Commission primaries competitive

Area county commissioner races aren't a sure thing for anyone. The filing deadline for the Aug. 8 primary was Tuesday at 4 p.m.

The toughest race will be that of Lloyd Severance, who is seeking re-election to district No. 1 on the Sanilac County Board of Commissioners. The district consists of Greenleaf, Evergreen, Lamotte, Argyle, and Moore townships.

Opposing him in the Republican primary will be Michael Lucas of Snover and Allen J. Lewis of Snover. The winner will oppose Democrat Eileen Riess of Snover in the Nov. 7 general election.

In Tuscola county, Maynard McConkey, a Republican, is retiring as commissioner from district No. 2, which consists of Elmwood, Elkland, Ellington and Novesta townships and the northern part of Kingston township.

Seeking to replace him are Royce Russell of Elmwood township and Clifford Ryan of 4282 West Street, Cass City. Both are Republicans, which means the winner will be decided in the primary.

Dick Erla of Cass City was planning to run as a Democrat but changed his mind and didn't file nominating petitions.

The other six members of the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners are all seeking re-election. None face any opposition in the primary but all will be opposed in the general election.

In Huron county, incumbent Edmund Good Sr. of Gageton will be opposed in the Republican primary by Bruce W. Kuhl of Bay Port. Good represents district No. 1, Brookfield, Sebawaing, and Fairhaven townships. Democrats are on the ballot.

In district No. 2, where Commissioner Robert Triska of Uby is retiring, two Republicans will face each other in the primary, Bruce Brown of Uby and William Nugent of Bad Axe. Democrats are running. The district consists of all the townships from Grant township east to Lake Huron.

Candidates for the state legislature and for judicial races had to file in Lansing -- the deadline was the same -- and county clerks won't now who is running until the end of the week.

Candidates for township offices filed with their township clerks, who have until Friday to notify county clerks who is running.

FIREWORKS — Cass City Police Chief Gene Wilson examines some fireworks confiscated by his department from minors. The small firecrackers are now legal in Michigan unless prohibited by local ordinance. Cass City has such an ordinance.

Still locally Legal firecrackers worry law officers

There may be a big bang on the 4th of July and that has area law enforcement officials worried.

They are worried because of a federal court ruling, is now legal in the state.

At best, exploding fireworks will mean disturbing the peace. At worst, there could be serious injuries.

The potential for disaster became reality for two Lapeer county youths May 28 when a box of 40-50 legal size firecrackers inside a small shed exploded as the youths were outside setting off some of them.

The explosion, heard four miles away, burned one of the youths over 40 percent of his body and blinded him in both eyes. His brother, who wasn't as close to the shed, suffered severe cuts and was also hospitalized.

The box of fireworks was sitting on a window ledge and heat because of the 87-degree temperature may have set them off spontaneously. A spark from the fireworks being lit by the boys is another possibility.

SALE AND USE OF fireworks in Michigan became legal when a federal district court ruled that the state legislature's adopting several federal regulations as part of the 1976 Hazardous Substances Act took precedence over the 1931 State Fireworks Act. Federal regulations permit selling of firecrackers with up to .77 grain (50 milligrams) of explosives.

Until then, state law only permitted sale of sparklers and paper caps for cap guns containing no more than .25 grain of powder.

Until recently, according to Cass City Police Chief Gene Wilson, the only time police encountered fireworks was on July 4 and some other holidays and the firecrackers used were small ones.

But since stores started selling fireworks, he has "very definitely" noticed an increase in their use. Some other towns in the area, he added, "have had it a lot worse than we have."

Apparently the nearest source of supply is in Caro, where one store has a large banner outside advertising "fireworks."

Large blockbusters and cherrybombs are still illegal, but, said Wilson, "I understand if you know the right people, you can still get them."

One source is Ohio, where fireworks can legally be sold but cannot be detonated in the state.

The Michigan legislature is presently considering legislation which would remove the legal loophole and thus again ban the sale and use of firecrackers in the state.

TUSCOLA COUNTY Prosecutor Patrick Joslyn points out that villages can by ordinance prohibit the use of fireworks.

Cass City has had such an ordinance since 1966, which prohibits the sale, possession, or use of the explosive devices.

Wilson has directed his officers to use the ordinance if they catch someone setting off firecrackers.

The police have caught a few violators, but all have been minors. Whether or not they get turned over to juvenile court, Wilson indicated, depends on whether the violators have a past police record and on what the complainant, if any, chooses to do. If the youngster has a past record, he most likely will face a probate court hearing.

In addition to the village ordinance, police have another weapon, arresting a person for disturbing the peace.

Possession or use of fireworks is also illegal in all state parks, recreation areas and state forest campgrounds.

Joslyn has low regard for fireworks users. "If there were a law where I could hang these people even for possession of Class C fireworks, I'd do it," he said, "but there isn't as far as prosecuting individuals."

ANOTHER CONTROL measure pertains to sellers. Michigan has a very strict -- and still legal -- law regulating storage of fireworks by sellers.

Other than for a small amount on display for sale, fireworks have to be stored in a non-combustible one-story building, well ventilated, without electricity or heat, and not used for any other purpose. The building must be a minimum distance away from inhabited buildings, roads and railroads. For storage of 100 pounds or less of Class C fireworks (.77 grain or less of explosives per firecracker) the storage building must be at least 50 feet away from an inhabited building and 25 feet from a highway or railroad tracks.

Joslyn said it's up to local fire chiefs to make inspection of facilities used for storing fireworks because of the potential fire hazard. If any violations are found and referred to him, he will prosecute. Violations are a misdemeanor.

"Legally, he (a dealer) can sell them, but I have serious questions about the morality of it," the prosecutor said, citing the possibility of injuries by users

Millage levy on 3 ballots

Voters in the Owendale-Gagetown School District will be asked Monday to renew 8.0 mills for operations.

There will be two candidates on the ballot for two four-year terms on the school board.

The Kingston and Uby school districts both have millage renewals on the ballot plus there is competition for the seats on their school boards.

OWEN-GAGE

Renewal of the 8.0 mills in the district will mean continuation of the overall 23.5 mill operational levy. The renewal will be for two years.

The exact amount of revenue the millage will bring in won't be known until the 1978 state equalized valuation is known, according to Supt. Ronald Erickson. Another factor will be whether any more property transfers from the district are made.

However, the eight mills times the 1977 SEV for the district of $28.61 million brought in about $228,000, out of total school revenue (property taxes and some state and federal aid) of $757,192.

Erickson didn't go so far as to say defeat of the millage will mean shutdown of the schools, but did say, "A millage defeat would hamper our operational money. That's for sure."

The two candidates running for the two seats on the board are Jack Brinkman and Duane Ziehm.

Brinkman, of 6057 N Dodge Road, Gageton, is seeking his second four-year term on the board. He has served as board treasurer for three years.

He and his wife Bonnie have a boy and a girl, both of whom have graduated from Owen-Gage High School. He is a full-time farmer.

Duane Ziehm, of 7927 McAlpine Road, Owendale, is running for the board for the first time.

A full-time farmer, he and his wife Jeannine have five children, four of whom have graduated from Owen-Gage. The youngest, Lynette, will be a senior this fall.

Ziehm is a 1951 graduate of Owendale High School.

Polls in the Owendale Community Building will be open Monday from 7 a.m.-8 p.m.

KINGSTON

There are two vacancies on the school board, both four-year terms. Running are the two incumbents, James Glassford of Phillips Road and Gary Koehler of English Road, and one challenger, Patricia Randall of E. Sanilac Road. Glassford is currently board secretary.

.9 mill on Cass City school ballot Monday

Voters in the Cass City School District Monday will be asked to approve an increase of .9 mill in the district's operational levy for one year.

The approximately $78,000 the millage will raise will be used for enrichment purposes.

Approval of the millage won't mean an overall increase in school taxes as the .9 mill levied by the school board last year after approval by voters for construction of the Campbell Elementary addition has expired.

The school board approved putting the millage request on the ballot in April in order to raise funds for certain school needs as determined by a committee of teachers and administrators.

Three of the needs on the list involved hiring of personnel: 1) A high school remedial reading teacher. At present, there are two reading teachers for the elementary schools and one in the intermediate building but none for high school students. 2) An elementary school librarian. Presently one librarian serves the intermediate school and the elementary schools. 3) A vocal and instrumental music teacher in the district.

The other needs are physical: An intermediate school public address system, intermediate school clock system, new furniture at Campbell and Evergreen elementary schools, added storage space (probably cupboards) at Deford Elementary, window shades in the intermediate building and at Evergreen, and additional audio-visual equipment at the high school.

The .9 mill will bring in about $52,000 in property taxes and qualify the district for about $26,000 in additional state aid, for a total of $78,000.

With that money, Supt. Donald Crouse said, "It appears we could do just about all those things."

However, until the district gets bids on the various items to be purchased, assuming the millage passes, it won't be known if the $78,000 is enough.

If it isn't, it will be up to the school board to decide which items on the list get funded as up to now, no priorities will be established.

The millage will not be separate from the rest of the district's operating levy (20.5 mills) thus there is no legal requirement that the money be spent for the special needs.

The ballot proposal reads: "Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Cass City Public Schools . . . be increased by 9-10 of a mill (90 cents on each $1,000 of state equalized valuation) for the year 1978, for the purposes of providing additional funds for operating purposes?" Crouse said the amount of state aid the district will receive for the next school year isn't known yet, but it appears the budget will be "close." He therefore was doubtful any of the special needs could be financed if the millage isn't approved.

After the upcoming school year is over, added personnel hired because of the special millage will have to be paid out of regular school revenue as the added levy will have expired.

Two seek lone seat on board

Voters Monday will have a choice of two candidates for the one seat open on the Cass City School Board.

J.D. Tuckey, who is seeking a second term, is being challenged by Danny B. Allen.

Persons can vote from 7 a.m.-8 p.m. in the high school.

Arrest two in vandalism

Two Kingston High School students were arrested last Wednesday by state police and charged in connection with the May 20 vandalism at the school.

Twelve rooms at the school were ransacked, causing estimated damage of $10,000-15,000.

Arrested were David M. Confer, 18, of 5696 S. Phillips Road, Clifford, a senior, and 16-year-old boy, who was in ninth grade.

Each were charged with entering without breaking in intent to commit malicious destruction of property over $100 and two units of malicious destruction of property over $100.

The two were in a car stopped by Lapeer state police about 3 a.m. last Wednesday in Metamora for investigation of a traffic violation. They were wanted that time for questioning concerning the vandalism.

Two other occupants of the car were taken into custody, but for other reasons. A juvenile was a runaway from the Michigan Teen Ranch on S. Kingston Road and an adult was wanted on a probate court warrant.

Confer was arraigned on the same day before Tuscola County District Judge Richard Kern. A preliminary examination is scheduled for Monday and a preliminary examination June 16. Bond was set at $3,000. As of noon Tuesday, Confer was still in the Tuscola county jail, having failed to post bond.

The 16-year-old was turned over to his parents, pending a hearing in Probate Court.

Although state police in Caro were reluctant to give details concerning the investigation, they did reveal that the two teenagers were suspects from the outset, apparently due to past troubles the two have had in school.

Talking to other possible suspects narrowed the list of those likely to have committed the crime.

The vandalism took place after janitors finished their work in the building about 11 p.m. Friday, May 19. It was discovered the next morning by a group of athletes waiting for a bus to take them to a track meet.

Damage was done in the offices of the superintendent, his secretary, the principal, assistant principal, study hall, school board meeting room, science lab, gymnasium, and some classrooms.

Work by custodians, administrators, and teachers enabled the school to reopen on time Monday.

The district has insurance to cover the loss.

WALL TO WALL — There wasn't a bare wall at Campbell Elementary School Tuesday evening as all students in grades 2-6 at Campbell, Evergreen and Deford and the intermediate school each had at least three art projects on display. Hanging them all up took teachers, students and parents more than eight hours.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Editor Mike Eliasohn couldn't understand why the seniors graduated long before the underclassmen at Cass City and Umb schools completed classes.

"Thinking about it I was stumped, too. Principal Russell hardly explained.

First, seniors graduate normally a week before the rest of the class. That means that tests can be given and graduation determined.

Second, this year that would have placed baccalaureate on Memorial Day week end. To avoid this conflict, the dates were advanced a week.

Third, the 3-day teacher strike extended the school year a week so the graduates were through three weeks early.

Fourth, must have been okay, none of the seniors complained a

The glow lasted all afternoon last week when the regular school visit brought a "no cavities" verdict.

When Michigan's weather is at its best it's really great. You could you beat Sunday, Monday and Tuesday here?

Sign observed during the week end: "Free garage sale."

Discussions include fertilization requirements, planting rates and dates, herbicide recommendations and yield per acre. Harvesting demonstrations over a 100-acre field include mowing and windrowing equipment, chopping, baling, stacking, and loading hay.

This forage Expo will be a good opportunity for the farmer growing hay, or contemplating it, to receive up-to-date information on the alfalfa varieties, proper fertilization, and the latest harvesting equipment. According to Brent C. Wilford, Gratiot county extension agricultural agent.

The Mikek operation consists of 1,600 acres which support a 300-cow dairy operation.

END OF AN ERA — Floyd and Madeline Ziehm examine the plaque presented to them at the Owendale-Gagetown athletic banquet last Thursday night for their contribution to the district. The couple has 11 children, the oldest of whom started school in the then Owendale district in the 1940's. Their youngest, Roger, just graduated. The photograph on the plaque shows the Ziehm family.

Gagetown planning for closing of dump June 15

The Gagetown village dump on Reagh Road will be closed June 15 under orders from the Thumb District Health Department and state Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

The village council has now contracted with Cove Sanitation of Bad Axe to take over the trash pickups, which had been done by a village employee, who hauled the trash to the dump.

Cove has its own facilities for disposing of the refuse. It will start picking up trash in the village June 15. Having a commercial firm do the pick-up will mean a doubling of the rate paid by village residents, from the previous $4.50 per quarter up to $9. The charge will appear on the quarterly water bills.

Businesses, which other than Evans Products, were paying $13 per quarter, will now be charged by Cove Sanitation according to the amount of trash the firm picks up. Evans Products had been paying $125 per quarter.

Gagetown and some northern county townships were ordered by the health department last July 1 to close their landfills, but were given extensions if they were making progress toward finding an alternative means of trash disposal. The closures were ordered because of inability to comply with various health regulations.

Edward L. Kimbrue, health department chief sanitarian, said the Gagetown landfill somehow became confused with the Elmwood township landfill, which was closed last Sept. 1. It wasn't until a few months ago he realized the Gagetown dump was still being used.

Following an April 14 inspection of the site by him and a DNR representative, Gagetown officials were notified to close it by June 15. After it is closed, according to state regulations, it will have to be covered with two feet of dirt.

At the village council meeting Monday night, George R. Wilson Agency, Inc., of Gagetown, was awarded a contract to insure the new township-village hall, which may be ready for use in July.

Payment of a bill to Frank Strausberg & Son of Saginaw of $18,708 for pavement of some village streets was authorized.

It was mentioned that new speed limit signs for the school zone will have to be erected, designating the limit as 25 miles per hour instead of 30.

The Haire Net

Now that it's all over for another year let me lay this on you.

Graduation should be changed.

There should be a way to send a notice of graduation without obligation.

A way to tell a friend that John or Susie has finally made it through high school and we're proud and happy for him or her and would like you to know about it.

What's more it would be fine if you can arrange to drop in at our open house to celebrate a moment with us.

If I had my way it would be perfectly proper to say "no gifts" and mean it. But it's not and I haven't the courage to be a trend setter.

So that leaves the dilemma... to whom do you send invitations?

The way it was solved in our house was to not send any except to relatives and a couple of families where the graduate and the families had long associations.

That really doesn't solve the problem. There are lots of persons that I would have liked to invite over to the house. Perhaps some of them were mildly disappointed when no invitation arrived. Perhaps not. The kids don't have this hang-up themselves. They simply invite all their friends in person.

They come to have a good time together. There's no custom of gift giving. They come because they want to. Great.

But adults aren't that natural. That smart.

I'll concede that perhaps I'm over sensitive about it but I can always imagine someone receiving an invitation from me and thinking that it's an imposition. A way to get a free gift.

It's strange in a way that high school graduation is attended by hoopla no end while college graduation slips by in comparative obscurity.

How many college graduation festivities have you attended?

So I repeat, graduation should be changed.

There should be as much rejoicing (or more) for a college degree as there is a high school diploma.

And you should be able to observe both without worrying about asking for a gift.

And friends should be able to share it with you on the same basis.

"If It Fitz..." Retarded aren't normal

By Jim Fitzgerald

She makes her living taking telephone polls. Many times she has questioned the residents of St. Clair Shores, and she is impressed.

"I never knew a community that showed more genuine concern for its lawns," she said.

She phoned me the morning after the St. Clair Shores City Council demonstrated this genuine concern by voting to go to court to keep five mentally retarded women from walking on neighborhood lawns.

"We're not against retardation; we're just against putting it into our residential area," said a citizen attending the council meeting.

This is the type of public spirit that has impressed my friend the polltaker. She is awed by the depth of the feeling St. Clair Shores people show for their lawns. When she learned that a Shores neighborhood was being threatened by five retarded women, she wanted to help citizens defend their shrubs. That's why she phoned me.

"You've had a lot of experience with retarded people," she said. "Why don't you give St. Clair Shores some advice on how to keep retarded people off the lawn?"

There's no denying my experience. For over 20 years I lived just a few blocks from Michigan's largest home for the mentally retarded. Every day I saw home patients who had "downtown privileges." Their intelligence would be about the same as that of the five women who have St. Clair Shores worried.

To get downtown, these home patients had to walk by dozens of nice lawns.

Some of them went downtown to shop. Many had jobs in downtown stores. Some did domestic or yard work at the homes behind the nice lawns.

A few years ago, the state decided that if these slightly retarded people could visit in the community every day, they could live there full time. An open housing law was passed, prohibiting cities from using zoning laws to discriminate against the mentally retarded. It allows group homes for up to six retarded residents regardless of the zoning.

It is this law that's caused the anguish about lawns in St. Clair Shores. It has been proposed that five retarded women and their two supervisors live together in a residential district. Citizens have objected violently, and the City Council is suing to overturn the open housing law.

My friend the poll taker asked if I think the lawsuit is a good idea. Yes. But it's been filed for the wrong reason.

St. Clair Shores residents are worried about the retarded women tromping on lawns and lowering property values and otherwise causing great trauma. Forget it. Year after year, I watched hundreds of mentally retarded persons perform as pedestrians, shoppers and employees. They never took shortcuts through shrubs. They never even attacked storekeepers. They did good work for the people who hired them.

But this doesn't mean the five retarded women should be welcomed in St. Clair Shores. Mentally retarded people do have unusual traits that can be embarrassing to normal people. It's been my experience that retarded people, when they go out into the community, tend to be quiet. They never push anyone around, and they never complain when they get pushed. They aren't mean to people who aren't as smart as they are. They are kind to everyone they meet.

Naturally, it is uncomfortable for normal people to be around these dummies. Keep 'em out.

"What if the lawsuit fails? Do you have any other ideas?" my friend the poll taker asked.

"The city could pass an ordinance limiting residence in St. Clair Shores to people with IQs over 80," I suggested.

"I'm afraid that might create a ghost town," the poll taker said, "and that would be terrible. There would be no one left to mow the lawns."

PEDALING AROUND

Pity poor Pontiac

By Mike Eliason

It used to be Christians who were killed in stadiums. Now it's taxpayers who get killed, no matter what their religion or race.

Fortunately for Michigan taxpayers, they only have to put up $800,000 a year to keep the Silverdome stadium in operation.

Pity the poor taxpayers in Pontiac. They are not only faced with a millage increase to help pay for the 80,000-seat stadium, a cut in city services is needed to free more funds to pay for the home of the Detroit Lions.

The only person not suffering is Lions owner William Clay Ford.

It all boils down to money or to be blunt, greed.

The former home for the Lions was Tiger Stadium, which only has 54,000 seats. With most if not all Lions games there being sellouts, Ford obviously could make more money if he had a bigger stadium.

All the blame can't be put on the powers that be in Pontiac. Detroit officials and power brokers were falling over themselves in an effort to build a new stadium for the Lions (that also would have housed the Tigers).

It's probably a good thing Detroit lost. Their proposed stadium was even more costly than the one in Pontiac.

A proposal to sell $15.9 million in bonds to finance building of the Pontiac stadium went on the ballot in December, 1972. The proposal passed by 296 votes.

In addition to that money, here was another $25 million in bonds backed directly from stadium revenues. If any of the bonds could not be paid off, it was up to the Pontiac taxpayers to do so.

The Pontiac City Council later borrowed $7.1 million to put a roof on the stadium.

That meant taxpayers were obligated for more than $48 million in bonds. Paying them off would be no problem, they were told. In 1973 stadium officials and their consulting firm said only 24 events were needed to run at a profit. In 1976, the break-even figure was raised to 42 dates. They were wrong.

According to the latest auditor's report, the Silverdome will have hosted 77 dates by the time the present fiscal year ends and will have run up a deficit of almost $3.7 million. Despite a projection that the stadium will be used for 159 events in the upcoming fiscal year, the projected deficit will be at least $2 million.

In order to keep its financial head above water, Pontiac taxpayers are faced with a 4.4 mill increase in the property tax and a cut in city services. That includes not buying new police cars that need replacing and a freeze on hiring any new employees and on overtime.

Michigan taxpayers have a stake in all this too, as the stadium receives $800,000 a year in state revenues.

A long-time critic of the subsidy, state Sen. John C. Hertel, D-Harper Woods, and Wayne County Commissioner George Killeen have filed suit in Federal District Court, claiming denial of equal protection of the laws as provided for in the U.S. Constitution.

They argue that all of the people of the state help support the stadium but due to the television blackouts of games, only a portion of the population is allowed to see them.

The winner in all this is William Clay Ford. When the Lions played at Tiger stadium, they paid 15 percent of their gross receipts as rent. At the Silverdome, they pay seven percent.

In 1974, their last year in Tiger Stadium, they grossed $3.3 million from ticket sales and paid $495,000 in rent. In three years at the Silverdome, the Lions have grossed an average of $5.4 million a year and paid $378,000 in rent.

Making it even sweeter for Ford is that he has 27 years to go on a 30 year contract. Until the 30 years are up, the City of Pontiac cannot raise his rent.

Lutheran church celebrates 30th

A special service and an old fashioned picnic June 18 will mark the 30th anniversary of the Good Shepherd Lutheran church in Cass City.

Speaking at the morning worship will be the Rev. Paul Heitmann, first full-time pastor of the church.

Following the sermon, the church picnic will begin. It will start with a social hour highlighted by selections from a barbershop quartet composed of church members.

After lunch, organized games will be held for all ages until 2 p.m.

The Lutheran church was established in Cass City by the late Rev. Otto Nuechterlein in 1945. The church operated as a mission until 1959 when Rev. Heitmann became the pastor.

Other pastors serving the church include the Rev. John Boerger, the Rev. Richard Eyer and the Rev. Carl Schinnerer.

The Rev. James Van Dellen is the current pastor, serving here since 1970.

The Lutherans met in homes and in various other buildings when the mission was formed. Starting in 1947, for several years the meeting place was in a small building at the corner of Garfield and Maple. It was replaced by a large basement built to hold the larger church building that was to follow. It never did.

Instead the congregation purchased land and built the present church on Main Street, selling the basement to the Masons.

The new church was dedicated in 1967. Now it, too, has been outgrown by the expanding congregation.

Now under study are plans to enlarge the Sunday School, additional seating for choirs, additional office, nursery and storage facilities and a larger entry way area.

Architects have been hired to do the preliminary study.

'Little strokes' impair capacities

By Frank Chappell, American Medical Association

An often unsuspected cause of mental and physical incapacity is a series of "little strokes."

A stroke occurs when the blood supply to a part of the brain is reduced or completely cut off, says the American Medical Association.

This can be caused by a blood clot, or by hemorrhage - bleeding from an artery in the brain. When the nerve cells of a part of the brain are deprived of their blood supply, the part of the body controlled by these nerve centers cannot function normally.

Little strokes may start when a person is in the 30s or 40s, striking silently at night or passing almost unnoticed as a sudden dizzy spell, a momentary blackout, or just a few moments of confusion. The stroke itself is not severe enough to compel the patient to seek medical aid, but some permanent brain damage remains just the same.

A formerly kind, gentle person may become highly impatient and irritable. His judgment is often impaired. A strong man may become weak and prone to tears. Suspiciousness is common. A person with a tendency to emotional instability, held in check heretofore by will power, may suddenly develop a psychosis.

Some become sloppy in dress and befuddled in thought, while others lose a part of their moral sense. Sometimes the victim merely loses interest in his family and friends, and lives secretly, constantly hiding things that through forgetfulness he cannot find later.

When the symptoms are mild, as they often are, the person may get along fairly well. A sufferer from little strokes usually can get along better in slower-going farm and small town areas than in the faster-living city. The problems of small strokes is one of the most difficult facing medical science. The most hopeful research approach is that of finding ways to prevent stroke. Science seeks to learn more about how to recognize early symptoms so that treatment can be instituted promptly.

Your Neighbor says

Right of initiative is a good idea

If enough Michigan citizens sign petitions to put a proposal on the ballot, the people can vote on it.

Through the right of initiative, Michigan residents will probably be voting this November on such proposals as limiting taxes, restoring the death penalty, and changing the method of school financing.

On a nationwide basis, citizens don't have that right. However, two U.S. senators are proposing a constitutional amendment that would give them that right. If three percent of the voters signed petitions, under the proposed amendment, by public vote they could enact, amend or repeal federal laws.

Wilda Miller thinks that is a good idea, that in our changing times "some things have to be changed."

One thing she would like to see changed is, "I feel more should be done for the senior citizen." Inflation is making it very difficult for those on fixed incomes.

A national limit on taxes is another idea she feels has merit.

Although citizens do have the right to vote politicians out of office if their constituents don't feel they are properly representing them, Mrs. Miller feels the right to put proposals on the ballot will be an additional safeguard against corrupt politicians.

A bus driver for the Cass City schools, she and her husband, Ross, live at 5678 Robinson Road. Two of their three daughters, Sue and Leisha, are still at home.

Youth job program approved

The Michigan legislature has passed a bill allocating $5 million for summer conservation jobs for youths ages 15-21.

The bill provides employment for a maximum of 10 weeks at an average hourly rate of $2.75 per hour.

Youths interested in applying for one of the jobs should do so at their nearest Michigan Employment Security Commission office, which in the Thumb are located in Caro, Bad Axe, and Sandusky. Youths applying must have Social Security cards.

One-third of the $5 million will be allocated to the state Department of Natural Resources for projects on state lands. The other two-thirds will be appropriated by the DNR to local governmental units, schools, and other governmental agencies for projects on publicly-owned lands.

As of Monday, it was unknown at the DNR office near Caro how many youths will be working out of that office this summer. Last summer, under a similar program, only six youths received jobs there.

Statewide, the money will allow hiring of about 6,000 youngsters.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Voters will go to the polls to decide who will fill two vacant seats on the Cass City Board of Education. The four candidates are Lynn Albee, Donald Doerr, Joanne Esckilsen, and Dean Hoag.

Earnest Stoutenburg is the winner of the free trip sponsored by the Cass City IGA Foodliner. Earney will leave Cass City and head to California, Disneyland, and Boone Farms.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwain Vollmar were guests of their children and grandchildren at dinner in Frankenmuth in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary. They have four children and two grandchildren.

TEN YEARS AGO

Carl Palmateer, Cass City, has filed a petition as a candidate for Tuscola County Sheriff, the third person to seek that office. Palmateer has been Cass City Police Chief for six years and served as a deputy sheriff in Tuscola county for three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Follman celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary. They are both immigrants to the United States from Varjos, Romania. They have three children, 13 grandchildren, and 18 great-grandchildren.

Thieves with a yen for tobacco and alcohol broke into Erla's Food Market, taking 500 cartons of cigarettes, an undetermined amount of beer and wine, and approximately $15 in petty cash.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Putnam celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. They were married June 3, 1913. They have three children, nine grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Cass City climaxed a highly successful track season when they won the "B" division of the Tuscola county track meet held at Caro. Cass City scored 83 points, followed by Caro with 53, and Vassar with 16 points.

John Spaid, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orra Spaid, pulled out a 34-inch, 9 1/4-pound pike near the Cass River bridge. When cleaning the fish, a 6-inch bullhead was found inside.

The Cass City Red Hawk baseball team concluded their season with a creditable 7-4 record. They tied with Yale for second place in the Thumb B Conference.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The auditorium of the Cass City High School was filled with friends and relatives.

No savings yet in saving cans

Hoarding soft drink cans now in hopes of reaping rich rewards of ten cents per can after Dec. 3 will prove a useless venture.

"When Michigan's new mandatory container deposit law takes effect Dec. 3, consumers will be charged a minimum 10 cents deposit on each glass and metal beverage container and the deposit will be refunded by retailers upon return of the container," according to James A. Hallan of Holland, president of the Michigan Soft Drink Association.

"We have been receiving scattered reports that some people already are saving cans in hopes of turning them in after Dec. 3 and collecting the 10 cents deposit."

"Unfortunately for these hoarders, their cans will be valuable only as scrap."

"When the returnable container system goes into effect, all soft drink cans will be stamped with the word 'Michigan' and the amount of deposit. Cans without this legend will not be redeemable. Thus, cans accumulated now without the identifying marks will not be honored by retailers for deposit refunds."

"Glass containers will be similarly stamped or bear an adhesive sticker or engraved labeling such as 'Return for Deposit' or 'Money Back Bottle.'"

The 'Michigan' label will also prevent redemption of can or glass containers purchased in nearby states where no deposit is required.

An estimated 125 million cans of soft drinks are sold every year in Michigan.

AROUND THE FARM Hints for raising sheep

By William Bortel

A flock of sheep can provide an extra income for people with limited land, buildings and equipment. There are four components necessary in getting started in a sheep project.

First, you should have a good woven wire fence between you and your neighbor and along road right-of-ways. Other sources of less expensive fencing are also possible. Electric fencing may be used within your own property if it is properly constructed and the sheep are trained to it in short fleeces.

Secondly, a source of good, clean water should be available at all times. Sheep and lambs will drink approximately one quart of water for each pound of air-dry feed they eat. Therefore, ewes eating four pounds of hay per day will drink about one gallon of water and up to two or three gallons during gestation and lactation.

The sheep will also need adequate shelter and floor space. For optimum performance, an ewe requires 10-12 feet of barn floor space. Existing barns or sheds are sufficient as long as they provide ventilation and shade. Naturally, lambing during the winter would require more protection in the barn from drafts and cold than lambing during late March and April.

Finally, you will need gates or hurdles to use as lambing pens and for sorting chutes when treating for parasites.

The number of ewes to start with depends on the quality and amount of hay and pasture you have, your previous experience with sheep or other livestock and the amount of time available. A 40-ewe unit is large enough to give a proper economic return and some idea of whether or not you will enjoy raising sheep. A profitable flock will require good management and hard work.

New books at the library

WARWYCK'S WOMAN, by Rosalind Laker (fiction). An appealing period romance set against the background of Regency England in 1819-1820. The story centers around Daniel Warwyck, handsome, rich and a prize fighter—even though his uncle deprecates his choice of a profession and threatens to disown him. One day at a country auction Daniel notices a farmer selling off his wife to the highest bidder. Thinking a wife will help him look more respectable in the coming confrontation with his uncle, he buys the woman, Kate, for himself. And so Kate suddenly enters the lives of the Warwycks, resulting in several complicated, very rich and romantic love stories.

THE GUGGENHEIMS: AN AMERICAN EPIC, by John H. Davis (non-fiction). Makes public the devastating family scandals of the Guggenheims in a comprehensive treatment of their history and role as America's wealthiest, most philanthropic Jewish family.

THE ONLY INVESTMENT GUIDE YOU'LL EVER NEED, by Andrew P. Tobias (non-fiction). Consumers are presented with guidelines for investing in insurance, stocks, bonds, real estate, savings, collectibles, and merchandise, with information on pensions, budgets, taxes, and other topics.

Baptist women meet

Seventeen women attended the monthly meeting of the Baptist Women's Missionary society, held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Jim Perry.

"What Makes You Happy" was the topic of devotions given by Mrs. Rosella Kretzschmer. Prayer time for missionaries was led by Mrs. Vera Bearss, who also reviewed one chapter of the study book, "Praying In One Accord". Mrs. Tim Teall reviewed an article on Bangladesh, written by a missionary to that country. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Richard Shaw and the hostess.

Thanks for tournament support

Letter to the Editor:

This is to thank the community of Cass City for its assistance and support of our softball tournament that was held at the park over Memorial Day week end.

Everyone was very cooperative and helpful. Village officials, the fire department and the Chronicle all helped to see that the tournament was carried out as planned and that everyone knew it was being held.

People from the area were supportive through their attendance. Even the good Lord did his part by providing record setting good weather.

Most of the teams indicated they were impressed with the park facilities as well as the tournament set up and asked to be invited back next year.

For our part, I hope that all of you who attended enjoyed the tournament and will come back again Aug. 18-20 for our next one.

Tournament director

Letters to the Editor

Response made to PBB letters

Following is the text of the letter from Gov. William G. Milliken, dated May 30, to Cass City school Supt. Donald Crouse, in response to the letters written by Cass City students regarding the proposed burial of PBB-contaminated cattle at Mio.

Dear Mr. Crouse:

Many students in the Cass City Public School system recently contacted me expressing concern about the disposal of PBB contaminated animals in Mio, Michigan.

As you may know, the PBB Action Committee in Oscoda County has filed an emergency appeal to the State Supreme Court in this matter, and burial at the Mio site will be restrained while the suit is being considered by the court. The court has ordered further hearings into this matter.

At my direction, the director of the Department of Natural Resources exhaustively explored all alternatives for immediate disposal, including incineration and disposal in out-of-state sites. Each alternative has its merits, but given all the factors unique to this issue, the use of the Oscoda burial site is the clearest and safest route available to us.

The incineration alternative for cattle disposal has been considered from the standpoint of expense, design and construction time, operation and the risk of possible emissions of PBB into the atmosphere during the burning process.

The controls developed for the proposed Oscoda burial site seem to provide the surest and safest route we could follow to assure the rapid removal of PBB contaminated animals from the food chain in a process that could be continually monitored and controlled.

I supported and fought for the adoption of legislation lowering the PBB tolerance level in Michigan to the most stringent standards in the country. That law was designed to, once and for all, rid the human food chain in Michigan of PBB. I believe it is imperative that we move as quickly as possible to dispose of the contaminated cattle in a safe manner, and I am hopeful for a speedy review by the court.

I am enclosing a fact sheet prepared by the Department of Natural Resources which answers most of the questions which have been raised concerning the Oscoda County site.

Because of the volume of mail I have received from your students, it is impossible for me to answer each of them individually.

I would appreciate your sharing my comments with your students and thanking them for showing an interest in state governmental activities.

Kind personal regards.

Sincerely,
William G. Milliken

Accident Saturday

Caro youth fair after cycle crash

David G. Norrington, 16, of Caro was reported in fair condition Tuesday afternoon at Bay Medical Center in Bay City, where he has been since his motorcycle was struck by a car at 1 p.m. Saturday.

According to Caro state police, Norrington was eastbound on Dickerson Road, east of Ringle Road in Akron township, and slowed to make a U-turn.

The car behind him, driven by Anna Lowe of 4670

Lamton Road, Cass City, slowed when she saw him pull off to the right. She told officers she pulled over to the left to avoid the cycle and Norrington then turned left in front of her. A witness verified her account.

Grant W. Toner, 22, of Elkton, sought his own treatment Sunday following an accident at 6:45 a.m.

Sheriff's deputies reported he was southbound on Cemetery Road, south of Kelly Road, crossed the centerline, overcorrected, then went off the west side of the road off an 8-foot dropoff, causing the car to roll over. Toner told officers he had fallen asleep at the wheel.

At 10 p.m. Friday, according to deputies, Joseph F. Niemiec, 35, of 1940 Agnes Street, Uby, was eastbound on M-46, west of Sheridan Road, when he swerved to avoid an oncoming car and his vehicle hit the south side of a bridge.

At 11:30 p.m. Friday, deputies reported, Robert J. Fry, 18, of Rt. 3, Cass City, turned from M-81 onto eastbound Deckerville Road and lost control. His car went into the ditch on the south side of the road, then crossed the road, coming to a halt in the ditch on the north side. He told officers there was a car in his lane when he turned onto Deckerville Road.

CAR-DEER

Kenneth B. Almond, 41, North Muskegon, struck deer while westbound on 46, east of Phillips Road. Deputies investigated the accident, which happened at 4:20 p.m. last Thursday. Billie May Thrall, 36, 6285 E. Sanilac Road, Kingston, was westbound M-46, east of Shaw Road, 7:45 a.m. Saturday when deer ran into the side of a car, according to deputies.

Traxler

runs again

U.S. Rep. Bob Traxler announced he will seek election to his 8th District seat.

A former state representative, he was first elected to the Congress in a special election April 16, 1974; has been re-elected twice since then.

In Washington, Traxler serves on the House Appropriations Committee, agricultural appropriations subcommittee, and Department of Housing and Urban Development - independent agencies subcommittee.

Cass Cityan graduates from MTU

Jon P. Mocan has received an associate degree in forest technology from Michigan Technological University in Houghton. Commencement ceremonies were held May 20.

A 1976 graduate of Cass City High School, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mocan of Elmwood Road, Cass City.

He presently is debating whether to continue his education or seek employment, according to his father.

Marauding dogs slaughter 9 sheep

A Kingston area farmer lost nine sheep to a pack of marauding dogs during the week end.

Bob Ciure of S. Plain Road reported to Caro state police Sunday morning that he had last inspected the six lambs and three ewes at 9 p.m. Saturday. About 8:30 Sunday morning, when he checked again, they were all dead. The animals were valued at a total of $400.

In their investigation, troopers talked to Herman Chantiny of Reid Road, Kingston. He told them that in the past five years, about 100 chickens, one calf, Ciure's sheep, and several deer had been killed by dogs.

He once saw a Doberman pinscher, but the rest have been German shepherds. Chantiny speculated that the dogs come from Shay Lake, where persons who spend week ends there at cottages let their dogs run loose.

Damage was estimated at $94 when teenagers threw a smoke bomb onto the seat of the car of Susan Hutchinson of 6578 Seed Street. The incident took place at 12:25 p.m. last Thursday when her car was parked on Seeger Street by Old Wood Drug. The smoke bomb burned a hole about 2-by-3 inches in the vinyl covering of the driver's bucket seat and a small hole in the front passenger seat.

The fire was extinguished by Jeff Parsell from the service station across the street.

A witness recorded license number of the vehicle from which the smoke bomb was thrown. Cass City police located the car at high school.

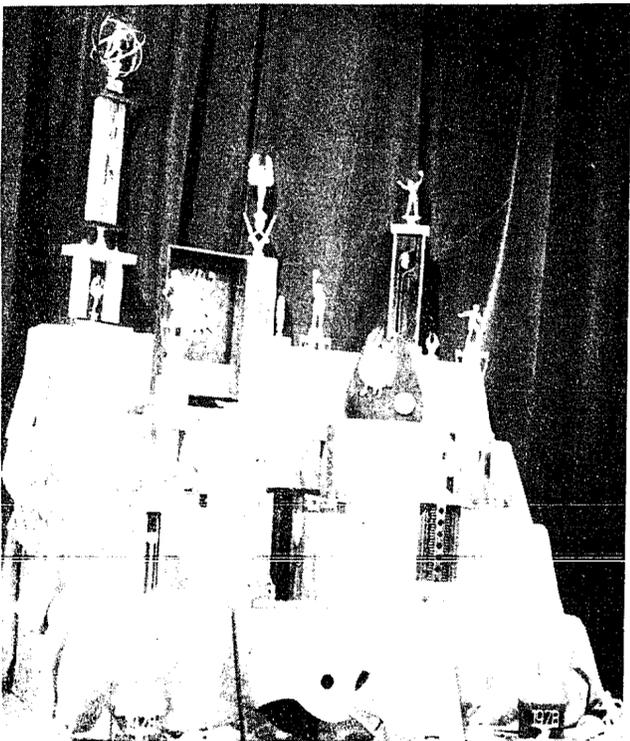

Two boys and two girls who were in it, all minors, later confessed to having thrown the smoke bomb and agreed to pay damages.

The students should have been in school when the bomb was thrown, according to Police Chief George Wilson, but weren't. Mr. Hutchinson is a secretary at the high school.

Novesta prepares new tax cards

Work began in Novesta township this week on preparation of appraisal cards for each parcel in the township.

Cheryl Berlin and Janette Cogan have been hired with federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act funds to do the work, expected to be completed this summer.

Preparation of the cards, according to township Treasurer Jean Clarke, is required by a new state law.

On each card will be listed such items as location of the property, number of buildings, their size and type of construction. Mrs. Clarke stressed the two women, both college students, will be taking measurements of buildings and compiling other information, but will not be making appraisals.

Present assessment rolls only list the total value for a parcel and number of acres. The cards will list individual buildings on the property. Supervisor William O'Dell will later establish the value separately for the buildings and land.

Board members Monday night discussed closing of alleys, sidewalk repair, and some needed cleanup work in Deford. Any residents interested in having an alley closed should contact township Clerk Henry Rock by the end of the month. The county Road Commission must then hold a public hearing before it can order any alleys closed.

The contract with the Road Commission was approved for the following work to be done this year: Grading, base work and drainage on Severance Road between Englehart and Crawford and final sealing on Severance between Cemetery and Englehart and on Phillips Road between Deckerville and Shabbona Roads.

A resolution was approved asking the Road Commission to notify Supervisor O'Dell before starting any major work in the township, such as roadside spraying.

It was decided to let township sexton Frank Spencer recruit his own help in the township cemetery, with first priority given to township residents.

Loses to Kingston

Owen-Gage bows out in district

The season came to an end Friday for the Owen-Gage baseball team with a 5-4 loss to Kingston in a district tournament game at Caseville. Errors spelled the difference as all five of the Cardinals' runs were unearned, the Bulldogs making five errors in the game. "We needed a bushel basket and a stick," a disappointed Phil Gray, the Owen-Gage coach, said later.

Slate golf tourney Saturday

Rolling Hills Golf Course will hold a local state Scramble Golf Tournament event Saturday, June 10, at 8:30 a.m.

Winners will advance to the regional sites selected throughout the state. Those teams winning at the regional level will advance to the state finals to be held at Tyrone Hills Sept. 30 at Fenton.

This is the fourth year the tournament has been held at Rolling Hills. For further information about the event, contact Grant Hutchinson at the golf course. The Scramble Golf Tournament event is the largest golfing event in Michigan with thousands of golfers participating at local levels. Part of the proceeds goes to a children's charity.

Softball team still undefeated

Bulldogs move to regionals with 2 wins in district

The Owen-Gage softball team qualified for the regional tournament by winning the district tournament it hosted Friday at Gagetown.

The regional tournament will be Saturday at Flint Genesee High School.

The Bulldogs won their first tournament game Friday against Akron-Fairgrove, 7-4, its closest win this season, and defeated Caseville in the second, 17-4. Caseville qualified for the second game by downing Saginaw St. Mary's in the first, 13-5.

Dawn Erickson was the winning pitcher in both games for Owen-Gage, pitching five innings in the first and six in the second contest. Mary Lenhard pitched the final two innings in the first game; in the second, Dana Laurie pitched to the first two batters in the seventh inning, then Becky Howard got the three outs.

Kim Aldrich was losing pitcher for Akron-Fairgrove in the first game; Shari Dutcher was losing pitcher in the second for Caseville.

In the game against Akron-Fairgrove, Lenhard was the only Bulldog with more than one hit, getting two singles and a double in her four times at bat. The Bulldogs had six hits in the game and three errors.

Tibbits first in district baseball

Todd Tibbits was the winner in the division for 10-year-olds in the district Pitch, Hit and Run competition Saturday in Flint.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Tibbits of Cass City, he was one of four local winners May 27 who qualified for the district competition.

In Flint, he managed to throw the ball into a net the same size as a strike zone two out of three times, ran around the bases in 12.5 seconds, and hit the ball 101 feet.

He defeated winners from seven other local contests to take first place. His score now goes to contest headquarters in New York. The top two scorers in each age bracket from the district events in a several-state region will compete for the division title at a major league ball park, as well as attend a banquet, meet major league baseball players, and be given a uniform.

Owen-Gage places 4 in state track

Owen-Gage placed in four events Saturday in the state Class D boys' track and field championships at Lansing Sexton High School.

The Bulldogs took seventh place in the 880-yard relay with a time of 1:34.7 and sixth in the mile relay at 3:35.7.

Jeff Hallock took sixth place in the 100-yard dash with a 10.5 clocking. Billy Parker took sixth in the 120-yard high hurdles with a time of 15.6.

Fellow North Central D League member Akron-Fairgrove took the Class D state title with 70 points to 44 for the second place squad. The Vikings' Jerry Curtis set two state records in the meet with a 9:28.35 clocking in the two-mile run and 4:24.0 in the one-mile. The old marks respectively were 9:35.6 and 4:24.3.

Merchants lose 1st game of season

The Cass City Merchants lost their first game of the season in the Thumb Traveling League Thursday as they bowed to Reese Dekalb, 6-2.

It was a close game until the sixth inning when Reese broke things wide open with a four-run rally.

The winners got to Craig Helwig for three hits and a walk and his teammates were charged with three errors in the inning.

Cass City went behind in the top of the third when Reese counted a run and then tied it up in their half of the inning with a single counter.

Jeff Hartel reached first on an error. Rob Alexander sacrificed him to second and Elwyn Helwig doubled him home.

Ken Lowe and Scott Hartel singled in the seventh to net a run but it was much too little, too late.

Top awards to Witherspoon-Haire

Honor athletes in spring sports at annual awards night fete Tuesday

Athletes in spring sports were feted Tuesday night at the annual spring sports award night held at Cass City High School.

Under the direction of Athletic Director Bob Stickle, toastmaster for the evening, the coaches recounted the track, softball and baseball seasons.

Athletes in the various sports were presented individual awards and certificates and letters were presented.

Recalling the highlights of the track season was Coach Lloyd Schinnerer. Terrilyn Krueger presented the awards for girls' track and also handled the presentation of junior varsity softball awards for Coach Michelle Ansbomb who was absent. Ansbomb had prepared a written sketch of the girls' achievements for the event. Dave Hoard presented the varsity softball awards.

The track coaches were introduced by Head Coach Dale McIntosh who thanked the parents and fans for their support and paid tribute to his assistants.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of outstanding athletes awards.

The award for girls, sponsored by the Cass City Branch of the American Association of University Women, went to Kim Witherspoon.

Witherspoon set a galaxy of marks during her four years of competition. She earned eight letters, four in track and two each in basketball and volleyball.

In track she is the school record holder in the 800 and the discus and shares the record in the high jump. She was a member of the record setting mile relay team.

Clarke Haire presented the Paul Smarks award. During his high school career he earned 12 varsity letters, four in track, three in basketball and baseball and two in football.

He was an all-conference performer his junior and senior years in both football and basketball. He holds the school record in the high jump and holds the career scoring record in basketball.

Stickle said that picking the athletes this year was exceedingly difficult. Many athletes not chosen this year would have been selected in years when the competition was not as stiff as it was with the outstanding class of senior athletes.

Local teams win in SanCass loop

It was a banner week for Hillaker's Auctioneers and Osentoski in the SanCass fast pitch league.

Hillaker won its first game of the season and Osentoski chalked up a pair of victories.

The young Hillaker team defeated the league leading Snover Merchants, 6-0, behind the three-hit pitching of Brian Helwig. Helwig struck out six. Darrell Blank took the loss.

Rapping out two hits for the winners were Ron Nurnberger, Larry Summers, Joe Mellendorf, Phil Bader and Jim Hillaker. Ken Martin cracked a home run.

Snover collected singles by Jerome. Blank and Griggs.

Osentoski topped Sandusky Merchants in a slugfest, 13-10, Wednesday, May 31.

Sandusky went ahead in the second with a six-run splurge as starter Ed Stoutenburg couldn't find the plate. He was relieved by Gary Mellendorf.

After the big second inning rally, Osentoski bounced back. They trailed 9-4 and got back in the game in their half of the second with three runs to make it 9-7 and then went ahead to stay in the third with three more runs.

Stoutenburg lashed four hits in four tries and Ron Ouvry was three for four to lead the Osentoski attack. Krueger, Loding and Elsholz each collected two hits for the losers.

Thursday, Osentoski edged Charmont in a thriller, 9-8. Charmont appeared to have the game well in hand going into the last of the seventh. A four-run rally in the fifth moved them ahead, 8-3.

But Osentoski scored once in the sixth and then five more in the seventh for the victory. Ron Ouvry singled with the bases loaded to knock in the deciding run.

Al Romig took the loss and Herb Carlton was credited with the win.

Banging out two hits for Osentoski were Marty Zawilinski, Ron Ouvry, Ed Lowe and Carlton. Tom Smentek hit three for four for the losers. Seven other Charmont players collected one hit.

Hillaker's won its second game of the year Sunday in a make-up game, defeating Wolverine Bank, 5-4, at Cass City Recreational Park.

The Auctioneers won with a rally in the sixth and seventh innings. Trailing 4-1 they scored twice in the sixth. Clarke Haire led off with a single and Ron Nurnberger followed with another hit. Larry Summers walked.

With the bases loaded and two out, Randy Brown doubled in two runs.

In the seventh, Phil Bader opened with a single. Haire was safe on an error, Phil Bader scoring. Nurnberger then lashed a drive between the outfielders and Haire trotted in with the winning run.

Nurnberger lashed out three hits for the winners while Delong smashed a double and triple for Wolverine Bank.

RECEIVING THE COVETED Paul Smarks award for outstanding scholarship, leadership and athletic ability from last year's winner, Tom Dorland, is Clarke Haire, left.

HONORED FOR OUTSTANDING scholarship, leadership and athletic ability was Kim Witherspoon, left. She was presented the award by Coach Terrilyn Krueger.

Heads Coast Guard Auxiliary unit

Safe boating concern of Milt Connolly

Before going boating, provided your boat has a motor, Milt Connolly hopes you will check to make sure your gas tank is full and your battery is charged.

If you don't, he may have to tow you in from the middle of Saginaw Bay. And during the non-boating season, he suggests you take a safe boating course offered by the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

The Cass Cityan has a vested interest in all this. He is in his second year as commander of Flotilla 1501, Coast Guard Auxiliary, based in Bay City. He was elected by his fellow members.

Counting his time in the Navy, Connolly, 51, has been in boating for 30 years. In 1970, he took an Auxiliary safe boating course, decided he liked the organization, and joined.

The Coast Guard Auxiliary was chartered by Congress in 1939 as a civilian, volunteer organization, established to promote safety in recreational boating. As the name implies, it works with the U.S. Coast Guard.

The organization has 43,000 members nationally, of whom 26 belong to Flotilla 1501.

Members must be at least age 18, own at least a quarter-interest in a boat, be an amateur radio operator or licensed aircraft pilot, or have "administrative abilities," such as being a doctor or lawyer.

ACCORDING TO CONNOLLY, the organization has three functions: Public education, as illustrated by the 13-week safe boating course offered in Cass City last winter; giving boat safety inspections, and operations, to assist the Coast Guard in performing rescues, regatta safety patrols, and any other missions it designates.

Patrol duties run from May through September. There are five other flotillas in the division - in Saginaw, Sebawaing, Au Gres, Oscoda, and one other in Bay City - so each flotilla has patrol duties only four or five week ends per season. On an individual basis, it might be one or two times per year. Connolly estimates he spent 20 hours on patrol last year.

On most week ends, from Saginaw Bay north to Oscoda, there will be three Auxiliary boats plus Coast Guard vessels on patrol looking for boaters needing assistance.

Within each flotilla, there are three to five members' boats certified for patrol duty, though Connolly figures his unit could have 20 boats in the water for a search and rescue mission. When on patrol, the boat carries Auxiliary banners and flags and those on it wear uniforms.

The only reimbursement received is for meals, fuel, and any damage to the boat.

Connolly, who was on patrol duty Saturday, stresses the Auxiliary is not a law enforcement agency. If serious violations are observed, they are reported to regular Coast Guard units on patrol or to the state police or sheriff's department marine unit.

THE MOST COMMON violation Connolly sees is speeding or what he defines as improper boat operation.

The most common problem the Auxiliary patrollers have to contend with "is people who run out of gasoline," which means towing the boat back to shore.

Also common is batteries going dead on older outboard motors which don't have built-in generators, which also means a tow to shore.

At least one tow to shore is common during each day's patrol, according to the flotilla commander.

The Cass Cityan presently is doing his patrolling in someone else's boat. Suzanne II, the 30-foot twin-propeller cabin cruiser that belongs to him and his wife, Ann, is sitting in the backyard of their home on S. Maple Street. The boat is named after their granddaughter.

They have owned the boat, purchased used, for three years. Connolly is doing some finishing work on the wood-hulled vessel, after which he plans to sell it.

The Connollys then plan to buy an inboard-outboard cabin cruiser in the 20-24-foot range that can easily be towed on a trailer.

Suzanne II is too large for easy towing and once launched in the spring doesn't come out until fall. In the past, they have kept it moored at Caseville and would usually spend each week end on it.

One reason in buying the smaller boat, said Connolly, a clerk-dispatcher for Detroit Edison in Bad Axe, is so that he can tow it to inland lakes for Auxiliary patrol there.

IN PERFORMING their duties, Auxiliary members spend more time on land than on the water. Perhaps their main activity in promoting boating safety is their safe boating classes, usually two hours a night, one day a week for 13 weeks.

Connolly was one of the instructors for the first-ever course held in Cass City, from which 38 persons graduated in April.

That was on Tuesday nights. Monday nights during the same period, he was going to Bay City to help teach a course there.

Next winter, he expects the classes will be offered by the flotilla in Cass City, Caro and Bay City.

The need for the courses increases as the number of boaters "is increasing tremendously," according to Connolly. In Michigan alone, according to statistics he cited, the number of motor-boats increased from 574,626 in 1976 to 596,530 in 1977. Non-motorized boats don't have to be registered but presumably those numbers increased also.

The flotilla members meet once a month. They must also attend a regional seminar each year, during which they take an examination to ensure they are up-to-date in their required training in order to serve as qualified boat safety instructors and boat inspectors.

Add up the hours Connolly puts in teaching safe boating, on patrol, attending the regional conference and performing administrative duties for the flotilla and a division staff officer, and comes to several hundred hours per year, none which he gets paid for.

Why does he do it? "To it's another facet in saving, the same as being in the fire department," replied Connolly, a member of the Elkland-Towne Fire Department since 1951. "Someone has to do it and enjoy doing it."

Thumb emergency med group forms

A Thumb Area Emergency Medical Council (TAEMC) is being formed to coordinate providing of emergency medical services in the three upper Thumb counties.

The first meeting, held last Thursday at the Wildwood Farms Restaurant outside of Cass City, was attended by more than 40 persons. Represented were police agencies, fire departments, ambulance services, physicians, county boards of commissioners, nurses, hospitals, and the emergency services coordinators from each of the three counties.

Aim of the group, according to Michael Gage, Huron county emergency services coordinator, will be to upgrade and improve emergency medical services in the three counties, such as ambulance service or in case of natural disasters.

East Michigan Emergency Medical Services (EMEMS), a 14-county regional planning agency funded by the U.S. Department of Health Education and Welfare, has done some planning in Huron, Tuscola, and Sanilac counties.

Formation of the TAEMC, Gage said, will mean planning of emergency services more closely attuned to the needs of the upper Thumb counties. "We're going to have much better coordination of emergency medical services this way."

The new organization will continue to work with EMEMS, whose Bad Axe-based coordinator, Ken Glasgow, will continue to serve in that capacity. Study of emergency medical service needs in the three counties will be done on an on-going basis, Gage indicated.

Examples of services TAEMC might perform, he explained, might be determining the need for training of emergency medical technicians or seeking federal funds to enable a community to purchase an ambulance.

The council will consist of 33 members, of which 24 - one per county - will represent each of eight categories that were represented at the meeting. Included as Tuscola county representatives will be Roger Little, owner of Little's Funeral Home in Cass City, representing county ambulance services; Dorothy Swartzmiller, director of nursing at Hills and Dales General Hospital, representing nurses, and Hills and Dales Administrator Ken Jensen, representing hospitals.

The representatives of the eight categories are considered "service providers. Nine persons considered "consumers" will be appointed.

An organizational meeting will be held in July to elect officers, establish goals and objectives, and prepare laws. Gage has been serving as acting chairman.

Probably starting in September, the council will meet monthly.

Maxwell made sales manager

Robert H. Walpole, senior vice-president, Carburetor Group, Walbro Corporation, announced that Phil Maxwell had been appointed sales manager of the Group. He continues to report to C. Clark Boylan, vice-president-carburetor sales.

Maxwell joined Walbro in 1971, and was appointed marketing services manager of the Carburetor Group three years later. In that position, in addition to acting as assistant to Boylan, he was responsible for technical training programs, marketing analysis, planning, and coordination of carburetor sales activities with Walbro central warehouse representatives.

In 1977, as one of assignments, he conducted series of service training seminars on Walbro Carburetors in the United States and Europe.

Before coming to Walbro, Maxwell had held sales and marketing positions with Dow Corning, W.R. Grace Company, and a manufacturer's representative firm.

He has a Bachelor of A degree in industrial design from Michigan State University, with minors in mechanical engineering, mathematics and communications.

Battle brewing over energy

There is a battle brewing between the executive and legislative branches over how to handle future energy related problems.

Governor William G. Milliken wants to create a new Department of Energy which he would control with the appointment of a director but the Legislature seems to be pointing toward an independent agency separate from any state department which would be controlled more by the legislative process.

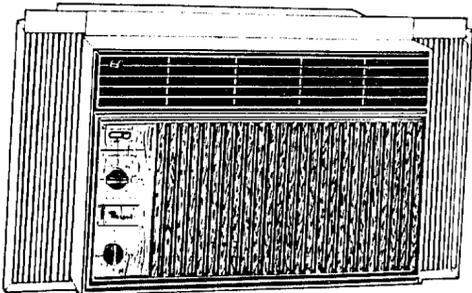

House Speaker Bobby Crim is pushing for "speedy" establishment of streamlined, independent state energy agency to a minister state and federal funded energy programs.

He noted that most state energy programs have done through energy agencies rather than through creation of cabinet-level departments.

Erickson feels state stalling on $150,000 loan

Receipt of a $150,000 loan from the state to the Owen-Gagetown School District is now awaiting application by the district to the Municipal Finance Commission (MFC) for approval to borrow the money.

The legislature authorized the loan last November. Since then, the district has approved three resolutions asking the state for the money, but the first two were rejected by the state department of Education on technicalities.

May 11, the board approved a resolution which the department's guides, but has heard nothing since.

Supt. Ronald Erickson said the district has enough money to operate through the end of the month but needs the loan in order to pay teachers, and some other personnel, whose salaries continue through the summer.

According to Robert Nelson of the education department, the state treasury department was sent a letter May 16 notifying the latter that the loan could be made.

James Cotton, executive assistant in the bureau of finance of the treasury department, told the Chronicle Wednesday that Owen-Gage must now apply to the MFC for permission to borrow the money.

Since the loan was authorized by the legislature and the district has met the qualifications for borrowing the money, approval is considered a formality.

Once the MFC, which meets every Tuesday, gives its okay, Cotton said it will take about a week before Owen-Gage gets the money from the treasury department.

Erickson responded that he hadn't been told of the requirement to apply to the MFC. He said a Bay City Times reporter was told the loan must now be approved by the state Board of Education and that it will then take 30-45 days before the district gets the loan.

"I'm going to be walking on my hands (to Lansing) pretty soon," the superintendent commented sarcastically. "It's the old stall game."

One of the requirements in order to get the loan was that the treasury department perform an audit of the district's finances.

During the audit, conducted late last year, it was discovered $3,427 in travel expenses, given to the superintendent in 1976 and 1977, were improperly reported.

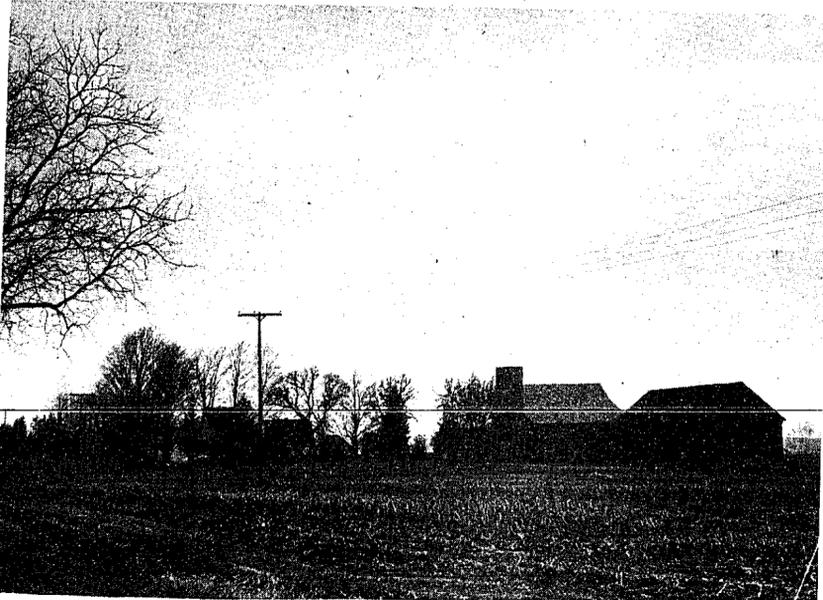

The criminal division of the state attorney general's office was subsequently asked to investigate. The head of the division, John Wilson, told the Chronicle Monday his office could find no evidence of criminal wrongdoing.

He then referred the matter to the education division of the attorney general's office to have it determine if anything was overlooked or if there were any civil violations.

According to education division head Gerald Young, a staff member is to review the audit with someone from the state Department of Education.

If any civil violations are found, "penalties" might range from a letter of reprimand to requiring reimbursements be made.

"I would say the investigation would probably be finished in the next several weeks," Young said.

Michigan Mirror

Better urban area record key to less state crime

For the third year in a row, crime figures in Michigan continue to decline.

Total reported crime in the state declined by 5 percent in 1977 from 1976 levels, and serious assaultive crimes (murder, rape, robbery and aggravated assault) went down by 10 percent.

Higher employment levels, education program on crime prevention and a law setting mandatory minimum sentences for using handguns while committing crimes were prime reasons for the drop in reported crime, reported Governor William G. Milliken.

The figures were reported in the annual Uniform Crime Report by the Michigan State Police. The survey was commissioned by the Office of Criminal Justice.

Additionally, the report states the number of households reporting that they were victimized by crime has dropped significantly over the past year and now stands at about 60 percent of the number being victimized two years ago.

The decline was located primarily in urban areas with an 8 percent decrease. Rural reported crime was up four percent. Violent crime went down 13 percent in urban areas, but increased 10 percent in rural areas.

The largest reduction among the most serious crimes was the 21 percent drop in robberies. Murder was down 15 percent. Increases were reported in rape (8 percent) and aggravated assault (3 percent).

Public perception of crime also declined since last year. The survey showed a greater degree of willingness to go or do things. A six-year high was recorded among those who believe their neighborhoods to be safe at night (73 percent compared to 66 percent last year) and fear of being a crime victim stood at 65 percent, compared to 70 percent in 1976.

Fear of crime was highest in Detroit suburbs -- 75 percent.

Respondents to the poll said crime remains the largest problem in the state. They suggested youth need more guidance and laws need better enforcement. Those favoring capital punishment declined from 72 to 67 percent.

The survey also showed that 60 percent are in opposition to banning handguns owned by individuals; 72 percent support wiretaps to investigate organized crime; 76 percent support wiretaps to investigate suspected drug dealers and opposition to legalizing a number of activities, including marijuana, prostitution, remains about the same.

The State Police remains the enforcement agency with the largest confidence rating, followed by the FBI.

county sheriffs and local police according to the State Police sponsored study.

LOBBYIST LEGISLATION SHOWDOWN

A showdown is expected soon on legislation requiring registration and financial disclosure by lobbyists and their agents.

The Senate is expected to begin deliberations on a series of amendments both to strengthen and to weaken the bill.

The Judiciary Committee reported a bill substantially weaker than it went into the committee. Committee Chairman Basil Brown (D-Highland Park) maintained there was no need for the bill in that it addressed only suspected wrongs with no proof of evil as claimed by supporters.

will attempt to amend the strict language back into the measure on the Senate floor. He said the measure is not a prohibition against persons participating in government, but simply a registration and reporting measure to let the public know who is attempting to persuade legislators and with what favors.

The pending version is directed only at Lansing-based lobbyists and the firm or unit which hires that lobbyist. Lobbyist agents and principals would be required to report all expenditures and to itemize entertainment expenses over $75 in a one-month period or $250 in one year. The original version would have required anyone who spends more than $1,000 to influence legislation to register as a lobbyist and to report expenditures of more than $1 on the entertainment of legislators. It further prohibited gifts of $10 or more in value.

Jeannine Hobart farm 100 years old

There were only 40 acres when Erastus Dickinson bought the property in January, 1878.

Now, the centennial farm of Jeannine Hobart is part of a farm operation totaling 465 acres.

Mrs. Hobart is the great-granddaughter of the original owner and until two years ago had lived on the farm all her life. It is located at Hoppe and Graf Roads in Columbia township.

The farm was recently designated a Centennial Farm by the Division of Michigan History of the Michigan Department of State. She and her husband Ben received a sign designating it as such from the Detroit Edison Co.

The Hobarts, both 45, were married in August, 1976, the second marriage for each. Both were widowed from their first marriages. They and their children still at home live in the house where Ben Hobart has lived all his life, on Hobart Road, west of Gageton.

ERASTUS' DICKINSON was a Civil War veteran who came with his family from out east to St. Clair county, then in 1878 bought the property in Columbia township from Norman Morford.

It next became the property of his son, Stedman Dickinson, who was the father of 10 children (five of whom are still living). When Dickinson's wife died, it was his daughter, Ruth, who came home to care for him.

Ruth and her husband, Leorie J. Demo, the parents of Jeannine Hobart, were next to own the farm, which in the late 1920s or early 1930s was expanded to 60 acres. Demo was a part-time farmer, earning most of his living from painting houses and hanging wallpaper.

Jeannine Hobart's parents

both died when she and her sister Elaine, now Mrs. Harold Seibel of Gageton, were minors. Their father died first, then their mother in 1948.

They jointly inherited the farm. Jeannine married Edwin E. Link in 1950 and in 1951 bought out her sister's share of the farm. Link died in an accident in 1973.

SHE WAS WORKING IN a Car insurance agency in 1975 when Ben Hobart came in on business. Their paths had crossed on occasion before when both were married and she knew that he had lost his first wife, Joan, who died in July of that year.

There is, she explained, a "brotherhood" between adults who have lost their spouses.

She asked how he was doing, they started talking, and 10 months later, they were married.

They were married in August, 1976, with all 11 of their children in attendance. Four of the seven children from Hobart's first marriage are at home: Jane, 16, Scott, 14, Kevin, 12, and Clayton, 9.

Daughter Marie, 21, is at Albion College; Ann, 20, at Kalamazoo College, and Cathy, 18, at Aquinas College in Grand Rapids.

Jonathan, 18, is the only one of Mrs. Hobart's children by her first marriage at home. Barbara, 22, is a teacher. Karen, 20, graduates this June from Cleary College in Ypsilanti. Douglas, 24, lives in the home on the centennial farm and works at a nearby farm.

That home, built in 1956, was only the second Jeannine Hobart lived in and the fourth built on the farm, each one replacing the previous house.

At one time, the Hobarts had five children in college at the same time. "Thank goodness for financial aid," Mrs. Hobart commented.

BEN HOBART, WITH only help from his family, farms 465 acres, growing small grains, corn, sugar beets, and dry beans.

Mrs. Hobart occasionally drives a tractor, but prefers to do the bookkeeping, "parts chasing," and coordinating the activities of their large family. "I used to be a whole lot more active in farming," she explained, "but then I didn't have as many youngsters."

Farming the Hobart acreage requires a lot of driving just to get to it. The home farm in Elmwood township totals 260 acres, of which 40 are rented. The centennial farm, by road mileage, is seven miles to the west in Columbia township.

The total acreage is divided into six parcels, in Elmwood, Columbia, and Ellington townships. To drive from the extreme end of the property to the west to the extreme end of the property to the east is a trip of 13 miles.

On the centennial farm, the old barn, built around the turn of the century, serves as a reminder of farming the way it was. Somewhat decayed but still structurally sound, the Hobarts are planning to put on new siding.

Hobart marvels at the changes in agriculture since it was built. His wife's parents had a hired man to help on the farm, which was only 60 acres.

Now, thanks to mechanization, he farms almost eight times as much land with little assistance. "It's an interesting comment on the times," he said.

CENTENNIAL FARM -- Jeannine and Ben Hobart hold the sign they received designating the Columbia township farm owned by Mrs. Hobart as a centennial farm. The old corn crib on the farm makes up the background.

Caro man pleads guilty in drug case

Gary L. Jones pleaded guilty Monday before Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements to a charge of attempted delivery of marijuana.

His plea was accepted and sentencing was scheduled July 5. Bond was continued. Jones, 21, of 700 W. Frank Street, Caro, was originally charged with manufacturing, delivery, or possession of marijuana but the charge was reduced on a motion by the prosecution.

He was arrested on the original charge in May. Two others were also arrested about the same time on the same charge, with charges against them still pending.

In other cases Monday before Judge Clements: A charge of attempted delivery of marijuana against Michell or Mike Locke of Cass City was dismissed.

He pleaded guilty to the charge May 9, 1977, after which sentencing was delayed one year. Judge Clements dismissed the charge on the recommendation of the probation department, the defendant having complied with the dictates of his probation.

George Wilton, 26, of Onaway, was placed on one year's probation for non-sufficient funds - check over $50. He was found guilty of the charge by a jury April 14. He was fined $100 and assessed $300 court costs.

The charge was in connection with his having written a check for $125, for which he had insufficient funds, in 1975.

John T. Atkinson Jr., 21, of 5099 Innis Road, Decker, was placed on two years' probation for larceny from an auto. He was credited with time served in the county jail, fined $100, and assessed $300 court costs.

The charge was in connection with his having taken a citizens band radio from a vehicle in Kingston township March 10, 1977.

Bryan D. Whittaker, 17, of 3292 Sheridan Road, Vassar, was placed on two years' probation for attempted receiving and concealing stolen property over $100. He was sentenced to 45 days in the county jail, credited with two days served, fined $100, and assessed $300 court costs.

At a pretrial hearing, Kayleen Dawn Seorum, 35, of 3458 Mill Street, Akron, pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of liquor (1st offense). Judge Clem-

The defendant charged with driving under the influence of liquor (offense), for which she was arrested in Denmark March 13.

Kenneth Diener, 18, of Pine Street, Akron, found guilty of violating probation. Bond was continued with sentencing July 5.

He was placed on two years' probation Sept. 1977 for attempted breaching and entering. The probation was for his having associated with someone who under terms of probation, he was not supposed to associate with. At his pretrial hearing, Larry G. Dill, 27, of Riley Road, Caro, pleaded no contest to a charge of obstructing, resisting, opposing, and assaulting a police officer. The charge was in connection with attempted arrest by De- Arthur Adam in Union April 17, 1977.

Dill was originally charged with malicious destruction of a building $100 in connection with the same incident. The charge was reduced on a motion by the prosecu-

Library sets kids' programs

Rawson Memorial Library has announced its summer programs, a story hour and reading club, both starting Thursday, June 15. The story hour will be from 1-1:45 p.m. each Thursday through the end of July. The theme will be "underwater adventure."

The program is designed for youngsters age three and older. Each session will begin with a puppet show featuring "Wily Wilfred Whale" and "Sassy Sally Shark." Other special events planned, at least one such activity each week, are plays, movies, and flannelgram presentations.

The reading club is for youngsters going into the second grade or higher. Each participant will be issued a card to record the titles read.

Each book must be reported on in one of three ways: Orally, via a written report on the form provided, or by drawing a book jacket depicting a scene or event in the book. The reports or drawings will be displayed at the library from the end of the season.

To finish the program and be awarded a certificate, participants must read 10 books by Aug. 19. The books read must be at the appropriate reading level.

A swimming party will be held for those who complete the program and receive a certificate.
