ALMOST READY - Almost everything was in place Tuesday for the start of Michigan Farm Expo '77 on the John Homakie farm at Cass City and Colling Roads. In order to give fields an extra day to dry, it was decided Sunday to delay the exposition one day, to Wednesday and Thursday, instead of the original Tuesday and Wednesday. County Extension Director Bill Bortel said bean harvesting demonstrations will only take place on Thursday, but other demonstrations will probably take place as scheduled both days. However, rain Wednesday morning may have changed things. The exposition runs both days from 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Cost $1 million

Gagetown, Owendale OK sewer planning

Septic tanks in Gagetown and Owendale may be on their way out, following action taken by the village councils in those communities last week.

Their replacement with a modern sewage treatment system in each community won't come cheap. Total cost will be about $1 million each, of which local taxpayers will have to pay about 34.39 per cent. State and federal funds will pay the rest.

The action taken, by the Owendale council Wednesday night and the Gagetown council Thursday night, was to authorize application for federal funds for designing of sewage treatment systems in each community.

The next step after the systems are designed will be applying for federal funds to pay part of the cost for actual construction. Local taxpayers will have to pay the rest.

Sewage "treatment" at present in both towns consists of individual septic tanks. Effluent from the tanks flows into storm sewers and/or open drains and then into the Sheboygan Drain for Gagetown; the Duffey Drain for Owendale.

As a condition for recently issued permits from the Michigan Water Resources Commission to keep discharging into those drains, both towns are under orders from the state agency to build treatment facilities by March, 1982.

If the councils did not act, the engineers for the two projects said, possible future growth in each village could not take place. More importantly, if nothing was done by 1982, the state and federal governments could order the sewage treatment facilities be built, even if no state or federal funds were available. That would mean local taxpayers would have to pay the entire cost.

The feasibility studies (Step 1) for proposed treatment systems in both were prepared by Edmands Engineering, Inc., of Bay City. Engineers from the firms explained the plans prior to the councils approving the applications for the Step II design funds. Actual construction is Step III.

The proposed treatment system is the same for Gagetown and Owendale.

Wastewater from the homes (from toilets and drains) is piped into the new sanitary sewers. From there, the sewage is pumped to two treatment lagoons.

The sewage is allowed to settle out. Once a year, around April when the flow in the drains is highest, the water in the ponds would be pumped into the nearby drains (Sheboygan and Duffey).

Two measures of sewage pollution are biological oxygen demand and suspended solids. Edmands engineer Richard Knop said septic tanks normally removed about 30-35 per cent of those pollutants. The lagoons or waste stabilization ponds remove 85-90 per cent before the water is pumped into the drains.

The total cost for everything for Owendale according to the feasibility study is $921,000, of which the local share would be $356,200.

For Gagetown, the total cost is $1,165,000, of which the local share would be $376,600.

Payment of the local share will require each community to borrow the money, probably through the Huron County Department of Public Works for Owendale; the Tuscola County DPW for Gagetown. Backing of the "full faith and credit" of the respective counties will result in a lower interest rate for the bonds sold to finance the projects.

The bonds possibly can be sold to the Farmers Home Administration, with the villages paying five per cent interest for 39 years, or to a private bond buyer for 20 years for probably 7-7½ per cent a year.

It will be the village residents who use the sewage treatment system who pay off. Please turn to page five.

Local man charged with theft of 2 cars

A Cass City man was being held in the Sanilac county jail Wednesday, charged with the theft of two cars Saturday.

Being held is Sal M. Stremmel, 19, of 7906 E. Cass City Road.

The incident started when Joan M. Brown of N. Cemetery Road, Cass City, reported to Cass City police at 5:15 p.m. Saturday that her car had been stolen.

She had parked it on S. Seeger Street, by Old Wood Drug, and was in the drug store for about five minutes. She had her keys with her but a set of spare keys was in the glove compartment. When she came out of the store, her car was missing.

Her car was found at 6:35 p.m. by a trooper from the Sandusky state police post, parked behind Grimm's Drive-In at M-53 and Cass City Road.

The driver was apparently driving around the building and became stuck in the wet sod. Both doors of the 1972 Ford Pinto station wagon were damaged and the outside rearview mirror was broken off.

Sandusky state police said a car owned by David Niece of Clio was then stolen from the drive-in.

The driver headed north on M-53 and then apparently went out of control on the highway, near Ritter Road about three miles north.

Cass City police officer Donald Miller Jr. was dispatched to Grimm's Drive-In at 6:45 p.m. to retrieve the Brown auto, when he was notified that the second auto had been stolen, and that the driver was on foot. He then aided other police units in the search.

Miller and two Sanilac county deputies found and arrested the suspect, Stremmel, at M-53 and Seeger Road at 7:45 p.m.

He was charged with unlawfully driving away an automobile (udaa) and reckless driving in connection with the theft and crash of the Niece auto and taken to the Sanilac county jail in Sandusky.

Monday, he appeared before District Judge Eugene E. Deegan. The defendant demanded preliminary examination on the udaq charge. An examination was scheduled Oct. 13 and bond was set at $1,000.

Stremmel pleaded innocent to the reckless driving charge. A trial on that charge was also scheduled Oct. 13.

Cass City police obtained a warrant charging him with udaq in connection with the theft of the Brown auto. He is to be turned over to them and taken to Caro for arraignment once he posts bond in Sandusky.

As of Wednesday morning, he was still in the Sanilac county jail.

Auto store entered

Burglars chop hole in IGA roof, escape with $498

Burglars chopped a hole through the roof of the Cass City IGA Foodliner Wednesday night, Sept. 28, then broke into a safe and escaped with $498.

The break-in was discovered by John H. Maharg of Cass City, a bread delivery man, who was in the store in the early hours of Thursday morning making a delivery.

Cass City police were notified at 1:58 a.m. and assisted the sheriff's department in the subsequent investigation. The store is outside of the village limits.

Investigation found the thieves climbed up a utility pole alongside the store to get onto the roof. A footprint was found on the pole crossbeam that extended over the roof. Deputies later traced footprints to the drainage ditch near the store and then to M-81.

Inside the store, officers found the office safe was broken into through the outer plate on the back and then by cutting through the inner liner. The office was ransacked.

The burglars were unable to open a second safe, which was located by the cash registers.

Underneath the hole in the roof, cut in the north or rear part of the building, officers found a shopping cart stacked with boxes, which was apparently how the intruders climbed back onto the roof to get away. After the store's owner, Harry A. Lenda of Owendale, arrived, officers asked him to test the burglar alarm. It didn't work. The break-in is still under investigation.

OTHER ITEMS

Mike King, owner of Kingston Auto Haven, 5995 State Street, reported to the sheriff's department Friday morning that his store was broken into during the night.

When he arrived to open the business, he discovered the glass front door was broken, with the thief reaching in to open it. Taken was $27 in change, which was in rolls in a filing cabinet, and three bags of corn chips from a display rack.

The nearby Kingston Auto Supply was broken into Sept. 21, with the thief or thieves also gaining entry by breaking in the glass front door.

Dan Gyomory reported to Cass City police that when he went to open the Wickes Agriculture office at 4267 Vulcan Street, Monday morning, he discovered five windows on the west side of the building were broken.

Police found rocks inside. The office had been closed since 5 p.m. Friday.

Damage was estimated at $70.

Sheriff's deputies were called Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 28, to the property of Sylvia Christian, 4591 Shabbona Road, Cass City, on a report of a missing pony. The pony's owner was Myrna Gross of 115 Butler Street, Ellington township.

When officers arrived, they learned the pony was found and returned by neighbors. They found its rope was cut and it apparently was lured away by feeding it carrots that were in the area.

They then found a 150-200 pound grinding wheel, valued at $100, was missing. The pony apparently was lured away to get it out of the way.

A hunter Friday found a freshly dug grave north of Joshua Road and east of Green Road in Ellington township. Carnations were on top of the grave, which was beneath a tree.

A deputy was dispatched, who dug up the grave and discovered a doll inside a box.

The doll's eyes were taped shut and a leg, broken in several places, was taped together.

The doll, apparently quite old and more than a foot long, was taken to the sheriff's department in Caro. It apparently will eventually be thrown out.

An employee of Coach Light Pharmacy apprehended a 13-year-old girl. Please turn to page 17.

BANKS CLOSED

Monday, Oct. 10, in observance of Columbus Day, The Cass City State Bank, The Pinney State Bank, Did Cass City lose plant, 300 jobs?

The Thumb Producers Railroad, squeezed out in its efforts to take over the Grand Trunk Western line through Cass City, is appealing to the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC).

In addition, Thumb Producers President William Jansen says he had plans to build a railroad car rebuilding plant employing 300 persons in Cass City had he been able to obtain the line.

The line in question is the 66 miles of GTW track from Imlay City through Cass City to Caseville.

The railroad sought to abandon the line but an ICC administrative law judge ruled in July that it had to maintain service. The Grand Trunk made no appeal of that decision, which meant it was upheld by the ICC.

Thumb Producers currently have an option to buy the Chesapeake & Ohio rail line from Crosswell north to Bad Axe. Jansen said, however, he really doesn't want that line if he can't get the GTW line through Cass City as the latter "represents the profit that could be made on the lines."

In its takeover bid, the Thumb Producers proposed regular service from Cass City to Caseville but only

"as needed" service to Imlay City.

Users generally opposed its proposal as they thought they could get better service from the Grand Trunk.

Clifford Croft of Croft-Clara Lumber, Inc., one of those active in fighting to keep rail service here, said the Thumb Producers proposal would have required all traffic to go north to Pigeon and then to Saginaw in order to be transported south.

Retention of Grand Trunk means traffic can switch to other tracks at Pigeon, Clifford, Imlay City, or Pontiac. With one exception, Croft said, the users weren't complaining about the service provided by the Grand Trunk, only with whether service would be continued.

Jansen said, "I wanted to build the railroad car rebuilding plant in Cass City along our (the Grand Trunk) lines, but if we don't own the lines, I'll have to find a new spot."

If his "on paper" railroad does eventually get control of the line, the executive said, it now will take a lot of encouragement from persons involved in industrial development in Cass City to persuade

Youngster critical

Daniel Sattelberg, 7, was reported in critical condition in the intensive care unit of St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw Wednesday morning, where he was taken after being struck by a car while riding his bicycle.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Sattelberg of W. Darbee Road.

The accident, which took place at 7 p.m. Tuesday, is still under investigation by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department.

Deputies reported that Karen M. Rydman, 17, of Saginaw, was westbound on Darbee Road, east of Colling Road, and pulled out to pass the bicyclist, who was also westbound.

As she pulled out, the youngster crossed the centerline into her path, and was struck by the car.

"If It Fitz..." Who's a Grandfather?

By Jim Fitzgerald

It was this kind of a week end . . .
Plying his trade outside Tiger Stadium Sunday was a balloon salesman who has a lot to learn about plying. He approached me and suggested: "Take some balloons home to your grandchildren."
Middle-aged grandparents do not like to be told they look like grandparents. Rather, we like to announce the fact ourselves, smugly, and then take four steps backward. We move backward to leave fainting room for persons overcome by the shock of hearing that anyone who looks so young could possibly be a grandparent.
I have been a grandfather for about eight years now, thanks to a precocious daughter who stopped at nothing to win release from kindergarten. In those eight years, by actual count, I have taken 356,782 steps backward. So far, no one has fainted into the acres thus cleared, and I am thinking of subdividing the land and building condominiums.

It is cruel enough that no one has ever said I don't look old enough to be a grandfather. I certainly don't need to hear that I do look old enough from some crummy balloon salesman who wasn't even asked.
"If I can't play with it myself, I don't want one," I told the balloon salesman as I hopped down the sidewalk, missing the cracks to spare my mother's back.
Inside the ballpark, the Tigers made 18 hits, the season's high, and still managed to lose 12-5. But it might have been a different story if the umpires had listened to me. Lord knows I screamed loud enough.
It happened in the first inning with Boston's Carlton Fisk at bat. A ball was mis-thrown in the Tiger bullpen and rolled into left field. An usher chased after it, crossing the foul line and running several feet into fair territory. This gave the Tigers 10 men on the field, plus an extra ball. Clearly, one of the four umpires should have called time out.
I have known umpires who, at the sight of an unauthorized ball and/or person on the field, would bellow and gyrate sufficiently to stop not only the game, but also every wristwatch in the grandstand.
But these turkey umpires didn't peep or twitch. The Tiger pitcher threw the authorized ball while the unauthorized ball was still being chased in left field by the usher. And Fisk clouted the authorized ball for a two-run homer. Geez.
"Under all the rules of baseball, that home-run pitch should not have been thrown." I screamed at my wife. "I am playing this game under protest."
"Don't scream at me," she said. "The Tigers are 25 games behind and the season's practically over, so how can you get so excited? You're just like a little boy."

"Tell that to that dumb balloon salesman," I said.
Saturday night we went to the Detroit Blues Festival which was held near the ball park, on the grounds where the ethnic festivals were held this summer. My wife insists these are grounds for divorce. (Don't you admire the manner in which I slide into these domestic disputes? I should be master of ceremonies in a divorce court.)
Admittedly, the ethnic grounds offer all the sights and smells of a second-rate carnival mired in a cow pasture. But the people-watching is more interesting than at the Plaza, and the beer is cheaper. And besides, there was that wonderful music.
My favorite was Kevin Collins who brought his mouth organ from Lincoln Park to play "The Psychiatric Clinic Blues."
"Isn't that the song you were singing in the shower this morning?" I asked Pat.
"I want a divorce," she said.
Instead, we went to Chinatown for the Chinese Thanksgiving, called the Moon Festival. "I will take you to Chung's Restaurant so you can get a real feel of the Chinese culture," I said.
The first person we saw in Chung's was one of Detroit's best-known Italians, fellow-columnist Frank Angelo.
"I don't understand this," Pat said.
"Naturally," I said. "It's inscrutable."
Angelo said he was in the neighborhood to judge a beauty contest, and quickly disappeared out the door. I stayed to judge the beef chow mein. Angelo has seniority.
I couldn't eat it all. The waiter suggested a doggie bag.
"Take some home to your grandchildren," he said.

NEW OFFICERS took over at the regular meeting of the Gavel Club Tuesday night. Accepting the gavel from retiring vice-president Bill Wallace is president Richard Wallace. Treasurer is Art Randall. Officers not present include Dr. Paul Chappel, vice-president, and Anton Peters, secretary.

Several ticketed for area traffic violations

Frank J. Ezakovich, 36, of Hurds Corner Road, Caro, was cited by sheriff's deputies Saturday afternoon on a charge of violation of the basic speedlaw (too fast).
They said that Louis C. Benavides, 28, of Akron, was northbound on M-24 and slowing to turn left onto Wire Line Road when his car was struck in the rear by the Ezakovich vehicle.
Deputies reported that Edward A. Keller, 45, of 4836 W. Sanilac Road, Snover, was westbound on M-46, a quarter mile east of M-24, when his car struck and killed a deer. The accident took place at 5:32 a.m. Tuesday.
Cass City police Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 28, reported that Norma J. Stewart, 37, of E. Bevens Road, Caro, was stopped on Doerr Road preparing to turn right onto Main Street, when her car was struck in the rear.

Driver of the other vehicle, police said, was Grace D. Nemeth, 50, of 6304 W. Main Street.
Village police Friday night said that Carol A. Little, 17, of 4263 Sherman Street, backed out of a driveway on Third Street, east of Oak Street, and backed into a car parked in the street. Owner of the parked car was Carol Morlen.

Demolition of the old Owendale High School, built in 1912, should be underway before the week is over.
The Owendale - Gagetown School Board opened demolition bids Sept. 26. It then authorized Supt. Ronald G. Erickson, construction managers for the new high school project, and the architect to award the bid to the lowest acceptable bidder of the three lowest bidders.

Erickson said Monday the bid has now been awarded to the lowest bidder, Caesars, Inc., of Bay City, for $11,140.
Fencing of the site would probably be done Tuesday, he continued, with demolition to start soon after.
The firm has 30 days to complete demolition and clean-up of the site, but Erickson expected the work to be done more quickly than that.

Rabbit Tracks

(And anyone else he can get to help)

With all this rain there should be a four-leaf clover growing somewhere. If you find it send it to George Bushong, band director at the school. It might not help, but it certainly couldn't hurt.
Consider. The Cass City School band has played at two football games at home and one at the University of Michigan. And at each of them it rained, rained, rained.
The new uniforms that were "guaranteed" to be here for the opening of school are not here yet due to a snafu in the tailoring.
It was a wet band taking the long bus ride home from Ann Arbor a couple of weeks ago. Wet and tired, the bus broke down and the band didn't get home until late, late, late. Other than that everything has gone swimmingly.

It pays to advertise, Jim MacTavish says, even if it is for a church. The church, DeFord Community, has an average attendance of around 175.
For the special Sunday, according to a story in the Chronicle, the new pastor was aiming for 400.
By actual counts, says MacTavish, there were 614 present.

How do these things happen anyway?
For the third and (hopefully) last time we are going to talk about who built the stone house on the corner of Doerr Road and Main Street.
First it was claimed that Steinhouser was the builder. Then Jack Esau staked a claim for Jim Watson. Now Esau says that was in error, too, and that the real builder was Charlie Damoth.
This information comes from Les Battel who was living across the road in about 1930 when the house was built. Now if Charlie Damoth comes and says, no, it wasn't him, just stay tuned and we'll pass that on, too.

You don't get rich, says Editor Mike Eliasohn, who has an article appearing in this month's issue of "Bicycling" magazine.
It was Mike's third to be published. It was written when he lived in Monroe and told of recumbent bicycles built by two friends. A recumbent cycle is pedaled while sitting in a position similar to sitting in a half extended reclining chair.

Okay, it's official. Cass City is a Class C school in enrollment. 700 students in the official count is 30 or so less than anticipated. A Class B enrollment starts at 708.
Sports buffs, like me, rejoice. But Supt. Don Crouse keeps looking at the $30,000 lost in State aid and rejoices over the school's "C" status with tears in his eyes.
If I were in charge department: I'd change the time we change the time. Instead of at the end of October it would be at the end of September. And in the spring it would be a month sooner than it is now.
An hour at night in the spring is wonderful. An hour in the morning when it's dark is also wonderful.
An hour at night in October does nothing, nothing at all.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

If I were a judge there never would be a divorce granted on the grounds of incompatibility.
One of the biggest myths ever perpetrated is that you must be compatible to have a successful marriage.
I reflected about this Sunday following a celebration thrown by our three kids in honor of our 30 years together.
You notice I didn't say marriage bliss. There have been times . . . but I won't go on. If you're married you know what I mean. If you are not, never let it be said that we ruined a good thing for you. As my wife says, divorce never, murder, yes. But I digress.
I'm talking about compatibility here.
We like to travel, eat out and see shows together.
I'm a sports buff, like to gamble (in moderation) and go out with the boys.
My wife enjoys business, staying home and relaxing at night.
That's not very compatible. But that's also not very important either.
We may not be compatible in what we do but we see mostly eye to eye in what we think.
We are wrapped up in our kids. That's not unusual.
We want all the best for them of course. That's not unusual either.
More important, we agree on what is best most of the time without even discussing it. I don't know if that's unusual, either, but it's been great for our marriage.
I'll admit right here that in 30 years you learn a few danger signals and slow down before the red light appears.
After awhile, as any self respecting husband knows, there are things you just don't do. For instance, it's trouble, trouble, trouble in the family if I question whether the bookkeeping at the Chronicle is up to date.
Avoiding these sensitive areas goes a long way toward promoting a happy home life.
On the other hand columns like this and others would certainly get the red light blinking in many families but cause scarcely a stir in the Haire household.
She understands what I'm doing even if many of her friends wonder how she can

PEDALING AROUND

FANS a lot, Ralph

By Mike Eliasohn

Ralph Nader
Washington, D.C.
Dear Mr. Nader,

I read in the paper that you are organizing a group called FANS (Fight to Advance the Nation's Sports) to protect fans from being gouged at the box office.

I think that your group is a good idea.

I also think FANS should start by investigating the way sports fans are being ripped off in Michigan. For years we have been buying tickets and getting nothing in return.

For instance, look at the Detroit Tigers. Despite all the talk about their great young players and some outstanding performances by some of them, they will finish the season in fourth place in their division. As I write this, with the season about over, they are 25 games behind the first place team.

The Detroit Lions have started their season and are off to their usual mediocre start. To them, if they win half their games, they are having a good season.

Then there are the Detroit Red Wings, for whom the city of Detroit is building a new arena. Compared to the Red Wings, the present arena they play in is in good shape. The team is so bad the ice they play on is hotter than they are.

The Red Wings have a new general manager, lots of new players, and are advertising, "Aggressive hockey is back in town." From first reports, however, it appears the way the team plans to win their games is by beating up their opponents.

I leave the "best" team until last -- the Detroit Pistons, soon to become the Pontiac Pistons.

They usually stop squabbling long enough to get into the playoffs but then lose in the first round. Speaking of the National Basketball Association playoffs, you might investigate them also. The playoffs last almost as long as the regular season and involve almost as many teams. Who ever heard of playing basketball games in June? The NBA has.

For that matter, all the sports seasons are too long. Baseball starts in April when it's still snowing and doesn't end until it's almost time to start snowing again.

Except for those teams that play indoors or down south, the football season runs so long some teams end up playing in parkas and mukluks.

And the hockey season runs so far into spring, the teams are in danger of having the ice melt before they are done playing on it.

I will briefly mention two college football teams. The University of Michigan usually wins all their early games and gets everybody excited, then when it really counts, they lose.

And Michigan State University, which was so desperate for a winning team they started doing things to get players that they should not have. Cheating would have been okay if they had won lots of games. Unfortunately, they didn't play any better than they are playing now, now that they are purified.

Any help your FANS group can give us, Mr. Nader, will be sincerely appreciated.

Yours truly,

Michael Eliasohn

P.S. I would send you my $9 for membership in FANS, but I'm a little short right now. If I send you the money, then I won't have any left to go to a football game.

Area villages OK sewer planning

the bonds. That would be done in several ways. First is the tap-in fee, which pays for running a service line from the sewer main to the edge of each parcel and part of the overall construction cost.

For homeowners, in Owendale, the proposed tap-in fee is $800; in Gagetown, $1,000. Larger users, such as schools and factories, would pay a proportionately higher fee.

The users could either pay the tap-in fee in cash, borrow money from a bank, or pay the fee to the villages over a 20 year period to the village, plus interest.

Senior citizens, provided they meet certain criteria including not having total household income of more than $6,000 annually, would not have to pay the tap-in fee. It would then become a lien against the property to be paid by the heirs or new owners after the original owner or owners die.

The tap-in fee does not cover the expense of running the pipe underground from the present outlet at each home or building to the lead to the sewer main, which for most persons will require hiring a private contractor. Septic tanks would have to be filled with sand.

Under state law, hook-up to the sewers will be mandatory. The only place that won't be served by sewers under the proposed plans is on N. Lincoln Street, north of the railroad tracks in Gagetown, due to the expense involved in tunneling under the tracks to serve only three homes located north of there.

The second expense for users would be the monthly service charge, to pay operating and maintenance costs and debt retirement. For Owendale, the proposed cost is $11.42 per month for homeowners and because of the higher tap-in charge, $7.50 in Gagetown. Larger users would pay a proportionately higher monthly charge.

Owendale residents will have an additional cost, for buying the site for the two 5-acre sewage lagoons (plus a third lagoon, if added treatment capacity is ever needed). The proposed site is north of Canboro Road, east of Case-ville Road. The suggested cost of $48,000 -- included in the previously mentioned total cost to the village -- could be paid by levying of a special millage or bond issue for 20 years. The village council is to obtain an option for the property.

Gagetown already owns the property for its two seven-acre ponds, just west of the village in Elmwood township. The Edmands engineers stressed the ponds give off no odor, except sometimes in the spring for a few days when ice on the ponds melts.

Maintenance of the treatment system, mainly checking the pumping station and operating valves when the ponds are emptied, would be done by the maintenance man in each village.

Obtaining of the Step II planning funds is by no means certain, the Edmands engineers stressed. If they are obtained, it will probably take two-three months to do so and then four-six months to complete the plans.

For Gagetown, the local share for the Step II planning -- to be done by Edmands Engineering -- will be $19,800; the state and federal share, $40,200. Gagetown's share includes $5,800 spent in the early 1970s, 1971-72, for an earlier sewer planning project.

Owendale will pay $18,000 for the Step I planning, with the state and federal share.

Gagetown budget ends in 'black'

The Gagetown Village Council received good news Monday night.

Two auditors from Karl Leppien & Co., Certified Public Accountants, from Pigeon, presented the audit for the fiscal year which ended March 31.

Village Clerk Madeline Sontag said the auditors hadn't found time 'til now to present the audit to the council.

She said the audit showed "everything is in good shape and we're running in the black."

The council set Halloween trick-or-treat hours from 6-7:30 p.m. Oct. 31.

It also appointed three men to serve as police helpers that night.

The council decided that any federal anti-recession funds it receives will go to pay village police officer Larry Wilding's salary.

The funds won't be enough to pay all of his salary, according to village president William Downing. Wilding receives $5.30 per hour for a 30-hour week.

Gagetown was scheduled to hire a full-time officer, to be paid with federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act funds.

That was announced in August, but the council later decided the village didn't need a second police officer. Downing said, so turned down the federal funds.

The village was originally to hire the policeman and a laborer with the CETA funds. It probably will still hire the laborer. Downing said, if hiring can be arranged through the tri-county public service agency.

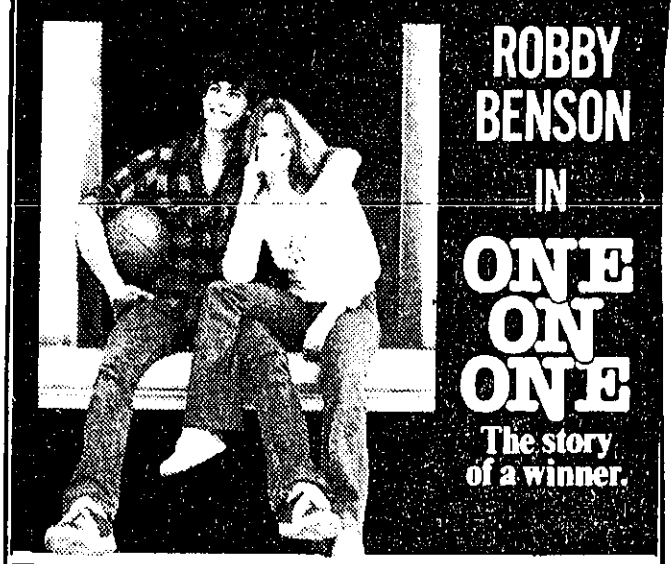

Gagetown presently has one full-time maintenance man.

Immunization clinics set

The Sanilac county health department will conduct its monthly immunization clinics Oct. 14 and 18 at its office at 115 N. Elk Street, Sandusky.

Hours both days are 9:30-11:30 a.m. and 1:30-4 p.m. If possible, parents whose last name begins with A-M should attend the first day; N-Z on the second day.

Protection against measles, rubella, whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus, and polio will be offered. Tuberculin tests also will be available. Children three months of age and over can take part.

A parent or guardian must accompany the child and should bring a record of previous immunizations.

The health department also has family planning services, including contraceptive and pregnancy counseling, available for eligible individuals. Information can be obtained by calling 648-2226 in Sandusky.

There's a world of difference between accusation and proof.

Your Neighbor says

No easy answer for natural gas

The U.S. Senate has been stalemated due to a lengthy filibuster.

Those doing the filibustering oppose the deregulation of the price of natural gas. The natural gas companies and their supporters say the price should be deregulated -- that is, allow the companies to set the price -- to encourage them to explore for more of the increasingly precious fuel.

Some, including President Carter, want a measure that will continue regulation but gradually allow the price to increase.

"They might be doing what's right. We don't know."

He feels it is the responsibility of the federal government to find the truth about the natural gas situation. "They've got to probe and find the answer, but will they do it?"

Krauth is a carpenter and builder. He and his wife Angela and sons, Jim and Dan, live on Decker Road, outside of Decker.

Robert Krauth doesn't know. "I don't know because we get brainwashed from both sides (for and against deregulation)," he said.

"How do laymen like us know, when we don't have access to the facts?"

Some people claim the natural gas companies have adequate supplies of the fuel but are holding them back until the price goes up.

"It's not possible to know if they are holding it back," Krauth responded.

"The companies are not giving us all the answers," he

For over two years this 12-year-old boy from Cass City area has been waiting for a Big Brother. He loves outdoor activities and sports besides enjoying woodworking and playing quiet games. The man who would be his Big Brother would find him to be intelligent and polite, but needing to gain in self-esteem.

A tall slender fellow who is into track and running needs a Big Brother who shares his interests. Although he is rather shy in a large group, he is friendly and enthusiastic when alone with an adult. From Caro, this 13-year-old guy also enjoys hiking, camping, fishing, baseball, and bicycling. He would make an enjoyable companion and be a pleasure to take places.

In Cass City area is a 13-year-old boy who enjoys a wide variety of sports and activities. He is a cooperative fellow who tends to be a bit shy. He has been waiting for a Big Brother for almost three years.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Arlan Hartwick, 63, retired from his work, after 30 years as owner of Hartwick's Market presiding at the corner of Leach and Main.

Airman David C. Walls, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex W. Walls, has been assigned to Shepard Air Force Base, after completing Air Force basic training.

The Rawson Memorial Library board reported that, like many local libraries, they will not receive enough in penal fines to meet expenses and must seek support elsewhere or limit the budget.

Sutton United Methodist church will celebrate its centennial anniversary. The church is located at the corner of Colwood and Dutch Roads in Ellington township.

Dan Mellendorf has been named Red Hawk of the week for his defensive play. He stopped a touchdown with a tackle. He also led the team with nine individual tackles and six assists against Frankenth.

TEN YEARS AGO

Grant Hutchinson broke ground on his new nine-hole golf course on an 80-acre site just north of the Cass City village limit.

The Grant Methodist church will celebrate its 75th anniversary. There is now a total of 45 members, the oldest of which being O.H. Blair.

Tuscola county's bean crop is the best of the three counties in the upper Thumb. Nearly all the crop has been harvested.

Mrs. May Cunningham was honored at a surprise birthday party at her home. A decorated cake was made by her daughter-in-law, Lois Holder.

Tom Clement, a senior at Kingston High School, has been named as a semi-finalist in the National Merit Scholarship competition.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Eugene Ostrander of Caro, and a member of the Caro FFA chapter, showed the top fat hog at the 20th 4-H and FFA market hog show. The hog weighed in at 245 lbs.

Four, possibly five, cases of polio have been reported in Unionville. The outbreak caused the closing of the Unionville schools for the remainder of the week.

Clerk Wilma Fry has reported that the receipts were higher and the expenses lower for the operation of the Cass City swimming pool this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Day were host and hostess to the William Day family reunion. A potluck dinner was served to 33 children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Maurice Ransford, a member of the rationing board of Tuscola county, emphasized the seriousness of the rubber situation and spoke of the necessity of all to conserve their tires.

Four Cass City men have taken their final tests for induction into the Army; they are: Jack Guilds, Harry Wise, Orville Mallory and Carlton Rondo.

A house-to-house scrap pickup is now in effect. Citizens are urged to participate and all the scrap thus collected will be donated to the local organization in charge and proceeds from the campaign should be used for promoting the war effort.

Trooper placed

Trooper Witold Fraczek has been assigned to the Michigan State Police post at Caro.

He graduated Sept. 30 from the state police recruit school near Lansing. Single, he is a native of Warren.

lected will be donated to the local organization in charge and proceeds from the campaign should be used for promoting the war effort.

Merchants and students assist in the beet harvest this year. They are paid by the ton for their work by the Michigan Sugar Co. and warm meals are furnished at noon by the farmers.

Cass City, showing marked improvement in all departments of play, turned back Sandusky by the score of 28-13. Next, they will attempt to upset Caro.

Drivers must stop for buses

Motorists are reminded that on undivided highways, traffic in both directions must stop at least 10 feet from a school bus that has stopped and has alternating flashing red lights.

Drivers must remain stopped until the alternating lights are turned off.

On divided highways, traffic approaching a school bus from the opposite direction does not have to stop.

School bus drivers are required to turn on their alternating red lights at least 200 feet in advance of each stop they make for the purpose of picking up or discharging school children.

Living within one's income means living without worry.

4-H ACTIVITIES

National 4-H Week Oct. 2-8

By Bernard Jardot

"FREEDOM TO BE"

During National 4-H Week, Oct. 2-8, 4-H members will be exploring the theme, "Freedom to Be."

Over the years 4-H has helped millions of boys and girls grow into self-directed, productive, and contributing members of society. It has done this through an informal, learn-by-doing approach to education, in which young people choose their own projects and set individual goals for achievement.

The 4-H enrollment in Tuscola county includes more than 1,300 in the organized 4-H clubs and over 2,000 in the special interest 4-H groups. About 1,300 of these young people live on farms and the rest live in small towns or open country.

The major project areas with 200 or more youth enrolled include: horses, conservation, field crops, horticulture, flower gardens, woodworking, bicycle safety, foods and nutrition, personal appearance, and arts and crafts.

The real key to the success of 4-H lies in the hundreds of thousands of volunteers who lead organized clubs and special interest groups or serve as advisors at the local level.

Volunteer leaders provide healthy adult-youth relationships, teach skills, and give supervision and encouragement.

We can't think of a better way to invest in America's third century than by volunteering time and talents to help prepare young people for the future.

America's future. Dairy Farmers want to be a part of it... and we hope the feeling is mutual.

Mutual effort is what makes Michigan Milk Producers Association work. For the dairy farmers who make up MMPA. For you, the consumer.

For sixty-one years, we have been a cooperative owned and controlled by the dairy farmers we serve. And we're still working together to keep our farms and marketing system productive and efficient.

Though there are now only about one-third as many Michigan dairy farms as there were twenty years ago, our cooperative efforts and advancements in dairy farming technology continue to assure you an adequate supply of quality milk, delivered where and when it's needed. We at MMPA believe the dairy farmer is important to America's future, just as you are important to the future of the dairy farmer.

But preserving the American dairy farming industry requires a mutual, united effort. That's why dairy farmers of MMPA work to stay together.

HEALTH TIPS
Keeping fit
at 40 plus

By Frank Chappell, American Medical Association

Many men over 40 fight their own physical fitness. These are individuals who assume that because of their age they no longer are capable of much physical effort.

One of the greatest dangers to men past 40, says the American Medical Association, is lapsing into sedentary ways, either because of job confinement or sheer laziness. The male past 40 is advised to do two things with regard to physical exercise:

-If not reasonably adept at a specific sport - bowling, golf, tennis, swimming - take instruction in at least one of these, or some other form of recreational sport. Learn to do it well and it will be fun to keep fit.

-Take an inventory of physical activity in the course of regular daily schedule. This includes physical activity at home and on the job. It might include gardening and maintaining the home, sports activities, and regular workouts. Often these do not provide enough activity.

For the sedentary person who decides to become more active, a good start is walking. This means a brisk posture walk, holding the belt line level and raising the breastbone. Then, in addition to regular physical activity, devote part of the week end to a pleasant physical activity like golf, bowling, dancing or swimming.

Fifteen minutes of regular exercise every other day is hardly enough to produce results quickly, but it is a good start. Over a period of time the benefits will be evident.

With regular exercise, the sagging, dragging middle-age will begin to exhibit a total change in his attitude, enjoying meals more and showing more interest in home and work. Physical appearance will be more vital.

For the man past 40 who decides to begin an exercise program, a physical examination is advisable, to make certain there are no conditions that would limit exertion.

Blood drive
scheduled
Oct. 12

Donors are needed for the Wednesday, Oct. 12, blood drive sponsored by the Hills and Dales General Hospital Auxiliary.

The blood will be collected in the St. Pancratius Catholic church hall on S. Seeger Street from 2-8 p.m.

Although not necessarily required, it is requested that donors call Doris Fritz beforehand at 872-2444 to make an appointment.

According to Mrs. Fritz, the blood drive chairman, the goal for the drive is 125 pints, that is, 125 donors.

At the auxiliary's last blood drive, in March, only 69 pints were donated.

The actual taking of the blood takes about 10 minutes and the entire visit about one hour.

According to a Red Cross pamphlet, a donation of blood may:

- Replace blood lost by an accident victim.
- Make it possible for a sick child to run and play.
- Enable an elderly patient to withstand surgery.
- Give a newborn baby a healthy start in life.
- Within the area served by the Flint Regional Red Cross Blood Center, approximately the northern half of the lower peninsula and eastern quarter of the Upper Peninsula, one unit of blood is needed every 26 minutes every day.
- One donation of blood can be separated into five different components to help five persons.

Bishop to talk about Alaska
in Caro

The Episcopal church of Caro and area will have a public dinner Wednesday, Oct. 12, at 6 p.m. in the Historical Center, corner of Joy and Almer Streets, Caro.

After dinner, the assistant bishop of Michigan will show a movie of Alaska, narrated by Lowell Thomas Jr.

Bishop Gordon lived and worked in Alaska for 31 years - serving an area 10 times the size of Michigan.

He traveled by dog sled and by flying a single engine plane. Church members will furnish the potluck dinner. Guests are welcome.

AMENDMENT TO
AKRON-FAIRGROVE SEWAGE DISPOSAL
SYSTEM CONTRACT

THIS AMENDMENT TO Contract, made and entered into as of the 1st day of August, 1977, by and between the County of Tuscola, a Michigan county corporation (hereinafter referred to as the "county"), party of the first part; and the Village of Akron, being a home rule village corporation and the Village of Fairgrove being a general law village corporation, both (hereinafter referred to as the "municipalities"), parties of the second part;

WITNESSETH:

WHEREAS, the county and the municipalities approved and entered into the Akron-Fairgrove Sewage Disposal System Contract as of the 15th day of September 1971 which Contract was duly executed and is currently in effect; and

WHEREAS, the construction of the project provided for by said Contract has been delayed by the receipt of a grant from the United States Government; and

WHEREAS, because of the passage of time and change in regulations which apply to the grant to be received from the United States Government, it has been necessary to make certain changes in the Akron Fairgrove Sewage Disposal System (hereinafter called the "system") as defined in said original contract; and

WHEREAS, revised plans and a revised estimate of cost have been prepared by Spicer Engineering Company, consulting engineers of Saginaw, Michigan (hereinafter sometimes called the "engineer"); and

WHEREAS, it is necessary to amend the said original contract to conform to the aforesaid changes;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the premises and the covenants of each other, the parties hereto agree as follows:

1. The following paragraphs of the Contract between the county and the municipalities entered into as of the 15th day of September, 1971, are hereby amended:

"2. The sewage disposal system referred to in paragraph 1 above has been designated by the County Board of Commissioners as the Akron-Fairgrove Sewage Disposal System and shall consist of lateral and trunk sewers and pumping and sewage treatment facilities substantially as indicated on Exhibit 'A' attached hereto.

"3. The county and the municipalities hereby approve the estimate cost of the system consisting of the items set forth in Exhibit 'B' attached hereto, and the estimate of forty (40) years and upwards as the period of usefulness thereof and the preliminary plans and specifications, all as prepared by the engineer. Said sewage disposal facilities are hereinafter sometimes referred to as the "project".

B. The percentages of the cost of the facilities of the system assigned to each village set forth in paragraph 6 are amended to read as follows:

Village of Akron - 39.784%
Village of Fairgrove - 60.216%

C. Except as herein amended, the provisions of the contract made and entered into as of the 15th day of September, 1971, by and between the county and the municipalities remains in full force and effect.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have caused this Amendment to Contract to be executed and delivered by their respective duly authorized officers, all as of the day and year first above written.

Motion by Collon, supported by Nagy, the changes authorized by the Department of Public Works be approved. Motion carried. 77-R-8

Motion by Collon, supported by Rayl, the following Bond Resolution be approved:

BOND RESOLUTION offered the following resolution, which was approved by the Board of Public Works at their meeting of

WHEREAS, this Board of Commissioners, by resolution, has approved of the establishment of a sanitary sewer system to be known as the "Akron-Fairgrove Sewage Disposal System" for the purpose of providing sanitary sewer service to the villages of Akron and Fairgrove and is more particularly described in said resolution; and

WHEREAS, pursuant to a resolution of this Board of Commissioners and pursuant to a resolution adopted by the governing body of the villages of Akron and Fairgrove, the County of Tuscola and the said Villages are entering into a contract dated as of September 15, 1971 and amended by an amendment dated as of August 1, 1977 ("The Contract"), whereby the County agrees to construct and to finance said Akron-Fairgrove Sewage Disposal System at an estimated local cost of $850,000 (the balance of the cost to be paid by State and federal grants), and the villages agree to pay the local cost thereof, as represented by $850,000 of bonds issued by the County to finance said System, which said Contract is set forth in full in said resolution of the Board of Commissioners; and

WHEREAS, preliminary plans and specifications for the Tuscola County Akron-Fairgrove Sewage Disposal System as prepared by Spicer Engineering Company, consulting engineers and an estimate of $2,364,469.74 as the total cost of said system and an estimate of forty (40) years and upwards as the period of usefulness thereof, as prepared by said engineers, have been approved by the Board of Public Works and by the Board of Commissioners of Tuscola County and by the village councils of the villages of Akron and Fairgrove.

WHEREAS, pursuant to the provisions of said Contract, the amounts of the several annual installments and interest thereon to be paid by the Villages are not less than the annual bond maturities hereinafter set forth and interest thereon; and

WHEREAS, under said Contract, the said Villages are to pay annually the amount of each annual installment to the County and in addition thereto are to pay semi-annual interest and paying agent fees and other bond handling costs as determined pursuant to said Contract; and

WHEREAS, the County is desirous of issuing bonds in anticipation of the payments to be made by the said Villages under said Contract; and

WHEREAS, the County Board of Public Works has approved this resolution and recommended its adoption by the Board of Commissioners.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS OF TUSCOLA COUNTY, MICHIGAN, as follows:

1. That the bonds of said County of Tuscola, aggregating the

Liquid nitrogen
custom application.

Custom application of liquid nitrogen with the Wickes' Super Go-Boy is the fast and easy way to encourage corn stalk decomposition.

The Go-Boy's special 40-foot spray boom applies the liquid in a third of the time it normally takes. And, after spraying, just plow it under. Nitrogen solution will assist soil organisms in breaking down crop residues. This will make your nitrogen more readily available early in the season when it's needed most by growing crops.

Application with the Super Go-Boy also reduces soil compacting because there are fewer passes over the field, and it ends bothersome handling of materials.

See your Wickes Elevator manager about custom application of Big Acre liquid nitrogen and the new Super Go-Boy. It's part of the growing services from your local Wickes Elevator and Wickes Agriculture.

Fewer cows producing more milk

August milk production from Michigan farms totaled 410 million pounds, a 3 percent increase from the same month in 1976, according to the Michigan Crop Reporting Service.

Improved pasture conditions enabled cows to give an average of 1,020 pounds each of milk, an increase of 40 pounds over the previous August and 125 pounds from August, 1975. The state's dairy herd decreased 3,000 head during the year, to 402,000 cows in August.

National milk production of 10.4 billion pounds in August was 2.9 percent more than a year earlier and 9.1 percent above two years earlier.

From January through August, total production of 84.09 million pounds was 2.3 percent more than the same period in 1976 and 6.6 percent above that in 1975.

Production per cow averaged 949 pounds, 33 pounds more than a year earlier and 91 pounds from two years earlier.

The nation's dairy herd totaled an estimated 10.97 million cows, 68,000 fewer than in August, 1976, but 8,000 more than in July of this year.

The August milk-feed ratio increased to 1.68 from 1.57 in July and 1.50 in August, 1976, mainly due to lower feed costs.

Gospel group,
film scheduled
at church

The "Highland Gospel-Aires" musical group from Sears, Mich., will be at the Cass City Missionary church, 4449 Koeppfen Road, Sunday for the 10 and 11 a.m. services.

The group consists of seven singers who have sung in many churches in the northwestern part of the lower peninsula the past seven years. This will be their first appearance in the Thumb area.

At the 7:30 p.m. service, the film "Peace Child" will be shown. The film documents the reaction of Stone Age people to the message of the Gospel, presented by missionaries Don and Carol Richardson in a rain forest inhabited by some of the world's most primitive people.

Pastor Robert E. Taylor invites the public to attend the services.

AGENT'S CORNER

Homemakers take this year's classes

More than 250 Extension Homemaker Study Group members from Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola counties met at Cass City High School recently to take this year's classes.

The 55 study group leaders will be re-teaching these classes during their group meetings this year. Topics will be health food stores and food co-ops, arthritis, heart-related health problems, property taxation, television and the home, and conservation of water and energy.

Instructors for the classes came from Michigan State University or from local organizations. They included Raleigh Barlowe, Anne Field and Sheila Morley of Michigan State University, and Ralph Kohn of the Michigan Heart Association; Mary Flugstad of the Michigan Arthritis Foundation, and Ross Nicholson of the Bad Axe Methodist church.

A refreshment hour, provided by the Area Extension Homemakers Council and members, followed the classes.

During this time, gifts were presented to home economist Aliene Mills from the Area Extension Homemakers and home economist Margaret Ann Ross. Mrs. Mills will be leaving her extension position to work with her husband in a charter bus company.

Have you ever wondered exactly how children learn to love, to play, to sing? A seminar "How Children Learn" will be held Wednesday, Oct. 26, at Wildwood Farms near Cass City from 4:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The evening of films, discussion and fellowship will show how children learn to respond (love), how all learning takes place, and how parents and teachers and others can enhance the learning process. In addition, there will be sharing about preschool programs in the Thumb. Reservations and $4. for salad, dinner, and other costs should be sent to the extension office, 104 County Building, Bad Axe, by Oct. 16. The meeting is open to all.

We're interested in rainbows of reality - not of promise.

Walk-a-thon for hungry - Oct. 16

A goal of $4,000 has been set for the second annual county wide CROP hunger walk-a-thon planned for Sunday, Oct. 16, in Sandusky.

CROP is a world-wide organization which distributes their funds through Church World Service to the needy of the third world, to give them a better life. Last year CROP raised over $5 million to fight hunger. CROP distributes over 85 per cent of its funds directly to the needy around the world.

The walk will start at the Sandusky United Methodist church at 1:30 p.m. Participants will walk eight miles out to the Snover Literary Park on M-46 and then return. The walkers will be led by a police escort and a trail car will follow to pick up those that can't make the entire trip. Light refreshments will be served at the park.

Pledge forms can be obtained from Werner Muehl, 648-2894; recruitment chairman Emmett Morrell, 648-2025; Charlene Richter, 635-2109, or Dick Long, 648-4260.

Two plead guilty

Mark B. Little, 18, of 6358 W. Main Street, Cass City, pleaded guilty Monday before District Judge Richard F. Kern to a charge of disorderly person.

His plea was accepted and he was fined $20 and assessed $35 court costs.

Cass City police arrested him on the charge at 6 that morning, after stopping his car when he threw a bottle out the window.

Sandra K. Reynolds, 25, of 2391 McArthur Road, Deford, pleaded guilty Monday before Judge Kern to a charge of impaired driving.

Her plea was accepted and she was fined $65 and assessed $135 court costs.

Cass City police arrested her on the charge June 21.

Economic crunch to force farmers to sell, NFO speaker warns in Cass City

Farmers have only been able to stay in business because the value of the land has increased faster than their debt. Because of that, they can keep borrowing.

But debt is "nothing more than glorified slavery," according to the guest speaker at Saturday's National Farmers Organization state convention at Cass City High School.

DeVon Woodland, NFO national vice-president, spoke during the evening session to about 300 delegates and other NFO members.

The Black Foot, Idaho farmer's outlook was gloomy. According to him, a Federal Reserve Bank newsletter predicts that 10-20 per cent of America's farmers will have to liquidate because of their debts and another 10-20 per cent will have to sell part of their farm to pay off their debts.

Forty per cent of the nation's two million farmers equals 800,000, and of those, he said, "some tonight don't know if they will have to make that decision (to sell out). They're hoping for a miracle."

If conditions don't change within the next 90 days, he continued, that could mean a half-million farmers added to the nation's general work force "and we're used to working for nothing." The latter comment drew applause.

"Our goal is to some day establish our right to price agricultural goods, and from then and forever, to determine the value of the goods we manufacture (grow)."

"You either continue to absorb the debt incurred by the increased cost to produce ... or you figure out some way to pass it on. That's the only choice you've got."

Because of their ability to borrow money against the increased value of their land, Woodland said, farmers are the only segment in society that has been able to stay in business without having to always make a profit. "Agriculture has been operating on farm debt."

"Debt is nothing more than glorified slavery" and the history of slavery is that when the leadership is right, people will break those bonds "and we're just about at that time."

The NFO vice-president since 1971 suggested the government should set a base price for all commodities based on the cost of production.

Then based on that price, "the organization steps in and takes it from there." Conglomerates in bargaining with farmers could not negotiate a price below the base price.

"We must organize to sell the products we produce and then and only then will we be able to break up the collusion the major conglomerates have (over farm prices)."

In order to bargain for farmers, Woodland said the NFO needs to control 30 per cent of agricultural production.

Asked after his speech how much of the market the organization currently controls, he declined to answer, other than to say, "We've got a lot of room to go."

Woodland, 48, his wife and eight children raise cattle and sheep and grow row crops, hay, grains, and potatoes on the 340 acre irrigated Idaho farm.

In addition to criticizing the system of farm debt and conglomerates that he said control farm prices, the NFO member since 1967 criticized farmers and farm groups that say farmers can never work together.

The second time he drew applause during the course of his speech was when he said, "The only reason that won't happen is because there are too many guys running around the country saying it can't be done."

In order to make it happen, Woodland said farmers need to trust each other and "be as concerned with your neighbors as you are with yourselves. If you can't do that, we'll never win."

Woodland did not advocate that farm organizations join together, because that would be in violation of anti-trust laws.

Other groups can keep their own identity and interests, he suggested, but "when it comes to pricing, that is what we're structured for."

All farm groups now talk about collective bargaining, according to Woodland, which is something the NFO "was talking about 20 years ago."

He told his audience that a survey conducted by the NFO board found many farmers don't know what the NFO does, that they incorrectly think it buys and sells commodities, and that its image in the national media is bad.

"We've got to properly instruct people what we are and what we're doing," he told his audience.

"The trends in NFO are all good," he claimed as he neared the end of his 1 1/4-hour speech.

"The thing that frightens us is that if we're making 10 per cent growth a year, it may take 3-4 years before we are totally successful."

"Our fear is that time is running out. With the time element involved, we've got to go faster."

NFO SPEAKER -- National Farmers Organization Vice-president DeVon Woodland as he addressed the NFO state convention at Cass City High School Saturday. About 300 attended the day-long session.

NFO CONVENTION -- National Farmers Organization Vice-president DeVon Woodland discusses some aspects of Saturday's NFO state convention with Ernest Cook, president of the NFO Cass City grain terminal. The convention was held at Cass City High School.

Cancer Society elects officers

The Tuscola County board of the American Cancer Society met Sept. 26 for their regular meeting and election of officers.

New officers are Ione Perry, president; Gail Gengler, secretary; Betty Kochalka, treasurer; Ethel Young, service chairman; Sandy Caudarau, public education, and Helen Rogner, public information. Mrs. Profit and Mrs. Young are on the nominating committee. Several more volunteers are needed to fill the state of officers.

Mrs. Perry conducted the meeting at her Cass City home. Ruth Hoffman from the division office reported the request for money for the Uterine Task Force was granted. It will begin immediately to encourage all women in Tuscola county to have a Pap test at least once a year. The

A NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE AND SALE

MORTGAGE SALE - Default having been made in the terms and condition of a certain mortgage made by HAZEN B. HEAVEY and GLADYS L. HEAVEY, his wife, of 5876 Main Street, Deford, Tuscola County, Michigan, Mortgagee, to the MUTUAL SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION, a Michigan Corporation, of 623 Washington Avenue, Bay City, Michigan, as Mortgagee, dated September 19, 1974, recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Tuscola, State of Michigan, on September 24, 1974 in Liber 444 of Mortgages, Pages 310-311, which mortgage is hereby claimed to be due, at the date of this notice, with the balance of principal and interest owing thereon in the sum of Twenty-one Thousand four hundred eighty-four and 03/100 ($21,484.03) Dollars and no suit or proceedings at law or in equity having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute of the State of Michigan in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Tuesday, October 11, 1977 at 1:00 p.m., said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale at public auction to the highest bidder at the north entrance to the County Building in the Village of Caro, Tuscola County, Michigan (that being the building where the Circuit Court for the County of Tuscola is held), of the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due, as aforesaid, on said mortgage with the interest thereon at 9 1/2 percent per annum and all legal costs, charges, and expenses, including the attorney fees allowed by law, and also any sums which may be paid by the undersigned, necessary to protect its interest in the premises. Said premises are described in said mortgage as follows:

Lots No. 1 and 7 of Block "F" Village of Deford, Tuscola County, MI. The statutory period during which Mortgages may redeem the property is six (6) months from date of sale.

Dated at Caro, Michigan on the 6th day of September, 1977.

County Unit is allowed to pay the lab fee on 600 tests. A special kit must be used, which women must take to their doctor.

The kits are available from Mrs. Iva Profit in Cass City, Mrs. Charles Hirschman in Reese, Mrs. Ivan Perry in the Vassar area, or Mrs. Erhardt Rogner in Denmark township. More volunteers are needed in other parts of the county if the project is to be successful. Please contact Mrs. Rogner at 868-4578 or the Service chairman Mrs. Young at 868-4415 for more information.

A meeting is planned Oct. 17 at the Rogner home at 2851 S. Bradford Rd. near Reese, for anyone interested in learning more about the Cancer Society. This is especially directed toward new volunteers as a film will be shown and explained by Mrs. Hoffman. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Plans have begun for the crusade round-up at the Catholic church in Vassar Oct. 24. A potluck supper is planned for 6:30 p.m.

Earlene Cassidy, 1977 crusade chairman, announced that Tuscola county "went over the top" in this year's crusade. The public, and especially all volunteers, are invited to attend the round-up.

Society elects officers

The monthly meeting of the United Methodist Women's Missionary Society of Salem church was held Monday evening at the church with 17 women present. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Lawrence Buehrly, Esther Buehrly and Mrs. Maurice Joos.

In the business meeting, plans were advanced for a "Thank Offering" service with a missionary speaker in November. Mrs. Charles Tuckey will host an all-day "Craft Day" Oct. 19 at her home. Mrs. Esther McCullough is soliciting names at 25¢ each for a quilt that members will be making.

The lesson for the evening was given by Mrs. Robert Tuckey and the theme was "The Plight of the Black South Africans".

Officers for the society, who will take office in January, were elected. They are: president, Mrs. Stanley Kirn; vice-president, Mrs. James Jezewski; secretary, Mrs. Ronald Geiger; treasurer, Mrs. Maurice Joos, and one new member of the nominating committee, Mrs. Charles Holm.

In Sanilac county

Special education millage vote Monday

Sanilac county residents Monday will be voting whether to increase the county's special education millage from the present .9 up to 1.8 mills.

Polling places -- the same as for regular school elections -- will be open from 7 a.m.-8 p.m.

The millage increase is being requested by the Sanilac County Intermediate School District (ISD).

The election does not involve Sanilac county residents living in the Cass City School District, which is part of the Tuscola County Intermediate School District.

If the levy is approved, it will mean a doubling of the $270,000 presently available for the 1977-78 school year.

Of the requested increase, according to Ken McNeil, ISD director of special education, approximately .3 mill will be used to supplement the present special education program.

The money will be used to support classroom programs in the local schools, often referred to as resource rooms, and to support speed speech therapy services. Approximately $100,000 in ISD was spent for this purpose during the last school year.

The ISD is presently overspending for this purpose. With the reserve that had been used to cover the deficit now exhausted, McNeil said, the district will have to reduce its support of present programs unless the millage increase is approved.

Another .3 mill will be used to increase the "itinerant" staff, that is, staff members who go from school to school to help students with special problems and to work with regular teachers to help the youngsters.

The itinerant staff, if the millage is okayed, will consist of school psychologists (four at present, six needed), social workers (one now, four needed), teacher-consultants for learning disabilities (none now, two needed), teacher-consultants for the emotionally impaired (none now, two needed), physical therapist (one for one day a week now, one full-time needed), occupational therapist (one half-time now, one full-time needed), speech therapist (seven now, nine needed), and curriculum resource consultant (none now, one needed).

According to McNeil, the added personnel are needed due to requests from local school districts.

"We keep hearing they want more service. That is what we are trying to do," he said.

The final .3 mill of the increase will be used for a "pay as you go" building program.

The physically handicapped program has need for a specially designed and equipped classroom, with room for an occupational and physical therapist to work with handicapped youngsters. Construction of the classroom will cost 1 1/2 years of the .3 mill. It would be attached to a regular school building.

The second need is for two classrooms to serve the severely mentally impaired. They would be attached to an existing school.

If declining enrollment makes space available, present classrooms could be renovated for the purpose.

The final priority will be aiding Community Mental Health Services and/or Association for Retarded Children in construction or operation of a sheltered workshop for mentally impaired adults.

At present, McNeil said, the ISD has a classroom at Peck for training the mentally impaired up to age 25 but after graduation from that program, for many, there is nothing to do.

The present .9 mill for special education in Sanilac county compares to 1.6 mills in Tuscola county, 1.0 mill in Huron, and a state average of 1.5 mills.

The proposed .9 mill increase in Sanilac means an increase of 90 cents in taxes for each $1,000 of state equalized valuation.

There is no time limit on the millage; it could be reduced by a vote of the people or the ISD board of education.

In addition to the local taxes, some state and federal aid is also received for special education in the county.

Lioness Club looking for new members

The Cass City Lioness Club is on the prowl -- for new members.

The 20 members have designated October for a membership drive.

"New people have new ideas and that can only enhance our club," explained President Marilyn Schrinel.

Additional members will also help the club in its aiding of community and other programs.

The Lioness Club is both new and old.

It began as the Lions Club Auxiliary in April, 1972, with Linda Herron as its first president.

As an auxiliary to the Cass City Lions Club, membership was restricted to wives of Lions Club members and although it had projects of its own, it still functioned as an outgrowth of the men's group.

That status changed in March of this year, when the women's group received its charter from Lions Club International designating it as a Lioness Club.

Under its new status, women no longer need to be married to Lions Club members to belong.

That doesn't mean that the Lioness Club no longer has anything to do with the Lions Club.

"We help them and they help us," explained Mrs. Schrinel.

The Lions International, according to Mrs. Herron, now club secretary, encourages its Lioness Clubs to help the local Lions Clubs, get involved in community affairs, and aid programs for the blind and sight conservation.

A recent example of the first of those objectives was Sept. 19, when members prepared a chili and hot dog supper at the home of Linda and Tom Herron for Lions Club members prior to the latter going out for their door-to-door broom sale.

Joint activities include installation of officers, family picnic each May, and a family Christmas party.

The Lioness Club contributes to the Leader Dog School in Rochester and the Welcome Home for older blind persons.

Locally, the club has donated for construction of the Helen Stevens Memorial Swimming Pool and the emergency and out-patient services building at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

It also supports a Brownie troop and buys Christmas presents each year for some of the children at the Caro Regional Center.

All that takes money and fund raising activities include bake sales -- including one Friday during the downtown Harvest Days sale -- raffle, garage sale, and auction.

In order to meet its commitments, Mrs. Schrinel said, the club needs to raise at least $800 a year.

It's not all work and no play, however.

There are the monthly meetings (except during the summer months), held at Veronica's Restaurant, starting with a social half-hour at 6:30 and dinner at 7.

The programs are sometimes "for fun" and sometimes informational. The latter have included such topics as the drug problem, first aid, women's rights, and history of the Thumb region.

Past or future "for fun" topics include hair styling for the holidays, macrame, cake decorating, flower arrangements.

The club holds a mother-daughter banquet each May. An outing takes place each April, in the past to such places as a play in Bay City, Bronner Christmas decorations store in Frankenmuth, and "just to look," a large furniture store in Saginaw.

Membership in the Lioness Club costs $10 per year, part of which goes to the Lions International, which sends a monthly newsletter to members. Members must attend at least six meetings a year to remain active.

The Lioness Club members are a diverse group, ranging in age from about 25 to 70. Those that belong at present are all married to Lions Club members. They would like to expand to include some women who are not in that category.

"We are a very active group," Mrs. Schrinel stresses.

Women interested in joining the "very active group" are invited to attend the next meeting, Oct. 10 at Veronica's, or contact one of the officers.

Officers, in addition to Mrs. Schrinel and Mrs. Herron, are Marian Umpfenbach, vice-president; Mary Lou Erla, treasurer; and Mary Damm, tailltwister (sergeant at arms).

Bortel, Hickey get FB awards

County Extension Director Bill Bortel and Fairgrove area farmer Roy Hickey were recipients of Distinguished Service Awards at the Tuscola County Farm Bureau annual meeting Sept. 27.

The dinner meeting was held at Caro High School.

Bortel's record in his 21 years with the Cooperative Extension Service includes his work in helping organize two Michigan Farm Expositions and other innovative programs.

Hickey is a certified seed grower, member of Michigan Crop Improvement Association, helped organize the Caro Co-op Elevator at Akron, is past-president of Michigan Barley Growers, and has served as a director of Caro Sugar Beet Growers.

Elected director representing Elkland, Ellington, Elmwood, and Novesta townships on the county board was Keith Little of E. Kelly Road, Cass City. He replaces Gerald Hicks of Crawford Road, Deford, who retired after 12 years on the board.

Re-elected as director from Denmark, Gilford, Juniata and Tuscola townships was Mervin R. Knoll of Vassar.

County President LeRoy Schluckebier was elected a director-at-large.

Named as top farm couples were Ron and Kay Keinath of Tuscola township and LeRoy and Virginia Schluckebier of the Richville area.

Students honored for their participation in the citizen-ship seminar program were Terry Hoag and Douglas Laurie, both Cass City; Cathy Deering, Gagetown; Robert Schluckebier, Vassar, and Jan Black, Akron.

Honored as the top community groups were Group 38, Arcola, Country Hicks, Lyman, and Quanicasee.

Resolutions approved by those present included urging farm organizations to unify for greater strength, support of an exemption for agriculture from the states single business tax and shifting financial support of schools from property taxes to income tax.

Other resolutions urged support prices for dry edible beans, opposed government stockpiling of commodities and urged free foreign and domestic market opportunities, supported speedy enactment of the sugar act, and opposed loosening of requirements for ingredients in ice cream by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

Banquet speaker was Michigan Farm Bureau vice-president Jack Laurie of Dodge Road, Cass City.

Regional representative Kevin Kirk presented the county group with a 1977 target award for exceeding its membership goal. The goal was 2,157; final 1977 membership was 2,221.

Fall bad time for car-deer crashes

The most dangerous months for car-deer accidents are October, November, and December, cautions the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

David H. Jenkins, DNR Wildlife Division chief, says more deer are killed during this period primarily because of the deer mating season and hunter activity, which keeps the whitetails on the move.

In 1976, there were 154 car-deer accidents in Tuscola county, with 19 persons injured; in Huron county, 144 accidents and three injuries; and in Sanilac county, 153 accidents and 10 injuries.

"There are well over one million deer in the state," Jenkins said. "There's a lot of deer and a lot of cars. If you see a deer standing alongside the road, assume it will do the worst possible thing because it probably will. And the worst possible thing is jumping right through your windshield."

Slow down when you see a deer, he warned. "Slow down as slow as you can and as quick as you can."

"Note the deer area signs on the highways," Jenkins warned, "and believe them. When you see a deer it is more than likely that there are two or three or more there. When you see one deer, assume there are more."

Jenkins also advised motorists to slow down during the early evening hours.

William J. Gutos, DNR safety manager, added that motorists should wear seat belts and observe the 55 mph speed limit on highways.

"Although deer area warning signs help," Gutos said, "deer are everywhere in Michigan."

"Your best bet is to stay alert," he emphasized.

During 1976 there were 14,349 total accidents involving deer, which resulted in two persons killed and 862 injured.

Some youth get Social Security

Full-time students 18-22 who get Social Security checks have several things to keep in mind this time of the year, according to William T. Clynès, Social Security district manager in Saginaw.

One of the most important things is their school enrollment status, Clynès said. Most of these young men and women have been getting checks during the summer vacation period because they planned to continue their education this fall. They should report to Social Security if their plans have changed and they did not return to full-time attendance, so they will not be overpaid.

In contrast, Clynès continued, those students who told Social Security last spring they did not plan to return to school this fall, but who have returned to school or college, can have their checks restarted.

A third group that should contact Social Security are the young people 18-22 who became eligible for Social Security student benefits because an insured parent started getting Social Security retirement or disability benefits, or died during the summer. Their benefits can start with the month they begin attending a school, college, or university on a full-time basis, if they are unmarried and under 22.

There are other items students getting benefit checks should report, Clynès stated. The first applies to those who have been working for someone or for themselves and earning money. They should check their total earnings for the year to make sure they have not yet, nor will soon, go over the annual earnings test exemption amount of $3,000 for 1977.

If their earnings are over this amount or they expect to go over it before the end of the year, they should report this immediately. This way they can avoid or minimize any possible overpayment, which would have to be paid back.

The final reminder item concerns marital status. Students can generally get Social Security checks only if they are unmarried. Any student getting checks who has married, should report this to Social Security immediately.

Students wishing to make any of these reports, or anyone wishing information can contact the Saginaw Social Security office in the Federal Building in downtown Saginaw. Hours are 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. The telephone number is 771-1010.

Novesta hires new sexton

The Novesta township board, by a split decision Monday night appointed Frank Spencer as sexton for the township cemetery and to perform other duties.

Two others had applied for the position, which pays $3.50 per hour, plus pay from funeral homes for digging graves. Spencer is a dairy farmer and long-time township resident.

Appreciation was expressed by the board for the care taken of the cemetery by township clerk Henry Rock and his wife, Ione, after sexton John D. Palmer was no longer able to perform his duties because of ill health. Palmer resigned from the position last month.

Appreciation was also expressed by the board to Mrs. Rock for her decorating, painting, and installing new window shades in the township hall.

A report was given on the recent meeting of the township zoning board, at which some corrections and clarifications were made in the zoning ordinance, which went into effect Jan. 1.

The township board met with a Mr. Miracle, concerning his trailer home on River Road, which it wanted fixed-up or removed. Miracle agreed to take care of the situation.

The Want Ads are newsy too.

Elmwood board okays demolition

The Elmwood township hall in Gageton will be rubble within a week.

The township board, which met in the Blount Agriculture office Monday night, authorized Whalen Contracting Co., Inc., of Caro, to demolish the structure.

Township Clerk Joanne Sattlerberg said no bids were received to demolish or remove the structure but the Caro firm agreed to do the project at an hourly rate not to exceed a total of $1,500.

Work should start at the end of this week or early next week.

She said in cleaning out the building Tuesday, a cornerstone was discovered, which the board will try to save. The writing on the stone was faint, but it apparently read "Grace Church 1881."

Harlan Hobart, who served as township clerk from 1937-

74, recalled that the building was once known as the Old English church.

He estimated the township has been using the building for about 50 years. Before the township took the building over, and possibly for a while after, he said, it was used for playing basketball games.

The township hall is being torn down to make way for the new village-township hall and fire station.

According to village President William Downing, advertising for construction bids will take place in about two weeks. Construction will start this fall.

The new building, being financed with $150,000 in federal public works funds, will contain a meeting room, separate offices for the township and village, and the fire station.

New rail line starts operation

Tuscola county's new railroad, the Tuscola & Saginaw Bay Railway Co. (T&SBR) started operations Saturday.

Ribbon cutting ceremonies took place Monday morning at the Vassar depot. The grand opening celebration with the public invited will be in late October, after the line's two renovated locomotives arrive.

The T&SBR will operate the 43.6 miles of track between Vassar and Millington, Vassar and Munger, and Vassar and Colling. Formerly owned by the bankrupt Penn Central, service over the track for about 1 1/2 years has been provided by ConRail.

The new railroad will have 40 new freight cars, of which six have arrived and the rest are on order. Until its two locomotives arrive, it is renting one from the Grand Trunk Western Railroad.

T&SBR manager is P.J. DeWolf, 33, who has worked for three railroads, most recently the Santa Fe Railroad in Barstow, Calif.

The new line, which will haul mostly agricultural products, is receiving state and federal subsidies for its first 18 months of operations.

For the fiscal year which started Saturday, it will receive $325,202 in federal funds and $81,301 from the state. For the first six months of 1978-79, it will receive $203,410 from the state.

Circuit court cases

Find Bedell guilty of 3 charges

James H. Bedell II was found guilty of three charges, two of them for felonious assault, by a circuit court jury Wednesday, Sept. 28.

Bedell, 33, lives in the Mark of Vassar Trailer Park, Millington.

He was found guilty of charges of felonious assault against Gary Churott and Franklin Morse. The charges were in connection with the men being chased by a car in the Saunders' Leasing Co. parking lot in Vassar Dec. 10, 1976.

Bedell was also found guilty of a charge of driving while impaired, the incident taking place on M-15 in Millington the same day.

Following the verdicts, which came at the end of a two-day trial, a prosecution motion for filing of supplemental information was granted, relating to previous convictions against the defendant.

The jury then found Bedell guilty of being a third felony offender, which means that his sentence will be increased in accordance to state law.

Judge Norman A. Baguley revoked Bedell's bond and remanded him to the county jail to await sentencing Oct. 17.

Tuesday, before Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements, Gregory M. Tyson, 26, of Saginaw, pleaded guilty to a charge of armed robbery. His plea was accepted and bond was continued, with sentencing scheduled Nov. 7.

The charge was in connection with a robbery on State Road, Vassar township, on April 2, 1977. The weapon used was a large butcher knife or machete. Taken were U.S. savings bonds, $8 in cash, a color television, two banks containing about $200 in change, a silver tea set, and two Christmas bells.

Judge Clements took under advisement a motion for dismissal of charges of criminal sexual conduct (1st degree) and conspiracy to commit breaking and entering in connection with the same incident.

In circuit court Monday before Judge Baguley:

Vern A. Durocher, 40, of 336 Wells Street, Caro, was sentenced to 3-5 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for attempted breaking and entering an occupied dwelling.

He was credited with 59 days served. Psychiatric counseling and alcoholism treatment were recommended while in prison.

Durocher pleaded guilty to the charge Sept. 6 in connection with the June 9 break-in of a house on Mushroom Road in Wells township.

Bonnie Drews, 18, of 319 W. Sherman Street, Caro, appeared before the judge, charged with violation of probation, for which she was arrested Sept. 28.

Bond was set at $1,000, with arraignment continued to Oct. 11.

She was placed on one year probation Aug. 15, having been convicted July 18 of larceny over $100. The charge was in connection with the theft of two shotguns from Gary Zellar of Caro on Nov.

Loomis chiropractic graduate

Philip A. Loomis graduated from Sherman College of Straight Chiropractic, Spartanburg, S.C., Sept. 17.

Dr. Loomis attended Mio High School and graduated from Alpena High School.

PHILIP A. LOOMIS

His pre-graduate work was done at Spartanburg Technical College, Spartanburg, S.C., and Limestone College, Gaffney, S.C.

Dr. Loomis is a member of the International Chiropractic Association, Pennsylvania State Chiropractic Association, and holds a Diplomate of the National Board of Chiropractic Examiners.

He is the son of Mrs. Irene Loomis and the late Maurice Loomis of McKinley. His wife Barbara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vic Brousseau of McKinley, has completed the Chiropractic Assistant Course at Sherman College.

Dr. and Mrs. Loomis and their two children will open their chiropractic clinic in Reading, Pa.

Stevie Wonder at CASH open house

Award-winning singer-composer Stevie Wonder will be present Sunday at dedication ceremonies for the new Caro Area Services for the Handicapped (CASH) workshop.

The workshop is located in the Northwood Office Complex, 1186 Cleaver Road, Caro. The ceremonies will start at 2 p.m.

CASH Director Ted Hull, who is legally blind, served as Wonder's tutor for several years when the blind singer was younger. Wonder is not scheduled to perform at the dedication.

Guest speaker will be U.S. Rep. Bob Traxler, D-Bay City.

CASH was created in 1973 and moved into its new quarters a few months ago.

The workshop provides training and employment for the physically and mentally handicapped by doing subcontract work for private firms and producing primitive-style wood benches and stools which are sold in furniture stores.

Office closing

The Tuscola county courthouse in Caro will be closed Monday for Columbus Day.

Check broiling wood

Don't broil your hamburgers over wood that's been treated with a preservative. That's the advice of state agriculture director B. Dale Ball. Chemicals in the treated wood may be dangerous to health.

Ball's warning comes in the wake of his department's findings of pentachlorophenol residues in animal tissues. Pentachlorophenol is one of the most commonly used wood preservatives.

Wood treated with a preservative is very useful construction material, Ball said.

Preservatives reduce decay and discourage insect destruction such as that caused by termites.

"But we frequently hear of cases where people have used their scraps of treated wood to start charcoal broiling fires, or even let youngsters use the blocks for playthings," the agriculture department director said.

"This kind of use of chemically treated wood should be avoided."

Argyle centennial farm still in good hands

Joseph Krumenacker needn't worry. The farm he bought from Fitzhans Pennington back in 1868 is still in good hands.

And because it is owned by his descendants, the farm of Carl and Linda Krumenacker has been designated a Centennial Farm by the Division of Michigan History of the Michigan Department of State.

The farm is located on Pringle Road, a mile north of Argyle.

Carl is 28, his wife, 25. Although they "inherited" their farm, they almost had to start from scratch.

They also had to make the decision to stay in farming. Joseph Krumenacker came to Sanilac county from Canada, having immigrated there from France. He died in 1899. The farm was inherited by his son, Joseph Jr.

Joseph Jr. died in 1930. His widow owned it until her death in 1939, when it became the property of her son Mark.

Mark Krumenacker died in 1970. His widow, Doris, now Mrs. George Quack, became the owner. Her son, Carl, and his wife, Linda, became the owners this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Quack live in the "original" farm house, although the only original part is the dining room, which started out as a granary. It was apparently built around the time when Joseph Krumenacker bought the farm in 1868.

Carl and Linda, who were married Oct. 2, 1971, live in a mobile home next door.

After graduation from Ubyly High School in 1967, Carl went to Detroit. His wife graduated from there in 1970. He worked at a Chrysler Corp. plant, most of the time as an apprentice tool and die maker.

He also attended an electronics school part-time.

When he started at Chrysler, he explained, "there was no money in farming." In particular, on the family farm which was still only 80 acres, there was not enough income for his father and himself.

In fact, the last few years before his death, Carl's father also held an off-the-farm job.

When Mark Krumenacker died in 1970, his son knew he would be going back to the farm.

Carl kept working at the Chrysler plant, but with a new purpose -- to save money. Other than the land, there wasn't much on the farm in terms of good buildings or equipment.

Carl and Linda planned to go into the dairy business full-time, and that's where the money came in.

They bought equipment, "all junk just to get us going," Linda explained. "I can't believe some of the junk we started out with, but it got us through."

Now that the couple is on their feet financially, they are piece-by-piece replacing their old equipment.

Carl built his own milking parlor, with four stalls per side, so that four cows are being milked while four more are either entering or exiting the building.

When it was finished, Linda quit her job at Midwest Rubber Co. in Carsonville.

The couple didn't start out by buying dairy cows, however. They started with 25 beef cattle, figuring when the animals were ready to be sold, they would be ready to buy their dairy cattle.

They did have three cows and some helpers and bought two small herds, including that of Linda's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lautner, who live four miles to the north and were getting out of the business.

Their herd now totals 66, of which 35 are being milked. Milking takes the couple about an hour and a half, starting at 6:30 in the morning and 6:30 at night.

The Krumenackers would eventually like to get their milking herd up to about 60 cows, enough so that they can hire a man to do the milking either in the morning or at night, which would give Carl more time to do his field work. Linda does some field work, as well as helping do the milking.

Hiring a man would also give the family time to take a vacation. In their six years of marriage, they have yet to take one.

At present, the young couple does all the work themselves, except for hiring a neighbor to harvest their corn. With their relatively small corn acreage, Carl explained, it's cheaper to hire a neighbor than to buy a harvester of his own. Their only other crop is alfalfa hay. They bought 75 acres, so the farm now totals 155 acres.

The couple has little spare time, but what they have, they're putting to good use -- they're building their own house.

What with sons Paul, 4, and Mark, 16 months, it was getting a bit cramped in their house trailer.

Carl by now is an experienced carpenter. In addition to the milking parlor, he also built a pole barn and garage on the farm and another garage and pole barn for others. (The old barn on their farm, having outlived its usefulness, is being used for storage until it collapses.)

The couple hired a contractor to build the basement and also will hire a bricklayer, but other than that, they are doing the work themselves.

They started construction July 1 and with the walls and roof up and furnace and bathroom plumbing in the process of being installed, they will soon be moving in. The furnace, by the way, burns firewood or bottled gas.

For the time being, they will be living in the basement and finishing the rooms upstairs during the winter. The house sits behind their trailer, which is to be sold.

The house -- ground level, basement, and attached garage -- is being built without any blueprints.

Between the dairy farming, building the house, and other chores, it means a lot of long hours for Carl Krumenacker. "Sometimes I don't like the long hours," he said, "but as far as going back to the shop (auto plant), I don't think about that at all."

His wife, having once worked in a rubber plant, has her own reasons for preferring life on the farm. "I'd rather milk cows," she said. "It doesn't stink any worse."

CENTENNIAL FARM FAMILY -- Linda and Carl Krumenacker and their children, Mark, 16 months (held by Carl) and Paul, 4.

Gather information to speed Social Security claim

People who plan to apply for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments can help speed the processing of their claim, according to William T. Clynnes, Social Security district manager in Saginaw.

SSI payments are made to people who are age 65 and over, or blind, or disabled and who don't own much property or have much income. SSI is administered by social security.

They can help, Clynnes continued, by gathering material to support their claim before they contact a Social Security office to apply.

He suggested that people get the following kinds of information together first:

- Proof of age, unless the person already gets Social Security benefits.
- The person's latest tax bill or assessment notice if the person owns real property other than his or her own home.
- Names of any persons who help support the applicant and the amount of money provided.
- Bank books, stock certificates, and bonds.
- Motor vehicle registration.
- Proof of pensions and annuities.
- A copy of the person's most recent tax return if self-employed.

- If blind or disabled, a list of the doctors, hospitals, or clinics where treated.

A person can apply for SSI payments at any Social Security office between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. It is located in the Federal Building in downtown Saginaw, and the telephone number is 771-1010.

The value of a person's real and personal property may have an effect on eligibility. Not all property counts, though. A person's home doesn't count and neither does a car of reasonable value, nor small life insurance policies.

Property that does count includes savings accounts, stocks, bonds, jewelry, and other valuables. If the value of this kind of property is more than $1,500 for an individual or more than $2,250 for a couple, SSI payments cannot be made.

Persons who want more information about SSI can contact the Saginaw social security office between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. It is located in the Federal Building in downtown Saginaw, and the telephone number is 771-1010.

Benefit estimates available

People nearing retirement age will now have an easier time obtaining a computerized estimate of their benefit rates.

Under the new procedure, a worker can determine his/her benefits by writing to the Social Security Administration, P.O. Box 57, Baltimore, Maryland 21203.

The worker should request a statement of earnings and estimates of retirement benefits. The request should include the worker's name, address, social security number, and date of birth.

The estimate the worker receives from the government will be based on the earnings up to the date of the request. Actual social security benefits cannot be determined until retirement.

In addition, the estimate only takes into account current benefits and current cost of living increases.

The Social Security Administration is also considering making the computerized benefit estimates available to people under the age of 55.

M. Peters dies in Bad Axe

Funeral services were conducted Saturday, Sept. 24, in St. Ignatius Catholic Church, Freiburg, for Mary M. Peters, 92, who died Wednesday, Sept. 21, in Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe, after a short illness.

The Rev. Gerard Kukla, pastor, officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Peters was born June 16, 1885, in Austin Township. She and Louis B. Peters were married August 26, 1901, in St. Ignatius Catholic Church. He died April 25, 1940.

Mrs. Peters was a member of the Ladies Altar Society of St. Ignatius Church and a member of the Daughters of Isabella No. 608.

She is survived by five sons, Jerry Peters and Clarence Peters, both of Ubyly, Raymond Peters of Pontiac, Mark Peters of Decker and Edwin Peters of Ulica; four daughters, Mrs. Marie Roberts of Minden City, Mrs. Vernetta Flannery of Ubyly, Mrs. Ellen McCormick and Mrs. John Zawilinski both of Cass City; 37 grandchildren, 100 great-grandchildren and 11 great-great-grandchildren. Other survivors are: two brothers, David Morell, Bad Axe and Leo Morell of Pontiac and one sister, Mrs. Stella Kurzig of Port Huron. One daughter and one son preceded her in death.

DSS honors volunteer workers

A recognition luncheon was held for volunteers affiliated with the Tuscola County Department of Social Services Sept. 21 at the Charmont restaurant in Cass City.

Mrs. Mary Hoerlein, DSS volunteer services coordinator, was in charge.

Keynote speaker was Dorothy Rappa, executive director of the Saginaw County Voluntary Action Center VAC. Mrs. Rappa is also on the board of the National VAC Committee.

Her speech stressed the importance and value of volunteers. The family unit has broken down through the years as the main supporting unit, being replaced to a degree by state and federal bureaucracies. The complexity of government, increased caseloads, over-loaded staff and other factors have all contributed to less individualized attention for clients, therefore volunteers are invaluable in the "humanizing of human services."

Some of the services provided by the volunteers are transportation, friendly visitors to lonesome people, food stamp outreach, parent aides to families of abused or neglected children, some repair services, helping clients to move, donations of clothing, helping with adult foster care events, and Christmas baskets.

Certificates of merit were presented to each volunteer by Edward Welz, DSS program administrator. Thirty-eight volunteers were present to accept their awards.

Record corn crop still predicted

Most Michigan farmers are looking forward to harvesting a record-breaking corn crop despite severe drought and excessive rains in some parts of the state, according to Vernon L. Kretzschmer, chairman of the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

With the national average loan rate for the 1977 crop corn set at $2.00 per bushel, Michigan's county loan rates this year will vary from $1.96 to $2.06 per bushel. This compares to the current market price of about $1.55 to $1.65, Kretzschmer said.

He pointed out that any farmer who produces corn in 1977 is eligible to obtain a loan, provided the corn is storable and merchantable, and he has acceptable storage space for it.

The requirements for having a corn allotment or corn base or for signing up under the Feed Grain Program, Kretzschmer stated, do not apply to 1977 corn.

Producers with storage space available in approved warehouses or on the farm may be interested in holding their 1977 crop corn for market later in the season.

He pointed out that many producers who used the loan program in recent years have netted more by marketing their crop later in the season.

Detailed information on the 1977 Commodity Loan Program, for corn, oats, barley, rye, wheat, sorghum, soybeans, and honey, is available at county ASCS offices.

Girl nabbed for local shoplifting

Tuesday, Sept. 27, who put five pairs of earrings in her pocket then left the store. She was released by village police to return to school pending contact with her parents.

Larry Hartwick of 4510 Leach Street reported to Cass City police Friday morning that someone within the previous two days made three cuts in one of the tires of his van, which was parked in his yard. Damage was listed at $45.

Village police early Wednesday, Sept. 28, arrested Dennis A. Kessler, 22, of Schwegler Road, on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor, and John F. Generous of 6265 Church Street on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

Their car was stopped on Cemetery Road, south of the Cass River bridge.

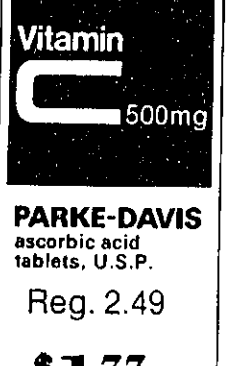

Later that morning, each posted bond and was released from the county jail, pending arraignment in district court.

Did village lose chance for plant?

him to build the plant here.

However, Croft, Village President Lambert E. Alt-haver, and Bill Kritzman, president of the Cass City Industrial Development Corp., all told the Chronicle they never heard of Jansen's proposal for a rail car building facility here.

Jansen said the ICC will hear his appeal concerning the Grand Trunk line, but he doesn't know when. If unsuccessful there, "it will be going to federal court in Cincinnati."

According to Jansen, the firm has enough money to buy and operate the Grand Trunk line, but will make use of federal and state funds if they are available.

Although the Thumb Producers Railroad only exists on paper, he explained it is a division of MTPR, Inc., which has been in business since 1953.

The publicly-owned company owns a truck line operating in 16 states and honey processing plants in Detroit and Magnolia Springs, Ala.

It recently announced plans for a plant in Carsonville, which is to be built by the village through an economic development commission, and then leased to the firm. The Detroit plant will be closed once the new one is in operation.

The Carsonville honey plant will be a customer of the C&O line from Crosswell to Bad Axe, which the Thumb Producers may buy.

Mrs. Perry hosts WMS

Seventeen women attended the monthly meeting of the Baptist Women's Missionary Society Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Jim Perry. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Clyde Wells and prayer time for missionaries was led by Mrs. Stanley McArthur. In the business meeting, with Mrs. Richard Shaw presiding, members decided to make a quilt for the James Evans family. Mrs. Shaw read a letter describing "A Day in the Hospital" in Bangladesh. At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess and Mrs. Rosella Kretschmer.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Wants to see old photos

I like to see the old school pictures in the Chronicle. The McConnell school picture had my cousin in it, Lucie Jones, who is dead now. It's nice to see the old days brought out again. Wish you could get old pictures of Holbrook. There used to be a general store, a large hall with outside stairway, blacksmith shop, and a church there. The church is still there. I bought the church from the Methodist to save it from being moved away and later sold it to be used only for a church. I grew up a mile east of the Holbrook Corner. The Tanner School was myschool, 2 3/4 miles from my house. Sometimes I went to the Proctor School, two miles from my place, so any old picture from up that way I would like to see. Hope you get more to put in your paper. My name was Leila Price.

Mrs. L. M. Sills Port Huron
Editor's note: The Chronicle will run old photographs of general interest if people will bring them to our office.

40 attend dinner meet

Thirty-six members and four guests of Trinity United Methodist Women met in the fellowship hall for the October dinner meeting Monday evening. The meal was served by group five under the chairmanship of Hazel Gallagher and Mary Brack. Elaine Proctor was in charge of the meeting following the dinner. Mrs. Paula Marshall, a guest for the evening, sang a solo. Iva Profit presented the devotions and program entitled "Highways and Roadways, whither have ye made a road today?" Caris were signed to send to shut-ins. Three new members were received into the group, Pauline Hulbert, Elaine Kozan and Bertha West. Reports were heard from bazaar-chairmen. Mrs. Jennie Hutchinson received donations for the Chelsea Home. The meeting closed with a hymn sung in unison.

Cass City edges Marlette in rain

Vassar to test Hawks in 'title' tilt

The Cass City Red Hawk football team and their fans have something in common with farmers. Both are hoping that the sun will shine all week.

The gridders and the farmers have seen more than enough rain this fall.

But rain or shine, one of the biggest games of the year will be played Friday when the Vassar Vulcans entertain the Hawks in their homecoming game.

Coach Walt Purigroski makes no secret that he regards the game as a championship contest.

And it might well be. Following Cass City's 14-6 decision over Marlette last week the Hawks lead the league all alone.

But the Vulcans are just a game behind and on the basis of comparative scores appear stronger than Cass City. The Vulcans' margins over Marlette and Sandusky were greater than those posted by Cass City.

The Vulcans rolled over Sandusky in the rain last Friday 26-6 and Purigroski is hoping that it will rain again this Friday.

A wet sloppy field will aid Vassar, which boasts the biggest offensive line in the league and averages about 35 pounds more per man than Cass City.

A wet field would also help neutralize Cass City's quickness.

While it's true that the Vulcans have much to gain with a win, it's also true that a victory is equally as important to the Hawks.

Cass City's chances for an undisputed Thumb B Conference as well as a chance to play in the post season playoffs could well hinge on a victory.

TOUGH GAME

The Hawks go into the game undefeated but it took a last quarter rally for the team to snatch victory from defeat last Friday against Marlette. A steady rain fell throughout the game and effectively slowed Cass City's attack.

The visitors won the battle of statistics, but Cass City won the game.

Marlette moved through gaping holes in the Hawks' forward wall in a sustained drive that moved the ball to the Hawk 15.

A fumble turned the ball over to Cass City. But Cass

City returned the favor three plays later when the Raiders recovered a Hawk fumble.

A pass from Dan Sullivan to Dan Fleming covered 20 yards. The toss was in the flat and Fleming spun away from the defensive halfback to score.

Neither team did much after that until the final 3 1/2 minutes of the second period.

Starting on their own 30, the Hawks moved to the three in four plays. A pass to Scott Richards covered 40 yards and another heave to Richards gave Cass City a first and goal on the three.

But an option play lost eight yards and a penalty cost the team 15 yards more to end the threat.

Neither team scored in the third period. Cass City mounted a drive in the final quarter that covered 70 yards for the tying marker.

Most of the yardage was picked up on running plays by Clarke Haire.

Tony Doerr carried the ball on one very big play. He picked up a first down on third and three to keep a drive alive.

With third and 8 from the 10 yard line, Haire took a pitch from Hartel and ran around his own left end to tie the score.

On the next kick-off, the big break of the game came the Hawks' way and they took advantage of it. Marlette fumbled as Al Pratt dove into the visitors' wedge to break up the run back and Meeker fell on the loose ball.

From there Cass City ran it over.

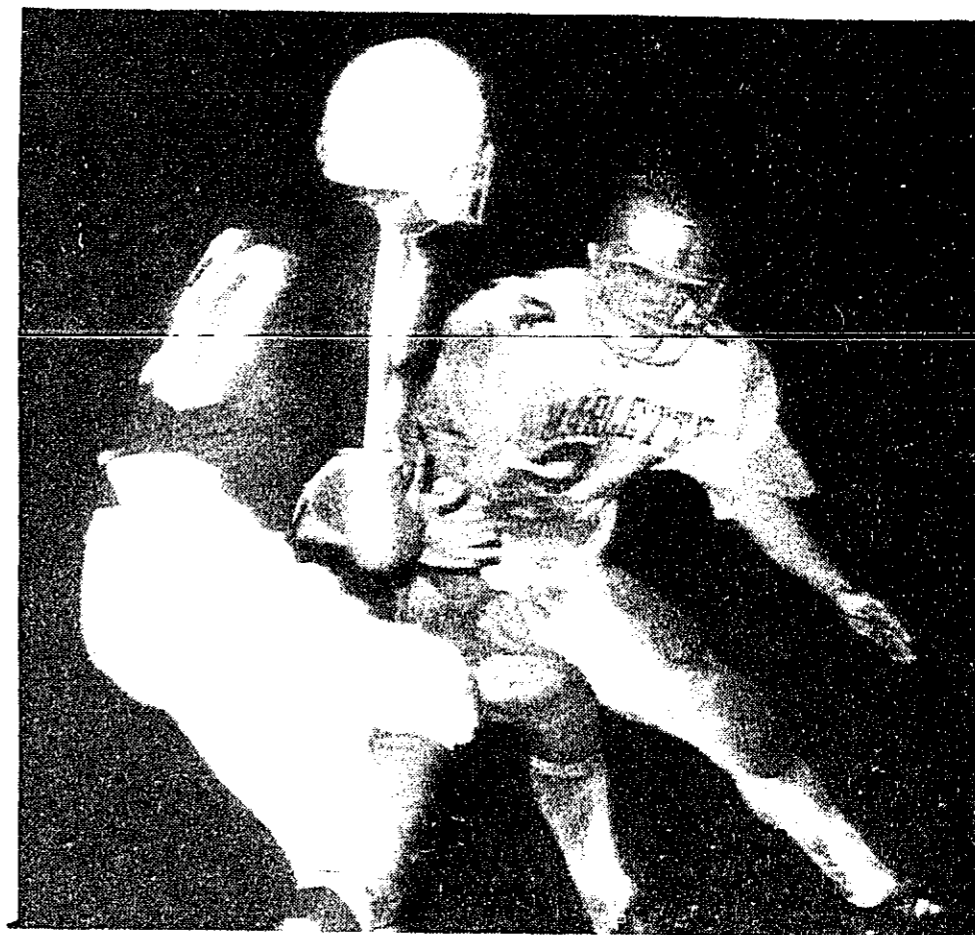

With third and two from the 10, Doerr barreled over center, broke two tackles and scored the winning touchdown. Hartel passed to Rick Hollis in the end zone for the two-point conversion and the victory.

Gary Warju led the team on defense with five solo tackles and three assists.

Haire gained 69 yards in 24 attempts as the rain and Marlette's tough defense checked the Hawk offense.

ADDING ANOTHER DIMENSION to Cass City's attack has been Scott Richards, left. The agile senior end catches anything thrown his way. He caught a pass in a heavy rain storm on this play good for 49 yards before being stopped by Mike Cummings of Marlette.

Homecoming Friday

Ziehm leads Bulldogs to win

Kinde North Huron didn't win a game last season.

But Owen-Gage coach Arnie Besonen says it will be a much different team the Bulldogs play in the homecoming contest Friday night at Owendale.

"We'll see a new Kinde team with good size and depth," he said. "They're 2-1 in the league and much improved over last year."

But coach Besonen also saw improvement in his own squad, which continued its undefeated string in North Central D League play Saturday afternoon with a 20-0 win at Caseville.

"Our defense has been our strong point so far," he said, "but maybe our offense came alive against a tough Caseville defense Saturday when we scored 20 points."

All-conference quarterback Roger Ziehm figured in all Bulldog touchdowns Saturday, scoring first on a one-yard run in the first quarter. Tom Howard kicked the extra point.

It was the same combination in the third quarter, with Ziehm scoring on the five-yard run and Howard kicking the point after touchdown.

In the fourth quarter, Ziehm connected on a 20-yard pass to Dick Glidden, who carried the ball over the goal line. The Howard attempt for the PAT didn't make it through the uprights.

Top ground gainer for the Bulldogs was junior back Howard, who carried the ball 22 times and gained 143 yards. Next was Brad Erickson, who gained 37 yards on nine carries.

The Owen-Gage offense gained a total of 213 yards rushing on 44 carries.

Quarterback Ziehm had three aerial completions, for 29 yards gained, and also three interceptions.

The offensive total for Owen-Gage was 242 yards. The team made eight first downs. There were two fumbles and seven penalties, for a total setback of 45 yards.

Top ground gainers for Caseville were James Wilfong, 21 carries for 41 yards, and Mike Novack, 11 carries for 17 yards. Total rushing yardage was 88 yards on 41 carries. The Eagles were 8 for 0 in the air.

The home team didn't fumble and made five first downs. It was penalized seven times for a total of 45 yards.

Al Pratt - Red Hawk of the week

Al Pratt, the diminutive cornerback for the Hawks, has been selected Red Hawk of the week by Coach Roland Pakonen. Pakonen credits Pratt with breaking up the wedge on a Hawk kick-off to enable a tackle by Wally Laming that caused a critical Red Raider fumble.

In addition Pratt tackled well and covered his area on pass protection.

Still undefeated

Owen-Gage girls win 2 more

The Owen-Gage girls' basketball team stayed undefeated with victories last week over Carsonville-Port Sanilac and Akron-Fairgrove.

The Tuesday night game at Owendale ended in a score of 68-36 for the home team.

Mary Lenhard was top player for Owen-Gage with 26 points and 23 rebounds. Dawn Erickson followed with 15 points.

The Bulldog squad had 54 rebounds to 10 for the visitors. Top scorers for the Tigers were Linda Dragoo with 12 points and Debbie Hartwick with 10.

Owen-Gage won the junior varsity game, 38-21.

Thursday, Owen-Gage went to Akron-Fairgrove and came home the winners, 52-33. It was the first defeat this season for the Vikings.

Mary Lenhard was again top scorer, with 20 points and 10 rebounds. Laurie Andrakowicz was next highest, with 12 points.

Brenda Cramer was tops for Akron-Fairgrove with 12 points.

The home team outbounded Owen-Gage, 32-30.

In the JV game, Owen-Gage downed Akron-Fairgrove, 33-17.

The wins last week put the Bulldog varsity squad at 4-0 for the season; the reserves, 3-1.

This week, Owen-Gage entertained Port Hope Tuesday night at Owendale and Thursday will play a non-league contest at Harbor Beach.

Score by quarters table for basketball game with columns for O-G and C-PS and rows for each quarter and total.

KIM WITHERSPOON goes up for another 2 points. The senior guard-forward scored Cass City's first 8 points but Marlette rolled to the win, 45-35.

Golfers tie, lose in league play

Cass City's golfers tied a match with Caro and bowed to Bad Axe in Thumb B Conference games played during the week.

Cass City - Mike Richards, 45; Tim Johnson, 46; Jim Molnar, 46; Scott Krueger, 49.

Bad Axe posted a 186-176 stroke margin over the Hawks and also won the holes competition, 16-10.

Scott Krueger was the best for Cass City with a 43. Mike Richards and Jim Molnar shot 44's and Tim Johnson, 45. Eric Sump of Bad Axe was the medalist with a 37. Steve Sump and Kirk White posted 42's and Mike Delpter, 45.

Coach Dave Lovejoy's charges lost the stroke phase of the game to Caro, 185-186, but won the hole competition 17-13 to earn the split.

The results: Caro - Randy Kirk, 43; Kreg Sherman, 47; Brian Riley, 47, Tim Cockerill, 48.

Cass City's basketball team dropped a pair of home cage games during the week as Harbor Beach measured the Hawk girls 35-28, and Marlette won going away, 45-35.

The Thumb B Conference encounter with the Raiders hinged on the first quarter when the visitors blanked Cass City, 8-0, to take a lead that they never relinquished.

The Hawks finally found the range in the second quarter. Or rather, Kim Witherspoon found the range. She was responsible for Cass City's first 8 points of the game and pulled the Hawks within shouting distance at the intermission, 19-12.

But the visitors staged a blitz in the third quarter and put the game safely out of reach. Controlling the boards and shooting well, Marlette rolled to a 31-19 lead at the three quarter mark and after that it was all over.

Linda Sieradzki found the range in the last half to net 14 points, high for Cass City for the game.

The Hawks had little trouble in the junior varsity preliminary, winning 61-18.

PIRATES WIN Harbor Beach staged a last period rally to surge out of a 24-all tie in the final eight minutes to defeat Cass City 35-28.

The Hawks played good defense, Coach Lloyd Schinnerer said, but inability to hit key baskets and horrible foul shooting resulted in the defeat.

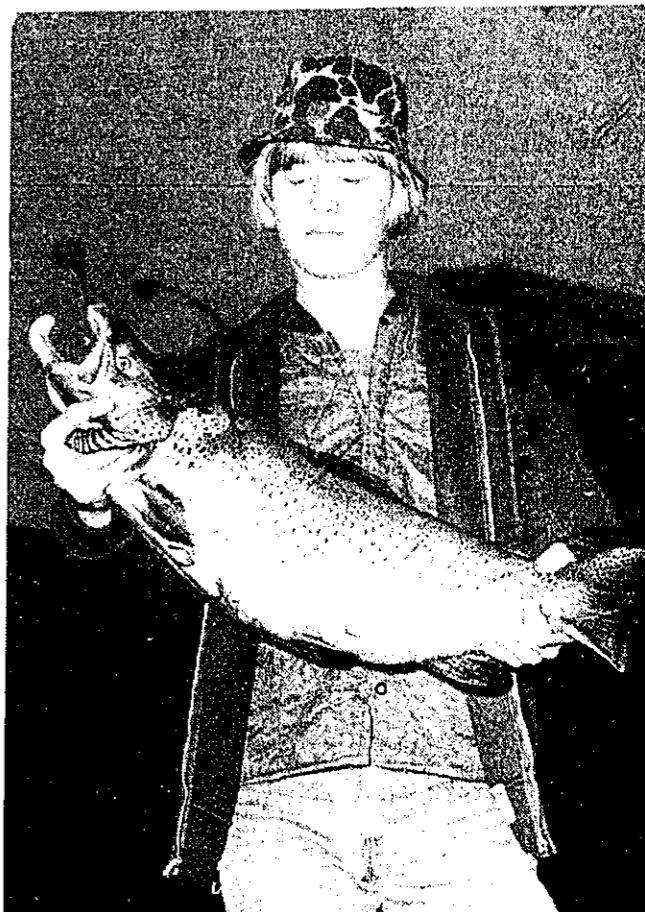

High point girls for the Hawks were Kim Witherspoon with 10 and Brenda Goslin, 8. The Mausols, Cindy and Donna, led the winners with 10 and 9 points respectively.

Completes course

Floyd M. Baird, central office supervisor for General Telephone, recently completed the company's labor relations course at its state headquarters training center in Norton Shores, near Muskegon.

The course is designed to help supervisors gain skill and confidence in dealing with personnel problems, employee grievances, and in properly interpreting and administering the company's collective bargaining agreement.

Baird, his wife Nancy, and daughter Marlena, live at 6772 Pine Street, Cass City.

Rick Szarapski of Kelly Road, Cass City, caught this 13-pound brown trout at 6:30 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 29, off of Port Austin. It was caught with a silver spoon. The fish put up quite a struggle, breaking Rick's rod in half before being landed.
