In Cass City

Vacation almost over, school starts Wednesday

If summer vacation for Cass City students seems a shorter than it was last year, there's a reason for it. It is shorter.

School starts Wednesday, Aug. 30, in contrast to last year, when it started after Labor Day.

School in Kingston and Uby also starts before Labor Day. In Owendale-Gagetown, it starts after.

CASS CITY

New teachers report Monday Orientation for all teachers is Tuesday and the first day of classes is Wednesday. Students will attend the full day. During the first two days, kindergartners in the morning session at Campbell Elementary will attend only Wednesday; the afternoon session, only Thursday. Kindergartners at Deford and Evergreen will attend both days. The elementary class day is from 8:25 a.m.-3:05 p.m.; intermediate school, the same; and high school, 8:35 a.m.-3:25 p.m. (ten minutes earlier than in the past.) Class assignments for Campbell and intermediate school students will be posted this Thursday at 3 p.m. High school students will report the first day of school to the gymnasium for a general meeting at 8:35 a.m. Buses will travel the same routes as last year the first two days, with adjustments to be made as soon as possible.

Lunch prices will stay the same as last year: 50 cents for elementary grades, 55 for intermediate and senior high, and 73 cents for staff members.

Students who can't wait for vacation won't have long to wait. They will have Friday through Monday off for Labor Day.

Teachers report Sept. 5. Grades K-6 attend school in Gagetown; 7-12 in Owendale. Seventh graders last year attended school in Gagetown.

High school registration dates are as follows: Seniors, Wednesday, Aug. 30, 9-11 a.m.; juniors, same day, 1-3 p.m.; sophomores, Thursday, 9-11 a.m.; freshman, same day, 1-3 p.m. All new students and those unable to come at the scheduled times should report to the principal's office any time during the day Friday.

The district has four staff vacancies to fill. As of Monday, candidates were still being interviewed.

The school board has yet to agree on a contract with teachers for the 1977-78 school year and the upcoming school year. The chief negotiator for the teachers has not ruled out the possibility of their "withholding services."

KINGSTON

In Sanilac county

Drain commissioner, road commission clash

Insistence on larger-than-necessary culverts by the Sanilac County Road Commission on county drain projects is costing taxpayers thousands of dollars, the Sanilac county drain commissioner charged last Thursday.

The engineer-manager for the road commission says the drain commissioner is unqualified to make such determinations.

Drain Commissioner Stuart Armstead presented his arguments to the press and other individuals last Thursday in Evergreen township at the location of various culverts which are part of the Stoney Creek Drain.

Cleaning and deepening of the drain, at a cost of $187,000, is scheduled to get underway in September. Armstead said if it could have been done his way, it would have cost $21,000 less. The difference has to be picked up by county taxpayers.

He had no choice in the matter, he explained. Had he gone by his engineer's recommendations for smaller culverts, the Road Commission would have taken him to Circuit Court, where, Armstead admitted, he lost a similar case in the past. The road agency could claim if the smaller culverts were installed, county roads would be damaged by flooding.

At issue is the formula used in determining the proper culvert size. The Road Commission uses one called the Talbot Formula, which computes the needed size for a culvert by taking into consideration the number of acres to be drained and the type of terrain.

Armstead produced a letter Thursday, dated May 20, 1977, from the Department of State Highways and Transportation concerning another Sanilac county drain, part of which read: "...the department has long since discontinued the use of the Talbot Formula as it calls for unrealistically large waterway areas, for drainage areas in excess of 100 acres or so."

THE DRAIN COMMISSIONER started his presentation at the culvert crossing under Severance Road, about a half-mile south of where the Stoney Creek Drain flows into the Cass River.

The culvert there now, installed seven years ago by the Road Commission, is a single round tube, 8 feet in diameter. Armstead quoted others that there has never been any flooding problem there. He wanted to leave it in place when the drain is improved.

The Road Commission insisted on an inverted U-shaped culvert, 12 ft., 8 in. wide by 8 ft., 1 in. wide, which will cost $7,250.

A culvert about a half-mile upstream, installed by the Road Commission a couple of years ago, is even larger than that -- 13 ft., 11 in. by 8 ft., 7 in. -- yet less water flows through it than will flow through the enlarged culvert to be installed under Severance Road.

South from there, the drain crosses Hoadley Road in two places. At both, there are two 72-inch diameter culverts, installed two years ago by the Road Commission. The drain commissioner claimed they were adequate.

The Road Commission wants them replaced with an arch pipe culvert in each location with a cross section area of 71 square feet. The cross section area of the culverts at each location now is 56.6 square feet.

ARMSTEAD, DRAIN COMMISSIONER for 23 years, accused the road commission, and especially its engineer-manager, Fred Elwood, of inconsistencies.

At Deckerville and Hoadley Roads, the road agency has said the 84-inch diameter culvert, which has a cross section of 38.5 square feet, is adequate.

It wants nearby culverts for three branches that flow into the main drain that goes through the Hoadley-Deckerville culvert replaced. The new culverts -- one per branch -- should have a total area of 52 ft., 5 in. Armstead said the present culverts, with some improvements, are adequate.

On Decker Road, a half-mile south of Deckerville Road, the Road Commission installed a 72-inch diameter culvert. According to Talbot Formula, only a 36-inch was necessary and even that would be larger than necessary, according to the drain commissioner.

"This is the kind of hodge-podge we get caught with," Armstead charged. Installation of the larger-than-necessary culverts on the Stoney Creek project, as required by the Road Commission, ended in a total project cost of $187,000. If done the way his consulting engineer recommended, it would have cost $166,000, Armstead said.

Although too late to do anything about the Stoney Creek project, the unrealistic requirements of the Road Commission will cost Sanilac taxpayers thousands of additional dollars on future projects, such as on an upcoming 25-mile drain project, according to the drain commissioner.

"Why should the people in these drainage districts and the county have to pay this kind of money to satisfy the Road Commission?" he asked.

ELWOOD, THE ROAD COMMISSION engineer-manager, when contacted by the Chronicle, responded, "Is Mr. Armstead a civil engineer? Does he have any qualifications to be drain commissioner?"

He pointed out that as a highway engineer, he has to have a college degree and be licensed by the state. "I'll put my expertise against Armstead any day."

"Just because he happens to be drain commissioner doesn't mean he knows anything more than how to tie his shoes."

As for the Talbot Formula, which Armstead claims is outmoded, Elwood said he feels that is the correct way to compute culvert size.

The engineer-manager emphasized that the drain commissioner had lost a similar issue in circuit court and if Armstead had tried to go ahead with the Stoney Creek project in accordance with his engineer's recommendation, it would have cost $166,000, Armstead said.

UBLY

Teachers report Monday. The first day of classes is Tuesday, a full day except for kindergartners. Unlike Cass City and Kingston, students will only have Labor Day off.

The school day for all students starts at 8:30 and ends at 3 p.m. for grades K-6; five minutes later for 7-12.

Lunch prices are the same as last year, 35 cents for elementary, 40 cents for secondary and 60 cents for adults. Bus routes will be about the same as last year. There are four new teachers: Gerald Pasquonito, secondary social studies; Susan Thompson, third and fourth grades at Parisville; William Schumaker, fifth grade at Uby; and Patricia Grendon, physical education.

Aug. 14, the school board approved a new contract with teachers, calling for a 7 percent pay increase the first year; 2.6 percent the second year plus a maximum cost-of-living adjustment of 5 percent; with salaries to be negotiated the third year. Starting the second year, the district will pay half the cost of a dental plan.

Non-teaching personnel and bus drivers also received pay increases, averaging 6-7 percent, at the Aug. 14 meeting.

Son of 4-H agent dies in accident

Richard Jardot, 25, of Caro, was one of three persons killed in an accident early Monday at Okemos.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Jardot. His father is Tuscola county extension 4-H youth agent.

According to the county extension office, Jardot, a Michigan State University graduate, was on leave from the Navy and visiting friends in the area when the accident took place. Okemos adjoins East Lansing.

The three were killed when the car they were riding in crashed into a utility pole at a high rate of speed and burst into flames.

The others killed were Steven Shackles, 23, of Muskegon, the apparent driver who was also in the area visiting friends, and Keith Hemmings, 24, of Bruce Crossing in the Upper Peninsula, a part-time MSU student and employee.

As of Wednesday morning, the extension office was awaiting word on when Jardot's funeral would be held.

CULVERT CONTROVERSY -- Sanilac County Drain Commissioner Stuart Armstead (third from right), argued last Thursday the 96-inch culvert seen here is adequate. The Road Commission wants it replaced by a much larger one, for $7,250, when the Stoney Creek Drain is cleaned and deepened. The culvert runs under Severance Road in Evergreen township.

St. Michael parishioners celebrating 25th anniversary

It was April 26, 1953 that members of St. Michael Catholic church in Wilmet held mass for the first time in their new church building.

This week end, parishioners will be commemorating the 25th anniversary of the new building. St. Michael has 158 member families.

A dinner will be held Friday evening at the Uby Heights Country Club.

Bishop Francis Reh of the Saginaw diocese will celebrate the liturgy Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Sunday, Bishop Reh and former pastors of the parish will help in celebrating the mass, starting at 10 a.m.

After mass, there will be a celebration on the church grounds for parish members. Included will be a chicken barbecue, beer tent, raffle, bingo, and other games. The celebration will run until about 6 p.m.

The history of the church goes back to Aug. 17, 1935, when it was organized as a mission of St. Joseph church in Sandusky.

The Shady Nook dance hall on Hawkins Street in Wilmet was purchased for $600 and converted into St. Michael church. The Sandusky pastor, Father Michael J. Kujawa, offered the first mass there Oct. 13, 1935.

The church cemetery on Kingston Road was also started about that time.

In 1942, Father John J. Bozek was named first pastor of St. Pancratius church in Cass City and the mission in Wilmet was transferred there from Sandusky.

In September, 1951, Bishop Stephen S. Woznicki named Father Sigmund J. Haremski as St. Pancratius assistant with instructions to "give special attention to St. Michael Parish, Wilmet, and the Catholics in Mayville, with a view to the eventual possible establishment of these two as parish and mission respectively."

March 28 of the following year, Bishop Woznicki designated St. Michael's as a separate parish and appointed Father Haremski as pastor.

Plans were made for a new church building at Kingston and Bevens Roads and Oct. 26, 1952, Monsignor John J. Sonfeldt blessed the cornerstone. Construction proceeded through the winter and the Catholic Weekly was able to later report, "It was with great pride and a sense of accomplishment that the pastor and parishioners celebrated the first Mass on April 26, 1953."

Parishioners who aided in the organizational efforts for the new building were Joseph Polheber, John Kapral, John Sowinski, George Kloc, Mary Wilkinson, Stanley Kloc, George Szostak, Joseph Karpawski, Zygmunt Wolak, Anthony Kaminski and Bruno Galubinski.

In the summer of 1954, a new parking lot was constructed and the cemetery landscaped. The outdoor shrine of the Blessed Mother, donated by Lawrence Zimba, was dedicated Dec. 8, 1955.

Father Floyd Welna was appointed pastor Sept. 7, 1956.

The burning of the church mortgage took place after the 11:30 mass June 23, 1957. The same day, it was announced that the bishop had ordered the pastor to make plans for the erection of a rectory next to the church.

Plans for the $50,000 rectory were approved in April, 1958. Much labor and time was donated and the new building was completed June 1, 1959. The church social hall is in the basement of the rectory.

Father Raymond J. Pilariski was appointed pastor June 28, 1960. He served in the position for 10 years.

Plans at the time called for complete exterior remodeling to make the rectory and church similar in exterior styling, plus remodeling the main entrance of the church.

Pastors since 1970 have been Fathers Eugene Susalla, Bill Taylor, Daniel O'Sullivan, Richard Kubiak and William O'Shea.

As of last week end, the only former pastor known to be attending the celebration will be Father Taylor, now pastor at St. Christopher's in Bridgeport. All have been invited, the problem being that they have to serve their own churches Sunday, making it hard to get away.

Father O'Shea has been pastor since July of 1977, coming to Wilmet from St. Stephen's church in Saginaw.

A native of Tyre, where he grew up on a farm, he has been a priest since 1971. He served in three parishes as associate pastor before coming to Wilmet, his first. Please turn to page 20.

Mark's best man was his brother Phillip. His groomsmen were Scotty Beck of Pontiac, Rick Knoll of Auburn Heights, and Rusty Gough of Pontiac.

An outdoor reception was held immediately after the ceremony for the 200 guests with the meal prepared by the DeLong family and the wedding cake made by Mrs. Allan Hartwick.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wyse and their daughter Libby, who were next door neighbors of the Clarke family during their stay in West Wyalong, New South Wales, Australia. Libby gave the brides satin horse-shoe arm charms to wish them good-luck in the traditional Australian style.

Randy and Sharon left for Houston, Texas, where Randy is employed by Perm-O-Green Lawn, Inc.

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

I missed it but Ralph Retherford and several other Cass Cityans didn't.

Carla Calka was on national TV's "Joker's Wild" early this week.

The MC asked where she was from and when she said Cass City, Michigan, you know what happened. Where's that? In the Thumb. Where's that? And so on.

To add insult to injury, Carla also lost the game.

Sometimes it pays to get away. Jeff Prieskorn was an exchange student for a year and didn't play much golf.

He returned this fall and started to sharpen up for the coming Cass City High School golf season. It didn't take long.

This week he shot a 31, a new course record at Rolling Hills Golf Course.

*****

There's been more time spent at the two most recent Cass City School Board meetings deciding whether or not to pay meals and lodging for groups attending school functions than any other issue.

It's a relatively unimportant matter in a budget the size of Cass City's.

There's no fervor here for paying or not paying. If the kids earn state honors in band or sports, the parents and/or the community will see that they are cared for.

However, it's only right that when the State pays a portion of the expenses, as they do in some sports, the money is spent on the participants before they are asked to pay for playing themselves.

*****

Yes, Virginia, there are string beans available. The Ken Martins brought in a big batch to prove it. (That beats trying to buy them at a produce stand.)

*****

Deer are becoming a problem for farmers. In the past week two of them have told me that deer have caused damage upwards from 25 per cent of bean crops.

Prediction: There will be a growing demand for a heavy kill and expanded deer season. That will cause some hard feelings among die hards but most folks brought up in a farm community will agree what has to be, has to be.

Goodrich freed

Intern prosecutor's error results in mistrial

A mistake by a summer intern in the prosecutor's office resulted in dismissal of charges against a Coruna man after a jury had found him guilty.

Keith D. Goodrich, 18, was being tried for the second time last Thursday for the July 12, 1977 break-in of the Oliver's Landfill office and shop building on Tuscola Road, Arabela township.

An earlier trial ended in a mistrial when the jury was unable to reach a verdict.

The intern, Eric Clark, mentioned during his closing arguments that Goodrich did not testify in his own defense during the trial, implying he would have done so if he were innocent.

After deliberating, the jury returned with a verdict of guilty.

Goodrich's attorney, George Holmes of Caro, then moved for a mistrial, arguing that his client's constitutional right to remain silent that is, not to testify, was violated by Clark's remark.

Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements agreed and granted Holmes' motion with prejudice, meaning Goodrich cannot be retried.

A student at the Detroit College of Law, Clark's last day at work was Friday.

In Circuit Court Monday before Judge Norman A. Baguley:

Rodney Berlin, 17, of Phelps Lake Road, Mayville, stood mute to a charge of breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny.

A plea of innocent was entered and a pretrial hearing scheduled Sept. 5. Bond was continued.

Berlin is charged with breaking into the Blackmore and Tubbs Funeral Home in Mayville May 17.

A motion for setting of bond pending appeal for Alan J. Dandron was granted. Bond was set at $50,000 cash or surety, which has since been posted.

Dandron, 21, of Sanilac Road, Kingston, was sentenced April 17 to 5-10 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for violation of probation.

He had been on probation for breaking and entering but was found guilty of violating it after he was found guilty last February of larceny by conversion.

A motion for a new trial and for reduction of bond for Nora May Cole was denied.

Mrs. Cole, 46, was found guilty by a jury of assault with intent to commit great bodily harm less than murder in the June 18, 1977 shooting of her ex-son-in-law outside of her home near Caro. She was sentenced Aug. 7 by Judge Baguley to 5-10 years in the Huron Valley Women's Facility near Ypsilanti. Bond pending appeal was set at $30,000.

Her attorney, Gary Crews of Caro, had requested it be set at $7,500, the amount set prior to her trial.

DISTRICT COURT

Michelle A. Bierlein, 17, of Vassar, charged with negligent homicide in the Aug. 10 traffic accident that took the life of Mary Ann Bernthal of Reese, faces preliminary examination before District Judge Richard F. Kern Sept. 8. A pre-preliminary examination will be Aug. 28. She is currently free on $3,000 surety bond. Monday before Judge Kern, Maurice Donnelly, 37, of 3739 Dale Road, Gagetown, was fined $97 and assessed $103 court costs for impaired driving. He pleaded guilty to the charge Aug. 8.

He was arrested on the charge May 16 in Indianfields township.

Raymond L. Bukowski, 60, of Minden City, pleaded guilty Monday to driving under the influence of liquor. The judge accepted his plea and suspended his driver's license for 60 days. He was fined $122 and assessed $128 court costs.

Bukowski was arrested on the charge in Cass City Aug. 12.

The Haire Net

Everywhere you look these days someone is trying to explain the Elvis Presley phenomenon.

It's a joke really. You can't explain Elvis anymore than you could Frank Sinatra in his hey-day or Rudy Vallee before him or the host of lesser heart throbs that come along periodically.

How can you explain women crying about a guy they never met a year after he died? Not any rational way. Maybe it's a form of self-hypnosis.

There have to be thousands that do it because it seems to be the thing to do. Any public event will draw its share of sensation seekers.

A popular theory by some observers is that Elvis has this impact because he was "the boy next door" and also a sex symbol.

If so, don't credit Elvis with this, bow down to the shrewd management that kept him in the public eye in the proper light at all times.

Sex symbols of the past have lacked the lasting impact that the rock and roll star brought to the entertainment scene.

Does that mean that people are more emotional, more impressionable, more goofy than they were one, two, three, four, five or six generations ago? Not on your tintype. It just means that today the media is there faster and with greater impact.

When Sinatra was causing the girls to swoon as he crooned, you heard it on the radio and maybe a couple of weeks later in the news shorts at the local theatre.

When Elvis threw his scarf millions saw it on television as it happened or soon after.

Then, too, Sinatra had the effrontery not to die near the peak of his career.

You can't eulogize an idol when he's singing the next week down the street and his voice is failing.

It's easy to visualize the memorial trek to Memphis for Elvis' birthday will become a big event and last year after year.

Maybe grow bigger instead of waning while drawing thousands who never thought much about the singer when he was alive. And as time passes more than a few who won't even know anything more about Presley than he was a singer.

I'm not knocking them. It makes as much sense to go for no other reason than it's the thing to do as it does to mourn a singer who may have died from over self-indulgence at an early age.

"If It Fitz. . ."

An old, true love

By Jim Fitzgerald

It was something like playing musical chairs, without the music. The players laughed a lot, but they weren't fooling each other. They all knew they felt like crying.

The son was there, and his wife, and his sister and her husband. They are all middle-aged, somewhat thick around the middle, and inclined to grunt when they get up out of low chairs. But on this day they felt like children again.

The son's daughter was also there, with her husband. They are the newlyweds, and they felt like ghosts. Because of their youth, they voluntarily stood first as the chairs slowly disappeared.

They had all arrived from out of town, on different highways, to meet in a small home in the city where the son and his sister had grown up, so many years ago. One couple drove a pick-up, and another couple had rented a trailer for the occasion.

Vodka and tonic was served. That's why the chairs and other furniture disappeared slowly. No one was in a hurry.

They moved reluctantly, and sat and sipped gratefully, even when most of the chairs were gone, and three middle-aged spreads had to fit on one couch.

They didn't want to do what they were doing. They hated doing it. They didn't want to move the chairs and other furniture out of the home and into the truck and trailer and car trunk. But it had to be done.

In the basement, the son found the wicker clothes basket. It still looks huge. Forty years ago, the son thought it was probably the biggest basket in the world.

He was surprised that he remembered. The last time he saw the basket, Franklin Delano Roosevelt was president. He hadn't thought about that basket since before World War II. How could he even be sure it was the same basket?

He was sure. And the memories came back in a rush. He remembered carrying that basket when his arms were barely long enough to reach the handles on each side. The basket isn't round, like most clothes baskets, it's rectangular, and a little kid had to stretch to get a grip on it.

The son used to carry that basket from the basement to the backyard for his mother. It was always full of just-washed clothes that had to be hung out to dry. He could smell those wet clothes again, and he could remember how proud he was to lift something for his mother.

When he was a very little boy, before he became a wise-guy teenager, the son was a fool about his mother. He knew she was the most beautiful mother in the world and he wanted nothing out of life except to be near her.

He sat under the grand piano while she played "Tip-toe Through the Tulips." He was always there, begging to lick the dish, no matter what she was cooking. When she visited neighbors, he literally hung onto her skirt for fear she might get out of his sight.

There was a day when the sister was leaving on a glorious vacation to visit an aunt in Toronto. The father was certain the son was jealous, so he gave his shoulder a squeeze and promised the son that some day soon he could also visit the aunt.

"I don't want to go anywhere," the son said, almost crying. He was horrified at the idea of leaving his beautiful mother.

The son remembered these things as he looked at the old basket so many years later, on the day of the non-musical chairs. He'd forgotten what a momma's boy he used to be. He was glad to be reminded, and sad.

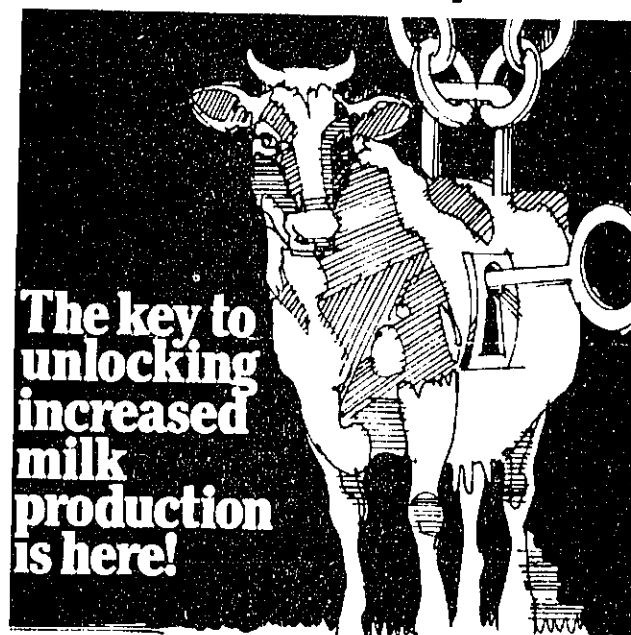

The chairs and clothes basket and everything else must be moved out of the house because no one lives there anymore. The woman who used to live there is now in a nursing home and, on the way out of town that day, the middle-aged son stopped to visit her.

Her health is failing and she may never live in a home of her own again. She is almost blind, and when she passes a mirror, she can't see what the son can see. She is still the most beautiful mother in the world.

The son hopes she knows how much he aches because he can no longer lift her basket for her.

IMMUNIZATIONS

Act 299, Public Acts of 1975, authorized the Director of The Michigan Department of Public Health to specify, by regulation, the immunizations and tests required of all children enrolling in Michigan schools for the first time. This year the following immunizations are required:

Diphtheria, Tetanus, Rubella, Pertussis, Measles, and Poliomyelitis.

In addition, each new school entry must have had a vision screening test.

The parent or guardian who, because of religious or other convictions, does not want his child protected from these diseases must submit a signed statement to that effect.

As part of our school admission procedure for your child, we must enforce the law stated above. We must have the health record or a similar statement in order to admit your child officially to school.

If you have questions about this, please consult your local school, your doctor, or the Thumb District Health Department.

EMERGENCY SCHOOL CLOSING

Special announcements concerning school closing will be made through the following public service facilities:

Radio WKYC --- Caro
Radio WMIC --- Sandusky
Radio WLEW --- Bad Axe
Announcements will be made as soon as a decision is reached.

GUIDANCE AND COUNSELING

The school guidance program is designed to assist students who have personal and social concerns, and to help students design academic programs to meet their individual needs. College admission and financial aid assistance is provided for students interested in continuing their education after graduation. One of the programs designed to benefit the student and the community is the co-operative education program. Under this program, some students are placed on-the-job work situations for part of each school day. Students and parents who desire information concerning guidance programs are invited to contact Mr. Cleland or Mr. Dillon at the High School, Mr. Koch at the Intermediate School, or Mr. Kuntz at the Campbell Elementary School.

FREE STUDENT LUNCH POLICY

The Cass City Board of Education has adopted the following family size and income criteria for determining eligibility of children unable to pay the full price of meals and milk served under the National School Lunch, Special Milk Program, U. S. D. A. Donated Foods Program.

Total Family Size	"A" Scale for Free Meals and Milk	"B" Scale for Reduced Price Meals
1	$ 4,190	$ 6,530
2	5,500	8,580
3	6,810	10,630
4	8,110	12,660
5	9,310	14,530
6	10,510	16,400
7	11,600	18,100
8	12,690	19,790
9	13,680	21,330
10	14,660	22,870
11	15,640	24,390
12	16,610	25,910

Each Additional Family member $ 970 $ 1,520

Children from families whose income is at or below levels shown on the scale are eligible for free or reduced price meals and milk. If your income is greater than those shown but have unusually high medical bills, shelter costs in excess of 10 percent of your income, special education expenses due to mental or physical condition of a child, or disaster or casualty losses, your children may still be eligible.

Application forms are being sent to all homes with a letter from the school. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. Approved applications entitle the applicant to have lunches paid in part or in total by federal funds. School officials may, for cause, verify the information of application. Application forms contain a statement of the space for signature certifying that all information furnished is correct. Deliberate misrepresentation of information subject the applicant to prosecution under applicable criminal statutes. The information provided on application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year.

In certain cases, foster children are also eligible for benefits. If you have foster children living with you and wish to apply for such meals and milk for them please notify the principal and indicate it on the application.

Children of unemployed parents may qualify for free or reduced price meals and/or free milk if total family income including welfare payments, unemployment compensation, and sub-pay benefits fall within the prescribed family income guidelines.

All children are treated the same regardless of ability to pay. In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, creed, color, or national origin.

Under the provisions of the policy the school principals review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may make request either orally or in writing to Donald Crouse, Superintendent of the Cass City Public Schools, for a hearing and appeal the decision.

Playing games

By Mike Eliasohn

The Bay City Times last week ran an article about an Ontario family that manufactures games that stress cooperation instead of competition.

In the game called Mountaineering, for instance, the players as a team of mountain climbers must have to overcome obstacles such as a narrow ledge and a chasm in order to reach the top of the mountain and get back down again.

The father of the family was inspired to develop the games of cooperation after listening to his two daughters bicker over a ring toss game. He wondered if he could develop a game that stressed cooperation and so quiet his daughters.

The family got into the manufacturing business and their ideas were reworked by various game companies, one of which told them "the public isn't ready for cooperation."

The family isn't the only one with ideas for games. Like theirs, mine will probably never get into production, and don't necessarily stress cooperation. Some of my ideas: the Owen-Gage Game — object is to keep the 30 district together without going bankrupt. The one with the lowest score labeled a "dissident." There is also the Owen-Gage Puzzle, for both supporters and dissidents. Each piece represents a parcel in Brookfield, Grant, Elmwood, or Elkland townships and the object is to figure out which school district each belongs in.

The Sanilac County Road Commission Game — On the game board are a large number of horizontal and vertical lines. The object is to figure out what roads they are.

The Detroit Game — Each player is a different car company. The object is to sell new cars to customers without getting them recalled.

The Blue Cross-Blue Shield Game — The object is to make it through the year without asking for a rate increase.

The Farm Game — The object is to grow as much as possible of a crop without losing money. Some say this game is very hard to win and others say it is impossible.

The Rain Game — Also for farmers. The object is to get rain out of the big dark cloud overhead before it passes over Lake Huron.

The Los Angeles Rams Game — Each player is the coach. The player who wins the most games without getting fired is the winner.

The Congress Game — For any number of players up to 535. The object is to spend as much government money in your district as possible without driving the country into bankruptcy.

Descendant of Indian chief finds her 'roots'

The great-great-granddaughter of Chief Mash-kee-yosh was a surprise visitor at the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners' meeting Tuesday.

Her name is Margaret Jackson and until earlier this year, the Burton resident didn't know she was related.

Who was Chief Mash-kee-yosh? He is the Chippewa chieftain pictured on the stained glass window overlooking the stairs on the south side of the courthouse.

The picture shows the chief, though unnamed, signing a treaty with Gen. Lewis Cass, then military and civil governor of the Michigan Territory. The treaty signing took place somewhere along the Cass River between Caro and Saginaw, the exact location apparently unknown.

Known as the Treaty of Saginaw and signed in 1819, the Chippewas ceded the land of the Saginaw Valley over to the U.S. Government. Gen. Cass acted as agent for the government in negotiating the treaty.

The government actually received a territory stretching as far south as about Lansing and as far north as Alpena, roughly one-third of the lower peninsula.

In exchange, the Chippewas were supposedly guaranteed "one thousand dollars in silver annually forever."

The tribe reserved a tract of 40,000 acres on the west bank of the Saginaw River near its mouth, but in 1837 relinquished it to the federal government. Some of the Indians then moved onto reservations in the state, others moved west of Lake Superior in accordance with the treaty.

The story of Mrs. Jackson is also interesting. She was adopted at age 4, her only link with her origins being a newspaper clipping from the Port Huron newspaper, saved for her by a foster parent before she was adopted.

The clipping was a legal notice, no longer required for adoptions, stating her parents' names and that their legal rights to their child were being terminated.

Now 41 and living in Burton (near Flint) with her husband, Ken, and their five sons, Mrs. Jackson grew up not knowing what had happened to her parents.

A break-up of her parents' marriage had led to her being put up for adoption. Mrs. Jackson's maiden name was Niles, although she knew from the legal notice her parents' last name was Gage.

When her foster father died last October, that got her interested in finding out. A name in the legal notice led her to a Port Huron nursing home. She was told her grandmother, who had worked there, had died two years earlier, however, she was given the name of someone who was her second cousin.

Her second cousin, who knew her when she was an infant, told Mrs. Jackson that her father, Frank Gage, was alive and living in Detroit.

The happy reunion with her father, whom she hadn't seen in 38 years, took place Feb. 18.

Her father is very proud of his Indian heritage, Mrs. Jackson said. Her father's grandmother was the daughter of Chief Mash-kee-yosh.

Frank Gage told his daughter about the family's heritage and also mentioned the stained glass window in the courthouse in Caro.

Tuesday was the first opportunity Mrs. Jackson had to visit Caro, making the trip with her husband and three youngest sons.

She was introduced to the county board members by county Clerk Elsie Hicks.

VISITOR — Catherine Bertrand, 18, of Belgium, returns home Saturday after having been in Cass City since May 2. She stayed with Rev. and Mrs. Harry Capps and was very appreciative of the hospitality expressed by Cass Cityans. During her stay, she toured the eastern United States, Chicago, and part of Canada. She speaks four languages and plans to become an interpreter.

Rules bar some winter cut-offs

The Public Service Commission recently adopted rules prohibiting utility companies from cutting off gas electric service during the winter months. The rules also prohibit the so-called "Commer's Bill of Rights."

The rules bar any company from shutting off service of any customer receiving assistance on a regular basis from any county or state social services agency if the agency pays or guarantees the customer's utility bills.

The revisions also stipulate that regulated companies could not disconnect the service of customers receiving welfare aid for at least 14 days after notice of pending shut-offs were sent.

Another change would require utilities to mail a copy of any customer's shut-off notice to a third party if the customer so requested.

The basic camp is designed to give junior college graduates and college sophomores who have not taken ROTC courses the chance to enter the program. The camp also qualifies high school graduates for the ROTC program at any one of the nation's six military junior colleges.

During the encampment, cadets received training in basic rifle marksmanship, military drill and ceremonies, communications and individual and small unit tactics.

Miss Brown is a student at Arizona State University in Tempe.

Bean crop forecast up over 1976

The state's and nation's dry bean crop should be up substantially over last year, according to the first forecast for the 1978 season by the Michigan Crop Reporting Service.

Based on information as of Aug. 1, the Michigan forecast was for 5.995 million hundredweight (cwt.) of dry beans, 9 percent larger than the rain damaged 1977 crop and 10 percent above 1976.

The 545,000 acres for harvest is up 65,000 acres from last year. The yield forecast is 1,100 pounds per acre, compared to 1,150 pounds obtained in 1977 and 1,000 pounds in 1976.

The national forecast is for 19.4 million cwt., 19 percent above the 1977 crop of almost 16.29 million. Acreage for harvest is estimated at 1.47 million acres, 16 percent more than a year ago.

The Reporting Service survey of dry bean seed dealers in the state, conducted in July, indicated colored bean seed sales are up 1 percent over 1976; cranberry bean seeds, up 13 percent; kidney beans, up 2 percent; and black turtle soup bean seeds, up 26 percent. The sale of pinto and "other colored" bean seeds decreased more than 30 percent.

The survey was not conducted in 1977.

AROUND THE FARM*Bean virus identified

By Don Kebler

Three weeks ago, bean producers began telephoning and bringing in bean plants with strange appearances.

Within the week identification of the problem and causes was made by our bean pathologist, Dr. Fred Saettler.

His identification was the beans were infested with bean mosaic virus which is spread by plant lice and leafhoppers. Leafhoppers are really abundant this year so they could be the primary culprit.

I'm not going to explain the total symptoms of the three strains of bean mosaic viruses because each strain imparts different symptoms. All three strains have this in common. The virus can only be spread by insects and no other way. Two of the strains can infect seeds and those seeds produce virus-infected plants from which aphids and leafhoppers spread the disease. A third strain does not infect the seed - only all other bean plant tissue. This strain is spread to healthy beans from diseased sweet, red and crimson clover, gladiolus and other infected plants.

Last week I watched a field of cranberry beans to identify any possible foliar herbicide damage from drift. There were some possible old symptoms of herbicide damage close-by the sprayed crop. Also in this area, plus the portions of the rest of the field, were at first glance what appeared to be delayed damage from drifting herbicide. Closer observation showed a heavy population of leafhoppers on the underside of the small, cupped, mottled bean leaves. It appeared the leaves were infected with a mosaic virus and not entirely hurt by herbicides.

Pinto, Charlevoix, Tuscola, Sanilac, Cranberry and black turtle beans are not resistant to this disease. Some seafarer plant might be infected by this virus.

It is not known where the virus came from but Saettler remarked that a high incidence of mosaic was observed in seed fields in the northwest part of our country. Michigan grown certified and foundation bean seed is inspected for mosaic as well as bacterial blight before allowing the sale any disease free bean seed.

If this wasn't enough sent a weevil for identification and learned why I never seen one like it before. It was the adult stage of sugar beet weevil. So r Tuscola county has the distinction of being one of Michigan counties have this weevil which just recently came into the U Sugar beet roots can heavily fed upon by underground larvae stage this gray colored weevil which is a good half-inch long and has a snout.

as the cross country coach. Players interested in competing are asked to meet at the high school at 4 p.m. Thursday and Friday.

In other business, Pakonen announced that season tickets for fall sports will go on sale at the high school principal's office Aug. 28.

The start of the North Central D League football season is fast approaching and when it does, Owendale-Gagetown coach Arnie Besonen figures his squad will be one of those in contention.

The first game, a non-league contest, is Sept. 8.

The Bulldogs, league champions in 1975 and 1976, narrowly lost the league crown last year, losing to Akron-Fairgrove in the

Swimmers achieve 2 goals

The 24-hour swimathon Thursday and Friday in the Cass City village park pool achieved two goals.

In the 24 hours starting at noon last Thursday, the 42 participants achieved their goal of swimming a total of 50 miles, which is 3,200 laps of the pool. No one kept track of who swam the most laps.

The other goal was to raise at least $500 for the fight against muscular dystrophy. Swimmers have until Friday to collect their pledges, according to pool director Karen Martin, but it appears closer to $600 will be raised.

The event was sponsored by the Cass City swim team and the pool staff.

Local merchants donated food for the participants.

game that decided the title, 8-7. The team finished second in the league with a 6-1 mark and 6-3 overall.

The Bulldogs' big plus this season is experience, only losing two starters from last year's squad.

One of those, of course, was all-state quarterback Roger Ziehm.

Besonen, back for his ninth season as head coach, has confidence in his new signal caller, Kirk Carolan. "He's going to step right in and take over."

The junior played only one varsity contest last year, the end-of-season non-conference game, but was quarterback for three years on the junior varsity squad which only lost one and tied two games during that time.

Carolan also received some valuable pointers when he attended the recent quarterback school at Birmingham Brother Rice High School. His coach describes him as a good passer.

Surrounding him in the backfield will be returning lettermen Jeff Hallock, left halfback; Tom Howard, fullback; and Brad Erickson, right halfback.

The Bulldogs have an experienced line, only losing Billy Parker. His replacement will be Pete Klemkowsky. Returning linemen are Mark Sontag, Jerry Harbuck, Jim Hendershot, Arnie Howard, Mark McDonald, and Dick Glidden.

Strong linebacking and cornermen will contribute to the defensive effort.

Although experienced, Besonen admits the line lacks size, except for McDonald and Klemkowsky.

He also said the defense secondary needs work.

Past the starting 11, the team lacks depth.

And except for Jeff Hallock, one of the faster sprinters in Class D track the state last year, the team's overall speed isn't the best.

Besonen sees defensive league champion Akron-Fairgrove as the team to beat this season, although lost nine starters from last year's squad.

Also in contention, he feels—in addition to Owen-Gage, will be Caseville, with Not Huron as a dark horse.

Except for the first game at Farwell, which starts 7:30 p.m., all others start 8. All games are on Friday. The schedule

No one needed tips on operating a hand fan efficiently.

Back in the days before high-speed fans and air conditioners, a lot of people depended on hand fans and cold lemonade to keep them cool during hot summer months. And quite frankly, there wasn't much you had to know about operating efficiency. Today, with convenient modern air conditioners, most people can keep cool with the push of a button. But air conditioners are a major electrical appliance. So, to keep them running efficiently and economically you have to maintain and use them properly. That's why Detroit Edison offers you the following air conditioning tips. Keep the air filter clean. Close all windows and shade out hot sunlight. Check to see that nothing blocks the flow of cool air. Always keep your air conditioner on a moderate setting, and on central units, set your thermostat at an appropriate comfort level but no lower than 75° By following these simple tips you can keep cool, conserve energy and save a lot of money. Enough money to keep you well stocked in lemonade. For more information, call or stop in at any Detroit Edison Customer Office.

Inflation plagues Cass Cityan living in Germany

The author is the former Debbie Francis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Francis of Cass City. She joined the Army after graduating from high school here in 1974, and met her husband, Juan Medrano, while stationed in Texas. No longer in the service, she is with her husband, who is stationed in Germany. They have two sons, Curt and Jason.

By Debbie Medrano

Most people I know when they read a paper, any paper, only read the things that interest them. So you may skip right over articles about the declining value of the U.S. dollar overseas.

Most of you probably don't realize the value of the dollar can vary as much as 4 cents on the dollar from one day to the next. You may not know that there has been a 12.9 percent decrease in the purchasing power of the dollar against the German Mark (DM) since August of last year. Of course you may not even care but then again why should you? It doesn't matter much either way to you because you don't pay rent or bills in German marks.

There are, however, a lot of us red blooded Americans over here that do - military families stationed in Germany, many of whom may be friends or relatives of yours. My husband is a Specialist 5 in the Army and on the Kaserne (station) where he's stationed, there are no family housing units, only billets for the single soldiers. We had a choice of moving to housing 15 miles away or living on the economy. We chose the economy.

Housing units here for U.S. personnel are very close to all the other Army facilities, PXs, commissaries, dental clinics, etc. On some kasernes you wouldn't even have to leave for anything. A lot of people call these Kaserne "little Americas". Generally people who live in these little Americas hardly ever have anything to do with life (culture) around them and the wives somehow find a lot more things to complain about.

When times are hard it's easy to get the attitude that no one cares or can help you with your troubles. That is especially true here in Germany because families and friends aren't here to turn to.

Child abuse and alcoholism are big problems with American families over here for the simple reason that because of the low value of the dollar, the families don't go out as much as they should or could if the financial situation were better.

Many E-4's and below with less than two years in service find it increasingly hard to keep their families together. These are the families that aren't authorized government housing. Many times landlords require a security deposit and two full months' rent in advance that can easily amount to more than $500, more than some of them make in a whole month. Many times the apartment only has one or two rooms. There are also deposits to make on the gas, electricity and water.

Many of these younger families understandably want to start having children. If somehow they make it through the first few months breaking even or with a little money to spare, they might think one extra mouth to feed won't be so bad. It may not seem like a mistake at first with the free medical care you get in the service and the next to nothing hospital fees ($4.10 a day).

It cost us a grand total of $12.30 to have our second son in Frankfurt. It's after that things cost: Formula, diapers (on the economy $4.80 for one box of Newborn Pampers), baby clothes, buggy and car seat. (German law states all children under 2 must ride in a car seat.) Babies can't even drink the water. Here you have to boil it for them and they have to have four fluoride drops a day because there is no fluoride in the water.

Even with all those extras, some people start a family only to find out later that their rental contract stipulates "no children," so they have to move before the baby is born or very shortly thereafter, thus bringing on themselves only more problems.

At one point about six months ago when the dollar dropped to under 2 DM per dollar (it isn't much better than that today), there were rumors flying around to the effect that all dependents were going to be sent home. This may sound far-fetched to you but it was possible.

At Christmas time, all non-commissioned officers (E-5 and above) on my husband's kaserne donated money to buy food for the E-4's and below. Each one received approximately $40 worth of food including turkeys, canned goods, vegetables and baby formula (for the ones with small infants).

For entertainment that doesn't cost too much, there are fests of all types, carnivals, Volks Marches (organized walks through the countryside), zoos, museums and castles to see. There are 20,000 castles in Germany alone. I have 19,988 yet to see.

Others still living, according to Hutchinson, are Post, now living in California, and Schwaderer, who lives at Provincial House. ## Gambles $2,500 on album

Polka group dancing way to big time?

Take a hog farmer, hospital orderly, factory worker and a supermarket stockboy.

Put them all together and you have the Harmony Knights, the sweetest sound this side of Warsaw, or maybe north of Hamtramck well, in the Thumb.

The Harmony Knights are a polka band.

There's John Rzyhak, 23, singer and trumpet, saxophone, clarinet and sometimes accordion player, a musician since age 13. An orderly at Huron Memorial Hospital in Bad Axe, he is in the process of moving from Port Austin to Bad Axe.

The hog farmer is Jim

Tyrrell, 21, of Huron Line Road, Uby. He has been playing trumpet since the fourth grade. He feeds 500 hogs and in partnership with his father, John Tyrrell, raises cattle and cash crops.

Then there are brothers Ron and Bob Osantoski, 19 and 20 respectively, who have very understanding parents. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Osantoski have to be. The group practices three nights a week in the basement of their Bad Axe home.

Ron, who works at Active Industries in Sebawaing, plays drums. His brother, a stocker at Farmer Jack's in Bad Axe, plays accordion and sometimes sings.

The two brothers began playing professionally while still in high school.

Formation of the Harmony Knights can be traced back to when Ron and Bob first decided to become more than a twosome.

At one time, the group was known as the Polka Sparks and consisted of the four present members plus a fifth member. The fifth member left to form his own group, taking the group name with him, and thus the Harmony Knights was born. That was two years ago.

As for the name, "We were just thinking of a whole mess of names and that was one of them," the lanky Rzyhak explained.

WHY WOULD A GROUP of four young men -- all single -- form a polka band? Well, in Huron county, with its many residents of Polish ancestry, polka music may be more popular than rock and roll.

"That's all I can remember as a little kid," Rzyhak explained. "We just like playing polka better than rock and roll."

Tyrrell adds another reason. "None of us plays guitar," essential for rock and roll.

As a senior at Uby High School, he belonged to a polka group composed of fellow Future Farmers of America members. Known as the Melody Makers, they won the state FFA talent contest and competed in the national contest in Kansas City. That was in 1975.

Tyrrell is the only Harmony Knight not of Polish origin. To overcome that handicap, he is sometimes jokingly called "Tyrrellski" by the other group members.

The Harmony Knights play at weddings, church festivals, dances, parties, and occasionally bars -- basically for anyone who wants to pay them $200 for four hours of music.

The group used to play quite often in bars, but, its members explained, that can get quite tiring, both for the band members and for bar patrons who get tired of hearing the same band each week.

The group plays almost every Saturday night and often on Sunday throughout the Thumb. They performed once in Detroit at a wedding.

TO PROMOTE THEIR group in a larger area, the Harmony Knights have gone in the record business.

They spent three days in March in a Southfield recording studio, recording an album.

They had photos taken for the album jacket, wrote the liner notes, and for $2,500, took delivery a couple of weeks ago of 1,000 albums.

For the album, entitled "Uptown Saturday Night," the group wrote two songs and created their own arrangements for the rest.

Song writing and arranging is basically a collaborative effort by all the members.

There isn't that much new polka music being written so for most groups, it's just a matter of creating arrangements for music already written, Rzyhak explained. "All polka bands play about the same songs. It's just different arrangements."

The group needs to sell about half the albums to recoup their investment. They will sell some wherever they perform.

More importantly, they hope the album will gain them exposure. In addition to Bad Axe, they plan to take it to radio stations in Sandusky, Flint, Bay City and Detroit which play polka music and while in those communities, arrange for record stores to sell the album.

There aren't that many polka albums being recorded, so they don't expect any problem in getting stations to play it.

Once people hear the album, the Harmony Knights hope it will result in bookings outside of the Thumb. "A lot of people in the big cities don't even know there are bands up here," Rzyhak said. Getting hold of the group is easy for anyone buying the album, the Osantoskis and Rzyhak's phone numbers are printed on it.

What lies ahead for the Harmony Knights?

With more experience and the right exposure, becoming full-time professionals is a possibility, even though big-time polka bands seldom make more than $1,000 a night.

But if they don't make it a pros, the group will continue playing. "If we don't do it a pros," said Bob Osantoski, "we'll just do it as a hobby."

Ubly woman drowns in farm pond

Regina Osentoski, 59, of Spencer Road, Ubly, drowned last Thursday night in a pond near her home.

Her husband, Sylvester Osentoski, told Sandusky state police she left their home about 9 p.m. He found her at 9:45, floating face down in the pond on the property of Kim Anthony on Spencer Road.

Dr. Donald C. McNeil, D.O., Sanilac county medical examiner, ruled death was by accidental drowning.

Mrs. Osentoski was born Sept. 9, 1918 in Paris township, Huron county.

She and her husband were married Nov. 23, 1940, in St. John's Catholic church, Ubly. They lived in Austin township since their marriage.

Surviving are her husband; a daughter, Jeanette Osentoski of Ubly; four sisters, Mrs. Victoria Longuski and Mrs. William Rudy, both of Ubly; Mrs. Peter Kubacki, Kinde, and Mrs. Elmer Susalla, Warren, and two brothers, Ignatz Warchock and Raymond Warchock, both of Bad Axe.

Services were held Monday morning at St. John's Catholic church in Ubly. Father Joseph Morales of St. Pancratius Catholic church in Cass City officiating. Burial was in St. John's cemetery.

A rosary was recited Sunday evening at Zinger Funeral Home, Ubly.

Area cows in state's 'top 20'

Two Holstein cows, one owned by Harold Gremel, Sebawaing, and one owned by Gerald Elenbaum, Owendale, have qualified as two of the "Top Twenty Milk" producers in Michigan for July.

The honor is significant in that the selections were made from 9,605 305-day records.

The Gremel cow was 39 months old when she started the record. Her 305 M.E. lactation record was completed with 28,009 pounds of milk and 930 pounds of butterfat.

The Elenbaum cow was 38 months old when she started her record. Her 305 M.E. lactation record was completed with 27,768 pounds of milk and 999 pounds of butterfat.

The state Holstein breed average is 15,330 pounds of milk and 553 pounds of butterfat.

The Gremels and the Elenbaums have their herds enrolled in the Michigan Dairy Herd Improvement Association herd management program and are serviced locally by DHIA technician Sylvester Abraham.

Dreams sometimes come true—and still we aren't satisfied.

Unknown school prowler cracks deputy on head

A Huron county sheriff's deputy was struck on the head Friday night while investigating a possible break-in at Owendale-Gagetown High School.

The officer, Larry Ringveiski, was on patrol when he noticed a light on in a room at the school. He noticed that a door was ajar, then was struck on the head with a large stone or piece of cement.

He crawled back to his patrol car and radioed for help. Huron deputies and police from Pigeon and Sebawaing responded.

Ringveiski was taken to Huron Memorial Hospital in Bad Axe for treatment of cuts and bruises. He was patrolling on his own time in Owendale, under an arrangement between the village and sheriff's department in which Owendale pays off-duty deputies for providing police protection in the village.

An 11-year-old boy was caught late Monday morning after having broken windows in the former Bassett Manufacturing Co. plant on Garfield Street.

The owner of the building, Bruce Gee, flagged down Police Chief Gene Wilson, who was driving by. Gee was holding the arm of the 11-year-old and said the youth and two others had thrown stones through the windows.

The youngster then told the chief the names of two other boys, ages 8 and 14, who participated in the vandalism.

Wilson counted 13 broken windows, all 14-by-16 inches, on the west side of the building and a broken front window, 24-by-28 inches.

The three boys later admitted breaking some of the side windows, but not all of them, and said they didn't break the front window.

Damage was estimated at $150.

Wilson said Tuesday he was considering petitioning the 11-year-old into probate court as it was the third time he has been involved in acts of malicious destruction. The parents of the other two boys will probably be asked to make restitution.

The Helen Stevens Memorial Pool was a popular place last Wednesday — only it was at 2:35 a.m.

Officer Phillip Klaus was on patrol in the village park when he noticed several persons at the pool. When he got closer, he saw some climbing the fence.

At the gate, he caught a male holding two cans of beer and a female climbing the fence. He ordered her to climb down and took the male to his patrol car and started to write out a citation. Klaus then saw the girl fall, striking her head on the pavement.

The young woman was injured so the officer called the sheriff's department to have it call an ambulance. As the ambulance was arriving in the park, the girl's friends put her in a car and drove her to Hills and Dales General Hospital.

Klaus followed to make sure she was taken there. At the hospital, he was later told, she had refused treatment.

Billy E. Arnold of 5442 Cemetery Road, Kingston, reported to sheriff's deputies Aug. 12 that a $166 air compressor was stolen from his garage.

Shirley Brown of Owendale reported to Huron county deputies early Sunday that the windshield of her car had been shattered, the second within the last month. Damage was estimated at more than $200. Clara Schoerner of Walnut Trailer Park, Cass City, reported to deputies Friday that three headlights and a grill were removed and the windshield smashed on a 1962 Rambler. The car was parked on a farm she owns on W. Gilford Road.

Two wheels and tires, worth $100, were removed from a Tuscola County Road Commission brush cutter, mounted behind a tractor, which was parked on M-46, east of Kingston. Deputies were called at 7:55 a.m. last Wednesday to investigate the theft.

Cass City police at 1:15 Saturday morning arrested Richard G. LeVailley, 17, of 7767 Rescue Road, Owendale, on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor.

They stopped his car on I Street, north of Chun Street.

He was booked at the county jail and released later that morning on bond pending an appearance in district court.

Winnie F. Skinner, Hurds Corner Road, Ellington township, reported deputies Aug. 13 that someone had blown up a mailbox during the night, putting a firecracker in it.

Accident round-up

List Webb in fair condition

Ronald L. Webb, 60, was reported in fair condition Tuesday afternoon at Hills and Dales General Hospital where he had been since an accident at 6 p.m. Friday.

Deputies reported Webb, of 3694 Cemetery Road, Cass City, was southbound on Cemetery Road, south of Shabbona Road, when he lost control of his truck. The vehicle crossed over a ditch and a driveway on the west side of the road and came to rest in a corn field, 115 feet south of where it went off the road.

Mark N. Gruber, 25, Rt. 1, Kingston, was ticketed by Caro state police on a charge of failure to yield right of way after an accident at 8:25 p.m. Friday.

Troopers said Betty B.

Pattullo, 39, of Caro, southbound on Remington Road, was stopped at the stop sign at M-81 when Gruber, who was backing from a private drive, backed his vehicle into hers.

Cass City police investigated a two-car collision at 4:30 p.m. Saturday. They reported that Arden C. Retherford, 61, of Gilford Road, Deford, westbound on Main, had his right turn signal on, intending to pull into a parking space just past Leach Street.

Hope R. Leslie, 17, of 324 Leslie Road, Deford, headed south on Leach and stopped at the intersection, though Retherford was going to turn onto Leach. She started to pull into the intersection and her car struck his vehicle.

New WCTU officers named

The Cass River WCTU Union met Aug. 17 at the home of Mrs. Elsie Anthes. Officers elected for the coming year were Mrs. Martha Putnam, president, and Mrs. Harriett Rayl, secretary-treasurer.

Members responded to roll call by quoting their favorite passage of scripture. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Rayl on the topic, "Promise and Performance from 1st John."

Annual dues were collected and contributions were voted for the VA hospital in Saginaw, radio station WMPC in Lapeer and to the Gideons organization. Lunch was served by the hosts.

In Tuscola county

Child care bill sure to jump

Tuscola county's bill for child care is sure to increase in 1979.

Probate Judge W. Wallace Kent Jr. appeared before the county Board of Commissioners Tuesday to request $143,000 for next year. He said the various child care programs should be able to squeeze by on the $120,000 appropriated for this year.

The child care programs, which include foster care, are partially funded by the state.

Another 1979 budget request came from Ron Cassie, director of the Thumb Area Commission on Aging. Tuscola, Huron, and Sanilac counties are each contributing $9,500 this year to the program.

Cassie has been paid with Comprehensive Employment and Training Act funds for three years. Under changes being contemplated by Congress in the CETA program, he explained, it appears he won't be able to continue receiving his pay from that source. If so, the appropriation needed from each county in 1979 will be $12,959.

If he is able to continue as a CETA employee, only $9,500 will be needed per county.

The board delayed approval of hiring an enforcement officer for the Friend of the Court until it could check some details.

The officer will have the power to search for fathers who owe child support and if he has a warrant, arrest them. He will also enforce visitation rights.

The county will pay half his $12,000 a year salary; the state will pay the other half.

The board approved continued participation in a juvenile justice grant program which funds, at no cost to the county, a juvenile worker at the Department of Social Services.

The person works with potential juvenile delinquents to help keep them from getting into trouble and with first-time offenders.

The board took no action on a request from the Kings-

1979 program details for wheat unknown

Huron county wheat growers have been inquiring at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office in regard to the 1979 wheat program, as they are in the process of preparing land.

County ASCS Executive Director Doris E. Western advises that it will be a few days before final details of the program are known.

At this time, wheat growers are advised that to be assured of the target price of $3.40 per bushel on 80 percent of their acreage, based on their normal yield, they may plant as much wheat as they want to this fall. They will be required to set-aside in 1979 an acreage equal to 20 percent of their wheat acreage to qualify for the program benefits. Program benefits include deficiency payments, government loans at $2.35 national basis, and disaster coverage.

Details are not known at this time as to the acreage that will qualify for 100 percent of target price protection.

Sign-up for the 1979 program will be at a later date.

"DO UNTO OTHERS" - The youth group of the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church of Cass City practiced what they preach two days last week. The youth, under the direction of the Rev. James VanDellen, pastor, painted the Harry Parker home on West Street. About 10 persons worked for two days on the project. The Parkers are senior citizens who have been suffering from ill health.

JIMMY Van Dellen, front, does his bit with the scraper, assisted by another member of the Lutheran youth group, as 10 volunteers made painting the Harry Parker home a quick job.

THE ORIGINAL St. Michael Church in Wilmot, used from 1935-53, was originally a dance hall and beer garden. There now are apartments on the second floor, with the first floor used for storage.

ST. MICHAEL CHURCH - Parishioners will celebrate the 25th anniversary of the first mass in the building with special activities Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The church is at Bevans and Kingston Roads, Wilmot.

2 ways to enter mental hospital

There are two ways in which an adult can be admitted to a mental hospital in Michigan, voluntarily and involuntarily, according to the state attorney general's office.

For voluntary admission, the person simply requests that the hospital accept him or her for treatment and medical personnel determine that the person would legitimately benefit from inpatient treatment.

Involuntary commitment requires the services of probate court. Someone with firsthand knowledge which might indicate that a person is mentally ill must first file a petition with the court or apply directly to a mental hospital asking for the involuntary hospitalization of the other person.

The petition must state why the person is believed to be mentally disturbed and a doctor's certificate must concur that the person is in need of treatment.

The court or hospital can then order psychiatric examination to determine or verify some disorder. Once a person is deemed to have some mental or emotional disorder, the court can call a hearing to determine if the person should be committed.

A person who is the subject of an involuntary hospitalization attempt has many rights under Michigan's laws. He or she is entitled to:

- Copies of the admission petition and the physician's certificates to help prepare a defense.
- Services of an attorney, paid for by the county if necessary.
- Trial by jury, with the subject present.
- An independent examination by a physician.

Being mentally ill is not enough to require that a person be hospitalized involuntarily. A person can be involuntarily hospitalized only if -- in addition to being mentally ill -- one of two conditions be established:

- There is reason to believe the person will harm someone in the near future.
- There is reason to believe he or she is unable to attend to basic physical needs, such as food, clothing, or shelter.

If the person was admitted as a voluntary patient, he or she is free to terminate their stay at any time. But if they have been involuntarily committed to the mental hospital by the court, it is up to the hospital staff to decide when to release the patient.

assignment as parish priest. Like his predecessors, he also serves as pastor of St. Joseph church in Mayville, which started out as a mission of St. Michael's and became a co-parish in the early 1970s.

Planning of the anniversary celebration was primarily a project of the Men's Club and Altar Society, with Bob Zyrowski, Virginia Bilicki, and Chet Karpowski serving as co-chairmen.

Estimate $10,000 loss in Kieltyka barn fire

Spontaneous combustion was the apparent cause of a fire Thursday night that destroyed the barn of John Kieltyka on Lamton Road, south of Gilford Road.

The fire was discovered about 8:15 by the owner's son, Frank, who had just returned home from the store when he heard a "pop," went outside to investigate and saw fire through one of the barn windows.

Kieltyka got the one cow out that was inside the barn, then because the telephone in the house was out of order, went to a neighbor's about a quarter-mile away to call the fire department. He said by the time he got back to the barn, it was engulfed in flames.

His father was about a half-mile away picking vegetables when the fire started.

Frank Kieltyka said the two-story wood barn contained about 400 bales of hay and some lumber. Some chickens may also have been inside.

By the time Elkland township firemen arrived, only a couple of beams were still standing.

They were at the scene about 1½ hours, aided by Lamotte township firemen, who brought a water tanker to the scene. A Bliss Milk-hauling tanker was also used to bring additional water.

Firemen believe heat build-up, that is, spontaneous combustion, inside the barn started the hay burning.

They estimated the loss at possibly $9-10,000.

An obviously upset John Kieltyka told the Chronicle he didn't have enough insurance to cover the entire amount of the loss. He had lived there since 1969 and since that time had been restoring the barn and house.

Drain squabble continues

mentations, the Road Commission "absolutely" would have gone to court to stop the project.

The Road Commission will be filing suit shortly against the Stoney Creek Drain project for other reasons, Elwood continued.

The suit will contend that as planned, the drains parallel to Downingtown and Deckerville Roads aren't being set back far enough from the roads, in accordance with state law and Road Commission policy. The suit will also contend Armstead illegally altered the plans.

Stuart Armstead

The drain commissioner responded that on another circuit court case, he won on the issue of how far back from the roads drains have to be. The changing of the plans, he said, involved the larger culverts insisted on by Elwood. The changes were included in the bid specifications and attached to the blueprints, but it would have cost additional money and it was unnecessary to have an engineer change the blueprint drawings.

Armstead also pointed out that although he is not an engineer, he does hire engineers to do the engineering work.

Woodland Street, where strong winds blew over a burner barrel while trash was burning inside.

Neighbors had extinguished the fire spread by the burning trash by the time firemen arrived. That was at 1:30.

At 4:30, firemen were called to Shabbona Road, east of Lamton Road, where fire was burning around base of a tree.

The fire was apparently started by children playing with sparklers as a spark box was found at the scene.

BARN FIRE -- By the time Elkland township firemen had the fire extinguished Thursday night, all that was left of John Kieltyka's barn was a pile of burnt beams and hay. The barn was on Lamton Road, south of Gilford Road on the Evergreen township side of the county line.
