

HALLOWEEN DELIGHT -- Ron Kilbourne, 11, was all set for Halloween with these giant pumpkins, the biggest of which weighed 105 pounds. He had one that weighed 130 pounds, which rotted after it split open. The pumpkin growing was primarily the project of his father, Harold Kilbourne, in the garden behind the family home on Reed Road in Deford.

Village street paving bids way over estimates

Federal dollars won't go as far as they used to, the Cass City Village Council learned Tuesday night.

The council had been forewarned that construction bids for its street rebuilding program might be more than the original estimate. But nobody expected them to be almost 40 per cent more.

That means a drastic cut-back in the number of blocks slated for reconstruction.

The village is receiving $338,000 in federal public works funds for the project. Of that, village engineers Hubbell, Roth and Clark estimated actual construction would cost $260,000. Contingencies for bids being higher than estimated, engineering costs, and inspection fees would use up the rest of the money.

Construction bids were opened Tuesday night and the lowest bid, from Strausberg & Sons of Saginaw, was for $417,646.

The other bidders were T.A. Forsberg, Inc., of Okemos, $424,982, and Lee Wood of Essexville, $545,783.

Why the huge increase over estimates? Engineer William Hubbell told the council, "the minority requirement is making bids much higher."

A requirement of the public works program is that at least 10 per cent of each project be done by a minority-owned contractor.

Since there aren't that many members of minority groups who own contracting firms, which in most instances would work as a subcontractor to the major bidder for each project, the shortage is driving up the cost of the projects. In other words, the law of supply and demand.

Two other factors for the cost increase were mentioned during the meeting. Strausberg's bid quotes a price of $22 per ton of asphalt, with the paving to be done next year.

The firm is scheduled to do some paving in the village next week and the current price for asphalt is only $16 a ton.

It was also mentioned that Strausberg is the only firm in the area still doing paving and the others in the region are being struck by workers seeking more pay. Thus wage agreements will also drive up costs. Strausberg apparently earlier reached a pay agreement with its workers.

The result of the increase is that the council will have to cut back on the number of blocks it had slated for repaving and curb and gutter work.

No definite decision was made Tuesday, though it appears the top two priorities are Maple and Sherman Streets between Main and Garfield Streets and Ale Street through the village park. The latter includes installation of a storm sewer.

Hubbell, Roth, and Clark will make a recommendation to the council on which streets can and should be done with the money that is available.

A pre-award meeting with the low bidder will be held Thursday morning. At a special meeting Tuesday, Nov. 1, the council will award the bid to Strausberg if it meets all specifications and decide which streets will be rebuilt.

Construction must start by Nov. 21.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

The council met in executive session for more than one hour to discuss applications for a police officer to replace one who resigned.

After it was over, Village President Lambert E. Althaver announced it was decided more information and investigation was needed and that a decision will be made at the Nov. 1 meeting.

Police Chief Gene Wilson, who was at the meeting but not at the executive session, said 13 already certified persons applied for the job, of which he interviewed five finalists. He made his recommendations to the council prior to the meeting.

OTHER BUSINESS

The council was informed by attorney Clinton House that it will need to pass a village ordinance in order to increase its salaries.

Councilmen receive $10 per meeting for a maximum of 15 meetings per year; the village president, $15 per meeting with the same Please turn to page 14.

Thumb counties may get $1 million for youth jobs

Tuscola, Huron, and Sanilac counties may receive a total of more than $1 million for youth employment programs in 1978. They will receive a minimum of $311,000.

The money will come from the more than $1 billion Youth Employment and Demonstration Projects Act, signed into law Aug. 5 by President Carter.

The Thumb Area Consortium, which administers federal job programs in the three counties, is assured of $311,307 under a portion of the act which forms a Youth Employment and Training Program (YETP).

The aim of the program is to provide job training for youth, ages 16-21, through such means as on-the-job training and work experience programs.

Funds can also be used to provide 14 and 15-year-olds with such services as counseling.

The program is primarily for youth from poverty-level families but 10 per cent of the funds can be used for youth from any economic background.

In addition to the funds already allocated, the consortium administrative board, at its meeting last Thursday in Cass City, authorized formation of a non-profit corporation.

The corporation will serve as the employer of record for all youths enrolled in the program and will be responsible for all job placement and such services as recruitment, coordination with schools and labor organizations, and development of job and training opportunities.

Formation of the corporation, consortium Executive Director Frank E. Lenard told the board, will mean an additional $100,000 for the job training program, granted according to the program guidelines, "to test the concept of a centralized service delivery system."

The program is similar to that of the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) Title I program. A YETP requirement, Lenard explained, is that it must supplement the CETA Title I program.

With 296 youths receiving some form of job training through Title I in 1976-77, that means that at least that many must receive it in 1977-78, in addition to those receiving job training through YETP.

No estimate has been made yet on how many YETP positions there will be.

The other new youth program with which the consortium may become involved is the Youth Community Conservation and Improvement Projects Program (YCCIP).

The board authorized submission of an application for $730,000 in YCCIP funds. The money will be for one year.

If the money is received, it will provide employment for 80-100 youths, ages 16-19, with preference given to the economically disadvantaged.

If the funds are received, those hired will be put to work on temporary public works projects, such as street repairs and painting. The program will be quite similar to the CETA Title VI program, which has people working on temporary projects.

If the $730,000 is received, some of the youth will work alongside those working in Title VI. YCCIP will be administered by the Tri-County Public Service Agency, which currently administers the Title VI program.

Pay for YCCIP workers -- if the funds are received -- will be $3.50 per hour; for those in the youth job training program (YETP), $2.65 per hour.

Both programs will be year-round, starting around Jan. 1. In addition, the consortium will also still be operating the Summer Program for Economically Disadvantaged Youth, which provided 436 jobs this past summer.

OTHER BUSINESS

Lenard reported that a total of 2,311 persons were employed in the CETA Title I, II, and VI programs during the fiscal year which ended Sept. 30. The number equals 2 per cent of the population in the Please turn to page 14.

Owen-Gage voters nix land transfers

Voters in the Owen-Gage School District Saturday defeated a ballot measure that would have approved the transfer of five territories from the district to other school districts.

The vote was 571 opposed to 90 in favor, with two spoiled ballots.

The negative vote was expected, the school board having put the measure on the ballot in order to use the results to buttress its legal arguments against transfer of parcels from Owen-Gage to surrounding districts.

The five territories in question constitute almost a fourth of the Owen-Gage district. Four of them have already been transferred to either the Cass City or Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port (Lakers) school districts, although the Owen-Gage board is still involved in court suits in an attempt to get the parcels back.

With the election results in hand, according to Supt. Ronald G. Erickson, the Owen-Gage Citizens Committee is going to Ingham county Circuit Court next week to file a concurrent case to that of the school board to fight the property transfers granted by the state board of education, which were on the ballot Saturday.

The committee's attorney, James F. Schouman of Dearborn, also represents the school board.

The Michigan Court of Appeals, in a ruling upheld by the state Supreme Court, said the school board did not have legal standing to appeal the state board of education decisions.

The school board is seeking a rehearing before the highest court. The citizens' committee action, should the supreme court reject the rehearing request, Erickson explained, will be an attempt to get a final ruling on whether all property transfers exceeding 10 per cent of the area of the district must be approved by voters.

If those living in the transferred parcels were considered part of Owen-Gage, Supt. Erickson said, the turnout was 54 per cent. Those living in the territories in question were advised by their attorneys not to vote as they no longer were in the school district.

The superintendent said two persons in one of the parcels did vote, the district still having their election cards.

The turnout was lower than is usually the case in Owen-Gage elections, one reason being that some farmers stayed in the fields all day to take advantage of the good harvest weather.

Cass City board okays budget

Operation of Cass City Schools for the 1977-78 school year is expected to swell some $190,000 to an all-time record high of $2.3 million.

These were the figures forecast by Supt. Donald Crouse in the annual budget meeting held Monday in the high school board room.

Not only has inflation shoved costs up but the school aid formula results in a larger percentage of the total tax bill paid for from local property taxes.

Taxes collected locally will jump some 42 per cent. That's because of the sharp increase in state equalized valuation and the addition of the "Goslin" property to the school district.

Conversely, state aid decreased 8 per cent under the formula. State Aid also decreased because of a slight decline in enrollment. The State guarantees a fixed amount for each pupil provided a minimum millage is collected locally.

The budget is at best a rough estimate this year, Crouse cautioned. That's because there has been no settlement with the teachers yet. He told the board and visitors that an increase of 8 per cent had been added to expenses for salaries in anticipation of a settlement.

(Budget details on page 14.)

HOT LUNCH

Parents are not apt to be faced with an increase in the cost of hot lunches this year. The annual report showed that the lunches are paying for themselves and at the end of the year was $9,737 in the black. That's just $156 more than was left at the end of last year. However, the fund earned enough in 1976-77 to pay back $5,000 borrowed from the general fund the previous year.

Expenditures and revenues jumped some $17,000 during the year. There was a sharp increase from $54,961 to $67,417 in payments from State and Federal sources.

Trick-or-treat hours set in area

Get your costumes ready, kids.

The Cass City village council Tuesday night set Halloween trick-or-treat hours from 6-8 p.m. Monday, Oct. 31.

A Halloween story hour will be held at the Rawson Memorial Library Saturday at 1 p.m. Children from 4-10 are invited to attend.

Trick-or-treat hours in Kingston will be from 6-7 p.m. At 7, the fire siren will blow and children should go to the village hall for free hot dogs and costume judging.

First, second, and third place cash prizes will be awarded in age divisions for youngsters 6 and under, 7-10, and 11-14.

To make sure youngsters go home after the party, the winners will be called on at their homes after 8:30. Any youngsters not home then won't get their prizes.

Hours in Ubyly are also from 6-7 Monday night. Afterwards, until about 8 p.m., there will be a party at Ubyly High School, sponsored by the Ubyly Lions Club.

Trick-or-treat hours Monday in Gagetown are from 6-7:30 p.m. and in Owendale, from 6-8 p.m., the times being set by the respective village councils.

Local industry honored at community luncheon

The role that industry has played in the continuing prosperity of Cass City was officially recognized Tuesday noon at a special luncheon sponsored by the Cass City Development Association (CCDA).

Bill Krutzman spoke for the CCDA and paid tribute to the owners and managers for the employment provided in Cass City by the varied industries.

He pledged continued cooperation with the plants. Let us know your needs, he said, and we will do all we can to help.

We recognize that Cass City's past and future prosperity comes from the jobs provided by this group, he added.

Each of the industry representatives spoke briefly at the meeting. W.E. Walpole, Walbro Corporation, praised the development committee and Detroit Edison for their efforts in bringing Walbro to Cass City.

He cautioned about complacency. He has just returned from an around-the-world trip and he said that every place he visited there was competition and plans to lure industry to that area.

The Cass City Development Association has done a fine job but now is no time to stop the work.

Don Cole of Cole Carbide said that Cass City has proved to be one of a kind for his plant. He, too, had a word of caution.

I've returned from abroad and can truthfully say that we have a standard of living unequalled in nearly any country. It's based on gainful employment and production . . . the free enterprise system.

We need to sell that system to our young men and women leaving school, he said. It appears that in some instances it has been forgotten, not only in Cass City but everywhere.

Rod Krueger said that Anrod Screen Cylinder Co. has never been sorry it moved to Cass City. Anrod is a pioneer plant here. Krueger said that he expects to announce an expanded line by the end of the year.

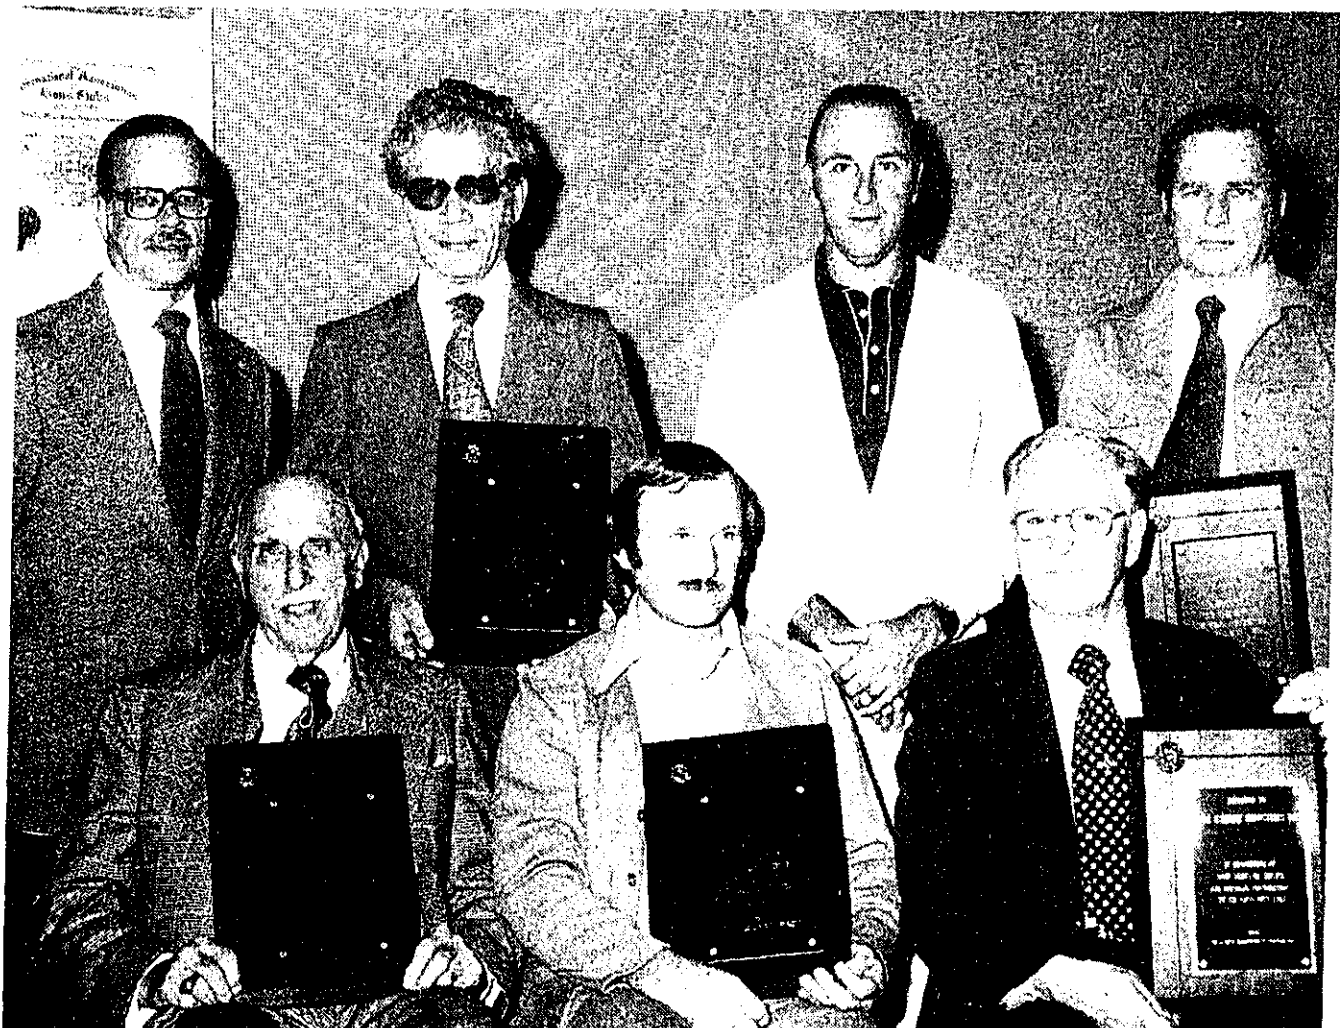

Robert C. Schlossberg, representing General Cable, told the group that because of the workers and the production record the plant in Cass City is now the largest single plant in the corporation.

All of the speakers received plaques from the CCDA as did Bill Wallace of Armca, Inc. Unable to be present to receive plaques were representatives from United Parcel Service and Bassett Manufacturing Co.

Prior to the presentation George Lloyd, of the area development department, Detroit Edison, told of expanding job opportunities in the Thumb, saying that 200 new jobs have been created in the Thumb area in the last year. Lloyd was introduced by George Anderson, Detroit Edison, Caro.

Wilber Young, who helped organize the CCDA when he worked with Detroit Edison, spoke briefly of current trends in development.

DISPLAYING PLAQUES awarded Tuesday by the Cass City Development Association for their contributions to the community were these representatives of local industry. From left, seated: W. E. Walpole, Walbro Corporation; Bill Wallace, Armca Corporation; Don Cole, Cole Carbide. Standing: Lambert Althaver, Walbro Corporation; Rodney Krueger, Anrod Screen Cylinder Co.; Scott Kelley, Cole Carbide; Robert C. Schlossberg, General Cable Corporation.

Mrs. Brian Sutter

Cindy MacDonald of Bad Axe and Brian Sutter of Cass City were married in a double-ring ceremony Saturday, Oct. 15, at Sacred Heart Catholic church at Bad Axe by Father Raymond Oswald.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Fayetta MacDonald of Bad Axe and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sutter of Cass City. Musical selections included "If", "Color My World", "Evergreen" and "Somewhere, Somehow."

Gold gladioli and bronze, yellow and orange chrysanthemums decorated the altar. The bride, escorted by her brother, John MacDonald, approached the altar wearing a gown of dacron polyester and organza styled with Victorian sleeves and a triple bordered ruffe trimmed with Venice lace.

A Camelot headpiece held the lace trimmed veil and she carried a crescent cascade of white snowdrift mums, golden garnet sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Mandy Humphrey was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Linda Sutter, JoAnne Stevens and Brenda Yaroch. They wore A-line gowns of sheer apricot organza, styled with a triple ruffled neckline and full ruffe at the hem. The skirt bustled to the waist creating a full flounce down the back. They carried crescent bouquets of carnations, daisy pompons and cushion mums with baby's breath.

Dwain Sutter, brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen included Ron Hunt, Ernie Pena and Larry Stevens.

John Sutter and Dennis Yaroch were ushers.

Mrs. MacDonald wore an apricot floor-length gown adorned with a corsage of carnations. Mrs. Sutter chose a beige floor-length gown with a corsage of peach carnations.

The wedding reception was held at Colony House when 400 guests attended.

Saturday, Oct. 8, Antoinette S. Palazzola, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Palazzola of Snover, and William A. McCreedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey McCreedy of Unionville, were united in marriage. A double-ring ceremony was performed by Father Morales at four o'clock in St. Pancratius church, Cass City.

The bride's father escorted her to the altar. She wore a long white gown of nylon sheer over polyester crepe. The gown, decorated with appliques and ruffles, had a low neckline with a high bodice, long sheer sleeves and a chapel train. Her large brimmed hat featured a fingertip veil, trimmed with lace to match her dress. Her bouquet was a fan shaped spray of miniature red roses with baby's breath.

Matron of honor was her sister, Valerie Bezemek of Snover. Her floor-length gown of blue Qiana featured a high neckline and puffy sleeves with large cuffs trimmed in white lace. She and each of the seven bridesmaids carried an open white parasol decorated with lace to match the color of their dress, with carnations on the handle. Each bridesmaid wore a carnation in her hair, the color of her dress. All eight bridesmaids wore identical dresses in rainbow colors.

Miniature bride was Angie Gruber of Gageton. Her dress and bouquet were identical to the bride's.

Bridesmaids were Gayle and Jean McCreedy, sisters of the groom, Debbie Nieuhaus, Suzanne Palazzola, cousin of the bride, Diane McCreedy, sister-in-law of the groom, and Sylvia Graham. The junior bridesmaid was Diana McCreedy, a sister of the groom.

They were met half way down the aisle by the groomsmen and then escorted. Bob McCreedy, brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Al Palazzola, brother of the bride, Tim McCreedy, brother of the groom, Vito, Dan and Dave Palazzola, brothers of the bride, and Jim and Mitch McCreedy, brothers of the groom.

Ringbearer was Nicholas Palazzola, brother of the bride.

Ushers were Bruce Brown and Bill Gruber.

They wore long black tail tuxedos with ruffled shirts to match the bridesmaids' dresses. The groom and ringbearer wore long black tuxedos with white shirts. Their carnation boutonniere matched the girls' dresses.

All the bride's and groom's sisters and brothers were in the wedding party.

The mother of the bride wore a light blue sleeveless gown of sheer crepe over satin with a matching removable top. Her corsage was red roses. The groom's mother wore a medium blue gown of rayon knit with long sleeves. Her corsage was also red roses.

The bridal party dresses were hand sewn by a friend of the bride, JoAnn Izydorek of Decker.

A reception at the Argyle Hall followed the ceremony. More than 400 guests came to celebrate.

The couple plan to take a delayed honeymoon. They will reside in Unionville.

"If It Fitz. . ." A bad egg is a bad egg

By Jim Fitzgerald

The honorable legislator was talking about me when he stood up in the Michigan House of Representatives and said:

"...He's just a rotten egg in the news editorial media that should go the way of all rotten eggs, but he hasn't got enough guts or the sense to correct his miserable mistakes and do credit to the newspaper industry by applying for an assembly line job in the nearest factory."

The message was clear. I am so dumb I should quit the newspaper business and go to work on the night shift at GM or Ford, where rotten eggs belong.

The legislator was trying to insult me. He really insulted factory workers.

It happened in 1966. The legislator was James Del Rio of Detroit. He was angry because I'd written that a lot of crummy legislators didn't deserve a $5,000 raise they had just voted themselves.

Del Rio's name is better known today. He left the Legislature and moved on to greater glory as a Detroit judge. Recently he was bumped off the bench, charged with a long list of indiscretions, all of which were well chronicled by the media and require no repeating to help me make today's point.

The point is that factory workers are too often labeled dumb, simply because they wear sweat socks to work and get their shirts dirty. It is past time for someone to holler "Foul," so here I am, hollering.

I was reminded of my 11-year-old hassle with Del Rio by two angry letters to the editor which recently appeared in my favorite newspaper. The writers had been angered by an article entitled "Daughters Following Dad's Footsteps."

The article told about four daughters who work at the same occupations as their fathers — lawyer, dentist, business and assembly line. The duo who work on the assembly line are back. The other three pairs are white.

This is what made the letter writers mad. They accused the newspaper of racism, in that the blue-collar workers are black, and the white-collar workers are white. Why didn't the newspaper publicize a black father and daughter who are practicing law, for instance? There are several such duos in Detroit.

The implication is clear: There is something degenerative about being a factory worker. It is a marvelous thing to tell the world that a daughter has followed her father into dentistry. It is an insulting thing to reveal that a daughter is working on the assembly line, the same as her old man.

This is the same sort of judgment that Del Rio made in suggesting I should trade my typewriter for a punch press. It is a judgment based more on snobbery than on reality.

I used to work in factories, but I was so dumb at it that I went into the newspaper business.

My first real job was in a Chrysler parts plant. I moved skids on a little truck. The second day I dropped a skid on my foot, and I limped for a month. This was the first time I heard a foreman call me dumb. I soon got used to it.

In another factory, I was a stock picker. Written orders would come down from heaven, or somewhere, and my job was to fill them by picking the right auto part out of the correct bin. Please excuse the vulgarity, but after one week, this foreman told me I couldn't pick my nose.

There were other similar jobs — even a return engagement at Chrysler where my co-workers ran a betting pool based on what time of day the foreman would first curse me. But you get the idea.

Their motives were more noble, but those letter writers were as wrong as Del Rio in looking down on factory workers. To each his own.

There are a multitude of factory jobs that I can't perform adequately. And I proved it by flopping at comparatively easy tasks. If I had been allowed near the complicated machinery, I might have become an integral part of a Chrysler fender.

Factories require better fathers — and daughters — than many of us desk jockies who need help changing our typewriter ribbons. Otherwise, this mechanical world would fall apart.

There are no more rotten eggs in factories than there are in newspapers, or in legislatures. And they come in all colors.

Many would enjoy seeing the man who invented the budget system on a vacation trip.

HOUSE FIRE -- There was little left that was usable Wednesday, Oct. 19, after a fire in the home on Greenland Road being rented by Clyde Leiterman.

Fire heavily damages Greenland Road house

Fire late Wednesday morning, Oct. 19, resulted in extensive damage to an old farm home on Greenland Road, about 1 1/2 miles north of M-81.

Eikland Township Fire Chief Jim Jezewski said the fire apparently started in a second floor bedroom, where the stovepipe from a wood-burning stove on the first floor came through the bedroom floor. When firemen arrived, the bedroom was already engulfed in flames.

Renting the home was Clyde Leiterman, who was there with a friend when the fire started.

Jezewski said the home's owner, Bill Hacker, who lives on Greenland Road south of M-81, told him the house probably wouldn't be rebuilt as it was in relatively poor condition to start with and was not insured.

The majority of damage was in the bedroom and the other room on the second floor and in the living room.

The fire chief guessed that the house probably wasn't worth more than $5,000 before the fire. It had no electricity or running water, he said.

Firemen were at the scene about one hour.

Gagetown volunteer firemen extinguished a minor car fire in the afternoon Oct. 13.

According to Fire Chief Chuck Wright, John Pasanski of Cass City got gas at a Gagetown service station. The fire started when he started his car because of a leak in the fuel line. Damage was estimated at $25-30.

Editor's Corner

We need to bite the bullet. There's no easy way to curb the skyjacking that has been with us now for the last 15 years.

We've dented it with elaborate safety precautions at the airports in the United States and I presume in most foreign countries as well.

It's harder now to steal a plane loaded with passengers. Harder but patently not impossible. These outrages persist.

Maybe there is no way that they can be eliminated. But I have to think that the Germans have the right approach. No deals ever.

That may sound harsh. Let's face it. It is harsh. Certainly I can commensurate with the innocent victims. And if it were me or mine hung up with one of those kooks, certainly I would want to deal at all costs.

No one can be objective when they are personally involved.

I've read somewhere that nearly all police departments have an understanding. No criminal walks away because of a police hostage.

Do everything you can to talk the victims free and the criminal to justice. But you never turn them loose.

The police do it for a good sound reason, I suspect. They know that if they deal they put everyone in uniform in an untenable position. They want the crooks to know that going the hostage route is nothing but double trouble. They make it unprofitable to snatch a cop.

That's tough on an individual policeman who is snatched anyway. But in the long run it makes every cop's job a little safer.

And I submit that it would do the same for the airline passengers and crews.

I've been talking here about the skyjacking for the release of prisoners and other political reasons.

Not the hijacking for money. That's a different ball game.

They want money, give them money. If you can buy a couple of hundred lives for a million bucks or whatever the going rate is, why not?

It's a losing game. The first guy that tried it is still at large. (Some folks say he is dead. Who knows?) But the guys that followed in his footsteps have had a short career stopping at jail.

Now skyjacking is a capital offense and skyjacking for money alone gets rarer and rarer.

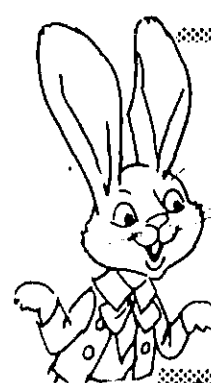

There's no rational way to deal with the left wing or right wing radicals that make plane and passenger abducting almost a regular thing.

The Germans have adopted a "no quarter" stance. Only time will tell if this approach will do what it's designed to do.

But if it doesn't work I can't think of anything that will. It would work with you and me. It would work with any sane person.

But you have to be insane to do what these guys do. So maybe it won't work.

If it doesn't, nothing will. Here's one vote for giving it a try.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

There's been concern among local land owners that if they grant written permission to hunt their property they become legally liable for accidents.

That's not true as long as no fee is charged or there is no gross negligence or willful misconduct of the owner.

Getting up will be easier next week. The time switches Sunday and it will be daylight again when I roll out of the sack. That's great, great, great.

Jack McDaniel, Ed Karr, Tim Grassmann and his dad won't win any medals for their hunting prowess. They returned from Wyoming with just one antelope after a 10-day trip. We were selective, says Jack, and wanted to shoot only bucks.

As I said, that record won't win medals. The quartet should get some kind of award for the way they made the trip.

It took them 25 hours to get there and 26 hours to get back ... and all that travelling was in a motor home. Get out the hero medals.

There will be more stores open than ever before in Cass City the Sundays in December before Christmas.

It's a trend that has been growing here for the past three years. It's growing because it apparently solves a customer need for the family shopper.

Regular readers of this trivia have informed me that there is another horse barn in Cass City. Besides the two previously mentioned there is one at the home of Hugh Lautner.

No way can you call Cass City a one-horse (barn) town.

There have been two men who coached in Cass City who went on to state recognition. One is Bill Kelly, former Central Michigan's head mentor, and the other is Paul Smarks.

Smarks is now recovering from brain surgery according to an article brought in by Mrs. Ella Croft. He started coaching here out of college 50 years ago. He stayed at the Croft home.

The name will be familiar to local sports buffs because the most coveted award for boys at Cass City High School is the Paul Smarks trophy, named after the school's illustrious coaching grad.

There's no doubt that the girls' basketball team in Cass City is not as talented as last year's.

But it's equally obvious that the level of play is improving by leaps and bounds. Every so often now you see a girl using her left hand and making moves that were never seen as little as two years ago.

The girls are getting better. Not just in Cass City, but all over the Thumb and, I presume, in the State.

If you haven't seen them play recently, drop up to the school for the next home game. You'll be surprised.

Three ways to save on heating bills . . . ... one of them is FREE

This Freidrich Energy Economiser natural gas furnace can actually keep you warmer while using less gas.

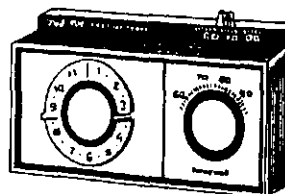

If your furnace is more than 10 years old or it's a coal-conversion gas unit, a new energy-efficient furnace can mean a significant saving in natural gas over the heating season because of features like these:

Automatic pilotless electric ignition means you're using gas only when your thermostat calls for heat.

An Automatic Flue Damper keeps heat in your heating system and prevents cold drafts from coming down the chimney or warm air from being drawn up it.

See this compact energy-efficient furnace today at Southeastern Michigan Gas Company.

Band uniforms arrive — new brighter color

The new Cass City Red Hawk band uniforms have finally arrived.

The Marching 100 will take the field in living color for the first time in the 1977 season for their final home appearance Friday.

The new uniforms are a three-piece suit consisting of marching coat, concert coat, and trousers.

The marching coat was designed keeping the overlay look of the previous coats but with fewer accessories and a better fit.

The new coat also follows a nationwide trend to brighten traditionally dull colors on the field. It is a brighter shade of maroon or cranberry than might be expected, due to the number of nighttime appearances by the Marching Band. (The darker maroon tends to turn black whenever the light gets dim.)

The concert uniform, which is of lighter weight for indoors, is the traditional deep maroon and is cut like a formal tuxedo with a shawl collar trimmed in silver.

Both coats are worn over the same silver-trimmed wool trousers.

For those who cannot attend the debut of the Red Hawks' new look Friday night, there is a fashion-show concert being planned for November. The concert will showcase both uniforms, some of the music from the 77 football season, and a preview of the coming concert season.

Youth meet

Twenty-five attended the Youth meeting Sunday evening at Salem U.M. church. Mrs. Eldred Kelley presided at the short business meeting and Karen Siders and Joan Umphenbach were in charge of devotions.

A unique part of the meeting was a burial service, conducted in the back yard at the parsonage, when youths tossed papers on which they had listed various sins into the grave.

Refreshments for the meeting were provided by Paula Auvi.

Letter to the Editor

We had to call walk off

Dear Sir,

Last Saturday there was supposed to be a Big Brother and Big Sister "Walk-A-Thon" here in Cass City. Even though we had a very nice day for it, only four youngsters and one adult showed up at the park to walk the 10 miles. For this reason (lack of enough participants), we called it off.

I hope everyone that pledged to give some money for each mile walked will still give. Even though the miles were not walked, the money will still go to the Tuscola County Big Brothers and Big Sisters.

I would like to thank those five that did care enough to walk and also all the businesses that donated to provide refreshments for the walkers. Because we didn't need the refreshments after all, I would like to donate the money I collected for it over to the Big Brothers and Big Sisters from the Cass City businesses.

I know that the children who spent time knocking on doors to collect pledges were disappointed that the walk did not take place.

I think that the children that are even more disappointed than these are those that need and pray for a Big Brother and Big Sister of their own. Because of a lack of interest in our community these children must be very discouraged that they'll ever have an adult friend.

Today there are three children in Cass City on a waiting list. I hope that if a "Walk-A-Thon" is scheduled for next year that more people will show an interest to help these children.

Sincerely,

Alan Kleo

P.S. A special thanks to those who donated their time to help in this "Walk-A-Thon".

General Cable earnings up

General Cable Corporation reported Oct. 20 net earnings of $17,306,000 or $1.21 per share, for the nine months ended Sept. 30, an increase of 49 per cent from the net earnings of $11,597,000, or 81 cents per share for the first nine months of 1976. Sales for the nine months increased 91 per cent to $465,063,000 from $243,129,000 in 1976.

In the third quarter, General Cable recorded net earnings of $5,248,000 or 37 cents per share, an increase of 75 per cent from the third quarter earnings in 1976 of $3,005,000, or 21 cents per share. Sales during the third quarter were $155,040,000, up 90 per cent from the $81,577,000 in the same quarter last year.

The major increase in both sales and earnings over last year is largely attributable to the acquisition of Sprague Electric Company, of which General Cable now owns approximately 97 per cent of the outstanding shares of common stock.

Laud Zonta Club for fund raising

The Zonta Club held their monthly dinner meeting at Wildwood Farms Tuesday evening, Oct. 18.

Plans for new projects were discussed to raise money for civic and international funds.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Edith Little with a silent and open auction for fund raising.

A report was given by delegates Shirley Buschlen and Loretta Hacker on the fall conference held in Kalamazoo earlier this month. Members attending the conference, in addition to the delegates, were Caroline Benscoter, Helen Baker, Betty Hurst, and Edith Little.

Caroline Benscoter was on the resolution committee for District 15.

The Cass City club was given first place in civic projects and was awarded a citation for raising $20,000 for funds for completing the swimming pool donated by the late Helen Stevens, charter member of the Zonta Club.

The second award was given for the purchase of a machine called the Jaws of Life by a Zonta club for its community. It is a machine that has saved many lives in accidents where a vehicle has to be dismantled to get out the victim.

The speaker at the conference was Mrs. Doris Bond of New York who is a U.N. observer for Zonta International.

She is permitted to observe the United Nations, make statements, and may be called upon at any time to give information on women. She attends weekly briefings.

Zonta is a non-governmental organization. It attends meetings on the status of women with representatives from 32 countries. Zonta International will be represented at the Commission on Human Rights, which meets this year in Geneva.

PEDALING AROUND

Locks, rods, getting lost

By Mike Eliasohn

Having now lived in Cass City for four months -- the first time I have resided in the Thumb -- I have finally figured out how to tell the natives from the newcomers.

We ex-city folk wouldn't dream of walking away from our cars without locking the doors.

In contrast, the natives not only don't lock their car doors, they leave their keys in the car and look askance at everybody who does take their keys and lock their doors.

In defense of not leaving car keys in vehicles, I point out that last week's Chronicle carried reports of five cars and one pickup being stolen in Tuscola county. Not all of them had the keys inside, but some did.

Reflecting my own prejudices on the subject, whenever a police report on a stolen vehicle mentions that the keys were left inside, I mention it in the story.

I suspect a lot of house doors in the area never get locked either, but I'm not about to go around trying to open doors to find out.

Another contrast relates to distances and locations.

One of my duties at the Monroe Evening News was being the farm reporter so in the 2 1/2 years I was there, I met lots of farmers. But never once did I ever hear any of them mention any distance in rods.

But my first week here, when I had to go out to a farm to do a story, the farmer said his house was X number of rods from the corner.

When I asked him to translate, the tone was one of "what kind of a ninny am I dealing with."

So now I know. A rod is 16 1/2 feet. Next, I'm going to learn how big an acre is.

As for location, ask someone out in the country where they live, and they'll tell you something like three north and one east, instead of saying I live on such-and-such road.

That's actually a good idea, especially in Sanilac county where erecting road signs at intersections doesn't seem to have too high a priority with that county's road commission.

My only problem is that maybe I'm supposed to drive five miles east of some road and then I forget what the odometer reading was when I was "zero miles east."

So for those of you who have never met me, I'm the fellow who always locks his car, carries around a tape measure that is at least 16 1/2 feet long, and is probably lost.

Sheriff gets 598 complaints

The Tuscola County Sheriff's Department received 598 calls in September concerning criminal matters.

The most common were for traffic violations, 218; larcenies, 73; disorderly conduct, 54; vandalism, 50; burglaries, 39; and domestic problems, 34.

Of the 57 arrests during the month, 19 were for traffic violations, obstruction of justice, seven, and family offenses and drunkenness, five each.

Of 151 traffic violation tickets issued, 79 were for speeding and 18 for stop sign violations.

Patrol units traveled 31,775 miles and consumed 2,739 gallons of gasoline.

The county jail received 112 inmates in September, of whom 12 were females, and released 103.

The state police post in Caro made 20 arrests during the month, of which 12 were for traffic violations and four for liquor violations.

The Cass City Police Department made five arrests, of which three were for traffic violations and one each for a liquor violation and drunkenness.

By township in September, the number of complaints received and accidents reported respectively were: Columbia, 8 and 1; Elkland, 58 and 0; Ellington, 8 and 0; Elmwood, 10 and 1; Kingston, 25 and 0; and Novesta, 11 and 2.

Pregnant workers should get benefits

The U.S. Supreme Court is deliberating the question of whether employers can deny sick leave benefits to pregnant women workers.

A second question before the court is whether employers can specify when such women must go on unpaid maternity leave.

The U.S. Senate has already approved a bill, now before the House of Representatives, that would require employers to include pregnancy benefits in any workers' disability programs they offer.

Mae White feels that women workers should receive sick leave benefits when pregnant and not able to work.

"You work all the time," she said. "I don't know why you shouldn't be entitled to it (sick pay benefits)."

As to the question of when a pregnant woman should leave her job, she feels it should be up to the woman and her doctor. "If you're able to work, you should be able to keep on working."

Mrs. White and her husband, Frank, live at 5873 N. Cemetery Road. They have seven children, of whom the youngest, Lisa, 15, is the only one still at home, and five grandchildren.

Mrs. White is employed at General Cable Corp.

AARP holds meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Cass City chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons was held Oct. 13. A total of 47 members and guests attended.

Blood pressure checks were given by volunteer nurses Jerrie Tonti and Lucile Stein.

Helen Little has been appointed assistant secretary; Sherman Beyette, legislative assistant; and Marie Koch, assistant treasurer.

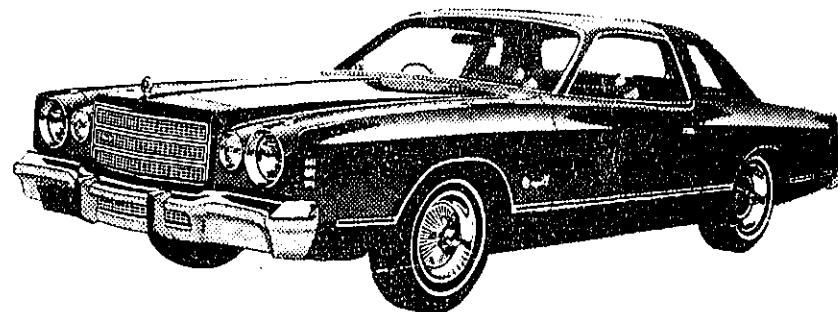

Thanksgiving dinner will be held Thursday, Nov. 10, at the Lutheran Fellowship Hall at 12:30 p.m. Price is $3.75.

Dinner will be under the direction of the Lutheran Ladies Aid Society.

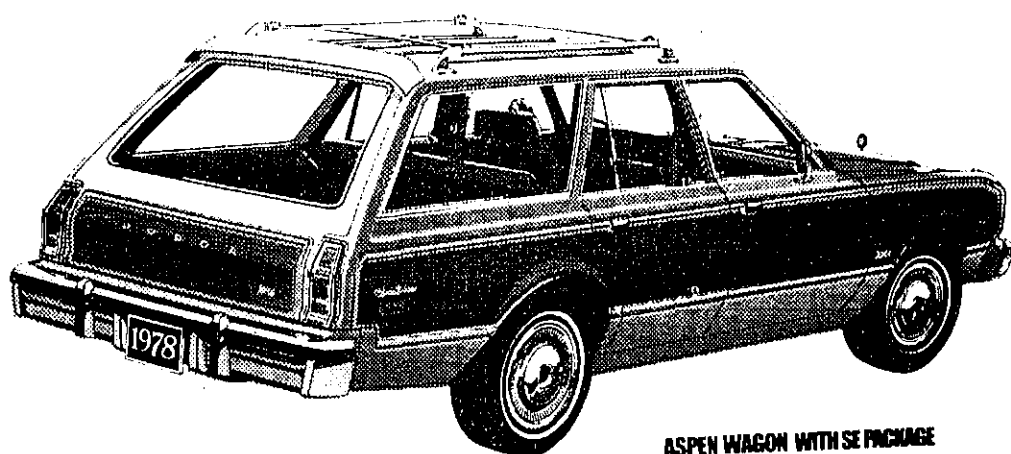

A Defensive Driving Program will be sponsored by the Chapter Nov. 28-29. Classes will be from 9:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m. both days, with a certificate of defensive driving given on completion.

The fee will be $2 per member or $5 for non-members. Any person over 55 is invited to participate. For information, call Sherman Beyette at 673-3459 or Charles Simon, 683-2340.

*Bad Axe here Friday for parents' nightCaro rolls over Hawks on ground, 22-14

The Cass City Red Hawks will close their home season Friday when they entertain the Bad Axe Hatchets in a game pitting two teams with mediocre records. When Cass City lost at Caro last Friday, 22-14, it was the final blow in turning a season bright with promise and dreams of championships to one where the club will be playing for pride only.

The Tigers rolled over the Hawks with a powerful ground game. There was nothing fancy about the Tiger attack. Big Jake Emiling just rolled through the Hawks from tackle to tackle for most of his yardage. The Hawks were simply unable to cope with the Tiger forward wall.

Cass City's attack was hurt when Clarke Haire suffered an injury to the back that hampered his running. He carried only five times for 4 yards all night.

Some of the slack was taken up by Wally Laming who gained nearly all of Cass City's yardage on the ground. He picked up 55 yards in 12 attempts, including a dash of 29 yards for a touchdown.

His dash put the Hawks back in the game. Before his run Caro dominated all of the action.

The Tigers scored first midway through the first quarter. Emiling broke two tackles in a 37-yard jaunt. The try for point was missed.

History repeated itself a few minutes later as a snap over punter Shane French's head resulted in a safety for the Tigers. It was an exact duplicate of a play against the Lakers the previous week.

The Tigers moved in front 14-0 early in the second period. Emiling took a hand off, ran through his own left tackle, veered to the sidelines and scored on a 49-yard jaunt. The Hawks went to work and tied the score by half-time. After Laming scored, Jeff Hartel took to the air to key a drive that moved to the one, from where Laming bounced over to score. Paul Harmer continued his sensational extra point kicking and at the intermission the score was tied, 14-all.

The Hawks received plenty of breaks in the first half. The Tigers turned the ball over three times on fumbles but Cass City couldn't convert on any of the opportunities.

In the last half, Caro threatened a couple of times before a sustained drive down field on the ground resulted in the winning marker.

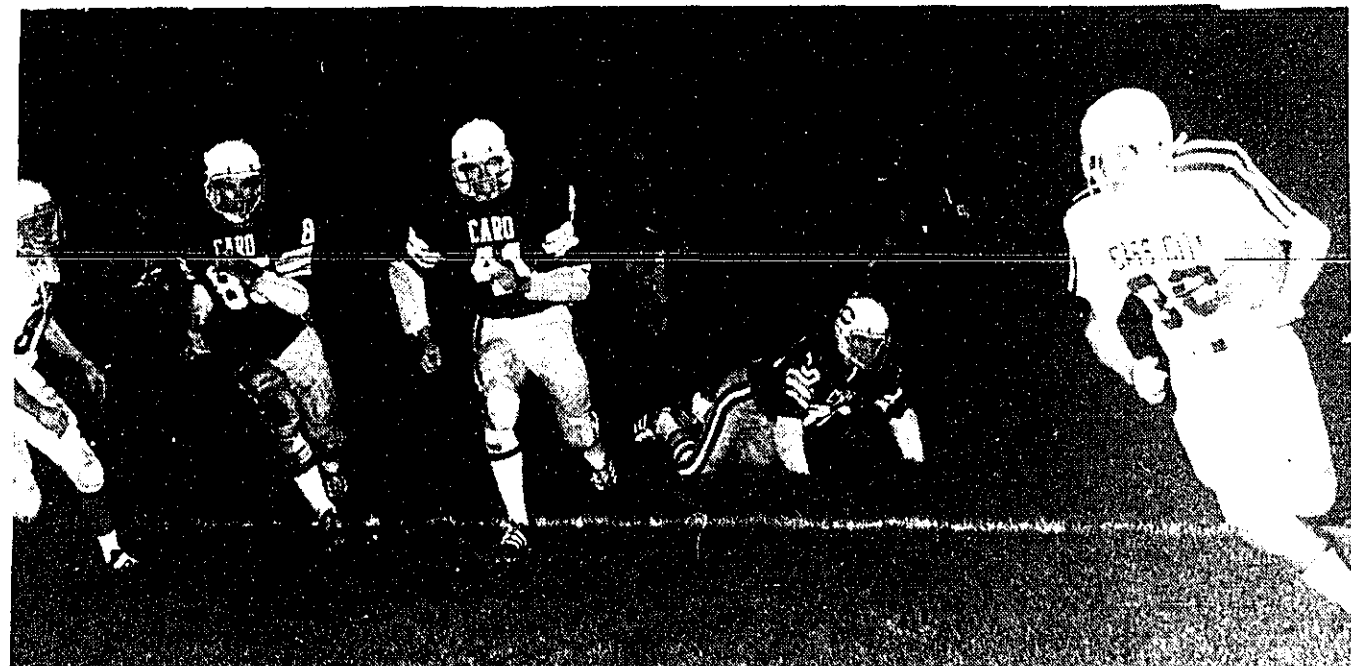

Like the losses in the previous two games the defeat came in the final period as the opponents used power football. Cass City has been unable to stop the running attack through the middle of the line. Emiling scored on a three-yard run.

Coach Roland Pakonen has designated the final home game of the season as parents' night. Parents of the players will be introduced prior to the game.

The statistics:

	CC	C
1st downs	10	11
Rushes-yds.	22 55	48-321
Pass Att-Comp	29-14	9-4
Pass int.	1	0

Tot. yds.	187	356
Penalties	30	50
Fumbles lost	1	4

WALLY LAMING scampers around his own left end for 29 yards and a touchdown. It was one of the few bright spots for Hawk fans against Caro.

JV's upset Frankenmuth*Cagers lose to loop powers

Cass City varsity basketball team won one game in its last three starts but the junior varsity just keeps rolling along with victory after victory.

The varsity dropped games to Sandusky and Frankenmuth while winning over Bad Axe. The JV's won all three games.

Monday night, the varsity lost a 54-37 decision to Sandusky. Details were not available. The Redskins used superior height to control the boards in the win at Cass City High School.

The JV's had little trouble with the Sandusky JV's in the preliminary, winning, 48-29, behind 14 points by Padgett Randall.

Last Wednesday at Frankenmuth the Eagles showed again why they are the class of the Thumb B Conference with a 71-25 rout of the Hawks. The winners rolled to an 18-3 first period lead and it was all over for Cass City. At the half the score was 29-15. The Eagles continued to outscore Cass City in every period with a big 22-2 advantage in the third quarter and 20-8 advantage in the fourth.

Nancy Tonti scored 10 and Vicki Lapp, 8, for Cass City.

Linda Mossner led all scorers with 25 for Frankenmuth.

Hawk fans would rather talk about the JV results with Frankenmuth. The Hawks broke a 43-game winning streak for the Eagle JV with a 46-39 decision.

Randall scored 16 and Libby Hartel netted 13. Hartel also was credited with 15 rebounds while Randall and Vicki Pobanz each were credited with 10.

Monday, Oct. 17, the Hawks topped Bad Axe 36-32.

Cass City moved in front in the first half and then held on to win against a Hatchet rally in the final two periods.

It was 13-7 at the end of the first quarter and 24-16 at the intermission. The Hawks held their advantage in the third quarter and then held on in a sloppy final period to win.

The Hawks were able to score just two points in the final 8 minutes. Bad Axe wasn't much better, scoring with just four points in the final quarter.

Kim Witherspoon with 11 led the attack for Cass City. Kelly Winter scored 7. Nancy Tonti, Linda Sieradzki and Wendy Ware played a fine defensive game.

For Bad Axe Sandy Havens with 11 points was the high scorer.

Second row: Randy Severance, Brian deBeaubien, Tom Loomis, Mike Loomis, Jim Jensen, John Warju, Mike O'Dell, Brian Bills, Doug Hyatt.

JV squad posting winning record

With one game left to play the Cass City Junior Varsity football team has a 4-2 record. Coach Don Schelke's charges started strong and, like the varsity, trailed off in its last two games.

With one game left the Hawks have posted wins over Frankenmuth, 14-12; Sandusky, 18-14; Marquette, 32-6; Vassar, 6-0. Losses have been to Lakers, 22-0, and Caro, 24-22.

Quarterback Rusty Hoag has posted 424 yards rushing in 53 carries and 454 yards passing with 37 completions in 60 attempts.

Bob Sawdon has 498 yards rushing in 101 carries. Ken Martin is the leading pass receiver with 16 catches for 161 yards. Earney Stoutenburg has 14 catches for 195 yards and Mike Stec, 6 catches for 88 yards.

On defense, Jim Nicol leads the way with 151 tackle points. Bob O'Dell has 132 points. Stoutenburg has 3 pass interceptions and Jack Groombridge 3 fumble recoveries.

Owen-Gage faces Peck in loop final

Bulldogs fall in title battle

The Bulldogs of coach Arnie Besonen have only one chance left this week end, and that will only be for half a loaf.

The team's hope for a third straight North Central D League crown were dashed Friday by a heartbreaking 8-7 loss to Akron-Fairgrove.

which is in its first season in the division. Both teams were undefeated in league play going into the contest.

Owen-Gage's only possibility for a share of the league title is if Carsonville-Port Sanilac, now 3-3, can defeat the Vikings Friday night while it defeats Peck Saturday afternoon. League play ends this week end.

Looking ahead to Saturday's contest, Besonen said, "We have to regroup our forces to maintain our status. Peck has a reputation as being a spoiler so we have to be prepared to come back after our loss." Peck, 1-5 in league play, will host the game.

As for the Akron-Fairgrove game, the coach said, "Many factors contributed to the outcome of this game, but we have no excuse for losing."

The Bulldogs made their own only score of the game in the first quarter, on a six-yard run around the right side by Roger Ziehm. Tom Howard kicked the extra point.

Also in the first quarter, Howard attempted a 31-yard field goal, but the effort fell a few feet short.

The tough Bulldog defense held the Vikings scoreless until there was only 1:45 left in the third quarter, when all-state fullback candidate Rod Wood made it over the goal line from about one yard out. Wood then carried the ball over for two more points, for what proved to be the winning margin.

The wet, muddy field proved more of a hindrance for the Bulldogs, who were only able to gain 57 yards on the ground, on 30 carries.

Howard had 12 carries for 41 yards, Brad Erickson, 10 for eight yards, and Ziehm, eight for eight.

In contrast, the Vikings gained 226 yards rushing, on 50 carries. Rod Wood led the attack with 23 carries good for 158 yards.

In the air, Ziehm had seven completions, out of 14 attempts and threw two interceptions. Mark Sontag caught three of the passes for 40 yards and Tim Lorenz caught two, for 18 yards.

Akron-Fairgrove's John Oberlein passed three times for the visitors and made one completion, which Jim Russell caught for a 17-yard gain.

The Bulldogs made four first downs, the Vikings, six. Heading the tough Bulldog defense was Mark McDonald, who made 19 tackles, followed by Ziehm, 10; Howard, nine; Erickson, five, plus one fumble recovery, and Jerry Harbuck, five.

Earl Haney and Joe Volk each had nine tackles for the Vikings, followed by Bruce Turner with five and Reg Goodchild with four.

Both teams fumbled once. Akron-Fairgrove had the only penalties, four for a total of 30 yards.

Friday night's bitter defeat was the last home game for the Bulldogs, who after Saturday's game at Peck close out the season Nov. 4 at Alcona High School.

Score by quarters:

A-F	0	0	8	0	8
O-G	7	0	0	0	7

PASS COMPLETION - Dick Glidden snagged a Roger Ziehm pass in the fourth quarter, only to be pulled down by Akron-Fairgrove's Jeff Valentine (84). Other players identifiable in the photo are Jerry Harbuck (60), Owen-Gage; Earl Haney (70), A-F; and Shawn Sheridan (85), A-F.

All alone on top

Owen-Gage aims for unbeaten year

It was Owen-Gage alone on top of the North Central D League standings last week in girls' basketball following victories over North Huron -- which could have tied for the top spot if it had won -- and

Port Austin. At North Huron Tuesday night, Owen-Gage was the winner, 50-41. The nine point margin is the closest any team has come to defeating coach Judy Campbell's squad this season, with non-league Harbor Beach the only team besides Port Austin to come that close.

Top scorer for the Bulldogs was Laurie Andrakowicz with 13 points followed by Mary Lenhard with 11 and Tammy Wissner, 10. The trio was also tops in rebounds, with 21, 13, and 8 respectively.

Owen-Gage outrebounded the home team 31-26. Top scorers for North Huron were Terry Ender with 19 and Ruthann Andreski with 11.

The game Tuesday night marked the mid-point for the North Central D League. The mid-season standings are given below.

In junior varsity play, Owen-Gage won 26-17.

The action Thursday night was at Port Austin, where Owen-Gage had an easy win, 55-21.

Bulldog top scorers were Carol Goslin, 17, Mary Lenhard, 14, and Dawn Erickson, 10.

Laurie Andrakowicz grabbed 13 rebounds, followed by Mary Lenhard with 12.

The visitors outrebounded the home squad 47-33.

Top scorer for Port Austin was Debbie Jennings with nine.

Owen-Gage won the reserve game 39-16.

This week, the Bulldogs entertained Peck Tuesday night and travel to Carsonville-Port Sanilac Thursday night.

The Tuesday, Nov. 1, game against Akron-Fairgrove at Owendale will be interesting in more ways than one. The Vikings are now second in the league standings, so the league crown will be on the line.

Secondly, coach Campbell is from A-F and her mother, a school bus driver, has been assigned to drive the team bus that night, Sept. 29, when the Bulldogs played at Akron-Fairgrove. Miss Campbell's parents sat at mid-court. Owen-Gage won that night, the Vikings only loss so far in league play.

TOWNSHIP HALL -- The Elmwood Township Hall had a lowered ceiling. But after brothers Leslie and Clayton Beach removed the ceiling panels and support beams, it looked more like a church (at left), which the building was originally.

Rain causes mold in corn

Weather conditions during September were conducive to widespread mold growth in much of Michigan's corn, posing a feeding problem for swine producers.

Infected corn will appear pinkish at the tip of the ear, as will individual kernels beneath the pericarp near the embryo.

Pigs will shy away from moldy corn instinctively, and they should not be forced to eat it. The mold poisons (mycotoxins) cause vomiting and diarrhea, will cause abortions of pregnant sows and gilts, and premature mammary development and enlargement of the vulva in very young gilts, according to A. Rex Sieting, Sanilac county extension director.

Producers are advised to obtain corn supplies from the 1976 crop rather than trying to feed this year's harvest. Another alternative is to substitute wheat on a pound for pound basis; it is just about the same as corn in energy and protein. To prevent digestive problems, use on a medium grind. Extension Bulletin E-537 has recommendations for feeding other substitutes.

Producers growing their own corn might better sell it to a beef producer. Beef cattle apparently can assimilate moldy corn with no side effects.

If swine producers cannot sell this year's crop, they should get it out of the field as soon as possible. Drying, storing as HMC or treating with propionic acid will curtail further mold growth, but it will not destroy the mycotoxins already present.

Producers who are not sure if their corn contains mold can test for the undesirable molds by feeding it to finish ing hogs for four or five days, to see if they back away from it. Do not mix palatable corn in storage with corn which the hogs refuse to eat.

If there is no alternative but to feed moldy corn, it can be used best by the finishing hogs. It should be fed in either ear or shelled form so they can sort out the bad kernels. Grinding and mixing force them to eat the moldy feed and cause trouble. The protein supplement should be fed in a separate feeder.

Some molds may cause internal hemorrhaging in swine. The addition of four grams of vitamin K per ton of total ration will help prevent this problem.

There have been many attempts to improve consumption of moldy corn by adding molasses, meat scraps, milk products, etc., but the results of this have not been satisfactory.

Laura Smith at Huntington

Laura Marie Smith, a graduate of Cass City High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale D. Smith of 4433 Cedar Run Rd., has enrolled at Huntington College for the 1977-78 school year.

A four-year, coeducational, Christian, liberal arts college, Huntington College is sponsored by the Church of the United Brethren in Christ. Located in Huntington, Indiana, it has 575 students.

Started out as a church

Old township hall demolished

A church, a basketball court, a township hall.

It all came to an end last Thursday when the wreckers demolished the Elmwood township hall in Gageton.

In its place will go the new township-village hall and fire station.

According to the cornerstone, the building started out as the Grace church in 1881.

Mrs. Cecil Loomis, 78, remembers going to the church as a small girl but doesn't remember much more than that.

She said it was then known as the Episcopal church or sometimes, the Old English church.

When she was still young, the church closed its doors, but she doesn't know the exact reason. It then stood empty for some years.

The next use of the church was for basketball practice by students at Gageton High School.

Two men who remember playing there are brothers Leslie and Clayton Beach, who graduated in 1928 and 1930 respectively.

Leslie lives on Walsh Road, outside of Gageton, and Clayton, in Munger.

Earlier this month, the two, having received the okay of the township board, were removing all salvageable materials from the inside, such as boards and ceiling panels.

When they attended the high school, the brothers explained, it didn't have a gymnasium. The church, only about a block away from the school, was used for basketball practice. It was only big enough for a half-court, with the basket where the altar once was.

Actual games were played at the old Methodist church in Gageton, which was torn down some years ago.

The 1928 squad of which Leslie was a member defeated Caro for the county championship. Clayton belonged to the 1930 team, which also played Caro for the county championship. Caro came out the winner that year.

The building was apparently purchased by the township sometime around 1930.

The cornerstone was saved by the crew which demolished the structure. Township supervisor Roy Messer didn't know whether it will be incorporated into the structure of the new building or put on display.

Construction of the new building, being paid for with $150,000 in federal public works funds, will start this fall.

Break-ins reported in Deford, Kingston

Al Dandron of Rt. 1 Crawford Road, Deford, reported to the sheriff's department Sunday night that his house was entered some time during the day.

Taken were a color television, eight-place china set, miscellaneous dishes, bedding and linen, wall gun rack, and three suitcases. Total value of the stolen items was $260.

James A. Mester of Deford told deputies Tuesday, Oct. 18, that Trapper Jim's hunting lodge, 4300 E. Sanilac Road, Kingston, was entered some time the previous day.

Taken were his muzzle loading rifle, valued at $200, and a compound bow, owned by Daniel Brigham of Filion. The value wasn't immediately known.

Robert Ryland of 4242 S. Seeger Street told Cass City police Thursday, Oct. 20, that a tackle box was stolen from his pickup truck while parked behind the Gamble's store on Main Street two days earlier.

Value of the equipment in the tackle box was $200.

Louis Molnar of 5827 Bruce Street, Deford, reported to state police in Caro Sunday morning that some time after 5 p.m. the previous day, someone threw mustard on the front of his house.

In addition, mustard, peas, mayonnaise, and hot chocolate were splashed over his car, parked alongside the east side of the house, from "bumper to bumper."

Caro state police were searching for a car involved in two incidents Saturday, both reported to them Sunday.

The incidents took place about 8:45 p.m.

Brenda Vollmar, daughter of Royal Vollmar of 2282 W. Dickerson Road, Unionville, told officers a car had backed into their yard. The driver then accelerated rapidly, the spinning wheels digging two trenches in their yard.

Ken Haag of 5423 Jacob Road, Gageton, told officers when he was westbound on Dickerson Road, the suspect vehicle almost struck his car in the side when passing him.

The vehicle then stopped, then started off at high speed, fishtailing in both lanes. At the railroad tracks near Colling, it stopped again. Haag passed the car, which then started up and tried to force him off the road.

Larry A. Samuelson of Rt. 2 E. Dutcher Road, Cass City, reported to sheriff's deputies Thursday, Oct. 20, that someone tried the previous night to pry the locked chain off his gasoline storage tank.

Being unsuccessful, the person broke a filler pipe off the tank, allowing gasoline to spill onto the ground. Approximately 140 gallons were in the tank. Missing was a 15-gallon gasoline can.

Single parents set November schedule

Big Brothers/Big Sisters

A fourteen-year-old boy from the Gagetown area is looking for a Big Brother to share his interests. Farming, swimming, sports, fishing, and motorcycles are among his varied interests. His friendliness and personality would make him a good companion.

In Caro is a 10-year-old fellow who eats, sleeps and drinks football! He has dark hair and eyes and is a bit shy. When football season is over, he enjoys bowling and fishing. Is there a man who has the same interests?

A pretty, vivacious, 12-year-old girl from Caro needs a Big Sister. She loves movies, dancing, roller skating and football games. She would enjoy learning how to cook. Her friendly and outgoing personality would make her a delightful Little Sister.

Big Brothers-Big Sisters in Tuscola county is located at 230 N. State Street, Caro, telephone 673-6996; in Huron county at 121 N. Heisterman Street, Bad Axe, telephone 269-7264; in Sanilac county at P.O. Box 1, Sandusky, telephone 648-4433.

County board asked for legal library

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners was asked Tuesday to construct a law library.

Making the request were District Judge Richard F. Kern, Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements, Probate Judge W. Wallace Kent Jr., Prosecutor Patrick Joslyn, and attorneys Clinton House and Leo Maki.

Proposed was that the circuit courtroom be shortened by 15 feet to make room for the library.

It was reported that 400-500 law books are in the courthouse now, scattered among such departments as the prosecutor's office and judges' offices.

By putting all the books in one library, fewer duplicate books would have to be purchased in the future and the library could be used by private attorneys, as well as by the judges, prosecutor's office, and other staff members.

The request was referred to the building and grounds committee.

The board accepted the bid of Burton-Moore Ford, Inc., of Caro, for a four-wheel-drive pickup truck, equipped with hydraulically operated snow plow blade. Its bid of $4,747, which included the trade-in of a two-wheel-drive pickup, was the lowest of four received.

The truck will be used by the department of public works for clearing snow from county parking lots and for various odd jobs.

The board discussed several other matters during the day but took no formal action.

The hearing on the 1978 county budget will be at 2 p.m. as part of the board's Nov. 8 meeting.

Dogs are needed to aid the blind

The Leader Dog school in Rochester is looking for dogs.

The dogs are usually German shepherd, black Labrador, or sometimes a mixed breed and must be from 1-2½ years old.

According to Alger Freiburger of the Cass City Lions Club, eight dogs from this area have graduated from the school over the years. The school is "always in need of good dogs," he said.

The latest donation, a black Labrador named "Prince" belonging to Peter Krizman, was taken to the school Oct. 14.

Krizman was given the dog by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mika of Shabbona Road, Decker, it being one of nine born to their dog "Goldie" 13 months ago.

Another of the litter, "Nickie," was raised by the Mika's son, Paul, 9, who also decided to donate it to the Leader Dog School.

The dog was taken to Rochester Monday by Freiburger and Peter Riestra, but was returned to the Mikas after testing there revealed it was afraid of traffic.

The dogs receive a preliminary test for suitability as a leader dog before being taken to Rochester, where they receive further testing when they arrive.

Reaction to traffic is not something that can be taught, Freiburger said he was told by instructors at the school. Some dogs are naturally afraid of it and others aren't.

Three local Navy men on carrier

Three Cass City men are serving aboard the Navy's newest aircraft carrier, the USS Dwight D. Eisenhower. They are:

Aviation Boatswain's Mate Airman Apprentice Ronald B. Van Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas W. Van Allen of 6306 Severance Road, A 1976 graduate of Cass City High School, he joined the Navy in October of that year.

Chief Electrician's Mate Raymond J. Irer, son of Howard G. Irer of McAlpine Road, who joined the Navy in November, 1957.

Ship's Serviceman Seaman Apprentice Edward G. Schwartz Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Schwartz Sr. of 4234 S. Seeger Street, A 1976 graduate of Cass City High School, he joined the Navy in October of that year.

The Eisenhower was commissioned Oct. 18 at the Naval Station in Norfolk, Va., which will be its home port.

Harold Brown, Secretary of Defense, was the guest speaker and Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, widow of the late general and president, was the honored guest at the commissioning ceremony.

The three Cass Cityans are among the more than 3,300 officers and enlisted men assigned to the Eisenhower.

It has an overall length of 1,092 feet and a flight deck area covering four and one-half acres. Displacing more than 94,000 tons, it can travel at speeds in excess of 30 knots.

In addition to its regular crew, the Eisenhower can accommodate 100 tactical aircraft and approximately 2,800 personnel assigned to an attack aircraft wing.

It is powered by two nuclear reactors which are expected to provide more than 13 years of normal ship operation without refueling.

The Eisenhower is the second ship in the "Nimitz" class of aircraft carriers. Along with the Nimitz, it shares the distinction of being the largest naval vessel ever built.

May need millage for vocational center

Tuscola county voters may be asked this coming spring to approve a 1.75-mill proposal for construction and operation of a vocational education center to serve the entire county.

Total cost of the project has been estimated at $2.8 million, of which $1.2 million would come from the state.

Lawrence Freeman dies Oct. 19

Lawrence Freeman of Cass City died at Hills and Dales General Hospital, Wednesday, Oct. 19, where he had been a patient for 2 1/2 weeks. He had been in ill health the past year and nine months.

He was born in Saginaw, March 31, 1909, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Freeman.

He married Irene Freiburger in Saginaw Nov. 7, 1936. Following their marriage, they lived in Cass City where Freeman was in hospital management at Pleasant Home Hospital.

He was a member of the St. Pancratius church of Cass City and a member of the Knights of Columbus Council No. 3224 of Caro.

He is survived by his wife, Irene; three sons, Robert Freeman of St. Augustine, Fla., Edward Freeman of Pontiac, and William Freeman of Sterling Heights; one daughter, Dr. Ruth Ann Freeman of Flint; one brother, Frank (Andy) Freeman of Saginaw; four sisters, Mrs. Harry Comment of Saginaw, Mrs. Bert Bain of Drayton Plains, Mrs. Eileen Pennock of Mexico, and Mrs. Elmer Krauss of St. Petersburg, Fla.; and eight grandchildren. One sister, Catherine, preceded him in death.

Rosary was recited Friday night at Little's Funeral Home.

Funeral mass was held at the St. Pancratius Catholic church Saturday morning.

Rev. Father Joseph Morales officiated.

Burial was in Elkland cemetery.

Realty firm gets computer connection

J. McLeod Realty, Inc., realtors of Caro and Millington, announce a major computer service hook-up by becoming a member of Partridge and Associates, Inc. with offices throughout Michigan.

McLeod will be representing the firm in Tuscola county and in direct association with the 75 other offices. In effect this "commercial connection" gives J. McLeod Realty branch offices over the entire state.

John McLeod Jr., a native of Caro, is president of his company, and has been a broker for nine years. He has completed numerous professional real estate courses. His wife Lorraine is a Director and very active in the business. They are members of the Upper Thumb Board of Realtors and he is a director and past president. They are also members of the Tri-Valley Board of Real Estate & Listing Exchange.

the rest from the millage.

If the proposal goes on the ballot, it will be the second time the Tuscola County Intermediate School District (ISD) has made such a request. County residents in 1971 defeated a request for 2.5 mills for construction of a vocational center.

Less millage would be needed this time, according to ISD Vocational-Career Education Director William Pratt, because of the increase in the county's state equalized valuation since then and because the state now pays a higher percentage of the operating cost.

The application to the state Department of Education for the $1.2 million must first be approved by the ISD Board of Education and the Career Education Planning District council.

Approval is considered a foregone conclusion and the application to the state will probably be submitted in early November. At the same time, the ISD will be seeking endorsement of the proposal from the nine boards of education in the county. That includes Cass City, but not Owen-Gage, which is in the Huron County Intermediate School District.

Pratt said chances of getting the $1.2 million from the state are "very good." If so, the state will allocate the funds only if the millage is approved.

In turn, the ISD board won't schedule a millage election until and unless the state says it will allocate its share of the money.

Based on results of a survey of businesses, industry, parents, students, and 1976 high school graduates, Pratt said, if the center is built, it will have training facilities for the following career skills:

Auto mechanics and auto body repair, electrical occupations (electricians and electronics repair, such as televisions), drafting, child care, building trades, building maintenance, health occupations, accounting, office education, heating and air conditioning, machine shop, welding, food management, merchandising, graphic arts (printing), and agriculture, including greenhouse cultivation and landscaping.

Students would continue to take their normal subjects at their home high schools and then go to the trade center for vocational training.

The amount of vocational training they would receive at the center would vary, depending on what is offered in their home school.

For instance, a district offering secretarial training might send students to the center only for some advanced course. But students in high schools without secretarial training could receive all such training at the vocational center.

The center would take the place of the present shared-time vocational program, in which students from one high school go to other high schools to take vocational courses not offered in their own school.

The center could also serve adults, for purposes of both job training and personal enrichment courses.

Possible locations for the center are being studied by a site selection committee. One possible location is the ISD property on Cleaver Road, outside of Caro.

Of the 1.75 mills that will have to be approved by voters, Pratt said, only about .5 mill would go to pay off construction bonds, over a 10-year period or less. The rest would pay operating expenses.

It would be a charter millage, meaning the millage would continue indefinitely, unless changed by a public vote. It would not go up for renewal after a certain number of years. The ISD board could levy less millage if the full amount wasn't needed, such as after the construction bonds are paid off.

If the state education department approves funding and county residents approve the millage, Pratt said construction could conceivably start in fall, 1978. The center would open two years later, or at the latest, in the fall of 1981.

If the millage proposal for the skill center goes on the ballot, the ISD is hoping the outcome will be similar to that of a public opinion survey it conducted in September.

The telephone survey of 269 voters throughout the county, coordinated by a public opinion survey firm, showed 75 per cent in favor of a vocational education center.

Sixty per cent favored a millage for construction of the center, 22 per cent opposed it, on the grounds taxes are already too high, and 18 per cent were undecided.

Of those polled, 88 per cent were property owners and half had school-age children.

State tries to recycle highway

The state is recycling a highway.

Believe it or not, it's possible, and cheaper than laying new pavement over the old, say state highway officials.

Actually, the recycling is an experiment that some are predicting will be routine in the future.

Work began in May on a 10.5 mile stretch of I-75 in Cheboygan county. Instead of laying four to six inches of new asphalt over the work-out pavement, "recycling" involves chewing up the road surface, mixing it with a bit of new asphalt, then laying it back down.

*****

State highway officials say that by recycling that piece of road instead of resurfacing it, they're saving more than 80,000 gallons of liquid asphalt, 51,000 tons of gravel and 4,500 cubic yards of dirt for embankments - which all translates into taxpayer savings.

"It's definitely the way of the future," says state highway director John Woodford, noting that the dwindling supplies of oil are the base for asphalt.

BACKYARD OIL DRILLING?

Don't look now, but the state wants to sell oil leases on 55,000 acres of privately-owned land in northern Michigan.

And landowners wouldn't even need to be told of the planned sale of the leases to their property or their backyards.

Here's what's happening. The state sold the land, most of it between Manistee and Alpena, many years ago but kept the mineral rights. But now, the Department of Natural Resources wants to sell those rights.

Conservation program set

The 1978 agriculture conservation program (ACP) has been announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, according to Vernon L. Kretschmer, chairman of the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. Michigan has been allocated $4,364,000 for the 1978 program year.

The 1978 program includes steps to redirect ACP towards more enduring solutions for existing conservation and environmental problems which cause a reduction in the productive capacity of the nation's land and water resources or cause a degradation in environmental quality.

According to Kretschmer, practices for the 1978 ACP have been grouped into categories depending on the type of conservation problem being dealt with.

Categories include practices for the prevention of soil loss from water and wind erosion, solutions to water conservation problems, solutions to water quality problems, conservation of soil and water through forestry, conservation of wildlife habitat, and solutions for local soil and water conservation problems.

Cost-share rates may range from up to 30 per cent for low priority practices to as high as 90 per cent for high priority practices. The maximum payment per individual remains at $2,500.

Farmers are encouraged to contact their county ASCS office for additional information on the 1978 ACP.

Rev. Timothy Teall

Church has new pastor

Timothy W. Teall has wanted to be a minister since he was a young boy.

Now, at age 22, the new pastor of the First Baptist church in Cass City has accomplished that goal.

"I'm very thankful to the Lord for bringing us here," he said, referring to himself and his wife, Sharon. He added later, "I'm thrilled to be here."

As a May graduate of Spurgeon Baptist Bible College in Mulberry, Fla., he also realizes he is in a somewhat unique situation. Most new graduates in the ministry, he explained, serve some time as an assistant pastor before receiving their own pastorate.

"The Lord has been good in that I was only out of school four to five months and I had the opportunity to come here," he said.

A native of Bay City, Rev. Teall was raised in a religious family. His father, a tool and die maker at the Chevrolet plant there, was a church deacon.

While still in high school, Teall was music director at South Baptist church in Bay City. He met the assistant pastor at the First Baptist church there, and then met his daughter, who later became Mrs. Teall.

The couple was married in 1975, at the end of his sophomore year at Spurgeon. Mrs. Teall's father is now pastor of the Baptist church in Cheboygan.

Rev. Teall chose to go to the Florida college as it offered the opportunity to earn a degree and study for the ministry in a four-year program. More common is to first take undergraduate studies for four years and then go on to a seminary.

He also liked the small class size, eight or nine students per class, and the opportunity to gain practical experience in preaching and church administration while attending school.

Rev. Teall was involved in the student gospel team all four years at Spurgeon, serving the last two years as its director. The team presented special services, which included preaching and music, at different churches throughout Florida each week end.

He was also student council president at Spurgeon. He graduated with a bachelor of arts degree in pastoral theology.

This past summer he worked at a Baptist youth camp near Traverse City, being mainly involved in music and finance.

At the First Baptist church, he replaces Rev. Lloyd Streeter, who left in June for a church in Illinois.

He was first contacted by the church, after it was known Rev. Streeter was leaving, while still at Spurgeon.

He still doesn't know whether the church heard of him through Rev. John Wood, the Michigan Association of Regular Baptist churches representative, who lives in Cass City, or through other ministers he knew.

As a pastoral candidate, he gave his first sermon to the Cass City congregation Sept.

18. He was asked to preach again the following Sunday.

Church members voted to offer him the pastorate Sept. 28. He accepted and Oct. 2 gave his first sermon as the new pastor.

Being fresh out of college made it easy for him to start his new duties quickly, he explained with a smile. "Everything had been in boxes for four years. It was a matter of packing the truck and coming."

The new pastor spends most of each weekday morning studying the Bible. He stresses that in preparing his Wednesday evening and two Sunday sermons, "We take a strong stand, both I and the church, that the Bible is our only basis for preaching."

Overall, he has found about 30 per cent of his time during the week is devoted to Bible study and preparation, 20 per cent to calling on parishioners and persons who might be interested in joining the church, and 50 per cent to church administration. The latter includes church meetings, work regarding church missions, and youth programs.

Week ends, he further explained, are devoted to being with his parishioners, "be it inside or outside the church."

His wife, Sharon, is also involved with church work, including the Ladies Missionary Society, youth, and working on a church directory. She has also been busy doing some redecorating in the church parsonage.

Rev. Teall said he and his wife like Cass City. "I really enjoy the town," he said. "I appreciate the attitude of the people in town. I think the people are more inclined toward spiritual things (than those in a big city)." As for his wife, "She loves it (Cass City). She really does." His work has left the youthful minister too busy so far to take part in an activity that also makes him glad he came to Cass City. "I love to hunt," he said.

Free diabetes testing slated

Free testing for diabetes will be offered at Caro Community Hospital from 6-8 p.m. Nov. 7 and 10.

The testing is being offered as a service of the American Diabetes Association, Michigan Affiliate, in conjunction with Diabetes Detection Week, Nov. 6-12.

Diabetes is the third leading cause of death in the United States, is the leading cause of new blindness, and a major cause of heart attack and kidney failure.

Persons who run a high risk of developing diabetes are those over 40, overweight, relatives of diabetics, and mothers of children weighing nine pounds or more at birth.

Antiques mix

with many sets
You've just inherited Great Aunt Hattie's Victorian love seat, but your home is completely modern.

Don't panic. Antiques have a knack for complementing other periods of decor.

A little shuffling of the furniture, a bit of new upholstery or a slip cover, and an antique looks right at home in the starkest modern house.

Plenty of deer awaiting State hunters this fall

"The prognosis is excellent" for Thumb area deer hunters this season, according to Rex Schmeler, area supervisor for the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Not only is the deer count up from a year ago, he said, "The ratio of bucks to does, according to what bow hunters tell me, is up from last year."

He attributed the excellent outlook to plentiful fawn production in 1976 and a mild winter in terms of snowfall, which made it easy for the deer to browse. The extremely cold temperatures didn't bother them too much.

The good fawn crop this spring indicates a large number of deer made it through the winter months.

Statewide, according to DNR wildlife specialist David A. Arnold, the prospects are also excellent.

There are more than 1 million deer in the state right now, with 25 per cent of the animals located in the Upper Peninsula.

"In the Upper Peninsula," Arnold said, "the south central area has the heaviest deer population. In the Lower Peninsula, most deer will be found in a diagonal band stretching from Lake and Newaygo counties northeast to Oscoda and Alpena counties."

"This year's acorn crop is good and the deer will be in the uplands during hunting season," he said.

Last year, 10,220 deer were taken statewide by archers. That tied a 1974 state record when 7.8 per cent of the state's archery deer hunters came home with a deer.

Atwood dies in mishap

A Millington man was killed Saturday when the tractor he was driving rolled over backwards, crushing him beneath it.

Pronounced dead on arrival at Hurley Medical Center in Flint, although he was apparently killed at the scene, was Chauncey J. Atwood, 61, of 3150 Swaffler Road.

The accident happened about 4 p.m. in woods on his farm. The site is about a half-mile east of Sheridan Road and 500 feet north of Swaffler Road in Vassar township.

Atwood, his son David, of the same address, and Roger A. Angelini of Pontiac were cutting and hauling logs out of the woods.

Angelini told sheriff's deputies he hooked a log to a chain which was attached to the tractor the senior Atwood was driving. As he started to drive the tractor up a hill, the log became caught behind a tree. The tractor kept moving, however, and the pull on the chain pulled the tractor over backwards onto the driver.

His son and Angelini then hooked a chain from the tractor to a four-wheel-drive pickup and pulled the machine off of Atwood.

"We had a record number of hunters last year, 131,000," according to the wildlife specialist.

Archery deer season opened Oct. 1 and will continue through Nov. 14. At that time it ends temporarily for the start of firearm deer season, Nov. 15-30. The archery deer season then resumes statewide Dec. 1. It ends in the Upper Peninsula Dec. 15, but continues in the rest of the state through Dec. 31.

Arnold also reminded muzzleloaders that their statewide season this year stretches from Dec. 2-11. These sportsmen must use rifle or shotgun, .44 caliber or larger, round ball and black powder.

As for the firearm deer season, he expects this year to be one of Michigan's better seasons. "A lot depends on the hunting conditions, since it's only a two week season. But if we're lucky, we have a good chance of setting a record."

Last year, 88,000 bucks were taken by firearm hunters, making it the third highest total on record. The total deer harvest last year was 105,000 eighth highest on record.

"This season the total will probably be higher," Arnold said.

He bases that estimate partly on the number of Hunter's Choice issued this year, 128,000, compared to the number issued last year, 115,000.

Jury case ends with mistrial

A mistrial was declared for three men and a fourth was found innocent Wednesday, Oct. 19, in a case involving the beating of Mayville Police Chief Hilton Sables.

Found innocent by a circuit court jury was Charles H. Lake Jr., 19, of Rt. 1 O'Brien Road, Mayville.

A mistrial was declared in the case of Lee R. Collins, 19, of 2196 Sarks Road, Silverwood; Ernest G. Turner, 18, Rt. 1 O'Brien Road, Mayville, and Michael D. Grimshaw, 19, Blackman Road.

The verdict and mistrial ruling came at the end of a five-day trial which started Oct. 12.

Judge Martin E. Clements declared the mistrial after Lake testified that the day after he was arrested, Sables came to him at the county jail and said that Collins, Turner, and Grimshaw were going to plead guilty. His testimony came after Prosecutor Patrick Joslyn had rested his case.

The three will be retried, Joslyn said. A pretrial hearing has been scheduled Nov. 7.

All four had been charged with obstructing, resisting, opposing, and assaulting a police officer.

The incident occurred Oct. 22, 1976, outside the Triangle Lanes in Mayville. It started when Sables was attempting to arrest Turner on charges of drunk driving and driving without an operator's license.

maximum. Possible pay increases will be considered as part of the council's preparations for a village budget for the fiscal year starting Jan. 1.

House, in behalf of property owner William McKinley, presented a petition requesting abandonment of an alley that runs for half a block south from Pine Street between West and Brooker Streets.

The alley isn't maintained by the village now, the council was told, and it no longer looks like an alley.

A public hearing on the abandonment request will be held during the Nov. 29 meeting.

At its Sept. 27 meeting, the council authorized spending up to $25,000 for some repairs and improvements to the two water softeners for the village water system. Supt. Lou LaPonsie reported the total cost will be about $22,800.

As part of the Step 11 engineering for expansion and improvement of the wastewater treatment plant, the board approved the bid of Michigan Testing Engineers of Flint for soil borings. Its bid of $2,040, of which federal and state funds pay 80 per cent, was the lowest of three received.

Traxler seeks aid for area

U.S. Rep. Bob Traxler, D-Bay City, has asked Governor Milliken to request the Small Business Administration to make disaster assistance available to farmers and small businessmen in Arenac, Bay, Huron, Lapeer, Saginaw, Sanilac and Tuscola counties.

"I have already been in contact with the Small Business Administration to inform them about my concern for the need for such aid," Traxler wrote, Oct. 20, "and upon your request, SBA can move into these areas to determine what aid it might be able to provide."

The Small Business Administration has the authority to provide economic injury loans to small businessmen and farmers who face a loss in income because of some type of natural disaster. These loans provide money to eligible individuals at the lowest possible federal interest rates - 3 per cent on the first $25,000, and 6 1/2 per cent on any amount over the first $25,000.

Traxler wrote to the Michigan governor earlier to request his assistance in obtaining disaster assistance from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Applications for agricultural disaster assistance for Tuscola, Huron, and Sanilac counties are now on the governor's desk.

Lutherans hold annual fete

A father-son banquet was held Saturday evening at Good Shepherd Lutheran church with about 70 persons attending.

Darrell Fuller of Caro was emcee for the evening. Pastor James Van Dellen gave the invocation and Frank Butler, the benediction.

Ronald Voss and son Ronnie gave the tributes to sons and fathers. Mrs. Scott Hartel presented a film, "Paddle to the Sea." A surprise event on the program was a ladies' kitchen band.

Awards were presented in various categories, including youngest father, Bill Zeidler; oldest son, Jack Hartwick, and longest name, Gerald Bock, who has two middle names. The house prize went to Earl Grigg.

N. Darling dies Oct. 3

Nathaniel J. Darling, 82, of Pontiac, died Oct. 3. He was born and raised in the Cass City area.

Geigers host church class

Thirteen members of the Progressive class of Salem U.M. church attended the monthly business-social meeting of the class at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Geiger Oct. 13.

Gerald Auten presided at the business meeting and Christmas plans were finalized.

The guests held a "treasure hunt" and a potluck lunch was served.

The next meeting will be Nov. 10 at the parsonage with Rev. and Mrs. Eldred Kelley.

He was the father of Owen Darling of Pontiac, Mrs. Oran (Bernice) Hughes of Cass City, Roy Darling of Warren, Mrs. Marcella Kritzman of Pontiac, George Darling of Pontiac, Mrs. Bruce (Margaret) Chapman of Flint, and Kenneth Darling of Pontiac.

He had 39 grandchildren, 35 great-grandchildren, and was the brother of Mrs. Nina Shagena of Cass City.

A World War I veteran, Darling was retired from Pontiac Motor Division.

Funeral services were conducted Oct. 6 from Voorhees-Siple Funeral Chapel in Pontiac, the Rev. Greg Meadows of that city officiating. Burial was in Elkland cemetery.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Miss Delores Slowinski has retired from the Artrain to live in Cass City, where she has set up looms and will spend her time weaving.

Director Maynard McConkey reported that the Tuscola Soil Conservation District is taking orders for tree seedlings that will be available for planting in the spring.

Marine Pvt. Joe L. Hillaker has been assigned to Camp Pendleton, Calif., for artillery training following his recent graduation from basic training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego, Calif.

A good yield of beans was reported by area elevators as the last of the year's crop is being brought in, a marked change from last year's very low yield.

Anthony Cherniawski was awarded a bachelor of arts degree in communications upon completion of requirements of Michigan State University, East Lansing.

TEN YEARS AGO

The Cass City Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a Halloween window painting contest with prizes to the student with the best design on the windows of participating businesses.

Kathy Mark was crowned 1967 Cass City Homecoming Queen. Because of the driving rain, she was crowned at the homecoming dance following the football game. The lovely senior was selected from among five girls who were elected by vote at the school.

Army Private Harry L. Bensinger completed a light vehicle driver course at Fort Dix, New Jersey.

Miss Sue Kelley, who is now attending Spring Arbor College, has been named to receive the Spring Arbor College Incentive Award for outstanding high school academic achievement. A scholarship of $100 has been granted to assist in meeting her college expenses for the college year.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Decker Jr. announced the grand opening of larger quarters for their Caro Home Furnishing Store in Caro.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

New officers were elected for Cass City Home Demonstration Club. Roswell O. Avery was named chairman; Mrs. Lyle Koepfgen, vice-chairman, and Miss Muriel Addison, secretary-treasurer.

L.A. Johnson, dairy extension specialist at Michigan State College, reported that fall-freshening cows give more returns for feed costs than those freshening in the spring.

Lester Bailey, a well-known barber, and his wife, returned home from a 3721-mile, two weeks' vacation trip. During the last seven or eight vacation trips, they have visited all 48 states and Laredo, Mexico.

The Cass City High School Red Hawks swing back into action again when they go to play the Caro Tigers in a Thumb "B" Conference tilt. As usual, the Hawks are favored to win.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union met in the home of Mrs. James McCrea. They decided to write a letter to each Cass City boy who is in the service of Uncle Sam.

Hunters are reminded to drop off all of their used shotgun and rifle shells at any collection depot. The brass they contain is much needed in the war salvage program.

Aviation Cadet Donald Hicks and Leonard McDonald left Detroit for Iowa City, Iowa, to attend a Naval training school.

Mothers who have small children are urged to bring them to the Public Health meet for vaccination against smallpox and immunizations against diphtheria.

More volunteers are needed at the airplane spotting tower in the New Sheridan Building. Observers are to make immediate reports on all aircraft sighted or heard to the air defense headquarters.

HEALTH TIPS

A mile a day keeps weight away

By Frank Chappell, American Medical Association

Want to lose ten pounds in the next year?

One way you can do it is to walk an extra mile every day. The American Medical Association points out that a walk of just an extra mile per day for 365 days is a simple, pleasant device for shedding an extra pound of fat. In a year this would mount up to about ten pounds.

The extra mile means just that — a mile of walking in addition to the customary walking you now do each day. And walking at a brisk clip, not just sauntering along. And without increasing your present food intake.

Once regarded as a major factor in losing weight, physical activity was later accorded less importance. It was recalled that considerable effort was required to shed even one pound of extra tissue. Would-be reducers found comfort in some expert opinion that calories expended through exercise would be immediately replaced, due to automatic increase in appetite.

Fortunately for fitness as well as for fatness, exercise has been restored to grace and enjoys respectability. It still takes caloric control to keep weight under control permanently, but exercise helps expend calories; within the usual range of activity, it need not stimulate appetite excessively. The energy output required to offset a pound of fat is approximately 3,500 calories, but the weight need not be lost all at once.

Instead of the exhausting, often impossible, 36-mile hike within a span of hours, a walk of just one extra mile a day for 365 days will get rid of that extra pound. Weight gain usually is relatively slow, and the extra mile will — for most of us — help keep weight down to a reasonable figure.

To be effective for both weight reduction and for general physical conditioning, exercise must be a regular part of your way of life, and not something that is overdone spasmodically.

Glaser dies Saturday

Christian Glaser of Cass City died Saturday, Oct. 22, at Provincial House after an illness of nine months.

He was born April 1, 1889, in Austria-Hungary, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Glaser. Glaser came to the United States, to Detroit in 1907. In 1908 he married Anna Weyer, moving to Gagetown in 1919. Mrs. Glaser passed away in 1921.

April 23, 1922, Glaser married Elizabeth Zillich Paul in Gagetown. Mr. and Mrs. Glaser moved to Cass City in 1959. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1972.

Glaser was a member of St. Pancratius Catholic church of Cass City.

He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth, of Durand; two sons, George Glaser and Peter Glaser, both of Detroit; one step-daughter, Mrs. John (Margaret) Kleisch of Durand; eight grandchildren, and 16 great-grandchildren. One son, Nicholas, one step-daughter, Elizabeth Stone, three brothers, and one sister preceded him in death.

A rosary was recited Sunday evening at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City.

Funeral Mass was conducted Monday morning from St. Pancratius Catholic church of Cass City with Father Joseph Morales officiating.

Burial was in St. Agatha's cemetery, Gagetown.

Area home economist receives service award

Margaret Ann Ross, Michigan State University extension home economist for Huron, Tuscola, and Sanilac counties, received a distinguished service award at the recent annual meeting of the National Association of Extension Home Economists in Boston, Mass.

A certificate of recognition was presented by Dr. Opal Mann, assistant administrator for home economics, U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Mrs. Ross was honored for her outstanding implementation of extension home economics programs, her community leadership, and for her personal and professional growth.

She shared the honor with extension home economists from 50 states who received similar recognition.

They participated in a road rally planned by Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hutchinson. Blue ribbon winner was the team of Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn Helwig and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wells. Winning the red ribbon were the Dick Shaws and the Tim Tealls. Third place went to Mr. and Mrs. Stan Guinther and Mr. and Mrs. Don Kowbel.

The business meeting, devotions and polluck refreshments were enjoyed after all teams had returned to the Perry home. Mrs. Hutchinson gave a reading on the meaning of names.

November's activity will be a bowling party, followed by pizza at the Teall home.

HILLTOPPERS

The Hilltoppers of the RLDS church had dinner Friday evening, Oct. 14, at Teale's. Later, fellowship was held and dessert served at the home of Mrs. Maude Holcomb.

The next meeting will be Nov. 4 at the home of Mrs. Nelin Richardson.

Pre-school nursery plans year's program

The first general meeting of the Cass City Pre-School Nursery was held Oct. 11. President Marie Miller conducted the meeting.

Discussed and voted on were fund raising projects for the coming year.

There will be a Halloween carnival sponsored by pre-school nursery mothers and American Association of University Women Friday, Oct. 28 from 5-8 p.m. It will be held in the Campbell Elementary School gym.

The first two months of nursery school have been very enjoyable for both the three and four-year-olds.

Activities for the three-year-olds have included the study of "Me, my school, my friends", "Me, myself, my feelings", show-and-tell, "Me and my family", fall, and safety and policemen. Field trips have included a trip to Miller's apple orchard and a walk to the park.

Saturday, Oct. 29, will be fathers' day for the three-year-olds. The fathers and their children will have a morning of fun the 29th.

Activities for the four-year-olds have included the study of "My school, my home, my family" and fall. Field trips have included a trip to Miller's apple orchard and to McDonald's restaurant in Bad Axe.

Open house on Friday

Nurses at Hills and Dales General Hospital will host an open house Friday in conjunction with Michigan Nurses Week, Oct. 23-29. Hours will be 9-11 a.m. and 2-4:30 p.m.

Tours will be conducted with the aid of the hospital auxiliary. The nurses will take blood pressures and will give a lesson in the basics of cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR). The latter will include a video tape television program on the lifesaving technique.

Punch, coffee, and cookies will be served.

Success exacts many penalties and headaches, but failure is still much more severe.

Ubly man in exercise

Navy Boatswain's Mate Second Class Paul M. Krug, whose wife Audrey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cass Kubacki Jr. of 2256 Premier Road, Ubly, is participating in Exercise "Unitas XVIII" in the Southern Hemisphere.

He is serving as a crew-member aboard the guided missile destroyer USS Mahan, home port Charleston, S.C.

He is one of more than 1,000

Navy men taking part in the annual exercise, which includes circumnavigating South America.

"Unitas XVIII" is the eighteenth in a series of combined U.S. and South American naval exercises. It is designed to promote a high state of preparedness and cooperation between the various naval and air forces that protect the southern sea lanes of the Western Hemisphere.

U.S. forces, along with navies of Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Uruguay and Venezuela are participating in the training operations, including antisubmarine, anti-aircraft warfare, surface gunnery, and communications exercises.

Thus far in the cruise, he and his shipmates have gone through the Panama Canal and visited Peru, Chile, and Colombia. Participating ships will cross the Equator twice, cruise 24,000 miles, and visit 22 South American cities during the 4½ month exercise which ends in December.

Krug joined the Navy in September 1972.

Door prizes at the meeting went to Josephine Bartnik and Esther Buehrly.

Nancy Dickerson, prominent national correspondent, reports for Detroit Edison:

"Playing it safe with energy-efficient outdoor night lighting is a bright thing to do."

It's smart to turn lights off when they don't serve a purpose. But it's a wise use of energy to keep lights on when they provide safety and protection.

It's called security lighting.

Now your home, neighborhood group, apartment or condominium can have the safety and protection of security lighting. And your lights can be automatically controlled to turn on only when it's dark so there's no waste of energy or dollars.

Exterior security lighting also helps smart businessmen and owners of industrial buildings cut down losses from nighttime vandalism and break-ins. With the new high-efficiency light sources now available, operating costs are a lot less than you might think.

Here are some tips to make your existing night lighting more effective and energy-efficient: take advantage of all nearby illumination, such as street lighting, and integrate it into your system; keep landscaping trim to create more light areas; remove outdoor storage containers that cast shadows; choose light exterior colors for your home or building to reflect light.

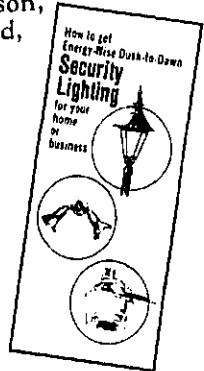

The important thing is to have well-planned, properly-installed security lighting with automatic controls or timers to turn off lights when they aren't needed. You'll save energy and money.

Electric post lanterns, low-level floodlights and high-mounted dual floodlights provide good illumination for front and back lawns and driveways. For larger areas, you can choose efficient, long-lasting, high-intensity lights.

Detroit Edison will help you plan security lighting for your home or business that's energy-efficient and provides the most safety and protection for the least cost. Just call or stop in at any Detroit Edison customer office.

As a concerned participant in America's crusade for conservation, Detroit Edison is working hard to do its part. But it requires a working partnership between those who supply energy and those who use it. So, if you're planning on installing security lighting, make sure your system is energy-efficient. It's one of the ways you can help.

Pick up a free folder on security lighting at any Detroit Edison customer office. Or, for more information, write: Customer Relations, Detroit Edison, 2000 Second, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

M. Hendrick dies Oct. 19 after illness

Mary Lanetta Hendrick of Evergreen township died at the Tuscola County Medical Care Facility Wednesday, Oct. 19, where she had been a patient six weeks. She had been in ill health the past three months.

Mrs. Hendrick was born in Ellington township March 31, 1896, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell.

She married Earl Hendrick in Caro April 22, 1914. Following their marriage, they made their home in Elmwood township. He died April 19, 1958.

She attended the Cass City Missionary church and was a past member of the Hay Creek Ladies Aid.

She is survived by one son, Earl Hendrick of Decker; three daughters, Mrs. Wayne (Maxine) Evans of Drayton Plains, Mrs. Harold (Lanetta) Tuckey of Pontiac, and Mrs. Douglas (Dorothy) Du Ford of Humble, Texas; two brothers, Ellis Campbell and Harold Campbell, both of Caro; one sister, Mrs. Cecil Craig of Fairgrove; 10 grandchildren, and 17 great-grandchildren. One daughter (Emma Jean) and one brother (Carl) preceded her in death.

Funeral services were held at Little's Funeral Home Friday afternoon. Rev. Russell Stanley, pastor of the Cass City Church of the Nazarene, officiated. Burial was in Ellington cemetery.

There's one consolation in life — you don't have to pay taxes on money you lost.

It is easier to bear all the misfortunes of our neighbors than one of our own.
