Here's a tidbit for the Cass City Historical Society. That stone house recently razed to make room for Plaza West mall was built by the Steinhauser family. According to Fred Steinhauser of Hazel Park his grandfather and father built many of the stone and brick buildings in the community. The limestone house was the one that the family lived in. Incidentally, Fred Steinhauser made a special trip here in August to locate the old homestead and missed seeing it by only a few weeks.

Speaking of old timers in Cass City, how about Harry Sansburn, 88? He came back to see the Chronicle where he learned the printing business under the late Herbert Lenzner. That was in 1904 when he was attending Cass City High School.

He worked 57 years as a printer after leaving town. Now retired, he lives in Fort Collins, Colo. He was driven to Cass City by a nephew who lives in Bay City.

The fall color is not only early but different this season. Selected trees were turned last week, almost entirely, although most were not changed at all. Those that were made a startling contrast, the vivid reds or yellows stuck amidst a sea of green.

Stopped to say hello to Jim Champion, formerly of Cass City, who is in the bar business (Wag-on Inn) at Grayling. Business is good, Jim says, mostly coming from two sources, the national guard and tourists. Regular readers of this trivia will recall it was Jim who clued me in on 10-cent coffee in Grayling. He couldn't prove it last week because the dinner hour had passed. He did say that the food at the same restaurant was also good and inexpensive.

I believe him because it's easy to see that he's tested it and that the invigorating north country has been good for his appetite.

Every little bit helps. And a group of youngsters did more than their share to help the Muscular Dystrophy drive along. Malcolm and Mark House, Greg, Kevin, and Kurt Bliss and John and Doug Zdrojewski conducted a house to house campaign and raised $170. That's class.

Cass City sports buffs are rejoicing. Just when it appeared certain that the school would move up a notch to class B an unexpected drop in enrollment keeps the school in class C. That's right now. It's so close that it could change by the official enrollment date, the fourth Friday after Labor Day. The breaking point between classes is 708 students. Right now the high school has 704. While "class" won't make any difference in regular season games, it is of great importance in tournaments. A powerhouse team in "C" could be an also-ran in "B".

New dryer eliminates pollution

Complying with state air pollution standards was the reason for installation of the new grain dryer at the Wickes Agriculture elevator in Cass City.

The $100,000 project was started in April and as of last week, only needed completion of some minor electrical work before being ready for operation. The old dryer would blow "beeswings," a red fuzz from the corn into the air, as corn was being dried.

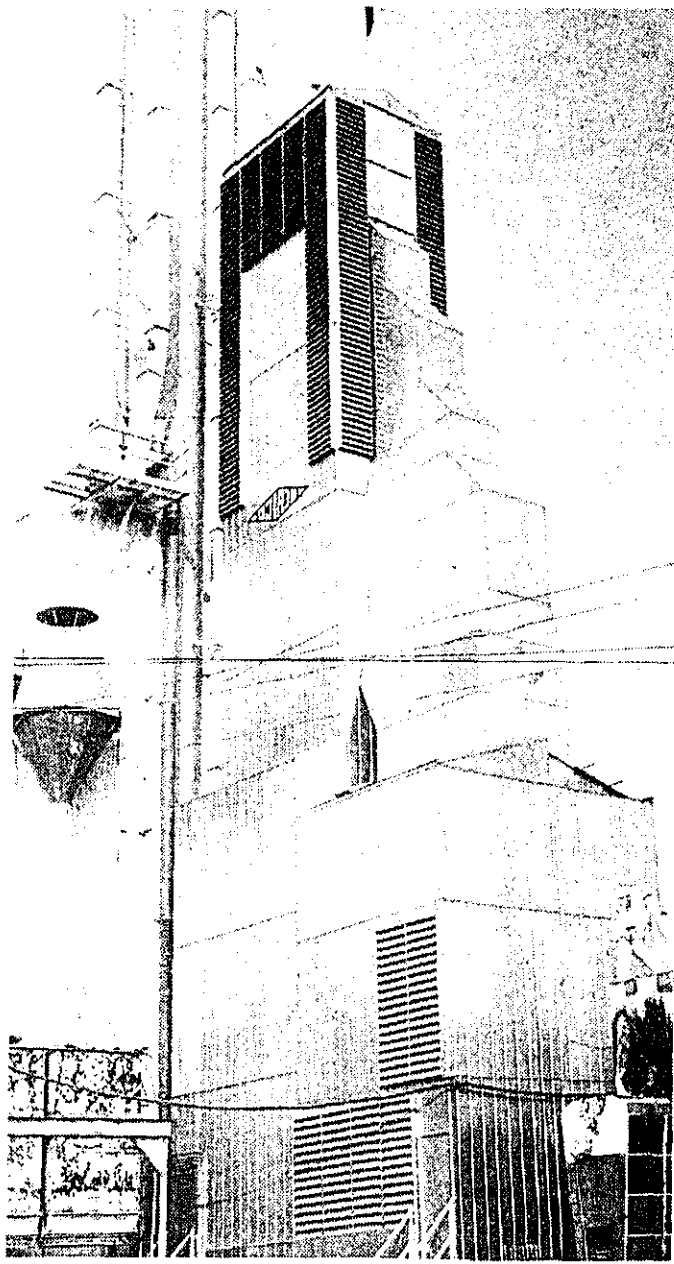

That was in violation of state air pollution standards, elevator manager Bob Wischmeyer explained. The new dryer will keep the beeswings confined.

The new dryer has a capacity of 3,500 bushels per hour, 3 1/2 times that of the old three-stage unit. The added capacity is needed, Wischmeyer said, because an increasing amount of corn is being grown in the Thumb.

In addition to corn, the dryer can also be used for drying beans and wheat when necessary.

The new dryer, almost as tall as the storage bins at the elevator, is a single stage unit, with the grain being deposited at the top and dried as it falls to the bottom. Like the old dryer, it burns natural gas.

Installation of the dryer was done by Elevator Services of Ohio.

HOT TIMES -- Grain will be deposited at the top of the new dryer at Wickes Agriculture and come out dry at the bottom.

3 injured in 2-car crash in Denmark township

Three persons, two of them from Cass City, were injured in a Sept. 7 accident in Denmark township.

Caro state police reported that Ronald D. Shepherd, 33, of Reese, was eastbound on Reinbold Road and collided with the car of Thomas V. Little, 39, of 5025 Severance Road, which was northbound on Garner Road.

Little and his passenger, Manuel P. Benitez, 27, of 5187 Severance Road, were treated and released at Caro Community Hospital following the 4 p.m. accident.

Shepherd, who was ticketed by troopers on a charge of failure to yield, sought his own treatment for minor injuries.

Friday, Caro state police reported, Alexander P. Kessler, 20, of 6974 Schwiegler Road, was westbound on River Road, west of Cemetery Road. He braked to avoid hitting two motorcycles headed towards him and fishtailed on the dirt road into a tree.

John B. Biewer, 22, of St. Clair, was backing his truck up to the Plaza West Shopping Center last Thursday afternoon, to unload, Cass City police reported, and the truck struck the building overhang.

Bertha Hahn of 3786 Cemetery Road reported to Cass City police last Thursday that someone struck her car while parked that morning between the Hahn Real Estate Building on W. Main Street and Veronica's Restaurant.

"If It Fitz..." A nut snitcher grows up

By Jim Fitzgerald

This is going to be about nuts.

Not the ordinary variety of nut which most often occupies my typewriter. Not such a nut as that Pontiac woman whose letter arrived yesterday. She was angered by my recent column which implied the loss of Groucho Marx was greater than the loss of Elvis Presley.

She wrote: "According to your picture, I figure you and Groucho were born a few months apart. Perhaps you should retire, because once those old arteries start to get hard, our minds simply cannot function properly."

Groucho died at the age of 86. That is several years older than my mother. That Pontiac woman is obviously some kind of a nut. But not the kind I want to tell you about today.

I am thinking about Double Kay bridge mix nuts. Warm-fresh-out-of-the-revolving-tray-in-the-white-case-in-almost-any-drugstore nuts. Delicious.

When I clerked in a drugstore, 35 years ago, my idea of a rich man was the guy who bought those fancy bridge mix nuts. I used to swipe a handful when the pharmacist was pharming. And there was no better eating. But for 10 cents you couldn't buy enough to plug a soda straw.

When investing money in those days, a boy had to think of quantity as well as quality. That's why I bought Holloway suckers instead of Heath bars, and jawbreakers instead of caramels.

I could suck a lot longer than I could chew.

It wasn't just that I wanted to be eating all day. It was also my biggest sister, Terrible Jean. If I finished my candy before Terrible Jean finished hers, she always said, "Ha ha, your candy is all gone and I've still got a lot left." This made me feel bad.

Of course, sometimes she finished first and I said the same thing to Terrible Jean. She would then slug me and that made me feel worse.

But anyway, for many, many years, I never bought any of those nuts. When they were free at parties, I'd gobble a fistful every time the hostess turned her back. When she was looking, I would delicately extract one cashew from the dish and nonchalantly drop it on my tongue, slowly savoring the salt before quietly crunching the meat.

I not only wouldn't pay for my own peanuts, I was sneaky about the way I ate other people's peanuts. I was a peanut phony.

Just a few years ago I decided I was being silly. I was in a drugstore and, by reflex, I was gazing into the Double Kay case and wishing I could afford $2.72 for a half a pound of those mixed nuts.

Suddenly I remembered what had happened the day before. My wife had sent me downtown to buy a birthday gift for son Eddie (he had not yet been christened Nerd) to take to a friend's birthday party. The limit was $1, she had instructed, and I followed orders, buying a $1 model car. I also got a 50-cent birthday card.

Pat said I spent too much on the card. "Whoever heard of paying 50 per cent of the gift price for the card? The limit is 10 per cent," she said.

Which is why I finally bought some mixed nuts. A whole half-pound. I'd show her how really big spenders operate.

The bag of nuts caused quite a stir at home. My wife was the first to spot them.

"Who bought the expensive nuts?" she asked.

"I did," I confessed.

"You never buy nuts," she charged.

"Something's screwy," Eddie agreed. "Dad never buys nuts."

"I simply bought them because I am a big boy now and I can afford them," I explained. "I am no longer a grubby child. If I want some expensive peanuts, I am going to buy them. I am a new man."

"I told you there was something screwy," Eddie said.

After my family had its jollies, I began gobbling my peanuts. I felt wealthy and mature. But the nuts didn't taste so good. I didn't even finish the bag.

Now that I am convinced I can finally afford them, I don't buy any more mixed nuts. And I don't get a nostalgic twinge from gazing longingly into a Double Kay case.

Growing up and getting rich isn't all that much. I think I will drive to Southfield and challenge Terrible Jean to a Holloway sucker slow-suck contest.

FROM THE
Editor's Corner

You don't have to be a gambler to realize that a 100-to-one shot is better than no chance at all.

That's why it's hard for me to understand why a promising new cure for the "incurable" diseases is so slow to become available. A chance, no matter how slim, is better than no chance at all.

I was reminded of this the other day by a couple of articles. The first told about Arthur Gay, the man given from 6 days to 6 weeks to live because of heart disease.

That was 4 1/2 years ago. He was one of the very few to receive a heart transplant and live more than a year. His chances weren't good, but they were better than nothing. Sure, that's hindsight.

But my question about Gay is what did he have to lose?

The second article concerned the reputable scientist who said that laetiric in combination with other drugs has been 100 per cent successful in treating breast cancer in mice.

Yet, it will be years, if ever, before the medical profession moves along its slow tedious path of experimentation that will allow the drugs to become available to humans.

Meanwhile, breast cancer continues to kill and kill and kill.

Mind you, I'm not talking here about the patient who has surgery and doesn't know if it was successful. I'm talking about the patient who has cancer and has exhausted the accepted procedures.

Certainly, there must be documented cases where patients given up for lost have survived. Miracle cures, if you will.

I'd rather take my chances on an unproven treatment such as the laetiric-drug program than a miracle.

Perhaps many of you wouldn't. So don't. Why should that bar those who do when they are apprised of the facts.

Like I said in the beginning, it's a matter of percentages. The better of two very poor choices.

Taking the chance with the new cure could be beneficial for everyone.

If the near 100 per cent cure achieved in mice proves to be 100 per cent in humans, too, what a waste it would be if we had to wait 10 or 15 years to find it out.

There's a difference between possible cures and quackery.

The latest "breakthrough" was announced by a reputable physician. He doesn't claim it will work in humans. He says it works with mice and it could work in humans and he challenges the medical profession to prove it one way or another.

It's obvious that he isn't out after the fast buck.

Given all these facts I fail to understand why a patient headed down the street of no return isn't given a choice.

I'm sure that many would accept. I know I would.

5 attending child abuse conference

Sept. 25-Oct. 1 has been declared Child Protection Week by Gov. William G. Milliken in order to emphasize the magnitude and urgency of the growing child abuse and neglect problem.

During the week, the Michigan Department of Social Services (DSS) has scheduled a seminar in Lansing on child abuse and neglect for community leaders from across the state.

Attending from Tuscola county will be Probate Judge W. Wallace Kent; Onalee A. Detwiler, director, county DSS; Gary Gutman, Caro schools community services director; Ed Welz, service program administrator, DSS; and Dennis Johnson, county mental health director.

The seminar will provide the participants with information on how to start and/or develop community networks that will involve all human service agencies and interested individuals in meeting the challenge of child abuse and neglect on a local basis.

In 1976, there were more than 26,000 cases of child abuse and neglect reported to the children's protective services staff of the Michigan DSS. If the trend of the past five years continues, the number will sharply increase in 1977. Many other cases go unreported.

Methodist women meet

Nineteen United Methodist women of Salem church including two guests, Miss Iva Mae Hildinger and Mrs. Nancy Baird, attended the monthly meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Ron Geiger.

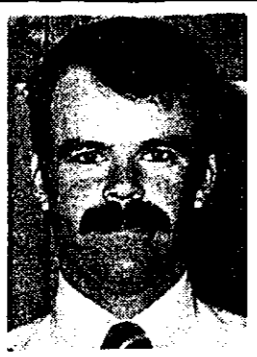

Mrs. Esther McCullough conducted devotions and presided over the business meeting in which members pledged $500.00 for this year's commitments.

Miss Muriel Addison gave the lesson on "Rhodesia". Refreshments were served by Mrs. Mabel Wright and Mrs. Clara Gaffney.

PEDALING AROUND

Say when, Jerry

By Mike Eliason

I missed the newspaper accounts of the results of the Labor Day week end Jerry Lewis telethon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

If I recall correctly, however, from half-listening to a radio report, the pledges totaled $27 million.

I don't know whether that includes the money donated by various businesses in exchange for sale of their products.

For about two weeks prior to the telethon, it seemed like every other television commercial featured Jerry Lewis urging viewers to buy the sponsors' products, be it sausage, hamburgers, or whatever, in turn for which the firm would make a donation to the fund drive.

There were also innumerable fund raisers put on by civic groups, other organizations, and individuals, including a swimathon in Cass City, that added to the total.

The amount raised is truly impressive and certainly for a worthwhile cause.

I wonder though whether Jerry Lewis and the Muscular Dystrophy Association might some day become guilty of overdoing it.

After all, no charity can conduct a fund drive -- at least none that I've heard of -- without a goal of trying to exceed the previous year's take.

I recall a few years ago when a newspaper investigation revealed that Father Flanagan's Boys Town was making so much from interest off investments that its annual nationwide Christmas fund drive wasn't necessary.

The expose led to a reform of the Boys Town fund raising.

I don't know if Jerry Lewis and the MDA have reached the point where they have earned all the funds in a year necessary for research and to aid those afflicted with the disease. I assume not.

Maybe they explained during the telethon how the money is spent and how much is needed. I don't know because I didn't watch.

I just hope that if the point is reached where "enough is enough," Jerry Lewis and the organizers can scale down their expectations to match reality.

After all, there are many other worthwhile charities that also depend on donations.

Since it's my job to fill the paper each week with news, I like to keep a few story ideas on file for weeks when I'm short of news. It beats last-minute desperation.

Of course, whenever you have any news items or suggestions for stories, let us know. Here's two of mine, for which I need "volunteers" to write about.

1) With gasoline ever increasing in price, how will that affect persons who commute long distances to work? I've heard of persons driving daily as far as Detroit from Cass City to work.

I'm interested in finding this area's long-distance driving champion. Persons driving less than 70 miles one-way need not apply. The distance has to be driven at least five days a week and preferably solo, not via car pool. (Car pools are eligible, however.)

2) And speaking of gasoline, a current fad nationally is for high-mileage mopeds, combination motorcycle-bicycles.

Before putting over to the Chronicle, though, it would be a good idea for mopeds to call first.

BROOM SALE -- Alger Freiburger (left) and Ron Keegan hope they and their fellow Lions "clean-up" during the club's annual broom sale. Members will be knocking on Cass City doors starting Sept. 19 selling kitchen brooms, push brooms, whiskbrooms, wash and dish cloths, lightbulbs, and Halloween candy. Last year's sale raised $1,500 to aid various Lions Club projects. Freiburger is the sale chairman; Keegan, club secretary.

Dismiss charges in sexual conduct circuit court trial

A charge of criminal sexual conduct (second degree) against Perry McConnell, 41, of Muck Road, Caro, was dismissed Sept. 7 by Circuit Judge Norman A. Baguley.

The prosecution moved for dismissal during the jury trial because the 8-year-old complainant witness refused to testify. Judge Baguley granted the dismissal motion.

McConnell was charged in connection with an incident that allegedly took place on or about Sept. 4, 1976 in Wells township.

Also on Sept. 7, Judge Baguley sentenced Randy L. Webster, 23, of Rt. 3 Chambers Road, Vassar, to one year in the county jail, credited with 26 days served, for violation of probation.

The violation was in connection with his having been found guilty by a district court jury June 8 of a charge of possession of open intoxicants in a motor vehicle.

The original charge, for which he was placed on two years' probation, was attempted possession of phenylcyclidine, to which he was sentenced in March, 1976, after pleading guilty to the charge.

In cases Monday before Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements:

Robert M. Schmitzer, 19, of Flint, stood mute to a charge of uttering and publishing. A plea of innocent was entered by the court, which scheduled a pretrial hearing Sept. 26. Bond was continued.

The charge involved a complaint from Clarence A. Young, concerning a check written for $300.

David Blackwell, 31, of Saginaw, was sentenced to 220 days in the county jail and credited with 220 days served, for a charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile without intent to steal.

The charge was in connection with the driving away of a car belonging to John Ecken in Indianfields township July 16, 1976.

Keith D. Goodrich, 18, of Corunna, stood mute to a charge of breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling. A plea of innocent was entered, with a pretrial hearing scheduled Sept. 26. Bond was continued.

The charge was in connection with a break-in July 12 at the Oliver's Landfill office and shop building on Tuscola Road in Arhela township.

Michael J. Urban, 17, of 200 W. Gamble Street, Caro, pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted larceny in a building. The plea was accepted and sentencing was scheduled Oct. 11. Bond was continued.

The charge was in connection with the theft of a

Elkland board okays revenue allocations

The Elkland Township Board Monday night approved allocation of $14,650 in federal revenue sharing funds to be received for the fiscal year starting Oct. 1.

No objections were made during the scheduled public hearing to the allocations previously decided upon by the board.

The Rawson Memorial Library will receive $3,000 of the funds; $4,500 will go to Cass City so that township residents can use the village landfill, and $7,150 will be spent on roads.

A representative of the Deming family told the board that demolition will start soon of the family vault in the township cemetery on E. Cass City Road.

The seven bodies above ground will be relocated below ground, so that the dilapidated above-ground structure can be torn down. The family will pay the cost.

The board gave its okay to granting of Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act status to farmland owned by Roger Vollmar, Arthur Batel, and Keith Goslin.

Folks never get so rich that they can afford to lose a friend.

Township appoints Miller

The Novesta Township Board Sept. 6 appointed Donald Miller as township constable.

Miller is a Cass City police officer. His job as constable will be to enforce ordinances and serve legal papers. Pay is $3.50 per hour plus mileage.

Miller had been an Elkland township constable but moved from there to Novesta township.

The position had been vacant since the former constable, Leroy Kilbourn, moved into Cass City.

The board accepted the resignation of John D. Palmer as sexton of the township cemetery on Cemetery Road. Palmer retired primarily due to age, according to Treasurer Jean Clarke.

The board authorized advertising for a new constable. Pay is $3.50 per hour for taking care of the cemetery plus he is paid by funeral homes for digging graves.

At the request of three property owners in Deford, the board agreed to have the dilapidated sidewalk on Bruce Street removed.

Also at the request of some property owners, the board agreed to petition the Tuscola County Road Commission to abandon all unused alleys in Deford.

Abandonment would allow property owners to legally expand their backyards. The alleys date back to "horse and buggy" days.

The road commission has scheduled replacement of three culvert bridges in the township this year. They are on Phillips Road, about one-third mile south of Deckerville Road, and 3 mile south of Kelly Road, and on Deckerville Road, a half mile east of Dodge Road.

The board approved paying its share for the two on Phillips Road, a total of about $900, according to Mrs. Clarke. The road commission pays the entire cost of the one on Deckerville Road, which is a county road.

HEALTH TIPS Don't wait to outgrow acne

By Frank Chappell, American Medical Association

Something can be done about acne.

Acne, says the American Medical Association, is a very common condition afflicting the skin of most people during the teen years.

The fact that acne is so common does not mean that nothing can be done about it. Waiting to "outgrow" acne can be a serious mistake.

Acne consists of blackheads, pimples, and sometimes deeper, boil-like blemishes. It can be seriously disfiguring at the time of life when young people are most sensitive about their appearances. The blemishes can lead to serious and permanent scarring.

Acne is caused by a faulty adjustment of parts of the skin to the influence of maturing endocrine glands, the glands which produce hormones. The imbalance in the hormone secretions will correct itself in time.

There is no instant and permanent cure for acne. There is no one-shot cure, no magic pill.

And acne is not a disease of dirt, even though patients are told to wash thoroughly and frequently. Washing removes the oils and clears plugged oil glands, keeping blackheads to a minimum. Certain foods may be a factor, but a change in diet alone will not clear up acne.

Thorough cleansing, possibly a diet prescribed by your doctor, and medical attention all are needed to cope with acne. Treatment is an individual affair and the patient must not assume that medicines prescribed for a friend will serve for him.

Your physician likely will warn against picking, scratching, popping and squeezing of pimples. In some patients small doses of antibiotics or other drugs may be helpful. In others ultra-violet light may be administered. Your family physician or dermatologist (skin specialist) can determine your specific needs.

New non-fiction works are "I'm Eve" by Chris Sizemore, "Fishbait" by William Miller, "Special People" by Julie Nixon Eisenhower, "Lonely Vigil" by Walter Lord, and "The Ford Dynasty" by James Brough.

Farm income declines in 1977

Cash receipts to Michigan farmers for their farm marketings were $743.1 million during the first half of 1977, according to the Michigan Crop Reporting Service.

That is a six per cent drop from the $792 million for the same period last year. The decrease is due primarily to significantly lower returns from crop enterprises.

Crops accounted for 45 per cent of the total receipts with $337.5 million. That is a nose-dive of 11 per cent from the $380.9 million for the first half of 1976. Crop receipts returned less every month during this period than last year.

Receipts from livestock and livestock products were $405.6 million, one per cent less than the $411.1 million for January-June 1976. March, May, and June showed larger returns for livestock than the same months last year.

For all of 1976, cash receipts on Michigan farms totaled $1.68 billion. Crops provided 52 per cent of this amount with $869.5 million dollars, while livestock and livestock products returned $811.5 million or 48 per cent.

Your Neighbor says

'No' to second job restrictions

The number of moonlighting American workers has reached a record 4.6 million, the U.S. Department of Labor recently reported.

The annual survey, conducted in May, showed the number of persons with more than one job increased 5 per cent from the year before.

Some persons have suggested there should be restrictions on persons holding second jobs, in order to make it easier for persons without any job to find employment.

Theresa McCarty, 22, of Argyle, is opposed to that idea. "I think if people want to work two jobs they can."

"I think there are jobs out there. They may not be the jobs they (unemployed people) want or the pay might not be what they want, but I think there are jobs."

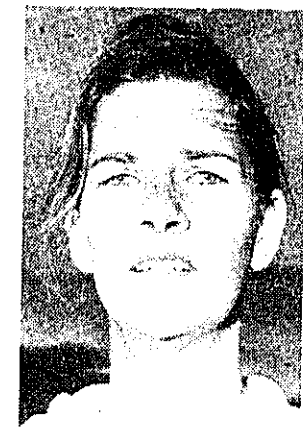

Miss McCarty likes to travel, but, "Every time I come home and look for a job, there's one there."

A couple of years ago, she said, she held three jobs. She had full-time jobs at Walbro and Sommers' Bakery and worked Saturday nights at a bar. That was too much work, though, so she quit the bakery job after 1 1/2 months.

She was saving for a trip to Europe and left with $2,000. She returned 3 1/2 months later with $40.

Miss McCarty only has one job at present, in the painting department at Dock Manufacturer Co., in Deckerville, which makes auto parts. She lives in Argyle with her grandmother, Clara Peters.

Kentucky minister 'at home' in Deford

The Rev. Gerald Rodgers' background is apparent in his soft Kentucky drawl.

But the new pastor of the Deford Community church feels very much at home in his new community.

"We're very content with being here in the area," he said, speaking for him and his family. "We've found people to be very warm and very loving."

Rodgers, his wife Brenda, and children, Chuck, 12, and Amy, 17 months, live in the parsonage next to the church.

The Deford area actually isn't that much different from where the 32-year-old minister grew up. Rodgers grew up on a farm in southwestern Kentucky, with rolling hills much like the Thumb.

"I suppose if the Lord hadn't called me into the ministry, I'd still be on a farm," he said. "I have a very close kinship with people on farms."

After graduation from high school, Rodgers continued farming and also went into the garage business with his father.

After his marriage in 1964, he went into the land clearing business as well as continuing farming.

It was in October, 1966, that he "came to know Christ." He had not been raised in a religious family, he explained, and until then, had not gone to church.

Two years after making his commitment to Christ, he and his wife, Brenda, sold their farm and equipment.

Rodgers went to Asbury College, a fundamentalist school in Wilmore, Ky.

After two years there, he transferred to the Kentucky Mountain Bible Institute, where he graduated in June, 1973. He is ordained through the Kentucky Mountain Holiness Association, of which the institute is an affiliate.

During the time he was in school, Rodgers worked as a minister. His first pastorate was a United Methodist church, which he served for two years.

He then served until his graduation at what was called a mission station in Lee City, a community of about 125 persons in the mountains of eastern Kentucky.

"As far as I was concerned, my ministry was going to be in Kentucky," the pastor explained.

But then a fellow student at the Bible Institute asked him if he would consider taking a church in Michigan, specifically the one in Buckley.

The student was bound for missionary work in Haiti, but his wife was from the church in Buckley, and knew it needed a minister.

He visited there on a week end, gave a sermon, and after much prayer with his family, decided to accept the pastorate that was offered to him.

Rodgers served at the Buckley Tabernacle church from July, 1973 until coming to Deford.

The Deford church was formed in 1972. The Rev. Dale Sherry, its first and only minister, left there in June to become pastor of Trinity Missionary church in Flint.

Rodgers was contacted by an evangelist who knew Warren Kelley, vice-chairman of the Deford church board, who also knew the church needed a new pastor.

Again, after much prayer, he decided coming to Deford was the right decision to make.

Although Buckley is about the same size as Deford, the minister's new church is larger. Average Sunday attendance is about 250 persons, as opposed to 155 in his former pastorate.

Rodgers, who started in Deford July 18, is looking forward to Sept. 18. On what is being called "Back to School Sunday," the aim is to have 400 persons attend church that day, including many who have never been there before. Services start at 10 a.m.

Drug program slated

The Citizens for Improved Education are sponsoring a "Parent" Drug Awareness program Wednesday, Sept. 21, at Cass City High School cafeteria, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Speakers will be Chris Lukasavitz and Janet Popp of the

The Deford Community church is part of the Missionary church, which its minister describes as "believing in the fundamental truths of the Bible."

Rodgers likes to spend two nights a week, preferably with a church member, visiting persons who may want to join the congregation.

Being a minister might be Gerald Rodgers' calling, but it is also much more than that. "My main hobby is trying to reach people through Christ," he said.

Tuscola County Drug Abuse office in Caro.

CIE spokesmen expressed concern about the ever-increasing drug abuse in this area and hope to make the public aware through this program.

Charge still pending in race track rioting

The Sept. 4 disturbance at Owendale Speedway, which took officers from most Thumb area police departments to quell, has resulted in one plea of innocent and dismissal of charges against three other persons.

Ronald R. Bieri, 28, of Pigeon, was arrested by Huron county deputies on a charge of drunk and disorderly during the disturbance.

He pleaded innocent to the charge at his arraignment Sept. 6 before Huron County District Judge John T. Schubel. The trial was scheduled tentatively Sept. 23.

Three persons, two from Pigeon and one from Caseville, were ticketed by deputies on charges of disorderly conduct.

The charges against all three were dismissed Sept. 6 by Judge Schubel on the grounds of "no charges under statute." A court employee explained that meant there was insufficient reason under which to charge the person with the offense supposedly committed.

The track operator, David A. Duncan, met that day with Huron County Prosecutor Peter B. Capling, concerning the incident.

Capling said Duncan sought to have one of the four also charged with malicious destruction of property. The person involved allegedly deliberately drove a car into one of the speedway buildings.

The prosecutor advised Duncan that he should file a law suit against the person, that the case would be easier to prove in civil court and he could collect damages.

Capling said that since part of the reason for the disturbance was Duncan's refusal to give ticket refunds when it started raining, he felt the one criminal charge against the person in question was adequate.

The general consensus of police agencies was the major reason for the disturbance was that spectators were upset by the refusal to give ticket refunds. According to Huron Undersheriff Henry Eppenbrock, "Some got huffy and started trouble."

Duncan did offer rain checks, good for admission to Thunder Road Speedway, owned by his wife, near Cass City on M-53.

The crowd was also angered by the delay in the start of racing, caused when Duncan, in applying chlorine to wet down the dirt track to keep down dust, got it too wet. Non-race vehicles had to be driven around the track to dry it out. The delay required cancellation of the time trials.

Duncan is a partner in the Cass Land Co., which has an agreement to purchase the track from Wayne Duhs.

A provision in the agreement, according to Duncan's attorney, William J. Drillock, allowed Duncan to take immediate possession.

The Sept. 4 event was to have been the first racing at Owendale under the new ownership. Racing there has now been cancelled for the rest of the season.

The Marlette attorney said Monday the sale closing will probably be done this week.

As for filing of a civil suit to recover damages for destruction at the track, Drillock said, an investigation is being made. "Whomever we determine was at fault will be held accountable. We will go after all of them."

The majority of the 30-40 police officers, from Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac counties, were dispatched to the speedway about 10:30 p.m. when an estimated 200-300 persons were still there.

The crowd drifted away with the arrival of the police in force.

State police from the Bad Axe post were the first ones called to the scene, shortly before 9 p.m.

Date wrong

Due to a press release error, it was incorrectly reported that Art Linkletter was to be at the Michigan Teen Ranch open house Sept. 4. The open house is Saturday, Sept. 24.

Linkletter will speak during a program from 12:30-3:30 p.m., which will also feature performances by three area high school bands and showing of a film about the Teen Ranch. Tours of all three campuses will be conducted from 3:30-4:30.

The ranch is located four miles south of Kingston on Kingston Road.

Hunters need 2nd tag for two deer

Deer hunters with a Michigan Sportsman's License who hope to take two deer this year under a new law are advised to contact the Department of Natural Resources for their second deer tag.

The new law authorizes the taking of two deer in a calendar year, one during the bow and arrow season and one during the firearm season.

But since the law took immediate effect after being signed by Governor William G. Milliken July 27, a minor problem was created because sportsman's licenses had already been printed with only one validation tag for deer.

To remedy the situation, the DNR is providing tags for the second deer at all DNR field offices and from conservation officers.

The following rules governing issuance of a second deer validation tag for holders of a sportsman's license will be in effect:

- 1) The deer tag issued with the 1977 sportsman's license may be used to validate a deer taken during either the Oct. 1 - Nov. 14 and Dec. 1 - 31 bow and arrow season or the Nov. 15 - 30 firearm season.
- 2) If a deer is taken during the Oct. 1 - Nov. 14 portion of the bow and arrow season or the Nov. 15 - 30 firearm season, the licensee, to obtain the second deer tag for the firearm season or the subsequent portion of the Dec. 1 - 31 bow season, may:

-Bring the deer with validated tag attached, or, following disposal of the carcass, present the validated tag to a DNR district or field office, deer checking station, conservation officer or field wildlife biologist; or

-Mail the validated tag to Wildlife Division, DNR, Box 30928, Lansing 48909, with name and address, and, if obliterated on the tag, the sportsman's license number.

3) When a deer with validated tag attached is presented to obtain a second tag, the issuing DNR official shall indicate in ink on the reverse side of both the sportsman's license and the validated tag the date of issuance of the second tag, his name and title, plus enter the sportsman's license number on the second tag issued.

4) When a validated tag only is presented or received for a second tag, the issuing DNR official shall retain the validated tag, and shall enter in ink on the second tag issued the number of the sportsman's license.

Safety orange required for state hunters

Starting Oct. 1, firearm hunters must wear "hunter orange," says the state Department of Natural Resources.

The new law, aimed at reducing accidental shootings, requires hunters to wear either a vest, jacket or cap of a highly visible color commonly referred to as hunter orange.

The new law does not affect persons hunting waterfowl from a blind or boat, persons hunting bobcat, crow, or wild turkey, or bow and arrow hunters.

James R. Walker, DNR hunting safety specialist, said the use of hunter orange has already become popular with many hunters.

"The wide use of hunter orange contributed to the low rate of hunting accidents we had last year," he says.

There were five fatalities during the 1976-77 hunting season, as compared to 14 during the 1975-76 season.

Walker said hunter orange has reduced accidental shootings in other states where it has been required. "Massachusetts reduced accidents by 88 per cent."

Rebuilding Ubyly bows 39-0 in opener

Eagles to test Hawk title chances

Despite Cass City's opening day one-sided victory over Ubyly last Friday, 39-0, the 1977 Cass City Red Hawks are still an unknown quantity in the Thumb B Conference.

Some of the questions will undoubtedly be answered Friday when the Hawks entertain the Frankenmuth Eagles in the league opener for both schools.

Frankenmuth comes off a tough loss to Holly by a single point and showed plenty of strength in the game.

The Eagles led midway through the third quarter before finally falling. Coach Budd Tompkins has shifted to the veer offense. It operates behind a line that averages 191 pounds.

Coach Roland Pakonen was generally happy with his team's performance. There were plenty of rough spots to be ironed out, he said, but I saw enough out there to make me happy over our prospects.

Jeff Hartel's passing was sharp and Steve Ballard's blocking was outstanding, the coach said.

Although the game didn't prove much it did give Pakonen a chance to get everyone in the game for valuable experience under fire.

The game itself was settled midway through the second quarter.

Ubyly received the ball and made a first down on the first series of plays. That was it offensively for the Bearcats until the second half.

After being held for downs the first time they received the ball the Hawks started the touchdown parade.

The Hawks scored on a 65-yard drive for their first marker. Clarke Haire ran over right tackle and broke past the secondary on a 40-yard jaunt with 3:30 left in the first period. Hartel's kick was good.

Early in the second quarter Cass City struck again. Haire ran for 50 yards for the marker. The kick was no good and the Hawks were in front 13-0.

With 2:02 minutes left in the half the Hawks capped another drive with a touchdown. This time the payoff play went 10 yards on a pass from Hartel to Rick Hollis. It was the premier end's first career touchdown.

The air arm accounted for the fourth touchdown of the game early in the third period. Hartel passed to Haire in the flat and he dashed over untouched in a play that covered 23 yards.

Midway through the final period the Hawks netted their final marker. Walt Laming broke through the line and outran the secondary in a 62-yard dash to pay dirt. Hartel kicked the point to make the final score 39-0.

Haire led all rushers with 149 yards in 13 carries for an 11.5 average. Walt Laming netted 99 on 8 carries and Ballard picked up 18 on four carries.

Ross Ridenour was the leader on defense. He had 8 solo tackles and 4 assists. Junior Ray Piaskowski, making his first varsity start, played a fine game, Pakonen said.

STEVE BALLARD - named Red Hawk of the week.

Coach Roland Pakonen announced Monday that senior halfback Steve Ballard has been selected as Red Hawk of the week for his play against Ubyly.

Ballard was credited with outstanding blocking from wingback. In addition he caught 3 passes and played good defense.

ROSS RIDENOUR led the team on defense against Ubyly Friday and was a strong blocker on offense.

Owen-Gage came close to scoring twice, both times in the third quarter. The offense got down to the 6-inch line before being driven back to the 35-yard line on penalties.

It later got to the 5-yard line before being halted by the Goodrich defense. As a junior varsity squad, the defense only gave up one touchdown in 10 games.

The leading rusher for Owen-Gage was Jeff Hallock with seven carries for 25 yards. Tops on defense were Mark McDonald with 17 tackles and one fumble recovery and Roger Ziehm with 10 tackles and a fumble recovery.

Bulldogs hone defense for loop opener at Port Austin

Lots of practice for the defense was on the menu this week as Owen-Gage prepared for its first game Saturday night in defense of its Thumb B League crown. The Bulldogs travel to Port Austin.

The season opener last Friday, an away game, saw the team lose to an overpowering Goodrich squad 30-0. The Genesee county school only lacks 13 students from being in Class B.

With only one starter from last year on the defensive line, Coach Arnie Resonen said the defense had "a lot of work to do" in preparation for the Port Austin game.

In addition to the inexperienced defense, the Bulldogs were also hurt Friday by the effective loss of top rusher Brad Erickson. The sophomore injured his ankle in a scrimmage the day before the game and only carried the ball twice in the Goodrich game, both times for only minor gains. The coach was hopeful that his all-conference back would be in good form for Saturday's game.

The coach warned against overoptimism concerning Port Austin. The school was much better than its one win in 1976 would indicate and this year has a "tough new coach and new attitude."

The Goodrich game started with the home team taking Owen-Gage's opening kickoff 68 yards for the touchdown, with Eric Schrader scoring on an 11-yard run. He also ran the ball over for the added two points.

In the second quarter, Goodrich blocked a Bulldog punt on the two-yard line, with Jeff Rich running the ball in for the six points. Schrader added two more.

Goodrich did the rest of its scoring in the third quarter, first on a set-up by an Owen-Gage fumble. Jon Alumbach made the touchdown on a two-yard run, with Schrader again making the two-point conversion.

The home squad set up its final touchdown on an interception, Neil Kilbourne scoring on a 22-yard run.

On the ground, the Bulldogs gained 66 yards in 29 carries and made four first downs.

Goodrich gained 296 yards on the ground and 19 in the air and made 13 first downs.

Hawks top Garber; face potent 'Muth Monday

The Cass City Red Hawks tuned up for their toughest basketball game of the season last Thursday with a satisfying victory over Essexville Garber, 31-24, at Cass City High School.

The girls will also be at home when they play their second game of the year next Monday and Coach Lloyd Schinnerer's charges would be very happy to post a similar win over defending Thumb B Conference Frankenmuth.

A win for Cass City over Ruth List and company would be a tremendous upset. Schinnerer is hoping for a large crowd of Hawks boosters at the game.

In pre-season practices this season, a large part of the drills for the girls was run, run, run.

The conditioning may have been instrumental in pushing Cass City to victory over the visiting Dukes Thursday.

The teams left the court all tied at 19-all at the intermission.

Schinnerer told his girls at the half that taking the open shot and aggressive rebounding would be the keys to victory.

The girls followed instructions to the letter and won going away.

Vicky Lapp came off the bench and showed the way. She keyed the second half rally and led the team with 17 points. Brenda Goslin added 16 points, mostly with perimeter shots.

Schinnerer said that it was a team win Thursday.

The Junior Varsity made it an all victorious night with a 31-24 decision over the Garber JV. Coach Terrilyn Krueger used all 15 girls on the squad. Padgett Randall led the scorers with 12 points. Julie Richards, Libby Hartel and Vicki Pobanz controlled the boards.

Coach Nurnberger greets 13 cross country candidates

Coach Ron Nurnberger is working with 13 candidates for Cass City's cross country track team with an eye to improving last season's sixth place finish in the Thumb B Conference.

While the Hawks have five lettermen back, including all-conference Steve Richards, it will be an uphill battle for the team.

That's because, Nurnberger said, all of the other schools also have most of their top runners back.

Now in its second season at Cass City, cross country will feature a new look this season. Two girls, Sally Ware and Laurie Ware, are on the squad.

Lettermen back include, Richards, Craig Kelley,

Chuck Clark, Steve Bean, Bob Clark and Jesse Groth.

The Hawk season opens with a four-school meet at Reese Friday. Also in the meet are Millington and USA.

The schedule:

- Sept. 20 at Akron-Fairgrove
- 26 at Frankenmuth
- 28 Sandusky, home
- Oct. 1 at Marlette

Cass City High School's golf team split its opening matches of the year with a win at Millington, 175-189, and a Thumb B Conference loss to Frankenmuth, 159-169, at Rolling Hills Golf Course.

Against Millington the scores were: Mike Richards, 43, Steve Richards, 44, Scott Krueger, 44, Tim Johnson, 44. Millington: Al Harvey, 42, Randy Sherman, 46, Dean Gardner, 48, Robin Kuberski, 53.

Frankenmuth was paced by Randy Keberlein and Mike Metzger, each with 38. Ross Voska shot 40 and Paul Kester, 43. Cass City's medalist was Steve Richards with 41. Mike Richards and Tim Johnson shot 42 and Jim Molnar, 44.

For Gagetown-Elmwood township

Tell plans for new joint use building

Construction of the new Gagetown village and Elmwood township hall and fire station will hopefully start within 4-6 weeks, according to Village President William Downing.

Official notice that the two units will receive $150,000 in federal public works funds has now been received. All that is necessary now, he said, is for the federal Economic Development Administration to process some paper work submitted by the village and have the money transferred into the village bank account.

The village can then go ahead and advertise for construction bids. Construction must start within 90 days after the funds are received.

The new building will go on the site of the present township hall. The township will handle bidding separately for demolition of the present structure.

The township and village will each have an office in the new building. There will be one meeting room plus the fire station.

At the village council meeting last Thursday, new trash collection hours were established.

Residents living east of the stoplight must have their trash placed at the curb by 9 a.m. Thursdays; residents on the west side, by 1 p.m.

Village Clerk Madeline Sontag said the council set the hours because the village maintenance man was having to make return trips for trash put out after he made his initial rounds.

Payment of $1,500 for the operation of the Gagetown-Elmwood Fire Department was authorized. The village pays one-third of the operating cost and the township pays the rest.

The maintenance man was instructed to install new drainage tile near the Gagetown Elementary School to rectify a drainage problem there.

Protests change in social security

To the Editor:
I'm wondering if many people have stopped to think about what cabinet secretary Juanita Kreps is trying to do to Social Security retirement. Extend it to 68.

This is an issue among many which has created intense resentment and frustration. With one full swoop, if such a thing were to become law, 40 years of reliance on a minimum of security to retire with dignity would be wiped out.

I would hope that the city and county elected officials as well as people of communities who are interested in keeping the age limit the same, place a resolution on their agenda

New 4-H club being started

A new 4-H club is being organized in the Brookfield township area, with Mary Miller as administrative leader.

Any youngsters ages 9-18 interested in joining can contact Mrs. Miller at Shebeon Road, Owendale, or Huron County 4-H Youth Agent Robert Johnson in the County Building in Bad Axe. They should do so by Sept. 30.

to take favorable action without delay. Write your congressman, representatives and senators and let them know how you feel.

I agree with secretary Calafano's remarks and applaud his action in this important matter. His quote, "I think the older Americans of this country have worked for years, 30-40, some of them 50 years, and we have promised them at age 65 there'll be social security benefits to help them have a comfortable and dignified life as senior citizens", Calafano said.

We should not break our promises to the American workers, old, middle age or young, that they may be permitted to retire at age 65 if they so choose, under the current system.

Secretary Kreps in her statement is very callous.

I would like to say as a citizen of the community, age for social security should not be changed. Please as individuals take the time and sit down and write your representatives in Washington. Let them know how you feel.

A working person in the community who is concerned.

Sincerely,
Grace Nemeth

At Owendale

Blame owners for speedway rioting

We as drivers, drivers' wives, pit crews and their wives, and spectators, would like our chance to present the other side of the story on what took place at Owendale Speedway last Sunday night, Sept. 4.

1. The disturbance was not a conspiracy by Wayne Dubs, and it was not the so-called "disgruntled" drivers' wives who started it, as stated by Mrs. Duncan.

2. The Owendale and Thunder Road fans alike were angered by sitting in the stands for 3 hours waiting for Mr. Duncan to dry out the mess he made of the track, by dumping approximately 5,000 gallons of chloride on the track. It was due to this overwatering that they cancelled the races.

3. The Owendale drivers have run over 7-inch wide tires all season. Last Wednesday evening, Aug. 31, Mr. Duncan stated to the drivers at a meeting, that the drivers could run by the same rules that Mr. Dubs had had for the whole season, and that included being able to run the wider tires. The drivers were not making "their" own rules as Mrs. Duncan had stated, they were just going by what Mr. Duncan had said. It was Mr. Duncan's inability to make up his mind which rules to use and confusing everybody, that started the disturbance.

4. We have from a reliable source that Duncans' did give out some refunds Sunday night. There were no cans or stones thrown at that time, as Mrs. Duncan stated in your article.

In looking back, Wayne Dubs has run Owendale Speedway all season with no reported difficulties, and look what happens the first night Mr. David A. Duncan takes over the management of Owendale Speedway.

P.S. Why doesn't the unidentified driver want to be identified? Would it happen to be that he is the highest paid driver at Thunder Road?

Keinath heads bean commission

Donald Keinath, 52, of 123 Akron Road, Caro, was selected chairman of the Michigan Bean Commission at its recent annual meeting.

Keinath, a member of the Commission since January, 1974, and its vice-chairman for the past two years, has a 520-acre farming operation in Almer township, where he raises beans, sugar beets, wheat and barley.

Keinath and his wife, Dorothy, have a son, Russell, a University of Michigan medical student, and a daughter, Karen, a retirement home food service director in Quincy, Ill.

Senior merit scholarship semi-finalist

DONALD KEINATH

He succeeds Richard Leach Jr. of Saginaw, who served the two one-year terms as chairman permitted under commission rules.

Other officers elected were John Knoer of Sandusky, vice-chairman, and Kenneth Graham of Breckenridge, treasurer.

Commission members again named Maynard D. Brownlee of Lansing as secretary-manager, a post he has held since the commission was organized in 1965.

Keinath was born in Reese, is a graduate of Vassar High School, attended Michigan State University short courses and served in the Marine Corps during World War II.

He has been a certified seed grower for many years, active in Michigan Crop Improvement Association and with Foundation Seeds for 21 years. He owns a complete seed processing plant in connection with his farming operation.

He is on the board of Caro Sugar Beet Growers, where he has been secretary-treasurer for the past eight years, and was president of Tuscola County Seed Growers for two years.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kitchen of 4300 Green Road.

He qualified by scoring high on the 1976 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. More than a million students in 17,500 high schools competed in the preliminary examination.

Of the 15,000 who qualified as semi-finalists, 3,900 will win a scholarship. Of those, 2,900 will receive a four-year merit scholarship and 1,000 will receive national merit $1,000 scholarships.

It was reported a recent fire in Owendale only damaged a wrestling mat cover that was being stored in a furnace room.

Music show Oct. 11 at Caro H.S.

The two-hour musical show, "Up With People", will be brought to the Caro High School gymnasium at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 11.

The all-new 1977 Up With People show is an entertaining blend of music and dancing which includes a broad range of contemporary and traditional material backed by a complete instrumental section of guitars, percussion, piano, and brass.

Up With People casts are on the road 11 months out of the year and have been seen in live performances in all 50 states and in 42 countries and six continents as well as on national television across the world.

Approximately 350 young men and women from 18 countries are currently traveling with Up With People. They represent a cross section of economic backgrounds and ethnic origins.

The performers do their own stage work, promotion, day-to-day logistics, and can work for college credits from the University of Arizona or through a program of independent study projects.

Up With People is an independent, nonprofit, educational corporation headquartered in Tucson, Ariz.

Corn glut to tax available area storage facilities

Before the harvest season is over this fall, farmers may have to use temporary storage facilities for their grain, according to two area elevator managers.

"I think storage is going to get tight," predicted James Turner, manager of the Blount Agriculture elevator in Gageton. "I'm afraid there will be a time it will be hard to get rid of corn (at elevators)."

Cass City Wickes Agriculture manager Bob Wischmeyer was slightly less pessimistic. "I'm not saying there's going to be a problem. There could be."

Both men said their elevators are in good shape for the start of the harvest season, now underway with the bean crop.

During the harvest season, Turner explained, local elevators usually can ship some of their grain out to terminals so that they always have some storage capacity available.

But they might not be able to do that this year, at least as much as in the past, because terminals still have large amounts of grain on hand from last year's harvest, plus this year's wheat.

That, plus the expected large harvest this year, will make the storage situation tight.

"I think you will see a lot of corn stored on the farms," Turner predicted, in such places as tool sheds and barns.

Storage space was also in short supply during the harvest season two years ago.

What may ease the crunch this fall, Wischmeyer said, is that many elevators have added storage space in the last two years, including Wickes in Cass City.

Both it and Blount Agriculture in Gageton now have storage capacity for 500,000 bushels.

Construction was slated to begin this week on the latest local addition, at the National Farmers Organization terminal at Cass City. Terminal President Earnest Cook said the two bins, one holding 130,000 bushels, the other 54,000, will be done in time for this year's harvest.

Current capacity is 530,000 bushels.

For farmers that have to resort to temporary storage inside buildings, Tuscola County Extension Agricultural Agent Don Kebler has some advice.

Most important is to keep the grain dry. If the building has a dirt floor, plastic should be put down before the grain is put in, to prevent ground moisture from spoiling the grain.

Other than moisture, the main problem with temporary storage is damage from insects and rodents, as well as contamination from dogs and cats. Fumigation is difficult in buildings not designed for grain storage, he pointed out.

Hospital plans inching forward

The start of construction of the emergency and outpatient services building of Hills and Dales General Hospital moved a step closer with the approval of the project last Thursday by the Project Review Committee of the East Central Michigan Health Systems Agency.

The approval was in the form of a recommendation to the agency's full board that it approve the project.

"We expect approval," said hospital Administrator Ken E. Jensen.

Once consent is given by the agency board, the final step is for approval by the Division of Health Facility Planning and Construction of the Michigan Department of Public Health.

Once that okay is given, the architect can then draw up the specifications needed in order to advertise for construction bids.

Jensen said he expects the Health Systems Agency board will meet within a week or two and that the review committee hearing was the "big hurdle."

The hearing, mandated under federal law, was required in order for the hospital to justify the need for the new facility.

The aim is to start construction by year's end, with the project taking 18 months to complete.

Total project cost is estimated at $746,000, of which about $300,000 will pay for the new building and $300,000 for correction of some mechanical deficiencies, such as with the ventilation system, inside the hospital. The rest will cover equipment and architect fees.

Of the total, $500,000 was raised by the fund drive in Cass City. The rest will come from existing earnings and a bank loan, Jensen said.

Sheriff reports activities

The Tuscola County Sheriff's Department made 46 arrests and issued 157 tickets for traffic violations in August.

Of the arrests, the most common were for traffic violations, 11; drunkenness, 9; obstruction of justice, 7; and family offenses, 5.

The most common traffic offenses were speeding, 96; stop sign violations, 15; and operators' license violations and failure to yield, 7 each.

Of the calls received during the month, 231 concerned traffic violations; disorderly conduct, 69; larcenies, 65; vandalism, 53; suspicious persons, 34; and suspicious vehicles, 33.

The jail received 111 inmates during the month, of whom 11 were female, and released 113.

The Cass City Police Department made seven arrests during the month, of which five were for traffic and one each for property damage and drunkenness.

The state police post at Caro recorded 27 arrests, including 12 for traffic, four for larcenies, and three for violation of the controlled substance act.

The number of complaints and accidents respectively for area townships was: Columbia, 15 and 5; Elkland, 50 and 1; Ellington, 16 and 2; Elmwood, 18 and 3; Kingston 16 and 2; and Novesta, 23 and 4.

Through August, 5 persons have been killed in traffic accidents in Tuscola county, half the total in 1976. A total of 209 persons have been injured, 17 ahead of last year's pace.

How much insulation is needed for your home to be economically feasible?

If you want to learn the answer to your home insulation needs, your extension office can assist you.

We have a set of forms that the homeowner can fill out about his home and by running this data through a computer, we can give him insulation answers.

During the Expo Days, Oct. 4-5, the Michigan State University Agricultural Engineering Department display booth is planning to have the computer set up to make the calculations.

By requesting or picking up the forms before Expo time and returning them filled out to us, we can send the results to you. Or you can pick up the form, fill it out, and bring it to the Agricultural Engineering booth at Expo time.

Once you have the answers you can make your proper insulation plans.

Also approved was the recommendation of county Building Codes Administrator Paul Lefler that the electrical permit inspection fee be raised from $7.50 to $10.

The increase will not affect Cass City, which performs its own electrical inspections.

No suggestions were received at what was to be a hearing concerning how the county should spend the $344,000 in federal revenue sharing funds it will receive for the fiscal year starting Oct. 1. The board will decide on allocation of the funds at its Sept. 27 meeting.

The board approved seven Comprehensive Employment and Training Act Title VI positions, of which three are custodians for Cass City High School.

Furniture creates futures at workshop

"Give a man a fish and you will feed him for a day. Teach a man to fish and you will feed him for a lifetime."

That old proverb is the basic philosophy behind the Caro Area Services for the Handicapped (CASH) operation, according to its marketing director, Jeff MacKenzie.

The CASH program, located at the Northwood Office Complex on Cleaver Rd., Caro, provides a sheltered workshop for 70 full-time mentally and physically handicapped workers. The employees work 4-6 hour shifts and are instructed in factory and handcraft skills. Unlike some rehabilitation facilities, the CASH program is also a successful business.

"The employees here make primitive benches and stools with their own hands," MacKenzie said. "The finished products are sold to more than 50 furniture outlets in Michigan. Hopefully the business called "Caro Creations" will go nationwide by mail order in the near future."

MacKenzie and CASH executive director Ted Hull stress that all of the furniture products are handmade. Handicapped individuals are involved in the entire process, from stripping the bark off the raw logs to varnishing and finishing the benches and stools.

The workers here take pride in the finished products.

And they appreciate the money they receive for their work.

When asked why CASH decided to go into the furniture making business, Hull said: "During times of recession, it's impossible to get sub-contracts for handicapped operations like this one. So, in order to provide stable employment for the workers here, we had to come up with a product of our own which could compete at the retail level with other private industries."

"The benches and stools are selling well. CASH has proved that a handicapped workshop program can produce and market a product that can compete. And we're supplying consistent and meaningful work for the people here."

The employees at CASH are paid on a piecework basis, rather than by the hour. MacKenzie said that the workers have created their own facsimile of the social ladder.

"The workers who produce the most and thus make the greatest amount of money are admired and envied by the others," he said. "Everybody is very aware of what the other guy is making. It's very prestigious to be at the top of the pay scale."

Sub-contract jobs from private industries will remain as a foundation for the CASH program. The workers are currently finishing a job for Detroit Edison Co. They are successfully competing against private subcontract industries, and have a list of clients that includes Chevrolet Motor Division, Buick Motor Division, Aero Space Inc., Sherwin-Williams Co., Disney World, Inc. and Gay Toys, Inc.

"This facility must also supply a variety of factory work for those employees here who will eventually leave and enter the private business sector," Hull said.

"About 75 per cent of the work here is devoted to the benches and stools operation and 25 per cent is devoted to sub-contract work with companies like General Motors and Detroit Edison."

Hull and MacKenzie realize that the demand for their stools and benches may decrease significantly in the future, so they're working on new ideas and products. These include decorative wood shingles, mantel decoys, wrought iron furniture, and miniature doll house furniture.

"We want to keep all of our products handmade," MacKenzie said. "Machines create an unfavorable work environment. The noise often distracts the people here. And machines have a tendency to break down."

"The demand for our primitive line of furniture has pressure on us to automate to produce 500 per week," Hull said. "But the main focus of this facility is not to make money. We're here to provide work and training for handicapped individuals. Automation would destroy the pleasant work environment here."

MacKenzie describes the CASH concept as a "revolution" in the area of handicapped services.

"Traditionally, the mentally retarded were herded into supervision quarters and taught to 'sort nails' to prepare them for assembly line jobs," he said. "This hypocrisy became too evident in recent years and the number of unemployed non-handicapped rose to eight million. It became obvious that graduation to industry was a joke for many of the retarded."

"So we set out to create an environment in which the clients could live, enjoy the creative action of hand tool work, and produce products which would sell competi-

Valuation increasing in Huron county?

Huron county property owners face a possible 30 per cent increase in their 1978 property valuations. Equalization Director George Danks warned the county board of commissioners last week.

County commissioners, to put it mildly, were less than enthused.

Danks said he based his estimate on analysis of present property sales and field study updating work his department is conducting.

Fifteen units have been examined so far, and the 30 per cent pattern appears to be holding true.

The equalization director said he still must meet with township supervisors and that specific figures could change, but he doubts there will be any significant reductions from the 30 per cent figure.

He explained much of the problem goes back to 1974, when commissioners approved an equalization report with figures substantially lower than those he originally calculated.

For assessing farm land, Danks said he starts with a basic figure and then adjusts the valuations accordingly.

On the west side of Huron county, he figures $1,300 per acre plus $200 more if the land is tiled.

For the central part, he uses $1,000 per acre plus $250 for tiled areas.

In the east, the figure is $700 per acre plus $200 for tiling.

The figures aren't based on productivity of the land or a farmer's income, but rather on what the land is selling for -- and land in the west sells for more than in the central or eastern parts, he explained.

On hearing the news of the projected increase, Commissioner Calvin Reibling of Elkton suggested Danks should work with the state to get more realistic figures. "If you don't, I will," he threatened.

A private firm is presently conducting a complete re-appraisal of real property in Huron county, as ordered by the state Tax Tribunal. The firm's findings will be used in 1979.

For 1977, an equalization figure based on State Tax Commission computations is expected to be used.

That means county Equalization Department figures for 1978 must be used for that year's tax bills.

Investigation unit funding delayed

Action on a second-year grant for the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department Technical Investigation Unit has been postponed because of questions on how funds from the first-year grant were spent.

Members of the East Central Michigan Planning and Development Region Law Enforcement Council executive committee tabled action on the grant application at their Sept. 7 meeting in Saginaw. The amount requested for the second year is $40,000.

They noted in reviewing the request that the project's investigators spent the majority of their time in follow-up investigations rather than processing evidence at crime scenes. They also noted that the first-year grant stated that investigators would be used to process evidence at crime scenes.

"During the first six months of the project," the second year grant application states, "the investigators spent 101 hours processing crime scenes, 1,255 hours doing follow-up investigations, and 116 hours in training."

Because of questions raised by the committee members, a motion to table action on the grant application was passed until a meeting can be scheduled between the committee and Sheriff Hugh Marr.

According to the grant application, the project provides two fully equipped and trained crime scene investigators to aid all Tuscola county local police agencies.

The objective of the unit is to provide trained evidence technicians for Tuscola county, free police patrols from crime scene investigations, and thus make patrol units more effective. Another stated objective is to increase

Auxiliary meets

Eleven members attended the Monday evening meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary. President Reva M. Little opened the meeting with presentation of the colors with prayer by the chaplain and the reading of the "American's Creed" in unison.

Mrs. Rosella Cherry has been appointed Foreign Relations chairman. The country to be studied this year is Peru.

Members voted a $10.00 contribution to the nurses' scholarship fund which is based on the number of past presidents in the Unit.

The Unit is to send 17 gifts for the Christmas gift shop project of which Mrs. Garrison Stine is chairman.

Members signed get-well cards to send to two members who have been recently hospitalized.

At the close of the business meeting, games were played and refreshments served. Three door prizes went to Mrs. Little, Mrs. Cherry and Mrs. Marion McCleary.

DeGrow backs drinking age petition drive

Sen. Alvin DeGrow, whose district includes Tuscola, Huron, and Sanilac counties, is supporting the petition drive to raise the drinking age to 21.

The petition backers, calling themselves "Coalition for 21," announced the start of their drive last week.

The goal is to obtain 400,000 signatures -- only about 266,000 are needed -- to put the question on the Michigan ballot in 1978.

If on the ballot and approved by voters, the measure will amend the state constitution to make 21 the legal age for purchase and possession of alcoholic beverages.

No one would be able to sell or give away beverages which contain more than .5, a half-per cent, of alcohol to anyone under age 21.

Penalties for violation would be left up to the legislature to establish.
