School elections Monday

Three school districts have millages on ballot

School elections take place Monday, with millage proposals on the ballot in Cass City, Owendale-Gagetown and Kingston.

Although there are candidates running for school board posts in all area districts, the only ones where there is opposition are Kingston and Ubyly.

All school board terms are for four years. Polls will be open from 7 a.m.-8 p.m.

CASS CITY

Two terms on the school board are expiring and the only two candidates running are the incumbents, Geraldine Priesskorn and Dr. Edward Scollon, DVM.

Mrs. Priesskorn, of 4645 Kennebec Drive, has been on the board 16 years and has been its president three years. She was treasurer for many years before that.

Scollon, of 4849 N. Seeger Street, has been on the board eight years and is presently its vice-president.

Also on the ballot will be renewal of 8.4 mills for two years for operations. Total operational levy is 20.9.

"The renewal will keep us even with last year," Mrs. Priesskorn said.

Although the same millage will bring in more revenue because of higher valuations, she explained, that will be offset by a decline in state aid, thus total revenue from those two sources will stay the same. Cass City presently gets more than $1,000 per pupil from the state.

The board will have to watch its budget closely. It doesn't know for sure yet what the effects of the Headlee amendment will be in limiting property tax revenue as the legislature hasn't passed legislation yet dealing with how it will be applied.

According to the amendment, millages are supposed to be rolled back so that the taxes property owners pay rise no faster than the rate of inflation.

The district is anticipating its enrollment will decline by 30 students in 1979-80, which will mean a loss of more than $30,000 in state aid based on the present formula.

That's equal to the salary for about 2½ teachers, but since enrollment declines may be spread through all grades, hiring fewer teachers to offset the loss is not as easy as it sounds. The board feels it may be able to get by with one less teacher next year, according to Mrs. Priesskorn.

On the other hand, she said, the legislature usually increases state aid to keep pace with inflation, so the drop in enrollment might be offset somewhat by more money per pupil from Lansing.

Voting booths are at the high school.

OWEN-GAGE

The only board member whose term is expiring, Jack Laurie, isn't seeking reelection.

The lone candidate running for the vacancy is Patrick Goslin of Bay City-Forestville Road, Gagetown, who as an interested citizen has attended most board meetings in the past.

The district has an operational levy of 6.25 mills expiring, but is only seeking renewal of 4.25 for two years, which combined with the allocated and other voted millage would give it a total operational levy of 21.5 mills.

Because of higher valuations in the district, according to Supt. Ronald Erickson, the district's revenue will increase despite the lower millage, though not by much.

Minus the Goslin and Elenbaum properties, the 23.5 mills times the 1978 valuation of the district would bring in $702,721, according to his calculations.

The 1979 valuation times 21.5 mills will bring in $736,343, an increase of

Including Goslin and Elenbaum, the 1978 figure would be $878,251 (at 23.5 mills); for 1979, $923,156, a difference of $44,905.

The ultimate financial status of the district, the superintendent said, "depends on what they do to us."

Categorical state aid to the district is presently being withheld by the state Department of Education because it feels Owen-Gage's budget is unbalanced. Erickson and the board disagree.

For 1978-79, according to the superintendent, the district received $18,365 from the state before the cutoff. By the time the final payment is due, in August, the state will have withheld $23,505.

The issue of the Goslin and Elenbaum properties and other annexations are still in the courts. If those two territories had always remained in Owen-Gage, Erickson said, he figures the district would be in the black by $686,813.

Polling place is the Owendale Community Building.

KINGSTON

There will be two millage proposals on the ballot. One is for 14 mills for operations, which is renewal of 13 mills, plus an additional one mill, for one year.

The last millage increase came in 1974. The increase is needed now, Supt. Robert Cameron explained, because of inflationary cost increases since then, plus little teacher turnover.

M-81 CRASH

Four persons were killed in traffic accidents early Saturday, two near Cass City.

Two were killed in a head-on collision south of Millington, one died west of Cass City on M-81 and the fourth fatality occurred on M-53, northeast of the village.

Ross Floyd Brady, 20, of 8537 Hadley Road, Cass City, was killed instantly when his van rammed an abutment of the M-53 bridge over the North Branch of the Cass River.

Bad Axe state police said he was southbound at 3:40 a.m. when his vehicle crossed the centerline and struck the east side guardrail, then rammed the abutment on the north side of the bridge.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at Hills and Dales General Hospital. The accident was discovered by a truck driver who called Huron county REACT on his citizens band radio, who in turn contacted state police.

Brady was born Jan. 14, 1959 in Pontiac, the son of Robert and Deloris (Gray) Brady. He came to Greenleaf township from Pontiac in 1968.

He was living with his mother on Hadley Road at the time of the accident but had lived for a time in Bad Axe. He attended the Holbrook Baptist church. He is survived by his parents, Mrs. Robert Warford of Cass City and Robert Brady of Pontiac; two brothers, Robert of Caro and Ronald, at home; two half-brothers, Roger and Robert Warford, at home; one sister, Bridget Brady, at home; two half-sisters, Brenda Warford and Bonelle Warford, both at home; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gray of Gagetown, and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Brady of Pontiac.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon from Little's Funeral Home, Cass City. Rev. Milton Gelatt officiating. Burial was in Novesta cemetery.

A Pigeon woman died as the results of injuries suffered in an accident at the same bridge last June.

M-81 CRASH

Thomas W. Jacob, 21, of Caro, was killed after his car went off M-81 on the curve at Green Road, west of Cass City, at 1:20 a.m. Saturday, and rolled over.

Caro state police said he was westbound at an apparent high rate of speed. His car drifted onto the shoulder and traveled 145 feet before going into the ditch, where it went 77 feet before striking a driveway culvert.

The car veered back onto the road and rolled several times, traveling 256 feet before coming to a halt sideways in the middle of the road. The driver was thrown from the vehicle during one of the rollovers. The body was taken to Caro Community Hospital.

Another car slid into the halted Jacob auto, but information on that accident wasn't available as of Tuesday.

Jacob was the seventh person to die in a Tuscola county traffic accident this year.

M-15 CRASH

Jerry Tanner, 36, of Davison, and Nathan Schmitzer, 18, of Millington, were killed when their cars collided head-on in heavy fog on M-15, south of Millington, at 2:55 a.m. Saturday.

Sheriff's deputies said Tanner was southbound and Schmitzer was northbound.

south of Birch Run Road, when the accident occurred.

A passenger in the Schmitzer auto, Kendall Steep, 17, of Millington, was taken to St. Joseph Hospital in Flint, where he was last reported in good condition.

As of Tuesday, the accident was still under investigation.

Tanner and Schmitzer were the eighth and ninth persons to die in Tuscola county traffic accidents this year, compared to 10 people as of this date a year ago.

INJURY ACCIDENTS

John F. Schwartz, 21, of 6128 Deckerville Road, Bedford, was treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital after he struck a deer while riding his motorcycle.

Deputies said he was westbound on Deckerville, west of Murray Road, at 5:15 a.m. Sunday when the mishap occurred.

Mary B. McNinch, 17, of 5670 E. Sanilac Road, Kingston, sought her own treatment following an accident at 9:45 a.m. last Thursday.

She was southbound on Kingston Road, south of Deckerville, when she told sheriff's officer, a cat inside her car jumped in front of her.

She tried to push the animal out of the way and while doing so, her car ran into the ditch and struck a tree.

HORSES KILLED

Two horses died as the result of injuries suffered when struck by a car at 12:20 a.m. Sunday on Cemetery Road.

Deputies said Lawrence R. Logghe, 27, of 6258 Deckerville Road, Decker, was northbound, south of River Road, when his car struck the two animals, which were standing side-by-side in the northbound lane.

His car went off the right side of the road and came to a halt on someone's lawn.

Owner of the horses was Donald Mills of 3846 Cemetery Road.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Deputies reported that at 10:15 a.m. May 28, Donald P. Zyrowski, 18, of English Road, Kingston, was eastbound on M-46 when he started to turn right onto Cemetery Road. Due to mud and the speed he was traveling, his front wheels locked and the car slid into the curb and hit a road sign.

At 2:45 p.m. May 29, according to deputies, Michael P. Martin, 17, of 6657 Huron Street, Cass City, attempted to pass a parked Vassar school bus and struck it in the left rear corner.

The bus was parked in a private driveway on the south side of Mayville Road, east of Maple Grove Road.

Martin continued on, heading east on Mayville Road. He later told officers he didn't think the damage was significant enough to

Village council establishes new special assessment procedure

The Cass City Village Council Tuesday evening approved a new ordinance establishing procedures for creation of special assessment districts.

The new ordinance increases the maximum possible interest on special assessments from 5 to 10 percent, but gives property owners a better opportunity to protest their assessments.

The practice up to now, which will continue, is that on street improvement projects, property owners pay 110 percent of the cost for curb and gutter, with the village paying 100 percent of the cost for sewers, grading and blacktopping.

(The 110 percent is to pay for added costs, such as engineering. The amount is still considerably less than that paid by the village.)

The village had been operating under state law, but the procedure for establishing special assessment districts has now been turned over to local communities, hence the need for the ordinance.

The main change between the old procedure and the new one, according to the village's attorney, Clinton House, is state law provided for only one public hearing.

That hearing was to hear comments on the desirability of the project. If the council voted to proceed, benefiting property owners could file a protest if they thought their assessment was wrong, but the law concerning appeal procedures was vague.

The ordinance requires two hearings. The first concerns whether the project is worthwhile. Even if all or a majority of affected property owners might object, the council can vote to proceed.

If the owners of more than 50 percent of the affected footage object, the project must be approved by two-thirds vote of the council.

Otherwise, a simple majority is needed.

The second hearing will be to hear specific objections to individual assessments. Assessments are based on number of feet of frontage along the street, thus a likely objection would be that the property owner has fewer feet of frontage than he is being assessed for.

The second hearing can come when the project is done and the exact cost known. If it is held earlier, before the final cost is known, there are provisions in the ordinance to collect an added amount, if the cost is over estimate, or refund if the cost is more than 5 percent under the estimate. If it's less than that, the excess revenue collected can go into the general fund.

The practice up until now has been for property owners to pay their special assessments over three years, the first year at zero interest, the second and third at 5 percent.

The new ordinance allows property owners to pay their entire assessments within 90 days with no interest. Otherwise, they will have to pay it over three years, at up to 10 percent interest, the amount to be decided by the council.

With the new ordinance approved, the council scheduled the first hearing, at 7 p.m. June 26, as part of its regular monthly meeting.

The hearing will concern the reconstruction of Downing and Brooker Streets between Main and Church and Houghton between West and Brooker, with property owners to be assessed for curb and gutter.

The council also had been planning to schedule a hearing then concerning the rebuilding of Doerr Road between Main and Garfield Street and Garfield between Doerr and the railroad tracks, but plans for the project aren't done yet, thus the hearing will have to be delayed.

SIDEWALKS

Village policy has been that sidewalk replacement is paid 50 percent by the property owner, 50 percent by the village. New sidewalk construction is paid entirely by the property owner.

Sidewalks are not covered in the special assessment ordinance.

In the downtown area on Main Street, the state highway department has been paying for all sidewalk and curb changes and repairs as that area is within state right-of-way, Main Street (M-81) being a state highway.

The state recently changed its policy and is no longer paying any of such costs.

The issue came up for discussion because of the need to put new curbing and sidewalk in front of the new

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Add this couple to the distinguished list of area residents older than the Chronicle's 88 years. Jennie Hutchinson is 90 and her husband, Frank, 91. They will have been married for 70 years in October.

This information was passed along from Elaine Proctor. It boosts the list to 9. Are there more?

*****

Dozens of you called to tell me about two Vietnam veterans in the Memorial Day parade in Cass City. They were Joe Merchant and John Shagena. Just goes to show that "eye witnesses" are sometimes the least reliable.

*****

You're never too old department. At Cass City Recreation Park Monday night the pitcher for Hillaker's Auctioneers was Al Bosch of Imlay City.

The name may or may not mean anything to you. Anyway Al must be knocking on the door to the half century mark and he hasn't pitched regularly around here for a couple of years.

Several years ago he pitched Eria's to a state championship.

He's probably lost the edge off his best stuff now . . . but he still looks like the premier hurler in the Thumb as he toes the mound.

Chatted a moment with Ron Nurnberger who is about ready to start a summer basketball program. He expects a record 18 bona fide varsity candidates out this summer for the various recreational cage tournaments.

All around the league, and especially in Cass City, where the athletic teams look good in football, basketball and baseball, there's enthusiasm sparked by the State finalist teams in football (Bad Axe) and basketball (Lakers) this year.

If they can do it, what's stopping anyone else is the consensus of coaches, fans and players.

Why not indeed?

Lyle and Hazel Hitchcock

Mr. and Mrs. George Lyle Hitchcock will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Furrel F. (Dorothy) Fountaine, 5663 Hillcrest Ave., Detroit, Sunday, June 10, from 1-4 p.m. The couple requests "no gifts."

Lyle and Verna Hazel Fish were married June 15, 1929 in Royal Oak and have since resided in Detroit. Their address for the last 40 years has been 5203 Marcellus Avenue, Detroit 48224.

Besides their daughter, the Hitchcocks have a son, Prof. James E. Hitchcock of Dayton, Ohio, nine grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

Lyle is the only living child of George L. and Emma (Bond) Hitchcock. He had one brother, Niclo, and two sisters, Mrs. Gladys Merion and Mrs. Bernice Vandercook.

The Hitchcocks lived in the large brick house on the corner of West and Houghton in Cass City across from the Baptist church.

Lyle attended Cass City schools and worked in his father's hardware store. In 1929 he left Cass City to work for T.B. Rayls, a Detroit hardware company. Three years later, he took a job in the stockroom of the Continental Can Co. With minimal formal education, but with persistent self study, he progressed from stockroom clerk to Detroit sales office manager. He retired in 1969 after 37 years with Continental Can.

His wife Hazel was born to John W. and Ida (Coleman) Fish on a farm in Columbia township, about nine miles west of Cass City.

She attended Caro High School and the State Normal College at Ypsilanti (Eastern Michigan University). She then taught fourth grade in Alpena for three years and third grade in Royal Oak for three years.

Lyle's grandfather, James L., came to Cass City in 1872 and erected the Hitchcock Building on Main Street. The lower floor was the general store in which he was assisted by his sons, George L. and Archibald A.

Above the general store was said to be the finest opera house in the Thumb. The building now houses Kritzman's Clothing Store.

James L. Hitchcock held the offices of justice of the peace, road commissioner, school inspector of Dayton township, and treasurer of Cass City.

The Haire Net

This column should have appeared last week. When you talk about wars you should do it on Memorial Day.

But I hadn't read Nickie McWhirter's essay on war veterans then and I have now.

McWhirter is a female chauvinist. At least that's the way she comes through to me in her columns in the Detroit Free Press.

I suppose that judgement is open to question. Her credentials as an outstanding writer are not.

Enough of the preamble. What I want to talk about is her assessment of men during wartime.

She arbitrarily says, "With so many men the time spent in some clutch of soldiers or sailors or marines in some godforsaken corner of the world is the time of maximum excitement and importance in their lives."

It's hard to find a man in my age group who wasn't touched by World War II. Most of us were in it.

For most of us it was years in limbo. Like a time machine that stopped. Two, three, four years when the aging process continued and everything else stood still.

A month after discharge most of us returned to doing whatever it was that was interrupted. I left a junior in college and 34 months later I returned a junior in college, never missing a beat.

But you can't spend that much time in close proximity without being touched by it. The fellowship, the boredom, the hardships shared form a bond.

That doesn't make it a high point of life. On the contrary, at the time it was a low point. Today, I'd like nothing better than to see the guys I spent a couple of years with in service.

I'm certain that we would recall pleasant moments and do plenty of reminiscing.

But I'd do it with full realization that those years were wasted years. Down years in my life.

Nothing could be farther from the truth than to say that the time was of maximum importance in my life.

It's a blessing of nature that time obscures the pain that soldiering is and lets us remember the few good times that we had.

The truth is that 99 out of 100 soldiers that I knew were simply waiting for the time when it would be possible to shed the uniform and pick up the threads of their life.

McWhirter goes on about soldiers, or rather her impression of soldiers. "Never mind that you are separated from home and people who love you. Never mind that you are doing the work of killing or preparing to kill. If that is considered at all, it is put in the perspective of duty and honor, bravery and willing sacrifice for the sake of the folks back home."

Sometimes it is even ennobled with the idea that the preparation or the killing itself is necessary to preserve democracy.

I guess there were GIs that felt that way. But what a minority they were.

Actually the vast majority were drafted or enlisted to avoid the draft.

Most of us just took it one day at a time and survived.

And rejoiced when we could go home again.

"If It Fitz. . ." College rip-offs

By Jim Fitzgerald

People usually get mad when they're ripped off. When a housewife is gyped at the supermarket, she gripes loudly. But when a customer — student — is gyped by a college, there is often no complaint.

The student might even like it. Esther Shapiro points out that I can't buy one or two bottles of beer at my neighborhood A&P. I must buy a six-pack, or an eight-pack, or a case of 24.

"Someday you may have to buy two Pontiacs because that's the only way they come packaged," Mrs. Shapiro said.

She asked me to join her crusade against this outrageous policy which forces customers to buy more beer and pop than they want.

I'll make a deal with Mrs. Shapiro. I'll get angry at the offending supermarkets for unfair packaging if she'll get angry at colleges and universities for gypping students.

Esther Shapiro is director of the Consumer Affairs Department in Detroit. It's her job to react to consumers' complaints. When a local judge griped to her that he couldn't buy one can of beer for a dinner guest, and had been forced to buy eight, and he hates beer himself, Mrs. Shapiro investigated.

"Most of the large grocery chains insist on the purchase of an entire pack, and some packs constitute at least half a case," Mrs. Shapiro reported. "One chain will sell some brands individually, but not the store brand. Another chain doesn't care how you buy your beer and pop, but a solicitous cashier reminded me that it cost more if I bought just one. Small markets and party stores couldn't care less; frequently, individual bottles are piled in bins, or in one section of a cooler."

There's only one real reason a chain forces customers to buy by the pack, Mrs. Shapiro discovered, and it's as surprising as Tuesday following Monday: The chains want to sell as much beer and pop as they can.

"To be forced to tie up your grocery money in a non-food, non-nutritious product you don't want or need is pretty gross," Mrs. Shapiro concluded.

Yeah. My next trip to the supermarket, I'll buy my usual six-pack of Michelob plus one can of cheap beer for my wife to wash her hair in. When the check-out woman objects, I promise to snarl and stomp both feet.

Now, about the rip-offs in our institutions of higher learning. These gyps are unique in that the persons cheated usually don't gripe about it. Mrs. Shapiro probably hasn't heard a peep of complaint.

I know a young man who attends Wayne State University, 10 minutes from his home. Noticing that he was leaving for a 6 p.m. class at 6 p.m., his mother warned him he'd be 10 minutes late.

"That's OK, the teacher is always 15 minutes late," he said.

Another time, he was home early because a class had been cut 20 minutes short. Why? Because the teacher's wife had arrived early to drive her husband home.

Classes are sometimes canceled altogether because the teacher is somewhere else on personal business. Sometimes a class is dismissed because not enough students show up. Those who do show up learn they should have stayed home.

None of this aborted instruction is rescheduled. The lost hours of class time are simply lost forever. But there is no hatching reduction in tuition fees.

Not many students bitch about paying for something they never receive. Why should they? Often they are spending their parents' money. Almost always they are spending taxpayers' money. It's not as though they paid their own money to see a rock concert that was canceled. (Give them their money back or they'll tear down the concert hall).

Besides, it's not cool to enjoy being educated. It's cool to skip lectures and drink beer. It's serendipity when the teachers do the skipping for you. That's how it was when I was at Michigan State University 30 years ago, and it's still that way today.

Phooey. If a customer is forced to pay for a six-pack of Biology II, the teacher should be required to deliver all six units. Otherwise, it's a gyp, and I herewith snarl and stomp both feet.

The Want Ads are newsy, too.

PEDALING AROUND

Acting normal

By Mike Eliasohn

In case you missed it, last week was National Vietnam Veterans Week, or something like that.

Vietnam vets not only got a week, they will also get a postage stamp in their honor in the near future.

Some have argued that up to now, all they have gotten is the shaft.

From the media's standpoint, I may be unique among Vietnam war veterans. I'm normal, or at least I like to think I am.

I also like to think I am in the majority. I think most people who served over there are.

But, watch television or go to the movies and it's easy to get the impression that all Vietnam vets are bananas.

The repeat Lou Grant episode last week was about "Animal," the staff photographer, who went through mental torture every time the telephone rang because the wife of a dead Vietnam buddy of his continually harassed him over the phone.

CBS News (Walter Cronkite) last Wednesday had a report about all the problems Vietnam vets are having. Featured was one who had a flashback a couple of years ago and held people in a bank hostage as a result. Hollywood goes through phases and right now, it's in the Vietnam phase.

Henry Winkler played a deranged vet in "Heroes."

The two big Oscar winners this year were "Coming Home" and "The Deer Hunter," also about Vietnam. I haven't seen either, but my understanding is the veterans in those two movies don't come home normal.

The most expensive movie of all time ($32 million), Francis Ford Coppola's "Apocalypse Now," is getting close to being released after five years in the making. Nobody is apparently normal in that either.

Admittedly, I was lucky. I sat at a desk during my whole time there and typed and I never got shot at or had to dive into a bunker because of a rocket attack.

Still, I wasn't as lucky as those who went into the military during that time and didn't go to Vietnam (I had a friend who served his entire two-year hitch while the war was going on at Fort Knox) and those who for one reason or another didn't go into the service at all.

I'm not saying that there are not Vietnam veterans with problems. Obviously, there are lots of them.

And if the news media and movies started telling about how most such vets are "normal," they would get less help than they are getting, which apparently has not been enough in many instances.

But, it obviously bothers me that the stereotype most Americans get of the Vietnam veteran is someone messed up inside, bitter at the treatment he has gotten or not gotten that he should have and about to explode at any minute.

That is not a true image.

Special program

Several extra features will be held at the First Presbyterian church Sunday, June 10. Following the worship service, a cooperative dinner will be held at the church. A hobby display will be set up on the lawn and games for the children with Togo, the Clown, will be held.

A musical program will include the presentation of various Negro spirituals and a "fiddler" from Flint will also participate.

Special recognition will be given to the adult and children's choirs and some choir members for their years of service. This will be the last Sunday with the present choir director, Mrs. Colleen Stafford.

36 YEARS of driving without an accident while on the job have been recorded by these Cass City Post Office mail carriers. From left, Chet Muntz, 22 years; Stanley Kirn, 3 years; Harry Wood, 3 years; Al Witherspoon, 3 years, and Dick Root, 5 years.

22 for Chet Muntz

36 years of safe driving for mailmen

Regular mail carriers at the Cass City Post Office have accumulated 36 years and almost 3 million miles of safe driving without an accident.

Twenty-two of those years and about 500,000 of those miles belong to Chester Muntz.

The six drivers received National Safety Council pins and wallet cards last week commemorating their achievement.

In addition to Muntz, the others are Dick Root, five years, who covers the north half of Cass City, and the rest, three years: Stanley Kirn, south half of Cass City; Harry Wood, north and west of the village, and Al Witherspoon, south of the village.

Muntz has been covering the same route east of Cass City for 22 years. It was 55 miles when he started, but is now 85 miles and 310 stops, which he drives six days a week. Unpaved roads make up 55-60 miles of the route.

Prior to going on the road, Muntz, 61, worked inside the post office for 14 years and was Cass City postmaster in 1957 when he switched to being a rural carrier out of a preference to be outdoors.

The substitute driver on the route, Peter Rienstra, has been there a year longer than Muntz, having started in 1956.

From Cass City, the route extends eight miles east to Germania Road, eight miles north to Rescue and McTaggart Roads and one mile south to Elmwood and Robinson Roads.

WHAT IS MUNTZ' secret to safe driving? "It's just a little defensive driving," he paused, then said, "A damn lot of it... and you have to give a little too."

The worst thing he sees other drivers do is crowd him, especially on M-53. When he's driving along the shoulder on the highway and along other roads, instead of veering to the left to get by, too many drivers skim by with inches to spare. "They'll zip right by me. They don't give too much," he said.

In addition to poor drivers, the other main road hazard, according to Muntz, is ice. He doesn't use chains for driving on ice, but does use them for driving in deep snow.

He usually gets stuck a few times each winter and if there isn't a farmer living close by who can pull him out with a tractor, he extricates himself with use of a shovel he carries with him.

WINTERS ARE ALSO bad because it makes his day and that of the other rural carriers much longer.

He starts before 7 a.m. sorting mail and is on the road by 8:45. During good weather and depending on the volume of mail, he can be back to the post office as early as 1:20 p.m. On days with lots of mail, such as Thursdays when weekly newspapers are delivered, it can be an hour or more later than that.

During winter, he sometimes doesn't get back until 4:30 or 5 and may have been unable to reach all of his customers because of poor road conditions.

Once he is back, he spends another hour or so sorting junk mail and magazines for which there wasn't time to sort in the morning and totaling up his receipts for the day. (Rural carriers also sell stamps, pick up letters and packages to be mailed, etc.)

Muntz hasn't been tempted to buy a four-wheel-drive vehicle to make winter driving easier. "I like a little comfort with my driving," he explained, which is why he sticks to a standard-size car.

His 2½-year-old Oldsmobile has 105,000 miles on it. In the past, he has bought a new car every two years, but thought he might keep this one until he retires.

THE ONLY TROUBLE IS, he hasn't decided when he will retire. He could have done that after 30 years with the postal service and he now has more than 36. He said he might keep working for a year and he might keep at it for another 10.

"The biggest thing when you retire is missing the contacts and associations with the people on your route every day. To me that is the highlight."

In his 22 years on the route, he has waved to kids who grew up and now have children of their own who wave as he drives by.

He and his wife Bessie — they celebrated their 39th anniversary May 25 — have two daughters of their own, Connie, in Deford, and Judy, of Gladwin, both married, and four grandchildren. They live on Cass City Road, 5½ miles west of town.

On his day off the veteran mail carrier usually goes for a drive. When he is working, he drives from the right side of his car in order to reach the mailboxes. On Sundays, he explained, "That's the only chance I get to drive behind the wheel."

Reed finishes Navy course in electronics

Navy Seaman Recruit Steven C. Reed, son of Charles A. and Betty L. Reed of 6256 River Road, Cass City, has completed the Navy's basic electricity-electronics course.

Four weeks of study at the Navy Service School Command, Orlando, Fla., included review of basic mathematics, fundamental electrical formulas plus the principles of alternating and direct current circuits. Students also received instruction on basic circuit testing methods, including the use of multimeters and audio signal generators.

A 1978 graduate of Cass City High School, he joined the Navy in January.

Cass City merchants reorganize

New board members and officers of the Cass City Retail Committee were selected at a luncheon meeting last Wednesday at the Charming.

Board members are Richard Jones, Mike Papp, Cindy McConkey, Christy Hughes, Bill Krizman, Gerald Prieskorn, Tom Proctor, Mike Weaver, Bud Schneeberger, Dorothy Stahlbaum, Marv Hobart and Paul Clabuesch.

Officers are Tom Proctor, president; Richard Jones, vice-president; Cindy McConkey, secretary, and Mike Weaver, treasurer.

In the past, the Retail Committee has been somewhat informal, Proctor said. Object of the meeting was to get it organized on a more formal basis, with the primary purpose being organization of merchants' sales promotions.

Although the group will be working with the Chamber of Commerce, it now is a separate organization in order to avoid confusion between the two. It represents all merchants, not just those downtown.

HEALTH TIPS

Tan gradually or not at all

By Frank Chappell,
American Medical Association

Tanning of the skin occurs in two ways.

First, an immediate tanning action is started when ultraviolet light strikes the upper layers of the skin, turning it a darker brown. This new coloring is noticeable within a few hours after you go out into the sun.

Second, a fraction of the sun's ultraviolet rays penetrate down to the lower layer of the skin. This causes production of more melanin, which migrates to the surface of the skin and becomes visible as a tan. This latter process starts two days after initial exposure, and reaches a peak about two weeks later.

If initial sun exposure is too long, sunburn occurs and damage is done before the production of new tan achieves its optimum effect. If the burn is bad enough to cause blisters and peeling, some surface skin is lost, and with it some of the tan.

The American Medical Association emphasizes that there is virtually no health advantage from tanning, and some hazards of skin cancer. But, if you still insist on tanning, gradual exposure is the best way.

As the tanning progresses during the summer, there is a gradual thickening of the outer layer of the skin. This thickening prevents the sun's rays from reaching the easily damaged deeper skin layers.

Tanning cannot be rushed. Your skin will thicken just so much during your first day in the sun. On the next day, additional exposure will produce just so much more tanning, and no more. Severe burning can be avoided and maximum tanning promoted if you follow an exposure guide for exposed skin.

If you are light-skinned, exposure should be confined to 15 minutes the first day on each side, 20 minutes the second day, 25 minutes the third day, 30 minutes the fourth day, and exposure thereafter based on redness and tenderness. If your skin is medium dark, exposure may be extended each day by an additional five minutes.

Try to get out of the sun before you become noticeably red or you'll find it's too late to avoid a burn.

Horses need vaccination

Horse and pony owners in Michigan are urged to take advantage of available vaccines to protect their animals against equine sleeping sickness (encephalitis).

U.S. Department of Agriculture figures suggest that only one out of every eight horses in the United States is vaccinated each year. If this is true of Michigan's horse population, it means that nearly 213,000 of the state's 250,000 horses are unprotected.

Combination vaccines are available for all three types of equine encephalitis - eastern, western and Venezuelan. Though the Venezuelan type has not appeared in the United States since 1971, it has several hosts other than horses and could re-emerge at any time.

Eastern and western equine encephalitis viruses are usually carried by birds and transmitted to horses - or to humans - by mosquitoes. The Venezuelan virus can multiply so rapidly that mosquitoes biting infected horses at certain disease stages can pass the virus directly to nonvaccinated horses or humans.

The disease is often fatal to horses. Initially, it may cause hyperactivity in the animals, followed by abnormal drowsiness, tremors, lack of coordination and loss of weight. The animal may chew excessively, have difficulty swallowing and show impaired vision, reduced reflexes and irregular gait.

There is no treatment for infected animals.

It's okay to license cats

Should cats have to be licensed like dogs?

A bill now being considered by the state legislature, if approved, will allow counties to license cats.

"It would be okay if it (license fee) wasn't too high," is the opinion of Lola Nicholas, who owns two dogs and a cat.

Supporters of the legislation say many communities are experiencing problems from stray cats, such as ones getting into garbage, plus diseases carried by cats.

As indicated by her pets, Mrs. Nicholas likes both dogs and cats. Her present animals are a collie, cockapoo and a cat, though she doesn't know the breed.

The proposed state law doesn't mention having to tie up cats. Present law, however, requires dogs to be tied up. "I support that," Mrs. Nicholas said. She had no opinion, however, on whether cats should have to be kept on leashes.

A widow, she lives on Rescue Road, Gagetown. She has six children, 15 grandchildren and two step-grandchildren.

4 receive high school diplomas in adult completion program

Night school was work, fun, and worth it, according to the first four graduates of the Cass City Schools Community Education high school completion program.

New books at the library

NURSE, by Peggy Anderson (non-fiction). Mary Benjamin (a pseudonym) is a head nurse in a general hospital in a large city. Peggy Anderson tells her story here — records her feelings, her duties, the pace of her life, her successes, failures, dilemmas. For most readers this will be an astonishing exploration of what it is like, day by day, to be a nurse. Anderson examines the nurse-doctor relationship, the ethical problems of nursing, the rigors of caring for patients physically and emotionally, the role of the nurse with patients' families, the difficulties of balancing personal and professional life. Most instructive and moving is Mary Benjamin's attitude toward death and those who face it.

MR. CHIP'S 101 PLANS, plus hundreds of different ways to become a do-it-yourself expert (non-fiction). A shop guide, information on hand and power tools, and basic carpentry and wood finishing techniques accompany 101 building projects for do-it-yourselfers.

HELTER SHELTER, by Ann Coombs (non-fiction). When retirement from the Air Force sent Ann and Joe Coombs in search of a permanent home for their brood of six individualistic children, they find what they're looking for — a big inexpensive house with "potential." "Potential", Ann learns, "means the roof leaks, there's no insulation, and the heating system is as effective as a fire in an ashtray." "Helter shelter" is Ann's engaging story of the Coombs' painful education as do-it-yourselfers. But the least welcome visitor appreciates the Coombs' work the most; he's the county assessor.

Receiving their diplomas Monday in ceremonies complete with caps and gowns will be Lillian Gibbard, Robinson Road, Cass City; Marie Horne, Leslie Road, Decker; Bea Peters, Pringle Road, Decker, and Evelyn Zmierski, Ritter Road, Cass City.

This is the first year for the program here and without it, the four women said they doubt they would have gotten their diplomas, as otherwise it would have meant driving to Caro or Bad Axe, the closest school district offering high school completion programs.

Taking the classes required dedicated effort. It wasn't that the women had nothing else to do.

Mrs. Peters has worked at Walbro for 23 years and up until about a month ago, she was the union president. In addition to taking high school classes two nights a week the first and second semester, she was taking a ceramics class in Argyle during that time.

She is also president of the Altar Society at St. Ignatius Catholic church in Freiberg and was teaching a catechism class at St. Joseph church in Argyle.

She and her husband Mark have six children, of whom three are still at home. One of them, Sharon, just graduated from Cass City High School.

Mrs. Gibbard works full-time at Hamill Manufacturing in Bad Axe. She and her husband Evans have six children, five of whom are still at home. She took two classes both the first and second semesters.

Mrs. Horne works full-time at Provincial House. She didn't take any classes the first semester but took four the second. She and her husband Randy have two children at home.

Mrs. Zmierski is the only one of the four without an outside-the-home job but she also took the heaviest load of classes, four the first semester and three the second. "Why prolong something?" she said in explaining why she decided to take all her classes in one year.

One course she took was creative writing and she is now doing free-lance writing at home. She has already sold a few articles.

She and her husband, Walt have five children, three of them at home.

Each class runs from 6:30-10 p.m. Students were graded and received report cards, just like their younger counterparts.

"Naturally," Mrs. Zmierski replied, when asked if she showed her report card to her family, "but if it had been bad, I wouldn't have."

Most studying was done in class, but the students did have some work to do at home.

Some enrolled in the high school completion program, the four graduates said, apparently expecting it to be a piece of cake. When they found it wasn't, after one or two sessions, they dropped out.

School was easier as adults than when they were youngsters, the women found. "We did it then because we had to," Mrs. Gibbard explained.

The four agreed they have had a good time taking the classes. "It was fun," Mrs. Zmierski said, "but now we're getting spring fever."

None expect that getting their diplomas will help them in their careers and only Mrs. Horne said she may take some more classes elsewhere in the future.

It was always something I wanted to do, to get a diploma," said Mrs. Gibbard.

As for Mrs. Peters, this year will be the 25th reunion for the class she would have graduated with at Uby High School, had she been able to stay in school. (She dropped out to take care of an ill member of her family.)

"I'm going to be able to go to my reunion this fall and say, 'I've done it.'"

The public is invited to attend the 8 p.m. commencement ceremony Monday for the four graduates, in the high school cafeteria.

School board members will participate. A reception will follow.

Byron found guilty of drug possession by circuit court jury

A Circuit Court jury last Thursday found Douglas E. Byron, 26, of Portage, guilty of possession of cocaine and possession of marijuana.

Circuit Judge Norman A. Baguley, who presided over the two-day trial, scheduled sentencing July 9. Bond was continued.

Byron was arrested on the two charges Oct. 20 in Kingston after state police stopped his car because of a traffic violation.

May 29 before Judge Baguley, John A. Waltos, 42, of St. Clair Shores, stood mute to three charges of uttering and publishing.

He is charged with cashing checks on a non-existent account for $20 at Old Wood Drug, Cass City, Nov. 24; $8 at Charlie's Market, Wilmet, Nov. 25, and $5 at Frank's Service Station, Cass City, Nov. 29.

Pleas of innocent were entered by the judge, who scheduled a pretrial hearing June 25. Bond was continued.

Also on the 29th, Michael

G. Parker, 21, of 144 Andy Street, Vassar, was found competent to stand trial on a charge of driving away a motor vehicle without permission.

He then pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of joy riding, which was accepted. Sentencing was scheduled June 25. Bond was continued, after a motion for reduction of bond was denied.

DISTRICT COURT

Harold Groth, 34, of 1576 Hurds Corner Road, Cass City, pleaded guilty to driving with license suspended or revoked (2nd offense).

Judge Richard F. Kern fined him $57, assessed $43 court costs and sentenced him to six days in the county jail. An additional four days is to be served if the fine and costs are not paid. The sentence is to be served on week ends.

He was arrested on the charge by state police in Ellington township May 25.

Bruce A. Brown, 24, of 4451 Jacob Road, Cass City, pleaded guilty to speeding 75 in a 55 mile per hour zone. He was fined $30 and assessed $25 court costs. He was arrested on the charge March 3 in Elkland township.

Vandals ruin school trees

Four trees, estimated to be worth $500, were run over at Cass City High School early Saturday.

The damage was reported to Cass City police at 9:50 a.m. by custodian Veron Gingrich and is believed to have taken place between 12:30 and 7 a.m. that day.

Margaret Lynch of 6532 E. Main Street told village police at 7 p.m. Saturday that a boy started throwing stones at her son, Levi, while he was playing in the alley behind Sommers' Bakery. One of the stones hit her son in the leg and another broke a window in the bakery. Estimated value of the window was $20.

Cass City officer Ken Schott, while on patrol at 4:35 p.m. May 27, spotted a boy on the roof of the building in the village park in front of the basketball courts. The boy tore off a shingle and threw it at a boy on the ground. The youth was turned over to the custody of his mother.

Brenda Hauer of 6372 Fourth Street told village police last Thursday that while she was in the hospital, since May 25, her personal belongings were put in the garage of the home she had been living in on Woodland Street, as the owners were moving.

When she returned, she found four antique plates missing. The plates, valued by police at $70 total, were later recovered.

Village police Monday arrested David Boyce of Woodland Street on a contempt of court warrant from Tuscola County Probate Court. He was taken to the county jail, but released the same day, pending final disposition of the case in court.

Community booster

Owners prove

Time had come for sport shop

Editor's note: this is one of a series sponsored by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce about community boosters who are members of the organization.

Three men with an idea proved that the time for a store selling quality name brand sporting goods had arrived in Cass City.

The three founded Cass City Sports, Inc., in Plaza West mall and the store has thrived since it opened Sept. 1, 1977.

From the beginning the store has been managed by David Luana, one of the three owners. The other owners are Fred Martin, owner of Fred's Service and James Williston, who is a co-owner of an automotive store in Bad Axe.

Luana lives in Decker with his wife, Kathy, and is a native of the Thumb area. Luana is a graduate of Cass City High School, as is Martin.

Before stepping into ownership of the store, he had worked for several local concerns. He is a member of the Deford Community church and of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Vietnam veterans did march

To the Publisher:

Oops John!

That was no "Idle Thought"; that was my son, Dennis (Joe) Merchant, Vietnam veteran, marching proudly, though alone, behind the color guard.

He had an ad several times in your want ads to try to interest other veterans in marching. He has marched every year including two weeks before going to Vietnam.

Maybe we of the family are the only ones that hurt, but next time check your source.

I do want to give hurrahs to Cass City for a good parade and a fine turnout. We can truly be proud.

After viewing what went on in Bay City (with only 100 present) and canned music in Saginaw, Cass City really showed them how.

Let none of us forget the true meaning of Memorial Day with its emphasis on past veterans and pray there will be no future need for men to go to war.

Cordially,
Joan D. Merchant

Editor's note: Another Vietnam war veteran, John Shagena, also marched in the parade. As a Marine, he served two hitches in Vietnam.

Both have been outstanding athletes for Cass City. Rabideau starred in basketball, volleyball and track.

Rabideau earned two varsity letters in basketball and volleyball. She received four varsity letters in track and this spring qualified for the state finals.

She was a cheerleader for two years and also an all-conference selection in volleyball.

Trischler was a three-year letterman in basketball and won two letters in track. He also earned two letters in cross-country and two in baseball.

When felled by an injury this spring he helped out by coaching underclassmen in his pole vault specialty.

In addition to these awards, most valuable players were named in baseball, softball and boys' track.

In baseball, Tony Doerr was the most valuable for the second year in a row. Ray Piaskowski was named most improved.

In track the obvious choice was Steve Richards. Richards set a new school record in the mile and 880 this season and was by far Cass City's leading point producer.

The most valuable softball player was Tammie Root, an effective pitcher for the Hawks all season.

Master of ceremonies for the evening was Athletic Director Roland Pakonen. He introduced the various coaches and reported to parents that there were 675 positions filled by students in grades 7-12. Many of the athletes were in more than one sport, he explained. There were not 675 different students participating.

The various coaches introduced their teams. Bob Gengler presented the junior varsity baseball team. Don Schelke introduced the varsity baseball team and told a little about each player. Dave Hoard told about his softball team which was preparing to play in the districts last Saturday. Dale McIntosh, track coordinator, introduced Lloyd Schinnerer, boys' track coach, and Pat Holt, girls' track coach. The coaches then recounted the year and the outstanding performances of the various athletes.

SMILING DEB RABIDEAU accepts the outstanding girl athlete award sponsored annually by the American Association of University Women. Making the presentation is Kim Witherspoon, last year's winner.

CLARE TRISCHLER, left, accepts the Paul Smarks trophy from Clarke Haire, last year's winner. The award is for leadership, scholarship, sportsmanship and athletic ability. The traveling trophy is Trischler's to keep for one year and his name will be attached permanently to the base along with the previous winners.

Fine baseball year ends

Owen-Gage bows in finals

The Owen-Gage baseball team's sparkling season came to an end Friday with a 3-1 loss in the district finals to Carsonville-Port Sanilac.

It was the third time the league champion Bulldogs lost to the Tigers this year, the first two times by 3-2 scores. Owen-Gage's only losses in North Central D League play. Coach Phil Gray's squad finished with a 14-2 league mark and will be co-champions with the Tigers if that team won make-up games Tuesday against North Huron. The Bulldogs finish the season 19-6.

The team got to the district finals with an 8-3 win over Kingston. The Tigers got there by beating North Huron, 8-5. The districts were played at Peck.

Carsonville's Dave Regnier proved too much for the Bulldogs, who ran his win-loss record to 15-0. He struck out 13, walked three and gave up only two hits.

Losing pitcher was Pete Klemkowski, who finished the season at 10-4. He struck out seven, walked five and gave up six hits.

The Bulldogs' one run came in the sixth inning by Alan Haag, who singled, stole second, then made it to home plate on a single by Jim Hendershot.

Pat Gallagher hit a single and a triple for the victors and his brother Matt hit two singles.

KINGSTON GAME

Winning pitcher in the 8-3 preliminary round was Dick Glidden, who struck out five, walked seven and gave up one hit to end his high school career. He was relieved by Jim Kuhr after five innings, who struck out two, walked one and gave up one hit.

Glidden and Pete Klemkowski each hit a homer. Jim Hendershot hit two singles.

Losing pitcher was Bryan Eldridge, who struck out three, walked five and gave up five hits.

Seniors lead Hawks to 2nd in Thumb B baseball

The Cass City Red Hawk baseball team ended its season in a three-way tie for second place in the Thumb B Conference as the Lakers walked off with the title.

Cass City, Bad Axe and Vassar finished with 9-4 records, a game behind the Lakers with 10-4.

The Hawks had two hitters with over .400 batting averages. Tony Doerr was .404 with 16 runs batted in and Tim Severance led the team with .421 and 11 RBIs.

There were two 300 hitters on the squad. Todd Alexander rapped the ball at a .319 clip and Tim Johnson hit .381. All but Johnson are seniors. Johnson is a junior.

Other juniors with good years were Ken Martin, .293, and Randy Ferris, .243.

Coach Don Schelke can look forward to next year with anticipation. There were only five seniors on the team.

Back will be the ace of the pitching staff, Earney Stoutenburg. He boasted a minuscule 1.44 earned run average this season. Other pitchers returning will be Jack Groombridge and Todd Comment who didn't allow a run as he pitched relief in three games for a total of seven innings.

Bulldog girls advance to regionals with 2 wins

There isn't a 10-run mercy rule in end-of-season softball tournaments, but they had to invent one Friday as Owen-Gage annihilated Akron-Fairgrove, 35-4, to win the district finals, played at the Gagetown field.

The game was supposed to go the regulation seven innings, but was ended after five, according to Bulldog coach Judy Campbell, because "it was just getting ridiculous."

If the 10-run rule had applied, the game would have ended after three innings.

Owen-Gage now plays in the regionals Saturday at Waterford Our Ladies of the Lakes. It will play Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard (20-3), starting at noon.

Akron-Fairgrove won the opening game Friday afternoon at Gagetown, 16-7, over North Huron, to qualify for the finals. The Bulldogs beat Caseville in the second, 13-3.

CASEVILLE GAME

In the championship game, Tammy Kain started for the victors, was relieved by Becky Howard. Kain, who hadn't left the game, took over for Howard, and was relieved in the final inning by Julie Andrakowicz.

The three didn't yield a hit to the Vikings, struck out one and walked nine.

Losing pitcher was Lisa Waite, who was relieved by Carla Young. The Bulldogs got 16 hits off the pair and were walked 18 times. They struck out twice.

Campbell emptied her bench in the mismatch. Those with more than one hit were Carol Goslin, two singles and a double; Dana Laurie, three singles; Julie Andrakowicz, double and a triple; Howard, two singles.

and Bonnie Wynn, single and a triple.

Owen-Gage tied with the Eagles for first place in the North Central D League with a 14-2, but had little trouble disposing of them Friday, 13-3. (The Bulldogs are now 18-3 overall.)

Becky Howard started for the victors, was relieved by Dana Laurie, who was relieved by Tammy Kain, the winning pitcher.

They issued six walks but didn't give up any hits. They struck out three.

Laurie Andrakowicz with two singles was the only Bulldog with more than one hit.

Losing pitcher was Michelle McCormick, who was relieved by Peggy Wilfong. They combined to walk 16, give up five hits and struck out three.

HOME AGAIN -- Laurie Andrakowicz didn't have to slide into home plate it turned out, as the Akron-Fairgrove catcher didn't even have the ball yet. The senior scored in the third inning of the district final Friday on a hit by Carol Goslin.

Bulldogs earn 4th straight North Central all sports trophy

4 Bulldogs earn all loop honors

Four Owen-Gage players were named to the North Central D League all-star baseball team, selected by league coaches.

Three are on the second team.

Those on the first team are Mark McDonald, catcher; Jim Hendershot, first base;

Kirk Carolan, infield, and Jeff Hallock, outfield.

Others on the first team are Dave Regnier, Carsonville-Port Sanilac, pitcher; Craig Guster, Caseville, infield; Terry Conley, C-PS, infield, and Dave Ruppel, Akron-Fairgrove, outfield, and Leon Sutherland, C-PS, outfield.

Those selected were also named to the Michigan High School Athletic Association Region VI Class D first team. The regional team includes two pitchers, so also selected was Bulldog Pete Klemkowsky.

The region includes three other schools in addition to those in the North Central league.

Named as Region VI Class D coach of the year was Owen-Gage's Phil Gray. His team was league champion at 14-2 and 19-6 overall.

Bulldogs on the league second team were Klemkowsky, pitcher, Alan Haag, infield, and Dick Glidden, outfield. Others were Joe Volk, A-F, catcher; Mike McCormick, Caseville, first base; Jay Randall, Kingston, infield; Steve Martin, Kingston, infield; Brian Korn, Port Austin, outfield, and Matt Gallagher, C-PS, outfield.

Bulldog Jim Glidden received honorable mention as an infielder.

Owendale-Gagetown is the recipient of the North Central D League all-sports trophy for the fourth year in a row.

Principal James Barr presented the trophy at the annual spring athletic banquet last Thursday in the Gagetown gymnasium.

The Bulldogs took first place in football (with two other schools), baseball (co-champions) and girls' basketball, volleyball and softball (co-champions).

Other points to earn the trophy came from boys' basketball, 4th place, boys' track, 2nd, and girls' track, 6th.

Other sports awards were presented in:

Basketball -- Coach Phil Gray presented the most valuable player award to Mark McDonald and most improved to Pete Klemkowsky. John Osterland presented most valuable in junior varsity to Jim Glidden and most improved, Randy Radabaugh. They each presented letters or certificates to the team members and to the junior high team in absence of coach Dean Roller.

Cheerleaders -- Leslie Sigby presented awards to the junior high, junior varsity and varsity cheerleader squads and also announced the cheerleaders for 1979-80.

Volleyball -- Coach Judy Campbell presented most valuable player honors to Laurie Andrakowicz and most improved to Tammy Wissner. She also presented letters or certificates to the team.

Pete Klemkowsky for pitching a no-hitter. The most valuable player award went to Jim Hendershot; most improved to Doug Laurie.

Track - Besonen presented letters and certificates for varsity and junior varsity boys' track, girls' varsity track and junior high boys' and girls. Special mention was made of junior Jeff Hallock, who won his 28th medal this year, making a total of 60 track medals he has earned in his high school career.

Besonen and Gray presented a new award, Bulldog athlete of the year, to Jim Hendershot.

Besonen also announced that he had just received word from the High School Football Coaches of America that Mark McDonald has been named to the first team offense; Alan Haag, second team defense, and Dick Glidden, honorable mention.

Claude Stevens presented senior athletic plaques to seniors who have participated in sports, throughout their high school years: Asa Cervantes, Laurie Andrakowicz, Sean Barr, Laurel Billy, Scott Bruno, Brenda Furness, Lori Gaeth, Dick Glidden, Jerry Harbuck, Brenda Haley, Tom Howard, Jim Hendershot, Linette Hahn, Arnie Howard, Douglas Laurie, Mark McDonald, Janelle Rapson, Lynn Prich, Kimberly Rickcr, Mark Sontag, Deborah Vargo, Eileen Volz, Tammy Wissner, Barbara Wright and Lynette Ziehm.

Pete Klemkowsky gave the invocation prior to the potluck dinner.

Closing remarks were made by Supt. Ronald Erickson, followed by singing of the school song. Benediction was given by Carol Goslin.

Council adopts new assessment procedure

portion of Schneeberger's store, where there is now a driveway which led to the gas station there before.

Application to the state to pay for the new sidewalk and curb was made before the policy change, thus the highway department has agreed in this instance only that it will pay for the new curbing, but not for the sidewalk.

The council thus decided to split the cost 50-50 with Schneeberger's for the new sidewalk and to have attorney House review the village ordinance pertaining to payment for sidewalk construction.

TAXES

The council decided to proceed with sending out of summer tax bills, and thus authorized the county Equalization Department to print them.

The delay was because of the legislature's so far in decision on whether the Headlee amendment provision applies to the current tax levy in municipalities of the authorized maximum levy. The village's current levy, 13 mills, is several mills below what it is authorized to levy.

It now appears the legislature will apply the rollback provision to authorized levies, hence the council's decision to proceed.

Tax bills to property owners may be in the mail by the end of next week. In addition to the 13 mills for operation, 2 1/2 mills will be assessed for the sewage treatment plant project.

Novesta township board mulls delay in road work

The Novesta Township Board Monday night gave approval to the Cass City Development Co. to begin development of the 200 acres it owns south of the Cass River, including building of a road into the property.

The property is east of Cemetery Road.

David Moody of Decker-ville Road, Deford, was hired as the new sexton for the township cemetery, replacing the former one, who resigned.

The board okayed replacement of the closed Lamton Road bridge near Shabbona Road. Replacement by the county Road Commission should start soon, with the township to pay 25 percent of the cost. The tube-type bridge should cost $4,800 plus installation and removal of the old bridge.

Concern was expressed by the board over the lateness in rebuilding of Severance Road between Englehart and Lamton Roads, which was to be done this spring. As of the meeting, the project hadn't started yet, yet is supposed to be done by July 1. The Road Commission has contracted with C.R. Hunt Construction Co. to do the work.

Les Ross of the construction company told the Chronicle Wednesday morning that work was to start on Severance that day and would be completed by the specified completion date, July 1. There was no date specified when the work had to start, he pointed out.

The board decided it won't have the Road Commission spray along township roads this year because of questions concerning safety of the chemicals used.

Discussion was held about making some improvements in the cemetery, such as replacing broken curbing.

Voters say no to strikes by teachers in area poll

A majority of State Rep. Loren Armbruster's constituents who responded to his survey don't believe teachers should be allowed to strike.

A larger percentage support a tax increase in order to build additional jail space.

An identical 59 percent said teachers should not be allowed to strike and opposed giving teachers greater control over standards set for their certification.

Giving a standardized test to high school seniors which they would have to pass in order to graduate was supported by 74 percent.

With voters last November having supported a referendum requiring prisoners to serve their minimum sentence before being paroled, a tax increase to establish additional jail space was supported by 65 percent.

Fifty-eight percent supported continued jail penalties for possession of small amounts of marijuana, while 37 percent favored its decriminalization (the rest were undecided).

Ninety-seven percent favored sunset legislation whereby all government programs would be reviewed on a regular basis and ended if they are no longer necessary or cost efficient.

Relative to the State's Workers' Compensation system, 56 percent supported the idea that costs in surrounding states should be considered in establishing benefits and eligibility for Michigan employees.

Eighty-five percent said that employees who quit voluntarily do not deserve unemployment benefits.

Most good intentions become the victims of human frailty.

Seventy-two percent said that Social Security income should be excluded from calculating household income in determining eligibility for property tax credits.

When asked which tax method they preferred to finance local school operations, 25 percent favored retaining the present system; 19 percent supported a combination of lower property taxes, a local income tax plus some state aid; 23 percent were willing to accept an increase in the state income tax in exchange for lower property taxes, and 28 percent favored eliminating the property tax altogether and relying upon the state income tax for school finance purposes.

The majority of those responding favored continuing the current property tax system, but advocated increase property tax credit for the elderly, poor, veterans, and handicapped.

An overwhelming majority, 80 percent, felt that welfare utility allowances should go directly to the companies. Seventy-six percent opposed spending more money on health care and day care services for migrant workers and their families.

Eighty-three percent responded in favor of home health care as an alternative to nursing home care for senior citizens. Almost all (94 percent) felt that those at fault of an accident should pay the $100 deductible cost.

As to allocation of the state budget, the survey results showed that slightly less money should be spent for education and also revealed strong support for reducing welfare expenditures. The survey indicated more money should be directed for health care purposes and for transportation.

The number who favored reducing state appropriations to all other government units was almost equal to those who support present operating levels.

Cass City

50-year reunion for class of '29

The class of 1929 of Cass City High School celebrated its golden anniversary Monday at the Colony House.

At 1:30, the group met at the old high school for a brief tour. Following that a tour of Cass City was enjoyed by the group showing them the growth and changes and other points of interest.

At 4:30, the class met at the Colony House for a social hour preceding the dinner at 6, attended by 48 graduates, spouses and teachers.

The 1929 class president, Fred Brown of Denver, Colo., called the class to order and served as master of ceremonies for an evening of reminiscing and renewing friendships.

One incident related was that the 1929 class was the last class to erect the skull and crossbone flag on the roof of the (then) high school. This was a challenge to the junior class for a tug-of-war across the Cass River.

Faculty members from 1929 and spouses present were: Mr. and Mrs. Willis Campbell and Esther McCullough of Cass City; Mrs. Eleanor Bigelow Heath and Mr. Heath, Bay City; Mrs. Bertha Van Eldik Downs, Whittemore, and Miss Lula Barton, Bad Axe. There were notes of greetings from Mrs. Louise Watrous Coates of Sault Ste. Marie and Mrs. Amy Boone Heron of Detroit.

Classmates and guests who came from out of town were: Mrs. Doris Bliss House and Mr. House, Port Huron; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown, Denver; Mrs. Edith Chaffee Wightman and Mr. Wightman, Whittemore; Mrs. Mabel Crandall Beechem and Mr. Beechem, Pentwater; Mrs. Virginia Day Bufe and Mr. Bufe, Wyandotte; Sister Martha Garety, Monroe, and Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Heller, Howell.

Mrs. Catherine Hunt Wyman, Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelly, Arizona; Miss Lucile Knight, Flint; Mrs. Lorine McGrath Watts, Hadley; Miss Alexandra MacRae, Bad Axe; Miss Grace Wyllie, Detroit; Mrs. Violet Jackson Forbush, Inkster; Mrs. Pauline Sandham Briggs and Mr. Briggs, St. Johns; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simpkins, Missouri, and John Simpkins, Pontiac.

From the Cass City area were: Mr. and Mrs. George Cole, Mrs. Irene Freiburger Freeman, Mrs. Erma Hartwick Mellendorf, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Helwig, Mrs. Hazel Hower Seeley, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Lounsbury, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard McConkey, Mrs. Leta O'Dell Gelatt and Mr. Gelatt and Mr. and Mrs. Luke Tuckey.

Members of the class unable to attend were:

Mrs. Esther Dilman Harris, Virginia; Mrs. Agnes Ferguson Price, Berkley; Mrs. Zelma Fiddment Sczabo, Detroit; Miss Nora Jackson, address unknown; Mrs. Kathryn Parrott Turner, Decker; Maurice Joos, Cass City; Mrs. Marion Kritzman Fuller, Arizona; Mrs. Eunice Lee Brown, Holly; Roy Anthes, Cass City; Mrs. Doris Livingston Tracy, Colorado; Mrs. Mabel McArthur McCaslin, Rochester; Mrs. Essie Phetteplace Miles, Gaylord; Mrs. Carol Phillips Voorheis, Waukegan, Ill.; Mrs. Beatrice Quick Tewsley, Center Line; Mrs. Esther Schell Keller, Indiana, and Mrs. Ada Wright Glendening, Florida.

Respect was paid to the deceased members of the class: Warren Schenck, Fern Benkelman, Harry Bohnsack, Elmer Flint, Edward Greenleaf, Marguerite Henry, Helen Hower a., Marion Livingston, Harriet Tindale and Wesley Young.

Staffords leaving area

Sunday will be the last day Colleen Stafford directs the choir at the Cass City First Presbyterian church.

She has held the position 3 1/2 years. In 1976, she directed the Cass City Bicentennial Choir.

She and her husband, David, and their three children will be moving to the Grand Blanc-Burton-Fenton-Corunna area as soon as they sell their house here.

Stafford had been Michigan Education Association representative for teachers in Tuscola county and the west half of Huron county since 1970. Since January, he has held the same position in the above mentioned area outside Flint and has been commuting there from Cass City.

4 killed in 3 auto crashes

warrant stopping.

Cass City police reported that at 8 a.m. last Wednesday, Jacqueline L. Groth, 49, of 6409 W. Elizabeth Street, backed from her driveway into a car parked by the south curb.

Owners of the parked car were Jenny and Karl Zawilinski of 6410 Elizabeth.

Ronald E. Palmer of Crawford Road, Cass City, reported to village police at 1:35 a.m. Sunday that while his car was parked at the Charmont, an unknown vehicle struck the front end of it and pushed it about 75 feet.

Agriculture 2nd

Jobs top income source

What puts the stuffing in the wallets of upper Thumb citizens?

In what may be somewhat of a surprise, agriculture is the largest source of income in only Huron county.

In Tuscola and Sanilac counties, more people earn their living in manufacturing, presumably because more people in those two counties commute to industry jobs in other counties.

In Tuscola county, for instance, slightly more than half the work force is employed outside the county.

Where the money comes from is contained in a recent issue of the Michigan State Economic Record, published by the Division of Research of the Michigan State University Graduate School of Business Administration.

The statistics are from 1977, the latest year from which they are available.

In that year, 20.20 percent of labor and proprietors' earnings came from agriculture in Huron county, versus 19.81 percent from manufacturing. Another 6.37 percent comes from people employed in wholesale trade.

In Sanilac county, 34.20 percent of earnings comes from manufacturing, followed by agriculture, 19.41 percent.

In Tuscola county, 23.62 percent of earnings comes from employment in manufacturing; 12.09 percent from agriculture; 7.72 percent from wholesale trade, and 7.12 percent from transportation and public utilities.

Although agriculture is a big factor economically in the Thumb, few people make their living from it in the state and nationally.

Add up the total of Michigan paychecks and only 1.02 percent of that sum comes from agriculture. Nationally, that figure is 2.27 percent.

In Michigan, 43.94 percent of earnings in 1977 came from those employed in manufacturing. The national average is 26.25 percent.

The next biggest chunk of earnings in the state come from people employed in services (beauty shops, hospitals, etc.), 13.53 percent (16.63 percent nationally), followed by retail trade, 8.92 percent (10.13 percent nationally).

Whatever the source, add up all the money earned, divide it by the number of people, and per capita income in the upper Thumb ranks behind the state and national average.

In Tuscola county, it was $6,415 per person in 1977 (a 12 percent increase from 1976); Huron, $5,930 (up 8 percent), and $5,778 in Sanilac (up 14 percent).

Per capita income in Michigan was $7,606 (up 12 percent); in the United States, $7,026 (up 10 percent).

The richest county in Michigan was Oakland, where people earned an average of $9,776; the poorest, Oscoda, at $3,984.

Slate school elections

leaving each year, the payroll climbs faster than with new teachers, who are paid less.

The other millage proposal is one mill for one year to improve the school parking lots. It will be up to the board to decide where the repairs will be made. One mill will bring in about $20,000, Cameron said, which isn't enough to completely repave the lots.

The one term expiring is that of board Treasurer Robert Wilmot of 4970 E. Sanilac Road, the board treasurer. Running against him is Velna Richter of 6611 E. Sanilac Road.

Polling place is the high school cafeteria.

UBLY

The two incumbents whose terms are expiring are being challenged by two newcomers.

Seeking re-election are John Kennedy of James Street, Ubyly, the board vice-president, and Clarence Rutkowski, S. Verona Road, Ubyly.

Running against them are Ruth Olshove of Agnes Street, Ubyly, and Arthur Jahn of Ruth.

There is no millage proposal on the ballot.

Polling place is at the high school.

NO WAY

It is impossible to climb the ladder of success with both hands in your pockets.

100TH MEMBER of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce is the Tuscola County Advertiser. Presenting the firm's check to chamber Treasurer Gloria Ouvry is advertising representative Randy Burns. It's the first time the chamber has had 100 members since 1962. As of April, 1978, it only had 55.
