Gold and silver prices put bite on consumer

By Mike Eliasohn

Brush your teeth three times a day and don't eat sweets.

Don't get married or settle for a cheaper ring.

Don't use your camera. Those are a few ways to avoid being victims of the skyrocketing cost of gold and silver.

Most of the television news reports of late dealing with the rapidly rising (and falling) price of the two precious metals have focused on the commodity exchanges, where the precious metals are bought and sold.

However, the price for gold and silver also has an effect on the goods and services persons buy, such as for dental work, wedding rings and other jewelry and for film.

Kodak, for instance, recently announced a 15-20 percent increase for camera film. Silver is a prime ingredient.

The problem was illustrated by Dr. Paul Chappel, DDS, who pulled a box of silver alloy fillings from a cabinet shelf.

Four to six months ago, the 10 oz. box sold for $120-150. Now the price is

$1,000, for what is probably a two to three month supply. (Other than the immediate supply, which is locked up at night, Chappel keeps the rest at the bank.)

That doesn't necessarily mean the price of dental work has skyrocketed, for as Dr. Edwin C. Fritz pointed out, the major cost in dental fees is still for labor. The higher price for gold and silver has affected dental fees "but not to the extent one might think. I don't think it will get outlandish."

Based on the fairly standard fee schedule set by dentists for dental insurance purposes, Chappel said, the fee for a simple silver filling was $15 per side a year ago, is now $18 and soon will go up to $20.

Seven years ago when he started his practice in Cass City, the price of a gold filling was $90-100 per tooth. It's now at the $200-210 mark and if the price of gold stabilizes at $800 per ounce, he predicts the cost per tooth will be about $250.

Dentists use three types of "filler" for cavities. Plastic is used for front teeth, which do the biting and don't bear as much stress. The plastic blends into the natural color of the teeth.

The back teeth do the grinding and chewing and need a stronger material. Silver is used for small cavity fillings. Gold is used when a large part of the tooth is decayed.

Silver is the metal used most, according to Dr. D.E. Rawson. Although research has been done on plastic substitutes, he said, no one yet has come up with an alternative for gold and silver.

The consolation, of sorts, according to the two dentists to whom the question was asked, is that most patients now have dental insurance.

The increasing cost of dental care, of course, isn't a consolation to those who don't have insurance. It will also eventually mean an increase in premiums for those who have insurance (or their employers, if they are the ones who pay it).

JEWELRY

People are still buying jewelry, but with some differences, according to Cass City jewelry and gift shop owner Keith McConkey.

Prices of items using gold and silver have gone up sharply of late. He recalled a couple who were looking for a set of rings to purchase. They could have afforded the price of 3-4 months ago, but not the current price. "This is where it bites," he commented.

He didn't want to mention specific prices, but said a 14 carat wedding band costs four times what it did 2-3 years ago. Diamonds have increased in value almost as much as gold.

For those to whom the cost of such items is prohibitive, there are alternatives using less expensive materials, McConkey pointed out.

Sometimes there are no alternatives. Two firms which did replating of silverware continually raised their prices until the cost of silver became prohibitive. They have notified the jeweler they are no longer offering the service.

Although the increased cost of various items has deterred some buyers, McConkey said, he is selling more high priced items than ever, to persons who view it as "a hedge or investment."

He does not deal in buying and resale of used jewelry.

Two accidents send 6 women to hospitals

Two area accidents sent six young women to the hospital, all but one from Cass City. One accident was Sunday; the other Monday.

Most seriously injured was Laverne Lee Summers, 20, of 6400 Severance Road, who was reported in serious but stable condition in the intensive care unit at St. Luke's Hospital, Saginaw, Wednesday morning.

She was a passenger in a pickup truck driven by Tammy Walter, 19, of 3255 Huron Line Road, which slammed into a tree after going off the road Monday. Mrs. Walter was reported in fair condition Tuesday afternoon at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

The sheriff's department reported their pickup was northbound on Schwegler Road, south of Milligan, at a high rate of speed when Mrs. Walter lost control after braking to avoid hitting a car about to pull onto the road from a driveway.

The vehicle swerved from one side of the road to the other before going off the west side sideways. The passenger side hit a tree broadside, the impact spinning the truck half-way around before it came to a halt.

Cass City police assisted at the scene. Officers measured 495 feet of skid marks from where the driver first applied her brakes.

The car emerging from the driveway was occupied by Harold and Isabel Benkelman of 4947 Schwegler Road. Their auto was not yet in the roadway when Mrs. Walter applied her brakes.

The truck she was driving was owned by her father-in-law, Harvey Walter.

Elkland township firemen stood by while the victims were given emergency first aid because of the possibility of leaking gasoline catching fire.

An ambulance had to come all the way from Caro as the Cass City ambulance was on a transfer run to Saginaw when the accident occurred.

FOUR HURT

Most seriously injured in an accident at 9:17 p.m. Sunday was the driver of one of the cars involved, Susan Marie Langenburg, 17, of Kneipten Road, who was reported in fair condition Tuesday afternoon at St. Mary's Hospital, Saginaw.

The other three persons injured were passengers in her car: Wendy Kelly, 17, of 6632 Houghton Street, was still at Caro Community Hospital Tuesday afternoon, but the hospital wouldn't reveal her condition, at her request. Treated and released from there were Deborah Barker, 17, of 6316 Pine Street, and Tammy Kish, 17, of E. Dayton Road, Caro.

Caro state police reported Melanie Sue White, 18, of Caro, northbound on Cleaver Road, had braked in order to turn left onto Deckerville Road, when her car hit a patch of ice and started to slide.

The Langenburg auto, which was right behind the other car, also hit ice and slid into the White car.

As of Tuesday afternoon, the Sunday and Monday accidents were still under investigation by police. None of the six victims, according to the accident reports, was wearing safety belts.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

A Caro area man was treated and released from Caro Community Hospital Monday after he was struck by a car driven by a Deford woman.

Caro police reported Deborah Gilliam, 20, of 312 Froede Road, headed southwest on State Street, turned left onto Frank Street and her car struck Harry Brown, 66, of Deckerville Road, who was crossing the street. The mishap took place at 10:30 a.m.

She told officers the sun was in her eyes and she didn't see the man until it was too late. As of Wednesday morning, the accident remained under investigation.

Craig O'Harris, 19, of Hadley Road, was cited by Cass City police on a charge of leaving the scene of a property damage accident after a mishap in the Charmont parking lot at 10:40 p.m. Sunday.

Officers reported that he was northbound on the east side of the lot when his pickup struck the parked car of Jean Comment, pushing it into the parked car of Clare Comment, which was parked alongside. The Comments are owners of the Charmont.

O'Harris then left, but witnesses' description of the vehicle involved, plus the fact O'Harris had been ticketed 15 minutes earlier on a charge of careless driving, led officers to him at an address on Main Street.

Kenneth L. Hall, 24, of 5825 Main Street, Deford, was ticketed by sheriff's deputies on a charge of careless driving after an accident at 3 a.m. Tuesday.

Officers said he was eastbound on Deckerville Road, east of Murray Road, when his vehicle went off the south side of the road and struck a mailbox. He told deputies he had swerved to avoid hitting a deer.

At 4:20 p.m. Jan. 29, Cass City police reported, Timothy Willis, 19, of 6789 E. Main Street, was northbound on Nestle Street and struck the parked car of Lawrence Smith of Cass City when he swerved to go around it. The car was parked by the east curb.

Village officers said that at 3:50 p.m. Monday, Dawn S. Kritzman, 19, of 6798 Houghton Street, was backing from a parking place in the Cass City High School lot and backed into a car parked by the sidewalk in an area marked "no parking." Driver in the parked car was Jacqueline Hoag, 38, of 4137 Vulcan Street.

CAR-DEER

At 9:45 a.m. Sunday, Arthur L. Brinkman, 32, of 301 S. Crawford Road, Deford, was westbound on Mushroom Road, east of Kingston Road, when a deer coming from the south jumped onto the hood of his pickup, breaking the windshield.

At 6:30 p.m. Sunday, Beverly Ann Maxson, 19, of Shay Lake Road, Kingston, was southbound on Plain Road, south of M-46, when her car struck a deer.

Barbara J. Walkiewicz, 21, of 6115 Chapin Road, Kingston, was eastbound on M-46, east of Plain Road, at 2:10 a.m. Monday when her vehicle collided with a deer. Sheriff's deputies investigated all three mishaps.

ACCIDENT AFTERMATH - It was this side of the truck driven by Tammy Walter that slammed into a tree Monday, resulting in severe injuries to her and her passenger, Laverne Lee Summers. The vehicle came to rest in the position seen here.

$17,000 over budget

Kent negotiates contract, but will county pay?

The next round in the match between Probate Judge W. Wallace Kent Jr. and the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners takes place in the commissioners' ring in the courthouse next Wednesday.

The judge has negotiated a two-year contract with his department's six employees, which he has submitted to the commissioners to consider at their Feb. 13 meeting.

The contract, signed by both sides in late January, would grant his employees a total of about $17,000 more than commissioners gave them in the contract that went into effect Jan. 1.

The county board has filed a complaint with the Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC) against the union that represents courthouse employees, charging that the contract it negotiated for all courthouse employees included those in the probate court.

Kent has requested that commissioners implement the proposal by Feb. 19. If no action is taken or commissioners reject the contract, he said he will ask the regional state court administrator in Flint to order the county board to do so. "I don't mean to imply a threat," he told the Chronicle. "If they don't take positive action by the 19th, then we're stuck on dead center" (if no appeal were made to the court administrator).

HIS UNDERSTANDING of the procedure is that the administrator would then appoint a panel consisting of a county official and a judge from another county, plus someone from the administrator's office, to sit down with the two sides and try to reach a settlement. Kent described it as an "arbitration type of situation."

The panel presumably could accept some portions of the contract negotiated by Kent, accept all of it or reject all of it.

Their recommendation goes to the court administrator, who would then issue an order.

The judge has sent to the regional court administrator and to the state court administrator's personnel office in Lansing a copy of the contract he has negotiated and a summary of what has transpired between him and the union and him and the county board.

According to Commissioner Kenneth Kennedy of Millington, acting chairman of the board's personnel committee while the chairman is on vacation, the county board has requested its labor consultant, Charles Minter and Associates, and a private attorney specializing in labor matters to prepare a response to submit to the court administrator.

That of course, assumes the county board will reject the probate court contract.

KENNEDY DIDN'T wish to speak for his fellow commissioners, but did say, "The feeling of the board is to pursue this all the way."

County commissioners aren't contesting Kent's right to negotiate his own contract.

Their complaint filed with the MERC contends that the union, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Local 2697, made no effort during contract negotiations in December to have the probate court employees recognized as a separate bargaining unit. The county contract includes, at the union's request, reclassification of one probate court employee to a higher pay grade level.

An amendment to the original complaint will charge that the union's business agent, Rick Kloor, said during the negotiations that he would not negotiate a separate pact with Judge Kent.

MERC has scheduled a hearing on the county's complaint March 24 at the courthouse in Caro.

Kent did most of the negotiating of the probate court contract with Kloor, with members of his staff's bargaining committee sitting in on some sessions.

According to the judge, there was some give and take, that the union did not get everything it asked for.

His contention has been that his staff was underpaid in comparison to what some other courthouse employees are paid.

Asked whether he thought commissioners would approve the contract he negotiated, he replied with what he admitted was a diplomatic response, "I have no knowledge of what the county board will do."

ASSUMING COMMISSIONERS reject the pact and then lose before the state court administrator, their avenue of appeal is to circuit court.

Damage minor in house fires

Damage was estimated at least $1,000 from a fire at the Steve Papp residence Monday night.

Elkland township firemen were called to the home on M-53, south of Shabbona Road, at 11:28 p.m. They were there about one hour.

Fire department Lieutenant Dave McNaughton said a fire had been burning in the fireplace for three days and the built-up heat somehow got through the brick into the wall behind it, which started the studding to burn.

There was resulting damage to some studding, sheeting and drywall.

The Papp family was home when the fire broke out. Damage was minor enough that the house was still habitable once the fire was out.

Damage was described as minor resulting from a chimney fire at the home of Kay Mallory on Bruce Street in Deford last Wednesday.

Occupants of the house had the fire out by the time Elkland township firemen arrived. They received the call just after 1 p.m.

Fire Chief Jack Hartwick said the fire in the wood burning stove ignited creosote inside the brick chimney. The fire then burned through the chimney and damaged a false ceiling panel in the living room.

There was apparently some smoke damage in an upstairs bedroom.

HOLD ON -- Actually, Jackie Davis didn't need any help from her children in staying upright, even though Sunday was the first time she had been on skates since high school. With her at the Cass City Recreation Park rink were daughter Jennifer, 10, (left) and son Tim, 11.

RLDS women
have meeting

Women's Department Assistant Leader Mrs. Tom Craig presided last Thursday evening over the monthly meeting of the Owendale Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, held at the home of Mrs. Reva Russell.

Fourteen members attended. Co-hostess was Mrs. Darlene Kuenzli. Mrs. Russell read the call to worship from Proverbs 31:7. The ladies joined in singing, "With A Steadfast Faith, Together Let Us Walk." Prayer was offered by Mrs. Emma Morley. Mrs. Kuenzli, women's leader, taught the lesson, "The Time of Your Life," from the book "Women As Winners," by Dorothy Jongeward and Dru Scott. Closing prayer was given by Mrs. Vickie Merchant.

Mrs. Kuenzli led the business meeting at which the minutes were read by Lucille Wells and the year-books were passed out. Work night was scheduled Feb. 7 at the church to work on bazaar items.

Lunch was served by the hostess and co-hostess. Next worship-study meeting will be at the home of Lucille Wells Feb. 21. Co-hostess will be Ila McCallum.

Mrs. Paul Craig and Mrs. Arthur Little visited Mr. and Mrs. Alva McNeil Saturday afternoon, near Caro.

Mrs. Allen Jennex of Rives Junction spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Agar.

Local math
score well

Nine algebra and trigonometry students from Cass City High School have qualified for the second round of competition in the Saginaw Valley State College "math olympics."

They are Rob Clarke, Steve Corcoran, Terryo (Terry) Hayashi, Dan LaPonsie, Melanie Particka, Mark Guinther, John Sutter, Lori Teichman, all seniors, and Les Tuckey, the only junior.

All are students of Doug Grezeszak or Joe Guza. Thirty-nine Cass City students took the 50-minute examination in December. They were among 3,931 students from the greater Saginaw Valley region that took it.

Those who qualified for the second round placed in the top 8 percent. The second test, for two hours, will be administered on the SVSC campus Feb. 15. Those scoring highest will be eligible to receive scholarships to the college.

Those taking the test will be treated to lunch, receive a tour of the campus and attend the science fair then underway. Grezeszak's chemistry and physics students will be going along, in a school bus, to attend the science fair and campus tour. Grezeszak, who took the first round examination, described it as a "pretty tough test." His score would have placed him in the top 8 percent, had he been a student.

The average score for the Cass City seniors who took it was 4.3 percent above the average for all seniors (of the 3,931 students) who took it. The average score for Cass City juniors was 6.7 percent below that for all juniors.

Because so many more seniors from Cass City took the test than juniors, the average score for the 39 students was 5.85 percent above the average for all 3,931 students.

Salem church women meet

Eleven were present Monday evening when United Methodist Women met at Salem church for its monthly meeting. Mrs. Stanley Kirn presided at the business meeting and devotions were given by Mrs. James Jezewski.

Mrs. Kirn got the prize for the most unusual article about presidents Washington and Lincoln. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Walter Jezewski and Mrs. James Jezewski.

Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Tobias and daughter Jamie, Mrs. John Erla and Miss Gertrude Erla attended services in St. Anastasia Catholic church in Troy Sunday. They went to attend the baptism of Holly Troychak, great-granddaughter of Mrs. John Erla.

One hundred and fifty guests attended the open house, at the Caro Regional Center Friday, honoring Basil Quick, who has retired after 11 years of employment. Attending the affair, besides Mr. and Mrs. Quick, were their daughter, Mrs. Judy Zak, and son David of Midland.

Miss Mary Beth Esau of Kalamazoo spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Esau. Other Sunday dinner guests were Horace Croft of Uby, Miss Muriel Addison and her nephew, Peter Dorling, Leonard Striffler and Miss Laura Maier.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Sowden and son Rayford of Vassar visited Mrs. Bessie Battel and Mr. and Mrs. Rayford Thorpe Sunday evening.

Seven members of Cass City Girl Scout Troop 170 and leaders Arlene Szarapski and Theresa Sugden toured the Chronicle Tuesday afternoon. Publisher John Haire conducted the tour.

Children's Bible club announced

Mary Hanby, church worker, announces the beginning of a children's ministry sponsored by the First Baptist church.

The new ministry will be called JOY Club and will be held after school for children in grades 1-3. Purpose of the club is to teach children the basic truths of the Bible. The 45 minute program will begin next week and conclude the week of May 24. Bible stories, singing, contests and awards will be the main features of the clubs.

The clubs will be held in the following homes: Monday, 3:15-4 p.m., at 4658 N. Seeger; Tuesday, 3:30-4:15 p.m. at 4445 Oak; Thursday, 3:30-4:30 p.m. at 6244 Cedar Dr.

Church members assisting Miss Hanby will be Carol LaPonsie, Debbie Page, Pat Ferris, MaryJane Warner and Linda Mellendorf. Children will need to arrange for their own transportation. For further information, call Miss Hanby at 872-3155 or 872-2888.

THE MAN WHO KEPT THE SECRETS: RICHARD HELMS AND THE C.I.A., by Thomas Powers (non-fiction). Richard Helms was one of the best and the brightest—a member of the elite cadre of intelligence agents who graduated from the OSS to the newborn CIA at the end of World War II. The agency became his life. He shared its triumphs and its eventual disgrace. Before he was forced from the directorship in 1974, he had been involved in its every major operation. This is the story of Helms and the CIA, told by a Pulitzer Prize-winning investigative journalist. It is a window on the covert actions that changed the course of contemporary history.

THE LAMB'S WAR, by Jan de Hartog (fiction). In 1942, when Laura Martens was 15, she crossed the border from her native Holland into Germany to search for her father, a Quaker, who was imprisoned in Schwaiblenbach concentration camp for the crime of saving Jewish infants from the Nazis. Armed with only religious fervor and her love for her father, she willingly entered the camp. In 1945, when the Allies liberated Schwaiblenbach, they found Laura a victim of amnesia and an accused collaborator, her life threatened by the skeletal survivors of the camp. Written with passion, intelligence, and a profound knowledge of humanity, "The Lamb's War" is a major novel about people who confront the greatest evils with the power of love.

MUSTANG FEVER, by Gary McCarthy (Western). Darby Buckingham, a portly, dapper New Yorker who is a writer of Western novels, gets background for his next effort the hard way, by corralling and breaking a wild mustang, rescuing a damsel in distress from the lecherous designs of a bad-guy cowboy and engaging in a shoot-out with two of the fastest draws in the West — after which, battered but unbowed, he returns to the ample, welcoming arms of Miss Dolly Beavers.

Jack Hool, a native of the area who spends his summers in Cass City and the rest of the time teaching and coaching at Assumption High School in Windsor, brought his team to town Saturday.

The purpose was for a practice with the Cass City Red Hawks. It was nip and tuck with the edge going to Cass City.

Sometimes you can fight city hall and win. Jim Schwanitz, manager of B&W Auto Sales did it. Schwanitz owns a plot of land in Huron county. Its assessed value was raised from $1,700 to $12,150 in 1977. He appealed to the equalization board, which made a note of it. Next he appeared before the board of review, which lowered the assessment to $5,500.

Still believing the valuation was unjust he took his case to the Michigan Tax Tribunal last Tuesday and, voila! The assessment was returned to the amount that it was before the huge increase.

That saves Schwanitz about $350 in taxes. Which is the good news. The bad news is the time it took appearing before the various taxing agencies to present his case. There's no getting the money that cost back.

A milestone was passed last July and it slipped by and we didn't even notice it. It was in July that Thelma Jackson marked 25 years writing the Holbrook news for the Chronicle.

During that period I can recall her missing an issue because of vacation. There may have been others but you could count them on one hand.

And in all those years each week's news has been complete from the area she covers.

She has had much to do with the excellent circulation that the Chronicle has achieved in that area.

It's evident from all those stories reported each week about the timber thieves that firewood is at a premium. Let me tell you wood burners that I know where there is a large tree that is available for the cutting.

It's in the Haire yard. It is close to the house and care will be needed.

All this came about when I quizzed Jim McDonald about taking it down. It was suggested that someone would be happy to cut it for the firewood.

Remember, if you are first to get permission, that along with the permission comes the responsibility for replacing my roof or any damage to the house that occurs when the tree falls.

A weighty loss

Can't lose weight? Consider the case of Paul M. Kimmelman of Pittsburgh. On Dec. 25, 1966, he weighed 487 pounds. He went on a crash diet of 300-to-600 calories a day. By August 1967, he had slimmed down to 130 pounds—a total loss of 357 pounds. He later stabilized his weight at 175 pounds.

Novesta electors to decide purchase

Novesta township residents will be asked at the annual township meeting in late March or early April to decide whether the Novesta Church of Christ building should be purchased as the new township hall.

The building is on Cemetery Road, surrounded on three sides by the township cemetery.

The Church of Christ has a new and larger building under construction across the road. The present township hall is located on the west edge of Deford.

The opportunity to purchase the present church building was discussed by the township board Monday evening with Keith Little, chairman of the church board.

Advantage of the purchase, according to township Supervisor Bill O'Dell, is that it would provide a central location, with more facilities for public use than the present township hall.

The church is asking $20,000 for the building, the value at which it has been appraised, according to Little. He pointed out it has running water and restrooms, which the present township hall doesn't have.

The suggestion to let electors decide at the annual meeting whether to buy the building was offered by Treasurer Everett Field, and agreed to by the rest of the board.

Also at the meeting, the board met with county Commissioner Royce Russell and discussed political, financial and other matters at the county and state levels.

Several persons present expressed the feelings concerning county and state spending, property taxes, etc.

In a matter tabled from the January meeting, the board voted not to change the zoning of certain property along Kelly Road from the present light industry and commercial to the requested residential. The property is in the southwest quarter of Section 4.

Appointment of a new sexton was tabled until the March 3 meeting.

"If It Fitz..." Bathtub interviews

By Jim Fitzgerald

My friend Ralph worries about my success as a newspaper columnist. Recently he read that Chicago columnist Irv Kupcinet interviewed Detroit's Mayor Young in the nude. This upset Ralph considerably.

"Young is the mayor of your city," Ralph said. "Why did he strip for a Chicago columnist? Why didn't he do it for you?"

This was an embarrassing question for me to answer. I've never even interviewed Mayor Young with his sleeves rolled up. Every time I see him, he's wearing a three-piece suit. It never occurred to me to suggest that we take a bath together.

That's what happened for the Kupcinet interview. Mayor Young was in the steam, whirlpool and sauna baths at the LaCosta (Calif.) Hotel and Spa, and Kupcinet splashed in beside him. The columnist later reported, exclusively, that Young asked him: "Where do you carry your pencil and pad?"

Kupcinet also quoted Young as saying, "A mayor must emphasize the positive, not the negative."

Certainly it is a positive thing for Detroit that its mayor can afford to go to California to take a bath. He probably flew on to Hawaii to dry himself. A city's citizens should be proud that its leader accomplishes his toilet in such a classy manner. No one wants a mayor who takes a bus to Trenton, N.J., to wash his face. But why did the mayor of Detroit bathe with a columnist from Chicago?

That's why my friend Ralph wanted to know. "It makes Detroit columnists look bad when their mayor bares all to a columnist from another city. Is there some reason Mayor Young doesn't want to get in the same bath water with you?"

I had to admit that whenever the mayor leaves town to take a bath, he never tells the local press where he is going. He just puts on his three-piece terrycloth suit and takes off. His aides, left behind to protect his office from invasion by the City Council, will never confirm the exact location of the mayor's tub. Detroit newspapers are forced to speculate, quote unnamed sources close to the mayor's rubber duck and print such unsatisfactory news reports as: "Mayor Young was unavailable for comment on the city's loss of $2 billion in federal aid. He is reportedly taking a bath in LaCosta, Calif., from where he is expected to deliver his annual State of the City address."

It isn't believed that Mayor Young's refusal to bathe with his hometown press is based on hygienic considerations. On the surface, at least, there is no evidence Irv Kupcinet is any cleaner than I am, and he doesn't appear any better equipped to carry pencil and pad without the aid of pockets. Also, I am immodest enough to suggest Kupcinet displaces more water than I do, which is certainly a factor any mayor should consider when inviting the press to a slosh in the tub.

So, if there is no danger of Detroit journalists leaving a ring around his sauna, why does Mayor Young snub them in favor of giving bathtub interviews to the out-of-town press? I don't know for sure, but I think his reason has something to do with the time he took an ocean cruise and a Detroit newspaper printed that the mayor and his companion signed aboard as Mr. and Mrs. when they really weren't. The mayor may have thought this was a rather childish way to treat consenting adults, and he may have decided right then to never place himself in a position where a Detroit writer could see all his warts. Obviously, such a decision would keep me out of the mayor's bathtub.

My friend Ralph accepted this explanation, but he remained worried about the possible damage to my career. "It looks bad that a Chicago columnist can take a bath with the mayor of Detroit, but a Detroit columnist can't. Kupcinet said this was his first nude interview, so he has obviously never bathed with the mayor of Chicago. A Detroit columnist could save a lot of face by taking a bath with the mayor of Chicago."

It seems like a pretty good way to catch up with Kupcinet. There should be no difficulty because the Chicago mayor is a woman, Jane Byrne. If the law says sports reporters can't be barred from men's locker rooms simply because they are women, certainly the same principle of civil rights must be applied to male political reporters who want a bathtub interview with a female mayor.

My next step will be to contact Mayor Byrne's press secretary, who is married to her. I'll request a bathtub interview with his boss concerning her recent face-lift and adjacent subjects. If Mayor Byrne has as much class as Mayor Young, she'll meet me at a spa in Switzerland. I hope I can get from here to there on a bus.

FORMER PASTOR

Coming As

EVANGELIST

To Cass City Area

Rev. James Kidney
Former Pastor
Cass City Missionary Church

Will be leading a revival campaign at the Mizpah Missionary Church, south of Argyle Road, on M-53, beginning Wednesday night and continuing through Sunday night, Feb. 6-10. Week-night services will begin at 7:30. Sunday services will be from 10:00-12:00 A.M. and 6:00-7:00 P.M.

Rev. Kidney is an ordained minister, has served as pastor for 16 years, Regional Youth Director 5 years, and has served as dean of Boy's Camp. He is equipped to provide Gospel Magic, having presented magic to Vacation Bible Schools, banquets, rallies, Sunday Schools, and a Christmas Program for a Veteran's Hospital. Magic will be a part of most or all services.

He also comes fresh from a recent trip to the Holy Land. The Mizpah congregation cordially invites the public to join with them in this joyous time of spiritual revival.

The Haire Net

The name escapes me but the man lingers on. Balding, with wire rim glasses and neat business suit, the slim figure standing in front of the class telling naive freshmen how it really is. It took years before how great a course it was began to sink in.

A taskmaster, that was the course that students in the know avoided at all cost. The good doctor believed that grades should be earned. If you aceed his course you should think seriously of taking at least a minor in history, maybe a major.

After a term with him I saw plainly that my future was not in the history department where he served as dean.

It was a time of unrest in the country. War was on the horizon. Nationalism, or patriotism if you prefer, was rampant.

I can hear him yet. If you want to predict how nations react, look for what their basic best interests are. They always act to protect them, he'd say.

Then he'd tick off some of the basics. Russia wants a warm water port. United States wants to protect its sphere of influence in the east. Germany wants control of the Ruhr.

There wasn't much said about the spread of democracy or halting the spread of communism in that class. Basically what I gathered from the three months in the course was that this was propaganda without real substance in the long run. I've reflected many times about what I was exposed to in that course. The conclusion is inescapable. The professor was right then and he's right today.

Our enemies in World War II, Japan and Germany, are our friends. Our ally in that war, Russia, is now our enemy.

England and the United States have remained partners through the last four major conflicts, but that's because our national interests coincide now. Remember, in our brief 200-year history we fought three wars with England.

A few months ago the most vocal of aroused Americans wanted to go into Iran and teach them a lesson. At the very least drop a few well placed bombs to show them that they monkey with the good old USA at their peril.

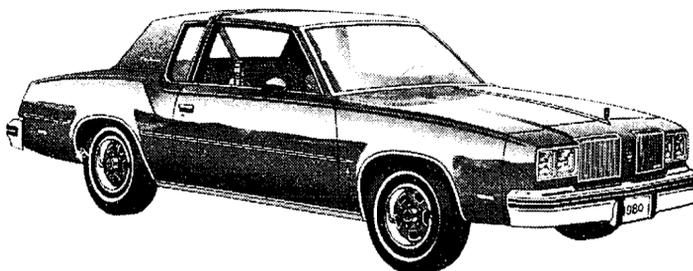

If you buy the professor's theory, that just won't happen. It's not in our best interest to get into a fracas with Iran. It's basic that we need the oil coming out of the middle east. Nearly have to have it.

Now if Russia or any other country really threatens our supply, that's serious. That's the stuff that all-out war is made of.

The hostages are rightfully a concern of all Americans and the country has been united by their plight.

The hostages could be that trigger that throws us into a conflict, but the gun is the oil that's basic to the country.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Area veterans swarmed into the Tuscola County Veteran's Office in Caro to pick up applications for Vietnam bonus payments.

Master Sgt. Gene A. Parsons has been promoted to senior master sergeant. He is currently assigned to 390th Strategic Missile Wing, D-M Air Force Base, Tucson, Ariz.

Janet Auvil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Ray Auvil, of 4665 Pringle Road, Snover, has been named Cass City High School 1974-75 Betty Crocker Family Leader of Tomorrow.

Walbro employees David Aumann and William Bliss Jr. completed Unit III of Whittenburg University's managements development program. The courses concentrated on behavioral studies and motivation, communications and leadership, economics and personnel relations.

TEN YEARS AGO

Joseph V. Scott, president of the Echlin Manufacturing Co. of Branford, Conn., and Walter E. Walpole, president of Walbro Corp. of Cass City, jointly announced that Echlin has purchased the principal assets of Allied-Walbro Corp.

Elsie Hicks became the first woman to serve as clerk of Tuscola county, following her appointment to the post by Circuit Judges Norman A. Baguley and James Churchill.

Michigan Gov. George Romney has announced he and his wife, Lenore, have accepted an invitation to attend the Cass City centennial celebration.

J. Glenn McCullough and Mrs. Gladys Albee won nomination for seats on the village council.

Nestle Company Inc. has been decreasing its operations in the Thumb for a decade and this week announced another cut in its operation.

Rev. Lloyd Streeter, 27, assumed his duties as pastor of the Cass City First Baptist church. He and his wife have one son and come from Inlay City.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

George C. MacQueen, Tuscola County 4-H club agent for four years, has accepted a similar position in Livingston county.

Cass City Lions Club presented Cass City Hospital and Pleasant Home Hospital with an incubator at their club's regular meeting at Parrott's Dairy Bar.

The Elmwood Home Demonstration group met with Mrs. LeRoy Evers for an all day meeting. Topic of discussion was "Let's Look at Our County."

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Cass City High School joined about 2,000 American secondary schools when it was recently awarded a charter to establish a local chapter of the National Honor Society.

Edwin Scott Karr and Lyle Howard Holik are new registrants for January from Cass City at the county draft office.

Junior and senior classes each placed 21 students on the third marking period honor roll. Three seniors had straight A's and two juniors also received A's.

Sen. Audley Rawson addressed about 250 farmers at the dairy meeting in the school auditorium and told how important Michigan is as an agricultural state and of its important dairy industry.

Fern Schwegler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben A. Schwegler, will have completed a three year course of nursing at Hurley Hospital in Flint.

General Telephone adds lines

Additional switching office equipment is now ready to serve General Telephone customers in the Cass City exchange, according to Division Manager Bob Kowalski.

The $50,700 project provided 200 additional lines and 200 terminals. This equipment is necessary to help meet present and projected growth in the Cass City exchange.

Kowalski explained that one piece of line equipment is required for each line in use, whether private, two-party, or suburban service. Line equipment provides the dial tone when the telephone receiver is lifted.

The second portion of the equipment addition consists of 200 terminals, which make the final connection between the calling and called party. One connector is required for each telephone number.

General Telephone's Cass City exchange serves over 2,500 customers in a 165 square mile area.

PEDALING AROUND

Looking back

By Mike Eliasohn

Digging into the history of the soon-to-be-no-more train depot in Cass City brings to mind a couple of history articles I did in my reporting past. Both were in Three Rivers.

There was the liquor and magazine store that went out of business.

Someone mentioned that cigars had once been made here, which set me on the rail. Sure enough, early in the century, it had been a cigar store, in the days when such places bought their own tobacco and employed persons on the premises to cut and roll it into cigars.

That was one story. I then found out there had been one or two more such stores in Three Rivers. That led to a second story.

I then got a telephone call from a man in his 80s, who as a teenager had worked in one of the stores making cigars. As I recall, from when I interviewed him, he still liked to smoke a cigar, even if it was made by a machine.

Then there was "The Three Rivers Song."

I think I got involved with the story when someone came across "The Three Rivers Song" in their old high school annual or while going through some sheet music.

It was written by a fellow named Glenn Waggoner (I may be off on the spelling), who back in the 1920s belonged to an informal musical group in Three Rivers, which mainly met in the members' houses and performed for their own enjoyment.

That was back before there was television and radio, so people had to provide their own entertainment. (I point that out for the benefit of younger readers.)

The tale got more complicated, when after my first article, someone came up with another song by Waggoner, which the person claimed was the true "Three Rivers Song." That led to a second article, and after that a rebuttal. It turned out the first song I had written about was the "official" version.

None of the old timers I had talked to who had known Waggoner knew what happened to him. It was known that not too long after he had written the songs, he had moved to Indiana. Some thought he had died shortly thereafter, though he was still a young man.

A reader in nearby Constantine, who had recently moved there from a small town in Indiana, read my articles. She started wondering whether the Glenn Waggoner mentioned might have been the same Glenn Waggoner who had been minister of her church in Indiana, who by then was retired.

She wrote him and asked. He was the same person.

What had happened was that after moving to Indiana, he had become very religious and became a minister. He didn't forget his musical background, however, as he wrote a few hundred religious songs, which had been published.

The final chapter, so to speak, came when the retired superintendent of schools in Three Rivers, who was in his 70s and as I recall, had known Waggoner back in the 1920s, drove down to Indiana to visit him.

The value of U.S. farm assets as of Jan. 1, 1980, is expected to total $950 billion, up 16 percent from a year ago.

RARE BREED -- The Michigan Livestock Exchange stockyards east of Cass City were a sea of horns until a herd of 66 rare Scottish Highland cattle were sold Tuesday. The cattle, ranging from calves to old bulls and cows, were raised on a farm near Romeo. The animals can graze in the wild and even paw through snow to feed on grass underneath. Had this winter been colder, said salesman Norb Seely, their coats would have been even longer.

Meals-on-wheels needs assistance

The Cass City Meals-on-Wheels Program is soliciting funds to continue its operating until at least Sept. 30, after which it may possibly receive some federal funds.

More volunteers are also needed.

There is no crisis. The program presently has enough funds to keep operating for three more months, according to volunteer coordinator Marge Langmaid. There presently are 12 persons being served. They have either been recently released from the hospital and can't get around yet on their own or need a special diet or otherwise have difficulty in preparing their own meals.

Two persons receive a hot meal at lunchtime five days each weekday, the others two or three times a week.

The meals are prepared by Hills and Dales General Hospital, which is paid $2.15 per meal by Meals-on-Wheels. That totals about $300 a month, according to Mrs. Langmaid.

Three of the persons receiving the meals pay the full cost and the rest pay a partial amount, which totals about $150 a month. That means the program must raise about the same amount in donations to keep in operation.

After funding from the Human Development Commission ended last March 15, the Elkland-Novesta Community Chest, Cass City Lions Club, Tyler Lodge No. 317, F & AM, First Presbyterian Church Women's Association and some individuals contributed money to keep the program going.

Mrs. Langmaid hasn't asked those organizations yet, but is hoping they will contribute again this year.

Individuals and organizations who would like to contribute are asked to contact the Meals-on-Wheels treasurer, Ron Keegan, at 6407 Seventh Street, telephone 872-2565. Checks should be made out to Cass City Meals-on-Wheels. Contributions are tax deductible.

Persons who feel they would benefit from receiving the meals, can call Mrs. Langmaid at 872-3657, or Isabelle Seeley at Hills and Dales (872-2121).

Persons who would like to volunteer to help in the program can call Mrs. Langmaid.

Volunteers deliver the meals one day a week, which takes from about 11:30 a.m. to noon.

Present drivers are Mrs. Langmaid, Mr. and Mrs. Keegan, Ruth Ann Wiebert, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Thompson, Pat Mills and until recently, Blake Sackett.

The Meals-on-Wheels program may receive some federal funds as of Oct. 1 from the Thumb Area Commission on Aging.

Barley meeting Thursday

The spring growers malting barley meeting will be this Thursday at the Tuscola Farm Bureau Building, 416 Wells Street, Caro, at 1:15 p.m.

A new barley called Morex will be released to growers in 1980. Morex is a six row barley that has consistently yielded with Larker or better. The plumpness of Morex is excellent and the protein has been quite similar to Larker and consistently lower than Coho.

The Malting Barley Committee and Stuart Andreas of Rickels will be present to summarize the barley pricing policy for Thumb growers in 1980. The latest information on barley varieties, especially Morex, will be presented.

Gagetown revises parking

The Gagetown Village Council Monday evening approved an amended parking ordinance.

Under the new ordinance, with at least one minor exception, parking in the street at an angle to the curb will only be allowed on Lincoln Street, south of the light.

On all other streets, only parking parallel to the curb will be allowed.

Two resolutions were approved, needed in order for the village to qualify for federal and state funds to finance construction of a sewer system and sewage treatment system. It isn't known yet if and when the village might get the money.

Council member Fred Sullivan was appointed street administrator for another year.

Lutherans install new officers

Officers for 1980 were installed at the Sunday service of the Good Shepherd Lutheran church in Cass City.

Serving again as president will be Frank Butler. Vice-president is Peter Zell. Lois Moslander will serve as secretary.

Arlan Hartwick has resigned after spending 25 years as church treasurer. He will be replaced by Al Witherspoon.

Other officers installed included: Financial secretaries, Gerald Gunther and Fred Matthews, and elders, Jim Dohn, Dale Iseler, Bob Rockwell, Dan Balzer, Herb Bills and Bernie Wutzke.

Others installed were: trustees, Elmer Hahn, Clare Schuette, Gordon Frederick, Larry Neuman, Ron Rockwell; Sunday School Superintendent Paul Rockwell.

Also installed were youth group and Ladies Aid officers. The first meeting of the church council was held Sunday evening.

Schluckebier on Bean Commission

Gov. William G. Milliken Friday announced appointment of LeRoy R. Schluckebier of Frankenmuth and John A. Tanton of Decker-ville, to the Michigan Bean Commission. Laurence H. Sprague of Durand was re-appointed.

All were nominated for terms expiring Dec. 31, 1982, and are subject to Senate confirmation.

Schluckebier will represent Tuscola county (District 4), replacing Donald Keinath of Caro, who was ineligible for reappointment.

He farms 600 acres of cash crops and certified seed, including 225 of navy beans. He is active in Farm Bureau, Thumb Area Certified Seed Producers' Organization and Michigan Pork Producers' Association.

Tanton, also a cash crop farmer, succeeds John G. Knoerr of Sandusky, who was ineligible for reappointment. He represents District 5, consisting of Genesee, Lapeer, Sanilac, St. Clair and Macomb counties.

Sprague, a trader with the Northern States Bean Co. in Lansing, has served as shipper representative since 1978.

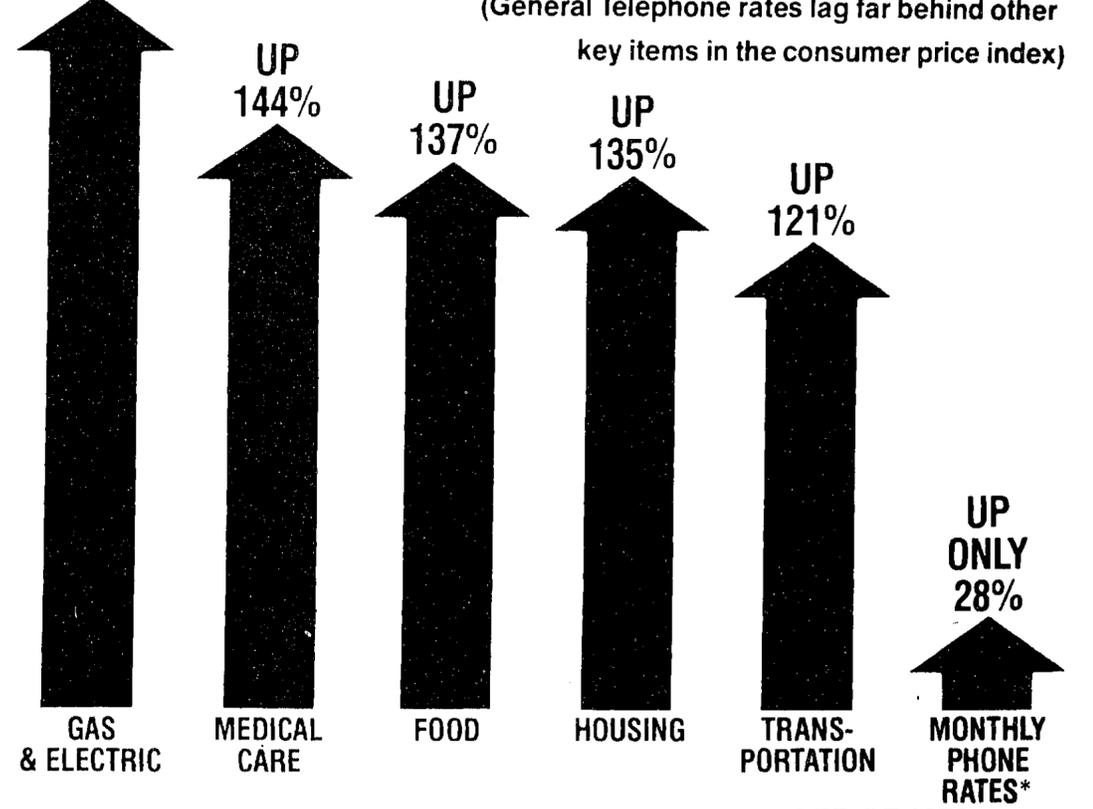

and Mrs. Emma Decker Cass City were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Decker in honor of Mrs. Roshau's birthday. Mrs. Alex Cleland and Carol were Friday lunch guests of Annie Pelton in Cass City.

Rites held for Victor Hyatt, 84

Victor Albert Hyatt, a life-long resident of Argyle township, died Sunday at St. Joseph's Hospital in Flint after a long illness.

He was born Aug. 5, 1895, in Evergreen township, the son of Archie and Mary (Clark) Hyatt.

He married Hazel McQueen in 1916. She died in 1921.

Nov. 11, 1924, he married Hattie Shagena in Decker-ville. They celebrated their golden anniversary in 1974.

Hyatt is survived by his wife; one son, Mack Hyatt of Ortonville; three daughters, Mrs. Opal O'Camb of Pontiac, Mrs. Donald (Hazel) Haveland of Grandville and Mrs. Bud (Jacqueline) Beutler of Grand Blanc; two brothers, Patrick Hyatt and Walter Hyatt, both of Davison; one sister, Mrs. Verna McMillan of Saginaw; 24 grandchildren, and 22 great-grandchildren. Two sons, one daughter, three brothers and five sisters preceded him in death.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon from Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with Rev. Charles W. Thompson, pastor of the Roosevelt Avenue Free Methodist church of Flint, officiating.

Burial was in Mt. Pleasant cemetery, Sanilac county.

Craft club to make centerpieces

The Deford Craft Club will meet Monday, Feb. 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the Novesta Church of Christ basement.

The project will be cloth flower centerpieces. Materials needed are a dish, small piece of material, stamen, styrofoam, baby's breath, glue and small scissors.

Hostesses are Pat Zincker, Joan Merchant and Judy Rocheleau.

If you paddle your own canoe, there's no one to rock the boat.

Bean Day in Saginaw Feb. 20

The third biennial Michigan Dry Bean Day will be at the Saginaw Civic Center Wednesday, Feb. 20, according to Harold D. Rouget, regional extension field crops agent of the Cooperative Extension Service in Midland.

Doors at the Civic Center will open at 9 a.m. and exhibitors have been asked to keep their displays open until 5 p.m.

The event is sponsored by Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, Michigan Bean Commission and Michigan Bean Shippers Association.

About 40 exhibitors will display their chemical, equipment, fertilizer, seed and other farm supply products.

"How to maintain bean quality, from field to elevator, will be the overall topic of Dry Bean Day," Rouget said.

Speakers and visual presentations will explain results of the outstate bean variety trials, new archtype bean, vigor testing for dry beans, narrow-row beans, direct harvesting, weed and insect control, domestic and foreign promotion results, Foreign Agricultural Service inputs, public relations impacts, production of bean flour and other topics.

Lori Ewald of Unionville, Michigan Bean Queen, will attend Michigan Dry Bean Day, and all county bean queens have been invited to take part.

Lunch will be available at the Civic Center, and free bean soup will be served throughout the day.

Lutheran ladies meet

The newly-elected president, Mrs. James Van Dellen, presided Monday night at the February meeting of Good Shepherd Lutheran Ladies Aid.

Officers were elected at the Jan. 14 meeting of the group. Vice-president is Mrs. Alvin Avery. Mrs. James Guinther is secretary and Mrs. Frank McComb, treasurer.

Ridenour completes course

Robert D. Ridenour of Cass City, installation and repair supervisor for General Telephone, recently completed the company's time management course, held at its training center in Norton Shores, near Muskegon, according to Bob Kowalski, northeastern division manager for the company.

The course is designed to help supervisors gain skill and confidence in evaluating subordinates and conducting appraisal interviews.

Ridenour, and his wife Florence reside at 4885 N. Seeger Street.

The Christian Growth chairman, Mrs. Frank Butler and Mrs. Dan Balzer, presented the LWML Missionary topic, a Valentine skit, and mites were collected.

Mrs. Nora Frederick gave a report on the group's proposed cookbook project.

The congregational annual turkey dinner was discussed and will be in April. A family potluck get-together was set for Sunday, March 2, with new church members as invited guests.

Fourteen members attended Monday's meet.

Mrs. Frank McComb, Mrs. Gerald Guinther and Mrs. John Haire are the committee for February.

Life is no joke for the guy who tries to live by his wits.

Meredith Auten remembers

About Christmas time, we were all given three days at home.

I took the 25th, 26th and 27th. The captain had the last three days in December.

I knew there had to be a payroll and muster roll for the 31st. I got an instruction book and made them out in short order.

About 4 a.m., the captain came to my bunk and shook me. His nose was red and his eyes were bloodshot. "Get up, Auten, we have got to make a payroll," he said.

I strolled down leisurely and said modestly, "Well, captain, I tried to make out a payroll. I don't know that it will please you."

He seized it with, "Good work, Auten, but we also have to have a muster roll." I produced that also and you never saw a more relieved man.

We were lined up with our guns on our shoulders and as our names were called by a major general, we yelled "here" and brought the gun down. It was 24 below zero. I saw the ears of the man ahead of me turn white and I know mine were doing the same. We thawed them out with snow.

When we got back to the barracks, I slyly asked the captain if I might have another three days at home. The captain said, "You bet your life, Auten, Get going."

The first of January, a few from each company were designated to go to Officers Training School for three months. We were up in the morning, given a few minutes to dress, then taken out for a half hour of sitting-up exercises. We then had time to clean up and get to breakfast.

The meals were somewhat better -- never an egg or a steak.

My brother-in-law, Clark MacKenzie, had an office and equipment store on the edge of the cantonment, selling for Henderson Ames. I invited him over for dinner one night. He exclaimed, "Sure, I'll go. I'm hungry," but for some reason his appetite left him and he refused the piece de resistance. It was heart.

After about a month, I received a pass for Saturday and Sunday. I went to Detroit, got a Ford car and started for Cass City. It began snowing. I caught up to several more cars going to our garage in Cass City.

When we got to North Branch, it was impossible to go further. Hugh Gordon and I got our car stalled in the middle of the road and walked back to a farm house, where we stayed the night.

The next morning, I got a shovel from the farmer and Hugh and I shoveled nearly all the way to North Branch, where we were told it was impossible to go.

However, a snow plow would be coming and would stop at Clifford for water. Hence, we waded about five miles up the railroad track and got there just as the train came in.

We piled into the caboose and were immediately kicked off. We ran behind the train up to the water tank and got on again. The trainman noticed I had a Masonic ring on my finger and after assuring himself that I was a Mason, let us get on. We got to Cass City in the afternoon. Gov. Sleeper was also snowbound in Cass City and was staying at our home, waiting to go to Bad Axe. I told him of our predicament, and he gave me a complimentary letter to show the captain.

I got back to camp 24 hours late and was confined to barracks for 30 days.

Your Neighbor says

Mild winters are okay with me

Snowmobilers and skiers may complain, but Deanne Wasserman is happy with the way winter has been so far -- mild temperatures except for the last couple of weeks and little snow. "I like it."

Winter is not her favorite season. "I just don't like it for the cold and the roads being nasty," she explained.

She also doesn't like it because she is inside so much, but prefers that to being outside. "I don't like going outside when it's cold."

Her favorite season is summer, when she likes to be outside, working in her garden and on her lawn.

Her husband, Larry, has even less reason to like winter. Last winter, he wrecked her car in a mishap on an icy road.

Love triumphed, however, plus he bought her another car, and the couple was married nine months ago. They live on Bay City-Forestville Road, Cass City.

Mrs. Wasserman has been employed for 3½ years as a nursing aide at Provincial House.

Swine and soybean meetings

By Don Kebler

My wife and I recently had a most enjoyable evening with 46 Tuscola county swine producers and spouses. The occasion was the annual swine producers' dinner.

Following a brief business meeting, Donald Keinath gave a slide presentation of his trip to various overseas countries on business relative to Michigan Bean Commission trade activities.

Elections were held for directors and director's offices in the Tuscola county chapter of the Michigan Pork Producers Association.

Results were: Robert Riedel, Vassar, had his directorship and state association representative position renewed; Terry Keinath, Reese, director and vice-president; Robert Becker, Unionville, director and secretary, and George Cooklin, Cass City, director and alternate association representative. Nancy Palmreuter of Vassar was elected Porkette to represent the Association Women along with Mona Riedel.

These directors will provide leadership for the Tuscola Chapter and state MPPA activities with chapter President Willard Petzold, Millington, and treasurer, James Trump, Vassar. Door prizes were donated by several sponsoring businesses.

SOYBEANS

Tuscola County's Soybean production meeting is scheduled Tuesday, Feb. 12, at 1:30 p.m. in the Richville Lutheran Hall.

Dr. Zane Helsel, Michigan State University soybean specialist, Harold Rouget, Regional field crop agent, and I will present current production practices, such as picking varieties, 1979 varieties research, fertilizer needs, inoculation, narrow rows, etc.

As I see it now, soybean production was a new venture for most crop producers in 1979. As such, soybean production was a new ball game with little or no prior experience to achieve maximum production.

The experienced soybean producers can and are producing top yields because they have learned to produce soybeans using soybean production techniques.

We are trying to provide the information on how one can achieve these top yields in as short a period of time possible.

This meeting is open to anyone. Refreshments and facilities are provided compliments of The Star of the West Milling Co. of Frankenthum and Richville.

HDC gets more money - or does it?

Gov. William G. Milliken announced Friday that 25 of 30 community action agencies in Michigan have received their share of $16 million in state funds to enable them to further assist economically disadvantaged persons.

Included is $43,073 for the Human Development Commission, which serves Tuscola, Huron, Sanilac and Lapeer counties.

The announcement somewhat mystified HDC Director Mary Ann Vandemark, as that is apparently the state money her agency received several months ago for the start of its current fiscal year, Oct. 1.

If so, the funds were used to set up an HDC planning department and the card catalogue of services available, used by its information and referral service.

Mrs. Vandemark was not aware of any additional state funds her agency might have received, she told the Chronicle.

HEALTH TIPS

National VD Hotline only one in country

The phones haven't stopped ringing since they were installed three months ago in the basement headquarters of the National VD Hotline.

In plain talk and often explicit detail, the anxious callers describe their symptoms, seek medical advice and, most important, find directions to low-cost VD clinics in their home towns. Sometimes, they even call back to say thanks, or to report gleefully that their lab tests proved negative.

Opened in October on a three-year, $342,000 federal grant, the National VD Hotline is the only 24-hour venereal disease information and referral service in the country. It is located in Palo Alto, Calif.

The volume of calls, up to 400 a day, already has overwhelmed the five-phone switchboard and caused hotline director Bea Mandel to issue a plea for more volunteer operators.

The toll-free telephone number is 1-800-227-8982.

The hotline idea was chosen because it is "the quickest way to reach the largest number of people," Mandel said. "The concept has been around a long time and is successful because callers can be assured of confidentiality. And that's important when the topic is VD."

The calls are taken by a staff of 30 volunteers, some of them high school and college students who can receive credit through the Palo Alto school system, San Jose State and Stanford universities.

They all receive 15 hours of basic VD training, which includes exposure to a so-called dirty word list that is constantly updated.

The operators, she said, can discuss symptoms with callers, then make referrals out of a bright-red directory of more than 5000 low-cost or free VD clinics across the nation.

"In no way are we or anyone else qualified to diagnose anything on the phone," Mandel said. "We send them to be checked by professionals."

Mandel believes the sudden success of the hotline came about because it's listed in telephone books throughout the country.

"For the first time, VD is listed in the white pages of telephone books in 67 major cities with populations over 200,000," she said. "That's a real breakthrough just to have the words venereal disease listed in the phone book."

VD afflicts a million Americans annually, sufficient to qualify as an epidemic. "Our youngest caller," Mandel said, "was a 9-year-old girl; the oldest a 75-year-old man."

She said the most common questions are, "What do I have and how do I get rid of it?"

Deadline still March 31 for license plates

Everyone who owns a motor vehicle must register that vehicle by March 31, if it is going to be legally driven on public highways after that date, according to Secretary of State Richard H. Austin.

The statement came on the heels of a rash of recent inquiries to Secretary of State branch offices indicating some confusion over the March 31 deadline.

According to Austin, this year the Department of State is phasing in a new system of vehicle registration based on birthdate. Under the system, plates and tabs will expire each year on the vehicle owner's birthday.

To make the transition to the birthday system, the 1980 registration will be valid until the owner's next birthday. From then on, the plate or plate tabs will expire each year on the owner's birthday.

Some individual owners mistakenly assume they can wait until their birthday in 1980 to buy plates. This is a mistaken impression and all owners still must purchase their 1980 plate tabs by the traditional March 31 deadline, Austin said.

Mrs. MacRae retires from phone company

VernaMay MacRae of Cass City has retired from General Telephone after 20 years of employment. Her last day on the job was Jan. 31.

She was guest of honor at a retirement party Jan. 18 in Davison, attended by 80 co-workers.

Mrs. MacRae worked the first 17 years in Cass City, then transferred to Davison after the office here was closed, commuting there in a car pool. She started as a service representative and was a business account representative at the time of her retirement.

She was pianist at Rotary Club meetings for more than 30 years, until she began working in Davison. She has been organist at the First Presbyterian church for seven years.

She and her husband, Calvin, have two daughters, Charlene (Mrs. John) Nipper of Vandalia, Ill., and Barbara (Mrs. Phillip) Rockwell of Argyle, and four grandchildren.

Her husband has worked for General Telephone for 15 years, employed as a line man. The MacRaes live at 4334 N. Seeger Street.

Retirement, Mrs. MacRae said, will give her more time to spend with her family, her music, raising African violets and maybe playing golf.

Later this month, she will be going to Florida to visit her father and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Carl DeMerritt, near Tampa, and Mrs. Anna Krug in Eustis.

Hoffman picked for task force

State Rep. Quincy Hoffman (R-Applegate) has been appointed to serve on a six-member House Republican task force organized to study problems related to the production and storage of Michigan-grown grain.

Hoffman is vice chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

He said the panel's list of priorities includes finding solutions for storing and moving grain in the wake of the U.S. embargo on shipments to the Soviet Union, increasing the legislature's awareness of agricultural needs in the state, and studying the development of ethanol in Michigan, used to produce gasoline.

Other members appointed to the panel by House Republican Leader William R. Bryant Jr. (R-Grosse Pointe Farms) are State Representatives Nick Smith, Addison, Bela Kennedy, Bangor, Alan Cropsey, DeWitt, Everitt "Abe" Lincoln, Albion, and Carl Gnodtke, Sawyer.

'Crib death' parent group being formed

In an effort to increase public awareness throughout the State of Michigan, the State Senate recently passed a joint resolution with the House of Representatives designating the month of February as Sudden Infant Death Syndrome Awareness Month.

Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS), more commonly known as "crib death," occurs suddenly, without warning, to apparently healthy, sleeping infants. It cannot be predicted or prevented.

According to the Michigan Regional SIDS Center in Detroit, 146 infants died of sudden infant death in Michigan between October, 1978 and September, 1979.

Concerned individuals and parents in Tuscola county who have lost children to SIDS can seek information and guidance through a parent support group now being established. For more details call Alvena Eneke, public health nurse, at the county Health Department in Caro, 673-8114.

Diabetes classes start soon

The Tuscola County Health Department will start a six-week series of diabetes classes Tuesday Feb. 19, with sessions at 9:30 a.m. and 2 p.m.

They will be held at the Health Department office on M-81, west of Caro.

Topics to be covered include the diabetic diet, eating in restaurants, using insulin, handling emergencies, and diabetes in general.

The classes are free. To register or for more information, call the department at 673-8114.

The classes will be repeated in May, August and October.

CONTENTMENT

Community booster

Dave Osentoski expands firm

Editor's note: this is one of a series sponsored by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce about community boosters who are members of the organization.

David Osentoski wears two hats in the business world. He's a co-owner of Osentoski Auctioneering with his father, Ira, and brother, Martin. In addition he is the owner of Osentoski Realty which has six offices in the Thumb including one in Cass City.

Born and raised on a farm in the Cass City area, Osentoski graduated from Cass City High School. When 16 years old he became a partner with his father. After attending Delta College for a year he received his real estate license when 18.

In 1968 he worked for a Bad Axe realtor for four years and in the spring of 1972 he and his mother, Marie, received brokers' licenses and started operating from their home.

In 1974 expansion started and the firm opened offices in Port Austin, Caro, Bad Axe, Caseville, and Unionville. The Cass City office opened in the spring of 1979 and the most recent office is a Florida division in Saginaw as a franchise representative for Deltona Corporation for Florida.

David Osentoski is a member of Cass City Rotary, member of Upper Thumb Board of Realtors and serves as its vice-president. He is also a member of the Caro Jaycees and Sacred Heart Catholic church in Caro.

He has two sons, Travis, 4, and Rory, 2½ years.

Three students winners in essay contest

Three students from Cass City Intermediate School have been named local winners in the 11th annual America and Me Essay Contest, sponsored by Farm Bureau Insurance Group.

The three are De'Angela Garety, first; Jill Hutchinson, second, and Cathy Deatherage, third. All are students in Michelle Ancomb's English classes.

All three received award certificates for their achievement. As the school's first place winner, De'Angela's name will be engraved on a plaque for permanent display in the school.

Her first place essay now advances to the state level competition from which the top 10 essays in Michigan will be selected. The top 10 statewide winners, who will be announced in March, will receive plaques and U.S. savings bonds ranging in value from $100 to $500.

A team of finalist judges, headed by former President Gerald Ford, will determine the top statewide winners. Other judges are Gov. William Milliken, Congressman Robert Carr, and the Chief Justice of the Michigan Supreme Court, Mary S. Coleman.

Several thousand eighth grade students from nearly 400 Michigan schools participated in the 1979-80 essay contest.

Vandals damage Willy pickup

Damage was estimated at $400 to the pickup of Nelson Willy of 4205 West Street, which had three windows broken while it was parked at the Charmont.

Broken were the windshield, left side window and left side window on the attached camper. The pickup was parked at the Charmont from 8:30 p.m. Monday to 2:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Warrants were being requested by the sheriff's department charging two teenagers with malicious destruction of property under $100 after they damaged two mailboxes on Kelly Road the night of Jan. 27.

Eugene Otulakowski of 6313 Kelly saw subjects damage his mailbox then drive east, where the car stopped at the home of Sandy Bergman, 6325 Kelly. Occupants got out and struck the mailbox three several times.

While on route to the Otulakowski residence, Cass City police started following a car that matched the description of the vehicle involved and finally stopped it.

There were three subjects inside, one of whom admitted he and one of the others had done the damage, using a tire iron, which was on the front seat. The third had been the driver but hadn't gotten out of the car.

All were released, with the two who had done the damage being told that warrants would be sought from the prosecutor's office. One was a juvenile, the other, 17.

Howard Rexin of 2525 N. Crawford Road, Cass City, reported to sheriff's deputies Jan. 29 that a building used by him on Severance Road, owned by his brother, Floyd Rexin, had been entered.

Taken were a hydraulic jack worth $35 and a 5-gallon can of gas, $12. Entry was gained by kicking in the front door.

Leonard G. Ziemba of 3435 N. Van Dyke, Decker, reported to Cass City police Jan. 29 that the four hub caps off the wheels of his car were removed while it was parked in the General Cable lot the previous day. They were worth $50.

A man was pinned under his car after it fell on him while he was working on it, about noon last Thursday.

The incident took place at Wilcox and Cemetery Roads, east of Wilmet.

Cass City Police Chief Gene Wilson, the first police officer there, said the man didn't appear seriously injured, if at all, but didn't get his name as a sheriff's deputy was on the way to make out a report.

A report wasn't available as of Tuesday, however.

The victim was taken to Hills and Dales General Hospital by ambulance to be checked.

Cass Cityan charged with assault of police officer

A Cass City man charged with assault with a dangerous weapon against Gagetown police officer James Compo stood mute at his arraignment Monday before Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn.

Charged is Billy H. Reese, 24, of 7950 E. Cass City Road. He is accused of being involved in an incident in which Compo was threatened with a .12 gauge shotgun after the officer tried to quell a fight between the defendant and his brother in a home on Lincoln Street in Gagetown, the incident having taken place Jan. 11.

Joslyn entered a plea of innocent in Reese's behalf and scheduled a pretrial hearing March 3. He denied a motion for reduction of the defendant's $3,000 bond.

Also Monday, Debra Partaka, 23, of 2787 Dutcher Road, Caro, stood mute to a charge of uttering and delivery, in connection with writing of three checks in September for a total of $77, for which there were insufficient funds in the account.

A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing scheduled March 3. Bond was continued.

William R. Vanden Beurghy, 17, of 8403 Vassar Road, Millington, was sentenced to 100 days in the county jail for larceny in a building. He was credited with 59 days served, placed on three years' probation and fined $200.

The charge to which he pleaded guilty Dec. 14 was in connection with the break-in of a house Nov. 27 in Vassar.

Lori Ann Curtis, 17, of 224 S. East Street, Vassar, pleaded guilty to violation of probation, of having failed to report to the county jail Jan. 2 in connection with work-release privileges.

She was sentenced to 130 days in the county jail Dec. 28 and placed on 36 months' probation for attempted larceny from an auto.

Monday before Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements: Probation was revoked for Gordon Lee Wood, 23, of Melvindale. He was sentenced to 45 days in the county jail, with credit given for 39 days served.

He was placed on 24 months' probation, starting in March, 1979, for delivery of phenylhydrazine. He pleaded guilty to violating probation Dec. 3, because of a Nov. 19 district court conviction for driving with license suspended.

The judge found Larry G. Dill, 29, of 1060 Riley Road, Caro, guilty of violating probation for having consumed alcoholic beverages. Bond was continued, with sentencing scheduled March 3.

He was placed on 18 months' probation in February, 1979, for assaulting a police officer and resisting arrest.

Regular meeting of Cass City Village Council

The regular meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held Jan. 28, 1980 at the Municipal Building. All Trustees were present.

The minutes for the regular December meeting and the special meeting held Jan. 19, 1980 were approved as presented.

The December preliminary Financial Statement was reviewed.

All committees with the exception of Public Safety had no reports.

It was recommended by the Public Safety Committee to hire Harold Duane Sprague as a 5th policeman, starting at the 2nd year level of pay and to begin employment on Feb. 1, 1980.

A motion was made by Trustee Helwig and supported by Trustee Stahlbaum to accept the recommendation of the Public Safety Committee. Motion carried 6 yeas, 0 nays.

It was noted that Deanna Patnaude and Harold Duane Sprague be officially invited to meet the Council at the next regular meeting.

It was reported that the application to the DNR for tennis courts is in and we would have no definite word until April as to Grant approval.

It was reported that Paul Lefler, Administrator of Building Codes Division for the county of Tuscola, has sent a notice to Larry Peters concerning his property on the corner of Main and Nestles Streets which has been found to be unsafe. Mr. Lefler has also turned the matter of the McNeil Property over to the Prosecuting Attorney.

It was reported that the Village Superintendent had looked into the matter of the Garfield St. Railroad Crossing with John Michals, Engineer of the Department of Transportation. Mr. Michals stated that the traffic count of at least 3,000 cars per day would be needed before the State would consider a crossing review.

Mr. Dykman, Public Services Engineer for Grand Trunk Railroad advised us that Grand Trunk has already advertised for bids on having the depot at the Garfield Crossing removed or torn down in 1980.

Clinton C. House, Village Attorney, received a letter from James R. Suchodolski, Vice-president - Eastern Operation, for Wickes Agriculture on Jan. 16, 1980 stating that the removal of the old Wickes Agriculture buildings is expected to be accomplished in the summer of 1980. He had previously stated that the buildings would be demolished as soon as possible after the new building was open. The Village President wants the record to show that Wickes has not met its obligation for the removal of these buildings.

It was noted the Step 3 approval for the Wastewater Treatment Plant Expansion Program has been received from both the State and Federal Governments and that we also have approval from FHA and the Municipal Finance Commission for our loan and sale of bonds. The project will be advertised for bids on Feb. 25, 1980.

Bids will be received March 20, 1980 (Thursday) at 2:00 p.m. in the council chambers. The Engineers will then review the bids and make recommendations to the Council at their regular meeting March 24, 1980.

The 1980 Preliminary Budget was reviewed. It was noted that we should get a cost estimate for paving the parking lot at the corner of Leach and Pine Streets and review the fees for the swimming pool.

A motion was made by Trustee Ware and supported by Trustee Stahlbaum to establish a Public Hearing for the 1980 Proposed Budget and Revenue Sharing at 7:00 p.m. Feb. 25, 1980. Motion carried 6 yeas, 0 nays.

Certificates were received for Water Distribution Course Completion by Lou LaPonsie and Russell Bradley.

It was noted that a contribution of $1,000.00 was received from the Pinney State Bank to be used for the tennis court project in honor of Horace Bulen.

A notice was read concerning the Michigan Municipal League's Annual Legislative Conference, which is to be held Thursday, Feb. 28, 1980 in the Lansing Civic Center, Lansing, Michigan.

A letter from Leonard Zulewski, Sanitarian, DNR, was read concerning requirements and time schedules the Village is to meet under the new Act 641 for our landfill license renewal.

Further investigation is to be made into the costs of compliance.

A motion was made by Trustee Stahlbaum and supported by Trustee Rawson that the bills as examined be approved for payment. Motion carried 6 yeas, 0 nays.

There being no further business a motion was made by Trustee Helwig and supported by Trustee Tuttle that the meeting be adjourned. Motion carried 6 yeas, 0 nays.

Seek employees for job training

Employers in Huron, Sanilac, and Tuscola now have the opportunity of participating in Private Sector Initiative Program (PSIP), a part of the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA), according to Albie C. Hults, program manager.

PSIP seeks more involvement by business and industry in training and placing disadvantaged unemployed citizens in jobs within the private sector.

A Private Industry Council (PIC) has been formed for the upper Thumb to implement the program. The majority of PIC members must represent business and industry with half of the business members from small businesses.

"Because 80 percent of the jobs are in the private sector," Hults said, "it is strongly felt that the expertise and involvement of business and industry will improve the direction and quality of training conducted under CETA, thus producing a worker who has a marketable skill, is 'job-ready,' and can successfully support him or herself and family in a private sector job."

Hults welcomes invitations to speak without charge to service clubs and other organizations in the Thumb to explain the program.

Information is also available at the Thumb Area Consortium office, 6240 W.

Duane Sprague joins police force

Cass City's newest policeman, Duane Sprague, began his duties Friday.

A native of Fairgrove, he graduated from Akron-Fairgrove High School in 1974 and attended Delta College for a year before joining the Air Force.

He was assigned to the

Glee club to perform in Saginaw

The U.S. Military Academy Glee Club from West Point will be performing Saturday, Feb. 16, at the Saginaw Civic Center's Heritage Theatre.

The program is sponsored by the Saginaw Valley Community Education Association. The Cass City Schools community education department is a member and will be selling tickets for the concert. They can be reserved by calling 872-4151.

The Saginaw concert by the 60-member glee club will start at 8 p.m. It is one of four the group will be performing in Michigan.

Security Police, and after his first year spent in training, was in Korea for a year. His final two years were at Wurtsmith Air Force Base, Oscoda.

At Wurtsmith, his primary duty was regular patrol, the same as a civilian policeman would do. A secondary duty was as handler of a dog trained to sniff out narcotics.

The dog was taken through all the barracks buildings each day and would sniff under the door of each room. If the dog smelled narcotics, a search warrant was obtained unless the airman occupant gave permission to have his room searched.

"In the service, it (narcotics) is starting to be a problem," Sprague said. The dog discovered about every type of narcotic while he was at Wurtsmith, ranging from marijuana to cocaine.

Sprague, 23, ended his military service April 10, 1979, and since then has been working part-time for the Caro Police Department.

He and his wife, Denise, and daughter, Staci Marie, have been living in the Caro area but will be moving to Cass City. Mrs. Sprague is a registered nurse employed at Bay Medical Center, in Bay City.

The new officer here is planning to attend Delta College or Saginaw Valley State College part-time, with the aim of getting a degree in criminal justice.

His hobbies are hunting, fishing and scuba diving. He once took judo lessons and would like to resume that activity some day. He presently has a green belt, rather low on the judo totem pole.

Sprague is Cass City's fifth officer. With the previous four-man force, it was necessary to have part-time officers work two days a week in order to maintain 24-hour, seven-day a week protection in the village.

Sprague's joining the force will eliminate the need for part-time officers -- normally moonlighting policemen from other departments -- except for special occasions.

His hiring also allows reduction of the work week for officers here from their previous 45 hours a week to 42 1/2.

Slate annual poster contest

The Tuscola County Soil Conservation District is sponsoring its annual poster and scrapbook contests for school youngsters, in conjunction with the Michigan Association of Conservation Districts.

Entries in both contests must be submitted to the district office, 452 S. Hooper Street, Caro, by Feb. 29.

Purpose is to develop among school youth and the public an awareness of the problems and technology available to deal with problems connected with proper management of land and its related resources.

County winners will be entered in state competition, with a plaque presented to the three best entries in each division at the state level.

POSTER CONTEST

Division levels are: I, grades 1-2; II, grades 3-4; III, grades 5-6, and IV, grades 7-8.

All entries must be 12-by-15 inches, with choice of materials optional. Name, address, division and name of soil conservation district must be printed or typed on the entry form and attached to the back of the poster.

Entries will be judged on originality, appropriateness of the theme, clarity, visual impact and overall appearance.

The 1980 theme is "Energy and Soil Conservation," and entries must contain illustrations of how energy can be saved through the use of land and related resources.

SCRAPBOOK CONTEST

Divisions are: I, grades 3-4; II, grades 5-6, and III, grades 7-8.

Name, address, division and name of soil conservation district must be printed or typed on the entry form and attached to the back of the scrapbook.

All pictures, drawings, charts and graphs must have appropriate explanation and/or captions and sources noted. Photographs taken by the participants are encouraged.

The 1980 theme is "Energy and Soil Conservation," and entries must describe how energy can be saved through the wise use of land and related resources.

For more information, call the Soil Conservation District office, 673-8174.

Gold, silver prices have big effect on general public

and silverware, but of late has been getting lots of inquiries from persons wanting to know the value of such items, which they want to sell.

Picking up a ring with a section missing, he offered his general opinion, that if a person has jewelry or other items no longer of sentimental value or otherwise useful, now is a good time to sell.

BUYING AND SELLING

Charles Auten and Alden Asher may have picked the wrong time to go into business buying gold and silver.

The week they decided to do so, the price of both metals dropped 30-40 percent. Gold had reached a peak of $850 per troy ounce (12 ounces per pound) and silver, $48 per troy ounce.

Gold was selling for $684 per troy ounce in New York Tuesday of this week; silver for $35.

They haven't seen any signs of persons selling their jewels and coins and silverware out of financial desperation, but out of a decision that now is the best time to sell.

The former coin collectors have mostly been buying silver coins, made until 1964, which were almost pure silver. That applied to dimes and quarters, which afterwards became laminates of cheaper metals. Half dollars, which had been 90 percent silver, dropped to 40 percent from 1964-69, after which they became laminates.

Such coins are worth a lot more than their face value. A dime, for instance, was worth $1.30 last week.

The average 10 carat high school classring was worth $33.75.

A lot of silverware is brought in, but according to Asher, "97 percent" is silver plate, not sterling silver and isn't worth anything.

Auten described business so far as "satisfactory... what we thought we'd get for a small town business."

As of last week, he and Asher hadn't made anything. Because so much gold and silver suddenly came on the market, refineries are overloaded and weren't buying any.

What the two Cass City men are buying is being locked away in the bank

Credit union merger delayed

Expected merger of the financially troubled Cass City Federal Credit Union with the Tuscola Federal Credit Union has been delayed, but will probably take place, according to the new manager of both, Stacy Dalton.

In the meantime, the amount of withdrawals to members of the CCFCU is still being strictly limited.

The boards of directors of both credit unions have given their okay to the merger, with final approval up to the National Credit Union Administration (NCUA).

In turn, the NCUA won't give its approval until results of a "reconstruction" by auditors are known. That was completed Friday, except for the verification of accounts to be received from members. Dalton expects the final okay for the merger might be given in a few weeks.

The NCUA, he explained, wants to be sure the merger of the troubled credit union with the healthy Tuscola credit union won't bring down the healthy one, before giving its okay.

According to Dalton, the CCFCU's record keeping started falling apart about 6-8 months ago, mostly due to the poor health of the then manager, in a manner somewhat akin to a person writing checks but not keeping a record of them. There have been no signs of deliberate dishonesty, Dalton said.

To get a true picture of the credit union's status, it was necessary for auditors to "reconstruct" all transactions -- deposits, withdrawals, loans -- for the period of poor record keeping. That task started Dec. 4 and took longer than expected, hence the delay in the merger. It was originally thought it might have taken place by late January.

Some time this week, CCFCU members should be receiving a statement from the auditors to verify their account, along with a form they must fill out and return to answer any questions of the auditors.

Members who didn't get a statement should contact the auditors: League Service Corp., auditing division; P.O. Box 5210; Detroit 48235, telephone (313) 557-3200, ext. 211.

Until the merger becomes effective, Dalton said, the credit union will have to continue limiting the total amount of withdrawals to the amount of money it has available. No loans are being made. Its Cass City office is only open Fridays.

Since its troubles came out in the open in December, the credit union has continued to be plagued by members choosing to withdraw all their money. The more that is withdrawn, "the more it hurts," Dalton commented, adding, "I guess I can understand their feelings."

He stressed that even should the merger fall through, shareholders will get their money back, as all deposits are insured up to $40,000 by the NCUA.

After the CCFCU's troubles surfaced and its manager resigned, the board appointed Dale Churchill of Caro Dec. 10 as its acting manager. He was, at the time, manager of the Tuscola credit union. Both positions were unpaid.

He has since resigned both jobs, Dalton said, as they were too much for him to handle. In addition, he was one of the employees of Hydramet Corp. of Caro involved in a long strike against the firm, which in December decided to close the plant, so he is now looking for a new job.

Dalton was one of the organizers of the Tuscola credit union in 1976 and its manager until he left for a paying job as manager of the Saginaw Postal Federal Credit Union.

He remained a member of the Tuscola board and when a new manager was needed for the Tuscola and Cass City credit unions, "I sort of volunteered." He is not getting paid and retains his post in Saginaw.

UMW to set new policies

Trinity United Methodist Women met for a noon luncheon Feb. 4 with 32 ladies present. Group 2, with co-chairpersons Virginia Hartwick and Bertha Shagena, prepared the lunch.

The ladies of the society voted to have a booth at the 4th of July celebration.

A policy committee was formed and will meet next week to make some new rules for the society.

World Day of Prayer was announced for March 7 in Trinity church. Nursery care will be provided during the service.

Pauline Hulbert, Coordinator of Christian Personhood, presented the program on Prayer and Self Denial entitled "A Better You." The collection taken will go to help drug problems, battered women and Social Services in Argentina and Peru.

Closing was a poem, "I Love You," as if spoken by Jesus.

The next meeting will be March 3, a 6:30 dinner served by Group 3 with co-chairpersons Margaret Czeka and Marie Jetta.

Correction

It was incorrectly reported in last week's Chronicle that the car of Evelyn Marshall of Cass City ran into the rear of the vehicle of Susan Smith in an accident Jan. 25.

Actually, the Smith vehicle ran into the rear of Mrs. Marshall's car.

Vining aims for career with paint brush

Clarence (Pete) Vining is hoping to paint his future bright -- with his own paintbrush.

After having done about everything in his 44 years, the Shabbona Road, Decker, resident is hoping to make a living with paintbrush, easel and signboard.

Vining was born in Decker and graduated from Marlette High School. He started his working career at Marlette Homes, went to its factory in Kansas, then moved to Texas, where he worked in a sheet metal shop, as an apprentice electrician and at a ranch.

He moved back to Michigan in 1965, was employed by General Motors, then went back to Marlette Homes. Next came a spell raising registered Charolais cattle breeding stock, before going to work at the Bendix recreation vehicle plant in Marlette. That job lasted for six years, until November, when he was laid off. (The factory is being closed permanently.) A job at a General Motors plant in Pontiac lasted only 65 days before he was laid off.

Vining then found employment at a Rochester machine shop, but soon quit because of the driving distance involved and because he didn't like working the late afternoon shift.

Thus came the decision to pick up a paint brush and try to make a living at it.

An incentive was a visit to a Frankenmuth art gallery, where he decided he could do as well or better than the artists whose works were on display, and sell them cheaper.

PAINTING PICTURES isn't something new for Vining. He has been doing it since he was a kid. He sold his first painting back in 1951 for $20. It was a picture of the National 4-H Center in Maryland, done for a Sanilac county spring achievement program.

Other than a few pointers from a Marlette sign painter and some unsuccessful tries at correspondence courses, he is self-taught. Marlette High School didn't have art classes when he attended.

Since high school, he has sold a few paintings, but gave more of them away. He also did a few lettering jobs for trucks and signs.

Vining likes to hunt and fish and it shows in his work. Although he has painted portraits and scenery, he prefers painting wildlife. "I can paint those for 24 hours a day."

SINCE IT'S HARD to get a bear or a deer to stand still, he paints from photographs or other artists' works.

He plans to buy a camera and telephoto lens so he can take his own photographs.

Before picking up a brush, he makes a sketch of what he plans to paint.

Once he sits down at the canvas, he works extremely fast. He can do an 18-by-24-inch painting in 10-12 hours, including breaks, and he'll do it all in one day. "I'll just sit and paint until my arms get tired." Then he takes a short break and goes back to work.

Vining's studio is usually the kitchen. Sign painting is done in the basement, where there is more room. In warmer months, he can paint large signs in his barn.

His wife, Violet (Vi) works at the Cass City High School cafeteria and does cake decorating. Two children from his first marriage, Linda and Donavon, are 9th and 10th graders respectively at the high school.

The family has lived on Shabbona Road, just east of Shabbona, about nine years.

SO FAR, VINING HAS sold three of his wildlife paintings to Wildwood Farms, where they will hang in the Bear's Den bar. He has painted a sign for the VFW Hall in Marlette and as of last week was working on a large sign for a service station-grocery at M-46 and M-53.

Vining has had a lot of jobs in his life, but proudly points out he has never been fired, and has often worked up to the position with some responsibility, such as foreman. "I never could get satisfied working in the shop for somebody else," he explained.

He technically is still on layoff from the General Motors plant in Pontiac, but doubts he will return if called back.

"I might go broke," he said of his newly chosen career, "but I'm going to have fun doing it."

WILDLIFE ARTIST -- Clarence (Pete) Vining of Shabbona and three of his paintings, destined to hang in the bar at Wildwood Farms. He is a self-taught artist.

Probate court dispute

will have to ultimately resolve is who has control over the county purse strings in such situations.

If Kent is ultimately upheld, which would mean the county would have to shell out an additional $17,000, Kennedy said, "It takes away the board of commissioners' right to legislate." He feels state law is unclear on the issue.

The judge believes the question has been resolved in previous court rulings involving similar disputes, and the decision has always been in favor of the judge involved and against the county. "I think there is precedent for it," he commented, "but I'm not prepared to state that as certainty."

As for where Tuscola county is supposed to come up with the extra $17,000 to pay probate court employees, he explained it has been past county practice in setting the upcoming year's budget to set aside money in the contingency fund to cover any pay increases negotiated with county employees.

If the court administrator feels the county has the funds available and that he had the power to do so, Kent said, "I'm satisfied the court administrator would authorize the money from contingency."

*****

The county board will meet Wednesday, when it will consider the probate court contract, instead of its normal Tuesday meeting date, because Tuesday is a public holiday (Lincoln's birthday) and the courthouse will be closed.

Lutheran women set prayer day

"Reconciled!" a contemporary drama based on the Lutheran Book of Concord, will set the theme for the annual Day of Prayer sponsored by the Thumb Zone of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League on two dates and three locations later this month.

Approximately 150 women are expected to attend. A 7 p.m. service Feb. 19 will be held at St. John's church, Kilmanagh, to which local members have invited the women from Bach, Cass City, Linkville, Sebewing and Unionville. Rev. Wayne Wenzel of the church will be the speaker.

In keeping with the theme, a Bible Study prepared by Mrs. Ruby Maschke, Christian growth chairman of the zone, on the Christian Creed will follow each of the services.

The offering will be sent to the Rev. Tamyoshi Omi for his work in Kawasaki, Japan.

The Thumb Zone is made up of LWML members from sixteen Lutheran congregations who are members of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

The other programs will be at the Lutheran churches in Port Sanilac and Caseville.

Hypnotherapist James H. Hoke gives suggestions to help a clinic participant overcome a bad habit, as he will do in hypnosis clinics sponsored by the Cass City Department of Community Education.

Class offered Change your ways through hypnosis

Whether you'd like to stop smoking, lose weight, relieve stress or build up your own self-confidence, you can get help with clinics offered through the Cass City Department of Community Education.

Southfield Hypnotherapist James H. Hoke, who has helped more than 30,000 persons reprogram their emotional subconscious minds to make positive life changes, will offer four clinics on Saturday, Feb. 16. Participants will relax during three hypnotic inductions during which Hoke gives suggestions to their subconscious minds.

Hypnotherapy has proved effective in helping people overcome such wide-ranging problems as nail biting, stuttering, overeating, smoking, forgetting, insecurity, insomnia and impotence.

If overeaters and smokers can change their attitudes toward food and cigarettes, they can lose weight and give up smoking.

If people can replace negative thoughts about themselves with positive thoughts, they can build their own self-confidence.

If people under stress can learn to relax and awaken better feelings slumbering within their subconscious they can cope with stress and ward off its physical side effects.

Accomplishing these things is the point of the four clinics, according to Kathleen O'Donnell, community education director. Accordingly participants will relax during three group hypnotic inductions while Hoke gives suggestions to their subconscious minds. They will each receive a cassette tape for reinforcement of the suggestions at home.

Hoke's approach is to help people change their emotional attitudes that make them overeat, smoke too much, suffer stress or feel insignificant in a big world.

For clinic costs and registration, call community education, 872-4151. Registrations will be accepted until Tuesday, Feb. 12.

Letter to the Editor

Let 'em skate in Afghanistan

Mr. Haire,
Next week in Lake Placid, N.Y., the Winter Olympics will begin.

Since we have not stormed into any foreign countries lately, there will probably be a separation of politics and sportsmanship. There is just one little thing I do not understand.

Why in — use your own discretion to fill in the blank) are we letting the Russians enter this country to compete in the Olympics while on the other hand we are depriving our own athletes from competing in Moscow this summer?

If the Russians want to ski and skate let them go to Afghanistan! Instead of awarding gold, silver and bronze medals, they could be awarded a Purple Heart for being wounded during a performance by an Afghan sniper.

This country doesn't need anyone to stab it in the back because we do such a good job of it ourselves! We stopped selling wheat to the Russians which ruined the market in this country and opened a new market for South American wheat.

We are also withholding certain technology which our own government admits isn't worth a hill of wheat.

I know the phrase is supposed to read a "hill of beans," but if you look at the headlines you can see a lot of beans being passed (pun intended) all over the world. I wonder if detente was a Russian word for beans.

Now we are told if the Russians mount an attack against Pakistan or the oil fields of Iran, they will also be meeting American forces that may be using nuclear weapons and may be running the risk of World War III.

President Carter can shout "human rights" from the rooftops, but the only thing this country wants is oil.

Brother of Cass Cityan dies at 75

George Peterson, 75, Mesa, Ariz., retired associate professor of education at Michigan State University, died Monday at Mesa Lutheran Hospital following a brief illness.

He was born April 16, 1904, in Meade township, son of George and Viola Peterson.

Peterson and Dorothy A. Dundas were married June 21, 1926, at Saginaw.

Peterson was a 1923 Bad Axe High School graduate. He taught rural school in Dwight township in 1924, at Reese for one year, in Spruce Schools for three years, was principal at Algonac for 14 years, and served as superintendent of schools at Yale and Fenton.

He received his bachelor's degree from Michigan Normal in 1930 and his master's degree from the University of Michigan in 1938.

Peterson retired in 1970 as an associate professor-Education Placement Bureau at Michigan State University after 14 years.

Surviving are his wife; one son, George Peterson, Vineland, N.J.; one daughter, Lynne Peterson, Garden City; two grandsons, and two sisters, Mrs. Clifford L. (Marian) Furness, Caseville, and Mrs. Olin (Mae) Bouck, Cass City.

A funeral memorial service was conducted at the Chapel of Prayer Funeral Home, Mesa, Ariz. Cremation took place at Mesa.

A memorial service will be conducted at the United Protestant church, Port Austin, this summer.

Quick start makes it easy for Hawks at Caro, 69-54

Will the real Cass City Red Hawks please stand up. Is the real team the one that took command early at Caro last Friday and rolled to an easy 69-54 decision over the Tigers? Or is it the one that played against Marlette and North Branch that failed to put away teams quickly that obviously lacked the talent of this year's Cass City squad?

If the team that played against Caro last Friday plays against the Broncos this Friday the visitors should be in for a long evening.

Fans may get a clue early as to what kind of a night it's going to be. Coach Ron Nurnberger said after the Caro victory that a quick start for a change helped the team get rolling for the win.

Cass City moved out in front of the Tigers early in the first quarter and was ahead all the way.

The Hawks were in front 16-8 with 2:38 left in the initial stanza. Paced by Ken Martin who was strong under the boards and deadly from the bottom of the key, the Hawks rolled. Also helping was Craig Tonti who dished off a couple of passes to Martin and Tim Fahrner, who hit short pops from 18 feet when the defense sagged around Martin. At the quarter the Hawks were in front 22-14.

The Tigers were far from through and used some excellent rebounding to stay close and keep the outcome in doubt.

With just 2:53 left to play in the first half Caro had crept to within four points, 30-26, and it was a ball game.

With its lead threatened Cass City bounced back and when the half ended was comfortably back in front, 36-27.

Cass City showed its strength when midway through the third quarter Martin went to the bench with four fouls.

Without their ace big man the Hawks more than held their own until he returned midway through the final period.

The Hawks led 52-38 after three quarters and were in front, 60-44 with 4:33 left and then coasted in for the victory.

Led by Martin and Steve Richards with 9 each, the Hawks outrebounded the Tigers 22-17. Cass City shot 47 percent from the floor as compared to 38 percent for the losers.

Cass City continued its phenomenal foul shooting with 84 percent while Caro converted 54 percent. Martin led all scorers with 18 points. Tonti netted 15 and added 8 big assists. Rusty Hoag was in double figures with 13. For the Tigers, Brad Brown and Doug Block each scored 16 while Rick Fulton and George Koehler netted 10.

JIM OLESNAVAGE (No. 30) has been a nemesis for all of Carsonville-Port Sanilac's opponents this season. Here, he reaches past Owen-Gage's Kirk Carolan to grab a rebound at the Bulldog basket. He scored 28 points and grabbed 11 rebounds in his team's win Friday.

O-G outlasts Caseville, loses to tough Tigers

First quarter shooting made the difference at Owen-Gage Tuesday night as the Bulldogs outscored Caseville 12-6 in that period and then stayed ahead to win, 55-48.

Other than in that period, scoring by the two teams stayed close.

Brad Erickson led the Bulldogs with 12 points, followed by Kirk Carolan with 11 and Alan Haag with 10.

The team connected on 23 of 73 shots from the floor, 32 percent, and nine of 19 from the free throw line, 47 percent.

Top scorer for Caseville was Mike Novak with 16. Bill Kelly had 11. The Eagles made 42 percent of their field goal attempts, 21 of 50, and were 37 percent at the charity line, six of 16.

The Bulldogs outrebounded their opponents, 48-21, with Pete Klemkowski and Jim Glidden each grabbing 11.

Owen-Gage JVs won, 60-35.

The Bulldogs play Friday at Port Hope and Tuesday at North Huron.

Score by quarters:

O-G	12	16	10	17	55
Case.	6	15	12	15	48

The 6-4 all-state candidate scored close to his season's average and grabbed 11 rebounds to lead his team in that department. He is the top scorer in the North Central D League.

After the game was well underway, the closest the Bulldogs got to the Tigers was 18-16 in the second quarter. The visitors then scored 12 straight points before Owen-Gage got another basket, courtesy of Jim Glidden. C-PS led at halftime, 31-23.

The Bulldogs had a dismal shooting night from the floor, connecting on only 14 of 54 shots, 26 percent. They did much better from the free throw line, eight of 11 shots for 73 percent. Kirk Carolan was top scorer with 10 points.

The Tigers shot 28 of 57 from the floor, 49 percent, and six of 13 from the free throw line, 46 percent.

The Bulldogs, who have been clobbered twice by the league leader, may face the team again, as Carsonville for the first time plays in the same district tournament.

Prospects look better for next year. Owen-Gage won the junior varsity clash, 59-48.

Hawk girls in fight for third

Cass City is tied for third in the Thumb B Association volleyball race with Vassar and Thursday's game with the Vulcans at Cass City will move one team into undisputed possession of third place behind undefeated Bad Axe and North Branch.

Both the Hawks and the Vulcans are 2-2 in the league.

Third place seems to be the place for the Hawks this winter. That's where they finished in an invitational tournament at Capac Saturday behind winner Algonac and second place Capac. Trailing the Hawks were Marlette, Mayville and North Branch.

The Hawks lost the opening match to Algonac 15-13, 11-15 and 15-11. After the opening loss the Hawks won over Mayville in straight games, 15-2 and 15-5, and Marlette, 15-2 and 15-4.

In other action, the Hawks split with Lakers winning the opening match, 15-7 and 15-11, while losing the second, 15-13 and 15-11.

In a match the previous week, Cass City and Caro split. Caro won the opening match, 15-8 and 15-9, and the Hawks took the second match, 15-7 and 15-8. The games were played at Caro.

O-G volleyball team wins two matches

Owen-Gage increased its record to 4-0 in North Central D League volleyball play, 5-1 overall, Monday night, with a win at home against Caseville.

The Bulldogs won the first match, 15-11, 15-12.

Becky Howard scored 13 points and had seven good spikes. Julie Andrakowicz had five good spikes and three ace dinks.

Peg Wilfong scored nine points for the Eagles.

Owen-Gage took the second match, 15-8, 5-15, 15-5. Andrakowicz contributed 15 points, six good spikes and five good dinks. Howard had 11 spikes.

The Eagles won the junior varsity match, 16-14, 15-6.

Gymnasts lose four

The Cass City gymnastics team threatened twice but was unable to win in its last four meets.

Coach Sue Cali's charges lost close meets to Frankenmuth and Vassar and were defeated handily by Davison and Grand Blanc. Both Davison and Grand Blanc are class A schools.

The Hawks' next meet will be against Millington at Cass City High School Saturday at 1 p.m.

The meet results: Grand Blanc, 78.10, Cass City, 62.80; Davison, 68.20, Cass City, 48; Frankenmuth, 67.25; Cass City, 61.95; Vassar, 69.45, Cass City, 65.7.

CARO'S KIRK BORTEL kept from fouling on this play, but it didn't help as Cass City's Ken Martin converted the close-in shot. Watching the action is Tim Fahrner, 34.

Leaders win in recreation loop

It's still a two-team race in the Cass City Recreational League as undefeated Mutual of Omaha won to remain undefeated and People's State Bank stayed a game behind with a win to move its record to 7-1.

The Bankers had little trouble rolling over IGA last Wednesday. The winners were in front 28-9 after a quarter and there was no doubt about the outcome after that. The Bankers' attack features outstanding shooting. Tim Bates with 23 and Chuck Smith with 17 led a balanced attack. Chuck Hendrick with 11 points was tops for IGA. Final score was 91-36.

Vendors, 89-69. After the first period the Advertiser was ahead 23-6 and that was the game. Vendors played the winners even the rest of the distance but couldn't overcome the Advertiser's early lead. Rick Tuckey led the winners with 28. Also in double figures were Dave Gaffner, Dave Romig and Clyde Weir with 14 points each, and Dave Doerr, 10 points. For the losers Roy Calahan scored 27 and Randy Rife, 10.

It was strictly no contest when league leading Mutual of Omaha met cellar dwelling Brown's Party Store. The insurance men racked up a 104-62 victory and became the first team to score 100 points in the league.

Mutual jumped off to a 23-10 first period lead and then continued to widen the margin throughout the game. Six players paced the winners with double figure totals. They were Bill McLellan, 16; Paul Beachy, 14; Aaron Deering, 13; Dennis Fritz, 12; Dave Fritz, 12; and Dave Anderson, 11. Craig Miles, 14. Kevin Bitzler, 12 and Gary Zeller, 11, were tops for the losers.

Friday's games - Sandusky at Caro; Lakers at Marlette; Vassar at Bad Axe; North Branch at Cass City.

Agency names Harris man-of-year

The Saginaw Life Agency of the Aetna Life and Casualty Company recently announced its 1979 "Man-of-the-Year" award to Newell Harris of the Harris-Hampshire Agency in Cass City. This award is sponsored by the Tri-City Area General Agents and Managers Association and is given to each life insurance company's top salesman of the year.

Harris has won the award several times since first representing Aetna in 1963. The award recognizes not only high sales achievement, but quality business and service to clients. It is an especially significant recognition because Saginaw Life covers a territory of 41 counties in northern Michigan.

Harris and his wife, Lois, will be honored at the GAMA banquet in Frankenmuth Friday, Feb. 15.
