"If It Fitz..." Missing mid-life crises

By Jim Fitzgerald

Ann Landers recently revealed, in Ladies Home Journal, that when her husband told her, during dinner, that he was having an extramarital affair, she immediately went out to do some shopping for him. She explained that "he never even bought a suit without me."

Miss Landers' cool attitude didn't save the 36-year-old marriage. Soon after she returned from shopping, there was a divorce, and he quickly got married again, probably in a new suit. My wife, although it is none of her business, is very angry about the whole unhappy episode.

Nothing makes my wife madder than middle-aged husbands who leave their wives for younger women. Even though Ann Landers is the world's most famous dispenser of advice to troubled spouses, my wife insists Ann is a barefoot shoemaker.

Ann shouldn't have bought her departing husband a suit, my wife said, she should have hit him on the head with the dining room table. This violence wouldn't have restored romance to the relationship, but it would have provided a memory to make dining alone more pleasant for Ann, especially if the table were badly cracked. That's what my wife said.

Just because she says things like that, you shouldn't start thinking funny things about me. Not all middle-aged husbands stray, and I am all of them. The combination of love, laziness and Monday Night Football make me the perfect fireside husband, and we don't even have a fireplace. In fact, this perfection probably prompts my wife's strong sympathy for wives who aren't so lucky. She feels guilty about having me while Ann Landers has only millions of readers to tell what to do.

But, let's get serious. I received a serious letter from a Flint woman whose husband has taken a walk. I guess she wrote to me because she doesn't want to buy the big jerk a new suit. I'll call her Jane. Listen to what she said:

"My husband was a wonderful guy — or so I thought. And then he went into mid-life crisis. First, he let his hair grow longer and had it styled. Great. Then he wanted a necklace, and I laughed. He was too masculine and 52 years old.

"Then he wanted to go to bars and dance among the 28-year-olds. I did it a couple of times, but then told him I thought he looked foolish. And then he left home. For the past two years he has been 'free to do as he pleases.' I almost divorced him, but then I read a book, 'How to Survive the Male Mid-life Crisis.' I don't think it told me how, but it helped me understand him.

"The girls he has been seen with are young, unattractive and chubby. So, I'm not jealous. I look better at 55 than they do at 35.

"We have been married 35 years. If my husband had known what to expect when he hit 50, maybe he would have handled it differently. Three years ago I had never heard of the male mid-life crisis. It is far worse than female menopause. It destroys marriages and families. We had everything any reasonable person could want. Even he admits we had a wonderful marriage. Now we will be lucky if we don't lose our home.

"Maybe you can do a column on these idiots. So many marriages have broken up because they can't face their age..."

End of quotes from Jane. I don't have to write a column about those "idiots." She did it for me. We've all seen those 55-year-old swingers with their shirts open to the paunch, chains dangling, trying to look 25 but only looking silly. I don't care how rich he is, it's easy to laugh at Hugh Hefner.

I don't pretend to be an expert on why these guys act so stupidly. I'm not as smart as Ann Landers and her troops of clergymen, lawyers and toilet paper hangers. And as for firsthand experience, if I had a mid-life crisis, I probably slept through it.

I suppose it would be fair to tell some abandoned wives if they'd make themselves more interesting and attractive, their husbands wouldn't go somewhere else to get their buttons pushed. And it would be equally fair to tell some husbands that if they were as charming at home as at the corner disco, they wouldn't need an extension cord to get turned on.

The moral is if you know how to light the fire, you don't need a fireplace. Ask your partner. (Do you suppose this is how Ann Landers got started?)

Kitchen fire loss more than $1,000

Phillip Zawilinski learned the hard way Friday how not to cook French fries.

Elkland township firemen are estimating the damage from the fire that resulted at more than $1,000.

The fire occurred in the home of his parents, Martin and Virginia Zawilinski, 4355 Leach Street. Firemen received the call at 11:45 a.m.

Mrs. Zawilinski said she was asleep when her son started cooking the potatoes in a pot on the stove. He cried out when the fire started.

Firemen said the grease in the pot apparently boiled over and then started burning.

Direct damage from the flames was confined to the kitchen, but there was smoke damage throughout the house.

Firemen estimated damage to the house at at least $1,000, in addition to the destruction of the stove and range hood over it.

The kitchen had just been remodeled. Mrs. Zawilinski said. In inspecting the double-oven stove, after firemen had carried it outside, she remarked half-jokingly, "This makes me mad. I just cleaned both ovens yesterday."

A neighbor who saw excess smoke coming from the chimney of the home of Harvey Linderman, 4313 Krapf Road, called Elkland firemen at 4:45 p.m. Monday.

There was no fire other than the one that was supposed to be there. The excess smoke was the result of someone in the house stoking the fire in a fireplace or wood stove.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Here's more on the sales tax. Reader response indicates that the sales tax probably started at 3 percent. At least it was in 1935 when Merrill Carpenter purchased some furniture. The sales slips were brought in by Charles Carpenter.

Further confirmation was provided by Jack Esau. Esau worked for Gross & Maier (Cass City Meat Market) in 1937. What we did then, Esau said, was take the tax money and keep it in a tin can separate from the money paid for the groceries, which was placed in the cash register. At the end of the month we sent in what we considered was fair.

Just so you will know, Jack, most of us do it differently today. What happens is we place all the money due for taxes in the cash register and what's left we place in a tin can. (A very small tin can.)

It will be interesting to see if a change in teaching methods will change the state test scores of grades 4, 7 and 10.

Tests have shown achievement above the state average in the fourth and below the state average in the 7th and 10th grades.

There have to be doubts about the way the students are learning when negative results are recorded several years in a row.

If you put any stock in a survey conducted by the Detroit News, Tuscola county's men in Lansing were not among the best. They were also far from the worst.

Among 144 representatives, Rep. Loren Armbruster ranked 103. State Senator Alvin DeGrow was well above average with a ranking of 44.

Ranking changes from year to year. For instance, in the past DeGrow was named among the top 10 in the senate. Rankings vary from paper to paper, too.

What all this means is that rankings are nebulous at best and that the only real way to judge your representatives is by studying the records and deciding if they are making the decisions you want when you want them.

One man's opinion. Half way through the basketball schedule there's something missing on the Cass City basketball team.

The Hawks have been winning as expected but not the way that was expected. What's missing is that chemistry that really good teams acquire.

The intangible that makes the team a unit rather than a group of good players playing together.

If and when that comes about for this year's edition, the Hawks will be a team to be reckoned with in the regular season and tournament games ahead.

If that chemistry never develops, the Hawks won't last long when the going gets rough.

If you didn't read closely you might believe that there is a difference in opinion among experts about the effects of smoking marijuana.

The government's top experts were telling the world that the heavy use of pot was a serious problem for teenagers today.

In the same story, a Boston research team reported that the drug was safe and effective. That's what the casual reader, skimming the headlines, was left with. You must have read the complete story to know that the Boston group was saying it was safe and effective for use in helping cancer patients undergoing chemotherapy.

In other words, pot as a medicine has a definite place.

Nearly all of us will go along with that.

Where I split with the stories published is the discussion of pot as a medicine and as a thrill drug.

Morphine has been a blessing for patients with severe pain and is commonly used by doctors when the need arises.

Heroin is made from morphine and is a street drug that makes addicts with the resultant crime, prostitution and ruined lives.

No one suggests in any way that morphine is safe to use. It's an addictive medicine with a place in patient care.

Pot is an addictive drug and should be treated as such.

If patients can be given morphine under a doctor's care, certainly marijuana should be, too.

After all, pot is not nearly as destructive as the hard drugs. It evidently works to relieve the distress of cancer patients requiring chemotherapy and is an aid in their recovery.

If it's logical to allow morphine under a physician's care, it has to be more logical to allow pot for the same reason.

Small animal 4-H projects

By Bernard Jardot

A kid and his pet go together like vanilla ice cream and chocolate syrup or autumn leaves and football or a birthday and presents.

There's lots more to owning a small animal than just filling the feed dish. In 4-H we involve youth in planning for their project, selecting breeds, proper care and management, showing, records and learning about related careers.

Kids feel a natural affection for animals. You name it and they like it. That's why a 4-H small animal project is such a natural.

Today, urban kids need more direct contact with nature and living things. In suburban homes or city apartments, a pet can compensate a little for the increasing mechanization of life.

For more information on 4-H contact the county 4-H office in Caro at 673-3161.

Soybeans, corn hit records

Corn and soybean production in Michigan and United States hit record levels in 1979, according to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service.

The state's corn production of nearly 238 million bushels is 22 percent above last year's crop and 20 percent above the 1977 record. The state average yield of 95 bushels per acre surpassed the old record by 10 bushels. Michigan has become the eighth largest producer of corn for grain in the country.

U.S. corn production was up 10 percent from last year's record as the nation's average yield increased by nearly 9 bushels per acre.

A large jump in acreage has brought a record soybean crop to Michigan. Total production in 1979 was 49 percent higher than the previous crop and 32 percent better than the 1977 record.

Of the other Michigan crops included in the report, increases in production were posted by alfalfa, other hay and popcorn while red clover seed production decreased.

Meredith
Auten remembers

I was the first man drafted in Tuscola county for World War I.

I had been renting what was later the Thumb Appliance building (presently used by Richard's TV for storage) for $6 a month and hired Warren Schenck at $1 a day.

I kept up my job at the bank at $40 a month and sold cars after hours. In addition to Ford cars, I also handled Buicks, Ford tractors, Kelvins, Simplex washing machines, vacuum cleaners, Presto tanks and tires.

I had a cigar box for a cash register and did a tremendous business. I bought the corner where the garage is now (Geiger-Hunt Ford) and had the building half up when I had to leave for Camp Custer at Battle Creek. I sold a half-interest in the business to Ashton Tindale for $300 and he managed it while I was gone.

When I arrived at camp, there were three others in Company D and we stood at reveille with seven officers. A fellow by the name of Rudolph Kaiser had formed a home guard and taught us company formations.

He said one day, "If you get in the service and are asked to step one pace forward if you have had previous military experience, step one pace forward."

This happened. I stepped one pace forward and was made a lance corporal the first day, but not before my name had been posted for K.P.

Not knowing what a K.P. was, I inquired of the top sergeant, who said, "You get down to the dining room at 5:30 tomorrow morning and you'll learn."

I got down there and was told to set the tables with metal cups and metal mess kits. We had no sooner got that done than in came some 200 recruits from all over the cantonment.

I can't remember what they had, but I know it was awful - sweetened oatmeal without salt, sickening coffee already sweetened, sorry looking milk and some kind of meat.

In no time, the gang left and it was up to three or four of us to wash the dishes. We had a boiler of hot water. We dropped the mess kits in a pail, splashed them around in the water and wiped them.

Soon there was scum on top of the water, a couple of inches thick, so we dumped the water out and asked for more hot water. There was none and we had to take the boiler to a spigot a quarter of a mile away where the water came out in a stream. All the rest of the cups and saucers and silverware were rinsed in cold water. The drying towels were so wet we would wring them out and keep on wiping.

I recall that my fingers were white and all puckered up. My companion, a Corbet from Saginaw, turned to me and, I think unknowingly in the words of Sherman, said, "Auten, ain't war hell?" This was repeated for the remaining two meals, after which we had to mop out the mess hall. We learned what K.P. was.

He was also back then placed on three years' probation, fined $200 and assessed $200 court costs.

Sentencing of Connie Tetrick, 21, of Caro, for violation of probation was delayed six months. She was placed on 36 months' probation in February, 1978, for writing checks without sufficient funds (forgery).

A bench warrant was issued for the arrest of Robert E. McComb, 20, of Davison.

Ceilidh conducted at church

The Cass City First Presbyterian church fellowship hall was lively Saturday evening as about 110 Scots and friends gathered for the first Scottish Ceilidh. Tales were swapped of life in Scotland and memories they had heard from their descendants.

An abundance of Scottish food was enjoyed. Rev. Harry Capps gave the invocation and a traditional Scottish invocation was given by James A. Milligan.

After dinner entertainment was in true Scottish tradition with Don Hockenbury of Marlette playing Scottish music on the bagpipes. There was traditional Scottish dancing performed by the Blair Highland Dancers of Cass City and Flint under the direction of Cindy Blair of Flint, with the dances explained by Mrs. Esther Leumburger of Flint. Everyone joined in singing Scottish songs and dancing the Scottish reel. The program closed with a film on Scotland. Kills and Scottish dress was the order of the evening making it a true Scots' party.

Roger Little, chairman of the affair, said a larger program is being planned for next year. Many guests from the area, including a couple who just recently came here from Scotland, attended the affair.

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS

Special Meeting of Village Council

The special meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held Jan. 19, 1980 at 12:00 p.m. at the Municipal Building. All Trustees were present except Trustee Rawson.

The purpose of the meeting was to either accept or reject the low bid of $244,110.00 from Hallenbeck Construction Co. of St. Johns for the Safer-Off System.

There were seven bids submitted with the high bid of $287,033.00 and the low bid of $244,110.00.

A motion was made by Trustee Helwig and supported by Trustee Tuttle to accept the low bid of $244,110.00 from Hallenbeck Const. Co. of St. Johns.

During discussion it was noted that we should make every effort to reduce 1980 budget items as much as possible. Seek to collect 1980 curb and gutter assessments as soon as possible by writing letters to all property owners asking them to assist us in this matter. And to defer any 1980 payment possible until the following year.

Motion carried 5 yeas, 0 nays.

A motion was made by Trustee Stahlbaum and supported by Trustee Helwig that the meeting be adjourned. Motion carried 5 yeas, 0 nays.

Economy is going to get worse

It's no consolation to out-of-work employees of auto companies and auto company suppliers, but according to the U.S. Department of Commerce, the recession hasn't started yet.

Department economists said last week the economy continued to expand during the final three months of 1979, thus delaying the recession that is now expected to arrive soon.

Roy Shaft -- who is employed -- feels the recession has arrived and "I think it's going to get worse."

"I don't know if it can get better," he added pessimistically.

Curing the nation's economic ills depends a lot on the people in high places, he feels. As for the man in the highest place, President Carter, "I just don't think in these times, one man can handle all the problems there are in this world."

Turning the economy around, Shaft feels, will require the public to "try to control the government more, but I don't know if there is anything we can do."

Shaft is an agricultural consultant for Brookside Farm Laboratories, advising farmers what fertilizers, feed mixtures, etc. to use.

He and his wife Margaret have three children, Roy Jr., 9, Heather, 5, and Rochelle, 2. They live on Woodland Ave.

HEALTH TIPS

Still no cure for the common cold

By Frank Chappell
American Medical Association

This is the season of the year when the American Medical Association reminds us once again that we still cannot cure a cold.

And if anyone tries to sell you on the latest version of a so-called "cold cure," you can laugh it off and save your money.

As the years go by more and more is being learned about colds and their causes. A number of viruses produce the symptoms that most of us call a cold, probably more than a hundred. The true cold is an infection with one or more viruses. Bacteria probably are purely secondary infections.

Current research indicates that colds are harder to spread than had been thought. Fresh colds appear to be more contagious than older ones. Children's colds probably are more contagious than those of adults.

There still is much discussion among experts as to the relationship of chilling or exposure to dampness to "catching" a cold. What can you do for a cold?

No specific treatment, so far available, is effective. Treatment is directed toward relief of the discomfort of runny nose, watering eyes, sore throat, fever and other symptoms of the cold. Penicillin does not stop the virus, but may be prescribed by your physician for secondary bacterial infections.

Your doctor will prescribe bed rest, or at least reduced physical activity. Medications to relieve headache and aching joints and to reduce fever can help. Antihistamines will curb runny nose. And after a couple of weeks, you'll be cured.

Cold vaccines have yet to be proved of much value. There is no evidence that any particular foods, special clothing or exposure to sunlight or fresh air will have any effect on colds.

There has been some research which indicated that Vitamin C might help prevent or lessen colds, but the preponderance of research evidence is that this product is of doubtful value.

Win 16 of 17 games

Girls sweep competition in busy volleyball week

It was a busy productive week for the Cass City High School volleyball team. The Hawks won two dual meets and their own 8-team invitational Saturday.

In the victory skein Cass City roared over the competition with 16 victories in 17 games. It all started last Wednesday when Mayville bowed in two matches, in straight games. The first two games were won by the Hawks, 17-15, and 15-4. The next games went to Cass City, 15-7, and 15-4.

Coach Michelle Ansbomb was able to use all 15 players on the squad in the matches. She said that Vickie Pobanz was especially effective for Cass City as she served 13 of the 15 points in one of the games.

Saturday the Hawks lost only one game as they swept undefeated through the invitational. In the opener the Hawks lost their only game, winning two of three and the match. The scores were 15-11, 7-15 and 15-5.

In the next match the Hawks played the defending champion Otisville-Lakeville, winning 15-6 and 15-8. The Hawks held Mayville to just two points in the next match with 15-2 and 15-0 wins. In the championship game the score was 15-4 and 15-9 over Capac. Coach Ansbomb said that Padgett Randall's playing was outstanding for the Hawks.

The final standings in the tourney were:

	W	L
Cass City	3	0
Capac	2	1
Vassar	2	1
Lakeville	2	1
Harbor Beach	1	2
Caro	1	2
Bay City John Glenn	1	2
Mayville	0	3

MONDAY'S GAME

Completing the clean sweep for the week was the straight-games victory over Akron-Fairgrove Monday.

The Hawks won 15-4 and 15-9 in the first match and 15-4 and 15-6 in the second match. Tammi Rabideau and Julie Carpenter were perfect from the service line and Randall helped with several good spikes to pace the team victory.

Ansbomb said that the victories were the results of very fine team play in addition to the individual efforts of several girls.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The Cass City Junior Varsity, off to a slow start, won two games during the week to even the season's record at 2-2.

Mayville bowed, 15-1: 11-15, and 15-1. Akron-Fairgrove lost 15-6; 1-15, and 15-5. Sally Lowe played a fine game with 13 perfect serves. Also outstanding was Lori Little who was 100 percent in 9 serves.

THIS GOOD SET by the Cass City Red Hawks was spiked for another point as the Hawks dominated Akron-Fairgrove Monday night. The match ended a big week for the girls who swept two dual meets and the Cass City Invitational.

Tennis anyone?

Seek members for Cass City club

Tennis anyone? That's the question that Stan Guinther is asking the community. What Guinther wants to do is start a tennis club in Cass City. With new tennis courts planned, probably lighted, this year the time is right.

Guinther believes, for folks interested in the fast growing sport to get together. With a club, he adds, persons seeking tennis partners and the society of other players will know where to look. The question is, Guinther says, is there enough interest to get a club off the ground? Any person who would be interested in helping form or joining a club is asked to call Guinther at General Cable, 872-2111, during the day, or at his home, 872-3284 in the evening.

Coach expects young Hawk gymnasts to improve

"I think we'll do alright. We just need some experience," is coach Suanne Cali's summation of the still early season for the Red Hawk gymnastics team.

In terms of win-loss records, Cass City's problem has always been that there are few schools its size with gymnastics teams, thus it must compete against larger schools with more extensive programs.

That was illustrated in the Red Hawks' first meet of the season, against Midland, which won easily, 85.85-62.08.

In the second meet, however, Cass City lost by only two points, 64.35-62.35, to Vassar.

"They're young and improving, but I can see a lot of improvement coming," said Mrs. Cali, of her players.

Making the first-year coach's efforts easier is that the majority of the 14-member team competed in gymnastics last year. Back from the 1979 team are seniors Libby Hartel and Nancy Tonti; juniors Susanna Kappen, Katy Sherman and Tena LaRoche, and sophomores Becky Speirs, Kristy Deering, Ruby Sherman and LeAnne Potrykus.

The remainder of the schedule is as follows:

Bulldogs crunch Vikings

Owen-Gage pulled out to a 17-0 lead Tuesday night before Akron-Fairgrove got on the scoreboard and coasted to an easy win, 75-56.

Brad Erickson and Kirk Carolan each scored 17 points for the winners, Jim Gudden, 15, and Pete Klemkowsky, 10.

The 6-5 Klemkowsky pulled down 13 rebounds. The visiting Bulldogs shot 25 of 57 from the floor, 43 percent, and 25 of 31 from the charity line, 80 percent. As they have in several games, they aided their cause by making few fouls.

The Vikings only got to go to the free throw line six times, where they collected four points. They connected on 26 of 66 field goal attempts for a 39 percent average.

Top scorers were Kyle Detmers with 20 and Brian Rayl, 14.

The Bulldogs are now 6-4 overall and 4-2 in the North Central D League.

The team travels to Kingston Friday and Peck Tuesday.

Akron-Fairgrove won the junior varsity game, 57-46. Score by quarters:

Cass City wins big in tune-ups

It's showdown time—Lakers face Hawks

Seldom has a game in the Thumb B Conference been as one-sided as the Cass City-Sandusky clash Tuesday night when the host Hawks rolled over the Redskins, 93-47.

Undoubtedly it was Cass City's finest game of the season and probably Sandusky's poorest. Hawk fans left the gym saying to each other, I hope we play as well Friday night.

For it's Friday that the game that will probably decide the Thumb B Conference title will be played.

That's when the Lakers come to town.

Cass City and the Lakers are tied each with one defeat. The Lakers handed Cass City its only defeat in the opening game of the season.

Whether the Hawks are as good as they looked against the Redskins or whether it was just one of those nights will be decided in the battle for the league title.

Certainly Cass City could do little wrong against Sandusky. With Craig Tonti and Tim Johnson spearheading the pressing defense, Sandusky had trouble getting the ball down the floor. More often than not it was turned over by the time the center line was reached.

Meanwhile, Cass City was cashing in on fast break lay-ups by Tonti and Johnson, shots from the corner by Steve Richards, shots from the center by Ken Martin, shots from just outside the foul circle by Tim Fahrner and rebounds by the entire team.

And while most of the shots were going in for Cass City in the first half as the Hawks shot 60 percent, none was falling for Sandusky.

The Redskins went for more than 10 minutes, that's 2 minutes more than a full quarter, without scoring a single point.

The score was still respectable after the first four minutes when the Hawks led 14-6 but after that the roof fell in.

The Hawks moved in front 30-8 at the end of the first period and added to the rout in the first six minutes of the second period. By that time the margin had increased to 44-8 and that's when Sandusky scored again. At the half the score was 52-12.

It was mop up time the rest of the way. Coach Ron Nurnberger left various combinations of his first 8 players play the third quarter and then they retired for the night. At the end of the third period the score was 75-28.

Cass City had five players in double figures headed by Richards with 15 and Tonti and Fahrner with 12 each. Pat Soffredine led Sandusky with 12.

JV WINS

The Hawk junior varsity had an equally easy time with the Sandusky JV, winning 74-35, by far its largest margin of the season.

BAD AXE GAME

It doesn't appear to matter what team the Cass City Red Hawks are playing or what the record is, the Hawks find a way to make it close.

It happened again Friday at Bad Axe when the Hatchets challenged Cass City in the final quarter before losing, 57-45.

Cass City whipped out in front in the first period and led all the way. The Hawks pulled to a comfortable lead in the first two quarters and it looked as if the game was going to be a laugher.

But the Hatchets refused to fold and kept plugging away at the Hawk margin and pulled to within six points with 2½ minutes left in the game.

Threatened, the team responded the same way it did in the game against Harbor Beach, with a scoring blitz that ruined the Bad Axe come-back attempt.

Cass City won the game with better shooting percentages than the Hatchets could muster. The Hawks converted 23 of 40 field goal attempts for 57 percent while the host team made just 17 of 40 for 43 percent. From the charity lane Cass City netted 11 of 14 while Bad Axe converted 11 of 16.

The Hawks were led on the boards by Steve Richards and Ken Martin, each of whom grabbed 5 defensive and 3 offensive boards. As a team Cass City outrebounded Bad Axe, 32-25. Rusty Hoag led the team in assists with 7 while Craig Tonti wasn't far behind with 6.

Scoring was divided for Cass City among seven players with Martin, 12, and Tonti, 11, showing the way. Leading all scorers was Charlie Woycik of Bad Axe with 21 points. Dennis Gebauer added 14.

EASY LAY-UPS like this one by Steve Richards helped Cass City to an outstanding shooting percentage night Tuesday against Sandusky.

Pigeon quintet forges to top in Rec. league

It was Caro against Pigeon in the showdown battle for the lead in the Thumb Recreation League and Mutual of Omaha from Pigeon topped People's State Bank from Caro, 73-68.

That game was played Thursday night. It was close all the way. The bankers went in front, 14-12, at the end of the first period and the insurance men led at intermission, 34-32.

The Pigeon team forged ahead, 51-45, at the end of three periods and held on for the victory. The winners featured balanced scoring with 12 players finding the nets, led by Paul Beach with 13 and Randy Damm with 10. Dirk Sutherland netted 18, Chuck Smith, 13, and Chuck Peterson, 10, for the losers. People's played without its leading scorer, Mark Green.

In the first game Thursday it was no contest as Charmont rolled over IGA, 78-49. The winners led 38-28 at the half and 64-36 after three periods. Lloyd Schinnerer with 20 was tops for Charmont. Ron Nurnberger scored 18 and Paul Mienier, 16. Johann Schulz with 17 points and Chuck Hendrick with 10 points topped IGA.

In Wednesday's competition, Trend Vendors powered past Brown's Party Store, 95-70, leading all the way after chalking up a 28-18 first period advantage. Roy Calahan scored 27 for Vendors. Others in double figures were Randy Rife, 20; Louie Calahan, 14; Marty Zawilinski, 12; Dave Zawilinski, 11. Craig Miles scored 25 and Les Nicholas, 10, for Brown's.

The second game Wednesday went to the Advertiser on a forfeit as Gus's Party Store had only four players.

Bulldogs split with Lakers

Owen-Gage opened the volleyball season last Thursday with a split with visiting Lakers in a non-league contest.

The first match saw the Lakers coming out on top by scores of 15-13, 7-15 and 15-12.

The Bulldogs won the second, 16-14, 6-15 and 16-14. Becky Howard scored 19 points for the Bulldogs, Kris Erickson netted 13 and Julie Andrakowicz had 10.

Top point-getters for Lakers were Tracy Farver with 17, Darlene Miller, 13, and Deb Bollenbacher, 11.

The visitors won the junior varsity match, 13-15, 15-7 and 15-12.

Owen-Gage doesn't compete again until Thursday, Jan. 31, when it opens the North Central D League season at Carsonville-Port Sanilac.

Tells highlights of long life

Charlotte Bishop still happy at 94

At age 94, Charlotte Bishop has plenty of excuses to not be happy. She has outlived two husbands, is confined to a wheelchair and lives in a nursing home.

But the often-smiling Mrs. Bishop doesn't believe in being sad. "Life's too short for that." "It's been rugged and it's been rough sometimes," she said as she looked back on her life, "but it don't make no difference. There's never a smooth life. I have lots to be thankful for." She was born in Ellington township, the daughter of Benjamin and Elizabeth Southworth. The family farm was on Akron Road, northwest of Ellington.

Mrs. Bishop's mother was a country nurse and midwife and wherever she went, her daughter went along.

"My mother would assist at a childbirth and she'd call me to help dress the baby," she recalled. "I'd go there and witness all of that."

Mrs. Bishop followed in her mother's footsteps. She never had any formal training as a nurse, but would nurse persons in their home. She once accompanied a boy to a hospital in Saginaw and stayed with him as his personal nurse until he died.

Referring to the nurses at Provincial House, where she has been a resident since April, 1977, she said, "It just seems my fingers itch sometimes to tell the girls do this or do that, but I have to sit still."

HER FORMAL EDUCATION ended with the eighth grade, at Thane School, northwest of Ellington near her home.

When she was about 16, she moved with her parents to a farm they had purchased in Arenac county, but she never liked it there. "This here was always home to me."

Her first husband was Jerome Wilbur, who died when their son, Oscar, was only nine months old.

She then moved from Arenac back to Tuscola county, where she met and married Burt Bishop. Their home was on Lazell Road, about a half-mile from Ellington. He died in April, 1941, after 20 years of marriage.

Her one child from that marriage, Elenora, is the wife of Harland Lounsbury. They live on a dairy farm west of Cass City.

Her son, Oscar Bishop (he was adopted by her second husband) lives in Caro. She has nine grandchildren, 26 great-grandchildren and seven great-great-grandchildren.

Of her four brothers and one sister (she was the oldest), two still live. Roland resides in Standish and Oneita Elwood lives in Bay City.

AFTER HER SECOND husband died, Mrs. Bishop lived in Caro. She moved in with her daughter and son-in-law about 1946 and retired from nursing about that time.

Her right leg was amputated in August, 1978, because of gangrene. She had moved to Provincial House 17 months earlier because of her leg and other health problems. "It was too much for my daughter to take care of then," she explained, "so I came here and everything has worked out just fine."

Mrs. Bishop isn't one to have regrets. "I'm full of fun anyway," she said with one of her frequent smiles.

She recalled with fond memory the time she raced a neighbor in her horse and buggy from Ellington to Caro. (He was also in a horse and buggy.) She won.

Her husband later scolded her, but she told him he was needlessly upset. Once she got to Caro, she took the sweaty horse to the 10-cent barn (livery) for a good rubdown, so no harm came to the animal.

And there was the time she went to the Thane School reunion with her jaw taped, due to an injury. She was still able to recite the poem that all were supposed to have learned in school, but everyone else had forgotten. When the others said they couldn't repeat it, she scolded them, "Yes you could if you had learned it." She still remembers the poem. AT PROVINCIAL House, she still keeps busy with such activities as visiting her fellow residents and knitting and crocheting. "I love to crochet and I love to knit." She was one of the Provincial House residents to make the decorations for the Provincial House float that was in the July 4th parade in Cass City. She rode on the float in the parade, which won the first place prize. Her philosophy of life is summarized in the crocheted wall hanging she made, mounted in a frame which hangs on the wall in her room. On it are the words: "Count your age by friends, not years. Count your life by smiles, not tears."

Shaw's art work wins acclaim

Cass City High School junior David Shaw has had three entries selected to compete in the National High School Art Exhibition in New York.

They are among the 14 blue ribbon winning works selected in the regional Scholastic Art Awards competition, entered by 300 students from more than 30 junior and senior high schools in the greater Saginaw Valley area.

The regional competition was sponsored by Saginaw Valley State College, Peoples National Bank and Trust Co. and Hampton Square Mall.

The entries of all 300 students are on display at the mall, located in Essexville, through Jan. 27. After that, the 14 winning entries go to New York.

Shaw submitted eight or nine entries Jan. 6. His three winners were a color photograph of light coming through a barn window, a mixed media drawing (pen and ink and color pencil) of a Rubie Goldberg-type machine ("accomplishing by complex means what seemingly could be done simply"; Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary) and a series of pen and ink drawings of various subjects.

Winning entries were publicly announced last Thursday, although Shaw was informed three days earlier.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shaw of 6235 Van Dyke Road. He hopes to study art, plus other subjects, in college.

Art teacher at the high school is Karen Wallace.

"I'M ALWAYS BUSY WITH SOMETHING," says Charlotte Bishop, one example being the doily she is crocheting for her daughter, Elenora Lounsbury. Knitting is another of her various activities.

Ubly pays final tribute to Verne Schrader, 61

Business places were closed in Ubly Monday afternoon during the funeral for well-known businessman Verne E. Schrader, 61, who died Friday morning at his home in Ubly of a heart attack.

He was born Sept. 16, 1918, in Bad Axe, son of Walter and Gertrude Schrader.

Schrader had been co-owner of Ubly Motor Sales since 1946. He served with the U.S. Army in Europe during World War II. He was Ubly village clerk for six years.

An avid athlete, he played baseball and basketball with independent county leagues after high school and was an excellent bowler, having once rolled a 700 series.

He participated in all the Alabama Jubilee Shows in Ubly and was a member of Ubly Lodge No. 384, F & AM, and the Michigan Automobile Dealers Association.

He and Florence Western were married Dec. 13, 1941. She died Dec. 8, 1971. He married Madelyn Parks Aug. 8, 1974.

He is survived by his wife; two sons, Richard Schrader, Inman, S.C., and Gary Schrader, Ubly; two daughters, Barbara (Mrs. David) Ruthig and Shelly (Mrs. Paul) Alent, both of Ubly; three stepsons, Kenneth Beaudin, Bay City, John Beaudin, Ubly, and Joseph Beaudin, Marquette; 12 grandchildren; one brother, Gerald Schrader, Ubly, and one sister, Mary Lou (Mrs. John) Geboski, Ubly.

Funeral services Monday afternoon were held at the Zinger Funeral Home, Ubly.

Rev. John Nipper of Vandalia, Ill., officiating. He is the former pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Ubly. Burial was in Valley cemetery near Ubly, where military rites were conducted.

Businesses were closed during the time of the funeral at the request of Village President Earl Longuski.

Army copters save lives of civilians

A tractor explosion on a remote, rural farm severely burns the operator. A child clings to life as he awaits immediate and sophisticated surgery due to a blood clot in the brain. Two cars collide on a near-deserted mid-west highway. Severe blood loss will kill one driver if medical aid isn't swift.

All of these are real situations. All required immediate emergency relief. And all were attended to by the U.S. Army's Military Assistance to Safety and Traffic (MAST) units.

MAST helicopter units, located mainly on Army posts in rural America, operate on an emergency call basis from state and local law enforcement agencies, fire departments, hospitals, medical centers and doctors. Patient transfers from hospital to hospital, medical assistance for flood and fire victims and emergency blood bank deliveries are routine for the units.

They even make "house calls." In many instances the patient can't survive a flight and a doctor must be flown to the scene. Typically, however, it's the speed in which the patient can be flown to a hospital, as opposed to driving the overland route, which determines the difference between life or death.

Because of his condition, the MAST helicopter had to fly low at 100 feet above the tree tops to keep pressure from his brain. The copters normally whirl aloft at 1,500 feet. But the two and one-half hour flight trimmed three hours from an overland trek.

The Army's emergency teams initially came into being to pick up wounded troops in the field and in remote battle areas, then fly them to military hospitals. And MAST units continue to serve military needs at Army posts throughout the country. Crew members of Kentucky's 431st Medical Detachment MAST unit recently flew their 1,650th military emergency mission. Also, at approximately the same time, they completed their 1,000th mercy flight for the civilian community.

The crew, flying HUEY choppers, consists of a pilot, co-pilot, crew chief and medic. They also carry doctors and can take aboard three patients under "normal" conditions and up to six with aircraft alterations. Equipment transported by the helicopters ranges from incubators to cardiac monitors and is interchanged depending on the emergency.

And where else these days could you find a doctor with the blood clot, other

Walt Rummel entertains guests

Manteys honored at soil district meeting

WALT RUMMEL

The Chinese people are honest, hard-working, patriotic, and know how to cook a duck. That was Walt Rummel's opinion of the Chinese people, which he shared with the 186 persons who attended the annual dinner-meeting last Wednesday of the Tuscola County Soil Conservation District, held at Caro High School. The Sebawaing free-lance editor, writer and publicist served as photographer for a midwestern agricultural trade group totaling 28 persons from 14 states, who toured Communist China in October. Rummel took 26 pounds of photography equipment with him on the trip and came back with 1,100 slides. He showed maybe 10 percent of them to the group. The 1 billion Chinese feed themselves with 25 percent fewer tillable acres than the United States, which has less than one-fourth the population. How do they do it? Irrigation is part of the answer and human manure is another, Rummel explained. Manure doesn't get flushed down toilets in that country but instead is collected daily and taken to the fields, where it is applied according to previously planned charts. "This is a very prized product and they're careful how they use it," he said. The Chinese also don't throw anything away uneaten. Not only do they eat the meat and skin from the duck, for instance, they also eat the intestines, liver, brains, lungs and testicles. Rummel found that out at a fancy restaurant meal that would have cost the average Chinese a month's wages. The average wage is $1 a day (but potatoes cost 3 cents a pound.) As for the duck at the restaurant, it was "the best duck I have ever tasted in my life." Duck is "just about their favorite food." The group also had an unusual meal one night. They weren't told until later what it was they had eaten -- puppy. Rummel had guessed it was pork. The visitors saw lots of ducks being raised on farms. They also saw pigs and dairy cows. It takes a year to fatten pigs to 280-90 pounds, longer than it would take in the United States because of lack of protein there. (Pigs usually aren't fattened that much here.) It was at the dairy farm that they learned one example of the way in which all Chinese have a job. The farm had about 720 cows and 300 workers. Chinese agriculture is very labor intensive, as that and other examples shown by Rummel indicated. The one piece of machinery commonly seen was a two-wheel garden-type walk-behind tractor, which was used to pull small wagons. The only somewhat modern, large tractors seen were on display indoors. Even old persons have jobs, though it may be only taking care of their grandchildren or great-grandchildren. HONESTY The Americans had an inkling of the Chinese people's honesty in that they never slept in a hotel room that had a lock on the door, but it was in Shanghai they truly learned. The port city has a population of 13 million, making it the largest city in the world. The visitors didn't want to lug all their belongings around with them on a tour of the city, so asked the guide where they might leave them. The guide told them to leave their items on the sidewalk in front of a store. The Americans had their doubts, but did as they were told. They returned three or four hours later to find everything still there. "Do you think we can convert them and make them our way or do we want to?" the bearded Rummel asked. The former owner of the newspapers in Pigeon and Sebawaing also had praise for the Chinese people's patriotic spirit. "I think they show a dedication and feeling for their country maybe we've lost here." Other than airfare to and from China, the American delegation's expenses were paid for by the Chinese government. The only disturbing aspect he saw on the tour, Rummel said, was that the living conditions of the average Chinese weren't too good. "In light of events the last few weeks," he concluded, "it bodes well for us to stay friends with the country that has the largest population in the world."

terms on the district board of directors. There were 104 landowners casting votes, the most in several years. The 186 persons present for the dinner may have been a record. It was announced that District Conservationist Jerry LeMunyon will be leaving March 23 to assume a new position with the Soil Conservation Service as agronomist serving 19 eastern Michigan counties, including Tuscola.

COOPERATORS OF THE YEAR -- Receiving the award at the annual Tuscola County Soil Conservation District meeting last Wednesday were, from left, Carl and Dorothy Mantey and Rose and Ed Mantey, operators of Mantey Pedigreed Seed Producers Inc. in Fairgrove township.

POSTER WINNER -- Lynn Ruggles, 15, received the plaque for winning the statewide Soil Conservation District scrapbook contest and the trophy for being the county winner.

awards. The cooperators of the year award was presented to brothers Carl and Ed Mantey and their wives, owners of Mantey Pedigreed Seed Producers Inc. in Fairgrove township. In addition to growing corn, wheat and soybean seed, they also grow some cash crops. Their conservation practices include extensive windbreaks, use of minimum tillage, tiled fields and installation of three erosion control structures. Among school students receiving various awards were Lynn Ruggles, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ruggles of M-46, Kingston. Her entry in the water and soil conservation scrapbook contest for 7th and 8th graders last year took top honors in the county contest and was later judged a state winner. Her father and Don Loomis of Cass City were both re-elected to new three-year

Pedestrian death called accidental

Tuscola County Prosecutor Artis Noel has decided there will be no prosecution of Douglas H. Saigat, driver of a car which struck and killed a pedestrian Dec. 9 near Unionville, that the accident was unavoidable. Saigat, 47, lives at 6016 Cass City Road, Cass City. The victim was Loren P. Kaufman, 29, of Sebawaing. Noel had been awaiting the results of a laboratory blood-alcohol analysis of the victim's blood before making a final decision in the case. The results, recently received, showed he had not been drinking alcoholic beverages. However, Kaufman had been wearing dark clothing and it was dark outside (9:20 p.m.) at the time he was hit. Another motorist, who was a witness in the Caro state police investigation, said he had almost struck Kaufman just prior to when he was hit. Another factor in the prosecutor's decision was that the estimated speed of Saigat's car was below the speed limit when the accident occurred. State police at the time of the initial investigation said Kaufman had walked into the path of the Cass Cityan's car. The accident took place on M-25, just south of Huron Line Road. The victim was pronounced dead at Bay Medical Center.

Thumb Area Consortium costs lowest in state

The Thumb Area Consortium, which runs the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) program in the upper Thumb, has the lowest administrative costs of any of the 11 such administrative regions in Michigan. A report presented at the consortium's administrative board meeting last Thursday showed administrative costs amounted to 5.4 percent of the CETA money received for the period Oct. 1, 1978 to Sept. 30, 1979, or April 1-Sept. 30, 1979, depending on the program. That amounted to $254,054 out of total CETA expenditures of $4.72 million.

The report was compiled by the state Bureau of Employment Training for the 11 consortiums in what are basically the rural areas of the state. In the other consortiums, the percentage of CETA funds devoted to administration ranged from 6.5 to 11.2 percent. Ten or 15 percent is allowed by the federal government, depending on the program. Thumb Area Consortium Executive Director Frank Lenard said his agency's administrative costs are lower because it has fewer employees. He feels other such agencies have more manpower than is essential to run the CETA program. The 5.4 percent spent for administration, Lenard told board members, "means 94.6 percent of the money hits the street (for job training and jobs). We're doing what we're supposed to be doing with it." In other action, the board approved 18 new CETA Title II-D positions. Twelve of those are for workers in the Human Development Commission's weatherization program, who will receive $3.40 an hour. The 12 workers will be enough to supposedly expand the number of crews weatherproofing the homes

Red Cross fund drive a success

Tuscola County American Red Cross Chairman Mary Alice Osgerby has announced the 1979-80 county-wide fund-raising campaign has come to a successful conclusion. "As of our last report, the amount of money collected totals more than $2,300," she said. "Nearly $1,200 of that total came from a door-to-door campaign in the Caro area business district, while the rest came from a mail-campaign during November and December of last year." She also said the Tuscola county chapter of the American Red Cross expects to receive the same contribution as last year from the Vassar, Cass City and the Fairgrove United Way campaigns. The successful fund-raising drive will allow the American Red Cross to continue its many services to Tuscola county residents, including the blood program, home nursing program, service to military families, and water safety program. Some of the contributions have also been earmarked towards the purchase of a child-size mannequin to be used in the Red Cross first aid program. Co-chairmen for this year's campaign were James McLoskey and Mrs. Osgerby. They were assisted by Bruce Tait, Robert Strye, Clare Osgerby, and Charles Spaulding, who took part in solicitation for donations.

Methodist women hold meeting

A belated luncheon was served Jan. 16 to Trinity United Methodist Women by Group 1 with co-hostesses Pauline Brown and Bea Baker. Thirty-five women were present. Rev. R. Thomas Wachterhauser thanked the members for their contribution to help send 12 youths to the retreat week end at Adrian. The ladies drew names for secret pals to send cards to. The new booklets with the new groups were handed out. February's meeting will also be a noon luncheon with co-hostesses Bertha Shagena and Virginia Hartwick. The society voted to have another bazaar in 1980. Pauline Hulbert announced a Lenten study will be held with Rev. Wachterhauser as leader. World banks were presented for 1980. Treasurer Mickey Marshall presented the pledge service. President Elaine Proctor adjourned with a poem for the New Year. One little white lie usually leads to several others.
