

Prison work camp headed for Tuscola

There is at least a 90 percent chance that the proposed state Department of Corrections work camp, unfenced and with no armed guards, will be built in Tuscola county.

It will be up to a committee appointed by the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners to recommend a site. It can recommend that the camp be built elsewhere, but warned a state official last Thursday, Eric J. Berry of the Office of Intergovernmental Relations, "One reason cannot be because you don't want it."

The corrections department first announced plans to build a minimum security work camp in the Thumb last September. It doesn't like the term "prison camp."

Some of the fog surrounding the proposal was cleared away last Thursday when officials from the corrections department, intergovernmental relations and Department of Natural Resources (DNR) met in the courthouse in Caro with county and township officials and interested citizens from Tuscola and Sanilac counties.

Huron county officials were also notified, but apparently no one showed.

The three Thumb area legislators, Sen. Alvin DeGrow and State Representatives Loren Armbruster and Quincy Hoffman were present.

WHERE?

Speculation at the meeting centered around the Deford State Game Area or Caro Regional Center as the prime sites for the camp, although the state owns much property elsewhere.

"We're trying very sincerely to leave the sheet blank," Berry responded to a question about the rumors.

About half of the 80-100 men to be assigned to the camp will work for the DNR, primarily in state parks. It isn't practical for them to travel more than 45 miles to a work site because of the time spent for travel.

Draw 45 mile radiuses from parks as far west as Bay City, Metamora on the south, Port Crescent on the north and Sanilac on the east and they all connect in Tuscola county. (See drawing.)

Thus, Berry said, there was a 90 percent probability the camp will be located in Tuscola county.

Selection criteria includes a minimum of five acres, level ground, roads to the site open year-round, access to utilities and space for sewage treatment system or access to a municipal sewer. Land can be purchased if there isn't suitable state-owned land.

Only if a suitable site cannot be found in Tuscola will the state consider putting the camp in Huron or Sanilac county.

Once the advisory council appointed by the county board makes its recommendation, which can be for more than one site, there will be a public meeting, but, it was emphasized, local officials and residents will not have a veto power over construction of the camp.

The corrections department and DNR will make the final recommendation to the legislature, which must appropriate the funds for its construction and operation.

WHAT IS IT?

There are 12 such work camps in the state with a total of 1,574 beds, according to John Mills, superintendent of the camps for the Department of Corrections.

The camp proposed for Tuscola county will house

60-100 inmates. About half will work for the DNR, maybe 25 in the camp itself in the kitchen or on maintenance. Of the remainder, some will attend classes full time, for which the camp will have its own teachers, and some might have jobs in the local community, depending on the local economy.

Inmates perform such tasks for the DNR, primarily in state parks, as road building and maintenance, pumping septic tanks, tree nursery work, making signs and picking up picnic tables at the end of the season.

WHO GOES?

Prisoners assigned to the camps, Mills explained, must have no more than four years of their sentence remaining. All prisoners are evaluated and those with that much time left must be in the low risk or next to low risk categories for assault risk and property risk. Those with only six months left to serve can be higher risk.

No one serving a sentence for a sexual offense is assigned to the camps.

At present, all work camps are for men.

The work camps present quite a savings to taxpayers, Mills said, costing only about $13,000 per bed to construct versus $50,000 for a maximum security prison. Operational costs are under $14 per prisoner per day in the camps; almost $30 a day in prison.

ESCAPE

Location of the camp in Tuscola county, Sheriff Hugh Marr avowed, will create a hardship for county law enforcement officers and will also be costly for the county to house escapees in jail and to prosecute them.

According to Mills, over the last 12 years, 2.3 percent of those assigned to the camps have been "walk-aways," and the percentage has been less than that the last two years. The number includes those granted a furlough, usually 48 hours, who were more than two hours. Please turn to page 14.

HOUSE FIRE — An Elkland township fireman gets his oxygen tank adjusted before entering the burning home of Ruby Hartsell at the corner of Sherman and Pine Streets. The fire was discovered about 6:45 last Wednesday evening.

O-G school addition may be over budget

The Owendale-Gagetown High School addition may cost more than the $1.675 million it has available from its construction bond issue, it was reported at the Monday evening school board meeting.

Completion of the building has again been delayed for various reasons. Four classrooms have been in use since the present school year began, but the rest — library, band room, home economics room, cafeteria, gymnasium, a classroom and offices — won't be ready for possibly two more weeks.

The gymnasium, originally scheduled to be ready by Christmas and then by the Akron-Fairgrove basketball game Jan. 19, now won't be ready until the Port Hope game Jan. 26. The Akron-Fairgrove game will be rescheduled.

Although students will be using the rest of the building shortly, finishing touches, such as installation of some cabinets, won't be done until about March 1.

Whether the project finishes over budget or not, Supt. Ronald Erickson said after the meeting, depends on remaining change orders — changes for the original plans. "If we get many more, we'll be in trouble."

Ever since the project was delayed because of court challenges to the bonding proposal, it flirted with a possible cost overrun because inflation had driven up the cost.

All the change orders won't be in until the project is completed, presumably March 1, so he was hopeful the final cost figure will be available at the board's March 12 meeting.

He was unable — and won't be able until then — to estimate how much the cost overrun might be.

If all the bond issue money is spent and expenses remain, according to the superintendent, the excess will have to be paid for out of the general fund. That might require postponing some other expenditures in order to pay for the building.

A more immediate problem is that Construction Coordinators Inc. pulled its project manager, Harvey Lubeski, off the job Monday, claiming that its task of coordinating the construction is over.

Erickson will try and persuade the firm that according to its contract with the district, its work isn't done yet.

The board discussed purchase of cabinets for the home economics room with John Beach of Michigan School Services of Lansing. It will order the cabinets at a special meeting Monday, Jan. 15, at 8 p.m. at Gagetown Elementary School.

Primary purpose of the special meeting will be to make a decision on transferring sixth graders from Gagetown to the high school building at the end of the first semester, Jan. 19.

Erickson said after the meeting that other than that fifth graders won't be moved, it hasn't been decided yet whether only those students in the sixth grade will move or also some sixth graders in the fifth-sixth grade class.

STAFF

The resignation of sixth grade teacher Eloise Kuntz was accepted. She gave no reason for leaving in her letter of resignation. She taught in the district about five years. A replacement will be hired at the special meeting Monday.

Child care leave for the rest of the school year was granted to home economics teacher Peggy Randall. Hired as her replacement for that time period only was Jean Marie Hubert of Alpena.

Operating Engineers, board okay new pact

After eight months of negotiations the Cass City school district and the Operating Engineers have hammered out an agreement. It calls for wage increases of 24 percent over three years and minor adjustments in vacation benefits.

The contract was ratified in the regular meeting of the school board Monday night at the high school. In addition the board approved boosts of 7 percent for non-union personnel for one year.

The wage agreement with the Operating Engineers is retroactive to July 1, the time when the previous pact expired.

The new wage scales are:

1978-79	1979-80	1980-81
$1360	$1460	$1520

Cooks ($3.10 per hour now)

1978-79	1979-80	1980-81
$3.50	$3.70	$3.90

Custodians ($4.30 per hour now)

1978-79	1979-80	1980-81
$4.65	$5.00	$5.30

In addition to the wage increases, full-time custodians will be paid $70 a month towards hospitalization insurance starting next July 1.

After a year the custodians will receive full family coverage. Bus drivers will be paid $20 a month starting Jan. 1, 1979. July 1, 1979 the rate will be $25 a month and July 1, 1980 the payment will be $30 per month.

The contract also calls for Good Friday added as a paid vacation day.

Employees can now earn up to 15 vacation days after 11 years instead of 15 years. The agreement was passed without incident by the board.

The new salary schedule for non-union employees sparked a discussion. Trustee Dean Hoag said that granting an equal raise to all kills incentive. What we are saying, he said, is that everyone does their job the same and that there is no reason to try to do better.

Trustee J. D. Tuckey said that it was impossible to give merit increases without an evaluation process, which he feels the board should adopt.

Supt. Donald Crouse said that this year the raises are the same for all but that in other years there were differences. And, he continued, just because the percentage is the same across the board, doesn't mean that they will be next year.

While this year's schedule was then adopted (see chart) it was decided to set up a meeting with the principals to get input on evaluation.

In setting salaries for the administration the board committee considered the average salaries of schools in the area and the new schedule is in line with salaries paid at other Thumb schools.

State assessment test score news good and bad

The annual Michigan assessment test results were presented to the Cass City School Board Monday night at the school.

Test scores indicate the number of pupils able to answer 75 percent of the quiz questions correctly.

And now for the bad news. In the seventh grade reading tests, Cass City students scored 72.2. That's better than the State average of 67.3, but less than the Thumb B average of 74.3.

In math the seventh grade was 50.9 percent. The state was 49.2 and Thumb B, 55.0.

More bad news. Cleland says that results indicate that comparative scores when the students were in the fourth and in the seventh grade declined. In other words, students were better when compared to other schools in the fourth than they were compared to the same schools in the seventh grade.

COMMUNITY EDUCATION

A philosophy for community education was prepared by Kathleen O'Donnell, director, and approved by the board.

Mrs. O'Donnell also received permission to use the school bus or van for field trips and classes in community education.

The van is furnished free by the district and includes one tank of gas. Drivers must have chauffeurs' licenses. However if the van was to have been used by another group, the cost of alternative transportation must come from the community education budget.

The first use of the van is expected to be for a weekly class in racquet ball in the city.

BAN TRAMPOLINE

The board voted to ban the use of the trampoline at the school. The reason was that insurance coverage for use of the unit is $1,000 per year.

The board felt that the cost was prohibitive and questioned the wisdom of using equipment with such high risk possibilities.

In other business, the board accepted the resignation of David Workun, high school math, effective at the end of the semester. Hired for elementary teaching was Elizabeth Lamb of Tawas City.

A right of way was granted Detroit Edison to install a street light in front of the high school.

The tests revealed some good news and some bad news, according to Jerry Cleland, counselor.

The good news is that Cass City fourth grade students are well above the average for the Thumb and the State in reading and math.

In reading, fourth graders were in the 78.8 percent group. That compares with an average of 73.7 for Thumb B Schools and 62.4 for the entire state.

The results were even more encouraging in the math tests. Cass City was in the 94.7 percent group. Thumb B schools averaged 88.2 and the State 76.1.

Cause of house fire is unknown

Cause of a fire in Cass City last Wednesday that left a family of three homeless is undetermined.

The occupants of the home, located at Sherman and Pine Streets, were Ruby Hartsell and two children, Leonard and Laurie. No one was home when the fire broke out, which was discovered by a neighbor about 6:45 p.m. The last person to be alive did so about a half-hour before then.

The fire started in a wall or cupboards in a rear bedroom. Other than that it was not electrical, Elkland Township Fire Chief Jack Hartwick said, firemen were unable to determine a cause.

He estimated the loss at $13,000 to the building, plus contents. Most of the damage was sustained in the rear bedroom and kitchen, but due to the age of the structure and amount of damage, it is doubtful it will be rebuilt.

Owner of the home is David Laber of Snover, who is in Florida. Mrs. Hartsell said Tuesday his son has been informed about the fire, but probably nothing will be done until spring. She had lived there about 10 years.

Until she can find a place to stay, she and her children are living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bliss, who live across the street.

She did not have insurance on her belongings.

Firemen, who had to contend with around zero degree temperatures while fighting the blaze, were at the scene close to two hours.

Robbers tangle with wrong lady in store heist attempt

An apparent Mutt and Jeff would-be robbery team learned Sunday it doesn't pay to tangle with the 65-year-old owner of the Shay Lake Grocery.

The owner, Hattie M. Stephens, told investigating sheriff's officers that at 5:40 p.m., a man came into the store, bought a pack of cigarettes, then went outside and passed a second subject, standing in front of the store window.

The second man then entered, brandished what appeared to be a sawed-off shotgun and exclaimed, "Stick 'em up." He was wearing a Halloween mask. Instead, according to the police report, "The victim advised at that time she pulled out her .38 caliber revolver from her smock pocket and fired one shot over the subject's head, into the ceiling above the door."

The would-be robber ran out the door and Ms. Stephens ran after him. He headed northwest into a wooded area and his intended victim fired four more shots.

She then returned to her store to call the sheriff's department, only to find the culprits had pulled the phone line from the outside terminal. A friend then called authorities.

The first man, who deputies believe was a lookout, was described as 4 ft., 8 in. tall, with short, neat black hair and wearing a brown suede jacket with fringe along the sleeves.

The second subject was described as 6 ft. to 6 ft., 2 in. tall, with long blonde hair. He was wearing bluejeans with a hole in the right knee and a gray hat.

The grocery is on Gilford Drive, off Shay Lake Road, and parallel to Sucker Creek Drive.

Deputies followed footprints in the snow from Sucker Creek Drive to the store, then back to that road, where the would-be bandits got into a car and left, possibly being picked up by a third person.

As of Wednesday morning, no arrests had been made.

(And anyone else he can get to help)

I positively swear that I won't bore you with a word about this year's diet.

The economy may be facing a recession later this year and everybody's worried. Right? Wrong. In mid-February a week is planned in Arizona for eight Cass Cityans.

A call to a resort there brought this news. Sorry, all our rooms are reserved for February and March.

Another sour note. Kristy Hughes just returned and said at while she was there the weather was L-O-U-S-Y.

We will go anyway.

The Chamber of Commerce board took a serious look at whether or not choosing a Citizen and Junior Citizen of the Year was worthwhile anymore.

The conclusion was that it definitely is. What's being changed is the way it is presented. No longer will it be a dinner and a dance. Just a banquet.

The thought was that this way the tickets would be cheaper and more of you would feel like attending.

The Chamber also believes that you should know who the community boosters in the organization are. So they are sponsoring a short thumb nail sketch and picture of one of the members each week.

That should start next week if the membership rolls are finalized and turned in to the paper in time.

Planning group will pick camp site

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners Tuesday decided members of the county Planning Commission will serve as the committee to recommend a site for location of a state Department of Corrections work camp.

Some other persons might be added to the committee for purposes of picking a site.

The decision isn't official yet as the county board has yet to receive a letter from the state requesting that it appoint a site selection committee. (See story, page 1.)

It was the board's organizational meeting and Paul Nagy of Vassar, who previously has served as vice-chairman, was elected chairman.

Selected as vice-chairman was J. Benson Collon of Caro. It is the start of the third two-year term on the board for Nagy; the fourth for Collon.

Royce Russell, the new commissioner from district 2 (Elkland, Elmwood, Ellington, and Novesta townships, plus the north half of Kingston township), was appointed by Nagy to serve on the county affairs, personnel and departmental control committees. He will be chairman of the latter. He will also serve as a county representative on the Thumb Area Commission on Aging.

The board will continue meeting on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. It scheduled a special meeting Jan. 16, when it will begin meeting with department heads to review their operations. It will meet with the rest of them at its regular Jan. 23 meeting.

COUNTY BOARD LEADERS — Paul Nagy of Vassar (seated) was selected by his fellow commissioners Tuesday as chairman of the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners for 1979. With him is the newly elected vice-chairman, J. Benson Collon of Caro. Nagy, previously vice-chairman, is starting his third two-year term on the board; Collon, his fourth.

The Haire Net

It's not news anymore that the modern math of the 60's is as passe as shoulder length hair, the Beatles and college militant protest groups.

All proved to be passing fancies of that decade. Modern math is gone, but like the Beatles and the protesters, left its mark.

While schools have gone back to boring rote memory of multiplication tables and other basics, some of the tenets of modern math remain in modern guise.

The new books, say education experts, stress the basics but also attempt to show the students the "why" along with "how".

They say that's what modern math did using technical terms that were too much for too many trying to learn.

While it was in the 60's that modern math had its fling, it was long before that time when spelling retreated from the basics.

My mother was as incredulous about the way spelling was taught to me in the late 1930's as I was the way math was taught in the 60's.

In her day students were made to memorize cardinal rules as spelling aids.

If you happen to be a spelling whiz that won't mean a thing to you. Spelling is like breathing then, nothing to it.

But to some of the rest of us spelling is one of life's complex mysteries. And if you happen to be in the communications business it's murder.

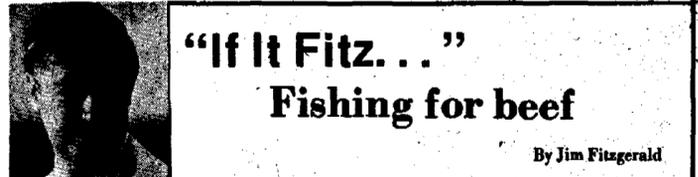

Either this student was sleeping or spelling rules were never mentioned in the schools attended.

One learned late in life, "I before E unless after C, except as in A as in neighbor and weigh", has been a boon. There's a suspicion that others could have eased the way on many other occasions.

There's no campaign here for the reading, writing and arithmetic dogma that traditionals continually espouse.

A well rounded curriculum is a plus for any student. But there are times when maybe a little more stress on English could be more beneficial than a course in French and a course in spelling and grammar better telling what I like best about summer vacation.

"If It Fitz..." Fishing for beef

By Jim Fitzgerald

It should be noted that his wife has always shielded the husband from mankind's never-ending march backward, out of the kitchen. That's why he assumed that the hunks of meat on his dinner plate were cooked, and subsequently spent several minutes chewing raw roast beef.

"This meat is really tough," he whispered to her. They were guests at a holiday party and he didn't want to offend the hostess who was perched on a nearby extension cord.

"You're not supposed to eat it until you fondue it," the wife said. "And please don't embarrass me by telling everyone you don't know what fondue is. People will think you live in a cave."

A little pot of liquid sat at each end of the table. The two pots were attached to the nearest wall by electric cord. In hushed tones, the wife explained that the husband should spear a hunk of meat with a skinny fork and then dip the meat in the nearest pot until it was cooked. Then he could eat it.

"If I lived in a cave, that's probably how I'd cook my dinner," the husband said. "These people have a big stove in their kitchen. Is it broken?"

The husband has always considered himself a totally reasonable man. And he has always considered it totally unreasonable for a man to equip a kitchen with $20,000 worth of cooking appliances and then go into his backyard and burn his hamburger over an open fire.

For more than 20 years, the husband has been crusading to keep cooking in the kitchen where it belongs, and out of places it doesn't belong, such as forests and beaches and porches. If people don't sleep in hammocks in kitchens, they shouldn't fry potatoes in patios. That's what the husband always says.

His wife is weary of hearing it. "People have been fondue for many years. It's fun and it tastes good," she explained. "I would have told you about fondue a long time ago but I knew you would say dumb things about it. I get sick of hearing you say dumb things."

Properly chastised, the husband stuck a forkful of roast beef into a fondue pot at his end of the table. He noticed there were several other forks sticking out of the pot, all unattended. He was reminded of fishermen who prop their poles off the edge of the dock and sit back in the shade, waiting for a strike which is often signaled by bells attached to their lines.

"Will a bell ring when my meat is done?" he asked. "I warned you about saying dumb things," she said. "You're supposed to check your meat every once in a while, until it's the way you want it."

After a minute, the husband pulled out his fork. There was nothing on it. "I think a shark got my roast beef," the husband said.

He was promptly criticized for not securing his roast beef more tightly to his fork. The wife dipped into the pot with a big spoon and dredged out his meat. The husband threatened to turn her in to the game warden. She put his roast beef back on his fork and told him to be patient.

Five minutes later, at the other end of the table, the fondue pot was boiling noisily and the people were cramming hot food into their fat faces. But at the husband's end, the frustrated fishermen were expecting the hostess to tell them they should have been there last week.

"I think the chef should check our extension cord for a loose connection," the husband said. "If that doesn't work, we can always call an electrician to come bake us a cake."

It was finally decided that the pot was operational, but just a little slow. More patience was added to the menu. The wife said the delay only added to the fun, but she doubled the warning against her husband saying dumb things. It was no use.

He advised the hungry fork holders to move into the kitchen. "The fishing should be faster there," he said. "The microwave oven has been converted into an aquarium."

Strictly for business

By Mike Eliasohn

I have long thought that reporters should organize an association for those of us in the news business.

Not for purposes of going on strike but so that we can hold conventions.

I was reminded of the need for such a group the other day when talking to a real estate sales person who was packing her bags for Florida.

The temperature was around zero and I can't think of a better time to go to Florida.

She was not going for fun in the sun, of course. It was a business trip, presumably tax deductible. While basking in 80 degree temperatures, she was going to learn about what beachfront property was available for sale to us "Eskimos" up north and the latest in condominiums.

Naturally, to better inform one's clients about the beachfront, I assume it was necessary to go swimming, and to better inform them about golf courses close to the condominiums they are interested in buying, to play golf.

I also recently met a business executive for an area manufacturer who was scheduled to attend a business conference in late January in Florida.

The AFL-CIO holds its annual convention every year in Florida, which has never been considered a manufacturing or strong union state.

We reporters cover numerous political bodies, all of which belong to various associations. Ostensibly, the purpose of these organizations is to improve the lot of their members, such as by lobbying in Lansing or Washington, but I know better. The real purpose is to hold conventions in nice places.

How else to explain that the National Association of School Boards held its last convention at Disneyland? (Officially, it was in Anaheim.) Or that a favorite setting site for the Michigan Association of Counties is Mackinac Island?

Timing of these meetings is important. My real estate acquaintance is going to Florida in winter, as is the business executive. The Michigan Association of Counties doesn't meet on Mackinac Island in winter.

The National Association of School Boards, I must admit, met last year in early April.

Admittedly, not all groups are like that. The Michigan Farm Bureau always holds its annual meeting in Grand Rapids, which even Gerald Ford didn't go back to after he was retired from the Presidency.

Still, you get the picture. Most conventions and business conferences aren't really for the purpose of conducting business but for purposes of having a good time in a nice place with a climate better than the one the convention-goer left behind. Whatever business is conducted is strictly for purposes of rationalizing being there.

If they were for business only, someone could build a cement block convention center in the middle of nowhere, for business only, serve meals in a cafeteria, promote the place as being strictly for business and make a mint.

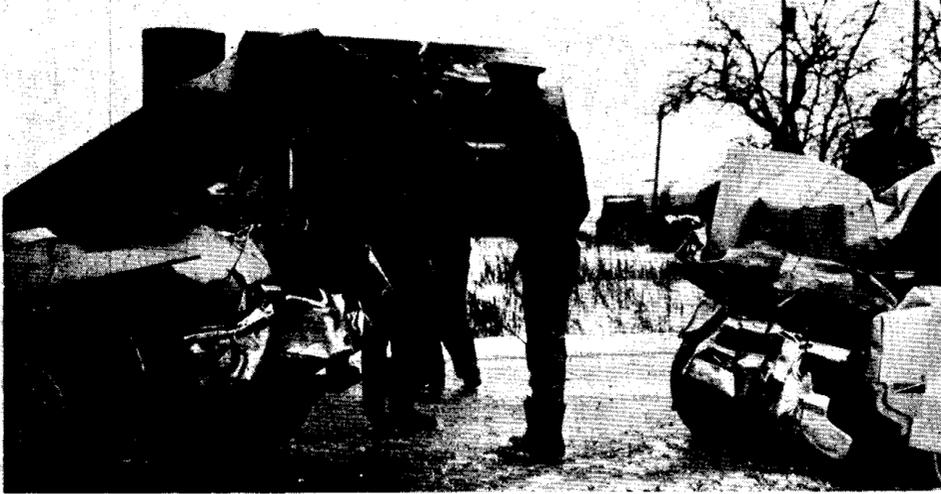

Another nice thing about conventions and business conferences is that since they are "for business," they don't count as part of vacation time. In other words, it's like an extra vacation.

That's why I think reporters should organize. The Michigan Association of Reporters can meet each summer on Mackinac Island. The National Association of Reporters can meet each winter in Florida or Arizona.

One might think having all the reporters away might cause problems but I don't see that happening.

Politicians don't ever do anything until they know they can get in the newspapers and on television and radio, so with the reporters gone, nothing will happen to report.

There is still the possibility of crime, accidents and fires, but maybe we can get criminals and drivers to promise to be on their best behavior while we're gone and arrange with the weatherman to make it rain the whole time.

TWO INJURED -- This head-on collision at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday sent both drivers to Hills and Dales General Hospital. The car driven by Janice Woodward of Cass City is on the left. Driver of the other one was James C. Dufty of Caseville.

Dufty in fair condition after head-on auto crash

A 4:30 p.m. accident Tuesday on Deckerville Road sent two persons to Hills and Dales General Hospital.

Reported in fair condition Wednesday morning was James C. Dufty, 23, of Caseville, one of the drivers involved. In fair to serious condition was the other driver, Janice L. Woodward, 31, of Severance Road, Cass City.

A passenger in the Woodward auto, Arthur Smith, 51, of McArthur Road, Deford, escaped injury.

According to the sheriff's department, Dufty was eastbound, lost control on icy pavement, and collided head-on with the westbound Woodward auto.

The accident took place 2 mile east of Englehart Road. As of Wednesday, it remained under investigation.

SLIPPERY ROADS

Slippery road conditions were a contributing factor to several recent accidents.

Joseph L. Doerr, 16, of W. Huron Line Road, Cass City, received two tickets from Cass City police after a mishap at 10:35 p.m. Friday. They reported he was northbound on Cemetery Road, just south of Milligan, attempted to pass a car and lost control of his vehicle. It slid into a mailbox on the west side of the road.

He then drove away from the scene of the accident with police in pursuit. They lost sight of him but later found him at his home, where he was ticketed for driving too fast for conditions and leaving the scene of a property damage accident.

Dec. 31, according to Caro state police, William J. Bliss Jr., 34, of Dutcher Road, Caro, was westbound on Dutcher, east of M-81, swerved to avoid hitting a dog and lost control on the ice. His car slid into the south ditch.

At 6 a.m. Jan. 2, Cass City police reported, Kenneth J. Lowe, 20, of 4167 Maple Street, was entering the Walbro lot on Nestles Street. His car slid on the ice in the lot into the parked car of James Skaggs of 7211 Deckerville Road, Deford.

At 6:45 a.m. Friday, village police said, Barbara Ann Hendrick, 41, of 5054 Green Road, was eastbound on Garfield Street, east of Doerr Road, and had to steer around a car halted by the south edge of the road.

In doing so, her car was sideswiped by the westbound car of Brenda Surbrook, 21, of 5628 Robinson Road, who was unable to avoid the other car because of the slippery roadway.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

At 11:20 p.m. Friday, deputies reported, Kirk D. Klebba, 19, of 4222 S. Seeger Street, was southbound on M-24, north of M-46, when his car struck a deer.

Randon S. Doerr, 29, of Unionville, was westbound on M-81, west of Crawford Road, at 6:30 p.m. Saturday when his car collided with a deer. Cass City police investigated.

At 9:30 a.m. Sunday in Cass City, police reported, Mary Ann Opanasenko, 37, of 6674 Huron Street, backed out of her driveway into the street, preparing to go west.

Then, Marie E. Roch, 74, of 6644 Seed Street, backed out of the driveway on the opposite side of the street into the right front fender of the Opanasenko auto.

Another accident was in Cass City at 8:10 a.m. Tuesday. Police said Arthur E. Anthes, 62, of 6270 DeLong Road, was southbound on West Street, didn't yield at Garfield Street, and his vehicle was struck by the eastbound auto of Maryellen Vatter, 44, of 4110 Decker Road, Decker.

Headlight stolen from pickup

Richard Sugden of 5961 Kelly Road reported to Cass City police late last Thursday that someone stole a headlight from his 1966 Ford pickup while it was parked in the General Cable lot.

It was in the lot from 3 p.m. until after 11.

Robert Lowe of 4965 N. Germania Road, Snover, told village officers Tuesday afternoon that while his car was parked at the Charmont the previous evening, someone backed into the left rear fender.

E.B. Schwaderer of 6201 Dale Street reported Jan. 3 that during the night of Jan. 1-2, someone drove onto his lawn, the vehicle knocking over a pine tree at its base.

SCHOOL DANCES

Following a 40 minute executive session, the board established the following policy for school dances: A band can only be hired for the junior senior prom unless the board gives special permission for other dances and the request is made 40 days in advance. Otherwise, records can be played or a disc jockey can be hired.

For families, however, admission will be no more than $4 when entering together. Student admission remains at 75 cents.

The scheduled Elenbaum property transfer hearing Jan. 12 before state Board of Education hearing officer Raymond Godmer in Lansing has been postponed at the request of the attorney for the property owners involved. It will be rescheduled at a later date.

The hearing is on the appeal by Owen-Gage to have the property transferred back, the state board having previously approved its transfer to the Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port district. Student of the month for December was Karla Kretzschmer, a ninth grader.

Dry beans, soybeans

By Don Kebler

Tuscola County Dry Bean Growers Association President Larry Zwerk has announced this year's County Bean Day will be Saturday, Jan. 20.

Again, this popular event will be held at Akron-Fairgrove High School, north of Fairgrove. For those that come before 9:30 a.m. there will be early bird door prize drawings. The day's program will begin at 9:30.

Highlighting the program will be two presentations. One will be an update of the effects of the domestic marketing program initiated last year by the Michigan Bean Commission. Jacob Engle of Ketchum, MacLeod, Grove, commodity marketing specialists, will report on the activities in promoting the consumption of navy beans in restaurants.

The second will be on the topic of "Marketing, Cooperatives and Consumers in the 1980's." Glenn Lake, president of the Michigan Milk Producers' Association, in presenting this topic will tell how his cooperative was developed and how it functions as a commodity marketing association.

Other topics on the program are chemical weed controls in dry beans, nematodes, seed vigor testing, state bean variety trials, and bean diseases and their controls.

Noon lunch will be paid for by the numerous sponsoring county elevators, fertilizer dealers, farm equipment and seed businesses.

Soybeans are gaining popularity.

Because the knowledge in producing soybeans is not as complete as for corn, wheat, beans and beets, farmers who wish to produce soybeans need some cultural practice information. To provide this, a program will be presented Tuesday, Jan. 30, at the Richville Lutheran Hall on M-15 in Richville.

Growers will learn about varieties, fertilization, inoculation, seeding rate, row spacing, weed control, diseases and rotation. This two-hour program will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Both the Tuscola county annual bean day and the soybean meeting information will be most useful to our Tuscola county crop producers in their '79 year practices.

In addition, any accidents caused by illegal snow removal will leave violators open to lawsuits for public liability and property damage.

For a charge to be filed, a police officer must witness the violation, or a citizen may file a complaint.

Another graduate, Kenneth A. Daniel of Royal Oak, has been assigned to the Bad Axe post.

Under the law, enacted last spring, snow, ice or slush may not be removed from a driveway or other property and placed across a roadway or its shoulders. Snow piled near a driveway entrance must not obstruct the view of a motorist entering the roadway.

Pushing snow from a driveway to the opposite side of the road also is prohibited.

Nationwide farm census underway

The 1978 Census of Agriculture is underway, report forms having been mailed to all farms and ranches in the 50 states, the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce, has announced.

This 1978 census, the nation's 21st since 1840, will update data most recently obtained in 1975 for 1974 operations. Information will be sought on all agricultural operations.

With report forms for the 1978 census drastically reduced from the 22 pages of the last census, most agricultural operators will receive a four-page form in the mail, and about 20 percent will receive a five-page version.

Census bureau officials are setting October, 1979 to begin issuing data for more than 3,000 individual counties. They expect to publish the additional volumes of statistical information for the state and nation within the following two years.

The census report forms are confidential by law. They may be seen only by sworn Census Bureau employees, and may be used only for statistical totals.

Your Neighbor says

Counseling could save marriages

Counseling for couples seeking a divorce isn't a bad idea, says Waldo Sting. "There probably are a lot of times it would straighten things out."

But he has mixed emotions about a bill in the last session of the legislature that would have boosted marriage license fees from the present $5 up to $25. The money raised by the increase would have been used to establish a counseling program for couples whose marriage is in trouble or who have already split up and are having child custody or visitation disputes.

The bill passed the Senate but died in the House of Representatives.

He feels such a counseling service might help some couples to stay together, but, "It's a lot of money for people getting married," he said of the $25 fee. "A lot of them don't have much money when they get started."

He also pointed out that it is possible now to get marriage counseling for free, such as from ministers. Sting also doesn't think much of Michigan's no-fault divorce law, feeling that it makes it too easy to get a divorce without trying to save a marriage. "It shouldn't be like that," he commented.

Sting and his wife, Anna, have three children, all married. He farms 1,100 acres with two sons. He and his wife live on E. Huron Line Road, Sebawaing township.

Baptist society elects officers

The monthly meeting of the Baptist Missionary society was held Jan. 2 at the church. Because of the extreme cold, only eight women attended.

Deviations were given by Mrs. Rosella Kretzschmer, who spoke on "Resolutions." Prayer time for missionaries was led by Mrs. Vera Bearss. Letters from several missionaries were read. Officers to serve for the coming year were elected as follows:

president, Mrs. Kretzschmer; vice-president, Mrs. Richard Shaw; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Jim Perry, with Mrs. Arthur Fisher as assistant.

Members of the committee on "Informissions" (information on various missions) will be Mrs. Lou LaPonsie, Mrs. Ralph Hanby and Mrs. Diane Ramsey. Prayer chairman is Mrs. Stanley McArthur, with Mrs. Fay McComb as assistant; project chairman, Mrs. Kretzschmer, with Mrs. Myrtle McColl as assistant; reporter, Mrs. Rick Parrott, with Mrs. Ella Cumper as assistant, and devotions chairman, Mrs. Clyde Wells, with Mrs. Timothy Teal as assistant. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Perry.

Cleft palate group to meet

Saginaw Valley Cleft Palate Association will meet at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, Jan. 17, at Delta Family Clinic, 2303 East Amelith Road, Bay City. The program will be a film "From the Wisdom of Nature," from the Bay County Chapter, March of Dimes, which examines the fight against birth defects.

It's next to impossible to keep a bright person in the dark.

Reserve unit offers bonuses

Battery B, 4th Battalion, 38th Field Artillery, U.S. Army Reserve, based in Bad Axe, has been authorized by the Army to offer enlistment and educational bonuses, according to its commander, Capt. Kurt A. Eugster.

High school graduates or current high school seniors are now eligible for educational bonuses up to a maximum of $2,000.

The Army will pay up to 50 percent of tuition costs for college, up to $500 a year for four years. To be eligible, men must be qualified to enlist in the reserves for six years, with the educational bonus to be paid for the first four of those years.

Men who have not previously served in the military who are high school graduates or current high school seniors are eligible for a cash bonus of $1,500 on a six-year enlistment, $750 to be paid upon completion of training and $250 a year for the next three years served.

Current high school seniors can enlist and attend drills and be paid while waiting for initial active duty training after graduation.

In addition, all members of the armed forces are receiving a 5.5 percent pay raise. That will bring starting salary for Private E-1s in the reserves to $3.50 an hour.

Women are not eligible to enlist in the Bad Axe unit because it is a combat unit.

Battery B is located at 1013 N. Van Dyke, Bad Axe.

HEALTH TIPS
Frostbite hazard in wintertime

By Frank Chappell, American Medical Association

An ever present winter hazard in North America is frostbite.

Frostbite is, naturally, more of a problem in the northern states, but even in much of the South there are occasional nights cold enough to nip unprotected noses and cheeks.

Frostbite can be very painful, resulting in amputations, and can leave the victim hypersensitive to cold for the rest of his or her life.

In some ways the damage of frostbite is similar to a burn. First degree frostbite, like sunburn, is an injury to the surface skin. It is likely to attack ears, toes, fingers, cheeks or nose.

Second degree frostbite produces blisters, as in second degree burns. In third degree frostbite the damage is deep and much of the frozen part may be lost.

The American Medical Association points out that prevention is the best protection against frostbite.

Prevention means being properly dressed in warm clothing, waterproof shoes, and heavy, dry socks, with good covering for head and ears. Keep clothing dry from both outside moisture and from perspiration, and avoid tight clothing or garters that may restrict circulation.

Motorists traveling across country in subfreezing weather are advised to have heavy clothing and shoes in the car, in the event of a breakdown and a necessary hike for help.

First signs of frostbite are a "pins and needles" prickly feeling, and then numbness. The affected part will turn white or grey and later red.

First aid possibilities are limited. Thawing of the tissue as soon as possible is the first consideration. This can best be accomplished by getting indoors into a warm room. Use warm water, not too hot. Treat the frozen part gently and do not rub or massage it.

The old technique of rubbing snow or ice water on the frozen spot does more harm than good, by delaying thawing.

Church ladies meet for luncheon

The Trinity United Methodist Women met Jan. 5 for a noon luncheon, served by Group 1 with Marie Jetta and Margaret Czekal, co-chairmen. There were 28 ladies present.

Mickey Marshall, treasurer, presented the Pledge Service.

President Elaine Proctor presented the past president, Marion Keating, with a pin of the United Methodist cross and flame emblem in recognition of her tenure in office.

The next meeting will be a Feb. 5 noon luncheon. Visitors are welcome.

Water line freezeups reported

The very cold temperatures last week caused the first water line freezeups of the winter in Cass City, according to village Superintendent Lou LaPonsie.

As of Tuesday, five houses have had the problem. All had been repaired.

Homeowners who have had such problems in the past should leave a trickle of water running in one faucet during extremely low temperatures, he said. The water must be a steady flow, not dripping.

Those who have had such problems in past years have been notified, via telephone by the village to leave a tap running.

One sign that water in a line is starting to freeze, LaPonsie advised, is if rust is observed in the water. If that happens, leave a faucet running.

Once the problem starts, it is necessary to keep a tap running until the frost is out of the ground in spring. LaPonsie admitted that results in a costly water bill, but is not as big a hardship as having the water line freeze.

The freezeups often occur in homes where pipes run along the basement wall. To prevent freezing, put some type of insulation, even a board, between the pipe and wall.

Usually those homes which have the problem first are where the water meter is located along the basement wall but above ground level. The freezeup results in water running out of the meter.

Of the five homes that have had freezeups, four resulted in broken water meters and the fifth was underground, requiring excavation to reach the line, then thawing it with a torch.

School Scribbles

By Diane McAlpine

CCHS

After two weeks of vacation, it seems impossible to get up for school again! I'm sure by this time next week, everyone will be back into the swing of things!

The teachers didn't hesitate to get back into the "swing of things." You'd think it was the last day of the marking period the way they poured on the work! (Finals are coming up and we have to get to a certain point in our books if we want to finish by the end of the year!)

The final exams days will be held Thursday, Jan. 18 and Friday, Jan. 19.

INTERMEDIATE

Friday, Mr. Gogola's sixth grade students presented a Christmas play, "Christmas Everyday," to their parents and the students in the fifth and sixth grades.

The Intermediate school has started a noon hour program for students during their lunch hour. Along with two game rooms that have been set up, intramural games are being played between individual home-room classes. Each home-room is divided into three groups, boys, girls and co-ed. Presently, the students are competing in free throw contests.

The results for the seventh grade boys' group are: 7E-first place, 26 points; 7D-second place, 25 points; 7C-third place, 24 points; 7F-fourth place, 23 points; 7A-fifth place, 18 points; and 7B-sixth place, 15 points. Tim Babich and Larry Tonti tied for the top individuals with 10 points each.

The eighth grade boys' group results are: 8F-first place, 31 points; 8B-second place, 28 points; 8E-third place, 27 points; 8A-fourth place, 23 points; 8C-fifth place, 19 points; and 8D sixth place, 17 points. The top individuals were Bill Erla with 12 points and Rick Pobanz with 10 points.

The girls' and co-ed's results are not in yet.

At the end of the year, a "Junior High Championship" playoff will be held to determine the "champs" between the seventh and eighth grades.

Unemployment benefits may be taxed

Although a new federal income tax law makes some unemployment benefits taxable, the Michigan Employment Security Commission will not withhold taxes from claimants' benefit checks, according to MESC director, S. Martin Taylor.

Approximately 500,000 people in Michigan are projected to receive unemployment insurance, Work Incentive Program, and Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) benefits in 1979.

The federal Revenue Act of 1978, effective Jan. 1, 1979, taxes those benefits depending on marital status and family total adjusted income.

Since total family income is not relevant under state law for awarding benefits, it is impossible for the MESC to predict exactly how many claimants will be affected or what the dollar amount of taxes may be.

The MESC is notifying claimants that they will be responsible for paying any income tax owed when they file their 1979 tax returns. The MESC will send each claimant an annual statement of benefits paid to him or her during the calendar year.

Since the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) is responsible for interpreting the law, claimants are advised to contact the IRS for official information on whether or not their benefits are taxable, Taylor said. Copies of claimants' annual statements will be forwarded to the IRS as well as to any other taxing agency (state, cities, etc.) that may request them.

days before Christmas vacation, the Evergreen students missed their Christmas program and parties. But never fear, last week each room held their party, exchanged gifts, played games and enjoyed many refreshments.

During Social Studies, Miss Hurt's room talked about the different colors of people. They decided that the color of skin made no difference. They proved it by popping white and black kernelled popcorn. Both tasted delicious.

Mrs. Rose's second graders are working on addition facts up to the sum of 18. The third graders have been working on subtraction of two digit numbers.

MOVING IN - The Regional Educational Media Center has completed its move to the former Professional Building on S. Seeger Street, but as of last Thursday, there were still lots of items to put away. Performing that task was Nancy Fischer.

AN OVERALL VIEW of the large room in the media center shows the films and other educational supplies, which are used by schools in Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties. In the background are Pat Hunter (left) and the center's director, Don Richards. The move gives the center 2,600 square feet of space as compared to the 1,673 it had in its previous Main Street location.

Sweden exchange student finds similar life styles in Cass City

Anders Albage wanted to see how others live so he applied to be an exchange student.

Now that he is one, he has found that people, at least in the United States, don't live much differently than they do in his native Sweden.

Albage has been in Cass City since Aug. 20 as a participant in the Rotary Club exchange program.

He lived with the Vic Guernsey family until early December, is now with the Tom Proctors, then moves in April to live with the Ken Jensen family until he returns home in late July or early August.

"I really like the people so far, they're very friendly," he said of those he has encountered, especially those singling out his host families.

The 17-year-old has studied English for six years, French for four and German for one.

"I want to see how other people in other countries live and how they differ," he said. Then, reflecting a moment on what he has seen so far, added, "not very much though."

"It's quite a similar way of living," he said of life in Sweden and this country. "I'm quite surprised it is so similar."

THE ONE BIG DIFFERENCE he has encountered has been in school systems.

In Sweden, students must attend school from age 7 to 16 and for many, that is the end of their education. Those that continue attend what is called a gymnasium (it has nothing to do with athletics).

Albage attended a gymnasium for one year, prior to coming here and has two years to go upon his return. He will not receive any credit for his year at Cass City High School.

Students attending gymnasiums have a choice of various "lines" or specialties. Albage is enrolled in the science line -- math, chemistry, etc. -- and is also studying languages.

After he finishes the gymnasium, he will probably serve his one year of required military service (he can delay it, however) and then hopes to attend a university, probably to study medicine.

More students in Sweden want to attend universities than there is space for them, however; thus entrance requirements are very tough.

The exchange student hasn't decided what he will do if he doesn't get into a university.

At the high school here, he is studying trigonometry, composition, chemistry, Michigan history, U.S. history and a course called "adults and the law."

"I've liked the teachers," he said of those he has here.

"All my teachers are very good, young. I think they can understand students better (when they're young)."

ATHLETICS ARE ALSO different. There are school sports teams in Sweden, but no one pays much attention to their games other than the participants.

"That was surprising," he said of seeing a thousand people at a high school football game. "I think it's nice because you feel you're doing."

The big action sports were in the Scandinavian country in sports clubs with different clubs for different sports. A team from one club will play teams from other clubs.

Albage belongs to a basketball club, with about 2,000 members, ages 7 and up. There is a team for each age -- sometimes two teams per age group, depending on skill level -- and as many teams for girls as boys. The age divisions end at 18 and each club's top adult team plays in something akin to a college league.

Albage is playing on the varsity team here, but the 5-9 guard hasn't seen much action yet.

He was also on the football team as a running back, though he had never seen a football game until coming here. He plans on running track in the spring and may try out for the baseball team -- another sport "foreign" to him -- if it isn't "too hard to play."

Strictly for fun, he also plays soccer and ice hockey in Sweden and also skis, both downhill and cross country.

A skiing trip up north was on his Christmas vacation agenda.

HE HAS ALREADY done quite a bit of traveling since he has been here. He went with the Rod Krueger family to Florida in their motor home in November, has been to Chicago, Detroit and Traverse City, and attended two Michigan State football games in East Lansing and a Lions' game in the Silverdome.

From mid-June to mid-July, he will go on a trip out West with other Rotary exchange students.

In October, the youth was visited here by his father, who works as a negotiator for the Employers Confederation and was visiting corporations in several U.S. cities, including Detroit.

The confederation negotiates contracts for its member industries with the trade unions, in much the same way a union here negotiates contracts for each of its locals.

Albage's mother is a dentist. He has three sisters, ages 19, 15, and 12. The family lives in a suburb of Stockholm, Sweden's capital and largest city (population about 750,000).

His oldest sister was a Rotary exchange student in Hart, Mich., two years ago and she influenced his applying for the program. "That was one of the reasons I wanted to go, because she told me how great it was," he explained.

A study at Michigan State University revealed that people who ate two apples a day had fewer headaches.

Emmons gets 60-90 years

Mark Emmons was sentenced Monday to 60-90 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for the July 8, 1977 murder of his mother and sister.

Circuit Judge Norman A. Baguley recommended he receive psychiatric treatment. He was credited with 550 days already served.

Emmons was found guilty by a jury Dec. 8 of two counts of second degree murder but mentally ill for the shooting of his mother, Joan, 52, and sister, Dawn, 22, in the home the three were living in on Ellington Street, Caro.

The "but mentally ill" finding means that should he be determined in the future to no longer be mentally ill, he still must serve the rest of his sentence.

Also Monday, Phillip R. Waybrandt Jr., 19, of Birch Run, was sentenced to 2½-5 years in Jackson prison for unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle. He was credited with 18 days served. Psychiatric treatment and placement in an outlying facility were recommended.

A circuit court jury Nov. 22 found him guilty of the charge for having taken a motorcycle in Tuscola township June 3.

William R. Jacobs, 28, of Sandusky, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving under the influence of liquor (3rd offense). His plea was accepted and sentencing scheduled Feb. 13. Bond was continued.

He was arrested on the charge June 12 in Juniata township.

John Robinson Jr., 31, of 2201 Akron Road, Caro, pleaded guilty to attempted carrying of a concealed weapon. His plea was accepted and sentencing delayed one year. Costs were assessed at $200.

He was charged with carrying a pistol in his station wagon Dec. 7 in Indianfields township.

Michael G. Parker, 20, of 144 Andy Street, Vassar, stood mute to a charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile. A plea of innocent was entered in his behalf and a petition for a forensic examination granted. Bond was continued.

He is accused of taking the car of Albert Murphy Oct. 11 in Vassar.

DISTRICT COURT

Gary M. Viney, 22, of 6531 E. Main Street, Cass City, was sentenced Monday by District Judge Richard F. Kern for driving under the influence of liquor.

He was placed on probation, license suspended for 90 days, fined $100 and assessed $150 court costs.

Viney was arrested on the charge Dec. 9 in Cass City and pleaded guilty Dec. 26.

M-53/46 to be made 4-way stop

Although a stoplight won't be installed at the intersection of M-53 and M-46, it soon will be made a four-way stop, according to Lt. Neal Rowe, commander of the Sandusky state police post.

He feels a four-way stop will be safer than a stoplight.

At present, traffic on M-46 must stop for that on M-53. There is a blinker light, stop signs and "speed bumps" on M-46.

The Traffic and Safety Division of the Michigan State Police and Department of State Highways and Transportation recently decided that accident statistics and amount of traffic didn't justify installation of a stoplight at the intersection.

Based on a new traffic survey, Rowe said, the two agencies have decided a four-way stop is suitable.

The highway department is in the process of filing a control order with the Secretary of State's office, then with the county clerk, after which stop signs can be installed on M-53. The control order makes it legal for police agencies to enforce the stop there.

Rowe expects the paper work will be done within a couple of weeks, although it's possible there might be a little delay before the stop signs are installed.

He feels the four-way stop is desirable because with a stoplight, some drivers would have tried to beat the light, possibly leading to a collision with the driver who had the right of way. There is less potential for conflict, he said, with a four-way stop.

Economizing is a method of spending money without getting any fun out of it.

THIS DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS map shows the location of six state parks, all within 45 miles of Tuscola county, which could be serviced by inmates from a work camp located within the county. There are also eight state game areas in the upper Thumb.

At one camp, from 1972-77, there were a total of 26 walk-aways, most of whom returned within 24 hours. Three remain at large and six committed crimes while they were gone, the most serious being one armed robbery and one assaulting of a motorist.

The state might pick up part of the costs involving jailing and prosecuting escapees.

though they will all have to pass a civil service test.

TIMETABLE

The Tuscola county board will be sent a written request asking it to appoint the committee to select a site. Ideally, according to Berry, the state would like the committee to select a site within two months, but it is not necessary that it do so.

If a site were picked in 60 days, and assuming the legislature appropriated the funds, construction could be started in August or September of this year and take one year to complete.

ECONOMIC BENEFITS

In addition to benefits gained from construction of the camp, at an estimated cost of $1.5 million, annual operating costs will be $568,000, according to Jim Hughes of the intergovernmental relations office.

Most of the $568,000 will be poured back into the community by means of wages ($451,000) and food and supplies purchased locally.

There will be 13 corrections department employees at the camp (one supervisor, two shift supervisors, seven corrections officers, two teachers and a counselor) and eight from the DNR (one supervisor, one carpenter, one mechanic and five foremen).

Of the total of 21 employees, Hughes said, 12 might be hired locally, al-

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS — Eric J. Berry (left) of the state Office of Governmental Relations listens as State Rep. Quincy Hoffman asks a question concerning location of a Department of Corrections work camp in the Thumb, probably in Tuscola county.

See $189,000 for Murray Road bridge replacement

Replacement of the Murray Road bridge, north of Deckerville Road in Ellington township, is the biggest bridge project planned by the Tuscola County Road Commission this year.

Estimated construction cost is $189,000, of which federal funds will pay $170,000 and the county's one-mill levy for bridges, $19,000. Out of the total cost, including engineering expenses, Ellington township will have to contribute $2,000.

The Road Commission has a policy on all bridge work that the township in which the bridge is located must pay 25 percent of the cost up to a maximum of $2,000.

As federal funds are involved, administered by the Department of State Highways and Transportation, awarding of a bid for the project will be done by the state agency.

That will be done this year and the hope is that construction will be completed this year, according to Road Commission Clerk James Miklovic.

There is a load limit imposed on the present bridge.

The Murray Road bridge is one of 19 which the road agency plans to replace or improve this year at a total cost, excluding that project, of $254,000. Of that, $223,000 will come from the bridge millage, the rest from townships.

Thirteen bridges will be replaced with "super spans," an upside down U-shaped tube, larger than a culvert, over which dirt for the road is placed.

One new culvert bridge will be built and four existing bridges will be strengthened.

Two in Kingston township are in the latter category, one on Legg Road east of Kingston Road and the other on Clothier Road, south of Rossman.

Projected cost for each is $4,000, of which the bridge millage will pay $3,000, the township, $1,000.

Repair or replacement of the 19 bridges in 1979 will allow removal of weight restrictions on all of them, Miklovic said. The only limitation after that will be the same as imposed on the road itself.

The current bridge millage is for five years, expiring with December, 1980 tax bills. There was a previous five-mill levy approved by voters, which ran from 1970-74.

After the scheduled work is done in 1979, Miklovic said, there are still probably 35-40 bridges in the county that need repair or replacement.

Whether the two years remaining of the bridge levy will be enough to pay for all of them depends on the cost and the amount of federal aid available.

Sweetheart?

Chloe Ann Wills enters annual Campus Life contest

Campus Life announces that Chloe Ann Wills is the 1979 Sweetheart candidate from Cass City High School. She is one of five candidates running for the title of Miss Campus Life Sweetheart for 1979.

The Sweetheart pageant will be Saturday, Feb. 10, at Vassar High School at 8 p.m.

The selection of the Sweetheart is based on three factors.

One-third of the voting is fund raising that each girl and her club do before the pageant. The money from the campaign will help to operate their Campus Life club.

Chloe Ann and her campaign managers, Frances Kozan and Larry Buehrly, are planning numerous activities, such as bake sales, egg sales, a rock-a-thon and selling popcorn.

Another one-third of the voting is done by the audience at the pageant.

The final third is by a panel of judges that evaluate the girl's talent performance.

Chloe Ann Wills

Chloe Ann's escort at the pageant will be Paul Guernsey, also a senior at Cass City.

The candidate is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wills of Greenland Road, Cass City.

Reading council workshop set

The Thumb Area Reading Council is sponsoring a teacher in-service workshop Tuesday on how to work with young authors. It will be at the Mayville Elementary School from 4:30-8 p.m.

Four sessions will be offered: How to develop writing for books, how to design and edit books, how to bind books, and how to hold a young authors conference.

The workshop is open to anyone interested in the topic, but there will be a $1 charge for non-members.

Those attending should bring a sack lunch. Coffee and dessert will be served.

The young authors project is a motivational program designed to help children develop their creative writing skills. At the end of the school year the students' best literary effort will be published and placed in their school libraries.

Selected authors from Tuscola, Sanilac, and Huron counties will be honored this spring at a young authors luncheon in Mayville.

Elkland okays funds

The Elkland Township Board Monday night approved an additional 75 cents per resident appropriation to the Cass City Ambulance Board to subsidize the new ambulance service. The total appropriation comes to $2,378.25. In December, the board paid $2 per resident to help the service get started.

The board decided to get estimates from the Tuscola County Road Commission for improvements on all of Krapf Road (one mile) and Wilsie Road between Koepefgen and Cemetery Roads (one mile).

Their goal is the Crystal Monastery, the last true enclave of Tibetan Buddhism and protector of the blue sheep.

Huron Ag agent resigns

Huron County Extension Agricultural Agent George Atkeson announced his resignation, effective April 1, to the Huron Board of Commissioners Tuesday morning.

Atkeson, who has worked for the Huron extension office since December 1974, said he was leaving to accept a position as dairy, livestock and agriculture agent for the combined counties of Ionia and Montcalm.

He said he delayed the move until April because winter is the busiest time of the year for local programs and projects.

Annual Shrine Circus slated in Saginaw

The Elf Khurafeh Temple's 35th annual Shrine circus takes place at the Saginaw Civic Center Friday through Tuesday, Jan. 19-23.

The 2½ hour show will feature such acts as lion tamer Jorge Barreda, the Flying Espanas, including Ramon Espana who does a triple somersault on the trapeze, and the Dolly Sisters, synchronized acrobats, plus elephants and clowns.

The three-ring circus will get underway at 4 and 8:15 p.m. Friday, Monday and Tuesday. Saturday shows will be at 2 and 7:30 p.m.; Sunday shows at 1:15 and 5:15 p.m.

aluminum alloy die cast parts needed by industry in this weight-sensitive age, Auburn Diecast Corporation is putting the finishing touches on a major expansion of facilities at Auburn. Now fully operational, the expansion gives the corporation an immediate 50 percent increase in production capacity.

Designed especially for die casting magnesium, the structure is as corrosion resistant as possible. Floors, walls, columns and beams as well as the precast roof are constructed of concrete. The layout is engineered to provide more efficient metal handling, better flow of materials, and closer control of metal loss. And start-up of operations in the new addition also activated a new quality control center.

On line and now producing in the plant addition are four die casting machines. Supplying magnesium to them is a new hot metal transfer system, designed by Auburn Diecast engineers. Hot metal transfer protects molten magnesium against temperature fluctuations which adversely affect quality. This system consists of a new gas-fired, magnesium-melting, tilting furnace and a monorail-traveling, motorized bull ladle which delivers molten metal to the holding pots at the die casting machines.

Anticipating constantly increasing demand, Auburn Diecast laid out the plant addition with space allocated for four more die casting machines, a second tilting furnace, and related equipment.

Keeping customers' dies in top condition is an essential part of good quality control. So with the new expansion, Auburn Diecast enlarged the die maintenance department.

Auburn Diecast, with more than 25 years of experience in its field, is a subsidiary of Walbro Corporation. Industries Auburn Diecast now serves include: automotive-truck, small engine equipment (chain saw), electrical-electronic, food handling, materials handling, power hand tool, recreation vehicle and sport goods.

Two charges dropped

Catlin pleads guilty to arson after plea bargain

Two charges against Mark Catlin will be dropped in exchange for his guilty plea to starting of a fire in the county jail Nov. 25.

Catlin, 18, of 5965 Kingsbury Street, Kingston, pleaded guilty Jan. 2 to maliciously burning the contents of the Tuscola county jail (arson).

Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements accepted his plea and scheduled sentencing Feb. 13.

In exchange for his guilty plea, the prosecution agreed to not further prosecute him on two other charges. They will be formally dropped when he is sentenced.

The charges to be dropped are armed robbery, in connection with the Aug. 14 armed robbery of Peter J. Rucinski in Ellington township, and breaking and entering, in connection with a June 4 break-in of the home of Margaret Legg on Washington Street, Kingston.

According to Chief Assistant Prosecutor Scott Stermer, the plea bargain was agreed to because the prosecution would have had a difficult time proving the charges against him in the other two cases because of the unreliability of the witnesses involved.

Catlin faces a maximum of 10 years in prison on the arson charge, the same maximum penalty as for breaking and entering. The maximum sentence for armed robbery is life in prison.

The teenager remains in jail awaiting sentencing, unable to post bond. Total bond on the three charges is $85,000.

Also Jan. 2, Keith D. Oberhausen, 22, of Detroit, was sentenced to 1-2 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson after pleading guilty the same day to violation of probation. He was credited with 49 days served.

He was placed on one year's probation Feb. 14, 1978 for unlawfully driving away an automobile.

Violation of probation was due to his pleading guilty Nov. 15 in Detroit Recorders Court of attempted breaking and entering and of leaving the state without the court's consent Nov. 10.

Another guilty plea to violation of probation was accepted from Joseph A. Payne, 23, of Caro. Sentencing was scheduled Jan. 18, with bond of $5,000 continued.

Payne was placed on two years' probation March 27, 1978 for delivery of phenylhydrazine.

The violation of probation was due to his failure to report to his probation officer in October, leaving the state without the court's consent and failure to pay court ordered obligations in August although employed.

Probation was continued for Keith A. Pelton of 4810 Oakley Road, Akron, who pleaded guilty to violation of probation. His plea was accepted.

He was placed on two years' probation March 14, 1977 for simple larceny. He violated it by failing to report to his probation officer in November and December.

Probation was revoked for Kayleen Dawn Seorum, 35, of 3548 Mill Street, Akron, on condition she have herself admitted to Midland Hospital Center. She was placed on 18 months' probation July 5, 1978 for driving under the influence of liquor (1st offense). She pleaded guilty to violation of probation Dec. 18 for having been convicted Nov. 27 in District Court of driving with license suspended and of not paying court ordered obligations of $30 per month in July through October.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Air Force life great, says Howell

Dear Mr. Haire,
On Jan. 1, 1979, after 29 years, six months and 16 days, I have retired from the United States Air Force. In all that time I never had an assignment that I didn't enjoy, be it the so called mysterious far east or the beautiful tip of Cape Cod. However, to me the two most beautiful places I have ever been are still Cass City and the place I have picked to retire at, the sugar white, white sand beaches of north-west Florida. If I had it to do over again, I would still join the Air Force. It has been a great career.

Sincerely,

Robert A. (Bob) Howell

Sell Home Yourself? Im sure you've heard it said: "Why should I sell my home through a Real Estate Broker? I can sell it myself and save a lot of money." Right? ... Wrong!

This kind of thinking usually turns out to be financially unwise. The prospects will usually start by mentally deducting the brokerage fee and then start negotiating from there. On the average, a home-owner saves NO money when he sells his own home. In fact, the opposite is true. Studies over a ten year period show that the net proceeds from owner-sold property are LESS than the broker-sold piece of real estate, even after the payment of the brokerage fee.

As a private seller you're at a great disadvantage in the intricate areas of financing, negotiating and protecting yourself from all sorts of do-it-yourself pitfalls. You've got a lot invested in your home. It makes sense to list it with a Real Estate Broker. He'll sell it for you - without hitches - for the very best price and the shortest amount of time.

Hawks roll to pair of easy cage victories

Cass City Red Hawks should have little trouble rolling into next week's game with the Lakers with a share of the Thumb B Conference lead.

This Friday Cass City plays at Sandusky which has won just once in six starts and is winless in the league.

The Hawks will return to the conference wars fresh from a satisfying victory at Mayville Tuesday, 64-54. Mayville was ranked sixth in the state in class C by one wire service.

The Hawks dominated the game from the opening whistle. They moved ahead in the first period 10-8 and were never headed.

At one time in the last half Cass City had stretched its lead to 18 points.

The Hawks dominated the game because of the team's ability to cash in from the free throw lines.

The Hawks hit just one more field goal than the host team but whipped in 20 of 26 shots from the charity circle while Mayville was netting 12 of 16.

Seven Hawks shared in the scoring for Cass City. Ken Martin showed the way with 15 points. Clare Trischler added 12. Also in double figures were Todd Comment and Tim Fahrner with 10 points each.

Mayville's Terry Diegel paced all scorers with 27 points.

The Cass City Junior Varsity continued to roll along with a 47-38 decision over the Mayville JV.

BAD AXE GAME

It wasn't an artistic performance by the Cass City Red Hawks but it looks good in the win column just the same.

Cass City's 59-42 decision over the Bad Axe Hatchets Friday night keeps the Hawks tied for the lead in the Thumb B Conference with Caro and Frankenmuth.

Coach Ron Nurnberger looked at most of the players on his squad throughout the game but none of the various combinations exhibited the type basketball that wins championships.

It was another game like the team played just before the holidays when Ubyly scored a one-point upset.

In Cass City's defense, the Hawks were never seriously threatened by the Hatchets all night.

Bad Axe refused to buckle under the pressure until midway in the final quarter when the Hawks piled up much of the final margin.

In the opening quarter four of the five starters shared the scoring load and Cass City jumped in front, 15-10. Steve Moore netted three field goals in the period to keep the Hatchets in the running.

The two teams played on virtually even terms in the second quarter. Bad Axe outscored the Hawks from the field by a bucket but the Hawks netted six out of nine charity heaves to stay ahead at the intermission, 29-23.

The Hawks failed to show much in the way of an offense in the third quarter but Bad Axe showed even less. A 12-9 third period advantage moved the Cass City lead to 41-32.

The Hawks finally steam rolled ahead in the final period, helped by the departure of Craig Thygesen, 6-5 center, via the foul route.

The Hawks outrebounded the visitors 35-26, with Tim Fahrner making 11 grabs off the boards.

Cass City's scoring was well divided. Steve Richards and Clare Trischler had 12 points each and Ken Martin chipped in 11. No Hatchet was in double figures but Moore, Pete Fabyan and John Wakefield netted 9 each.

JVs WIN

Despite the absence of two of their key players, Todd Comment and Tim Sontag, the Hawks' JV rolled to another easy victory, 74-56.

Bulldogs bow to potent Tigers, roll to easy win over Christian Academy

Rebounding spelled the difference Tuesday night as Carsonville-Port Sanilac stayed undefeated in the North Central D League with a 61-53 win over Owendale-Gagetown.

There will be no rest for the Bulldogs, now 4-2 in the league, 5-2 overall, as Friday night they play undefeated North Huron at Kinde. The Warriors are 6-0 in the league; Carsonville, 7-0.

The difference in the game Tuesday, Bulldog coach Phil Gray said, was in offensive rebounding, the Tigers grabbing 22 of them to only eight for his team.

Carsonville snared a total of 41 rebounds in the game to 32 for Owen-Gage.

The two Bulldogs in double figures were Dick Glidden with 17 and Brad Erickson with 12.

Jim Olesnavage led the home team Tigers with 25 points, followed by Terry Conley with 12 and Dave Bannhard with 10.

The Bulldogs get their chance for revenge Feb. 16 when they play the Tigers at Owendale.

Following Friday's game at Kinde, Owen-Gage plays Tuesday at Peck.

Carsonville also won the junior varsity game, 52-42.

CHRISTIAN ACADEMY GAME

Owen-Gage ended its Christmas layoff Friday night with an easy non-conference win over North Central Christian Academy, 84-64.

The game marked two firsts.

It was the first varsity boys' basketball game played in the Gagetown gym since 1951, as starting with the 1951-52 school year, the then Gagetown School District ended its senior high program and sent students to other districts as tuition students. When it and the Owendale district merged in 1958, games were played in the larger Owendale gym.

It was the first game ever for the visiting team. North Central Christian Academy is located in Burt Lake, northeast of Petoskey, and only added a senior high program this past fall. There are only 180 students in the school in grades K-12 and only six on the varsity basketball squad.

Bulldog coach Phil Gray was forced to play substitutes most of the game to avoid an even larger victory margin. The only player who didn't score, Kirk Carolan, didn't play due to illness.

Leading scorers for Owen-Gage were Mark McDonald with 15 points, Jeff Hallock, 14, Jim Hendershot, 12, and Dick Glidden, 10.

Dave Reiman led the scrappy Kingsmen with 27, followed by David Hall, 16, and Bruce Hall, 10.

The Bulldogs outrebounded their opponents, 64-37.

The Owen-Gage reserves won their first game of the season, albeit a non-conference one, 80-53.

Score by quarters:
O-G 22 22 26 14 84
NCCA 5 23 12 24 64

Bulldog named for cage play

Owen-Gage senior Laurie Andrakowicz recently received an honorable mention on the Detroit Free Press all-state girls' basketball team.

The forward averaged about 11 points and 14 rebounds per game during the season and was considered tops for her defensive abilities.

Limit put on perch

As of Jan. 1, there has been a new 50 perch per day limit throughout Michigan, according to the Department of Natural Resources.

Previously, there was no creel limit on perch, except in the Les Cheneaux Channels in northern Lake Huron.

The new limit, created by legislative action, is aimed at stopping those few people who persist in taking far more perch than they really need, the DNR said.
