

Outlook gloomy for area farmers

Al Seuryneck puts it bluntly: "There's no money in cash cropping today."

Prospects this fall both locally and nationally are for a bountiful harvest. That, plus carryover from past years, has driven the market price for cash crops below the cost of production.

The result, area agricultural finance officials say, is that the only farmers who may make money this year will be those who don't have debts and have saved enough to tide them over during bad years without having to borrow.

There are already some signs of hard times for farmers, with some having to borrow money or extend present loans and postponing purchases of needed equipment.

Although prices are low, they may get lower. Seuryneck, who farms with his brother, David, almost 1,800 acres of wheat, dry beans, corn, and barley near Gagetown, talked on the phone last week with a representative of the Chicago Board of Trade. The official predicted that prices haven't hit "rock bottom" yet.

Similar forecasts come from Michigan State University and the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago.

The effect impact of low prices varies. Art Randall at the Cass City State Bank said there has been little paying off of farm loans, and that many growers have been extending their payment periods and in some instances, increasing the amount of their loans.

Randall, the bank's vice-president and cashier, predicted a few farmers may not be able to make it financially, and will be forced to sell out. Current prices, the banker said, "look like they won't cover expenses, let alone (let farmers) make a profit."

At Pinney State Bank, President Bob Keating said, "It's a little bit early to tell" about the effects of low market prices. Payments on most farm loans, he explained, aren't due until harvest season.

At the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office in Caro, county Executive Director Virgil Bouck said the number of farmers getting loans on their wheat this year has already exceeded the number of all commodity loans last year. Farmers can borrow $2.22 per bushel for 90 per cent of the crop. If the price -- currently around $1.70 -- goes above $2.22, growers can redeem their wheat by paying back what they owe plus 6 per cent interest.

If 11 months go by and the farmer hasn't redeemed his wheat, the wheat becomes the property of the federal government.

The same program exists for corn, with the current loan rate $1.73 per bushel. Expectations are Congress will raise that to $2 before this fall's harvest season is over.

With the current market price about $1.50 per bushel, cash cropper Seuryneck is predicting, "The government is going to have an awful lot of corn."

Bouck cautioned farmers that in order to participate in the loan program, if they don't have on-the-farm storage, they will need negotiable receipts for their grain from elevators.

Not all elevators will give negotiable receipts, however, partially because they don't like to tie up their storage space for 11 months.

In addition to wheat and corn, the ASCS loan program exists for barley, oats, rye and sorghum.

Another borrowing source for farmers is the Production Credit Association (PCA). Caro branch manager John Collins said his office currently has about $10.5 million in loans out in Tuscola county, up from about $9 million a year ago.

The PCA gives loans of up to 7 years for operating expenses and machinery.

Collins said a few cash crop farmers may make money this year, but most won't. "It's going to be awful difficult to make money."

Farmers in a credit crunch may be able to consolidate their debts and pay them off by getting a long-term real estate loan through the Federal Land Bank Association.

Caro branch manager Jim Bolton said, "We're not seeing a great amount (of loan consolidation), but I would anticipate later in the year and in early 1978, we may see quite a bit of this."

When money gets tight, farmers, like everybody else, have to make do with what they have for a while longer. Seuryneck said many farmers are patching their equipment together "with baling wire and scotch tape, but if they had the money, they would replace it."

Two implement dealers said their business has been affected by the current market situation, but not severely.

Wayne "Buck" Rabideau of Rabideau Motors, Inc., said, "Our total volume is down, but we're still selling some equipment." Last month, the Cass City dealership sold two $30,000 machines.

The repair and parts business, Rabideau said, is about the same and "maybe a little better."

Caro implement dealer Don Hedley said, "Business is not bad at this point." Large equipment sales, such as combines and four-wheel-drive tractors, have decreased, but sales of such items as middle-size tractors is healthy.

Parts sales and repairs remain about the same or have increased slightly, he said.

Hedley pointed out that implement dealers aren't as dependent on the size of farmers' wallets as they once were. Many implement dealers also sell such items as snowmobiles, industrial equipment, and lawn and garden tractors.

Making farmers' problems worse is that this year is the second year for low market prices, though they were not as low last year.

"Last year's prices were nothing to write home about," said the PCA's John Collins, "but they were better than this year's."

Cass City, Owen-Gage teachers without contracts

Classes start in the Cass City and Owendale-Gagetown School Districts Tuesday. Teachers in both districts will be working without a contract, the result of them petitioning to be represented in contract bargaining by the Tri-County Bargaining Association.

The TCBA is a Michigan Education Association (MEA) project, the eventual goal of which is to have it bargain for all teachers in Tuscola, Huron, and Sanilac counties.

According to David Stafford, MEA executive director for Tuscola and western Huron counties, the TCBA would still bargain individually with each school board. Its purpose, he said, is "mutual aid and comfort."

The education association for each school district would continue in existence to represent the teachers for purposes other than contract negotiation.

Cass City teachers vote this Thursday on whether they wish to be represented by the TCBA.

If they turn the proposal down, bargaining with the school board will be done by the Cass City Education Association. The association's contract with the board expired June 30.

According to Stafford, after Cass City teachers petitioned for representation election, the school board asked for a hearing before the Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC).

It changed its mind at the last minute, however, and agreed to holding of the election.

The Owen-Gage School Board June 13 rejected a request from the Owen-Gage Education Association that teachers be allowed to vote on whether they want to be represented by the TCBA.

MERC has now determined that enough teachers -- at least 30 per cent -- signed cards this past spring asking to be represented by the TCBA.

The next step, had the board acceded, would have been to schedule an election. Since the board refused, MERC officials Tuesday scheduled a hearing Sept. 9 in Detroit.

Two things could then happen: MERC could reject the petition requesting the election or it could schedule an election. Teachers can vote to either continue bargaining by the OGEA or be represented by the TCBA.

Until the matter is settled, however, the board cannot conduct contract negotiations with teachers.

Meanwhile, teachers will work under provisions of the current contract and the tentative school calendar prepared by Supt. Ronald G. Erickson.

"We want to start school like everyone else," said Manuel P. Thies, who headed the OGEA's no longer functioning bargaining committee.

Two other area school districts aren't having contract problems.

The Kingston schools, which started classes Wednesday, settled with teachers about a month ago, according to high school Principal Lee Robinson.

The Uby schools, where classes start this Thursday, are in the second year of a two-year agreement with teachers.

Village gets street, sewage plan funds

The Cass City Village Council received good news Tuesday night on several fronts -- all concerning money.

Federal grants for planning of expansion and improvement of the wastewater treatment plant and for street reconstruction have been officially approved.

In addition, the council was told state shared revenues to the village have increased because of the population increase here and that 94 per cent of village taxes have been paid.

The total cost for the Step II planning for the sewage treatment plant is $171,900, village President Lambert E. Althaver reported.

Of that, the federal government is providing $128,850 (75 per cent); the state, $8,590 (5 per cent); and the village, the remainder of $34,360.

The detailed plans and specifications will be done by Hubbel, Roth, and Clark, the engineers for the Step I feasibility study.

Althaver predicted it will take a year to complete the Step II plan.

The village's share of the cost can come from bond money from selling of bonds to finance the construction of the enlarged and improved treatment plant (Step III) -- provided federal water pollution control funds to partially finance the project are received.

Congressional action regarding federal funding for such projects in Cass City and elsewhere is expected within 30 days.

The state Water Resources Commission has now issued a new National Pollution Discharge Elimination Permit for the wastewater plant, effective until March 31, 1982.

The permit was issued on the condition the village continue progress toward updating of the plant, provided federal funds are available.

The village was first notified in June that it would be receiving public works funds, which the council decided to spend for street improvements.

Notification was received Aug. 26 that Cass City will receive the funds, totaling $338,380.

Construction must start within 90 days, but the general consensus is that since that will be in November, there won't be time for much more than a symbolic "shovel turning" before winter sets in.

The initial priority, calling for curb and gutter and new pavement, will be on portions of Maple, Sherman, Huron, and Ale Streets.

Construction plans by Hubbel, Roth, and Clark, are complete, except for a few revisions. The council should authorize advertising for bids at its Sept. 27 meeting.

Paving was scheduled to be done this month on Pine and Leach Streets and in Hillcrest Subdivision. Due to wet weather, Village Supt. Lou LaPonsie reported, it has been delayed to probably the second week in September.

Early this year, a special census was conducted, which showed the village has 2,436 residents, 23 per cent more than in the 1970 census.

As a result of the census, Althaver reported, the village has already received $11,000 more in state shared revenue -- based on population -- than it would have received with the 1970 figure.

A report from village Clerk-Treasurer Lynda McIntosh showed that of the $166,056 levied in village summer taxes, $155,899 -- 94 per cent -- have been paid.

The council extended the deadline for payment an additional month.

CULTURAL CENTER

After tabling the matter several months, council members finally discussed whether the village should take over complete ownership of the Cultural Center.

The village currently splits expenses 50-50 with Elkland township, whose residents at the annual meeting voted to turn the building over to the village.

Councilmen postponed making a decision Monday, pending receipt of specific information on the cost for operating and maintaining the building, including insurance, and income. Cass City pays all the bills for the building, for which it budgeted $2,000 in 1977, not including insurance. After all bills are in, the village will bill the please turn to page 5.

PUT AND TAKE -- It is the job of Department of Natural Resources employee Frank Babcock to release pheasants in the Deford State Game Area during the DNR's put-and-take pheasant hunting season. Hunters such as Wilbur (Bill) Salgat of Caro (below) do the "taking." He shot the bird Saturday morning in the portion of the game area south of Shabbona Road, east of Hurds Corner Road.

SAME BOAT

In the old days a fool and his money were soon parted — today it happens to everybody.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Arnold

The front porch at the home of Jack and Margaret Milligan in Decker was the setting for the June 18 marriage of their daughter, Sally, to Daniel L. Arnold, son of Clayton and Marie Arnold of Flint.

They were united in marriage by Rev. John Tatgenhorst of the Decker United Methodist church.

The bride was escorted to the porch by her father and mother. She wore a V-neck ivory dress trimmed in lace at the neck. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies.

Kathy Milligan, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a yellow wrap around long dress. The bridesmaids were Sandy Milligan, sister of the bride, Sarah Christmas and Jane Schlumer, friends of the couple. They wore mint green wrap arounds. All girls wore matching hats and carried a single yellow rose.

For her daughter's wedding the bride's mother wore a light blue long dress. The groom's mother chose a salmon colored dress. Both mothers had rose corsages.

Jeff Lee, friend of the couple, was best man. He wore a yellow tuxedo. Groomsmen were Jared Arnold and Wade Arnold, brothers of the groom, and Dave Staggs, friend of the couple. These men were dressed in mint green tuxedos. The groom wore a light tan tuxedo with a yellow carnation boutonniere.

Don Tollman, friend of the couple, sang "Color My World", accompanied by Margaret Armstrong at the organ.

Following the ceremony, a buffet dinner and reception were held at St. Elizabeth Hall in Marlette.

After the reception, the couple left for a two-week honeymoon to the east coast. The bride is a graduate of Alma College and is teaching. The groom is also a graduate of Alma and is employed at Arnold Auto Sales in Flint. They are making their home in Lapeer.

(And anyone else he can get to help)

The rumor going around that Fred Hurlburt is the new basketball coach at Harbor Beach is untrue. Those of you who remember Fred (and many do) should have known that the story going around town was unfounded. If Fred had been in Pirate town certainly we could have heard that deep bass voice of his as far away as Cass City.

The big band revival in Cass City may be dead. Woody Herman and his orchestra didn't do nearly as well financially as the Tommy Dorsey orchestra the previous year.

There are several reasons for this. One is that advertising sales were down. Another was the crowd. Although good, it wasn't as large as the one in 1976. Another was the expense. It cost considerably more to get the band here this year.

Despite this, Rotary met expenses and made a small (very small) profit. But the club was dangerously near the break-even point. So near that there is grave doubt about another big band in 1978.

There were breweries in Gagetown and Elmwood at one time, according to an article in the current issue of the Historical Society of Michigan magazine about Michigan breweries.

If anyone has any information, editor Mike Eliasohn would like to do a story.

The breweries were apparently out of business by around 1900, according to Cass City Historical Society President Jack Esau.

If you like trout fishing (or, perhaps even if you don't) you'll enjoy a book published by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC).

Called "Trout Streams", it tells of many of Michigan's famous streams. The reports are in detail covering habitat, natural foods present, stream access, stream bottom types, tributaries, historical data, topography and similar information.

John D. Voelker (author of "Anatomy of a Murder") has written a forward but that's just to make it sell.

MUCC is selling the soft cover book for $2.45 until Sept. 15. After that it's a dollar more. The address is MUCC, Box 30235, Lansing, Mich. 48909.

Profits, if any, support club projects.

The word along the street is that there is a good deal of reluctance in Chicken City over Frankenmuth's decision to join a league of Saginaw valley teams and leave the Thumb B Conference.

Regardless, the Frankenmuth Board of Education approved transfer to the new league to be effective in the 1979-80 school year.

It's probably just as well that the Eagles are leaving. They have been a credit to the league while a member. But they are growing far faster than schools in the Thumb and are on the far edge of the league boundaries.

There are other teams, more compatible and closer that will undoubtedly be happy to take Frankenmuth's place.

He can speak the language. I'm always a little envious of a person that can speak two or more tongues. My admiration probably stems from my attempts to conquer French for two losing years at Michigan State.

RICE PADDY -- Most dry bean fields, such as this partially flooded one off Schwegler Road, haven't been hurt this much by all the rain. Even without flooding, the moisture has helped spread blight and mold, and kindled some new growth, which will mean green and dry beans on some plants. The extent of the damage won't be known till harvest time, after the first killing frost. The rain hasn't hurt the county's corn and sugar beet crop, however.

3 plead guilty of drug delivery

Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements, Thursday, Aug. 25, took under advisement acceptance of guilty pleas from three men charged with delivery of phenylhydrazine.

The three pleaded guilty on the condition other drug delivery charges pending against them be dropped and that they not be sentenced to prison.

The three pleading guilty were: George S. Buniack, 21, of Rt. 3 Hurds Corner Road, Caro. He was arrested in Caro on the delivery of PCP charge Jan. 3. He asked that a separate delivery of PCP charge, for which he was arrested Nov. 18, 1976 in Caro, be dropped.

William C. Magiera, 20, of 17 N. Hooper Street, Caro, who was arrested on a charge of delivery of PCP Oct. 14, 1976 in Caro. He asked that a second charge of delivery of PCP and a charge of delivery of LSD be dropped. He was arrested on the two charges Dec. 9 and Oct. 21, 1976, respectively in Caro.

David R. Popp, 23, of 2222 Village Drive, Caro, who was arrested on a charge of delivery of PCP along with Buniack Jan. 3. He asked that the delivery of PCP charge that he was arrested for in Unionville Aug. 28, 1976, be dropped.

Judge Clements set sentencing for the trio for Oct. 11, should he accept their pleas. Bond was continued for all three.

In cases Monday before Judge Clements: He refused to accept the guilty plea of Michael J. Urban, 17, of 200 W. Gamble Street, Caro, to a charge of attempted larceny.

He had been charged with larceny over $100, in connection with the theft of a soft drink machine from Jack Botsford of Caro July 20. A pre-trial hearing was scheduled Sept. 12. Bond was continued.

Urban stood mute to two charges of larceny in a building. Pleas of innocent were entered by the court and a pre-trial hearing was scheduled, also Sept. 12.

The charges are in connection with the theft of a cassette player and amplifier, belonging to Lian Parsell, from the Caro swimming pool, and of beer from the Lions Club booth, both at the fairgrounds July 18.

David M. Fitzgerald, 19, of 181 N. State Street, Apt. 3, Caro, pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted receiving and concealing stolen property over $100.

The plea was accepted and sentencing was scheduled Sept. 26. Personal recognizance bond was continued.

The charge was in connection with the defendant's possession of a tape player, amplifier, and black and white television. Fitzgerald was arrested July 18 on a complaint from David Matlin.

Virginia Bell, 17, of 422 E. Deckerville Road, Caro, was sentenced for attempted larceny in a building.

She was placed on 12 months' probation, sentenced to 22 days in the county jail, with credit for 22 days served, fined $125 and assessed $125 court costs. She is to be given credit for $25 for each month she is enrolled in and attending school.

The charge was in connection with the taking of a pair of blue jeans from Karen's Town and Country Store in Caro June 2.

Two charges of forgery against the defendant, for writing of bad checks for $70 and $50, were dismissed.

A defense motion for releasing of David Wolfrum, 19, of Rt. 1 Burmon Road, Deford, on his own recognizance was granted. Personal recognizance bond was set at $1,000.

Wolfrum has been in the county jail since Feb. 28. He is awaiting trial Sept. 20 on charges of breaking and entering an occupied dwelling and larceny in a building.

The charges are in connection with a break-in Feb. 26 of a home at 3334 E. Snover Road, Dayton township.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

Okay, it's September and summer vacation's over. Let's get down to brass tacks. Here are some questions and some answers as seen from the corner of Oak and Main.

QUESTION - Wednesday was to have been the day of the big tour of the Intermediate Building. What will be the result?

ANSWER - Well, all the critics of the school, the superintendent and others with axes to grind will say that it has been cleaned better since the campaign. Personally, I'd say that it probably will be a shade better but at what cost to needed programs in other areas? I've always thought, considering the age of the building, that it was in the finest condition possible. Others of that age have already been condemned.

QUESTION - What about the Owen-Gage School situation now?

ANSWER - There's only one thing sure. The lawyers are going to make a bundle. I should say a bundle more. They already have cleaned up and the situation is no nearer settled than it was two years ago.

QUESTION - I hear rumors that Cass City is loaded for the upcoming football season. How about it?

ANSWER - Who knows? On paper we rate with the best. But the games are played on the field. A couple of factors could have a huge bearing on what happens this fall. The first is getting off to a good start. If the boys start smelling an opportunity to play in the Silverdome anything might happen. The second is personnel. It's rumored that a couple of fine, large sized athletes not practicing now are coming out when school starts. If they do they could provide that little extra that turns a contender into a champion.

QUESTION - How about a little equal time for the girls. What are the prospects in basketball?

ANSWER - It's a rebuilding year. The talent that carried Cass City through three fine years has about all graduated. Competition is keener, too, as all schools have swung into a full girls' basketball program.

QUESTION - How's the economy?

ANSWER - This is another of these years that shows the advantage of a diversified economy. Twenty-five years ago, farm prices like those today would have been a disaster for all. Today the farm crunch is padded by industrial jobs. Area plants are going full blast and that keeps business cash registers tingling. In short, it could be better, but it could be a whole lot worse than it is.

"If It Fitz..." Caviar and good reporting

By Jim Fitzgerald

Marshall Spiegel is mad at me because, he says, I called him a hooker and a freeloader.

Spiegel is an automotive journalist who writes for Auto Reports magazine. In the September issue, he reacts angrily to a column I wrote last May.

Along with hundreds of journalists from all over the nation, I had been invited to the Napa Valley in California for the unveiling of Ford's new small car, the Fiesta. Ford offered to pick up the tab for the plane fare, three days in a fancy hotel, meals, golf, tennis and other goodies.

My newspaper does not allow its employees to accept such magnificent freebies, so I declined the invitation. Three weeks later, I was still subject to spasms of uncontrolled sobbing. I wouldn't recognize a Fiesta if it parked in my navel, but I know I would have loved the wine in the Napa Valley.

However, if I had supped and sipped at the Ford table, would my bread and butter not smell of payola? Would I urge readers to buy Fiestas, not because I liked the car, but because I liked the wine?

These seemed like fair questions to ponder into my typewriter on a chilly May day in Detroit, the same day hundreds of less cautious newsmen were risking their souls to play golf in the sunny Napa Valley. While I was wishing them terminal sunburn, I wrote this:

"The next time you read a rave review for an auto, you might wonder if the writer inspected the car while golfing in Florida, and who picked up the tab."

This is what teed off Marshall Spiegel. His retort included this paragraph:

"I've eaten Chrysler's hors d'oeuvres, Ford's steaks, GM's caviar, and American Motors' hot dogs. And I've toasted with Porsche's beer, Mercedes' champagne, and Datsun's sake. I've seen some great motorcars, and others that range from fair to poor. In each case, the carmaker obviously wanted me to write nice things about its product. I always wrote what I believed regardless of who picked up the tab."

Well, I wouldn't call Spiegel a liar. I might call him a glutton, and I might wonder if everything he eats tastes slightly of motor oil. But I'm in no position to judge his integrity, as I've never read what he wrote about GM cars after eating GM caviar.

But I did read what Len Barnes wrote after returning from the Fiesta party in the Napa Valley. Barnes is editor of Motor News, the Auto Club's Michigan magazine. Barnes allowed Ford to pick up his tab, but that didn't stop him from rapping the car. Barnes pointed out that the Fiesta couldn't be towed from the rear. He also compared the Fiesta to the Chevette and said the Fiesta's important components are more apt to be damaged in a crash. Obviously, Barnes didn't feel obligated to pay for his supper.

Tom Freel is contributing editor at Motor News. He thinks it is sometimes a necessary evil for writers to freeload on the auto companies. "But when the writer's trip or something has been paid for by the company, he should tell his readers that in his copy, so they know where he is coming from," Freel told me.

Obviously, Spiegel and I wouldn't be having this debate if there were no cause for some suspicion. Even he admits, "There are some journalists whose heads can be turned by golfing trips to Florida." But, as any writer will tell you, it is always the other guy who takes a dive into the corporate grease.

How does the freebie situation look from the other side? A Ford employee gave me a copy of a letter sent by Henry Ford II to all of his executives. It outlines "Standards of Corporate Conduct" pertaining to the acceptance of gifts by Ford employees. The most succinct paragraph says:

"The acceptance of a gift or favor . . . by a Company employee from any supplier, dealer or customer . . . is prohibited. This is not intended to eliminate the acceptance of such items as a calendar, note pad, pencil or tie clip bearing the identification of the sender."

Instead of hosting the Napa Valley extravaganza, why didn't Ford simply send the media calendars illustrated with monthly pictures of the Fiesta?

Because it is more blessed to give than to receive. And if you don't give enough, you won't receive enough. Amen.

Vahovicks meet

The Vahovick family held their first reunion at the Ted Vahovick home Sunday, Aug. 14. About 200 attended the gathering when four generations were represented.

Guests attended from Manclona, Port Huron, Detroit, Minden City, Bad Axe, Rapson, Argyle, Caseville, Peck and others.

Milk output increases in July

State milk production in July was 407 million pounds, up 4 per cent from the same month last year, according to the Michigan Crop Reporting Service.

Each cow produced an average of 1,010 pounds of milk, up from 970 pounds in July, 1976. The number of cows in Michigan declined from 404,000 to 403,000.

Nationally, July milk production totaled 10.715 billion pounds, up 2.5 per cent from the same month in 1976 and 7.5 per cent above July, 1975.

Average production of 977 pounds per cow was 30 pounds more than a year earlier and 81 pounds above July, 1975.

The nation's dairy herd in July of 10,965 million head was 2,000 more than in June but down .7 from July, 1976.

Production for the first seven months of 1977 was 2.2 per cent above the same period in 1976 and 6.2 per cent above the corresponding period in 1975.

The July milk-feed ratio of 1.56 was 4.7 per cent above the June ratio and 8.3 per cent above a year ago. The increase was due to higher milk prices and lower feed costs.

PEDALING AROUND

Don't keep the canal

By Mike Eliasohn

I hope the members of the veterans groups opposing "giving away" of the Panama Canal are ready to go fight for it. I'm not.

And when the charge is led against Panamanian machine gunners, I hope Ronald Reagan is in front. I won't be behind him.

I don't blame citizens of Panama for being incensed at having the American-controlled canal running through their country.

If Canada had a canal running through the lower peninsula of Michigan from Lake Huron to Lake Michigan, Michiganans would be just as incensed.

Supporters of the treaty say guerilla war could break out in the Canal Zone if the Senate does not approve the treaty. Opponents cry "blackmail."

The Pentagon says the canal cannot be defended; Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina says that's "hogwash."

A lot of people thought defending South Vietnam would be easy. We all know how wrong they (and we) were.

The Canal Zone isn't anywhere near as large as South Vietnam, but I still don't think it's worth shedding American blood over. I wonder if Reagan, Thurmond, and the "don't give it away" veterans are willing to shed any of their blood.

The canal is not as militarily important as some would want Americans to believe.

Most of the new aircraft carriers are too wide to go through it, and with a two-ocean Navy, not that many smaller warships have to go through it.

It is difficult to defend against sabotage and could be knocked out by one atomic missile.

In terms of commercial shipping, the canal is also not as important as it once was. Supertankers are too big for it and due to changing world markets, not as many countries use it anymore. In 1949, about 13 per cent of U.S. overseas trade went through the canal; in 1976, the figure was only 7 per cent.

For the record, here are the basic provisions of the proposed treaty, which must be approved by a two-thirds majority of the Senate to take effect:

-Panama immediately takes control over 65 per cent of the Canal Zone (not the canal itself). It gets the rest Dec. 31, 1999. Panamanian courts assume civil jurisdiction immediately; criminal jurisdiction in three years.

-The U.S. currently pays Panama $2.3 million a year for the right to operate the canal (which we wouldn't do if we owned it). That will increase to $40 to $70 million a year, through 1999, based on canal tonnage and revenue.

In a separate package, the U.S. is offering $345 million to Panama in loans and credit for defense and development.

-The U.S. keeps five military bases in the Canal Zone until the year 2000. After that, a separate treaty pledges the U.S. and Panama to preserve the canal's neutrality. That is interpreted to mean the U.S. has the right to intervene militarily.

-A new commission, dominated by the U.S., will operate the canal and gradually turn control over to the Panamanians, who take complete control in 2000. Current U.S. workers keep their jobs until retirement.

FAST BUCK

It's a game of give and take in this modern world with too many people trying to take.

Council debates Cultural Center

township for the latter's 50 per cent share.

A decision will probably be made at the Sept. 27 meeting. Some discussion Tuesday favored continuation of the status quo, that since village residents are also township residents, they pay more than half of Elkland's taxes. Therefore, it would only be fair that the township continue to help support the Cultural Center.

CIVIL DEFENSE

County Emergency Services Coordinator Frank Kroswek asked the council to prepare an emergency plan, in conjunction with Elkland and Novesta townships, to deal with emergencies such as tornadoes.

The plan would detail such things as location of construction equipment, such as front end loaders, available shelters for feeding and housing victims, names of nurses, firemen, and electricians, and availability of generators.

LaPonsie was designated to work on the village's portion of the plan. Kroswek will contact the two townships to obtain their cooperation.

OTHER BUSINESS

The council gave its approval to holding the Thumb Area Summer games July 22, 1978, in the village park. The games were held for the first time this year at various locations throughout the Thumb. Next year, all events will be in Cass City.

The recommendation of the planning commission was approved, that the former Lenzner property at Oak and Pine Streets should be rezoned from residential to parking. The request came from Schneberger's, which will use it for customer parking.

A special meeting was scheduled at 7 p.m., Sept. 13, with the planning commission and developer Thomas Heron to consider approval of the plat for his Northwood Estates, located off of N. Seeger Street, across from the high school.

A total of $3,500 was appropriated for purchase of trees, some as replacements for trees that died.

Notification has been received from the state highway department that flashing lights will be installed soon on the children's crossing signs at the Ale and Main intersection.

Installation will start in mid-September of water and sewer lines in the village industrial park. The bid for the project was approved at the July meeting.

A plaque has been received from the American Automobile Association commending the village for having gone four years without a pedestrian fatality.

The July police report showed 64 traffic tickets issued, 12 parking tickets, and 67 parking meter tickets. Two juveniles were arrested. Ten adults were arrested or given appearance tickets.

Crimes reported were: Larcenies, 10; vandalism, 5; assault and battery, 2; bad checks, 2; and drug complaints, 1.

Direct dialing starting

General Telephone customers in Cass City, Clifford, and Kingston will soon be able to dial credit card, collect, person-to-person, and bill-to-third number long distance calls from any phone including pay phones, according to Bob Kowalski, northeastern division manager.

The added dial service begins Tuesday, Sept. 6.

The automated system, which makes long distance dialing of these special services possible, also allows the company to offer IDDD - International Direct Distance Dialing - to 36 foreign countries.

"This new automated operator service will provide our customers with faster call processing and more accurate billing," Kowalski said.

He said it offers a more efficient means of providing telephone service and helps the company hold down the ever increasing costs of providing that service.

The heart of the system is a computer actuated by a newly developed push button console for operators. The consoles replace cord-type switchboards and the computer handles the routine details of recording billing information and other details on long distance calls.

The calling process differs only slightly from dialing long distance station-to-station calls: a customer dials 0 (zero), the area code if appropriate, then the seven-digit telephone number of the person being called.

"While the call is being processed by the equipment, the operator will come on the line to get the additional information necessary, such as the credit card number," Kowalski explained.

He pointed out that the rates for person-to-person, collect, bill-to-third number, and credit card calls will remain the same.

Customers who have access to IDDD are being sent a pamphlet explaining the calling process, naming the countries and providing the rates.

Riding club names leaders

The Indian Trails Riding Club has announced the leaders in its series of contest shows held this summer.

The final high point leaders will be determined after the club's last show in September.

Current leaders are: John Boland, men's division; Lloyd Newsome II, boys 15 and under; Nancy Wolfe, women's division; and Kathleen McIntyre and Valerie Kranz (tie), girls 15 and under.

Next meeting of the club will be Thursday, Sept. 1, at the clubhouse.

Three are hurt in Thursday crash

Three persons were treated at Caro Community Hospital Thursday afternoon, Aug. 25, after an accident at M-24 and M-46, south of Caro.

Benjamin A. Ronan, 73, of Pontiac, was cited by sheriff's deputies on a charge of failure to yield at a posted intersection.

They said he was northbound on M-24, and collided with the westbound auto of Michael V. Little, 18, of 5025 Severance Road, Cass City.

Treated at the hospital were Ronan's wife, Gail, 69; Little, and a passenger in the Little auto, John A. Warju, 14, of 5043 Severance Road.

Elsie Mathews, 67, of Marlette, was ticketed by Cass City police Monday afternoon on a charge of driving left of center.

They said she was westbound on E. Cass City Road at Scotty McCullough Drive when she crossed the centerline and collided with the eastbound auto of Jacquie R. Zawilinski, 27, of 6180 Krapf Road.

Ronald L. McLaren, 25, of 5785 Snover Road, Decker, was cited by sheriff's deputies early Saturday on a charge of failure to yield right of way.

They said he was northbound on Graf Road and collided with the car of Derek J. Dean, 18, of 4217 Van Geisen, Caro, which was westbound on Van Geisen.

Carol L. Hayward, 21, of Sebawaing, was ticketed Wednesday night, Aug. 24, by deputies on a charge of careless driving. They reported she was eastbound on Bay City-Forestville Road, east of Colwood Road, when her car went off the right side of the road into a ditch.

Richard C. Kulinski, 23, of 4918 Lamton Road, escaped injury in an accident Sunday morning on Deckerville Road.

Deputies reported he was westbound, west of Lamton, when his car went off the north side of the road, struck a bridge warning sign and then the bridge abutment, spun around and went off the north side of the road backwards into a ditch on the far side of the bridge.

Cass City police reported Wednesday evening, Aug. 24, that when Charles F. Thompson, 18, of Akron, stopped at the railroad tracks on Main Street for a train, he was struck in the rear by a car driven by James W. O'Connor, 22, of Elkton.

Both vehicles were eastbound.

MSU Swine Day Sept. 23

Practical management techniques and a look at current and future research needs comprise Michigan State University's Swine Day Sept. 23 on campus.

The day-long seminar provides a morning (10-12 a.m.) of demonstrations at the MSU Swine Research Center on Forest Road and two hours of classroom work at 109 Anthony Hall in the afternoon.

The event, which costs $3 per person (registration and lunch fee), is sponsored by the MSU Cooperative Extension Service.

Morning topics include: Structural soundness of pigs, purple sulfur bacteria for swine waste lagoon odor control, and Atrophic Rhinitis (a respiratory disease) effects and controls.

Other topics are laparoscopic sows (an artificial insemination method and technique for reproductive physiology study), alternative flushing systems for waste removal, selecting and mixing feed ingredients, and techniques in handling semen for artificial insemination.

The afternoon session consists of three presentations telling of research trends. Additional Swine Day information is available from local county extension offices or from Dr. Maynard Hogberg, 205 Anthony Hall, MSU, East Lansing, 48824.

Blues change physician reimbursement

Michigan Blue Cross-Blue Shield's board of directors have approved a major change in reimbursement for physician services that will more effectively control costs, reduce out-of-pocket expenses to subscribers, and provide incentives for more doctors to participate in the plan.

Elements of the change include: - Establishment of uniform maximum payments regardless of geographic area of practice statewide and regardless of whether a physician is a specialist or a generalist. (The uniform statewide maximum payments will start in Jan. 1978.) - An incentive to physicians to control the volume of services, to begin in 1978 and extend into 1979.

- An update of fee profiles for currently participating physicians, to start this October.

Blues' president John C. McCabe said uniform maximum payments statewide will help encourage physicians to practice in areas of Michigan which are underserved, due in part to present lower reimbursement in those areas.

If physicians keep the volume of services below projected levels during 1978, a portion of the savings will be added to reimbursements for those services in 1979.

The change will involve limiting overall physician expenditures in 1979 to 1978 payments, with reasonable adjustments for inflation and medically necessary volume and frequency of service.

A target or standard will be identified and payments to doctors will be increased or decreased based on a physician's performance in meeting utilization and cost containment goals.

By updating physicians' fees and offering more equitable maximum payments regardless of geographic area or type of practice, the Blues anticipate that more physicians (especially those located outside) will accept the Blues' level of reimbursement as payment in full for their services.

This will minimize out-of-pocket costs to subscribers.

DEFORD UNITED METHODIST CHURCH HOSTS SPECIAL SERVICES

Dr. William M. Arnett, professor of theology at Asbury Theological Seminary, Wilmore, Kentucky will be the guest speaker this week at The Deford United Methodist Church. The services will begin on Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m.

AUG. 31 - SEPT. 4

Dr. Arnett will also be speaking at the Sunday worship services at Deford, 9:30 a.m. and at the Kingston United Methodist Church, 11:00 a.m.

In addition, special music will be featured each evening. On Wednesday and Thursday evening, the Living Truth Quartet will be singing.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday mornings, Dr. Arnett will be speaking at 10 a.m. in an informal setting on current issues and Biblical answers.

The services are open to the general public. Free will offerings will be received. The Deford United Methodist Church exists in the community to proclaim the Gospel of Jesus Christ to all, to call persons to Commitment to Christ and His Church and to promote Christian growth and maturity. It is in the spirit of these purposes that these services are offered to the community.

Pesticide examination Sept. 14

The Michigan Department of Agriculture will administer the pesticide applicators' examination Sept. 14 at 7:30 p.m. at the Farm Bureau Building in Sandusky.

The Sanilac County Cooperative Extension Service will, therefore, conduct a training session Tuesday, Sept. 6, at 7:30 p.m.

Purpose of the training session will be to help farmers prepare for the examination.

It is suggested that farmers planning on taking the examination should attend the training session and acquaint themselves with the information needed to complete the examination given by the MDA.

This training session will be held at the Farm Bureau Building in Sandusky.

Farmers wanting to take the pesticide certification test can apply to do so at their county extension office, although it may be too late to do so in time to take the test Sept. 14 in Sandusky.

After Oct. 26 of this year, farmers will have to be certified in order for them to purchase and apply restricted-use pesticides.

C. Guernsey gets degree

Nancy Dickerson, prominent national correspondent, reports for Detroit Edison:

"See how homes winning Detroit Edison EEE Awards are built to save on energy costs from top to bottom."

Detroit Edison is a concerned participant in America's crusade for conservation. The wise use of energy is a national goal, but it requires a working relationship between those who supply energy and those who use it. To demonstrate publicly the desire to take a leadership role in this crusade, Detroit Edison has established the Energy Efficiency Excellence (EEE) Award to encourage the building of more energy-efficient homes.

EEE Award homes are designed with conservation in mind.

Detroit Edison presents the Energy Efficiency Excellence (EEE) Award to builders whose homes meet maximum standards in insulation, lighting, wiring, appliances and are comfort-conditioned with an energy-efficient electric heat pump.

From attic to basement, EEE Award homes are designed to keep your heat inside during winter and your utility costs down. These same features also make EEE Award homes easier to cool in summer. The heat pump that keeps EEE Award homes comfortable all year round is an efficient way to heat, cool, filter and dehumidify electrically.

If you're planning on buying or building a new home, take a look at the Detroit Edison EEE Award homes. These homes will help you conserve energy and keep your operating costs at rock bottom.

Detroit Edison EEE Award homes must meet or surpass the following standards:

A. Energy-efficient heat-pump heating and cooling system which conforms to design and installation standards established by the electric utility industry.

B. Maximum insulation including R-17 material in exterior walls, R-44 in attic, and fully insulated basement walls with an R-13 value.

C. Windows with wood sash and insulating glass or single glass with full storm. Or aluminum sash with thermal break and insulating glass or single glass with full storm.

D. Exterior doors with foam core and magnetic seal.

E. Refrigerator and freezer must be energy-efficient if provided by builder.

F. Water heater is energy-saving type, located as close as practical to point of use. Hot water lines wrapped in insulation are recommended.

G. Interior lighting that conforms to the Illuminating Engineering Society standards for energy efficiency in residential lighting.

H. Exterior security lighting, if provided, has automatic dusk-to-dawn control.

I. If home has a fireplace, it must have a tight-fitting damper and glass screen, and, if practical, an outside fresh-air supply.

J. Materials, equipment, design and construction of all electric devices and wiring must comply with all local and national codes.

If you're interested in finding out more about energy-efficient living, call these builders. They'll be happy to give you more details about the benefits you enjoy in EEE Award homes.

Yes, you can make your present home more energy efficient.

Detroit Edison's Home Insulation Finance Plan is designed to help you bring your present home up to today's energy-saving standards. Ask about it at your Detroit Edison Customer Office. Here are other things you can do to help conserve energy and also save money: Put up storm windows and doors; Check weatherstripping and caulking; Dial down in winter and dial up in summer; Lower furnace fan settings; Keep electric appliances in good repair. That way, we'll all be using energy more wisely.

Pick up a free copy of "Planning a New Home?" at any Detroit Edison Customer Office. Or call Detroit Edison for more information.

Conserve for all it's worth. The power is in your hands.

NO WAY

It may be true that money talks, but a dollar never talks back to the tax collector.

Tuscola railroad gets okay

Operating agreements with two new railroads, one in the Thumb and the other in Lenawee county, were approved Aug. 24 by the State Highway Commission.

Starting Oct. 1, Tuscola and Saginaw Bay Railway, Inc., will take over operation of 43.6 miles of track operated for the past 1½ years by Conrail. The track was formerly owned by the bankrupt Penn Central Railroad.

The T&SBR will operate trains on the lines between Vassar and Munger, Vassar and Millington, and Vassar and Colling. The primary cargo will be sugar beets and other agricultural products.

The 18-month agreement between the railroad and highway commission will provide the railroad with $406,503 in subsidies for the fiscal year starting Oct. 1. The subsidy consists of $325,202 in federal funds and $81,301 in state money.

For the first six months of the 1978-79 fiscal year, the state will provide a subsidy of $203,410.

The investor-owned T&SBR is headed by Charles Lapp of Hillsdale, who has operated the Hillsdale County Railroad.

The other highway commission agreement was with the Lenawee County Railroad to operate former Penn Central track now used by Conrail.

HEALTH TIPS

Football season requires precautions

By Frank Chappell, American Medical Association

Football season is almost here again.

All over the nation, American males are starting to toss and kick and run with footballs, all the way from 8-year-olds in the backyard to junior and senior high and college teams to the big bruisers of the professional leagues.

Football is a rough contact sport and inevitably will produce its full quota of bumps and bruises, strains and sprains, cuts and gashes. Most of these aren't serious and the lads concerned are back in the game shortly.

A thorough medical examination is highly important for boys preparing to go out for football to make certain that there is no physical condition that should be noted before beginning the rigorous training and hard knocks of the game.

Proper physical conditioning hardens the body and increases resistance to fatigue, thus helping prevent injury.

A minimum of three weeks of conditioning are recommended prior to the first game of the season. Coaches and team physicians are alert to the fact that many injuries occur when the player is tiring and thus less alert.

Good coaching enables the players to perform better and thus be less prone to injury. Good officiating makes for better games and also helps protect players. Proper equipment and facilities are important to reduce injuries. Good first aid procedures and medical care, with a physician available during practice drills and on the bench during games are major factors in cutting serious injuries.

Precautions against the extreme heat of early season days also are important.

Many coaches now schedule the hot weather workouts in early morning and late afternoon to avoid the heat of the day. The old rule against drinking water during drills and games has long since been proved invalid and dangerous. Water and salt is necessary to replace fluids lost through copious sweating.

If your boy is playing on an organized team, the chances are good that all of these safeguards are observed.

If most of his playing is done on a vacant lot in the afternoons and on Saturdays, it becomes the parents' responsibility to see that the player has the benefit of the safety principles.

Don't lecture — build character in your children by example.

Your Neighbor says

Four problems facing Michigan

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Patrick H. McColough, in a recent speech in Cass City, said in his travels around the state, he has found most persons are concerned about crime, property taxes, and welfare.

Harold Whittaker of 6608 Pine Street is most concerned about four issues.

One is inflation. "I feel our government isn't doing anything to stem the tide," he said.

Crime is another problem, one cause of which, he feels, is too much permissiveness and immorality in society.

Part of the solution to the welfare problem, he suggested, is to put as many people as possible receiving welfare to work. "If you're going to pay them, they should work."

As for property taxes, he said, the government "can't go on taxing homeowners and farmers the way they are."

Whittaker is in the portable sawmill business, with most of the wood he and his employees cut being sold to firms that make it into pallets.

He and his wife, Ethel, have two children, both grown, and one granddaughter.

64 attend annual reunion

Sixty-four attended the annual Hendrick-Downing families reunion Sunday at the Cass City recreation park.

Eldest present was Theo Hendrick of Cass City, who is 85, and the youngest was four-year-old Philip Hendrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hendrick of Lansing.

Officers elected for the coming year were: president, Kenneth Hendrick of Lansing; vice-president, Harry Wright of Cass City, and secretary, Harriett Fox of Lapeer.

The 1978 reunion will be held at the same location Sunday, Aug. 27.

Retirees may claim tax credit

Older Americans may now want to amend their 1976 income tax returns to claim the retirement income credit that has now been extended through 1976, the Internal Revenue Service said.

The Tax Reduction and Simplification Act of 1977 gives some taxpayers the option of reducing their tax liability for 1976 by choosing either the new tax credit for the elderly or the former retirement income credit.

Previously, the retirement income credit could not be used on 1976 tax returns since it was replaced by the tax credit for the elderly.

The IRS also advises taxpayers who claimed the tax credit for the elderly on their 1976 returns to consider recomputing their taxes to determine whether they could get a larger credit under former retirement income credit provisions.

In general, taxpayers over age 65 with larger incomes which substantially limit or completely eliminate eligibility for the tax credit for the elderly, will benefit by electing the retirement income credit.

Also, married individuals who filed separate returns and lived with their spouses at any time during the year are not permitted to claim the tax credit for the elderly. Taxpayers in this situation may, however, be eligible for the retirement income credit.

Amended returns—Form 1040X—and new retirement income credit computation forms—1976 Schedule RIC (Form 1040)—are available by calling the local IRS.

Approximately 100 gathered Sunday at Canatara Park, Point Edward, Canada, for the annual McLarty reunion.

Attending from the greatest distance were Mrs. Mabel Graham of Sarasota, Fla., and Mrs. Carol Hutchinson of Houston, Tex.

Honors for being the oldest guests present went to Mrs. Elva McLarty of Pontiac and Clarence Rossman of Owosso. The youngest member was Julie Kay, two months, daughter of Bob and Sandra Trombley of Milford, Mich.

Officers for the coming year are: Mrs. Clarence Rossman, chairman; Edward Jobse's, treasurer and games, and Deloris Willerton, secretary.

Champagnes alert state police to area 'pot' plot

Harvesting was done early in a field in Novesta township. State police from Caro are now looking for those who did the planting.

David V. Champagne of Marlette told troopers Sunday that on the previous day he had gone to the rear of his property at Severance and Warner Roads to get some farm equipment when he noticed what he thought were marijuana plants.

He returned Sunday with Roger M. Champagne of Ubly. They pulled some of the plants and then called state police.

After the troopers arrived, the two men helped them pull the rest of the plants.

A total of 727 marijuana plants were pulled, with an estimated street value of $3,000. Some of the plants were field tested, with positive results. Some more plants were to be taken to the state police lab at Bridgeport for additional testing.

The field was described as 7 mile west of Cemetery Road and .5 mile south of Severance Road.

Harry Pyonk of 5704 E. Deckerville Road, Deford, reported to the sheriff's department Saturday afternoon that his home had been entered.

The kitchen, bathroom, and combination living and dining room had been vandalized, with holes kicked in walls, jars of baby food and a television screen broken, a couch overturned, and boxes emptied onto the floor.

Taken were an AM-FM radio, $50; assorted jewelry, $200; a miniature jewelry box, $30; custom-made brass jewelry box, $150; earring tree and earrings, $50, and an earring arch and earrings, $5.

Ronald Argresta of Detroit told deputies Saturday morning that two trailers he owns on Crawford Road, south of M-81 in Elkland township, were entered sometime since Aug. 22.

Taken were a black and white television, $75; an electronic game attachment for the TV, $119; 100 .12 gauge shotgun shells, $120, and a pair of channellock pliers, $12.

Gloria Ouyry of 6742 Pine Street, Cass City, told Cass City police Tuesday, Aug. 23, that the family garage was entered sometime after Aug. 19.

A dent was put in the right front fender of her car, apparently with a hand tool; there were scratches on the passenger door, and two slits were made in the convertible top above the door. Tomatoes were splattered against the car.

In addition, containers of nails and other items were overturned, two windows were broken, and eggs and other substances were thrown against the house.

Wally Kappen of the Kappen Saw Mill, 261 N. Kingston Road, Deford, told sheriff's deputies Wednesday morning, Aug. 24, that the hose on a tank of diesel fuel had been cut. The 240 gallons of fuel in the tank drained onto the ground.

The hose on the gasoline storage tank was also cut, but only a small amount of fuel was taken. Total loss was estimated at $120.

Deputies were dispatched early Sunday to help Gage-town police officer Larry Wilding quell a disturbance at Bennett's Bar in the village.

When deputies arrived, Wilding told them the fight was over.

Eilene Seltz of 6467 Main Street, told Cass City police Friday that her purse had been stolen.

The contents included $80 in cash, Blue Cross and Medicaid cards, and her driver's license.

She told police she was sleeping overnight in the lobby of Hills and Dales General Hospital, where her child was a patient, when the purse was stolen.

A two-square block area in Mayville was evacuated Thursday morning, Aug. 25, when a gas line leading to a house burst.

Aiding in the evacuation were Mayville police, Caro State police, and sheriff's deputies.

The line burst at 11:10 a.m. and was repaired by 12:05 p.m. by workmen from Consumers Power Co., after which residents could return.

Cass City police, Tuesday night, Aug. 23, arrested Lawrence L. Lee, 62, of Fairgrove Road, Caro, on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor.

He was taken to the county jail, where he later posted bond. Arraignment in district court was scheduled Sept. 12.

Caro state police were called last week to investigate a break-in and attempted break-in.

They were called Wednesday afternoon to the Eagle's Club on George Road, Ellington township. Would-be thieves first removed a screen, then tried to kick in a door, and finally broke a window but couldn't reach the padlock on the inside of the door. No entry was made.

Thursday morning they went to the Girl Scout camp on Shabbona Road, a quarter-mile east of Duprey Road.

A building had been entered by breaking down a door; however, nothing was missing.

Death ruled suicide

The death of Catherine Brennan, 19, of rural Owendale, has tentatively been ruled as a suicide.

Huron County Assistant Prosecutor Douglas Lee said death was due to a self-inflicted gunshot wound. Investigation is continuing.

She was dead on arrival Friday at Scheurer Hospital in Pigeon.

Catherine was born March 27, 1958, in Bay City, the daughter of Edna Beyer Brennan and the late James C. Brennan. She attended Owen-Gage High School.

She is survived by a daughter, Jodi Louise, at home; her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Rexford Fritz of Hutchinson and Kimberly Brennan, both of Caro; a brother, Anthony Fritz of Evart; two step-brothers, Ronald Fritz of California and Roy Fritz of Caro; two step-sisters, Mrs. Connie LaShance of California and Mrs. Sandra Skinner of Caro; her grandmother, Mrs. Hazel Wlodarczak of Bay City, and several nieces and nephews.

Services were held Tuesday afternoon in the Owendale Reorganized Church of the Latter Day Saints, Elder Ellis Gardner officiating.

Burial was in Grant cemetery, Gagetown.

Funeral arrangements were handled by Little's Funeral Home of Cass City.

Tri-counties to receive $450,000 for job training

Tuscola, Huron, and Sanilac counties will probably receive about $450,000 in federal funds for youth employment and job training.

The money will come from the Youth Employment and Demonstration Projects Act of 1977, signed into law by President Carter Aug. 5, which provides $1 billion nationally for the fiscal year starting Oct. 1.

The new federal program is for 16-19 year olds in or out of school who are having difficulty getting work.

The U.S. Department of Labor announcement of estimated allocations covers $527 million for two programs under the act.

As of Monday, specific figures weren't available for Tuscola, Huron, and Sanilac counties.

Thumb Area Consortium Executive Director Frank Lenard said his estimate of $450,000 is a "ball park guess." The consortium coordinates federal job programs for the three Thumb counties.

Officially, the youth job program is to get underway Oct. 1, but Lenard said it looks like it won't actually get started until about Jan. 1.

The $450,000 will be for two programs, Youth Community Conservation and Improvement Projects (YCCIP) and Youth Employment and Training Programs (YETP). YCCIP, according to the labor department, will provide jobless youth with employment through supervised work on projects "that produce tangible outputs and benefits to their home community."

YETP will provide youth with work and training opportunities to help their job prospects. The emphasis will be on low-income youth who have severe handicaps in obtaining jobs. Activities will include work experience, on-the-job training, classroom training, career counseling, and job placement services.

Lenard said he is waiting for further details about the two programs, and the amount of funds that will be available.

Most of the money, he said, will be for job training (YETP), as opposed to the project program (YCCIP).

Youth training could create problems, Lenard said, as many youngsters don't have transportation to get to a job training program and there is a conflict in training youth for jobs when there are adults who are unemployed.

"There never is any problem spending the money," he commented, "the problem is in putting it to a useful purpose."

The other two programs in the youth bill, for which allocations haven't been announced, are the Young Adult Conservation Corps ($233.3 million) and Youth Incentive Entitlement Pilot Projects ($115 million).

The conservation corps will provide jobs in public parks, forests and recreation areas. The pilot projects will be to demonstrate approaches that will guarantee jobs and-or training for economically disadvantaged youths.

Jobs created under any of the youth programs will pay at least the minimum wage, currently $2.30 an hour.

Now you can dial person-to-person, collect, credit-card and bill-to-third-number calls. Even from coin phones.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6

Telephone customers in Cass City (with telephone numbers beginning with the digits 872) can dial their own person-to-person, collect, credit card and bill-to-third party telephone numbers. Even from coin telephones.

Here's how to do it:

- For calls within your own 517 area, dial zero, plus the number you want to reach.
- For calls outside of your own 517 area, dial zero, plus the area code and the number you want to reach.

In either case, an operator will come on the line and ask, "May I help you?"

Dialing person-to-person calls.

Just tell the operator the name of the person you're calling.

Dialing collect calls.

Tell the operator, "Collect..." and give your name.

Dialing credit card calls.

Say it's a credit card call and give the operator your credit card number.

Dialing bill-to-third number calls.

Simply say, "Bill to..." and give the Area Code and telephone number.

In each of the above cases, your call is being automatically processed while you are giving the operator the necessary information. This speeds your call on the way.

There's no change in the procedure for dialing your own station-to-station long distance calls or in making emergency calls.

Survey shows energy, crime, elderly aid as main concerns

Develop alternate energy sources, control crime, and increase aid to the elderly.

Those issues appear to be the top priorities for the 13,000 8th District respondents to Congressman Bob Traxler's 1977 questionnaire.

The energy crisis took the lead with 90.5 per cent in support of expanded research into solar and other "non-conventional" energy sources. More than 87 per cent of the respondents believe the use of coal should be increased and expanded.

Ironically, 44 per cent said they do not believe an energy crisis exists that requires drastic action. They were particularly outspoken on issues that would require a personal sacrifice.

Eighty-four per cent said "no" to a stand-by 5 cents per gallon tax on gasoline, 74 per cent said "no" to the lifting of federal price ceilings on natural gas, and 56.5 per cent do not want a tax on "gas-guzzler" cars.

Seventy-seven per cent said they favor strict wage, price, and profit controls if inflation once again gets out of hand.

In the area of federal spending priorities, respondents favored increased spending or continuing at the present rate in all categories except one. The only requested decrease came in foreign aid, with 78 per cent favoring a reduction in spending, 20 per cent supporting current efforts, and 1 per cent wanting an increase.

The growing concern for our nation's elderly was evident in the 1977 results. Almost 71 per cent support the idea of energy assistance payments for the elderly and other fixed-income families. More than 67 per cent voted for overall increased federal assistance to older Americans, compared with 29 per cent voting to continue at present levels, and 3.7 per cent favoring decreased aid.

Crime control is another issue that brought tremendous response. Almost 73 per cent of the respondents favor increased federal assistance for combating crime, 2.7 per cent favor a decrease, and 24 per cent would like to see spending levels continued at their present rate.

Support went to farmers, with 56 per cent supporting small subsidies for sugar farmers.

For the second year in a row 8th District residents said Congress should not reduce parts of the defense budget and use the money to solve domestic economic problems.

This is the fourth year Traxler has solicited the opinions of his constituents in a questionnaire form.

FRIENDLY FAREWELL -- Jean Murphy (right) and Pat Bradshaw began corresponding eight years ago, when Jean was in the ninth grade and Pat was in the eighth. Last week, they met for the first time. Pat and her husband, Ken, of Fall River, Mass., stayed from Monday to Thursday, at the home of Jean and her husband Mike, at 6555 Church Street. Jean, then living in Deford, and Pat, then living in Swansea, Mass., "met" through a pen pal column in a magazine and correspond about twice a month.

Utility customers get slight break

Detroit Edison and Thumb Electric Cooperative customers will receive a slight decrease on their September utility bills as a result of rate adjustments approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

The approval covers the cost of purchased power, net interchange power adjustments, and fuel cost adjustments. Three other utility companies also received rate change approvals.

For Thumb Electric customers, according to manager John Kutter, the rate changes will be as follows, based on a residential customer using 500 kilowatt hours of electricity per month:

The July bill, for June usage, totaled $25.68, consisting of a $5 service charge, $18.90 for the 500 kilowatts, and $1.78 fuel adjustment clause.

The August bill totaled $27.59. Thumb Electric received a rate increase from the MPSC, starting June 25, so the service charge increased to $5.50. The charge for 500 kilowatts increased to $21.60, however, some cost factors previously included under fuel adjustment were switched to the kilowatt hour charge. Therefore, the fuel adjustment clause cost decreased to 49 cents.

The bill to be received in September will include the $5.50 service charge and $21.60 for 500 kilowatts, for a total of $27.10. Minus the adjustment just approved by the MPSC -- a credit of 19 cents, the bill for the month will be $26.91.

The credit will stay the same on the September and October bills, Kutter said, but for November and December, there will be an increase, due to the increase in the fuel adjustment clause.

Thumb Electric buys most of its power from Detroit Edison. The fuel adjustment clause deals with the cost of buying and delivering fuel to be used for generating electricity.

Thumb Electric serves about 8,600 customers in portions of Huron, Sanilac, and Tuscola counties.

For Detroit Edison residential customers, the August bill for 500 kilowatt hours was $23.29. With the fuel adjustment cost declining on September bills, according to the MPSC approved change, the bill will be $21.25 for the same amount of electricity.

Flier unhurt

A Caro man escaped injury Sunday when his single-engine plane crash landed at Donahue Field in Columbia township.

Terry D. Brinkman, 26, told Caro state police he was making a landing and cut power after clearing power lines. The plane started into a dive and crashed, damaging the front landing gear and propeller.

Troopers reported Brinkman has a student pilot's license and had 80 to 85 hours of flying time.

Teen Ranch open house on Sunday

Television personality and author Art Linkletter will be the featured speaker at the Michigan Teen Ranch open house Sunday.

The ranch, a project of Michigan Youth for Christ, is located on Kingston Road, four miles south of Kingston.

The afternoon program will run from 12:30-3:30 p.m., with open house tours on all three campuses from 3:30-4:30.

In addition to Linkletter, also on the free program will be music performed by the midwest champion Marlette Raider Band, the North Branch Bronco Concert Band, and the Kingston Cardinal Band. A film about the Teen Ranch, "Those Who Care," will be shown.

Seating for the program will be on the ground so visitors are advised to bring blankets to sit on.

Man hurt in fall

Alan Kretschmer was reported in fair condition at Hills and Dales General Hospital Tuesday afternoon, after having fallen 18 feet from a roof Thursday, Aug. 25.

Kretschmer, 20, of Owendale, told Huron county deputies he slipped while painting the metal roof at Royster Farm Service on Owendale Road, Owendale. He fell 18 feet to the ground. The accident happened about 4 p.m.

Nurses at the hospital said Kretschmer had bad bruises, but no broken bones, and was able to walk.

Back taxes for 1975 face Put-take pheasants

residents of Huron county

Huron county taxpayers are going to have "something extra" on their December tax bills in the form of a special assessment.

For most, the extra billing will only be about $1, but Huron county residents living in the Cass City, Unionville-Sebewaing, and possibly the Owendale-Gagetown school districts will have to pay quite a bit more than that.

It all goes back to 1975, when the Huron County Board of Commissioners contested the state equalized valuation (SEV) for the county, which was $45 million higher than the county equalized valuation (CEV).

Taxes were levied on the CEV while the county board appealed to the state tax tribunal.

The county recently lost its appeal, which meant that governmental units in Huron can now collect the revenue they would have received in 1975 if taxes had been levied based on the higher SEV instead of the CEV.

In July, county Treasurer Arnold H. Schweitzer sent letters to all taxing units asking them whether they wanted to collect the back taxes.

Those responding that they did were the Tuscola and Huron County Intermediate School Districts, Cass City and Unionville-Sebewaing School Districts, and Hume township.

The Owen-Gage School Board, at its Aug. 8 meeting, decided to do nothing concerning the Schweitzer letter, with board members feeling the dispute was the concern of the county board and the state.

The Huron treasurer said Friday the Huron county board will give the Owen-Gage School Board another opportunity to decide whether it wants the back taxes collected.

If the Owen-Gage board still does nothing, Schweitzer said, the county will likely go ahead and collect the back taxes for the district.

That would mean $28,745 to be collected in Brookfield township; $6,576 in Grant township; and $1,039 in Sebewaing township.

The only portion of the Cass City school district extending over the county line is in Grant township, where $3,585 will be collected.

Since Cass City is part of the Tuscola County Intermediate School District, $3,051 will be collected for the intermediate district in Grant township.

In the rest of the county, the Huron County Intermediate School District will be collecting $43,083.

The collections for the two intermediate districts, Schweitzer said, will be less than $1 on most tax bills.

For those having to pay back school taxes, it will mean paying about 15.7 per cent of the school taxes they paid in 1975. For a person who paid $1,000 in school taxes in 1975, that would mean an additional $157 this year.

But with only the three school districts (including Owen-Gage), two intermediate districts, and one township, the added tax bill will only total $167,112.

Hunt challenge is still there

Put-take pheasants

If every hunter was successful, there would be no challenge.

At the Deford State Game Area, Department of Natural Resources employee Frank Babcock releases either 90 or 120 birds at least three times a week for the DNR's put-and-take pheasant hunting season.

Babcock estimates that 70-75 per cent of the birds he releases end up on hunters' dinner tables.

The season started Aug. 15 and will run until Nov. 14, when it is halted for the deer season. It resumes Dec. 1 and continues until Dec. 31.

Hours in the portion of the Deford area open to the special pheasant season are 8 a.m.-2 p.m., seven days a week, through Sept. 30. For the remainder of the season, it is noon to 7 p.m.

The pheasants are raised by the DNR at Dansville. They are taken to the Lapeer State Game Area, where Babcock picks them up to take to Deford.

He gets either 90 or 120 birds and usually releases 15 birds at each site near a parking area. Until the hunting hours change, the releases are made in the afternoon.

DNR biologist Bud Jarvis reported hunters feel the put-and-take hunting is less of a challenge than hunting wild pheasants. Even so, he estimated that only half the hunters are successful.

Even if the hunting isn't successful, he said, hunters feel it is good training and exercise for their dogs.

The bag limit is two pheasants per day of either sex.

To hunt, a 1977 $10 permit is required, plus a valid small game or sportsman's license. As of Sept. 1, all hunters except senior citizens also need a $1 public access permit.

Eight seals come with each permit. After killing a pheasant, the seal must be attached to one leg of the bird. After (and if) all the seals are used, additional permits with seals can be purchased.

The put-and-take permits are available at the DNR office on M-24, south of Caro, and cooperating license agents.

Cass City couples end golf year

The Couple's Golf League closed its 1977 season Aug. 25 with a scramble golf game and potluck dinner at Rolling Hills Golf Course. Twenty-three of the 26 member couples were present.

Awards and recognition were given to the following couples:

Low game: 33 - Russ and Harriet Richards, 34 - Dave and Fran Lovejoy, 34 - Bill Coston and Mary LaPeer.

Low average: 37.20 - Dave and Fran Lovejoy; 37.25 - Elwyn and Linda Helwig; 37.90 - Russ and Harriet Richards; 37.90 - Denny and Jennette Learman.

Perfect attendance: Ken and Michelle Zdrojewski and Carl and Gene Palmer.

The 1977 committee was Phil and Mary Brack, Lyle and Dolly Taylor, and Carl and Gene Palmer.

The 1978 committee will be Mike and Toby Weaver, Ken and Nelle Maharg, and Ken and Michelle Zdrojewski.

Fuel tax funds up in village

Despite rising gasoline prices, Michigan motorists are driving more than ever, according to the Department of State Highways and Transportation.

Receipts from state motor fuel taxes (gasoline, diesel fuel, and liquid petroleum gas) for the April-June quarter totaled almost $107 million, a 5.1 per cent increase from the same quarter in 1976.

License plate fees for the quarter totaled $33.1 million, up 36.1 from the same period in 1976.

The motor fuel taxes and license plate fees go into the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund, from which distributions are made to the highway department, county road commissions, and incorporated cities and villages.

Second quarter payments to the Thumb county road commissions will be: Huron, $385,103 ($344,970 for the same period in 1976); Sanilac, $411,477 ($367,765); and Tuscola, $440,583 ($388,626).

Area communities and the payments they will be receiving (1976 second-quarter payments in parentheses) are: Cass City, $10,008 ($8,872); Caro, $18,102 ($16,014); Gagetown, $3,525 ($2,986); Kingston, $2,453 ($2,147); Owendale, $2,533 ($2,244); and Ubly, $4,291 ($3,804).

Veteran Hawk grid squad sets sights on loop title

Not since 1972 have prospects been as bright for gridders at Cass City High School as they are this fall.

It was in '72 that the Hawks went undefeated and won the Thumb B Conference title for the first time in years. This could be another of those years.

Coach Roland Pakonen greeted a veteran football squad for opening practices two weeks ago and it promises to be one of the teams to beat when the season starts. There are problems. Finding a couple of tackles leads the list.

Gone from last year's 5-4 record team are tackles Tom Brinkman and Ron O'Dell. Gone, too, are all-conference linebacker and offensive end

Tom Dorland and Dan Erla, three-year letterman at guard.

There is a host of lettermen returning.

Sparking a veteran backfield will be Clarke Haire, all-conference and all Blue Water area halfback. He gained 711 yards in 1976 and was the leading kick-off and punt returner. He intercepted 7 passes on defense.

Co-captain Jeff Hartel passed for 6 touchdowns among 39 completions at quarterback and with a year's experience is expected to better those marks this fall.

Tony Doerr weighs in at an even 200 pounds and will be in his second year at fullback even though he is only a junior this year. He rammed for 300 yards in 1976 and showed marked improvement near the end of the season.

Steve Ballard was a full time defensive halfback last year and a part-time offensive back. He is expected to be one of the starters this season.

Also waiting in the wings is Walt Laming who played fullback in addition to his primary job as noseman on defense.

The line has plenty of talent and experience, too. Scott Richards, a standout last fall for Harbor Beach, is expected to help fill the void left by the departing Dorland. He's a senior now and the coaches look for big things from him.

At the other end will be Rick Hollis. He's big, experenced and agile. Good on offense, he was better on defense . . . good enough to make second team all-conference.

The middle of the line features three seniors back from last year. They are co-captain Ross Ridenour, Mike Palmer and Gary Warju.

On defense, Laming, a second team all conference selection, is the noseman. Al Pratt is a seasoned defensive back. Playing both ways will be Ridenour, monster man, and backs Ballard, Haire and Hartel. Richards will probably also see double duty.

The key to the season, Pakonen feels, is finding tackles. Phil Hartsell could fill the bill. He's 180 pounds. Ray Piaskowski has the size, but lacks experience. A junior, he checks in at 200 pounds. A new arrival at the school, Jeff Jensen, is another player who is getting a long look. He's 195 compact pounds packed into a 5-7 frame.

Local fans will have a better idea of what to expect after this week end when the traditional opening scrimmage is held. It will be at North Branch and will be a 4-school affair.

LEAGUE OUTLOOK

Pakonen sees a wide open race in the Thumb B Conference this fall. The Lakers are big and mobile. Sandusky and Vassar have lots of returning lettermen and could wind up winning it all.

Frankenmuth, Caro and Bad Axe will live or die with replacements from outstanding JV squads. Any of these squads could suddenly put it all together and burn up the league.

An added incentive for Cass City is that the odds are great under Michigan's point system that the team would make it into the post-season play-off if they went through the season undefeated.

That's because Caro, Frankenmuth and Vassar are Class B schools and earn more points than defeating a Class C school does.

The things you accomplished yesterday do much to shape your todays and tomorrows.

Don't get the idea you're above criticism — a halo a few inches lower becomes a noose.

Hawks boast 4 lettermen

Golfers' problem: trying to contain Vassar

Cass City should have a pretty fair golf team this year. The trouble for the Hawks and the rest of the Thumb B Conference is that Vassar has a great one.

The Vulcans are defending champions and have just about everybody back. Coach Dave Lovejoy said, and that makes them the class of the conference.

Another problem facing the coach is the loss of his best golfer to the student exchange program.

Junior Jeff Prieskorn was expected to anchor the team. But the all-conference golfer is now in Australia. He won't represent the maroon and white until his senior year.

Despite the loss, Lovejoy has four lettermen back. Senior Jim Molnar was the team's steadiest golfer last season. He and senior Mike Richards should pile up points for the team. Two sophomores, Tim Johnson and Steve Richards, are also letter winners, and should benefit from a year's experience.

Expected to help are Scott Krueger, sophomore, and Tim Severance, junior.

Lady golfers end league season at Gagetown

The Sherwood-on-the-Hill Ladies Golf League ended its season with a fun day Aug. 24 with seven teams teeing off at 9 a.m.

After a noon luncheon, President Joanne Schafer announced winners for league play as follows:

Loraine Seurnyck, Gagetown, and Grace Anderson, Sebewaing, first.

Lee LaFave, Gagetown, and Maxine Prime, Unionville, second.

Margaret Volz and Evelyn Weinlander, both of Sebewaing, third.

Margaret Volz, Sebewaing, received an award for the most improved handicap for the season and consolation went to Nancy Burrows, Gagetown.

High net score during the season went to Betty Bonini and Neva Finkbeiner, both of Sebewaing.

In the play for the day, each team received the following awards:

Low gross - Barbara Burdon, Gagetown; Florence Kundinger, Margaret Volz, and Carol Winter, all of Sebewaing.

Low net - Jo Retzler, Unionville; Evelyn Weinlander, Betty Guenther, and Betty Koepf, all of Sebewaing.

Low putts - Joanne Schafer, Sebewaing; Edna Burdon and Nancy Burrows, both of Gagetown.

High putts - Jean Bauer, Cass City; Loraine Seurnyck, Gagetown; Maxine Prime, Unionville, and Betty Bonini, Sebewaing.

Low on blind holes - Ruth Volz, Sebewaing; Rufine Nielson and Dottie Schafer, both of Unionville.

High gross - Francis Balzer, Unionville; Mary Downing, Gagetown, and Grace

Anderson, Sebewaing. Team with lowest individual score - Lee LaFave, Nancy Robertshaw, and Dee Comment, all of Gagetown, and Neva Finkbeiner, Sebewaing.

Edna Burdon, Gagetown, was winner at bridge in the afternoon.

Committees for the day were: Play of the day - Florence Kundinger and Grace Anderson, both of Sebewaing; prizes - Jo Retzler and Marge Galmish, both of Unionville.

Fifteen members of the league enjoyed a guest day at Scenic Golf and Country Club, Pigeon, Aug. 23. Even though it rained, many were able to complete their rounds. Prizes were awarded to Barbara Burdon, Gagetown, low putts; closest to pin on 16 - Jo Retzler, Unionville, and door prize - Nancy Robertshaw, Gagetown.

Organization of the Wednesday Ladies League at Sherwood for the next year will be held in the spring.

For Muscular Dystrophy

Swimmers to aid drive at Cass City pool

The season at the Helen Stevens Memorial Pool in the Cass City Recreation Park ends Labor Day.

Before then, Friday, the Cass City swim team and pool staff will stage a marathon swim relay to raise money for the Muscular Dystrophy Foundation in connection with the Jerry Lewis Labor Day telethon.

The Cass City team, coached by Linda Koepfgen, wrapped up its Thumb Swim Association schedule Sunday, July 21, by hosting teams from Frankenmuth, Marlette, and Caro.

The meet standings corresponded with the season standings. Frankenmuth scored 163 points in the meeting and was 3-0 for the season. Next was Marlette, 139 points and 2-1; followed by Cass City, 119 points and 1-2, and Caro, 73 points and 0-3. Twenty-five swimmers are expected to take part in Friday's swim-a-thon, the goal of which -- in addition to raising money -- will be to swim 20 miles, which is 1,280 lengths of the pool. The marathon will start at 7 a.m.; Miss Koepfgen expects the team will finish by about 7 p.m.

One person will swim at a time. Only one lane of the pool will be roped off, with the rest of the pool remaining open to the public.

Members of the team are collecting pledges of any amount of money per mile. Persons not contacted who want to donate can call the pool, 872-4716, or make their donations at the pool Friday.

Regular hours will be maintained at the pool on the final day Monday. They are 1-5 and 7-9 p.m.

Card of Thanks

IN MEMORY of my loving mother, Alice E. Price, who left us for her home in heaven, 43 years ago Sept. 6, 1934. Always loved and missed by daughter Leila. 13-9-1-1

OUR SINCERE thanks to Dr. Donahue, the nurses and aides on second floor of Hills and Dales and the many friends and neighbors who gave such wonderful help during our recent bereavement. The Arthur Kettlewell family. 13-9-1-1

WE WISH to express appreciation to all neighbors, friends and relatives of Ethel Starr for the kind expressions of flowers, tributes, visitation, etc. To Rev. Lee Taylor for his good message; Mrs. Helen Greenleaf, who brought to our minds several old songs of the church as she so ably played the organ; Mrs. Shaw for singing so sweetly songs of request; the ladies of the Baptist church for the lovely meal you served us, Little's Funeral Home for all your help and kindnesses during this time. To Leo and Mardell,

One room school house for sale

Time catches up with old Leek School

Time has finally caught up with the almost century-old Leek School.

Members of the Leek School Association have decided to sell the one-room brick schoolhouse, which hasn't been used for classes since the early 1950s. It has only been used once a year since then for the association's annual reunions.

Proceeds from the sale will be donated to the cancer and heart funds.

The school sits at the corner of Crawford and Mushroom Roads in Kingston township. Included in the purchase price is the acre of land the building sits on and the one-time woodshed.

What was officially School District No. 4 Kingston township got its start Sept. 4, 1878, when John F. White donated the acre of land to the district for construction of the building.

The school apparently was constructed the following year.

Taking care of the bidding for the sale are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hutchinson of Cemetery Road, Cass City.

Mrs. Hutchinson, 88, was Jennie Leek when she graduated from Leek School in 1902. The school was named after her father, thanks to the Methodist church.

She explained that when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Leek, moved to a farm on Crawford Road from Oakland county in 1880, there was no nearby church.

Her parents were Presbyterians, so Eli Leek tried to persuade the Presbyterian minister in Marlette to come to the school each Sunday to hold services. The minister declined, because the approximately 15 miles he would have to travel was too far.

Leek was successful, however, in persuading a Methodist minister in Kingston to hold services. The Methodist conference needed something to call the congregation other than School District No. 4 Kingston township, so it gave the building the name Leek School.

Sunday school classes were held in the morning. The minister, who also had to preach each Sunday in Kingston and East Dayton, held services at the school in the evenings.

The Hutchinsons believe the building was last used as a church about 1920. Mr. Hutchinson explained that by then, the automobile lessened the need for people in the area to have a "church" so close-by, when they could drive to an actual church building farther away.

Jennie Leek, after graduating from the eighth grade at Leek School in 1902, stayed at home with her parents until they thought she was old enough to board with a family in Cass City and attend high school there. She graduated from Cass City High School in 1908.

A diploma isn't all she got in high school. There she met her husband Frank, now 89. He had attended a rural school, no longer standing, at the corner of what is now M-81 and M-53. They were married in 1909.

Mrs. Hutchinson was the second Leek School graduate to graduate from high school. The first, Mrs. May Schell (then May Cooper) is now 96 and lives in a nursing home near Fairgrove. A younger brother, George Cooper, lives in Marlette.

The Hutchinsons lived in various places, including her parents' farm, before moving to their present home in 1927. Their 80-acre farm is now the Rolling Hills Golf Course, owned by their son, Grant, which opened in 1969.

The Leek School district covered four square miles. The maximum enrollment there apparently was around 50 students, in grades K-8.

The district merged with the Deford School District in 1954. Mrs. Hutchinson doesn't know whether students attended Leek School up till then, or whether for the last few years, the board of education sent them to Deford as tuition students. The Deford district later became part of the Cass City School District.

The building was unused until members of the Leek School Association donated the money to buy the building in 1956 from the Deford district, which then owned it. It has only been used since then for their once-a-year reunions held each August. The reunions consist of a potluck supper and visiting.

The Leek School Association was started by the late James Osborn in the 1930s and originally held its reunions in the woods on the Leek farm just to the east of the school grounds.

It was at this year's reunion, Aug. 6, that the decision was made to sell the property, with the proceeds going to the cancer and heart funds. There were about 30 persons at this year's gathering at the school, including spouses of graduates.

The decision to sell the building was made, Mrs. Hutchinson said, "because there's so few (members) living nearby to look after it for repair."

Age is another factor. The youngest member of the alumni group is about 60.

What the successful bidder does with the building and property is up to him, Mrs. Hutchinson said, adding, "It would be kind of nice if someone made it into a house." Bids are due to the Hutchinsons by this Thursday.

The sand brick building is apparently in good structural condition, except for the chimney. It and the woodshed received new roofs when the association bought the property.

The new owners won't be able to move right in, however. The windows have been boarded over, there is no toilet, no running water, and no furnace. There is electricity and there is a well, but with no pump - it was stolen.

Although the decision has been made on what to do with the building, members left the Aug. 6 reunion without deciding whether to continue holding their annual reunions.

As of now, Mrs. Hutchinson said, members won't hold any more reunions, "unless they want to."

He wore a long white scarf, a pair of flying goggles set at a jaunty angle on his head, riding breeches and flew a Jenny. Ah yes, the nostalgic days of aviation! But that's all changed now, and some other things have changed with it. Such as the New Recruiting Office in Caro, Michigan. So why not check us out. Visit your New Air Force Recruiter.

FINAL LOOK -- Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hutchinson take a final look at the Leek School prior to its being sold. The almost 100-year-old school is located at the corner of Crawford and Mushroom Roads.

Saginaw firm low bidder

Frank Strausberg & Son of Saginaw was the lowest of three bidders for repaving on Cemetery and Hurds Corner Roads in a recent bid opening by the State Highway Commission.

The firm bid $288,940 for the project, which is to be completed in November. To be repaved with gravel shoulders will be Cemetery Road for three miles between Milligan and Bay City-Forestville Roads and 5.4 miles on Hurds Corner Road from M-81 north to Bay City-Forestville Road.

The Tuscola County Road Commission is receiving Federal Aid Secondary funds, which should pay 72 per cent of the cost of the project. The road commission will pay the rest.

Kingston schools sued

The Kingston Community Schools, the former Kingston High School principal, and the industrial arts teacher are defendants in a law suit filed in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

The plaintiffs are Albert Harrison and his son, Jay Harrison.

According to the suit, Jay Harrison was in a high school industrial arts class Jan. 29, 1975 when he was injured while operating a joiner-planer. The piece of wood he was working on "kicked back" and his hand was drawn into the moving blade of the machine.

The defendants, along with the school district, are then high school principal, George Bledsoe, and the shop teacher, Wayne Nesbit.

The Harrisons are asking the court to award them any amount over $10,000 to which "they are found to be entitled." They suggest the amount should be $100,000.

A jury trial has been demanded in the suit, filed Aug. 25, which has been assigned to Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements.
