 to 3:00 p.m., at the Kingston Methodist church. Members of St. Michael's church will be contacted to donate blood. Area churches will take turns in hosting the bloodmobile.

Dates for the Guild's Christmas bazaar were set. Nurse Kloc is chairman.

Open house for the new pastor, Rev. William O'Shea, will be held Sunday, Aug. 28, after the 11:30 Mass, till 3:00 o'clock.

The ladies listened to the second tape by Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen, entitled "The Church Today."

The meeting closed with prayer and refreshments were served by Marguerite Krywko.

Your Neighbor says
U.S. should keep Panama Canal

The United States has completed an agreement with Panama that provides for giving complete control of the Panama Canal to that country by the year 2000. The U.S. Senate must approve the treaty by a two-thirds majority for it to take effect.

George O'Camb is opposed to the treaty. "I feel myself we should keep it (the canal)," he said.

"As valuable as it is to the U.S. for shipping, we should keep it and control it."

If the canal is turned over to the Panamanians, O'Camb feels, "I don't think they (the Panamanians) have the ability to keep it up the way we have."

As for advocates of the treaty who fear the Panamanians will start a guerrilla war in the Canal Zone if the treaty is not ratified, he feels that won't be a problem as long as the U.S. maintains its military bases there. (The treaty provides for the military bases to be kept there until 2000, with the canal to be pledged to neutrality after that.)

O'Camb, 64, was raised on a farm southeast of Cass City. He was working as a nationwide diesel engine troubleshooter for General Motors 30 years ago when he moved to Kansas City, Mo., because of its centralized location and milder climate.

When he got tired of traveling, he became a deputy sheriff there. He is now retired.

This past week end was his first time back in Cass City in 14 years. He and his wife, Danella, were here for the Shagena-McConnell family reunion in the Recreation Park. His late mother was the sister of Nina Shagena, 93, who was at the reunion.

He and his wife, a native of Kansas City, have two daughters, both grown.

College courses offered in Caro

Two off-campus courses for Thumb area college students will be available this fall at Caro High School through Saginaw Valley State College.

Undergraduate students will be able to enroll in a principles of accounting class for four semester hours of college credit, which can be applied to a bachelor's degree. Accounting 210 will be taught by Dr. Russell Gingras, associate professor of accounting. It will meet on Thursdays from 6-10 p.m. from Sept. 8 through Dec. 15 at Caro High School.

The accounting course is a study of the accumulation and presentation of business data for management and control and the application of accounting principles to merchandising enterprises organized as proprietorships, partnerships, and corporations.

This course is a prerequisite for admission to the graduate curriculum for students who have not previously taken the Accounting 210 course and are planning to enroll in SVSC's Master of Business Administration program.

Graduate students will be offered Education 601, metric education, for two hours of graduate credit. Instructor will be Dr. Kathryn Grzesiak, lecturer in education. The class will meet on Tuesdays from 7-10 p.m. from Sept. 27 to Dec. 6.

The course, which may be used toward a master of arts in teaching or master of arts in educational administration graduate degree program at SVSC, will deal with basics of the metric system.

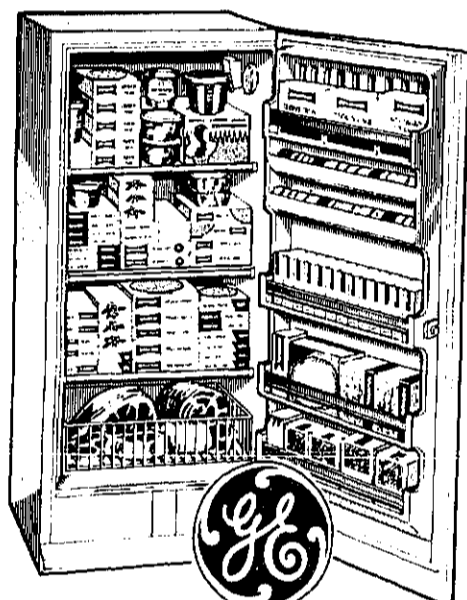

Information on enrollment is available at the Caro Community Education office, 673-3166, ext. 241 or the Saginaw Valley State College admissions office at 793-9800, ext. 224.

SVSC is offering the courses on an experimental basis. If a sufficient number of enrollments is obtained, additional classes will be offered by SVSC to Thumb residents for the winter semester.

3 executive promotions told

L. E. Althaver, president, Walbro Corporation, recently announced the promotion of three executives in the company's Carburetor Group.

Hugh G. Lautner has been advanced from director of engineering and research to vice-president in charge of carburetor engineering.

Ferris D. Ware, manufacturing manager of the Carburetor Division, has been promoted to vice-president in charge of carburetor manufacturing.

Walker Matlack, formerly vice-president of the company's injection molding plastics subsidiary, Arjay Manufacturing Company, has been promoted to vice-president-general manager of Walbro's new carburetor plant, located in Nogales, Mexico.

According to Althaver, these three executive promotions—along with the previously announced elections of Howard A. Bacon as executive vice-president of the corporation and of Robert H. Walpole as senior vice-president of the Carburetor Group—are the initial moves in a restructuring program designed to meet the domestic and international growth needs of Walbro's Carburetor Group.

testing at Outboard Marine Corporation, Milwaukee, Wis.

Ferris Ware came to Walbro as a trainee in the manufacturing department in 1955. Working "up through the chairs," he was made general foreman of the Carburetor Division in 1963, superintendent of Walbro's float-type carburetor plant in Caro in 1971, and manufacturing manager of the entire Division last year.

After attending University of California and San Diego State College, Matlack joined Walbro in 1958 on special assignment. He served first as assistant superintendent of the carburetor plant, was made superintendent in 1960, and vice-president in charge of carburetor production in 1962. Three years later, he was appointed vice-president-general manager of Walbro's injection molding plastics subsidiary (Arjay)—a position he held until he took up his new duties in the Carburetor Group.

Time lost in the morning may make one race all day long.

HUGH G. LAUTNER

Lautner is a graduate of Michigan Technological University with a B.S. degree in mechanical engineering. He joined Walbro in 1972 as a project engineer in the Carburetor Division and was named R & D manager of the Division in 1975, director of carburetor engineering and research the following year.

Immediately before joining Walbro, he had been chief engineer, Fox Corporation, Janesville, Wisconsin. Earlier, he had been first a research engineer and later test supervisor of snowmobile

Many cases in Circuit Court

Send drug pusher to Jackson Prison

A circuit court jury Wednesday, Aug. 17, found Gordon Wood, 20, no available address, guilty of a charge of delivery of phenylcyclidine.

Prior to the jury's verdict, Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements granted a defense motion for a directed verdict of innocent for Wood's co-defendant, Ralph J. McAlpine, 20, no available address, because of lack of evidence.

Each had been charged with delivery of PCP in connection with delivery of the drug to a mobile home on Curry Road in Wells township Jan. 21.

Following the guilty verdict against Wood, Judge Clements set sentencing for Sept. 26. Bond was continued.

Thursday, Aug. 18, a circuit court jury found George Moore, 48, of Saginaw, guilty of a charge of breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny.

He was convicted in connection with a break-in Dec. 18, 1976, at Dillon's Bump Shop in Caro.

Sentencing was set for Sept. 26. Bond was continued.

In cases Monday before Circuit Judge Norman A. Baguley:

The motion of Michael E. Panko, 36, for vacating of his sentence was denied.

Panko was found guilty Sept. 18, 1975, of charges of assault with intent to commit gross indecency and gross indecency between males.

He was sentenced Oct. 6 of that year by Baguley to concurrent sentences in prison of 6-10 years on the assault charge and 3 1/3-5 years on the second charge. He began serving the sentence pending appeal.

July 14 of this year, the Michigan Court of Appeals upheld his conviction, "without prejudice to the defendant's right to motion the trial court for a hearing to determine the validity of the convictions."

Randy L. Webster, 23, of Rt. 3, Chambers Rd., Vassar, pleaded guilty to a charge of violation of probation. His plea was accepted and sentencing was set for Sept. 6.

His violation of probation was in connection with his having been convicted by a district court jury June 8 of a charge of possession of open intoxicants in a motor vehicle.

He was placed on two years' probation with a 90-day suspended jail sentence by Judge Baguley in March, 1976, after pleading guilty to a charge of attempted possession of phenylcyclidine.

Bernard L. Stratton, 22, of 1706 Kingston Road, Deford, stood mute to his arraignment on a charge of attempted breaking and entering.

A motion for bond reduction was granted and bond was reduced from the original $2,500 to $1,500. A pre-trial hearing was scheduled Sept. 19.

Stratton is charged in connection with an attempted break-in July 19 at Heidi's Restaurant at M-24 and M-46, south of Caro.

Dean A. Emery, 21, of Rt. 1 Lee Hill Road, Mayville, stood mute to a charge of uttering and publishing. Bond of $1,000 was continued, with pre-trial hearing scheduled Sept. 19.

A prosecution motion to file supplemental information alleging Emery is a habitual offender was granted. The defendant pleaded innocent to the habitual offender charge.

The supplemental information motion stems from Emery having been convicted of larceny from a building in May, 1973. If convicted of the uttering and publishing charge and if found a habitual offender, under state law, his sentence for uttering and publishing will be increased.

Michael Moore of Vassar was sentenced to serve 18 months to 7 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson, and credited with two days served.

He was found guilty by a circuit court jury July 19 of a charge of delivery of phenylcyclidine. He was arrested during a drug raid in Vassar May 28.

Robert Spencer, 20, of E. Dayton Road, Caro, was sentenced to one year in the county jail, credited with 20 days served.

He pleaded guilty July 20 to a charge of possession of phenylcyclidine. He was arrested in Kingston July 31, 1976.

John A. Folsom, 17, of Mayville, was placed on three years' probation on a charge of breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling. He was sentenced to serve 90 days in the county jail, credited with one day served, fined $200, and assessed $200 court costs. The charge was in connection with an April 30 break-in at a cabin on Phelps Lake Road in Dayton township.

Sentencing for Bennie Parker Jr., 36, and his wife, Edith, 38, was delayed six months. They each pleaded guilty July 11 before Judge Baguley to a charge of attempted welfare fraud.

Sentencing was delayed one year for Charles D. Kibbe, 34, of 614 Welch Blvd., Vassar. He pleaded guilty Aug. 8 to one count of violation of probation. He was directed to follow his probation "to the letter."

Kibbe was convicted Dec. 16, 1974, of a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses with intent to defraud over $100, on a complaint by the Frankenth State Bank in Reese.

Be alert and aggressive — stumbling blocks for one man are stepping stones for another.

Rash of injury accidents among many area mishaps

Five persons were injured Saturday in an accident at Gilford and Vassar Roads. One of the five is still hospitalized.

Sheriff's deputies reported that a car driven by Alfreda M. McLemore, 44, of Curry Road, Caro, was eastbound on Gilford Road when she collided with a southbound car on Vassar Road driven by Edward C. Selleck, 61, of Lapeer.

Mrs. McLemore was ticketed by deputies on a charge of failure to yield at a signed intersection.

Treated at Caro Community Hospital following the 5:15 p.m. accident were Mrs. McLemore; a son, James McLemore, 9; the other passenger in her car, Margaret S. Ger-manine, 63, of Flint, and Selleck.

Selleck's passenger, his wife Sigvalda, 58, was taken to Flint Osteopathic Hospital. She was still there Tuesday, but the hospital refused to give her condition.

Julius J. Struve, 25, of 3302 N. Van Dyke Road, Decker, was reported in good condition Tuesday afternoon at St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw, where he was taken following an accident late Thursday morning.

Deputies reported Steve J. Ziemba, 70, of 3461 Van Dyke Road, Decker, was southbound on Cemetery Road. He started to turn left onto Deckerville Road when he collided with Struve, who was westbound on his motorcycle.

Ziemba was cited by deputies on a charge of failure to yield at a marked intersection; Struve on a charge of violation of the basic speed law (too fast).

Three persons were reported injured Tuesday, Aug. 16, in a 4 p.m. accident in Wells township.

George A. Heritier, 50, of Bay City, told deputies he was northbound on E. Dayton Road, north of Riley Road, when he applied the brakes of his truck. The wheels locked, the vehicle rolled over and skidded 100 feet on its side.

The top of the truck cab broke loose and the occupants were thrown out. Reported hurt were Heritier, and two passengers, Donald D. Sample, 40, of Bay City, and Ronald L. Park, 29, of Hersey.

Heritier was the only one Caro Community Hospital had on record as being treated there.

A five-year-old Vassar girl, Heather Kay Fessler of Swaffer Road escaped serious injury late Monday afternoon when she was struck by a car on M-81, west of Ringle Road.

Virginia Spencer, 20, of 4532 W. Caro Road, Caro, told deputies she was holding the girl's hand when they were crossing the road but the girl broke away and ran into the path of a westbound car. Driver of the car was Maxine A. Cammidge, 34, of 1233 Weeder Road, Caro.

The youngster was treated and released from Caro Community Hospital.

Two passengers sought their own treatment after the car in which they were riding Sunday night was involved in an accident on M-81 northeast of Cleaver Road, just east of Caro.

Caro state police reported Gail A. Ruslo, 19, of 308 E. Frank Street, Caro, headed northeast, was turning left into a driveway when her car was struck by another auto, which had been behind her.

The driver of the other vehicle, Willis J. Thane, 51, of 3677 E. Cass City Road, Cass City, was ticketed by troopers on a charge of failure to yield.

Two passengers in the Ruslo auto, Elaine Ruppahn, 21, and Lisa Ruppahn, both of 729 N. State Street, Caro, sought their own treatment.

Cass City police reported Tuesday, Aug. 16, that Richard D. Smith, 45, was driving his Smitty's Garage wrecker southbound on Seeger Street, north of Church Street, when one of the tow chains broke loose.

The stake truck he was pulling, which he owned, broke loose, jumped the curb, and struck a car parked in a driveway. Owner of the parked car was Walter A. Growth of 4100 Turner Road, Kingston.

To keep the still moving truck from rolling further, Smith jumped the curb in his tow truck and nudged the stake truck into a telephone pole by hitting it in the rear end.

Deputies reported a two-car collision Monday afternoon. They said Jola S. Stoddard, 19, of Ryan Road, Caro, attempted a left turn while southbound on Mertz Road (M-24) at Riley Road. As she was turning, her car was struck by a vehicle attempting to pass her.

Driver of the other vehicle was Eugene H. Hergenreder, 54, of 3386 Washington Street, Kingston.

Robert B. Dinkmeier, 36, of Leslie Road, Cass City, struck a parked car Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 16. Cass City police reported he couldn't stop in time on slippery pavement when entering the Hills and Dales General Hospital parking lot.

Dinkmeier's car hit the front end of the car of Robert Hutchinson of 6578 Seed Street, went into a ditch and came out on the hospital drive.

Cars driven by two area men collided at 8:25 a.m.

Monday morning. Caro state police reported that James M. Hendershot, 16, of 4806 State Street, Gagetown, was northbound on State Street, east of Mill Street when he collided with the car of Ronald B. Peters, 43, of 5515 Van Dyke Road, Cass City. Troopers said Peters was preparing to pull into traffic from the side of the road.

Four car-deer accidents were reported:

Deputies said Ronald A. Parrino, 29, of 3433 Pine Street, Kingston, was westbound on Chapin Road, east of Englehart Road, when he struck a deer.

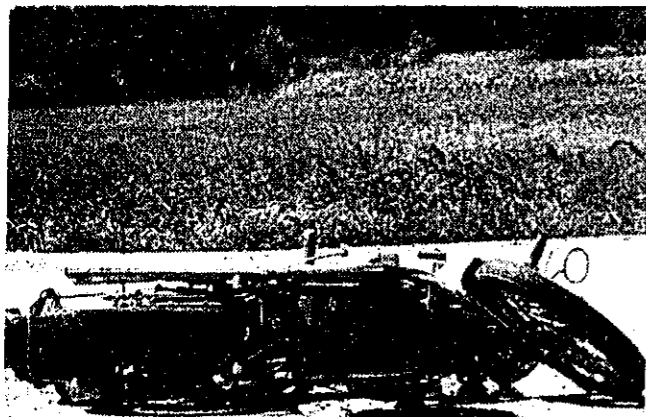

Caro state police said Douglas D. Bean, 30, of 5126 N. Decker Road, Decker, was eastbound on Deckerville Road, east of Dodge Road, at 12:30 a.m. Friday when a deer ran into his car's path. He was given a permit to keep the animal.

Glen D. May, 55, of Burmon Road, Deford, was westbound on Bevens Road, east of Kingston Road, deputies said, when his car struck a deer at 7:30 a.m. Saturday.

Deputies said Melvin D. Boyce, 19, of Linden, was northbound on Colling Road, south of Ackerman Road, when he struck a deer at 5:10 p.m. Saturday.

HOP TO IT -- Sack racing was one of several activities last Thursday afternoon at a picnic in the village park sponsored by the Cass City Recreation Department. After expending their energy sack racing, each participant received a slice of watermelon.

DOWNED BIKE -- The motorcycle of Julius J. Struve of Decker lay on the pavement after it collided with a car last Thursday morning. As of Tuesday, Struve was still hospitalized.

ONE-PLATE AUTOS?

Michigan's autos would sport just one license plate - in the rear - if budget action taken by Gov. William Milliken is not overturned by the legislature.

Milliken vetoed from a budget bill $5.1 million for the production of 1979 plates and said he'd only support spending $3.4 million - enough to produce only one plate per car and commercial vehicles.

HEALTH TIPS

Health checks for school

By Frank Chappell, American Medical Association

School days are almost here again for millions of American youngsters.

With the approach of the fall term, the American Medical Association reminds parents there are health and safety considerations that are important in preparing the small fry for another nine months of studies.

The AMA recommends a thorough health examination for 5 and 6-year-olds who are starting school for the first time.

Your physician will know what to do. His examination will cover all aspects of your child's health, and will encompass hearing (to make certain he can hear the teacher) and vision (to make sure he can see the blackboard).

It is better if this examination can be made and booster immunizations given a few weeks before school starts.

School boards in some communities require a health exam for beginning students. Many schools also require certain immunizations against infectious disease. Your doctor will know of the requirements for your community.

Most doctors feel that four or five thorough health examinations during the school years are sufficient for healthy youngsters.

These usually are spaced at the start of the first year, about the fourth grade, about the seventh grade, at the ninth or tenth grade, and upon graduation.

A thorough examination is important if the child is participating in school athletics. The doctor should be told that junior is going out for football, so that he can look for any health problems that might be heightened by rough contact sports.

In the excitement of the first few days of school the small child may forget all of the safety warnings you've been teaching him.

Each parent should make certain the child knows how to cross streets and intersections en route to and from school. He should know that crossing guards are there for his protection and obey them. He should know about proper deportment on the school bus. He should know the rules of bicycle safety.

Walbro committed to customer service

From its beginning 27 years ago, Walbro has been deeply committed to customer service.

"And right now," said C. Clark Boylan, vice-president, Carburetor-Sales, "the company is in the process of putting on a series of service training seminars for many of its OEM customers in the chain saw industry in the United States and Europe - and for their distributors and dealers."

He said that Phil Maxwell, Marketing Services Manager of Walbro's Carburetor Group is conducting these seminars, with a helping hand on occasion from Hob Carroll, Western Regional Sales Manager, Ernest Spuhler, Southern Regional Sales Manager, or one of the company's other Regional Sales chiefs.

Asked for a brief run-down of what is said and done at one of these Walbro service training seminars, Maxwell said, "We, along with our customers, are deeply concerned with some of the most important social, political, and economic issues in history.

"These are international issues which pertain to natural resources, raw materials, conversion costs, environmental protection, and a lot of other things that influence the ultimate profitability of our products and those of our customers. So, one of these seminars can cover a lot of ground, depending on the audience.

"If we're talking to a chain saw manufacturer-to his engineers, his marketing people, his production people - we will probably be talking about the general efficiency of certain carburetor design features, government standards, performance, cost, safety, or quality control.

the kind of information that helps sell good products and that keeps them sold through better understanding.

"In cooperation with NASM, Walbro has regularly sent me back to the University of Wisconsin for graduate courses in service management which include planning, budgeting, and marketing as well as a periodic update on practice and legislation for warranty administration, product liability, occupational safety, and other aspects of customer service."

PHIL MAXWELL

"If we're talking to our OEM customer's distributors and dealers-their management people, countermen and repairmen-we go at it a little differently. These guys are right up front on the firing line, so to speak, where they're confronted daily with the aspects of running a successful small business while also facing the immediate problems of achieving customer satisfaction. Walbro tries to help them do both.

"We talk about everything from warranty policy to purchasing, cataloging, and inventory control of service parts right down to the nitty gritty of carburetor repair, maintenance, and tune-up.

"As I see it," said Maxwell, "our objective with these seminars is to enhance the marketplace for everyone. It's a task for good marketing communications. In other words, we make it our business to go around the world gathering and disseminating

Linda Sutter: Brazilians complain about coffee prices, too

They do drink a lot of coffee in Brazil.

And Brazilians complain that their favorite drink is being sold to Americans for less than it is sold to themselves.

Coffee is only one of many things that Linda Sutter liked in Brazil. The 17-year-old recently returned from that South American country, after having spent almost a year there as a participant in the Rotary Club Youth Exchange Program.

Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sutter of Cass City. She will be a senior this fall at Cass City High School.

Her stay in Brazil was in the city of Sao Paulo. With a population of about 5.6 million, it is that country's largest city and one of the largest in the world. Its size didn't really bother her though, she said. Crimewise, she said, it's a lot safer than Detroit.

Brazilian drivers, though, often did scare her. "They're pretty bad," she explained. "Some, when they come to a corner, will beep their horn and then go right through (the intersection)."

Linda's first stay of about five months was in the home of a widow in her 50s who had two children still at home, a 19-year-old daughter and a 20-year-old son.

She spent the rest of her stay with another son of the woman, a 28-year-old civil engineer, his wife, and infant daughter. They lived in an apartment.

One of Miss Sutter's first discoveries was that Brazilian homes do not have heat. She arrived in August of last year, toward the end of the winter there.

The coldest it got during her stay was around 32 degrees; the warmest, about 105.

Linda's biggest problem to overcome was learning Portuguese, the language of Brazil. The families she stayed with helped her and "I catch on pretty good," so by the end of her stay, she could carry on a fluent conversation in Portuguese.

She could speak the language better than she could read it, the result of learning it orally. Persons who learn a foreign language in a classroom, she explained, usually can read it better than speak it.

Taking English classes in school was also of some help in learning Portuguese. However, Linda found that some English teachers spoke English with such heavy Brazilian accents that she couldn't always understand them when they spoke English.

The Cass Cityan attended two public schools during her stay, switching schools when she changed families.

Attendance is not mandatory, she explained, so some children, mainly from poorer families, don't go to school. Those from rich families usually go to private schools.

The school system is somewhat similar to ours, in that students take various subjects. Instead of the students changing classrooms for different subjects, though, they stay put and the teachers change rooms.

But lots of times, she said, the teachers never came.

Students were somewhat similar to what one would encounter here, with the most studious being those seeking to enter college. "I couldn't believe it," Miss Sutter said. "They'd study all night just to (be able to enter." The public schools, she continued, were somewhat plain and run down. Walls and floors were cement and broken windows were often not repaired.

The school day was from 7 a.m.-12:30 p.m. The school year ran from about April 1 to July 1 and then from Aug. 1 to Jan. 1, giving the students three months off during the summer (our winter).

In addition to short trips with the families with whom she stayed, Linda went on three lengthier excursions.

The first was shortly after her arrival, when she went with another exchange student and a group of Brazilian Rotarians and their wives on a nine-day bus trip to the south. They stayed in good hotels and ate in nice restaurants, but it was cold and rainy so the beaches were for looking rather than for swimming.

The second trip, in January, was with a group of 21 other Rotary exchange students, from Canada, Australia, and the United States. They visited Rio de Janeiro, the capital city of Brasilia, and the predominately agricultural state of Minas Gerais.

The final trip, for two weeks shortly before her return, was with another exchange student to the state of Bahia in the north. Linda's Brazilian classmates raised about $70 to help pay her expense and her Brazilian "dad" (the civil engineer) paid her bus fare.

Going there meant for half the trip, in addition to other passengers, sharing the bus with a chicken.

The return trip was 34 hours straight on the bus, with a rest stop only once every four hours.

Public transportation in Brazil was one thing Linda didn't care for, at least in the cities. The buses don't leave until crammed full of passengers, including a few sometimes hanging out the door, and she often got lost while riding them. She didn't drive a car while there.

Another dislike was walking down streets. Men, especially workers, would whistle and say the Brazilian equivalent of four-letter words.

There were a lot more things she did like and one of them was "carnival."

"I loved carnival. I had a great time," Miss Sutter exclaimed. Carnival occurs in late February or early March, the four days before Ash Wednesday, and consists of four days of non-stop parading and dancing the samba.

She also liked the food. "I gained 15 pounds so you can tell I liked it," she said. Brazilians eat lots of rice and beans, meat (always fresh), fruit and drink lots of coffee. Brazilian coffee is thicker than that drunk by Americans and costs about $7 per kilogram (2.2 pounds).

The price of coffee went up there too, the Cass Cityan said, and Brazilians were complaining "they're selling it to Americans for less than it was sold to the Brazilians."

She brought back four kilogram bags of coffee with her. The best thing about her stay in the South American country "was the people." She described them as "really outgoing, really nice." Americans, as compared to Brazilians, are somewhat reserved.

Linda estimates her journey cost her and her parents a little over $2,000, including plane fare, insurance, and additional expense money, such as for travel within Brazil and buying gifts.

The Rotary provides $25 a month expense money and the host family of course, provides housing and meals.

Now that she's back, Linda only has one thing definitely planned for the future, in addition to graduating from high school.

"I told them (her hosts) I'll be back in '79."

Marr tells board police over budget

The Tuscola County Sheriff's Department has already exceeded its overtime budget by $9,000 this year, Sheriff Hugh Marr told the county board of commissioners Tuesday.

The department was budgeted $10,000 for overtime in 1977, but so far has spent $19,000. The amount spent could increase by another $8,000 by the end of the year, he predicted.

According to board Chairman Maynard McConkey, the sheriff said part of the reason for the increased overtime is the department's contract with the deputies' union, the Fraternal Order of Police. Contract provisions include some manpower assignments and a required two men in patrol cars at night.

In response to one commissioner's suggestion that maybe he should lay off some personnel to compensate for the increased overtime, Marr said fewer personnel would further increase the need for overtime.

McConkey said the extra overtime will have to be paid for out of the county's contingency fund. Marr's comments were considered informational, so no action was taken by the board.

The board did okay the sheriff's request for permission to hold an auction of confiscated and unclaimed property, plus three used patrol cars. The auction will be Saturday, Sept. 10, at 1:30 p.m. in the jail parking lot.

Millage rates, to be shown on December tax bills, were set by the board. The county operational levy will be 4.2 mills; special bridge levy, 1 mill.

The action, though required by law, actually was a formality. Tuscola county has "fixed" allocated millage for the county, schools, intermediate school district, and townships. The bridge millage was set by public vote.

Referred to committee was the suggestion of county Clerk Elsie Hicks that the county should purchase a second data processing machine for $50,000.

The machine is needed, she indicated, to cope with the increasing processing workload for such things as taxes, budgeting, and friend of the court.

Action was postponed on a request from county planning commission chairman Alton Reavey that he be reimbursed for time spent reviewing the large number of Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act applications from farmers.

At present, he is only paid for attending planning commission meetings.

The board met in the morning with U.S. Rep. Bob Traxler and his aide, Don Hare, who were in Caro and Cass City Tuesday to meet with constituents. The primary topic of discussion was the farm legislation in Congress.

The board chopped in half the request of the juvenile probation department that all four staff members be allowed to go to a three-day seminar in Midland in September. Only two will be allowed to go.

As board members had to be in Caro Wednesday afternoon for the civil defense drill, they decided to recess until 10 a.m. Wednesday to finish hearing committee reports. No significant action was expected at the remainder of the session.

SERVING THIS COMMUNITY FOR OVER 24 YEARS

Second row: Jerry Toner, Don Galbraith, Terry Hendrick, Earney Stoutenburg, Dave Lovejoy and Randy Damm.

Second row: Roy Sefton, Les Severance, Bill Bader, Bill Britt, Durell Caister. Absent were Dean, Tim and Randy Severance.

Sue Pynok of 6213 Cedar Drive, Lot 23, reported to the sheriff's department Thursday night, Aug. 18, that damage had been done to her car. Four almost new tires were damaged by a cutting tool, $200; four headlights, metal rings, and headlight shells were damaged when pried out, $100, and a taillight was broken, $20.

Judy Eisengruber of Sebewaing told Cass City police Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 17, that when she got off work in Cass City Monday night, she noticed she had a flat tire. She put on the spare and when she later went to a Sebewaing service station to have the flat tire repaired, it was discovered it had been slashed, apparently with a knife.

Ronald Donath, transportation director for the Mayville schools, reported to Caro state police Wednesday, Aug. 17, that the gasoline caps were stolen from 19 school buses parked at the high school. The caps were valued at $121.

Donath said the same thing was done shortly before the start of the previous school year.

Betty Agar of 4433 West Street told Cass City police Friday evening that the license plates were stolen off her car while it was parked in her driveway during the day. The plate number was NSZ-846.

Mr. Schinnerer may well be an excellent athlete but it remains to be seen if he can equal the job Mrs. Maharg has done in bringing any Cass City team (male or female) so close to State Finals. The only team closer is the girls' volleyball team.

Merchants facing important games

The Cass City Merchants return Friday to the state class "D" fastpitch trail that leads to the state crown.

The Merchants face Royal Oak at 8:30 p.m. at Owosso in Regional competition. In the Thumb Traveling League the Merchants will be playing a two out of three series next week for the championship. The Merchants were first half winners and will play the winner of the second half in the series.

Wednesday, Cass City was to have met Frankenmuth Black Label at Cass City in a double header. The first game starts at 7:30 p.m.

Going into the double header the team's record was 33-21.

Cross county call issued

Coach Ron Nurnberger announced this week that candidates for Cass City High School's cross country team should contact him at his home this week. The phone number is 872-4423.

Practice will start next week. All students who will be in grades 9-12 are eligible for the team.

Dismiss charges against trio

Charges were dismissed Friday by District Judge Richard F. Kern against three men charged with opening 18 fire hydrants in Cass City March 13.

At the preliminary hearing Friday for the trio, the judge found no probable cause for charging the defendants with the alleged crime.

Kern took the action after a prosecution witness was unable to recall which of the three had said after the incident that they had opened the hydrants.

Charged with malicious destruction of property over

$100 in connection with the incident had been Gary T. Schutte, 19, of E. Cass City Road; Bruce A. Brown, 22, of 4451 Jacob Road, and Thomas E. Marker, 20, of Unionville. The three were arrested by Cass City police in early August due to information supplied by what police called "a source."

An estimated 150,000 gallons were lost due to the hydrants being opened.

The purpose of a preliminary examination is to determine if there is enough evidence to bind a defendant over to circuit court for trial.

ARNOLD'S FLOWERS of Bay City pose with the trophies they won by annexing the Cass City Invitational Fastpitch tournament held over the week end at Cass City Recreational Park. Arnold's won by defeating Cass River Traders of Vassar in the finals. It was the Traders' only loss in the tourney. Arnold's previously lost a game but then went undefeated to take the title. In the unique tourney all 12 teams entered played at least five games in the two days and action was virtually non-stop all week end.

Mr. Haire,

Mrs. Burnette conducted herself like a real lady during your verbal attack directed to her during the August Board of Education meeting. Too bad your conduct is so "Boyish".

Ms. Maharg a fine coach

Dear Mr. Haire:

Last week you said Cass City should rejoice over a Lloyd Schinnerer taking over girl's basketball. Why should we rejoice?

I, for one, will be disappointed not to see Kally Maharg continuing her fine job of coaching. We have all seen the splendid way she has handled our young people since the beginning of girl's sports in Cass City.

As for the August basketball practice, where were you for the past four years? Mrs. Maharg has been calling the girls out in August since she has been the coach. Mr. Schinnerer may well be an excellent athlete but it remains to be seen if he can equal the job Mrs. Maharg has done in bringing any Cass City team (male or female) so close to State Finals. The only team closer is the girls' volleyball team.

Sincerely,
Patricia Gee

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Publisher's note: Mrs. Gee is putting words in my mouth. The item referred to said, "We don't know how good a coach Lloyd Schinnerer will make when he takes over the girls' basketball team this fall. We do know he's a high caliber young man."

"Certainly if he's as good a coach as he was a player for Bad Axe High School everyone connected with the program at the school will rejoice."

Let you infer from this letter that Mrs. Maharg was fired from her job it should be pointed out in fairness to Ms. Maharg that she resigned. The job was hers if she wanted it.

Put your ideas into action—talking accomplishes nothing.
