IRS sells assets

Cass City truck operator has string of bad debts

By Mike Eliasohn

The sale Tuesday by the Internal Revenue Service of assets of Alvin E. Werschky in order to collect delinquent taxes is only one of numerous actions taken by creditors of the Cass City man.

Five law suits filed in Tuscola County Circuit Court are seeking a total of $126,485 plus interest for debts the plaintiffs say Werschky owes them.

In the Tuscola County Register of Deeds office, there are 20 liens (claims against property in order to secure a debt) on file against Werschky, in addition to those for taxes.

The Chronicle attempted to contact Werschky through his attorney, Richard Trowhill of Bad Axe. The attorney declined to make any comment without permission of his client and expressed doubt that Werschky would want to either, but said he would try to contact him. Neither called the Chronicle back.

The Internal Revenue Service liens add up to $68,219 in taxes that Werschky owes, either income and social taxes not withheld from employees' paychecks and/or business or personal income taxes not paid.

The state of Michigan has liens filed seeking $7,760 in unpaid taxes.

The Cass City man is or was operator of a trucking firm known as Werschky Trucking or Valley Transport. The business address is 6536 Garfield Street, which is the home of his mother-in-law.

According to Cass City Police Chief Gene Wilson, who along with his men have tried to serve legal papers there on various occasions, Werschky is sometimes at that address, but not living there permanently.

The trucks and trailers owned or leased by him were operated out of a rented terminal in Milwaukee. According to Tuscola County Weighmaster Fred Hecht, he at one time had four or five trucks on the road.

Werschky had a Michigan Public Service Commission permit to haul sand and gravel and other such bulk materials, primarily used in building construction and road building, within a 75-mile radius of Unionville, with operation beyond that point limited to railway, airport or highway construction jobs.

It was that permit which was one of two assets sold by the IRS Tuesday. The other was a 1973 GMC truck tractor.

Even without the permit, Hecht said, Werschky could continue operating if he still has some trucks by leasing them to another trucking firm, which does have a permit.

The amount of revenue raised from the sale of the truck and permit isn't public information, according to IRS Revenue Officer Frank W. Batkie.

If the amount raised wasn't enough to pay the taxes due, the IRS can continue to seek other assets to sell. Batkie stressed that "taxpayers are given many opportunities to pay" before the IRS seizes their assets.

A taxpayer who files for bankruptcy is still liable for taxes, according to the officer, but can submit an offer for partial payment of taxes, which the agency may accept. A compromise offer can even be made without declaring bankruptcy.

Werschky has not filed for bankruptcy, according to the federal bankruptcy court in Bay City.

THE BIGGEST LAW suit against the Cass City man and his trucking firms was filed Oct. 3 by Summerfield GMC Truck Co. of Gary, Ind. Defendants are Werschky, doing business as Valley Transport, and his wife, Sue. The suit seeks $81,551 from the defendants, which Summerfield claims is the amount they still owe for leasing of two truck tractors in June, 1977 and a repair bill paid by Summerfield.

Summerfield has repossessed both trucks, according to the suit, one from Werschky and the other from a Wheeler, Mich., truck repair shop after payment. The federal government is

Charity drive exceeds target

The Elkland-Novesta Community Chest has raised $14,079, a final accounting shows, according to fund drive President Iris Tuckey.

The amount exceeds the goal last fall of $13,500. Included is the money already received and that which will be coming in payroll deductions.

The Community Chest board will meet in April or May to decide allocation of the money. Organizations which have not been recipients of funds from the charity in the past who feel they may qualify are invited to contact its treasurer, Ron Keegan, at 872-2585, for an application form.

Mrs. Tuckey also said the organization is in the process of changing its name to Elkland-Novesta United Way, to conform with the name used by most such organizations in the state and nationally, which is used in nationwide and state advertising campaigns.

There's money in boxtops, expert tells local housewives

Arlene Schweitzer once paid $7 for $46 worth of groceries.

Last year, she received a tax-free income of about $75 a month, all of which comes in the mail.

How did she do it?

She did it by refunding.

The Sebawaing resident was at Rawson Memorial Library in Cass City last Thursday night to share some of her secrets with approximately 25 women. (Indicative of who's interested in refunding, the only non-females in the audience were her husband, son and a newspaper reporter.)

"This is a hobby, but to some people, it's more than a hobby," Mrs. Schweitzer explained. "It's a way to save on grocery bills."

In addition to saving on grocery bills, there are other benefits, some of which she spread out on a table in front of her. There was a talking doll, jump rope, children's book, tablecloth, T-shirt and two cloth carrying bags, all of which she got free through refund offers.

WHAT IS REFUNDING?

It's sending in boxtops, proof of purchase seals, Universal Product Code symbols, pictures of fruit off Jello boxes, etc. (known as "qualifiers") to the manufacturer -- usually of a product sold in the supermarket.

In return, the refunder gets back either cash, a coupon good for cents off or the product free, or merchandise.

That's how Mrs. Schweitzer, a refunder for almost 11 years, made an average of about $75 in cash per month last year. In addition, she received countless coupons good for savings and free merchandise. The merchandise she didn't need, she sold.

"The most important thing is you got to save everything," she stressed. "The more labels you save, the more money you're going to get."

Everything should be saved even if the manufacturer doesn't have a current refund offer. It may have one in the future.

Next comes a proper filing system. Mrs. Schweitzer's consists of 25 beer cases.

Each is labeled, either with a general category, such as toothpaste or laundry soap, or a specific brand name if it's a manufacturer who has lots of refund offers.

A FILING SYSTEM wouldn't be any good without anything to put in it.

There are various ways to get the refund forms, coupons and qualifiers.

Coupons are found in newspaper and magazine advertisements and printed on cartons. Refund offers are also found in ads and on tear-off pads hanging from grocery store shelves (known as store forms).

Store forms are sometimes hard to find. Some merchants don't put them out and some bad apples among refunders will take all the forms that are left when they get there.

Why take all the forms? Because they can be traded for forms the person does need or -- although it apparently isn't legal -- they can be sold.

Even playing by the rules, which is the way Mrs. Schweitzer believes it should be done, there are plenty of ways of getting all the coupons, refund forms and qualifiers one needs -- often without buying the product.

Mrs. Schweitzer cuts out all the coupons, forms and qualifiers, even for products she doesn't use, because they can be traded.

In addition to buying products and trading, there are other ways to get qualifiers. She was embarrassed to admit it, but until it was closed, she used to go scrounging at the Bay Port dump on the days when it was opened.

She once had her husband stop the car so she could retrieve a charcoal bag she saw lying by the roadside, as she knew the maker had a refund offer.

Laundromats are a source of soap box qualifiers.

She is now paying the 17 Brownies in the troop she leads 2 cents for each label they bring in.

Lastly, there are the refunder magazines. As of October, Mrs. Schweitzer has been publishing her own, appropriately labeled "Cash in Your Trash." It already has 450 subscribers nationwide.

The magazines serve several purposes. First, they list all known current refund offers. The January issue of "Cash ... Trash" lists 103 of them, plus a section listing refund offers just from Proctor and Gamble.

There is also a listing of upcoming refunding conventions -- another source of refund forms, etc. -- some manufacturer addresses to

COUPON QUEEN -- Arlene Schweitzer's T-shirt is one of the few things she didn't receive free through refund offers. Some of the items she did get free are on the table, including other T-shirts, doll, three carrying bags, children's book and a jump rope.

No millage decision

Tentative budget up $100,000 over '79

The Cass City Village Council Monday gave tentative approval to a 1980 budget of approximately $772,000, about $100,000 more than the village spent in 1979.

The council will probably decide at its February 25 meeting whether the village can scrape through this year on its present levy of 13 mills or whether it will have to add another mill on summer tax bills.

"It's probably the tightest budget we've looked at in a lot of years," commented village President Lambert Althaver.

A public hearing on the proposed budget will be held at 7 p.m. at the February meeting, after which the council can make any last minute changes before approving the financial document.

The prime reason for the big increase in spending and the resulting budget squeeze was the council's Jan. 19 decision to proceed with the $244,110 Garfield St.-Doerr Road reconstruction project.

The federal government is paying $181,400 of that, which leaves $62,710 to be picked up by the village, plus $15,000 in engineering costs and $20,000 to the state Department of Transportation to oversee construction, a total of $97,710. (An even $98,000 is budgeted.)

Of that amount, $40,000 is to eventually be paid through special assessments, but the property owners involved have three years to pay.

Thus the 1980 budget transfers $68,500 from the general fund into the major street fund to help pay for the project. (Other revenue comes from state gas and weight tax revenue, reserves and an anticipated $15,000 from the first year of the special assessment.)

Of the $68,500 transferred, $60,000 came from savings, which only leaves $15,000 in reserves.

The question the council will have to answer in February is whether the village can squeak through 1980 with only that much in savings. It looks doubtful.

"If we don't go into the new year with more than $15,000," Althaver commented after the meeting, "we will be hard pressed to meet our obligations."

A 1 mill increase would bring in an estimated $17,000.

OTHER THAN THE street project, the proposed budget is pretty-much standstill, with the other major reason for the overall increase in spending being inflation.

General fund revenues and expenditures are projected at $499,000, up from $452,425 in 1979. Major revenue increases are in real property tax revenue, up from $178,487 to a projected $202,000 (due to new construction and valuation increases) and state revenues, from $113,042 to $126,000.

The biggest new expense in the general fund budget is $30,000 for the village's 50 percent share for four new tennis courts. (The overall park budget is less than last year, however, because a $41,000 storage building was constructed in 1979.)

The latest word from the state Department of Natural Resources, which controls the federal funds to pay the other 50 percent, is that it is "reasonably certain" Cass City will get the money. That won't be known for sure until at least April 1. Village Supt. Lou LaPonsie was hopeful the new courts will be ready in July.

In order to save money, it was decided roads in the village park won't be seal-coated, which would have cost an estimated $14,300.

THE COUNCIL MONDAY approved hiring of Harold Duane Sprague, 23, of rural Caro, as the village's fifth police officer. An Air Force veteran who served with the military police, he has been working as a part-time policeman in Caro. He begins his new duties Friday. Twelve persons had applied.

Because of his experience, he will be starting at the second-year wage scale of $13,926, but the police budget won't increase by that much. There was $8,468 spent for part-time police help and overtime last year. The presence of a fifth officer will reduce that

Still standing elevators raise village council's ire

The old grain elevators that have stood on Vulcan Street since the 1890s are going to be standing a little longer apparently, and the Cass City Village Council doesn't like it.

Officials of Wickes Agriculture, the owners, had said they would be torn down once the company's new facilities on Main Street were completed. They were done last fall, but the old elevators, considered a hazard, are still standing.

At the council meeting Monday, village President Lambert Althaver read a series of letters between village attorney Clinton House and James R. Suchodolski, Wickes vice-president of eastern operations.

The executive's last letter, dated Jan. 16, stated he had requested an okay from Wickes' real estate division to demolish the structures and sell the property. The division is located at corporate headquarters in San Diego.

Suchodolski said he expected that the demolition will finally be completed by summer.

House wrote back Jan. 22 expressing the council's concern and its feeling that demolition "could be done in a short time if an effort were made."

Reportedly, Wickes obtained bids from two local contractors prior to Jan. 1 for the project and that General Telephone is interested in purchasing the vacated property.

On the north side of Garfield Street by the railroad tracks, it was reported that Grand Trunk advertised for bids Friday for demolition of the old railroad station.

In other demolition news, it was announced that after an inspection of the unoccupied house to the west of the car wash, county Building Codes Administrator Paul Lefler has declared it an "unsafe structure."

Owner Larry Peters was given until this Wednesday to inform Lefler whether he will repair the building or have it torn down.

Lefler is to be meeting within a week with county Prosecutor Artis Noel to determine what can be done about having the old Margaret McNeil house (a covered basement) at Houghton and Brooker Streets demolished. Efforts to have that done have been underway for 2½ years.

SEWAGE PLANT

It won't be too much longer before it will be known whether the wastewater treatment plant expansion and sewage plant project can be built for the almost year-old estimate of $6 million.

Advertising for bids, according to village Supt. Lou LaPonsie, will begin Feb. 25. Bids will be opened March 20 and be awarded by the council at its March 24 meeting.

LANDFILL

In accordance with new laws, the state Department of Natural Resources has proposed a "schedule of compliance" for the landfill.

Assuming the council goes along, the village will have to hire a hydrogeological engineer by July 1, who will have to have a final report to the DNR by April 1, 1981.

Monitoring wells will have to be sunk at the landfill by Sept. 1, 1981, with samples of ground water under the landfill drawn on a regular basis.

Compliance will cost the village an estimated $15-20,000.

OTHER ITEMS

Pinney State Bank has donated $1,000 to be used for construction of the new tennis courts. The donation is in memory of the late Horace Bolen, who was a director of the bank and an avid tennis player.

LaPonsie's annual report to the council reported permits were issued for building five new homes in Cass City in 1979, the lowest number since 1970. In 1978, 10 new homes were built.

There were 115,140,600 gallons of water pumped from village wells in 1979, which was 8,559,400 less than the year before. Economizing by homeowners trying to save water and thus money is thought to be one reason for the decrease.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Audley Rawson, former State Representative and Cass City resident, clarified the beginning of the Michigan sales tax this week.

Rawson writes, "I read with interest your article in the Chronicle about the Michigan Sales Tax. Gov. Comstock pushed the sales tax bill thru the legislature in 1933.

"It was for 3 percent. When the merchants, etc., collected it they would say 3 cents for Comstock. I believe this defeated him at the next election.

"Frank Fitzgerald took over as governor. It was at that time I was elected state representative to fill a vacancy caused by the Kern's fire."

And that should end the trivia about the sales tax.

I know at times I have been known to be out of the office Thursday afternoons. Once in awhile I have been known to be in the office on Thursdays, too.

Roger Marshall evidently didn't believe it. For business purposes he wanted to talk Thursday. He phoned the Chronicle. He asked for Joann Asher, who works upstairs, to find out about paper availability. She referred him to me. I was downstairs in my office.

He hung up. A few minutes later the Chronicle receptionist asked me if I knew where Dorothy was? Yeah, she's getting her hair fixed, I said.

Nothing happened for about another hour until Roger called Joann again and she dashed down and told me. That's when I learned that Roger had called the hair dresser, my home, the Charmont, The Wildwood, Sherwood Forest and White Creek Club trying to locate me.

Next time I told him, when all else fails, try the Chronicle. Maybe the library?

This came our way unsolicited from Susan Taylor and it's too good a commercial not to broadcast. Mrs. Taylor advertised furniture in the Chronicle classifieds. The first day the advertisement appeared she received over 40 calls, and sold all of her furniture but one piece.

The ad may have been a tad too effective. The Taylors must move in the next few days but have been spending the week eating without tables and living out of cardboard boxes.

No wonder skiers and snowmobilers are frustrated. As of last week, the Cass City wastewater treatment plant had recorded 7.1 inches of snow so far this winter. Last year at this time, more than 30 inches had fallen.

Ice skaters can rejoice, however. The weather has gotten cold enough that the rink in the village park is now open.

ing a $7,741 bill that Werschky owed.

To be deducted from the $81,553 sought (which includes the $7,741) are any funds to be realized by the plaintiff from sale or other disposition of the two trucks.

The other four plaintiffs who have filed suit in Circuit Court are suppliers of diesel fuel and other petroleum products, who are seeking the amount owed plus interest, costs and attorney fees.

The oldest suit, dating back to Nov. 2, 1978, is that of the Rengo Oil Co. of Manistee, which claims it is owed $10,715. In a pretrial statement, Werschky claimed $9,180 of that amount by damage to and resulting loss of use of two trucks because of diesel fuel sold by Rengo that contained water.

Archie Mironik, doing business as Archie's on M-46, Caro, is seeking $10,021. The suit was filed Nov. 13, 1978.

Fournier Gas and Oil of Sebawaing claims it is owed $12,333. Its suit was filed Sept. 17, 1979.

Fletcher Oil Co. of Bay City filed suit Sept. 25 and is seeking payment of $11,704. (Amounts listed do not include interest sought.)

MOST OF THE LIENS ON file in the Register of Deeds

office are from banks. The oldest ones date back to 1975. There are two liens, both naming Alvin and Sue Werschky, involving purchase of household goods and one for purchase of a car, but the rest are business related, mostly involving payments for truck tractors or trailers.

The liens do not always list the amount owed and may not reflect partial payments made, so no attempt was made to add up a total.

Werschky, his firm and drivers have also had their troubles with the Tuscola county weighmaster because of overweight trucks.

In 1975, according to Fred Hecht, the truck company owner paid a fine of $104; 1977, $50 and $301, and in 1978, $420 and $3,439. The latter was for a truck hauling gravel, which was approximately 50,000 pounds overweight.

amount to a projected $1,700 in 1980.

The loss of federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act funds in 1980 boosted village clerical staff (two persons) salaries from $10,529 spent in 1979 to $19,000 in 1980.

IN ADDITION TO THE Garfield-Doerr project, money is included in the major street fund budget for paving of Brooker and Downing Streets between Main and Church Streets ($4,900 and $5,700 respectively). Curb and gutter was installed last year. The major street budget totals $124,000, including the $68,500 transferred from the general fund.

The local street fund, a total of $42,500, includes money for paving of Houghton Street between West and Brooker ($8,000), also prepared last year, and the north and south alleys parallel to Main Street between Maple and Oak Streets ($3,500 per alley), originally scheduled to be paved last year.

The wastewater treatment, water system and minor budgets are little changed from 1979.

MRS. SCHWEITZER HAS a few do's and don't's.

Don't take all the refund forms at a supermarket -- "it isn't fair" -- and don't steal the proof of purchase seal or whatever off a package at the supermarket.

She rarely will buy a product she doesn't need or use just to get a certain qualifier. (Once when she did, when she got home she discovered someone had removed the proof of purchase seal she needed.)

She also won't buy a major brand product for which she has a coupon if the store brand product is cheaper than the major brand with coupon.

She prefers merchandise refund offers where the merchandise is free, as opposed to the "send in three boxtops plus $3.95 for this normally $12 product" type.

She also takes advantage of all such refund offers. Those items she can't use she uses as gifts or sells at garage sales.

"This is a disease," Mrs. Schweitzer said of refunding. "I get so excited when I say labels."

The Haire Net

It's hard to understand why members of the Michigan House of Representatives who voted against awarding points for driving over 55 miles per hour just don't shut up.

If they feel they want to drive at pre-energy crisis speed limits without any penalty except cash fines, okay. That's their right.

There's no law against giving asinine reasons for doing so either. But there should be.

You can understand a vote against awarding points based on the politician's assessment of the wishes of his constituents.

With gas climbing towards $2 a gallon it's probable that our representative, Loren Armbruster, caught the consensus of the district when he voted to assess the points.

What ticks me off is the way the politicians insult us with reasoning that would be suspect by an eighth grade student. Maybe they believe that all of us never progressed beyond the sixth grade?

Anyway listen to what they say. Building better mileage cars would be a better way to save gasoline. Adding "points" drives up the cost of car insurance.

I presume they list these reasons in all seriousness. Blithely ignoring that no matter how much better a car is designed it still gets better mileage at 55 than it does at 65 or 70.

And it's not "points" that drive up the cost of insurance. It's the claims made against the policies and the most expensive claims are those involving serious injuries.

And when 55 miles per hour came in, the accident rate and the death rate went down.

It's likely that among the opponents of the bill giving these reasons are some that are long-term representatives in their districts.

When they mouth obvious inanities like this how can they get re-elected? Easy.

Drivers that obey the law anyway seldom have reason to consider "points" one way or another. Drivers that tend to bump against the "point" ceiling that means driving restrictions won't look with favor at politicians that make it tougher for

"If It Fitz. . ."

Life goes on

By Jim Fitzgerald

It was a proud day for the founder of the Poker-Duffer Club. While a church full of his friends watched, his oldest son was ordained a Catholic priest.

The founder is Rod Parsch, former janitor at the Lapeer County Bank & Trust Co. in Lapeer, Mich. I met him when I moved to Lapeer in 1951 to work at the local weekly newspaper. I was freshly equipped with a Bachelor of Arts degree from Michigan State University, and thus fully qualified for my first assignment which was to go to the editor's home and help his wife move a freezer onto her back porch.

It has now been almost 30 years since Rod proclaimed that seven young men should meet regularly for golf in the summer and poker in the other seasons. The club is still meeting today, and Rod is still saying, over and over: "I don't mind losing on a good hand."

That's what he says for poker. For golf, he lets his left-handed swing do his talking. It says: "You're not going to believe this."

What you're not going to believe is that sometimes the ball goes where Rod aims it. Rod believes the entire game of golf can be controlled by the power of the swing, so it really doesn't matter which club he uses. He favors a three-wood. He drives with a swiftly-swung three-wood, and chips with a softly-swung three-wood. In between, his swing is medium, or tepid. Surprisingly, he is not the worst golfer in the Poker-Duffer Club.

Club membership has changed considerably through the years. This is what I thought about as I watched Rod's son become a priest. I thought about some of the former members who couldn't be there.

Don was a charter member. He left a factory job to start an appliance store, and then a furniture store. Slowly, he prospered. He built one of the grandest homes in town, and bought a second home in Florida. While still in his fifties, he was ready to retire. And then he got sick in his car and choked to death.

Harold liked to play golf more than anything else. He had a bad heart and sometimes the pain would hit him during a game, but no amount of urging could convince him to quit playing. He would take a pill and rest a minute, and then he would take my money. I was with Harold when he suffered his last heart attack, at the age of 42. I remember, at his funeral, hearing a strange sound and being startled to realize it was me, sobbing. I hadn't sobbed since I was a child.

And then there was Bob, another charter member. I thought about him a lot during the ordination of Rod's son. I thought about Bob's oldest son and the time he sat in for his dad in a poker game. A few days later, that tall, handsome young man went to Vietnam. He came home a paraplegic.

That son is now living out his life in a hospital. Bob used to bring him home every week end, but he can't do it anymore. A couple of years ago, while still in his fifties, Bob died from a heart attack. A few days after his funeral, his second son was crippled in an auto accident.

Life goes on (you may quote me on that) and who can say why some of us draw aces, and some of us tap out? I had to quit the Poker-Duffer Club four years ago when I left town. Today, there are more replacements than charter members, but the founder is still there, losing on good hands.

I remember when Rod and his wife, Shirley, had twins. It brought the total number of their children to eight "Geez," I said, "that's almost enough for your own

Rod interrupted: "We're going to play without a shortstop."

The oldest Parsch offspring is David. He used to mow my lawn. Now he is a priest. Rod is president of the bank where he used to be janitor. Last Friday, I watched Rod receive Holy Communion from his son, the priest. It was a marvelous thing to see such a proud parent.

It was sad to be reminded of the losses suffered by so many of my old poker buddies and their families. But it was wonderful to watch our founder win on a good hand. Lord but I am happy for him.

Owendale celebration July 4-6

The Owendale Anniversary Committee has announced the village's 75th anniversary celebration will be Friday through Sunday, July 4-6. Activities will begin Friday evening, with the big parade scheduled Saturday. Events scheduled all three days are children's rides and a beer tent. Saturday events tentatively scheduled, in addition to the parade, are pony pulling, water ball contest for fire departments and children's games. There will be a community church service Sunday morning and an afternoon picnic and games for families.

A booklet describing the history of Owendale may be published. The anniversary celebration was originally scheduled to be the final week end in June but was postponed because organizers of the Sebewaing Sugar Festival changed the normal date of their event to that week end.

PEDALING AROUND

Buying American

By Mike Eliasohn

It probably will be about a year yet before I buy a new car, barring unforeseen circumstances, but I'm already doing my advance planning. When one buys a car only once a decade, a decision on which car to buy isn't done on the spur of the moment.

It's too bad when I plunk down my $6,000 or $7,000 (ouch!), it probably won't be for an American car.

There's a chance I might buy a German-designed car with a German-made engine that is otherwise made in Pennsylvania, but only a chance.

What I regret is that Detroit hasn't seen fit yet to build the type of car I want to buy and I'm quite sure a year from now, it still won't.

Apparently, there are a lot of people who feel the way I do, because 22 percent of the 1979 cars sold in the United States were foreign-made. What kind of car do I plan to buy? For presumably obvious reasons, I plan to buy the one that gets the most miles per gallon -- well, probably the third most.

The most economical car is the Volkswagen Rabbit diesel (made in Pennsylvania except for the engine). Besides the fact that the extra cost might not be worth it in terms of the miles I drive or will someday drive, there is an ecological reason for not buying one.

According to Popular Science magazine, a 42 gallon barrel of crude oil yields about 18 gallons of gasoline but only a little more than eight gallons of diesel fuel.

On the average, a diesel gets only about 25 percent better mileage than an equivalent car with gasoline engine. "On a national basis," according to Popular Science, "our energy situation depends on how many miles we can get from a barrel of crude oil -- not how many miles a single individual gets from the fuel he puts in his tank."

At present, there is (barring spot shortages) enough diesel fuel to meet needs, but "if most cars on the road were diesels, the economic force of supply and demand would drive the price of diesel fuel far above that of gasoline."

The most economical gasoline powered car, overall, according to three recent magazine comparison tests, is the Datsun. I want a front wheel drive car, which leaves the Datsun out.

What's my choice then? Well, according to those comparison tests, I have a few choices -- but they aren't American-made, with one "if." The "if" is that one of the comparison tests shows the gasoline Volkswagen Rabbit (made in Pennsylvania) as being at the top of the chart along with the Datsun. The other two comparison tests put the Rabbit at close to the bottom of the "10 best" list, so I have a year to resolve the discrepancy.

Still, Volkswagen is selling every Rabbit it can make and is looking for a site for a second plant. Honda recently announced it will build an auto assembly plant in Ohio. (Michigan loses again.)

The point of all this is -- why can't Detroit -- General Motors, Ford, Chrysler -- build a truly economical car?

While Japan and other foreign countries are producing cars that can break the 40 mile per gallon mark on the highway, Detroit is producing a few that can break the 30 m.p.g. barrier and bragging about their cars that only get 20-30 m.p.g.

Presumably, Detroit will some day build cars that are as economical as ones built overseas.

But until then, persons who want to buy the most economical cars being made have to go elsewhere. Unfortunately, it's the American auto workers, and those who work for the auto company suppliers, who are the losers.

HONORS BAND -- As the banner indicates, Owen-Gage High School played host Sunday afternoon to the Tri-County Honors Band. Conducting the 93 musicians from 17 upper Thumb high schools was Carl St. Clair, associate director of bands and assistant professor of conducting at the University of Michigan.

Owen-Gage hosts tri-county band

Owendale-Gagetown High School played host Sunday afternoon to 93 musicians from 17 upper Thumb high schools who participated in the annual Tri-County Honors Band Concert.

The concert is held on a rotating basis at the various schools.

Guest conductor for the concert, attended by several hundred spectators, was Carl St. Clair, associate director of bands and assistant professor of conducting at the University of Michigan.

Students were selected to perform in the band based on tape recorded auditions they submitted to a committee of band directors.

Selected from Owen-Gage were Rita Sullivan, flute; Robin Sullivan, clarinet; Mike Sullivan, baritone saxophone (brother and sisters); Vicki Alexander, clarinet; and Jennifer Erer, alto saxophone.

Others from area high schools were Lonnie Wilson, clarinet, Cass City; Tina Neu and Deb Johnson, both clarinet, Kingston; and from Uby, Doug Blackwell, cornet; Tim Grika, trombone; Jackie Moshier, baritone; and Tom Cook, tuba.

Other schools which had musicians participating were Unionville-Sebewaing, Harbor Beach, North Huron, Brown City, Lakeland, Caro, Bad Axe, Sandusky, Millington, Mayville, Vassar, Peck and Marlette.

Purpose of the band, according to the concert program, "is to give outstanding musicians in the schools of the three counties an opportunity to participate in a more challenging experience through the preparation of a program in one day's rehearsal under a guest conductor." The rehearsal was conducted Saturday.

Selections performed were "My Jesus! Oh, What Anguish," (Bach-Reed, composers and/or arrangers); "Overture to a New Era" (Caesar Giovanni); "Music of McCartney" (Warren Barker); "Brittany March" (Peter Sivanich); "Synopsis for Band" (Leland Forsblad); "Kunihild" (Kistler-Barr); "Concerto for Madison Avenue" (John Higgins) and "Billboard March" (John Klohr).

Chairman of the honors band was Mayville High School band director Frank Pliska. Host chairman was Laura Witczak, Owen-Gage band director.

The concert was tape recorded by WKYO Radio, Caro, and will be broadcast at 3 p.m. Sunday.

A recent report to the American Meat Institute says electrical stimulation of freshly-slaughtered beef carcasses can increase tenderness about 20 percent.

HEALTH TIPS

Spotting children's vision problems

A child's behavior is often a clue to spotting undetected vision problems in need of prompt professional attention, says the president of the Michigan Optometric Association.

According to Dr. James M. Flynn, children do not know when they are not seeing as well as they should and they often develop ways of living with their vision problem. Alert parents can spot behavior symptoms that indicate a need for a thorough vision examination.

One such symptom is constantly sitting close to the television set. "All children will sit close some of the time but the child or teen-ager who always takes a close seat may be near-sighted," Dr. Flynn said.

Another symptom of near-sightedness is a preference for reading and other close work over outdoor or sports activities. A farsighted child may avoid near activity and have trouble with school work.

"Children with vision perception or binocular coordination problems will likely have difficulty learning to read and, when older, reading to learn, even though they test out at average or above average intelligence," Dr. Flynn said.

Other symptoms of vision problems are frequent clumsiness, short attention span for the child's age, frequent blinking, complaints of nausea, dizziness or headaches after reading or doing other close work, poor eye-hand coordination for the child's age, scowling or squinting, watering eyes, a tendency to rub the eyes, a tense position when looking at objects far away or close up, covering one eye when reading, tilting the head to one side when doing close work, or holding a book close to the eyes or the head close to a book.

Draft registration is necessary

Louis Walsh has a son, 16, who, if President Carter has his way, will be registering for the draft in two years.

What does he think of the President's proposal, made during Carter's State of the Union address to Congress last Wednesday?

"It bothers me, but I was in the service myself," Walsh said. "What are you going to do?"

"I think it (registration) is something that has to be done, the way things are going."

Walsh supported what is now being called the Carter Doctrine. The President explained in his speech that "an attempt by any outside force to gain control of the Persian Gulf region will be regarded as an assault on the vital interests of the United States . . . (and) . . . will be repelled by use of any means necessary, including military force."

"If they (Russia) keep on going the way they are," Walsh said, "they'll be over here invading us if we don't put a stop to it."

The dairy farmer does feel the United States should encourage other countries to assist in repelling Soviet aggression in various ways.

"There's no reason why we should do it all the time." As for increased spending for the military, Walsh feels Carter doesn't have much choice. "We got to do that."

He and his wife, Rosalie, have three children, Rodney, Rachel, 19, who is attending college, and Rebecca, 20, who lives in Fenton. The Walsh home is on Cumber Road, Uby.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters

This girl from Caro has some very special needs and would benefit from a Big Sister. She enjoys sports, likes bike riding, and horses. This girl is 13 years old and would like someone to talk to and listen to her. Why not offer some time to this special child?

We have two super nice 16-year-olds from Caro waiting for Big Brothers. They love to be outside, roller skating and bowling. Either boy would be fun for any man.

Foster grandparents are needed

The Human Development Commission (HDC) is in need of senior citizens (men and women) who are interested in becoming foster grandparents.

Foster grandparents work with children who have special needs in schools, special education programs or state institutions.

Each Foster Grandparent works four hours per day, five days per week. In return for their services, they receive a tax-free stipend, transportation allowance, annual physical examination, accident insurance, a smock, and support from the program staff.

To be eligible for the Foster Grandparent Program, persons must be 60 or older, low-income, and be physically able to serve. No educational requirements are involved.

Through the FGP, many grandparents report improved health and more enjoyment from life, according to HDC Executive Director Mary Ann Vandemark. They also have the opportunity to meet other Foster Grandparents and people in their communities while providing a very valuable and rewarding service.

For more information, call Bonnie Russell at the HDC in Caro at 673-6153.

This energetic seven year old needs a man to do active things with. He likes all sports, fishing, and camping. This boy lives mid-way between Caro and Cass City, and also near Gagetown. Why not spend your spare time with this nice boy?

4-H horse conference

By Bernard Jardot

There will be 10 youths and two adults from Tuscola county attending the 4-H teen leader horse conference, Feb. 15-16, at Kettunen Center, near Cadillac.

The 4-H teen leaders will gather with others from across the state who share an interest in 4-H horse projects and activities. The 4-H horse projects program is one of the most popular 4-H projects in Michigan.

The program is designed to present teaching methods that will help 4-H'ers become more effective teen leaders. The conference also provides an opportunity for teen leaders to share ideas on horse programs and events with others from across the state.

The conference was made possible by donations to the 4-H Foundation from individuals, organizations and businesses, including local area supporters.

For more information on the Michigan 4-H Foundation or any 4-H program, contact the 4-H office, Civil Defense Center, Caro, telephone 673-3161.

A furnace explosion at the Bliss Milk Hauling bulk plant at 4545 Maple Street caused extensive smoke damage to the interior of the building.

Cass City's welfare has always come first with Clifford Croft, so his battle to keep rail service coming to Cass City is nothing new for him. He has spent 20 years at it.

Visiting hours at Hills and Dales General Hospital have been canceled until further notice due to the flu outbreak. Eighteen persons have been admitted to the hospital in the last week.

Jane Field, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Field, will represent Cass City High School at this year's Tuscola Sweetheart Pageant at Vassar High School.

TEN YEARS AGO

The committee for Thumb area Scouting is sponsoring a Klondike Derby at Cass City, Feb. 7, for all Scout troops in Tuscola and Huron counties. The scouts will pull sleds and compete in Scouting skills of first aid, compass, and fire building. A crowd of more than 200 is expected.

large the facility. He moved to Cass City from Fairbury, Neb., to accept his new position.

Pat Martin, 59, chef of Martin's Restaurant in Cass City, claims it's easier to cook for 500 persons than it is to prepare for a small family dinner. He claims to be an old-fashioned way cook, taste as you go and doesn't follow books too much for his recipes. His wife, Myrtle, is also a veteran of 40 years in the business.

Richard Erla and Cliff Ferguson recently purchased the former Tusco Products building.

Glenn McCullough, Gladys Albee, Warren Wood, Bernard Freiburger and Lee Rabideau are the candidates seeking the three trustee seats on the village council.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Final Michigan traffic death and injury figures for 1954 will be higher than previously estimated because of the jump in the December toll, yet the estimated 1954 death rate of 6.6 persons per 100 million miles traveled will be the lowest on record, despite an all-time high in motor vehicle registrations.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith McConkey left Sunday for Chicago to attend the gift show. They returned home Wednesday.

$1,000 lost in tool robbery

Theft of more than $1,000 in tools from the M & M Block Co., 6141 Kelly Road, Cass City, was reported to the Caro state police last Thursday.

The tools belonged to Robert MacKay of 6720 Garfield Street.

Co-owner Richard Mallory told toppers they were taken from the garage. He noticed the doors were unlocked Jan. 16, so the tools may have been taken before then, although he didn't notice them missing until the 24th. Taken, according to MacKay, were a six-drawer tool box containing a large number of tools, worth a total of $675; soldering gun, $20; surface grinder, $150; two air impact wrenches, $100 each, and a box containing wrench sockets, ratchet and breaker bar, $125.

BAR BEATING

Jeffery Lynn Spencer of 4465 Woodland Street, was treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital after he was struck inside the Station Bar (ex-Colonial Inn) Saturday evening.

Witnesses told investigating Cass City police that Spencer and others were playing pool when one man struck the victim and then five others joined in using pool cues and beer mugs. The six then left, got into a vehicle and drove off.

At the hospital, Spencer told officers he and a friend were playing pool with two of the suspects. Every time he was about to make a shot, one of the others would yell. He finally told them to be quiet and then one of the suspects hit him. He started to go out the back door but someone held on to him.

Sunday, police were summoned back to the bar after a witness to the previous night's incident had seen the brother of three of the suspects there. He was asked to tell his brothers and the other suspects to contact police within a week to tell their side of the story, otherwise the prosecutor's office would be contacted for possible issuance of warrants.

Cass City teacher one of several injured in 3 area automobile crashes

A Cass City High School teacher was injured last Thursday when her car was involved in a collision as she was exiting the school parking lot.

Taken to Hills and Dales General Hospital was Kathleen Ayvazian Bliss, 23, of 179 State Street, Caro. She was discharged Saturday.

The other driver involved, Donald Cummins, 46, of 5490 McAlpine Road, Gagetown, was northbound on Seeger Street. He told officers he slowed and thought the Bliss auto was going to stop at the exit. Instead, it slowed but the driver then pulled into the path of the Cummins pickup.

The accident happened at 4:05 p.m.

Bridget Ann Miller, 27, of 3470 N. Cemetery Road, was treated and released from Hills and Dales as the aftermath of a car-deer collision at 9:55 a.m. Friday.

Cass City police reported her car was northbound on Cemetery Road, collided with the animal, then went off the road into the west side ditch, just north of Mushroom Road.

Evelyn R. Marshall, 49, of Deckerville Road, Cass City, sought her own treatment after an accident at 10 a.m. Friday.

Sheriff's deputies reported the vehicle in front of her, driven by Susan M. Smith, 27, of Caro, slowed because the car in front of her (Smith) was turning into a driveway. Mrs. Marshall couldn't stop in time because of the slippery surface and ran into the rear of the Smith vehicle.

There were still flames inside the chimney when firemen arrived but the fire soon burned itself out without them having to take action.

Desgranger and his family had only moved into the house that day.

Elmwood-Gagetown firemen got out of bed early Tuesday to go to a chimney fire in a home on Huron Lane Road, west of Owendale Road.

A fire in the fireplace had ignited creosote inside the chimney. Fire Chief Chuck Wright said, but the fire had burned itself out by the time firemen arrived. There was no damage. The fire was reported at 4:43 a.m.

Law eases license tab for farmers

Many farmers will no longer have to obtain special endorsements on their driver's licenses to legally carry out some of their farm work under a bill recently signed into law by Lt. Gov. James Brickley.

State Rep. Quincy Hoffman (R-Applegate), the bill's sponsor, said the new law will exempt many farmers from having to qualify for, and purchase, a class 1 endorsement.

Under the measure's provisions, persons who drive passenger vehicles and trucks weighing less than 24,000 pounds which are properly registered for exclusive farm use will no longer be forced to obtain the endorsement.

Class 1 endorsements were costing farmers $7 for a four-year license and $4 for a two-year license.

"I introduced this bill because I believe that the old law represented an unnecessary hardship on farmers, who drive certain farm vehicles only occasionally to haul feed, seed, fertilizer and spray," Hoffman said.

"Since farmers drive these vehicles on public roads only to get from one field to another, they pose no danger to the public and should not have to take special driving tests and pay extra fees for endorsements."

Letters to the Editor

School system has its flaws

To the Editor,

After much deliberation, it appears to be necessary to expound upon a nearly trampled issue for sake of clarity, and for the public.

The Jan. 10 issue of the Chronicle sported a letter to the editor from Bruce Avery, in which Mr. Avery noted the "numberous" mistakes in a previous letter from myself.

In that mistake-laden letter, my major contention was that the prevalence of errors in high school students' writing could only indicate a flaw in the present educational system. Even President Carter, in a recent press conference, referred to the high rate of illiteracy among the nation's high school graduates.

ance of Mr. Avery and the Chronicle's rebuttal.

However, the actual message of the letter was not dealt with or acknowledged, even though the vehicle of that message was attacked. Then, the Chronicle's Jan. 17 issue reported that the achievement test scores of the area schools were below the state average. Thus, a reader can only assume that the system, as I stated, must be at fault.

The fact that this message was insulting to people was irrelevant to the truth or falsehood of what was said and could not and should not ethically be struck down.

Timothy Tuckey
Bethel College
Mishawaka, Ind.

P.S. If students' errors "reflect the schools in general, it is the system's fault."

Reader enjoys the Chronicle

Dear Mr. Haire,

I am enclosing my check for another year's subscription to the Chronicle.

I enjoy reading your paper very much, as I still have relatives and many friends in the Cass City area.

I have especially enjoyed the articles about Brewster Shaw Jr. I lived with the Shaw family while I was in high school and therefore, I have more than just a passing interest in this brilliant young man.

I followed my Air Force husband through most of his military career and can readily identify with the pros and cons of military life and I LOVED it!!!!

Best regards from the Grand Canyon State.

Sincerely yours,

Martha (Martinek)

Face improving Caro Friday

Hawks take league lead with key wins

If the Cass City Red Hawks don't play better this Friday at Caro than they did Tuesday night at Cass City against the Mayville Wildcats, the Thumb B Association race could be all tied up again.

The Hawks, now leading the league, topped the Wildcats, 68-58, in a sloppily played game that wasn't decided until the last minutes of the final quarter.

This is the same Mayville team Cass City blew away in the first meeting between the schools, 80-51.

The Hawks started slowly and were behind, 10-4, after 5½ minutes had been played. Cass City started to rally after that as Ken Martin hit from the center and from the foul circle and Tim Johnson added 8 points in the quarter to keep Cass City from falling too far behind. At the end of the period Mayville was in front 14-12.

The visitors stayed ahead until there was 5:59 left in the first half when the Hawks finally forged in front, 17-16.

After that Cass City was never behind but also never able to lengthen the lead to a comfortable margin.

With 1:43 left in the first half the Hawks were ahead 29-28 and then spurred to go in front, 35-30 at the intermission.

In the early moments of the third quarter the Hawks started to score and appeared ready to take command. A basket by Craig Tonti and two more by Johnson gave Cass City a 43-34 advantage after just under three minutes of play.

But the Wildcats refused to fold under the pressure and closed within a bucket before dropping back to trail by four, 49-45, at the end of three quarters.

Cass City opened the final period like it did the third with a scoring spurt that moved the margin to 7 points, 57-50. It stayed in that range until the final 2½ minutes when a Wildcat rally cut the margin to 62-58 with 2:10 left in the game.

Cass City stiffened and held Mayville scoreless the rest of the way while scoring a bucket and two free throws to ice the contest.

Johnson had the best scoring night of his career as he scored 23 points to lead Cass City. Martin with 18 and Tim Fahrner with 10 were also in double figures.

For Mayville, Don Beach, lanky center, scored 18 and Tim Elenbaum netted 14 while playing a fine floor game. Phil McLane netted 12.

JV WINS

The junior varsity made it a clean sweep by pushing past the Wildcat JV, 61-51.

LAKER GAME

There were plenty of heroes for Cass City fans to applaud as the Cass City Red Hawks took over the Thumb B Association lead last Friday with a 68-55 decision over the Lakers.

Ken Martin played a stellar game at center. Craig Tonti provided scoring punch at guard with his driving lay-ups and Steve Richards played his usual reliable game. Coach Ron Nurnberger credited Richards' defense on Todd Wisenbaugh in the third quarter as one of the keys to the Hawk victory. Todd Comment made a couple of baskets early when the Hawks were struggling and falling behind, 11-4.

The unsung hero of the game had to be Tim Johnson. Johnson didn't score much. His assist total wasn't all that great but when he came into the game in the first quarter Cass City improved noticeably.

Johnson sparked the Hawk defense and helped check the Lakers' two fine guards, Todd Dubey and Scott Farver, who were hurting Cass City in the early going.

The offense started moving after the senior guard took the floor.

Cass City trailed by 8 points with one minute left in the quarter and with some nifty playing moved to within two points, 17-15, at the end of the first quarter.

To get that close Cass City scored four points in the final two seconds. Martin went to the foul line with two seconds left and canned both tries.

The Lakers tried a long pass down the floor for a last second shot at the basket but the ball went out of bounds and there was still two seconds left.

Richards took the ball, tossed it into the corner to Martin who arched it up and in as the whistle ending the quarter sounded.

After that it was nip and tuck until just before the end of the half. Cass City went in front for the first time, 27-26, as Martin collected two free throws with 3:15 left. After that Cass City never trailed although the Lakers threatened until the final period when Wisenbaugh and Dubey both fouled out.

Sparked by a three-point play by Tonti who made a beautiful drive to the bucket and was fouled, Cass City was ahead 35-32 at the intermission.

The Hawks carried a 52-47 lead going into the final period. Wisenbaugh was sent back into the game and lasted just 10 seconds before fouling out. That sealed any chances the Lakers had of making a comeback and Cass City pulled steadily away.

With 4:27 left the Hawks were ahead, 60-51, on balanced scoring. After that it was mop up time and Cass City coasted in for the win.

The Lakers held a slight edge in the rebounding department, 34-28, but the Hawks countered that with better shooting from the foul line, 87 percent to 83 percent, and from the field where Cass City was 24 of 53 for 45 percent. The Lakers were 20 of 50 for 40 percent.

Helping the shooting percentages was Tonti who hit 7 of 10 from the field and 5 for 5 from the charity circle as he led the Hawks with 19 points. Martin picked up 17 points and led the team in rebounding with 10. Tim Fahrner was in double figures with 12.

For the Lakers Dubey netted 19. Wisenbaugh had 16 in three quarters and Farver 12.

JV LOSES

The Laker Junior Varsity continued the hex that has plagued the Hawk JV all season. Cass City lost to the Green and White by a single point, 48-47. In the first meeting between the teams the Hawks lost by two points.

Disputed basket pushes Peck past O-G Tuesday

A nip and tuck battle at Peck Tuesday night ended with a referee's decision that a last second shot by Bulldog Alan Haag didn't go in until after the final buzzer sounded. The Pirates won, 51-49.

"Maybe I'm partial, but I thought it counted," a disappointed coach Phil Gray said afterwards.

The veteran coach now must get his charges ready for Friday night's contest at home against super tough Carsonville-Port Sanilac, a team which has yet to lose in North Central D League play this season. Its one loss has been to non-league Uby.

The Tigers blew the Bulldogs away in the Dec. 11 game between the two schools, 86-41. Owen-Gage had to play without two starters in that one.

Tuesday the Bulldogs host Caseville.

The game at Peck could have gone either way as indicated by the final score. The Bulldogs connected on 21 of 45 shots from the floor, 46 percent, and seven of 14 from the free throw line.

Pete Klemkowsky scored 13 points and Brad Erickson, 10.

The Pirates had similar statistics, 22 of 53 from the floor, 41 percent, and seven of 17 tossed in from the charity line, 41 percent.

Dave Seddon pumped in 13 points and Alan Bell, 12. Klemkowsky grabbed 11 of his team's 31 rebounds. The Pirates snared 25.

The outcome puts both teams in a third place tie in the league with 5-3 records. Owen-Gage won the first time the two teams met this season, 71-68.

Peck won the junior varsity contest, 61-52.

KINGSTON

Owen-Gage had trouble getting its act together Friday night at Kingston, but did so just in time to come out on top, 52-47.

The Bulldogs trailed by as much as 16 points and didn't go ahead until there were only two minutes left in the game.

As it has so many times this season for Phil Gray's squad, the big difference came at the foul line, where the Bulldogs collected 12 points out of 16 tries.

The Cardinals only got to go to the charity line six times and collected only one point.

From the floor, Owen-Gage connected on 20 of 49 shots (40 percent); Kingston, 23 of 60 for 38 percent.

Pete Klemkowsky led the Bulldogs with 15 points and 11 rebounds. Jim Glidden collected 13 points and Kirk Carolan, 10.

Jason Koehler scored 16 points for Kingston. Chris Lockhart had 14.

Owen-Gage won the junior varsity game, 47-40.

Top teams post wins in recreation loop action

Mutual of Omaha continued to lead the pack in the Cass City Recreation League with a perfect 7-0 record while People's State Bank remained in a challenging position, a game behind. It remained a two-team race for the title as the third and fourth place squads were three games behind.

Mutual started off slowly last Wednesday against Trend Vendors but found the range after the first period to win easily, 77-50.

The Vendors were ahead, 12-11, at the end of the initial quarter but a 29-11 second period Insurance advantage put the winners ahead to stay.

In double figures for the winners were Paul Beachy, 16; Aaron Deering, 11; Doug Krohn, 11, and Dennis Fritz, 10. Randy Rife of Vendors led all scorers with 18. He was helped by Roy Calahan, 15, and Marty Zawilinski, 10.

Cass City IGA won its first game of the season in a big upset as the Foodmen edged Gus's Party Store, 72-69.

Gus's pounded out a 38-29 first half lead but fell behind in the third quarter as IGA posted a 22-11 advantage and held on in a see-saw final period for the win.

Jeff Lienweber with 20 points and Chuck Hendricks, 19, were the big guns for IGA. Bret Bitzer, hitting from the outside, netted 32 points for Gus's. Ed LaBair, 13, and Dave Bitzer, 12, were in double figures.

Thursday People's bounced back to stay in the title chase with a one-sided 91-56 win over Charmont. The winners dominated every phase of the game, featuring balanced scoring. Tim Bates scored 14. Others helping were Norm Stephens, 13, Mark Green, 13, and Chuck Smith, 12. For the losers four players in double figures were: Tom McIntyre, 14; Dave Asher, 12; Jeff McKensie, 11, and Craig Helwig, 11.

In the final game of the week Thursday, Tuscola Advertiser measured Brown's Party Store, 73-52.

Advertiser opened up a 33-24 halftime lead and then turned the game into a rout with a 21-8 margin in the third quarter.

Rick Tuckey led the winners with 21 points. Dave Doerr and Dave Romig scored 10 each. Craig Miles with 14 and Kevin Bitzer with 10 paced Brown's.

Lakers split two volleyball matches with Cass City girls

Cass City High School's volleyball team was surprised by the Lakers last Thursday in a Thumb B Association contest as the visiting Green and White split a pair of matches.

It was the first time that the Lakers have won a match from Cass City. Coach Michelle Ansonb said.

The Lakers might have been able to win both matches if the Hawks hadn't staged a stirring comeback in the first game. The Hawks were trailing 5-11 when they ran off 10 straight points to win 15-11. The second game also went to the Hawks 15-17.

In the second match the visitors turned the tables. The first game went to the Lakers, 15-13, and the second game and the match was won, 15-11.

Coach Ansonb said that Sherry Bader was perfect from the service line for Cass City and that Cindy Smith played well at the net.

In the Junior Varsity contest, Cass City topped the Lakers by winning two of three games. The Hawks won the opening game, 15-11, dropped the second by an identical score, 15-11, and bounced back to take the decisive game, 15-8. Sally Lowe and Tammy Dearing were outstanding for Cass City.

New books at the library

THE DAY OF THE BUTTERFLY, by Norah Lofts (fiction). A compelling novel about a girl who suffers severe adversity and never loses the conviction that better times are just ahead. The "Day of the Butterfly" won the George H. Heyer Award in England, a contest designed to encourage the writing of regency novels.

THE GENESIS ROCK, by Edwin Corley (fiction). When a small geyser sprouts in Central Park, it appears to be a broken steam line. Scientist Janet McCoy disagrees. But when her hypothesis about a volcanic spur thousands of feet below New York is finally accepted by the authorities, her plea to evacuate the city is ignored -- until it is almost too late.

THE OLD JEST, by Jennifer Johnston (fiction). As she turns 18, Nancy Gulliver's biggest problems are trying to find out about the father she never knew, coping with a semi-senile grandfather and enduring the friendly indifference of the young man she thinks she loves. Then her curiosity and naivete involve her with a secretive Irish freedom fighter and force her into the real world of the early 20th century.

Mediator sought in road talks

The union representing the 44 hourly employees at the Tuscola County Road Commission has requested the presence of a state mediator in order to resolve what the union calls an "impasse."

The contract they were working under expired Dec. 31. Employees have continued to work since then on a day-to-day basis.

The Road Commission's laborers, equipment operators and mechanics are represented by Local 21-M of the Service Employees International Union, AFL-CIO.

According to the union, outstanding issues include binding arbitration, overtime compensation and a comparable wage to surrounding counties, retirement, cost of living and life and sickness-accident insurance policies.

According to Road Commission Clerk James Miklovic, the union announced at a negotiating session last Thursday it was requesting the services of a mediator. As of Monday, no date had been set for the two sides to meet with a mediator.

The employees voted in September in a Michigan Employment Relations Commission supervised election to be represented by the Service Employees union. Local 21-M is based in Flint.

Meredith Auten remembers

Our captain was an old Army officer, Captain Hubacker. He appointed me company clerk.

He was old, but ignorant. I recall the first payroll we made out for some 200 men. He stood right at my shoulder and dictated every word. He would say, sergeant, sgt., corporal, epl., absent without leave, AWOL, all through the order. It took hours.

He came to me and said, "Auten, we need 10 corporals. You pick them."

The company consisted of maybe 10 men from Cass City and the balance from Saginaw. All the boys from Cass City were made corporals and later sergeants. I think they were the best of the lot anyway. I recall Beckett, Vance, Adams, Richardson, Myers, Kirkpatrick and Gardner.

Almost immediately, mumps, measles, fever and the like spread through the company so that we were under a constant quarantine for one or the other.

The first night we were marched to a straw pile, where we filled our covers with straw. Those were our mattresses -- no pillows.

New men came in daily. One day we were furnished with uniforms, the next with shoes. I wore size seven shoes, but the smallest they had was a ten. I had silk socks. We were taken on a hike and when I got back, my feet were blistered over the entire soles. All the sympathy I got was, "Well, put on more socks."

The captain and I made payrolls for October and November with the same time consuming procedure. The men got $30 a month with $6.50 out for insurance and $5 for a bond. The married men had allotments sent home, so some of them got but a few coins.

After the payroll, all engaged in a game of blackjack or poker and after a few hours, one man had most of the money. One night at blackjack, I had done pretty well. Our mess sergeant, whom we all figured had spent some time in jail, challenged me to a game.

So while the others were out on the range, I took him on. The supply sergeant had warned me not to play him, but I was no coward and received a lesson in which he cleaned me. I used my own cards, which the supply sergeant asked me to show him. He could call all the face cards from the back. I offered him $5 if he would tell me how he did it, but I never found out. Afterwards, someone suggested that there was a thumb nail mark on the card back. I don't know.

Tuscola Circuit Court cases

Sentence youth to 2½-10 years

Robert E. McComb was sentenced Monday to 2½-10 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for his role in the Feb. 15, 1979, armed robbery near Fostoria of Leo Waterman. The 20-year-old Davison resident pleaded guilty to the armed robbery charge Nov. 14.

Circuit Judge Norman E. Baguley credited McComb with 28 days served, recommended alcohol abuse treatment and vocational training while in prison and assessed $500 court costs, to come out of his bond. The robbery involved theft of about $100 and a cigarette lighter.

McComb's accomplice in the incident, Martin D. Peters of Flint, earlier had received a 2-3 year sentence at Jackson from Baguley. He also had pleaded guilty to armed robbery.

Also Monday, Erwin Schmandt, 55, of Frankenthum, was sentenced to six months in the county jail for non-sufficient funds over $50. He was credited with 158 days served, fined $200, assessed $200 court costs and ordered to pay restitution of $600.

The charge was that he had written a bad check for $600 in February, 1979, to a Vassar service station.

Albert D. Romain, 32, of Dutcher Road, Caro, stood mute to a charge of uttering and publishing, in connection with writing of a bad check for $400 Dec. 3, drawn on the Peoples State Bank of Caro.

A plea of innocent was entered. Pretrial motions will be heard Feb. 25, fol-

Claudette M. Talcott, 28, of 6024 Fox Street, Mayville, pleaded innocent to a charge of non-sufficient funds, in connection with writing of three checks totaling $62, drawn on the First State Bank of Saginaw.

A pretrial hearing was scheduled Feb. 11.

The motion of Bryan Huizar, 19, of 1119 S. Elmwood Road, Akron, for withdrawal of his guilty plea to attempted receiving and concealing of stolen property over $100 was granted.

Bond was set at $1,000 cash or surety and a pretrial hearing scheduled Feb. 11.

Huizar pleaded guilty to the charge in March, 1978, and was subsequently placed on three years' probation. The charge involved theft of two snow tires from an Akron service station.

Federal funds arrive for 3 county bridges

The Tuscola County Road Commission has received federal and state funding for replacing of three bridges, one of which is in Novesta township.

That bridge is on Decker-ville Road over Mud Creek, just east of Cemetery Road.

It is being replaced, according to Road Commission Engineer Robert Wellington, because it is too narrow and the beams supporting it are too light to support the traffic that is otherwise allowed on the road.

The load limits presently on it, 28 tons for a single-bot-tom truck-tractor, for instance, are about half of what is allowed on the road itself. Replacement cost of the bridge is an estimated $75,000.

The other two bridges for which the Road Commission received funding are Waterman Road over the Cass River, northeast of Vassar, $460,000, and Millington Road over Perry Creek, west of Millington, $98,000.

Federal funds will pay 80 percent of the actual cost and state funds, 10 percent. The Road Commission will pay the final 10 percent. For the Waterman Road bridge, which is on a local road, the money will come out of the local bridge millage. The local share for the other two bridges will come out of primary road funds.

By the time final plans are drawn, various permits obtained and bids let, it might be too late this year to start construction, Wellington said, which would mean the bridges will be built in 1981.

The Road Commission had applied for funds for rebuilding of 12 primary road bridges and 12 local road bridges, out of the $12.7 million in federal funds and $5 million in state funds the Michigan Department of Transportation has available for the purpose in 1980.

The three bridges for which the Road Commission did receive funds were part

3 county men sent to prison

Three Tuscola county men were sentenced last Thursday to terms in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for their roles in a multi-county theft ring.

Crawford county Circuit Judge William Porter sentenced William F. Payea, 35, of Vassar, and Arthur T. Rose, 30, of Millington, to 6-10 years in prison. Michael V. Stacey, 20, of Millington, received a 4½-10 year sentence.

Payea and Rose pleaded guilty Dec. 10 to five counts of felonious breaking and entering; Stacey pleaded guilty to four counts.

The three were arrested in September, following investigation by the Crawford County Sheriff's Department.

According to Sgt. Charles E. Haas of that department, 532 break-ins in 16 counties have been traced to the ring in which the trio were involved. More than $80,000 in stolen property has been recovered.

Stolen merchandise, including televisions, radios, guns and lawn tractors, usually stolen from weekend and summer cabins, was brought to Tuscola county for sale. Much of the merchandise was stolen on order from would-be buyers.

Charged in Tuscola county with receiving and concealing stolen property over $100 in connection with the operation are Terry L. Burrows, 29, Caro; Kenneth Robinson, 32, Mayville, and Paul Luketich, 56, Mt. Morris.

A new trial is to be scheduled for Luketich, after a four-day trial before Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn ended Friday with the jury unable to reach a verdict. The trial had started Tuesday. Luketich had been charged with possession of a stolen garden tractor.

Robinson, who has three charges against him, faces trials Feb. 7 and 26. Trial date for Burrows, who faces one charge, is March 11.

County may receive extra state funds

Gov. William G. Milliken last Wednesday said that seven governmental units in Tuscola county will receive an estimated $34,000 under a proposed addition to the state revenue sharing program.

Cass City would receive an estimated $6,000; Gagetown, $1,800; Kingston, $2,100; Akron, $1,100; Caro, $13,500; Mayville, $6,500; and Millington, $4,000.

Huron county villages would divide an estimated $49,000, including $760 for Owendale, $2,100 for Uby, $4,680 for Elkton and $8,300 for Bad Axe.

Milliken said the new $40 million distressed communities program will assist more than 300 communities throughout the state. The program will involve new state funds to be added to the $500 million unrestricted state revenue funds which go to local units of government.

"The distressed communities program will help assure fiscal stability for Michigan's local units of government by providing additional funds to cities, villages and townships which most need it," Milliken said.

If the program is approved by the Legislature, communities will receive additional funds based on a formula considering the percentage of families with incomes below the poverty level, the percentage of senior citizens in the community, the growth or deterioration of the tax base, relative tax effort and decline in population.

Milliken stressed that the new program will not affect the general revenue sharing program.

"However, population projections and revenue growth estimates make it clear that following the 1980 census, there will be an extremely adverse impact on some local governments which are growing, have demographic and other characteristics which result in service needs that cannot be funded locally.

"That is why I am proposing that we add this new assistance program to the existing revenue sharing program, so that communities throughout Michigan which need additional funds have a means of securing them."

Up charges

The Public Service Commission has approved a request by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. to charge 20 cents for information service after a customer makes more than 20 information calls a month.

The plan will not go into effect, however, until about June, 1981.

Under the plan, each residential and business customer will receive a monthly credit on their bills and be allowed up to 20 such calls within that billing month. Each information call after the allotment will cost 20 cents.

The charges will not apply to handicapped persons, who may file for an exemption, or to calls from pay telephones in hotels, motels and hospitals. Information services for other cities will be provided free upon request to customers.

The plan will be in effect for three years, after which the commission may evaluate it.

Tax tribunal rejects appeal

The Michigan Tax Tribunal has rejected an appeal by the Owendale-Gagetown School District of Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements' awarding of 1978 and 1979 Goslin parcel taxes to the Cass City School District.

Technically, what the tribunal did in a decision dated Jan. 23 was to grant the three respondents' motions for accelerated judgment, thereby dismissing the appeal.

The respondents -- defendants in the original Owen-Gage suit -- were the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners, Elmwood Township Board and Cass City School District.

The tribunal said it didn't have jurisdiction and that Owen-Gage's appeal "cannot be collaterally attacked in this tribunal," in other words, it was tantamount to the district having appealed to another circuit court judge.

Owen-Gage Supt. Ronald Erickson said that the district filed an appeal with the Michigan Court of Appeals the same time it did so with the tax tribunal, its attorneys not being sure which was the proper one to appeal to. The appeals court has yet to make a ruling.

Clements made his ruling Oct. 22.

Involved from Owen-Gage's standpoint, is the loss of $82,269 in 1978-79 operating revenue (from the Goslin territory) and (tax bills sent out in December, 1978, based on Owen-Gage millage rates) and $91,465 in 1979-80 revenue.
