

THE LONG AWAITED start of the addition to Hills and Dales General hospital started Friday when Board Chairman Jim Bauer turned the first shovel of dirt. An estimated 100 who helped with the fund campaign were present.

Seated at the controls of the big tractor is M. B. Auten, a hospital stalwart since the first campaign. Others are: Mrs. Doris Fritz, board member; Janet Hubbard, RN, ER charge nurse; Bauer; Dr. H.P. Schwartz; Gerald Priesskorn, board member; Phil Keating, board member, and Ken Jensen, hospital administrator.

Ground broken Friday

Delays skyrocket cost of hospital construction

Groundbreaking took place Friday morning for the long-delayed ambulatory care center at Hills and Dales General Hospital, plus renovation of some areas of the present hospital. As a result of the delay, the addition has added at least $60,000 to the cost of the project. And because the ambulatory care facility is the first of its kind in Michigan, according to hospital Administrator Ken Jensen, the hospital is now engaged in a battle with the state Department of Public Health over how it will be licensed. The outcome could also affect the cost. The free-standing building, connected to the hospital by a corridor, will house an additional emergency room, out-patient surgery room and waiting room. Its use, he explained, will allow many operations to be performed on an out-patient basis, instead of requiring patients to stay in the hospital. That will mean reduced costs for the patient and insurance companies. The building should be done in four to six months, after which work will start on renovations inside the hospital. The total project is scheduled to be completed in February, 1980. The original timetable called for construction to start in November, 1977 and be finished by May, 1979. WHEN PLANS WERE first announced in March, 1976, the outpatient building was estimated to cost $125,000 and renovations, another $100,000. By June, changes had escalated the cost for the building to $310,360,000 and renovations at $210,000. The public fund drive to raise $500,000 for the project began in October, 1976. In March, 1977, the total project cost had climbed to an estimated $750,000 due to changes by the hospital board and state and federal requirements. In January of this year, the hospital board decided to air condition all patient care areas and relocated existing air conditioning equipment in the existing building, adding $147,000 to the cost. State and federal regulations required adding a new and larger emergency generator, which was another $35,400. The rest of the increase was attributed to inflation, making the new cost estimate $1 million. Meanwhile continued bureaucratic delays by the state and federal agencies that had to approve the project meant inflation was adding to the cost. The hospital board was finally able to authorize advertising for construction bids on June 27, which were opened a month later and awarded on Aug. 3. The bids were awarded to: Spence Brothers, Saginaw, general contractor, $770,100; Devaney, Flint, mechanical contractor, $334,542; and Current Electric, Harbor Beach, electrical contractor, $152,000. The total is $1,256,642, which includes all equipment except $15,200,000 of miscellaneous items. The last estimate the hospital had received was $1,060,000, so Jensen figures the delays cost an extra $200,000 due to inflation in building costs. BORROWING THE EXTRA money will be no problem, according to the hospital administrator, as the hospital has an open letter of credit with the National Bank of Detroit, which is loaning it the needed funds. Of the total, $500,000 will come from the public fund drive; however, only $222,800 of that amount has been collected so far; the rest is in pledges. That plus accumulated hospital earnings total $362,800, which will be spent first. After that, the hospital starts borrowing on its letter of credit from the bank. The faster the pledges come in and begin collecting interest, the less money Hills and Dales will have to borrow. Thus, the exact amount borrowed won't be known until construction is completed. Then Jensen sits down with bank officials and they figure out a repayment schedule. It will probably take 25-30 years to repay the loan, he said. A critical question yet to be resolved is how the new facility will be licensed. THE CONCEPT OF A hospital facility exclusively to provide out-patient treatment is a new one in Michigan, Jensen explained. The problem is the Michigan Department of Public Health doesn't have regulations for licensing such facilities; it only has them for hospitals and that would be much more expensive. The outpatient building is being built separately from the hospital, the only connection being a corridor. Please turn to page 14

Labor strife still a problem for school board

Although the Tri-County Bargaining Association and the Cass City School district have a contract for the next two years, labor problems persist in the district, it was revealed at the regular meeting of the board Monday at the high school. Facing the administration is an impasse in negotiations with the Operating Engineers, the union that represents bus drivers, custodians and cooks. The union has requested a mediator to review the bargaining. According to Supt. Donald Crouse, the bargainers are far apart. The union's request and the district's offer for increases now are:

	Union	District
Bus drivers	13.8%	6.9%
Custodians	15.5%	5.8%
Cooks	13.0%	6.0%

Crouse said that bargaining has indicated that an offer of an 8 percent increase would still leave the two sides far from agreement. The union employees have been working without a contract since June 30. The CCEA filed a grievance with the board concerning payment of insurance. The teachers feel that the difference between the amount paid for insurance on the previous year's contract and the new contract for the month of June. After reading the pertinent contract language the board voted 6-0 to deny the request. At issue is a total of about $2,000, or about $40 per teacher that requires full family coverage. According to the new contract with the Tri-County Bargaining Association, the union has the right to seek binding arbitration. Leo Gengler, speaking for the teachers, said that it was the understanding of all the teachers that the new payment would include full coverage for June. Besides the unions' disputes, other salary questions were on the board's lengthy Monday docket. Most were quickly settled at rates suggested by the superintendent. Crossing guards will receive $9.20 a day, up from $8.50. The crossing supervisor will receive $12.70 a day, up from $11.75. Students working in the cafeteria will receive a boost to $1.85 an hour, plus a meal and pupils working 1 2/3 hours will receive $3.30, up from $3.00, plus a meal. Student custodial help will be increased 20 cents an hour to $2.45. The board also authorized the hiring of secretarial help for the new Community School program. Payment will be $3.80 an hour because the work requires four days of afternoon and evening work. A request has been made to secure CETA funds for the position but there is no assurance that it will be available, Crouse explained.

Ugly school millage ok'd

Officials in the Ugly School District breathed a sigh of relief Monday, following approval by voters of three mills for operations. The millage, a renewal, was approved 384-318, with two ballots spoiled. The same measure was defeated 250-228 in June, thus necessitating the second election Monday.

BIDS OPENED

Bids were opened for the sale of surplus school property and for vendors supplying various school services and supplies. Three buses were sold to high bidders. A 1970 Ford went to Dixie Baptist Church for $659. A 1970 Dodge brought $247.99 from Zkipinski Garage, Ubyly, and a 1970 Chevrolet was sold for $726 to Eugene Bock. Thirty used bus tires were sold. Eleven went to Roy Powell at varying prices. Goodyear Farm Tire Center bought the remainder for $14.00 each. Milk will be furnished by London Farm Dairy for .1049 per half pint, the lower of two bids.

Only one bid was received for repairing the roof of Campbell Elementary School building. The bid was $2,200 and was awarded to Thomas Roofing.

Fleet insurance for the school buses was awarded to State Farm, the lowest of 4 bidders at $5,381.63.

HASSLE CONTINUES

The question causing the most discussion and taking the most time Monday was setting a policy for payment of meals and lodging for students travelling on school related functions. The question is how much should the school pay. In the past, the school has paid for athletes attending State meets and events that require overnight lodging. There has been no meal money for the band.

The number in the band poses the problem. Furnishing meals for 100-plus for a day could be as much as $1,000.

A motion by Dr. Ed Scolon to pay nothing for meals was defeated 1-5. A motion by J.D. Tuckey to table the issue for the second straight month passed without dissent.

It's almost sure that the issue will be on the September agenda.

Board okays adult education program

The Cass City School Board voted tentative approval of an adult high school completion program Monday at its regular meeting at Cass City High School. The board voted after listening to a review of the program by new Community School Director Kathleen O'Donnell.

The completion program is the first phase of a community education program that Ms. O'Donnell is preparing.

The program is made possible because of Federal funding. Discussion revealed that if as few as 16 students register to complete high school education, Federal money will pay the cost of the program.

O'Donnell stressed to the board that this phase of the program is without charge to students in the district. According to present plans, the high school completion course will start Sept. 18 and classes will be held four nights weekly. Adult enrichment programs will be offered after the completion program is running. The new program discussion was just one item on the busiest docket of the year for the board.

Several actions concerning teachers were completed. The resignation of nine teachers was approved. Recent resignations include Robert Berridge, Terrilyn Krueger and Nanette Bauer. Others who announced earlier include: Dave Lovejoy, Connie McArthur, Dan Derfny, Cheryl LaBean, Elizabeth Bradley and Jane Smith.

New teachers signed and the classes they will teach include: James Hobbs, vocal music; David Workun, math; Laure Mieskowski, high school remedial reading; Michael Gogola, sixth grade; Richard Cooper, Intermediate English and math; Mary Jo Mantey, Evergreen 4th and 5th grades; Barbara Kilmer, Evergreen 3rd and 4th grades; Linda Rose, Evergreen 2nd and 3rd grades; Thomas Clair, instrumental and vocal music; Charlene Kopf, elementary librarian.

TAX LEVY

The tax rate is up slightly for the 1978-79 school year because of a slight increase in debt millage. Last year, according to a formula, the district paid a total of 9 of a mill for debt retirement. This year the levy is 12, that's an increase of 30 cents per $1,000 of state equalized valuation.

OTHER BUSINESS

The board was to have interviewed five candidates Tuesday night for the vacant Deford principal's post. The board also must decide how much to pay the person hired to replace Dave Lovejoy.

There was some discussion about a sharp reduction in the salary for the new principal. Supt. Crouse pointed out that a reduction could keep the person the board selects from accepting the post.

Bill Zimba appeared before the board to repeat that he felt he deserved more than 15 cents per mile for transporting his daughter to the Flint school for the deaf. Approval was granted the Mulrath family to transfer students from the Evergreen school to the Campbell school.

Owen-Gage teachers without contract as talks continue

With the start of school only a few weeks away, Wendale-Gagetown teachers not only don't have a contract for the upcoming school year, they still don't have one for the past school year. School Board President Donald Good said after Monday night's school board meeting that nothing was solved at the negotiating session last week. At the session were three teachers - Manuel Thies, Ron Rinke and Harvey Ty - and three board members, Good, Leona Lave and Jack Brinkman. Good said he suggested at session that the contract be submitted to binding fact-finding, but teachers made no reaction to the proposal. As of Monday, no further negotiating sessions had been scheduled. Teachers worked the past school year without a contract. The chief negotiator for the teachers, Warren Bailey, the Michigan Education Association area representative in Clare, told the Chronicle he is opposed to binding fact-finding. The next step, he said, will be another negotiating meeting with him, Supt. Ronald Erickson, and the state mediator, Gordon Lee, which he hoped to have next week. "Where there's life, there's hope," he said of the possibility of reaching agreement, indicating the main issue keeping the two sides apart is money. Asked if he was optimistic about reaching a settlement, he responded, "No". If an agreement is not reached by the start of school, "withholding of services" is a definite possibility, according to Bailey. He could recommend such action, but teachers will have to vote whether to strike.

DEBT LEVY

Members of the press at the meeting were handed a copy of an opinion, dated June 23, by state Attorney General Frank J. Kelley on the payment of school debt and operational levies once a property has been transferred to another district. A parcel transferred to another district, Kelley said, remains part of the original district "for the purpose of levying debt retirement taxes for bonded indebtedness." The same holds true if the parcel is transferred from an intermediate school district where a debt levy exists to another intermediate district. Regarding levying of operational millage, Kelley said in citing the state school code that if the property is transferred prior to Sept. 1, the operational levy for the year is levied by the receiving district. If the territory is transferred after Sept. 1, "school operational levy millage for that year shall be levied on property in the territory by the school district from which the territory is detached." Regarding payment of the debt levy for the Owen-Gage high school addition now under construction, Good interpreted Kelley's opinion to mean, "Those that voted on it (the high school bond election) are going to pay for it." He and Board member Jack Laurie felt the state law, as interpreted by Kelley, would supersede any agreement that might have been reached with dissident property owners seeking to transfer from the district. In November, 1976, the board approved an agreement to exempt certain property owners in the Goslin, Voelker and Belk parcels from paying the debt levy, in turn for which the dissidents agreed not to bring any further legal action against the high school bond issue.

Whether the agreement applied only to property owned by Keith Goslin, Ken Voelker and James Belk or to all those who brought legal action against the issue has yet to be resolved.

PERSONNEL

Accepted were the resignations of Michael Fischer, and Jeri Blough who have accepted teaching positions in other districts. Fischer taught high school English for less than a year; Miss Blough was music teacher for four years. She also taught seventh grade English.

Science teacher Manuel Thies was granted a one-year leave of absence. He will attend Central Michigan University to work on his doctoral degree in entomology.

CONGRATULATIONS

The district received a letter from state Superintendent of Public Instruction Please turn to page 14

Bill Otulakowski, 13, son of the owners of Gene's M-81 Motel, was standing by the pop machine on the east side of the building shortly before noon last Friday.

"Hey, Steve," he yelled out as he saw his friend, Steve Walter, drive by on Koepgen Road.

That was a mistake. Walter, headed north, decided to stop and see his friend. He made a sharp left turn, couldn't stop in time, and his car smashed into the corner of the building.

It knocked over a pillar first that was holding up the roof overhang. The pillar landed on the car's hood.

The car's bumper hit the door jamb of one of the rooms, jamming the door shut and causing some structural damage, knocking in part of the cement wall and splintering the wood siding.

No one was in the room at the time, but the room had been rented for Friday night. The accident rendered it unusable.

Walter, 17, of 3295 Huron Line Road, was ticketed by Cass City police on a charge of careless driving. He and a passenger, Kyle Buschen, 15, of 4423 Koepgen Road, were uninjured.

UNWANTED VISITOR — Veda Otulakowski inspects the damage from when a car ran into Gene's M-81 Motel Friday. She and her husband, Gene, own the motel located west of Cass City.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Clark

Cynthia Kay Marshall and Keith Thomas Clark were married Saturday, July 15, at 2:00 p.m. at the Cass City Church of the Nazarene.

Rev. James Wandling of Hurricane, W. Va., performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Schneeberger of Cass City and the son of Mrs. Edith L. Clark of East Liverpool, Ohio.

Loretta Deatherage was the organist. Vicky Youngman, Jeff and Cindy Wike were vocalists.

The bride was escorted by her father. She wore a white formal Qiana gown with an illusion neckline of silk.

Venice lace enhanced the long fitted sleeves, bodice, hemline and chapel train. A rolled fingertip, three-tiered veil was held secure by a Jubet headpiece. She carried a colonial arrangement of white, pink and sky blue daisies with yellow sweet heart roses and baby's breath.

Gloria Rockafellow of Olivet, Mi., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Oma Bond, aunt of the bride of Williamston, Mi., and Vicky Youngman of Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

They wore Qiana navy blue gowns styled with Empire waists and ties at the sides. Light blue top-stitching accented the necks and sleeves. Imported silk flowers were worn in their hair. They carried colonial arrangements of white, pink and sky blue daisies with baby's breath.

The groom wore a white Seville tuxedo and a white ruffled shirt. Groomsmen wore white tuxedos and the ringbearer wore Canton blue tuxedos.

The bride's mother chose a long beige flowered chiffon gown accented with a flowing cape. The groom's mother wore a mint green knit gown with a matching jacket. Yellow carnations corsages complemented their gowns.

The wedding reception was held at the Masonic Hall for approximately 120 guests.

Following a wedding trip through the western states, the couple will live at Kansas City, Mo., where the groom is receiving a master's in religious education and the bride is a veterinarian's assistant.

Celebrity shortages

By Mike Eliasohn

This country is facing a critical shortage of celebrities, those people that People magazine and celebrity golf tournaments and the Johnny Carson show can't do without.

Even if we don't run out, the quality of celebrities will surely decline.

It's just like in sports when the professional leagues expanded the number of teams, which meant a diluting of talent — fewer good players per team and more mediocre ones.

Reporting about celebrities is nothing new. It probably started with the Hollywood and New York gossip columnists.

But the advent of People magazine a few years ago put the celebrity business into the big time. Other celebrity magazines, such as US, were born. Now, television is getting into the act. The television version of People debuts this fall, and similar shows are already on or being planned.

Soon there won't be enough celebrities to go around. After all, how many different accounts can there be about Donny Osmond's wedding?

And Henry Winkler and Suzanne Sommers can appear on only so many magazine covers.

Look what overexposure did to Jackie Kennedy

Support loan date extended to Sept. 29

Doris E. Western, Huron county executive director, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, advises that the availability of price support loans in 1977-crop corn has been extended to Sept. 29, for rain reserve purposes only.

The loan program for 1977-crop corn is reopened for two months for farmers who want to put their grain into the three-year Grain Reserve Program. Anyone interested should contact their county ASCS Office.

Onassis. She's hardly newsworthy any more. There just aren't that many people willing to be celebrities.

How many women, for instance, are there like Cheryl Ladd of Charlie's Angels, who recently confessed to an audience of millions on the Tonight show that she likes to look at men's posterior?

Soon the celebrity media will become desperate and start writing about or televising such local celebrities as the town drunk in Kleinfeltersville, Penn. or the proprietor of the last remaining soda fountain in Rochester, Minn.

I predict the media will finally become so desperate they will eventually try to foist on the public fake celebrities.

After all, who is going to know?

If Johnny Carson introduces a "rising young star," who is to know that the farthest the person's star has ever risen is when he or she rode the elevator to the top of the Empire State Building?

Or if People magazine writes about an Italian jet setter, who will know that the person is really from Des Moines, Iowa and that the closest he has ever been to Italy is when he ate a pizza at the local pizzeria?

Eventually, the public will demand that it be protected from fake celebrities.

Congress will respond by creating a regulatory agency called the Federal Administration for Celebrity Evaluation (FACE), which will be empowered with determining if people purported to be celebrities really are. It will also have enforcement powers.

Should People magazine report about a person who really isn't a celebrity, FACE could fine the magazine $10,000 or throw the editor in jail for a year.

Johnny Carson could be fined or imprisoned if he introduced a "rising young star" who wasn't.

As for the fake celebrity, he or she would be sentenced to life in obscurity.

Centennial farm couple doesn't long for the 'good old days'

The good old days on the farm weren't so good, according to Ernest and Beryl Beardsley.

They know because they lived through them. The Beardsleys are only the third generation to live on their recently designated centennial farm on Cedar Run Road, south of M-81.

Beardsley is 78; his wife, 77. The couple was married in December, 1920.

BERYL AND ERNEST BEARDSLEY

New books at the library

TILL DEATH US DO PART, by Vincent Bugliosi (non-fiction). In 1966, a pleasant young man, with no known enemies, was shot to death while watching television in his Los Angeles home. He had just remarried his first wife. She was out of town at the time of the murder. A year and a half later, an attractive young woman was shot to death outside her apartment. No money was taken. No weapon was found. Her husband had an alibi. Vincent Bugliosi stepped in. Purely on circumstantial evidence, he was able to link the two crimes to a young, cocky, love-'em-and-leave-'em husband who set up both murders for the life insurance money. A powerful human drama which offers a fascinating inside look at legal procedure—before and during a trial.

EMMA AND I, by Sheila Hocken (non-fiction). Sheila Hocken was born blind. She spent 28 years in darkness. Then a miracle occurred...she underwent an operation that enabled her to see perfectly. But this is the story of another miracle in Sheila's life—her remarkable guide dog, Emma. During the years of Sheila's blindness, Emma gave her eyes. With Emma, Sheila moved through the streets as well as a sighted person. With Emma, Sheila lived a full life despite her handicap. She had a job as a switchboard operator, set up housekeeping in her own apartment, attended evening classes, even went on a lecture tour, and finally found the courage to risk loving the wonderful, sighted man whom she married.

GAD'S HALL, by Norah Lofts (fiction). A gripping novel of suspense and the supernatural. A young couple finds a charming old manor at an unbelievably low price. Strange things begin to happen, and the story flashes back to the 19th century and the four sisters who were intimately connected with the haunting of the house.

The farm was 40 acres when William Ware bought it from Robert and Sarah McFarlan in April, 1878.

Ware, a Civil War veteran from Erie, Penn., homesteaded for a year on Green Road, got homestead, returned to Erie, got married, then returned to Tuscola county to buy the farm on Cedar Run Road.

He apparently bought the farm in 1875, but due to some problem, the change in ownership wasn't recorded on the deed until three years later.

A major blow to the young farmer came in the great forest fire of 1881, which, reportedly destroyed all the buildings Ware built except a shed.

Some floor joists in the farm house came from the barn that burned in 1881.

Ernest Beardsley was born in 1899 in Oakland county, the son of William F. and Nida May Beardsley. Nida was the Wares' daughter.

When her parents were no longer able to maintain the farm by themselves, she and her husband and family moved in 1910 onto 40 acres they bought behind the 40 owned by her parents. Two years later they moved onto the family homestead.

Mrs. Ware died shortly thereafter, but when William and Nida Beardsley moved to Lapeer in 1925, William Ware was still alive and moved with them. He died at age 82, though his grandson isn't sure of the year.

Ernest, the only one of four children to go into farming, took over the farm in 1925 and bought it from his parents in 1938.

Ernest and Beryl Beardsley started farming in 1921, a half-mile south of their present farm. They were there two years, then moved to the farm of Mrs. Beardsley's parents, two miles to the east, lived in Flint during the winter of 1923-24, then moved to another rented farm before taking over the family farm.

FARMING HAS changed vastly from when he started and Ernest Beardsley, who retired in 1972, has no regrets.

There was one advantage to the good old days. "We could start on a shoe string then," he explained. All that was needed was a team of horses, a wagon and a plow.

That was okay when there were lots of farmers.

"The good old days, they don't belong in this age," he continued, "because of the fact that farmers have to farm on a big scale because there aren't that many farmers left."

"I wouldn't want the debt part," Mrs. Beardsley said of the role borrowed money plays in today's agriculture. In the early days, she and her husband explained, $1,000 was considered a big debt.

Another change in agriculture was that farms used to be self-contained units. For the first few years of their married life, the couple didn't own a car, so seldom was their need to go into Cass City.

They had horses, cows, chickens, and pigs, plus a garden. In addition to the feed grown to feed the animals, wheat and beans were grown as cash crops. "I had a little bit of everything until we got out of the dairy business," Beardsley explained. That was in 1962.

HE BOUGHT HIS FIRST tractor in 1937 for $943, including a single-bottom plow, but still used horses for some purposes until about 1950. His first combine was bought in 1940. The farmer recalled that people thought the combine was a passing fad, that soon people would go back to the old way of using a binder to tie wheat bundles, then feeding them through a threshing machine.

The first milker was purchased in 1942. Electricity came to the Beardsley farm in 1937. A refrigerator and radio were purchased the next year. The refrigerator meant no more trips down to the cellar to retrieve food stored there. "You appreciate it," Mrs. Beardsley said of her appliances.

Their first washing machine was purchased before 1937. It was powered with a gasoline engine. Did women work harder before the days of washers, refrigerators, and other appliances? "You bet they did," responded Mrs. Beardsley.

Road fund distributions up slightly

State Motor Vehicle Highway Fund revenue increased only 1.5 percent in the second quarter of the year as compared to the same three months in 1977, resulting in only slight increases in fund distributions to local governmental units and road commissions for road building and maintenance.

The Tuscola County Road Commission will receive a quarterly payment of $458,087, as compared to $440,563 a year earlier; Huron county, $394,272 as compared to $385,103, and Sanilac county, $422,324, as compared to $411,477.

Payments to local governmental units (1977 figure in parentheses) will be Cass City, $10,311 ($10,008); Gagetown, $3,559 ($3,525); Kingston, $2,429 ($2,453); Owenton, $2,626 ($2,533); and Uby, $4,414 ($4,291).

Revenue from the state gasoline tax increased 1.8 percent in the April-June quarter, diesel fuel taxes were up 12.9 percent, and license plate fees based on vehicle weight declined 1.1 percent, for an overall increase of 1.5 percent.

That compares with 5-6 percent increases of a few years ago, according to the Department of State Highways and Transportation, the smaller increase being attributed to lighter cars which get more miles to the gallon.

Beardsley. "I wouldn't want to go back."

The couple had a few cows until 1947, when Beardsley built a 20-by-60 foot dairy building, attached to the barn. He then usually milked 15 cows until he got out of the dairy business in 1962.

Their other large income source was eggs. They had as many as 500 layers until they got out of that operation in 1965.

Beardsley farmed 120 acres, 80 of his own and 40 rented. He cash cropped from 1962-72 and now rents out his land. He and his wife still maintain a garden.

The Beardsleys have four children, 13 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren. Their children are Clinton, who lives in Burlington, Vt.; Shirley Stephenson, Westminster, Calif.; Eileen Beach, Alto (east of Grand Rapids), and Laura Bigelow, Ashley (south of Alma).

Beardsley farmed for more than 50 years, and if he could have, he only would have farmed six days a week.

He only did field work on a Sunday once, when his field hands were leaving for Texas the next day and without them, he would not have been able to get his harvesting done.

He and his wife have belonged to the Sutton-Sunshine United Methodist church near Ellington since 1941 and to the Trinity United Methodist in Cass City for 10 years before that.

"I never was an advocate of working on Sunday," Beardsley explained, "but people said, 'You milk your cows,' but I said, 'I wish the good Lord made them so I didn't have to.'"

HEALTH TIPS

Executive health tips healthy for anyone

By Frank Chappell,
American Medical Association

It isn't absolutely necessary for executives to have heart disease, ulcers and strokes, ailments commonly associated with American businessmen who reach the management level.

Further, these ailments are by no means limited to executives. They can affect almost anyone.

A few suggestions offered by the American Medical Association to help executives preserve their health also can be readily applied to most Americans, regardless of level of employment.

—Watch your weight. Strenuous diets usually aren't necessary. Just eat less.

—Exercise. Golf is fine, if you enjoy it. But if you're one of the many who lose their tempers and get upset over every missed stroke, brisk walks will serve just as well as golf, maybe better.

—Take vacations. Real vacations, not just an occasional day or two. And plan your vacation so that there is time to relax and unwind.

—Smoke less. Better still, quit smoking altogether. There is no doubt that tobacco is bad for you. —Cut down on drinking. Two cocktails before dinner is maybe one too many. One might be too many for some people. —Get plenty of sleep. An try to sleep without the use of drugs, if at all possible.

—Put business worries out of your mind when you leave the office. This sometimes is easier said than done. Perhaps you need to get active in something else, such as the affairs of your church or neighborhood center, to get your mind off your job.

Hess family has reunion in Gagetown

The 39th annual Hess reunion was held Sunday, Aug. 6, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Parrish Jr. of Gagetown.

The members coming the farthest were Mr. and Mrs. A. Argo and grandson Jeffery of Alta Loma, Texas. Other members came from Detroit, Flint, Orionville, Kingston, Cass City, Deford and Gagetown.

Everyone enjoyed an afternoon of games and softball.

The oldest member attending was Roy Collins of Flint, the youngest, Todd Furness son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Furness of Cass City.

OUR MAN

Considerable advancement comes to those who live in defiance of so-called good advice.

WAIT AND SEE

Much worry can be avoided if you refrain from trying to solve your problems until they arrive.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters

Being five -- with no father, has been hard for this little boy from Millington. He would love to learn new things, and have a man take him fishing. Why not give him a try -- he's a real cutie!

This 13-year-old boy needs a Big Brother who is a good listener and has lots of patience. He loves to talk, likes television, hockey, models, and would like to learn new activities with the help from a man. He lives in the Vassar area.

Good male influence is badly needed for this little 10-year-old from Caro. He enjoys sports, bike-riding, games, and woodcarving -- a real likeable young man.

Being an animal lover, this little eight-year-old is looking for a man to share his interest. He also enjoys games, sports, any outdoor activity, and building things. If you live in Fairgrove, he would make a nice Little Brother.

Here's a super match for just about any man. This 10-year-old is a bit on the shy side, eager to please, and very well-behaved. He enjoys all sports, bike-riding, roller and ice skating. He lives in Vassar, and has been waiting a long time for a special friend.

Big Brothers-Big Sisters in Tuscola county is located at 230 N. State Street in Caro, telephone 673-6996; in Huron county at 122 N. Hanselman Street, Bad Axe, telephone 269-7284, and in Sanilac county at 26 Lexington Street, P.O. Box 1, Sandusky, telephone 648-4433.

Altar Society makes plans for activities

The St. Michael's Ladies Altar Society meeting for August was opened with prayer by Mary Sabo. There were 14 members present. Discussion was held about the bake sale Oct. 21-22.

Also discussed was the Christmas bazaar. No date has been set. An afghan will be raffled off at that time.

The men's club met with the Altar Society also and the anniversary committee discussed and made plans for the anniversary dinner on the 27th.

Vida Champagne said the closing prayer.

Mackinac Bridge walk on Sept. 4

The 21st annual Mackinac Bridge Walk begins at 7:30 a.m. on Labor Day morning, Sept. 4.

Last year, some 27,500 individuals made the trek. An important change should be noted. Buses transporting bridge walkers to the starting point at St. Ignace, or the north side of the bridge, will be boarding in a new location. It will be in an area north of Traverse Bay Woolen Co. on Huron Street in Mackinaw City.

The Bridge Authority strongly recommends that bridge walkers do not depend upon buses, but make arrangements to get at the starting line in private cars.

Last year more than 19,000 persons were transported by bus and many of them arrived after 10 a.m., the deadline for starting the walk.

No dogs, except seeing eye, will be permitted to participate in the bridge walk.

Also, bridge walkers should bear in mind that there are no relief stations on the bridge. Porta-johns will be provided at the north and south ends of the bridge.

The Hiawathaland Council of the Boy Scouts of America, Troop No. 127, stationed at the south end of the bridge, will be passing out certificates to bridge walkers attesting to their having completed the 1978 walk. Each certificate is individually numbered and should the number coincide with a number posted in the windows of Mackinaw City merchants, a prize will be awarded.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lorenzen will celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary.

They have three children and two granddaughters.

A group of 65 men and boys accompanied Tuscola County Big Brothers to Tiger Stadium to watch the Tigers take a 6-2 decision from the Chicago White Sox.

TEN YEARS AGO

The Cass City School Board authorized the leveling and grading of land near the school for use of students for recreation classes and perhaps a practice football field.

Cass City teachers and the school district are reported very near a contract.

An "informal petition" was presented to the Owendale-Gagetown School Board, requesting that the proposed merger of the district with surrounding districts be cancelled, at least temporarily.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Members of the Cass City High School class of 1943 held their class reunion at the high school auditorium.

Thirty-eight members of the class and 11 guests attended the affair. The wives and husbands of class members and their invited guests swelled the total at the banquet to 80 persons.

Hundreds of area persons and guests thronged to the fourth annual Cass City Home-coming to enjoy the free entertainment offered to them all day by the village merchants and to renew old acquaintances.

In an exceptionally light vote in which only 1,308 persons went to the polls, Sanilac voters approved the construction of a new jail by a 717-591 margin.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Miss Sara Agnes Cooley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cooley of Owendale, will graduate from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac.

Loren Brady, Unionville, has been given a scholarship by the Purina Mills Foundation to attend Camp Minnawana, at Shelby, Michigan. The scholarship was given for outstanding work in the 4-H dairy project.

Word was received by Mr. and Mrs. George Willard of Gagetown that their son, George G., was killed in action in the southwest Pacific area.

Co-op jobs needed for students

Employers interested in employing high school students through the co-op program are invited to call Wayne Dillon at Cass City High School.

Under the program, students attend classes part of the day and work part-time. Jobs range from secretaries and waitresses to working in supermarkets and on farms.

Students interested in participating in the co-op program should also contact Dillon.

Jobs need to be arranged before school starts so that students' schedules can be arranged.

The first day of classes is Wednesday, Aug. 30.

Provincial employees veto union

Employees of Provincial House, Inc., the skilled nursing facility at 4782 Hospital Drive, Cass City, voted against affiliating with the Utility Workers Union of America (UFWA) in a secret ballot election July 21.

Final tabulations showed employees disapproved of union affiliation by a 60-6 margin. Balloting was supervised by a representative of the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) with a local representative of Provincial House acting as an observer. After the five-day period during which the union had an opportunity to protest the election, the NLRB certified the results.

Your Neighbor says

Wage-price freeze would be unfair

In a recent Gallup Poll, 53 percent of the respondents favored putting a freeze on wages and prices as a means of controlling inflation. Thirty-four percent were opposed and 13 percent undecided.

Shirley Ross doesn't think wage-price controls would be fair. "You couldn't really do that because there are a lot of poor people making 'dog' dollars."

Young people starting out in life would also be hurt by a freeze on wages, she feels, because it would prevent them from getting ahead in life.

An assembler at General Cable, she herself has felt the impact of inflation. In the past, when she needed to buy a car, she always bought a new one. This past December, when her 1972-model car needed replacing, all she could afford was a used 1973 model.

Part of the solution to inflation, she feels, is simply that Americans are going to have to live with it. "There's no pat answer to stop it," she said.

Learning to live with inflation, Miss Ross suggests will mean such things as staying home more, driving less, and not buying much, particularly not buying items that are not essential.

Coping with inflation, she said, will be a matter of "just learning to be happy with the times that are changing."

Miss Ross lives on Gomania Road, Holbrook.

Radio pager tower goes up

Oct. 1 is the target date for a new radio pager communications system to become operational within a 30-mile radius in the upper Thumb, according to King Communications.

The Saginaw-based firm was granted permission last month by the Federal Communications Commission to erect a 400-foot tower radio on a five-acre site 2½ miles south of New Greenleaf in Greenleaf township.

Once in operation, persons signing up for the service will carry a pager or "beeper." Anyone knowing a seven-digit number to the pager and within 30 miles the tower can reach them by telephone by dialing the pager number.

The firm plans to erect a portable telephone, two-radio and mobile telephone service by June, 1979.

According to governor

'PBB image' won't hurt farm exports

GOVERNOR William G. Milliken as he spoke to members of the press in Marlette last Friday.

Picnic Thursday

There will be a picnic starting at noon Thursday in the village park for participants in the Cass City summer arts and crafts and recreation programs.

There will be food, games and prizes.

The picnic will mark the end of the arts and crafts program for the summer. The recreation equipment building will remain open through Saturday, Aug. 26.

Governor William G. Milliken doesn't feel Michigan's "PBB image" will hinder export of its farm products to other countries. He does believe reform of workers' compensation and unemployment compensation is needed to attract more business here.

Those were among the topics the Michigan governor discussed in a mid-morning question and answer session Friday with Thumb area news personnel at the Coach House restaurant in Marlette.

Milliken, governor since 1969 and seeking election to his third term, flew to Marlette that morning, visited a factory before meeting with the press, then visited some county fairs before the day was over. The trip was paid for by his political campaign fund.

He began the session with the approximately 20 news personnel by commenting about the importance of agriculture to the Michigan economy.

Many of the questions he was asked concerned agriculture and PBB.

Does the image of Michigan agricultural products being tainted with PBB hurt prospects for their export to other countries? "I don't think so because the facts tell the story (that they aren't)," he responded.

Why weren't the PBB-contaminated cattle incinerated instead of being buried in the clay-lined pit at Mio?

Milliken repeated previous comments about it being the best alternative available. "I'm convinced it is safe."

Referring to the problems he had in getting a former seminary at Saugatuck converted into a prison because of opposition by residents there, he said he was convinced the state would have had as much trouble finding a spot for a PBB incinerator as it did in putting the burial pit at Mio.

What would he have done differently concerning the PBB problem if he had it to do over again?

Milliken felt the state took the proper response, only it didn't communicate soon enough with the public and farmers affected on what the problem was and what was being done about it.

"If it isn't PBB, it could be mercury, PCB ... or any other chemicals coming down the line," the soft-spoken governor added. "The great challenge we will be faced with is the great number of chemicals we need to dispose of."

SOME QUESTIONS CONCERNED the climate in Michigan for attracting new business here, thus creating more jobs.

Its two biggest pluses, according to the chief executive, based on a conversation with a Chicago consultant who helps companies find sites for new factories, are the single business tax and Public Act 198. The latter grants property tax breaks to industries expanding their present facilities or building new ones.

He also mentioned the role played by Michigan's trade offices in Brussels, Belgium and Tokyo, Japan, in encouraging foreign manufacturers to build factories here. Seventy-seven have done so in the last few years, according to Milliken.

The two biggest deterrents to attracting new business, he said, is the high cost for employers for workers' compensation (for job-related injuries) and unemployment compensation, both of which need reform.

Milliken put in a plug for his transportation package, which would mean higher gasoline and weight taxes to improve roads and public transportation, now stalled in the legislature. "Most people think of the transportation package as a means of solving Detroit's problems but the matter of fact is it's for the whole state. A relatively small part goes to southeastern Michigan."

The governor, 56, endorsed the Headlee tax limitation proposal that will be on the ballot this November, which, if approved, will prohibit state spending and taxes from increasing at a rate faster than personal income in the state.

He strongly opposed the Tisch amendment that would slash property taxes 50 percent, as it would allow the legislature to make up some of the lost income by increasing the income tax.

Thus, claimed the governor, there wouldn't be much overall reduction in taxes and with the state doing more taxing and local governmental units less, there would be a loss in local control.

MILLIKEN RECENTLY vetoed the legislature's appropriation for Medicaid as it included a prohibition against funding abortions for poor women (by authorizing only $1 for abortions).

"This was not an issue of abortion per se," the governor explained. "but of equality. The Supreme Court has ruled this kind of procedure is legal, the legislature was saying it is legal unless you can't afford it.

As for the issue of abortion in general, he said, "I believe in the right of choice." His Democratic opponent in November, William Fitzgerald, is opposed to abortion.

Milliken couldn't predict how his stance on abortion will affect him in the election. "To me, it's a matter of principle."

Another Milliken veto this year was of the legislature's appropriation of $12.5 million for sheriff's departments. He said he is still hoping for a compromise "without establishing a dangerous precedent."

The governor answered questions for about 50 minutes.

$1,000 rug

stolen from

Auten cottage

Meredith B. Auten of Cass City reported to Huron county deputies Friday that an Oriental rug had been stolen from his cottage on Huron City Road, southeast of Port Austin.

The 9-by-12-foot rug was worth an estimated $1,000. It was taken some time after July 15. Also taken in the break-in was a small electric clock.

Cass City police at 11:20 p.m. Saturday arrested Raymond L. Bukowski, 60, of Minden City, on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor. They stopped his car on Main Street.

He was taken to the county jail in Caro and later released on bond, pending an appearance in district court.

Put charge to Confer in Tuscola Circuit Court

Michael D. Confer pleaded guilty to a reduced charge Monday in connection with the May 20 vandalism at Kingston High School that resulted in damage of more than $10,000.

Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements accepted the 18-year-old's plea of guilty to attempted malicious destruction of property over $100, which carries a maximum penalty of two years in prison. Sentencing was scheduled Sept. 11.

As of Tuesday afternoon, the 18-year-old, 5696 Phillips Road, Clifford, was still in county jail, having never been able to post $3,000 bond. He was originally charged with entering without breaking in with intent to commit malicious destruction of property over $100, malicious destruction of a building over $100, and malicious destruction of property over $100.

Confer and a 16-year-old were arrested by state police May 31 and charged with vandalism. Both were held at the high school. On Monday before Judge Clements:

Jarvis E. Bradley, 24, of Phillips Road, Cass City, stood mute to charges of breaking without entering building with intent to commit larceny and larceny of a building.

He was charged in connection with a July 5 break-in at home of Evelyn Dennis, W. Deckerville Road, Caro, in which a set of bedsprings were removed from the home.

Patricia Gail Grice, 35, of Bruce Street, Deford, pleaded guilty to her pretrial hearing to attempted delivery of marijuana. Her plea was accepted and sentencing scheduled Sept. 25. Bond of $300 was continued.

She had been charged with two charges of manufacturing, delivery or possession of marijuana, having been charged in one instance of giving a marijuana cigarette to an undercover agent working with the sheriff's department and another of selling her a small bag of marijuana. Both incidents took place in March.

Larry G. Dill, 27, of 1060 Riley Road, Caro, was sentenced for obstructing, resisting, opposing, assaulting, beating or wounding a police officer. He was placed on 18 months' probation, sentenced to four days in the county jail starting Sept. 1, with credit given for one day served, fined $150 and assessed $300 court costs.

He pleaded no contest to the charge June 5 in connection with an attempted arrest by a deputy on April 17.

His pleas were accepted and sentencing was scheduled Aug. 28. Bond was continued.

The uttering and publishing charge was in connection with his cashing a fraudulent check for $76 at the IGA store in Caro.

In a plea bargain agreement with the prosecution, if Walker pleads guilty to an uttering and publishing charge against him in Sanilac county, the supplemental information charge (of being an habitual offender) will be dropped. Otherwise, his sentence for uttering and publishing, a normal maximum of 14 years, could be doubled.

Also on Aug. 11, Judge Clements signed an agreement between the prosecutor's office and the attorney for Jon F. Lenhard, Thomas Abbey of Caro.

Lenhard, 21, of 4618 State Street, Gageton, is charged with unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle in the July 19 theft of a motorcycle belonging to Richard Downing of 4817 South Street, Gageton.

NEW MINISTER -- Rev. Gilson Miller, the new minister at the United Methodist Churches in Kingston and Deford, his wife, Beth, and their son, Nathan.

Intermediate district

Bargainers reach accord

Negotiators for the Tuscola Intermediate Education Association (TIEA) and Tuscola Intermediate School District reached a tentative agreement Friday afternoon on a new contract.

Details won't be revealed until after it is ratified by both sides.

The association, which has approximately 75 members, represents the district's professional staff, including teachers of the handicapped, school social workers, speech therapists and teacher-consultants.

Its president, Maureen Murphy, said the agreement must first be ratified by the board of the Tri-County Bargaining Association (TCBA), then by the TIEA members, who will vote either at a picnic they have scheduled Aug. 30 or on the first day of school, Sept. 5.

Coming Auctions

Saturday, Aug. 19 - Cecil Shaver will hold a farm machinery sale at the place located 8 1/2 miles south, 1 mile east, 1 1/2 south and 1/2 mile east of Caro, corner of Lee Hill and Snover Rds. Boyd Tait, auctioneer.

Saturday, Aug. 19 - Fred and Charles Koglin will sell personal property at the place located six miles north of Bad Axe to Fillion, nine miles east on Johnson Road to Johnson Rd., one mile north on Johnson Rd. and a quarter of a mile east on Dobson Rd. Ira, David and Martin Osentoski, auctioneers.

Saturday, Aug. 26 - Bob and Laura Profit will hold a household auction at the residence located two miles south and three miles west of Cass City on Dodge Rd. Lorn Hillaker, auctioneer.

After that, it must be approved by the intermediate district board of education, either at its regular meeting Sept. 11 or at a special meeting.

Professional staff members worked all of the past school year without a contract. The new agreement covers that year retroactively and the 1978-79 and 1979-80 school years.

Negotiation in earnest with the TCBA representing the professionals started in April, she said, with weekly meetings.

The presence of a state mediator at the sessions starting in late June helped negotiators reach a settlement more quickly, according to the TIEA president.

Rev. Miller: new charge a challenge

Religion can be found on a mountaintop as well as in a church, according to the new minister of the United Methodist churches in Kingston and Deford.

Rev. Gilson Miller, 30, loves to preach in church but he also thinks religion can be found while hiking a rugged mountain trail.

He comes to this area after three years at St. Paul United Methodist church in Rochester, Mich., where he was one of four staff ministers. For two years before that, he was on the staff at the Methodist church in Marquette.

In his new assignment, Rev. Miller isn't too far from his original home. He is a native of Lapeer, where his parents still live.

He earned his bachelor's degree in psychology from Asbury College and his theological degree from Asbury Theological Seminary in 1973. Both schools are in Wilmore, Ky., although not affiliated. His first assignment as a minister was in Marquette.

The assignment to Kingston and Deford is his first where he is on his own. At Rochester, he was one of four ministers in a church serving 2,100 parishioners, with an average Sunday attendance of 800.

"I like it very well," Miller said of his new assignment. "Actually, I'm finding in some ways it is much more challenging. You have much more freedom, and flexibility, but also more responsibility."

Being the only minister allows him to preach every Sunday. "I missed that," he said of his experience in Rochester, where he usually preached only once every six weeks.

The Deford church has about 40 members; the Kingston church, 160. Their new minister is impressed with cooperation between members of the two. "They seem to work together very well," he said. "I'm really impressed with their spirit of cooperation so far."

Sunday services at Deford start at 9:30 a.m.; in Kingston at 11.

Miller gave his first sermons June 18, which was Father's Day.

The new minister is a father. He and his wife, Beth, have a son, Nathan, and are expecting their second child in November. Mrs. Miller was a substitute school teacher in Rochester.

The Millers are an outdoor family. A vacation this month will be spent camping.

Backpacking is another hobby, which he combines with his ministry. Earlier this summer, he participated with senior high students from the eastern Michigan Methodist conference in a seven-day excursion through the Adirondack Mountains in New York State.

Minus what he calls their "props" -- such things as stereo sets and hair blowers -- the backpacking trips allow the teenage participants to make some "serious reflections on their lives, their Creator and each other. It gives them a chance to meet themselves."

Miller has done a lot of backpacking but he described the experience in the Adirondacks as the "most rigorous." In contrast to most mountain trails, which weave back and forth up the side of the mountain, the ones there usually went directly up the mountain and straight down.

He hopes in future years to involve some of the church youth from Kingston and Deford on the backpacking trips.

He did take a group of junior high age youngsters from Kingston and Deford on a trip to Mackinac Island.

The new minister replaces Rev. Joel Hurley, who is now at the United Methodist church in Elkton.

"I like the community and the area. Beautiful area," Miller said of his new surroundings.

As for his unusual first name, Gilson, or Gil for short, he was named after his grandfather. "I have yet to meet a Gilson. I've seen Gilson used as a last name but never as a first," he said.

The greatest treasure of any democracy is human dignity.

Mary Ann Bernthal, 47, of Reese, was killed last Thursday in an accident northwest of Vassar.

She was the 17th person killed in a Tuscola county traffic accident this year, compared to only 14 in all of 1977.

Caro state police reported her vehicle was southbound on Quanicasee Road when it was struck in the left side by a westbound auto on Wilder Road. The collision occurred at 5:15 p.m.

Driver of the other car was Michelle A. Bierlein, 17, of Vassar.

The county prosecutor's office Wednesday morning issued a warrant charging her with negligent homicide. She will probably be arraigned on the charge Thursday.

Officers said she apparently failed to yield the right of way to the southbound Bernthal auto.

Two passengers in the Bernthal auto, the victim's children, were taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw. Kathleen, 10, was treated and released. Harold, 12, was released on Saturday.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Two cars went off the road after they collided at 3 a.m. last Thursday on Kingston Road, north of Lanway Road.

Sheriff's deputies reported William L. Gottler, 24, of 3693 Ross Street, Kingston, and Daniel L. Marquardt, 22, of White Creek Road, Kingston, were side by side, headed south, when their vehicles came together.

The Gottler car hit a traffic sign, went into a ditch and struck a driveway culvert. The Marquardt auto hit a real estate sign, went through a row of rose bushes and came to a halt in a garden 60 feet west of the road.

At 8 a.m. on Aug. 8, deputies reported, Ralph W. White, 72, of Caro, was southbound on Colwood Road. He stopped at Decker-ville Road, couldn't see oncoming traffic because of tall weeds, so pulled farther into the intersection. His foot slipped off the brake, his car went into the path of a westbound auto driven by Jennifer G. Rice, 17, of Decker-ville, and the two vehicles collided.

At 12:30 p.m. on the 8th, two trucks collided on Decker-ville Road, east of Plain Road.

Caro state police reported Jacob C. Abbe Jr., 48, of Caro, who was westbound, was being passed by a semi-truck, which struck the left side of his vehicle.

Driver of the truck-tractor was Paul J. Schroeder, 27, of Midland.

At 5:45 p.m. that day, deputies reported, Helen D. Easton, 47, of 7437 E. Elmwood Road, Caro, was northbound on Crawford Road, south of M-81, when her car was struck by a car pulling from a driveway.

Driver of the other vehicle was Gary M. Czekai, 35, of 7279 Elmwood Road, Caro.

At 5:10 p.m. Friday, Beatrice C. Langlois, 70, of 6053 McGregor Road, was involved in an accident on Bay City-Forestville Road, east of Jacob Road.

Caro state police said she was westbound and started to pass a tractor pulling a hay baler and a hay wagon. The hay wagon, which was in the rear, swung into the eastbound lane as she started to pass and was struck by her car.

Driver of the tractor was Larry R. Kohl, 31, of Sebewaing.

At 8:55 a.m. Saturday, according to Caro state police, Danny L. Fritz, 25, of Sebewaing, southbound on Schwegler Road, north of M-81, was forced off the west side of the road in order to avoid hitting a car that pulled from a driveway into his path. His car hit two mailboxes.

Driver of the other car was Frank Ertman, 68, of 5627 N. Cemetery Road, Caro.

CAR-DEER

At 4:10 p.m. on Aug. 8, according to deputies, Joseph E. Robbins, 20, of Mayville, was westbound on Stevens Road, west of Lamton Road, when his car struck a deer.

Marilyn Hill, 28, of Grosse Pointe Farms, was west-

Cars crash

Cass City police investigated two two-vehicle accidents last week in which no drivers were involved.

The first took place at 8:45 a.m. last Tuesday. The car of Lewis L. Gemmel of S. Elkton Road, Owendale, parked alongside a building at the southwest corner of Church and Maple Streets, rolled backward and struck a car parked along the west curb on Maple.

Owner of the other car was Charles F. Bliss of 5855 Cass City Road.

Gemmel told police the engine was running and he was sure he had left the automatic transmission in parking gear, so apparently the transmission was defective.

The second incident was reported at 9:10 a.m. Saturday. A truck at the Village Service Center was parked on a slope, pointed north. It rolled down the slope into a truck parked along the alley, which runs parallel to Main, east of West Street.

The vehicle parked in the alley belonged to Eugene M. Otulakowski of Huron Line Road.

The other vehicle belonged to Thomas B. Guinther of 6542 Elizabeth Street. Station owner Robert Bader told police it slipped out of gear and rolled down the incline.

Owen-Gage without contract

John W. Porter, dated July 25, part of which reads as follows:

"On behalf of the state Board of Education, I am pleased to extend my sincere congratulations to you and members of the staff of Owen-Gage High School.

"Based on 1978 data, your students have shown significant improvement in the mastery of the reading and mathematics objectives measured by the Michigan Educational Assessment Program."

Improvement was measured by scores of students on the state tests taken by 4th and 7th graders. Porter's letter was addressed to high school Principal James Barr because the 7th grade is part of the high school.

OTHER ITEMS

A 1978-79 athletic budget of $11,500 was approved. That compares to $9,484 spent in 1977-78. Revenue last year totaled $3,999.

Reasons for the increase include a required full schedule for the junior varsity football team, instead of the previous scrimmages, thus requiring paying referees; another league rule requiring the girls' basketball team to have light and dark jerseys, requiring purchase of an additional set of jerseys, and double headers this year in girls' softball, which increases the cost of officials.

School is supposed to start Wednesday, Sept. 6, at which time classrooms in the new addition are supposed to be ready. Sixth, seventh and eighth graders will go to school in Owendale this year, as St. Agatha's School in Gagetown won't be used.

Purchases approved were 45 government textbooks for approximately $450; table saw for the shop, $700, and four-drawer file cabinet for home economics room, $110.

Low bidder

Al Merchant was the sole bidder for mowing grass and brush along all roads in Elkland township, except for state highways.

The township board Monday night awarded him the bid, at a cost of $3,500 for this year and $1,000 for each of the next two years.

Merchant, a township trustee, abstained from voting. He will use his own equipment in doing work.

William DiNardi of Caro appeared before the board request it to renew operating license for Interstate Scrap and Auto Parts, 4100 S. Seeger Street. The firm's license expired May 1977.

The board reaffirmed action of a year ago to renew the license contingent on Interstate putting a fence around all property.

Alan Kleo of Harris Township Insurance discussed the study he was making of the township insurance needs. Elkland may combine its fleet insurance into one policy or into two policies.

Discussion was held concerning ambulance service after Little's Funeral Home ends service Dec. 31.

Ben Collon of Collon Funeral Home in Caro indicated to the board might station an ambulance in Cass City, according to township Clerk Carol Warren but hasn't yet made a commitment.

Hospital construction

Since it will only be used during the day, argued the hospital administrator, it should not have to comply with hospital construction standards, such as for floor and ceiling materials and exits. He emphasized that doesn't mean it will not be as safe as the hospital itself.

If, however, the health department requires the facility to be built to hospital standards, the architects would have to redesign it from scratch and the total project cost would be at least $2½ million, and possibly as much as $5 million.

Jensen doesn't expect that to happen. "We'll sue them (the health department) if we have to."

The situation, he said, is one of the state agency not wanting to cross the bridge until they come to it in having to come up with new licensing standards for free standing ambulatory care facilities. "We're asking them to cross the bridge."

While the dispute continues, construction will continue. The contractor started work Monday.

Family sets 50th reunion in Cass City

The 49th annual McCrea and O'Kelly reunion was held Sunday, Aug. 6, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bennett in Romeo.

It was decided to hold the 50th reunion in the Cass City area so that the organizers of the first reunion, Maude Blades and Carrie Gray, could attend. The next reunion will be held at the home of Delbert Gracy in Cass City.

The oldest member at the Romeo reunion was Patrick O'Kelly, 73, who also traveled the farthest distance, 710 miles from Mountain View, Ark.

The youngest member present was Greg Joseph LaPrarie, born Aug. 2, 1977, from Minneapolis, Minn. Officers elected for the coming year were Eva Bennett, president, and Helen Spencer, secretary-treasurer.

Jim Blades suggested a planning committee be organized for the 50th reunion. It was also suggested the new secretary-treasurer send out an extra mailing in February to solicit ideas for the 1979 event.

Have your opinions - don't let others influence your thinking.

Girls end first season

Charmont II, the women's softball team, has completed its first season with an undistinguished, 0-6, record.

The winless year has not dampened the team's spirit, according to the players who plan to be back and try again in 1979.

The final loss of the year came Wednesday, Aug. 2, when Deering Packing rolled to an easy 22-4 victory.

Coaches John Smentek and Bob Kozan report that the girls have greatly improved over the year and look for a better season next year.

Brenda Vermerach and Maureen O'Connor were voted the team's most valuable players and Deb Hunter was named most improved.

Other members of the team included Denise Barker, Wendy Cloutier, Karen Collings, Janet Galbraith, Kim Hartwick, Patti Lautner, Sally Peters, Gerri Pittman and Donna Sting.

Doctors help

Mr. John Haire
Publisher
Cass City Chronicle
Cass City, MI 48726

Dear John:

On behalf of the Athletic Department and athletes of the Cass City Schools, I would like to thank Dr. Richard Hall and Dr. Efron Dizon for the time and effort that they took in administering physical examinations last Saturday. Through the years, the doctors of Cass City have donated their time to give these physicals at their inconvenience. Again, thanks for a job well done.

Sincerely,

Coaches hired

Board okays season tickets, ups advance sale ticket price

In his new role as athletic director Roland Pakonen has settled several problems facing the program but a few persist.

At the regular meeting of the board Monday night, season ticket prices for fall and winter sports were adopted.

In addition, several of the coaching vacancies have been filled. But a surprise resignation has resulted in another opening.

The latest to leave was Terrilyn Krueger, who handled girls' basketball and track. Another girls' coach that has left the system is Connie McArthur.

The latest resignations came on the heels of a turnover that included the entire football coaching staff. Most of these vacancies have been filled. But for the first time in history the administration was forced to look beyond the teaching staff to find people to fill the job.

Assistant varsity coach will be Tim Knoblet, Cass City.

Another non-teacher, Scott Hartel, will handle either the junior varsity or freshman team, while Jim Hobbs, a new teacher, will work at the junior varsity level, and Dick Cooper, another teacher new to the system, will work at the freshman level. Another coach is yet to be named.

Season tickets will remain the same price as they were last year but advance tickets for individual games for students were increased from 75 cents to $1.00. All tickets are $1.50 at the gate.

A pass for fall sports costs $7.50 for adults and $5.00 for students. That's the price of admission at the gate for football.

The bonus for the season ticket holder is that the holder can also attend junior varsity football and girls' basketball at the same price.

In the winter, the ticket will cost $15 for adults and $10 for students. That's based on the price for 10 home basketball games at the regular admission price.

The bonus is that it gains admittance to volleyball, gymnastics and wrestling, too.
