

Stations getting less

'Don't panic,' local gasoline dealers say

Don't panic. Don't fill your gasoline tank if you need only a few gallons.

Drive less. Follow those guidelines say Cass City service station operators and they might be able to keep customers supplied with fuel this summer without running out.

All the stations are getting less gasoline than they got a year ago and the dealers -- at least some of them -- are afraid talking about the situation might create a panic.

"The more you guys (in the media) talk about it, the more people are going to top their tanks off and then we'll have a shortage," said Larry's Sunoco owner Clare Mellendorf.

Depending on the supplier and type of gasoline (unleaded, regular, etc.) stations are getting 80, 85 or 90 percent this month of either what they sold in May of last year or received from the distributor.

Dealers are beginning to see the effects of the continual news media barrage about the gas shortage in California and possible shortages elsewhere.

People are reacting two ways, according to L & S Standard owner Floyd Luettkie.

He sees some regular customers less often, which indicates they are driving less. "I really do believe they're trying to save it."

On the other hand, he sees people getting fillups when they only need a few gallons or getting fillups when they previously would have waited until they got to where they were going. The latter reflects fear that when they get to their end destination, they might not be able to get enough gas to get home. There also is an attitude of buy now before the price goes up again.

It all balances out and Luettkie says he isn't selling less gasoline. He has reduced the hours his station is open from 89 hours a week to 70, but, "It hasn't helped a bit."

"I don't know whether I'll make it or not," he said of whether he might run out before May is over. "It's going to be right on the borderline."

Mellendorf also says the number of people doing less driving is being offset by people filling up more often.

Frank's Service Station

owner Frank Spencer is one dealer who has seen a slight reduction in sales, which he says is the result of his station being open one less hour per day.

A lot of townspeople have cut down on their driving, he said, and are walking more or riding bicycles.

COPING

How to get by with less to sell is a question the dealers have yet to answer.

They have doubts whether shortening hours will do the trick. About all that may do is mean change the time customers buy their gasoline.

It may mean only a reduction in sales to people who drive late or run out of gas, Cass City Oil and Gas owner Duane Chippi said.

His firm owns or supplies 10 or 11 stations in the Thumb. So far they haven't had to cut hours. If they do and that doesn't help, the next step will probably be to limit sales to maybe five or 10 gallons at a time.

That would make more gas available to local customers, he explained, as it would cut down on the amount sold to travelers.

The alternative to trying to stretch limited supplies is to simply give customers what they want until the storage tanks run dry.

Making the task of stretching supplies more difficult is that if stations could get the fuel, they could probably sell more than they sold a year ago.

Dennis Cook, general manager of Gagetown Oil and Gas, which owns three stations and supplies a few more, estimated unrestricted demand would probably be 4-5 percent more than a year ago.

His May allocation is 85 percent and he doesn't expect any better than 90 percent during the summer "and probably less." None of the other dealers expected any better, though no one knows definitely.

DIESEL FUEL

Diesel fuel is another concern and one distributor said supplies of that are tighter than gasoline.

The Federal Energy Administration is mandating that farmers receive 100 percent of their needs for diesel fuel and gasoline.

So far, farmers apparently haven't had any problems in this area getting what they need.

The diesel distributor said if diesel supplies actually get short, first priority will go to farmers and second to fuel oil customers (the fuel is the same), with diesel fuel at service stations being limited.

PRICES

Even if all the fuel motorists want were available, the ever increasing price might be an incentive for some to do less driving.

The price is something dealers have no control over, said Duane Chippi, who once saw one of his three distributors raise the price three times in one day.

Federal guidelines allow the oil companies to pass on any increases they pay for petroleum, such as that bought from the oil exporting nations, plus price controls on old oil are gradually being lifted, which is why the ceiling price keeps going up.

Once he takes delivery, he explained, he has 10 days to pay for it, thus if he wants to stay in business, he has to raise the pump price. Chippi deals with three major suppliers "and hardly a day goes by I don't get an increase from one of them."

The price increases aren't benefiting the dealers, according to the distributor, as the federal government al-

Gagetown hires policeman

Former Huron County Deputy Sheriff Larry Ringvetski has been hired as the new police officer in Gagetown.

He was interviewed for the position Monday night. A few details still needed to be taken care of, Village President William Downing said Tuesday, but hopefully that would be done in time for Ringvetski to be sworn in by this week end.

He can then start his patrol duties immediately thereafter.

Ringvetski, 46, of Bad Axe, will be working 30 hours per week.

FILL-UP -- The ever increasing price of gasoline and the possibility of shortages are looming over all motorists' heads. Filling the tank of his van Tuesday was Audley Horner of Elizabeth Street, Cass City.

Memorial Day parade on Monday morning

The annual Memorial Day parade in Cass City starts Monday at 10 a.m.

With the American Legion color guard leading the way, the marchers will start on West Street and march down Main Street to the Elkland Township Cemetery, where memorial services will be held.

The Cass City High School band will march in the parade and perform at the services.

If past parades are any guide, other parade participants will likely include the township fire department, American Legion Auxiliary and Gold Star Mothers, Cub, Boy, Girl and Brownie Scouts, Cass City Preschool Nursery, 4-H'ers and the Junior Wranglers 4-H Club and bicycle riders.

Anyone or any group that would like to participate can show up beforehand.

All parade participants should be in the village parking lot between Seeger and Leach Streets, north of Main, by 9:30 to begin lining up.

Speaker at the services honoring the war dead will be Rev. Robert Taylor of the Cass City Missionary church.

Master of ceremonies will be Jack Esau.

149 seniors set for graduation

Graduation takes place this Thursday for 149 seniors at Cass City High School.

Commencement starts at 8 p.m. in the high school gymnasium.

The procession will be played by the high school band, directed by Thomas Blair. Invocation and benediction will be given by Rev. Vern Lockard of the Novesta Church of Christ.

Supt. Donald Crouse will give the welcome.

Student speakers will be senior class President Carol Little and Doug Erla.

Following playing of the theme from the movie "Superman" by the band, counselors Curtis Cleland and Wayne Dillon will present honors and awards.

High School Principal Russell Richards will present the graduates, with Supt. Crouse in charge of awarding of the diplomas.

The program will end with playing of the recessional.

The baccalaureate service took place Sunday afternoon in the gymnasium.

The band played "Niagara Overture," in addition to the processional and recessional.

The choir, directed by James Hobbs, sang "Walk Along Beside Me, O My Lord."

Rev. Willard L. Dodson of the Cass City Church of Christ gave the invocation and benediction.

The scripture reading was given by Rev. John Tatgenhorst of the Shabbona United Methodist church. Pastor Timothy Teall of the First Baptist church of Cass City spoke about "Purposeful Plans and Priorities."

A prayer for the graduates was offered by Pastor Robert Rathbun of the Riverside Church of God, Cass City.

The seniors took their final examinations Monday and Tuesday. Exams for other students are June 5-6.

30 years nice round number — Ruth Smith decides to retire

Ruth Smith has come a long way since she started teaching for $30 a month in 1933, but in terms of miles, she hasn't gone very far at all.

The Evergreen Elementary School principal and kindergarten teacher is retiring at the end of the school year.

"I will really miss it," she said of her soon to end career. "I'll really miss these kids. I've never been sorry I went into teaching. It wasn't an easy decision to make (to retire)."

Although she is 65, she could continue in her job, but the 30 years she has spent in education is a "pretty round number," plus there are some things she and her husband Ralph would like to do "we weren't able to do before," hence the decision to retire.

Mrs. Smith grew up in the Snover area and her teaching career never took her more than a few miles from there.

After graduating from Urban School (8th grade) and Sandusky High School, she went to the county normal school in Sandusky for a year and was qualified to teach.

She got a job at Wheeler School, grades K-8, about five miles north of Snover.

She received $30 a month, and she had to do janitorial chores as well as teach classes.

That certainly wasn't much money, but she points out her room and board only cost $2 per week.

She was there a year. She then married Ralph Smith and moved to the farm where they still live, one mile south and two miles east of Shabbona on Leslie Road.

She went to work at the Leslie School for $50 a month, which was closer to her new home. Like at her first job, she walked to and from school, about 1½ miles each way.

MRS. SMITH TAUGHT one year at Leslie, then quit to have her family. She and her husband have three children, Eunice Geister of Marlette, and sons Ronald and Russell, who both live in homes on the family farm. They help on the farm, but work in Marlette.

The Smiths have nine grandchildren and the six belonging to their sons, four boys and two girls, have all gone to Evergreen.

That meant they had their grandmother as their kindergarten teacher. Before each started school, she told them that in school, they would be treated the same as anyone else.

"They called me 'Mrs. Smith' when they were in school, 'Grandma' at home."

Once, one of the youngsters asked if he could come over to her house. Mrs. Smith asked her grandson why, since he saw her every day in class. "Because at school, you're teacher. At home, you're 'Grandma,'" was the reply.

She never had trouble with any of her grandchildren when they were in her class.

That's basically true of all the children at Evergreen. "I do think we have good kids out here and I'm going to miss them."

MRS. SMITH RESUMED her teaching career in 1950 at Pidd School, south of Decker. She was there five years.

In the fall of 1955, she started teaching at Evergreen. She had 43 third and fourth graders.

The next year, she was appointed principal and started teaching kindergarten, since that required only a half day, leaving the rest of the day for administrative duties. She has held both positions ever since.

She received her bachelor's degree from Central Michigan University in 1959, after attending summer school and evening extension classes.

The Evergreen Township Unit School was erected in 1959.

SUFFER THE CHILDREN: THE STORY OF THALIDO-MIDE, by the Insight Team Of the Sunday Times of London (non-fiction). The difficulties experienced by the Sunday Times reporters in the pursuit of information about the disastrous effects of thalidomide provides a dual story. The suppression of vital public knowledge as well as the unsavory, horrific facts of fraud and carelessness by pharmaceutical companies resulting in disease and deformities on an international scale is concisely reported. The origin of the drug was in Germany but its use was wide-spread, especially in Britain and Australia. While the emphasis is on English victims, the authors compare the American FDA and legal recourse with the shoddy, negligent response by the British government.

THE MENACE WITHIN, by Ursula Curtiss (fiction). The Southwest doesn't seem the likeliest setting for thrillers, but Ursula Curtiss transforms huge expanses of land and superhighway into instruments of psychological torture in her suspense novels. Curtiss can infuse the ordinary with a sense of horror, as in this novel, in which a young woman house-sits for a hospitalized aunt without knowing that a killer is hiding 16 feet below in the house's forgotten bomb shelter. Believable and shudder provoking.

A GLORIOUS THIRD, by Cynthia Seton (fiction). The year is 1968, when the U.S. is in turmoil and on the brink of change. Celia Webb Dupont, 45-year-old mother of five and wife of an executive, decides she should place herself on the brink of change, too - to make her remaining years the "glorious third" of her life. She goes to France. It becomes obvious when the story jumps to 1978 that Celia has succeeded in finding intellectual and emotional fulfillment. Seton is a superb stylist and astute observer of the individual. An outer coat of wit and satire does not interfere with the novel's core of complete seriousness.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Mrs. Donna Wernette feels that the publishers of that recently compiled directory of Tuscola county are a bunch of male chauvinists and she told them so.

What's bugging Mrs. Wernette is that the directory lists the various men's clubs in the county but not one mention of the women's clubs.

It's a hundred to one that they won't make that mistake again if they get around to publishing another here.

Cruising down Main Monday I bumped into Stan Asher, really hale and hearty at 83.

If you are new to the business scene in the last five years or so, the name won't mean much. But for some 50 years before, he was a manager of one of Cass City's most successful corporations first known as Cass City Oil and Gas and later as Thumb Appliance Center.

Mrs. Ella Croft submitted two more members of the club older than the Chronicle. They are Mrs. Tillie McMahon, 92, and Mrs. Joe Benkelman, 91. That makes seven.

For the first time in several years the retail committee in Cass City is promoting a spring town-wide sale.

It was a tradition here to hold a sale immediately after Mother's Day. It was abandoned because it did come in the middle of a busy selling season offering merchandise that retailers were reluctant to sell at a discount at that time.

That's changed now and most stores are offering genuine "scount on new stock.

The sale lasts three days, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

One more commercial note. Already Memorial Day has sneaked up on us. I don't know about you, but for me it just feels that it can't possibly be that late in the spring already.

All this is a sneaky way to remind you that the Chronicle will be one production day short next week and that all copy should be submitted a day early.

103 graduate at Ubyly H.S.

Ubyly Community High School graduated 103 seniors Friday in the school gym.

For the first time the combined baccalaureate and commencement services were held the same evening.

Representatives of the Class of 1980 led the Class of 1979 in the processional "Pomp and Circumstance" which was played by the high school band.

Father Gerald Kukla, pastor of St. Joseph Catholic church of Argyle and St. Ignace Catholic church of Freiburg, gave the invocation and benediction.

Rev. Emerson Arntz, pastor of the First United Methodist church of Ubyly, delivered the scripture reading.

The Ubyly Elementary School Choir sang a hymn, "Brother James Air" and a traditional graduation song, "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You."

The band played "Music for a Ceremony."

The valedictory speech was delivered by Kathi Jahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Jahn of Ruth.

The salutatory speech was given by Lynne Anne Nowak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alger Nowak of Ubyly.

Thomas Block, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Block of Minden City, the class president, gave appreciation remarks.

Hilary Cook, director of guidance, presented scholarship awards. High School Principal Fred Ruthko awarded trophies.

The graduating class was presented by David L. Landryou, superintendent of schools, to Bernard Puvawski, president of the board of education, who awarded diplomas. John D. Kennedy and Clarence Rutkowski, members of the board of education, assisted in the awarding of diplomas.

Youth jobs fewer than anticipated

There won't be as many federally funded jobs for summer youth in Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties as originally anticipated.

The Thumb Area Consortium was originally told it would receive $542,827, enough for 500 jobs, but when the money arrived, Executive Director Frank Lenard told the consortium administrative board last Thursday, there was only $461,553.

That will be enough to fill 330 positions with government agencies, schools and non-profit organizations. However, because of participants quitting, at least 400 youth will be getting jobs (instead of the anticipated 500) and Lenard said he expects the number will likely be closer to 425.

No reason was stated for the decrease.

The jobs are restricted to youth 14-21 from low income families. They will receive $2.90 per hour, start work after school ends and can continue until school resumes in the fall.

The program is being run by the Human Development Commission in Caro, which as of last week, was taking applications in schools in the three-county area.

Out-of-school youth can apply for the jobs at the HDC office or Michigan Employment Security Commission offices.

In other business, Lenard reported that governmental employees being paid with federal Comprehensive and Employment Act funds who will be losing their jobs Sept. 30 are starting to find other employment.

As of March 31, sixteen people with Title II jobs left for other positions, versus an anticipated five. Fifty-five left Title VI jobs, versus an anticipated 38.

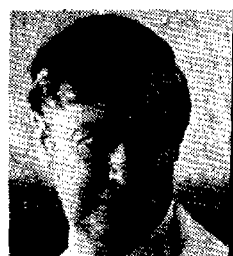

As of Sept. 30, Lenard said, 85-90 percent of those in Title II and VI will lose their jobs. Federal law said that those holding CETA paid positions prior to Oct. 1 of last year could hold them only one more year. Those hired after that can hold them 18 months.

With the pay limitation of $6,635 annually now in effect for new CETA positions, the executive director doubted there will be more than 50 CETA public service jobs in the three upper Thumb counties after Sept. 30 of this year. As of April 30, there were 639 such positions.

It was decided at the April board meeting that an attempt would be made to meet with U.S. Senator Donald Riegle of Flint while he was home for Easter recess to discuss the $6,635 wage limitation.

Lenard reported last Thursday that Riegle was home only two days and that it was impossible to set up an appointment.

"If It Fitz..." Tragedy attracts tourists

By Jim Fitzgerald

James Bodine, secretary of commerce for the State of Pennsylvania, reminds me of Le Thai Khuong, who was chief of tourism for South Vietnam six years ago.

So far, Bodine is the only Pennsylvania official to see something good in the accident that damaged the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant, forcing thousands of people to flee their homes and scaring the pants off the entire nation. He thinks the near-catastrophe may be a blessing for the state's tourist industry.

"I think Three Mile Island is becoming a tourist attraction of its own. I don't think there's any question but that spot is and can be... a significant tourist attraction," Bodine told reporters.

But he is worried about the current gasoline shortage, which may prevent motorists from visiting the very same spot vacated hurriedly by pregnant employees of the nuclear plant. The women fled on the advice of doctors who warned that, if they remained at work, their babies might be born with leaky reactor cores.

Bodine naturally thinks tourists shouldn't be denied the opportunity to see the monument which will undoubtedly be erected in recognition of Metropolitan Edison's incredible foresight. Edison operates the busted reactor which forced the pregnant women to leave their jobs, and Edison refused to pay them for the work hours they missed while protecting their unborn children. Edison officials obviously realized their plant would become a national shrine to free radioactivity, and it would look dumb for them to pay some women to get out of a tourist attraction that other people would pay to get into.

Pennsylvania's secretary of commerce should also be concerned by the unfortunate fact that no one died violently as a result of the Three Mile leak. Blood spilled in trauma, no matter how dry, is always a good tourist attraction. People don't flock to Pearl Harbor for the coconuts. They don't crowd the shores of Normandy because fishing was good on D-Day. Le Thai Khuong recognized the tourist value of gore when, in 1973, he began promoting South Vietnam as a resort area. He predicted a time when tourism would mean an annual income of $100 million to his country, and he went after American tourists with a slick advertising campaign that featured this headline:

VIETNAM—YOU'VE HEARD ABOUT IT: NOW SEE IT

Clever. Certainly you've heard about Vietnam. Now you're urged to c'mon over and see where all your bombs dropped. See the rubble and shell holes where the peasants died. Watch the orphans scrounge in the garbage cans. Stand on the exact spot where the boy next door had his head blown off.

That's strong stuff. When it comes to luring tourists, the Vietnam war gave Khuong a lot of juicy material to huckster. So far, Bodine hasn't received nearly as much from the Three Mile leak.

Of course, some nuclear experts say it's possible the leaky reactor could cause people to develop cancer and die colorful deaths 30 years from now. That's encouraging for Three Mile Island's future as a tourist attraction, but it isn't going to sell any Leaky Core T-shirts today.

Holiday Inn wouldn't locate a franchise in Gettysburg on the hope a bloody Civil War battle might be fought there someday. Likewise, miniature bronze replicas of the Three Mile reactor can't be sold in 1980 on the basis of babies born dead or malformed in 2010. One element of tragedy is usually surprise. Unlike some other entertainment products, such as a baseball game, tragedy can't be merchandised until it happens. This is a problem James Bodine must lick if he hopes to get Three Mile Fantasy Island off the ground.

I don't know what to advise him. Perhaps Bodine could hire Le Thai Khuong to make the pitch outside the Three Mile tent. I don't know whether Khuong is still asking tourists to come to Vietnam to see what they've heard about. He may have been promoted to more worthwhile work, such as selling tickets to massacres.

Sweet tooth

The Crusaders returned to Europe in the eighth century with a substance that took almost a thousand years to become popular: sugar.

But sugar cane only grows in warm climates, so it remained a luxury even for the wealthy.

Once people discovered beet sugar (and beets could be grown throughout Europe), many countries rushed to grow it. Sugar beets ended their dependence on imported sugar cane.

The Haire Net

We're saving on electricity these days at our house. Hold the applause. We're not saving much and we're not sacrificing to do it. The way we are cutting down on the energy consumption is by turning off the television. The reason we are turning it off is that night after night there appears nothing on that we want to watch.

It's the chic thing, I know, to say that television is made for semi-idiot and there's nothing on worthy of the time it takes to see it.

There's snob appeal in being too intellectual for the boob tube. I never subscribed to it. Honest.

All I ask is to be entertained. And there were times in the past when a steady diet of TV for a Sunday afternoon and evening did just that.

But no more. What's the reason? Is it because television has slumped even more than its critics maintain? Really, I'd think that television is as good, as entertaining as it always has been.

What's happened at our house and I suspect at households all over the country is that we've become jaded.

What used to be entertaining is now boring. We've seen too many car, horse, boat and motorcycle chase scenes. Too many jiggle shows, too many sports shows, too many of whatever temporarily captures high viewer ratings. Take sports for example. As a fan I usually can get a kick out of them. Sunday, I turned off the Tigers and cut the grass. Cut the grass, for goodness sake.

You can blame part of it on the weather. I'm sure that I would have tuned in the pro basketball play-offs if there had been snow on the ground.

There's only about three shows that appear regularly on TV that I regret missing. One's "Barney Miller," another's "Rockford Files" and the third is "MASH."

While the entertainment shows have plopped the news shows have zoomed. TV seems to be doing a better and better job of bringing the news into our living rooms.

Most days at our house news viewing starts at 5:30 p.m. with Bill Bonds on Channel 7. Then it's Channel 5 from six to seven for local and national news. After that it's Channel 19 for the MacNeil-Lehrer news show. After that, zilch.

Maybe this is just a temporary lapse and when fall comes I'll be back to watching like I once did.

If so it will be a pleasant surprise. But I'm not counting on it.

It's more apt to be like it was this fall when most of the shows seemed like rehashes of the ones that had been cut the year before.

If so I can do what I do now. Check the TV programs to see if Humphry Bogart movies are being rerun.

I never get tired of them.

Sheriff unit okays contract

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners were informed Tuesday that Unit II of the Fraternal Order of Police has approved a three-year contract with the county.

The eight people in Unit II — four sergeants, lieutenant, two detectives and sheriff's secretary — approved the agreement 5-3.

The board is awaiting writing of formal contract language before voting on the pact, which will probably be done at its June 12 meeting.

A new three-year contract with the 31 deputies, license examiners, clerk-matrons, cooks and records clerk was approved in March.

The board approved higher home nursing fees for the Tuscola County Health Department. The new fees will be $45 per visit; physical therapy, $32, and speech therapy, $23.

County Extension Director Bill Bortel and Donald Keinath appeared before commissioners to discuss a possible new building for the extension office.

16-year-old injured when jumping out of pickup

Sixteen-year-old Terry Agar was released from Hills and Dales General Hospital Friday, where she had been since being injured Tuesday, May 15, when she jumped out of the bed of a moving pickup truck.

Cass City police reported the truck was southbound on Ale Street, north of Rose, at about 25 miles per hour when she jumped out. Driver of the truck was Sherree Jean Lapeer, 17, of 7681 Elmwood Road, Cass City.

The mishap took place at 3:50 p.m. The victim lives at 5965 Shabbona Road, Decker. William J. Sundek, 19, of Vassar, was released from St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw Monday, where he was taken after an accident Friday on M-46, east of Kingston. Sheriff's deputies report said he was eastbound when his vehicle went off the south side of the road. The truck hit a steel guard rail, rolled over twice and came to a halt right side up in White Creek. The vehicle traveled 300 feet after going off the road.

Sundek, who was ticketed for careless driving, was taken to Caro Community Hospital, then transferred to St. Mary's.

Clarence V. Palach, 30, of Ruth, sought his own treatment after an accident at 7 a.m. Monday.

According to deputies, Palach was westbound on Bay City-Forestville Road when his car was struck by the auto of Bill E. Zeidler, 32, of Huron Line Road, Cass City, who was northbound on Koepfgen.

Zeidler was cited on a charge of failure to yield.

Lloyd C. Hickie, 60, of Bevens Road, Deford, was ticketed by Caro State Police on a charge of failure to yield right of way after he backed into a Kingston school bus at 7:50 a.m. last Thursday.

Troopers reported he was backing from a driveway on Bevens, east of Cemetery Road, and backed into the eastbound bus, which was slowing to pick up passengers.

The bus driver was Laura Mae Wenzlaff, 39, of Phillips Road, Kingston.

Cass City police reported that at 4:05 p.m. last Thursday, Juliana M. Milligan, 37, of 4304 Huron Line Road, while backing from a space in the Walbro lot at Nestles and Church Streets, started turning too early. Her car hit the right rear of the car parked alongside, owned by Onalee Hopper of Cass City.

CAR-DEER

Marla Ann Dickinson, 24, of 1537 Clark Street, Snover, while eastbound on Bevens Road, west of Pierce Road, collided with a deer. Caro state police investigated the May 15 9:45 p.m. accident.

At 11:30 p.m. Friday, according to Cass City police, Karen Beth Ouvry, 23, of 4237 Maple Street, was westbound on M-81, east of Koepfgen Road, when her car struck a deer.

At 5:35 a.m. Monday, Bill Zeidler was southbound on Koepfgen Road, south of Muntz Road, when his car struck a deer. Cass City police investigated. Zeidler was involved in another accident 1½ hours later, described previously.

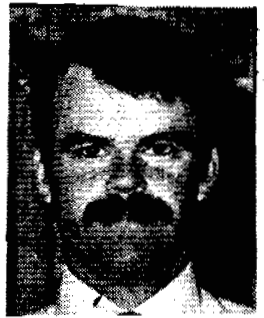

At 5:35 a.m. Saturday, deputies investigated an accident on Dodge Road, south of Bay City-Forestville. They said Gary E. Jeffrey, 40, of 4561 Maxwell Road, Cass City, was southbound when his car struck a deer.

At 8:35 p.m. Saturday, according to deputies, Linda Kay Collins, 28, of Caro, was westbound on Deckerville Road, east of Hurds Corner Road, when her vehicle struck a deer.

PEDALING AROUND

Bedspreads and turtles

By Mike Eliasohn

I'm not sure if the high point of my week end was the House of Bedspreads or the turtle. Maybe it was both.

My boss tells me I'm a lousy salesman and I don't disagree. Even 10 years ago, if I had been selling cars, I would have been trying to talk would-be customers out of large cars into small ones, even though there was more money to be made on large ones.

Probably the only thing I would be good at selling is bicycles.

Bicycles were the reason I was in Detroit Saturday. It was the day for the annual Belle Isle Marathon, one of the nation's largest bicycle events. The opportunity to pedal around (part of) Detroit's island park (five miles per lap) for as long as 24 hours attracts about 5,000 cyclists each year, most of whom don't last 24 hours.

"Hold it!" you say. The fellow who last week was complaining in the Chronicle about Americans driving too much drove to Detroit to ride his bicycle.

Well, I didn't say people should stay home every week end. What I object to is being gone every or almost every week end, too much other non-essential driving — "recreational driving" for lack of a better term.

I might add some of my fellow cyclists are among the biggest hypocrites. It's possible to take part in organized cycling events, like the one at Belle Isle, almost every week end during the warm months.

Some cyclists will tell you more Americans should ride bicycles — no gasoline consumed, no air polluted — then come the week end and they're off to some place 100 miles away to go ride their bike.

Belle Isle is the one event on my "don't miss" list so Friday night, I was on my way to Southfield (a Detroit suburb) to spend the night with my aunt and uncle. Somehow, I ended up on Woodward Ave. going through Birmingham and there I saw it, the House of Bedspreads.

It was not a hole-in-the-wall store. At a minimum, I would guess from driving by, it was half the size of the new Albee's store.

I have yet to figure out how Irv Nussbaum of New York Carpet World manages to sell all the carpet he does but all that television and newspaper advertising, obviously pays off.

How many people are there, I ask myself whenever I see one of his commercials, who need carpeting? If Irv Nussbaum had ever stopped to ask himself that question, he would still be working in a single hole-in-the-wall store.

How much of a market is there — even in the Detroit area — for a store that sells only bedspreads (plus, I assume sheets, pillows, etc.)? Probably the owner of the House of Bedspreads didn't stop to ask himself such a question.

The highlight of my day, Saturday at Belle Isle was escorting a turtle across the road. (I carried him part way.) Without the escort, I was afraid he (is a turtle a he?) might get run over by a speeding bicyclist, which would do neither him nor the cyclist any good.

I pedaled 30 miles at Belle Isle — not that much — but why are my knees so sore?

After that, it was on to Lansing to see my father. We went out to dinner in his car. Unfortunately, he had misplaced his set of keys the day before and could only find an ignition key.

When we got to the restaurant, we locked the car. When we got out of the restaurant, we recalled the hard way that the ignition key, unlike for most cars, does not also unlock the doors.

Fortunately, the restaurant was only about 1½ miles from my father's house, so it only took about half an hour to walk home.

My father later found his keys. I couldn't get mad at him for absent mindedly misplacing them.

When at Belle Isle, I changed from my regular shoes to my special cycling shoes. I apparently left the regular shoes on the grass where I had changed, because when I got to Lansing (having driven there in my cycling shoes) — no regular shoes.

Walbro sessions in Europe called success

"Closer interfacing of our world-wide carburetor sales, engineering, and production capabilities was a primary objective of an extended series of successful meetings we had in Europe," reported Howard A. Bacon, Executive Vice-president, Walbro Corporation upon his recent return to corporate headquarters in Cass City.

Other Walbro executives attending the meetings in Germany, Sweden, and France were: Robert H. Walpole, senior vice-president, Carburetor Group; Hiroto Kobayashi, president, Walbro Far East, Inc.; and John W. Underwood, managing director, Walbro GmbH, West Germany.

A second important objective of the trip, which extended over 16 days said Bacon, was to introduce Kobayashi and officially tender the Walbro Far East Engineering Service to European chain saw manufacturers and other current or prospective customers for Walbro carburetors. "Our overall goal is to constantly improve our product through new design and materials which result in greater product quality. The interchangeability of production sources to assure customers of continuity, of delivery on schedule, is another major aspect of our goal," said Bacon.

According to Robert Walpole, the series of sessions began at Walbro GmbH with a quarterly review of sales and production planning as a prelude to continuing evaluation of engineering and service assistance programs developed to serve Walbro chain saw customers. These customers, he said, included: Stihl, Solo, and Electrolux's group of Hus-varna, Jonsereds and AB Partner.

Actual meetings were held in Stuttgart and Hamburg, West Germany, Gothenburg and Husqvarna, Sweden, and Paris, France. The latter meetings were in conjunction with attendance at S.I.M.A. Exposition.

There were also several side trips, added Walpole, to look into new advances in technology that might well be incorporated into the Walbro manufacturing operations.

Walbro Corporation is the world's leading producer of carburetors for small engines. In addition to headquarters and production facilities here and the operations at Walbro GmbH, the Corporation also supplies and/or services carburetor customers through Walbro de Mexico, Nogales, Mexico, Walbro Far East, Kawasaki City, Japan, and Walbro Singapore Pte. Ltd., Republic of Singapore.

No PBB in ex-Kingston landfill

EX-LANDFILL -- A building erected by the owner of the ex-Kingston landfill, Roger Clement, is all that is there now. The covered over trash, he said, is to the south and southwest of the building, which isn't being used at present.

By Mike Eliasohn

There is no PBB buried in the former Kingston Village landfill.

The possibility that there was reported last November in a discovery document Farm Bureau Services was required to file as part of legal proceedings in a suit brought against it and Michigan Chemical Co. by state Attorney General Frank Kelley. The suit seeks more than $100 million in damages because of the PBB contamination statewide.

The document listed 314 sites where PBB or PBB-contaminated feed had been buried. Only three sites were unknown to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR), one of which was the former Kingston landfill.

Located on Cemetery Road, about .3 mile north of M-46, the dump was closed in 1974.

According to the discovery document, 31 or 34 50-pound bags of possibly contaminated feed were buried there. The DNR sent an inspector to the site in November. After he discovered the one building there had no running water and there is no stream running through the property, testing for possible contamination was moved far down on the agency's priority list.

The present owner of the property, Roger Clement, who lives close by, is interested in installing a mobile home and well on the property, but doesn't want to do so if the well water would be contaminated.

Clement bought the 10 acres of land from the village on sealed bid for $1,000 after the landfill was closed. He installed a metal building there, which he used to fix up cars for his used car business. It was later rented out for use as a body shop, but presently is unused.

AT THE REQUEST OF the Chronicle, Farm Bureau Services and its attorney for the PBB cases, Kenneth McIntyre, traced the document from which disposal of the PBB-contaminated feed in the Kingston landfill was attributed.

According to McIntyre, the document showed the Michigan Department of Agriculture (MDA) on Aug. 5, 1974 took samples from five of 34 50-lb. bags of Aureomycin crumbles, a medication for cattle, at Kingston Farm Service.

The samples were lumped together and test results came back positive, two parts per million of PBB, which was higher than the legal limit, the attorney said. Kingston Farm Service owner Richard Walker was ordered to get rid of all 34 bags.

According to McIntyre, the Aureomycin was sold by American Cyanamid, which had contracted with Farm Bureau Services to mix the crumbles. The mixing was done at the Battle Creek plant in the same machinery where animal feed was accidentally mixed with PBB, the cause of the massive problems in Michigan. The machinery was still contaminated with PBB, which caused the contamination of the Aureomycin.

THE MDA APPARENTLY obtained a list of all outlets selling the medication, in order to track down all sources of PBB, which led to Kingston Farm Service.

Walker had to sign a document that he would dispose of the crumbles at an approved landfill, located near Otisville.

He signed the document a second time, McIntyre said, after he disposed of the Aureomycin, but it was only stated that it had been dumped at "the landfill."

Apparently, whoever prepared the discovery document somehow attributed the disposal to the Kingston landfill.

Walker told the Chronicle he disposed of all the bags at Otisville.

EVEN THOUGH THERE is no PBB at Kingston, that doesn't end potential problems for Clement if he wants to sink a well there.

Jack Bails, chief of the DNR environmental enforcement division, said even if PBB was there, it's likely more toxic materials were dumped there over the years, such as leftover farm chemicals.

According to Clement, the owner, the landfill used less than one acre of the 10-acre site and that a sandy knoll at the rear might be suitable for a dwelling and well.

Edward L. Kimbrue, chief sanitarian for the Tuscola County Health Department, said any well would have to be a specified minimum distance from the actual landfill, probably at least 50 feet. Tests will have to be performed once the well is drilled and before the water is consumed to make sure it isn't contaminated.

Based on well drilling records for the area, there probably is a heavy layer of clay under the former dump, this reducing the danger of contamination seeping into the ground water.

Kimbrue also said care will have to be taken to guard against methane gas from the decaying garbage being tapped when the well is drilled.

NOVESTA TOWNSHIP JUNK AND DISMANTLED CAR ORDINANCE

NOVESTA TOWNSHIP JUNK AND DISMANTLED CAR ORDINANCE
Adopted Mar. 8, 1969
Effective April 22, 1969

An ordinance to secure the public health, peace, safety and welfare of the residents and property owners of the Township of Novesta, Tuscola County, Michigan, by the regulation of the outdoor parking and storage of motor vehicles, tractor-trailers, house trailers and new or used parts or junk therefrom, within the Township of Novesta; to provide for the licensing and regulation of junkyards and places for dismantling, wrecking, and disposing of automobiles and other vehicles; to establish annual license fees and to repeal any ordinance or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith.

The Township of Novesta, Tuscola County, Michigan, Ordains:

Section 1 - Name. This ordinance shall be known as cited as The Novesta Township Junk and Dismantled Car Ordinance.

Section 2 - Purpose. The purpose of this ordinance is to limit and restrict the outdoor storage, parking or unreasonable accumulation of junk, unused, partially dismantled or inoperable motor vehicles, house trailers, tractor-trailers, machinery, or new or used parts thereof, within the Township of Novesta; to thereby avoid injury and hazards to children and others attracted to such junk, vehicles, or trailers, the devaluation of property values, and the psychological effect of the presence of such vehicles, junk or trailers upon adjoining residents and property owners; and to control and contain the businesses of buying, selling, and/or salvaging junk, and dismantling, wrecking, and disposing of the junk and/or refuse material of automobiles and

Section 6 - Any parking, storage, placement or operation in violation of the provisions of this ordinance are hereby declared to be a public nuisance which may be enjoined or which may subject the violator to civil damages and the fines and penalties herein provided for. Any person, firm or corporation who violates any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $100.00, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a period not to exceed 90 days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Each day that a violation continues to exist shall constitute a separate offense. In addition to the imposition of the foregoing fines and penalties any township police officer, or such other officer as the township board may designate, may cause any vehicle, trailer, or parts thereof, which violate the provisions of this ordinance to be removed from the premises, impounded and destroyed or sold for junk at the discretion of said officer and the costs thereof assessed against the owner of such vehicle, trailer or parts thereof, or of the premises on which the same are located. Any sums realized on the sale of the same may be retained by the township to reimburse it for the costs incurred in such removal and sale to the extent of such costs. Any balance of such sums remaining after such reimbursement shall be returned to the owner of such vehicle, trailer or parts thereof.

Soil Steward Week slated

Soil Stewardship Week, which had its origins more than 1,500 years ago, will be celebrated in the Tuscola Soil Conservation District and throughout the United States May 20-27, according to district chairman John Findlay.

Theme for the 1979 celebration is "Interdependence," a concept endorsed by President Carter in his foreword to the descriptive Soil Stewardship Week booklet.

The booklet and accompanying Soil Stewardship Week material is distributed by conservation districts to clergymen, lay leaders, civic and educational organizations and individuals interested in participating in the unique celebration.

The concept of Soil Stewardship had its origins in the special Rogation Days set aside by the Bishop of Vienne, France, following bad weather and earthquakes that brought crop failures and widespread hunger to much of France some 1,500 years ago.

The bishop called upon the people to offer prayers and penance, and to offer humble thanks to their creator "for the priceless gifts of soil, water, air and sunshine which make all living things possible."

While we are not faced with the immediate prospect of famine or hunger in the United States today, the reasons for Soil Stewardship commemorative activities hasn't changed very much, the sponsors believe.

"We still need to pause each year to express our thanks for the natural resources of soil, water and air which nurture our people and provide us with daily food and fiber necessary to carry on our daily existence," Findlay said.

Soil Stewardship Week has been sponsored in the United States since 1955 by the National Association of Conservation Districts, in cooperation with the nation's nearly 3,000 conservation districts.

WINNING his sixth game of the season Monday in the 4-1 win over Port Hope was Bulldog Pete Klemkowsky. Catching was Mark McDonald.

A-F sweeps league meet, Owen-Gage boys take 2nd

Led by Jeff Hallock, who took three individual first places and was a member of the winning 880 yard relay team, the Owen-Gage boys took second place in the North Central D League meet last Wednesday.

The Bulldog girls finished seventh.

The meet was held at Akron-Fairgrove.

Akron-Fairgrove was the winner of both the boys' and girls' portions of the meet.

Point totals for the boys were: A-F, 150; O-G, 124; Peck, 64; Kingston, 63; Carsonville-Port Sanilac, 36; Caseville, 25½; Port Austin, 19; North Huron, 12½, and Port Hope, 0.

Events in which the Bulldog boys placed were:

Hallock male athlete of Huron meet for 2nd year

Owen-Gage junior Jeff Hallock was named "male athlete of the meet" for the second straight year at Monday's Invitational Meet of Champions at Bad Axe High School.

The speedster won first place in the long jump, 20'9¼"; 100-yard dash, 10.26 seconds; 220-yard dash, 22.94, and was on the winning 880-yard relay team, along with Brad Erickson and Dick and Jim Glidden. Their time was 1:34.7.

Owen-Gage took fourth in the meet for school districts all or partly in Huron county with 18 medals.

Other Bulldogs who finished in the top six were: Jim Patnaude, 5th, pole vault; Pete Klemkowsky, 3rd, and Mark McDonald, 2nd, discus; McDonald, 2nd, shot put; Kirk Carolan, 3rd, high hurdles; Erickson, 4th, low hurdles; Dick Glidden, 6th, 220-yard dash. The team took second in the mile relay and third in the 440-yard relay.

The Bulldogs' only placings in the girls' events were Carol Goslin, sixth in the shot put, and Mary Kay Burrows, fourth in the 110-yard hurdles.

REGIONALS

In the Class D regional meet Saturday at Caro, Hallock took sixth in the 100-yard dash, fifth in the long jump and fourth in the 220-yard run.

Owen-Gage came in fifth in the 880-yard relay and fourth in the 440-yard relay. Fifth place in the shot put went to Mark McDonald.

Mary Kay Burrows was the only Bulldog to place in girls' events, taking fifth in the 110-yard low hurdles.

Babe Ruth tryouts set

May 29-30

Coach Ray Piskowski announces that Babe Ruth tryouts will be Tuesday and Wednesday, May 29-30, at 6 p.m. for boys 13-15 years of age.

Boys who cannot attend these practices should contact Piskowski or Coach Phil Robinson as soon as possible.

All tryouts will be on the Cass City Babe Ruth diamond. Boys should bring their practice equipment.

Set new art show format

The third annual Cass City Elementary Art Show has a new format this year.

Previously, all the art by elementary students was exhibited at Campbell Elementary.

This year, only art from students in that building and the intermediate building, grades 2-6, will be exhibited at Campbell. Hours will be from 6-8:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 29, and 9 a.m.-3 p.m. the following day.

Deford Elementary youngsters will have their art projects on display in their school Thursday, May 31, from 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

The showing by Evergreen Elementary youngsters will be there Tuesday, June 5, from 2-3 p.m. Coordinator for the art shows is elementary art teacher Trudy Muszynski.

North Central D baseball

Bulldogs clinch share of crown with 4 victories

Owen-Gage clinched at least a share of the North Central D League baseball crown Monday afternoon with two wins over Port Hope, 4-1 and 11-1.

Phil Gray's squad finished the regular season with a 14-2 mark in the league and 17-5 overall.

The only team left with a chance to share part of the league crown is Carsonville-Port Sanilac, which has also lost two games but after Monday, still had five league games to play.

Winning pitcher at Owen-Gage Monday in the 4-1 first game was Pete Klemkowsky, who struck out 12 in the contest. He walked five and gave up one hit.

Losing pitcher was Mark Fastenau, relieved after four innings by Ron Watts. They combined for nine strikeouts, six hits and four walks.

Mark McDonald led the Owen-Gage batters with a two-run homer. Doug Laurie hit two singles.

The Bulldogs had an easy 11-1 win in the second game, thanks partially to poor Bluestar pitching, which gave up seven walks, and poor fielding, resulting in seven errors.

The game ended after five innings because of the 10-run mercy rule.

Winning pitcher was Dick Glidden, who was relieved for the final inning by Randy Radabaugh. They gave up two hits, six walks and struck out 10.

Todd Schuett, the losing pitcher, was relieved by Watts, who was relieved by Neal Emerick. In addition to the seven walks, they gave up five hits and struck out two.

Jim Hendershot and Kirk Carolan each hit a double for the winners.

Owen-Gage plays Friday in a pre-district game at Port Austin against the winner of the Port Austin-Caseville qualifier played Tuesday. A win Friday puts the Bulldogs in the districts June 1 at Peck.

PORT AUSTIN

The Bulldogs climbed to 12-2 in the league in baseball with two wins at Port Austin last Thursday.

Pete Klemkowsky was winning pitcher in the 10-1 first game. He was relieved after 4 1-3 innings by Jim Kuhr. They combined to give up four hits, five strikeouts and one walk and struck out five.

Ten Bulldogs had hits, led by Jim Hendershot and Doug Laurie, each with a double.

Losing pitcher was Don Reinke, who struck out 10 and gave up nine hits and six walks.

Owen-Gage won the second game, 14-0.

Klemkowsky was again the winning pitcher, being relieved after five innings by Randy Radabaugh. They combined for six strikeouts, five hits and four walks.

The Bulldogs were ahead only 2-0 when Klemkowsky clobbered a grand slam home run. Kuhr, Alan Haag and Kirk Carolan each had two singles.

Losing pitcher was Bill Marentette, who was relieved after 4 2-3 innings by Eddie Knoblock. They combined for five hits, seven strikeouts and three walks.

Clinch share of title

Owen-Gage girls still dominate

The Owen-Gage girls' softball team won its fourth consecutive North Central D League crown Monday with two wins over Port Hope.

The squad finishes the regular season with a 14-2 mark in the league and 17-3 overall.

It may have to share the league title with Caseville, which had also lost two games, but as of Tuesday, Bulldog coach Judy Campbell didn't know if the Eagles had finished their regular season schedule.

Host Owen-Gage won the first game Monday, 14-3. Winning pitcher was Dana Laurie, who gave up three hits, two walks and struck out six.

The Bulldogs got 13 hits off losing pitcher Diane McTaggart, who didn't issue any walks or strike out any batters.

Leading hitters for the victors were Julie Andrakowicz, single and a home run; Laurie Andrakowicz, single and a double, and Tammy Kain and Heidi Rockefeller, both with two singles.

Howard was winning pitcher in the 12-9 second game win. Laurie Andrakowicz and Tammy Kain also pitched. They combined to issue three hits, eight walks and strike out seven. McTaggart was again the losing pitcher, with eight hits, three strikeouts and no walks.

Jan Rapson hit two singles for the victors. Howard had a single and a double.

The Gagetown field is the site for both the pre-districts and districts. The Bulldogs play Port Austin there Friday at 4 p.m.

District play is Friday, June 1, starting at noon.

PORT AUSTIN

Bulldog batters went on a hitting spree in softball at Port Austin last Thursday, garnering 27 hits in the two games and winning the first, 17-0 and the nightcap, 25-11.

Winning pitcher in the first game was Tammy Kain, who took over for Dana Laurie after the first inning. They combined for two strikeouts, 10 walks and one hit.

Julie Andrakowicz hit two singles and a double, Laurie Andrakowicz, a single and a double, and Becky Howard, two singles.

Losing pitcher for the Pirates in both games was

Bowling

The Bad Axe Women's Bowling Association annual spring meeting will be Wednesday, May 30, at 8 p.m.

It will be held at the Thumb Electric Co-op building on Main Street in Uby.

The agenda will include adopting the bylaws, reviewing old and new business and handing out awards for the association and Champions of Champions Tournaments.

Cass City cops tourney qualifier over Sandusky

Cass City qualified for pre-district competition Friday against Mayville with a 5-0 win over Sandusky in last Friday's qualifying round at Cass City.

The Hawks won it with a big five-run rally in the third inning and the three-hit shut-out pitching of Earney Stoutenburg.

The Hawks bunched five of their seven hits in the big third inning outburst. Key blow was a three-run triple by Ken Martin.

Todd Alexander was the only sticker with more than one hit. He collected a single and a double in four attempts.

Meanwhile Stoutenburg was nearly flawless on the mound. He gave up three harmless singles and walked one in the six innings.

CARO GAMES

The Hawks warmed up for the tourney with a double win over Caro Tuesday, May 15.

In the opener Stoutenburg hurled a four-hitter and coasted to victory behind a 12-hit attack by his mates, 8-2. It was a tight 1-1 ball game until the fifth when the Hawks batted around to score five times and salt the game away. The rally was paced by Tony Doerr who cracked a double to chase home two runners. Alexander showed the way with three hits from his lead-off spot. Martin chipped in two.

Stoutenburg walked four and struck out six while going the distance.

Even more impressive on the mound for Cass City was Tim Severance. He shut out the Tigers in the nightcap on two hits, 10-0, in a game called after five innings by the 10-run rule.

In the five innings, Severance recorded nine strike outs.

Tim Johnson showed the way at the plate with three hits in four tries and three runs batted in.

There wasn't much to the game after the Hawks scored six times in the second and added four more in the third.

6 teams enter softball tourney

The Osentoski Realty and Auctioneering softball team is sponsoring a Memorial Day week end fast pitch softball tourney in the Cass City park.

Teams entered are: Reese IGA; Munger Merchants; Raymond's Sport and Peterson Auto, Saginaw; Markee Electric, Mary Williams and Misty Lounge, Flint; Bay City Towing and Spinning Wheel, Bay City, and two local teams, Hillaker's Auctioneering and Osentoski Realty and Auctioneering.

Games will start at 7:30 Friday night and run through Sunday with the championship game around 5 p.m. Sunday.

Richards named co-athlete of Thumb B league meet

Although Cass City finished sixth in the Thumb B Conference meet and fifth in final league standings, the Hawks can take pride in the individual achievements of Steve Richards.

Richards won the 880 in 2:01.25, set a new record in the mile of 4:32.9 and ran a leg of the winning mile relay team. Running with Richards on the team were Tim Sontag, Rusty Hoag and Bob Sawdon.

For his efforts, Richards was named co-boy athlete of the meet with Tom Wolohan of Frankenmuth.

The league meet and the league crown were won by the Caro Tigers with 134.78 points. The league meet champion girls' team was Vassar but the regular season efforts resulted in a three-way tie for the championship with Marlette and Frankenmuth.

The boys' final standings and point totals were: Caro, 134.78; Marlette, 73.56; Frankenmuth, 69; Vassar, 58.84; Bad Axe, 55; Cass City, 48.84; Lakers, 44.78, and Sandusky, 12.

In the regular season the final dual meet standings were: Caro, 7-0; Marlette, 6-1; Frankenmuth, 5-2; Vassar, 4-3; Cass City, 3-4; Bad Axe, 2-5; Lakers, 1-6, and Sandusky, 0-7.

Conference meet results for the girls were: Vassar, 108; Marlette, 86; Frankenmuth, 85½; Caro, 71; Sandusky, 49; Cass City, 36; Bad Axe, 17½, and Lakers, 12.

The winners and the times-distance of the boys' meet were:

Discus - Stoddard, Caro, 139'3".

120 high hurdles - Brown, Marlette, :15.94.

100-yard dash - Tom Wolohan, F., :10.51.

Mile run - Richards, CC, 4:32.9; Hobart, CC, 4th.

Long jump - Tom Wolohan, F., 21'3".

880-yard relay - Bad Axe, 1:35.73; CC, 6th.

440 run - Smith, Lakers, :51.31; Hoag, CC, 3rd; Sawdon, CC, 4th.

Pole vault - DePelsmaek, V., 12'6"; Decker, CC, tied for 6th.

440 relay - Frankenmuth, :48.82; CC, 6th.

Community booster

Used parts, towing

Over 30 years for Bartniks

Editor's note: this is one of a series sponsored by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce about community boosters who are members of the organization.

automotive and new and used farm machinery parts. The Bartniks came to the Cass City area from Detroit in 1932 and attended school at Shabbona.

Both are members of the St. Pancratius Catholic church where they serve as ushers. Cas is 4th degree member of Knights of Columbus in Bad Axe and the American Legion.

Henry and his wife, Helen, have four children: Gloria at Caro; Christine in Florida, and David and Gerald, at home.

Cas and his wife, Josephine, have a son, John, who works in construction in Saginaw.

Bartnik Sales and Service has been a fixture at the corner of M-53 and M-81 for more than 30 years. The business was started by Stanley Bartnik in 1948.

Now under the operation of Henry who joined in 1948 and Cas who entered in 1950, the business has offered a variety of services since it started.

Now the principal business is wrecker service, salvage and sales of used

At 5:25 a.m. May 16, Cass City police arrested Dennis A. Wright, 22, of 4235 Doerr Road, on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor. His car was stopped on Garfield Street, close to Doerr.

He was later released from the county jail on $1,000 personal recognizance bond, pending appearance in district court.

Preschool program

Head Start to begin here

A new pre-school Head Start program is being planned for Cass City area youngsters.

The aim, according to coordinator Carol Dorman, is to have the program in operation by September and run it in conjunction with the school calendar. Applications are now being accepted.

The federally funded program, free for participants, will be run by North East Michigan Community Services of Alpena, which has been running Head Start programs in Bad Axe, Port Hope, Marlette, Sandusky and Lapeer for several years.

It will be open to 3, 4 and 5-year-olds from low income, single parent or foster care families and those with speech problems. Three-year-olds must be 4 by Dec. 1.

The aim of Head Start, Mrs. Dorman explained, is to help prepare disadvantaged youngsters by eliminating any "stumbling block that would hold them back in kindergarten."

A teacher and aide will be employed for each session of 15 children. There will probably be a single morning and single afternoon session, five days per week. Youngsters in both will get lunch. Transportation is provided. Activities will include language skills, music, art, motor skills (coordination), field trips, socializing and planned playtime.

Parents will be encouraged to get involved by volunteering to work in the classroom, help with field trips and by attending meetings.

The hope is to rent a classroom from the Cass City schools for the program, according to Mrs. Dorman. Supt. Donald Crouse is now investigating that possibility.

Parents or guardians interested in enrolling their youngsters can call or write: Carol Dorman, 1811 Decker Road, Decker 48426, telephone (313) 672-9501.

Two thefts reported Saturday in Gagetown

Gagetown was the scene of two thefts reported to sheriff's deputies Saturday morning.

The first, discovered at 7:30, occurred at Donna's Restaurant on State Street. Entry was gained to the building by cutting a hole in a rear window, then reaching in and unlocking the door.

Owner Donna Salcido told officers $95 was missing from a cash drawer and $15 from a jar.

The break-in occurred some time after 12:36 that morning, when the building was locked. Some juvenile suspects were to be questioned by officers.

At 10:30 a.m. Saturday, William Robertshaw of 6625 Third Street reported to deputies that his car and van had been entered. Taken were a $430 Amana radar oven and a hunting bow and six arrows, valued at $78.

Cass City police were called at 6:30 a.m. last

Break-in of the office, done by prying open the door, took place between 5:45 a.m. when the laundry was opened and 6:15.

Reported taken were two old watches; cup of bent coins, valued at an estimated $7.50; jar of pennies, estimated $4; 27 rolls of pennies, $13.50; Canadian coins, $12.50; calculator, and $35 in mixed change.

Police were seeking two subjects for questioning who were seen in the laundry after it opened.

Rita Gutierrez of 4510 Leach Street told village police Friday night that while her car was parked in the Cass City State Bank lot from 11-11:50 p.m., someone smashed its sun roof. Loss was estimated at $90.

Mrs. Norman Pike of Fairgrove told the sheriff's department Monday morning that while her car was parked in Cass City, its four wheel covers were removed. They were valued at $100.

Early Tuesday, Cass City police arrested Wilfredo M. Rodriguez, 21, on warrants from Detroit police for violation of probation and a traffic violation. The ex-Detroit had been living in the Cass City Hotel (Colonial Inn). He was taken to the county jail, to await pick up by Detroit police.

Card of Thanks

IN MEMORY of our mother, Elizabeth Springstead: Three years ago you left us. But you are in our thoughts each day. Regnerus family. 13-5-24-1

WE THANK God for the many angels without wings that He sent to help us while we were ill. We also thank Rev. Hatch for calls and prayers, our church friends for their prayers, gifts, cards and kind deeds. And Rev. Lockard and his prayer group for their intercessory prayers on our behalf. Special thanks too go to our wonderful neighbors, friends and relatives for many kind deeds. They were so appreciated. We extend thanks to Dr. Donahue, Dr. MacRae and Dr. Isterabadi, nurses aides and all the hospital personnel. We know that Alton would not have had such a miraculous recovery without the help and prayers of so many concerned people. May God bless all of you. Mr. and Mrs. Alton Mark. 13-5-24-1

Circuit court jury finds Cullen innocent

A Tuscola County Circuit Court jury last Wednesday found Craig M. Cullen, 19, of Flint, innocent of malicious destruction of personal property and assault on a police officer.

He had been charged in connection with a Nov. 25 incident involving Unionville police officer William Owens, in which a radio antenna was broken off the officer's patrol car.

Circuit Judge Norman A. Baguley presided over the two-day trial.

Monday before Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements, Roy A. Barnard, 33, of 2095 Barnes Road, Fostoria, stood mute to a charge of negligent homicide.

A plea of innocent was entered and a pretrial hearing scheduled June 4. Bond was continued.

Barnard is charged in connection with the March 18 death of 11-month-old John Freese of Otter Lake, who was run over by Barnard's pickup in a driveway off Goodrich Road, east of Millington.

DISTRICT COURT

Randal D. Ramsey, 18, of 6764 Main Street, Cass City, was sentenced Monday by Judge Richard F. Kern for four days in the county jail for larceny under $100.

He was fined $147, assessed $103 court costs and ordered to pay $40 restitution. He was placed on probation until the fines and costs are paid.

Ramsey pleaded guilty to the charge May 4, in connection with the breaking open of a game machine coin box in the Charmont, Cass City, April 13.

Jon F. Lenhard, 22, of Gagetown, pleaded guilty Monday to entry without breaking. His plea was accepted.

He was placed on probation, with permission given to leave the county. He was released from the county jail Tuesday.

Lenhard was arrested by sheriff's deputies inside St. Agatha's School in Gagetown Saturday night. He was found resting on a cot.

DOUBLE TROUBLE — Elkland township firemen were called to the Cass City landfill south of town twice, the first time at 12:17 p.m. Saturday, the second at 2 a.m. Monday, when this photo was taken. Origin of both fires was undetermined. Firemen were there about two hours the first time; about an hour the second.

Ruth Smith set to retire

1953 in Shabbona, it being a consolidation of all the one-room school districts in the township (Shabbona, With-ey, Chambers, Sandfly, Leslie, McHugh and Hay Creek).

In turn, Evergreen became part of the Cass City district in the mid-1960s.

Its being part of a larger school district, yet being in a relatively isolated area gives it the best of both worlds, Mrs. Smith feels.

There are the visiting teachers for reading, music, physical education and art, plus the students are bused to Cass City when there are special programs for elementary youngsters.

She also feels the children benefit from the rural environment. That isolated setting may have once set such country kids apart from in-town children, but she feels that is no longer true.

Such influences as travel and television have largely wiped out any differences.

THERE HAVE BEEN changes in youngsters since her earlier teaching days even with kindergartners. Children are being brought up to make more of their own decisions, which means they won't automatically accept everything they are told.

"I think they question more because they do make their decisions," Mrs. Smith said, "which isn't all bad."

The veteran educator is looking forward to retirement, to traveling and such hobbies as reading, stencil painting, gardening, embroidery and bicycle riding, but knows she will also be looking back.

"I want to be away the first day (of school in September) when the school bus goes by," she said. "There's nothing that can compare when you're molding lives. It's really something."

Family and Evergreen parents are holding an open house at Evergreen Sunday, June 17, for Mrs. Smith from 2-5 p.m. She requests that no gifts be brought.

Your Neighbor says

Keep gas stations open on weekends

Ernie J. Hewitt isn't too worried about there being enough gasoline.

He is concerned about the cost and whether it will be available on week ends.

He feels the price of gas is keyed to those who make $8-9-10 an hour, not to those who make less, and that the government should do something for those who make "working class" wages.

He is afraid that once the price of gasoline peaks, the government will impose wage and price freeze to halt inflation, thus making it even more difficult to afford the fuel.

He is strongly opposed to closing gas stations on week ends as a conservation measure.

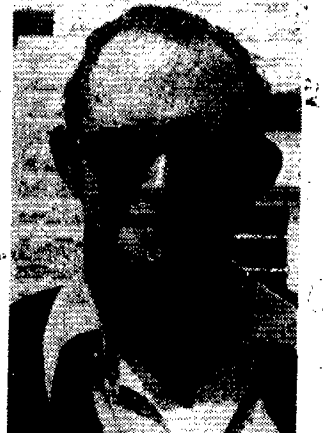

"People have to have a release from work. To say we have to have gas only for work is not enough. If we take away all recreation, crime and much more trouble will increase because of the lack of balance to life."

Hewitt is in better shape than many if fuel supplies are limited. He drives a Volkswagen Rabbit diesel on his 40-mile per day round trips to and from work at Snover Stamping, where he is a tool and die maker.

The car, which he got three months ago, gets 50-55 miles per gallon. Prior to that, he had been driving a 10 mpg van, which is now used only for week-end recreation. Fishing is a favorite activity.

He and his wife, Freda (DeeDee), a registered nurse at Hills and Dales General Hospital, live at 4534 Downing Street, Cass City. They have a son, Alfred, 8 months.

"Goslin" property transfer

Appeals court to hear Owen-Gage case

The Owendale-Gagetown School District won an important preliminary legal round last week when the state Court of Appeals agreed to hear arguments in the Goslin case concerning the controversial 10 percent rule concerning property transfers.

On another matter, a scheduled meeting in Lansing Friday afternoon to discuss the state Department of Education's cutoff of state aid to the district was cancelled.

Supt. Ronald Erickson said the district may have to go to court to reclaim the aid.

The appeals court decision follows Ingham County Circuit Judge James T. Kallman's ruling in February that reversed the state Board of Education's 1976 transfer of the Goslin property from Owen-Gage to the Cass City School District.

The attorney for the state board, Assistant Attorney General Charles Keeley, appealed, claiming that the Michigan Supreme Court more than a year ago had already approved the transfer.

But early last week, the appeals court said the state's highest court had only made a procedural ruling and did not address the major issue in the transfer.

That issue is interpretation of the state law that says if more than 10 percent of a school district is to be transferred to another district, it must be approved by vote of the public.

Owen-Gage and its supporters have always contended that once more than 10 percent of the original district has been transferred, a public vote must be held for each subsequent transfer request. That would mean a referendum is required for the Goslin transfer.

Attorneys for the other side argue that a public vote is required only if each individual transfer request is more than 10 percent of the district at the time the request is made.

Erickson said the appeals court has not set a date to hear arguments in the Goslin case.

STATE AID

The Goslin issue affects the cutoff of state aid.

The Department of Education halted state aid April 1 because Owen-Gage had yet to submit what the state considered "a balanced budget for 1978-79."

Erickson and Owen-Gage School Board members were scheduled to meet in Lansing Friday with Robert Hornberger, director of department services for the Department of Education, to discuss the situation. The state official later cancelled the meeting.

Hornberger told the Chronicle Monday that despite two requests to do so, Owen-Gage has yet to submit a proper budget, thus there was nothing to be gained by the meeting.

The supposedly balanced budget approved by the Owen-Gage board last October was rejected by Hornberger in January.

He said three revenue figures were questionable, plus the district later claimed in court (in a law suit concerning the 1978 Goslin school taxes) that it did not have enough money to finish the school year without the revenue from the parcel.

In February, the board added $50,000 to the amount budgeted for legal fees without, according to Hornberger, showing reductions in expenditures elsewhere.

He said the overestimated revenues, combined with the $50,000 added for attorney fees, works out to a $77,000 deficit.

"I figure we're in the black by $22,000," countered Erickson in comments to the Chronicle. "He (Hornberger) maintains we don't have Goslin and I maintain we do. I'm getting tired of submitting budgets."

According to the budget of last October, inclusion of the Goslin parcel in Owen-Gage would mean an additional $95,000 in revenue.

As for what Owen-Gage will do to reclaim the state aid - $55,750 according to the budget, of which it has received about two-thirds prior to the cutoff - the superintendent commented, "I suppose we'll have to go to court again."

He suggested the cutoff of state aid was part of the state board's "overall strategy" of forcing Owen-Gage to continually have to defend itself in court, which then puts it in a financial bind paying attorney fees, which gives the state board an excuse to try to do away with the district.

TAX RULING

A Michigan Tax Tribunal ruling in February will mean more revenue for Owen-Gage, to the detriment of district taxpayers who reside in Huron county.

The tribunal ruled, on an appeal by the city of Harbor Beach and seven townships, that 1976 property taxes in the county were not uniformly spread between units. It ordered that they be made uniform, which meant a reduction for some and an increase in others.

According to Huron Intermediate School District Supt. James McBride, the revised valuations meant an increased valuation of $2.77 million in the portion of Brookfield township in the Owen-Gage district, $1.12 million more in Grant township, and $39,739 in Sebewaing township.

The increase in valuations will mean roughly an additional $100,000 in property tax revenue for Owen-Gage for 1976, with the back taxes owed to appear on tax bills to be mailed this December.

However, Owen-Gage collected $50,787 in general state school aid that year, McBride explained, the formula being based on the state equalized valuation (SEV) of the district, divided by the number of pupils.

The tribunal ruling meant an increase in the district's 1976 SEV of $3.93 million, which made it too "rich" under the formula to collect the state aid.

That means the $50,787 will have to be refunded to the state, which will be done by taking it out of the categorical state aid (for specific purposes, such as bus transportation), which Owen-Gage is still eligible to receive (once the balanced budget difficulties are resolved).

That means the district won't get any state aid until the money is paid back, a period of probably 1½-2 years, Erickson said at the May 14 school board meeting.

TRANSFER REQUEST

Harold Seibel of 6803 N. Colwood Road, Gagetown, has petitioned the Tuscola Intermediate School District to transfer his property from Owen-Gage to the Unionville-Sebewaing School District. The property, which has a valuation of $46,200, is in the northwest corner of Elmwood township.

The boards of education of the Tuscola and Huron Intermediate School Districts will hold a hearing on the request at 8 p.m., June 21, in the Tuscola ISD office on Cleaver Road, Caro.

Dr. Zuzga gets doctor group honor

Dr. John J. Zuzga, D.O., who has practiced 35 years in Sebewaing, received a life professional membership from the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons' House of Delegates May 16 at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dearborn.

A graduate of the Chicago College of Osteopathic Medicine, he served a surgical preceptorship at Bay Osteopathic Hospital and was chief of staff at Bad Axe General, Bay Osteopathic and Hills and Dales General Hospitals.

He is still active at Hills and Dales and Provincial House (Cass City).

He practiced surgery at Bay Osteopathic and Hills and Dales from 1957-77.

A 25-year member of the Sebewaing Rotary Club, he has also been active in the Boy Scouts and in 1963 received the Beaver Award from Bay and Huron counties.

Dr. Zuzga received his award for his many years of service to the osteopathic profession.

The House of Delegates meeting is followed by a 3-day annual scientific seminar and postgraduate conference for over 1,500 osteopathic physicians and surgeons.

Rev. Capps addresses AARP

The regular meeting of the American Association of Retired Persons was held May 10, with 52 members and guests attending.

Rev. Harry Capps of the First Presbyterian church of Cass City gave the invocation and also addressed the group on the knowledge and capabilities of senior citizens.

Group singing was enjoyed, with Helen Little at the piano.

Charles Simon, the group's legislation chairman, and his wife, attended the Senior Citizens Power Day program May 15 in Lansing.

The June 10 meeting will be at the Good Shepherd Lutheran church fellowship hall with Clara Eberts, Vera Bearss, Nila Thomas and Ralph Sousa in charge of arrangements.

Campsites can be reserved

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources reminds campers that campsites can be reserved at state parks this summer by sending in a reservation application.

Many campers have found the reservation program helpful, especially for camping during busy holiday periods.

Reservation applications are available at any state park and at most DNR field offices. Campers can also request an application by writing to the Parks Division, Department of Natural Resources, Box 30028, Lansing 48909.

Make reservations now for camping anytime through Sept. 30. Fifty percent of state park campsites will be available for reservations with the remainder available on a first come, first serve basis.

Applications must be received by the park at least 15 days before you plan to arrive. All camping reservations are for a minimum of four and a maximum of 15 nights.

A check for the reservation fee, which is $3, and for the total camping fee, which is $5 per night at most parks, must accompany the application. Reserved sites will be assigned by the park officer.

If you must cancel your reservation, 24 hours notice is required for a refund. The $3 reservation fee is not refundable.

The DNR reports that reservation requests are already coming in for some of the state's more popular parks, such as Mitchell, Ludington and Holland.

County soil survey resumes

Field work for the Tuscola county soil survey is underway again this year.

The survey is an inventory of the existing soil condition which describes the type of material, its drainage, its slope and suitability for different land uses (farming, housing, forestry, development and recreation).

The people performing this soil survey are party leader Ken Mettert and soil scientists Cheryl English and Craig Outwater.

Townships to be mapped this year are Gilford, Arabela, Tuscola, Millington and Vassar.

When the field work for the entire county is completed, the U.S. Soil Conservation Service Cartographic Office will publish the survey.

Any landowners who have questions regarding the soil survey may call the Soil Survey Office at 673-7809 in Caro or the Tuscola Soil Conservation District Office at 673-8174.

AROUND THE FARM

Test plots established

By Don Kebler

As of the writing of this column, your Tuscola County Cooperative Extension Service office has established all but two of the county research demonstration field plots.

Three of the corn variety yield comparison plots are with the same farmer co-operators. The fourth plot is at Dave Milligan's, near Cass City and not at Robert Humpert's.

Curtis Fackler, his partner son Todd, and I planted the 24 soybean variety plot May 14.

Our small Michigan State University 20 soybean variety check plot will be at Charles Witkovsky's in the same field where it was last year.

While handling and applying pesticides, do not ever put your fingers into your nose, ears or mouth, rub your eyes or handle the items you put in your mouth until your hands are thoroughly washed with soap or detergent. Wear easily removable clothing and remove them immediately if spillage occurs. Some pesticides used will require the clothing be washed after each day of use before wearing again.

Follow these simple label precautions and good common sense and you'll have a much happier wife and family.

Singles Club sets dance

The YMCA Thumb Singles Club of Sandusky will hold a dance Saturday evening at Sandusky High School.

It will be guest night and married couples are invited. Anyone who is over 25, single, widowed or divorced can join the club.

Past matrons of Eastern Star meet

Fifteen past matrons of Decker Chapter No. 438, Order of the Eastern Star met for a business meeting May 15 at Julia Tylich's.

Cards were sent to three people in hospitals. A committee of three was appointed to make plans for the members of the Order of Eastern Star and Masonic Lodge No. 479 to attend church together in August if convenient.

Games and prizes were the responsibility of Evelyn Simmons. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Potluck at Decker hall in August will start at 6:30 p.m. Husbands are invited.

The Sanilac County OES Club will meet June 8 in Peck, not Croswell as previously reported.

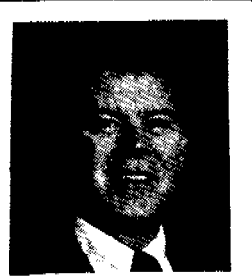

Coggins at Texas air base

Airman Larry C. Coggins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Demott F. Coggins of 2407 Van Dyke Road, Decker, has been selected for technical training at Sheppard Air Force Base, Tex., in the Air Force aircraft maintenance field.

Larry Coggins

The airman recently completed basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., and studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations. Coggins is a 1978 graduate of Marlette High School.

Cass City

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Severe thunderstorms, marked by a reported tornado, lashed the Cass City and tri-county area last Thursday night.

Tuscola county's first outdoor rock fest in history was held at Meadowbrook Trout Ranch four miles east of Caro.

Mrs. Janice Rands of Cass City was named secretary of Tuscola County's American Cancer Society Unit.

With the price of gasoline in Cass City topping 60 cents for the first time in history, some persons are thinking twice before taking long pleasure trips this summer. (Item from "Your Neighbor Says.")

A total of 100 persons attended an open house and potluck dinner at Cass City High School honoring Mrs. Stella Martus, who is retiring this year after 37 years as a school bus driver.

TEN YEARS AGO

Russell L. Richards, junior-senior high school principal at Eau Claire, has been named principal at Cass City High School.

Cass City's police and fire alarm system will be operated through the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department, the Cass City Village Council decided.

Ken Eisinger was awarded the Ferguson Memorial Award at the annual Cass City Band Booster's banquet.

Tim Tuckey, Jeff Parrott, Craig Kelley and Mark Stahlbaum were winners of the Cub Scout Pine Derby.

Linda L. Smith left for the WAVES. She enlisted for three years and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Smith of Cass City.

LuAnn Kennedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Kennedy, won first place in an essay contest at Cass City High School sponsored by the Freedom Foundation of Valley Forge.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The eighth grade of Cass City Schools, accompanied by Beverly Myas, visited the Henry Ford Museum.

Cass City Hawks qualified three boys to enter in the state track meet. They are: Don Simmons, 440-yard dash; Russell Foy, pole vault, and Jack Clara, high jump.

Fred Leeson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Leeson, was elected Senior Patrol Leader, the chief boy officer of Cass City's Boy Scouts and Explorers.

The new Evergreen Township Unit School will be dedicated at special services Friday, May 28.

The Junior Woman's Club held its final meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Harold Oatley.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Clem Tyo has started his 38th year of barbering in Cass City. The Tyo family has barbered in Cass City for 63 years.

Michigan's air raid warning system will be used to signal a simultaneous statewide one-minute period of prayer and meditation on the day when it is confirmed that the invasion of Europe has begun.

At the potluck dinner for the closing day at the Brown school Harold and Lota Little and Melva McConnell were named as being neither absent nor tardy from school during the past year. Lota, who has just completed the fifth grade, has a perfect attendance record to date.

Residents of Cass City and Gagetown may now secure canning sugar applications at their local grocery stores.

James Woodard has been made manager of the A&P store at Harbor Beach and has assumed his duties there.

Altar Society sets breakfast for graduates

The St. Michael Altar Society meeting for May opened with a prayer led by Father William O'Shea. There were 14 members present.

Graduation breakfast will be May 27 at 10:30 a.m. Chris Zyrowski read a reading, "He Knows What He is About."

The bake sale will be June 9-10.

The father-son breakfast is June 17. Chris Zyrowski is chairman, with Linda Zyrowski and Karen Havens helping.

Father O'Shea explained the Altar Society's purpose and function.

Banquet held Thursday

Mrs. Dick Marsh, missionary to Alaska, was the speaker at the mother-daughter banquet at First Baptist church Thursday, May 17.

Around 185 attended the banquet, served by men of the church. Theme and decorations for the banquet were "Spring Gardening Treasures."

Mrs. Tim Teall emceed the program. Mrs. Jim Perry gave the invocation and Mrs. Dick Shaw led group singing, with accompaniment by Mrs. Edsel Connell. Mrs. Shaw also presented a vocal solo. Mrs. Clyde Wells and daughter Sheryl presented a skit.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Gafner, Michelle and Matthew sang "Something Special," accompanied by Mrs. Harold Rayl. Mrs. Don Kowbel and daughter Stephanie gave the tribute to daughters and mothers, respectively.

Mrs. Nadine Schonscheck of Allen Park was recognized as the one who came the greatest distance. Mrs. Edith Ward was the oldest mother present, and Mrs. Ella Cumper received an award for having a birthday the day of the banquet.

Serving on various committees in planning the banquet and program were: Mrs. Art Fisher, Mrs. Ralph Hanby, Mrs. Teall, Mr. John Wood, Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Stanley McArthur.

Others included Mrs. Jim Burleson, Mrs. Lou LaPonsie, Mrs. Perry, Mrs. Bill Ewald, Mrs. William Kretschmer and Mrs. Shaw.

3 residents granted degrees from Central Michigan University

Three area residents were among those graduating from Central Michigan University May 12.

Kathy Jo Burrows graduated magna cum laude. She received a B.S. degree in education, having majored in special education (teaching the mentally impaired) and minored in Spanish. She received an elementary provisional certificate.

She was a member of the Kappa Delta Pi and Phi Kappa Phi honor societies. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Burrows, 4670 Center Street, Gagetown, did her student teaching at Bangor Township Schools, Bay City, and is now substitute teaching there until the end of the school year. She is seeking a full-time position for the fall.

Kathy Jo is a 1975 graduate of Owendale-Gagetown High School. Peggy Hobart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hobart, 4534 Oak Street, Cass City, received her teaching degree in music, majoring in voice and minoring in piano. She will be working this summer as a counselor at Interlochen International Music Camp and is looking for a vocal music teaching job for this fall.

Sharry Lynn Jones received a bachelor's degree in education, majoring in English with a minor in art. A 1975 graduate of Cass City High School, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Jones of 5675 Pringle Road, Decker.

Activities at CMU included His House Christian Fellowship and the Dormitory Council. She did her student teaching in the Cass City schools and is now substituting in area schools until the end of the school year. She is looking for a full-time position for fall.

Her parents will be giving an open house in her honor Sunday, June 3, at their home, starting at 2 p.m.

Hairdressers discuss legislation

Thumb Affiliate No. 25, National Hairdressers Association, met recently.

Members discussed Bill 41140. If it passes the legislature, it could mean more hours of schooling and testing for all cosmetologists.

Guest artists were William Pauke and Barb Prine of Flint. They worked with all kinds of braids for the new trends.

All licensed cosmetologists are welcome to join the group. Contact Helen's Beauty Shop, Cass City.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters

Here's a neat little eight-year-old who would make any man a nice companion. He is surrounded by women, and really needs a chance to do "boy things." A very smart little one and he lives in Caro.

They like to sew, fish and cook. They have had a very mixed-up life and need the companionship of a woman.

Big Brothers-Big Sisters in Tuscola county is located at 230 N. State Street, Caro, telephone 673-6996; in Sanilac county at 26 Lexington Street, P.O. Box 1, Sandusky, telephone 648-4433; in Huron county at 592 N. Port Crescent, Bad Axe, telephone 269-7264.

Mother-daughter fete

The annual mother and daughter banquet of the Mizpah Missionary church was held Friday evening, May 11, at the fellowship hall, sponsored by the Women's Missionary Society.

The chicken dinner was served to the women by the men of the church. Ninety people were present for the occasion.

The theme was "Cameo Mothers." The tables were decorated in accordance with the theme, using pink roses as center pieces.

Mrs. Charles Thompson opened the program with group singing. Three men, masquerading as ladies, were questioned by Mrs. Wayne Whittaker in a humorous dialogue which revealed the Mother of the Year, Mrs. David Bullock. Diane Bullock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bullock, was chosen Daughter of the Year. Bibles were presented to these ladies.

Guest speaker was Grace Pamp, an American Indian from Petoskey. Her topic was an autobiography in which she proudly and gratefully traced her Christian heritage back to her maternal grandmother.

Mrs. Thompson closed with prayer.

Singles club sets dances

A very nice 11-year-old is waiting for a Big Brother. He lives in Vassar, and likes baseball, football, basketball, fishing, and camping. He has been without a father for a long time and is eager to have a close male friend.

The Tip of the Thumb Singles Club will sponsor a dance Saturday, June 2, at the Methodist church gym in Bad Axe, starting at 8:30 p.m.

Music will be provided by Harley Scott's band.

A potluck supper will be served at intermission. Bring a dish to pass.

The club held a dessert luncheon at the home of its president, Helen Thompson, in Bad Axe May 17.

The schedule of bands for future dances was announced: Barney Shubring June 16, Calvin Welton July 7 and Harley Scott July 21.

The next meeting will be Aug. 16 at the home of Connie Moloznik. All single people over 25 can join the club.

When you say a man gets his living out of dirt, you should explain whether he's a farmer, a politician or a novelist.

People with religion spend their time dealing in futures.

185 attend mother-daughter breakfast

The St. Michael's Catholic church annual mother-daughter breakfast on Mother's Day, May 13, was attended by 185 mothers and daughters. The men of the parish cooked and served the food.

Mistress of ceremonies was Mary Ann Megge. A toast to the mothers was given by Karen Havens. A toast to the daughters was given by Irene Schwaderer.

Gifts were presented to the oldest mother, Mrs. Tillie Kloc (89 years); youngest mother, Vicky McLaughlin (22) and Karen Crosby (22); mother with the most daughters present, Carolyn Slieth (five) and Agnes Byrnes (five); who came the farthest, Ida Conner, (Florida), and mother of the year, Nurse Kloc.

Rose Ann Wolfrum presented a tribute to the Blessed Mother. Songs played on guitars and sung by Karen Havens, Rose Ann Wolfrum, Rita Ziembra and Karen Trzemalski were "Hail Mary," and "Gentle Woman." All joined in singing "On This Day O' Beautiful Mother."

Chairwomen for the event were Florence Szostak, Arlene Marz and Marguerite Krywko.

HEALTH TIPS

Sun can cause skin cancer

By Frank Chappell,
American Medical Association

A sunburn, though painful, is temporary. Other problems caused or aggravated by sun exposure are longer lasting and more serious.

The threat of skin cancer is not a concern of the occasional sunbather, but the evidence is clear that repeated and persistent exposure to sunlight can be one of the major factors in causing cancer of the skin in susceptible persons.

An American Medical Association pamphlet points out that skin cancer has long been an occupational hazard to the farmer, sailor and rancher. Ardent outdoor sportsmen and sun worshippers share the same risk.

Cancer of the skin occurs more often in the South and Southwest, areas noted for sunny climates.

Skin cancer occurs most frequently on exposed parts of the body, face, ears, hands or neck. Skin cancer occurs more often in light-skinned than in dark-skinned persons.

Excessive sunlight ages the skin. The teenage girl who bakes in the sun without protection each summer to attain a glorious tan may find when she is 40 that her skin looks 15 to 20 years older than her years.

Years of overexposure to the sun will result in leathery texture, wrinkles, skin folds and sagging skin. Blotchy pigmentation will replace desired tan.

Just compare facial skin of a middle-aged individual with body skin on areas customarily protected by swim suits or clothing. The protected skin is still smooth, while the sunned skin is wrinkled and old.

Dermatologists (medical skin specialists) recommend the regular use of sun-screening agents by outdoor workers and others who continually expose themselves to the sun.

Commonly used drugs such as antibacterial agents in medicated soaps, drugs to control high blood pressure, oral antidiabetic drugs, some tranquilizers and some antibiotics can cause the skin to become photosensitive to sunlight.

The skin may burn on even slight exposure. These individuals must avoid direct sunlight as much as possible and wear long-sleeved garments and wide-brimmed hats when out of doors.

DSS handles nursing home abuse reports

The Tuscola County Department of Social Services has procedures for handling inquiries or reports of neglect, exploitation, abuse or cruelty to adults who live in nursing homes, homes for the aged, and adult foster care homes.

All inquiries are logged in order to assume prompt action and an inquiry form is used to record the report and results of the investigation.

The investigation and intervention service for residents of adult community placement facilities is a component of the department's total protective services policy.

Any individual, group or agency that wishes to make a report or inquiry may telephone one of the adult services workers, Tuscola County Department of Social Services at 673-4144 or write or visit the department at their office on M-81, 1 mile west of Caro.

'79 CLASS OFFICERS

I WILL...an unlimited supply of guys

I, Anders Albage, will if I don't get out of this country alive, donate everything to my family except a picture of me to Cindy Rosenberger, my clogs to Kurt Proctor, and a special Swedish "magazine" to Clare Trischler. Since I'm going to live anyway (I hope), I will always remember C.C.H.S., and my year here in the U.S.

I, Steve Agar, will to the C.C.H.S. and all its students, a secret underground tunnel to leave the school grounds without getting caught and with the large amount of toll money collected, hold a large party every Friday night.

I, Todd Alexander, will to Earney Stoutenburg a better relationship with his father Mr. H.

I, Donna Barker, will to my sister Deb a life time supply of Miller's, to Miller and Meeker a Pabst Brewery Company, to Beth (Munchkin) a chance to meet the Wizard of Oz, and to Theresa a 50 lb. bag.

I, Bryon Bostick, will all the future Hawk football teams the ability to destroy, mangle and slaughter all future Caro Tiger's Teams.

I, Anita Brown, will Mr. A a sponge mat to go around his desk so that the next time he falls off it, he won't get hurt.

I, Bob Brown, will what I want, where I want, who I want and how I want. And I will! I, Chuck Brown, will to the underclassmen the power to handle Mr. Leith and his Chemistry and Physics tests.

I, Lorie Brown, will to Lisa Brown the car every Friday nite next year. And to Ken Brown the ability to distinguish girls from telephone poles.

I, Sara Brown, will to Deb, Jeanne and Angel an unlimited supply of guys so that they can resign from the Lonely Hearts Club, to Tom Kamrad a night at 2001 Odyssey with his brother John and to B.C. a chance to sing with his brothers Barry, Maurice and Robin.

I, Larry Buehrly, will to my sister Chris the ability to take the Transmission out of the 4 wheeler.

I, Louis Calahan, will to Ron Nurnberger someone else with my ability to beat him in basketball. And to Rita Gutierrez a native from Africa to Shrink her head.

I, Carrie Carpenter, will to Steve Corcoran a neck brace to help support his head and to Tony Doerr someone who'll do what he tells other people she does.

I, Bob Clark, will to Kurt Proctor the ability to dress up and look cool, to Tom Kamrad my ability to write a decent love letter and to S.B. the inevitable.

I, Lori Comment, will to Coach Nurnberger and next year's basketball team a successful season and to win the State finals, to Todd a lot of success in sports and to Lisa a car always filled with gas.

I, Phil Copeland, won't because it causes too many problems.

I, Sandy Corl, will to Beth Lebioda a life time supply of beer.

I, Donna Cox, will to Sharon Lowe a better job and to my brother to stay out of trouble.

I, Theresa Decker, will to Joe Decker all the Jock straps he'll need for the next 3 years and to Deb Barker a couple of inches where she wants to put them, to Chris Meeker and Missy Kelly all they'll need to keep them happy for the next year ahead.

I, Becky Dillon, will to Craig O'Harris the effort to put up with me and to Kelly Dearing a stretcher so when we go cooning we won't have to use Craig's coat and won't rip it.

I, Amy Doerr, of sound mind and body will to Cindy Rosenberger an inflatable Burt Reynolds so the rest of the world can have some peace and quiet.

I, Don Doerr, will to the football team, good luck next year.

I WILL...the best in the future

I, Tammy Watros, will absolutely nothing I haven't got enough as it is.

I, Shari Van Allen, will Tony Doerr a girl who will do it, and to Bob all my love and to Beth and Donna a terrific time in Florida.

I, Linda Umpfenbach, will to Sandy Guc a pair of dry pants, Hope Leslie my ability to sew and stay well, and to all my good close friends, my ability to stay in touch.

I, Maryke Venema, will to H.L. her secret admirer so she doesn't have to keep writing him notes, and to Mr. Pakonen someone else with discipline problems.

I, Cindy Ware, will to Lori Teichman, Mary Ross and Brian Hunter the responsibility of up holding our neighborhood.

I, Sir Steven Walter, will Theresa La Roche the wisdom to know the difference between a secret admirer and me.

I, Laurie Ware, will to Mrs. Wallace all of the Art supplies she needs, an organizer to keep track of her tools, and yellow acrylic paints. To Sheryl Wells a ticket to Hawaii in May so she can see a certain someone. To Tina La Roche a fun year in gymnastics like I had. And to Cindy Ware one chocolate covered raisin.

I, Lisa Ware, will all my classmates after graduation the best in the future. To Linda all the luck in her marriage. To Bobbi the hope that she will get her diamond soon.

I, Sheryl Wells, will to Julie Helwig a great Senior year like I had, and to Sherry Bader a year long pass out of class.

I, Becky Whittaker, will to everyone the best of everything that the future can bring. To next year's wrestling team lots of luck and to whoever takes stats for them to have a good sense of humor.

I, Rosemarie Willer, will to Cindy R. the whole body of Burt Reynolds, to Kathy N. good luck with a certain male person. To Kathy V. a millionaire. To Sue F. a '79 black and red Trans AM.

I, Tim Willis, will to my younger brother Tom the ability to get along with people as well as I do, and to have fun in his senior year.

I, Chloe Ann Willis, will to Deb, Frank and Sara one more trip to Florida, to Gail one last trip down a back road in the red Chevy, to Mr. Gengler a year's supply of editors as he won't have to make any more hard decisions and to Tim a new 4 wheel drive and?

I, Kelli Winter, will to my brother Kirk all the fun at C.C.H.S. and to Pat, Deb and Kelly all of our fun times to continue.

I, Karie Witherspoon, will to my brother nothing and to Gail and Connie all my talent roller skating on the floor and to have a great time their senior year as I did.

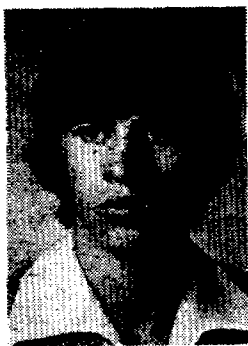

I, Valerie Woodruff, will all the memories and good times we had together to Chuck and to my friends my happiness and joys I found.

I, Christine Woodward, will to Kevin and my cousins the best of luck. And to Dan I will me and all my love.

I, Mike Wright, will to Scott and Todd to still go and have a good time before and after school. And Mr. Richards a new suit so he doesn't wear odd matching suit.

I, Chris Zemke, will of sound mind and body to Mr. Carroll my sound mind and body and to Mrs. Wallace all the creative artistic talent of the Zemkes that she missed for all these years.
