

Two die in Vassar fire

Argyle gas station burns

Fire Tuesday night destroyed an Argyle gas station.

Burned to the ground was Eckenswiler's Argyle Garage on Uby Road (M-19), a few buildings south of Argyle Road.

Owner Clarence Eckenswiler told Sanilac County Deputy David Hall that he and Clarence Phillips of Phillips Oil Co. in Snover were filling his underground service tank.

He said he and Phillips were standing a short distance away when the hose nozzle from the tanker truck jumped out of the storage tank inlet, spraying gasoline on the station drive and into the office.

He ran inside to turn off the fuel oil furnace. When he got to the front door, the gasoline ignited.

The officer said Phillips drove the tanker away to avoid a further explosion.

Eckenswiler suffered some small burns to his left foot, according to Hall, and intended to seek treatment from his doctor. He apparently ran to a nearby house to summon firemen.

Argyle Fire Chief Jerome Franzel said when he arrived at the station, the flames were only around the two outside gasoline pumps but the fire was already too hot to get close. The fire department received the call at 8:26 p.m.

Franzel said there were several small explosions. Deputy Hall speculated they were cans of oil exploding. Miraculously, the gasoline in the underground storage tank did not explode.

Moore township (Snover), Deckerville, and Lamotte township fire departments were called to assist. The Elkland township department was put on alert in case another tanker was needed, but it wasn't.

Eckenswiler estimated the building and contents were valued at a minimum of $22,000. It was only insured for $4,000.

Lost in the fire were a 1963 GMC tow truck, valued at $500, and a 1967 Ford pickup, $150, both parked inside, plus a German shepherd that belonged to Eckenswiler's daughter.

Minor damage was reported to an unoccupied house on the south side of a gas station, which Eckenswiler owned. He and his family lived farther south on Uby Road.

Firemen didn't leave until 2:30 a.m. Wednesday.

FATAL FIRE

As of Tuesday, investigation was continuing in the cause of a Thursday afternoon mobile home fire in which two children died.

The victims were Merenda Laycock, 1½ years old, and her brother, Roger, 4½.

The fire was reported at 1:20 p.m. in the mobile home of Roger and Brenda Laycock in the Mark of Vassar trailer park about three miles south of Vassar.

The sheriff's department reported that Mrs. Laycock had gone to the mailbox to get her mail and then stopped at a neighbor's, where she was when the fire was discovered. She had been gone from her home about a half hour.

The children's father was at work at the time of the blaze.

Vassar firemen extinguished the blaze, which destroyed the 12-by-60-foot dwelling.

GAS STATION FIRE -- The Union 76 station on Uby Road (M-19) in Argyle owned by Clarence Eckenswiler burned to the ground Tuesday night. Argyle firemen, assisted by three other departments, were on the scene from shortly before 8:30 p.m. until 2:30 a.m. Wednesday.

VOLUME 71, NUMBER 44 CASS CITY, MICHIGAN-THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1978 Twenty Cents SIXTEEN PAGES PLUS TWO SUPPLEMENTS

FATALITY SCENE -- David Stilson was working underneath this car about 10 p.m. Friday when it slipped off the ramps under the front wheels, crushing him beneath the car. The back end of the vehicle was supported by the wheels seen here.

Area man killed beneath falling car

A rural Cass City man was killed Friday night when the car he was working on rolled off the front wheel ramps it was on, crushing him underneath.

Dead is David J. Stilson, 25, of 6322 Bay City-Forestville Road.

According to Sandusky state police, Stilson had the front wheels of the car up on ramps. The back end of the car was supported by some tires. The car was in his garage, behind the house, and he was working underneath the car on the transmission.

Reportedly, officers believe Stilson may have yanked on a bolt too hard, which started the car moving. Whatever the reason, the car rolled off the ramp, crushing him beneath it.

His sister-in-law, Gloria Stilson, who was inside the house, heard his screams. She came out, saw the situation, and she and a neighbor removed Stilson from beneath the car.

He was officially pronounced dead on arrival at Hills and Dales General Hospital, though an officer at the scene said he was dead when he was placed in the ambulance.

Sanilac county sheriff's deputies assisted in the investigation.

The Stilson home is about a quarter-mile east of M-53.

Stilson was born Oct. 19, 1952 in Flint, the son of Fred and Shirley Stilson. He married Jean Hillstrom in Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 10, 1977. He served in the U.S. Army.

He is survived by his wife; a stepson, Christopher; a daughter, Tammy, by a previous marriage; his parents, of Phoenix; seven sisters, Sandra, Brenda, and Crystal, who live with their parents, Diana Spencer of Allegan, Cathy Limburger of Cass City, Shirley Ann Fulls and Barbara Fox, both of Gaylord, and two brothers, Ivan, of the U.S. Army, and Fred of Elmira.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at the Russell Funeral Home in Flushing, Rev. Lee Vandenberg of the First Baptist church of Flushing officiating.

Burial was in Flushing cemetery.

Owen-Gage gets word on high school addition

Some classrooms in the new Owendale-Gagetown high school building may be ready for use by the start of classes this fall, although all of the building won't be.

That was the picture presented to the Owen-Gage Board of Education last Thursday night, which called the special meeting to determine why the building program is behind schedule.

The reason appeared to be both the fault of the architect and the project coordinators.

The project consists of construction of a new gym on the west side of the present gym, which will be converted into a cafeteria, and in the space formerly occupied by the original Owendale High School, a new classroom building. That will house rooms for home economics, chemistry and physics, biology and general science, arts and crafts, music, commercial classes, one general classroom, and a library.

The grim side of the picture is that due to the delay, inflation has driven the projected total cost of the project more than $100,000 above the $1.675 million (plus interest) the district has available for the project, which will mean lots of trimming but presumably, no major surgery.

Present at the meeting were the building architect, Les Tineknell of Saginaw, and from Construction Coordinators Inc. (CCI) of East Detroit, project manager Lou Mattingly and on-site job coordinator Jim Dodd.

Mattingly said the original schedule called for bids for the major portion of construction to go out Oct. 21, to be awarded Nov. 7. The new schedule calls for advertising for bids Feb. 28, bids due March 23, and construction to start April 1.

The only parts of the project completed so far have been tearing down the old Owendale High School building and filling in the hole left by its removal.

After about a month's delay, installation of the poured concrete foundation finally began this week. Morefield Construction of Oxford is doing the work. The original bid price was $1.4 million. Please turn to page 14.

Curtailment uncertain

Electricity blackout could cause problems

Don't get out the candles and flashlights yet.

But if the coal miners' strike continues much longer, electrical power blackouts are a possibility.

But, say Detroit Edison officials, if all their customers cut down on their electrical usage now, such blackouts may not be necessary.

In Cass City, officials of the two largest industries are still studying the situation regarding power cutbacks and possible blackouts.

Operators of the two supermarkets in town say blackouts would have serious consequences.

John Harkness, public information supervisor for Detroit Edison, the largest electrical utility in the Thumb, said of the blackouts, "I don't believe it's inevitable." If such curtailments become necessary, he said they will start in mid-March.

The utility has asked its largest customers to reduce their electricity usage by 10 per cent. Conservation, plus efforts by the company to generate more electricity by burning oil and gas instead of coal, could eliminate the need for blackouts. It also is buying some electricity from Canadian utilities, in order to preserve its own coal stockpiles.

If blackouts do come, Harkness said, they will be for two hours at a time, no more than twice every 24 hours, with the blackouts rotated area by area.

Ten minutes before a blackout begins, the power will go off for 90 seconds as a warning of the two-hour power shutoff about to begin.

Exempted from the blackouts will be hospitals, sewage treatment plants, municipally owned water pumping stations, emergency service units, such as law enforcement agencies and fire departments, and some radio and television stations.

"It would be a tragedy," said Dick Erla of Erla's Food Center and Packing, Inc., of the possibility of power blackouts.

If they come, he felt, the only way to avoid meat spoilage during the two-hour blackouts would be to completely close everything to retain cold air inside refrigerators and refrigerated areas.

"I don't know how you could operate," he commented, pointing out that in addition to refrigeration compressors, such items as slicers and scales also use electricity. The only alternative he could foresee would be to purchase portable generators.

Erla suggested the best way to conserve electricity is to close all stores, shopping centers, and factories on Sundays. Erla's is closed on Sunday, as are most Cass City businesses. "If the public can't do their business in six days, there's something wrong," he commented.

Harry Lenda, owner of the Cass City IGA Foodliner, said, "There's nothing we can do to operate" during any blackouts.

Even if it were possible to operate without lights and refrigeration, he pointed out, there's still a need for the cash registers, which also require electricity. Some of his will run on batteries, but the batteries will only last 45 minutes.

At Walbro Corp., Director of Human Resources Don Tonti said the firm hasn't had a chance yet to review the electrical situation, nor has it received a formal request yet from Detroit Edison to cut back on electricity usage.

On its own initiative, the company has turned down thermostats and turned off some office lights near windows in order to save electricity, he said.

Nat Tuttle, General Cable Corp. plant superintendent, said his firm is studying how it can cut back electrical usage. "We will cooperate to the greatest extent possible," he commented.

Even if the lights do go out, it will still be possible to talk on the telephone.

Bob Stevens, area customer service manager for General Telephone, said when electrical power is cut off, telephone facilities automatically switch to battery power, which will last several hours.

Teachers charge unfairness

The Tri-county Bargaining Association has filed an unfair labor practice against the Cass City School District.

The union claims that they were unable to get salary steps for teachers in 1976-77 and 1978, the amount of insurance coverage, the age and sex of teachers and several other items of information.

Supt. Don Crouse said that in negotiations he had agreed to furnish this information if the union would give the school a "hold harmless" release.

We wanted it, Crouse explained, because of the doubtful legality of furnishing age, sex and other information about teachers. When the union refused, we refused to furnish the requested data.

In other business it was revealed that the Federal mediator would sit in on bargaining sessions Thursday, Feb. 23, at 7 p.m.

The Tri-county Bargaining association represents four fourth class (high school) districts as well as Tuscola and Huron Intermediate districts.

None of these districts has yet reached a contract settlement.

"If It Fitz..." Ferency could reign in Lum

By Jim Fitzgerald

Zoltan A. Ferency, the Hungarian who is my favorite candidate for any ice, recently sent me a letter containing this paragraph:

"On Sunday, at Ferris College, a young student was waiting tables, and asked her where she was from. She said she was from Hungary, but that I probably wouldn't know where that was. I said, 'Sure I do, it's just a few miles away from Lum.' Nearly cried her."

"Lum. Ah, Zoltan. In my twisted mind, the two of us go together."

Ferency is a Democratic candidate to replace Gov. William Milliken, which would be similar to replacing tapioca pudding with pepperoni pizza. In the playground of my mind, I envision a great commercial for Ferency's campaign. It is modeled after a commercial used by Herman Young in his over-the-hill race for mayor of Detroit last fall.

Mayor Young stood on the roof of a Renaissance Center tower, touching clouds, offering himself to the city below. He was filmed from a helicopter and the effect was reminiscent of Moses on the mountain.

Ferency could stand on the roof of the Lum Sheraton. There would be no trouble hiring a plane for the cameraman, as Lum International Airport is just a few miles away, at the last subway stop.

Lum is an appropriate setting for a Ferency commercial because he owns property there. Lum is in Lapeer county, where I used to edit the weekly newspaper, and the only time I talked to Ferency was one day, several years ago, when he stopped to thank me for increasing the value of his land. I think he was running for governor then, too. He usually is.

But I would associate Ferency with Lum even if he didn't own a piece of it. That's because Lum is mostly my fantasy. And only in a fantasy could Zoltan Ferency be elected governor.

Actually, there is no Lum Sheraton. There is no Lum International Airport and no Lum subway. Lum doesn't even have a stoplight. There's no post office and the general store has been closed for years. It's several miles from the nearest highway and the easiest way to get to Lum is to be born there.

There. That's the first time I've written the truth about Lum in 20 years. I don't feel any better for coming clean. In fact, I feel like a traitor to my fantasy. It's not easy to explain why I first started writing lies about Lum. I guess it began when the manager of the Lapeer theater told me he was taking a vacation but couldn't afford to go anywhere. So I put in the newspaper that he and his family were vacationing in Lum. And many readers subsequently asked the editor why in hell anyone would vacation in tiny Lum where the chief tourist attraction was watching a John Deere sign peel.

So I began to write columns aimed at improving Lum's image. I wrote that people visiting Lum for the first time in years would probably be surprised by the new airport and the Holiday Inn and the high-rise apartments. I said the great growth was the result of federal loans and an increase in the price of the town's leading export — lettuce.

Lapeer county people knew I was kidding and went along with the gag. They even co-operated by sending the newspaper items about debutante balls in the township hall, and by wearing bumper stickers saying "Fly Lum International."

But some of the nonsense I wrote was circulated beyond Lapeer county. People began driving from Detroit to eat in restaurants that didn't exist. A Saginaw mother tried to book her daughter's wedding reception in the Lum Hilton. A travel bureau was berated by a Florida man who didn't understand why they couldn't find him an airline that flew into Lum International. And so on.

That's how I increased the value of Ferency's property, if he's ever able to sell it through the mail.

I wish Ferency really could campaign for governor from atop the Lum Sheraton. I wish he had a chance to be elected. But Zoltan is a socialist who offends the UAW. He favors affirmative action, decriminalization of marijuana, free heroin for addicts, easy abortions for poor women, and all sorts of sensible things like that. He is a chronic dissenter who usually makes sense.

Michigan isn't ready for such a sensible man in the governor's office, and that's too bad. But I just learned that the Lum Town Council plans to establish an embassy in Budapest. Who else but Zoltan Ferency should be Lum's ambassador to Hungary?

Dance slated

The Town and Country Square Dance Club will hold its regular monthly square dance Saturday at Laker High School from 8-11 p.m.

Cliff White of Roseville will be the caller. Refreshments will be served. All square dancers are welcome.

NEWSPAPER RECYCLING -- Jerome Lewis, Human Development Commission wintertime program manager, drops the first bundle of newspapers into the agency's new drop box. The box is located on the Walbro Corp. parking lot on Garfield Street near the railroad tracks.

Newspaper can now be recycled locally

Cass Cityans now have an alternative to disposing of their newspapers other than by burning them.

A drop box has been placed in the Walbro Corp. parking lot on Garfield Street, just west of the railroad tracks, for people to dispose of their newspapers. They will then be picked up and eventually recycled.

The box was placed there by the Human Development Commission (HDC) of Caro. Workers from its winterization program will be picking up the papers at regular intervals and taking them to a salvage yard in Bad Axe for resale. They will eventually be recycled, to be used again in making paper cardboard, or insulation.

Proceeds from the recycling project, according to winterization program manager Jerome Lewis, will be used to buy more insulating materials.

The winterization program is a federally funded project. Since it started about 1½ years ago, more than 250 homes in Tuscola, Sanilac, and Huron counties have been winterized.

Since a maximum of $350 can be spent per house, the work is limited to repairing broken windows, caulking windows, adding weatherstripping, and installing insulation in ceilings.

The top priority is winterizing the homes of low-income elderly persons, followed by the handicapped, and low-income families if funds are available.

Only newspapers can be collected. No magazines or catalogues are acceptable. Papers should be tied in bundles, bagged, or put in boxes.

The HDC conducted a curbside newspaper pickup program last summer in several Thumb communities, including Cass City. Proceeds were used to pay part of the cost of materials for the drop boxes and to buy a reconditioned postal service vehicle to be used in picking up the papers.

At present, the service agency only has the drop boxes in Cass City and at the K-Mart store in Lapeer but Lewis hopes to be placing the boxes in other communities soon.

On a one-time basis, newspapers can be disposed of via the Salem United Methodist Youth fellowship paper drive Saturday, March 4. Papers should be tied, bagged, or boxed and placed by the curb or on porch by 9 a.m. They can also be taken to the Village Service Center on Main Street.

The 4-H Teen Club of Sanilac county held its monthly meeting at the Oliver Wood home Jan. 23.

The club discussed a Teen Club Snow Camp. The date was not decided. The snow camp will be open to any 4-H'er in Sanilac county who is 13 and over. The camp will be held 4½ miles west of Traverse City. For more information contact the Sanilac county extension office.

The next meeting will be held Monday, Feb. 27, at Sandusky High School at 8 p.m.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

The quality of television programming has become a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde affair.

There have been some good, very good, programs on the tube this season and some that shouldn't be allowed in the family living room.

Television is doing a better job with the news today than it ever has. "60 Minutes" airs subjects that need airing and does it in an entertaining fashion. Perhaps its objectivity can sometimes be questioned, but no one asks you to take the show as the end-all answer.

"Wall Street Week" and the "McNeil-Lehrer" in depth news quiz illustrate the best of TV.

I'm entertained by "MASH", "Rockford Files" and some of the specials. And of course television is at its best in sports broadcasting.

I'm turned off by the sex shows like "Soap". They don't really bother me personally because I don't watch them.

But I question the wisdom of allowing them into the home.

What bugs me most is the interjection of sex in shows for no reason other than to boost the ratings. If the theme of the show is built around sex and you don't like it, turn it off. That's simple.

When a show like "Barretta" uses sex in an obvious play for viewer attention, what then?

"Barretta" is a cops and robbers show. In a recent episode a friend's daughter fell in love with the star. She wanted to live with him.

That's okay. It was part of the story. But what she wanted was apparent before she put her back to the camera and stripped to the waist to offer her charms to star Robert Blake. All that was there for was to titillate the viewer and hopefully jack up the ratings.

You expect that in the movies today (only she wouldn't have turned her back). I guess you should expect it on TV, too.

One thing is sure. It's a far cry from the censorship that was the rule when television was in its early years.

The way it's going the day may not be far away when television will need a rating system for its shows, too.

Shows like "Soap", many of the soap operas and others of a similar ilk rate an "R" today.

I'm not suggesting that everything that's presented be pap from Walt Disney.

I am suggesting that television can explore areas of vice, human relations and other touchy subjects without getting raunchy about it. Do it with good taste. Do it so that parents don't feel concerned when the kids watch it.

Remember again that television is a home media.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Think spring. Joe Salcido of Gagetown charged into the office last Wednesday to report that he has seen the first robin of the year in his yard. Could that poor bird have been here all of THIS winter?

It must have been a good idea department. Regular readers of this trivia may recall in the December 22 issue I wrote that the Air Force could do worse than make Lori Hampshire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hampshire, a recruiter.

My spies tell me that's just what the Air Force is doing. She's coming back to Michigan for two weeks to help convince other young ladies that the Air Force will make them as happy as it has her.

Mike Loeffler is the manager of the Cass City Red Hawk basketball team. He's small but mighty. Mighty when it comes to palming a basketball.

He does it better than any of the players and I'm informed he can lift a ball using just two fingers.

If you know Dick Erla you know that he is almost never at a loss for words.

I said almost. Before a Rotary meeting last week I would have said never, period.

Erla was named by the club to be a Rotary Fellow, an honor that Jim Bauer and M. B. Auten had received before him.

Donations of $1,000 to the Rotary scholarship program are necessary before the project is complete and designation becomes an official part of Rotary records.

Well, when it was announced Dick surprised everyone by not having anything to say.

Even more surprising was that he admitted it.

Hanson promoted

The U.S. Air Force has promoted Rodney L. Hanson, whose mother is Mrs. Harriet E. Hanson of 3801 Sebawaing Road, Owendale, to the rank of senior airman.

Airman Hanson is serving at Incirlik Common Defense Installation, Turkey, as a weapons mechanic.

He graduated from high school in 1971 in Elkton and attended Macomb County Community College in Warren. His father, Robert J. Hanson, lives in Utica.

Nothing is more serious than what some folks consider a joke.

Your Neighbor says

Parents should be responsible

Should parents be responsible for damage done by their children to other people's property?

Michigan law presently holds parents responsible for a maximum of $1,500 in damages done by their children. The state Senate recently defeated a bill that would have raised that amount to $5,000, but later approved raising it to $2,500. It must now go to the House of Representatives.

David Loomis feels parents should be held financially responsible for vandalism done by their children. "Maybe that way, the parent would try and guide the child so maybe they wouldn't get into so much trouble."

If the parents do have to pay for damage done by their children, he continued, "The children can be responsible to whatever penalty the parents want to put on them."

He feels children sometimes get into trouble as a means of getting attention from their parents.

As for raising the liability limit, Loomis commented, "Whatever they (children) do, it should be paid back."

Loomis is a dairy farmer. He and his wife, Joyce, live on W. Cass City Road. They have four children, Mike, 13, Jeff, 13, Julie, 7, and Diane, 3.

PEDALING AROUND

Tolerating winter

By Mike Eliasohn

There are three basic attitudes towards winter.

There are those who love it, presumably because they love winter sports such as snowmobiling or skiing.

There are those who hate it and show their hatred, if they can afford it, by moving to Florida, Arizona, or some other warm weather state, at least for the winter months.

I suppose most are in the same category as I am. We tolerate it but wish it would end.

I complain lots about winter, but that's because I figure life would be very boring without anything to complain about.

There is one good thing about winter -- it gives people something to talk about. There would be a lot of long silent pauses if people couldn't say things like, "Boy, it sure is cold out today." "The weatherman says we're supposed to get more snow." "Do you think this is EVER going to end?"

There has been one big consolation for me this winter. If I hadn't changed jobs, I would still be toiling for the Monroe Evening News. Winter up here has been mild compared to what they've had to go through down in Monroe county.

My main complaint about winter is driving. I simply don't like driving when roads are slippery and as much as possible, try to avoid doing so.

I've spun off the road three times in winter during my 17 years of driving. The first time all I had to do was restart the engine and drive off; the second time it took a tow truck, and the third time, before I could get my car unstuck, someone else spun off the road into my car. That time, it took a tow truck and then a body shop to get my car on the road.

Excluding owners of four-wheel-drive vehicles, I suspect the devil-may-care drivers on icy roads either know how to handle skids, at least minor ones, or think they do, or are crazy.

As for me, if the roads are icy and I have to go out driving, presumably it's because of work, and I'm probably driving 20 miles per hour. If you're stuck behind me -- tough.

I do have one humorous remembrance about winter driving, although it's one of those "you had to have been there to really appreciate it" incidents.

It was in the early 1960s in Lansing and I had borrowed my parents' Corvair to go to a high school basketball game. It was snowing and going back home afterwards, I took a side street, which required going up a very steep hill.

Despite the engine being in the rear, the tires were bald and it took me three attempts before I finally got up the hill.

On my second attempt, as I was about halfway up the hill and spinning helplessly, along came a Plymouth Valiant (front engine) which also started spinning.

Then, all four doors opened and out of each came a leg. No bodies, just a leg. Each leg started pushing against the pavement like some kind of insect and as I sat there and watched, the car made it the rest of the way up the hill.

Robbers enter area home

More than $1,500 in merchandise was stolen from a Silverwood area home last week.

John Waltes, owner of the home at Rt. 1 English Road, discovered the break-in Feb. 14. It was not reported to state police in Caro until Feb. 16.

Taken, he reported, were two bolt action rifles valued at a total of $775, a .22 caliber rifle, $15; 20-gauge shotgun, $55; television, $195; 8-track tape deck, $270; portable tape player, $50; 8-track tapes, $150; a jewelry box containing several rings, $500; man and woman's watches, $65 total; a toolbox with some sockets and socket drives, $100, and two snow tires, $70.

Caro state police were called Monday to the Sargent Sand Co. on Hess Road, Vassar, to investigate the theft of 5,000 gallons of fuel oil. The fuel oil was taken from a storage tank between Feb. 11 and 16.

Rabideau Motors Inc. reported to Cass City police Friday that the driver's door window of a 1978 Plymouth was broken some time since Feb. 11, when the car was parked behind the dealership on Main Street.

Value of the window was $50 plus the cost of replacing it.

21 earn music rankings

Twenty-one Cass City High School band members earned first, second, or third place ratings at the district level senior high solo/ensemble Saturday at Vassar High School. The lowest possible rating was a four.

Earning first level ratings were Lonnie Wilson, 9th grade, clarinet; Tammy Tibbitts, 9th, saxophone; Laurie Enos, 10th, cornet; Paul Kerbyson, 12th, piano; and Deb Milligan, 11th, flute. They are now eligible to go to the state solo ensemble March 25.

Earning second level ratings were Teresa Scollon, 10th, piano; Carol Dillon, 9th, cornet; Karen Wallace, 10th, French horn; and Suzanne Little, 11th, piano.

Earning third level ratings were Susanna Kappen, Karen Wagg, Frances Kozan, Karen Wallace, Chris Buehrly, Ray Kloc, Bob Paskowski, Leslie Messer, Julie Groth, Lisa Brown, Patty Gilliam, and Melanie Particka.

Participants played one song one-at-a-time, unless a duet or trio, in front of a judge.

The band instructor is George Bushong.

SECOND PLACE RATING -- Earning a second place rating were Karen Wallace (left) and Suzanne Little. Also earning the rating, but not present for the photo, were Teresa Scollon and Carol Dillon.

Candidate hat tossing begins

A Bad Axe accountant and prominent local Republican threw his hat in the ring last week for the state Senate seat presently held by Republican Alvin DeGrow of Pigeon.

A Vassar Democrat is dangling her hat over the ring.

The Republican, Edward J. Moore, 44, is a director and tax consultant for the certified public accounting firm of Karl Leppien & Co. He presently is chairman of the eastern chapter of the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

He was chairman of the 8th Congressional District Republican Committee, but resigned upon announcing his candidacy. He previously served as chairman and finance chairman for the Huron County Republican Party. He has attended state Republican conventions for several years and in 1976 was an alternate delegate to the national Republican convention in Kansas City.

Expressing dissatisfaction with the present representation in Lansing, Moore said he thought he could use his experience in taxation and finance for the benefit of the district, which is comprised of Huron, Sanilac, and Tuscola counties as well as parts of Lapeer and St. Clair counties.

Formation of a committee, "Friends of Kathleen Asher," was announced by George Ellison of Cass City and LeRoy Clark of Millington. Purpose of the committee, which will raise funds, is

Edward J. Moore

It was incorrectly reported in the Feb. 2 Chronicle that Howard Luana of Deford struck the rear end of a car driven by Reatha C. Hughes of Cass City in a Jan. 28 accident on Church Street, Cass City.

The Hughes vehicle struck the rear of the Luana car.

Peggy Houck

Tuscola, Sanilac get home economist

Peggy Houck will tell you that home economics means lots of things besides cooking and sewing.

She should know. She's the new Cooperative Extension Service home economist for Tuscola and Sanilac counties. She started work last Wednesday.

A home economist, she explained, "works with the community in home economics education programs." What that means is working with schools, agencies, the elderly, young families, housewives, etc. by "helping them to help themselves."

She will also be working with the approximately 30 extension study groups in the two counties.

Subjects she will be involved with include consumer education, use of energy in the home, health, money management and family financial planning, nutrition, home management, interior decorating, and last but not least, cooking and sewing.

Miss Houck isn't opposed to cooking and sewing, she even admits that she enjoys both activities. It's just that she feels too many people feel that home economics is only those two subjects and thus are unaware of the educational services she can offer in other areas.

As part of the educational effort, she will continue to produce two newsletters started by her predecessors, "The Upswing" for homemakers and "Patty-Cake Press" for families with preschool children.

Miss Houck, 25, feels her special areas of expertise are in family and child-related areas and nutrition.

The Marlette resident is a native of Sturgis in St. Joseph county, near the state line with Indiana.

She graduated from Central Michigan University in 1974 with a bachelor's degree in education, specializing in home economics. She presently is working on a master's degree in home economics at CMU.

Miss Houck said she enjoyed teaching, but, "My previous experience was very rewarding (as an assistant home economist) and I just wanted to get back into it."

The new home economist is partially replacing two people. Aliene Mills and Ann Ross jointly served Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties. Mrs. Mills left in October to work with her husband in the bus tour business; Mrs. Ross in January to be extension home economist in Eaton county. No replacement has been named yet to serve in Huron county.

AROUND THE FARM

Saving electricity

By Don Kebler

Since the coal strike began people are again beginning to be energy saving conscious. They wish to reduce their use of energy and this time it's electrical.

There are many ways to reduce electrical energy use but each by itself saves only a small amount. Put all these ways together, and everyone does it, the energy savings could be tremendous.

What are some ways to reduce our electrical use? I guess the answers depend on what each of us want to do and we must ask ourselves questions like "Can I room-dry my laundry instead of by mechanical means?" How about using small wattage light bulbs, wash our dishes in the sink and rinse them in cold water, or lower the water heater temperature during off use times. As I said it is the combination of many small energy savings that pays. Even hand squeezing your morning orange juice saves energy over using a mechanical squeezer.

How about turning the heat down in the bedrooms and keep the doors shut? This reduces the power needed to move the furnace air, circulate the water or electric heat to the rooms.

There are many other ways the individual can save on energy in his own situation. Where there is a willingness there is a way. We can all turn off lights and appliances when not using them and children can be taught to follow our example.

thawing of that ground will cause cracks that the seed can drop into.

After all, wasn't this nature's way of helping plants to seed themselves before man came up with a better idea?

Farm tax meeting set

A meeting to discuss Public Act 116, the Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act, has been scheduled Thursday, March 2, in Sandusky.

It will start at 1:30 p.m. in the Civic Center building, near the IGA store.

P.A. 116 provides that a farmer will not have to pay more than seven per cent of his household income for property taxes, in exchange for which he must sign an agreement with the state that he will keep his land in agricultural production for 10 years.

The meeting is sponsored by the Sanilac County Cooperative Extension service and Farm Bureau Young Farmers.

According to county Extension Director A. Rex Stieting, "You should be interested in attending this meeting if you are a farmer and your taxes are too high."

For Dan Derfny

Big brother a neat relationship

Officially, Dan Derfny and Dave Ricker are Big Brother and Little Brother respectively. They prefer to think of each other as just friends.

The two make up one of 70 Big Brother or Big Sister matches in Tuscola county. This week, Feb. 19-25, is national Big Brothers-Big Sisters Appreciation Week.

The Big Brothers organization being 75 years old. Big Sisters is 70 years old.

Derfny, 28, would seemingly be an unlikely participant in the Big Brother program, for he spends all of his working days with kids. He is the drafting instructor at Cass City High School and also seventh grade basketball coach.

Dave, 14, lives in Gagetown with his mother, Edith Ricker, and is an eighth grader in the Owen-Gage schools. His parents are divorced.

So why would someone who spends all day working with school kids decide to take part in the Big Brother program? Derfny admits the question crossed his mind, but, he decided, "I just thought it would be neat to do it with someone with the same interests I have who didn't have anyone to do it with."

It also offers him a chance for a personal one-to-one relationship, something which he can't do as a teacher. "This one (relationship) is something special, I guess."

As for Dave, he said simply, as he looked at his Big Brother, "I like to build models and stuff like that. I get more tips off of Dan, here."

In addition to model building (cars and trucks), they also share an interest in real-size cars and in sports.

Dave signed up for the program at the suggestion of his mother, then had to wait about a year before being assigned a Big Brother. He and Derfny have been paired off about four months.

Before the BB-BS office in Caro made the match official, they met a few times to determine if they would hit it off.

In addition to compatibility between Big Brother or Sister and Little Brother or Sister, there is also the issue of compatibility with parents and spouses.

As for Derfny's wife, Linda, and his Little Brother, he said, "She really enjoys Dave."

In turn, Dave said of his mother, "She thinks it's a nice relationship" between him and his Big Brother.

Adults in the program are asked to spend at least one hour a week with their Little Brother or Sister, but on an average, Dan and Dave spend 3-4 hours together.

"One reason people may shy away from the program," Derfny explained, "is because they can't think of things to do but you just include them (Little Brothers or Sisters) in the things you do normally."

For instance, one of Derfny's duties as seventh grade basketball coach is to scout opponents of the high school varsity team. He takes Dave along to the games, who keeps the statistics.

As both like to build models, it's easy for them to do it together, which is done at the workshop in Dan's house. He and his wife live on Hoppe Road near Gagetown.

There are some dos and don'ts in the program. For instance, the parent of the youngster isn't supposed to use visits with the Big Brother or Big Sister as a disciplinary tool -- "If you don't behave, I won't let you see your Big Brother this week."

Prominent ex-resident dies at 78

Funeral services for William Walters, 78, a native of Cass City, were held Saturday from the Hamilton Funeral Home in Birmingham.

Walters died Feb. 16 in Grace Hospital, Detroit. An attorney, he was born in Cass City Aug. 7, 1899 and graduated from high school here in 1918.

He is survived by his wife Jean; one son, Thomas of Detroit; a daughter, Mrs. Richard Raison of Plymouth, and a brother, Lee Walters, in Florida.

William Walters

He was Automobile Club of America (AAA) vice-president in 1976-77 and was on the 16-member AAA executive committee, which sets national Club policy. He also was a former chairman of the AAA National Highway Committee.

As a member of the Michigan House of Representatives in 1925-28, he campaigned on behalf of a $60-million highway bond issue designed to "get Michigan out of the mud."

Walters formerly was secretary and general counsel of the S.S. Kresge Co. and was a director of the American Retail Federation, Michigan Retail Association and the Ohio State Retail Council. He also served on the board of the Detroit Central Business District Association and the Mount Clemens Pottery Co.

The Birmingham resident was a past president of the Detroit Group of the Society of Corporate Secretaries and a trustee of the Arnold Home and Brighton Hospital. He was a member of the Detroit, Michigan and American Bar associations; Delta Theta Phi, professional law fraternity, and Detroit Commandery No. 1, Knights Templar. ## Retirees elect officers

New officers were elected for two-year terms at the Feb. 9 meeting of Cass City Chapter 1613 of the American Association of Retired Persons. Forty-five members and guests were present.

Elected were Noreen Partridge, president; Ralph Sousa, vice-president; Mildred Herr, secretary; Helen Little, assistant secretary; Vera Bearss, treasurer; and Avis Youngs, assistant treasurer. All are from Cass City except Sousa, who is from Kingston.

Serving on the board of directors will be Earnest Beardsley, Clara Eberts, Thelma Pratt, Marie Roch, and Donna Wernette.

Installation of the new officers will be at the March 9 luncheon meeting in the Good Shepherd Lutheran church fellowship hall.

AARP State Director Jessie M. Hall will be the installing officer. Mary Kirtan, Myrtle Murphy, Rose Worstell, and Ralph Sousa will be in charge of arrangements.

Also at the Feb. 9 meeting, Tom Proctor gave a talk on the hazards of mixing and using outdated medicines.

Volunteer nurses Lucile Stein and Joan Ware gave blood pressure checks to all members.

Grant Kelly, outreach worker for the Thumb Area Commission on Aging, was in charge of the program.

MODEL BUILDING -- A favorite activity for Big Brother Dan Derfny and Little Brother Dave Ricker is building models, such as this truck model, which belongs to Derfny.

and movie theatres, to admit the Little Brother or Little Sister for free if the Big Brother or Big Sister pays the regular adult fare.

But even if the Little Brother or Sister doesn't have much or any money, Derfny sees that as a problem that can be overcome. "A lot of things cost money, but a lot of things don't, too."

So far Dan and Dave have gotten together mostly on week ends, though that may change once basketball season is over. They usually also talk to each other at least once a week by telephone.

As indicated at the beginning of this article, the pair don't think of themselves as Big Brother and Little Brother. When making introductions, they don't even mention those terms.

"I'm awfully glad I got involved," Derfny said. "If I hadn't, I wouldn't have met Dave and I think we've had some pretty good times together."

Board mulls job jumping practices

The Thumb Area Consortium Administrative Board last Thursday decided to let the boards of commissioners of the three upper Thumb counties decide whether they wish to prohibit jumping from one federally-funded job to another because of higher pay.

The incident was touched off because a police officer in Peck being paid with federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act funds was offered a higher-paying job with the Decker-ville Police Department, which also was CETA funded. Peck had paid for the officer's training.

Federal funds will pay a maximum of $10,000 annually, but since the pay has to be keyed to what the employing governmental units pay their regular employees, the amount paid in CETA funds for the same job, such as a policeman, can vary from community to community.

Consortium Executive Director Frank Lenard reported that such job jumping has happened before, usually within a county, but also from county to county. He also said the consortium has no policy on such matters.

Leonard Hool, director of the Tri-County Public Service Agency, and administrator over the CETA funds involved in the Peck-Decker-ville dispute, commented, "I don't think the purpose of this program is to fund bidding contests between governments."

"This isn't the open labor market. This is a program specifically to employ unemployed people."

Administrative board members finally decided they shouldn't set a policy or Tuscola, Huron, and Sanilac counties, that such decisions should be left up to the respective county boards of commissioners.

The one county board to have set a policy before so far is Sanilac, whose commissioners, after discussing the police hiring dispute with Hool Feb. 15, decided that such job transfers should require approval of both governmental units involved. That prohibited the Peck policeman from going to Decker-ville.

In other action Thursday, Lenard announced that he has applied for an additional $175,000 in CETA Title II and $600,000 in Title VI funds. Title II funds are for what are considered permanent-type jobs; Title VI, emergency employment.

The money is to come from funds previously allocated to other area consortiums that couldn't use it.

Lenard was subsequently told by the state Department of Labor, which administers the federal job funds, he could have $357,000 for Title VI projects if he could put 50 additional people to work by the end of February. He said he could, but as of the meeting, hadn't yet received the funds.

He expects to be notified later if he will receive the rest of the Title VI plus the Title II funds he requested.

Among Title VI project requests approved by the administrative board was one for three persons to do assessment survey work for Novesta township.

Those hired will start in May or June and work for 3-4 months.

The work will involve measuring and recording buildings and their conditions and then transferring the information onto cards for purposes of updating the township's tax information.

The final report for the fiscal year that ended Sept. 30 showed the consortium, since it started in the 1974-75 fiscal year, has spent a total of $11.515 million.

Of the total, Lenard said, only about 8.5 per cent has been spent for administration of the Title I job training program, two per cent for Title II administration, and 1.25 per cent for Title VI. Fifteen per cent is allowed for administration.

The rest of the money has gone to provide jobs and job training for people who presumably would otherwise be unemployed.

The consortium budget for the present fiscal year is $7.15 million.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Volleyball team unfair

Mr. Haire, There seems to be a serious problem on the Cass City High School girls' varsity volleyball team.

They had their parents' night Feb. 20. All the girls' parents were present with the exception of one girl's parents.

One of the main reasons parents' night is organized is for the parents to see their girls play. But in the game on Feb. 20 only seven of the 15 girls played continually, while one girl went in to serve twice. The other seven girls remained on the bench the whole night. This doesn't seem fair considering all of the girls go to practice regularly.

At the beginning of the season it was said the girls' potential was equal. If this is true, then why aren't they played equally. If the coach didn't plan on playing the other seven girls, why did she choose these girls to make up the volleyball team when they practice as hard as the ones who play but all they get to do is sit on the bench.

This didn't just happen on parents' night, it happens regularly. This also upset a few parents.

Thank you,

Name of student withheld by request

Wrestlers end season

Laming qualifies for state tournament again

Cass City's Walt Laming has qualified to enter the state wrestling tournament for the second year in a row as the grapplers come to the end of another season.

Laming led the team with a 27-1 record.

Laming was one of only six seniors on the squad and Coach Russ Biefer says that the future success of the team depends on the youngsters who gained valuable experience this year.

The team ended the year with an 8-6-1 record. In the 13 varsity weight classes Cass City went with nine freshmen. Considering this, Biefer said the season was "quite successful".

Seniors who filled an important role of the team included Laming, Gary Warju and Al Pratt. Other seniors helping were Ron Langmaid, Mike Palmer and Steve Ballard.

Underclassmen who should help next year include Jeff Jensen, Bob Warju, Guy Nanney, Todd Alexander, Mike Truemmer and Dan LaPonsie. The freshmen who showed promise were Mark Deering, Dave Palazzola, Clayton Harmer, Brian Bills, Bob Sawdon, Mike O'Dell, Kevin Woodward, John Warju and Ray Kloc.

In district tournament Cass City was sixth among 15 teams. Laming and Gary Warju qualified for the regionals.

Laming and Gary Warju led the team in pins while Al Pratt and Gary Warju were tops in take-downs. Bob and Gary Warju led in reversals and Laming and Ron Langmaid posted the most near falls.

Individual records with the weight class wrestled in were: Mark Deering (98) 7-14; Dave Palazzola (105) 11-9; Dan LaPonsie (112) 1-9; Clayton Harmer (119) 5-12; Al Pratt (126) 15-8; Walt Laming (132) 27-1; Ron Langmaid, 6-7; Gary Warju (155) 21-9; Bob Warju (165) 16-11; Jeff Jensen (178) 13-10; Brian Bills (191) 0-7; Mike Truemmer (145) 6-7; Guy Nanney (Hwy) 13-6.

Rounding out the team's scoring records: John Warju, 2-3; Todd Alexander, 0-5; Mike Palmer, 0-5; Bob Sawdon, 4-2; Dean Brown, 0-2; Kevin Woodward, 1-4; Mike O'Dell, 6-4; Ray Kloc, 3-3.

Owen-Gage bows in final league game of season

Handicapped by numerous fouls against the well balanced scoring attack of North Huron, the Owen-Gage Bulldogs lost their final regular season game Friday night, 83-66.

The loss dropped them to 12-4 in the North Central D League, good for second place, and a 13-6 season mark. The season's record was a substantial improvement over 1976-77, when the Bulldogs finished in third place in the league with a 7-7 mark and 10-9 overall.

Although the regular season is over for the Bulldogs, the final league games for some schools are this Friday.

"It wasn't the best refereed game I've ever seen," was the comment of Bulldog coach Phil Gray after Friday night's contest at Kinde. The referees called 37 fouls against his team and six players, including all five starters, fouled out.

The Warriors went to the foul line 13 times in the first quarter and 17 in the second. They led at the quarter, 24-18, and at the half, 49-31. In total, they went to the foul line 45 times and made 25 shots, for 55 per cent. From the floor, they shot 29 of 83 for 34 per cent.

The Warriors had five men in double figures: Randy Matelski with 22, Roger Case, 14, Jim Morezek, 13, Joe Knoblock, 10, and Dennis Kennedy, 10.

In double figures for the Bulldogs were Roger Ziehm with 18 and Dave Fritz with 15.

The team shot 29 of 77 from the floor, 37 per cent, and eight of 27 from the free throw line, 29 per cent.

The Warriors out-rebounded their opponents, 59-46. Top man on the boards for the Bulldogs was Dick Glidden with nine.

It was the final regular season game for Bulldog seniors Ziehm, Fritz, Tim Lorenz, Gary Goslin, Billy Parker, and Tim Kain.

The junior varsity game to determine the league championship was won by North Huron, 64-57. Both teams had lost only one game up till then. As the Kinde reserves still have one game to play, the junior Bulldogs could still finish in a tie for first place.

Martin's serves help Hawks win

The Cass City High School volleyball team split a match with Caro and won a match from Vassar during the week while the Junior Varsity just kept rolling along, winning, winning, winning.

Thursday the girls lost the first match 15-10 and 15-8 before bouncing back to win the second match, 15-5 and 15-9.

Cheri Martin again led from the service line. Vicky Lapp had 24 spikes, including 9 kills. Diana Smith was credited with 12 roll spikes. Judy Luana was credited with the most saves. The Junior Varsity posted 15-7 and 15-5 decisions.

Against Vassar Cass City won the opening match, 15-6 and 15-7. In the second match the Hawks won the first game, 15-9, lost the second, 12-15 and took the deciding game, 15-7.

Caro game anticlimactic

Lakers edge Cass City for Thumb B loop crown

Ordinarily when the Caro Tigers come to town it's one of the top games of the season, regardless of the records of the two teams.

Well, Caro comes to Cass City this Friday and it's strictly anticlimactic. That's because the Hawks were dumped by the Lakers in the battle for the Thumb B Conference title last Friday, 61-51, and Caro is next to the bottom of the standings.

In addition, the game is just prior to the district tournaments and the teams will be looking beyond the game to the important battles next week.

The Lakers won the game Friday because they dominated the boards by a wide margin, outrebounding Cass City, 42-26, according to Coach Ron Nurnberger's statistical chart.

Besides the rebounding, the Lakers were helped by the outstanding outside shooting of Joel Leipprandt, who was deadly on jump shots from near the corner.

Even though the final margin was 10 points, the game was close all of the way. The Lakers went into a lead in the first quarter and never lost it.

The Green and White opened an eight-point margin midway through the opening stanza as Steve Smith hit a pair of quick buckets to lead the way.

Cass City came charging back on aggressive defense to close the gap to two points, 18-16, at the end of the first eight minutes.

Neither team was able to mount much of an offense in the second quarter. Cass City scored just 10 points on divided scoring while the Lakers countered with 14 to move in front by six points at the intermission.

The teams traded baskets in the third quarter. Leipprandt kept the Lakers on top with 10 points on jumpers and easy rebound shots. Clarke Haire netted five to keep the Hawks within shooting distance.

The two teams traded buckets in the final quarter until about three minutes left when the Lakers went into a ball control offense and ran out the clock.

Leipprandt led all scorers with 22 points. Haire led the Hawks with 15 points.

Haire's points enabled him to break the school's all-time career scoring record with 1022 points, breaking the record held by Scott Hartel of 1011.

JV'S WIN

The Junior Varsity posted its second win of the season over the Laker JV in the preliminary. The victory assures the squad of finishing second in the Thumb B behind Frankenmuth.

CASS CITY	FG	FT	PTS

Clinic for umps

A clinic for both experienced and prospective fast pitch and slow pitch umpires will be held at Vassar High School March 2 and 14 from 7-10 p.m. in Room 110. Cost is $3 per person.

The clinic will include rules, umpiring mechanics, film and slides, and point of emphasis on rules. Bill Humphrey, national deputy umpire-in-chief for the American Softball Association, will conduct the clinic and also discuss the possible formation of an umpire's association for all Thumb area umpires.

The clinic will also present an opportunity to become a registered ASA umpire. To enroll, call 823-8768 or 823-2551 in Vassar as soon as possible as space is limited.

JESSE GROTH connected on this shot in the first half as he shot over Joel Leipprandt of Lakers. Watching are Steve Smith of Lakers and Paul Battel of Cass City.

Bulldog volleyball teams still perfect

The Owen-Gage varsity and junior varsity volleyball squads stayed undefeated Monday night in competition at Port Hope.

In the first varsity match, Owen-Gage won the first game, 15-7, lost the second, 7-15, and won the third 15-5. Mary Lenhard had six spikes and Laurie Andrakowicz, six ace spikes and 11 good spikes.

The Bulldogs won the second match by scores of 18-16 and 15-10. Lenhard had seven spikes and six dinks; Andrakowicz, 17 spikes.

The junior varsity won its first two games, 15-8 and 15-3, but lost the third, 7-15.

High school plans shown

$18,637. With a change order to bring the foundation up to ground level, instead of the original below ground foundation, total price is now $32,000.

The idea of construction management is that construction is done in stages, with design of the later stages being done while building is underway, the aim being to speed building time.

Tincknell said that the first plans were sent to CCI in mid-November which meant bidding on some phases of the construction could have begun then.

Mattingly, who wasn't assigned to the project until Nov. 1, said part of the reason for the delay was a decision by his bosses not to proceed until all the plans were completed.

The final plans weren't received from Tincknell until Jan. 11, he said, and it has taken since then to get them ready for bidding.

One problem, according to the architect, is that his firm hired someone to do the mechanical and electrical design. Delay resulted when the mechanical engineer hired quit because he refused to work with a construction management firm.

Both Tincknell and Mattingly said the delay hasn't been all bad.

Contractors were busy at fall bidding on projects funded by federal public works funds, so it's likely awards would have been received.

Also, because major construction won't get underway until April, there won't be a need to heat the inside of construction workers, which will save some money.

Some board members questioned whether the steel could have been ordered last November, when the sizes needed were first known, to avoid later price increases.

Dodd, the job coordinator, said if it was purchased then and stored outside at the construction site, some may have been damaged and some stolen by the time it was needed.

Steel manufacturers no longer will store it inside until needed, he said, because of the cost of maintaining storage facilities.

thus, unless it was delivered immediately, they wouldn't have made it until it was needed. The steel beams needed for the project must be custom made.

Mattingly said construction is scheduled for completion by Jan. 15, 1979, but may take less time than that. The gym should be ready in time for the Christmas basketball tournament.

Tincknell said possibly the classrooms on the south side of the building might be done in time for fall, with the home economics and science rooms on the north side to be completed later.

Board member Jack Laurie, who said early in the meeting about the construction management program,

"Frankly, I feel we were sold a bill of goods," later concluded, "I'm encouraged by the schedule you've laid out."

The board voted to release the $6,500 due to CCI, which it voted at its Feb. 13 meeting to withhold until the meeting Thursday.

As for being over budget, Mattingly hedged during the meeting between "your budget is in jeopardy" and "it's very possible" the project may come in a few dollars under budget.

Afterwards, he said the cost overrun will have to be made up by buying used equipment instead of all new items and some other corner cutting.

Two such examples have already been done. The board on Feb. 13 approved payment of $11,000 to Midwest Installers for removal, refurbishing, and reinstallation of all the science room equipment donated to the district in December by a doctor. The equipment came from the former St. Peter and Paul High School in Saginaw, which the doctor bought to convert into a nursing home. Lockers were also donated, but the price for removal and reinstallation hasn't been determined yet. The total donation was valued at about $75,000.

Thursday, the board approved the purchase of 73,000 bricks at $150 per 1,000 from Van Poppelen Bros. of Bay City. The bricks were ordered by CCI prior to the

Jan. 1 price increase of $8 per 1,000.

In other action Thursday, the board approved a trip by the sophomore class to the Cedar Point amusement park, east of Toledo, May 31. The board will supply the bus, gasoline, and two drivers. Cost per student will be $6 which will pay the admission price. The trip each way will take about six hours.

FLOOR PLAN of the new Owen-Gage High School addition. The cafeteria, at upper left, will be remodeled from the present gymnasium. The new gym will be to the left of the present one. The gym floor will run east-west; the present one runs north-south.

Ubly area home lost in fire

A fire which apparently started when a clothes dryer exploded destroyed a home near Ubly Monday night.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Taleski was located on Bay City-Forestville Road, about 1 1/2 miles west of M-19.

Bingham Township Fire Chief Elmer Brahmmer said clothes had been placed in a kitchen clothes dryer just before the couple heard a loud noise. They found the kitchen engulfed in flames and fled the dwelling.

The home was valued at $18,000. The fire was reported at 10:15 p.m.

Dandron guilty in larceny case

Alan J. Dandron of 1559 E. Dayton Road, Caro, was found guilty by a circuit court jury last Thursday of larceny by conversion.

The verdict came at the end of a 11-day trial. Judge Martin E. Clements continued bond at $1,000 and set sentencing March 27.

Dandron was charged in connection with the borrowing of a shotgun valued at more than $100 from Burt White Feb. 16, 1977 and not returning it. The defendant lives in a trailer rented from White, who lives at 1557 E. Dayton Road.

In cases Feb. 14 before Judge Clements: Kenneth H. Diener, 17, of 120 Ellington Road, Caro, stood mute to a charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile.

A plea of innocent was entered and a pretrial hearing scheduled Feb. 27. Bond of $3,000 was continued.

He is charged in connection with the taking of an automobile belonging to Michael Bubblitz in Akron township Dec. 29.

Michael G. Parker, 20, of 144 N. Andy Street, Vassar, pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of joy riding.

He had been charged with unlawfully driving away an automobile in connection with the taking of a car belonging to Louise Derben in Vassar Jan. 19.

His plea was accepted, bond was continued, and sentencing scheduled March 13.

Keith Oberhausen, 21, of Detroit, was placed on one year probation for unlawfully driving away an automobile without intent to steal.

He was sentenced to 90 days in the county jail, credited with 56 days served, and directed to take drug abuse counseling. He was fined $100 and assessed $200 court costs.

He had pleaded guilty to the charge in connection with the taking of a car belonging to Michelle Parrish in Unionville Dec. 20.

Frank Sholes, 21, of Flushing, pleaded guilty to violation of probation.

Historical meeting draws 40

About 40 persons were present Monday night at the Cultural Center to view old maps and photographs presented at the meeting of the Cass City Area Historical Society.

Discussing old maps, photos, and atlases they brought with them were Bob Dillman, Maxine Kennedy, Harold Perry, Dave Ackerman, and Jack Blades.

Briefly discussed was a fund raising project, possibly selling of souvenir plates or a book about local history.

The April meeting will feature a speaker from the Saginaw Geological Society.

Tentatively scheduled for June is a tour of old barns or log cabins, possibly combined with a picnic.

licensed. Up to Feb. 28, dog licenses cost $4; after that, $7. Dogs who become six months old between March 1 and July 1 can still be licensed for $4. If they reach that age on or after July 10, the fee is only $2.

Dog licenses can be purchased from township treasurers when paying taxes or at the county treasurer's office in the courthouse in Caro.

The fine for unleashed dogs or dogs running at large is $25. There is a $30 fine for having an unlicensed dog after March 1.

Willis said he and the other animal control officer in the county take in about 90-100 dogs a week, either animals brought to the county shelter in Caro, picked up by request, or which they catch running loose. Most are brought to the center. The officers will pick up dogs for free.

"Very few" of the dogs are adopted, he said. Most are picked up by a firm hired by the county and then destroyed.

The present shelter only has room for 40 dogs, which can mean 12 dogs to a pen designed for four, due to the large number taken in.

Thanks to a federal public works grant of $200,000, the county is building a new and larger shelter west of Caro, which will be completed this fall.

Changes scheduled at Regional Center

The Michigan Department of Mental Health is developing a new trend in serving the mentally retarded.

Plans are underway to place 1,200 residents of centers for the mentally retarded into all 83 counties by 1980. These plans are to be implemented through the Alternative Intermediate Services for the Mentally Retarded program, or AIS-MR, a new group home placement program. The counties served by the Caro Regional Mental Health Center - AIS-MR Unit are Saginaw, Sanilac, Huron and Tuscola.

The state legislature has opted to take advantage of available federal funds to improve services to the mentally retarded presently living in the State Developmental Centers. The program is known as the Intermediate Care Facility for the Mentally Retarded.

The major thrust of the program is to move each resident to the least restrictive living environment within which the individual is able to function to the maximum of his or her potential.

This movement of a resident to the least restrictive environment is accomplished through a well-developed plan of care by a group of professionals known as the interdisciplinary team.

Each individual resident is very thoroughly evaluated by members of the team. Then an individual plan of care is written to assure each mentally retarded individual's needs are met through what is called a "developmental model" process.

The developmental model takes the optimistic view that behavior can be modified in retarded persons, even if severely retarded.

The means of implementing the developmental model is to create an environment as culturally normal as possible. It means that retarded individuals should, to the greatest extent possible, be treated as if they were of normal intelligence.

To bring about this change will require the centers for the developmentally disabled throughout the state, such as at Caro, to undergo remodeling of their living facilities to meet the intermediate care facility standards.

Instead of large wards, the emphasis will be on a more normal environment, much like an everyday home situation.

The remodeling will mean a reduction in the number of beds available at state facilities for the retarded. The remodeling will start this spring and is to be completed by July, 1980.

What is to become of retarded residents of the state institutions who will be displaced by the remodeling, and a subsequent reduction in the number of available beds?

The intermediate care facility program requires the development and implementation of an individual service plan for each resident. The least restrictive environment is as close to everyday living as possible. Ultimately, the most normal living environment is in the community.

Federal funds will be used for the construction of community-based homes. These homes will be comparable to other homes in any selected neighborhood and must meet strict licensing requirements. The homes will house from 4-12 developmentally disabled individuals.

The individual service plan for each resident will be implemented by a profit or nonprofit provider organization. The employees of such an organization will provide 24-hour-a-day coverage.

The developmentally disabled residents in an AIS-MR home will normally use the services of the local community. The procedure will be closely monitored on an individual basis by a professional mental health case manager. The entire process will remain under the jurisdiction and supervision of a team of specialists within the state facility.

Carefully selected residents will move from the developmental center to a more normal environment in the AIS-MR home. When it is determined an individual is ready, placement will then be made into a foster care home.

The AIS-MR Unit at the Caro Regional Center will be seeking persons or groups interested in providing the service program in the community-based homes. They will also be looking for people interested in investing in these community homes to be located in the four-county area.

Anyone interested in more information should contact Wendell R. Wood or James Parsell at the AIS-MR Unit at 673-3191 in Caro.

Pesticide deadline approaches

Michigan farmers are warned by the Michigan Department of Agriculture that they will not be able to purchase restricted use pesticides after March without the required certification.

Farmers who wish to use these materials and have not completed certification requirements should contact their county extension office for information on training and examinations, according to Dean Lovitt, chief of the Michigan Department of Agriculture Plant Industry Division.

Lovitt said that restricted use pesticides will only be sold to certified applicators after the effective date of the regulation, which will be on or about March 15. A list of about 50 pesticides to be restricted may be obtained from the MDA Plant Industry Division office, Box 30017, Lansing 48909. County cooperative extension offices are also being provided with this information.

"The certification process requires an examination and takes from six to nine weeks from time of application," said Lovitt. "Thus, it is imperative that growers wishing to use these materials this spring take action now to become certified, if they have already not done this."

Since establishment of the restricted use certification procedure in January, 1977, the Plant Industry Division has given 14,000 examinations, but Lovitt estimates that more than 30,000 growers may need the certification. Federal law requires that states have such a certification program before growers are allowed to use restricted materials.
