

11-year-old dies in farm mishap

Eleven-year-old Gerald Boudell of Deford was killed Sunday when his clothes became entangled in the power take-off shaft of a tractor.

The son of Michael and Jacalyn Gibson of 1728 Kingston Road was dead at the scene. The incident took place at 5:10 p.m.

According to Caro state police, the youngster was working with Noel Powell Jr., 18, and his brother Lance Powell, 15, of 5506 Deckerville Road, Deford. Their father, Lance Powell Sr., was owner of the property they were working on, at the southeast corner of Deckerville and Phillips Roads.

The Powell youths told officers they were standing behind a silage wagon feeding silage into a barn. The victim was on top of the wagon pushing the silage back.

Lance said the power take-off from the tractor to the silage wagon was spinning but not engaged. He attempted to put the PTO in gear but when it wouldn't engage, he walked around to the tractor and found the victim trapped in the PTO shaft and apparently dead.

The two youths had last seen the victim on top of the wagon about five minutes earlier.

Speculation was that the Boudell youth was either climbing down from the wagon or had apparently climbed off and was then getting back on when he fell onto the spinning shaft and became trapped between it and the wagon tongue.

The Powells summoned their father, who was about a mile away. He cut away the boy's clothing to release him from the shaft.

The victim was taken to Caro Community Hospital, where he was officially pronounced dead on arrival. An autopsy was performed Monday at St. Mary's Hospital, Saginaw.

Gerald Leonard Boudell was born Dec. 13, 1967 in Warren and attended Kingston Elementary School.

He and his family had only lived in this area a few weeks.

He is survived by his parents; two sisters, Shawn and Ronda Gibson, and one brother, Heath Gibson, all at home; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Mason and Mrs. Mary Gibson, all of Warren, and several aunts, uncles and cousins.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at Collon Funeral Home, Caro. Rev. Gerald Rodgers of the Deford Community church will officiate. Burial will be in East Dayton cemetery, Wells township.

SMILING THROUGH the tears is Julie Helwig, who was named Cass City Homecoming queen Friday. She receives a bouquet of roses from Principal Russell Richards after being crowned by Amy Erla, last year's queen. The new queen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn Helwig of 6765 Pine Street.

County budget in 1980 top $4 million mark

A 1980 Tuscola county budget topping the $4 million mark, more than $500,000 more than the county will spend this year, got a preliminary okay Tuesday from the Board of Commissioners.

Commissioners also said they are willing to fight if Probate Judge W. Wallace Kent Jr. negotiates new salaries with his employees and exceeds the budget amount they allocated to his department.

There are several reasons for the big increase in 1980, according to Commissioner Kenneth Kennedy of Millington, chairman of the board's finance committee.

Federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act funding that paid the salaries of about 18 county employees came to an end, so they will be put on the regular county payroll.

The county's contract with its unionized courthouse employees -- about 35 persons -- expires at the end of the year, so they will be getting an as yet undetermined increase in pay.

Salaried employees, mainly department heads, got pay raises in the 1980 budget averaging 7 percent.

Drainage work will increase greatly in 1980, with the drains at large budget increasing from $71,183 this year to $170,957 next year.

Assuming there is a presidential election in Michigan in the spring, there will be three county-wide elections next year. That's going to cost the county $43,000, versus $3,250 spent for such purposes this year.

erty taxes. Although funds from that source will increase about $240,000 next year, the county loses about $130,000 in CETA funds, according to Kennedy. Revenues from the state are projected to decline in 1980.

Overall, county revenue, including $285,000 in federal revenue sharing money budgeted for public safety, will be up only $249,044 over this year. The new budget depends on use of a projected $597,068 surplus from this year in order to come out balanced.

The proposed budget, which got conditional approval by the board Tuesday, will be the subject of a public hearing Tuesday, Oct. 23, at 10 a.m. After that, the board will decide on making any changes, based on what was expressed at the hearing, and then give the budget the final approval.

JUDGE KENT

One person who may not like the new budget is Probate Judge Kent.

He previously informed the board that he intended to do his own negotiating with his four or five employees for their 1980 pay raises.

He feels that some are underpaid compared to other county employees. "It seems particularly ludicrous to me that the dog catcher is paid more than the register of probate, deputy register and court reporter," he wrote in his budget request to the board. "The only conclusion that can be drawn is that dogs are more important than children, mentally ill persons and bereaved families."

Kent also asked for a $10,000 pay raise for himself from the county, stating that he is paid less than the probate judges in Huron and Sanilac counties, yet he has a bigger case load. He presently gets $21,765 from the state, plus a state-mandated $6,000 from the county, plus a $5,000 county supplement for a total of $32,765 annually.

The budget given the preliminary okay by the board keeps his county paid portion the same at $11,000. (County supplements for other judges, $6,000 for the district judge, $4,500 for the circuit judges also remain the same.)

There is no question he does have the legal right to do his own negotiating, but in order to shackle any possible excessive generosity on his part with county funds, the board included pay raises in his department budget.

The projected 1979 expenditures for probate court are $105,457. Kent requested $133,905 for 1980. Commissioners are giving him $106,864. (Most county department heads' requests were trimmed back, however. Total requests added up to $4,355,500, versus the final budget of $4,049,382.)

Thus the county board is telling the judge how much he can afford to pay his employees. If he chooses to exceed that amount, commissioners were predicting Tuesday they will end up in court (not Kent's), where a judge will have to decide who has the ultimate authority.

"I think this board has been real favorable to Judge Kent and I think we're getting kicked in the teeth because of it," board Chairman Paul Nagy commented at one point in the discussion.

Fear was also expressed that should Kent negotiate salaries higher for the probate court workers than are paid to regular courthouse employees with equivalent positions, that will spur the latter on through their union to demand higher wages than commissioners feel the county can afford.

Retired since 1964

Ex-Supt. Willis Campbell says possible farewell to Cass City

It has been 15 years since Willis Campbell retired as Cass City superintendent of schools, after 43 years with the school system.

For each of the years since then, he and his wife Gladys have spent the winter in Florida, originally in Vero Beach and for the past several in Stuart.

This week, they have been preparing to go again, but with one difference. Their house on N. Seeger Street where they have lived for about 30 years is for sale and depending on their health and whether they can find a place in Cass City to rent next summer, they may or may not be back. They leave Sunday.

One reason for what may be a permanent move there is that their daughter, Mary Jones (their only child) and her husband, Bruce, are moving to Florida permanently, about eight miles from where her parents will be.

Mrs. Jones followed in her father's footsteps in school administration. She was principal of a Waverly District elementary school, outside of Lansing, when she retired.

Campbell, 87, was one of seven sons of an Alpena lumberman, who sent all of them to college. Two others are still living, Dr. Lloyd Campbell of Saginaw and Walter Campbell, who lives in California.

Willis graduated from then Michigan Agricultural College (now Michigan State University) in 1921 and came to Cass City as the vocational agriculture teacher. He never left.

Campbell participated in the Michigan State Fair for 26 years and for several years he was superintendent of beef cattle. That paid benefits for his students as he would get in good stead with the cattlemen who were exhibiting, purchase their top calves and bring them back to Cass City for his students to raise into prize steers.

He became high school principal in 1935 and was appointed superintendent of schools in 1943. He received a master's degree in education administration from MSU in 1948.

HE WAS NAMED CASS

City Citizen of the Year in 1963 by the Chamber of Commerce for his many contributions to the community.

Included was co-chairmanship of three hospital drives and a bond drive, vice-president of the Tuscola County Crippled Children's Society, charter member of the Cass City Planning Commission and president of the Rotary Club and Cass City Community Club.

He was also one of the organizers of the Community Chest here, was in charge of the Chamber of Commerce Welcome Wagon, Sunday School president, president of the Tuscola County Schoolmasters' Club and was superintendents' representative on the State Forensic Council. Starting in 1964, he served two years on the governing board for Central Michigan University, having been appointed by Governor George Romney.

The school board renamed the then Cass City Elementary School after him in June, 1963.

CAMPBELL STILL keeps track of school affairs via the newspaper and notes, "We didn't have the teacher strikes and we didn't have the discipline problems they have now." He doesn't think discipline problems here are as bad as they are in some places. "I think we have a better caliber youngster than the average."

The worst discipline problem he ever encountered, he recalled, was a tough kid who moved here from Detroit who rumor had it was going to start a gang.

He called the kid into his office, took off his (Campbell's) jacket and told him that was where all the planning was done and that if the youngster had any plans, he better make them there.

The kid never caused any trouble after that. Six months later, he moved.

Campbell, who was paid $12,000 his final year, also notes that teacher strikes weren't something that superintendents had to deal with in his day.

"What we did with salaries, is the school board figured out how much they could pay the teachers. When that was gone, that was it. Now they got to be paid for everything."

A teacher representative did appear before the school board, he explained, but that was basically to explain to him so he could tell the teachers why and what their salaries would be.

The retired school official has fond memories of the 58 years he has spent in Cass City and of his many friends here.

"This is a wonderful place to live," he commented. "It's a privilege to live here."

No crunch at the bin -- elevators have space

In contrast to some past harvest seasons, when elevator managers were wondering where they were going to put all their incoming grain, few if any problems are expected this year.

"We don't figure we'll have any trouble," said Blount Agriculture Manager Jim Turner in Gagetown, in a comment typical of those contacted by the Chronicle.

Harvesting of fall crops has been slow to get underway because of last week's rain, but predictions are for a "pretty decent crop," in the words of Wickes Agriculture Cass City Manager Bob Wischmeyer.

Part of the storage problem in the past has been a shortage of rail cars, which made it difficult for elevators to ship out their grain to the big terminals as fast as it came in.

That doesn't appear to be a problem this year. Railroads have more cars and, according to Thumb Cooperative Terminal Manager Jim Bollenbacher in Elkton, "the flow of cars is better; they aren't sitting around."

Wischmeyer describes the supply as "pretty good this year."

There are 12 rail cars allocated to the elevator in Gagetown for its use, Turner said. A year ago, he had only three.

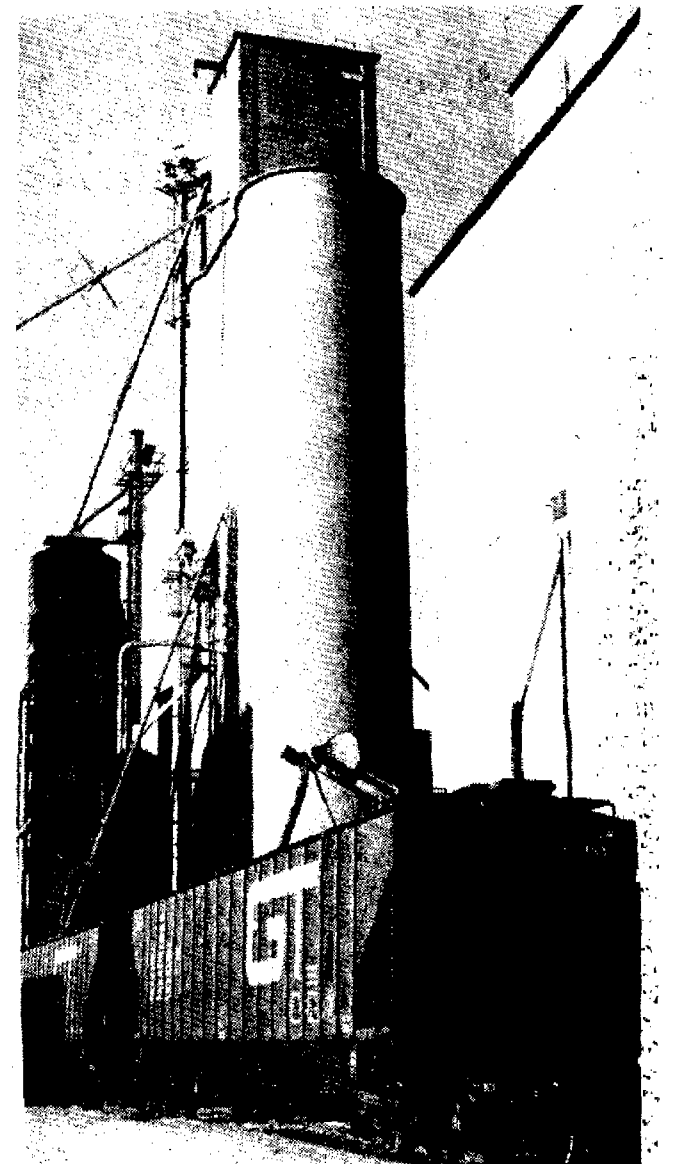

Bollenbacher's problem hasn't been getting rail cars. A train of hopper cars was scheduled to come to the Elkton elevator this week, but because of the slow start of harvesting, as of last week, he didn't have enough grain in storage to fill them.

Although Kingston Farm Services owner Richard Walker isn't having trouble getting rail cars -- "We get them about as quick as we order them," -- he is having trouble getting trucks for hauling grain.

The problem is that he is in competition for some of the same trucks used for hauling sugar beets. That is nothing new during fall harvest, however.

Walker added that he might have some storage problems this year because of the need to devote more space to soybeans, an increasingly popular crop in this area.

Another factor in alleviating the storage crunch at elevators, according to Wischmeyer, is increasing use by growers of on-the-farm storage bins.

PLENTY OF ROOM -- Area grain elevators aren't having problems getting rail cars this year, so their managers expect to have enough storage capacity this year. This is the Blount Agriculture elevator in Gagetown.

Golf course green damage $1,000

Damage was estimated at $1,000 to the first hole putting green at Rolling Hills Golf Course, Cass City, apparently done by a pickup truck that was driven over it several times.

Golf course owner John Maharg told Caro state police Saturday morning that the damage was done late Friday or early Saturday.

Entry to the course for the vehicle was gained by removing a portion of a wood fence.

Damage to the rear bumper and taillights of a car belonging to Dale L.

Vollmar, 4442 Cedar Run Road, Cass City, was estimated at $100.

He told Cass City police early Tuesday that it was done while the car was in the Charmont parking lot between 9:30 p.m. Monday and 12:50 a.m. Tuesday. The damage was done by a vehicle with a high-mounted bumper which was pulled up behind Vollmar's parked car and then pushed against it.

Deborah Kay Harbec of 2567 Cemetery Road reported to Cass City police Monday that while her car was parked at the Charmont early Saturday, someone removed the four chrome center hub caps.

Bob Copeland of 4685 Hospital Drive told village police Saturday that while his car was parked in the alley behind Old Wood Drug from 3:30-4 p.m., another vehicle put a scratch in it on the left rear side.

Lavina Hendrick of 5854 Koepfen Road, Cass City, told deputies last Wednesday morning that while she was gone, someone threw a rock through a door window of her home.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Are there any traces left of the glory years for Cass City when it was known as "Christmas Town?"

That's what Tom Herron, president of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce wants to learn. Specifically, he would like to find any remains of the displays that made us famous in the 1960s.

The Chamber asks that you call Herron if you know where any have been mothballed over the years.

John Popp, ex-Defordite now living in California is a good loser. Popp is the California Angels baseball fan who sent us clippings after his team won the western division American League baseball crown.

Editor Mike Eliasohn sent him five papers with the Angels' losses in the play-offs circled.

Popp dropped a note saying: "Thank you for all the sport sections, enjoyed 'em. Hope the Tigers can take the east next year and the Angels the west."

Jennie Hutchinson, 91, passed along this item telling of teacher regulations in New York City Schools in 1872.

Daily duties included bringing in a scuttle of coal and bucket of water, filling lamps and cleaning chimneys.

Women teachers were dismissed if they married or engaged in "unseemly conduct" and all teachers had to account for their conduct if seen smoking, using liquor, in a pool hall or getting shaved in a barber shop.

Teachers who performed their duties faithfully and without fault for five years received a pay raise . . . 25 cents per week.

This item was reported by Eliasohn. He didn't know it but some of those rules persisted into the 1930s. During the depression years no married women were allowed to teach and in the country schools keeping the fires and general housekeeping chores were the accepted thing.

Although we print our goofs for all to see, usually they are gone and forgotten after the next paper is published. But there are exceptions. One published Oct. 4 promises to live for generations. At least it will for Renee Gill of North Branch.

Renee is a basketball player for the Broncos. She's number 10 on the program. On the same program the football players are listed. Number 10 for the Bronco football team is Kevin Withey. In a football picture the Chronicle labeled a picture of Withey as being Gill.

That got back to Renee and she promptly took the picture and placed it in her scrapbook to be able to show all concerned that she played football in 1979.

COUNCIL ON AGING of Tuscola county, held its first ever monthly meeting in Cass City Oct. 8. The council, composed of delegates from the 16 senior citizens clubs in the county, is an advisory group to the Thumb Area Commission on Aging (TACA). Among those present were, seated, from left, Edith Crosby, Akron, vice-president; Margaret Weaver, Mayville, president; Mary Conley, Caro, secretary; and Stanley Baldwin, Caro, county representative to the Area Agency on Aging. TACA board members in the rear, from left, are Charles Simon, Kingston; Raymond Weaver, Mayville, and Mel Price, Caro.

Woodruff pleads in Wickes break-in Richard L. Woodruff pleaded guilty in Circuit Court Friday to a charge of attempted larceny in a building in connection with a Sept. 4 break-in of the Wickes Agriculture silo office in Cass City.

Judge Patrick R. Joslyn accepted his plea and scheduled sentencing Nov. 23. Bond was continued.

Woodruff, 21, of Brown City, was originally charged with breaking and entering but pleaded guilty to the reduced charge in a plea bargain agreement with the prosecution.

Taken from the silo office (not the main office) were some tools. Roger W. Bearinger of Caro still faces charges of breaking and entering and larceny in a building in connection with the incident.

Also Friday, Paul L. Walencik, 17, of Pontiac, was placed on three years' probation for attempted receiving and concealing stolen property over $100.

He was also sentenced to 60 days in the county jail, with credit given for two days served, with serving of the sentence to begin June 25, 1980. He was fined $200 and ordered to pay $950 restitution.

He was charged with having had possession of a stolen car in Mayville in May. Walencik pleaded guilty to the charge Aug. 24. Sentencing of John J. Heffer, 47, of 3341 Kirk Road, Vassar, for attempted felonious assault was delayed one year.

He pleaded guilty to the charge Aug. 10 in connection with an assault on his wife with a shotgun July 10 in Juniata township.

DISTRICT COURT

Peter W. Kritzman, 39, of 3826 Van Dyke Road, Decker, was sentenced Monday by Judge Richard F. Kern on three charges to which he pleaded guilty Oct. 3.

He was placed on two years' probation for driving under the influence of liquor (1st offense). He was also sentenced to 90 days in the county jail, with 30 days to be served immediately and the remainder deferred. His license was suspended until further order of the court. He was fined $100 and assessed $150 court costs.

Kritzman was arrested on the charge Sept. 10 in Wells township.

On charges of no operator's license in his possession and possession of open intoxicants in a motor vehicle, he was fined a total of $50 and court costs of $35. He was ticketed on the two charges June 16 in Kingston township.

The Haire Net

There are a bunch of sanctimonious thieves operating in cities with pay TV. Chances are they regard themselves and are regarded by their neighbors as solid upstanding law abiding citizens.

Yet they are stealing everyday and more of their neighbors are joining them. A story broke last week telling that the pay-TV code had been broken and homes are picking up first-run, no commercial movies, sporting events and other programs without paying.

Normally, the homes subscribing to the service pay for each event they want to see.

But now that the code is broken television shops are experiencing a run on the parts necessary to alter sets to keep from paying the fees.

Which is stealing anyway you look at it.

Chances are that many of the thieves tell themselves it's being smart . . . putting one over on big business. Others probably didn't give a hoot about the ethics of their actions, if they even gave it a thought.

It's a lead pipe cinch that a good number of the homes that have doctored TV sets also have guys in the forefront of the chorus resounding across the nation asking for a crackdown on crime.

Crime to them is the guy out there with a gun waiting to dip into the purse of the first unwary victim coming within reach.

There's little doubt that stealing television time isn't as serious as armed robbery . . . no one can get killed as a TV is altered.

An idle speculation about the people involved. Do they figure that every man has his price?

If they do and think about it they should come to the conclusion that their price isn't very high. Just a few bucks ripped off from a company is all it takes.

You could argue that a person that finds a lost wallet is cheating the person who lost it if he doesn't return the money.

There are plenty of you out there who would make every effort to get the money back to its rightful owner.

There are probably some that would keep the money and return the wallet. Others that would keep the money and throw the wallet in a trash can. And some that would keep the money, take out the credit cards and run up as many bills with them as they thought they could get away with.

You can't say in which group the guys altering television sets fall. But I hope they never find a wallet of mine.

"If It Fitz..." Interpreting the polls

By Jim Fitzgerald

Cards on the restaurant table requested customers to rate the food by marking X next to "excellent" or "good" or "fair" or "poor."

"The food was indisputably poor," my friend Ralph said, "but Jimmy Carter would rate it fair."

In a recent interview, President Carter said the polls may not be accurately measuring feelings toward him because they don't count "fair" as a complimentary rating.

"Where I came from . . . if somebody says 'I think he's doing a fair job,' that is a high approbation," the president said.

Ralph disagrees with his president: "It's bad enough that the government is making us switch to the metric system, causing millions of motorists to distrust the road signs that tell us how far we have to go. Now the White House wants to change the meaning of the polls that tell us what we are thinking while we are going."

"According to the dictionary, something is fair if it is 'neither excellent nor poor, but moderately good.' Words like 'fair' allow a polite society to avoid continual bloodshed. If a man tells his wife she has prepared a fair dinner, he is saying she is a moderately good cook. She will pout for a few weeks. If he says it was a poor dinner, she may hit him on the head with a platter, requiring stitches."

"Now the president of the United States has proclaimed it is an expression of high approbation, which means extreme approval, to say someone has done a fair job. He isn't satisfied to duck flying platters. He wants insults to taste like kisses. Being president means never having to pout.

"Do you know what this presidential change in the traditional system of grading performances means?" Ralph asked. "It means if Amy Carter gets all C's on her report card, she will graduate magna cum laude."

There is no denying that Jimmy Carter is asking for a radical readjustment in the public's view of poll results. For instance, take a look at a recent Associated Press-NBC News poll in which 19 percent of the people questioned gave Carter a "good" or "excellent" rating, 49 percent rated his work "only fair," and 30 percent said it was "poor." Two percent said they "weren't sure."

You might interpret that poll as indicating Carter is in deep excrement. But, according to the president's rating system, 49 percent of the people believe he is worthy of only high approbation.

And if "only fair" means strong approval, what do Carter's other grades mean?

"The two percent who said they 'weren't sure' meant they weren't sure whether Carter is the greatest president since Jefferson or Lincoln," Ralph said.

"The 30 percent who rated him 'poor' meant he deserves a pay raise. The people who answered 'good' meant Carter was born on the planet Krypton and his father is Marlon Brandon."

"And the people who graded the president 'excellent' meant they think we have all died and gone to heaven where Hamilton Jordan sits at the right hand of Jimmy Carter," Ralph said.

Admittedly, Ralph leans toward sarcasm when discussing politics, but he makes a valid point concerning Jimmy Carter's interpretation of poll results. The president does favorably exaggerate what people think of him.

"The basic problem is that Carter has an exaggerated opinion of his ability. As a result, he promises to do great things that he's not capable of doing," Ralph said.

Does that mean Ted Kennedy doesn't have to worry about getting his ass whipped?

"If I were Kennedy, I would be on guard against a pinch in the fanny," Ralph said.

If Ralph is right, Carter's performance in the coming campaign promises, at best, to rate 49 percent low approbation in the polls. Marlon Brando will be only moderately proud of his son.

Eastern Star elects officers

Fifty members of Echo Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, attended the Oct. 10 meeting.

Seventeen officers answered roll call with Maud Sarosky filling the Esther's chair.

Highlight of the business meeting was election of officers for the coming year.

Elected were: Worthy matron, Shirley Karr; worthy patron, James Karr; associate matron, Marion Umpfenbach; associate patron, Herman Umpfenbach; secretary, Ruth Ann Whittaker; treasurer, Thelma Graham; conductress, Georgene Jensen; associate conductress, Lena Teller.

Elected as alternate delegates to the 1980 grand chapter sessions were Mrs. Jensen, Umpfenbach and Mrs. Virginia Hartwick.

The above officers and those to be appointed will be installed at an open installation Oct. 27.

A school of instruction for officers will be held Nov. 5. Secretary Ruth Ann Whittaker in her annual report to the chapter reported present membership at 240, 59 of whom are life members.

Seven new members were added during the past year. The chapter lost 12 members, seven by transfer to other chapters and five by death. It held 10 regular meetings and three special meetings with an average meeting attendance of 40.

Dessert refreshments were served in the dining room at the close of the meeting by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stilson and their committee.

PEDALING AROUND

Dreaming on four wheels

By Mike Eliasohn

In my younger days, I was a car nut.

I could tell the year of about every car going down the road. "That's a '56 Chevy. That's a '58 Ford." Now I sometimes can't even tell what make of car it is unless I look at the nameplate.

Not that I was ever a mechanic. The most mechanical thing I have ever done is rotate my tires and I never even owned a car until I was a junior in college.

For that, I'm sure my parents were grateful. I had a friend in high school who bought a Model A Ford in pieces. Although he did eventually get it running, I don't think he ever got it finished and I doubt if his parents ever got use of their single-car garage back until he got married. (The marriage was earlier than he had intended, which wouldn't have happened if he had stuck to working on his car.)

The first car I ever saw that made me drool was an Auburn boat-tail roadster, built around 1935. It was on display at a Ford dealer's at the same time the first of the new four-seater Thunderbirds was being shown, which would have made it in the fall of 1957 (the 4-seater T-Bird having made its debut as a 1958 model). No one was paying much attention to the Thunderbird, but there was a small mob around the Auburn.

Other than cars like the Auburn, which definitely was a true classic, American-built cars never did much for me, even though I drive one.

Foreign cars, especially the exotic ones, were what turned me on and still do. Most of them represented finesse over brute force, which is perhaps what I liked.

In comparison, American cars were overweight tanks.

If growing up in America and liking foreign cars seems strange, I once corresponded with an Englishman — who by coincidence was also a newspaper reporter — who loved American cars.

There was one other American car, other than the Auburn, that turned me on, the Studebaker Avanti, which debuted around 1963, but wasn't enough to prevent the company from folding as a car builder a couple of years later.

The Avanti still exists, built by a South Bend, Ind., firm organized by a Studebaker dealer who bought the rights to it after Studebaker folded.

I now have another dream car.

I was driving along Grand River Ave. in East Lansing several months ago when it pulled out in front of me. At first I thought it was a kit car, a sleek fiberglass body mounted on a Volkswagen chassis.

But then I saw the nameplate — Ferrari.

No joke — whenever the driver braked, I was thinking my brakes would suddenly fail and my $300 car would plow into the back of that fabulous machine. (My brakes are still working.)

A couple of months later, I saw the car again, parked at an East Lansing stereo shop while a new (and expensive) radio was being installed. (See photo below.)

According to the fellow installing it, who was a friend of the owner, the car, a Boxer model — rare even among Ferraris — was worth $80,000.

I think that may have been a little exaggerated. In the classified section of last week's issue of Autoweek, two Boxers were listed at $61,500 and $63,000.

It's still possible these days to build a house for $61,500, much less $80,000, but that much for a car?

For a Ferrari Boxer, it would be worth it.

About three feet high, rear end packed full of aluminum 12-cylinder engine with a carburetor for every cylinder and a speedometer that reads to 200 miles per hour.

If you still don't understand, well, some things can't be put into words.

MINI-COLLEGE DAY, sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service and Michigan Association of Extension Homemakers drew about 100 persons from all over the upper Thumb, mostly women, to Cass City High School Saturday to attend classes and see exhibits. Among the "exhibits" was DeeDee Tibbits of Caro who played a variety of unusual instruments. Here she plays the recorder for, from left, Wilma Cleland, Greenleaf township; Debbie Proctor, Mayville; Mildred Oeschger, Bay Port, and Marilyn Elenbaum, Mayville. Instrument in the foreground is a hammer dulcimer.

Two teenagers hurt in Cass City crash Friday

Two teenagers were hurt Friday night in an accident on Hospital Drive.

Treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital was the driver, Luis R. Arroyo, 17, of 4540 Elmwood Road. One of two passengers was hurt, Nina Sue Allor, 15, of 8910 Grassmere Road, who was discharged from the hospital Monday.

Arroyo told Cass City police he was attempting to get his tape player to work and didn't pay attention to the road. He then had to swerve to avoid an oncoming car and went off a curve on Hospital Drive and the car struck a tree.

He was ticketed by police on a charge of failure to stop within an assured clear distance ahead. The accident occurred at 10:45 p.m.

Two women were treated and released from Caro Community Hospital following a 3:50 p.m. accident Monday.

They were Shirley J. Sommerfield, 34, of 1735 Crawford Road, Deford, and Barbara Sue Lutfitaha, 29, of Sterling Heights.

Caro state police reported Ms. Lutfitaha was northbound on Hurds Corner Road, didn't yield at Bevins Road, and was struck by the westbound Sommerfield auto.

Ms. Lutfitaha was ticketed on a charge of failure to yield.

At 9 p.m. last Wednesday, according to sheriff's deputies, Gerald W. Bennett, 34, of 6288 Brenda Drive, Cass City, was southbound on Unionville Road, north of Ackerman Road, when his vehicle scraped the railing of a bridge located on a bend in the road. The vehicle then went out of control and went off the west side of the road, south of the bridge.

At 2:45 a.m. Sunday, deputies reported, Kevin R. Nicholas, 16, of 6811 Bay City-Forestville Road, Cass City, was northbound on Warner Road, north of Severance Road, when he lost control of his vehicle and it rolled over off the east side of the road into a corn field. The truck landed upright, its driver unhurt.

CAR-DEER

At 8:20 p.m. last Thursday, according to Caro state police, Brian L. Vandemark, 17, of 6379 Garfield Street, Cass City, was eastbound on Deckerville Road, east of Phillips Road, when his car struck a deer.

Beverly J. Weller, 36, of E. Sanilac Road, Caro, was southbound on Cemetery Road, south of Deckerville Road, at 7:30 a.m. Sunday when her car hit a deer. Deputies investigated.

At 8:45 that morning, Caro state police said, Clifford W. Hazzard, 60, of Hillman, was westbound on Deckerville Road, east of Plain Road, when his vehicle struck a deer.

Regina V. Lasceski, 57, of Filion, was eastbound on M-81, just west of Cedar Run Road, at 4:05 p.m. Sunday, deputies said, when her car collided with a deer.

Deputies reported that at 7:45 a.m. Monday, Edward P. Bilicki, 59, of 1779 Hawkins Street, Deford, was westbound on Bevins Road, east of English Road, when his car struck a deer.

Rev. Vender feted on 89th birthday

The 89th birthday of Rev. Melvin R. Vender, Oct. 15, was observed with and by relatives and friends.

Saturday evening, Mrs. Edythe Vender Adair, a niece from Battle Creek, and David Vender and his wife and six-year-old son, Cory, from Hastings had a special dinner together at Veronica's Restaurant.

Sunday, cousins Mrs. Velma Snoddon of Bad Axe and her sister, Mrs. Harold Roberts and husband of South Bend, Ind., shared dinner at the Charmont Restaurant.

Climaxing the observance Monday evening was a birthday dinner at the home of Dr. and Mrs. K. Ivan MacRae, friends for a third of a century.

The wedding of Evelyn and Ivan MacRae was the first church wedding conducted by Rev. Vender after becoming pastor of the First Presbyterian church here in 1944.

Rev. Vender was the recipient of a number of gifts and greetings from as far away as the Schuckerts in Tuscaloosa, Ala., and cousins in Houston, Texas.

Meredith Auten remembers

Halloween was a big night in Cass City. The intersection of Main and Seeger on Halloween night was piled high with machinery, outhouses, and any other things that could be carted away. I remember Earl Fancher nailing a wire to a tree and a post in the alley just north of Jim Tennent's house, about a foot high from the ground. Tennent's house was the one west of the professional building. All was ready when some other boys pushed over Jim's outhouse. Out came Jim and fired his gun. Away down the alley tore the bunch of boys and over they went as they struck the wire. Marvelously no one was injured, but it would have been bad for Fancher and me if they had caught us. A. W. Jones owned the Gamble Store. He had an outhouse just north of the store. It had been tipped over so often that he had put a steel belt around it. Out of the Masonic Lodge on Halloween night came six stalwarts - much like the Boston Tea Party - and embarked on the mission of, upsetting the obnoxious building. With that much power it had to go. Charlie Day, Doc McCoy, Lyle Koepfgen, R.D. Keating and myself were the ones I remember. Creaking and wrenching could be heard for blocks. The gang dispersed in a hurry. The night watchman caught me up near his house and escorted me to the main corner, knowing only that I had been running. Doc McCoy greeted him with the kind words, "I don't see how you can let Auten go when you've got Andy Bigelow locked up." Jones was pretty wrathful. We tried to appease him by giving him a dinner. Koepfgen had been tackled by night watch Kosanke. Lyle tells that he hurled Kosanke over his head. Kosanke said Lyle pleaded like a good fellow. We were never sure who told the truth. Shortly after this, McCoy, who was the village health officer, wanted to get rid of all the outhouses, of which nearly every store had one. He summoned a few men on Halloween and started out breaking them up and carting them out to the dump. All went well except Art Atwell inadvertently fell in one and came out smelling unlike a rose. "Money talks - but few folks hang on to it long enough to learn the language." BOX SEATS About the only people who listen to both sides of an argument are the next-door neighbors.

Clarification

The payment approved by Tuscola County Board of Commissioners Oct. 9 of $925 to Planning for Living was the remaining amount owed to the Bay City counseling clinic. The article in last week's Chronicle suggested the total amount involved was $4,000. There was $2,270 paid to the firm last year and $325 paid earlier this year. All the fees were for juveniles sent to the clinic by Probate Judge Wallace Kent. Also at last week's meeting, the board rejected a request from Tuscola County Big Brothers-Big Sisters for $10,000 for 1980 due to budget restraints and a question over the legality of such an appropriation if it were made to the private organization.

'Christmas Town' meeting set

The Cass City Chamber of Commerce will be sponsoring a "Christmas Town" in Cass City this season. There will be a general meeting Saturday, Oct. 27, at 10:30 a.m. in the meeting room at Charmont Lanes for the purpose of generating ideas and drawing up a format for "Christmas Town." Interested individuals and representatives of organizations are invited to attend. Further information can be attained from Suzanne Chappel (872-2435) or Tom Herron (872-2217).

Gagetown Area News

Mrs. Harold Koch Phone 665-2536

Mrs. Phyllis Conner and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Day of Detroit were Saturday callers of Mrs. Gerry Carolan. The children of Mrs. Cecil Loomis of Cass City held open house Sunday afternoon at the Masonic Hall in Cass City in honor of her 80th birthday. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Koch of Elsie called on Mrs. Mabel Ondrajka Sunday afternoon. SWEDISH VISITORS This past week Sandy Ziehm of Gagetown had as guests, Ann Sofi Eklund of "Jonkoping, Sweden, and Ingrid Gunnarsson of Taberg, Sweden. The girls are currently travelling by bus across the U.S., sightseeing and visiting friends and relatives. Ann Sofi is a foreign pen pal of Sandy's. They have been corresponding for almost eleven years. Continuing their trip in the U.S., the Swedish friends will visit Chicago, Utah, California and other western states as well as parts of Canada. They will return to Sweden the first part of December. DELAYED NEWS STUDY CLUB The Women's Study Club met Oct. 1 at the home of Esther Werdeman. Roll call was answered by 14 members and one guest with "my favorite song or music." Frankie Anker and Alma Miklovich will be delegates to the East Central District convention Oct. 16 at the First Presbyterian church in Flint. The program was on folk music presented by Zora Walrod. HEALTH TIPS

Looking good with plastic surgery

By Frank Chappell,
American Medical Association

Physical appearance is our calling card. An attractive and pleasant appearance opens doors.

It is not merely vanity that prompts tens of thousands of Americans to turn to cosmetic surgery to seek improvement of physical appearance.

The mental shock of "dumbo" ears can mark a boy for life, the American Medical Association points out.

The most common cosmetic surgical procedure is the rhinoplasty — the "nose job." The surgeon removes excess bone and cartilage to reduce the hump on a prominent nose.

For proper facial harmony, chins are sometimes built up with bone or cartilage transplants in an operation called mentoplasty.

Hanging upper eyelids that give a look of fatigue and aging can be corrected by removing excess skin and fat. The operation is called blepharoplasty. Bags under the eyes are included in this procedure.

The widely known "face lift" is actually called rhytidoplasty. Incisions are made close to the ear and in the hairline and the skin is redraped into a more youthful position. Excess skin is removed. The aging process continues, however, and the face lift must be repeated after a few years.

Surgery to correct protruding ears — otoplasty — is usually performed just prior to the child's entering school. This protects the child from the teasing by schoolmates that may arise from his appearance. The incision usually is hidden on the back side of the ear.

Breast enhancement through implanting of a silicone prosthesis sometimes is sought. Injection of liquid silicone into the breast has been found to be harmful and is no longer done. Enlarged, sagging breasts can be reduced by surgery to remove excess tissue and reshape the breast.

Plastic surgical operations do not magically give new talents or personalities to people. Rather, they take away a liability so that the person's own natural talents and personality can develop normally.

Candidates needed for committees

Farmers are asked to nominate candidates to be on the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation community committee ballot, according to Vernon L. Kretzschmer, chairman of the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The ASC community committee election will be conducted from Nov. 23 to Dec. 3 by mail ballot.

ASC committees are responsible for managing federal farm programs on the local level.

Petitions must be limited to one nominee each, must include written certification that the nominee is willing to serve if elected, must be signed by at least three eligible farm voters in the ASC community, and must be received in the county ASCS office no later than Oct. 29.

WCTU convention Thursday

The eighth district of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is holding its 99th annual convention this Thursday at the Nazarene church in Vassar.

Call to order is to be given at 10 a.m. by district President Mrs. Leonard Dorman of Snover.

Guest speaker at both the afternoon and evening sessions will be Mrs. Herbert Eastman of East Lansing, the state vice-president. Her afternoon topic will be, "Channel of the Open Door."

Funeral held for Mrs. Parrish

Elene June Parrish of Cass City died Saturday at Hills and Dales General Hospital after a short illness.

She was born July 15, 1920, in Juniata township, Tuscola county, the daughter of Ray and Margaret (Guilds) Brock.

Miss Brock married Steven Parrish July 17, 1940, in Port Huron. They moved to Cass City in 1967 from Gagetown. Parrish died

Dec. 2, 1975.

Mrs. Parrish is survived by one daughter, Jane, at home; one sister, Mrs. Ernestine Gibbs of Unionville, and one brother, Kenneth Brock of Pontiac. One son, one daughter, three brothers and one sister preceded her in death.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon from Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with Rev. James Van Dellen, pastor of the Good Shepherd Lutheran church of Cass City, officiating.

Burial was in Hillside cemetery, Elmwood township.

Faith Gospel schedules two services

Beginning Sunday, Faith Gospel Tabernacle will be holding two Sunday morning services.

The first will be from 8-9:30; the second from 10-noon.

This change is to facilitate the growing numbers of people before the congregation moves into its new sanctuary, now under construction.

Sunday School will be at the usual time, 10:45.

Faith Gospel Tabernacle is an interdenominational, full gospel church located 9 miles southwest of Bad Axe, a quarter-mile west of M-53 on Rescue Road.

Rev. James Willett is the pastor and Rev. A.F. McWilliams, assistant pastor.

Discarded cigarette starts fire

A discarded cigarette started some insulation on fire to smolder at Albee's Hardware Saturday afternoon.

Elkland township firemen said the cigarette, still burning, was discarded in the entranceway and started the felt insulation strip-expansion joint between the wall and floor to smolder.

They used a fire extinguisher and high pressure hose to make sure the fire was out.

Damage from the 1:20 p.m. incident was insignificant.

Thumb area hot spot for pheasant hunters

With the state's pheasant population at a low point, hunters may find Michigan's 20 put-take areas the only bright spots left for good pheasant hunting this year, the Department of Natural Resources reports.

"Pheasant broods are down 20 percent from last year and brood numbers are at their lowest since we began keeping records in 1946," according to Bill Fouch, DNR gamebird expert.

Fouch explains that the past three severe winters are the main cause for the population drop, but contributing to the decline is the increasing scarcity of good cover for the birds in the southern one-third of the state.

Best bets for pheasant hunters in southern lower Michigan this fall, relative to other areas in the state, appear to be in southern Shiawassee county and in the area where Sanilac, Tuscola and Lapeer counties come together. Hunters may also have good luck in the marsh areas along the Saginaw Bay in western Huron county and in northwest Tuscola county.

Pheasant season in southern Michigan starts Oct. 20 and runs through Nov. 10.

But on 20 special areas, the put-take season is already in progress and hunter success is much better than that predicted for the regular pheasant season.

The put-take pheasant season runs through Nov. 14, temporarily halts for the firearm deer season, and then resumes Dec. 1-31. Areas include posted portions of the Deford and Lapeer State Game Areas.

As currently carried on, the program involves hatching, rearing and releasing 120,000 pheasants each year.

Hunters must have a $10 permit and a valid small game or sportsman's license in order to hunt pheasant on put-take areas. With the exception of senior citizens, put-take hunters also need a $1 Public Access Stamp when hunting in any area except Gladwin.

Hunting in put-take areas is restricted to the hours of 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Birds are released after 2 p.m., which gives them the rest of the day and all night to spread out and adapt to the habitat.

Leaders recognized at 4-H banquet

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK was observed by first graders at Campbell Elementary School last Thursday with a tour of the fire station and a ride on the fire trucks, driven by firemen Paul Harmer and Chuck Hughes. These youngsters are among those in the classes of Polly Pakonen and Christine LaBerge.

At Cass City High School

Highway plan hearing Monday

A study of present and future transportation deficiencies and needs in east central Michigan apparently doesn't foresee many problems in the upper Thumb. Cass City High School will be the site for one of four public hearings to be held on the plans in the 14-county region. The hearing will be at 8 p.m. Monday in the cafeteria.

Its purpose will be to provide an opportunity for citizens and representatives of governmental agencies to review the study's findings, ask questions and offer suggestions.

The report was prepared by the Michigan Department of Transportation and the East Central Michigan Planning and Development Region.

Other than generalities applicable to the entire region, the study makes few specific mentions regarding roads or other transportation facilities in the upper Thumb.

It notes that traffic problems occur at several state highway intersections in the upper Thumb, including M-53 and M-142 at Bad Axe. Recommended is that "Caro should be established as a sub-area study to evaluate methods of alleviating congestion and accident problems on the trunkline route to the Thumb."

Suggested is that "if energy supplies remain abundant," corridor studies are needed on several state highways, including M-46, which runs through Tuscola and Sanilac counties, and M-25, the shoreline road in Huron county.

Under the aviation section, the study recommends construction of a new airport in the Vassar-Millington area.

A dial-a-ride public transportation system is recommended in all 14 counties, plus improvement in present inter-city bus service.

Also recommended is continuation of all present railroad service until detailed plans are developed, including establishing true costs and benefits of various rail service routes.

After the public hearings - the other ones will be in Midland, Tawas City and Mt. Pleasant - a study team will evaluate all concerns and recommendations made at them.

Then, "post decision" meetings will be held in the region to present the recommendations of the study team as to the complexity of the transportation problems identified and the feasibility of initiating specific sub-area, corridor and project planning studies.

Whether the studies are made depends on available funding and recommended priorities.

Last will come monitoring of the region's social, economic and environmental changes in relationship to its transportation system and initiation of new proposals to adjust the transportation system to those changes.

Free brochures summarizing what is called the "East Central Regional Transportation Study" are available at the public libraries in Sandusky, Caro and Bad Axe.

Copies of the complete study are available for review at county clerks' offices.

Additional information can also be obtained by calling the state transportation department toll-free at 800-292-9576.

Rev. Dale J. Bird

New minister just in time for Holbrook Baptist church's 20th anniversary

As an ex-farmer and milk truck driver, Rev. Dale J. Bird feels right at home in his new rural pastorate.

The new minister at Holbrook Baptist church, which is celebrating its 20th anniversary homecoming this Sunday, gave his first sermon there as a candidate Sept. 16.

He was offered the position the same day and gave his first sermon as pastor Sept. 30.

Rev. Bird, 29, was born in Tecumseh in southeastern Michigan. When he was 16, his family moved to a farm at Stephenson in the Upper Peninsula.

After graduating from high school there, he drove a milk truck for a year, then was in the Army from 1969-73. He started out as a truck driver and was later a motor pool dispatcher and heavy equipment mechanic. After leaving the service, he farmed with his father for two years.

It was during this time he decided to enter the ministry, so enrolled at Oak Hills Bible Institute in Bemidji, Minn.

The decision to become a minister, he explained, "wasn't a fly-by-night thing." He had been president of his church youth group while in high school and people had suggested he should consider the ministry because he had the voice for it.

His last two years at Oak Hills -- he graduated in 1978 -- he pastored a church in Boy River, Minn.

While in school, he responded to a bulletin board notice for a pastor needed in Colorado. The church had filled the position by the time his letter arrived, but it was given to another church nearby in need of a minister.

He and his family thus found themselves in Arapahoe, seven miles from the Colorado-Kansas state line, where he was pastor of the Arapahoe Community church.

Sunday attendance there averaged about 45, composed of Baptist and Church of Christ members. The latter were in the majority, however, and wanted their minister to become a member of that church.

Rather than let a conflict develop, and because Rev. Bird and his family wanted to return to Michigan, they left there in June.

His wife, Marie, is from Daggett in the Upper Peninsula (three miles from Stephenson, north of Menominee). They have been married 10 years and have two children, Dale R. 6, and Scott, 2.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale L. Bird, now live in Brown City, where Bird works as a machinist. He and his wife are looking for a farm to purchase, however.

The Holbrook Baptist church, on Germania Road three miles north of Cass City Road in Greenleaf township, has an average Sunday attendance of 35. Its new minister is working to increase that figure, initially by contacting former members and persons who have attended once or twice but didn't join.

The new minister includes among his hobbies "puttering with cars" and model building. His last such project was a model stagecoach, which was made into a lamp.

The Birds are living in a mobile home newly installed on the church grounds.

Extension group views slides

The Cass City Extension Group met at the home of Mrs. Walter Stark Friday afternoon.

A dessert luncheon was served before the meeting. The meeting was called to order by Leader Mrs. Rose Wortsell. Pledge to the flag and women's creed was repeated.

Mrs. Stark showed slides of the cultural arts of the Amish people in Pennsylvania. She also gave the history of the Hummel figurines and had several on display.

Plans were made for the group to attend the play "Funny Girl" in Midland this Friday.

Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Henry Airgood Nov. 9 at 1 p.m.

Coming Auctions

Saturday, Oct. 20 - Earl B. and Bina Redifer will sell personal property at the place located two miles north and one and a half miles west of Snover, Ira, David and Martin Osentoski, auctioneers.

Thursday, Nov. 1 - Mrs. Shirley Doerr and sons will hold a Holstein dairy auction including milking equipment at the farm located one mile west and one and a half miles north of Cass City on Koepfgen Rd. Lorn Hillaker, auctioneer.

BACKWARDS

Opportunity often is missed because a fellow is broadcasting when he should be tuning in.

the Holbrook Community church.

It later became and for many years was a Methodist church. After it closed, it was purchased by Lilah Sills, now living in Port Huron, who wanted it preserved as a church.

It had been closed 7-8 years before she sold it to the Baptists. It reopened as the Holbrook Baptist church in October, 1959.

An addition on the rear was built in 1970.

Rev. Milton Gelatt, of Cass City, now retired, was pastor there from when it opened until Rev. David Williams took over in July, 1975. He left in April of this year to become pastor of Trinity Baptist church in Saginaw.

Rev. Wesley Briggs of Vassar then served as interim pastor until Rev. Bird was appointed.

HOME COMING

Performing a musical program at the 11 a.m. service Sunday will be Bob and Becky Brunton of Eaton Rapids, a full-time gospel duet team for 15 years.

There will be a carry-in dinner at noon, followed by a special homecoming program at 2:30. The Bruntons will again perform. Rev. Allen Stebbins, former pastor at the Wahjamega Country church, will deliver a special message.

REV. DALE J. BIRD

Christmas contest set again

The Cass City Chamber of Commerce will again sponsor a Christmas home display contest, it was decided at the organization's Oct. 8 meeting.

There will be three categories: Christian displays (constructed or purchased), lighted display and most original (humorous, creative, etc., constructed or purchased).

First prize will be $50 in each category, with two $10 honorable mentions in each. There may also be a Santa's house set up in the former gas station at Main and Seeger, plus carols and other special programs, but that hasn't been decided definitely yet.

Also at the meeting, it was decided to help support the Village Back Festival in November to a maximum of $120.

Your Neighbor says

Keep the open primary election

Democratic legislators and Republican Gov. William G. Milliken have been involved in an imbroglio over continuation of Michigan's presidential primary election, which barring a change will next be held in spring, 1980.

The governor favors continuation of the present open primary, which permits voters to nominate either a Republican or Democratic candidate for President.

National Committee rules require primaries in which presidential delegates are chosen to be closed, so as to prevent Republicans from participating in the Democratic primary.

Austin Sundman favors continuation of the present open primary. "I think that gives a greater choice to the people. That primary is a sifter. It gets to the grass roots of what the people think."

He also likes the open primary "so I can vote for the man I think best."

Sundman feels giving the people a voice in selecting the presidential candidates is worth the expense to taxpayers of holding a primary election.

He prefers the primary, even if it is changed so that he has to declare his party preference beforehand and

A Kroger store manager at one time, for the 13 years prior to his retirement, he sold pianos and organs at a Wayne music store. Sundman likes to keep busy and is looking for a part-time job.

He and his wife have three sons and one grandchild.

Another house is waiting

Making an old house look older

-- Dick Turner did it his way

Dick Turner did it all -- his way.

From the outside, the house of Dick and Roberta Turner on Argyle Road looks like a typical turn of the century brick farm house.

But inside ... Turner and his then wife moved to the farm east of M-53 in the early 1960s. As for the house, he explained, "It was just an old farm house. I never did nothing with it."

But three years ago, the jack-of-all trades farmer decided he wanted a change. And change it he did.

It would be an insult of sorts to say the house is all new inside. It is, but it looks old, and that was the builder's intention. "I always liked nostalgia," Turner said in explaining his taste for things that look old.

His favorite tools in rebuilding his house were a chainsaw and an axe.

There was, for instance, a narrow stairway leading upstairs. Turner wanted a large staircase so he cut a big hole in the upstairs floor with the chain saw, then built the stairs.

He wanted arches between some of the rooms, so he cut them with the chain saw.

New and larger windows were installed.

Turner wanted a fireplace, so he built one. Ducts from the basement furnace blow air through the fireplace to provide additional heat.

Beams were added to the downstairs ceiling, though they don't support any weight.

AS MENTIONED, TURNER likes things to look old, which is harder to do because he insisted on using all new materials.

The wood -- and there is lots of it -- was beaten, chipped or otherwise "treated" to look old, then stained.

The fireplace bricks were chipped and the cement wiped off flush to give it an aged and amateurish brick layer appearance.

Most of the bricks in the kitchen underneath and behind the wood burning stove were laid by a daughter, Cheyenne, and her boyfriend.

"When you get used to doing something, like laying bricks," he explained, "you have a hard time making it look old (not professional)."

When the daughter and boyfriend insisted they would make a mess of the bricklaying, having never done it before, her father replied, "That's what I want."

Turner's children from his first marriage are all grown and live away from home. Mrs. Turner's son, Tom, from a former marriage and three foster children presently live with them.

Roberta Turner didn't stand idly by when all this was going on. She has a talent for interior decorating and in addition to sometimes telling her husband where she wanted certain things to go, she did the staining, varnishing and wallpapering.

IN ADDITION TO RE-doing the interior, Turner also built almost all the furniture -- all wood and all suitably beaten or whatever to make it look old and all with the look of master craftsmanship.

He started the project in an upstairs bedroom and moved from room to room.

License plates

The implementation period for Michigan's new staggered registration system for sale of vehicle license plates is underway.

Aim of the system, approved by the legislature last year, is to save the state administration costs and to eliminate the traditional lines at the end of March of people who waited until the last minute to buy their license plates.

Commercial and trailer plates went on sale Oct. 1; passenger car plates go on sale Nov. 15. Present commercial and trailer plates still expire Feb. 29, 1980; car plates, March 31.

Individual owners of passenger vehicles, motor homes, pickup trucks, vans, and trailers, will receive an expiration date based on their birthday when they buy their new plates.

Other vehicles, or ones registered in the name of a business, will still have registrations expiring on the last day of February. Motorcycle and personalized license plates expire March 31. There will not be staggered expiration dates.

The period the new plates will be good for (for those sold under the staggered system) depends on the birthday of the owner, with the fee pro-rated for that period.

For instance, plates sold to a person whose birthday is in November will be good for only seven months, with the fee pro-rated for seven months.

A person whose birthday is in October will be paying a larger fee because his or her plates don't expire until October, 1981.

Two separate tabs will be used. The one showing the month of expiration will go on the lower left of the rear plate. The one showing the year of expiration will go on the lower right.

CRAFTSMAN DICK TURNER and the china cabinet, which it took him about three weeks to build. He didn't make any prior drawings, but merely measured the space it was to fit in and started building.

THE LIVING ROOM, as seen from the stairway well. All of the furniture which isn't upholstered was built by Turner, plus the fireplace, windows, beams, etc.

GOLDEN ARCH - Through the archway -- cut with a chain saw -- can be seen the kitchen, with the close to 100-year-old wood burning stove at the rear. By choice, Mrs. Turner does most of her cooking on it.

ANOTHER VIEW of the kitchen. All of the woodwork was done by Turner. The dishwasher hides behind the angled door to the left of the sink. Only tool used to build the chairs was an ax. "I'm better with an ax than I am with a chisel," said Turner.

Cheese consumption now represents 20 percent of all spending for dairy products, compared with 14 percent in 1960.

THE DOUBLE BURN

THE DUAL SYSTEM
To produce maximum heat output from our wood stoves, we developed the Double Burn. That's our secondary combustion system (patent pending) to burn gases usually lost up the chimney. Other Dual System features: Double function as either stove or fireplace and the well-spread warmth of the two heat distributors. This system utilizes both the radiant heat of a conventional stove and through a unique heat exchanger combined with an efficient blower, creates circulatory heating as well.

The Dual System... it's what's coming in wood stove design. 25 year warranty.

New books at the library

CLOSING CEREMONIES, by Harold King (fiction). A mercenary attack on a Nazi hideout in contemporary South America launches this political thriller. Only two men survive: A young American who comes away with both a desire to avenge his brother's death in the attack and a strange funeral urn; the other, a Nazi assassin who will do anything to recover the prized urn. Thus the scene is set for a manhunt that equals "The Day of the Jackal." The Nazi killer Reichmann threatens to assassinate a world leader if the urn is not returned. Aaron Miller, who took the urn, wants to use it to bait Reichmann, his brother's killer. But when the Palestinians and Israelis learn of the theft, the hunt becomes even more complicated and deadly.

MRS. JOB, by Victoria Branden (fiction). The problems of Meredith Doyle Foole Rideout revolve around the fact that the one man she truly loves, a charming Irish bouncer named Nicholas Harcourt, is married to the maniacal and ultra-Catholic Bridgie. Shortly after Meredith bears Harcourt's son - without benefit of marriage license - Harcourt dies in a car wreck. The crazed Bridgie insists the child is legally her son. Relentlessly, she tracks Meredith and little Nickie from home to home, across North America. Finally, when the boy is 16 she snares him. Nickie escapes from her clutches and the manner in which he does so is riotously funny and moving.

CLEAR SKIN, by Kenneth L. Flandermyer, M.D. (non-fiction). This is a comprehensive guide to treating and controlling acne. His simple but specific acne treatment method uses the drying and peeling approach alone. Explaining each step of the program in terms of dermatological cause and effect, he analyzes and rates the best of the over-the-counter DP products.

Michigan a leader

Michigan leads the nation in the export of manufactured products primarily due to its concentration of heavy industry and its strategic position on the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway. Shipments to other countries by its more than 2,000 manufacturers and suppliers engaged in world trade total more than $4 billion a year.

LETTER TO EDITOR

A crying towel for MSU

Dear Mr. Haire, I read in last week's (Oct. 11) "Rabbit Tracks" that you had received a Michigan State catalog of gifts for being a Michigan State alumnus.

May I suggest a gift for you and the rest of the alumni that I'm sure isn't in the catalog. How about a crying towel with a great big Michigan State "S" on it. I'm sure it will come in handy, because after last week's Michigan victory over Michigan State (21-7), the Wolverines are back on top!

You may even want to get more than one for it's going to be a long season. Hail to the victors!

Yours in blue,
Jeff Maharg

BACK TO HELP the Hawk running attack was Bob Sawdon. The hard running back was Cass City's leading ground gainer with 66 yards in 20 carries. Number 42 is Randy Lamie who helped make the tackle.

Peck falls, 35-0

Owen-Gage clinches share of loop title

Owen-Gage clinched at least a share of the North Central D League title Saturday with a 35-0 trouncing of Peck.

The Bulldogs are now 5-0 in league play. Carsonville-Port Sanilac, the only other team with a chance at the title, suffered its first loss of the season Friday when it was upset by Akron-Fairgrove, 14-13.

Whether Owen-Gage gets sole possession of the title or has to share it with C-PS will be decided Oct. 26 when it hosts the Tigers.

This Friday, the Bulldogs journey to Clare, north of Mt. Pleasant, for a non-conference bout.

A 32-yard pass from Kirk Carolan to Jim Glidden in the first quarter started Owen-Gage's scoring at Peck Saturday. Pete Klemkowski kicked the extra point.

In the second quarter, Brad Erickson capped a nine-play effort by scoring on a 3-yard run. With 17 seconds left, Jeff Hallock scored on another 3-yard run, the last of four plays. Klemkowski kicked both extra points.

Final scoring came in the fourth quarter, on an 8-yard run by Kirk Carolan and then on an 18-yard run by Jeff Hallock. Both extra points were kicked by Craig Gettel.

Although the Pirates never made it across the goal line, they did make more first downs than the visitors, 11 to 10.

That was the only offensive statistic the Bulldogs didn't dominate. On the ground they gained 305 yards in 35 carries. Quarterback Carolan completed four passes of seven attempts for 81 yards. None were intercepted.

The Pirates gained 83 yards on the ground in 11 carries and completed eight passes of 17 attempts for 77 yards for a total of 160. Three passes were intercepted by Owen-Gage.

The Bulldogs fumbled once and were penalized 10 times for 90 yards. The Pirates fumbled twice and were penalized five times for 43 yards.

Top ground gainers for the victors were Erickson, 13 carries and 105 yards; Hallock, eight carries and 102 yards; and Scott Gaeth, six carries and 87 yards.

Buck Bradley was top ground gainer for the opposition with 40 yards gained in 12 carries.

Hallock caught two Carolan passes for 42 yards and Glidden, one for 31 yards. Jim VanConant caught two Pirate passes for 36 yards.

Anchoring the Bulldog defense were Dan Warack with 11 tackles, Alan Haag, 11, plus one interception; Erickson, 10; Hallock, nine plus one interception, and Gaeth, nine.

Darrin Sheridan made 15 tackles for Peck. Paul Pries made 11.

The Owen-Gage junior varsity won its first game of the season Thursday by downing Peck, 28-0.

Golf team qualifies for state tourney

Cass City, which finished second in the Thumb B Conference, also finished second in the class C golf regionals Saturday and qualified for the State tournament Friday.

The tournament was held at Vassar and 15 teams participated. The event was won by Goodrich with 315 strokes for the four-man team. Cass City scored 337 to easily defeat third place Flint Bentley which scored 351.

It was a wet, cold, windy day and that made scoring difficult.

Medalist for Cass City was Senior Tim Johnson, 82. Senior Scott Krueger shot 85. Junior Scott Murphy shot 84 and Junior John Scollon shot 86.

No second half punch

Hawks lose 3rd squeaker of year

Cass City's chances of keeping the 1979 football season respectable hinge on the results of this Friday's game against the Vassar Vulcans.

The Vulcans have won just once in the league, a 9-6 overtime decision last week against Sandusky while the Hawks now have won 2 and lost 3 following another disappointing loss in their homecoming game last Friday. Cass City was upended, 13-12, by Marlette.

As it has in all of its losses this season, Cass City died in the second half. Cass City has not scored a touchdown in the last half against any team which defeated them.

The absence of an adequate running attack has been duly noted by scouts and the defenses have been stacked to stop Cass City's excellent passing game.

At times last Friday Marlette was rushing only three men.

As they have in virtually every game this season, the Hawks started with a bang.

The Hawks took over the ball from Marlette midway through the first period on the Marlette 35.

A pass from Rusty Hoag to Tim Fahrner gave Cass City a first on the 8-yard line.

Two plays later Phil Zawilinski went over to score.

The Hawks scored again in the second quarter. It was Cass City's best drive of the evening. Mixing passes and runs the Hawks moved from the Marlette 35 to score, picking up two first downs on the way for a first and goal on the four. Hoag got credit for the touchdown when he went over from the one.

Marlette scored its first touchdown later in the period on a trick play. Lining up with the required number of linemen on the line, away from the ball, the Hawks were caught napping when the center and quarterback went to the ball, took a quick snap and tossed it wide to a waiting back, Roger Brown, who raced untouched to a touchdown. It was the same play that was used by Sandusky against the Hawks a few years ago, but was more successful this time.

The tying touchdown was rushed across in the last period. Doug Vatter pushed over from the two after a pass set up the marker. The key kick was booted by Ken Philips.

The Hawks have now lost three games by a total of four points.

A tower of strength for the visitors was Ron Behr. He led the defense and was strong blocker on offense.

Bob Sawdon, fully recovered from injuries suffered in a car crash, was the leading Hawk carrier with 66 yards in 20 carries.

The statistics:

Cass City tops Pirates, 40-35

Cass City turned the tables on Harbor Beach Thursday night with a 40-35 decision over the Pirates at Cass City High School.

In the season's opener, Harbor Beach handed the Hawks one of their two losses of the season.

The Hawks built a lead in the first two periods and then played the visitors on even terms in the last half to walk away with the win.

It was 11-6 at the end of the first quarter and 22-13 at intermission.

Padgett Randall, the all-conference forward for the Hawks, paced Cass City with 23 points. Kerri Merrifield netted 10 for the losers. Vickie Pobanz led the rebounders with 12 while Randall and Libby Hartel snared 10 each.

The Hawks were 14 of 44 from the floor for 32 percent and 12 of 21 from the line for 57 percent.

Cass City is 6-2 overall and 4-0 in the league.

JV SPLITS

The Junior Varsity edged the Pirates, 41-38 behind Carrie Lautner's 10 points and Kris Proctor's nine points. Tammy Heins picked off 10 defensive rebounds.

In a game played Oct. 8 the Hawks were topped by Sandusky, 32-28. Proctor and Lautner scored 6 points each to lead the offense with 11 rebounds.

2 grade teams post winning records

With the season now past the half-way mark, the seventh and eighth grade girls' basketball teams at Cass City Intermediate School are 4-3 and 5-3 respectively.

The eighth grade team lost at Bad Axe Monday, 38-22.

In addition to Bad Axe, it has lost to Lakers and Unionville-Sebewaing. It defeated Bad Axe in an earlier encounter, plus Uby, Caro (A and B teams) and Harbor Beach.

Coach of the seventh graders for the third year is Laura Seibert.

Game time for the intermediate school teams is usually 4 p.m. Monday and Wednesday with the seventh grade game being played first.

The 14-game schedule ends Nov. 1.

Beach. Its first year coach is Kris Ridenour.

The seventh grade team also lost to Bad Axe Monday, 41-21. It was its second loss to that school this season. It has also lost to Lakers and has defeated Uby, USA, Caro and Harbor Beach.

Coach of the seventh graders for the third year is Laura Seibert.

Game time for the intermediate school teams is usually 4 p.m. Monday and Wednesday with the seventh grade game being played first.

The 14-game schedule ends Nov. 1.

Bow hunters bag deer

Area hunters who have shot a deer since bow season began Oct. 1 were:

Robert H. Peruski, Uby, a 7-pointer about 7:15 a.m. opening day 1½ miles southwest of Uby.

Don Spencer, Deford, a 7-pointer Oct. 6 off Crawford Road. This is the first year he has gone bow hunting.

Mike Quinn, Kingston, a 165-pound 4-pointer Friday east of Cass City. It was his first time bow hunting.

David Doerr of Cass City shot an 11-point buck about 7:30 p.m. Monday south of Cass City. He also got a buck last year with a bow. Including hunting with a rifle, he has now collected seven deer over the years.

Most hunters must wear blaze orange

The Department of Natural Resources reminds hunters that either a vest, jacket or cap of a highly visible orange color must be worn when hunting game with firearms during daylight hours until March 31 on lands open to public hunting. Sportsmen hunting waterfowl from a blind or boat, or those hunting bobcat, crow or wild turkey are excluded from this requirement. The hunter orange rule also does not apply to bow and arrow hunters.

It had to happen — O-G girls finally lose league basketball game, 42-30

The Owen-Gage girls' basketball squad lost a regular season game for the first time in at least three seasons Tuesday night at home when it was overwhelmed by Peck, 42-30.

The loss drops the Bulldogs, now 6-1, to second spot in the North Central D League behind the Pirates who are 7-0.

Poor shooting was the Bulldogs' nemesis as they only shot 21 percent from the floor, versus their season average prior to the game of about 33 percent, and Peck's average Tuesday night of 40 percent.

The game stayed close until the final minutes of the third quarter when the Pirates went into a stall and Bulldog coach Judy Campbell switched her squad to a man-to-man defense in an effort to get the ball back, which resulted in numerous fouls.

Becky Howard was top scorer for Owen-Gage with 14 points. She grabbed 11 rebounds. Julie Andrakowicz pulled down 14. Tena Manns led Peck scorers with 14 points.

The Bulldogs try to get back to their usual winning ways this Thursday at Carsonville-Port Sanilac. Tuesday they are at Akron-Fairgrove.

Peck also won the junior varsity game, 36-19.

Score by quarters:

KIM HILL bagged this big 8-point buck Tuesday, Oct. 9, just before dark while hunting near Argyle. The deer was shot about 45 yards away, a long shot for bow and arrow. It was his third time out this season, Hill said, and the first buck bagged with a bow. The season opened Oct. 1 and runs until the rifle deer season starts Nov. 15 and resumes Dec. 1 until the end of the year.

EDISON'S BREAKTHROUGH IN HEATER DESIGN & TECHNOLOGY
"Comfort Sensor" Heater
THE SAFER, MORE EFFECTIVE 1500 WATT PORTABLE HEATER

2 HEATS • 2 SPEEDS

It's the only heater that quickly heats a room, then throttles back to a lower heat level and finally off-to maintain the heat in a room more evenly. High velocity fan circulates heat effectively. It's safer - no exposed hot elements and the cabinet remains touchably cool.
