Plowing con. ues as more snow falls

Digging out after Saturday's snow storm was nearing completion by Tuesday, with road crews and lots of other people hoping there wasn't more snow on the way. With 10-12 inches of snow falling Saturday and 1-3 inches Monday, the general feeling was enough is enough. It wasn't enough for Mother Nature, however, as another 2-4 inches was predicted to fall Wednesday.

Cass City crews worked 10 hours Saturday, according to village Superintendent Lou LaPonsie, 10<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> Sunday and regular eight-hour shifts Monday and Tuesday to get streets cleared.

Wednesday morning, they started at 5 a.m. in order to day get snow removed from Main Street before it became cluttered with cars. The Tuscola County Road Commission, which is in a budget pinch, only had crews out Saturday on state roads, for which it gets reimbursed by the state.

They were out again Sunday and had all state roads cleared with a few hours of daylight remaining, so were told to work on county primary roads until it got dark.

Most primary roads were opened to traffic Sunday, according to Road Commission Clerk Jim Miklovic. Strong winds caused some roads to drift over by Monday, so those had to be cleared before workmen could finish plowing the primary roads and start in on local roads. By the end of the day

Tuesday, he expected "most" local roads to have at least one lane open and barring more snow or strong winds causing drifts, to have all roads open by Wednes-

Sanilac County Road Commission Engineer-Manager Fred Elwood said all roads in the county except for a few in the south part were open by Monday night.

The remaining unplowed roads were opened Tuesday morning and crews then started widening those with only one lane opened initialł٧.

Sanilac county schools, he said, resumed classes Tuesday.

Some Huron county districts also resumed classes Tuesday.

Cass City, Ubly and Kingston schools all reopened Wednesday although Kingston kept kindergarteners home. The Owendale-Gagetown schools remained closed.

Mail arrived from Saginaw Monday, according to Cass City Postmaster Grant Glaspie, but the truck wasn't able to complete the rest of its route to Akron and Fairgrove.

Two doctors who live on Cass City carriers stayed on main roads Monday, Spence Road, however, according to Glaspie. He didn't get to work until estimated 90 percent of the Tuesday and it required a rural mail got delivered four-wheel-drive vehicle to Tuesday.

The Village of Gagetown has applied for $330,000 in federal funds to purchase land in the village and to renovate and expand an unused industrial building on the property.

There are still a lot of "ifs" -- the biggest one being whether it will get the funds in about two years there could be a tool and machine shop established which will provide 25 permanent jobs, plus 12 tool and die apprenticeships a year. The money being applied for is a grant, not a loan.

The project is being undertaken in conjunction with the Gagetown Area Development Corp.

The application for the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Small Cities Program funds was signed Thursday night by Village President William Downing at a meeting of village council members and development corporation officers.

Technically, it is a pre-application which the village's advisor, Leonard Hool, submitted to the HUD office in Detroit Friday.

After the agency sifts through applications submitted from throughout the state, he explained, it will decide which ones it is interested in funding and then request submission of formal applications. All preapplications had to be submitted by Monday.

It will probably be about 90 days before it is known if the Gagetown project has received preliminary approval. A request to submit a formal application is a good indicator the village will receive the funds, but it is not a guarantee, according to Hool.

If the village is successful in its efforts, it won't get the funds for about a year, although construction and renovation work can start before then by using a letter or credit from HUD for financing.

THE PROJECT CALLS for purchase of two parcels along the railroad tracks, one with a building that yould be used for the proposed manufacturing operation. An addition, larger than the present building, would be constructed.

As the village doesn't own the property, and as of the meeting, didn't have an option on either parcel, those involved didn't want a more specific description revealed publicly.

Marital split can start with communication lag, pastors say

By Mike Eliasohn

Why do marriages run into trouble? According to some local ministers, for most couples who come to them for marital counseling, the most common problem is that the partners are unable to meaningfully communicate with each other, to share problems and feelings. "Over the years I've become convinced that communication between husband and wife is the most common problem and aggravates whatever else is wrong," said Rev. James Van Dellen of Good Shepherd Lutheran church.

"They all have problems they blame it on, whether it's sex, money, or mothersin-law, but it all boils down to communication," commented Rev. Eldred Kelley of Salem United Methodist church.

The role of the minister thus becomes to get the couple talking to each other again. When they do, the latter said, a common reaction is, "I didn't know you felt that way."

that whereas one out of two Ministers varied in their new marriages will end in response to whether lack of divorce, the figure in strong

Christian homes is one out of causes problems or whether other problems result in a break-

Problems concerning children can range from how many to have to how they should be raised.

In troubled marriages, it often is the children who are caught in the middle, according to Rev. Harry Capps of the First Presbyterian church, who studied family therapy at a Pennsylvania university for three years and is presently studying counseling at Central Michigan University.

In fact, the children may detect problems between their parents before the parents do. Sometimes, 'problem children'' have problems as a result of their parents having problems. Capps, who in addition to counseling as part of his ministerial duties, also does counseling for Tuscola County District Court, cited a case where a girl refused to go to school.

The problem was eventually traced to difficulties between her parents, as a result of which, the mother became over-dependent on her daughter and needed her home all the time.

Parents unable to get affection from each other, Rev. Capps explained, sometimes turn to their children to get needed affection.

When the parents in this example started communicating with each other again as a result of counseling, the mother was no longer as dependent on her daughter, who started going back to school. Another reason why marriages sometimes go awry, according to Rev. Capps, is unmet expectations. People sometimes get married with the idea that their mate will fulfill all their needs that weren't fulfilled during their "growing up days." When that doesn't happen, problems can arise. THE MINISTER FEELS that in a small town and with relatively small churches, some parishioners may be reluctant to see their ministers concerning marital problems, feeling they know him too well.

Some others felt that may be true, some felt it isn't. But, as more than one pointed out, they have no way of knowing whether parishioners with marital problems see someone else. Some ministers refer parishioners to someone else if they (the minister) feel further help is needed.

"I do the best I can, but I don't want to qualify myself as all-knowing," Father Morales said.

Whom they recommend for further counseling depends on the minister. It may be a doctor, a psychologist or psychiatrist, or the county mental health agency.

Counseling is "Biblically oriented" in his church, Rev. Timothy Teall of the First Baptist church said, thus referrals are made either to counselors at a Baptist agency in St. Louis, Mich., or to Baptist doctors or psychologists in the state who have volunteered their services

As might be expected, Father Morales often makes referrals to Catholic Family Service in Bad Axe, but he isn't the only one from Cass City who does so. Two Protestant ministers mentioned making referrals Lauren Bacall was a stage-struck teenaged New York City model when Howard Hawks saw her picture on a magazine cover and gave her a screen test that led to her first movie roleopposite Humphrey Bogart. The movie was not only an incredible beginning for a young actress but also the beginning of one of Hollywood's most passionate and lasting romances. During her marriage to Bogart she worked in movies, traveled, raised two children and most of all cherished the love of her life, Bogie. Then cancer claimed Bogie-a tragedy she describes harrowingly. A Public Hearing will be held at 7:30 p.m. January 30, 1979 at the Municipal Building, 6737 Church St., Cass City, Michigan for the purpose of the Cass City Village Council to receive any oral or written comments or suggestions from the citizens of Cass City on the proposed use of $41,630.00 of General Revenue Entitlement Funds to be expended during the period of January 1 to December 31 of 1979.

This week's hero medals have to go to the guys that were working outdoors on the construction of the new Albee Hardware and Thumb National Bank buildings.

Almost as numerous as the ubiquitous snowmobile after the storm were the four-wheel drive vehicles with snow blades

The question is what did we do before? Relax and enjoy it, one old timer told me.

If I didn't have arrangements to have the snow removed from my drive I don't know how I would ever get the cars out of the garage until spring.

Certainly not the way Al Avery does. The Seeger Street resident shovels his driveway clear.

If you think that's ambitious how about this? Saturday when the snow hit he rushed out shovel in hand to whip away the snow, not once but twice.

Then on Sunday he was back at it again taking care of the Saturday night deluge. And the driveway isn't minuscule either.

TOW JOB -- George Russell, accompanied by brothers Don and Ron, managed to get their four-wheel-drive pickup (at left) stuck Monday afternoon on Koepfgen Road, just north of M-81. Pulling the truck out in his four-wheel-drive was Garald Bennett.

KOEPFGEN ROAD west of Cass City was in better shape than some roads in the area Monday. It at least had a narrow path, apparently cleared by a farmer, best suited for four-wheel drive vehicles. The one at right is on the path, which at this point is actually off the road. The one at left is on what is usually the roadway.

Coal heat inconvenient, but heat is better-Zell

Peter Zell would rather fight than switch.

Not that he has ever had his back against the wall, but he possibly is the only homeowner in Cass City and one of a few in the area who still has a coal furnace. He and his wife Viola live at 6721 Houghton Street. Their house is about 90 years old. A few years ago they wanted to switch to natural gas but the company wasn't accepting new customers at the time. Now he has decided, "As long as I'm able to get coal, I'll stay with it."

Through the 1977-78 winter, he purchased his coal each year from Wickes elevator in town, but it no longer sells the fuel. (Elevator Manager Bob Wischmeyer said they stopped selling it due to the declining number of customers ---about a dozen at the end -and increasing difficulty in locating a supply, plus the increasing price. "You kind of hated to charge people that much." This past fall, Zell saw a newspaper ad for coal delivered direct from Obio and responded. Not only was the coal cheaper than what he paid before, it was delivered direct to his door -- actually, even closer, to the window leading to his basement coal bin.

The price of coal has shot up right along with other heating fuels. Six years ago, he said, it sold for \$14 a ton. The next year, it doubled in price, then went to \$60, then \$90, but dropped last year to \$75. The coal he bought from the Ohio man cost him \$64 a ton, plus tax. He bought  $6\frac{1}{2}$ in filling the stoker, thus it's not possible to go away for even a few days, much less a week or two. Zell, 67, retired five years ago as a mechanic for Damm Implement and now operates a small engine repair business in his garage (heated with an oil space heater)

There is a little dust and ash from the coal furnace, he said, but it doesn't get beyond the basement. Occasionally there is a little tons ($416), enough to last smoke if the coal becomes packed down inside the furnace

Zell feels the advantages of coal heat outweigh the disadvantages. The furnace keeps his basement warm and the quality of the heat is better. A given temperature feels warmer than the same temperature in a house heated with some other fuel. "People say heat is heat, but in his house, he explained, it isn't.

STOKING UP -- Peter Zell dumps a shovel full of coal into the stoker, which automatically feeds it into the furnace. The stoker normally feeds coal for one minute every half hour. It only has to be filled once a day.

It will cost more in '79 to ### visit state parks

Motor vehicle permits for entry to Michigan's state parks will cost more in 1979, the Department of Natural Resources reports.

The $5 annual motor vehicle permit has been increased to $7 and the $1 daily motor vehicle permit has been increased to $2.

In addition, non-residents entering Warren Dunes State Park in Berrién county will now have to pay a $3 daily motor vehicle permit fee, up from the former $2 charge.

Those increases were contained in a bill passed in December by the legislature, which allows the DNR to use monies obtained from the increased fees to purchase new state park lands and to operate, maintain and improve Michigan state parks. Prior to passage of this legislation, the DNR was restricted in its use of motor vehicle permit fees to. best only improvements of the parks.

The DNR says 1979 annual motor vehicle permits, at the increased price, are now on sale at all state parks and in the DNR's Lansing and Detroit Information offices.

In cleaning out my file of newspaper clippings, here are a few items I never got to writing about:

One reason the Social Security System is in trouble is because Congress refuses to require that all government employees - federal, state and local - be enrolled in the stem. On a state and local level, it's up to the governmental unit whether its employees are enrolled in Social Security or it sets up its own pension plan.

Public employees often get more lucrative pension ans financed directly from the public purse.

As of a year ago, federal employees contributed 7 percent of their pay for their pensions, compared to 5.85 percent for Social Security, it got much larger benefits. A $15,000 a year government worker can retire after 30 years and receive $703 a month. Under Social Security, the person would get a maximum of $460 monthly, plus allowances for depend-'E its

If all public employees were required to be under Social Security, it would bring in $12.5 billion in additional revenues a year.

The military retirement system, which allows retirement after 20 years, also needs reform.

The government was expected to give $10.1 billion to ilitary retirees in 1978. Without reform, the figure

Why are so many "American-brand" television sets made in Japan when many "Japanese" sets are being made in this country? In early 1978, Zenith announced it was moving some of its color television manufacturing operations abroad, it no longer being able to compete with Japanese makers. That left General Electric as the only remaining American manufacturer, and it soon after announced a joint partnership with the Japanese firm Hitachi to jointly produce sets in Virginia and

New York. But about the same time, another Japanese firm, Toshiba, announced plans to build a plant in Tennessee to produce TV sets. It was the fifth Japanese firm to set up television manufacturing operations in this country.

TEN YEARS AGO

The Tuscola County Board of Supervisors reports that 38 persons died on county roads in 1968, double the State average and an alltime record for the county. Members of the Good Shepherd Lutheran church voted to offer church facilities to persons who have been stricken by weather, fire, tornadoes and similar tragedies. Al Merchant and David

Estate plan class set in Sanilac

The Sanilac County Cooperative Extension Service is offering a multi-family estate planning workshop Jan. 25, Feb. 1 and Feb. 8, at the Farm Bureau building in Sandusky from 9:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m.

Large commercial farm-ers generally have farm transfer problems unique to their family situation and farm size, therefore, the workshop is being organized for those farmers.

Families need to develop a business organization and estate transfer plan that meets the goals of the family and provides equity for family members. Before a family goes to an attorney to draft legal documents, information should be gathered and decisions made about the business organization and farm transfer. Materials will be provided and participants will be asked to provide information from their own estate in order to develop a workable estate transfer plan. The workshop will be pre-sented by Dr. Ralph Hepp, Michigan State University professor of agricultural economics; William Hamilton, regional farm management agent and Joe Beiler, Sanilac extension agricultural agent.

Persons interested should contact the extension office to register.

HEALTH TIPS The right way to take medicine

By Frank Chappell, American Medical Association

There is a right way and a original labeled container. If wrong way to do most including taking you carry pills in a pill box, things, medicine.

When medicine is taken lid. correctly, the exact dose is taken at the proper time, under conditions that insure children which is disguist as candy. The child may find against error. the medicine and take the whole bottle.

The American Medical Association offers a few useful directions for taking medicines:

--Store medicines in a cabinet, preferably locked, dies after away from the reach of lengthy illness children

--Keep only medicines currently in use. --Destroy old prescriptions, because many drugs lose potency or may be chemically changed by time

--Read the label in a good light before opening the bottle or box. Read it again before taking the medicine. --If you have more than one box of pills or capsules to take, be sure one is closed before opening the other. This avoids switching covers, and also labels.

--When pouring from a bottle, keep the label up so that any dripping will not soil the label and make it hard to read. --Never take medicines in the dark. If it's late at night, turn on the light. If you wear glasses for reading, put them on.

-Keep medicines away from the bedside table. Make it necessary to get up and cross the room to get them. It's too easy to take an overdose if the medication is accidentally repeated dur-

Eastern Star group has meeting

Forty-six attended the Jan. 10 meeting of Echo Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star

Among those attending were four members of Eastside Chapter, Port Sanilac. including Ellen Burns, a grand committee woman, representing the "Living Star" project.

Seventeen officers an-swered roll call with Beverly Hartman substituting as Esther.

The worthy matron, Virginia Hartwick, reported that she and Marie Jetta visited and provided gifts at Christmas for nine persons: Nora Hughes and Mary White living in the Masonic home in Alma; Sophia Hague in the Tuscola County Medical Care Facility at Caro; Gertrude Falkenhag-en. Estella and Joseph Crawford and J.C. Hutchinson at Provincial House; Katie Mudge, and Fritz Neitzel.

Plans were made for a Jan. 24 meeting of past worthy matrons. Potluck supper will be at 6:30 in the Masonic Temple dining room with Mrs. John Marshall, Mrs. George Jetta and Mrs. Gerald Whittaker in charge.

A reception for Donald Robinson of Caro, worthy grand patron of the Michigan Grand Chapter, was announced for March 24 in Bay City.

Officers initiated one new member. Edward Golding Sr. assisted.

Refreshments were served in the dining room by a previously announced committee.

Customers never cut off in winter

Long careers end for Leo Wares

It was September, 1944, there was a war on, and No. 1 fuel oil was selling for 71/2 cents a gallon.

That's when Mac and Leo Service was formed in Cass City

When Leo and Mardell Ware ended their business Dec. 31, No. 1 fuel oil was selling for 53.2 cents per gallon and No. 2 for 50.2 cents.

The Wares, both 69, sold their business (three delivtanks) to Duane Chippi of Cass City Oil and Gas Co. Their two delivery drivers, their son Dave and Keith truck up until two years ago, when he stopped due to a heart condition, which was a factor in the decision to retire. Mrs. Ware, aided the last several years by Dave's wife, Judy, did the bookkeeping.

In addition to Dave, the couple has four other children, Ferris, James, and Donna (Mrs. Kenneth) Nye, ery trucks and bulk storage all of Cass City; Gordon, who lives in Clarkston, and 16 grandchildren. MAC AND LEO SERVICE in 1944, the business then consisting of a service station (where Ron's Automotive is now), plus delivery service. For 15 years prior to that, Ware worked at the Nestle's condensory plant in Cass City. Ŵare purchased Mc-

Arthur's interest in the busi-ness in 1956, though the latter kept working for some time, and sold the gasoline station to Ken and Arnold Copeland in 1958. That's when the offices of the fuel oil and farm fuel delivery business were moved to the Wares' home.

Fuel oil was only a small part of the business back in 1944, it mainly being used for space heaters. The most common heating fuels back then were coal and wood.

The switch to fuel oil furnaces began around 1950, which is when Ware and McArthur built their bulk storage tanks south of Cass City. Most fuel oil furnaces back then were converted from coal burning units.

The number of customers increased over the years. There were about 900 when the Wares retired, as far as 20 miles from Cass City. The majority were just for fuel oil, though most farm gasoline customers also had fuel oil furnaces.

When natural gas was introduced in Cass City,

Ware thought it would take hard to turn down somebody over 50 percent of the home heating market. It never did. "As long as we went, we gained more (customers) than we lost," he comhented. One reason for the steady gain in customers was the decline in the number of competitors. At one time, including Mac and Leo, there were five suppliers of fuel oil in Cass City. The sale of his business to Duane Chippi leaves only one, a situation now common in many small towns, Ware said. THERE WERE TWO especially trying times during their 34 years in the business. The first was in 1944, because of gasoline rationing due to World War

"I didn't know anything about books or anything," Mrs. Ware explained, and to make things more complicated, there was the rationing stamps to keep track of. Auto drivers had an A, B, or C ration, depending on the amount of fuel they were allocated, farm tractors had an R ration and trucks had a Each time gas was sold, the driver had to present a ration stamp. All the collected stamps had to be pasted on sheets of paper, a different sheet for each type stamp, which then had to be taken to the bank. There, they were checked to make sure the station's sales corresponded with the number and type of ration stamps.

Despite the verification system, there were a lot of shenanigans, according to Ware, with truck drivers, for instance, selling unused T stamps to auto owners, who were able to use them even though it was supposed to be illegal.

THE OTHER DIFFICULT time came in 1973, when the Arab oil embargo led to creation of an allocation system, which meant fuel oil suppliers couldn't take on new customers. "That made hard feelings," Mrs. Ware explained. "People would call and you couldn't take them on (as customers)." That lasted about a year.

The embargo marked the June, 1973. who's cold," Mrs. Ware explained.

The big increases in the price of fuel oil the last few years, she said, probably haven't increased the number of delinquent customers but have increased the amounts they owe. Their office remains open for payment of bills and Mrs. Ware figures that plus helping farmers figure their fuel expenses for last year for income tax purposes will keep her busy for a while. A project for Leo Ware will be fixing up an old house he and his wife purchased about three miles south of Cass City. When the work is finished, they may move there or they may sell it.

RETIREES — Leo and Mardell Ware. The cash register between them belonged to Burgess Gas and Oil when Ware and Stanley McArthur bought the business in 1944 and it wasn't new then. It's still being used.

Having trouble paying your electric bill? Help us help you.

All of us, of course, must pay for the goods and services we use. From time to time, many of us may have difficulties making those payments-due to illness, loss of employment, an accident or a disability.

If this happens to you, let Detroit Edison know. Detroit Edison has programs to help you if you're having problems with electric bills and to help you avoid overdue bills in the future. The programs are designed to assure uninterrupted electric service.

You can help Detroit Edison help you by getting in touch as soon as possible – by mail, by telephone or by stopping in at any Detroit Edison Customer Office.

Here are Detroit Edison Programs to help when your bill is overdue:

Bill Payment Counseling

Company Customer Representatives will offer advice and assistance and suggest ways to obtain aid in paying Edison bills through public assistance programs such as social service or welfare agencies, if needed. So call or stop in at any Customer Office and talk things over.

Payment Plans

If an extra-large overdue bill seems impossible to pay, don't despair. Payment plans can be tailored to fit your situation and clear things up.

* * *

These Detroit Edison Programs can help you avoid problems arising from overdue bills:

Double Notice Protection Plan

When you sign up for this plan, if your overdue bill could result in a service shutoff then a friend, relative or community agency is notified so they can remind you that your bill must be paid, or pay it for you. This plan is especially helpful for the elderly, the sick, the shut-in or persons who spend extended periods of time away from home.

Senior Citizen Rate

If you are 65 years or older and the head of a household, this new rate can help lower your electric bills if you use less than 548 kilowatthours a month-848 kilowatthours or less if you have controlled electric water heating combined on your regular meter. If you want more information, call or stop in at any Customer Office so that a Customer Representative can review this new program with you.

Wise Use of Electricity

Detroit Edison has booklets on how to use your electric lights and appliances wisely and other ways to save energy around the home. Stop in at any Customer Office and pick up what you need to get the most out of your energy dollar.

Detroit Edison does everything possible to get in touch with you to see if you need help when your electric bill is overdue. But you can help by getting in touch with Detroit Edison.

Detroit Edison wants to do everything in its power to keep the power in your hands. So please help us help you.

Terry Keehn killed, 2 injured inhead-on Dayton Road crash

Terry W. Keehn of Caro became Tuscola county's first traffic fatality this year when he was killed in a head-on collision Friday east of Caro.

Sheriff's deputies reported that Dennis L. Langley, 31, of E. Bevens Road, Caro, was southbound on É. Dayton Road when his car crossed the centerline and struck the northbound vehicle driven by Keehn head-Keehn, 18, of 2327 E. Dayton Road, was pro-nounced dead on arrival at Caro Community Hospital following the 5:59 p.m. accident.

A passenger, a sister-inlaw, Connie Jean Keehn, 25, of the same address, was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw, where she was pronounced in serious condition Tuesday afternoon.

Langley was also taken to St. Mary's, where he was reported in fair condition.

Funeral services Keehn were held Tuesday afternoon.

The accident took place south of Frankford Road in Wells township. As of Tuesday, it remained under investigation.

INJURY ACCIDENTS

Two persons were treated and released from Caro Community Hospital after an 8:30 p.m. accident Friday in Columbia township.

They were the driver, Robert L. Freeland, 26, of North Branch, and a passenger, William C. Mc-Lauglin, 23, of Fostoria.

Two other passengers were reported by Caro state police as having minor injuries but the hospital had no record of their being treated there.

Troopers reported the Freeland auto was northbound on Colwood Road. south of Dickerson, when he lost control on ice. The Scott M. Michalski, 16, of 6183 Main Street, was taken to Hills and Dales General Hospital after a 3 p.m. accident Jan. 9. He was discharged the following day.

According to Cass City police, Michalski was a passenger in a car driven by Randy C. Gohsman, 17, of 6051 Elmwood Road, which was westbound on Beechwood Drive in Northwood Estates and Village. The car went off the south side of the road and struck a tree.

Gohsman was ticketed on charges of careless driving and driving without an operator's license in his possession.

Frederick S. Williams of Main Street, Ubly, was treated and released from Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe, after his vehicle ran into the blade of a Huron County Road Commission grader.

Huron county deputies reported Williams was southbound on Moore Road in Grant township when he lost control on an icy hill.

His vehicle slid into the blade of the grader, which was northbound. Its driver, Eugene K. Kady, 37, of Gagetown, told officers he stopped his machine when he saw the Williams vehicle approaching.

The Elkton Jaycees were formed in the fall of 1976 with aid from the Bad Axe Jaycees. The group has now 66 members, 95 percent of which have Elkton mailing addresses.

Club projects include sponsorship of Red Cross blood drives, making improvements in the village park, running the Little League program, helping eighth graders earn money for their annual trip to Washington, D.C., Christmas baskets for the needy and raising funds to fight muscular dystrophy in conjunction with the Jerry Lewis telethon. Last year, the group raised nearly $900 for the latter purpose.

Dues of $22 a year -- each club sets its own - only pay operating basic expenses, with most of the amount going to the state and national organizations.

Funds to pay for projects must be raised by the club. Its fund raising activities include raffles, Christmas tree sale and Jaycee Jelly Week (a statewide activity). The club spent about $9,000 on projects during the past year, Esch said, and since its goal is to end up with a zero balance each year, that means the club had to raise that amount.

"Personal development through community action," might well be the goal for the Jaycees, Esch said. "Everything the club does is for the community.

The Elkton club meets once a month. Although the club does have some social activities, its focus is on performing community oriented projects.

He suggests measures that should be taken by residential and commercial customers to avoid service interruptions or possible hazardous operations of certain gas-burning appliances. Ice and snow should be removed from around outside gas meters and regulators. Caution should be exercised to avoid striking meter installations with snow-removal equipment, and snow should not be pushed into or piled on outside meters.

Gas furnaces require a considerable amount of air to operate properly, and with snow blocking basement windows or foundation vents, the air supply may be insufficient.

Furnaces in many mobile homes draw combustion air from underneath or through roof vents. Those homes with foundation skirting should have some snow removed so that air can get 8 in. Auger

CASS CITY CHRONICLE-THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1979

Hawks top Sandusky, gird for Laker test Friday

Hawks, co-leaders of the Thumb B Conference, will receive the first real test of their championship chances since early December when the team was edged by the Eagles.

Friday the Hawks will meet Lakers on their home floor and Cass City should reign as slight underdogs to the host team.

That's surprising considering that the Lakers trail the Hawks in the Thumb B, but Cass City will enter the game at less than full strength.

What's It Like To

Have A Chimney Fire?

It's no fun. If it doesn't burn the house down, it will probably wreck your chimney

Begin with one dirty chimney - let's say a fireplace not cleaned for a couple of years. The soot lining the chimney flue is saturated with flammable stuff called creosote. (More detail on creosote is available in any dictionary.) It doesn't take much to ignite creosote - a newspaper fire sending flames up to the damper is Once kindled, creosote burns with joyous abandon. In a matter of seconds the fire spreads up through the flue creating a draft that only helps things along. At this point your average chimney fire begins to roar and howl, sending the occupants of the

If you run, you'll be treated to a real fireworks show. As the creosote fire builds and intensifies the heat melts the mortar between the brick. The red-hot mortar actually drips into the flue, only to be caught up in the tremendous updraft, and these little fire balls shoot out the chimney and onto the roof. If you're lucky, the chimney will fall

However, if you stand your ground, a chimney fire can be controlled. Put out the fire in the fireplace with an extinguisher or sand. Cover the opening with a wet that having your chimney cleaned is a lot easier on the nerves than the sand and wet

Friday the Cass City Red has several options for re-Sandusky, or better re-lawks, co-leaders of the placing Fahrner, none with-bounding with Rob Clarke. Rusty Hoag is another possibility at the forward spot. All of these players saw lots of action against Sandusky. The winless Redskins presented Nurnberger a fine opportunity to look at various combinations and play-together in the third quarter, narrowing the margin to 67-59. In the final stanza, the host Warriors went cold and only managed 10 points while the visitors poured in 28 for the final margin of 87-77

The Bulldogs connected on 31 of 69 shots from the floor, 44 percent, and 25 of 42 from the charity line, 60 percent. The Warriors made 33 of 76 field goal attempts, 42 percent, and 13 of 27 from the free throw line, 48 percent.

The victors were led in scoring by 5-7 junior Brad Erickson with 22 points. Mark McDonald had 18, Dick Glidden, 14, and Jim Hendershot, 11.

The Owen-Gage game slated Tuesday night at Peck was rescheduled to this Wednesday night because of the weather and if delayed again, will probably be played Tuesday, Jan. 23.

Akron-Fairgrove The game, originally scheduled to be played Friday in the new Owendale gym, has been rescheduled Feb. 27 as the gym now isn't scheduled to be ready until the Jan. 26 Port Hope game.

The Warriors had five men in double figures, Roger Stoner, 15, Steve Ignash, 11; and Spencer Howie, Kevin Kennedy and Jon Binder, all with 10.

McDonald grabbed 16 of Owen-Gage's 46 rebounds. The Warriors snared 36 off the boards.

North Huron won the junior varsity game, 69-38.

It wasn't a classic confrontation by any means. Turnovers were frequent and shooting erratic. After the clubs exchanged baskets for the first three minutes, the Hawks forged in front and were never headed. Ken Martin led the early scoring attack before retiring to the bench in the second period because of foul trouble.

Clare Trischler took command of the offense in the second quarter, scoring twice on drives to the bucket. Todd Comment played the entire second quarter and scored seven of his 14 points to keep the offense moving.

The Hawks led at the end of the first period, 15-10, and at the intermission, 38-25. Nurnberger shuttled players in and out through most of the last half and each combination proved more than the helpless Redskins could handle. At the end of three periods, the Hawks led, 58-37, and midway through the final period both coaches emptied their benches.

Trischler led the way with 18 points for Cass City. Next was Comment who scored 14 while playing a little over half the game. Martin and Steve Richards scored 12 each. Richards played his defensive strong usual game.

JV GAME

The Hawks JV continued to roll along with an 81-35 decision over the Sandusky JV. The junior varsity has lost only a close game to Frankenmuth this season.

Guy Nanney grabbed a first at the Marysville tournament Saturday. Bob Sawdon took second and Phil Harmer was third. The wrestlers' records this season, 5 or more decisions, are:
