

Council kills Cultural Center takeover

"Why change?" the Cass City Village Council decided Tuesday night.

The council finally made a decision concerning the proposal made by Elkland township electors at the annual meeting last spring that the Cultural Center should be turned over to the village.

Presently, the township and village split all expenses $10,500.

A statement prepared for the council showed each unit paid $285.93 in 1975 to maintain the structure and $805 in 1976.

A motion by Councilman Nat Tuttle that the village take over complete ownership of the building -- the proposal township residents wanted -- only drew two votes, his and that of Jim Ware.

Thus the council agreed with the comment of Dr. Del Rawson, "I think the present arrangement is as far as Cass City should go."

As the council decided in favor of no change, no further vote was needed.

Village President Lambert E. Altshaver pointed out that since the township actually owns the building, it could decide to level the structure or sell it. He doubted that either alternative will take place.

Before going to the township board to discuss the council's decision, it was decided to first investigate the legal agreement between the village and township for operation of the Cultural Center.

pared by village Supt. Lou LaPonsie. The forecast predicts general fund revenue of $368,000 for 1977 and expenses of $344,150, leaving a potential surplus of $23,850.

The surplus does not include money left over at the end of 1976.

Thus it was decided to tentatively spend the $23,850 to replace the valves in the two water softeners for the village water system, replace related plumbing, and install new chemicals in one of the softeners.

The new valves are needed because both machines leak. One machine doesn't have enough chemicals in it to operate at full capacity.

LaPonsie was authorized to obtain a specific price for the water softener work and then order the materials if the total isn't over $25,000. If the price is more than $23,850 (but no more than $25,000), some money will be taken from the surplus left at the end of 1976.

OTHER BUSINESS

The council extended the deadline for payment of village summer taxes to Oct. 12.

It was reported village police officer Chris Taylor has resigned -- his last day was Tuesday -- to attend a school of mortuary science. Five persons have applied so far for the now vacant position. Deputy Sheriff Jim Giroux is filling in part-time when needed in the interim.

Replacement of roof-clogged storm sewer on Brooker Street between Pine and Houghton Streets was authorized. Cost will be about $3,000.

Blacktopping of some streets in the village has been delayed again because of rain and is now scheduled to be done in mid-October.

Advertising for bids for the village street improvement program, financed with $336,880 in federal public works funds, will begin this week locally and in statewide construction trade magazines.

Construction must start by Nov. 21.

Age Akron man

Donald Dinsmore, charged with two open counts of murder in the slaying of a Yassar couple, was arraigned Monday before District Judge Richard F. Kern.

The bodies of Henry Beamish, 64, and his wife, Francis Marie, 62, were found in the bedroom of their Waterman Road home by a friend about 4 p.m. Saturday.

The sheriff's department said they had been shot with a shotgun. Other than that, the department has been sparse in releasing details of the shooting.

Reportedly, Dinsmore was the Beamishes' ex-son-in-law. Warrants charging Dinsmore, 41, of rural Akron, were issued by the prosecutor's office Monday. He was arrested Sunday night.

Following his arraignment, Judge Kern remanded the defendant to the county jail without bond to await a preliminary examination Oct. 7.

The murders are still under investigation. The Michigan State Police Bridgeport crime lab is assisting the sheriff's department in the investigation.

STRUTTING HIS STUFF -- The turkey belonging to Tom Coleman was a popular attraction Tuesday for Cass City School District elementary students. High school Future Farmers of America members brought various animals to the ag shop classroom where they were seen by youngsters from kindergarten through the fourth grade from Campbell, Deford, and Evergreen Elementary schools.

Owen-Gage fights on; seeks court rehearing

The Owen-Gage School Board isn't giving up yet.

On the heels of a severe setback handed down by the Michigan Supreme Court, the board Monday night authorized its attorney, James F. Schouman, to petition to the high court for a rehearing.

The Supreme Court, Wednesday, Sept. 21, rejected the board's request to appeal the Michigan Court of Appeals upholding of the transfer of the "Goslin parcel" from Owen-Gage to the Cass City School District.

The appeals court, in an Aug. 15 ruling, said the Owen-Gage board didn't have the legal standing (that is, the right) to appeal the state board of education approval of the Goslin transfer.

In denying the board's request to make a formal appeal, the Supreme Court upheld the appeals court's ruling on the question of standing, that such an appeal had to be made by individual residents in the district.

Never answered was the district's claim that the Goslin parcel, when lumped with other property transfers, constitutes more than 10 per cent of the district, therefore, residents of the district, according to state law, must approve the transfer in a public referendum.

The opposition claims that each transfer petition must be judged separately, that as long as a parcel for which a transfer is sought forms less than 10 per cent of the district, no public referendum is required.

Schouman explained to the board and audience Monday that if the high court had ruled on the 10 per cent question, although he might not have liked the decision, he would not have objected.

But the court's decision, the Dearborn attorney explained, flew in the face of tradition that school board members are elected by the public to represent it, and if they fail to do so, the public votes them out of office.

"The bigger picture here is the Supreme Court is saying there is no place for school boards in the area of school (property) transfers," he continued. "To me, it's just chaos."

He further said the court's decision was a "complete reversal" from the 1969 Administrative Procedures Act, which included government subdivisions under the definition of "persons."

"I could be wrong," he admitted. Should the board be rejected in its bid for a rehearing, Schouman said, the only avenue left is an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. The grounds for such an appeal would be that district residents were being denied due process and equal protection of the laws, as guaranteed in the 14th amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

The attorney for the Goslin parcel property owners, James Barley of Howell, told the Chronicle Friday concerning the Supreme Court ruling, "As I see it, this is the end of the case."

As the Supreme Court decision was unanimous, he doubted it would grant a request for a rehearing from the school board. As for an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, he said, "I don't see any federal question in-olved."

The two attorneys also disagree on two other aspects of the case (in addition to the 10 per cent question), one of which came up at Monday's board meeting.

The question is whether property owners who transfer out of the district will have to help pay for the bonds issued by the district to pay for construction of the new high school building.

At the heart of the disagreement is an agreement made by the school board in November, 1976. In exchange for an agreement not to bring further legal action against the high school bond issue, the board agreed to exempt certain property owners from having to pay for the bonds.

Schouman claimed Monday night the agreement exempted only three property owners, among nine who brought action against the bond issue: Keith Goslin, Ken Voelker (now deceased), and James Belk.

Dissidents at the board meeting and Barley in Friday's telephone conversation with the Chronicle, claimed otherwise -- that all the property owners in the Goslin, Voelker, and Belk parcels were exempted by the agreement from paying the bond property tax levy.

Schouman said the issue will probably have to be settled by another law suit.

Transfer of the Belk parcel to the Cass City district and Voelker parcel to the Lakers district were approved by the state board of education in July, 1976. They currently are lodged in the Ingham County Circuit Court and are still part of Owen-Gage pending resolution of the Goslin parcel transfer case. The appeal by the Owen-Gage board of the Ellenbaum parcel transfer, now part of the Lakers district, is also in that court.

Barley said Friday all it will take now is a petition to the circuit court asking that the school board's appeal to stop the three transfers be dismissed, based on the Supreme Court's Wednesday ruling.

Schouman, of course, sees otherwise. Even if the courts do say that individuals, not school boards, must appeal property transfer decisions, individual supporters of the Owen-Gage district can intervene in circuit court to try to stop the Belk and Voelker transfers out of the district.

As for the Oct. 22 election to allow Owen-Gage residents to vote on whether property should be transferred out of the district, the attorney said Friday he saw no reason to call the election off.

Barley, as he has claimed previously, and especially in light of the Supreme Court decision, said the election is meaningless.

Two hospitalized in crash; many accidents reported

Susan R. White was reported in fair condition in the intensive care unit at St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw Wednesday morning, where she was taken following an accident at 12:05 a.m. Monday.

The driver of the car in which she was riding, Dennis C. Putnam, of 2850 Remington Road, Caro, was reported in fair condition at Hills and Dales General Hospital. Miss White, 21, lives on Deckerville Road, Caro.

State police in Caro reported Putnam was westbound on M-81, by Green Road, when he went off the right side of the road on a curve and struck a tree. The driver was thrown from the car.

Putnam told officers one of the headlight doors on his Corvette wouldn't open and the speedometer didn't work, so he didn't know how fast he was going. As of Tuesday, the accident was still under investigation.

Abbie Ackerman, 67, of State Street, Gageton, was released from Hills and Dales Tuesday morning, where she had been since being struck by a car Sept. 20.

A witness, Gerald Kappen of 5400 Bay City-Forestville Road, Gageton, told Caro state police he had stopped to pick up Mrs. Ackerman, who was walking west on Bay City-Forestville Road, on the pavement.

The driver of a westbound vehicle, troopers said, Raymond L. Brinkman, 47, of Unionville, braked to avoid hitting the car but struck the woman. The accident took place west of Dodge Road.

Brinkman was ticketed by state police on a charge of violation of the basic speed law (too fast).

Two Bad Axe men were treated at Huron Memorial Hospital in Bad Axe early Saturday after an accident that literally landed them and their car in an Ugly junk yard.

Injured were Wayne W. Pratt, 23, the driver, and Michael L. Kritzman, 24.

Pratt told village police he was westbound on James Street about 2:15 a.m. when he reached down to retrieve a cigarette from the floor. He didn't realize the road was a dead end.

The car ran off the end of the road into the Russell Auto Parts junk yard.

Their auto skidded between two junk cars, police said, became airborne, then landed on the trunk of another junk car, with the front end penetrating the rear window of the latter vehicle, which was moved several feet forward by the force of the impact.

Patricia L. Kolb, 28, of 5457 DeLong Road and her daughter

Katherine, 1, sought their own treatment Monday morning following an accident in Novesta township.

Caro state police said the car driven by her husband, Larry R. Kolb, was southbound on Phillips Road and collided with the auto of Randy A. Whittaker, 25, of 5256 Severance Road, which was eastbound on Severance.

Kolb was ticketed by troopers on a charge of failure to yield.

Mary H. Maynard, 35, of Phillips Road, Deford, was advised by sheriff's deputies to seek treatment after an accident Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 21, in Wells township.

Deputies said Gene R. Hulbert, 33, also of Phillips Road, Deford, was northbound on Froede Road and collided with the auto of Mrs. Maynard, which was westbound on Riley Road.

Hulbert was ticketed on a charge of failure to yield at a signed intersection.

Clarence J. Wagner, 52, of Bay City, was ticketed by sheriff's deputies Friday on a charge of failure to yield the right of way at a signed intersection following an accident on Saginaw Road, east of Vassar.

Car-bike crash kills 9-year-old

Nine-year-old Valerie McDonald was buried Monday.

She died Friday evening when the bicycle she was riding was struck by a car.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lachlan McDonald of Bevans Road, Caro, she was riding her bike near her parents' home, west of Pierce Road, when the accident occurred.

Investigating sheriff's deputies said she rode her bike into the path of a car driven by Steven Robison of Caro, who couldn't avoid hitting her.

For that reason, he will probably not be charged, it was indicated, although as of Tuesday, the accident was still under investigation. The accident took place at 7:11 p.m.

Funeral services were held Monday at the First Baptist church in Caro, with burial in Caro cemetery.

Her death was the sixth traffic fatality in Tuscola county so far this year, as compared to 11 on this date a year ago.

DIGGING IN -- Workmen from the Andrew Barnes Construction Co. have been busy installing water and sewer lines in the Cass City industrial park in the southwest corner of the village. Work on the project is expected to be completed in about two weeks. Cost is $39,571, plus engineering fees and other expenses.

Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Anthony

Jean Briolat and Kevin Anthony were married Aug. 20 at St. John's Catholic church in Ubyly.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Rose Briolat of Ubyly; the groom, the son of Mrs. Joy Anthony, also of Ubyly.

Father Edward O'Reilly united the couple in marriage.

Maid of honor was Glory McCarty of Ubyly, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Rosemary McCullough and Betty Kociba, both of Cass City, and Suzanne Briolat of Ubyly.

The best man was Kim Anthony, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Jim Lenhardt of Gageton and Ron Lackowski of Ruth.

The bride wore an Empire waisted dress with lace trim, long chiffon sleeves, and a lined train. She carried yellow miniature roses and white carnations.

The bridesmaids wore identical soft blue halter gowns of polyester knit featuring matching chiffon caplets, embroidered with complimentary floral design. Matching garden hats trimmed with tiny blue roses and satin ribbons completed their ensembles. They carried baskets of white, miniature carnations and blue daisies.

The miniature bride, Denise Peruski of Decker, a niece of the bride, carried flowers identical to those carried by the bridesmaids.

The church was decorated with fresh, potted flowers. Approximately 400 persons attended the reception at the Colony House, following the ceremonies. The couple honeymooned in Niagara Falls, Canada, and in northern Michigan and now live in Cass City.

Anthony is employed at Wildwood Farms. The new Mrs. Anthony works at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

Anniversary party a surprise

Don and Mary Buchanan of Caro took their friends, Donald and Ella Mae Becker, to brunch Sunday at Ubyly. When the Beckers were brought back to their home at 5103 Bay City-Forestville Road, they found about 75 friends and relatives there for a surprise party to help the couple celebrate their 41st wedding anniversary.

Donald Becker, then from Elkton, and the former Ella Mae Hewitt of Holbrook, were married Sept. 10, 1936 at the church in Holbrook. He presently is employed as a mechanic by Detroit Edison Co.

The surprise party was arranged by the Beckers' children, Robert of 4125 West Street, Cass City, and Harold, who lives near Atlanta, Mich., their wives, and children. The Robert Beckers have three children; the Harold Beckers, four.

Guests attended from as far away as Detroit.

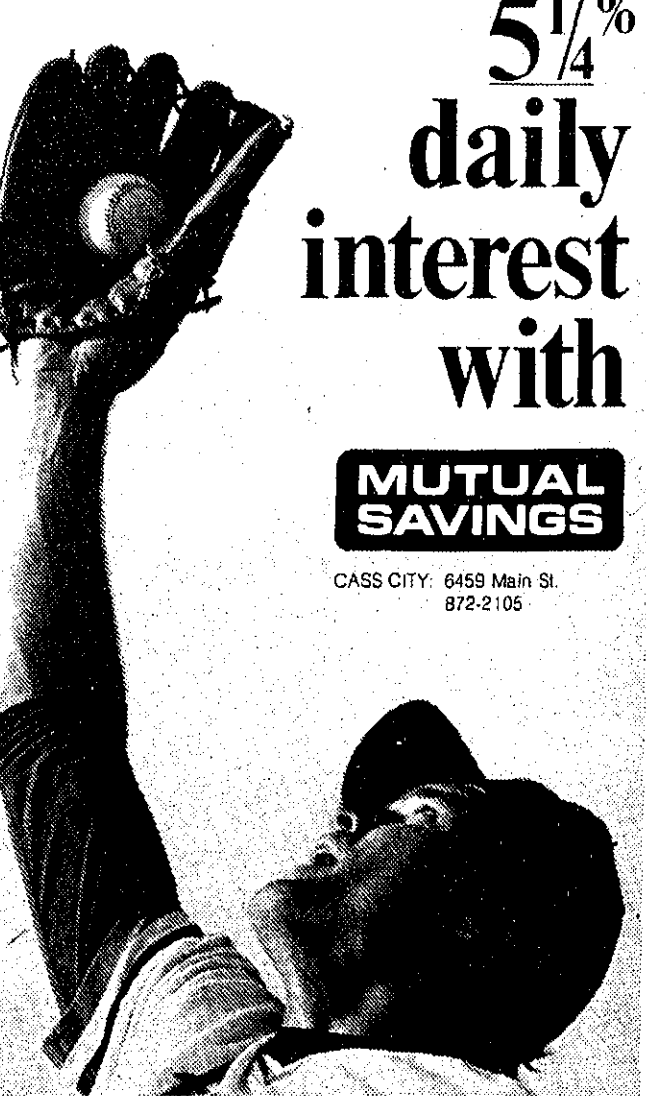

Ice cream and cake were served.

"If It Fitz..." Lumps hard to swallow

By Jim Fitzgerald

"Computers could produce statistics proving that people whose names begin with H are involved in more car accidents than people whose names begin with W. But why should insurance companies use such statistics to justify raising rates?"

The quote is from Carl Levin, president of the Detroit City Council. The subject was redlining, that nefarious tactic by which large groups of people are lumped into a category and then charged extra simply because they have been lumped.

Levin has long fought redlining to the cheers of thousands. Probably his most publicized scorn was aimed at the gasoline company that recently denied a credit card to a Detroit couple who earn large paychecks and always pay their bills on time. But they had an "inner city" address, so a computer spit on them.

That is the most obvious type of redlining. There are more subtle types, just as irritating but harder to prove. For instance, I am suspicious of Ma Bell.

I was a Bell phone subscriber in tiny Lapeer for 25 years. Once in a while I was a few days late paying the bill. There was never the slightest pressure from Bell to pay up. Not once.

But soon after I got a downtown Detroit address, I returned from vacation on a Monday to learn that our phone bill had been due on the previous Friday. There was an instant call from Bell's credit department.

My wife apologized and said a check would be mailed that day. This wasn't good enough. The collector pointed out that the nearest Bell office would be open until 5 p.m. that day, so why didn't my wife drive downtown and fork over the money in person? Geez.

Bell's own records prove I am an excellent credit risk. I am the same guy in downtown Detroit that I was in little Lapeer. So how come the sudden dun?

Does Bell base its credit policy on where a person lives, rather than on their experience with that person? Why not? Insurance companies do it all the time.

The morning after I talked with Levin, by coincidence, I received a plaintive letter from Raymond Torpey. It was easy for me to sob along with his gripes about car insurance because Torpey and I live in the same apartment building, and I will be hurting the same way he is hurting, although with a different insurance company. He wrote:

"I have lived in Detroit for over 50 years and wish to remain here. My problem is auto insurance. I have been with AAA for several years and now find that being your neighbor is causing AAA to increase my auto insurance 95 per cent."

"Sixty per cent is an overall increase for all members, and an additional 35 per cent because I live in Detroit II which is the downtown area, and I am quoting a representative of the AAA downtown office. If this is not redlining, what is?"

Well, AAA doesn't call it redlining. I talked with Mike Wild, who is the company's underwriting manager in Detroit. His explanation was nothing new. Torpey's insurance rate is based on the company's experience in the downtown area. The frequency of claims is high, so people who live there must pay higher premiums. Insurance companies gamble on risks, and they must play the odds carefully.

The injustices are obvious. My driving record has been as good in Detroit as in Lapeer. In Detroit my car is parked in an underground garage behind guarded doors every night. In Lapeer it was left outside. But my insurance costs will be higher in Detroit because some people on the other side of town have a lot of fender-benders and stolen hubcaps.

Also, living in a congested area carries a built-in penalty. Big-city statistics can be computerized to produce risk predictions to cover a wide geographical area, thus decreasing uniform rates for thousands of people. This can't be done with a busy intersection in Podunk, or with scattered cottages where vandals prowl in the winter.

When he is buying insurance, it is unfair that a man should be judged on anything other than his own history. But that's the way it is, and you don't dare go uninsured until men like Carl Levin can do something about it. You could get wiped out, or arrested.

Insurance men acknowledge the inequities, but they insist there is no other way to do things and stay in business. Maybe not. But General Motors found a way to cut the price of Chevettes sold on the West Coast, where competition is stiffest from Japanese imports.

Maybe what this nation needs is Japanese insurance salesmen.

Forgetting the past is alright, but don't forget the future.

In cases Monday before Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements: Harold R. Delong, 40, of 115

Wolfrum found guilty as charged

David C. Wolfrum, 19, of Rt. 1 Burmon Road, Deford, was found guilty by a circuit court jury Wednesday, Sept. 21, of charges of breaking and entering and larceny in a building.

The charges were in connection with a break-in in Feb. 26 of a home at 3334 E. Snover Road, Dayton township.

Circuit Judge Norman A. Baguley remanded Wolfrum to the county jail to await sentencing.

The judge also granted a prosecution motion allowing the filing of supplemental information to have Wolfrum declared a habitual offender. If found to be that, his sentence on the breaking and entering and larceny charges will be lengthened.

The circuit court trial of Robert A. Boulet, 21, of 8683 W. Birch Run Road, Millington, on a charge of breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny ended in a hung jury Friday.

Boulet was charged in connection with the break-in of a shed at 8611 Irish Road, Millington township.

Prosecutor Patrick Joslyn said Wednesday morning it hasn't been decided yet whether Boulet will be retried. If he is, it probably will be February before time can be found to schedule a new trial.

David M. Fitzgerald, 19, of 181 N. State Street, Apt. 3, Caro, was placed on two years' probation for attempted receiving and concealing stolen property over $100. He pleaded guilty to the charge Aug. 29.

He was sentenced to seven days in the county jail, credited with two days served, fined $200, and assessed $200 court costs.

George Moore, 48, of Sagi-

Bevens Road, Caro, stood mute to four larceny related charges. A pretrial hearing on each charge was scheduled Oct. 11. Bond was continued.

The four charges are: Breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny, in connection with a break-in at Jim's Auto Sales on Cemetery Road, Kingston township.

Breaking and entering an occupied dwelling with intent to commit larceny, in connection with the break-in of the house of Joseph Knight on Mushroom Road, Wells township.

Breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny, in connection with the break-in of a lodge belonging to James Pruett on 4300 E. Sanilac Road, Dayton township.

Entry without breaking with intent to commit larceny, in connection with the entering of a house under construction at 6633 Ohmar Road, Mayville.

All four offenses allegedly took place June 14.

Gordon Wood, 20, no available address, was placed on two years' probation for delivery of phenylephrine. He pleaded guilty to the charge Aug. 17.

He was sentenced to serve 180 days in the county jail, credited with one day served, ordered to enroll in a drug abuse program, and to pay a fine of $200 and $200 in costs.

A motion for bond pending appeal was granted, with bond set at $10,000.

David M. Fitzgerald, 19, of 181 N. State Street, Apt. 3, Caro, was placed on two years' probation for attempted receiving and concealing stolen property over $100. He pleaded guilty to the charge Aug. 29.

He was sentenced to seven days in the county jail, credited with two days served, fined $200, and assessed $200 court costs.

George Moore, 48, of Sagi-

now, was sentenced to serve 18 months to 10 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny. He was convicted of the charge by a circuit court jury Aug. 18.

The charge was in connection with a break-in Dec. 18, 1976 at Dillon's Bump Shop in Caro.

Moore was credited with 25 days served in the county jail. The guilty plea of Robert M. Schmitzer, 19, of Flint, to a charge of attempted uttering and publishing was accepted.

Bond was accepted and sentencing was set for Oct. 24.

The charge involved a complaint from Clarence A. Young concerning a check written for $300.

In Huron county last Friday, Jack L. Arnold, 50, of Ubyly, demanded examination at his arraignment before District Judge John T. Schube on a charge of felonious assault.

The charge was in connection with a complaint signed by Darlene Arnold, his great-niece, in which it is charged she was assaulted with a knife last Thursday in an argument at a home on S. Washington Street in Ubyly.

Bond for Arnold was set at $2,500, with preliminary examination in district court tentatively scheduled this Friday.

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

First the bad news: I burned rubber travelling on M-81 Tuesday afternoon as I jammed the brakes hard to make a sudden stop.

Now the good news: The reason I did was to avoid hitting a big, plump rooster pheasant that took off directly in front of me. More good news: I missed him.

There's no doubt, no doubt at all, that pheasants are making a comeback. There just have to be more this year than there have been since the flocks were decimated some 20 years ago.

After 66 years you should be forgiven if you miss one half of one name from a group picture. So we forgive whoever it is that was wrong.

That photo of the class at McConnell School was taken in 1911, according to Mrs. Charles Klinkman of Dearborn, who was Florence Hartwick then.

She and classmate Hazel Moore disagree on one name. Mrs. Klinkman says it was Don Nutt; Mrs. Moore identified the student as Ivan Nutt.

News editor Mike Eliasohn nominates Central Michigan University for the "maybe better late than never" award. Monday the Chronicle received the list of CMU's May graduates.

Athletic Director Bob Stickle this week launched a campaign in Thumb B councils for better league control of game announcements and media.

His aim is to try and lessen the heat on officials and players. He wants announcers to be impartial, feeling that partisan broadcasting like that at Sandusky does nothing but inflame fans. He wants radio announcers not to make goals of players and to stop editorializing during broadcasts. He is seeking the same to a lesser extent from print media.

We can see all kinds of problems ahead in this approach. But, if nothing else, it should call to the attention of all of us again that we are in responsible positions and should act responsibly.

You can't get very far forward by leaning over backward.

Men who say what they think are courageous—and friendless.

Arthur Willits dies

Arthur M. Willits, Tuscola county treasurer for 38 years, died Tuesday, Sept. 20, at his home in Caro.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday from the Caro United Methodist Church, with Rev. Clive Dickins and Rev. Brian Kundering officiating. Burial was in Rich Cemetery in Lapeer county.

Willits was born in Postoria on Sept. 22, 1888, and was a lifelong resident of Tuscola county.

He served as Watertown township treasurer and supervisor prior to his being elected county treasurer for the term starting in January, 1939. He served until his retirement Dec. 31, 1976.

He married the former Tillie M. Geiger in Rich Township in Lapeer county on June 22, 1921.

He is survived by his wife; a son, Dr. Robert Willits of Elkton; two grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Florence McIntyre of Mayville, and a brother, Nelson Willits of Flint. A son, Maurice, died in 1970.

Funeral arrangements were handled by the Colton Funeral Home in Caro, which was the site of a Masonic memorial service for him Friday evening.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

Either the United States Post Office has management that really isn't with it or else they don't see the problem because of expediency.

To soften the blow that closing a post office brings the postal big-wigs say that even though the post office is closed community members will be able to receive mail when it's addressed to their town.

That's so that the community can retain its identity. In Washington they don't know from nothing about small town rural America.

Some one should tell them it's not the fear of losing identity that bugs small town postal patrons. For the patrons it's the fear of losing the convenience that a post office in town brings.

For small town business it's the justifiable fear of losing business that is the major worry.

If you live in a big town it may be hard to understand what a post office does. It's better than the best advertisement for bringing potential customers to town.

Every time a letter is mailed, a package posted or mail picked up the business community has a prospect in the community.

Retaining the name of the post office is nothing. Retaining the post office is everything. And the smaller the town the more important the office becomes... and the greater the risk of losing it.

Don't infer from all of this that I'm super critical of the postal department's aim to close the smaller offices.

Certainly in this day of skyrocketing costs economy is necessary. There's little doubt that some of the post offices can be closed without materially affecting services.

After all, better roads and better cars have shortened the hours necessary to deliver the mail compared to the days when smaller post offices were founded and flourished.

I'd think that the ideal way to close marginal offices would be the way it was done in Willmot several years ago.

When the postmaster retired the office was closed. That doesn't ease the distress of the community but does lessen the impact.

With 13-cent letters now and the cost going up, up, up, as certain as death and taxes, something has to be done.

When an office closes there's going to be heat. The post office had better be prepared to take it.

Mouthing stuff like "doing everything they can to preserve the identity of the community", is a cop-out. Pure and simple.

And if the postal powers don't know it, they should. Learning their customers should be part of their business.

Immunization clinic adds evening hours

The Thumb District Health Department is adding evening hours once a month at its immunization clinic.

Regular hours are each Thursday from 9:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m. Starting Oct. 6, on the first Thursday of each month, the clinic will remain open until 7:30 p.m.

The health department clinic is at 2266 W. Caro Road. Immunization is available for protection from diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis, polio, measles, mumps, and rubella.

Appointments can be made by calling 673-4178 in Caro.

Area nurse to attend conference

Irene Schwaderer will be attending the annual presidents' meeting of the American Association of Occupational Health Nurses in New York City, Oct. 1 and 2.

Mrs. Schwaderer is president of the Central Association of Occupational Health Nurses which encompasses a five-county area. The Kings-ton resident is an occupational health nurse at General Cable Corp.

"The meeting will concentrate on organization of continuing education programs, professional leadership, policies and procedures, all of which are important to the more than 9,000 registered nurses who make up the Association and help protect the health and safety of the U.S. work force," Mrs. Schwaderer said.

The Central Association of Occupational Health Nurses, one of 150 national association constituents, has members employed by Eaton Foundry, Bell Telephone, Saginaw Steering Gear, Dow Corning and Dow USA, Grey Iron Foundry and other businesses and industries in the five-county area.

PEDALING AROUND

Football foolishness

By Mike Eliasohn

There is only one reason why I look forward to the start of the professional football season. It means the exhibition season is over. "Exhibition games" are a fancy term for what are practice games, and I can think of no other sport where practice games are televised.

Making it worse is that many of the practice games are televised during week night prime time. I realize in later summer, it's either football practice games or reruns, but personally, I would rather watch the reruns -- or more likely, nothing at all. As for exhibition games being portenders of the regular season -- baloney. Jim Benagh of the Detroit Free Press recently pointed out how meaningless such games are.

A year ago, for instance, the Chicago Bears were 5-1 in the exhibition schedule, but only 7-7 in regular season play. The Miami Dolphins were 6-0 in preseason play and then only managed to win six games during the regular season.

Mercifully, there will only be four preseason games next year. Then there are rankings. Be it coaches or sportswriters doing the rankings, they obviously can't see all the teams play that they rank, nor do they read about all of them either.

So the ratings are obviously based partially on hearsay and, I suspect, outright guesses.

I offer as an example, the University of Michigan, which all the reports said, was lucky to get by Duke, 21-9, on Sept. 18, and certainly didn't deserve to retain its No. 1 ranking. But came last week's polls, and where was U-M? No. 1, of course, at least in one of the rankings. (I didn't hear the results of the other one.) My other example goes back about 12 years, when U-M was ranked No. 1 all season long in basketball over UCLA. That was during the glory days of Cazzie Russell and the late Bill Buntin. Came the national championship game between the two teams and UCLA didn't even have to strain itself to easily beat the Ann Arbor squad.

Lastly, there are game forecasts, point spreads, etc. Betting is supposed to be illegal -- state lotteries and horse races excepted. Much of the money bet illegally (I'm not talking about bets between friends) is funneled into the underworld.

But why do we allow to aid the bettors? Printing in daily newspapers and broadcasting of game predictions, including predicted scores and point spreads.

Since professional betting isn't just a matter of which team will win, but also by how much, point spreads are important to the big time bettors.

I therefore think all dissemination of game predictions, predicted scores, and point spreads should be outlawed. It won't stop gambling, but at least the gamblers will have to do their own work instead of having it done for them.

To me, it's the same thing as taking the keys out of my car and locking the doors. Someone can still steal my car, but they're going to have to work at it.

Okay, so I'm a spoilsport.

Anyone who was confused by the page 1 headline in last week's Chronicle about the new state trespassing law had a right to be. The headline should have referred to "written permission" not "winter permission". The scrawl of the person writing it (not me) was misread by our headline setter and no one caught the mistake, myself included.

Owen-Gage finishes with deficit of $55,000

The Owendale-Gagetown School District finished the 1976-77 school year $55,000 in the red, according to the audit presented to the school board Monday night.

On the bright side, the board opened bids for the first step in construction of the new high school building -- for demolition of the old building. It also decided on where the high school varsity basketball team will be playing its games this season -- sort of.

The audit, prepared by Laine, Appold & Co., Certified Public Accountants, of Bay City, was presented by Walter E. Moore of the firm. The general fund audit shows revenue for the district of $638,769 for 1976-77 and expenditures of $694,269, for a deficit of $55,500. A deficit was expected. The district had a deficit in 1975-76 of $47,322.

Revenue increased about $12,000 from one year to the next; expenditures, about $21,000.

The amount of the deficit is only slightly more than the amount of property taxes owed to the district as of June 30, 1977 -- $55,219.

Of that amount, $34,110 is owed in Huron county, from taxes not spread by the county in 1975-76 in a dispute with the state over whether taxes should be levied based on the county equalized valuation or the higher state equalized valuation.

The rest, $21,109, is owed in Tuscola county. According to Supt. Ronald G. Erickson, the deficit there is because some dissidents have been withholding taxes and because the county does not have a tax revolving fund to pay local governmental units and school districts uncollected taxes, which the county then collects. Huron county has such a system.

Because of the deficit and the withholding of categorical state aid because the district is running a deficit, the board authorized application to the state Municipal Finance Commission to borrow money to tide it over until property tax revenues start coming in in January.

Authority will be requested to borrow $150,000 in anticipation of property tax revenue and $51,617 in anticipation of receiving that amount in state aid, which is owed to the district.

Erickson said following the meeting the district doesn't actually need that much, that the amount it wants to borrow is for "insurance."

Expenses for the past year included $19,905 in legal fees, as compared to $6,993 in 1975-76. Erickson's salary was $20,188, plus $1,800 for supervising transportation. Elementary Principal William Britt made $14,750; high school Principal James Barr, $17,326.

The auditors recommended possibly increasing the 1967 debt retirement fund levy "to insure that it is sufficient to maintain a more realistic fund balance."

HIGH SCHOOL

Six bids were received for demolition of the old Owendale High School building.

The board authorized the construction managers, architect, and superintendent to award the bid to the lowest acceptable bidder of the low three.

The three lowest bidders were Caesar's, Inc. of Bay City, total of $11,140; Owens Contracting Services, Saginaw, $13,150; and Urban Wrecking, Inc., Pinconning, $13,370. The estimated cost had been $17,000. The demolition bid should be awarded within the next few days.

Bids were also opened for site clearing and earthwork, but as they were for hourly rates for certain types of equipment they will need further analysis before a bid can be awarded.

The board also accepted the final estimate report for the project, prepared by the construction managers. Construction Coordinators, Inc. of East Detroit.

The total estimate for the project is now $1,866,467, which is $92,767 more than will be available. Of the total available, $1,675 million is from the bond levy approved by voters, $28,700 from state reimbursable funds for food service equipment, and $70,000 from interest.

On the recommendation of Jim Giachino of Construction Coordinators, the board took no action concerning the potential deficit.

Enough construction bids may come in lower than estimated so that there will be no deficit, he said. If not, the report accepted by the board describes various deletions to eliminate the deficit. BASKETBALL.

The board voted that the varsity basketball team will play its games in the Gagetown gym unless opposing teams agree that in exchange for hosting Owen-Gage twice this season, it will play both its games in the new Owen-Gage gym during the 1978-79 season.

The normal procedure for each team in the North Central D League is to play each other's team twice, once at home and once in the opponent's gym. Erickson said two schools have so far agreed to host both games this season and play both at Owen-Gage next season, but two have declined.

Most, he said, want to host Owen-Gage for both games this season and go back to the regular home and away schedule for 1978-79.

Changes made

Several changes in the Commodity Credit Corp. government loan programs have been made in the past few weeks, according to Doris E. Western, executive director of the Huron County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office.

Producers who still hold 1976 wheat that is not under government loan are eligible to sign a purchase agreement with the CCC at ASCS offices. A purchase agreement signed before Feb. 28, 1978 commits CCC to buy 1976 crop wheat next March at the county loan rate of $2.24 per bushel for No. 1 wheat.

Under the purchase agreement, the producer may still sell the wheat on the open market before the March delivery date.

If a producer signs a purchase agreement before February 28, he may also convert the purchase agreement to an extended loan for a 3-year period. If the agreement is converted, the wheat would move directly into the food grain reserve program and the producer would be paid 20 cents per bushel per year for the 3-year period.

Loans and purchase agreements are available on the 1977 crop of wheat. The loan rate is $2.21 for No. 1 wheat.

Loans and purchase agreements will be available on corn at $1.99 per bushel, oats at $1.06 per bushel, and barley at $1.52 per bushel. There is no loan or purchase agreement program on navy beans. The interest rate on commodity loans is 6 per cent, which is paid only if the loan is redeemed prior to maturity.

Purchase agreements on 1977 crops should be obtained as soon as possible so the takeover or maturity date will be before next year's harvest of corn and other crops. They mature the last day of the eleventh month after obtained, the same as the loan period.

ASCS offices are located in Bad Axe, Caro, and Sandusky.

Deputies said he was northbound on Hess Road but his brakes didn't work when he tried to apply them. His semi-truck then collided with the semi-truck of David L. Nichol, 27, of 5070 E. Sanilac Road, Kingston, which was eastbound on Saginaw Road.

Deputies ticketed Cheryl Hammond, 17, of 4357 Deckerville Road, Snover, Monday afternoon on a charge of failure to yield at a signed intersection.

Officers said she was southbound on Lamton Road and collided with the auto of J.D. Tuckey, 47, of 4533 Downing Street, which was westbound on Severance Road.

Janice Wentworth, 17, of 6386 Deckerville Road, Decker, was cited by deputies Thursday evening on a charge of failure to yield at a signed intersection (stop sign).

They said she was southbound on Cemetery Road and pulled into the path of Ruby R. Copeland, 18, of 5765 Hadley Road, who was eastbound on Deckerville Road.

Jeannie Ziehm, 42, of 7927 McAlpine Road, Owendale, was westbound on M-81, southwest of Colwood Road, Sunday evening, when her car struck a deer. Caro state police gave her a permit to keep the animal.

Kenneth Babcock, 21, of Rt. 3 Deckerville Road, deputies reported early Saturday morning, was northbound on Washburn Road, north of Bliss Road, when he failed to make a right-hand curve. His vehicle went off the road and struck a tree.

Cass City police Tuesday evening, Sept. 20, reported that Rodney J. Wright, 18, of 4207 Doerr Road, was backing from a parking place on Leach Street, south of Church Street, when he backed into another car.

Driver of the other vehicle, Frank E. Spencer, 48, of 3880 N. Cemetery Road, was turning left from southbound Leach into a driveway when Wright backed into him.

Friday afternoon, Caro state police reported, Wright was backing from a stall in the car wash on W. Main Street in Cass City when he

Chairman elected

The board of directors of the Peoples State Bank of Caro has announced the election of Cecil White to chairman of the board of directors, and the elevation of L. James White to president and chief executive officer. Both changes in responsibility are effective Jan. 1, 1978.

Cecil White, president of the Peoples State Bank of Caro since 1971, ends his 52-year career of daily involvement in the banking business. His career began in 1925 with the First National Bank of Plint where he served in the proof department and as a teller until 1935. He moved to Peoples State Bank of Caro in November of 1935 where he served as a teller until being promoted to assistant cashier in 1936.

He became cashier of the bank in 1958, executive vice-president and cashier in 1961 and president in January of 1971. He has served as a member of the board of directors continuously for the past 26 years.

L. James White, no relation to Cecil White, is a graduate of Mayville High School. He began his career with the Mayville State Bank in 1956 in the bookkeeping department, later working as a teller.

He joined the Peoples State Bank of Caro in 1960 as a commercial teller and was promoted to assistant cashier in 1964. He became cashier in 1969, vice-president and cashier in 1971, and executive vice-president in 1974. He has served as a member of the board of directors since 1970.

Mrs. Harold Koch
Phone 665-2536

Barbara Burdon and Hilda Koch attended Cass City Neighborhood Girl Scout leaders' meeting at the home of Kathy Iseler in Cass City Monday evening.

Mrs. Evelyn Ziehm attended the Mitten Bay Girl Scout council meeting at the Bancroft Hotel in Saginaw Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weatherhead visited with Mrs. Ruth Will and Miss Mary Chesney of Harbor Beach Sunday afternoon.

Rocheleau; low to Bill Ashmore. Marg Skrosky was high for ladies and Dorothy Brind, low. Traveling prize went to Mike Pisarek.

The Huron County Council on Aging will hold their fall party at the Ubyl Fox Hunters' Club Oct. 31 at noon. It will be potluck and those attending should bring their own table service. The committee for next month are Ada Salgat, Alma and Peter Severance, Mary Raske, Sybel Roth. The next meeting is Oct. 6.

Heidi and Holly were weekend guests of the Harold Kochs.

The Gagetown Study Club will be meeting at the Inez Beach home Oct. 3 instead of the Jackie Goodell home, as previously announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Beach and Bethanne returned to East Lansing Monday morning after spending the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Beach.

ST. AGATHA SOCIETY

St. Agatha Woman's Society met Sept. 13 for their monthly meeting in the church parlors. Their rummage sale is on all this week and the upcoming raffle was also discussed.

Speaker for the evening's program was Robin Sullivan, a band member and student at Owen-Gage High School, who showed slides of her trip with the Blue Lake Honor Band to Sweden this past summer.

DELAYED NEWS

STUDY CLUB

The Gagetown Woman's Study Club met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Frankie Anker for their first meeting of the new season. Roll call was "why I am a member of Study Club" and was answered by 12 members present.

The scholarship committee announced that Craig Carolan and Cathy Hobart will receive the scholarships furnished by the club this year.

Mrs. Zora Walrod led a discussion on the Profile of Michigan State Federation Women's Clubs.

The next meeting will be Monday, Oct. 3, and Mrs. Jackie Goodell will be hostess.

Mabel Ondrajka of Gagetown and Betty Koch of Unionville were in Skidway Lake Wednesday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vasalick.

A number of persons from the area attended the Saturday afternoon wedding of Gordon Pritch of Gagetown and Valarie Shelton of Bay Port at the Methodist church in Pigeon and the evening reception at the VFW Hall in Sebawaing.

The Harold and Franklin Kochs called on the Gary Kochs at Caro Sunday afternoon.

Thieves rip off auto supply firm

Francis Peter, owner of Kingston Auto Supply, 5915 State Street, reported to state police in Caro Wednesday morning, Sept. 21, that his store was entered during the night.

Entry was gained by breaking in the glass front door. Taken were four Goodyear H78x15 blackwall tires, worth $153; a desk calculator, $70, and a box of quarters, $100.

Two boys were caught by an employee of Croft-Clara Lumber Friday afternoon after they started a fire in a company warehouse on Vulcan and Garfield Streets.

According to Cass City Police Chief Gene Wilson, employees Russ Hillaker and William Repshinska went to the storage building for routine business and found a side door forced open and papers burning inside.

A third employee, Dennis Sweet, caught the two boys running along the adjacent railroad tracks.

Wilson said the boys, ages 15 and 16, were released to their parents pending possible juvenile court action.

Doris Rawson of 4821 Kennebec Drive reported to village police Saturday morning that someone had driven across her lawn and destroyed two small trees. Investigating officers assumed the driver lost control while rounding the curve on Kennebec.

Deputies Wednesday, Sept. 21, arrested Donald L. Anker, 41, of 5016 Cedar Run Road, on charges of driving under the influence of liquor and driving while license revoked. His car was stopped on M-24 in Indianfields township. He was released from the county jail after posting $250 bond, pending appearance in district court.

Cass City police early Monday, arrested Harold L. Eves, 32, of Snover Road, Snover, on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor. His car was stopped on Cemetery Road at the Cass River bridge. He was taken to the county jail, where he later posted bond pending arraignment in district court.

Teen Ranch open house draws 500

Saturday afternoon, Sept. 24, Art Linkletter was the special guest at Teen Ranch open house.

Close to 500 persons joined the staff in celebrating the opening of the seventh home in the ranch program. The Michigan Teen Ranch is located south of Kingston.

Despite inclement weather, the Marlette High School Band opened the program with a marching exhibition and the National Anthem.

Linkletter spoke about the problems youth face and the need for the family to function as a unit. He also related many personal experiences and human interest stories.

Teen Ranch is a licensed child care facility involved in rebuilding the lives of young men.

C. Periso dies Sept. 20

Charles Periso of Deford died Tuesday, Sept. 20, at his home on Phillips Road.

Dr. Harold T. Donahue, county deputy medical examiner, said cause of death was suicide -- strangulation by hanging.

Periso was born February 26, 1930, in Argyle township, Sanilac county, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Periso.

Periso married Shirley Stevens Nov. 17, 1951, in Deford. They celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary in 1976.

He attended the First Baptist church of Caro.

Periso is survived by his wife, Shirley; two daughters, Mrs. William (Linda) Hennessey of Cass City and Bonnie Periso, at home; six brothers, Ernest Periso of Pontiac, J.D. Periso and Ray Periso, both of Cass City; William Periso, and Fred Periso, both of Deford, and Edward Periso of Kingston; four sisters, Mrs. Myron (Lula) Mays of Detroit; Mrs. Paul (Eunice) Tikkanen of Richmond; Mrs. John (Clara) Bulla of Elkton, and Mrs. Charles (Eva) Crittenden of Kingston, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Friday at 2 p.m. from Little's Funeral Home with Rev. L.D. Grant, pastor of the First Baptist church of Caro, officiating.

Burial was in Novesta cemetery.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Watson stone house builder

To the editor:

To clear up some questions on the stone houses in the area, I think the late Jim Watson built the stone house on the corner of Doerr Road and M-81; also the Hoffman house a half-mile north of the light, across from the high school; another stone house for John Corkins on Ritter Road, 3 miles north and 3 1/2 east of Cass City, and the Bird house on Bay City-Forestville Road.

I'm not sure about the Bill Merchant house, 3 miles north of Cass City, but I think he built it too.

My late father-in-law, William MacKenzie told me Steinhauser built the Stuart Merchant house 2 miles north of Cass City. It since has been painted (too bad). He also built what's known as the Seeger house 2 miles north of M-81 on M-53.

Jack Esau

P.S. How is your German? Doesn't Steinhauser mean stone house? Quite appropriate if it does.

Cable cut cuts service

Long distance telephone service in Cass City was literally cut off last Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 20-21, when workmen installing a new cable accidentally cut the present cable that carries all long distance calls in and out of the village.

There was no long distance service from about noon-5 p.m. Tuesday and from about 10:30 a.m.-noon Wednesday, according to Bob Stevens of the General Telephone Co.

Stevens said workmen were laying the new cable in the Gagetown area when they cut the cable, first on Tuesday, and then after repairing it, again on Wednesday.

The new cable being installed will supplement the present cable, thus providing more long-distance capacity for Cass City.

The cable is being laid now, before winter, but installation of needed equipment for the expansion won't be completed until spring, Stevens said.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters

In the Cass City area is a 14-year-old boy who enjoys farming, motorcycles, golf, and fishing, among other things. A married man who is easy to talk to would make a good Big Brother for this out-going and likeable boy. His ready smile and friendliness would make him a pleasant, enjoyable Little Brother.

A 12-year-old boy in Owendale likes mini-bikes, reading, fishing, tractors, swimming, playing ball, and wood-working. A Big Brother is needed.

Attention mechanics and horsemen! There is a 12-year-old boy in Caro who has been waiting two years for a Big Brother. As he likes working with tools and admires horse-men, a man with either (or both) of these interests would make him very happy. He has brown hair and eyes and wears glasses.

A 12-year-old fellow from Caro comes from a large family and needs the special attention of a man who likes art and also is interested in sports. A younger man who is real active would enjoy the company of this blue-eyed and energetic youngster.

Big Brothers-Big Sisters in Tuscola county is located at 230 N. State Street, Caro, telephone 673-6996; in Huron county at 121 N. Heisterman Street, Bad Axe, telephone 269-7264; in Sanilac county at P.O. Box 1, Sandusky, telephone 648-4433.

HEALTH TIPS How to trim doctor bills

By Frank Chappell, American Medical Association

The cost of treating a serious illness or accidental injury most often is unanticipated and always is unwanted.

Often it is not included in the family financial plan and often it presents an extra expense on top of an already tight budget.

Like all other living expenses, the price of medical treatment has risen in recent years.

But, says the American Medical Association, there are still a number of ways in which you can stretch your medical dollar and at the same time get better protection for yourself and your family.

Have a family doctor. He will keep a permanent record of your medical history, which may save duplicating many expensive and time-consuming tests. He will know your background and be better able to tell promptly if anything is wrong.

Don't wait too long. Many people try to save money on medical bills by not seeing the doctor until they are seriously ill. This not only defeats the purpose of preventive medicine, the only sound way to preserve your health, but it also is more expensive in the long run.

Have regular checkups. Early detection obviously offers a better chance to control and cure disease.

Go to the doctor's office. House calls are not only more expensive, they also are less efficient. Without his office equipment and his trained staff, your physician cannot perform a complete examination. The doctor can give you better care, sooner and at less expense in his office.

Use the telephone. This not only saves money but also often makes good medical sense. A family doctor who has examined you regularly can sometimes advise you over the phone about minor health problems. For anything that seems serious he will ask you to come to his office to be examined.

Follow your doctor's orders. If you refuse to follow the advice you solicit and pay for, you are throwing your money away.

Buy health insurance. Health insurance is a bargain considering the shattering effects on the family finances that prolonged illness can have. Buy as much as you can afford but especially protect yourself against the catastrophic expenses of serious illness.

Take allowable tax deductions. Doctor bills, hospital bills and drug costs not covered by insurance, and beyond a certain percentage of your income, may be claimed as deductions for tax purposes.

Thumb arts council sets art classes

The Thumb Council for the Arts will again be offering art classes, starting Oct. 1.

The eight-week classes, taught by Ann Mikolowski of Grindstone City, will be conducted in the Bad Axe High School art room.

Children from 5-10 will meet Saturday mornings from 10 a.m.-noon and over 10 from 1-3 p.m. Adult classes will be on Thursday evenings for three hours, with instruction in oil painting. More information can be obtained by calling 269-9938 in Bad Axe.

Another continuing council project is the loaning of art prints to schools, which are presented by an "art lady." Research on the pictures to be presented and the artists is done by council members, who then train the persons who make the presentation in the classrooms.

Persons and school districts interested in the program should write the Thumb Council for the Arts, Box 63, Bad Axe 48413.

The council will be hosting the Detroit Symphony Jan. 6. Time and location of the concert will be announced later.

After a successful guided tour to the Shakespeare festival at Stratford, Ont., Glenda Draves is planning additional tours. One may be to the Detroit Institute of Arts to see the coming Matisse collection.

Other foreign travel study experiences have included Germany, France, Italy, Austria, Switzerland, Spain, Mexico and Haiti.

JWC students will also have an opportunity this year to study the Quebec separatist movement in Canada, alternative "intentional" communities in the Midwest, the Florida Everglades for an ecology study, and business and finance, tentatively scheduled for April in Chicago or New York.

Miss Kirn's study group will return October 28.

Accept Sanilac equipment bid

Sanilac county was the successful bidder for the equipment of the Thumb Intelligence Unit, it was reported at Tuesday's meeting of the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners.

The equipment, valued at $19,781, included police radios, binoculars, and office equipment. Sanilac bid $9,000 for everything. Huron and Tuscola counties each bid $8,000.

In getting the equipment, Sanilac had to agree to establish its own drug investigation unit.

The tri-county Thumb Intelligence Unit, an undercover drug investigation squad, goes out of business Friday. Commissioners in the three counties decided it was too expensive to keep in operation as federal participation declined each year, which meant the counties had to pay an increasing share.

To keep it in operation for the fiscal year starting Oct. 1, it would have cost each county about $20,000; for the fiscal year starting Oct. 1, 1978, possibly $50,000 each.

Following the decision by the Tuscola board to discontinue participation, a committee was appointed to develop a proposal for a county-level drug unit.

According to county board Chairman Maynard McConkey of Cass City, the committee has yet to make a report, partly because it was waiting to see if Tuscola would be the successful bidder for the Thumb Intelligence Unit equipment.

Whatever drug unit is established, McConkey said, will be part of the sheriff's department. Funding will be considered when the county board prepares the 1978 county budget. Its budget committee meets Friday, Monday, and Tuesday to work on the budget.

In other business Tuesday, the board allocated $7,194 in leftover anti-recession funds to the county road commission to help pay for snow removal. Road Commission Engineer Robert Wellington made the request.

Friend of the Court Geraldine Wilson reported the cooperative reimbursement program, for which the county received $17,000 from the state, mainly to hire an attorney, resulted in $62,000 being returned to the county in child support payments that were collected.

The board approved hiring of three matron-dispatchers for the sheriff's department at $3.92 per hour. They will be paid with federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act funds.

Hiring of the matron-dispatchers, once they are trained, McConkey said, will free some deputies to go on road patrol. There presently is only one female dispatcher, which means some deputies must serve as dispatchers.

Reappointed to serve as a county representative to the East Central Michigan Health Systems Agency, Inc., was Dorothy Mantey of Fairgrove. Appointed for the first time was Jean Clarke of 3475 Cemetery Road, the Novesta township treasurer.

Approved was purchase of a backup radio system for county civil defense for $2,763, of which half is to be paid by the federal government.

The new Tuscola and Saginaw Bay Railway, which will serve the Vassar area, had asked the board to select the names for its two locomotives and color scheme, based on submitted suggestions. The board chose the names "Big Chief" and "Jack Pine Express" with yellow with black trim as the colors.

He brings with him many years of experience in Agriculture. He has held management and policy making positions for various cooperative organizations over a span of 23 years.

AGENT'S CORNER Study program ends

Margaret Ann Ross - Extension Home Economist

The Thumb Family and Community Study-Travel program held its final meeting recently at the Colony House near Cass City.

Several members of the project's planning committee joined the group: Bill and Nancy Bortel, Red and Nona Sieting, Maynard and Clara McConkey, Aliene Mills, Ron and Clare Knoblock, Mary Lou and Paul Prowse, and Ida Wadsworth.

Following dinner, Sue Vollmar, Caro; Barb Neuman, Sebawaing, and Pat McLaren of Marlette, gave summaries of some of the learning experiences at the workshops held in the Thumb, Flint, Lansing, and Washington, D.C. during the past nine months.

Words and/or gifts of appreciation were given to the planning committee, the participants, former program assistant Rita Tyrrell, project off-campus coordinator Jim Neal, and project director Ann Ross.

A film "Pack Your Own Chute" was the send-off message for the group. Certificates for leadership were presented to the participants from the Cooperative Extension Service and its director, Gordon Guyer.

Sally Byarski, Bad Axe, served as hostess and registrar for the evening.

Participants and spouses shared pictures, slides and other mementos of the study course. Oliver and Dorothy Wood, Marlette, were coordinators of the slide presentation.

A doctoral dissertation by Steve Hoke was on display. He was historian for the project and documented the significant learnings-changes brought about by the study experience.

A nucleus planning committee, interested in writing another study proposal for possible funding, will meet soon at the home of Ron and Floy Hampshire in Deford. Extension agents Ann Ross and Jim Neal will meet with them.

Farm Expo '77 Tuesday, Wednesday on area farm

All roads will lead to the John Homakie farm at Cass City and Colling Roads Tuesday and Wednesday for Michigan Farm Expo '77.

Attendance of 30,000 has been predicted for what Tuscola County Extension Director Bill Bortel says is the largest farm exhibition in the Midwest.

Persons coming from the Cass City area should go west on Cass City Road directly to the site. Parking will be on the east side of Ashmore Road, with the exhibit and demonstration areas only a short walk away. Cass City Road between Colling and Ashmore Roads will be closed during the two days.

Hours both days are 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Parking and admission are free.

There will be lots to see during those hours. Forty acres have been set aside for exhibits. There will be 207 exhibitors, including equipment, seed, and chemical displays by manufacturers and educational clinics set up by Michigan State University agricultural specialists.

There will be special events for women and youth.

On 240 acres will be daily harvesting of corn, corn silage, dry beans, and sugar beets, and also tillage demonstrations.

Cropping demonstrations will include cultural and harvest practices of corn, sugar beets, and dry beans under a variety of fertilization and herbicide application rates.

Forty-eight corn varieties were planted for the expo. There will be a corn challenge plot, testing yields under two tillage programs, and demonstrations concerning corn rootworm, minimum tillage, and anti-crusting.

Various demonstration plots of sugar beets and dry beans were also planted.

As of last Friday, conditions on the Homakie farm were no different than on any other farm in the county -- wet. And also like every other farm, several days of dry weather are needed for harvesting to take place.

Whether the Expo is held, Extension Director Bortel said, depends on if it can be done without creating damage to the Homakie farm. The second day of the 1976 Expo, held on a different farm about a mile away, was cancelled due to rain.

"We'll wait and play it by ear," Bortel said.

The exposition represents the work of more than 400 volunteers for the past six months, in terms of planning, making arrangements, and doing the farm work on the Expo site. The Expo chairman is Caro area farmer Jim Vollman.

The Homakies, John Sr. and John Jr., are not receiving any money for their work or use of their farm.

Because of the amount of work involved, Bortel, the Expo coordinator, said this is the second and last year the event will be held in Tuscola county.

The hope is that farmers and the Cooperative Extension Service in another county will put on a similar event next year. If so, those involved in Tuscola county will serve as advisors to the new group.

DEMONSTRATION TIMES

The machinery demonstration schedule at Farm Expo

'77 is as follows, with times being the same Tuesday and Wednesday:

Huron board wants own circuit judge for county

Huron county commissioners voted unanimously Sept. 13 to endorse legislation proposed by State Rep. Quincy Hoffman to establish Huron county as a separate circuit court district.

The move runs counter to the recommendation of the Huron County Bar Association, which the previous day voted to endorse adding a second judge to the 24th Judicial Circuit, which consists of Huron and Sanilac counties.

The issue of a second judge started when State Court Administrator Einar Bohlin recommended addition of a second judge for the two counties. Circuit Judge Allen E.

Keyes presently divides his time between the two counties.

Bohlin needs the okay of the commissioners in the two counties before recommending approval of the second judge to the state legislature.

The legislature must approve the measure because the state pays circuit judges $27,900 a year. Huron and Sanilac counties each pay Judge Keyes a supplement of $7,500 a year.

With the supplement and the expenses of added staff, it is estimated it will cost each county from $25,000 to $40,000 if a new judgeship is created.

Hoffman, who wants to split Huron and Sanilac into separate judicial circuits with a judge for each, introduced his legislation last year. Reportedly, he is at odds with Bohlin because the latter a year ago wouldn't even admit the increasing caseload in the 24th circuit was a problem.

Huron commissioners apparently lean toward Hoffman's proposal because they fear with two judges for one two-county circuit, both will be elected from more populous Sanilac county.

Commissioner Willis Leipprandt of Pigeon pointed out that having two judges for one circuit creates more flexibility when one judge is away.

With each county a separate circuit, if a judge is away or must disqualify himself from a case, the state court administrator will have to appoint a visiting judge. Leipprandt eventually voted along with the majority.

Rep. Hoffman previously stated he will not push his proposal to create the separate judicial circuits unless both counties go along.

The Sanilac County Board of Commissioners has yet to act on either Bohlin's proposal for a second judge or Hoffman's for separate circuits.

It discussed the matter at its Sept. 21 meeting with Judge Keyes and Prosecutor J. Anthony Sykora and then decided to meet with Hoffman before making a decision.

Three good ideas to conserve your energy around home.

1. Heat your home with natural gas.

Natural gas is still your best energy source for home heating. Clean, efficient and available now to meet residential needs; contact Southeastern Michigan Gas Company if you are planning a new home, remodeling an old home or simply upgrading your present home heating system.

2. Install additional insulation to save even more energy.

If your home is more than five years old, chances are it does not have sufficient insulation by today's standards. Right now, at the beginning of the heating season, is the time to check your ceiling insulation to be sure it is adequate to today's energy-saving requirements.

Customers of Southeastern Michigan Gas Company may arrange for a free home insulation inspection to determine insulation needs.

3. Install a clock-operated thermostat.

A clock-operated thermostat such as the Honeywell® Chronotherm® automatically adjusts your home temperature to a lower setting after you've gone to bed and warms the house again before you get up. While you're sleeping, you're also saving energy. The Honeywell® Chronotherm® is available from Southeastern Michigan Gas Company.

Southeastern Michigan Gas Company wants you to conserve your energy!

Hawks top Redskins with tough defense

Fresh from a 13-0 victory over a tough Sandusky football team Friday the Cass City Red Hawks are busy preparing for the Marlette Raiders in another Thumb B Conference clash this Friday. One thing sure about the Marlette clash is that there will be footballs in the air. Both teams take to passing like ducks to water. Dan Sullivan is one of the finest pure passers in the league and the Red Raiders ride or fall on his pitching arm.

Cass City is not afraid to jack it up either with Jeff Hartel at the helm. In an average game between these two schools you can expect to see some 40 passes thrown. Because of its superior defense Cass City will be the favorites. Fans with long memories will recall that the Hawks were favored last year but the Raiders won the game. In contrast to Marlette, Sandusky is a team that passes only when there is no other option available. The losers tossed only 10 passes even though they trailed from the early moments of the second quarter.

In the opening quarter it appeared as if Sandusky might win without passing. The Redskins ran off tackle with considerable success as Ron Paape picked up yardage in big chunks. But a couple of costly penalties nullified the drives and set the stage for Cass City's first score.

Cass City started a drive at about midfield and moved for a first down on the Redskin 31. Clarke Haire took a pitch and ran around his own left end for 31 yards and a score. Jeff Hartel's kick was good and Cass City led, 7-0.

The next series of plays with Sandusky in possession, Haire, playing safety, and tackle Jim Maher of Sandusky got into a bumping contest and a trigger-quick official tossed them both out of the game.

Sandusky's last chance to get into the game came in the late stages of the third quarter. Punching out yardage between the tackles the Redskins moved for a first down inside of the Hawk 15 but the defense stiffened and held.

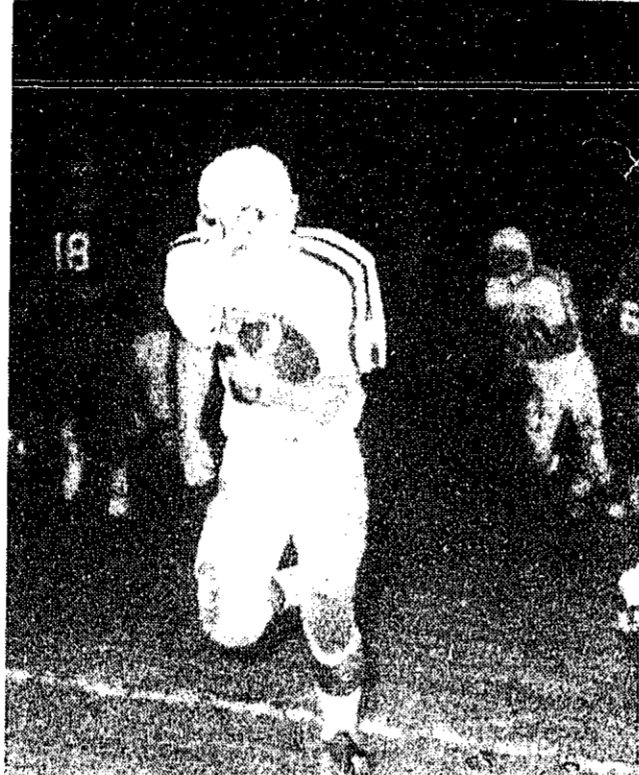

Cass City threatened in the third quarter on the passing arm of Hartel. He hit both Rick Hollis and Scott Richards on short passes in the flat to key the drive. But the drive stalled inside the 10 and Hartel's try for field goal was blocked.

Neither team threatened after that until midway through the final period when Wally Laming broke over tackle and scampered 51 yards for a Hawk marker. That iced the game and assured Cass City of its third win in a row. Ross Ridenour, one of the key blockers on offense, also led the team on defense with 5 solo tackles and 4 assists.

Laming picked up 97 yards in 11 carries and one touchdown for an 8.8-yard average. Haire was credited with 68 yards in 6 carries for an 11.3 average and one touchdown.

IN THE SECOND quarter on the third series of plays Clarke Haire broke over his own left side for 31 yards and a touchdown Friday against Marlette.

IN THE FOURTH quarter Wally Laming broke over the left side on a jaunt that almost duplicated the Hawks' first TD run. Laming's jaunt was longer than Haire's. It covered 51 yards.

Harriers post 2 wins

The Cass City Cross Country team recorded its first two victories of the year this week while splitting four matches and bringing its season's record to 2-4.

The Hawks defeated Reese and Kingston while losing to Akron-Fairgrove and Millington.

With the preliminary meets over, Cass City starts Thumb B Conference competition. A meet was to be held Monday against Frankenmuth and Sandusky was due in Cass City Wednesday.

Coach Ron Nurnberger announced the leading runners for Cass City in the first six meets.

The runners and their best times are: Steve Richards, 17:04; Scott Fisher, 18:54; Chuck Clark, 19:21; Bill Mitchell, 19:11; Bob Clark, 19:39; John Tuckey, 20:06; Mark Mozden, 19:00.

Rick Hollis - Red Hawk of week.

Coach Roland Pakonen has selected Rick Hollis as Red Hawk of the week for his play against Sandusky Friday. A consistent performer all year, Hollis caught two passes for 31 yards including a circus catch to keep a drive alive.

The senior end also plays a strong defensive game and is a powerful blocker in the Hawks' veer offense.

Owen-Gage uses tough defense to top Tigers in home opener

Owen-Gage is hoping for an easier time Saturday night at Caseville than it had for the first home game of the season last Friday. The Bulldogs eked out an 8-0 win over Carsonville-Port Sanilac, but had to overcome a tough Tiger defense to do it. All the scoring in the first half for Owen-Gage came on the toe of Tom Howard, who kicked a 20-yard field goal in the first quarter and a 37-yarder in the second. The only other scoring came in the third quarter, when Dave Fritz tackled Tiger Roger Wrathell in the end zone for a safety.

The Tiger offense got closest with 9:53 left in the fourth quarter, when Mike Boyle intercepted a Roger Ziehm pass on the 14 yard line and carried the ball down to the 10.

The Bulldog defenders finally stopped the invaders four plays later on the two-yard line.

Later, Leon Sutherland grabbed another Ziehm pass, this one on the 50-yard line and ran it to the 20. The Bulldogs held C-PS for four plays and then took possession to run out the clock.

The Tiger defense held Owen-Gage to 154 yards total offense. Brad Erickson carried the ball 11 times for 32 yards. Quarterback Ziehm was held to 27 yards in 10 carries. In the air, Ziehm was four for 10, with two interceptions.

If the Tiger defense was tough, the Bulldogs' was tougher, holding the visitors to 57 yards, with 47 on the ground and 10 in the air. Chuck Washbe was the top Tiger ground gainer with 36 yards in 11 carries.

Mark McDonald and Jerry Harbuck led the Bulldog defense, with seven tackles each.

Owen-Gage made eight first downs in the game and was penalized six times, for a total of 50 yards.

The Tigers made three first downs and were penalized eight times for 80 yards total.

The win puts Owen-Gage at 2-4 in the North Central D League, which ties them at the top of the standings with Akron-Fairgrove.

The Bulldog opponent Saturday, Caseville, is 1-1 in league play, having downed Peck 34-2 last Saturday for its first win.

Golfers split 2 matches

Cass City's golf team defeated Marlette in one of two matches held during the week. The win was the first over a Thumb B Conference opponent.

The score was Marlette, 178; Cass City, 171.

The scoring for Cass City: Mike Richards, 41; Jim Molnar, 43; Tim Johnson, 43; Steve Richards, 44. For Marlette, Linda Drillock, 42; Dave Selby, 43; Jeff Dunsford, 46; Bill Coulter, 47.

The Hawks didn't have one of their better days when they lost to Lakers in the other match played during the week. The score was 181-186.

Mike Richards and Tim Johnson shot 44 each. Jim Molnar shot a 46 and Steve Richards, a 52.

Scott Farver was medalist for Lakers with 42. Other scorers were: Kevin Furness, 43; Brett Farver, 47; Gary Binder, 49.

Bridge game winners named

The Hospital Auxiliary Bridge marathon winners for 1976-77 were:

- Group 1: Iva Profit, Beatrice McLachlan.
- Group 2: Rutine Nielson, Donna Wernette.
- Group 3: Lois Auten, Doris Rawson.
- Group 4: Floyd and Esther Werdeman.

Owen-Gage girls roll to 2 wins

The Owen-Gage girls basketball team began the season last week with victories against Port Austin and Peck.

The Tuesday, Sept. 20, game against Port Austin wasn't much of one, as the host Bulldogs bombed the visitors, 72-12.

Top scorers for the Bulldogs were Laurie Andrakowicz with 18; Mary Lenhard, 16; and Carol Goslin, 14. Miss Andrakowicz was also top rebounder with 22.

Owen-Gage won the junior varsity game, 42-21.

Thursday, the Bulldogs went to Peck, where they came out on top, 46-28. Top scorers for Owen-Gage were Carol Goslin, 16, and Dawn Erickson, 10. Laurie Andrakowicz led in rebounds with 15, followed by Mary Lenhard with 11.

Top scorer for Peck was Lauri Garvey with 10.

The Owen-Gage reserves lost a squeaker to Peck, 28-26.

Games this week were Carsonville-Port Sanilac in the Owendale gym on Tuesday night and Thursday night at Akron-Fairgrove.

For coach Judy Campbell, the latter game will be the first visit to her hometown school as coach as Akron-Fairgrove is new in the league this year.

Must seek deer permit by Friday

Deer hunters are reminded that Sept. 30 is the last day to postmark an application for a 1977 Hunter's Choice permit.

If the number of applications exceeds the quota for an area, a drawing will be held to determine who will be issued permits.

The application cards are special data processing cards marked with the person's hunting license number.

David A. Arnold, DNR Forest Wildlife Section supervisor, says there are reports coming in of hunters in some parts of the state attempting to alter their application card in hopes of having it kicked out by the computer as a valid selection.

"If the card is altered or mutilated in any way," Arnold says, "it will be rejected in a screening process used to sort and count the cards by area."

The screening process will take place before the actual drawing for permits, which will be based on the last number of the hunter's license.

"Nobody knows what the winning numbers are until after all of the applications are in and the counts are made," Arnold said.

America's future. Dairy Farmers want to be a part of it... and we hope the feeling is mutual.

Mutual effort is what makes Michigan Milk Producers Association work. For the dairy farmers who make up MMPA. For you, the consumer.

For sixty-one years, we have been a cooperative owned and controlled by the dairy farmers we serve. And we're still working together to keep our farms and marketing system productive and efficient.

Though there are now only about one-third as many Michigan dairy farms as there were twenty years ago, our cooperative efforts and advancements in dairy farming technology continue to assure you an adequate supply of quality milk, delivered where and when it's needed. We at MMPA believe the dairy farmer is important to America's future, just as you are important to the future of the dairy farmer.

But preserving the American dairy farming industry requires a mutual, united effort. That's why dairy farmers of MMPA work to stay together.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

A total of 31 persons ranging in age from 10-29, partici-ated from Cass City in the Walk for Little Brothers and helped to raise a total of $899 in pledges for the program.

Kathy Pine and Daniel Rabideau were two of the 307 students awarded bachelor degrees at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant.

The Cass City Cooperative Preschool Nursery students went on a series of field trips. The group went to the farm of Russell Schneidberger for a hay ride and visited Hills Orchards to pick apples.

Gregory Eschelman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ryland, completed Naval basic training. Seaman Eschelman has been reassigned to Great Lakes where he will study electronics training.

The Hills and Dales Hospital opened its new gift shop. The shop will feature toys, infant wear, artificial flower arrangements, candy, candles, and other small gifts. The shop is run by volunteers of the Hospital Auxiliary.

TEN YEARS AGO

Father Arnold Messing said good-bye at an open house in the social hall of the St. Pancratius church. Highlights of the evening were the presentation of a check for $700 to Father Messing collected on a voluntary basis from members of the parish.

George Hillman of Cass City and Opal Curtis of Sio-crocy were the lucky winners in a free drawing of two brand new bikes sponsored by Ethel's Food Center.

Marianne Prigone Lee R. Voss graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif. He will now undergo about three weeks of individual combat training and after a leave at home, will report to his first Marine Corps assignment.

Ken Esinger caught a huge snailfish weighing 120 pounds and measured at nine feet, three inches. He was vacationing in Acapulco. Jack McDaniel was named the new office manager at Amrod Screen (Yanber Co.)

Bert Lance was right in quitting

Budget Director Bert Lance did the right thing in quitting his week, according to Larry Whitaker.

"I think he should have quit," Whitaker said, because of the extra high standard they overdid it in making Lance's actions seem worse than they were. "It's just that our society condones white collar crime, so in our minds it (what Lance did) is not that bad."

Whitaker felt the media failed to adequately explain what Lance was accused of. "There wasn't high-quality coverage, even though there was high quality, because they didn't give people a good understanding of it."

Whitaker is single and lives at 4578 Hill Street. He is self-employed in the logging and firewood business.

Singles club has meeting

The monthly business meeting of the Tip of the Thumb Singles Club was held at the home of Connie Moloczniak Sept. 22 with officers and three guests present.

Activities of the club are open to all single, widowed and divorced persons over 25.

The fall color tour to the Cadillac area was canceled due to lack of enough reservations.

A dinner-dance will be held Oct. 29 at 7 p.m. at the Klump restaurant, Harbor Beach. Reservations can be made by contacting Eleanor Schultz of Harbor Beach by Oct. 15.

The dance Oct. 1 is "dress-up night" with music by the Polka Sparks. The Howard Bedford Band will provide the music for the guest nite dance Oct. 15. Members may bring a married couple as guests for the evening.

Dances are held at the First United Methodist church house in Bad Axe starting at 8:30 p.m.

The next business meeting will be at the home of Eleanor Schultz Oct. 27 at 8 p.m.

AWANA set to resume meetings

The AWANA and Mini-Wana Clubs will begin the 1977-78 season Wednesday evening, Oct. 5. AWANA will meet at the Campbell elementary gym, starting at 6:50 p.m. and running until 8:20. Jack and Rona Hillaker head the AWANA program, assisted by about 20 leaders.

Meetings consist of game time, tribe time (involving Bible study, memorization and crafts) and council time, which includes stories, films, and special speakers.

Anyone in grades three through eight is welcome to attend AWANA.

Mini-Wana is for children in kindergarten, first and second grades. The club meets in the Baptist church basement, the same time as the AWANA club. It is structured similar to AWANA, but geared to the level of younger children. Stan Guinther is in charge of the Mini-Wana program, which has eight leaders.

Further information can be obtained by calling the club leaders.

27 attend OES meet

The monthly meeting of Gifford Chapter OES was held Sept. 20 in the Masonic Temple, Gagetown. Twenty-seven members attended including three guests, Mabel Shaw of Walled Lake, past worthy grand matron, Mrs. Ruth Rander of Birmingham and Malvina Profit of Echo

Chapter. The business meeting included a discussion of consolidation with another Chapter. Gifford Chapter and Mrs. Glenda Wilson have been honored by the Grand Chapter with the appointment of Mrs. Wilson to a Grand Chapter committee to serve for the coming year. Six members of Gifford Chapter expect to attend the OES Grand Chapter meeting in Grand Rapids in October. Refreshments were served by Marjorie Karr, Linda Ashmore and Ruth Ann Hender-shot.
