

OVERTURNED TRUCK -- Very strong winds blew over James W. Pierce's truck-tractor Friday afternoon while he was southbound on Elkton Road, close to Huron Line Road, where he had been hoping to turn his rig into the wind.

UP-RIGHTED -- The overturned trailer was pulled perpendicular to the highway before being pulled upright. A cable was then run to the truck at right, which served as an anchor to keep the trailer from being blown over again while the two trucks at left pulled it onto the road so that it could be towed away.

An upsetting experience: Wind blows truck over

How windy was it Friday? It was so windy that James Pierce's semi-truck was blown over.

"I've been driving 30 years and that never happened to me before," the still shaken Melvindale trucker said afterwards.

A driver for Continental Can Co., also located in the Detroit suburb, he was on his way home after delivering a load of cardboard shipping containers made by Continental to the Active Industries plant in Elkton.

He left Elkton about 1:30 p.m., the time that the winds started picking up. He was headed south on Elkton Road (Cemetery Road), nearing the Tuscola-Huron county line, when he decided his empty truck was going to be blown over.

He had only a couple of hundred yards further to go to Huron Line Road, the first place he could turn to head his rig into the wind, when he decided he wouldn't make it.

He pulled his truck-tractor off the right side of the road and was moving toward the right side door to get out when the wind blew the tractor and trailer onto their sides, into the left lane. "It just picked it up and tipped it over," he explained.

Pierce was unhurt, but was splattered with oil that escaped from the engine. He finally got out of the truck by kicking out the windshield.

The incident was witnessed by Mrs. Ephraim Knight who lives several hundred yards to the north. Her husband drove to the site and picked up the driver.

Huron county sheriff's deputies were called to the scene. A passing motorist, Robert Hurley, who is an Elkland township fireman, placed several flares at the scene, and stayed until a second police car arrived.

The tractor and trailer were "back on their feet" a couple of hours later, courtesy of a wrecker from Bartnik's service and two trucks and a crew from Marv Winter's Truck Sales, both on M-53.

The tractor, after being disconnected from the trailer, was righted first. The trailer was first pulled perpendicular to the road, righted, then pulled parallel to the road so it could be hooked to the Winter's-owned semi. It and Pierce's tractor, which wasn't drivable, were towed to Winter's truck lot.

The trailer suffered no apparent damage.

Seniors want return of 'Swing-Out' event

The Cass City School Board wrestled with questions of policy Monday night at its regular meeting as petitioners descended on the board to challenge previous rulings.

So many interested members of the district were at the meeting that the board moved into the speech auditorium to accommodate the visitors.

After all of the visitors' complaints were aired nothing much was changed although the board did leave the door open for the senior class.

What delegates said the class wants is to hold the Senior Swing-out. It was cancelled by the board after the administration reported that it was impossible to control the students as they gamboled through town.

Incidents of students tossing fire crackers, riding on the shoulders of other students and drinking made teachers fear that someone would be seriously injured.

Senior Clayette Lane presented a petition she said was signed by every senior except one asking that the swing-out be restored.

The students claim that they are being made to pay for the conduct of other classes.

Supt. Donald Crouse said that the idea of one student that threatened to hold it with or without school permission may have been a good one.

The class can hold it independent of the school with parents as chaperones, he said, and the responsibility would no longer be the school's. The petition submitted to the board indicated that several parents would act as chaperones if the traditional swing-out were held.

The students quickly decided that they didn't want an unofficial swing-out. After considerable discussion it was decided to let the seniors come up with a plan for control of the event for consideration by the board.

SUNDAY PRACTICES

Lewis Tibbitts, youth director of the Deford Community Church, requested that all Sunday practices be halted and that the distribution of Gideon Bibles be allowed in the school.

He said that Sundays should belong to the families and that when coaches hold practices it puts pressures on players to attend.

It was explained that practices on Sunday are only allowed by special board permission and that four girls' practices were allowed because of Monday games.

Tibbitts questioned "open gyms" on Sunday with players invited, saying that it was hard for anyone on the team to stay away, especially if they were not team stars.

He agreed that the Sunday practices have not been abused yet and was assured that if the present policy didn't work in the future that it would be changed.

Tibbitts was told that the distribution of Bibles to fifth graders was halted because it violates the constitutional right of separation of church and state.

Tibbitts said that he was told Bibles were being distributed in all Sanilac Schools and all Tuscola schools except Cass City and Kingston.

He agreed to check further into this situation but it appears doubtful that the majority of board members feel that a change in school policy is necessary.

OKAY CONTRACT

The contract with Al Luce, professional negotiator for Cass City Schools, was approved for $4,500. That's $300 more than was paid last year.

The contract was originally submitted at the December board meeting and approved when Crouse said it was the same as the previous year.

A check by Cass City Teacher's Association President Dale McIntosh revealed it was $300 more. That was found to be correct by the administration and a contract for the new higher amount was approved Monday.

Another contract approved was for Rick Tuckey to coach Junior High basketball.

OTHER BUSINESS

The board authorized the purchase of three bus bodies from McFadden Corporation at a cost of $9,197. Crouse said that the McFadden bid was the lower of two quotes. The corporation furnished all of the bus bodies in use in the district.

State school test scores decline

The results of the Michigan Education Assessment tests were presented to the Cass City School Board Monday night at its regular meeting and revealed unfavorable trends in math and reading.

Cass City is below the State average in both subjects at both the seventh and 10th grade levels while exceeding state-wide averages at the fourth grade level. Complete five-year averages are revealed in charts accompanying this story.

It would appear from the averages that Cass City's students were better prepared for the fourth grade tests and failed to keep up with students from other schools as they advanced to the 7th and 10th grades.

That's not necessarily so, Counselor Jerry Cleland, who presented the report, said. What it could mean is that other schools are teaching to the tests while Cass City is not.

When asked why this trend was not apparent at the fourth grade level, Cleland said that it is harder to structure tests with questions more readily answered by urban school children than it was at higher scholastic levels.

President Geraldine Prieskorn said that while the school doesn't necessarily want to be bound by objectives of the State as indicated by the tests, it would be foolish to ignore them without study.

For that reason Cleland was asked to compile the objectives of the State tests and present them at the next board meeting for study by the board.

Boxing in Owendale?

Taxes coming in- paychecks may resume Friday in O-G

Owendale - Gagetown School District employees may get paid this Friday, which would be the first since Dec. 7.

Whether they are paid then, Supt. Ronald Erickson told the board Monday, depends on how much property tax revenue comes in by Friday.

So far, about $340,000 has been received, however, a new state law requires the district to put the first $350,000 it receives into escrow in order to pay off its tax anticipation notes (money it borrowed) in that amount in anticipation of receipt of property taxes.

If the $10,000 is received in taxes, plus $26,000 more needed for the payroll, paychecks will resume. Employees are normally paid every other week.

They will later be reimbursed for the paychecks they missed, plus - if past practice is followed for previous payless paydays - they will receive interest.

TOUGH MAN CONTEST

The Owendale gym may be the site of a Thumb area Tough Man Contest, an anyone-can-enter boxing contest, possibly around May 1. The event would run two days.

Donald Dorsch presented the proposal to the board in behalf of the Owendale 75th anniversary committee.

The committee and school district would get half the proceeds, he said, with promoter Art Dore getting the other half, out of which he would pay expenses and prize money.

The possibility of holding the event has already been discussed with the Bay City promoter, whose Bay City area competition was conducted last weekend.

The Owendale gym seats 1,500 (including chairs on the floor). The main concern expressed by Erickson, who has also talked to Dore, and board members was protecting the gym floor.

The superintendent and Dorsch will have further discussions with Dore.

LUNCH PRICES

Lunch prices were increased for the elementary grades from 40 to 45 cents; high school, from 50 to 60 cents; and adults, from 75 to 85 cents.

Erickson warned that because federally subsidized food commodities are getting harder to get, prices may have to be raised again before the school year is over.

He speculated, but wasn't sure, that the lunch program is still in the black.

BUDGET

The board approved sending a revised 1979-80 budget to Robert Hornberger, director of department services for the state Department of Education, "in accordance with our attorney's advice."

Owen-Gage hasn't received any categorical state aid since February 1979, because of its failure to submit what Hornberger feels is a balanced budget, in accordance with state law.

Erickson predicted the official will reject the new one because it will show the district's revenue with and without revenue from the Goslin and Elenbaum parcels. Hornberger wants a budget with only one set of revenue figures.

OTHER ITEMS

The Michigan Association of School Boards Legal Trust Fund has so far declined to make a decision on aiding Owen-Gage for its legal expenses.

Eva Scheuffelt had the highest of three bids at $800 for purchase of the mobile home last used for storage of athletic equipment. The district had paid $500 for it and put about another $500 in improvements.

Student of the month for December was Tammy Kain.

High School Athletic Director James Barr reported the holiday basketball tournament, which Owen-Gage won, netted $580 after payment of expenses. Another such tournament is

Pickup fire still mystery to police

Investigation by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department is continuing to determine who might have set a pickup truck on fire early last Thursday.

Owner of the four-wheel drive 1978 model truck was William A. Perlaki of 4195 West Street, Cass City.

Elkland township firemen were called to the scene at 6:06 a.m. The truck was resting on its side in a ditch off the west side of Cedar Run Road, south of M-81.

After the fire was extinguished, firemen and investigating sheriff's deputies found a can of lighter fluid lying on the left rear wheel, which was up in the air. Some matches were also found.

At 6:45, James M. Perlaki, 25, of 4395 Elmwood Road, being planned for December of this year.

The meeting began with a one-hour executive session involving possible expulsion of a student, who was present with his mother. The board will make a decision at its Feb. 11 meeting.

the brother of the owner, drove up.

He told officers he had been driving the truck, headed south, about 2:30-3 a.m. when he dropped a lighted cigarette. He momentarily didn't pay attention to his driving and the truck went into the ditch.

As the truck floor was wet, he figured the cigarette wouldn't cause any damage, so he left and walked home. He was planning to return in the morning with a tractor to pull the truck out.

When he left, he said the can of lighter fluid was either in the glove compartment or behind the seat.

William Perlaki was later contacted and told deputies his brother had had permission to use the truck.

Deputies estimated damage at $4,000.

TRUCK FIRE-- The four-wheel-drive pickup of William A. Perlaki of Cass City was found in this position and on fire by Elkland township firemen early last Thursday. Investigation to determine who started the fire is continuing.

THE CAPRICORN STONE, by Madeleine Brent (fiction). Doubly shocked by her father's death and the revelation of his activity as a notorious jewel thief, Bridie Chance finds herself suddenly penniless and the sole support of her sister. She is plunged into an entirely new world as she learns to make her way in a music hall act. Reminders of her father's dubious past pursue her in the form of a lasso-swinging Pinkerton agent and a clever French jewel thief who has a way with the ladies.

THE GREEN RIPPER, by John D. MacDonald (fiction). Travis McGee is outnumbered by more foes and by the most merciless one he has ever faced before in his latest joust with evil. Gretel, Trav's fiancée, mentions the suspicious, secret visit of a leader in the Church of Apocrypha to a posh local resort. Soon after, Gretel dies, supposedly of a mysterious virus. But Trav's grief is increased by instincts that tell him his love was murdered. He leaves Florida on the trail of the cult members and your pulse will race as you follow the battle of brains and brawn.

Community booster

Proctor devotes time to civic projects

Editor's note: this is one of a series sponsored by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce about community boosters who are members of the organization.

If you don't find Tom Proctor behind the prescription counter at Old Wood Drug the chances are that he is busy on a Rotary project or a civic project for the community.

Currently Proctor is president of Hills and Dales Medical Center, Inc., and Clinical Pharmacy Services for Cass City.

He also is the Rotary District Youth Exchange Officer and Rotary correspondent for the Central States where he handles 100 students in addition to 50 students from his district. Students come from about 20 countries.

He is a member of the National Association of Retail Druggists, the American and Michigan Pharmacists Associations and is the immediate past president of Thumb Area Pharmacists Association.

He is also the vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce and the chairman of the Cass City Retail Committee.

He is the past president of both District and Cass City Rotary.

Born and raised in Howell, he graduated from Ferris State University in 1958. He worked as staff pharmacist in Midland for 5 years and then came to Cass City after purchasing the pharmacy from Warren Wood in September 1962.

The store has been expanded and remodeled times under his ownership. The last expansion tripled the space.

Proctor attends lectures and seminars to keep current with changing practice in his profession.

His wife, Elaine, is accountant for the business. The couple has two children, Kurt, a freshman at Ferris, and Kris, a sophomore at Cass City.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Someone out there has the answer, I'm sure. Let me explain. In this week's "Haire Net" I wanted to say that the sales tax started at 2 per cent. I didn't because I couldn't verify if it started at that figure.

I tried to find out by asking all the persons that I could think of that might have the answer.

Here's the way it went: Banker M. B. Auten, "I can't really say. My memory is not as good as it used to be."

Banker Fred Pinney, laughing, "I should know but really I'm not sure. You can't verify it with me." Manley Asher, retired businessman, "Seems to me that it was 2 per cent at one time. Funny how we forget."

And finally, Art Holmberg, retired Cass City High School principal, "I really don't know, but you could find out by calling the tax bureau."

If you know FOR SURE let me know and we'll pass it on in next week's column of trivia.

Here's a sequel to the story about the 11-year-old that was involved in the police chase in Bay City last week.

The boy was spotted by at least two area persons. One was Mike O'Dell, who met the boy as he was driving to Caro.

The other was Clark Boylan, who passed the youth as he was driving east on M-81. Clark says the boy would go on and off the shoulder of the road and at first he and his wife figured the driver was drunk.

When they finally passed they saw it was a youngster. We watched him go down the road and were thinking of calling the police when he turned north on Koepfgen Road.

When that happened we both figured he was on the way to his farm home up the road and dismissed the whole thing from our minds, Clark said.

Ken E. Jensen, administrator at Hills and Dales General Hospital, says the hospital staff is solidly behind President Carter. In a letter to interested groups in the community, Jensen writes:

"To demonstrate our total support of President Carter during this most difficult test of America's solidarity, Hills and Dales General Hospital will fly its flag at half mast until the American hostages are released."

For this piece of trivia the column is indebted to Edsel Connell. He points out that leap year doesn't really come every fourth year. However, when it doesn't, you and I won't have to worry about it.

Leap year comes every four years except in century years such as 1500, 1700, etc., when the day is not added.

But there's an exception to the exception. In century years divisible by 400, the day is added. That means of course that the year 2000 will be a "normal" leap year.

It'll be another hundred years before we lose the extra day provided by the calendar makers.

Tell 'em you read it here first.

TUESDAY ACCIDENT -- Kelly Lapeer and David Kenward, both of Uby, were hospitalized after their car collided early Tuesday with a milk tanker truck at the M-53 - M-81 intersection.

Car-truck crash sends 2 to hospital

An early morning collision Tuesday at M-53 and M-81 between a car and a double-tanker milk truck sent two persons to Hills and Dales General Hospital.

Reported in fair condition Tuesday afternoon was the driver, Kelly Lapeer, 20, of 3800 Cumber Road, Uby. Her passenger, David Kenward, 21, of the same address, was reported in serious condition.

Sanilac county sheriff's deputies reported their car was westbound on Cass City Road, didn't stop at M-53, and was then struck by the northbound milk tanker of Isadore Vahovick, 50, of Harbor Beach.

Vahovick's truck continued on, went into the drive at Bartnik's service station and collided with a junk car there. The Lapeer auto was totaled.

Ms. Lapeer was ticketed by deputies on a charge of disobeying a traffic signal. The accident took place shortly after 3 a.m.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Carl R. Hartzman, 32, of Marlette, sought his own treatment after an accident at 12:15 a.m. last Wednesday.

Caro state police reported that Nancy Mae Gottler, 20, of 3673 Ross Street, Kingston, was eastbound on M-46, misjudged the distance of the Hartzman car, approaching from the east, and the two vehicles collided as she was turning north onto Phillips Road.

Ms. Gottler was ticketed on a charge of failure to yield.

At 3:10 p.m. last Wednesday, according to sheriff's deputies, Raymond Stachura, 43, of 1572 Crawford Road, Deford, was southbound on Cemetery Road, north of Delong Road, reached over to write in a notebook, and his vehicle went off the right side of the road. It struck a mailbox and then went into the ditch.

Kenneth B. Decker, 20, of Pine Street, Kingston, was ticketed by sheriff's deputies Jan. 8 on a charge of failure to stop in an assured clear distance after an 8:50 a.m. accident in Kingston.

Officers reported Sandra Lee Parker, 30, of 3336 Washington Street, Kingston, southbound on Washington, was stopped at State Street when the Decker vehicle slid on the slippery surface into the rear of her car.

At 4:30 p.m. last Thursday, according to deputies, James H. Glassford, 48, of Phillips Road, Kingston, northbound on Chambers Road, was stopped at M-81.

Stopped behind him was John Woloshen, 57, of Caro. Thinking that Glassford was starting to move, Woloshen started his vehicle and ran into the rear of the Glassford

Peanuts and small potatoes

By Jim Fitzgerald

Lee Iacocca, chairman of the New Chrysler Corp., reminded me that peanut salesmen are often maligned.

At a press conference held after Chrysler received a $1.5 billion loan guarantee from me and some other taxpayers, Iacocca talked about what an important job he has.

"I'm not going to give any details," he said, "but all I know is we're facing $1.1 billion in disbursements in January. That'll show you we're not running any peanut stand here."

Whenever people want it understood that they are big shots dealing in high finance, they say they aren't running a peanut stand. "This isn't peanuts," they say.

I have long suspected that the operators of peanut stands are treated as unfairly as used car salesmen. Whenever people don't trust some guy, they say they would never buy a used car from him, especially if he is Richard Nixon. But there is absolutely no reliable evidence that used car salesmen are any more liable than lawyers or newspaper reporters to sweat over the upper lip or pull the covers up over a break-in.

So when Lee Iacocca said he isn't running a peanut stand, I decided to find out if it's true that peanut stands are the epitome of small business. I interviewed a man named Peter who sells peanuts outside a sport stadium.

"I'm not running any Chrysler Corp. here," Peter said. "I sell enough peanuts to pay all my bills and make a profit. If I don't, I'll go out of business."

Peter admitted that he was angry at Iacocca. "He implied that running a peanut stand is small potatoes compared to running Chrysler," Peter said. "But at least I didn't go broke and beg the government for help."

Small potatoes? Was Peter saying that farmers who grow small potatoes don't have as important a job as people who run peanut stands?

"That is a fact of life," Peter said. "My job is bigger because, as everyone knows, no one can eat just one peanut, but anyone can eat just one small potato."

I couldn't help wondering how a small-potato farmer might react to Peter's opinion, so I drove out into the country and stopped at the first sign of a small potato. The farmer behind the sign told me:

"I really resent it when anyone implies that growing small potatoes is chicken feed compared to running a peanut stand."

Chicken feed? Before I could find a chicken feed manufacturer to get his reaction to what the small-potato farmer said about him, my car ran out of gas because it was equipped with government regulations. That reminded me of Lee Iacocca, so I hitchhiked back into town to resume my conversation with Peter, the peanut-stand operator. I wanted to ask him about special bonds.

In full-page newspaper ads, Iacocca said that thanks to the Chrysler loan guarantee, "a special bond has been created between the American people and one of its major corporations."

"If taxpayers co-signed a $1.5 billion loan to keep my peanut stand operating, there would be a special bond between us," Peter explained. "People will buy only so many peanuts, no matter who is selling them. They would buy all their peanuts from me to help me stay in business and improve their chances of not losing $1.5 billion. If my business went bust, taxpayers would not only lose dough, they would have to take over running the peanut stand, which is no small potatoes."

I pointed out that such a situation would be tough on the operators of peanut stands that didn't have a special bond with taxpayers. They could lose a lot of sales if everybody bought Peter's peanuts because they had co-signed Peter's note at the bank.

That special bond could cost Peter's competitors millions of dollars. That's not chicken feed.

"That's peanuts," Peter said. "But it could be worse. It could be Fords and Chevrolets."

Looking good

The search for ways to enhance the hair has gone on a lot longer than many people realize. Prehistoric primitives plastered their hair with clay and tied trophies and fadges to it to represent their feats and qualities and to "improve" their looks.

There is a move afoot to cut property taxes and make up the loss with an addition to the sales tax.

It's an idea that will find plenty of acceptance around here and in the northern lower peninsula where land values are skyrocketing.

Economic theorists will tell you that the sales tax is not a good tax because it is regressive. It taxes the poor and least able to pay at the same rate as the wealthy.

I'm with the theorists on this one. Not for the same reason. As a property owner it's likely that a cut in property taxes and a raise in the sales tax would put more money in my pocket.

At least it would initially. I'm suspicious about the savings over the long haul.

Like a junkie on his first high the shot of a lower tax bill would be exhilarating. But when the initial charge is gone what happens?

If you are a student of Michigan history or a senior citizen you perhaps can remember that when the sales tax was first passed it was a "temporary" tax due to be lifted after a short emergency. And it wasn't too long ago that the sales tax was 3 per cent.

That's the history of the income tax, too. Taxes always seem to increase and any cut proves temporary. Strictly temporary.

As long as the mechanism is set to collect property taxes the politicians will find a way to squeeze extra dollars from it. We'll wind up paying property taxes as big as ever and be saddled with a 5 per cent sales tax, too. The Headlee tax limitation is helping a little and thank goodness we passed it.

A real long range solution would be economy in government. But if you really think that's about to happen meet me at midnight at the south Cass River bridge and I'll sell it to you.

Take the "sunset" law for instance. It requires review of established government bureaus periodically. A Republican alternative of requiring that these bureaus be voted in again periodically to remain in existence was killed.

It doesn't take a genius to figure which method will keep draining away tax funds needlessly.

If the 5 per cent sales tax becomes a reality we can blame (or credit) no one but ourselves. It takes a constitutional amendment to put it into effect.

The reduced property tax carrot may be just enticing enough to trap the rabbits into more taxes, not less.

That's Right - There are none. Doesn't it make sense to talk with the friendly folk at Thumb National?

Farm labor management meeting set

There will be a farm labor management meeting Jan. 24 and 31 at the Colony House, M-53, Cass City, starting at 9:30 a.m.

The two-day meeting is designed to help farmers hire and train employees.

Dr. John Speicher, dairy department specialist from Michigan State University, has spent much time looking at farm labor and what the employee wants. He has also compared this with industry surveys. He, along with the regional agent, will discuss hiring, training and motivating the employee.

Speicher and Bill Bortel, Tuscola County extension director, will talk about the wage package to present to an employee, which will include an incentive program, or how to get more for what you pay your employee.

Registration forms are available at county Cooperation Extension offices. Registration fee is $12, which covers two lunches, materials and the meeting room.

Rites held for Jennie Hutchinson

Jennie Eleanor Hutchinson of Cass City passed away Friday at Provincial House after a short illness.

She was born Sept. 21, 1888, in Canada, the daughter of Eli and Carrie Leek. She came to the Cass City area as a small child with her parents from Oakland county.

Miss Leek graduated from Cass City High School in 1908 and taught school for a short time before she married Frank Hutchinson Oct. 6, 1909, at her parents' Kingston township home.

For the past 52 years they made their home on a farm on Cemetery Road. Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary in October.

She was a member of the Trinity United Methodist Church for more than 70 years and was a life member of the United Methodist Women.

Mrs. Hutchinson is survived by her husband, Frank; one son, Grant Hutchinson of Cass City; two grandsons, two great-grandsons, and two great-granddaughters. One brother, Gordon, one sister, Ethel, and one grandson, Grant Jr., preceded her in death.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon from Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with Rev. P. Thomas Wachterhauser of the Trinity United Methodist Church officiating.

Burial was in Elkland Cemetery.

PEDALING AROUND

Nobody is perfect

By Mike Eliasohn

This seems to be a time for dwelling on our mistakes -- that is, those of the Chronicle and other newspapers (See last week's and this week's letters to the editor.) Hopefully, newspapers' errors are of the type that one can either forget or laugh about later.

The worst mistake I remember making (hopefully, there haven't been worse ones I have forgotten about) was when I worked for the Three Rivers Commercial.

It was a story about a school board setting its millage rates. In computing the total, I added the operating millage and the debt levy millage and then mistakenly added the allocated operating millage, (9 mills), which was already included with the extra voted millage for the total operating levy. I thus ended up reporting the grand total as being 9 mills higher than it actually was, something like 36 mills instead of the actual 27.

What made the situation somewhat amusing was that the other daily in the county and a weekly "borrowed" my story, so they also published the wrong amount. The Commercial printed a correction. I don't know what the others did.

Also in Three Rivers, I once did a preview story about an upcoming public hearing in one of the area townships about a controversial issue. The lead of my story was something like: "Tuesday will be a public hearing..." But when I wrote the headline, I said the public hearing would be on a Monday.

It's only on small newspapers, by the way, that reporters get the opportunity (sometimes) to write heads for their own stories. On larger newspapers, editors do the headline writing (and maybe on real big papers, they have persons who only write headlines). In the rush of getting the paper out, it happens that on occasion the editor writes a headline that says something opposite from what the story says. Editors usually don't have time to read the whole story, so write the head after reading only the first few paragraphs.

One of the great goofs at the Three Rivers Commercial was done by someone other than myself. It was on the social page, on which there were two photographs, both the same size. One was of a couple celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary and the other was of a couple who had just been wed.

As you can no doubt guess, the pictures got in the wrong place -- the wedding photo with the anniversary story and vice-versa.

What made the situation so embarrassing was that the new bride in the photo was one of our staff reporters -- and the fellow who actually put the photo negatives in the wrong holes on the page negative had been to the wedding (as a spectator).

The mistake was noticed as soon as the first papers came off the press and our society editor immediately ran to the pressroom, only about 30 feet away, and yelled, "Stop the presses!" which normally only happens in Hollywood movies about the newspaper business.

The presses were stopped and the photo negatives put in their proper places, which is more complicated than it sounds. A correction, with the photos in their proper places, was run the next day for the benefit of persons who received early editions.

As for the reaction of our reporter -- well, she actually wasn't our reporter any longer as she had quit to move to another state with her new husband.

Hopefully, they have all three versions (the wrong one, the right one and the correction) in their wedding scrap book and can laugh about it now.

Cow and gasoline among rash of thefts in area

Theft of a 2½-year-old Holstein cow from his barn was reported to Caro state police Jan. 8 by Francis DeLong of Englehart Road, Cass City.

DeLong said the heifer was stolen the night of Jan. 2-3 and was worth $1,500. About $900 worth of gasoline was removed from a 15,000 gallon storage tank in Ubyly between Dec. 28 and Jan. 2, according to police in that village.

The tank belongs to S.T. & H. Oil Co. of Bad Axe. The loss was discovered by an employee, Raymond J. O'Henley, who found a pipe coupler next to the valve on the tank loose. Further investigation found about 900 fewer gallons of gasoline in the tank than there should have been.

Sheriff's deputies believe two acts of vandalism committed in Kingston township the night of Jan. 8-9 may have been committed by the same person or persons as identical tire tracks were discovered at the scene of both incidents. Both were reported Wednesday morning, Jan. 9.

Marie Viau of 2809 English Road told deputies two windows were broken out in the front of her house prior to 7:30 a.m. Damage was estimated at $25.

James S. O'Brien Jr. of 4630 Silvernail Road reported eight tires on two vehicles parked outside his home were punctured. The damage was done prior to 6:30 a.m. The tires were worth a total of $40, but were believed repairable.

What was originally reported to be an assault with a knife in Gagetown turned out to be something less, but still serious. The incident took place at 11:12 p.m. Friday.

Village police officer Bill Sovey said two juveniles who had been drinking got in a fight and one knocked the other to the ground. The youth landed on some broken glass and suffered a severe cut, which reportedly required 40 stitches to mend. He was treated at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

The fight stemmed from a party that got out of hand, Sovey indicated. Saturday morning he was called to the Lincoln Street residence where it was held to investigate some fuses being loosened, which caused the furnace to go out, which resulted in some pipes freezing.

Saturday night in Gagetown, a person at a residence overdosed on a combination of alcohol and pills, according to the officer. The victim was taken to Hills and Dales and was kept overnight.

Cathryn Marie Anker of 5242 N. Cedar Run Road, Cass City, reported to sheriff's deputies last Thursday that the battery, worth $60, combination AM-FM radio and 8-track tape player, $180, and two stereo speakers, value unlisted, were stolen from her car sometime from Jan. 1-3.

The car had been in an accident and was parked at Elbers Ford Sales in Reese when the theft occurred.

John Misico of Pike Street, Ubyly, recently reported to village police there that 20 white pine and spruce trees on his property had been cut down or damaged. They were worth $300.

Lawrence Rutkowski told Ubyly police various tools worth a total of $110 were stolen from his pickup while parked outside his residence on Weaver Street.

Cass City police arrested Timothy G. Phillips, 74, of 4533 West Street, at 2:35 a.m. Sunday on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor. His car was stopped on Main Street near the railroad tracks.

He was taken to the county jail in Caro and released later that day on bond pending appearance in district court.

Richard Shaft of Williamston reported to Cass City police Sunday morning that the magnetic mount citizens band radio antenna was stolen from his car during the night while it was parked behind Bigelow's Hardware. It was worth $40.

Cass City school bus driver Henry Ciesielski told village police Sunday afternoon that the CB antenna was stolen from his bus, parked by the intermediate school since late Friday afternoon. Loss was put at $25.

Ricky Hartwick of Bay City-Forestville Road reported to Cass City police last Thursday that five 4-by-8-foot sheets of plywood were taken from his pickup while it was parked from 11:30 a.m.-noon outside Cass City Auto Supply. The plywood was worth a total of $20.

Theft of a package containing five or six record albums from his mailbox was reported to the sheriff's department last Wednesday afternoon by Mike Armbruster of 5859 Bevans Rd., Kingston. The records were worth $30.

The world makes way for the man who knows where he's going.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Elkland township is one of the safest places to live in Tuscola county, according to a study recently completed by Michigan State Police from the Caro Post.

Lloyd Severance, 58, Evergreen township farmer, was unanimously elected chairman of the Sanilac County Board of Commissioners during the board's organizational meeting.

Walter E. Walpole, chairman of the board and president of Walbro Corp., announced the acquisition of Auburn Die Cast Corp. of Auburn. The firm manufactures aluminum and magnesium die castings.

Raymond Garety, cable splicer for General Telephone at Cass City, recently completed a technical course at Muskegon in cable fault location.

If all present plans under consideration by the Cass City School Board materialize, district taxpayers will be seeing some heavy expenditures for plant and ground improvements this year.

Dennis Loren, were born to Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Rienstra of Cass City. Identical twins are about one out of every thousand twins born. Their father is fieldman for Nestle's Milk Products, Inc., at Cass City.

Smith Hutchinson is the new president of the Farm Produce Co. and Bruce Brown was chosen a director to serve for the remainder of the year. Joseph E. Crawford was elected vice-president to fill vacancy left by Hutchinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Doerr left Wednesday for Washington, D.C., to attend the inaugural ceremonies for President Roosevelt and the inaugural ball.

Sgt. Ralph R. Robinson is in a hospital in England. He was just recently promoted to sergeant and wrote to his parents, G. W. Robinson, of Evergreen, about the commendation from his commanding officer to members of the regiment for outstanding accomplishments during their last attack.

The Tuscola Draft Board has received instruction to send 293 2-C registrants, 18 to 26 years of age, to Detroit for pre-induction physical examinations.

Few good ideas live long unless they are put to work.

TEN YEARS AGO

An election to decide if the operating engineers union will continue to represent cooks, custodians and bus drivers in the Cass City schools will be held Monday at the high school.

Novesta township's junk car ordinance was upheld last week in Tuscola County District Court.

Judge Norman H. Baguley, Lapeer, told members of the Cass City Rotary Club, as he spoke at the New Gordon Hotel, about how drugs and addiction are now in the county and area.

If a full program is run at Cass City High School in 1970-71, it will cost more to do it than it has this year and almost certainly call for extra millage to accomplish it.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Eli D. Holes will come to Cass City High School Monday to take over duties as assistant principal. He replaces Harold Oatley, who recently resigned.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hartzell will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday with an open house at their home in Owendale.

W. E. Walpole, president of Walbro Corp., revealed that the average weekly payroll at the corporation is now about $4,500.

Supervisors for Tuscola County set the 1955 county budget at $401,368 during the final day of their January session. This amount is $14,609 less than the county spent in 1954. If the county is able to hold to the budget, the county deficit will be reduced to $31,105 by the end of 1955.

Presbyterian church picks
new officers

The annual meeting of the Fraser Presbyterian church was held Sunday, starting at 1 p.m. with the pastor, Rev. Robert Von Oeyen presiding.

Annual reports were given by various organizations of the church and officers were elected for the coming year as follows:

Elders for three years -- Mrs. Theda Seeger and Arthur Battel.

Trustee for three years -- Lynn Spencer.

Treasurer -- Mrs. Henry McLellan.

Auditing committee members -- Mr. and Mrs. James Brown.

Three members from the congregation at large were elected to serve on the nominating committee for the coming year -- Mrs. Harold Ballagh, Mrs. Effie Stevens and Karen Ballagh.

There was a potluck dinner served between the morning worship service and the annual meeting.

Funeral held for Velma
Woodard, 68

Velma Leota Woodard of Cass City passed away Friday at the Tuscola County Medical Care Facility in Caro after a long illness.

She was born Nov. 11, 1911, in Elmwood Township, the daughter of Melvin and Jennie (Perry) O'Dell.

Miss O'Dell married James M. Woodard Aug. 13, 1933, in Cass City. Following their marriage, they made their home in Caro, then in Lakeland, Fla. They came to Cass City in 1941.

Mrs. Woodard attended the Holbrook Baptist Church.

She is survived by her husband, Jim; two brothers, William O'Dell of Cass City and Carmen O'Dell of Flint; two sisters, Mrs. Milton (Leta) Gelatt and Mrs. Jack (Verna) Spencer, both of Cass City; and a number of nieces and nephews. One brother, Harland, preceded her in death.

Funeral services were conducted Monday at 3 p.m. from Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with Rev. Dale Bird of the Holbrook Baptist Church officiating.

Burial was in Novesta Cemetery.

Your Neighbor says

Grain embargo was right thing to do

President Carter was right in ordering an embargo on further grain sales to the Soviet Union in retaliation for that nation's invasion of Afghanistan, says Edsel Connell.

"I was for that before he proposed it," he commented. "I didn't vote for him, but I'm all for him doing that."

Connell admits the President's action may hurt farmers, "but there's always going to be an impact on somebody."

He also supports the other moves taken by President Carter, and favors either a boycott of the summer Olympics, scheduled to be held in Moscow, or moving them to some other country.

"Some of these athletes have been looking forward to this (the Olympics) their whole lives," the retired bus driver admitted, but explained he had some friends who went off to fight in World War II. They too were looking forward to doing certain things, but never returned from the war.

Connell also favors supplying arms to the Afghans resisting the Russians, in fact, doing everything "short of going in (and fighting) and as a matter of fact, it may come to that."

Edsel Connell -- who never owned a car by that name -- retired in October, 1978, after 37 years, five-months and two days with Greyhound. He works part-time for Little's Funeral Home.

He and his wife, Fern, live on Decker Road, Decker. They have two children and three grandchildren.

Bean growers meet in Sandusky

A Sanilac County Bean Growers educational meeting will be held Friday at 9:30 a.m. at the VFW Building in Sandusky.

The meeting is sponsored by Sanilac County Bean Growers' Association and the Sanilac County Cooperative Extension Service.

All interested bean growers and their wives are invited. Free lunch will be provided by the Sanilac County agri-businesses.

Dr. Meggitt, Michigan State University, will discuss herbicides for beans and other cash crops. Dr. Wayne Adams, plant breeder from MSU, will discuss new upright direct harvest varieties.

A presentation by Dr. Don Christenson will focus on improving net income by following some accepted practices.

Clark now a corporal

Marine Cpl. James K. Clark, son of Eva Tkacz of 3539 Seventh Street, Owendale, has been promoted to his present rank while serving with the 1st Marine Division, Camp Pendleton, Calif. He joined the Marines in August, 1976.

AROUND THE FARM

Savings on the farm

By Don Kebler

During the 20th century, except during the two World Wars and in the early 70s, American farmers have had to operate with "tight-belt" efficiency. So we are talking about twenty years in the last eighty.

Whenever the topic of conversation is "farm income, profit, costs, etc.," I try to think of some way the operator can save money in order to receive a higher net return.

Sometimes cost savings amount to pennies per unit and other times dollars per unit. Either way, it is saving. I once heard it said, "It is not the dollars we squander, it is the pennies." The dollars we are more careful in spending and the pennies we let slip thru our fingers.

One way farmers, like their non-farm business counterparts, make use of income tax savings is by using capitalized asset purchases. However, there is one restriction on this system. Either the purchase money or credit runs out or the machinery is too new to require an economic trade.

As far as cropping costs, I don't believe there is a farmer who couldn't reduce this cost some place. For example, I wonder how many fuel dollars are lost annually just by letting power equipment run unattended.

Another example where crop costs can be reduced is in agriculture chemicals. I have seen farmers using herbicides and insecticides not recommended for effective controls, making mixes not to the amounts to effect a control or applying them improperly.

Buying the wrong chemical is costly in itself, let alone buying another to achieve the control the first one didn't.

I see a considerable number of farmers still applying too much fertilizer or in the wrong ratios. Even though Michigan State University soil tests are taken and recommendations made, they are not followed.

I see where the average pounds of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash used in 1978 by our sugar beet growers was 78, 156 and 125 pounds respectively. The average yield for that year's crop was about 19 tons per acre. If I was to make the fertilizer recommendation, used in '78, the soil test would have shown no phosphorus, no more than 160 pounds of potash per acre (plus nitrogen according to the formula).

The average Michigan State University soil test results show higher soil tests of phosphorus and potassium than this, and lower fertilizer recommendations than the average used for a 19 ton per acre sugar crop. Therefore, some beet growers are using more fertilizer than needed for the yields obtained.

These are just a few examples of cost savings farmers are overlooking. Every dollar saved helps.

Concert set to aid Combodians

Rick Bonfim, Brazilian guitarist and soloist and an ordained minister in the United Methodist Church, will present a 1½-hour concert Sunday, Jan. 27, at 7:30 p.m. in the Laker High School auditorium.

Proceeds in excess of expenses will be given to the United Methodist Cambodian Relief Fund.

Bonfim has taken his music ministry to 45 states and six foreign countries in the past 12 years, during which he has performed more than 2,000 concerts.

The Jan. 27 concert is sponsored by the 17 United Methodist churches of the upper Thumb and the Top of the Thumb Leisure Ministries, which is supported by 42 churches.

Tickets are available in advance at United Methodist churches or at the door, starting at 7 p.m. The high school is between Pigeon and Elkton on M-142.

Hearing set for senior citizens

The Region VII Area Agency on Aging will hold a community forum Friday, Jan. 25, at the Lamotte Township Hall on Shover Road near Hemans from 2-4 p.m.

It will be one of four such meetings held in the 14 counties served by the agency.

Purpose of the forums is to give older persons the opportunity to express their opinions about the problems facing senior citizens.

While the agency will not be able to resolve all the problems discussed at the forums, the thoughts and ideas expressed will assist it in identifying and establishing priorities for action in the future.

Comments received will help the agency develop its activities plan for the next three years.

Few power outages from winds

Strong winds Friday resulted in a relatively few power outages, none of which were in the Cass City area.

George Anderson, Detroit Edison supervisor for Tuscola county, said the outages were mostly reported in the Vassar area of Tuscola county (193 customers), Verona, Colfax and Mead townships (northwest of Bad Axe) in Huron county (285 customers) and in the eastern portion of Sanilac county.

Thumb Electric Cooperative Manager John Kutter reported 15-20 outages at individual locations, most of which were in Huron county.

Kelley named to veterans' committee

The board of trustees of the Michigan Veterans Trust

Geiger named class leader

Sixteen members of the Progressive class of Salem U.M. church attended the Jan. 10 meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Stoutenburg.

David Loomis presided at the business meeting. Officers were elected for the coming year as follows: president, Ronald Geiger; vice-president, Eldon Stoutenburg; secretary, Mrs. Dale Buehrly, and treasurer, Mrs. Stoutenburg.

At the close of the meeting, a potluck lunch was served.

Fund has announced the reappointment of Grant W. Kelley of 1767 Sunrise Drive, Caro, to continue serving on the Tuscola County Veterans Trust Fund Committee as the Disabled American Veterans representative, for a term ending Dec. 31, 1982.

Last year, the Tuscola county committee assisted 131 veterans, widows and dependents of veterans, for a total of $16,654.

Throughout the state, county committees assisted 32,817 veterans, widows and dependents, with a total expenditure of $2.47 million.

HEALTH TIPS

Winter brings own special health ills

Frank Chappell
Science News Editor

Winter presents some special hazards to health and physical comfort that aren't around the rest of the year.

First, there is the cold. The trick to surviving extreme cold is to be properly dressed. Layers of clothing are better than one very heavy garment. Proper socks and footwear are vital.

Frostbite is a constant threat for those who are outdoors very much in sub-freezing cold. Frostbite creeps up on you before you know it. Ask a friend or relative to watch your cheeks and nose and ears for greyish, whitish spots. If one appears, get indoor fast.

Don't rub the affected part. Let it thaw gradually. Ignore the old advice of rubbing it with snow. That only makes things worse, the American Medical Association points out.

There are more colds and more flu in the winter. Actually these are virus infections that do not depend on the weather. We sometimes get a cold in the summer, too. But there are a lot more in the winter.

A cold can't be cured once it starts. There are medicines that relieve the discomfort while the virus is running its course. Bed rest usually helps the sufferer to feel better. Just remember the guy who tells you he can cure your cold is talking through his hat.

If the sore throat, headache, fever and general discomfort that goes with colds or flu become unbearable, you may wish to see your doctor. He may prescribe additional medicines to alleviate the symptoms.

If the colds and flu persist, or recur frequently, there may be a basic health problem. Your doctor may order a full physical examination, complete with blood and urine laboratory tests, to try to get at the cause.

Cold air dries out when warmed to comfortable temperature. You may need to add to the indoor humidity in your home or office. If your skin becomes dry and itchy, use creams or lotions.

For most of us, there is no health hazard in keeping indoor temperature in the 60s, as urged by the government to conserve fuel. For some older persons, the 60s might be unhealthy. If you have doubts, ask your doctor.

Committee to study nuclear waste disposal

By Warren M. Hoyt
Mich. Press Association

Governor William G. Milliken has appointed a special committee to study the impact of a national program on high-level nuclear waste disposal.

Milliken said the panel is needed because Michigan, which generates nuclear waste from power plants and medical treatments, has an obligation to work with others to resolve the waste disposal problem.

Heading the committee will be William Taylor, the governor's science advisor. Milliken said the committee will consider the possibility and appropriateness of nuclear waste research in the state.

Michigan law prohibits the disposal of nuclear waste and according to the governor and legislative leaders, the state is not to be considered as a dump site. The committee will also have to study the relationship the legal prohibition on nuclear waste has on other federal activities.

Collective Bargaining

A final decision on collective bargaining for state classified workers will be made early in 1980, according to state Personnel Director Richard Ross.

He said collective bargaining will lead to a "new approach" for civil service workers during the new decade.

"Change is inevitable. Employees say they want the guaranteed right to bargain collectively on their compensation. The time for decision is here," he said.

Ross has been charged by the Civil Service Commission with developing a proposal that will replace the current "meet and confer" system, used since 1976, that determines state workers' pay.

The commission said it was their intent that a collective bargaining system, acceptable to both workers and state government managers, be developed.

They, however, did not completely eliminate the possibility for a non-bargaining proposal as well.

A decision will be made independently of a proposed constitutional amendment allowing collective bargaining by state employees.

Several proposals for a constitutional amendment, which would have to be approved by the voters, have been suggested.

If a constitutional amendment is proposed, Ross said he would prefer a proposal made last summer by the Citizens Task Force of Civil Service Reform.

The Task force recommended collective bargaining be implemented without an amendment.

The proposal would give the Civil Service Commission final determination on proposed agreements, much as the commission now has final decision making power on proposals from the pay hearings panel.

The panel makes recommendations after receiving testimony from the state and employee groups.

Whether it be done by legislation or by constitutional amendment, it appears state workers, much like large labor groups, will soon be enjoying collective bargaining.

ORDINANCE NUMBER 102

An Ordinance To Prohibit Discriminatory Practices, Policies, and Customs in Residential Real Estate Transactions Based Upon Race, Color, National Origin, Age, Sex, Height, Weight or Marital Status, And To Provide Penalties For Violation Of The Terms Of This Ordinance.

The Village of Gagetown Ordains:

Section One. This ordinance shall be known as the Village of Gagetown Fair Housing Ordinance.

Section Two. As used in this ordinance: (a) "Real property" includes a building, structure, mobile home, real estate, land, mobile home park, trailer park, tenement, leasehold, or an interest in a real estate cooperative or condominium.

(b) "Real estate transaction" means the sale, exchange, rental, or lease of real property, or an interest therein.

(c) "Housing accommodation" includes improved or unimproved real property, or a part thereof, which is used or occupied, or is intended, arranged, or designed to be used or occupied, as the home or residence of 1 or more persons.

(d) "Real estate broker or salesman" means a person, whether licensed or not, who, for or with the expectation of receiving a consideration, lists, sells, purchases, exchanges, rents, or leases real property; who negotiates or attempts to negotiate any of those activities; who holds himself out as engaged in those activities; who negotiates or attempts to negotiate a loan secured or to be secured by a mortgage or other encumbrance upon real property; who is engaged in the business of listing real property in a publication, or a person employed by or acting on behalf of a real estate broker or salesman.

Section Three. (1) A person engaging in a real estate transaction, or a real estate broker or salesman, shall not on the basis of religion, race, color, national origin, age, sex, or marital status of a person or a person residing with that person:

(a) Refuse to engage in a real estate transaction with a person.

(b) Discriminate against a person in the terms, conditions, or privileges of a real estate transaction or in the furnishing of facilities or services in connection therewith.

(c) Refuse to receive from a person or transmit to a person a bona fide offer to engage in a real estate transaction.

(d) Refuse to negotiate for a real estate transaction with a person.

(e) Represent to a person that real property is not available for inspection, sale, rental, or lease when in fact it is so available, or knowingly fail to bring a property listing to a person's attention, or refuse to permit a person to inspect real property.

(f) Print, circulate, post, mail, or otherwise cause to be published a statement, advertisement, notice, or sign, or use a form of application for a real estate transaction, or make a record of inquiry in connection with a prospective real estate transaction, which indicates, directly or indirectly, an intent to make a preference, limitation, specification, or discrimination with respect thereto.

(g) Offer, solicit, accept, use, or retain a listing of real property with the understanding that a person may be discriminated against in a real estate transaction or in the furnishing of facilities or services in connection therewith.

(2) This section is subject to Section Four.

Section Four. (1) Section Three shall not apply: (a) to the rental of a housing accommodation in a building which contains housing accommodations for not more than 2 families living independently of each other if the owner or a member of the owner's immediate family resides in one of the housing accommodations, or to the rental of a room or rooms in a single family dwelling by a person if the lessor or a member of the lessor's immediate family resides therein; (b) to the rental of a housing accommodation for not more than 12 months by the owner or lessor where it was occupied by him and maintained as his home for at least 3 months immediately preceding occupancy by the tenant and is temporarily vacated while maintaining legal residence.

(c) With respect to the age provision only to the sale, rental, or lease of housing accommodations meeting the requirements of federal, state or local housing programs for senior citizens, or accommodations otherwise intended, advertised, designed or operated, bona fide for the purpose of providing housing accommodations for persons 50 years of age or older.

(2) As used in subsection (1), "immediate family" means a spouse, parent, child, or sibling.

(3) Information relative to the marital status of an individual may be obtained when necessary for the preparation of a deed or other instrument of conveyance.

Section Five. (1) A person to whom application is made for financial assistance or financing in connection with a real estate transaction or in connection with the construction, rehabilitation, repair, maintenance, or improvement of real property, or a representative of that person, shall not: (a) Discriminate against the applicant because of the religion, race, color, national origin, age, sex, or marital status of the applicant or a person residing with the applicant.

(b) Use a form of application for financial assistance or financing or make or keep a record or inquiry in connection with an application for financial assistance or financing which indicates, directly or indirectly, a preference, limitation, specification, or discrimination as to the religion, race, color, national origin, age, sex, or marital status of the applicant or a person residing with the applicant.

(c) Subsection (1) (b) shall not apply to a form of application for financial assistance prescribed for the use of a lender regulated as a mortgagee under the national housing act, as amended, being 12 U.S.C. Sections 1701 to 1750g (Supp. 1973) or by a regulatory board or officer acting under the statutory authority of this state or the United States.

Section Six. (1) A condition, restriction, or prohibition, including a right of entry or possibility of reverter, which directly or indirectly limits the use or occupancy of real property on the basis of religion, race, color, national origin, age, sex, or marital status is void, except a limitation of use on the basis of religion relating to real property held by a religious institution or organization or by a religious or charitable organization operated, supervised, or controlled by a religious institution or organization, and used for religious or charitable purposes.

(2) A person shall not insert in a written instrument relating to real property a provision that is void under this section or honor such a provision in the chain of title.

(3) A person shall not represent, for the purpose of inducing a real estate transaction from which the person may benefit financially, that a change has occurred or will or may occur in the composition with respect to religion, race, color, national origin, age, sex, or marital status of the owners or occupants, in the block, neighborhood, or area in which the real property is located, or represent that this change will or may result in the lowering of property values, an increase in criminal or antisocial behavior, or a decline in the quality of schools in the block, neighborhood, or area in which the real property is located.

Section Seven. Any person, firm or corporation or other entity or anyone acting on their behalf who shall violate any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall, upon conviction thereof be subject to a fine of not more than One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars and the cost of prosecution thereof or be imprisoned in the county jail for a period not to exceed ninety (90) days or both such fine costs and imprisonment in the discretion of the Court. Each day that a violation is permitted to continue shall constitute a separate offense.

Section Eight. This Ordinance and the various words, sections and clauses are hereby declared to be severable. If any word, section or clause is adjudged unconstitutional or invalid, it is hereby provided that the remainder of the Ordinance shall not be affected thereby.

Section Nine. All other Ordinances or parts of Ordinances inconsistent with the provisions of this Ordinance are to the extent of such inconsistency hereby repealed.

Section Ten. This Ordinance is deemed necessary for the health, safety, and welfare of the citizens of Gagetown and is adopted at a Regular Meeting of the Village Council duly called this seventh day of January 1979, and shall become effective in twenty (20) days and is ordered to be given publication in the manner prescribed by law.

Key Laker tilt ahead

Hawk victories knot Thumb B loop race

The first of two crucial tests in the drive for the Thumb B championship for the Cass City Red Hawks comes Jan. 25 when the Lakers come to town.

With a key win over Vassar last week, Cass City moved into a tie for the lead with the Lakers and Vassar. Winner of the Laker-Hawk fracas will then need to get by Vassar to become undisputed champions.

However, the Hawks must guard against an upset this Friday when they travel to Bad Axe to play the Hatchets. On paper it appears no contest but Cass City has not been overpowering against weaker teams this season. An upset would be a severe setback in the drive for the title.

An outmanned Harbor Beach Pirate quintet battled host Cass City Red Hawks for 3 1/2 quarters Tuesday night before finally bowing to a late Hawk surge that resulted in a 65-50 Cass City victory.

Although Cass City never trailed, the game was closer than the final score indicated.

The Hawks broke out into an early 8-2 lead in the first quarter only to see the visitors tie it up at 10-10 midway through the first quarter.

That was as close as the Pirates were to get. At the end of the first period the Hawks led 16-13 in a game marked by numerous turnovers on both sides.

That's the way the game went for the rest of the first half. Harbor Beach was paced by Glenn Mausolf who played a fine game and handled the attack for his team from his guard position.

It looked as if Cass City was going to salt away the game in the third period. Paced by Tim Fahrner and Ken Martin who scored repeatedly from close in Cass City built a 41-32 bulge with 3:08 left in the quarter.

At the end of the third period it looked as if Cass City had a comfortable margin; leading 45-34. But the visitors were far from through. With Bill Maurer leading the way with two quick baskets the Pirates moved to within four points, 48-44, with 5:15 left and suddenly it was a game again.

The Hawks answered this challenge with some of the team's best basketball of the night. In the next two minutes the Hawks shoved in 10 unanswered points to wrap up the win.

Ken Martin scored 20 for Cass City and Fahrner had 12. In double figures for Harbor Beach were Maurer with 18 and Darryl Wehner with 12.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The JV squad had an easy time with the Pirate JV, leading all the way in an 80-50 decision.

VASSAR GAME

The Cass City Red Hawks moved into a tie for the lead of the Thumb B Association Friday night with a close spine tingling victory over a good Vassar Vulcan quintet. The score was 74-68 and the game was even closer than the score indicates.

The host Vulcans had a chance to send the game into overtime with just 15 seconds left on the clock. Vassar had fallen behind by six points with 1:15 left in the game but came storming back in the final seconds to pull within two points.

When the top end of a one and one was missed a rebound would have given the Vulcans the ball with time left to tie it up. But Rusty Hoag grabbed off the key rebound and put it in to ice the game. That was the ball game. A couple of charity tosses a moment later merely widened the final margin.

The game was close all the way with the lead switching back and forth constantly.

This year's edition of the Vulcans features a not too tall squad with good quickness. Coach Tom Frampton used the quickness in a full court press and it bothered the Hawks. Vassar scored several easy points on turnovers caused by its defense.

In the opening period Vassar jumped into an early lead paced by Todd Wallace who scored eight of his 11 points in the first 8 minutes and keyed Vassar's rebounding corps.

Cass City bounced back at the 4-minute mark to take a 11-10 lead only to see Vassar mount another charge behind Jim Evans to lead 26-23 at the end of the quarter.

In the first minute of the second quarter Cass City whipped in front by a point and from then on to the end of the first half first one team would forge in front and then the other. At the intermission the Vulcans were in front 35-34.

For the first time this season Cass City played some tough defense in the third quarter, to go in front. Helping make the press effective was Tim Johnson who caused two turnovers and stopped a Vulcan basket when he was inserted into the line-up.

The Hawks were ahead 59-51 midway through the third quarter and led 61-55 at the end of three quarters.

The Hawks remained in front by two to 8 points the rest of the way to claim the important victory. The closeness of the game followed tradition when Cass City plays at Vassar. Over the years the Vulcans always have presented problems for the Hawks regardless of the record of the teams.

Cass City was led by Craig Tonti who has been improving with every game since he moved into the starting line-up. He scored a game high 22 points hitting 8 of 11 shots and six of six free throws. In addition he was credited with six assists and ran the offense.

Also shining for Cass City was Ken Martin who scored 19 points and nine rebounds. Evans led Vassar with 17 points.

JV LOSSES

The Junior Varsity trailed all the way in the preliminary and lost 71-57. The Hawks were hampered because Mark Goslin was unable to play due to illness.

Anscomb: Hawks in race for volleyball crown

Cass City won a dual meet and finished fourth in an invitational at Frankenmuth in volleyball action during the week.

Saturday in the 8-team match at 'Muth the Hawks were shoved into the losers bracket in the opening round when they lost to Saginaw Lutheran Seminary, 15-3, and 16-14. After that loss Cass City defeated St. Charles, 15-1, and 15-9 and topped Freeland 15-3 and 15-7.

In the battle for third place Cass City lost to Pinconning, 15-11, and 17-15.

The invitational was won by host Frankenmuth. Pinconning finished second and Seminary was third.

In the dual meet Cass City topped USA. In the one-match meet, the Hawks dropped the first game, 15-7, and then bounced back to win the next two, 15-7, and 15-4.

Coach Michelle Anscomb said that Vickie Pobanz, Shelly Rabideau and Tammi Rabideau were perfect from the service line. The net play of Beth Sieradzki with dink spikes was outstanding.

'MUTH MEET'

Cass City lost its opening volleyball matches of the season last Wednesday to Frankenmuth, losing the first match 2-1 and in straight games in the second match.

Coach Michelle Anscomb said that the lack of good spiking cost the team the matches. She pointed to the great services of Tammie McKee and Kris Proctor in the first game as highlights of the games for the Hawks. The services paced Cass City to its only victory, 15-5.

After Cass City won that one, Frankenmuth took over winning the remaining four games. The scores were 15-10, 15-5, 15-5 and 18-16.

In the second game Sherry Bader provided some good services and in the fifth game Vickie Pobanz registered 11 for 11 from the service line.

Anscomb praised the all-around play of Beth Sieradzki and Tammi Rabideau. Despite the loss Anscomb feels that the squad is a good one and will be contenders in Thumb B Association play this year.

Returning varsity players include Sherry Bader, Tammie McKee, Beth Sieradzki, Cindy Smith, Tammi Rabideau and Vickie Pobanz.

Up from the JV squad are Julie Carpenter, sophomore Kris Proctor, Annette Robinson and Shelly Rabideau.

Players on the varsity that were not out for the club last year include Dawn Herron, Krys Meeker, Lori Gohsman, Laurie Hartsell and Padgett Randall.

Saturday the Hawks will host the Cass City Invitational starting at 10 a.m. with games running throughout the day. Cass City plays Harbor Beach. It is a round robin tourney and there are 8 teams entered.

Schedule:

Jan. 21	Akron-Fair, here

Third row: Coach Anscomb, Krys Meeker, Dawn Herron, Vickie Pobanz, Padgett Randall, Tammie McKee.

Improving Hawk grapplers paced by Paul Brown

Cass City finished fourth in an 8-team tourney Saturday at Marysville that Coach Russ Biefer said was the toughest of the year.

The event was won by Yale with 150 points. Birch Run notched 125 1/2 while Lakeville posted 123 1/2. Cass City had 100 points for its fourth place finish.

Paul Brown, Biefer says, has developed into a first rate wrestler. He won his weight class by winning 3 matches. His record is now 10-2-1.

Phil Harmer finished second. He was defeated by a good wrestler, Pat Parberg, from Birch Run. Harmer's record is 6-3. He is a dependable, hard working wrestler, according to his coach.

Another Hawk doing a fine job, Biefer says, is Mark Dolecki. He finished third, winning three and losing one. A year makes a big difference. Last year Dolecki was 1-10 and this year he is 10-4.

Co-captain Bob Warju finished second. He wrestles at 145 pounds and has a record of 11-3.

Biefer says that his most aggressive wrestler is Jim Nicol. Wrestling at 185 pounds he finished second.

For the season he is 8-4 and his lack of experience is his only drawback.

Guy Nanney is the other co-captain. He is the heavy-weight and finished third. His season record is 13-3 and he has 10 pins.

DEFEAT LAKERS

With 10 pins Cass City ran roughshod over Lakers in a dual match Monday, 60-15. Nanney recorded the fastest pin of the year as he won in just 9 seconds.

The results: 98 Jeff Papp (CC) pinned Dave Arsenault (L)

105 Tom Lefler (CC) won by forfeit

112 Phil Harmer (CC) pinned Troy King (L)

119 Mark Dolecki (CC) pinned Randy Ferguson (L)

126 Jim Clabuesal (L) forfeit

132 Jeff Barry (L) decided Blake Fisher 12-11

138 Brad King (L) pinned Max Moorish

145 Bob Warju (CC) won by forfeit

155 Bob Sawdon (CC) pinned Vince Cantewac (L)

167 Dale Cleland (CC) pinned Jim Kosinski (L)

185 Jim Nicol (CC) pinned Leo McArdle (L)

198 Jim Jensen (CC)

pinned T. Gremmell (L)
H. Guy Nanney (CC) pinned Layne Henne (L)

Third row: Coach Peggy Flynn, Kathy Tuckey, Sherry Hillaker, Sally Lowe, Julie Woods, Gail Little.

CRAIG TONTI pressures a Pirate guard as the Hawks used their pressing defense more frequently Tuesday. In the games against Vassar and Harbor Beach the Cass City defense appeared to be becoming more aggressive and effective.

Showdown time in rec. loop Thursday

It will be showdown time tonight (Thursday) at 9:20 in the Cass City Recreational Basketball League. That's when Mutual of Omaha and Peoples State Bank meet, both are undefeated and the game will be for the league lead.

Mutual used its quickness against IGA last Wednesday to score an 83-50 decision to stay undefeated. The winners took advantage of many fast breaks for easy uncontested baskets.

Five players were in double figures for the winners. Dennis Fritz had 22. Other scorers were Aaron Deering, 14; Dale Ackerman, 13; Jack Paul, 10; Randy Damm, 10. For the losers Johann Schulz scored 13 and Chuck Hendrick had 12. Also in double figures were Jeff Warrack, 1 and John Hacker, 10.

In the nightcap Wednesday the other league leaders, People's, had an easy time topping Trend Vendors, 80-63. People's led 43-17 at the half. The losers closed the gap with a 32-point final period but it was too little, too late.

Scoring for the winners were Norm Stephens, 15; Jim Bates, 12; Joe Miles 12, and Chuck Peterson, 11. Pacing the losers were Randy Rife, 17; Louis Calahan, 16; Roy Calahan, 14.

After trailing by a point Gus's party store took control of the boards to top Brown's Party Store, 60-49. The game was played Thursday.

Scoring was divided for both clubs. Gus's Dave Bitzer had 13. Bret Bitzer and Mark Dost, 12 each, while Ed LaBair netted 11. For the losers Mark Schubel and Craig Miles netted 12 each.

In the final game of the week, Charmont rolled over Tuscola Advertiser, 74-51. It was close only for the first when the Advertiser led 15-13.

A 24-11 second quarter advantage gave the winners a lead they never lost. Tom McIntyre led the winners with 16. Lloyd Schinnerer scored 14, Craig Helwig, 10, and Jeff McKensie, 13. Rick Tuckey scored 17 for the losers.

Gagetown council okays fair housing ordinance

The Gagetown Village Council Jan. 7 approved a fair housing ordinance, which bans discrimination in sale, rental or lease of property because of religion, race, color, national origin, age, sex or marital status.

Passage of the ordinance is mandatory in order for the village to receive the $135,000 it has applied for in federal funds for proposed purchase of the old St. Agatha School and conversion of it into apartments for senior citizens. It isn't known yet if Gagetown will get the money.

The council also approved hiring Thomas Abbey of Caro as its new village attorney in place of Forrest Walpole, also of Caro.

Campbell: O-G Volleyball team in rebuilding year

It will be a rebuilding year for the Owen-Gage volleyball team, says the coach of the defending North Central D League champion.

On the other hand, Judy Campbell is rebuilding with players from a junior varsity squad that only lost one match last season. She coaches both the varsity and junior varsity.

Only two starters are back from the 1979 varsity, junior Becky Howard and senior Carol Goslin. Others back from last year's varsity are Mary Kay Burrows and Deb Gettel.

Gone from the team which finished 24-1 last season and didn't lose until the opening round of the regionals are starters Laurie Andrakowicz, Laurel Billy, Deb Vargo and Tammy Wissner.

As of last week, Miss Campbell, starting her fifth season at the helm, was still determining her starting lineup. She described the ex-JVs who have advanced to the varsity as "pretty promising."

Even though it will be a rebuilding year, the usually cautious coach was confident her team will finish in the top four, but didn't want to be more definitive than that.

One problem for the Bulldogs is that the competition is "definitely" getting better. In past seasons, the team has had little real competition in the league. Miss Campbell projects that Caseville and Akron-Fairgrove will be the toughest opposition this year.

Non-tournament matches start with the varsity game at 6:30 p.m., followed by the junior varsity, then the final varsity game. The first match is this Thursday at home. The schedule:

Caseville bows in loop game

Bulldogs bow to hot shooting Ubley, 77-50

Owen-Gage proved no match for a tough Ubley squad Tuesday night as the Bearcats pumped in 35 points in the first quarter and won easily, 77-50.

Fortunately for the host Bulldogs, the game against the Class C school was a non-league contest.

The Bearcats shot 68 per cent from the floor in that first quarter. Thirteen Owen-Gage turnovers in that stanza didn't help the Bulldog cause.

Ubley slowed down after that, but not by much, connecting 35 of 61 field goal shots, 57 per cent, and seven of 12 from the charity line, 58 per cent.

Ken Piehla pumped in 27 points for the visitors, followed by Terry Camp with 13 and Kevin Kauffman with 11.

Brad Erickson, Pete Klemkowski and Alan Haag each scored 12 for the Bulldogs.

Owen-Gage made 21 of 61 shots from the floor, 34 per cent, and eight of 13 from the free throw line, 61 per cent.

Klemkowski grabbed 13 rebounds for the Bulldogs to lead in that department.

The loss puts the team at 5-4 overall. Ubley is now 7-2 overall.

The Bearcat junior varsity also won, 66-52.

The Bulldogs have Friday night off. They play Tuesday at Akron-Fairgrove.

Score by quarters:

Ubley	35	22	9	11	77

CASEVILLE

Owen-Gage took advantage of numerous Eagle fouls Friday night to climb above the 500 mark in North Central D League play with a 62-55 win at Caseville.

Coach Phil Gray's Bulldogs received 37 chances at the foul line and converted on 20 of them for a 54 per cent average. In contrast, the Eagles only had five chances at the free throw line, from which they garnered three points.

From the floor, the Bulldogs shot 41 per cent, 21 of 51 shots. Their competition connected on 39 per cent, 26 of 66.

Brad Erickson had what was probably his best night ever in his high school career as the 5-7 senior collected 24 points. Pete Klemkowski scored 13 points and Alan Haag, 12.

Mike Novak scored 14 for the losers and Mike Stahl, 10.

Owen-Gage bested Caseville on the boards, collecting 49 rebounds to the latter's 32. Klemkowski and Jim Glidden each grabbed 11 for the Bulldogs.

The win elevated Owen-Gage to 3-2 in league play. The Caseville junior varsity won, 46-43.

Loss totals $45,000 in two Ubly area fires

An electric heater was the apparent cause of a fire that destroyed a double-wide mobile home near Ubly Sunday afternoon. Loss was estimated at $30,000.

The owners were Harold and Lucille McKnight, who had only been living there with their children about a month, Bingham Township Fire Chief Elmer Brahmer said.

No one was home at the time of the fire, which was discovered by a neighbor. The structure was on Munford Road, east of Jurgess Road.

The fire started about 2 p.m. and firemen were there about two hours.

Inside the gutted mobile home, Brahmer said, firemen found the plug-in type electric heater with the switch still in the "on" position and that the extension cord to it had burned itself into the rug, which led them to believe the heater was the cause of the fire.

The McKnight family was finally located about 4:45 p.m. at his mother's house on Pinnebog Road. They had left their home at 10:30 a.m.

Brahmer believed they had at least partial insurance on the structure.

PIG BARN FIRE

Loss was estimated at $15,000 in a fire that destroyed the 24-by-63-foot pig barn of Jack Tyrrell on Huron Line Road, southwest of Ubly, Thursday evening.

Lost in the blaze were 50 feeder pigs.

Cause of the fire is unknown, although Bingham Township Fire Chief Elmer Brahmer believes it may have been due to a faulty space heater.

Tyrrell told the Chronicle he and a son were inside the building feeding the pigs about a half-hour before the blaze started. The family was just sitting down to dinner when a daughter looked out the window and saw flames coming through the roof.

Contributing to the rapid destruction of the barn were 40 mile per hour winds and the foam-type insulation inside, which burns.

The metal-covered pole barn was built in 1973 and was insured, Tyrrell said. In addition to the pigs, he also lost a high pressure sprayer and some other small equipment that was stored inside.

Firemen received the call at 6:22 p.m. and were back to the fire hall at 7:45.

Bingham firemen went out a third time, at 12:20 a.m. Tuesday, to a home on Nugent Road, northwest of Ubly, because of an overheated chimney.

The chimney was connected to a wood-burning stove. Only minor smoke damage was reported.

Choices limited, Laurie says

Farm Bureau has stand on embargo

Saying that all segments of the nation must share in carrying the burden of "sacrifices needed to deal with the current national security crisis," delegates to the American Farm Bureau national convention urged President Carter to cut off all cultural and economic contacts with the Soviet Union.

The delegates didn't really think they had much choice in the position they took, according to Jack Laurie of Dodge Road, Cass City, Michigan Farm Bureau vice-president and one of its five delegates to the national convention.

The gathering was held Jan. 6-10 in Phoenix, after President Carter had announced his embargo on grain sales to Russia beyond what had already been contracted.

Laurie couldn't say that if the delegates had had a choice, whether they would have opposed an embargo.

"Everyone wants to play his part," he explained.

But if they had opposed it, it wouldn't have made a difference as the embargo had already been announced, he continued, so the action of the delegates aimed at easing the burden on farmers.

The general feeling at the convention was that in Carter's imposing of sanctions against the Soviet Union, "farmers were taking the greatest share of the burden."

The embargo is "pretty rough on farmers, who weren't doing too hot in the first place."

Noting that agriculture will suffer severe economic hardship as a result of the suspension, the Farm Bureau resolution said steps must be taken by the government to provide compensation for such losses to farm incomes.

Delegates added that "agricultural trade should not be sacrificed unless the national security demands a total suspension of all non-diplomatic relations with the USSR."

In what was termed an emergency Farm Bureau policy for 1980, the delegates asked the Carter administration and Congress to take specific steps aimed at reducing the economic hardship to farmers and ranchers.

The policy called for an immediate increase in the Commodity Credit export credit budget from $800 million to $2 billion for the 1980 and 1981 fiscal years; offering of wheat and feed grains loans and target price programs to all producers; and placing of the 17 million metric tons of embargoed grains and oilseeds in isolation.

The policy also requested revised 1980 farm program release and "call" levels be announced by Feb. 1, 1980; establishment of acreage diversion programs; legislative requirements for gradual addition of alcohol to fuels; and providing low interest loans to holders of agricultural commodities not sold due to the embargo.

Delegates also called on the President to end all business contracts, exchange programs, participation in the 1980 summer Olympic games in Moscow and "all other contacts other than diplomatic ties necessary to resolve the current situation."

They also urged Carter to seek similar sanctions against the Soviet Union from other governments throughout the world.

Telegrams outlining the Farm Bureau policy were immediately sent to the President, Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland and all members of the House and Senate.

22 million collect stamps

Educating your child for leisure is as important to her development as educating her for work. In fact, hobbies often provide a beacon and a foundation for wise vocational choices.

Stamp collecting (or philately), for instance, is a pastime for some 22 million Americans that yields a lifetime pleasure. Many stamp collections eventually acquire considerable financial value, too.

Recovers from accident

Les Nicholas says Lord gave him new life

Les Nicholas is leading a new life and he owes it to the Lord.

Without the Lord's help, he might not even have a life, for Les Nicholas came very close to dying.

It was in the early morning hours of Dec. 24, 1978, that his car went off M-81, about a mile west of Cass City, and rolled over several times as it traveled about 200 feet through the air. Nicholas was thrown out and his body was found about 30 feet from where the car came to rest. He was on his way home from a Christmas party in Caro when the accident happened. He still has no idea what caused it and has no recollection of the moments immediately before it.

Nicholas was in the intensive care unit at St. Mary's Hospital, Bay City, for a while, in critical condition. His mother, Martha, told him later that it wasn't known for some days if he would live, and if he did, whether he would return to health or he would be a vegetable.

The divorced father of two was able to return to his Sherman Street home for further recuperation in mid-January, though he said it was still a while before he was totally aware of what was going on.

His younger brother, Dan, lived with him for a while to cook meals and drive him around until he could make it on his own. His mother did his laundry.

He also got lots of flowers and cards from the many people he knew, especially in Caro, where he was the delivery driver for United Parcel Service.

He went back to work in March, although the company wouldn't let him get behind the wheel of a truck until May. He is now back at his Caro route.

EVEN THOUGH HE was back to work, his life wasn't right, and he knew it.

He was still having health problems resulting from the accident and he had no ambition.

That wasn't like Les Nicholas, who had always been extremely active and physical-fitness minded. Playing softball, baseball and basketball and hunting and fishing had been among his many activities.

"I just didn't have the drive, the fire," he explained. "I just wanted to stay home." And outside of going to work, that was about all he did.

He knew something was wrong, but he wasn't sure what. Then while watching television early last September, he found part of the answer.

The program he was watching was "The 700 Club," sort of a religious version of the Johnny Carson show (minus Johnny Carson).

A telephone number was broadcast for persons to call who needed help. Nicholas called.

He and the woman who answered prayed together over the telephone. She told him to trust the Lord and urged him to become involved with a church.

IT TOOK HIM TWO months to take the next step.

Some friends belonged to the Deford Community Church and suggested he go. It was on Nov. 4 that he went and "got saved...and ever since then, changed my life around."

What happened at the church?

The church, he explained, is "so full of life, it's like walking into another world."

He gave high praise to the members—"a great bunch of people"—and to the minister, Rev. Gerald Rodgers, and his assistant, Lewis Tibbitts, for giving him guidance.

He made his decision that day, was baptized Dec. 23 and since then has become a member of the church.

HOW HAS HIS LIFE changed since then?

Before, going to church (a different one) was an on and off thing, out of an obligation that "I had to go."

Now, "It's in my heart. Now I know it." Nicholas attends church faithfully each Wednesday and Sunday evening and Sunday morning. He is hoping he will be able to go with a church group for two weeks in February to build a building for use by missionaries.

His health has improved. Pressure on his brain used to be common but now he seldom feels it. His vision has also improved. "It just means wonders to me to have my health back. By the grace of God, I got it back."

Nicholas is again active—very active. In addition to his church activities and work, he plays on three basketball teams. One is a team from his church; the others are from Caro and Brown City.

Although he usually now wears a cross hanging from his neck most of the time—"It means a lot to me,"—he doesn't wear his religion on his sleeve.

If people ask him for help, he explained, he is more than willing to give it, but he doesn't try to push his beliefs on others. If people ask, "I just try to tell them what the Lord has done for me."

Nicholas sums up his new outlook on life very simply. "I'm more at peace at heart with everything."

GREAT BOOK—When Les Nicholas finds a quiet moment in his busy schedule, he often spends it reading the Bible.

Kitchen is high accident risk area in home

Safety should begin at home, judging from a National Safety Council statistic that one-third of the persons injured each year in the U.S. are either in the home or on the home premises.

High risk area With greater precautionary measures, this figure could be reduced—especially in particular areas of the home like the kitchen, where accident risk is high.

The Gillette Company, makers of smoke detectors and fire extinguishers designed to keep every room in the home safe from the threat of fire, has a particular concern for kitchen safety.

Because over 65 per cent of home fires start in the kitchen, special care should be taken in this room where there is a concentration of electrical appliances.

Hub of activity To keep the room that is usually the "hub of activity" safe from fire and other hazards, Gillette recommends these kitchen DOs and DON'Ts.

• DON'T overload sockets by plugging too many power-hungry appliances into one outlet. And remember to install outlets high enough above the counter so that water can't get into them.

• DO hang a knife rack in a convenient spot out of children's reach to avoid injury to curious little hands.

• DO install a fire extinguisher on a wall next to the stove for easy reach. Never install one over the stove, where a surface fire could prevent you from reaching the safety unit.

• DO keep floor space clean and free from hazardous toys or other objects that might literally "trip you up."

• DON'T use an electric mixer or another small appliance next to a kitchen sink filled with water, where it might slip in and you would be apt to reach for it.

• DO check plugs and cords often for signs of wear.

• DO have a towel rack placed where it should be

—by the sink—for easy access to wipe up dripping slippery puddles on the floor.

• DON'T toss flammable hot pads carelessly over an electric range where they might start a fire on a burner that has been turned off but is still hot. Place a hook to hang hot pads close to the range so one can be grabbed quickly if necessary.

• DO keep a small first-aid kit in a drawer in the kitchen for easy reach.

• DON'T wait until after accidents happen to tell children the rules on kitchen safety.

Seek out energy savers

Homeowners planning to renovate their kitchens will find some surprising innovations in appliances, especially power-saving features and improved insulation.

One energy-saving refrigerator uses about a third less electricity than other models not equipped with its special thermostatically controlled motor.

While it is true that the amount of electricity consumed by a refrigerator each operating hour is a modest amount, it's also true that it is operated twenty-four hours around the clock for 365 days a year.

Even though frost-free refrigerators do use more kilowatts of energy annually than non-frost-free models, they avoid the extra energy drain resulting from frost accumulation.

Today's power-saving refrigerators also preserve food longer during power failures, which become alarmingly more common each year.

Naturally, there's a higher price tag on these models, but operating savings in the long run more than repay the initial purchase price, according to the National Home Improvement Council.

Deadline extended

The Veterans Administration says that April 1, 1981 has been set as the new deadline for military personnel separated before Jan. 1, 1965 with undesirable discharges to apply to the Department of Defense for discharge review.

The old deadline was January 1, 1980.

Applications for discharge review, DD Form 293, can be obtained from VA regional offices, veterans service organizations and military installations.

Mistakes we almost made

Dear Mike,

It seems to be a popular pastime these days to "count the errors in the publication." (Frankly, I find it a little scary to think there are people out there combing the Chronicle for errors. I hope they realize that we DO try hard; however, being human, we err.)

At any rate, I thought our readers might be amused to read some of the blunders we almost made.

For starters, from the Holbrook news: "Mrs. Ralph Hoxie was a Friday lynch guest of Lynn Spencers." And at a party, "Mrs. Doug Britt was the door prize."

A very candid observation regarding an engagement announcement: "The fate of the wedding is indefinite." And weddings are not exempt: "The bride's gown of sheer organza was derailed by lace." Another bridal gown was "accented by a yolk on the bodice." "The groom's moth wore a peach gown" and "the flower girl dropped pedals in the aisle."

Regarding a new pastor and his family: "They will be living in a hole on the church property."

The want ads are not only newsy, sometimes they're ridiculous, e.g., "Horse for sale with aluminum siding, 8 yrs. old." "Lively 3 bedroom home on quiet street." "Four bedroom home, lots of storage, 24 baths." And a 3 bedroom home for sale boasted "1600 Andersen windows."

The boss almost exclaimed in his column, "It's pleasant to have sings on every crossroad." A statement from your own column, Mike, regarding Bruce Jenner came out thus: "Good grief! It's been 22222222 years since he won that title."

The sheriff's report revealed, "There were 1,383 persons lodged in the county jail, of which 110 were women and 773 were reporters."

Just a few other miscellaneous boo-boos that DIDN'T make the paper: "Having a long judge in the county would affect the need for a second courtroom." "The group of high school students presents scared music." "Demonstrations include comparison of fertilizers, sugar beet breeding program and soul management." "The crows was small because of the weather." "You'll want to be on hand for the crowing of the bean queen." "The artist pants mostly 'when I feel inspired'."

These are just a few that didn't get away. Add the number of humans that handle a single piece of news to the fact that the typesetting machines occasionally go awry and I suppose we're lucky we don't have a lot more sources of embarrassment than we do, in the Chronicle or any other publication.

Respectfully,
Your humble proofreader,
Melva Gunther

Elkland twp. meeting is routine

Business at the Elkland Township Board meeting Monday evening was routine, with the fire department and the possibility of installing new door locks at the fire hall being among the subjects of discussion. No action was taken on anything.

It was reported that painting of the inside of the office-meeting room portion of the fire hall may be completed next week.

First baby of 1971 doing well

To the editor,

Please find enclosed a photo of Kelly Lynn Barrios, "Baby New Year" of 1971. She was born at Hills and Dales General Hospital Jan. 2, 1971 at 9:41 a.m.

KELLY LYNN BARRIOS

She now lives in North Branch and is in the 3rd grade.

Kelly is the oldest of three children of David and Nancy Barrios of North Branch. Her brother is Michael; he's 7. Her sister, Kerry Anne, is 5.

Kelly is enrolled in tap dance classes at Cindy Marsh dance school in Marlette.

Thanks;

Meredith Auten remembers

The Delta Epsilon fraternity at Bowdoin College made me the fraternity nurse.

The Friars offered a cup to the fraternity with the highest academic average for four semesters.

Dean Sills and I were good friends and I would go to him semi-occasionally and he would tell me if any of my fraternity brothers were down in their work.

I would assign one of the upper classmen to tutor and as a consequence, we had no one flunk in our fraternity. We had the highest average four times straight and thereby won the Friar's Cup.

I might add that while I didn't get Phi Beta Kappa, I did graduate cum laude and the DE's had more Phi Beta Kappas than all of the other frats put together.

I won a scholarship to Harvard given by the National City Bank in 1912, but sometime around the first of 1913, the cashier left the bank and Father needed me home. He really didn't know what he was getting into.

On getting home, I was made village clerk. I joined the Masons and was a steward in 1915, a junior warden in 1916 and worshipful master in 1917. That took a lot of studying.

I took the Buick agency in 1913. I had only $100, which I deposited with Garber Buick in Saginaw.

I sold the first car to Arch

Hitchcock. I told Arch his car was ready in Saginaw and asked if he wanted to go get it.

He replied, "No, I'll trust you to get it."

I said, "Well, do you want to pay for it. I can't get it unless you give me the money." He said, OK, but he thought it is a pretty good man who paid for a car before he got it.

In 1915, I got the agency from Bert Smith of Caro for Ford. I had to take four cars. I tried to get Charlie Striffler and P. S. McGregory to go into a partnership and put up the money.

Father asked me if there was something wrong with my head and proclaimed, "I'm not going to fill my bank with a lot of automobile paper."

Somehow I got the money and took those fellows with me to bring back the cars.

I recall asking Lester Bailey if he had ever driven a car. He said he hadn't, but had ridden a bicycle. He got into the car. I started the motor, showed him the foot pedals and started him toward Cass City. We got the four Fords to Cass City OK.

Of course, there were no paved roads at that time, and the roads were ruts with grass in the middle. At Smith Hutchinson's, there was a huge tree in the middle of the road, the road going by on both sides.

Activities numerous at church

Ten senior-high youth of the First Presbyterian Church gathered there Friday night for a sleep-over. With them were the leader, Lori Opansenko, and Rev. Harry Capps. Work for the evening was dismantling of the church Christmas tree.

Forty-three from the church, 33 of whom were youth, attended the Shrine circus in Saginaw Saturday. Tickets for the outing were provided by a member of the congregation who is a Shriner.

Circle 4 of the Presbyterian Women's Association met Monday morning with Karen Fischer. Ten members attended. Time was spent working on craft projects.

A "Scottish Ceilidh" party will be held this Saturday evening at the church from 6-10 p.m. There will be a potluck supper featuring Scottish food. There will be bagpipe music and dancing by the Cass City Highlanders.

Heat bills drive some to welfare office

By Mike Ellasohn

A mild winter notwithstanding, the high cost of heating fuel has driven some persons to a place they have never been before -- the welfare office.

The number of persons who have applied for emergency assistance to help pay heating bills, not all of whom are on welfare, has taken a sharp turn upward, according to Onalee Detwiler, director of the Tuscola County Department of Social Services.

In December, 97 persons applied for assistance under the department's emergency needs program, which is funded by the state and federal governments.

The program covers all emergencies, including utility shutoffs, food, shelter, etc.

No breakdown is made, but Mrs. Detwiler said the majority of those applying needed the money to pay heating bills. Of the 97 who applied, 65 requests were approved and four were withdrawn by the applicants.

Those numbers compared to only two who applied and whose requests were approved in December, 1978. Persons applying for emergency needs assistance don't have to be on welfare.

Eligibility is based on income and property owned. Amount of the grant depends on the need. A homeowner behind on paying fuel oil bills, for instance, would receive the minimum amount of money necessary in order to get his supplier to resume deliveries.

Persons presently receiving public assistance do get some money to pay heating bills, but it is nowhere enough to pay the total cost.

For a four-person household receiving Aid to Dependent Children, according to Assistance Payments Supervisor Tom Dillon, the family gets $292 a month for personal needs (food, clothing, etc.) $145 for shelter, $27 for utilities and $52 to pay for heat. If that isn't enough, they must borrow from their other accounts.

If that still isn't enough, they can apply for an emergency needs allocation.

The emergency needs program is only one of several government programs to help low-income persons cope with the high cost of keeping warm. None, however, pay much, compared to the total fuel bill for the winter for most homes.

One of the programs is home weatherization, described in the above story.

PERSONS RECEIVING ADC or general assistance will receive a one-time only payment later this month from state DSS, the money coming from the Federal Energy Assistance Program (FEAP).

Those who pay heating bills indirectly, such as through their rent, will receive a payment of $180 if they have fuel oil heat and $135 if the heating source is natural gas or any other type of fuel.

Those who pay their heating bills directly will receive the same amount, depending on type of heating fuel used, in the form of an "energy certificate," which lists the recipient's name, address and case number.

The recipient will then pay his fuel dealer or utility with the certificate, who then returns the certificate to the DSS for payment.

PERSONS WHO RECEIVE federal Supplemental Security Income recently received a special energy check for $177 to help pay heating bills. The only ones not receiving the checks will be SSI recipients living in institutions, such as nursing homes. Payments were mailed to those living in foster homes. (Persons on SSI who also receive public assistance will get the SSI special checks but not the ones from the FEAP.)

The SSI program is administered by the Social Security Administration. SSI recipients are blind, disabled or 65 and over who qualify for other reasons. There were 999 such beneficiaries in Tuscola county, 604 in Huron and 574 in Sanilac as of December, 1978, the latest month for which statistics are available.

THE FINAL FEDERAL program is the Energy Crisis Assistance Program (ECAP), administered in the upper Thumb by the Human Development Commission in Caro.

According to its administrator, Judy Murphy, the program is designed to fill in the gaps left by the other programs.

The HDC has received a grant of $342,201, enough to serve 1,200 households, which she doesn't think will be enough. As of Friday, 314 applications had been processed, with probably 350 having applied. The program ends May 30.

To be eligible for ECAP, a family's income must be at or below 125 per cent of the poverty guideline (or the head of the household must be receiving SSI). For a non-farm family of four, 125 per cent of the poverty guideline comes to $8,375.

The most anyone can receive is $320, which is if the homeowner has fuel oil heat. For natural gas, the payment is $280, plus $40 more should he or she have some source of supplemental heat.

However, those are also the maximum amounts allowable for all federal aid combined. In other words, any monies received through the other federal programs is deducted from the $320 or $280.

There is no allowance made for the size of the structure being heated. A person living in a one-room shack with a small oil heater will receive the same amount as a widow living in a 20-room house with an oil furnace.

Renters are also eligible for the program, though the allocation formula is somewhat different.

Persons who apply for ECAP are automatically referred to the HDC weatherization program. Michigan has one state program to help persons pay heating bills, the home heating tax credit. For a family with three income tax exemptions to be eligible for instance, 1979, person income can be no more than $8,000.

Local shooting called accident

Tuscola County Prosecutor Artis Noel, after reviewing all evidence, has officially decided a Dec. 28 shooting in Cass City in which two persons were injured was accidental.

Accordingly, the 15-year-old boy responsible won't be petitioned into juvenile court. Noel said the youth will be brought to his office to discuss the matter and will be referred to some government agency youth counselor for counseling.

Injured in the mishap were Darrell K. Grady, 15, of 4109 S. Seeger Street, who was released from Hills and Dales General Hospital Dec. 31, and Daniel Scott, 22, of 4860 Koepfgen Road, who was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw. As of Wednesday morning, he was reported in fair condition. The incident took place in the basement of the Grady home.

The boy responsible had loaded a shell into the 30-30 rifle and then was trying to remove it when the weapon discharged.

The bullet went through the leg of both victims, both of whom were sitting down at the time.

Weatherization program overcoming red tape blitz

The Human Development Commission's home weatherization program for low-income homeowners is slowly coming in from the cold from a blizzard of federally required paperwork.

"Some of the regulations the Department of Energy has put on us have been absolutely atrocious," said HDC Director Mary Ann Vandemark.

Because of some of those regulations, now in the process of being changed, the pace of weatherizing homes slowed, compared to what it had been when the federal program was run by the Community Services Administration (CSA).

The HDC, which serves low-income persons in Tuscola, Sanilac, Huron and Lapeer counties, had $67,000 from July, 1976 to July, 1978, which it used to weatherize 398 homes, according to Mrs. Vandemark. That was when the program was administered by the CSA.

But Congress switched administration of the program to the Department of Energy.

From December, 1977, to the end of last month (there was some overlap in funding periods by the two agencies), the HDC had $90,000 in DOE funds, with which it could only weatherize 224 homes. (Part of the difference is attributable to the amount that could be spent per home. When the program first started, under CSA, the maximum limit was $250 per home. The present limit is $1,000.)

Those figures were reflected on a national level.

According to a news release from U.S. Senator Donald Riegle, CSA spent $219 million over three years, during which time 400,000 homes were weatherized.

Since DOE took over, it weatherized 180,000 homes, yet it had more money to spend, $291 million.

The Michigan Democrat is backing legislation that would send the program back to the CSA.

The present weatherization guidelines allow the HDC to spend up to $1,000 per house, of which $560 maximum can be used for materials. HDC crews do minor repairs, if needed, and install storm windows, weatherstripping and some insulation -- generally, whatever can be done to make a home airtight with the funds available.

Those eligible for the program must own their own home and be low-income. The maximum allowable annual income for a non-farm family of four, for instance, is $8,375. Priority is presently being given to senior citizens and the handicapped (within the low-income guidelines) and to those with fuel oil heat.

THE BASIC PROBLEM with the original DOE requirements, Mrs. Vandemark said, was that they required that 90 percent of the funds available be used for materials and that all workers be paid with federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) funds and/or out of the 10 percent.

The 10 percent ($9,000 over two years) wasn't enough to cover the cost of administering the program, including filling out the required paperwork, plus pay a supervisor for each work crew. A supervisor could be hired out of the CETA funds, but his salary was subject to the same wage restrictions as applied to the basically unskilled laborers hired to do the weatherization work.

Although CETA-paid workers were employed when the program was under CSA, there was more leeway in use of the CSA funds, so the latter could be spent to hire a supervisor.

Under the DOE, not only was there the restriction on how funds could be spent, there were also new rules and regulations and more statistics to compile.

Not all the rules were bad, Mrs. Vandemark pointed out, such as some specifications for materials used, as it had been found some service agencies had been using sub-standard materials.

She also feels that some of the DOE regulations may have been the result of Congress imposing certain requirements when it switched jurisdiction from the CSA.

"THE PAPER PROCESS still bogs us down," the HDC director said, but the situation is improving, possibly as a result of pressure coming from those in Congress who would like to give the weatherization program back to CSA. That doesn't mean everything is perfect. There is still the 13-page report form to fill out for every house that is weatherized, listing such items as the amount and cost of materials used, time spent and a computation of the energy that will be saved.

(The report is supposedly being condensed.) In turn, all those reports have to be condensed into one monthly report to send to Washington.

The DOE has loosened regulations, such as who can be hired. A big plus is that the state of Michigan is now adding supplemental funds.

For the fiscal year that started Oct. 1, the HDC has the most money it ever had for weatherization -- $310,000 in federal funds, plus $97,000 from the state.

A third work crew was added in December (four of five men each) and there is a supervisor for each crew. By Feb. 1, there will be five crews working and by summer, six crews, enough to weatherize 40-45 homes a month.

All in all, according to Mrs. Vandemark, "The program is starting to pick up now."

That will be good news for low-income homeowners seeking some protection from the cold and high heating fuel bills.

As of last week, there were 41 homes in the four counties served by HDC that had been evaluated as to needs, with materials on order, another 41 awaiting evaluation, plus 75 homeowners who meet eligibility requirements but were not in the top priority group.

With more and more persons signing up at HDC for the federally funded Energy Crisis Assistance Program for help to pay their fuel bills (see related story) -- most of whom are eligible to have their homes weatherized -- she projects the number on the weatherization waiting list will increase.

Scenic beauty galore in India

From the Himalayas, called the roof of the world, to the sunny beaches of the Indian Ocean, today's traveler in India can experience scenic beauty that encompasses both man's most magnificent structures and the world's most majestic creatures.

Sixteen days' travel in an air-conditioned motorcoach through the beautiful Indian countryside to cities of literature and legend like Bombay, Agra, Jaipur and Delhi, among others, can be a fantasy holiday for as little as $1,600. Seven-day excursions can take you in other exciting directions.

For very little more money, you can trek to the Mount Everest Base Camp, 18,000 feet up in the Khumbu Valley. Or, with three weeks at your disposal, you might join a camel expedition across the great Indian desert of Thar. Side trips reveal ancient sandstone forts and exquisite palaces in Jodhpur, Bikaner and remote Jaisalmer.

Lovers of the wilds camp out in style in Asian game parks, where wildlife they're likely to see includes the fabulous Bengal tiger, leopards, rhinos, deer, crocodiles and over 200 species of birds.

If culture is your bent, other trips delve into the performing arts, astrology and religion in India and Nepal, followed by a six-day holiday to the Vale of Kashmir. Not to be missed is the Taj Mahal, incredibly beautiful white marble mausoleum built at Agra by 17th century Shah Jahan for his beloved wife, Mumtaz Mahal.

Perhaps the most rewarding way to go is on a photographic adventure tour for those who wish to capture India's mysteries on film. Managers of such tours are expert photographers and professional instructors.

CAN YOU STOP IN TIME?

Test engineer records data during the National Safety Council's winter driving tests at Stevens Point, Wisconsin. The annual testing program has evaluated vehicles, tires, tire chains and other equipment under extreme weather conditions.

BRAKING DISTANCES from 20 MPH

Pointing up the extreme hazard of driving on glare ice, these tests show that stopping on glare ice may take as much as nine times the normal, dry pavement distance. The tests also disclose that conventional snow tires are of no help in stopping on ice, while studded tires reduce braking distance by 19%, and reinforced tire chains by 50%.
