Qualify for nationals 2 Snover girls win 4-H honors

Two Lucky Stars 4-H Club members of Snover have earned top state honors for their 4-H projects and will be going to the 58th National 4-H Congress in Chicago Nov. 25-29.

Dawn won the state 4-H swine award. In her ninth year of 4-H, she has earned a net profit of $2,819 with her hogs. Earlier this year, she was named to the state 4-H Livestock Developmenta.

Debbie Mahaffy

Dawn Adam

They are Debbie Mahaffy, 18, daughter of Irvin and Aletha Mahaffy of Germania Road and Dawn Adam, 17, daughter of Wayne and Faye Adam of W. Snover Road.

Debbie was state winner in personal appearance-fashion revue. The nine-year 4-H'er has also been involved in the following project areas: Beef, swine, crafts, food and nutrition, cake decorating, indoor gardening, flower gardening, vegetable gardening, knitting, crocheting and sewing.

She has been a 4-H junior leader, Sanilac county 4-H queen (1976-77) and was crowned Sanilac County Bean Queen at this year's county fair.

Insurance hot line now open

RLDS ladies

The Owendale Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints Women's Department met at the home of Mrs. Geneva Richards, Cass City, for worship and business.

The toll-free telephone number is 1-800-292-0712. It will be listed in the yellow pages of new area telephone directories, scheduled for distribution during February.

Thirteen members and one guest, Mrs. Leann Rogers, were present. Mrs. Richards read "Strangers in a Strange Land" and "Heritage" from the "Ideals" book on Thanksgiving. The ladies joined together in singing "We Gather Together to Ask the Lord's Blessing." Prayer was offered by Mrs. Dolores Gardner.

The service is designed to give consumers quick access to information on automobile and homeowners insurance, plus other property-casualty coverages. Residents can also get assistance when they have problems with their own insurance company.

Mrs. Darlene Kuenzli, women's leader, conducted the business meeting for election of officers for the 1980 year. The assistant leader, Charlene Craig, was appointed by the leader with approval by the ladies. Vickie Merchant was elected secretary. Treasurer is Connie Dubs.

The hotline is open weekdays, 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. It is sponsored by Michigan Association of Insurance Companies (MAIC), a non-profit public affairs organization representing Michigan property-casualty insurers. The association is headquartered in Lansing.

Cheer committee chairman is Dolores Gardner. Last year's committee was sustained for this year: Geneva Richards, Ila McCallum, and Charlene Craig. Publicity is Lucille Wells.

If hotline personnel can't provide information or solve a problem on the spot, they get in touch with the consumer's insurance company. The Hotline doesn't sell insurance. "We don't even recommend which company someone should buy from, nor will we tell them what type of coverage to buy," according to MAIC President Terry Buckles.

Dining room hostess chairman is Ardis Gemmell, and her committee: Connie Dubs, Geneva Richards, Dolores Gardner and Lucille Wells.

Buckles emphasized that consumers should first contact their own insurance agent or company representative in attempting to solve problems. "If that's not possible, or if the person is not satisfied, we would like the chance to help," he concluded.

Kitchen committee chairman is Reva Russell, and her committee: Madelyn Ziehm and Evelyn Haley. Supply chairman is Evelyn Haley.

Any car will last a lifetime if you're careless enough.

Other business was: reading of minutes by Lucille Wells and treasurer's report by Connie Dubs. A work night on bazaar items was scheduled for Monday night from 6-10 p.m. at Darlene Kuenzli's.

Genevieve Freiburger 'woman of the year'

Genevieve Freiburger was honored by the Cass City Business and Professional Women's Club last Wednesday as its "Woman of the Year."

School, she taught school for two years prior to her marriage to Alger Freiburger and has since taught 25 years in the Owen-Gage school system. She and her husband have three sons and three daughters and two grandchildren and live at 6592 Third Street.

Relatives of Mrs. Freiburger who attended the dinner meeting at Veronica's Restaurant were her daughter Diane of Detroit and two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Irene Freeman and Mrs. Jacqueline Freiburger.

Other guests at the meeting were Ruth McConnell of Caro, district 11 director, and Della Hammond of LaPeer, assistant district director. For the program, Ruth McConnell showed slides and photographs she took at the BPW national convention in Boston. During the business meeting, plans were made for the Christmas party Dec. 5. The club will furnish a Christmas tree for the patio at Provincial House. Nineteen women attended the meeting.

PEDALING AROUND

Barbie is a gas

By Mike Eliasohn

"Look, mommie, look." "Look at Barbie." "She is getting into her new motor home. It gets only eight miles per gallon. She is driving it to the gasoline station. May I have some money, mommie, so I can buy Barbie some gasoline?"

have changed - that certain women. Well, the way I understood it when I was a kid, a woman might start by buying a dress. Then she would decide she needed new shoes to go with the dress, then a new purse, and then a new hat.

Now is a fascinating time to watch television commercials, because I get to find out about all the new toys the toy companies have invented since last Christmas. The honor, by the way, of having the first Christmas commercial on the air goes to the maker of a very old toy. Lionel Trains was promoting its products with Christmas mentioned by about mid-October. One advantage of being single, I might add, is that I don't have to put up with being nagged to buy the newest goodies. "Daddy, I want a new Sooper Scooper for Christmas."

That was, of course, when few women worked, so it was their husbands who had to pay for all that. I guess times have changed. Some women, it seems, go through life with one pair of blue jeans at a time. When the jeans wear out, they buy a new pair. All this leads up to the makers of Barbie Doll, who I guess are trying to revive the old tradition. Father and mother buy their daughter a Barbie Doll for Christmas, along with a couple of outfits to go with it.

For the first couple of years, it's maybe another outfit for daughter at Christmas and on her birthday. But then the daughter discovers girls go out with boys, so Barbie needs some more outfits to attract the boys.

Then Barbie needs a boyfriend. His name is Ken, who of course needs some outfits to help him attract the girls. When the daughter discovers some boys like football, Barbie will need a cheerleader's outfit and Ken will need a football uniform. Then disco comes into fashion, so Barbie and Ken need some disco fashions. Since Ken and Barbie are clean living, eventually they will get married, so Ken will need a tuxedo and Barbie will need a wedding dress. (Shacking up would be so much cheaper.) So Ken and Barbie settle down (is there a Ken and Barbie doll house?), have children (more dolls and clothes), save their money and eventually buy a motor home. That's the goodie now being advertised on TV. A Barbie Doll motor home. That's just what is needed to corrupt the youngsters of today in our energy-short (and energy-expensive) society, an eight-mile-per-gallon motor home.

"Look, mommie, look." "Ken and Barbie are waiting in line to get gas for their motor home. It is a very long line. To kill time, they are going in the back. They are closing the door. They are pulling down the window shades." "Will what they are doing help them get gas?"

23 families win turkeys

Twenty-three area families will be enjoying their Thanksgiving dinner turkey through the courtesy of 21 Cass City merchants. The turkeys were given away as part of a free prize drawing sponsored by the Cass City Retail Committee. The Cass City IGA Foodliner decided to give 3 turkeys. They were won by Regina Salcido, Gagetown, and Terry Weir and Nora Frederick, both of Cass City. Other winners in the contest were: Archie Weller, Cass City, from Schneberger's TV, Appliance and Furniture; Murill Shagena, Cass City, from Bigelow Hardware; Judy Hall, Cass City, from Quaker Maid Dairy; Donna Peters, Cass City, from The Paint Store; Bobette Ostrander, from Ben Franklin Store; Linda Mellendorf, Cass City, from Albee's True Value Home Center.

Also enjoying free turkeys are: Barb Burdon, Gagetown, from Clothes Closet; Mary Sherrard, Cass City, from Coach Light Pharmacy; Alice Hoppe, Cass City, from Erla's Super Market; Cheri Martin, Cass City, from Croft-Clara Lumber, Inc.; Doug VanAllen, Cass City, from Federated Store; Marion Welter, Cass City, from Gambles; Maurice Joos, Cass City, from Geiger-Hunt Ford, Inc.; Sean Zawilinski, Cass City, from Kritzman's, Inc. Concluding the list are: Emery Kady, Gagetown, from Old Wood Drug; Tom Heilig, Minden City, from

Grain elevators date from 1880s

Link with past set for demolition

By spring, Cass City's last link with its agricultural past may be gone.

The grain elevators on Vulcan Street, built in 1884 and 1888, and other buildings are scheduled to be torn down, possibly starting this winter.

Wickes Agriculture was still using some of the facilities there until it completed its move to Main Street in September, when its new office-warehouse building, fertilizer storage building and scales were completed.

The parent company, according to local manager Bob Wischmeyer, is trying to find a contractor to tear down all the old structures on Vulcan Street, after which the property will be sold. He is hopeful work will get started this winter.

The first elevator on the site was built in 1884 by Anson G. Berney, two years after the Pontiac, Oxford and Northern Railroad was built from Pontiac to Cassville through Cass City.

It was Cass City's first modern (for then) elevator. There was at least one grain business in operation before then, owned by John Heflebower and Frank Miller.

In 1888, brothers Frank and Leo Miller built an identical elevator directly to the north. Berney bought them out two years later and operated both plants until Feb. 4, 1899.

That's when Amual Frutchet bought them. He then formed a partnership with Alanzo Ale and Elmer A. McGeorge under the name of Frutchet-Ale-McGeorge.

The year before, Frutchet had purchased the elevator in Gageton from Reginald Kline, in exchange for the farm he (Frutchet) owned

1 1/2 miles north of Cass City.

ACCORDING TO ART ATWELL, who went to work at the Cass City elevators in 1906, the three partners soon built six bins with a capacity of 6,000 bushels, primarily to store excess grain during harvest time.

Came harvest time in 1899 and the new bins were filled with oats. When they had an opportunity to ship the 6,000 bushels, Frutchet and McGeorge, who worked in the plant, insisted that their partner sell them.

Ale, who kept the books and did the selling, refused. "The price went down and they lost their shirts," Atwell wrote several years ago. "Soon after this, they bought Ale's interest in the plant."

That was in 1900 and the name was changed to Frutchet-McGeorge and Co. In 1902, it was incorporated as Cass City Grain Co. with Frutchet as president and McGeorge, vice-president.

ATWELL, 89, WHO LIVES at 4404 Oak Street with his wife of 60 years, Lena, recalls Frutchet as being a tight man with a penny. In one instance, when his employees tore down an old building, Frutchet had them pull out all the nails and straighten them. That's when nails were selling for $2 a pound.

He also recalls Frutchet often saying, "Take a profit and you won't go broke."

Atwell began work at the grain company in 1906 in charge of plant operations and became manager in 1921. He retired from that position in 1956, but remained as assistant treasurer and board member until the then Frutchet Bean Co. sold its Cass City facility to Wickes Agriculture in

In 1901 or '02, Frutchet and McGeorge bought or leased the Brown City elevator. Frutchet's son, Joe, then became the manager.

Joe later moved to Cass City and was secretary of the Cass City Grain Co. His brother, Herb, was treasurer.

IN 1907, THE COMPANY

bought William McCallum's small elevator on Main Street by the railroad tracks, which McGeorge operated under his own name.

In 1910, a group of farmers bought the Main Street facility, incorporated under the name Farm Produce Co., and then built a modern elevator to the south of the old one.

McGeorge sold his interest in the Cass City Grain Co. and bought an elevator in Gladwin. He later sold that, moved to Oregon, later moved back to Michigan and died in 1923 at age 61.

His old partner, Amual Frutchet, died in Florida in 1931 at age 82.

The Cass City Grain Co. continued its purchase of other elevators and moved its headquarters to Saginaw in 1922. It merged with the Michigan Bean Co. in 1923. The two companies dissolved in 1933 and reorganized under the name of Frutchet Bean Co. with Joe Frutchet as president. By 1965, it was operating 24 elevators in Michigan.

In 1960, Frutchet Bean bought the Farm Produce Co. on Main Street. Ground was broken for the concrete silo, with a capacity of 175,000 bushels, in December, 1963. It was completed in time for the fall, 1964, harvest season. The old elevator at that site was destroyed in a massive fire Sept. 29, 1965.

Two more concrete silos, with total capacity of 250,000 bushels, were added in 1975.

DECKER

The DBC & W Railway was built in 1913 from Bay City to Sandusky.

The elevator was built in 1914. Atwell doesn't know the year it burned. It was not rebuilt because of the threat the railroad would be dismantled.

An auction was held finally in Bay City, with the intention of selling the railroad for junk.

"Joe Frutchet and I attended," Atwell wrote. "There were several junk dealers... (there)... together with a man from Chicago, Mr. Mills. He made the first bid of $200,000. This was the one and only bid.

"Mr. Mills operated the railway for quite some time and later dismantled the line from Sandusky to Decker and from Bay City to Caro. Mr. Mills operated what was left... until his equipment became obsolete, then it was dismantled entirely."

KINGSTON

Atwell recalls, but isn't sure, that brothers Ted and Lon (or Loam) Snelling bought the elevator, but doesn't know from whom. It was apparently built in the late 1890s or early 1900s.

The Snelling brothers also owned and operated the hotel in Kingston.

Many old elevators long since gone

WAITING FOR DEMOLITION -- The two elevators are still standing, with demolition tentatively scheduled to start some time this winter. Photo was taken this summer, when Wickes Agriculture was still using the site for some purposes.

Art Atwell was in the grain elevator business for 62 years.

He worked all of that time for the Frutchet Bean Co. or its predecessors in Cass City.

He is knowledgeable, not only about the history of the Cass City elevators but also about other ones that existed in this area, almost all of which are gone. Much of that history he wrote down several years ago.

DEFORD

Some time after the Cass City Grain Co. was established in 1902, the company bought a site at Deford for an elevator, lumber yard and bank.

A framed barn was moved next to the railroad and converted into an elevator. Next to it, a two-story building was moved or built. The upper story was used for women to sort beans, which were bagged and stored on the lower level.

The elevator was destroyed by fire May 3, 1916. It was rebuilt and burned a second time July 5, 1924. It was again rebuilt.

The bank was organized under the name A. Frutchet and Sons. It was one of the few banks that survived the bank holiday of the 1930s as 100 percent solvent. The bank was robbed Sept. 9, 1935 of $636.

The then private bank was closed when it became mandatory that it would have to become a state bank to stay in business. Frutchet Bean then used the building as a clearing house.

The elevator was sold to Ralph and Betty Terry in July, 1961. It closed in the mid-1960s.

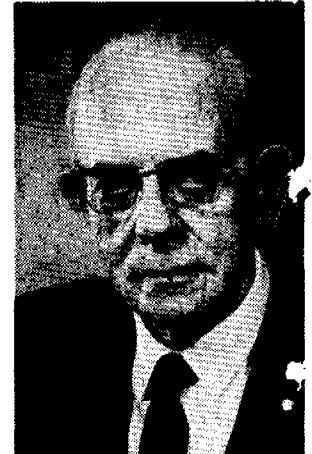

NEW GREENLEAF

In 1913, the Grand Trunk Railway built a spur, the D & H Railway, from Cass City to Bad Axe, 18 miles long, which went through New Greenleaf.

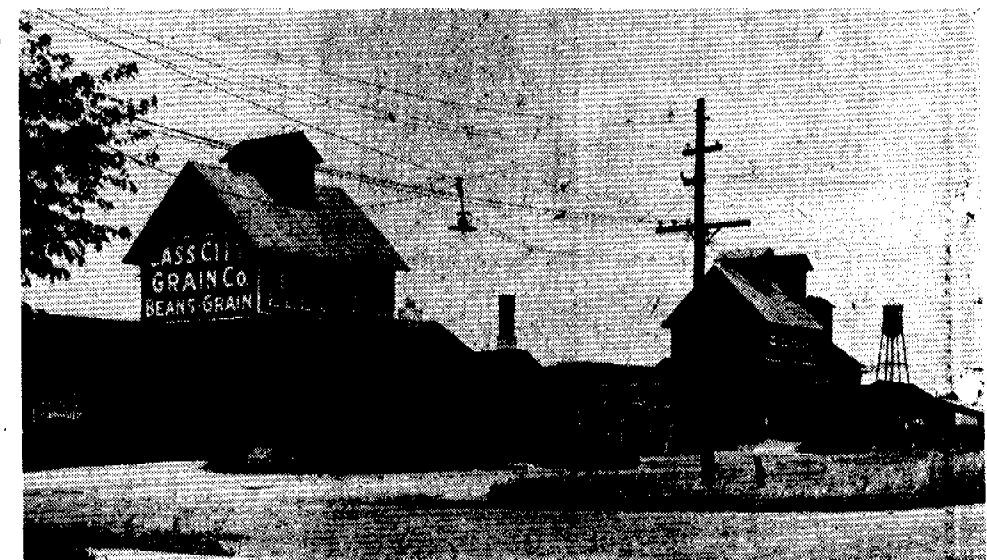

The elevator was built the following year, as was a general store, by Angus McLeod.

The last run on the spur was in April, 1951, after which the track was dismantled. The elevator then had to haul all its beans and grain out by truck. The elevator is still in business, now owned by Thumb Area Commodity Cooperative, Inc.

Farmers built an elevator northeast of Greenleaf at Atwater Road along the D & H tracks. It burned April 30, 1933, and was not rebuilt.

GLORY DAYS -- This was the Cass City Grain Co. in its better days. The elevator on the left was built in 1884; the one on the right in 1888. They came under single ownership in 1890.

Clubhouse burns

Investigators from the State Police fire marshal's office were continuing their investigation Tuesday into the cause of a fire that destroyed the Arrowhead Golf and Country Club clubhouse near Caro early Monday.

An unofficial estimate of the loss is close to $100,000. The wood-frame clubhouse contained a restaurant, pro shop and two bars.

The fire was reported at 12:42 a.m. Monday by a motorist who spotted it while driving by on Gun Club Road.

Caro firemen were at the scene from then until 6 a.m. Elkland township firemen assisted by bringing a tanker to the scene. Mayville firemen brought a pumper and a tanker.

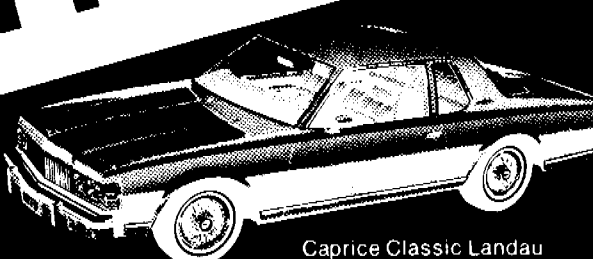

Caro Fire Chief Don Berry said Monday afternoon he had no idea what might have started the blaze. It was his understanding that the owner of the golf course, Art Dore, did have insurance on the structure.

Dore was later quoted as saying he had no plans yet for rebuilding the clubhouse.

It was the second fire at the golf course this year. The earlier fire destroyed a storage building and equipment inside. Cause of that one was never determined, Berry said.

Deer hunters do well, Jarvis says

Deer hunters "seem to be doing quite well," according to Carlton (Bud) Jarvis, Department of Natural Resources wildlife biologist for Tuscola county.

Deer brought to the Caro DNR office by hunters wanting a "successful deer hunter" patch, he said, were "certainly in nice shape," with good racks, often 7 or 8 points, and "fat."

Thirty-nine hunters showed up opening day, compared to 30 on the first day of firearms deer season last year, and by the end of the day Saturday, there had been a total of 90. That compares with about 85 for the first three days of deer season last year (which started on a Wednesday).

Through the end of the season, Nov. 30, the office will be open regular hours, from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays. It is located on M-24, south of Caro.

SUCCESSFUL HUNTERS -- Harold Hunt and son Dan of DeLong Road, Deford, both shot bucks opening day. Dad's was a whopper, 14 points (15 if the one broken off is counted) and weighing 200 pounds, shot at 5 p.m. Dan got his 7-pointer, weighing 125, at 7:30 a.m. Both were shot in approximately the same area, south of Cass City.

After funds cut

80% retain CETA workers

Most persons who were "out of a job" when federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) funds used to pay them expired Sept. 30 did not go on unemployment rolls.

According to Thumb Area Consortium Executive Director Frank Lenard, about 80 percent were retained by the local governmental units that had been paying them with CETA funds, but are now paying them out of their own budgets. The consortium administers the federal program in the upper Thumb.

New federal regulations that went into effect last year specified that all persons paid with CETA funds prior to Oct. 1, 1978 could only stay in the program one more year. Those hired after that could only be paid with the federal funds a maximum of 18 months.

The new regulations meant governmental units with CETA personnel prior to Oct. 1 of last year had to decide whether to put them on their regular payrolls as of Oct. 1 this year or let them go.

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners, for instance, decided to keep all the county's CETA help (18 employees). The Cass City Village Council let one worker go. (Two were retained.)

Reports submitted at last Thursday's consortium administrative board meeting presented an overall picture of what happened in the three upper Thumb counties.

There were 272 persons enrolled in the CETA Title II-D public service employment program during the period April 1-Sept. 30.

Of those, 70 were retained by their employing governmental unit, to be paid with regular funds, and 15 found other jobs.

One was transferred to another CETA program and eight had other "positive terminations," such as going on to school or joining the military.

That left 76 terminated for "non-positive reasons" (dismissed because of the end of CETA funding, fired for poor performance or quitting -- a breakdown of how many for each reason isn't available) and 102 eligible to continue in the program after Oct. 1.

There were 646 persons enrolled in the CETA Title VI public service employment program during all or part of the six-month period that ended Sept. 30.

Of those, 33 were put on the regular government payroll by their employing unit and 54 found other jobs. Thirty were transferred to other CETA programs and 18 went to school, joined the military, etc.

There were 219 non-positive terminations (end of CETA funding, fired or quitting). There were 292 who continued in the Title VI program after Sept. 30.

Also at the consortium meeting, the board set new travel rates, effective Dec. 1, which are the same as the ones set for state employees (which went into effect Oct. 1).

Mileage paid to consortium employees, all of whom use their own cars, will be 18½ cents per mile, up from 17 cents.

Maximum reimbursements, paid only on business outside of Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola counties, are for breakfast, $3 (up from $2.50); lunch, $3.75 (up from $3.50); dinner $8 (up from $7.25), and lodging, $27.75 a night (up from $19.50).

LEO TRACY of Elmwood Road, Cass City, shot this 13-pointer at 7:30 a.m. opening day four miles east and 1½ miles south of Cass City. He also got a buck last year.

Novice bags buck with muzzle loader

DANIEL BOONE would be proud of Ron Jones, 14, who used the muzzle-loading rifle he is holding to down this buck the first day he had ever gone deer hunting.

Not too many teenagers get a buck in their first year of hunting.

Ron Jones, 14, not only did that last Thursday, he shot the animal with a muzzle-loading rifle.

Ron is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones of 1332 Main Street, Snover, and the grandson of Harvey Bartle of Cass City.

According to his mother, Ron's father and brother, Bob Jr., 21, are both long-time muzzleloader enthusiasts, so it was only natural that when Ron became old enough to go deer hunting, he would do it with one of the antique-type one-shot weapons. (Ron's is a modern-built replica, which he got this year.) Before going hunting, of course, he did practice with the weapon.

The three of them went hunting opening day about five miles northeast of Snover. According to Mrs. Jones, Ron was the first to spot the buck, fired from about 30 yards away and downed the animal. The four-pointer weighed more than 100 pounds, but she wasn't sure how much more.

For the unknowing, muzzleloaders only get one shot before they have to laboriously reload, so if the first shot misses, chances are slim the animal will stick around long enough for a second shot.

Ron shot the deer about 8:30 a.m., after about 1½ hours out in the field.

"He was really excited about it," Mrs. Jones said of her son, an eighth grader at Sandusky Middle School.

As of Saturday morning, neither Bob nor Bob Jr. had got a buck. The father has been successful in the past, but his older son has yet to down a deer.

The irony, according to Mrs. Jones, is that prior to opening day, Bob Jr. was kiddingly advising his younger brother that "no buck is going to walk up to you."

None did, but one got close enough.

Osentoski learns about kids by doing

This fall, Michigan State University student Carl Osentoski of Ubyly is learning about child care through direct contact with the gingles, pent-up energy and lingo of the younger set. Either through volunteering, required classwork or student teaching, he and several other MSU students are gaining valuable experience working with children at any of the four on-campus child care centers operated by the MSU Institute for Family and Child Study. "These students are integral parts of the program," said Jean Grof, operations coordinator for the centers. "Their duties range from aiding the head teachers as volunteers to supervising the classroom as student teachers."

Their charges range from 2 weeks old to preschool age. Just under 200 youngsters are cared for daily at the drop-in facility, day care center and two nursery schools that are provided for the offspring of MSU students and the East Lansing community. The facilities offer learning programs as well as play activities, Grof said. Such programs include learning logical thought processes, numbers, colors, seasons of the year, the alphabet and how to read.

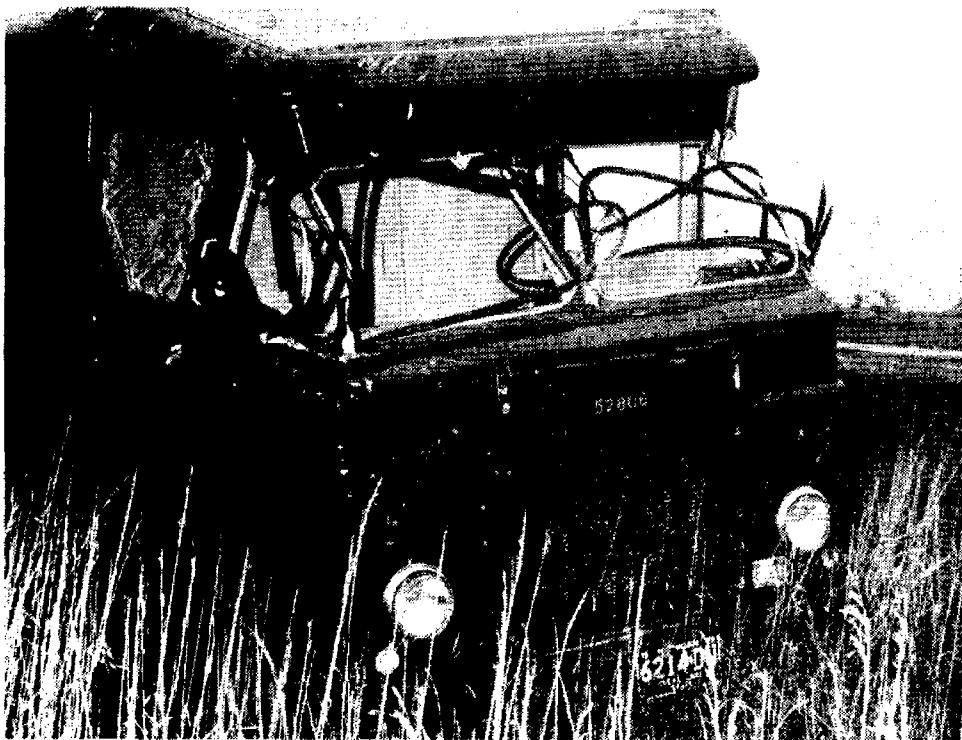

Osentoski, a sophomore majoring in social work, is a volunteer at the Children's Corner, the Clinical Center's drop-in child care facility for young patients awaiting a routine physical exam or for offspring of grown patients. Osentoski and the other volunteers attempt to make the children feel as comfortable as possible under the circumstances of a doctor's visit.

"The Children's Corner serves as a learning experience to help me gain an understanding of interpersonal relationships and the socialization process," he said.

The 1974 graduate of Ubyly High School is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Osentoski of Bay City-Forestville Road.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT -- Village workmen started putting up the downtown decorations Friday, including a new tree (artificial) at each corner of the Main-Seeger intersection. In front is Tom Crickon. Behind the tree is Russ Bradley.

MINOR INJURIES -- United Parcel Service driver Al Wallace escaped with minor injuries after his truck rolled over one complete revolution after being involved in a collision last Thursday. The other driver, William J. Hartman, was ticketed by deputies in connection with the crash.

Rollover results in only minor injuries

A Cass City United Parcel Service driver escaped with only minor injuries when his truck was involved in a collision last Thursday and rolled over.

Treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital was Alfred Wallace, 33, of 6605 Third Street. The sheriff's department reported he was headed northeast on M-81 when he collided with a car that had pulled into the intersection, headed east on Akron Road. The accident took place at 3:30 p.m.

The driver of the car, William J. Hartman, 19, of Akron, was ticketed by officers on a charge of failure to yield right of way. He told officers he had let two cars go by but hadn't spotted the approaching UPS truck when he started to pull into the intersection.

After the impact, Wallace's truck spun around, rolled over in a ditch on the north side of M-81 and came to a halt upright in a field.

The Hartman auto, which suffered minor damage, came to a halt on Akron Road, east of the intersection.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

David H. Bartnik, 21, of 6524 Van Dyke Road, sought his own treatment after a mishap in Cass City at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Village police reported that Bartnik was westbound on Main Street on his motorcycle and ran into the rear of a car halted in the left lane at the stoplight at Seeger.

The cycle glanced off the car and struck another one halted in the right lane for the light.

Driver of the first car hit was Evelyn Sue Langenburg, 18, of 6197 Koepfgen Road; the second, Clarence L. McQuarrie, 66, of Marlette.

Gordon Walsh, 15, of Ubyly, was treated and released from Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe, for injuries suffered Saturday when his motorcycle flipped over when he lost control while trying to avoid a deer.

He told Huron county deputies he was southbound on Verona Road, six miles south of Atwater Road in Austin township, Sanilac county, when the deer crossed the road.

Four accidents took place in northeastern Tuscola county last Thursday.

Caro state police reported that at 7:40 a.m., Mary H. Phillips, 28, of Phillips Road, Deford, was southbound on Kingston Road, south of Rossman Road, when her car started to slide on the icy roadway. It slid 100 yards and then rolled into a ditch on the east side.

At 9:15 a.m., according to Tuscola deputies, Pamela Kay Stone, 23, of E. Elmwood Road, Caro, was westbound on M-81, west of Lamton Road, when her car slid off the north side of the road, went down an embankment, spun around and hit a dirt mound.

She told officers she lost control on the icy surface when she approached a slower moving vehicle.

At 2:10 p.m., deputies reported, Scott A. McLeod, 20, of 3920 Little Road, Cass City, was westbound on Little, east of Duprey, when he lost control on the wet and bumpy gravel road. The car rolled over on its roof on the north side of the road.

At 11:40 p.m., Scott D. Miller, 19, of Hughes Road, Owendale, was southbound on McEldowney Road, deputies said, when he lost control when turning right onto Bay City-Forestville Road.

The car went off the south side of the road and came to a halt upside down.

Cass City police reported that at 2:55 p.m. last Wednesday, Daniel J. Lewicki, 20, of 6040 Walnut Street, Kingston, was turning right into a parking place in the Walbro lot on Garfield Street, when he collided with a car that was attempting to pass him on the right. Driver of the other vehicle was David S. Erla, 23, of 6730 Third Street.

CAR-DEER

At 10:20 p.m. Friday, Clayette Lane, 17, of 6594 Pine Street, was eastbound on M-81, east of Crane Road, when her car struck a deer, deputies reported.

Caro state police said that at 6 p.m. Saturday, Beverly Keck, 38, of Gregory, was northbound on Kingston Road, south of Deckerville Road, when her auto collided with a deer.

The car of Connie Nicol, 39, of Deckerville Road, Deford, collided with a deer at 6 p.m. Sunday while she was northbound on Cemetery Road, north of Shabbona Road, according to deputies.

Robinson stands mute to theft related charges

Kenneth G. Robinson, the last of three persons to be arraigned in Tuscola county in connection with a multi-county theft ring operation, stood mute to two charges in circuit court Nov. 13.

Robinson, 32, of 6332 First Street, Mayville, faces two charges of receiving and concealing stolen property over $100.

He is charged with purchase of a stolen lawn tractor from William Payea Aug. 22 in Mayville and a stolen motorcycle from Payea Sept. 5 in Vassar township.

(Payea is charged in Crawford county with breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling in connection with the theft ring.)

Circuit Judge Norman A. Baguley entered pleas of innocent for Robinson and scheduled hearing of motions Dec. 10, to be followed by a pretrial hearing. Bond was continued.

Also Nov. 13, Craig A. Reinert, 21, formerly of Millington, was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail for violation of probation. He was credited with 44 days served. Probation was revoked.

He pleaded guilty Oct. 22 to the violation, of having failed to report to his probation officer in August.

He was placed on two years' probation in April, 1978, for attempted larceny in a building.

The guilty plea of Arturo Saldana, 21, of 1797 Van Geisen Road, Caro, to breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling was taken under advisement. Sentencing, if the plea is accepted, will be Dec. 10. Bond of $50,000 was continued.

His guilty plea was in a plea bargain with the prosecution, he having pleaded guilty to breaking into a house in Caro Jan. 30 of this year, in exchange for dismissal of a charge of attempted safe damage in connection with another break-in the same day in Caro.

Preliminary examination for Larry E. Winter, 29, of Sebawaing, will be heard in district court, Baguley ruled. Bond was increased to $1,500, cash or surety.

He is charged with driving under the influence of liquor (third offense), having been arrested on the charge Sept. 8 in Indianfields township.

The prosecution has filed supplemental information alleging that if convicted on the drunk driving charge, he will be a third felony offender for purposes of sentencing under the Habitual Criminal Act. That allows the judge to increase the sentence beyond the normal maximum for the original charge.

Nov. 14 before Judge Baguley, Robert E. McComb, 20, of Davison, pleaded guilty to armed robbery at what was scheduled to be the start of a jury trial on the charge.

The robbery was that of Leo Waterman Feb. 15 near Fostoria. About $100 and a cigarette lighter were taken.

Martin D. Peters of Flint earlier pleaded guilty to the same charge in connection with the robbery and was sentenced by Baguley to 2-3 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson.

Bach Festival kicks off Friday with lecture by Dr. Rosella Duerksen Formal festival activities begin at 7 p.m. Friday with a lecture by Rosella Duerksen, holder of a doctorate in sacred music and director of music at the First Presbyterian church in Iowa City, Iowa.

The program continues with a recital featuring Tom Brown, organist at the Church of St. John the Evangelist in New York City, at the tracker organ, and Doris Ornstein, instructor at the Cleveland Institute of Music, at the harpsichord. (Ticketholders are urged to be there at 7, rather than wait for the recital.)

SATURDAY

At 2 Saturday is the free lecture by Dr. Duerksen and at 3, showing of a harpsichord film by Ms. Ornstein. The concert is at 8, followed by a reception which will give the public a chance to meet the musicians. Leading off the program will be Doris Preucil of Iowa City, Iowa, nationally known teacher of the Suzuki Violin Method and concertmaster of the Iowa Bach Festival, and her son, William Preucil Jr., playing a violin concerto. A student at Indiana University, this summer he won the 24th annual Young Artist competition for piano and orchestral instruments in Minneapolis.

William Preucil Sr. will be playing viola in the festival orchestra. Next on the program will be a tenor solo by Waldie Anderson, voice instructor at the Interlochen Fine Arts Academy. Mezzo soprano Rosemary Russell will sing next. She is an associate professor of voice at the University of Michigan. Ms. Ornstein will perform next on the harpsichord, followed by baritone Jay Thompson, also on the staff at Interlochen. The final number will feature the 23-piece orchestra, with Tom Brown on the organ.

SUNDAY

Late Sunday morning will be a brunch for the musicians and their host families, prepared by the local Order of the Eastern Star chapter. The concert begins at 3, starting with a concerto for oboe and violin, performed by husband and wife Norman and Catherine Paulu. Paulu, the violinist, is first violinist of the internationally known Pro-Arte Quartet in residence at the University of Wisconsin in Madison. His wife has performed with numerous orchestras as an oboist. Their daughter, Laura, will be playing flute in the festival orchestra.

The concert -- and festival -- will conclude with the singing of the Magnificat in D by the Ann Arbor Cantata Singers, conducted by Bradley Bloom.

Formed in 1960, the group performs regularly in Ann Arbor, makes guest appearances elsewhere and will soon release its first recording.

PLAYING TOGETHER -- One of two families that will be performing in the Village Bach Festival will be William Preucil (top), his wife, Doris, and son William Jr., from Iowa City, Iowa. Preucil will play viola in the orchestra; his wife and son are Saturday night soloists.

BAROQUE SAMPLER was the title of the lecture-concert given by Mrs. White last Wednesday evening. Following her lecture and solo performances on the harpsichord, she accompanied the choral ensemble, directed by Jim Hobbs.

Talent galore at Festival will be performing at the Sunday afternoon concert. Ms. Ornstein, a member of the faculty at the Cleveland Institute of Music, is nationally known as a soloist and ensemble musician. She not only is bringing the film, she is also bringing her harpsichord, which is the size of a small piano. At Rawson Memorial Library this week, open during regular library hours, will be a display of art and photographs depicting Bach's time and books about the German composer, who lived from 1685-1750, and the Baroque period. He composed much of his music for churches. The display will also tentatively be open from noon-3 Sunday.

HELP

Mrs. Althaver estimates more than 100 Cass Cityans have or will be involved with putting on the festival in some way, in what she describes as "indeed a community wide affair."

Members of the planning committee, in addition to her, Rev. Capps, Mrs. Ouvry and Jaeger, are Jeanne Auten and Nancy deBeaubien, reception committee (housing, meals, etc.); Alice Lovejoy, art exhibit chairman; Bill Lovejoy, treasurer; Lambert Althaver, printing and mailing; Jan Hagey, publicity; Kathleen O'Donnell, coordinator of artist-in-residence program, and George Cole, scheduling.

The committee formed to put on the event has as a nucleus members of the Presbyterian church, Cass City Arts Council and the school Community Education Program.

AT THE BATON will be Don Th. Jaeger, conductor and festival artistic director, from Midland. (The "Th." stands for Theodore.)

ARTIST-IN-RESIDENCE at Cass City High School this past week in connection with the Village Bach Festival was Ellen McIntosh White, who worked with the general chorus and choral ensemble. Tuesday of this week, she was to have given concerts for elementary and intermediate school youngsters.

homes in the county with electric heat.

Based on last winter's usage, the average Detroit

Edison customer with electric heat used 2,288 kilowatt hours from November through May and 766 from June through October of this year.

Based on present rates and that amount of electricity, the homeowner will pay $903 for electricity for the 12 months, of which $422 will be for non-heating purposes, the rest for heat. That's an increase of about 4 percent. Edison has a rate increase pending, Anderson said, but approval if it comes isn't expected at least until spring.

FIREWOOD

"It's great. I never dreamed I'd be so busy," said Joe Viney of the firewood business so far.

He got into the business a couple of months ago, when he was laid off as a supervisor at Sebawa Industries. He's back at work now, so is cutting wood in his spare time.

He figures he has sold more than 200 face cords so far, mainly to people in the immediate vicinity. Most customers who are burning wood for the first time, he said, previously were using fuel oil, which they keep as a secondary heating source. Viney may benefit from a prominent location, on Cemetery Road south of Cass City. Two other wood sellers contacted by the Chronicle, Ken and Terri Graichen of Cemetery and Mushroom Roads, and Rev. John and Jean Lange of Lamton Road, reported few buyers.

On the other hand, Viney's location may be too prominent. Someone stole his $500 wood splitter a couple of weeks ago.

Firewood prices range from $18-20 picked up (for cheaper types of wood or green wood) to $35 delivered. None of those contacted were selling firewood a year ago, but based on prices quoted in a Chronicle article last year, firewood appears to be up about $5 a cord over last year. (Viney checked before setting his prices and thought they were close to the going rate a year ago.) According to Deford wood heater dealer Dan Allen, a heater capable of keeping a house warm can burn from 7-8 to 30 face cords a winter, the number depending on the efficiency of the unit.

Correction

The order of names in last week's Chronicle was incorrect.

The two Owen-Gage cheerleaders were Kris Erickson on the left and Mary Kay Burrows, not the opposite as stated.

The surest way to stay poor is to try to get rich quick.

Coach of year

Bulldogs' Arnie Besonen honored

Owen-Gage football coach Arnie E. Besonen has been selected as a Class D, Region III, Coach of the Year by the 32 schools of Region

Arnie Besonen

O-G rolls by Warriors in league tilt

It was mother's night at Owen-Gage Nov. 13 and the Bulldogs put on a good show for their mothers, downing North Huron, 48-31, to bring their league mark to 12-1.

Becky Howard led the victors with 21 points. Carol Goslin contributed 10.

Tops for the Warriors was Mary Goretzki with seven. The Bulldogs won the junior varsity matchup, 17-15.

O-G to host D tourney

Owen-Gage plays host for the District 112 Girls' basketball tourney, which starts Monday in the Owendale gym.

In the first round, at 7:30 p.m., the Bulldogs play Akron-Fairgrove. At 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 29, Port Hope plays Caseville, both teams having drawn first round byes. At 8:30, the winner of the Monday night contest plays North Huron.

The two winners Thursday night play each other Saturday for the district crown and a berth in the regionals. Game time is 7:30.

Be careful when buying by mail

While holiday preparations are usually typified by frantic shoppers and crowded shops and malls, the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan Detroit reminds persons that thousands of purchases are also made by mail.

The great majority of mail order companies are legitimate and honest, although some are not. Many problems that do arise are a result of people forgetting to include their names and-or addresses on their orders.

Some complain too soon. Generally, one should allow 4-6 weeks for delivery before making a complaint. When you receive merchandise in the mail that you have not ordered, you may consider it as a gift. Nothing can be mailed to you without your consent unless clearly marked as a free sample or as merchandise from charitable organizations asking for a donation. Either way, the merchandise is a gift. You are not obligated to return or pay for the merchandise.

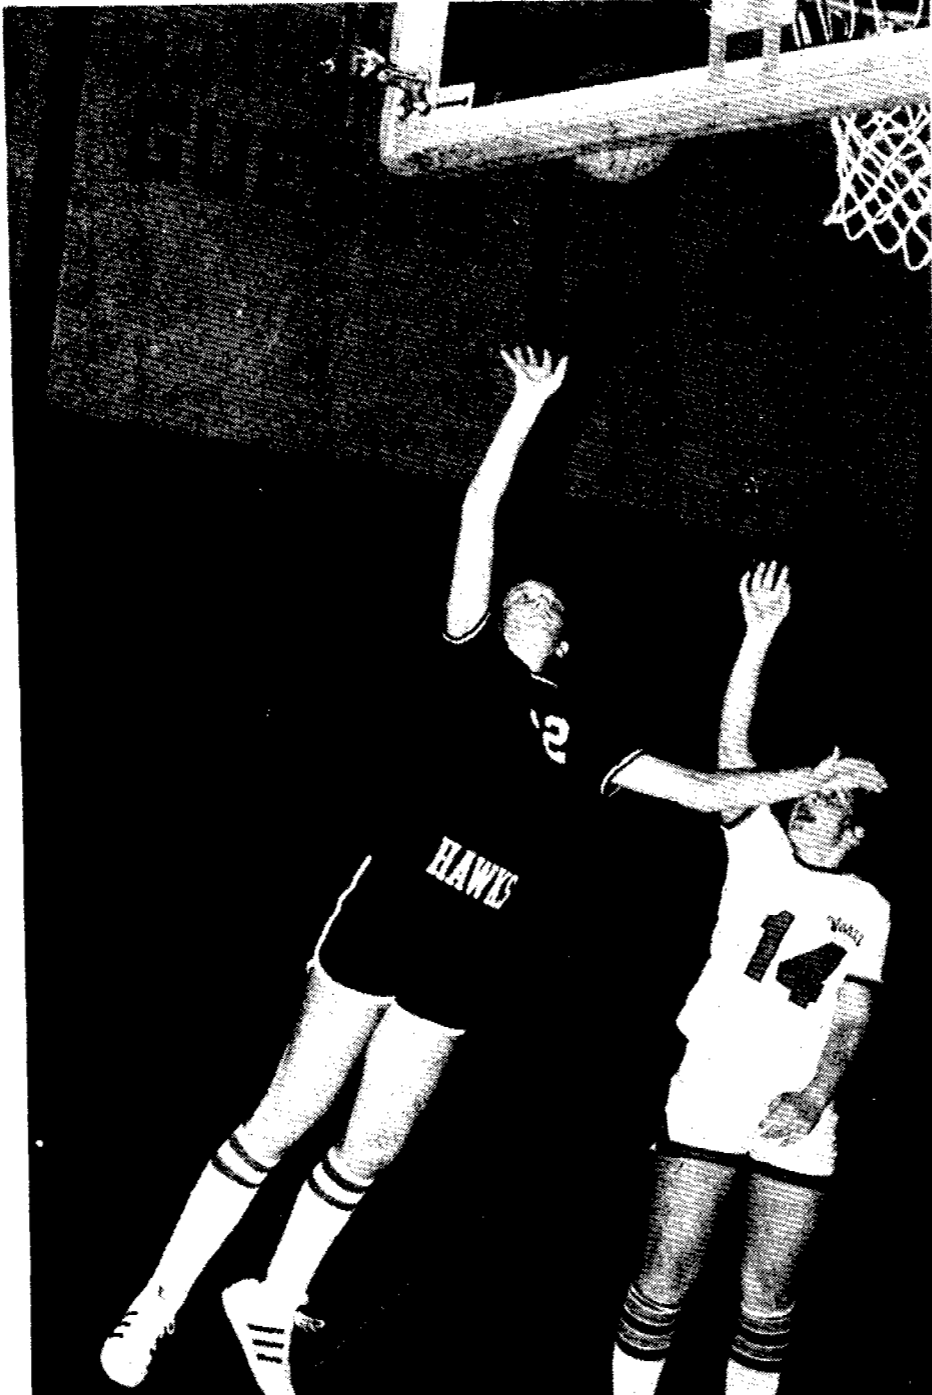

In order to assist perspective mail order shoppers, the Better Business Bureau also offers these suggestions: -Carefully read catalogues and always keep a copy of the ad or brochure. -Pay by check or money order and never in cash, and include any shipping or handling charges.

III. Besonen guided his team to a 9-0 regular season, which earned them a playoff berth by winning Class D Region III with 64 points. The season ended Nov. 10 with a 34-20 loss to Michigan Lutheran Seminary in the first round of the playoffs. The Bulldogs finished the 1979 season as North Central D League champs with a 6-0 record, rated No. 5 in the AP and UPI polls, No. 6 in the Detroit News poll, and No. 8 by Hal Schram of the Detroit Free Press.

Besonen, assisted by Phil Gray, Dean Roller and John Osterland, has in his 10 years at Owen-Gage amassed a 75-17-2 record.

A native of Trout Creek, he is a graduate of Northern Michigan University and Central Michigan University, and is a resident of Port Austin. He and his wife Nadene have a 7-year-old son, Graham, and are expecting their second child the end of November.

Besonen, when not coaching football or boys' and girls' track, is active in community affairs. He is a member of the Port Austin Village Council, Port Austin Lions Club, emergency medical technician with Thumb Ambulance, Little League coach at North Huron and Region 11 director and scholarship chairman of the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association.

PADGETT RANDALL goes up for two points on a fast break as the Cass City Red Hawks overwhelmed the Vassar Vulcans in a key game in the drive for the Thumb B Conference title. Defending is Sue Rodammer.

2 wins cap Hawks' drive to 1st title

The Cass City Red Hawks won the first Thumb B League championship in the school's history Tuesday night against a surprisingly strong Laker quintet, 55-45. Although the Hawks led all the way the game was still up for grabs through the first three quarters. Contrary to the Vassar game when they blew up the Vulcans with a first period blitz Cass City kept chopping away at the Lakers to win the championship.

At the end of the first quarter it was 16-14. By intermission Cass City had edged ahead 30-24 and at the end of three quarters added another three points to the lead to be comfortably ahead 43-32. After that it was mop up time.

Padgett Randall, Cass City's and the Thumb's leading scorer, led all scorers with 18 points. Libby Hartel added 10, and 15 rebounds. For the Lakers, Robin Smith, 16, and Gail Fritz and Cindy Krohn, 10 each, were in double figures.

With one non-league game left the Hawks are 13-1 in league play and 15-3 overall. This is the eighth year of girls' basketball at Cass City and Coach Lloyd Schinnerer's charges are the first to add a league trophy to the school's trophy case although Cass City dominated Class C play for several years behind stars like Lisa Zimba and Elaine Stoutenburg.

VASSAR GAME

When the Cass City Red Hawks met the Vassar Vulcans Oct. 22 the two teams went into overtime before the Hawks squeaked out a victory.

So with the Thumb B Conference title at stake last Wednesday for the Hawks, observers were looking for a tight, hard-fought game.

What it turned out to be was no contest. The Hawks jumped off to a 13-2 lead in the first six minutes and coasted to the victory, 51-26.

The Vulcans were unable to penetrate the Hawks' zone defense and shots from the outside failed to drop. Meanwhile, Cass City, led by Libby Hartel, was rebounding well and getting close-in shots.

In the second quarter Coach Lloyd Schinnerer was able to rest his starters and give his bench game experience. At the half the Hawks led, 22-10.

The Hawks added points to the margin in the third period and then the game into a rout. The 17-8 final quarter edge was Hartel led all scorers with 16 points, the only Hawk in double figures. Bobbie Feller led Vassar with 10 points. Vickie Pobanz snared rebounds, closely followed by Hartel and Padgett Randall with 11 each.

The Hawks are to face tough USA Wednesday night in a tune-up in the final game of the regular season.

Tough C district pits 4 top Thumb teams

Unquestionably the toughest class C district basketball tournament in the Thumb and possibly northern Michigan this fall will be played at Laker High School next Monday through Saturday.

There are four, Bad Axe, USA, Cass City and Harbor Beach, exceptionally strong teams competing for the title.

The Hawks are Thumb B Conference champions with a 15-3 record. Bad Axe, 16-3 with a 13-game winning streak is the only team to defeat Cass City this year in the Thumb B. Harbor Beach, 13-5, uses the height of 5-11 Sue Mausolf and team quickness to power past opponents.

Perhaps the class of the tourney is USA which has one defeat this season, recorded in the opening game. Since then they have come on like gangbusters behind six-foot Sue Engelhardt. By the luck of the draw none of the four tourney favorites will meet in the first round.

Cass City and USA drew byes. Harbor Beach faces Ubyly Nov. 26. Bad Axe meets the Lakers Nov. 27.

USA plays the winner of the Ubyly-Harbor Beach game Wednesday, Nov. 28, while Cass City takes the floor against the Bad Axe-Lakers winner Thursday, Nov. 29.

The second round winners meet for the district championship Saturday, Dec. 1. All games are at 7:30 p.m.

Deer season underway

Lots of buck luck for area hunters

Like son, like mother. Larry Stevens of Severance Road, Cass City, bagged a 4-point buck about 7:30 p.m. opening day in the woods behind the family's home, east of Cemetery Road. It was his first buck in several years of hunting. He went to get a truck and while driving it into the woods to pick up the animal, scared another buck towards his mother, Joyce, whom he had been hunting with. She fired and the 4-pointer was hers, also her first in several years of hunting.

Keith Bye of Shabbona Road, Decker, shot a 12-point buck weighing 180-200 pounds Friday in the Deford area. It was his third buck in his years of hunting.

Drew Guernsey of 4593 N. Seeger Street shot a 150-pound, 7-point buck at 10 a.m. opening day in the Deford State Game Area. It was his first buck in seven years of hunting.

Ben McAlpine of S. Elkton Road, Gageton, downed a 6-point, 180-pound buck on his farm at 10 a.m. opening day.

Don Miller of Cemetery Road shot a 7-point buck at 8:45 a.m. opening day west of Cass City.

Jerry Hillaker of Snover shot his first-ever buck at 6:45 a.m. the opening day. The 6-pointer was downed two miles west and one mile south of Argyle.

Rick Lashley, 18, of Lansing, hunting with John Graham of rural Caro, shot a 7-pointer at 8:15 a.m. opening day. It was his first in three years of hunting.

Bernard Shagena downed his third deer in three years at 9 a.m. opening day east of Cass City. The 3-pointer weighed an estimated 150 pounds. Shagena is from Sebewaing.

Greg Hutchinson, 15, in his second year of hunting shot his first buck opening day, a 9-pointer that weighed about 150 pounds dressed. It was downed one mile east and 1 1/2 miles north of Cass City. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hutchinson of Seventh Street.

Dailey Parrish of Dodge Road, Cass City, bagged an 8-point buck weighing 170 pounds Friday afternoon west of Cass City. He shot a buck in the same area last year.

John T. Graham of rural Caro shot a 13-point buck while hunting on his farm Friday afternoon.

Roger Nicholas of Kawkawlin, a former Uby-Cass City area resident, shot an 8-point, 150-pound buck Saturday in the Daus Road area, northeast of Cass City.

Scott Stine, 16, of Cedar Run Road, bagged a 6-point, 140-pound buck, his first, while hunting Friday in the Daus Road area northeast of Cass City. Paul Bliss of 6337 Houghton Street downed an 8-point buck at 2 p.m. opening day west of Cass City.

Harold Craig of 4814 N. Seeger Street shot a buck Friday while hunting in the Big Rapids area.

Tom Lefler, 14, of Cass City, bagged a 4-point buck Friday at 8:30 a.m., weighing 185 pounds, while hunting east of Cass City.

Meredith Auten remembers

When I was 16, we had three horses: Maude, which was then 20 years old and the most faithful animal which ever lived; Giotto, Maude's colt, a marvelous roader, which I had broken to shake hands and to nod his head when I asked if he wanted some oats, and Lady, a beautiful sorrel mare which Father proudly drove to a sulky every morning and curried and brushed until she was almost mouse color. I delivered milk around town in a hard rubber tired buggy.

One dark night on my delivery route, I ran over a big, high pile of dirt on Main Street. The buggy tipped over with me on the ground. Maude, the beautiful animal that she was, proceeded home on the run and went straight for the barn. That was okay, only the buggy caught the side of the door and was a pitiful sight when I got there. Father was pretty perturbed.

A few days later, I took Giotto down to the freight train to get a tent, which we had sent down from Caseville.

Giotto had a head too large for the bride and so I fastened the throat latch over the top of his head. The conveyance that Giotto was harnessed to was a one-horse wagon. I drove up to the side of the freight car and went in to get the tent. While I was in there, Giotto shook the bride off. I came out with the tent and away went Giotto at full speed.

When he went across the tracks, the box flew off, the reach which connects the back wheels to the front broke and Giotto went down the tracks pulling only the front wheels end-over-end. Shortly, the last of the harness came off and Giotto was completely free.

He ran south on the tracks towards the river. I expected to see him go across the railroad bridge and break a leg or two, but when he came to the bridge, he suddenly stopped and came running back to me. The wagon was a pitiful sight. Father was furious.

A short time after that, I had Lady harnessed to our new pneumatic-tired buggy. It started to rain. I drove up to the front porch and got out to get an umbrella. Lady took one glance at the brelia which I had put and away she went, down the south drive and around. She came in north drive at full speed as she passed the barn, there was a hitching post, which rear wheel of the carriage caught.

The carriage was a pitiful sight. Father was delirious. I wasn't worth sending college, so quietly, I pulled my money out of the bank and bought my first pair of trousers, and weighing 10 pounds, proceeded to Bowdoin College, where I went into more trouble than a freshman on campus.

But that's another story. Later I loved the college. Everything comes out right in the end.

Girl Scouts make excursions

The Cass City Girl Scouts enjoyed a skating party at the Blue Blazer in Caro Nov. 7 after school.

Seventeen Brownie Scouts of Troop 865 and their leaders, Karen Smith, Joyce Loomis, Judy Profit and Hilda Koch and driver, Sharon Francis toured television station WNEM, Channel 5, near Saginaw Nov. 6 after school. Following the tour, the group stopped at Hill orchards, west of Caro, and enjoyed cider and doughnuts.

Junior Girl Scout Troop 170 and leaders Arlene Szarapski and Theresa Suggden visited Provincial House in early October and put up Halloween decorations for the residents to enjoy.

Brownie Troop 827 and leaders Carol Rutkoski and Marty Nickolson made Thanksgiving decorations for Provincial House and the girls put them up.

Altar Society makes plans

St. Michael's Altar Society meeting was held Nov. 12. Father William O'Shea opened with prayer. Reports were read and approved. The Thanksgiving drive will be the week of Nov. 26-Dec. 1. Sorting and packing will take place the following week. Election of officers will take place at the Dec. 10 meeting. Virginia Bilicki and Arlene Marz volunteered for the nominating committee.

The Christmas party will take place at this time also. Baked goods for exchange of gifts was suggested and approved. Everyone is to bring a dessert dish for the party also.

Discussed was buying the Christmas trees for the church.

The meeting was closed with prayer for the repose of Chet Karpowski's soul. Refreshments were served.

HEALTH TIPS

Take it easy when shoveling snow

Frank Chappell
Science News Editor

Winter snows are almost here again, and millions of householders will be faced once more with clearing walks and driveways.

Snow shoveling requires a lot of energy and muscle. Pushing a stalled auto out of a drift is even more demanding.

Once again the American Medical Association reminds men of middle age and beyond, especially those who are overweight and lead sedentary lives, to take it easy in clearing away the snow from walks and drives.

If you're in good health, snow shoveling actually is good exercise - if you take it easy. This could mean getting up half an hour earlier on the morning of a fresh snow fall, to allow time for leisurely shoveling, with frequent brief rests. The frantic, hurried approach to clearing the drive in an effort to get to work on time most definitely is not good for health.

Most common serious health result of overexertion from snow shoveling is a heart attack. If your heart is sound, it likely won't be damaged. But if you already are prone to a heart attack, the extra exertion can trigger it.

Unless you have had a recent checkup, however, you cannot be certain you aren't a likely candidate for heart trouble. Take it easy. Don't be ashamed to invest in a machine that blows or scrapes aside the snow, with a small engine substituting for muscle power. Or hire the neighborhood lad down the street to shovel your walks.

Snow shoveling can be good for you, if you use common sense. Exercise and fresh air in the winter are important to maintaining health. Just don't overdo it.

AARP has Thanksgiving dinner

The annual Thanksgiving dinner of the Cass City chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons was held Nov. 8 at the Good Shepherd Lutheran church fellowship hall.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid Society was in charge of the dinner.

Members and guests were entertained by the G.E.T. muppet ministry "God's Everlasting Team." Muppets were Becky Nye, Karen Little, Becky Speirs, Scott Hartwick and Rob Hartwick, with Donna Little and Donella Peasley in charge of production.

The Cass City Rotary Club has invited the AARP members to be guests at the annual Rotary Christmas party at Cass City High School, Thursday, Nov. 29, at 6 p.m. Members must be wearing their identification badges.

Dec. 13 will be the next regular meeting at the fellowship hall. There will be a Christmas exchange. Rose Worstell, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Durham, Donna Wernette and Leona Stevens will be in charge of arrangements.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters

A very active 15-year-old from Vassar has been waiting for a Big Sister well over a year. She likes all sports, hiking, and swimming. She is a sweet girl with some very special needs.

at 129 E. Burnside Street, Caro, telephone 673-6996; in Sanilac county at 26 Lexington Street, P.O. Box 1, Sandusky, telephone 648-4433; in Huron county at 592 N. Port Crescent, Bad Axe, telephone 269-7264.

We have a 12-year-old boy who would love the company of an understanding Big Brother. He lives in Caro and enjoys camping, sports, skating, fishing and bike riding.

A lot of special attention is needed from a man for this little eight-year-old boy. He comes from a large family in Unionville, and enjoys building things, playing football and basketball.

A mechanical minded boy from the Millington area needs a Big Brother. He is 15 years old and likes fishing, working with dogs, and hunting. This Big Brother will need lots of patience and understanding.

Hairstressers pick favorite style makers

The National Hairstressers and Cosmetologists Association, affiliate No. 25, met recently.

Members voted on the style maker of the year for 1980.

The three top choices were Lauren Tewes, Carol Burnett and Polly Bergen.

The members also donated money to the NHCA disaster fund and scheduled the Christmas party Dec. 10 at Veronica's Restaurant in Cass City.

All licensed hairstresser and cosmetologists are welcome to join NHCA. Contact Helen's Beauty Shop in Cass City.

Crisis Center meeting set

The Tuscola County Assault Crisis Center will meet Tuesday, Nov. 27, at 7:30 p.m. at the Sacred Heart Parish Center in Caro.

A board of directors will be elected and training sessions for volunteers will be discussed.
