

BARN FIRE -- The loss was estimated at possibly $250,000 in the fire Sunday that destroyed the barn on the Shirley Doerr farm on Huron Line Road, west of Cemetery Road. Four fire departments battled the blaze with Elkland township firemen being there the longest, close to 10 hours.

State education board to appeal

Kallman rejects higher court rulings on Goslin

By Mike Eliasohn

The seemingly never-ending Goslin parcel transfer case took a new twist Friday when Ingham County Circuit Judge James Kallman reversing the state Board of Education's transferring of the property from the Owenton-Gage to the Cass City School District.

His ruling apparently puts the legal proceedings back to where they were more than a year ago.

Meanwhile, Owen-Gage is planning legal action in an attempt to reverse the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners' action of Feb. 13 allocating the 1978 school operating taxes from Goslin to Cass City.

In another transfer case, involving the Gremel parcel, mainly in Brookfield township, the hearing officer for the state board has recommended it not be transferred from Owen-Gage to the Unionville-Sebewaing district.

Kallman's ruling, according to Owen-Gage's attorney, James F. Schouman, puts those seeking the transfer on the defensive.

As part of his order, the judge vacated his Oct. 11 opinion remanding the Goslin case back to the state board "for further proceedings."

In response to an Aug. 15, 1977 Michigan Court of Appeals ruling (later upheld by the Michigan Supreme Court) that the Owen-Gage school board didn't have legal standing to argue that district residents should be allowed to vote on property transfer cases, Kallman granted a later Owen-Gage motion to add the school board members and Supt. Ronald G. Erickson as parties in the suit against the state board and property owners in the Goslin parcel.

He also granted a motion by the Goslin owners to intervene.

The assistant attorney general representing the state board, Charles Keeley, said he will appeal Kallman's order of last Friday. He has 20 days from the date of the order to do so.

In his appeal to the Michigan Court of Appeals, he will ask the judges to reverse Kallman's order, which will mean that the May, 1976 approval of the transfer by the state board is upheld.

Keeley's opinion is that the matter was settled in December, 1977, when the Michigan Supreme Court declined for a second time (on appeal by Owen-Gage) to review the appeals court's upholding of the Goslin transfer to Cass City. Owen-Gage then appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, which declined to consider the case.

After the U.S. Supreme Court decision, Keeley explained, various motions were filed by Owen-Gage and the Goslin property owners in Kallman's court. It was those motions that Kallman responded to in his Friday order.

The judge, according to the attorney, claims that the issue of the 10 percent rule was never decided by the higher courts.

The question involves whether a public vote is required only if the parcel to be transferred is more than 10 percent of the district's valuation or, as Owen-Gage claims, once more than 10 percent of the original district has been transferred elsewhere, a public approval is required on all subsequent transfer requests, no matter how small.

Flat tires loom for meals-on-wheels program

The meals-on-wheels program in Cass City will come to a halt March 15 unless a new source of funds can be found to keep it going.

The board of directors of the Human Development Commission (HDC) in Caro voted last week to end the home-delivered meal program here and in Decker-ville due to lack of funds.

Federal funding for the program ended last fall, according to HDC Executive Director Sally Atchinson.

Since then it has been supported by donations from individuals, church groups, civic clubs and some money voluntarily paid by meal recipients.

Her staff, she explained, no longer has time to meet with community groups and seek donations "in the absence of any community group involved in maintaining the program on an on-going basis."

In Pigeon, she said, the Interfaith Church Council,

Women, from about eight churches, have taken over the program; in Sandusky, an organization was formed for the purpose, Sandusky Concerned Citizens, and in Lapeer county, the county government now runs it.

There was an effort made to continue the Cass City program with state funds, according to Bonnie Phelps, director of nutrition services for the Thumb Area Commission on Aging, but that fell through.

The problem was that the state requires two meals to be delivered at a time, a hot meal for lunch and a cold sack meal for dinner. Only a single hot meal for lunch is now delivered. The state Office of Services for the Aging would only authorize a payment of $2.40 for the two meals, which was not enough to allow the hospital to break even.

Federal Older Americans Act Title VII funds can also be used to support a meals-on-wheels program, but no funds are available to expand the program into Cass City. (The federal funds being used by the HDC, which have expired, were from a different program.)

In Cass City, according to local coordinator Marge Langmaid, there presently are 14 homes where meals are being delivered, seven on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and seven on Tuesday and Thursday. There are four persons on a waiting list.

The most homes being ever delivered to, she recalled, was about 20 (10 per day).

The meals are prepared by Hills and Dales General Hospital which is reimbursed for them.

Recipients are senior citizens, low income and in need of a special diet, such as no salt, bland or cut into small pieces. Preparation of the meals is supervised by the hospital dietician.

The hospital can prepare the meals for $2.15 each, according to Mrs. Langmaid, which means with seven meals per day being delivered, that would cost $3,913 for a year.

The only cost of the program has been for preparation of the meals as the drivers have been donating their time and cost of gasoline.

Mrs. Langmaid delivers the meals Tuesdays and Thursdays, Marge White on Mondays, Mary White and Ruth Ann Wichert take turns Wednesdays and Blake Sackett handles the task Fridays.

Mrs. Langmaid said she first plans to ask recipients if they can pay for part of the meals themselves. Only one couple now pays.

Then civic and church groups will be asked if they will help support the program.

If financial aid isn't received, meals-on-wheels will be no more as of March 15.

Persons or groups interested in helping can contact Mrs. Langmaid at 872-3637 or Mrs. Tuttle at 872-4269.

$250,000 in Sunday barn fire

A Sunday morning barn fire that took almost 10 hours to extinguish meant a loss of possibly $250,000.

Destroyed was the barn of Shirley Doerr on Huron Line Road, about a half-mile west of Cemetery Road.

Contrary to some reports, the fire was not due to a gas torch being used to thaw pipes in the milk house, Mrs. Doerr said. Her sons did thaw pipes but that was at 6:30, prior to the start of milking.

The fire didn't break out until about 10, after milking was completed. She first saw the flames coming out of the top of the barn, not from the attached milk house. She spotted the fire about the same time one of her sons was coming to the house to call the fire department. She speculated faulty wiring could have been the cause.

Mrs. Doerr, a widow, operates the farm with her sons John, Don and Joe, all at home, and Rick, who is married and helps part-time.

John, Don and Joe got the 120 cows out of the barn without any losses. There were about 50 milkers, 30 calves and the rest, dry cows.

Four fire departments responded to the blaze, Elkland township, Elmwood-Gagetown, Owenton and Oliver township (Elkton).

The latter two departments were on the scene between three and four hours. The Gagetown department departed about 4 p.m. Elkland firemen got back to the station about 5:30, only to be called back to the scene about an hour later when the fire flared up again.

They were there the second time about two hours, during which three firemen suffered frostbitten hands. Earlier in the day, one Elkland fireman went home after pulling a groin muscle. None required hospital treatment.

Elkland Fire Chief Jack Hartwick guessed probably 30,000 gallons of water were used in fighting the blaze, made difficult to extinguish because of the wind, hay and straw stored in the barn, and because it was a wood structure.

Mrs. Doerr said there were at least 30,000 bales stored in the barn, worth $1-1.50 each. There is hay and straw stored in two other barns but not enough. Farmers have offered her more bales.

With the loss of the barn, equipment, including a big conveyor, the hay and straw and Mrs. Doerr's car, parked on the barn hill, Hartwick estimated the loss at possibly $250,000.

The milk house remained intact, other than the roof falling in and while firemen were quelling the last of the flames, another drama was taking place.

The cows and milking equipment -- bulk tank, milkers, water heaters, sinks, etc. -- were being moved to the unused dairy barn belonging to Nelle Maharg on Koepfgen Road, about four miles away.

By the evening milking time, the barn was ready, although some work continued.

"There's so many to thank," Mrs. Doerr said, afraid she would forget someone. There were electrician Ken Martin, plumber John Guc and builder Tom Herron, all of Cass City, a neighbor, Don Shagene, Rapson Refrigeration of Bad Axe, and milking equipment dealer Phil McBride of Elkton.

Others also helped. Neighbors brought food for the firemen and helpers. "It's just terrific," Mrs. Doerr said of the response.

As for the future, she said, "I don't know what we're really going to do."

The barn was "well insured," she explained, but with present day prices, there won't be enough money to set up a new operation. "You can't build very cheap."

Whether the family will stay in the dairy business, she indicated, is up to her sons, two of whom are still in high school. Until the decision is made, she hopes to rent the Maharg barn.

The fire was the worst for Cass City firemen since 1964, when the grain elevator in town burned. That fire took 17 hours to extinguish.

KITCHEN FIRE

Elkland township firemen were called at 9:50 Monday night to the home of Gloria Peddie on M-81, 3 1/2 miles west of Cass City.

Grease cooking on a stove flared up, according to fireman Jim Jezewski, starting a fire.

A neighbor, Dave Loomis, used a fire extinguisher and had the fire out by the time firemen arrived. A range hood helped contain the flames.

Major damage was to the stove, cupboard and the ceiling, with the loss estimated at $500-1,000.

CARO FIRE

The loss was estimated at at least $250,000 in a fire of undetermined origin that destroyed the Caro MD Associates Building at 206 Montague St. Sunday.

Caro Fire Chief Don Berry said the fire in the two-story, frame building, was reported about 11:30 a.m. The building is located across the street from the fire department.

No injuries were reported. Firefighters were on the scene until 2 a.m. Tuesday.

Doctors with offices in the building were Herbert Nigg, Edward Miles, Suresh Goyal, Alfonso Ferreira and F.E. Quines.

The Vassar Fire Department assisted.

UBLY FIRES

Bingham Township firemen fought two fires Saturday.

Damage was estimated at $2,500 to an unoccupied house six miles southeast of Uby in Austin township.

Firemen were at the scene about 3 1/2 hours. Fire Chief

Elmer Brahmer said the apparent cause was with equipment used to heat water pipes which ran from the house to a trailer next door.

The trailer wasn't damaged. The chief estimated damage at $1,000 to the house and $1,500 to wheat being stored inside.

That fire started at 1 p.m. At 6:30 p.m., firemen went to McLean's Furniture in downtown Uby.

Apparently a fire started inside the chimney, caused the pipes to blow off the furnace and filled the store with smoke.

Firemen were there more than an hour.

FURNACE

Elkland firemen were called to the Bill Kritzman residence, 6798 Houghton Street, at 3:50 a.m. Friday.

The furnace backed up, they said, sending smoke through the vents and setting off a smoke detector. There was no fire.

WINTER MEAL -- This deer was enjoying some hay Saturday morning, left on the north side of M-81, east of Schwegler Road. It's a popular area for deer and as a result, car-deer collisions are not uncommon there.

HELPING OUT -- Tom Peruski of Maple Street and Don Stilson of Doerr Road Saturday morning were spreading hay on state land northeast of Cass City for deer to eat. Department of Natural Resources biologist Bud Jarvis said deer appear to be in good shape in the Thumb area. Pheasants aren't in good shape, however, and he encourages people to put out corn or grain in open areas for them to eat.

Prizes await lucky shoppers

Thirty-one lucky Cass City shoppers will share in $500 worth of cash coupons as the retail committee under the direction of Dick Albee and Dick Jones has completed plans for the third annual George Washington's birthday sale.

The prizes are in addition to the many specials that local merchants are offering Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The specials can be seen in a special section in today's paper and in the regular section as well.

First prize in the giveaway is $100. Second prize is $50 and there will be four prizes of $25 each. In addition the next 25 names drawn will be awarded $10 each.

Shoppers can register at any participating store. Prizes will be in the form of lucky bucks that spend like cash at any participating store.

Community booster

Store blooms
for 22 years

Editor's note: this is one of a series sponsored by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce about community boosters who are members of the organization.

Ruth and Warren Kelley are natives of the Cass City area and both are graduates of Cass City High School.

This year they are celebrating 22 years at Cass City Floral. The couple purchased the business in 1957 and moved to their present location in 1959.

For many years they operated a greenhouse in connection with the business.

When that closed the property was sold to the Baptist church.

The Kelleys have been active boosters of the business community since they became a part of the Main Street business community.

Their interests, other than business, are centered around Christianity. They are both members of the Deford Community church. Warren serves as a Deacon and Sunday School Superintendent. Ruth is also very active in church work.

They have three children, one of whom is the Rev. Eldred Kelley, pastor of the Salem United Methodist church in Cass City.

The Kelleys' most recent expansion in the floral shop is the addition of collectible plates and figurines by Hummel and Rockwell.

It cost me five bucks to find out that the grates in the highways of Arizona were to keep cattle from crossing. When Bill Kritzman told me this while on a mini vacation last week I couldn't believe it.

Brrrrr. It was COLD.

Nelson Willy has been recording the temperatures at the Cass City wastewater treatment plant for 23 years and the temperature Friday night was the coldest he has ever seen - 40 degrees below.

His previous record low was 32 below.

Being close to the river, temperatures there are colder than in town. At his house in Cass City, Willy's thermometer read 26 below.

It was warmer Saturday. The temperature at the wastewater plant was only 30 below; at Willy's house, 18 below.

Several Cass City High School vocational agriculture students were among those who placed in the cash crop production projects sponsored by Wickes Agriculture elevators for Future Farmers of America members.

Awards were presented by the firm at its 22nd annual Big Acre awards banquet Feb. 14 in Frankenmuth.

Senior Dwight Loeding won major gold awards for outstanding individual performance in corn and soybeans. He also took first place awards in oats and wheat.

Other winners were Matt Heronemus, first in navy beans; Bob Leslie, second in corn; Randy Vollmar, second in oats; Barb Broecker, second in soybeans and navy beans; Dan Hunt, fourth in oats and third in corn; Ed Zimba, third in oats; Don Hunt, fourth in corn, and Larry Leppke, sixth in corn.

Entrants were judged on such factors as record keeping, preparation of an article with photographs about their project, yields and varieties used.

A total of 394 students from 28 high schools took part in the 1978 competition, completing 631 individual crop projects on their home farms.

The Ugly High School FFA chapter took the second place chapter award, behind the Corunna chapter, at the banquet. The Corunna FFA group has taken the best chapter award six of the last seven years.

Ugly FFA members receiving major gold awards in crop production were Diane Godzinski and Bill Rutkowski, corn; Gary Rumpitz and Bill Rutkowski, oats; Craig Kubacki and Ken Pichla, soybeans, and Ken Pichla and Margo Heleski, dry beans.

Are women in small towns fatter than women in big cities?

This is a question I am eminently qualified to answer. I used to live in a small town and now I live in a big city. And I always look at women.

This fat subject is not raised frivolously, nor chauvinistically. Fat is serious, and bisexual. Probably as many men as women die from being overweight in small towns.

Today's dollop of wisdom will deal with female fat specifically because it is female fat that is worrying a doctor named Rashidul Islam who lives in Corydon, Ind. (population 2,719). The doctor's worries were published by the newspaper in my old hometown, Lapeer, Mich. (population 6,314), along with a letter from a dismayed resident who claimed Lapeer's women are big enough to get the town designated "Fat Capital of the Midwest."

According to the Lapeer County Press, Dr. Islam said: "I'm concerned with what I call the Small Town Disease. That's my term for obesity. It is especially a disease of the small-town woman. She marries young, right out of high school, and her life becomes centered entirely in the home, and the center of her home is the kitchen. She eats too much. She has no other outlet."

Why would this be more true in a small town than in a big city? Dr. Islam explained:

"There is no social force in the small town to restrain (the fat woman). I think of it as a cultural thing. There is no tradition of chic. The city woman responds to social pressures that she look well. The small-town woman doesn't care..."

The Lapeer letterwriter, who signed himself "Mac," would certainly agree with the Corydon doctor. Mac decided Lapeer should be the fat capital while watching the women waddle by in the local K mart.

"About nine out of 10 who walked by were overweight -- and some of them not just a few pounds, either," Mac said. "At least 20 I saw could lose 50 pounds and still lap over both edges of an ordinary chair."

Mac's assessment of Lapeer's fatties didn't surprise me. I lived there 25 years and heard similar opinions many times. In fact, my oldest son-in-law went shopping at that same K mart while visiting in Lapeer several years ago and he still talks about the amazing surplus of female fat he encountered there.

If he tried, perhaps Dr. Islam could narrow the social phenomenon that is worrying him. Could it be that more fat small-town women shop in K marts than in Sears stores? Is there less tradition of chic among the shoppers in a K mart than in an A&P?

The doctor has a right to be concerned. It's his business. It is unhealthy to be grossly overweight. Everyone knows Stan Laurel lived longer than Oliver Hardy. Small-town fat women shouldn't be offended by Dr. Islam's diagnosis. He has their best interest at heart.

But what about Mac? On TV recently, I saw a report from a national convention of very fat women. They are sick of people laughing or sneering at them, and discriminating against them. They would tell Mac if he doesn't like the view at the K mart, he should shop somewhere else or risk a severe case of squash.

These organized fat women claim they like being huge. I don't believe them. I'm sure they'd rather be slim but, for whatever reason, don't have the willpower to stop eating so much. But I'm not mad at them.

Blue Cross and its big customers remind me of a fat man trying to lose weight. A person who will try anything but what's necessary to get the job done.

The fat man refuses to give up eating. The UAW and the Big 3 auto companies refuse to make it profitable for subscribers to cut unnecessary use of health facilities.

Like the fatty with the fad diet, they all come up with plans to cut the fat out of insurance costs. But like the fatty, they refuse to face up to the primary problem.

The fatty won't reduce his calorie content on a regular basis and Blue Cross continues to make it profitable for doctors and hospitals to use more services and for subscribers not to complain about the cost.

The auto industry is promoting a health maintenance organization in Michigan to compete with Blue Cross. Blue Cross is trying to reduce the number of tests given patients as routine procedure.

If you should be so cross as to mention to UAW President Douglas A. Fraser that a sure way to reduce costs would be to adopt a plan where his workers paid the first $250 of costs, he'd probably feel that you flipped your lid.

Never mind that this is the only real viable way to cut costs.

Never mind that it would make it profitable for the user to see that the insurance benefits are not abused.

Never mind that a deductible insurance wouldn't be that much of a hardship on any Big 3 auto worker.

Never mind that the Blues management knows it and has established deductible policies for individuals and smaller groups that haven't the clout of the big clients.

Never mind, because it will never happen.

The crackdown on unneeded tests sounds like a real winner until you look at it a little closer.

If the Blues could cut down on unneeded tests, it's likely that the estimated savings of $1.3 billion could be realized.

The kicker is that the number of cuts in tests is apt to be minimal at best.

That's because doctors, afraid of malpractice, are unwilling to be caught without the protection of any test that could help if they end up in court.

Also helping to keep the never-ending series of tests flowing will be many of the hospitals. Rising costs are making it hard for hospitals to keep financially afloat.

The life raft for many and the big profit center for all hospitals is the lab. Those tests make money for the facility.

So you'll find doctors and hospitals looking for ways to keep the tests (and the costs) flowing. It's to their advantage to do so.

Blue Cross has no control over its big clients and the workers see the insurance as something the company pays at no cost to them. The union bosses can't change that.

So we'll go merrily along as we have with costs escalating so fast that individuals and smaller concerns just won't be able to foot the bill.

When that happens, the government will take over and the big health care problems of today will be minuscule compared to the problems we will have then.

Luck is very pleasant, but always an untrustworthy friend.

For Lounsbury and Peddie

Big Brother relationship won't end at 18

Tom Lounsbury thinks no man is so busy that he can't find time to be a Big Brother.

His Little Brother, Jim Peddie, is glad Tom Lounsbury finds the time.

In fact, it was Jim, 15, who asked Tom to be his Big Brother.

Lounsbury was a good friend of Jim's late father, so has been acquainted with Jim since he was born. They are distantly related and fairly close neighbors.

Jim lives with his mother, Gloria, and two older sisters on M-81.

Lounsbury, wife Virginia and children Jacob, 17 months, and Joshua, 3 months, live about a half-mile away "across the fields" on Dodge Road.

Jim and Tom have been officially paired about 13 months.

The teenager had applied for a Big Brother about a month before deciding to ask Tom to assume the official relationship.

"Jim asked me but I had thought about doing it before," explained Lounsbury, 29. "I like to work with kids, especially around Jim's age." After finishing the Explorer Scout program at 18, Lounsbury served as an associate advisor for two years.

"I knew Jim," Lounsbury said, "but I never knew him well until he became a Little Brother."

The main activities they share are hunting and fishing, activities Jim wasn't able to participate in before he got a Big Brother. Last fall, they went deer hunting together.

They don't have to go far to go fishing as there is a well-stocked pond on Lounsbury's 10 acres. Swimming in the pond is a summertime activity. They sometimes go to a movie or other activity.

LOUNSBURY WOULD easily have an excuse for not being a Big Brother. He is extremely busy.

A meat inspector for the Michigan Department of Agriculture, he presently is working at packing plants in Ubbly and Pigeon.

He and his father-in-law, Wilbur Norrington of Caro (also a meat inspector) are completing construction of his house (which the Lounsburies are already living in).

He and his wife own five horses and starting this year, he will be harvesting his own hay (planted last year).

Lounsbury owns a 1947 Taylorcraft light airplane and will have enough flying hours by this spring to get his private pilot's license.

(Jim gets to go for a ride once he has the license.)

And with the arrival of Joshua three months ago, he has had even less time. Virginia Lounsbury also works, teaching sixth grade in Caro.

BUT DESPITE HIS BUSY schedule, Lounsbury finds the time to be with his Little Brother. "All it requires is one night a week and I think a lot of people can spare that. This world's a little too hustle-bustle if a man can't do that."

In the summertime, Tom and Jim may get together two or three times a week. Now it's usually once a week, on a Friday, Saturday or Sunday.

Although officially Big Brother-Little Brother, the two don't consider themselves as such. "We're good friends," Lounsbury said of the relationship.

"If he's got a problem, I go at it like a big (older) brother. If you tried to be a substitute parent, you would run into problems."

To Jim, a ninth grader at Cass City High School, the relationship simply means "fun times."

The best indicator of their relationship is neither expects it will end after Jim turns 18, the last year to be in the Big Brother program.

"I don't think it will end," said Jim, to which his Big Brother added, "I don't think it would be much of a relationship if it ended at 18."

CLEAN-UP -- Hunting is a popular activity for Jim Peddie (left) and his Big Brother, Tom Lounsbury, which means that their shotguns have to be cleaned.

County approves revolving fund

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners last Wednesday approved establishment of a county tax revolving fund.

The action followed a request a day earlier by county school superintendents that the fund be established.

Establishment of the fund will enable the county to reimburse school districts, townships, villages and the county itself for their delinquent taxes.

The county will then collect the delinquent taxes, plus the 4 percent collection fee and late payment penalty of 1/2 percent per month. The collection fee and penalty will be more than enough to pay off the interest on the money the county must borrow to reimburse the taxing units.

The amount of delinquent taxes, according to county Treasurer Elgene Keller, won't be known until all township treasurers have settled with her office.

The estimate is that the county will have to borrow $1.5 million by selling bonds, the estimated amount of the delinquent taxes.

Taxing units should get paid by May, Mrs. Keller said. The advantage of the program is that they will have all their tax revenues by then, rather than having to wait a few years while delinquent taxes dribble in.

The attorney who will handle the sale of the revolving tax fund bonds, John Axe of Detroit, told the board more than 50 Michigan counties now have such funds.

The hope is, according to Mrs. Keller, that the bonds can be sold for 6 percent interest or less.

The board appointed Jeffery Quinn as chief animal control officer for the county. He had been working as a courthouse custodian under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

Purchase of five patrol cars was discussed with Sheriff Hugh Marr.

HDC gets grant of $128,000

Congressman Bob Traxler has announced that the Community Services Administration has awarded the Human Development Commission of Tuscola, Lapeer, Sanilac and Huron counties a grant of $128,000 to administer its services to those counties.

The HDC serves low-income people through outreach and referral services and provides technical assistance to local community organizations.

It administers manpower programs, senior citizen, energy conservation, foster grandparents and substance abuse programs.

Big Brothers and Sisters needed

In Tuscola county, there are 50 boys and 24 girls waiting to be matched with Big Brothers and Big Sisters respectively, according to county BB-BS Director Connie Gamet.

Some have been waiting almost a year, she said, including two in Cass City.

In the Cass City-Deford area, there are six boys and six girls waiting; in Gagetown, a boy and a girl, and in Kingston, six boys.

There presently are 82 active matches in the county, 47 Big-Little Sisters and 35 Big-Little Brothers.

Of those, in the Cass City-Deford area, seven or eight are boys and two are girls; Gagetown, two boys and two girls, and Kingston, three boys and one girl.

This week, Feb. 18-24, is Big Brothers-Big Sisters Week, during which the county organization hopes to recruit more Big Brothers and Big Sisters.

Open house is being held this week at the county office, and its Second Chance resale shop, 230 S. State Street, Caro. Hours are 8 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays.

Lori Gaeth DAR state finalist

Lori Ann Gaeth, recipient of the Daughters of the American Revolution

(DAR) award recently for the Owendale-Gagetown area schools, received word Feb. 7 that she is among the 12 finalists in the Michigan DAR Good Citizen Contest.

The Michigan DAR will honor the finalists at a special ceremony and luncheon during state awards day, April 5, at Kellogg Center in East Lansing.

The finalists will receive savings bonds of $100 for the state winner; runner-up, $75, and 10 remaining finalists, $25, plus special pins and certificates.

The national winner, selected from the state winners, will receive a $1,000 scholarship to the college of her choice.

Lori is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gaeth of Owendale.

She has been active in many school activities. She attended Olivet College this past June as representative to Girl's State. She has been a member of the National Honor Society chapter her sophomore, junior and senior years, class treasurer two years, Future Homemakers of America member four years and president of the local chapter this year. She was in the all-school play, junior and senior plays and member of the homecoming court.

She plans to attend Central Michigan University.

Station adds night hours, more watts

The Federal Communications Commission has given permission for Caro Radio Station WKYO to begin broadcasting during nighttime hours.

Starting this Wednesday, the station will operate from 6 a.m. - 1:10 a.m.

According to president and general manager, Bob Benkelman, WKYO will be broadcasting with a power of 1000 watts rather than 500 watts as it has since going on the air in 1962.

Night time coverage of the station will be slightly less in some areas than day time coverage in order to avoid interference with other stations on the same or nearby frequencies.

Council sets 2 important public hearings Tuesday

The Cass City Village Council meeting Tuesday will include two public hearings, on the 1979 village budget and the recreation facilities plan.

Because of the hearings, the meeting will be held in the Elkland Township Fire hall.

The budget hearing will start at 7:30 p.m.

The proposed budget projects revenues of $418,000, compared to $414,165 in 1978.

Property tax revenue should climb from $177,150 to $194,000. Various state revenues should increase from $104,200 to $122,000.

Refuse fees, swimming fees and sale of materials and services will probably remain the same at $21,000.

Miscellaneous revenues, including fines, interest and dividends, should increase from $11,900 to $13,000. No leftover funds from last year are included in the budget. The year before there was a carryover of $6,835.

General fund expenditures are projected at $418,000, a slight increase from the $414,165 spent in 1978. In addition to routine expenditures, such as for salaries (most employees got a 7 percent pay increase) and supplies, some major anticipated expenditures are $6,700 for a new police car and sealcoating of Scotty McCullough Drive in the village park, $12,000.

The major street fund budget is projected at $38,900, down from $39,300 last year. Rebuilding of Brooker and Downing Streets between Main and Church Streets is provided for in the budget.

The local street budget is $65,500, up considerably from the $39,220 spent in 1978. Houghton Street between West and Brooker is slated for rebuilding; the alleys between Maple and Oak Streets south and north of Main Street are scheduled for paving.

Wastewater treatment fund revenue is down considerably, from $195,580 to $75,200, but $138,630 of that last year was federal funds for planning of the treatment plant improvements.

Because of an increase in sewer fees, revenue from that source will increase from $56,000 last year to $74,000 in 1979.

Expenditures in 1978 were $193,332 (because of the federal grant); a projected $75,200 this year.

Water system fees were also increased, from $56,000 to $74,000. Total water system revenue is projected at $78,200, up from $74,500. (Last year's budget included a $10,550 contribution from the general fund.)

Water system expenditures are projected at $78,200, an increase from $74,500 last year.

Motor vehicle and equipment fund expenditures are projected at $40,000, up from $38,300. Included is purchase of two pickup trucks (already bought), two radios, a field lathe for cutting water pipe, and a 6-foot rotary mower.

The public hearing on the recreation plan will be at 8 p.m.

The plan is an update of a previous one and was done primarily as a requirement in order for the village to apply for federal funds to improve the two tennis courts and build two more in the village park. Provided the funds can be obtained, the improvements, along with better lighting, are slated for 1980.

Short-term objectives outlined in the plan are the tennis court improvements, followed by building of a new restroom facility in the park, possibly as part of a new stadium seating arrangement, improving the sledding and tobogganing hill, development of an exercise course and jogging trail, building "tot lots" in each quadrant of the village for pre-school children (there is one now), building a campground for visitors and a "primitive park site" near the sewage treatment plant on the Cass River.

Intermediate goals include developing more recreation facilities on present village property, acquiring "as much land as possible for future recreation development" and hiring full-time recreation director.

Long range goals are divided into three categories:

Highest priorities are preserving the natural beauty of the area, "emphasizing its natural attributes, woodlands and the Cass River" and providing active recreation facilities for citizens of all ages.

Priority goals are providing year-round recreation facilities; providing "diverse" facilities, such as trails and picnic areas; encouraging private recreation facilities, such as golf courses, bowling alleys, indoor tennis and racquetball courts and parks for camping.

Low priority goals are developing the cultural resources of the village, such as historic and archaeological sites, and developing "recreation facilities intended to promote recreation for attracting tourists and visitors to Cass City."

The plan was prepared at a cost of $900 by the Saginaw planning firm of Toshack and Sobczak Associates, Inc.

PEDALING AROUND

Costly convenience

By Mike Eliasohn

Starting in 1981, the deadline for buying license plates or tabs for our cars, pickups, vans and trailers will be on our birthdays.

The legislature thought the year-round sale of license plates was a good idea when it approved it last year. I disagree.

To convert to the new system, in 1980, tabs will be sold with expiration dates of seven to 19 months in the future, depending on the purchaser's birthday.

For commercially owned trucks, buses and passenger cars in 1981 and beyond, the expiration day will remain the last day of February. The expiration date for motorcycles, ham radio operator plates and personalized license plates will remain March 31. That's only about 5 percent of the vehicles in Michigan.

According to a news release from the Michigan Secretary of State's office, there are three advantages to the new system: Long lines of last-minute license plate buyers will be eliminated, temporary employees won't have to be hired to help handle the last-minute rush and because Secretary of State employees will no longer be rushed in processing a flood of last minute registrations, they will presumably make fewer errors. So much for the advantages. What I'm wondering is how the authorities in Lansing are going to deal with the disadvantages.

First, how are police officers going to know if a motorist is driving with expired plates?

At present, it's simple. If a commercial vehicle doesn't have its new plates on by March 1 and privately owned cars, pickups and vans by April 1 (April 3 this year), the driver gets a ticket.

Starting with the 1981 plates, what's to prevent someone from postponing getting his or her plates until well after their birthday. A policeman isn't going to know that the vehicle has expired plates.

The aforementioned press release says the new staggered license system will "allow registration files to be updated more rapidly, thereby increasing their usefulness to law enforcement agencies."

Fine. So what happens when the computer says Joe Doe of Zeesville just celebrated his birthday but didn't buy new license plates or tabs for his car? Are the police supposed to go to his house and give him a ticket?

The other problem is theft. It was at least 20 years ago that the father of a friend of mine said he never put his new plates on his cars until the last minute, lest they be stolen by someone who didn't want to lay out the money to buy theirs legally. Good advice, I found.

When I was in college I had one license plate stolen. (Why the thief took only one was beyond my comprehension. He was caught when he parked illegally and got a ticket.)

That was in August, so other than the inconvenience, there wasn't much trouble in getting new plates.

But on the last day old plates were valid in 1977, someone removed the new license plate tab I had put on (probably earlier that day). That meant I had to stand in line at the Secretary of State's office for 45 minutes (this was in Monroe) then spend $2.50 for a replacement.

I was not the only one standing in line to get a replacement for a stolen license tab.

The new system is going to mean "easy pickings" for those who would rather steal their license plates or tabs than buy them.

Protestors mainly get sympathy from commission about snow plowing

Protestors got little more than sympathy last Thursday when they appeared before the Tuscola County Road Commission to complain about inadequate snow plowing of their roads, but that was about all the three road commissioners felt they could afford to give.

They did say they will examine the priority list for plowing of secondary roads so that those complaining might not always be among the last ones to get their roads plowed.

There were nine persons present, representing the Englehart, Crawford, Lam-ton Road area east of Deford and Wilnot.

In addition, they presented a letter addressed to the road commissioners, signed by 41 persons.

"We feel our roads are not maintained properly," the letter said. "We feel that our county has not extended the effort that neighboring counties have."

The letter cited examples of people in the area having to park at neighbors' or on main roads and walk or snowmobile to their homes, meeting repairmen at main roads to get furnace and water pump repair parts and then making the repairs themselves, broken water lines with repairmen unable to get to them, people unable to get to work, milk trucks unable to pick up milk and senior citizens cancelling doctors' appointments.

"Our dissatisfaction peaked when our children were unable to attend scheduled school because of the road conditions," the letter said. That was Tuesday, Feb. 6, when school was held although not all roads were open.

"NO. 1," RESPONDED Road Commissioner William Tuckey of Caro, "it's been a very bad winter, worse north of M-81. I've driven in Huron and Sanilac and I don't believe they've had it as bad as us."

After some go-round about which Road Commission in the three upper Thumb counties does a better job of plowing roads, it boiled down to a question of priorities and money.

Fred Elwood gets new post in Monroe

After months of searching, the Monroe County Road Commission has announced the hiring of a new managing director who will assume full-time control of the department June 11.

Selected from a field of seven candidates was Fred E. Elwood of Sandusky, a registered engineer who is presently the engineer-manager of the Sanilac County Road Commission.

A native of Cortland, N.Y., Elwood is a familiar face in Monroe county after serving nine years (1958-1967) for the road commission as an engineer, including four years as its chief engineer.

He assumed his present position in Sanilac county in 1967.

A 1957 graduate of Michigan State University, Elwood was employed by D.B. Steinman, the designer of the Mackinac Bridge, during the sub-structure phase of the bridge construction before joining the firm of John R. Snell and Associates in Lansing.

Elwood is married and has four children.

Road Commission Engineer Robert Wellington pointed out that different road commissions operate under different policies and that on a year-round basis, Tuscola spends more for maintenance per mile than do its counterparts in Huron and Sanilac. The suggestion was that Tuscola prefers to economize when possible on snow plowing, such as by its almost no overtime policy, in order to have adequate funds for summertime maintenance work, such as grading, dust control, and brush cutting.

All road maintenance and plowing, it was pointed out, are paid for with funds received from state motor fuel taxes and license plate fees. Townships through property tax revenues contribute some for road construction but not for maintenance.

HAROLD DEERING OF Crawford Road accused the Road Commission of mismanagement, that if someone hired his sons, they could do in a few days what it takes Road Commission workers a month to do.

That led to a discussion about labor, with Tuckey ultimately admitting, "I agree with you people. I think we have some inefficiencies."

But the real problem, it was said, was not enough manpower.

Much of the discussion centered around the situation at the Deford garage, out of which five snowplow drivers work. "We won't argue with you," said Road Commission Clerk Jim Miklovic. "Five guys isn't enough."

Road Commissioner Grover Laurie of Cass City pointed out the agency laid off 33 men in summer, 1977 because it didn't have enough money, although most of their salaries were being paid with federal funds.

It hopes to be hiring some additional workers this summer, provided the increase in motor fuel taxes and license plate fees isn't repealed.

Deering asked why he had seen a snowplow going down already cleared Kingston Road when Crawford Road, three miles to the east, was blocked.

The driver first had to make sure the primary road (Kingston Road) was clear, Wellington explained.

"It's a 'can't win' situation," Tuckey added. If the driver in such a situation goes down the road with his blade lifted, people wonder why he doesn't use it. If he uses it, they wonder why isn't he on a road that needs plowing more.

THEN THERE WAS THE question of who gets their roads first, after the state trunklines and primary roads are plowed.

There are 1,760 miles of roads in the county, which, assuming no drifting, take three days to be plowed.

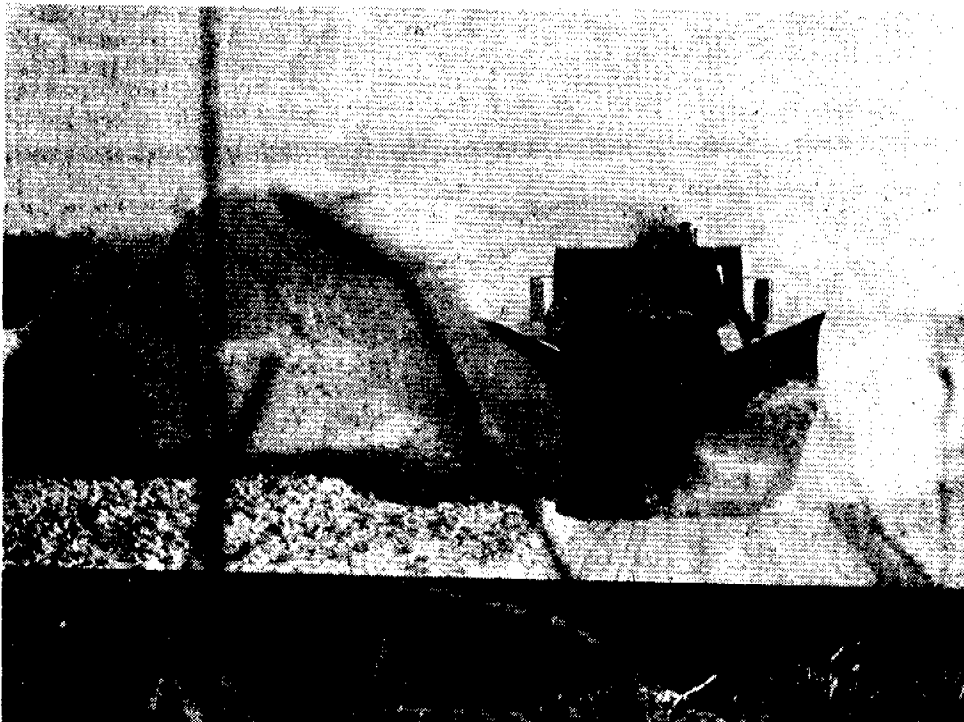

"Why do we have to be last every time?" asked Shirley Beddow of Crawford Road.

"We get lots of people who call that say, 'We're last,'" Miklovic commented.

The protestors finally elicited a promise from the road commissioners that the schedule for plowing the local roads will be looked at and possibly changed so that the last roads to be plowed aren't always last. No promises were given, however, that changes will be made.

Mrs. Beddow, who did most of the speaking for the group, said afterwards, she wasn't happy with the Road Commission's response. "We're going to sit and wait and see (what happens)." She personally felt she would rather have poorer road conditions in summer if it meant roads being more rapidly plowed in winter.

Since the meeting, she has

PLOWING AHEAD - This Tuscola County Road Commission plow was out Saturday morning, getting to some roads that were blocked and widening others along the way. Such plowing during other than regular weekday hours is rare as the Road Commission tries to limit overtime pay expenditures. Photo was taken through the rear window of Tom Peruski's pickup along Milligan Road, east of Schwegler.

Dry bean referendum

By Don Kebler

Michigan's eligible dry bean growers will be voting after Feb. 22 and before March 17 on the continuation of the Michigan Bean Commission.

The question on the mail-in ballot should be read carefully before voting. Here is the wording of the question bean growers will be voting on: "Shall The Michigan Bean Commission be Terminated?"

Therefore, a NO vote majority will allow the Michigan Bean Commission to continue its role of product research and market promotion of Michigan dry beans.

A listing of the commission activities is obtainable at my office, the Michigan Dept. of Agriculture and commissioners in your area. Donald Keinath of Akron is the commission chairman.

Who is eligible to vote? 1) Everyone in farming, regardless of age, who participates in the production of dry beans and sold dry beans in 1978, whether they produced beans that year or not. One has to qualify on both requirements to vote.

2) A landlord who participates in the dry bean production on the farm of which he receives cash or share-crop rent. He must also have sold dry beans in 1978 which he had participated in the production of as a landlord or a self-employed operator on his land. If his wife and/or children participated with him, their vote is allowable. Non-participating landlords receiving cash rent or a share of the beans produced cannot vote.

It is not necessary to have produced dry beans in 1978 year. Carryover beans sold in 1978 qualify.

Members of partnerships and family members, who participated in dry bean production all qualify.

Corporations are allowed only one vote regardless of the number of shareholders.

How does one vote? Each eligible voter per farm has one vote on the farm ballot. Each farm reports the total number of pounds sold in 1978.

How is the outcome of the vote decided? To terminate the Michigan Bean Commission, over 50 percent of the total votes cast must be in favor of termination. Also, over 50 percent of the total pounds of beans marketed in 1978 must have been marketed by the producers who voted to terminate the commission. If these two conditions are not met, the commission will not be terminated.

How are ballots obtained? The Michigan Department of Agriculture is mailing out 9,000 at random in the state Feb. 22. County extension office will have a supply for distribution. If you do not receive a ballot in the mail within a few days, contact your county extension office to get one.

Your Neighbor says

TV ads for kids

should be limited

The Federal Trade Commission has proposed regulation of television advertising aimed at children, such as for cereals, candy and toys.

As the mother of seven children, though presumably all past the Saturday morning cartoon watching stage, Rose Osentoski thinks television ads aimed at children should be limited.

"I don't know if the government is the place to do that, but I know children are affected by what they see on television. They see that product (on television) and that's what they want their parents to buy."

"Older people realize they're foolish," she said of some television advertising, "but kids sit there and take them right in."

Mrs. Osentoski recalled some instances where her own children saw a product on television and wanted their parents to buy it.

She feels restrictions should be applied to cereal and candy more so than to toys. "Toys (advertising) don't bother me."

Mrs. Osentoski and her husband, Enoch, have seven children, the youngest, 15, and two grandchildren. Five children are still living at home.

The Osentoskis live on McMillan Road, Cass City.

Altar Society plans projects

The St. Michael's Altar Society met Monday, Feb. 12, at 7:30 p.m. with 16 ladies present. Mary Sabo led in prayer.

The bake sale for Feb. 17, 18 at the Antique Show was discussed.

Rose Ann Wolfrum announced that the East Region Council of Catholic Women will meet at St. Michael's April 4. She is chairperson for the event.

The group also discussed purchasing artificial Christmas trees.

Father O'Shea closed the meeting with the Lord's Prayer.

HEALTH TIPS

Looking at eclipse can cause blindness

That total eclipse of the sun by the moon Monday, Feb. 26, will be the last one visible from the continental United States in this century, according to astronomers.

It also presents a very real danger of immediate and permanent blindness, according to Philip C. Hessburg, M.D., a Detroit ophthalmologist, in particular to those who may look directly at the shadow partially across the sun.

President of the Michigan Ophthalmological Society — physicians who specialize in eye care — Dr. Hessburg points out, "Eclipse blindness can not be cured, but it can be prevented with a few relatively simple precautions."

Of critical importance, he says, "do not look directly at the sun in eclipse, but only at its reflection."

"When you look at the sun, the eye focuses the light on the retina and heats it just like a magnifying glass will focus the sun's rays on paper and burn a hole."

"With the rays focused in the eye, a very small area in the interior of the eye is literally 'cooked.' This small, vital area is the one you use for reading and all close vision."

No sunglasses, photographic film, smoked glass or other devices provide safety for those who look at the sun in eclipse, according to the ophthalmologist. "Those who have sometimes used such things in the past and escaped injury were just plain lucky."

You can see the eclipse better by not watching it, according to Dr. Hessburg. Instead, do what the experts do: watch the image of the eclipse with a pinhole device. A simple projector may be devised with a shoe box, or with two sheets of white cardboard. A pinhole, or pencil hole, in the top cardboard will project and focus the image of the eclipse on the second cardboard. Size of the image may be changed by altering distance between the cardboard. Resist the temptation to look at the sun through the pinhole — it will focus on your eye.

The 1979 total eclipse can be particularly hazardous, says Dr. Hessburg, because of the crisp, clear winter weather common during February.

"The actual brightness of the sun ordinarily prevents our looking steadily at it," he points out, "and the more complete the eclipse the less the brightness. But the danger of burning the interior of the eye by the heat of the sun does not depend on brightness."

"The invisible infra-red rays continue to be emitted, and can cause permanent burns to the eye's retina, producing a blind spot in the victim's field of vision. The retina is not sensitive to pain, so the retina burn is not felt."

Michigan is too far south to observe the full impact of the darkness that will be produced by the total eclipse, according to Delta College Planetarium Director Dr. Martin L. Goodson. There will be, however, about two minutes of partial darkness, starting at about 11 a.m. The eclipse will come from the west so observers should look to the north and "watch" as it passes east.

In addition to the method prescribed by Dr. Hessburg, Dr. Goodson said the eclipse can be observed with a pinhole through aluminum foil with cardboard held in focus several inches behind it, with the observer's back to the sun.

It can be observed through a piece of No. 14 welder's glass, available from welding suppliers, or through a telescope fitted with the proper filter.

The next eclipse won't occur until 2024.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kloc of Cass City celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary. The couple have 7 children, four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Jan Koepfgen of Cass City will be participating in the fifth Annual Intercollegiate Rodeo at Michigan State University. She will be in the Cowgirls' barrel racing and the goat tying events.

Delores Sherrard, senior at Cass City High School, captured the crown as Sweetheart Queen at the Campus Life Sweetheart Pageant.

TEN YEARS AGO

An early morning fire claimed the life of Mrs. Lucy Lesoski, 71, of Gagetown. Firemen theorized that the aged widow succumbed while sleeping after an oil stove exploded.

The assessed valuation of property in the Cass City

School district will jump about 10 percent under the new assessed values established by the State Tax Commission, Supt. Donald Crouse said, but the grim irony of the school tax situation is that the amount of money available to the school will not increase at all.

Elkland Supervisor Maynard McConkey outlined the Elkland Township Board's problems in the quest for a new fire hall, at the New Gordon Hotel.

About 150 property owners quizzed the Owen-Gage School Board and found themselves as divided on the question as the board itself. If the vote to split the district is defeated, Owen-Gage will continue to operate.

Cindy Calka gets degree from WMU

Cindy Lou Calka graduated at the end of the first semester at Western Michigan University.

Cindy Lou Calka

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B.A. Calka of 6306 Main Street, Cass City, she received a B.S. degree with teaching certificate. She majored in health education and minored in family life education (home economics). She is now working as a substitute teacher in Kalamazoo.

She graduated from Cass City High School in 1974.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

In an effort to curb what he describes as "tax law enforcement policy in Tuscola county for some time past," Bruce D. White prosecuting attorney for Tuscola county, has made some recommendations to the Tuscola County Sheriff's office for improvements.

Barbara Howarth has received the Louise H. Campbell award, given each year in honor of Mrs. Louise H. Campbell for 10 years head of the home economics Extension Service in Michigan.

More than 430 Cubs, Scouts, Explorers and their parents from Caro, Gagetown, and Cass City attended the 44th anniversary dinner and Court of Honor at the high school.

Matthew Pisarek, 101, celebrated his birthday with a quiet dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Pisarek, with whom he resides.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Twenty Boy Scouts of Troop 94 walked a total of 93 hours and collected 9,720 pounds of waste paper and cardboard scrap.

Bruce E. Stine of Cass City, won his Navy "Wings of Gold" and was commissioned an Ensign in the Naval Reserve following completion of the prescribed flight training course at the Naval Air Training Center, Pensacola, Fla.

John Zinnecker has announced that he will be a candidate for sheriff at the Republican primaries in the summer.

Detroit Symphony to appear

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra (DSO) will present a concert in Bad Axe Saturday, March 10, as the finale of a five-day tour through Lower Michigan.

Guest Conductor Werner Torkanowsky, an associate to the DSO music director, will be on the podium for symphonic performances in Adrian, Ypsilanti, Big Rapids, Alpena and Bad Axe.

Locally, the concert will be at 7 p.m. in the Bad Axe High School gymnasium. The appearance is sponsored by the Thumb Council for the Arts.

The program will include the overture to Smetana's Opera, "The Bartered Bride," Prokofiev's Violin Concerto No. 1 with DSO Associate Concertmaster Bogos Mordchikian as the featured soloist, Tchaikovsky's "Romeo and Juliet," and Stravinsky's "Firebird" Suite.

The DSO tour of Michigan is being made possible through support from the Michigan Council for the Arts and the local sponsoring agencies.

Tickets are available from any member of the Thumb Council for the Arts or by writing to the council at P.O. Box 63, Bad Axe. Tickets will also be available at area businesses in March.

The 1978-79 concert season marks the 65th anniversary of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

DSO last appeared in Bad Axe May 10 for a young people's concert at Bad Axe High School. Previously, the orchestra performed an evening concert at the school in January, 1978.

New books at the library

SIX OF ONE, by Rita Mae Brown (fiction). The setting of this novel is Runnymede, a small town on the Pennsylvania-Maryland border, whose inhabitants often forget that the Civil War has ended. It spans three generations from 1909 until the 1980s. Holding the center of the stage is the love-hate relationship of two sisters who grow up, marry, raise their families and enter old age without missing a beat.

SUPERWOMEN, by Shirley Conrad (non-fiction). A book for people who have to housekeep but prefer to do something else. It will help you do all the housework you can't avoid as quickly as possible. A compendium of advice on household management - important paper keeping, shopping, clothes maintenance, all kinds of emergencies. Finally the author tells us how to juggle all this with a full or part-time job.

THE GREENLANDER, by Mark Adlard (fiction). A wonderfully old-fashioned novel, about a young man and his coming of age at sea. The time is the 19th century when every youth dreamed of sailing with the whaling fleet. The voyage is from England to the Greenland Sea. The author's concern is with the passing of an age, the moment when the age of steam overtakes the harvesting of whales for their oil.

Thumb Lutheran ladies schedule Day of Prayer

Lutheran women of the Thumb area have set Tuesday for their annual Day of Prayer. Traditionally held on the day before Ash Wednesday, the observance consists of a worship service and Bible study.

Three locations have been chosen in the Thumb zone of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League to offer greater opportunity for participation.

St. Peter's Lutheran of Bach will host Cass City, Kilmanagh, Linkville, Sebewaing, Unionville, Pigeon, and Columbia Corners. Rev. John Riske, host pastor and newly elected zone counselor, will lead the service.

The other services will be at Our Saviour Lutheran church, Bad Axe, and Trinity Lutheran church, Forestville.

The Beatitudes as found in Matthew 5:2-12 will be the basis for a Bible study prepared by Mrs. Ruby Maschke, Christian growth chairman for the zone.

The offering has been designated for a gift to Terry Hoese, a former teacher and principal at the Bach-Kilmanagh Lutheran School, to further his education for the ministry. Hoese, presently in Hobart, Ind., for his vicarage will return to Concordia Theological Seminary, Ft. Wayne, this summer to complete his requirements for graduation and ordination.

Truth is often discounted - gossip is quoted at face value.

School Scribbles

By Diane McAlpine

There will be no school Friday, Feb. 23, due to the teachers in-service day.

CCHS

Congratulations to those students involved in the Solo & Ensemble Band Festival held Saturday in Caro. First Division medals went to Laurie Enos, Bob Plaskowski, Tammy Tibbitts, Crystal Galloway, Ray Kloc and Lonnie Wilson. Cass City also took eight Second Division medals and two Third Division ratings.

The Boys' Varsity Club is sponsoring a ping-pong tournament starting March 1, during fourth and fifth lunch hours. There will be a play-off between champions of the two lunch hours, with trophies awarded to the winners.

Mike Truerner and Clayton Harmer have qualified for the wrestling regionals. Good job!

The boys' Varsity Club will be putting on a Record Hop this Friday after the game.

INTERMEDIATE

Mr. Robinson reports now that the free throw contest is done, the students involved in the lunch hour program will begin contests in checkers, chess and bowling this week. Some results will be available next week.

Medicare sign-up until April 2

People eligible for but who do not have Medicare medical insurance protection can enroll for it now through April 2, according to Elaine Blake, Social Security field representative in Saginaw.

Those eligible to sign up during the 1979 general enrollment period include people 65 and over and disabled people who have Medicare hospital insurance but failed to sign up when they were first eligible or who once had this protection but cancelled it.

Full information can be obtained at the Saginaw Social Security office in the federal building in downtown Saginaw, telephone 771-1010.

Brickley to speak in Sanilac

James H. Brickley, lieutenant governor of Michigan, will be the principal speaker at the Sanilac County Lincoln Day dinner sponsored by the Sanilac County Republican Committee.

The dinner will be held at Peck High School Saturday, March 3, at 7:30 p.m. Brickley was first elected lieutenant governor with Gov. William G. Milliken in 1970.

From 1975 until 1978, he served as president of Eastern Michigan University.

In November he was again elected lieutenant governor. For further information, call Deckerville (313) 376-2695.

Cass City rolls over Bad Axe

4 overtimes! Hawks rally to nip Mayville

FOREIGN EXCHANGE student Anders Albage wasn't clobbered on this play by Charlie Woycik of Bad Axe. Later in the game he received a couple of "shots" while attempting to score.

ROB CLARKE of Cass City tossed up a shot against Allen Spring of Bad Axe as John Wakefield (31) of Bad Axe and Rusty Hoag, Cass City, watch.

Clare Trischler went from goat to hero in a matter of minutes Tuesday night as the Cass City Red Hawks bested the Mayville Wildcats in four overtimes, 95-89.

Trischler looked like the goat when he muffed an easy pass with five seconds to go with his team trailing by two points.

But on the inbounds play Steve Richards stole the ball passed to Trischler who whipped it to Ken Martin under the bucket and Martin's ball was in the air as the final whistle sounded.

Mayville had an opportunity to ice the contest in the first overtime but Bill Bean, who played a fine game, missed the front of a one and one and the game continued.

Trischler and Martin combined to finally win it for the Hawks with timely foul shooting and key defensive play. Todd Comment added an insurance marker and a free throw and it was all over for the visitors.

It was a see-saw game all the way. The Hawks jumped out into an early lead behind the shooting of Ken Martin who carried the offense all by himself in the opening period and he whipped in buckets from all around the key. At the end of the first eight minutes the Hawks were in front 18-14.

Big Terry Diegel and company showed they came to play in the second quarter. Diegel who scored 35 points before fouling out in the third overtime helped the Wildcats control the boards and his shooting on shots near the hoop paced Mayville's rally that shoved them in front 37-34 at the half.

The lead changed hands almost everytime the players brought the ball down the floor. Seven times the Hawks took the lead only to have Mayville come back to go in front again.

At the end of the third quarter it was 57-52 with the Wildcats in front.

With 1:38 left in the game the score was tied. Cass City took a shot from outcourt and it missed. Mayville scored on the possession to go in front by two. A moment later a pair of charity tosses were converted and suddenly it looked as if victory had slipped out of Cass City's clutches.

With 15 seconds left the Hawks trailed by four. But a turnover and a quick basket put Cass City back in range and with five seconds left the crucial play already described put the game in overtime.

It was a foul marred game. Cass City was magnificent from the charity stripe, hitting 31-38 while Mayville converted 27 of 39.

Four Hawks were in double figures led by Martin with 26 points. Trischler added 23 as he converted 13 of 14 free throws. Comment also had 23 on 8 buckets and 7 of 8 free throws, and Hoag contributed 12 points. Besides Diegel, Bean with 19 and Mike Walker with 16 were in double figures.

The Hawks will dive back into Thumb B Conference competition Friday when they entertain Sandusky. The Hawks figure to be easy winners in this one as they prep for the final game of the regular season the following Friday. Get there early for that one as it probably will decide the championship of the conference.

In the preliminary the Hawks had little trouble rolling by the Wildcats, 72-54.

BAD AXE GAME

Paced by senior Clare Trischler, the Cass City Red Hawks raced to an early lead over the Bad Axe Hatchets Friday and then coasted to an easy Thumb B Conference victory, 81-55.

Trischler ripped in four first period baskets from his backcourt position and the Hawks raced into a 26-12 lead at the end of the first 8 minutes.

After that it was merely a case of mopping up for the Hawks who now see an excellent opportunity to grab a share of the league title.

When things are going well everything meshes. Against the Hatchets everything was going well. Besides hitting 51 percent of its tries from the field Cass City was a sparkling 79 percent from the foul line.

Paced by Todd Comment who was four for four, the Hawks missed just two shots in 10 tries in the first half, sinking all six foul attempts in the second period.

With that kind of shooting combined with Cass City's usual pressing defense, Cass City was in front 42-25 at the half, one of its biggest margins since the first Marlette game when the team scored 102 points.

The Hawks continued to add to the lead in the third period. It was Trischler who paced the third quarter attack with seven points. He was helped by Tim Severance who netted four points and played one of his finer games of the season.

With a 63-41 lead going into the final eight minutes the Hawk bench saw plenty of action and the splinter brigade outscored the visitors, 18-14.

The Hawks had four men in double figures. Trischler netted 17 points. Steve Richards was close on his heels with 16 points and was credited with 15 rebounds. Todd Comment and Tim Severance each scored 12. Showing the way for Bad Axe were John Wakefield, 12 points, and Craig Thygesen, 11.

The Hawk Junior Varsity rolled past the Hatchet JV 78-59.

EVERY BASKET WAS important Tuesday as the Hawks bested Mayville in four overtimes. Steve Richards lays one up for Cass City. Contesting is Mike Walker, number 24, of Mayville.

Fast pitch meet set

An organization meeting for fast pitch softball will be held in the basement meeting room at Charmont at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 1.

Teams interested in participating are asked to send at least one representative. Umpires and players not committed to any other team are also welcome, spokesmen said.

For further information interested persons can call Jim Turner, 872-2474.

Carsonville takes title with win over Owen-Gage

Owen-Gage's hopes for an upset over undefeated Carsonville-Port Sanilac Friday night looked for three quarters like they might become reality.

But the Bulldogs went cold in the final stanza, giving the Tigers a victory margin of 60-49, after both teams were tied 40-40 at the beginning of the final eight minutes.

Coach Phil Gray's squad pulled out to a 17-10 lead over visiting Carsonville by the end of the first quarter.

The Tigers went ahead 20-19 with about three minutes left in the second quarter, but the Bulldogs surged back and led 30-26 when the halftime buzzer sounded.

The win clinched the North Central D League title outright for the Tigers, 15-0 in the league and 17-0 overall.

The third quarter was a see-saw affair, with the score tied at the end. In the fourth, the Bulldogs went cold, only managing to sink one field goal out of 12 attempts. They added seven more points at the free throw line.

In contrast, the Tigers had their hottest quarter of the night, piling in 20 points for the final 60-49 margin.

The dismal final quarter was reflected in the Owen-Gage statistics, the team only making 18 of 55 field goal attempts for 32 percent. They were much better at the charity line, 13 of 21 for 61 percent.

In double figures were Mark McDonald, 14, Kirk Carolan, 13, and Brad Erickson, 11.

Dave Regnier led Carsonville with 20 points, followed by Jim Olesnavage, 16, and Terry Conely, 10.

The Tigers shot 27 of 60 from the floor, 45 percent, and 6 of 12 from the free throw line.

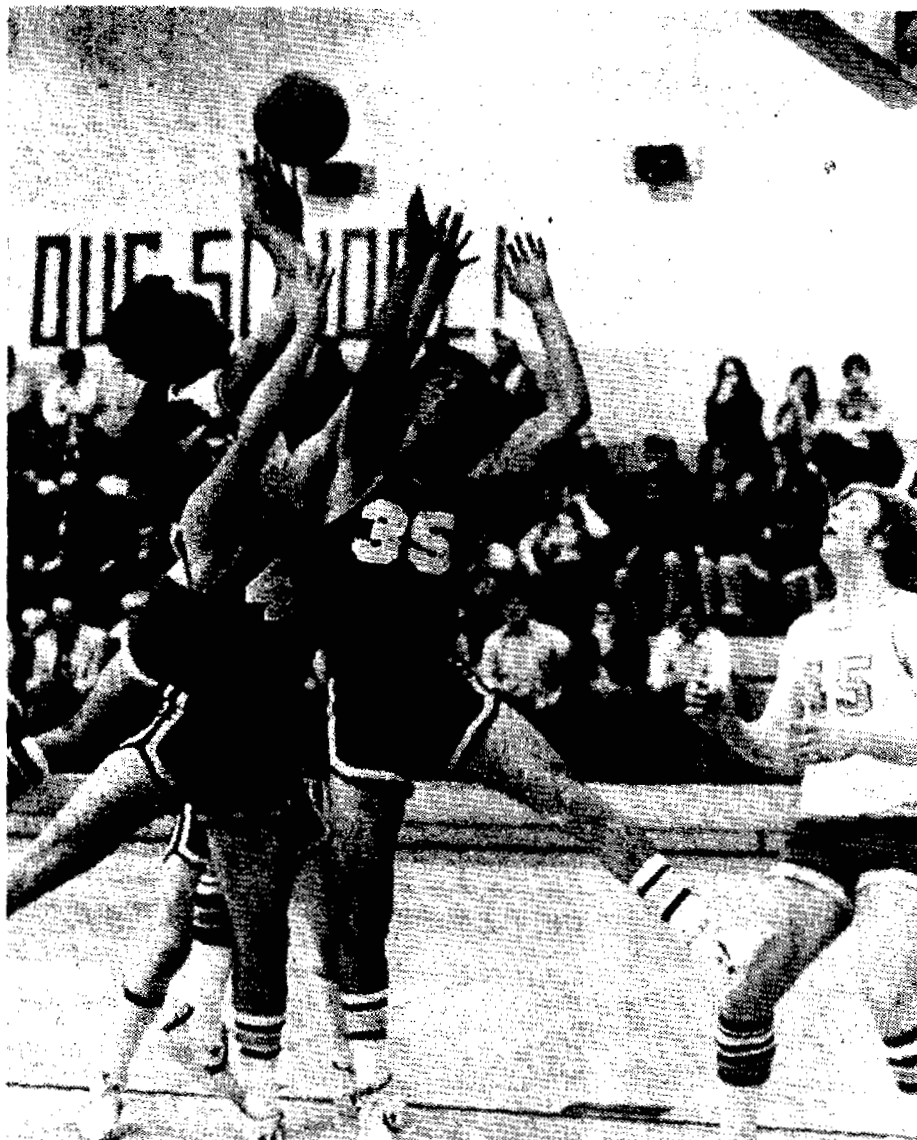

Owen-Gage dominated the boards, with McDonald and Dick Glidden each grabbing 13 of their team's 40 rebounds. The Tigers had 33 rebounds, nine of them by Olesnavage.

Both teams were plagued by turnovers, the Bulldogs making 28; the Tigers, 30. Owen-Gage won the junior varsity contest, 58-48.

The Bulldogs had Tuesday night off. They play second place North Huron Friday and Akron-Fairgrove Tuesday, Feb. 27. Both games are at Owerdale.

Score by quarters:

C-PS	10	16	14	20	60
O-G	17	13	10	9	49

WHO WANTS IT? — It doesn't look like anyone does as Bulldog Dick Glidden (in rear) and Tigers Tim Travis (45) and Kelly Fagan grapple for a rebound. Looking on at right is Mark McDonald. Carsonville-Port Sanilac won the Friday contest, 60-49.

Consortium fund cut in half

The Thumb Area Consortium will be receiving $135,000 in Michigan Employment Program funds, half the amount it received for the first year of the program.

MEP pays up to 100 percent of the entry level wage for low-income youths ages 16-24 receiving on-the-job training from private employers for the length of the training period.

Consortium Executive Director Frank Lenard told the consortium administrative board last Thursday the new contract with the state for funding of the program will start sometime in March.

With about $8,000 remaining from the first year of the program, the consortium has been given until June 30 to spend it, thus there will be overlap with the new funding year.

There presently are about 190 contracts written with private employers in the three upper Thumb counties. The $135,000, Lenard estimated, will be enough to fund 55-60 new positions.

The board voted to accept $3,616 in federal funds to start planning for the new Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) Private Sector Initiative Program, similar to MEP. Congress has yet to appropriate funds for the program.

Bob Conely was appointed to head the new program. He had been working as a job developer for MEP and the CETA Title I on-the-job training program (also similar to the new program).

Lenard informed the board the consortium will be certifying eligibility of employees for the federal Targeted Jobs Tax Credit. Employers will be eligible for federal income tax credits if they hire certain youths ages 18-24, Vietnam war era veterans age 34 and under, and ex-convicts or felons hired within five years of their release or conviction date.

The Michigan Employment Security Commission will be coordinating the program.

CETA Title VI positions approved included a maintenance worker for six months in Gagetown, secretary in the county prosecutor's office and helper for assessing work in Columbia township.

Cass City knife wielder may not face prosecution, say village police

Possible prosecution in an incident that took place early last Thursday in which a knife was flashed and a threat made will be up to the county prosecutor's office.

Since Cass City police have doubts that a warrant will be issued charging anyone with a crime, they requested that names not be published.

Hold-up nets $600 from Mayville store

A lone bandit, armed with a revolver, escaped with more than $600 after holding up Gus's Convenience Store, at 218 W. Main in Mayville Sunday.

Caro state police said the bandit, face hidden by a ski mask and hooded shirt, entered the store just before 9 p.m., pointed the gun at the clerk on duty, and demanded all the money in the till.

The store was also held up Jan. 18. No one has been arrested in either hold-up.

The complainant told officers he and two friends were in the Charmont when three other men they knew entered. No words were exchanged and the three soon left.

The complainant, concerned about his car, went outside with his friends. They saw one of the trio pouring beer over his car. The hood ornament had been ripped off.

When they got closer, the man who had been pouring the beer was quoted as saying, "You guys are going to get it now." He then pulled out a pocket knife with a 4-inch blade.

The complainant and his companions backed away and the other three then drove off, leaving behind a beer bottle stuck on the antenna of the complainant's car. The complainant told officers he had dated a friend of the man who pulled the knife.

Police turned a copy of the report over to the prosecutor's office for possible action. The incident took place about 12:10 a.m.

Early Monday afternoon Cass City police discovered the top part of a parking meter had been stolen. The meter was on Leach Street, just north of Main.

The side of the meter was struck with an object in order to break loose the meter. The part taken, valued at $102, contained the mechanism. The lower part, containing the coin box, remained intact.

Local racer places fifth in contest

Aaron Anthes, local race car driver, entered the East Bay Raceway contest at Gibsonton, Fla., Feb. 16, 17, 18.

He placed fifth out of 185 cars and was fourth fastest qualifier. He was in second position until a tire went bad.

Several area persons attended.

Criminal complaints total 498

The Tuscola County Sheriff's Department received a total of 498 calls concerning criminal matters in January.

Of those, 236 concerned traffic, larcenies, 37; domestic problems, 35, and vandalism and burglaries, 32 each.

A total of 163 traffic tickets were issued, of which 88 were for speeding, 13 for operators' license violations and 12 for stop sign violations.

There were 38 arrests made, including 10 for traffic offenses, seven each for family offenses and liquor violations and five for robberies.

The county jail took in 96 inmates in January, of whom five were female, and released 98.

Patrol units traveled 29,196 miles and consumed 3,179.7 gallons of gasoline (9.18 miles per gallon).

Cass City police made five arrests in January, three for traffic violations and one each for disturbing the public peace and fraudulent activity.

Caro state police made 13 arrests, including eight for traffic violations and two for liquor violations.

The Gagetown police officer, who has since resigned, made one arrest for a traffic violation and one for assault.

Kingston police made one arrest for violation of the controlled substance act.

Complaints and accidents respectively in area townships were: Columbia, 6 and 1; Elkland, 67 and 4; Ellington, 9 and 4; Elmwood, 11 and 0; Kingston, 14 and 4, and Novesta, 9 and 4.

Owen-Gage girls add Pirates to win string

With the season about half over, the Owen-Gage girls' volleyball team faces what may be its only stiff challenge in league play this Wednesday night when it hosts Caseville.

Coach Judy Campbell's Bulldogs, with a win last Thursday night over Port Austin, were alone on top of the North Central D League standings at 8-0.

The Eagles, who didn't play last Thursday because of the weather, were 7-0. The missed game will only be made up if it affects the final standings.

Following the Caseville contest, which was postponed from Feb. 8, the Bulldogs play Thursday night at Akron-Fairgrove, are in the Caseville invitational Saturday and entertain Kingston Monday. Owen-Gage won the first match last Thursday against the Pirates, 15-6 and 15-11. Carol Goslin and Deb Vargo each scored six points.

The Bulldogs took the second by identical scores of 15-3. Brenda Haley scored six points and Vargo and Tammy Kain each had five.

Laurie Andrakowicz had four ace spikes and eight good spikes in the two matches.

The Bulldog junior varsity, also undefeated, won 15-4 and 15-10.

Standings (As of Feb. 16).

Owen-Gage	8-0
Caseville	7-0
Akron-Fair	6-4
Port Hope	5-3
C-PS	3-3
Port Austin	2-4
N. Huron	0-6
Peck	0-8

2 Hawks qualify for regionals

Two members of the Cass City High School wrestling team qualified for regional competition at the State district tournament held Saturday.

Clayton Harmer finished third in the 126-pound class winning three and losing one match.

Mike Truerner finished fourth, winning one by a forfeit and losing two.

Harmer's record for the season is 24 wins, 8 losses and a tie. Truerner's record is 13 wins and 2 losses.

The regionals will be held Saturday at Montrose.

Eye-Bank Day slated in Marlette

A program to inform the public about the Michigan Eye-Bank and corneal transplantation will be presented free of charge during a regional "Eye-Bank Day" in Marlette starting at 1 p.m. Saturday, March 3.

It is one of three such events to take place in the state during March, "Michigan Eye-Bank Month."

The affair will be hosted by the Marlette Lions Club and the Michigan Lions Eye-Bank Committee at the Marlette Lions Hall on Angle Street.

The Marlette program will feature a slide presentation explaining the Michigan Eye-Bank and some of the types of blindness or visual impairment that can be helped by corneal transplantation. "Before" and "After" views and corneal transplant techniques also will be shown.

In addition, a movie, "The Gift of Sight," will tell the eye-bank story.

Cold can cause natural gas problems

"Extremely cold weather since the first of the year is putting the gas distribution system of Consumers Power Co. under unusual strain because of the substantial depth of frost in the earth," according to James A. Albertson, Bay City district manager.

"Because of the potential effect of frost upon gas lines, we are asking residents to immediately report to Consumers Power Co. any odor of gas or any unusual gaseous smell they might detect in or around their homes. We have emergency crews ready 24 hours a day, 7 days a week who will respond to such calls."

"Since gas may travel under frozen ground before coming to the surface, it's important that everyone report such odors whether or not they have gas service in their own home," he added. In addition to gas mains, the cold weather has also put an extra burden upon furnaces and increased the likelihood of carbon monoxide leaks.

Albertson cautioned that carbon monoxide is a by-product of incomplete combustion that's difficult to detect because it's invisible, odorless and tasteless. The symptoms of its presence are smarting of the eyes, dizziness, weakness, nausea, headaches or unconsciousness.

charge Feb. 2, in connection with his taking the car of Charles Dorsch of Owendale. The incident took place Jan. 27 in Sebawaing. Willson was credited with five days good time and three days already served.

Weather related crashes abound in Cass City area

A Mayville woman, Sarah E. Matthews, 41, was treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital after an accident on M-81 last Wednesday.

Sheriff's deputies reported Gloria Peddie, 46, of Cass City Road, slowed due to a cloud of snow raised by a snowplow in front of her. The Matthews vehicle then ran into the rear of the Peddie auto. All vehicles were eastbound.

Mrs. Peddie was reported to have had possible injuries but didn't need hospital treatment. The accident took place at 2:42 p.m., west of Spence Road.

Ronald L. McAlpine, 35, of Owendale, was still in Scheurer Hospital, Pigeon, Tuesday afternoon, where he had been since a 2 p.m. snowmobile accident Sunday.

Huron county deputies said he and a passenger, Scott Cook of Sebawaing, were riding the machine in a field west of Maxwell Road, near Pigeon.

The snowmobile hit a snow bank and became airborne, throwing both riders off. Cook was unhurt. McAlpine was reported to have suffered lacerations and a sprained spine.

James J. Spencer, 38, of Akron, was treated and released from Caro Community Hospital after a 4:30 p.m. accident Sunday.

Spencer was westbound on Cass City Road, east of Colwood Road, according to deputies, when his auto went into a snow drift covering the north lane. The vehicle went out of control, rolled over and landed on its wheels off the north side of the road.

Spencer was ticketed on a charge of violation of the basic speed law (too fast for conditions).

OTHER ACCIDENTS

At 11:45 a.m. last Thursday, according to Cass City police, George E. Russell, 27, of 5077 Koepfgen Road, southbound on Koepfgen, was stopped at M-81.

Wayne A. Pyorala, 35, of 4118 Seeger Street, westbound on M-81, turned right onto Koepfgen and possibly because of icy pavement causing his car to slide, struck the Russell vehicle.

Village police reported that at 10:35 a.m. Friday, Robert Tavernier, 75, of 5053 Lamton Road, westbound on Main Street, was stopped for the light at Seeger Street. William A. Shagene, 19, of 6760 Cemetery Road, couldn't stop in time because of the icy pavement and his vehicle struck the rear of the Tavernier auto.

At 1 a.m. that day, according to deputies, John F. Anderson, 21, of Ritter Road, Cass City, was headed northeast on M-81, south of Elmwood Road, when his car slid on ice into a snowbank and rolled over.

Karen Wallace, 16, of 4920 Van Dyke Road, was northbound on Sherman Street at 5:40 p.m. Saturday, according to Cass City police, didn't yield the right of way at Garfield Street, possibly due to sliding on icy pavement, and collided with an eastbound car. Driver of the other car was Todd Hunt, 16, of 4291 West Street.

At 12:20 p.m. Monday, Cass City police reported, Robert M. Dinkmeier, 38, of 4992 E. Cass City Road, was eastbound on Main Street and skidded on icy pavement into the rear of a vehicle turning right onto West Street. The other driver involved was Ken Martin, 46, of 4180 Hurds Corner Road.

PARKING MISHAPS

A car owned by Harold Spencer of 3472 Pine Street, Kingston, was backed into by another car Feb. 10, the driver of which then left without stopping. Spencer's car was parked in the alley behind Old Wood Drugs when the incident occurred at 2:10 p.m., village police reported.

A witness observed the incident but police were unable to prove that the car seen striking the Spencer auto was the one that did it so further investigation was dropped.

At 2:45 p.m. that day, officers reported Colleen Joyce Krueger, 41, of 3560 Phillips Road, while backing from a parking space in the Hillside Apartments lot, backed into the right side of a car entering the lot. The other driver involved was William R. Bader, 21, of 5210 Pringle Road, Decker.

Feb. 1 in the General Cable lot, Delbert W. Smith, 61, of 5176 Shabbona Road, Deford, in backing up turned his wheels too far and struck a parked car belonging to Daniel Zdrojewski. The police report wasn't prepared until recently.

Last Wednesday, village police reported, Jeri Lynn Sherman, 22, of 3978 Lamton Road, Deford, backed into a car parked in the middle of the lot. Owner of the parked car was Bryan Warju of Cass City.

Saturday night, officers said, Cheryl Kay Viney, 18, of 6531 Main Street, was backing from a parking place at the Charmont and her right front bumper, hit the left front fender of the car parked alongside. Owner of the latter car was Gail Stilson.

MESSENGER -- Volunteer messenger Betty Greenleaf (right) delivers a report to Lynda Guinther, who works in Hills and Dales admissions department. Cart in the foreground is used to carry messages, flowers, televisions, etc.

Hospital begins volunteer free service

Hills and Dales General Hospital and the Hospital Auxiliary have started a volunteer messenger service.

In operation since Jan. 1, the messengers deliver mail and messages to offices and flowers, mail, telephones and televisions to patients. They also work at the photocopy machine.

The hospital has no uniformed volunteer Gray Ladies or Candy-stripers, according to Jane Mitchell, RN, the hospital in-service educator and coordinator of the program, so prior to the start of the service, delivery duties had to be performed by staff members.

"This way, it helps people (staff) stay in their own department," she explained. Mrs. Mitchell trains new volunteers.

The messenger service is in operation Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. noon and 1-4 p.m. Volunteers are asked to work an entire morning or afternoon shift.

There presently are 8-10 women working as messengers, some once a week, some every other week and some once a month. At least twenty volunteers are needed, Mrs. Mitchell said.

They must join the auxiliary in order to be covered by the hospital's insurance, but dues are only $2, she continued. Membership in the auxiliary and the volunteer service is open to men.

The auxiliary has primarily been involved in fund-raising at the hospital, including operation of its gift shop, Mrs. Mitchell explained, but with inauguration of the messenger service, is becoming more actively involved in other capacities.

The messengers, who wear a smock furnished by the hospital, make hourly rounds of the various departments and if needed immediately to deliver something, are paged. "They are really quite busy," Mrs. Mitchell said of those serving as volunteers, adding, "The ladies are quite enthusiastic."

Persons interested in volunteering for the messenger service are asked to call auxiliary member Mrs. Ken Jensen at 872-4701.

Most bad luck comes to the man who has neither inherited ability or acquired industry.

Jury returns guilty verdict in assault

A circuit court jury last Thursday found Timothy Walker, 36, of Hurds Corner Road, Caro, guilty of felonious assault.

The verdict came at the end of a two-day trial.

Walker was charged with an assault with a rifle involving a woman in Wells township Aug. 11, 1978.

Judge Martin E. Clements scheduled sentencing April 2.

In cases Tuesday, Feb. 13, before Circuit Judge Norman A. Baguley:

James D. Pierce, 19, of 5815 Ruprecht Road, Vassar, stood mute to charges of armed robbery and kidnapping.

Pleas of innocent were entered and a pretrial hearing scheduled March 16. Bond was continued.

He is charged in connection with the Jan. 19 armed robbery of Leo's Union 76 Station in Vassar, in which $1,163 was taken. The money was later recovered.

The gunman forced the attendant, Tim German, and his girl friend into German's car and made him drive him (the robber) outside of Vassar.

Dale K. Thayer Jr., also known as Timothy Thayer, of 6807 S. State Street, Millington, was placed on two years' probation for larceny in a building. He was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail, credited with one day served, with serving of the sentence delayed without date. He was ordered to pay restitution of $300.

Thayer pleaded guilty to the charge Jan. 9, 1978, in connection with the Aug. 8, 1977 break-in of a home near Vassar. Sentencing was subsequently delayed one year.

A prosecution motion for dismissal of a charge of delivery of phenylcyclidine against Larry F. Humbert, 24, no available address, was granted.

Humbert pleaded no contest to the charge Jan. 4, 1978, after which sentencing was delayed one year. Having complied with his probation requirements during the year, the charge was dismissed.

Donald L. Clark, 18, of 6149 Sardon Road, Millington, was placed on one year probation for conspiracy to commit larceny.

He pleaded guilty to the charge Jan. 9, 1978, after which sentencing was delayed one year.

William R. Jacob, 27, of Sandusky, was sentenced to 3-5 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for driving under the influence of liquor (third offense). He was credited with one day served. Alcohol abuse counseling was recommended.

Jacob pleaded guilty to the charge Jan. 8.

Larry S. Putnam, 22, of 296

W. Main Street, Mayville, was sentenced to one year in the county jail for larceny in a building. He was credited with 110 days served.

A jury found him guilty Jan. 5 of the April 17, 1978 break-in of Mayville Mouldings, in which a set of calipers and a magnet were taken.

Anthony Frey, 25, of Saginaw, pleaded guilty to malicious destruction of property over $100. Judge Baguley took his plea under advisement.

Frey is charged with damaging a house trailer and pickup truck belonging to Anthony Jacobs Oct. 17 in Denmark township.

Bruce A. LaChappelle, 18, of 9338 Bray Road, Millington, pleaded guilty to attempted felonious assault, in connection with an incident involving Bradley Bird Aug. 30 in Arbela township, in which a 20-gauge shotgun was used.

His plea was accepted and sentencing scheduled Feb. 26. Bond was continued.

In a plea bargain agreement with the prosecution, the latter is asking that a second charge, possession of a firearm in commission of a felony, be dismissed.

Winnifred Cross, 58, of 1157 N. Kingston Road, Deford, pleaded guilty to a pretrial hearing to possession of a controlled substance (Ridelen).

Her plea was accepted and sentencing scheduled March 16. Bond was continued.

Road plowed, foreman says

A caption under a photograph in last week's Chronicle said the mile of Lamton Road between Gilford and Mushroom Roads hadn't been plowed all winter until Feb. 7.

However, Henry Rock, foreman at the Tuscola County Road Commission Deford garage, said Friday the section of road had been plowed 12 times since Jan. 1. He added, due to drifting, "We can open it up one hour and it will be closed the next."

The Tuscola Road Commission has responsibility for plowing the county line road from Severance Road south to where it ends south of Evelyn Road.

The trouble with inflation is that it affects a great many heads that way, too.

To many people the leaps of impulse are considerably greater than the bounds of reason.

SNOW FORCED THE TRAIN off the track at the Garfield Street crossing Tuesday afternoon. The two derailed cars were quickly placed back on the rails as experienced workers used wood wedges and the train's power to move the cars. In a couple of hours the job was done and the train moving again.

Plan appeal of most recent ruling by Judge Kallman

Kleeb of Howell, couldn't be reached for comment.

Because of Kallman's new order, Schouman Friday temporarily withdrew the Owen-Gage petition to the state board to have the Elenbaum parcel transferred back from the Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port district to Owen-Gage.

The state board's hearing officer, Raymond L. Godmer, was to have conducted a hearing that day on the Owen-Gage petition.

GOSLIN TAXES

Tuesday of last week, the Tuscola county board by a 4-3 vote approved allocation of the Goslin taxes for 1978 to Cass City. One of those voting in favor was Royce Russell of Elmwood township.

Friday, Erickson told the Chronicle, "We're going after Royce Russell. We feel he committed a possible criminal act."

Basis for the claim is that Russell was in conflict of interest because he owns property in the Goslin parcel and would have benefited from the lower school taxes assessed by Cass City.

The commissioner, who also owns property in the Owen-Gage district (outside of Goslin), sought Prosecutor Artis Noel's opinion before the meeting last Tuesday on whether it would be okay for him to vote on the Goslin matter. The prosecutor said it would.

(The Chronicle incorrectly reported last week the basis for the conflict of interest charge was due to Russell's having served as Elmwood township treasurer and having been involved with the Goslin tax issue.)

Schouman told the Chronicle Monday that he wasn't at liberty to say until later this week what action he will be taking to reverse the county board's allocation vote.

GREMEL HEARING

Godmer, the state board hearing officer, conducted a hearing Dec. 15 on the appeal by Gremel parcel owners of the March 11, 1976 denial by the boards of education of the Huron and Tuscola Intermediate School Districts of the transfer of the property from Owen-Gage to Unionville-Sebewaing.

The 1978 state equalized valuation of the parcel was $1.2 million.

Godmer, in a letter dated Jan. 29 to state Superintendent of Public Instruction Dr. John Porter, has recommended that the transfer request be denied.

The hearing officer said in the letter there was no "finding of fact" to justify the transfer and that since "neither the appellants nor their counsel attended the hearing, it shows a lack of interest to have this property transferred."

He noted that after the hearing, a letter was received by the attorney for the Gremel petitioners withdrawing the appeal. The appeal was withdrawn because a state imposed higher valuation for the property boosted it to more than 10 percent of Owen-Gage's total valuation, which would have required a public vote on the proposed transfer.

The earliest the state board will act on his recommendation is at its April 3-4 meeting, Godmer said. His recommendation has questionable significance because he has always recommended transfers from Owen-Gage be denied but has always been overruled by the state board.

Health board in first meeting

The Tuscola County Board of Health held its first official meeting Feb. 9.

The board, formed in 1978, officially took over operations of the Tuscola County Health Department Jan. 1 of this year. Prior to that, Tuscola and Lapeer counties were combined in what was called the Thumb District Health Department.

Present at the first meeting were board members Kenneth Kennedy, Millington, Ben Collon, Caro, and Margaret Wenta, Fostoria, all presently county commissioners, and former Commissioner Maynard McConkey of Cass City. Kennedy is chairman; McConkey, vice-chairman.

It was reported that funding had been received from the state Office of Substance Abuse Services to increase the alcoholism counseling grant. The board then took action to reorganize the program into separate contracts for Lapeer and Tuscola counties.

The board acted to approve an associated agreement to share the administrators for the Lapeer and Tuscola County Health Departments on an equal basis.

The Health Department will soon begin a joint experimental venture, supported by Huron and Sanilac counties, to provide a three-county home health care program to provide health services for the homebound elderly.
