Doesn't know what happened

Teenager almost drowns but lives to hear about it

Monday, May 28, is a day Dan Morden will never forget -- except that he doesn't remember most of it.

The last thing the Snover resident remembers is that day is going swimming at Ferguson's vet pit, west of Argyle.

The next thing he remembers is waking up the next day in Hills and Dales General Hospital.

It wasn't for some reason and some others, he did not have awakened.

Dan Morden almost drowned.

It was hot that day before Memorial Day -- in the 90s. Morden, 19, had gone to gravel pit to go swimming with his brother, Gary, and friends Brian Carper, 16, and Ken DeLong, 21 -- two are stepbrothers, of Johnson Road, Snover --

Chuck Kroetsch, 19, of V Road, Snover, and his friend, Donna Leese, 16, andusky.

THE INCIDENT BEGAN at 3:30 p.m. when Gary Morden was swimming across the gravel pit and ran out of the hole he holed.

Gary said his brother, who was in shallow water, started swimming toward him. It was Chuck Kroetsch who came to Gary's rescue, however, and pulled him to shore.

It was then that Donna, who was on shore, noticed that Dan wasn't there. She yelled. Ken, who was sitting in his pickup, and Brian, who was standing beside it, ran into the water.

"I didn't know where he was, but a little kid saw where he had gone down," Ken explained. He dived, didn't see his friend, but when he started toward the surface, his foot snagged on Dan's pant leg. He guessed the water was probably 10-12 feet deep.

Ken grabbed Morden on one side and Brian grabbed the other. Some other swimmers formed a chain and pulled the trio to shore.

DeLong guesses his friend was probably under the water for two minutes.

Once he was on shore, Donna immediately started mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and her boyfriend started pushing up and down on his chest.

Their "training" in the rescue technique consisted of what they had learned in health classes at Sandusky High School.

What they did worked. Chuck estimates they kept at it for 2-3 minutes, alternating positions, until Dan started breathing. He was breathing by the time Huron county sheriff's deputies arrived, whom someone had called.

Ambulance attendants from Little's Funeral Home in Cass City applied oxygen on the way to the hospital.

DAN'S PARENTS, ROBERT and Janice Morden, had just started milking their 20 cows on their Bulgreen Road farm when they received word about 4:30 or 4:45 that their son was in the hospital.

They had to find a neighbor to finish milking their cows, assisted by their two other children (in addition to Dan and Gary) still at home, Mike, 16, and Nancy, 14.

When she and her husband arrived at the hospital, Mrs. Morden recalled, her son was "just wild" and had to be tied down. He was comatose until Monday evening, when he recognized his grandfather, but, according to his mother, "didn't hardly know anybody till Tuesday."

Morden not only didn't know how he had got to the hospital, but thought he must have been in an automobile accident, since he had no memory of his near-drowning.

Although in the hospital, he wasn't out of the woods. The first three days, he had to have his stomach pumped to remove sand and water.

"After Wednesday of the first week, we knew everything would be alright," brother Gary said.

The main problem was Morden had pneumonia in one lung, which had to clear before he could go home. He was put on a respirator three times per day for 10-15 minutes each time during his entire stay. He finally went home June 13, 15 pounds lighter than the 140 he weighed before the incident.

Mrs. Morden had high praise for those at the hospital who cared for her son. "He worked hard to save him," she said of Dr. H.T. Donahue, "and so did the nurses. I don't think you could find a better hospital than they have up there."

ALTHOUGH HOME now, Morden is under doctor's orders to not return to work until July 5. He is a fiberglass grinder at X-plorer Motor Homes in Brown City. "I'm all right now if I don't push myself too hard," he explained. "I get tired awful fast."

His physical condition wasn't enough to keep him from celebrating "a night on the town" Friday night with his friends.

As for whether he will go swimming again, the 1977 graduate of Sandusky High School, replied, "I don't know, probably." He describes himself as a "fair" swimmer.

Although Brian Carper and Gary Morden haven't been back swimming yet, the incident didn't faze another of Dan's rescuers. The day after it happened, Ken DeLong was back swimming at the gravel pit.

Ex-Ca. killed

Two one critical in area accidents

Two persons were killed in Tuscola county traffic accidents last week, one of them near Cass City. In the other, in Caro, the victim was run over by his own pickup truck.

A third serious accident, Monday afternoon northeast of Cass City, sent three persons to the hospital, with one of the victims in critical condition.

Saturday, Sherwood A. Robinson, 22, was killed when his car rolled over on Severance Road, west of Crawford Road, south of Cass City.

Sheriff's deputies reported Robinson was westbound at 7:50 p.m. on Severance when he lost control. His car went off the north side of the road, then crossed over to the south side, went into a ditch and rolled over, throwing the driver out.

Robinson was taken to Hills and Dales General Hospital where he died in the emergency room.

The Deckerville resident was born Oct. 16, 1955 in Flint, the son of Theodore Robinson of Vassar and Marie Hull Robinson of Sandusky.

He married Denise LaHaie Sept. 12, 1975 in Caro. They then lived in Fairgrove, Cass City, and at the time of his death, on Downing Road, Deckerville.

He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Mandie and Pattie Ann, at home; his mother and father; a brother, Roy Robinson of Ashley; one half-brother, Theodore Robinson Jr., in Michigan; one sister, Aranelle (Mrs. Michael) Smith of Sandusky, and five half-sisters, Diane Kinsley of Cass City, Karen Martin of Tunkhannock, Penn., Mrs. Jim Burhes of Millington, and Mrs. Gary Treehouse and Mrs. Jerry Notoe, both in Michigan.

A rosary was recited Tuesday evening from Little's Funeral Home, Cass City.

A funeral mass was conducted Wednesday morning from St. Pancratius Catholic church, Father Joseph Morales officiating. Burial was in Novesta cemetery.

CARO FATAL

Lawrence J. Smith, 50, of 428 Fremont Street, Caro, was killed shortly after 11 p.m. Friday when he was run over by his own pickup truck. The incident took place at Adams and W. Frank Streets in Caro.

Caro village police said Smith apparently dropped his cigarette lighter accidentally out the window as it was later found on the ground. They theorize he backed up to retrieve it. When he stopped the vehicle, he left it in reverse instead of park and in getting out, may have fallen. The truck then ran over him.

The left front wheel ran over the driver with the back wheels jumping the curb, coming to rest on the grass. On their arrival, officers found the engine running and the transmission still in reverse.

The body was taken from Caro Community Hospital to St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw for an autopsy to determine if Smith may have had a heart attack which caused him to fall from the vehicle. The autopsy results showed he died of injuries sustained in the accident.

Smith was the 11th victim to die in a Tuscola county traffic accident this year and Robinson was the 12th. In comparison, only 14 died in county traffic accidents in all of 1977.

M-53 CRASH

Ethel Wolfram, 67, of Pigeon, was reported in critical condition in the intensive care unit at St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw Wednesday morning as a result of injuries sustained in an accident at 2 p.m. Monday.

Carol Wachner, 33, a passenger in her car and reported to be her daughter, was in fair condition at Hills and Dales General Hospital Tuesday afternoon. The two women live at 174 Campbell Road, Pigeon.

Another driver involved, Randall Talaski, 22, of Kinde, was reported in good condition Tuesday afternoon at Hills and Dales.

Talaski was driving a flat-bed truck owned by Osen-toski Farm Equipment of Bad Axe, which was towing a new hay conditioner or hay bane. He was headed south on M-53.

Sanilac county deputies reported 50 feet north of the bridge over the north branch of the Cass River, the hay conditioner swerved over into the other lane, striking the left side of the northbound auto of William Palmer, 53, of Lyndon, Ky.

The Palmer auto spun around and went off the east side of the road backwards. Palmer and his wife, Evelyn, 50, were unhurt.

The truck continued moving and the fishtailing hay conditioner struck the west side bridge abutment. The farm implement bounced off, crossed the centerline, and was rammed almost head-on by the northbound Wolfram auto.

The truck came to rest against the west side guard rail south of the bridge. The auto came to a halt in the northbound lane of the bridge.

The two women were pinned inside the demolished auto and it took efforts by police officers, ambulance attendants, wrecker crew, and the Bad Axe Fire Department rescue unit to free them.

The first police car on the scene was from Harbor Beach, which happened to be passing by. Cass City police were there next and then Sanilac deputies, who had to come from Sandusky.

Carol Wachner was removed first. Cass City Police Chief Gene Wilson said Casimir Bartnik of Bartnik's Service Station had to crawl under the car and unbolt the bucket seat so that the woman could be freed.

It took the wrecker winch and special tools to pull the wreckage away from Mrs. Wolfram so that she could be taken out. She was in the car about an hour before she could be removed. Both women were conscious throughout their ordeal.

Traffic was blocked in both lanes of M-53 until the wrecked vehicles could be cleared away. The Elkland Township Fire Department brought a pumper to the scene to hose debris off the road.

ACCIDENT CAUSE -- The errant hay bine which started the accident that sent three persons to the hospital is shown above.

Kingston to have citizens' patrol to fight vandalism

Continual acts of vandalism, break-ins, and other problems in Kingston have led to creation of a citizens patrol to watch for break-ins and troublemakers.

To be called "Community Watch," it could be in operation as soon as this weekend, according to local businessman Ed Kaminski, chairman of the eight-member committee which will oversee operation of the group.

The patrol group was organized last Thursday at a meeting in the village hall attended by about 75 persons, he said. About a dozen persons volunteered to go on patrol duty, with more expected to volunteer.

Monday night, the village council gave its okay for the group to operate but did not give it formal sponsorship, according to Rev. Kenneth Boileau, village clerk and secretary of the committee. The council declined official recognition, he said, to avoid possible liability.

Boileau and Kaminski stressed "Community Watch" participants won't be substitute policemen.

Members, two or three to a car, will patrol the community. If they see any violations committed, they can take down a license number if a vehicle is involved and call the sheriff's department or state police via citizens band radio. They will not be armed and will patrol in their own cars.

The village council hired sheriff's Deputy Wayne Newton three months ago to work part-time in the village, patrolling in Kingston's own police car.

Kaminski pointed out that is only a partial-solution as Newton can't always be on duty when he is most needed.

The aim of the committee, Boileau said, is to have a car on patrol each night.

Members were to meet again this Wednesday evening for further planning. One item that needs to be worked out, he said, is liability insurance for participants.

Although there have been problems in the community for several years, according to Kaminski, of late, the number of incidents have been on the apparent increase. Vandals caused at least $10,000 damage in Kingston High School in May, there have been a number of break-ins at Mike King's Auto Haven, two large store front windows at Zorn's IGA were broken June 8, and June 12, vandals broke into 85-year-old Margaret Legg's restaurant and candy store, ransacked it and then set it on fire. Quick action by firemen resulted in relatively minor damage.

Monday, Rev. Boileau said, another break-in was discovered there.

Kaminski said that in the past, many people were afraid to sign complaints against delinquents, lest they suffer further harassment, now "95 percent" are willing to cooperate with police and sign complaints.

Most of the problems, he feels, only come from about three families in Kingston, where parents are unwilling or unable to control the actions of their children.

High school damaged by hungry vandal

disappearance of four fire extinguishers and part of a lasagna appeared to be the major loss in a break-in at Cass City High School, discovered at 7 a.m. last Wednesday.

Four fire extinguishers were reported taken, with contents emptied in a way and in the home economics room, according to Cass City police.

Home economics teacher Helen Jackson reported a lasagna was removed from a refrigerator, part of it, then the pan was in a cupboard. A box of berries and carton of cream were removed from the freezer. The ice cream container was later found on the roof of the building. Two salads in another refrigerator were ruined. Eggs were run against a kitchen and some broken plates found elsewhere in the building. Yellow powder and a dry chemical fire extinguisher was sprayed into a closet area and some on cupboards.

Other rooms were searched but no damage was reported. Police later questioned a suspect in the case.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Lackowski

Karen Ann Bensinger and Daniel Robert Lackowski were wed June 10 in ceremonies at St. John's Catholic church in Uby.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bensinger of Uby. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lackowski of Parisville.

The bride was given away by her father in the double-ring ceremony performed by Father O'Reilly.

Music was performed by Mrs. William Grekowicz, organist, and Mrs. Dave Dorossas, soloist.

The bride wore a full-length gown with horseshoe neckline detailed with seed pearls, empire waist covered with imported chantilly lace, and a sweeping chapel train of lace and silk.

The veil was waltz length, edged in imported chantilly lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

The maid of honor was Ruth Ann Hewitt, a friend of the bride. She wore a Nile green A-line halter dress with stand-up collar and matching floor length cape with an ostrich feather trimmed hood.

She carried a silk umbrella with a cascade of pink and mint green miniature carnations, accented with yellow silk for-get-me-nots, baby's breath and spring green streamers.

Bridesmaids were Barb Bensinger, cousin of the bride, and Rosalee LaBecker, Becky Robinson, and Linda Main, friends of the newlyweds. They were dressed the same as the maid of honor and carried similar bouquets.

The flower girl was Tracee LaBuhn, a friend of the bride. Her dress was the same as the bridesmaids' with a short cape added. She carried a ball of pink, mint green and yellow miniature carnations accented with baby's breath and green velvet tubing.

The groom wore a light mint green Bentley tuxedo with white ruffled shirt edged in green. His boutonniere consisted of two yellow sweetheart roses.

The best man was Ron Lackowski, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Rick Bensinger, cousin of the bride, and Alvin Collum, Kevin O'Connor, and Bob Main, friends of the couple.

Ringbearer was Chad Wilson, nephew of the groom. Attendants wore Bentley tuxedos of light mint green with avocado trousers and vests. Shades of green embroided the edges of their white ruffled shirts. Boutonnieres consisted of three yellow miniature carnations.

Ushers were Dave Blagah, a friend of the couple, and Bob Lackowski, brother of the groom.

The mothers of the bride and groom wore matching A-line gowns of apricot polyester knit with empire waists and stand-up collar covered with chiffon caplets accented with rhinestone trim.

They wore corsages of orange sweetheart roses and peach tipped miniature carnations and baby's breath.

A reception was held following the wedding at the Uby Fox Hunters Club with 350 guests present.

Mr. and Mrs. Lackowski are both 1976 graduates of Uby High School. He is employed at General Cable Corp. in Cass City and she is the Buds and Blossom Flower Shop in Uby.

They are now residing at Atwater Road, Parisville.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

When is a hole in one not a hole in one? When it comes a mulligan, that's when. It counted in the Tuesday's men's league at Sherwood Hill when posted by Dick Retzler of Unionville. It was third on the number one hole there and the fourth in the tory of the golf course.

Monday afternoon the siren was sounding frequently in Cass City. In mid-afternoon it seemed to wail longer and far frequently than for a regular fire alarm. Marilyn Schriener, from the Chronicle's ad department, wondered if it was a tornado warning or alert. He asked what the warning signal was and I couldn't tell even though it's been published several times. The straight dope, I learned, is nothing for a tornado. When a tornado has been sighted the warning is a minute continuous blast of the siren. Now we'll all remember this, won't we? Sure we will.

Now that the cement is poured it can be revealed. All the work was finished at the new Cass City State Bank without set of names, slogans or initials finding its way into the cement before it hardened.

Speaking of the Cass City State Bank recalls what Meredith Auten, 87, reported the other day. M. B. said that had received an order to report for jury duty. He asked for a resume and I outlined my (extensive) experience on committees and elected offices. Then they wrote back and said they didn't want me, Meredith said dryly. Of course, he added, I also told them that I couldn't see or hear anymore either. Just to be invited at my age is a great honor, Auten says with tongue-in-cheek.

Historical society log cabin tour draws 30

About 30 members and guests attended the picnic and log cabin tour Sunday sponsored by the Cass City Area Historical Society.

The picnic and starting point for the tour was at the log cabin owned by Mrs. Fern Copeland of Bad Axe on Seeger Road, east of M-53.

The second cabin on the tour, owned by Kenneth MacRae, is a quarter-mile north of New Greenleaf.

Next was the log house owned by Stanley Heleski a quarter-mile south of Ivanhoe. The final cabin visited is an abandoned one on Ritter Road, northeast of Cass City.

At the business meeting held following the picnic, Dave Ackerman was re-elected to the board of directors.

Members voted to sell a Cass City commemorative mug this fall, decorated with a logo of the Cultural Center. The next meeting will be in August with Robert Dillman discussing early roads in Cass City.

Escapee takes one last ride

An escapee from a state correctional facility in Flint chose the wrong time to go for a ride Saturday night. He is now back behind bars.

Captured was Terry R. Magiera, 20, formerly of Murray Road, Caro. He escaped from the facility April 3, where he was serving a 2-10 year sentence for violation of probation. He had been on probation for breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling.

Sgt. Leonard Huff of the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department was riding his motorcycle while off-duty when he observed Magiera drive by on Lee Hill Road, southeast of Caro, at 8:40 p.m.

The officer set off in pursuit as Magiera turned east on E. Dayton Road, then west on Stevens Road. Huff stopped at the home of Department of Natural Resources officer Tim Burke on Stevens to call the sheriff's department for assistance.

Burke and Huff then started in pursuit of Magiera in a DNR vehicle. About an hour later they spotted Magiera at Stevens Road and M-24, headed east on Stevens. They followed him until he turned into a driveway, which was at the home of his father. The escapee was arrested when he got out of the car.

A sheriff's department car was dispatched to take him to the county jail, where he was held until turned over to corrections department officials.

A woman in the car with Magiera, after it was determined she was not wanted for any law violations, was released.

The Haire Net

In the last week there have been myriad "man in the street" polls asking about a tax limitation proposal similar to proposition 13 in California.

All of them, every single one, shows the great majority favors a tax limitation in Michigan.

That should be no surprise. Everyone is against taxes just like everyone is in favor of motherhood.

To be worth anything the polls should ask, are you for tax limitation in Michigan if it means less or no

(fill in the service that really means much to you...band, school sports, police protection, good streets, recreation at the park, social security, Medicaid, Medicare, state parks, wild lands, Great Lakes Fishery, etc.)

We got by when we had none of these and it's possible that we could do it again.

One young lady that was quoted in one of the polls said that she feels it would be wise to wait until the results of proposition 13 became known before acting on tax restriction legislation here.

That makes sense. Given the track record of politicians it's the opinion here that when revenue is cut from one source another source will be found.

That's not really correct. I should have said another way to get the money from the same old source.

You'll remember when the sales tax was taken off food and a few other essentials, it was hailed as a break for the taxpayer.

It was until the income tax was raised to pick up the void.

And when it comes to income tax it's the middle class that pays the bill. The very poor pay (rightfully) and the very rich (unrightfully) nothing.

The latest Michigan plan would stabilize property taxes at current assessment levels and restrict them from increasing at a greater rate than the cost of living.

It would keep government spending in line with current personal taxation levels. Any increases would be subject to a vote of the people.

Admittedly that sounds logical. Enticing. A method of curbing government spending.

The question is will it curb the kind of spending that everyone wants curbed. The excesses.

If it should happen to be effective in California it should work here.

It makes sense to wait and see.

Walbro Corp. sets dividend

At a regular meeting June 12, 1978, the Board of Directors of Walbro Corporation (NASDAQ: WALB) declared a second quarter cash dividend of 10 cents a share on Walbro common stock.

This dividend is payable July 28, 1978 to stockholders of record, June 30, this year.

"If It Fitz..."

Diagnosis by photo

By Jim Fitzgerald

Maybe it would help if I went swimming. The pool at my apartment building will soon be open, after being closed for four years, and that's an interesting tale.

The building owners have already stung taxpayers for over $9 million. That's been public knowledge for several years. Now it's been discovered that the apartment swimming pool is on city property. It appears taxpayers own the pool, which only seems right.

Fascinating? I'll give you the details in a minute. But first, you want to know why I need help from swimming. It's my physical appearance. A medical doctor at Wayne State University says I look unhealthy. Swimming is supposed to be good for your health.

I'd prefer swimming to running. It's running that brought me to the doctor's attention. Recently I wrote that running makes sense only if the runner is exiting a burning building. Dr. Joseph Arends took exception. He told me off thusly:

"You simply have no concept of what preventive medicine is attempting to say to the American public. Yet you take it upon yourself to criticize this modality of medicine. It has been my experience that those people who are the most hostile and negative toward this new and emerging concept of medicine have the most to feel guilty about. As judged by your picture in the Detroit Free Press, this certainly appears to be true. You are the antithesis of the new emerging preventive medicine."

Forget the argument about whether running is good medicine. Instead, consider the possibilities of a doctor who can make a diagnosis simply by examining a tiny picture of the patient's face. And that picture doesn't show the top of my head, or allow a true count of my chins.

Marvelous. Diagnosis by photo certainly should be cheaper than a regular office call, and more convenient for the patient. Let your picture keep a 9 o'clock appointment Tuesday. You can go about your daily life while your photo waits until the doctor can see it at 3 o'clock Wednesday.

This nation needs more doctors of Joseph Arends' modality, doctors who can diagnose an antithesis through a newsstand. But enough about health. Let's go back to where I live and may swim, at 1300 Lafayette East, in downtown Detroit.

Thirteen Hundred is in the news often. The last time was in January when a federal judge placed the 28-story tower into receivership. A management company was appointed to run it pending the outcome of a suit by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to foreclose on the mortgage.

Lafayette East cost $9 million when it was built. HUD (taxpayers) guaranteed the construction loan. When the owners fell behind in mortgage payments, HUD had to pay off the lenders. At last report, HUD said the owners owed taxpayers more than $8 million.

The majority owner of Lafayette East is Morton L. Scholnick of Birmingham. Four years ago he closed the swimming pool because tenants balked at paying $300 extra per year to use it. They thought monthly rentals of $300 to $600 should be enough to cover swimming.

Ever since, tenants have spent hot summers fuming at the closed pool, and raging at Scholnick. Now it turns out he and his partners don't even own the pool, unless they can pick it up and take it home with them. They built it on land optioned from the city, and the option was never exercised. Taxpayers are the owners.

The new managers, Sullivan & Smith, are the heroes. They discovered the real ownership and then leased the pool from the city for free use by tenants. There is much jubilation on the elevators.

And the swimming may improve the condition of my antithesis. In September I'll have a new photo taken for Dr. Arends' diagnosis.

May we answer your questions about the Michigan Eye-Bank?

Q How badly are eyes needed?

A Even though more and more eyes are received each year, there's still a tremendous need for donor eyes. A recipient often must wait as long as a year or more before a donor is available.

Q Does age or whether one wears glasses matter?

A No. Age or visual correction has no bearing on the usefulness of your eyes. Young or old, the eyes can be used for transplantation if the corneal tissue is healthy.

Q Would eyes be useful if a person had cataracts or cataract surgery?

A Yes. Just as long as the corneal tissue is healthy.

Q Is there any disfigurement after removal of donated eyes?

A None whatsoever.

Q How successful are corneal transplants?

A Roughly 70% are completely successful the first time. About 20% are partially successful and about 10% are rejected. Quite often, a second or third operation is successful where it was unsuccessful the first time.

Q Do religious authorities approve of eye donations?

A Yes. All major religious faiths have given their approval and support to this vital sight restoration program.

Q Who is eligible to receive corneal tissue from the Michigan Eye-Bank?

A Men and women, young and old... anyone whose physician considers such surgery necessary.

Q Does the Eye-Bank charge for its services?

A No. Eyes are furnished free to surgeons. And, there is no cost to the patient for the donor eyes.

Q How soon must eyes be removed after death?

A Eyes should be removed as soon as possible after death... preferably within 4-6 hours.

Q Should I "Will" my eyes?

A No. Since eyes must be removed within 4-6 hours after death, and since Wills are not probated within that time-period, it is not recommended that you put into your Will the fact that you desire to be an eye donor.

THE GIFT OF SIGHT... THAT OTHERS MAY SEE

The Gift of Sight... that's what the Michigan Eye-Bank is all about.

Last year, thru the efforts of our Eye-Bank and the Lions of Michigan, sight was returned to 218 people who had been living in a world of darkness.

"Eye Transplants"—What Are They?

Most of us take our sight for granted, but for one who lives in darkness, being able to see again would seem a true miracle.

Such "miracles" are taking place regularly through the advances of medical science and the efforts of the Michigan Eye-Bank and the Lions Clubs of Michigan, according to Lion John L. Swank of Midland, public relations chairman and past president of the Michigan Eye-Bank.

Permanent restoration of sight is possible for many blind and visually-handicapped people whose problem is the result of damaged or diseased corneas.

Whole eyes cannot be transplanted, but the entire eye must be removed from the donor to protect the surgically-useful portions and slow deterioration of the tissues to be transplanted.

The cornea, the portion most often used for transplantation, is the small, clear "window" that protects the front of the eye and admits the light image that is translated by the brain into the sensory experience we refer to as "sight", he said.

A corneal transplant is performed by a qualified ophthalmologist wearing magnifying glasses or using an operating microscope.

"And there is no risk to the patient's life, as with organ transplants," Swank added.

In a small percentage of cases, portions of the sclera, the white of the eye, are transplanted. There also are occasions when the vitreous humor, the jelly-like substance inside the eye, is transplanted.

"But before such sight-restorative surgery can take place, some individual, perhaps like you, must feel enough concern for a fellow human being to direct that, upon his death, his eyes be used so that another person may see," Swank said.

"Without those all-important acts of individual generosity and compassion, the eye-bank program could not exist," he said.

Water plan hearing June 28

The East Central Michigan Planning and Development Region (ECMPDR) is scheduled six public participation meetings to discuss a draft report concerning recommendations for abating water pollution in East Central Michigan. One of the meetings will be Wednesday, June 28, in the Iklund township fire hall on Church Street. Sessions will be at 3 and 7:30 p.m.

The report, "Alternative Structural and Non-Structural Plans and Their Consequences," outlines 19 recommended solutions for correcting or preventing different categories of water pollution in the 14 counties of East Central Michigan. The report also outlines the benefits of each of those solutions and discusses solutions to water quality problems in the watershed of the region.

Purpose of the meetings is to discuss the report and receive comments and recommendations from any interested person within the region. Each solution outlined in the report is an integral part of the developing Regional Water Quality Management Plan to assist local units of government throughout East Central Michigan in meeting federal and state water pollution requirements. Final selection and implementation of the proposed solutions will mark another step toward achieving the national goal of clean, swimmable waters by 1983.

A hearing on the completed Water Quality Management Plan will be Tuesday, July 18, at 2 or 7:30 p.m. The speech room at Cass City High School.

Open horse show on Saturday

Owen-Gage board okays final Goslin parcel appeal

The Owendale-Gagetown School board Monday night authorized another appeal in the Goslin parcel transfer case, this time to the U.S. District Court.

The district was the loser in another appeal, to the U.S. Supreme Court, which in May refused to hear its appeal of the approval by the Michigan Supreme Court of the transfer of the parcel to the Cass City district.

The appeal this time, some board members explained after the meeting, will be under a new tact.

The previous appeals were based on the board's contention that after more than 10 percent of the original district was transferred to other districts, Owen-Gage residents had the right to vote on any future transfers. The Michigan Supreme Court disagreed.

The new appeal, according to the board members, will argue that the state law only allows property transfers when the property to be transferred is contiguous -- that is, touches -- the receiving school district. Thus owners of non-contiguous property are being denied equal protection of the laws under the 14th Amendment of the U.S. Constitution in that they don't have the right to transfer their property, thus making the Michigan law unconstitutional.

The board action Monday night approving the appeal was as a board. In addition, board members are planning to appeal as individuals in order to avoid any legal question over whether the school board has the legal right or standing to make such an appeal. The Michigan Court of Appeals last August said such appeals have to be made by individuals, that the board doesn't have such standing.

After a half-hour executive session, the board members decided to delay individual participation in the suit, pending consultation with their attorney, James F. Schouman, regarding questions of individual costs and possible liability in participating individually in the suit.

Schouman, in a June 13 letter to Supt. Ronald Erickson, described the new appeal as "the last available legal remedy to preserve the tax base of the school district."

To further buttress its position, the board authorized sending a letter to Tuscola County Equalization Director Donald Graf protesting his including the Goslin parcel valuation for 1978 as part of the Cass City district "because the area in question is still being litigated."

It also authorized continuation of the suit against Elmwood township seeking receipt of $12,917 still owed to Owen-Gage as the Goslin parcel was not yet part of the Cass City district when last year's property taxes were spread. Owen-Gage is also seeking $25,000 in punitive damages. No hearing date has been set.

A "preliminary and proposed" 1978-79 budget was approved, with property tax revenue based on the Goslin parcel still being part of the district. Included, the state equalized valuation for the district will be about $32 million; without it, $29 million.

LOAN

The board authorized application to the state Municipal Finance Commission for permission to borrow $336,000 in anticipation of receipt of property taxes. That is about half of the amount of taxes levied for the 1977-78 school year, the maximum amount the district can borrow under state law.

Erickson said if the MPC approves the loan Tuesday, it will take about a month to get the money, which would mean the district will miss one pay day.

In the long run, even with the $336,000, he indicated, it will take receipt of some 1977 delinquent taxes in order for the district to make it through until 1978 property tax collections start coming in in late December or early January. And even then, he said, "This will be close."

No mention was made of the $150,000 loan the district is supposed to be getting directly from the state, which was authorized by the state legislature. Supposedly, Owen-Gage must apply to the MPC for approval to borrow the money, although Erickson said recently he has also been told the only remaining action needed is approval of the loan by the state Board of Education.

OTHER BUSINESS

The superintendent reported the next negotiation session with representatives of the teachers is this Wednesday and that a mediator has been requested to be at the July 5 session.

Construction manager Harvey Lubeski reported construction has resumed on the high school addition, following settlement of a strike, but that only three bricklayers were working, versus the 10 needed.

The board accepted the low bid of Richmond Wall and Floor Covering of Richmond for $6,885 for carpeting in the library, offices, and commercial and home economics classrooms in the addition. It was the low bid submitted.

The resignation of high school counselor John Rinke was accepted, effective Aug. 15. He was with the district eight years.

Erickson announced the district will run a summer recreation program for youngsters in Owendale and Gagetown. Included will be crafts, sports, and swimming, probably in Caro. Teacher aide Julia Haag will be in charge of the program.

The board approved the hiring of five youths, paid with federal funds, for the summer. Debbie Botka will help run the recreation program; Brenda Furness will work in the office and do some custodial work, and Tim Kain, John Mosack, and George Norcross will do custodial work.

July 10 was set for the board's organizational meeting, to be held in Owendale. It will be preceded by an executive session at 7:30 p.m. to discuss administrator contracts.

The board voted to pay $835.90 in sick pay to elementary teacher Eloise Kuntz, which was awarded to her by an arbitrator in April. The board considered appealing the arbitrator's decision but decided it would cost as much in lawyer's fees to appeal it as it would to make the payment.

On advice of its attorneys, the board approved denying, as of now, claimed retirement and sick pay owed to retired elementary teacher Helen Roth, as it has yet to reach agreement with the teachers on a contract for the now-ended school year. The amount in question is a reported $2,400.

Membership in the Michigan High School Athletic Association was approved.

Local girl to attend Interlochen

Interlochen Arts Academy in Interlochen, has announced the acceptance of Teresa Jean Scollon, 4849 Seeger Street, Cass City, as a student for the 1978-79 academic year. She has been attending Cass City High School.

She will pursue special studies in music (piano, with flute as a minor). Teresa is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edward Scollon, Cass City.

The Interlochen Arts Academy is the only boarding school in the United States which offers college-preparatory academics as well as intensive training in music, dance, the theatre, creative writing and all major visual arts for young men and women, ages 13-17.

PEDALING AROUND

Loafing on my feet

By Mike Eliasohn

Last week I wrote about problems I have lying down -- my bedsheet that keeps coming unsewed.

This week I write about problems I have -- or had -- standing up.

For years I wore penny loafers -- without putting pennies in the slots -- and my feet were comfortable. I went for years owning only two pairs of shoes, a black pair of penny loafers and a brown pair. I didn't even own a pair of PF Flyers.

But fashions change and one day I discovered my feet were no longer in style.

Apparently my brown and black loafers wore out about the same time, because I soon found myself the owner of fancy shoes with buckles on them -- a brown and a black pair. This was in 1972. Ever since my feet have hurt. I even put foam rubber insoles in my shoes and my feet still hurt.

I later compounded the problem by buying a pair of big saddle shoes. They looked really good with my fancy yellow plaid pants with the blue stripes but my feet still hurt.

I bought a pair of hiking boots for half-price at the Hush Puppy factory outlet store in Rockford. If I wore them for a day, they were comfortable, but longer than that and my feet would be in agony.

There were two kinds of shoes I didn't buy. One was those short boots with the zippers up the sides. I think it looks awful when a man's pantleg gets caught on the top of the boot and then, because he doesn't notice it, he walks around that way.

And, no offense to those who wear them, I can't stand white shoes unless they're made out of canvas.

Back to my feet. The only comfortable shoes I had weren't shoes; they were my old army combat boots. Unfortunately, there weren't many places I could go and not look funny wearing them. Besides, they're such a pain to have to lace up. (They were even a bigger pain to lace up when I was in the Army and had to do it at 5 a.m.)

I finally decided several months ago my feet had had enough. I went to a shoe store and asked the salesman for a pair of the most comfortable shoes he sold.

The shoes he sold me, buckskin with thick sponge rubber soles, certainly came with a good endorsement; he was wearing a pair.

Well, they weren't the complete answer to my dream of comfortable feet. They were fairly comfortable for walking but for some odd reason, they were very uncomfortable to wear while standing if I wasn't doing much walking.

Finally, I gave up. To heck with style. A few weeks ago, despite a query from my sister, "Can you still buy those kind of shoes?" I went out and bought a nice pair of brown penny loafers.

Now that I've broken them in, I find them very comfortable. Don't ask me to explain why they are and other shoes aren't.

It's a good thing I never put pennies in the slots in the old days, though. If I wanted to maintain that tradition today, thanks to inflation, I would have to use dimes.

the reception at Waterford Eagles Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Koch, Janet and Ray were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brintley of Birch Run Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Piny of Tawas City visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weatherhead and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Comment last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weatherhead attended the 50th wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Murrel Elenbaum at Pigeon Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Elger Generous were honored on their 40th wedding anniversary, by their children, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Generous. Guests attended from Alma, Farmington, Lapeer, Cass City, Saginaw, Lansing and Gagetown.

Mrs. Mabel Ondrajka attended graduation exercises at First Presbyterian church, on Center Avenue, Bay City, for her granddaughter Patricia Koch, from Northeastern Business College, Thursday evening.

SENIOR CITIZENS

The Owen-Gage Senior Citizens met at noon June 15 for a potluck dinner. The group sang a hymn, accompanied by Millie Wilson at the piano. Leslie Munro led the pledge to the flag.

During the brief meeting, trips were discussed.

At the July 6 meeting, Mary Langley will be guest speaker and her daughter will sing.

Door prizes went to Mr. and Mrs. William Ashmore. Cards were played and Mrs. Lee Smith and Harry Russell won low and Ada Salgat and Lee Smith, high. Harry Russell won the traveling prize.

The committee for July includes Justin Jantz, Dora Chisholm, Arnold and Helen McCullum.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Thirty-four members, husbands and friends of the Gagetown Club met at the Roy Messer farm Monday evening, June 12, for a barbecue potluck to close out the year's activities.

Following dinner, the ladies met for a brief meet-

Sea service picnic slated

Sponsored by Paul Bunyan Branch 358, Fleet Reserve Association, all active duty and retired Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard personnel are invited. Reservation forms are available from Navy recruiters or by calling Branch Secretary Robert L. Ross at (517) 739-2182 nights or week ends.

Doris Czekai dies June 14 in Sandusky

Doris Czekai of Cass City died suddenly Wednesday, June 14, at McKenzie Memorial Hospital in Sandusky.

She was born April 23, 1920, in Kingston, the daughter of Eli and Hannah Greenleaf.

She married George Czekai, Oct. 11, 1938, in Napoleon, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Czekai came to Cass City in 1958 from Kingston.

She is survived by her husband, George; three sons, Wallace Czekai and Gary Czekai, both of Cass City, and Richard Czekai of Owosso; two brothers, Morris Greenleaf of Clawson, and David Greenleaf of Vassar; three sisters, Mrs. Clarence (Beatrice) Thrall of Sandusky, Mrs. Frank (Ruth) McKenzie of Southfield and Mrs. Robert (Gladys) Williams of Marlette, and 13 grandchildren. One brother preceded her in death.

Funeral services for Mrs. Czekai were held Saturday afternoon from Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with Rev. Byron Hatch, pastor of the Trinity United Methodist church of Cass City, officiating.

Burial was in Kingston cemetery.

COMBINATION

Most progress comes through confidence that is created by aggressive methods, and the ability to get things done.

ing and the rummage sale was discussed. Funds raised at the annual rummage sales are used for community projects such as beautification of our two parks; help in furnishing the new Gagetown-Elmwood township hall; support for Girls Town, a Federation project, and a college scholarship for some needy boy and girl living in the Gagetown area.

Any high school graduate living in the Gagetown area who graduated either from Owen-Gage or Cass City High School should contact the scholarship committee as soon as possible. The committee consists of Mrs. William Goodell, Mrs. Esther Werdeman and Mrs. James Barr.

Mrs. Art Carolan was a week-end guest of her son Mr. and Mrs. Gary Carolan of Lapeer. Sunday, they were at Michigan State University at East Lansing for parents' day. Her grandson Rick Carolan, attends MSU. Later they went to Lansing and called on her grandson Larry Waterworth.

HEALTH TIPS

Safety in the summer garden

By Frank Chappell, American Medical Association

The home gardeners are at it again.

Millions of American householders are back at the annual battle with crab grass and insects in the perennial effort to add a touch of natural color and beauty to the American scene.

The American Medical Association recommends gardening as good therapy and good exercise for almost everyone. It is ordinarily a safe and sane hobby, but gardening entails some hazards to health and safety, most of which can be avoided.

--If you have done nothing more strenuous than sit by the fire most of the winter, take it easy for the first few week ends of gardening. Give your muscles a chance to regain their strength gradually.

--Gardening often brings cuts and scratches from twigs, thorns and sharp tools. Wash the scratch with soap and water and apply an adhesive bandage. Let it bleed a little to wash out impurities. Deeper cuts require medical attention.

--Power tools, particularly power mowers, are standard equipment for the modern home gardener. They save many an aching back, but they are sometimes dangerous. Study the instructions that come with the mower and follow the safety precautions. If in doubt, ask a mechanic about hazards of power tools.

--Insect sprays and powders, plus poisons that kill weeds, are useful adjuncts to gardening. These, also, have inherent hazards if improperly or carelessly used. Once again, read the directions, especially the warnings.

--Bees, wasps, and spiders are out for the summer season, too, and now and then one of them may sting you. For most of us, a sting is painful and causes temporary swelling, but it isn't serious. If you are allergic to insect stings, ask your doctor about the desensitizing injections.

Eastern Star recognizes past matrons

Echo Chapter No. 337 Order of the Eastern Star, Cass City, met June 14 with 37 members present.

The meeting was opened by Worthy Matron Lena Teller and the order of business was conducted. It was voted to not meet in July and August.

The worthy matron announced the 55th wedding anniversary of Harold and Myrtle Murphy on this day.

Sixteen past worthy matrons and four past worthy patrons were escorted to the altar by the marshal and chaplain of Echo Chapter. The worthy matron read a tribute in appreciation to all and presented each one with a token gift of a small gavel. Then all sang together the hymn "God Will Take Care of You."

The meeting was then closed and lunch was served by Doris Evens and committee.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters

This super-active nine-year-old from Vassar needs a man to help him harness some of his energy. He's friendly, outgoing, and enjoys swimming, bike riding, reading, and all outdoor activities.

With very little chance to get out and do new things, this 10-year-old boy thinks it will be a very long summer. He'd enjoy having a man to talk to, help him fix his bike, and share his interest in outside activities. He lives in Caro.

Election ordered at Provincial

The National Labor Relations Board has ordered a new representation election to be held for employees at Provincial House in Cass City. No election date has been scheduled.

The NLRB certified the Utility Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, as bargaining agent for the employees Oct. 23, 1975. March 8, 1976, the board ruled that Provincial House had refused to bargain in good faith, in conflict with the National Labor Relations Act. It then filed an application for enforcement of its order with the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Dec. 30 of last year, the court remanded the case to the NLRB for further proceedings, ruling that improper action of a NLRB agent prior to the original representation election invalidated the results of the election.

In the rehearing, Provincial House, a statewide chain of health care facilities, contended the union should be required to show current interest prior to holding of the new election. It based its argument on extensive employee turnover, the union's alleged failure to campaign or seek recognition, and numerous changes in working conditions since the first election.

The NLRB held, however, that it is not necessary to show current interest when the original election results were set aside due to a prior objection.

A Provincial House representative couldn't say how many employees would be eligible to vote in the representation election. Scheduling of the election is up to the NLRB regional director.

Your Neighbor says

Fireworks should be banned

An emergency six-month ban on sale of large fireworks was authorized last week by Gov. William G. Milliken and Attorney General Frank J. Kelley under the state Emergency Rules Act.

Meanwhile, legislation that would ban the manufacture, sale and use of all fireworks except sparklers, caps, and some other small non-firecrackers was approved by the state House of Representatives and forwarded to the Senate.

"I think they should," Howard Haskin said of the proposed ban of fireworks. "They've had them banned so long, I don't think they should allow them." He is not opposed to continued use of sparklers and other devices that would still be allowed under the proposed new law.

A federal court ruled that a loophole in a state law made the fireworks legal, hence the action by the governor and legislature.

Haskin feels fireworks should mainly be banned because of the noise, but also cited the danger involved, especially to little children.

In his younger days, retiree didn't use fireworks being used in the where he lives but he them on a recent visit Troy, where his daughter and family live.

Retired from GMC T and Coach in Pontiac, he his wife, Martha, lives Leslie Road, Decker T have a daughter, as mentioned, and one grandchild.

Unlocked car yields purses

Two purses were stolen from a car parked outside the Charmont, reported at 2 a.m. Monday. Village police were told the car was unlocked and the purses were on the front seat.

Diana R. Geister of Marlette, owner of the car, reported her brown leather purse contained $50 in cash, a checkbook, and some personal papers. Cindy Sue McKulung, also of Marlette, reported her macrame-style purse contained a Shell Oil credit card, personal papers, and $1 in cash.

Village police early Sunday stopped a car on Main Street at Scotty McCullough Drive because it didn't have its headlights on. Inside the car was found a small bag of marijuana, a bottle of beer, and a medicine bottle which contained a red powder. The two persons inside the car were released pending analysis of the red powder by the state police crime laboratory in Bridgeport.

Nickens is charged with pushing the button for the fire alarm in Kingston three times in the early morning hours June 2. The fire alarm button is located on a utility pole on Ross Street.

Nickens was lodged overnight in the county jail. He was taken before Magistrate Joan Maki Tuesday morning, who released him on personal recognizance bond in the custody of his parents, pending arraignment in district court this coming Monday.

The charge is a misdemeanor.

By Caro board

Action begins to dismiss Sutherland

The Caro Board of Education last Wednesday took the first steps necessary to fire Supt. James C. Sutherland, who is accused of diverting more than $70,000 in school funds over the past 10 years for use by him and his family.

Sutherland, 51, has been superintendent 20 years. As the superintendent has tenure as a teacher, the board was told by its attorney, John Thomas, it could not fire him outright.

Accordingly, the board unanimously authorized the attorney to draw up formal charges against Sutherland, based on information contained in the school audit performed by the Michigan Department of Treasury.

It also authorized Thomas to begin attempts to recover money claimed in the audit to belong to the district.

Under the state tenure law, once the charges against Sutherland are filed, the board -- if requested by the superintendent -- must hold a hearing within 30-45 days. School officials doubt that Sutherland will request a hearing.

If the hearing is held, at which the board acts as a jury, he can appeal an unfavorable decision to the State Tenure Commission, which will then review the case.

Through all the proceedings, he will continue to collect his annual salary of $35,998. He has been on sick leave since early April when the investigation began. Junior high Principal Donald Kanicki has been serving as acting superintendent.

Filing of any criminal charges against Sutherland will be up to the state attorney general or the county prosecutor upon direction of the state.

Any such action won't come until after the investigation by the treasury department and state police is completed, which is expected to take a few more weeks.

The board has also directed its accounting firm to further review the district's books to look for possible financial indiscretions not found by the state auditors.

The accusations against Sutherland, as disclosed in the state audit, include the following:

--The superintendent's sons, Kevin and Dirk, were paid as summer maintenance workers while both were attending college full time. Dirk was later paid as a full-time maintenance worker while working as a substitute teacher. During 1974-77, Kevin received $23,557 while Dirk received $35,724.

--In 1976-77, the district paid $2,903 for a drawer file, drapes, shades, and floor mats, which were never delivered. The money paid for the items was not repaid by Sutherland into the school account. There are also some other instances of payment for items that were never delivered.

--In 1977, the district paid $3,587.50 for carpet for a guidance room remodeling project. Without authorization by the board and at no cost to Sutherland, some of the carpet, worth $975, was installed in his home basement.

--School-owned furniture and equipment, including typewriters, and some meat was sold by Sutherland for $3,008 with no record of the money proceeds being deposited in the school account. The first recorded incident, sale of some tables for $245, was in May, 1968.

--The superintendent had complete control over gate receipts from athletic events. Checks for purchase of some of the items sold by Sutherland were deposited as gate receipts.

--Sutherland's daughter, Pamela, was hired as a tutor, paid with federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act funds, despite federal prohibitions against nepotism.

--Other allegations included possible illegal provisions in Sutherland's contract with the school board and an all-expense paid trip ($521) for Kevin Sutherland to a Las Vegas convention not related to his job function at the school.

Industrial land

Council to air status change

A public hearing is scheduled Tuesday during the Cass City Village Council meeting on the request of the Cass City Development Corporation to have the 32 acres it owns designated as an industrial development district. The hearing will start at 7 p.m.

The property is east of Perry Road and south of the industries located along Arfield Street.

Granting of the industrial development district status will make it possible for industries locating there to receive a property tax break, thus enabling the development corporation to use that as a selling point in trying to encourage industries to locate or expand here.

Under the provisions of the state Plant Rehabilitation and Industrial Development Districts Act, a local governmental unit may establish plant rehabilitation districts and offer industrial firms certain property tax incentives to encourage restoration or replacement of obsolete industrial facilities and to attract new plants to the area.

Establishment of the district is up to the village council. Once the district is established, any firm locating there must apply for and be issued an Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificate. Granting of the certificate, and thus giving the industry a tax break, is up to the local unit of government, although subject to review by the State Tax Commission and Department of Commerce. The STC is ultimately responsible for issuing the certificate.

If a new building is being constructed, once the certificate has been granted, the firm will pay 50 percent of the property tax it otherwise would pay for 12 years. After that, its property taxes are based on the full value of the building, not half of it.

If an obsolete facility is being restored or replaced, the state equalized valuation for the first 12 years will remain the same as that assessed for the obsolete facility prior to the improvements, even though due to the improvements, the true cash value on which property taxes would otherwise be based has increased.

Insects spreading in farmers' fields

Farmers should begin checking their fields for the Essex Skipper and the armyworm. If left unchecked, these insects can create substantial economic damage to crops.

Dr. Robert F. Ruppel, Michigan State University Extension entomologist, says the insects have already been detected in two northern Michigan locations.

ESSEX SKIPPER

The larvae from the bronze-colored adult butterfly feed on grasses, particularly grass hay, and can reduce yield by as much as one ton per acre.

The green larvae are about an inch long when fully grown. They have the peculiar habit of tying grass leaf together, forming a tunnel in which they feed.

"This insect originally came from Europe and was first discovered in Detroit during 1928," says Ruppel. "It has since spread to almost every county in the state. While it feeds on grasses, it generally does most of its damage to the grass hay crop throughout northern Michigan."

In Chippewa county, Jim Hutchinson says Essex Skipper eggs have been hatching since mid-May.

Growers should be checking their fields regularly, and if six or more Essex Skipper larvae are found per square foot, insecticide should be applied.

One of the insecticides Ruppel recommends is Sevin. But if there is danger of damaging nearby honeybee colonies, he advises using Dipel, a biological insecticide not harmful to bees but deadly to Essex Skipper larvae. These controls are readily available from insecticide dealers.

When the larvae mature into the adult form, the numbers can be so great they can pose a threat to traffic. "They tend to aggregate in swarms close to the ground, smearing windshields and plugging radiators. At this stage of their life, they are looking for a place to lay eggs which will over-winter, emerging the following spring," Ruppel says.

ARMYWORM

This insect was detected near Reed City in Osceola county. Armyworms have damaged corn in that area.

"These insects have damaged crops statewide for the last three years, and while they feed primarily on small grains, they'll attack just about any crop when they become numerous and hungry enough," according to Ruppel.

Early damage by the small worms shortly after hatching is easily overlooked and often not detected until they are large and considerable damage has been done. "The bad thing about this pest is that it is hard to kill with insecticide when fully grown," he said.

Producers should check grain stands for chewed margins of leaves and small green pellets under the plants where gnawed leaves are seen. The larvae may be in the soil near the plant.

The fully grown armyworm is 1 1/2-2 inches long and is greenish to nearly black. They usually have a prominent pale stripe on each side and a thin stripe down the center of the back.

Their feeding increases tremendously as they grow larger. Their sudden appearance in the field is caused by the rapid increase in feeding by the large worms.

They may completely destroy the plant, but more commonly they leave the tough midribs and stems uneaten. They also feed on the heads of small grains and clip the stems so that the heads fall off.

Armyworm emergence and activity depend on the extent of warm weather in any given locality. There are two and sometimes three full generations per year. The worms of the first complete generation are the most damaging, usually during June and July.

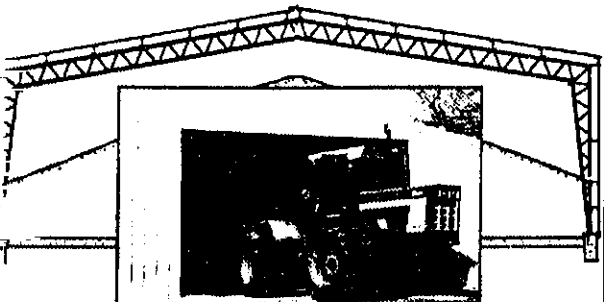

Where infestations are heavy, check with your local county Extension director or agricultural agent for recommended spray programs, Ruppel advises.

It's Summer...Protect Your Home While Away

Summertime traditionally means vacations away from home. Whether you choose to spend a long weekend or several weeks away from your home, Royal-Globe Insurance Companies remind you that certain precautions could prevent or minimize the effects of a burglary while you are away.

According to the Insurance Information Institute, a burglary occurs every 30 seconds--and homes are the burglar's favorite target. Although no home can be absolutely burglar-proofed, you can make forced entry sufficiently difficult that the thief may choose to bypass your house.

One of the first considerations should be your door locks. Saving a few dollars when shopping for locks can be expensive if a bargain lock allows the burglar easy entry. Before buying a lock, consult a reliable locksmith or a good "full service" hardware retailer. Describe the construction and location of the doors and windows to be protected, so that you purchase the locks which best suit your needs. And, don't forget to lock doors and windows before leaving--no matter how short your trip.

A security checklist prepared well before your departure could stop you from turning back when you are well on your way to your destination to lock the garage or turn off the main water valve.

There are also some measures you can take to avoid the appearance of a vacant home while you are away.

Have lawns mowed during your absence. An unkempt yard is a dead giveaway that no one is home.

Arrange to stop deliveries of mail, newspapers, milk and other items or ask a neighbor to pick these up daily.

Leave window shades in their usual position and blinds open to prevent advertising that the house is empty. Clock-timers attached to lamps which turn lights, radios or television sets on and off at specified times can give your household an occupied look. Added protection can be achieved if a neighbor or friend rearranges the timer sequence to create a different pattern for part of your absence.

Move valuables away from windows where they can be easily seen. Also, minimize valuables kept on the premises. Money and jewelry are better protected in a safe-deposit box.

Even if you're not planning to be away, there are precautions you can take to protect your home. Such as: • Store ladders in the basement or in a locked garage or otherwise lock them securely in place. Suggest to your neighbors that they do the same.

• Always carefully check references of all people you employ in your home.

• Never leave house keys under the doormat, or hidden outside the house.

Royal-Globe suggests you list the serial numbers, makes and models of small appliances, radios and television sets. Mark sports equipment and other articles without serial numbers with your social security number. Savings bonds, stocks and other valuable papers should be recorded and the list kept in a safe place. A good strategy is to keep a list of these valuables in a safe-deposit box and give a copy to your insurance agent or broker. These may help in identifying your property and aid police in catching the burglar. The lists will also help you when filing insurance claims.

Royal-Globe reminds you that you can reduce your chances of being burglarized if you take these and other security measures and cooperate with your community's law enforcement agencies.

If, in spite of all your precautions, your house appears to have been entered while you were away, use a neighbor's phone to call the police. Do not touch anything or attempt a personal investigation. That's a job for the police. Don't make the burglar's job any easier.

They said she was northbound on Seeger Street and collided with the car of Jean M. Gough, 19, of Bad Axe, who was eastbound on Main Street.

Village police cited John M. Klebba, 21, of 4181 Seeger Street after an accident at 7 10 a.m. June 14.

They said Klebba was exiting the General Cable parking lot and collided with the car of Cindy Kay Voss, 23, of Caro, who was eastbound on Garfield Street. Klebba was cited on a charge of failure to yield right of way.

Russell D. Healy, 23, of Reed Road, Cass City, was ticketed by state police from Caro on a charge of making an improper left turn, after an accident at 4:05 p.m., June 14.

Troopers said he was turning left from westbound M-81, east of Koepgen Road, into a private driveway. As he was doing so, Michael J. Pasanski, 22, of 5102 Schwegler Road, Cass City, pulled out to pass and sideswiped the Healy auto. Officers reported his turn signal was defective.

Patricia A. Thick, 25, of Gilford Road, Deford, was ticketed by sheriff's deputies on a charge of failure to stop, leaving a private driveway after a collision at 6 p.m. June 14.

Officers said she was exiting a driveway on Gilford Road, west of Dodge Road, and struck the eastbound auto of Dr. Edward C. Scollon, 42, of 4849 N. Seeger Street, Cass City.

Sheriff's deputies investigated.

Wilma Gettel of 5556 Severance Road, Deford, told village police at 4:30 p.m. last Thursday that while her car was parked at Karen's Beauty Shop, 6350 Garfield Street, a hit and run vehicle put a dent in a door.

John G. Leduc, 20, of Toledo, told village police he turned the corner too sharply as he turned right from eastbound Main Street onto Seeger Street and his truck knocked down a crosswalk sign. The incident took place at 5:20 p.m. Monday.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

A too-wide piece of farm equipment resulted in an accident Friday at 7:30 p.m. Deputies reported David W. Parrott, 31, of 4870 Kingston Road, Kingston, was towing the cultipacker on a trailer, the implement overhanging the sides of the trailer.

When he rounded a curve on Kingston Road as he was headed north, south of Centerline Road, the overhanging implement was over the center line and struck a southbound car. Driver of the car was April M. Ahern, 18, of Clifford.

Saturday, according to deputies, Eleanor G. Powell, 22, of Rt 3 Deckerville Road, Cass City, was westbound on James Road, west of Plain Road, looking for a lost horse. As she turned to look into a field, the car swerved off the north side of the road, and sideswiped a tree. Her husband was in the car, deputies said, yelled at her, she became excited and backed into a tree.

Timothy A. McCreedy, 17, of Unionville, was westbound on River Road, west of Cemetery Road, when he failed to make a curve and his vehicle hit a stump on the south side of the road. Sheriff's deputies investigated the accident, which was at 2 15 a.m. Sunday.

Cass City police reported at 8 50 p.m. Sunday, that Janet E. Zawilinski, 25, of Essexville, was westbound on Main Street when her accelerator stuck. She swerved north onto Brooker Street and hit the parked car of Louis Nemeth of 6305 Main Street.

Jeanne M. Browning, 29, of Phillips Road, Kingston, was westbound on Legg Road, east of Phillips Road, at 9:45 p.m. last Thursday when her car struck a deer.

Distinguished teacher award

Former resident cited for work

Prof. Vernon D. Churchill has received Monmouth College's 1978 Distinguished Teacher Award. The award, established in 1975, honors classroom performance, dedication to students and their interests, and participation in professional activities.

The college is located in West Long Branch, N.J.

Vernon Churchill

Churchill is a 1955 graduate of Cass City High School, the son of Mrs. Phyllis Churchill of Deford and the late Kenneth Churchill.

His wife, Gail, is a 1957 graduate of Cass City High School and a 1976 graduate of Monmouth. She is the daughter of Mrs. Nellie Gregg of Snover and the late Howard Gregg.

The couple has two children, Karin and Kevin, both attending the Ocean Township (N.J.) schools.

Churchill, who joined the Monmouth faculty in 1964, conducts classes in botany and horticulture. The college greenhouse is his special domain, the place where, more than in the formal confines of the classroom, he is able to have the close, individual working relationship with students that he believes teaching is all about.

"I feel I communicate better with students when we work side by side, and tackle a project or share some new bit of knowledge together," he said.

This shared sense of adventure is at the basis of the popular environmental and ecological field studies the professor has developed for several of Monmouth's summer sessions and winter intersessions, which entail rugged treks through parks and nature preserves, many times in inclement weather. One winter course was so well subscribed it had to be divided into morning and afternoon sections.

Mrs. Churchill shares her husband's interest in the outdoors and often accompanies his classes on their field trips.

Churchill learned to appreciate the outdoors as a farm boy in Michigan. He earned both his bachelor's and master's degrees at Central Michigan University and after teaching biology and science in the public schools of Midland and Romulus, accepted an invitation to join the faculty at Monmouth.

It was Dr. Leonard Spiegel, his biology professor at Central Michigan and now biology department chairman at Monmouth, who suggested him as a candidate for the Monmouth post.

He has served on many college committees, including the Educational Policy and Planning Committee and Trustee Scholarship Committee.

He is currently enrolled at Rutgers University in a doctoral program in plant pathology and his studies have forced him to curtail his outside activities, retaining only his longtime association as a laboratory and field worker for the Monmouth County Mosquito Commission.

He worked with the Cub Scouting program in his community for several years, served on both the environmental and shade tree commissions in Ocean township, and was on the advisory board for development of Deal Test Site, where, under his direction, Monmouth students helped construct a nature trail.

The college several years ago awarded the professor a grant-in-aid to conduct an ecological survey of Whale Pond Brook which bounds Ocean township and a portion of the college property.

WATER BALL CONTEST--The object was to use water pressure to squirt the ball toward your opponent and keep it there. Doing it best during Gagetown Days Saturday was the Kinde Fire Department, which is the current state champion. The Owendale department was second and the Gagetown department, which sponsored the festival, third.

FIRE FIGHTERS--The Owendale Fire Department showed off its modern trucks during the Gagetown Days parade, but if modern technology fails, the firemen also have this piece of equipment.

Deford woman arraigned on marijuana charges

Patricia Gail Grice of Deford stood mute before Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements Friday to two charges of manufacturing, delivery, or possession of marijuana.

The judge entered pleas of innocent to both charges and scheduled a pretrial hearing July 31. Bond of $300 on each charge was continued.

Mrs. Grice, 35, is charged in one count with giving a marijuana cigarette to a Lapeer County Intelligence Unit agent in her home on Bruce Street, Deford, March 15. The agent was working with the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department.

On the second count, she is charged with selling a small bag of marijuana to the same agent in a Cass City bar March 17.

Also Friday, Kenneth H. Diener, 18, of 3670 Pine Street, Akron, was sentenced to 270 days in the county jail for violation of probation. He was credited with 51 days. His probation was revoked.

He was placed on three years' probation Sept. 12, 1977, for attempted breaking and entering. The probation violation was for his having associated with someone whom he was not supposed to associate with under terms of his probation.

Fall tour set to Washington

Washington, D.C., will be the high point of the Area 14 Extension Homemakers Council's fall tour.

The Area 14 Extension Homemakers for: Sanilac, Tuscola and Huron counties have scheduled a citizenship tour Sept. 17-24. The tour is open to all people from the tri-county area.

The trip by bus will spotlight Capitol Hill, Mt. Vernon, Arlington cemetery, Museum of Air and Space Technology along with heritage stops at the National Art Gallery, National Cathedral, and a side trip to Gettysburg. The tour group will be staying at the 4-H Center. The cost is $285, which includes all bus transportation, lodging, and all meals except four lunches in Washington.

Reservations with a $100 deposit must be in by July 20. The tour needs to have 39 participants in order to go for the low price that is offered.

For more information, call Charlene Richter, tour chairman, at 517-635-2109 or your county extension office.

Lung group nets $8,509 in Tuscola

"The people of Tuscola county gave $8,509 to the Michigan Lung Association this year in its educational efforts to prevent and control lung disease," according to Alma Galsterer, PhD, MLA's Saginaw Valley Regional Board president.

The organization, now celebrating its 70th year of service, experienced a 4.3 percent increase in its statewide fund-raising efforts.

The tally includes Christmas Seal contributions, special event dollars (walk-a-thons, bowling events, etc.), and monies from other sources, such as memorial gifts and bequests, which were raised prior to April 1.

Dr. Galsterer said that Christmas Seal contributions from the public are still the major source of income for local lung association programs such as breathing clubs, smoking cessation programs, nonsmokers' rights programs, scientific seminars, medical fellowships, and air conservation programs.

Jury favors defendants in long trial

An eight-day trial in Tuscola County Circuit Court ended Saturday with the jury finding in favor of the defendants, the owner of Kingston Farm Service and a Gratiot county doctor.

The defendants were Richard E. Walker, sued individually and as owner of the elevator, and Dr. John F. Williamson, M.D.

The plaintiffs were Renold L. Beals Jr. and his wife Joyce, of Gratiot county.

Beals was hired by Walker to do some machinery repairs at the State Street elevator Jan. 18, 1974. He was walking across a roof to get to a ladder leading to the headhouse at the top of the elevator, where he had to do some of the repairs, when he slipped on ice and fell from the roof to the ground.

He sued Walker for improper safety maintenance and failure to install certain safety devices. The victim was treated by Williamson at the hospital in Alm following the mishap. The doctor was sued for alleged failure to exercise proper care.

The initial suit, against Walker only, was filed Feb. 19, 1975, and sought damages of up to $250,000 for Beals and up to $75,000 for his wife, plus interest and costs.

Williamson was added as a defendant about a year later. He was sued for damages of up to $975,000 for Beals and $275,000 for his wife, plus interest and costs.

The trial before Judge Martin E. Clements started Tuesday, June 6, and ran through Friday of that week then continued Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday of last week. The jury's finding was no cause for action against either Walker or Williamson.

Even your friends have little time to worry on your account.

Bill bans sawed-off shotguns

Use of sawed-off shotguns and rifles would be prohibited under a bill recently passed by the Michigan House. Persons convicted of manufacturing, selling or concealing a sawed-off weapon could be sentenced to as much as five years in prison and/or fined $2,500.

The weapons, made literally by sawing down a shotgun or rifle barrel, are considered extremely deadly by law enforcement officers. The weapons are allegedly popular with members of organized crime.

The license requirement meant a health department sanitarian would inspect the kitchen prior to the meal and give advice on proper food preparation and dishwashing procedures.

The licenses are free to non-profit organizations. Places that serve five or more meals a year can get an annual license. The kitchen is then inspected twice a year.

Prohibited was the preparation of food for such events at home, as it could spoil by the time it was brought to the place to be served.

A check by the Chronicle in January of sanitarians for the three health departments in the Thumb found none could recall an instance where an organization couldn't hold a potluck fund raiser because of inability to comply with the rules.

However, due to an uproar that began in Ionia county, reportedly beginning when the wife of a state representative there couldn't take a pie she baked to a potluck fund raiser, the legislature passed amendments to the 1968 law.

Edward Kimbrue, chief sanitarian for the Thumb District Health Department (Tuscola and Lapeer counties) received an interpretation of the new law last week from the Michigan Department of Public Health.

The main change, Kimbrue said, is that it is no longer illegal for home-prepared food to be sold at a potluck supper.

However, if any part of the meal is prepared on the premises, the kitchen there must still be licensed and inspected in accordance with the old rules. That doesn't prohibit some of the food being prepared in home kitchens.

The provision applies to non-profit organizations only.

Even if an organization doesn't need a license because all foods will be prepared in private homes, Kimbrue still suggested organizers consult with his department.

The sanitarians can give guidance on what to serve and not serve at meals. For instance, cream pies and turkey dressing can easily spoil so should not be prepared in home kitchens to be served elsewhere.

He also pointed out that anyone who feels conditions are unsanitary at a charity potluck can complain to his department.

Research indicates

Traffic patterns affect crops

A special project has been developed in Tuscola county to study the effect of controlled traffic on emergence, growth and yield of navy beans, according to Tuscola County Extension Director Bill Bortel.

The project resulted from Michigan Farm Expo '77, with the advisory committee voting to use the balance of expo funds for agriculture research in Tuscola county. The project is under the coordination of Don Keblor, county extension agricultural agent; Phil Brimhall, Michigan Sugar Company agronomist; Jerry Lemunyon, Soil Conservation Service district conservationist, and Don Christenson of Michigan State University.

Research has shown that traffic patterns from secondary tillage operations influence soil structure (compaction), root growth and yield of crops.

It is also known that tractor tracks cause the bulk of the compaction and that the majority of the compaction is caused by the first pass across the field. Successive passes in the same track cause little additional compaction. Secondary tillage creates a tillage sole which is difficult for roots to penetrate. Minimizing the number of passes with secondary tillage tools reduces the severity of the problem.

With these known facts a research - demonstration project was initiated on the Leonard Russell and Sons farm near Akron.

The purpose of this controlled wheel track tillage is to determine the effects of tractor wheel compaction compared to less compacted areas parallel to the tractor tracks.

The procedure followed is as follows: The alfalfa field was plowed May 11. The plot area was worked once with a field cultivator on 30 foot strips center to center of the tractor. A second area wasn't fitted at all. The remainder of the field was fitted in the conventional multi-directional way.

June 1, Eptam plus Treflan was applied, incorporated and the Navy beans planted.

There are now eight rows of beans planted where there are no post plowing tractor wheel tracks and four rows where tractor wheels have traveled four times per 12-row strips. The plot area has three half-mile strips. The non-fitted strips have three tractor and equipment passes in the same tracks made at the time of applying and incorporating the herbicide and bean planting.

This research plot is located a quarter-mile west of the corner of Colling and Darbee Roads across the road from the Leonard Russell home.

Kelley still fights Blues' rate jumps

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley has gone to bat for the consumers again, this time declaring that a scheduled rate increase for about 20 percent of the subscribers for Blue Cross-Blue Shield should be cancelled or scaled down.

Kelley said he wants to challenge the rate hike at a hearing before Insurance Commissioner Thomas Jones. A hearing has not yet been scheduled.

The proposed higher rates, amounting to a total of about $31 million, are scheduled to become effective July 1 if approved by Jones. The Insurance Bureau, Department of Commerce, has recommended approval.

Kelley said the entire Blues rate structure should be subject to a full review by the commissioner.

"It is clear that these rates could have an enormous impact on the economic well-being of this state. I consider it imperative that a matter of such importance to the subscribers and the general economic welfare of the state be carefully considered in an evidentiary hearing requiring cross-examination of witnesses," Kelley said.

He added his office will review the financial data and cross-examine company and staff witnesses on the reasonableness and necessity of the rate hike.

Incumbent has advantage in election campaigning

The advantage of being an incumbent in the Legislature is becoming more and more evident with the number of bills being rushed through the process prior to the election.

Numerous proposals are winning approval in one house to give incumbent legislators a quick record on which to mount a campaign.

For example, U.S. Senate candidate Rep. Paul Rosenbaum (D-Battle Creek), running on a record of law and order, has been pushing hard for bills strengthening penalties on large drug dealers, the advent of wiretaps on drug-related investigations and the removal of the right to bail for repeat offenders.

Numerous legislators are tying themselves to the role of protector of the elector's pocketbook with a renewed push for less taxes.

The House Taxation Committee recently voted out one constitutional amendment and two separate pieces of legislation permitting local districts to trade property taxes on residential and some other property for income taxes.

This idea is getting much voter appeal and the issues are available for incumbent legislators to take back to their districts to show their people what they are doing in the all important taxation area.

Sen. Patrick McCollough (D-Deerborn), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, has been pumping out of his committee numerous tax relief bills which look great on paper, but have no chance of clearing the Legislature this year and may not be affordable by the state.

Incidentally, McCollough before agreeing to take over the chairmanship of his committee demanded the committee be renamed Finance instead of Taxation to eliminate any bad connotation with his chairmanship.

Another crime fighter is Sen. Daniel Cooper (D-Oak Park) who won Senate approval of two bills appropriating $50 million for local units of government for increased lighting and police patrols in high crime areas.

Another good mark on which to campaign in a district where formidable opposition is appearing.

Sen. John Hertel (D-Harper Woods), whose district has a great number of senior citizens, is campaigning with legislation to prohibit public utilities from advertising anything but for safety explanations or the mechanics of doing business with the utility.

Hertel's bill, which is being pushed out of his own committee on energy, will naturally appeal to senior citizens who can easily be convinced such ads do nothing but increase their utility rates cutting deeply into their fixed incomes.

of election promises which will never see future action after the November general election date.

PERMANENT PROGRAM FOR HOME HEATING ASSISTANCE

A permanent program of tax credits for home heating has been approved by a House committee.

The $51 million program, reducing the income tax load for low income persons with high heating bills compared to income, would replace the annual direct subsidy to elderly, low income persons for heating cost. That program, now in its second year, is budgeted at $38 million.

Vines save money for homeowners

Ivy and vines are nature's insulators. Planted on masonry walls, or on trellises or arbors adjacent to wooden walls, they help block out hot summer sun and keep buildings cooler on the inside.

A convection current also develops behind the cool green leaves that draws warm air away from the wall.

In winter, ivies and vines planted on the windward sides of a building help block out chilling winds and serve as insulation to keep heat in and cold air out.

The wide variety of ivies and vines not only keeps surroundings refreshingly green but, the American Association of Nurserymen says, they help save money on utility bills.

Reese wins title

8 teams battle in softball tourney

Eight teams battled it out in a double elimination fast pitch tournament Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Cass City Recreational Park, and Reese dominated the games to take home the championship without suffering a loss.

Charmont of Cass City, the host team, won one and lost two to be eliminated on Saturday.

Charmont lost to West Bay Honda, 5-1, in its opening game as Gordy Berg baffled the Charmont stickers with his rising fast ball.

After slipping by Heck's Bar, 5-2, in the first game Saturday afternoon, Charmont was eliminated by Made Rite which nipped the locals, 2-1, behind the pitching of Jerry Goodman. Craig Helwig took the loss.

Meanwhile, another entry from the Thumb Traveling League was passing every test with flying colors.

The Reese team opened with a 6-4 decision over Heck's Bar. Russ Ackerman pitched the win.

The next victim of the champions was Honda, which fell 7-6. Reese built up an early lead and then withstood a last inning challenge by Honda when the tying and winning runs were on base.

Reese assured itself of a place in the finals with a 4-1 decision over BAT. Neither team had been defeated prior to the game. Reese went ahead in the fourth inning with a three-run rally and that was enough as Russ Ackerman pitched another strong game.

In the championship game Don McGill pitched a strong game when he hurled Reese to a 3-0 shutout victory over Hall's. Bill Weber took the loss.

Most valuable player of the tourney was Matt Djik of Reese. Most valuable pitcher was Hugh Harris of Hall's.

Teams participating in the tournament included: Charmont, Reese, Heck's Bar, Bay City, West Bay Honda, Bay City, Hall's Heating, Flint, Made Rite, Bay City, Coca-Cola, Port Huron, BAT, Port Huron.

DOUBLE--Laurie Andrakowicz had one of two hits for Owen-Gage Saturday, hitting this double in the second inning. Barb Wright had the other, a single in the fourth, though on an error. Laingsburg won, 15-2, then beat Central Lake 6-2, for the state championship and a perfect 19-0 season. (Dave Burrows photo)

Girls lose in semi-finals

Banner year ends for Bulldogs

Owendale - Gagetown's hopes for a state softball crown ended Saturday in Ionia with a loss in the semi-finals to eventual state champion Laingsburg, 15-2.

The Lansing area school later took the state Class D title with a 6-1 win over Central Lake. That school, located south of Charlevoix, won the other semi-final game Saturday, 5-3, over Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard.

The loss was the only one of the season for the Bulldogs, who finished 16-1. Despite the loss, coach Judy Campbell described the season as "super," joking, "Maybe I should retire." Her team won the North Central D League title for the third straight year, the eight-team Unionville-Sebewaing invitational, and in making its way to the state tournament, the district and regional crowns.

Owen-Gage stayed close the first five innings against Laingsburg, with the Wolfpack scoring first with two runs in the first inning.

In the second, Bulldog Laurie Andrakowicz led off with a double. Barb Wright got on base with a walk. Andrakowicz, in stealing home on a wild pitch, knocked down Wolfpack pitcher Robbin Sawyer, who was covering home plate, allowing Wright to also score.

Laingsburg scored two more runs in the fifth, then exploded in the sixth with seven runs. With the opponents "wham, banging us" in the inning, Campbell said, "The girls got nervous and fell apart."

Her team made 10 errors in the game, most of them in the sixth and seventh innings. The Wolfpack added four more runs in the final inning.

Dawn Erickson was the losing pitcher, finishing with a 15-1 mark for her senior year. She faced 31 batters before going out in the sixth inning, giving up nine runs, nine hits, seven walks, and striking out one.

Becky Howard was on the mound next, facing eight batters, giving up six runs, one hit and four walks. Barb Wright finished the game, facing four batters and giving up one run.

Robbin Sawyer, the winning pitcher, gave up two hits to Owen-Gage, then went on to the championship game, giving up only one hit to Central Lake. She went the distance in both games, finishing the season with a 17-6 mark.

Saturday's game was the final for three Owen-Gage seniors who have played all three years the school has had a softball team. Erickson will be attending Central Michigan in the fall and Mary Lenhard and Mary Good are both going to Saginaw Valley State College.

The loss didn't dampen any of the team members' enthusiasm. On the way back to Owendale, according to their coach, they were talking about participating in a summer softball league in order to prepare for next year.

Races in Church League beginning to take shape

The race in the American division of the Church Softball League promises to go to the wire before a winner is declared while the Baptists in the National division appear to have a dominant team.

Missionary kept a share of the top spot in the American division with a 24-13 win over the Methodists.

Roger Root pitched the win and Doug O'Dell took the loss. Jim Brown rapped three hits for the winners while Dave Lovejoy and Larry Robinson rapped three safeties each for the Methodists.

Tuesday, June 13, the Colwood Cubs topped the winless Colwood Lions, 13-3. Dave Smith pitched the win and Keith O'Dell took the loss. Mike Palmer and Dwayne Smith cracked two hits each for the winners.

In the nightcap Tuesday, the Lutherans outlasted Deford Blue, 13-11. Ken Martin Jr. won over Alvin McKee. Rev. James Van Dellen, Ken Martin and Ken Martin Jr. showed the way with a pair of hits each. Ben Babich collected two hits for the losers.

Church of Christ, which is challenging the Baptists in the National division kept the pressure on the division leaders with an 11-6 decision over Missionary.

Rich Lowe pitched the win for Church of Christ and Paul Harmer took the loss for Missionary. Collecting two hits for the winners were

Skip Speirs, Gary Warju, Tim Knoblott and Al Pratt.

Monday night Shabbona took the measure of Deford Reds, 6-4. Les Severance outduled Louis Tibbitts for the win.

Roy Sefton and Dale Auslander collected two hits for Shabbona and Taylor collected a pair for Deford.

In another Monday night game the Lutherans evened their record at 2-2 with an 11-5 win over the Methodists.

Ken Martin Jr. got the win and Earnest Sloutenburg took the loss.

John Hacker rapped three hits for the Lutherans. Ron Nurnberger and Clarke Haire had two hits each. Haire and Ken Martin Jr. hit inside the park homers.

For the Methodists, Todd Alexander had three hits and Tim Johnson and Henry Cooklin two hits each. One of Cooklin's hits was an inside the park homer.

These were the only games reported for the week.

Unionville falls twice to Cass City

Cass City's entry in the Thumb Baseball League won two games last week, defeating Unionville in a double header Sunday in Cass City.

The first game was won 11-1 behind Earny Stoutenburgh. The Cass City High School junior struck out 11 while pitching a three-hitter. Gary Warju rapped a triple and single in three tries and Dean Severance added a double in two tries to lead the winners at the plate.

The second game was much closer as Cass City won, 6-5.

Roy Hull nipped Roger Ziehm. Hull struck out 12 and allowed three hits.

Cass City had to rally to win. Trailing by a run, Cass City scored twice on Severance's single to win. Warju added a double in two tries with a triple in addition to his single were the leading hitters.

Osentoski posts 2 softball wins

Osentoski Auctioneers won a pair of games in the SanCass League last week with victories over Yale Thursday and Snover Friday at Sandusky.

Gary Mellendorf was supported with a 21-hit attack as the Auctioneers topped Yale Rubber, 12-8, Thursday. Joe Haupt took the loss.

Leading the parade of batters for Cass City were Ron Ouvry and Danny Ulfing with four hits in five tries.

Ouvry showed outstanding power with three home runs and a triple. Jack Hillaker and Marty Zawilinski picked up three hits each while Ed Lowe, Kim Copeland and Bernie Babich slapped two hits each.

Mellendorf was forced to pitch over five errors to record the win. He allowed six hits.

Friday's game was a much better contest. Osentoski broke open a close, 1-1, game in the sixth with a three-run rally.

Ed Lowe and Ulfing both singled. Ouvry tripled to score them and Kim Copeland's sacrifice scored Ouvry.

Single runs were scored in the first and seventh. Babich singled and rode home on Jack Hillaker's triple in the first. Louie Salas singled, stole second, went to third on an error and scored on a sacrifice by Marty Zawilinski.

Osentoski netted nine hits and Snover was held to three.

Students receive certificates in fitness tests

Freshmen and sophomores at Cass City High School scoring in the 50th percentile or higher on the Presidential physical fitness testing program completed this spring were presented with certificates June 13.

Those scoring in the 50th percentile or higher in each event received a certificate; those in the 85th percentile or higher also got a patch.

The percentile bracket for awards is based on a national average for all boys 4-16 years old. The 50th percentile bracket, for instance, means a score better than half those taking the test.

Sophomores getting the "super award" for scoring in the 85th percentile or higher were: Steve Richards, Max Morrish and Jim Icol.

The remaining sophomores placed at the 50th percentile or higher: Mark

Freshmen boys scoring at the 50th percentile or higher were: Mark Dolecki, Dan Dickinson, Mike Loomis, Tim Sontag, Doug Sowden, Bob Sawdon, Phil Gabler, Ray Kloc, Randy Severance, Curtis Wynn, Howard Sherman, Brian deBeaubien, Dave Palazzola and Todd Comment.

The following events make up the presidential physical fitness program: 50-yard dash, 600-yard run, shuttle run (four 30-foot sprints), sit ups (2 minutes), pull ups, and standing long jump.

The program at the high school is under the direction of Ron Nurnberger.
