

Kingston goes dry when pipe springs leak

Kingston residents were without water for a few hours Monday afternoon because of a leak in a water main.

Because of the lack of water, Kingston school students were sent home early.

According to village President Arlo Ruggles, village workman Richard Lester started looking for a leak because of low water pressure that morning.

He found water coming out of the ground about 9 a.m. in front of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall on Ross Street.

The problem was attributed to a fire hydrant that shifted at that location, probably because of frost in the ground, thus cracking the main leading to it.

The water supply had to be shut off about 1 p.m. while the broken line was fixed, which required removal of the hydrant, Ruggles said.

The water was back on about 4:30.

Cass City teen loses life when car hits tree

Seventeen-year-old Joseph Leslie Doerr was killed early Saturday when his car went off Bay City-Forestville Road and slammed into a tree.

He was the son of Shirley Doerr of 5225 W. Huron Line Road, Cass City, and the late Donald Doerr.

According to sheriff's deputies, the car was headed east, between Koepfgen and Cemetery Roads, when it went off the south side of the road.

It traveled 173 feet after leaving the road, crossing a ditch in the process, ricocheted off a tree, traveled 47 more feet, then slammed head-on into the second tree. He was dead at the scene.

According to officers there it appeared Doerr fell asleep at the wheel, as the tire tracks veered off the road at an angle leading almost straight to the first tree. The road was not icy. The accident occurred about 2:55 a.m. and was discovered by passing motorists. Cass City police assisted in the investigation.

A junior at Cass City High School, Doerr attended Trinity United Methodist church. He was born Aug. 28, 1962, in Cass City and was a lifelong resident of this area.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by one sister, Mrs. Richard (Cindy) Schripsema of Flint; three brothers, Richard, John and Donald Jr., all of Cass City; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Herbert Anderson Sr. of Bad Axe; four uncles, and four aunts.

His body was taken from Little's Funeral Home Tuesday morning to Trinity United Methodist church to lie in state until the 11 a.m. funeral service. Rev. P. Thomas Wachterhauser officiated.

Burial was in Elkland cemetery.

Doerr was the third person to die in a Tuscola county traffic accident this year, compared to one as of this date a year ago.

CAR-HORSE ACCIDENT

Anthony Scott Moran, 9, returned home from St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw Tuesday, where he was taken after being injured Sunday when the horse he was riding was struck by a car.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Long of 2941 Cemetery Road, Cass City.

According to sheriff's deputies, Olga Lukasavitz, 62, of Plain Road, Cass City, was southbound on Cemetery, south of Kelly Road, when her car struck the horse, which was in the road. She had no opportunity to avoid the animal.

The boy had been riding with his sister, Sabrina, 11. According to their mother, her horse bolted and ran onto the road and then his horse followed. The accident took place at 5:45 p.m.

The youth was injured when he fell off the horse into a ditch. The horse was not injured.

Anthony was taken to Hills and Dales General Hospital and then transferred to St. Luke's. According to his mother, he broke his right arm and will be in traction about a month.

INJURY ACCIDENTS

David L. Dykes, 23, of Caro, was reported in serious condition Tuesday afternoon at St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw, where he was taken after an accident at 3:30 a.m. Sunday.

Deputies said he was eastbound on M-81, southwest of Caro, when his car went off the road and struck a utility pole. The force of the crash was so severe his car split in two.

The front half came to rest 20 feet from the pole. The rear half traveled 126 feet.

Cathy M. Miller, 20, of Elkton, was released from Hills and Dales Monday, where she had been since an accident Friday night.

Cass City police reported she was southbound on Maple Street, turned east onto Pine Street, crossed the road and her car struck a car parked on the north shoulder. The impact sent the parked car into the vehicle parked in front of it.

Both parked vehicles were owned by Steven Fobear of 6627 Pine Street.

Ms. Miller was ticketed on a charge of careless driving. Mabel M. Slater, 49, of 4118 S. Seeger Street, sought treatment from a private physician after an accident at 1:30 a.m. Saturday.

According to deputies, she was northbound on Cemetery Road, south of River Road, when the right rear tire of her car blew. The car spun off the left side of the road, struck a road sign and came to a halt in the ditch.

Terry M. Vanhoost, 31, of Unionville, was reported to have suffered injuries, but apparently didn't require hospital treatment, as the result of a 2:20 a.m. accident Sunday.

Deputies said he was westbound on Hoppe Road, started to brake for the Colwood Road intersection, when his vehicle hit a patch of ice. The vehicle slid into the south ditch, rolled over once and came to rest on its wheels.

Connie Kay Nicol, 18, of 5495 Deckerville Road, Bedford, sought her own treatment after an accident at 11:25 a.m. Feb. 19.

According to deputies, she was westbound on Shabbona Road when her car hit a bump or depression in the gravel road. She lost control and her car hit a tree on the north side of the road.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

At 10:30 p.m. Friday, Cass City police reported, Michael D. Stec, 17, of 4183 Maple Street, had stopped in the high school lot for traffic when his car was struck in the rear. Driver of the other car involved was Glenn A. Guilds, 21, of 6178 Shabbona Road.

Financial management

$772,000 budget gets council okay

Cass City got a financial clean bill of health, according to the 1979 audit, presented to the village council Monday evening.

The council also unanimously approved the 1980 budget with no changes from the one given preliminary approval at the January meeting.

The only person to comment at the public hearing prior to the council's vote on the budget was businessman Clarence (Bud) Schneeberger.

His basic concern was over the possible levying of an additional mill on summer tax bills.

The $98,000 local share needed for the Garfield-Doerr Road rebuilding project will reduce reserves to such a low point, the village may not be able to squeak through the year without a millage boost.

Schneeberger asked whether the money saved on snow removal because of the mild winter might provide an extra financial cushion, questioned whether the 9 percent pay raise given to village employees exceeded President Carter's inflation guidelines and urged the council to save every "nickle and dime."

He was told the mild winter was already taken into account in preparing the budget. With Councilman Jim Ware pointing out, "One snowstorm can blow it (the budgeted amount) out." A total of $13,400 is budgeted for snow removal, which also must cover winter at the end of this year.

Village President Lambert Althaver said the pay raise is within the new guidelines of 9-10 percent increase.

He further assured Schneeberger, "We're going to do everything in our power to hold our costs down."

As for the possibility of a millage increase, he said the feelings of the council are not unanimous at this point. "I know there are different feelings around this table."

The council won't decide on an added levy until after it sees the final assessment roll, which won't be until the March or April meeting.

The budget approved by the council projects general fund revenues and expenditures at $499,000, compared to $511,042 spent last year, which includes fund transfers to other accounts.

Add all the funds together (general, streets, water, sewer, etc.) and the village will be spending about $772,000 in 1980, about $100,000 more than last year, primarily because of the Doerr-Garfield street project.

AUDIT

"The overall financial management of the village has been excellent," auditor Robert Gentner of Yeo and Yeo, Certified Public Accountants, said after presenting the audit of 1979 village finances.

Elenbaum foresees bright future for bean industry

The mammoth sale of dry beans to Mexico "is one of the most exciting things that has happened to the bean business in 50 years," according to the chairman of the Michigan Bean Commission.

However, the sale is only one reason why Gerald Elenbaum sees a bright future ahead for his favorite crop.

Elenbaum, 47, of Brown Road, Owendale, has headed the nine-member commission since August, having been elected by his fellow members. He was appointed to the commission two years ago by Gov. William G. Milliken.

A number of elevators and bean sales companies formed ANV Corp. to negotiate the sale to the Mexican Government, announced earlier this month.

The contract calls for sale of 112,000 metric tons of beans, mostly pinto and black turtles, worth $62 million, from the 1980 crop year. That is the largest export order for edible beans ever received in Michigan from one country.

The Mexican government negotiated separately with other states for purchase of 65,000 tons.

"We think it will give us a more stable bean market in the future," Elenbaum said.

The Brookfield township resident farms with son Randy, foreman Dennis Abbe, who has been with him 16 years, and two other full-time employees.

They farm 1,700 acres, including 500-600 of dry beans, plus sugar beets, corn, wheat and alfalfa, and milk 135 cows.

In addition to Randy, Elenbaum and his wife Marilyn have two other children, Cathy Haag of Sebawaing, and Shelley, at home.

THE MEXICAN GOVERNMENT, he said, first contacted the U.S. Department of Agriculture concerning its desire to purchase beans.

The USDA then put the Mexicans in touch with the Michigan Bean Shippers Association and the Bean Commission, which learned of the possible sale in December.

At that point, the commission had to bow out of any further dealings as the law that established it prohibits its involvement in marketing of beans.

Growers pay a checkoff of 5 cents per hundredweight and shippers 1 cent per hundredweight to support the commission's activities.

That totals about $300,000 a year, all of which must be spent on production research, promotion and market development.

It has a two-person staff, Executive Secretary James Byrum and his secretary.

Although the commission was not directly involved in the negotiations, two of its members took part. They were F. Dale Kuenzli, manager of Valley Marketing Association of St. Johns and Kenneth Graham, a grower from Breckenridge.

WHAT ELENBAUM called the "Mexican bean challenge" is whether the bean industry can continue to supply its present foreign and domestic customers, plus the Mexicans, without upsetting the market. "We believe we can do this."

Prior to signing the agreement with the Mexicans, the elevators that were involved contracted with farmers, at a base price of $25 per hundredweight, in order to ensure there would be enough beans grown to fill the Mexican order. (Elenbaum will be growing "a percentage" of his bean crop under contract.)

Even those farmers who won't be growing beans for the Mexican market will benefit, according to him.

With an expected large carryover of 1979 navy beans into 1980, another good growing year would have resulted in the bottom falling out of the market.

Was Lyle Koepfgen cheering him on?

Count Kef scores upset New York win

Dear John,

I have not seen you for several years but I have something you may wish to share with your readers.

I was in Cass City last week to attend the funeral of my father-in-law, Lyle A. Koepfgen.

This story concerns Lyle's great pacer, Count Kef. I suppose everyone around Cass City who knew Lyle knows about this wonderful horse which he bred and which used to race at various tracks around Michigan.

The horse has been racing for the past few years in New York and has been quite successful. He does not have the blazing speed of a few years ago, but he does well and manages to pay for his feed, I am sure.

As you know, Lyle died on the 10th of February. Count Kef was entered in the seventh race at Yonkers Raceway on the evening of Feb. 11. Now this was a race he was not supposed to win. By that I do not mean that he was so terribly outclassed by the other entries, but, simply, that he was parked way out in the last hole. There were eight horses in the race and Count Kef had the eighth position. This meant, of course, that he had a greater distance to run than any other horse in the race.

Well, starting from that outside position, he was third going around the first turn. He closed this to second in the backstretch, came to within a neck of the leader going around the final turn and then pulled away to win by a length and a quarter! He paid $21 to win, from which you may gather he was not exactly the favorite!

Somebody was obviously cheering him on. Lyle maybe?

Best regards,

Gerald Kercher

Zonta Club is told about Iran

Lorene Rienstra hosted the Zonta Club dinner meeting Tuesday evening, Feb. 19, with Beverly Little and Marie Roch as co-hostesses. A nominating committee was appointed, consisting of Toby Weaver, Helen Agar and Esther McCullough, who will give their report at the March meeting. Two new board members will be appointed for the next two years. All other officers have a two-year term.

Plans were formulated for the club's participation in the 4th of July celebration.

Lottie Konwalski gave a talk on the 1½ years she spent in Teheran as a nurse. They lived in tents, each tent housing four families. The hospital was also in tents.

She said Teheran was very beautiful, with poppies growing wild in the fields. The whole fields would be red from the blossoms.

There were only the rich and the poor, no middle class. She met the shah and saw the American embassy nearby, where the hostages are held today. She was in Teheran in 1940 and said they were all treated well there. Her presentation was followed by a question and answer session.

The next dinner will be held Tuesday, March 18, at the home of Toby Weaver, with Janice Chippi and Colene Krueger as co-hostesses.

Doves on the defense

By Jim Fitzgerald

At the risk of sounding more profound than is my custom, I concede that my tragedy is I've reached a point of human progress too soon; I am living before my time.

For many years, I've hoped to live long enough to know children whose lives are so peaceful they can't believe there was a time when people killed people on purpose. But now I know I'll never make it.

The Russians are in Afghanistan and war is regaining much of the popularity it lost in Vietnam. Former peaceniks are snarling. The defense budget is going up and daughters may be drafted along with sons. People would rather fight than join a car pool. The Doves are on the defense. They've been penalized half the distance to the goal, and the crowd is cheering for the Hawks.

A spokesman for the U.S. Navy was surprised and dismayed that a coalition of anti-war groups protested a Navy contest which asked Michigan school-children to design an insignia for the newest Trident submarine, the USS Michigan. "We ran a contest just like this in Ohio for the launching of our first Trident, the USS Ohio, and there was no protest."

A Trident sub is armed with 24 missiles and 408 warheads. Each warhead is five times as powerful as the bomb dropped on Hiroshima. Why shouldn't Michigan children draw pictures glorifying such a magnificent weapon? No one wants World War III, of course, but if it should come, and a Trident bomb kills several thousand people, just imagine the thrill if your very own daughter, only a fourth grader, designed the insignia for the submarine that launched the missile that wiped out Moscow. Wow.

This type of sarcasm doesn't endear me to those many people who believe the Trident insignia contest is a fine tool for teaching children the importance of defending their nation against marauding gas-station attendants. These brave patriots call me a sappy dreamer for wishing kids were taught peace, not war. They say the only realistic way to ensure peace is to build increasingly deadly weapons, and the sooner children learn this, the sooner they will grow up to be good taxpayers and willing soldiers.

And that's the way it is. I said I had probably been born too soon to be so pacific. This thought was stolen from Eric Sevareid's memoir, "Not So Wild a Dream." Referring to the collapse of France in 1940, Sevareid said the French had learned too well the lesson of World War I. "Their last experience had taught them that there is no such thing as true victory for civilized men who have no desire to conquer others. Their tragedy was that they had reached a point of human progress too soon; they were living before their time," he said.

This Sevareid quote was recently unearthed by conservative columnist George F. Will so he could say that something like the French lesson had been learned by Vietnam war protesters. "Their lesson is that force can accomplish nothing satisfying to a truly civilized sensibility, such as theirs. Their refusal to countenance the idea of U.S. military force is, to them a sign of their moral progress in advance of their time," Will said.

He concluded that such moral progress reached too soon is not really progress because "it incapacitates people from resisting barbarians," such as the Russians, especially when they move into Afghanistan. George Will writes for Newsweek and has won a Pulitzer prize. Who would dare disagree with him?

So here I am, arrived too soon at the point of moral progress where it is acceptable to teach children the Trident submarine is evil. Instead, they should be urged to design an insignia for it, or the barbarians might get them. Goodbye, car pool. Hello, Hiroshima.

Facts from the farm

The cost of farmland has increased 200 percent since 1970. A 14 percent hike is forecast for 1980.

Spending on farm inputs will rise 11 percent in 1980, after a 16 percent increase in 1979, predict U.S. Department of Agriculture economists.

The Haire Net

If you listen to reporters speaking to you over the airwaves or through the newspapers you'd think that the victory of the United States hockey team in the Olympics had a profound effect on our daily lives.

It's rally around the flag, boys, and America is best after all. It demonstrates that we are really a united people and look out Iran, look out Moscow, and look out the rest of you who are spitting in the face of Uncle Sam.

Which goes to prove that not only the fans at the games get carried away by the hysteria of the moment.

There's no doubt that the win excited most of the nation. It had all the ingredients. The natural support of all Americans by Americans, and more than that, the terrific lift of winning when you were supposed to lose. There never was an underdog any greater than that hockey team.

It wasn't necessary to be a hockey buff or even a sports buff to be lifted by the win. By golly, it made you feel good and our lads deserve to be wine and dined by the president.

But it's pure fantasy to believe that the victory is more important than that.

What it really does is make us forget for a moment the troubles of the day. The hostages in Iran won't be coming home one day earlier than before. The Russians won't move out of Afghanistan and inflation will still be with us as strong as ever.

To bring it closer to home. If Cass City should win a state championship in basketball it would unite the community behind the team. The boys would be lionized. For a brief moment they would be the heroes of the school, the town, the Thumb. Everybody would rejoice.

But a week after that was over the real world would be back and that joyful week wouldn't keep the teachers from hitting the bricks for a contract if they had to.

It wouldn't keep the school from asking for more mileage this spring and it won't have any bearing on whether or not the voters will approve it.

That doesn't take anything away from whatever achievement the team makes this year.

There's a great deal to be said for even a few moments of shared excitement, shared achievement, shared glory.

It certainly doesn't really change anything, but it is a great, great, great feeling for at least a brief moment in most of our lives.

There aren't enough of those to scoff at any that come our way. They are as beautiful as a rainbow after a thunderstorm.

And just as transitory.

Keehn faces charges

The Tuscola County Prosecutor's office Tuesday issued a warrant charging Robert C. Keehn Jr., 21, of 3115 Cemetery Road, Kingston, with three counts of felonious assault and one count of malicious destruction of property over $100.

The charges are in connection with an incident Feb. 9 in Cass City.

According to village police officer Donald Miller Jr.,

who handled the investigation, Keehn was scheduled to appear voluntarily this Wednesday afternoon with his attorney before Tuscola County Magistrate Donald Smith for arraignment.

Keehn is charged with having threatened three persons with a knife while they were seated in a car parked on Seeger Street and then slashing all four tires of the car.

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Attending the Lions sponsored fish supper Friday in Cass City was not as big a hazard as eating chow prepared by amateur chefs usually is.

It wasn't because I knew how the fish would taste. I knew because a week earlier the Lions practiced for the big event at the White Creek Club and I was there.

You remember how the little Dutch boy put his finger in the dyke to save his country? Just about everyone has heard that story. Everyone in the United States that is.

Caroline Swart, who is an exchange student from Holland in Cass City, never heard it before coming here and neither did anyone else who lives in Holland.

That's an American story and it's a fable, she says. When you consider that those dykes in Holland are big enough for two-lane roads on top of them with plenty to spare it's obvious that it would take a pretty big finger to plug the dyke.

There's a limited number of new official Michigan maps published by the highway commission available for free distribution as long as they last.

Usually these maps are among the best available. Usually. One year the official map left out the arm of Lake Charlevoix which is about a half mile wide and perhaps five miles long.

We received a tribute written to Mrs. Arthur Holmberg for the way she taught the 4th grade class in Cass City. Unfortunately it wasn't signed. If the author will come in and sign we'll be happy to publish it in the next edition.

Cass City

Southeastern Michigan. The heart of one of the world's largest industrial areas—an urbanized region that stretches along the Great Lakes from Chicago and Milwaukee on the west to Montreal, Pittsburgh and Albany on the east.

It's a huge market quickly reached by overnight trucking that rolls out from Michigan's toll-free expressways. Six rail networks and three air cargo ports put the rest of the country in easy touch. And the Port of Detroit provides major commercial docking facilities along 32 miles of deep-water frontage on an international waterway.

It adds up to an enormous advantage in selling the products made here. So does the fact that there's plenty of electric power. Because Detroit Edison generates more than 80% of its electricity from coal—our nation's most abundant fuel.

No scholarship, but still fun

Skeletons take Diana Eckenswiler to state Junior Miss Pageant

Diana Eckenswiler didn't win the college scholarship she wanted but did come home with new friends and an experience to remember -- and all her bones intact.

The 17-year-old Argyle resident was a participant in the 19th annual Michigan Junior Miss Pageant Feb. 9-10 in Marshall. She is the daughter of Clarence and Arla Eckenswiler.

There was a potential $60,000 in scholarships awarded at the pageant, although many of them depended on the winners agreeing to go to a specific college offering the scholarship.

The winner received a minimum of $3,500 in scholarships, plus the opportunity to compete in the national pageant.

It was the possibility of winning a college scholarship that attracted the Ubyly High School senior. "It's going to take a lot of money for college these days."

She has a lot of college ahead of her. She has been accepted in the pre-veterinary program at Michigan State University. That means a minimum of six years and possibly more to get her veterinary degree.

She learned of the contest while watching the telecast of the national Junior Miss Pageant from Mobile, Ala., last year. An address was broadcast for girls interested in entering who would be high school seniors the next year, so she wrote.

What impressed Diana about the contest was, "It wasn't a beauty contest. It was a more scholastic minded program."

Since there was no local pageant to enter, Diana was entered in the at-large contest Dec. 7-8 at Zeeland. There were 15 girls entered, with seven selected -- including Diana, of course -- to compete in the state contest.

She represented Ubyly in the state pageant as she attends high school there and was sponsored by the Ubyly Community Club. It did not cost her or the club anything to enter the at-large or state pageant.

The at-large contest was a duplicate of the state pageant, with winners being selected on the basis of poise and appearance, a physical fitness routine and talent.

TALENT IS WHERE THE bones came in, Miss Eckenswiler wanted something different for a talent and, she admitted, "I can't sing or dance."

About two years ago, she completed assembly of the skeleton of a rabbit, a project that took her more than 200 hours spread over five months to complete.

The prize-winning 4-H project was a factor in her winning a trip to the national 4-H convention in Chicago in November, 1978.

She then went on to bigger things, assembling the skeleton of a mix-breed dog, a seven-month project which she completed only the day before the at-large pageant.

Her hobby is raising and showing Rex breed rabbits and she currently ranks first or second in show points in the state and nationally in the American Rabbit Breeders Association youth division for her breed.

Her unusual talent was to show her two skeletons, accompanied by a humorous 90-second explanation of what she had done. (Competitors were limited to a maximum of two minutes.)

Her talk began by telling her audience that she had skeletons in her closet and ended with, "Skeletons like these are the backbone of America." The talent counted for 20 percent of the final score.

The poise and appearance routine for all girls consisted of walking around on stage and giving a small talk about one's self. That was 15 percent.

Physical fitness was another 15 percent. At the at-large pageant, it was a dance routine done by all competitors at the same time. At the state contest, all the contestants performed a Chinese exercise routine and a jump rope routine.

An interview with the judges on current affairs, goals in life, etc., counted for 35 percent of the final score. The competitors' scholastic record in school counted for the final 15 percent of the score.

The five judges in the state pageant included Mary Coleman, chief justice of the Michigan Supreme Court, and John C. Bernhard, president of Western Michigan University.

THE STATE JUNIOR Miss program began with sign-in Tuesday night, Feb. 5. The 32 girls competing each received numerous gifts. They stayed in Marshall with local families. Parents weren't allowed to stay. Diana's mother, who drove her down, returned for the final evening of the pageant Saturday.

Wednesday, the girls toured the Kellogg's plant and art center in nearby Battle Creek and seven historic homes in Marshall.

Thursday was spent rehearsing the various routines, with a reception that evening. There were additional rehearsals Friday and interviews with the judges, before the pageant that evening, held at the Marshall Middle School auditorium.

Friday night, she and 15 other girls performed the physical fitness routine. The next night they did the poise and appearance routine and performed their talent. The other 16 did the reverse, poise and appearance and talent Friday and physical fitness Saturday.

After all the events were completed Saturday, the judges totaled all the scores and announced the winner, Mariana Iannucci of Sterling Heights. Scholarships were awarded to first through fifth place winners.

Diana was naturally disappointed in not winning, but also in that other girls didn't win. "I thought a lot of girls would have represented Michigan well."

Although she didn't go home with a scholarship, she did go home with lots of new friends, many of whom, like her, will be attending Michigan State.

"I made lots of friends. That was really the best part."

OLD BONES -- Diana Eckenswiler and her dog skeleton. The Misha bear, symbol of the Moscow Olympics, was a gift at the Junior Miss Pageant. The rabbit skeleton she assembled now belongs to the Michigan State University poultry science (and rabbit) department. After the Sanilac County 4-H Fair this summer, the dog skeleton will be donated to the MSU College of Veterinary Medicine.

Annual Farmers' Week at MSU March 17-22

The quality of the Farmers' Week educational programs at Michigan State University, March 17-22, almost warrant class credit. "This year's format has a much broader interest appeal than in the past. Topics vary from fairly complicated farm management seminars to sessions which stress hobby creativity," says Thomas L. Thorburn, Farmers' Week program coordinator.

Farmers' Week activities fall in four broad categories: Commercial farm programs, natural resources education, family-oriented seminars and youth activities.

Details are listed in the free MSU Farmers' Week guidebook, available at county Cooperative Extension Service offices.

Individual copies may also be obtained by writing to: MSU Bulletin Office, P.O. Box 231, Michigan State University, East Lansing 48824.

FARM PROGRAMS

Activities include sessions on economical cattle ration development, gasoline production, irrigation systems, animal disease control, electronic technology and farm management, grain production, and horse, swine and beef cow care. A variety of dairy breed association meetings will be held throughout the week. Two days of commercial and beginning beekeeping programs are also offered, along with seminars for poultry producers.

NATURAL RESOURCES

Topics range from safe home heating with wood to carving waterfowl decoys. Several programs on wildlife and environmental study were designed with secondary teachers and naturalists in mind.

Other activities include discussions on energy trends in Michigan, nature photography, funding for local parks, Christmas tree production and trends in private and public campground use.

There will be a look at potential underwater parks in Michigan and the first public review of the proposed Department of Natural Resources five-year plan for Michigan's forestlands. This long-range use plan will affect industrial, recreational and environmental interest groups.

FAMILY SEMINARS

These sessions cover topics like stress and ethnic values, diet and exercise, clothing and physical activity, protection of family members from pesticide poisoning and farm estate planning.

Related programs include seminars on home gardening and insect control around the home, a special off-campus trip for landscape enthusiasts, and a tour of a large grocery distribution terminal in Lansing.

YOUTH ACTIVITIES

Programs geared toward high school students include the annual state Future Farmers of America convention and sessions on careers in poultry science, natural resources and agriculture. Students may also compete in rabbit and Japanese quail exhibitions or learn how to keep bees.

Displays and exhibits related to Farmers' Week classes and sessions valued at more than $3 million will be located throughout the campus.

PEDALING AROUND

Of rust and men

By Mike Eliasohn

I saw something during the week end I never thought I would see.

It was a rusty Rolls-Royce.

Granted, one does not often see a Rolls-Royce (this one was in Lansing), but to see one with rust, it almost seems like sacrilege.

It's okay for a Chevrolet or a Ford or a Gremlin to rust, but somehow, it doesn't seem right for a Rolls-Royce.

Maybe it's the idea that anyone rich enough to afford a Rolls-Royce should be able to afford to pay someone to keep it washed and waxed so that it won't get rusty, even if he isn't rich enough to afford a full-time chauffeur.

In lieu of that, someone who can afford a Rolls-Royce should be able to afford a Cadillac to drive in nasty weather.

In case you're curious, the cheapest Rolls-Royce now sells for almost $78,000.

Now that the Winter Olympics are over, I'm sure I won't watch another hockey game until the 1984 Winter Olympics.

It sure was nice to see the U.S. hockey team in this one. The only bad moment came at the start of the third period in Friday night's game against the Soviet Union, with that team ahead by one goal.

The game was on tape, having ended a few hours earlier, but I didn't know the final score nor did I want to. I was at work, typing away with my TV on. In walks John Haire, back from the basketball game, who says, "The Americans won."

Damn! I wasn't the only one in that boat, however. Viewers of the game on Channel 7 in Detroit were told the final score during a break for the news, announcer Bill Bonds not realizing ABC had not revealed the score at the start of the broadcast.

Despite all the hoopla about the hockey team's winning of the gold medal being the "greatest something or other," I think its feat was equaled by the U.S. hockey team's winning the gold medal in the 1960 Olympics at Squaw Valley, Calif.

Back then, Russia was also the world power in the sport and, it must be remembered, hockey was nowhere as popular a participant sport in the United States as it is now, thus there were fewer players with Olympic potential.

In contrast to 20 years ago, there are probably few large cities now -- let's say, 100,000 population or more -- which don't have at least one indoor rink and numerous youth teams playing.

As for Eric Heiden and his five gold medals, I hope he sticks to what he said about not becoming another Mark Spitz and selling himself to the highest bidder. On the other hand, one can't blame him if he gives in to temptation when the five and six figure offers start flowing for him to endorse one product or another.

One of my regrets about the U.S. boycott of the Summer Olympics is that I'm afraid we will be subjected to four more years of Bruce Jenner Wheaties commercials.

I'm tempted to say he should go on to something else, but according to People magazine, he already has -- another woman, despite the fact he is still married.

My favorite winter Olympic sport to watch is the luge, the event where the participants go sliding down a twisty course lying flat on their backs on a sophisticated version of a Flexible Flyer at speeds up to 70 miles per hour.

I like to think I'm normal (some readers of this column may disagree), but I like the luge because it is the only event one has to be completely crazy to enter.

Guilty plea in area theft

Ubly High School announces top students

Ubly High School has announced honor students for the class of 1980.

Jean Marie Terbrack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Terbrack of the Ruth area, is valedictorian. Laurey Robin Hanselman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hanselman of Minden City is salutatorian.

Jean has attained a 3.93 grade point average out of a possible 4.00 for seven semesters. Laurey has a 3.92 grade point average.

Jean attended Sts. Peter &

Paul Catholic School for her elementary and junior high education. She has been class secretary for the last two years. Jean received honorable mention in the 1977 VFW Voice of Democracy speech contest, won merit awards for the last two years in the Scholastic Art Awards Contest sponsored by Hampton Square Mall, was a commended student in the PSAT-NMSQT national testing and is a semi-finalist in the State of Michigan Competitive Scholarship Program.

She is a member of the National Honor Society, Senior Band, Jazz Band and past member of the girls' volleyball team. She is employed part-time at Buds and Blossoms Floral Shops and plans to pursue a nursing curriculum at Northern Michigan University or Michigan State University.

Laurey Hanselman, the salutatorian, attended Minden City Elementary School and Ubly schools for junior high.

In the Future Homemakers of America, she has held offices of historian, parliamentarian, and reporter, and earned her junior degree. She is current president of the National Honor Society, has been a member of the Senior Band for four years and the Jazz Band for one year. Laurey was a third place winner in the VFW Voice of Democracy speech contest in 1979 and is a semi-finalist in the State of Michigan Competitive Scholarship Program. Laurey has been a carrier for the Port Huron Times

Herald for the last six years and plans to attend Michigan State University and pursue a pre-medicine curriculum.

The other honor students for the class of 1980 are:

Marilyn Sageman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sageman; Debbie Osentoski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Osentoski; Bryce Emmendorfer, son of Mrs. Grace Emmendorfer, and Colleen Nowak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alger Nowak.

Also, Diana Eckenswiller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Eckenswiller; David Peruski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Peruski; Karen Kubaeki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kubaeki; Gary Rumpitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Rumpitz, and Lisa Kutter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kutter.

Other students who have maintained a B average are: Sherri Ertman, Robert Block, Mary Gliniecki, Leisa Reinelt, Arlene Pionk, Duane O'Parka, Therese Miscisin, Marlene Drowiewski, Diane Gosdzinski, David Hunsanger, Michelle Flieger, Dean Osentoski, Jeff Messing and Evgenia Theodosiadov.

Also, Linda Weber, Laura Gornowicz, Pat Maurer, Katherine Block, Joseph Cook, Pauline Messing, Carl Keller, Marjorie Murdock, Jacqueline Mosher, Kimberly Sue Walsh and Terry Gosdzinski.

Property transfer denied

By a vote of 4-0 Monday evening, the Tuscola Intermediate School District rejected the petition of Richard and Linda Hofmeister to have their property transferred from the Cass City to the Caro School District.

The reason for the denial was that granting of the transfer would have created an irregular boundary line. The Hofmeisters' 40 acres is on Dodge Road between Deckerville and Shabbona Roads in Novesta township. Cass City Supt. Donald Crouse told the intermediate board that his board had voted to oppose the transfer. Caro School Board Secretary Dale Hines said his district was willing to accept the transfer.

The Hofmeisters were not present. Mrs. Hofmeister told the Chronicle Tuesday she and her husband have decided not to appeal the denial to the state Board of Education.

Their two children presently attend the Caro schools as tuition students, but will be attending the Cass City schools in the fall, she said.

Klaus saw the man exiting a car parked there, with a flashlight in his hand. He was searched and two radio knobs, vehicle cigarette lighter and gas cap were found in his possession.

After two sheriff's deputies arrived, it was discovered wires to the car radio were cut and the knobs were missing. A window to the trailer home at that location was discovered open. The suspect told officers he had been planning to spend the night there.

Owner of the car that was entered was Helen Peters of 4325 Woodland Street, Cass City.

Cass City police arrested Lloyd Jean Wellman, 45, of Fenton, on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor at 4:30 a.m. Sunday, after stopping his car on Main Street, near Leach.

He was later released from the county jail on bond, pending appearance in district court.

Gary M. Hoist of 4336 Bay City-Forestville Road, Gageton, reported to Cass City police at 7:38 p.m. Friday that about $12 worth of gasoline was siphoned from his car's tank while the vehicle was parked behind the Gamble's store. It had been there since 6:45 p.m. Seven packs of cigarettes were taken from the glove compartment.

Alvin Buttram of 495 Cemetery Road, Cass City, reported to sheriff's deputies Wednesday, Feb. 20, that two saddles were stolen from his barn some time since Feb. 16. One saddle was dark brown, the other light brown. They were worth $370 each.

Road Commission defendant in suit involving fatality

The Tuscola County Road Commission is a defendant in a suit filed in Circuit Court as the result of the Feb. 26, 1978, death of an Inlay City boy in a sledding accident.

Plaintiff is Jewel M. Villalpando, the mother of James Eldred, then 12, who was killed, who is administrator of his estate. She is also filing the suit in behalf of her son, Michael Eldred, who was riding on the sled, but apparently wasn't injured.

Defendants, in addition to the Road Commission, are Watertown township, in which the mishap occurred, and Gary C. Gipson of Millington, driver of the car which hit the sled.

The accident occurred when the sled came down a hill onto N. Lake Road, and was struck by the north-bound Gipson auto.

The suit charges that tall snowbanks along the road, the claimed fault of the Road Commission and township, obstructed the view of Gipson.

The first count of the suit seeks damages because of the loss of companionship and future earnings of the victim, the second count seeks them in behalf of the mother and the third because of the claimed mental and physical suffering of Michael Eldred in seeing his brother killed.

The suit seeks minimum damages of $10,000, asking on each count that the plaintiff be awarded "whatever amount to which she may be found to be entitled," plus costs, interest and attorney fees.

The suit, filed Friday, has been assigned to Circuit Judge Norman A. Baguley.

Sunflower meeting March 4

Sanilac county will host an area sunflower meeting Tuesday, March 4, at 1:30 p.m.

Sponsored by the Sanilac County Cooperative Extension Service, the meeting will be at the Extension Center (old Bader building), 37 Austin Street, Sandusky. It will cover such topics as production, drying and marketing. A panel of county farmers will discuss their experiences growing sunflowers.

Michigan State University will furnish the resource people.

The Bader Building is the new home for the county extension service. It has room for the entire staff, plus a meeting room with seating capacity for 150. It is located two blocks west of the traffic light and a half-block south of M-46.

The telephone number remains the same, (313) 648-2515.

Crawford funeral held Monday

Joseph Ephraim Crawford, 87, a lifelong resident of the Cass City area, passed away Friday at Provincial House after a long illness. He was born Oct. 13, 1892, in Grant township, Huron county, the son of Malcolm and Jennie (Reader) Crawford.

He married Estella Connell June 12, 1917, in Cass City. Following their marriage, they made their home on a farm on Huron Line Road in Elkland township. Mrs. Crawford died Dec. 14, 1979.

Crawford was a member of the Fraser Presbyterian church for many years. He was also a past master and life member of Tyler Lodge No. 317 F & AM of Cass City, member of Echo Chapter No. 337 Order of the Eastern Star of Cass City and was on the board of directors of the Farm Produce Co. in Cass City for several years.

He is survived by a number of nieces and nephews. One sister, Mrs. Katherine Blair, preceded him in death.

A Masonic memorial service was conducted Sunday evening at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, under the auspices of Tyler Lodge.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon from Little's, with Rev. Robert Von Oeyen, of the Fraser Presbyterian church officiating.

Burial was in Colfax cemetery, Bad Axe.

Your Neighbor says Olympics were 'really great'

Like millions of other Americans, Dorothy Zimmerman was glued to her television Friday night and Sunday as the American hockey team skated its way to the Olympics gold medal. "I'm not a hockey fan at all," she said, "I don't understand the game."

But the Olympic event was something different. "I felt really great that we could do so great, being underdogs in the hockey."

Mrs. Zimmerman knew the final score of the U.S.-Russia game before it was over, having heard it beforehand on the news (it was shown on a tape-delayed basis), so thought the Sunday game with Finland, shown live, was "much more exciting."

In addition to the hockey, she also watched some of the speed skating, in which Eric Heiden won five gold medals - "I was really proud when he won it." - and one of the women's downhill skiing events.

"They were really great," she said of the Olympics

A housewife, she and her husband Arthur have three children, Art Jr., Berlyn and Justine. They live at 7513 Gilbert Road, Cass City.

Parenting class begins March 12

The Tuscola County Health Department and the Cooperative Extension Service are offering "Parenting for Young Families 0-6 Years of Age."

The program will be March 12, 19, 26 and April 2 from 7-9 p.m. at $2 a person.

Designed to help parents make a decision on their family and parenting values, the program will cover topics dealing with health and nutrition, development, guidance and discipline.

Reservations can be made through the Community Education Program at Caro High School, 673-3166.

For more information, call the Health Department or Extension office. The group leaders for the series will be Peggy Houck, extension home economist, and Millie Feighner, public health nurse.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Although the fight is a long way from over, chances are good that rail service into Cass City can be maintained. A complete survey of area rail users has started. Mrs. Margie Kay Crutchfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Clarke, Cass City, was one of 39 Harding College students inducted into Alpha Chi, a national college honor scholarship society.

The Cass City Ministerial Association has presented the residents of Provincial House with new large-print hymnals.

Sharyl Schneeberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Schneeberger, will be one of several Ferris State College marketing students undertaking a research project during their term break vacation in New York City.

The end is drawing near for a privately owned ambulance service operating in Cass City unless outside help is available for training emergency medical technicians and purchasing equipment.

TEN YEARS AGO

Lambert E. Althaver is the new executive vice-president of Walbro Corp. He relinquishes the post of vice-president - Finance, and remains a director of the corporation.

An anticipated 5 percent increase in valuation in the village property tax will be all that is needed to maintain a record-size village budget in 1970, according to details revealed after the Cass City council meeting.

Chronicle columnist Dan Marlowe's short story "Art for Money's Sake," which appeared in the February issue of Elks Magazine under his Jaime Sandaval short story writing pseudonym, has been selected for inclusion in the Mystery Writers of America Anthology of the best mystery short stories of the year. Sgt. Gary Holik, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Holik, has arrived for duty at Wurtsmith Air Force Base, Mich. He is a weapons mechanic with the 67th Munitions Maintenance Squadron.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Martha L. Knoblet of Cass City completed requirements for a master of arts degree from the University of Michigan.

Ira "Jim" Fox of Frankemuth joined the ranks of Tuscola county publishers this week when he purchased the Millington Herald from Mr. and Mrs. Leon Thelken.

Residents of this area are invited to look over the Michigan Pipe Co. plant in Gagetown during their open house.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cranick observed their golden wedding anniversary at their home in Cass City with friends.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Thomas Gibbard, Greenleaf township farmer, has an Ayrshire cow which produces 12 quarts at a milking, and gave birth to triplets.

Mary Slimko has completed a three-year course at the Providence Hospital School of Nursing in Detroit and has graduated. She is a 1937 Cass City High School graduate.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Steers celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. They are former residents of Cass City and now reside in Highland Park.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters

This 11-year-old from Caro has a wide variety of interests. She likes swimming, football, roller skating, dancing, cooking and many other things. She is full of energy and would profit from a one-to-one friendship.

This 12-year-old from the Millington area enjoys models, swimming, camping, school, playing with friends and reading. If you like to do any of these activities, why not include this little one in your life.

A cute redhead, 11 years old from Mayville, has been waiting over two years for a Big Brother's attention and love. He is a likeable boy and loves to fish. He would also like to learn how to shoot a bow and arrow as well as many other things.

Blood pressure tests made

The regular monthly meeting of the American Association of Retired Persons Cass City chapter was held Thursday, Feb. 14, with 48 members present.

Blood pressure readings were taken by volunteer nurses Irene Freeman and Mrs. Maynard Stine. Jean Graham of the Thumb Area Commission on Aging was in charge of the project.

Marion McClorey led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance. Hymns were sung, with Helen Little at the piano. Alma Seeger won the door prize. Mary Krizman gave the invocation.

A memorial in memory of late member Lyle Koepfen was sent to the Cancer Fund. Rev. Melvin Vender and Blanch Vender were awarded honorary memberships.

Margaret Weaver, president of the Tuscola County Council on Aging, spoke on the need for more support for senior citizen projects in the Cass City area. Mrs. Weaver airs the senior citizens news program each Saturday at 12:20 p.m. on Station WKYO.

A slate of officers were elected for 1980 and 81. They will be installed at the regular monthly meeting, Thursday, March 13, at the Good Shepherd Lutheran church fellowship hall. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Beardsley, Mr. and Mrs. Warner and Mary Kirton will be in charge of arrangements. Dinner will be at 12:30.

MMPA local meet Saturday in Shabbona

The Deford local of Michigan Milk Producers Association (MMPA) will conduct its annual meeting at noon, Saturday, at Shabbona United Methodist church in Shabbona.

Activities at the meeting will include election of officers for the coming year, election of delegates to the upcoming district meeting and consideration of other matters pertaining to the dairy farming industry.

Guest speaker will be Elwood Kirkpatrick, director at large of MMPA.

Sixty-eight locals throughout the state form the grassroots nucleus of MMPA, the state's largest milk marketing cooperative. MMPA membership totals about 5,200 dairy farmers statewide.

HEALTH TIPS

Early treatment aids cancer cure

Frank Chappell
Science News Editor

A cancer occurs when abnormal cells begin a wild, unrestrained growth in some part of the body.

They may spread by infiltrating adjacent tissue, by traveling through the circulatory and lymphatic systems to distant locations in the body, or by any combination of these.

This growth and the spread of cancer cells will be fatal if not checked. Your doctor treats cancer by surgery, by radiation to destroy the tumor, and special drug therapy.

Often, several of these treatments will be used. A few types of cancer, such as the leukemias, react quite well to hormones and newly discovered drugs.

The American Medical Association points out that one third of all cancers in the United States are being cured today.

Cancers are most readily curable if they can be treated before they spread from their original locations.

To be cured, cancers must be found early and removed or destroyed before they have started to spread. Since two thirds of all cancers are on the surface of the body or close enough to the surface to be readily seen or felt, early detection often is possible.

Breast cancer is the leading cause of cancer deaths in American women. Lung cancer is a leading cause of death from cancer. Cancer of the larynx has persistent hoarseness as an early sign.

Colon and rectal cancer will occur in more than 100,000 American men and women each year, and is the second highest cause of cancer deaths among women.

Cancers are curable if found and treated promptly. Early detection is largely the individual's own responsibility. It depends on an active interest in one's own health and a willingness to let the physician judge the importance of a danger signal.

Republicans to meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Sanilac County Republican Committee will be Thursday, March 6, at 8 p.m. in the Board of Commissioners' office, 67 West Sanilac, Sandusky. The public is invited.

Inflation tends to make the pursuit of happiness the chase of a lifetime.

O-G retirees slate

Easter bonnet parade

The Owen-Gage Senior Citizens potluck dinner was held last Thursday at the Owendale Community Municipal Building.

Thirty-three members attended. The blessing was given by Mrs. Peter Severn.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Deenen joined the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Good will be the king and queen for the Owendale 75th anniversary celebration.

There will be an Easter bonnet parade April 6 in Gagetown, presented by the Senior Citizens.

The minutes of the first anniversary of the Senior Citizens, held five years ago, were read by Mable Ondrakja.

Winner of the men's door prize was Andy Szidik. Violet Diebel won the woman's prize.

Euchre prize winners were: Lee Smith, high men's; Andy Szidik, men's low; Mrs. Violet Diebel, women's high; Mrs. Alma Severn, women's low, and Mrs. Ada Salgat, traveling prize.

Get well cards were sent to Harry Russell, Dennis Rocheleau, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Laurie.

The next meeting will be in the Elmwood-Gagetown fire hall March 6. Blood pressure readings were taken.

Serving on the March committee will be Mr. and Mrs. Mike Pisarek, Mrs. Leona Shantz, Mrs. Mary Rathje and Mrs. Irma Martin.

Owendale Silent Sister Party held

The 45th annual Silent Sister Valentine's Party was held Feb. 14 at the home of Lynne Pavlichek in Owendale, with a pollock smorgasbord dinner at 6:30.

Nine members and one guest were present. The centerpiece was a ceramic cheesecake made by one of the members. Under the real looking centerpiece, a real cheesecake was served as part of the buffet supper.

The meeting was called to order by Sherry Burk. Minutes of the 44th meeting were read and approved.

Election of officers was held for 1980-81. Results were: President, Lynne Pavlichek; vice-president, Donna Finkbeiner; secretary-treasurer, Alice Ricker; silent secretary, Jeanette McDonald; prize and game committee, Carol Elliott and Donna Finkbeiner.

It was decided to hold another brown bag auction, with each person bringing one joke prize and one valuable and usable item.

Next year's hostess will be Sherry Burk. The 46th annual Silent Sister Party will be at 6:30 Feb. 14, with a planned pollock, with the secretary writing cards to each member with suggested dish to bring.

Two new members were added, Carolyn Mandich and Georgie Pavlichek. One member, Carol Howard, withdrew her name.

After the business meeting, Valentine gifts were given out and names revealed. New names were drawn and recorded by the silent secretary for the coming year.

Annual tree sale still underway

The Tuscola Soil Conservation District is still accepting orders for trees and shrubs to be delivered in April.

The trees may be used for reforestation. Christmas trees, windbreaks, erosion control, provide wildlife cover and to beautify surroundings.

Species that are still available are: "White pine, red pine, Austrian pine, Scotch pine, a few spruce and autumn olive, a shrub.

Meredith Auten remembers

My father had brought me out a new Buick.

I was the only one in the company to have a car. I really enjoyed it.

Helen Fisk, whom I took around in Bowdoin, was working in Washington. I took her places, but the end soon came.

The general told us about Oct. 9 that we were going overseas and to get rid of anything we weren't taking across, automobiles and the like.

I took the car to a dealer in Washington and asked him what he would give me for it. He said if I would leave it, he would sell it for me for $1,500 or $1,600. I told him I couldn't wait. He said he could only give me $1,100, which was alright with me.

I was taking Helen to Baltimore and then to a show and wouldn't get back until midnight. He told me to bring the car to his house and he would give me the money. He gave me 11 $100 bills. I had another $300 or $400, so the next day I asked if I could have a pass to Baltimore to get rid of the money.

Right in front of the station was advertised, "Houdini, the Great Magician." I went to the show.

It was dark when I got out and it was too late to get to the post office or express office. I went to a Ford garage and asked the operator if he would give me a

George Shoaf dies after long illness

George Shoaf of Owendale, formerly of Highland Park, died Sunday at Provincial House after a long illness.

He was born March 9, 1909, in Herminie, Penn., the son of Charles and Alpha (Williams) Shoaf.

He married Jennie Keen Oct. 15, 1938, in Toledo, Ohio. Following their marriage, they made their home in Highland Park. Mrs. Shoaf died Feb. 21, 1974. Her husband came to Owendale in 1977.

He is survived by his daughter, Mrs. David (Florence) Duncan of Owendale; two grandchildren, Brian and Patrick; three brothers, Charles Shoaf of New Jersey, Rev. Roy Shoaf of New York and Clarence Shoaf of Florida, and two sisters, Mrs. Ruby Scroggins and Mrs. Grace Salta, both of New Jersey. One brother, Frank, and one sister, Mildred, preceded him in death.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon from White Chapel in Troy, with Rev. Roy Shoaf officiating.

Burial was in White Chapel cemetery.

Another way to make the most of your money- AUTOMATICALLY!

MONTHLY MONEY FROM MUTUAL

Here's another money-making idea — Monthly Money From Mutual. It's the newest way for you to make the most of your Certificate money.

Each month Mutual will automatically transfer the interest you've earned on any Savings Certificate into a flexible Statement Savings Account. This new "Convenience Service" allows you immediate accessibility to your earnings.

If you're now receiving a quarterly interest check, you won't have to wait three months for the mail to arrive any longer. Mutual can "deliver the interest" each month.

Monthly Money From Mutual is an especially good idea for 26 week Money-Market Certificate holders. Since Federal regulations prohibit compounding of interest on these instruments, Monthly Money From Mutual is an excellent means for an additional 5 1/2% interest on your money.

Sound good? There's more! A Mutual Statement Savings Account has other benefits like FEE-FREE TRAVELERS CHECKS — NO SERVICE CHARGE MONEY ORDERS — and EMERGENCY CASH AT OVER 4,500 locations nation-wide.

Find out today about Monthly Money From Mutual. It's available at any of our 24 convenient mid-Michigan locations.

Hawks draw tourney bye

First game looms as acid test

District drawings were held Monday at Mayville and the luck of the draw places Cass City in what might well be the key game of the tournament the first time the team takes the floor.

The Hawks drew an opening round bye. They will play the winner of the Brown City-Marlette game Thursday night, March 6.

Marlette and Brown City face each other Tuesday night. Brown City will be the odds-on favorite to win. Marlette is on the bottom of the Thumb B Association and Brown City has a 16-2 record.

In the top bracket of the tournament, host Mayville will play Deckerville Monday. The winner faces Sandustry Wednesday, March 5. Finals will be played Saturday.

All games start at 7:30 p.m.

Athletic Director Roland Pakonen announced this week that tickets for the Thursday, March 8, game will go on sale Wednesday, March 5, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the high school.

Only residents of the school district will be eligible to purchase the tickets Wednesday. There will be a limit of four to a person.

Season ticket holders will have first chance to purchase tickets. If tickets remain after the Wednesday sale they will be offered on Thursday on a first come, first served basis.

Bulldogs host D tourney

O-G meets top team in opener

If the United States can beat the Russians in hockey...

It will take that kind of effort by Owen-Gage to survive the first round of district tournament play, which will be in its own gym.

The Bulldogs drew North Central D League champion Carsonville-Port Sanilac in the first round, at 7:30 p.m. Monday. All games will be at that time.

C-PS, which has lost only once this season, to non-league Uby, defeated the Bulldogs by a total of 71 points during the two regular season outings.

The Tuesday night game at Owendale will feature Caseville against Port Hope.

Wednesday, Akron-Fairgrove plays the winner of the Carsonville - Owen-Gage game.

The finals will be Friday, March 7, with the winner going on to the regionals.

It will be the first district tournament Owen-Gage has hosted, previous events being played at Bad Axe.

The merger of North Huron and Port Austin at the end of the last school year, both of whom had played in that tournament, elevated that school this year to Class C tournament play. C-PS and Akron-Fairgrove, which had played in other district tournaments, were shifted to the one at Owendale to fill the void.

GOT IT! -- Bulldog Julie Andrakowicz hits the ball back across the net while Peg Berube ducks out of the way in action last Thursday against Kingston. Owen-Gage won.

Bulldogs cop fifth straight Central D volleyball title

The Owen-Gage volleyball team won its fifth straight North Central D League championship Monday night with a win at North Huron. The only season the Bulldog girls didn't win the title was in their first year of competition, the only year

Judy Campbell wasn't coach.

This season was different in that it was the first time in their five championship years they were not undefeated, having lost a match to Akron-Fairgrove. Owen-Gage is presently 11-1 in the league, 18-4 overall.

Owen-Gage won its first match Monday, 15-4 and 15-1; the second, 15-10, 15-9. Julie Andrakowicz scored 21 points and Peg Berube, 14. Becky Howard had 24 good spikes and four ace spikes.

The Bulldog JV's lost, 10-15, 18-16, 4-15.

Port Hope comes to Owendale Thursday for the final regular season contest.

Saturday, the Bulldogs host the district tournament, with their first game against Caseville at noon. Assuming they win that one, their next game will be Port Hope or Kingston at 2, with the championship game at 3:30.

CASEVILLE TOURNAMENT

For the first time in four years, Owen-Gage didn't win the Caseville invitational tournament. The team finished second Saturday behind Unionville-Sebewaing.

In their first game in the double elimination tournament, the Bulldogs defeated Lakers 10-8, 5-10, 10-7.

Next to fall was Kingston, 10-0, 6-10, 10-5.

Owen-Gage lost to USA, 8-10, 10-5.

Owen-Gage defeated host Caseville in the fourth game, 10-6, 8-10, 10-8.

The team then faced Kingston for a second time, winning 10-6, 10-3.

Next came Port Hope, Owen-Gage winning 15-0, 15-11.

The Bulldogs then took on USA again and won, 12-15, 15-11, 15-10.

That meant both teams had lost once, so they faced each other a final time, with the Patriots winning, 15-13, 15-10.

Julie Andrakowicz scored 86 points during the day, plus contributing 35 good spikes and six ace spikes.

Becky Howard had 126 spikes and 22 ace spikes.

Kingston, which had been

Bulldogs win final loop game of year

Owen-Gage ensured itself at least a third place tie in the North Central D League Friday night with a 56-51 win over Akron-Fairgrove, but it took them two overtime periods to do it.

Score at the end of four quarters was 45-41 and at the end of the first overtime, 47-47.

Peck has to win both games this week in order to tie the Bulldogs for third.

The game last Friday at Owendale was the last league contest for the Bulldogs. They end the regular season Friday at Fairview, which beat them at the season opener Dec. 7, 76-50.

Owen-Gage finishes with a 9-5 league mark. They are 11-8 overall. The third place finish, coach Phil Gray said, was better than he expected at the beginning of the season, especially after Kirk Carolan missed the first few games because of an injury the first day of practice.

His team had three men in double figures against the Vikings, Jim Glidden with 14 and Brad Erickson and Pete Klemkowsky, each with 12.

Kyle Detmers' 31 points were more than half of Akron-Fairgrove's total.

The Bulldogs shot 43 percent from the floor, 25 of 57, and 40 percent from the charity line, six of 15. Their opponents were 22 of 62 in the field goal department, 35 percent, and seven of 15 in free throws, 46 percent.

Owen-Gage led in rebounds, 36-21, with Glidden grabbing 12 of them and Klemkowsky, 10. Owen-Gage won the junior varsity contest, 59-46.

Hatchet spikers top Cass City

Thumb B Association champions Bad Axe spotted the Cass City Red Hawks the first game of the match Thursday, then rallied to take the next four games to preserve its undefeated loop record.

The Hawks, behind the excellent serves of Sherry Bader, won the first game 12-15. Then the Hatchets started rolling and won the next two games, 15-6, and 16-14 to win the first match.

The second match went to the visitors in straight games, 15-6 and 15-5.

In the JV game, Cass City won. The Hawks won the first game, 15-11, then lost, 6-15, before winning the decisive game, 15-8.

Sue Stine, Lori Little and Tammy Dearing had 100 percent serves for Cass City.

VASSAR INVITATION

At the Vassar invitational hired Saturday Cass City finished third behind Bridgeport, the winners, and Frankenmuth.

The Hawks opened with 2 wins in 3 games over Vassar. Losing the first game, 8-15, then rallying for victories in the next two, 15-2 and 18-6.

In the second game the Hawks measured Millington in straight games, 15-9 and 15-5.

The first loss of the tourney by Cass City was to Bridgeport. The Hawks lost in straight games, 15-7 and 15-6.

In the battle for second Frankenmuth topped Cass City two games to one.

The Eagles won the first game, 15-12. Cass City came back to win the second, 10-15, and Frankenmuth took the match with a 15-8 decision in the third game.

REALTOR

FUTURE SHOCK

Q: It's frightening the way inflation has increased the cost of everything. How can I protect my future financial situation through investing in real estate?

A: Your fears are well founded. The cost of housing has doubled in the past ten years. But this can work FOR you. What would happen if the cost of living increased six percent a year compounded? (Low by today's standards). A home that cost $70,000 now would cost $224,500 in 20 years and almost unbelievable $402,044 in 30 years.

What does all this mean? Whatever your age, you must find a way to create an income in addition to your pay check. Although there is no such thing as the perfect investment, real estate may be the nearest thing to it. It can be an income producer, a shelter from high taxes, and an ideal protection from the ravages of inflation. Real estate values historically increase faster than general inflation prices and maintain a higher value than most assets in depression. The ideal hedge.

Bad Axe win clinches title share

Hawks spoil opening of USA gym Tuesday, 60-53

Cass City dampened the enthusiasm of the USA Patriots Tuesday night in the inaugural game in the school's new $5 million gym by topping their hosts in a hard fought battle, 60-53.

The game, played before a capacity crowd, was even closer than the final score. Cass City led all the way except for a brief moment in the third period but every time the Hawks would bounce in front by 8 or 9 points USA came bouncing back to threaten to break Cass City's win streak.

A bright spot for the Hawks was the play of Craig Tonti. Without him it's certain that Cass City would have gone down for the second time this season.

The junior guard hit on his patented drives and on shots from the corner to rack up nine field goals. He also made 10 of 10 charity tosses for 28 points, his personal high for the season.

The Hawks were hampered by the loss of Ken Martin for about half the game as he rode the bench in foul trouble.

Without his muscle in the center USA came from behind on two different occasions.

Cass City moved in front for the first time in the closing moments of the first period. With 1:26 left in the quarter the Hawks were in front 8-6. But 6 unanswered points shoved them into a 14-6 advantage at the end of the first 8 minutes.

The Hawks held that margin until midway through the second period when Martin went to the bench. The Patriots quickly closed the gap and by intermission time trailed by just a point, 26-25.

USA went in front 27-26 shortly after the third quarter but the lead didn't last long. Cass City scored 8 points in a row and with 2:06 left in the period were in front 38-29.

The Patriots mounted another charge to move to within a point 40-39 just before the quarter ended. A basket at the buzzer by Todd Comment made it 42-39 going into the final 8 minutes.

It was nip and tuck for the first 4 minutes of the final quarter. The Hawks led 48-47 with 4:06 left in the game.

But that was as close as the losers were to come. Playing for the sure shot and converting foul tries the Hawks pulled slowly away as the clock ran out.

Besides Tonti, Tim Johnson was in double figures for Cass City with 10. Terry Winter netted 11 and Ralph Hoppe and Lynn Ewald 10 each for USA.

In the preliminary the USA JV had little trouble with the Hawk JV and posted an 85-56 decision.

The Hawks end the regular season Friday at Sandusky. A win will give the Hawks their second straight Thumb B Association championship.

BAD AXE GAME

The Cass City Red Hawks exhibited a rock-ribbed defense Friday night to roll past the Bad Axe Hatchets, 74-34, at Cass City High School. It was mothers' night and the moms were fêted before the game and then watched their sons post the one-sided victory.

The game was almost over before it started. Although Cass City was missing shots in the early going, the Hawk defense almost completely shut off the Hatchet offense.

Paced by two fine drives by Craig Tonti and a couple of baskets on rebounds Cass City moved in front 8-2 midway through the period.

In the next minute and 40 seconds Cass City used two baskets by Todd Comment and a basket by Ken Martin to score six unanswered points and move in front 14-2.

After that it was all over. At the end of the first quarter Cass City was in front 20-6.

Neither team was very impressive in the first half of the second period. Turnovers were numerous and the play generally ragged.

The Hawks added to their lead with a 16-14 margin in the quarter to leave the field at intermission with a 36-20 edge.

Cass City made it a rout in the first four minutes of the third quarter by whipping in 13 unanswered points for a 49-20 lead.

After that Coach Ron Nurnberger turned to his bench and all 11 players in the game broke into the scoring column. In the third period the visitors scored just one basket.

In the final period Cass City won the battle of the benches by edging the Hatchets 19-12.

Cass City's scoring was well divided. Martin scored 14 and Tonti followed with 13. Tim Fahrner and Comment netted 11 each. For Bad Axe Charlie Woycik scored 10.

Fahrner snagged 10 rebounds and Steve Richards and Martin each picked off 9.

OFF THE GROUND

If you're waiting for your ship to come in, it's a good idea to check whether it was ever launched.

NEVER HAPPY

The fellow who gets something for nothing always thinks he should have gotten a little more.

ROB CLARKE gets two points for the Hawks. The senior center is part of the Hawks' strong bench strength that helped the Hawks to a Thumb B Association title.

WHEN IT'S ONE ON ONE on a drive to the basket, Craig Tonti usually wins. This two-pointer helped him to 28 points against USA, the best scoring night of his career.

Women still paid unequally

If you're talking about earning power, women still aren't equal, according to a survey by Michigan State University's Placement Services.

That survey shows that women graduates earn about $1,000 less at their first job than the average MSU graduate. Broken down by colleges within the university, the differences often are not as dramatic, because women still tend to take jobs in fields which traditionally pay less, says Placement Director Jack Shingleton.

Female students who graduated with bachelors' degrees between August, 1978 and June, 1979 earned an average of $12,355. That's $1,024 less than the average of all graduates with bachelors' degrees.

Placement Director Shingleton says females also tend to be underemployed more than males, taking jobs as waitresses, receptionists and clerk typists when jobs aren't available in their own fields.

Females also had a higher unemployment rate than the average. About 7.6 percent of the female graduates said they were looking for work but couldn't find it. The average for all graduates was 6.1 percent.

But, Shingleton says, the prospects for women appear to be getting better every year.

Award plaques in Big Acre contest

The 23rd annual Big Acre Banquet was held at the Bavarian Inn in Frankenmuth Feb. 19.

Wickes Agriculture division sponsors the event for the 27 chapters in Michigan of Future Farmers of America.

The chapters compete in five crops. Field beans, soybeans, corn, oats and wheat are judged on:

- 1) Production per acre in relation to land capabilities.
- 2) Management and cultural practices completed.
- 3) Fertilizer program used.
- 4) Records and computations.
- 5) Neatness and pictures in books.

Receiving first place awards from Cass City were Barb Broecker, soybeans, and Ed Zimba, corn, wheat and oats.

A Big Acre gold award plaque was presented for each crop, based on outstanding individual performance.

In the corn division, Ed Zimba of Cass City received the gold award.

Cass City members receiving spring jackets were Barb Broecker, Dan Hunt, John Gallagher and Ken Brown.

Winter jackets were awarded to members who received two or more first place finishes, including Ed Zimba.

The best chapter award was presented to the Cornuna High School FFA for the third straight year. Uby FFA took second place.

Uby FFA members receiving gold awards were Mike Dekoski and Diane Gosdzinski, corn; Gary Rumpitz and Jim Terbrack, wheat; Dekoski and Rumpitz, oats; Rumpitz, soybeans, and Dekoski and Melvin Volz, beans.

A total of 398 students from 27 high schools took part in the 1979 program, completing 644 individual crop projects on their home farms.

FFA WINNERS -- Ed Zimba, left, was a Wickes Big Acre Club gold award winner. Scott Hobart won first place in extemporaneous speaking in the FFA regional competition Feb. 21 at Reese. He will now compete during the state FFA convention March 19-21 at Michigan State University against the seven other regional winners. The state winner competes at the national FFA convention.

Letter to the Editor

Youth dies in one of area crashes Long time reader protests language

At 11:35 p.m. Friday, according to deputies, Thomas S. Prich, 18, of 9211 Huron Line Road, Gagetown, was westbound on Cass City Road, east of Seeley Road, when he lost control when his car hit a slushy spot. The car went into the south side ditch.

And then some folks are known by the things they might have accomplished -- and didn't.

Enclosed is a check for $13 to renew my subscription to the Chronicle.

I believe I could be listed among the people who have been reading the paper for many, many years.

When I was a little girl, my mother, Mrs. Genie Martin, was correspondent for the "Kingston Novesta Townline" news at the same time as John McCracken, who also lived on the townline near us, wrote for Deford news.

Many people will remember his interesting articles, one of which included a small booklet of the history of Novesta township, a copy of which I now have.

After I came to Detroit in 1918, my mother sent me the Chronicle each week; then after I was married, I subscribed to it.

Most of the Cass City people are now new to me, but many times I read about people I knew when I attended high school there. The pictures of the depot which is being torn down was kind of sad. I remember that four of us girls from the Deford area who attended school and went home week ends would sometimes take the train home.

I enjoy "Rabbit Tracks" by John Haire and articles by Mike Eliasohn. They are interesting, sometimes comical and always "clean" language. Also I enjoy Meredith Auten's column, but I don't like the "filthy" words that Jim Fitzgerald uses.

After I read the Chronicle, I give it to a friend. Although he doesn't know anyone there, he enjoys reading the articles and looking at the old pictures (with the exception of the above mentioned).

The English language has an abundance of words of which I'm sure Fitzgerald could rely upon instead of the extremely distasteful ones he continuously uses.

Whatever happened to censorship in this family newspaper?

Sincerely,

Goldie Martin-McLaughlin

Future bright for bean growers, says Elenbaum

Prior to the sale, the acreage devoted to navies was expected to increase, due to farmers planting less corn because of the grain embargo and a switch back from soybeans, a relatively new crop in the Thumb, which for many farmers has proven to be a poor one in terms of price and yield.

But with farmers who have contracts indicating that about half the land they will switch to pinto and black beans will come from land that would have been planted to navies, the rest to corn and soybeans, the result will be a more stable market.

If there is a short crop in 1980, Elenbaum predicted the price paid for beans will go up "the same as in the past."

The present price of $20 per hundredweight is "not a bad price" for those farmers who had good yields last year.

THE MEXICAN BEAN sale is only one reason why Elenbaum sees a bright future ahead for bean growers.

Thanks to research, partially financed by the Bean Commission through its checkoff, he expects new varieties will be available to farmers in the next two years that will reduce disease problems and result in increased yields. He also expects a variety to be available within that time span that will eliminate the need for pulling prior to combining.

Promotional efforts financed by the Bean Commission through a communications agency to get more people to eat beans has resulted in numerous bean recipe articles in magazines and newspapers (free space worth probably $450,000), and serving of bean soup and salads in many "elite restaurants."

Although efforts to get beans on menus in fast food restaurants haven't gone over as well, he feels that is because of poor preparation, heating them out of a can and throwing them on a plate. "Those (restaurants) who did a good job have been very happy."

Communications have been established with bean grower groups in other states, which may result in joint promotional efforts.

The Bean Commission members are paid $25 a day for official meetings plus expenses. They aren't paid for attending county bean day programs and other functions relating to the bean industry, which make it a money losing proposition.

Despite that, he hopes Gov. Milliken will appoint him to a second three-year term once his present one expires.

"If you're not doing this for the interest of the bean industry, then you better not do it."

Test seed, say MSU experts

Growers can enhance the prospect for future sales of pinto and black turtle soup beans to Mexico by making special efforts to plant good seed this spring.

Dr. Larry Copeland, Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service agronomist, advises that bean seed be laboratory tested because no seed certification program currently exists for either class in Michigan.

This means that in some cases this year, tablestock beans will have to be used for seed. These may be infected with bacterial blight and mosaic virus which can seriously affect yields.

Personnel of the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Dr. Alfred W. Saettler, U.S. Department of Agriculture plant pathologist based at MSU, are providing testing service for seed to be planted this spring.

If at all possible, avoid seed that has common (fuscos) blight, halo blight or mosaic virus infection. If the seed lot has common blight, go to another seed source because no chemical controls exist for this disease.

If halo blight is detected, the seed lot can be planted but fields should be sprayed for disease control. Growers should work with their county extension offices to work out spray programs.

Under no circumstances should seed that has mosaic virus be planted. This virus can be spread readily by aphids into adjacent fields planted with varieties susceptible to mosaic virus.

Many seed suppliers are having seed stocks tested. If the seed has not been tested, growers should make sure it does undergo tests before they buy.

The Michigan Crop Improvement Association is offering growers an inspection program for non-certified colored beans this summer. This does not mean that seed from inspected plantings will be certified, but it will enable growers and seed suppliers to identify good seed sources that can be used until the certification program on new MSU-released bean varieties becomes available in 1981.

Growers interested in having this year's crop inspected should contact their county extension office.

Survivor sues for damages

The survivor of an Oct. 6, 1978, auto crash in which two persons were killed is suing the estate of one of the victims, plus two others.

Plaintiffs in the suit filed Feb. 7 in Tuscola County Circuit Court are Connie Castle, who was injured, and her husband, Ray, of Vassar.

Defendants are Shan Lorey of Sandusky, the driver of the car which struck the vehicle in which Mrs. Castle was riding; Robert Olivo Sr. of Sandusky, owner of the car driven by Ms. Lorey, and George Gleason of Millington as representative of the estate of his daughter, Amy Gleason, who was killed in the crash. She had been the driver of the car in which Mrs. Castle was an occupant.

The accident took place on M-46, northeast of Vassar, when the eastbound Lorey auto slammed into the Gleason car, which because of a steering malfunction had become sideways on the road just prior to the impact. The other person killed was also in the Gleason auto.

The suit seeks damages in excess of $10,000 "in whatever amount the plaintiffs are found to be entitled," plus interest, costs and attorney fees.

The suit has been assigned to Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn.

Driving - TV don't mix

When is watching television illegal? When one is also driving his car.

Sheriff's deputies were on patrol Saturday night on M-25, west of Unionville, when they noticed a reflection from inside a car. They stopped the vehicle and discovered the driver had been watching a television.

Reportedly, he had been watching a Winter Olympics broadcast.

The man, from Sebewaing, was given a ticket charging him with viewing a television while driving a motor vehicle.

The car was stopped at 11:45 p.m.

Honor Alvin Benkelman for road building

Alvin C. Benkelman of Elk Creek, Va., was honored at the First Road Test Reunion in Washington, D.C., Jan. 21, for his "highly significant contributions to the science of highway building."

A native of Cass City, Benkelman still has numerous relatives in this area.

A testimonial in his honor, signed by about 50 engineers from the United States, Canada and Brazil, noted his "participation as a senior staff member on nearly every road test of this century." Benkelman was referred to as the "Dean of Road Tests."

A 1914 graduate of Cass City High School, he received his engineering degree from the University of Michigan in 1919. He was honored for his work by the U-M in 1965.

After graduating from college, he was a pavement and soils engineer with the Illinois Highway Department until 1923.

Alvin C. Benkelman

After that, he did research in physical properties of Portland cement concrete, performance of pavements in service, frost action of soils in field and laboratory and structural design of flexible pavement.

The testimonial presented Jan. 21 recognized Benkelman's "consistent" good judgment and keen perception as a researcher and administrator in the Bureau of Public Roads and as chairman of the Flexible Pavement Committee of the Highway Research Board.

Appreciation was expressed "for the salutary impact that he has had over the years on each one of us through his friendly and wise personal counsel and generous assistance."

Benkelman was invited to the World Bank in Washington to meet with highway engineers from England, Scotland, Iceland and Southeast Asia, who were interested in meeting the inventor of the Benkelman Beam.

The device he invented, used in road construction all over the world, is a device for measuring deflection of pavement under a moving load.

His wife is Olive Scott Benkelman.

Paul Humphrey sentenced to one year in county jail

Paul R. Humphrey, 34, was sentenced to one year in the county jail Monday for violation of probation in 1976.

Humphrey was placed on two years' probation in December, 1975, for attempted preparing to burn. His address at that time was Howard Street, Deford.

Circuit Judge Norman A. Baguley found him guilty Feb. 15 of this year of violating probation of having been convicted in October, 1976, in Bay County District Court of driving with license suspended (2nd offense) and failure to provide a truthful report to his probation officer.

In pronouncing sentence Monday, Baguley credited Humphrey with 81 days served.

No information was contained in the court file to explain the almost four-year interval between the probation violation and the conviction and sentencing of Humphrey's current address.

Also Monday, Duane R. Spencer, 20, of 5807 Fulton Street, Mayville, pleaded innocent to charges of breaking and entering a motor vehicle and unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle.

His plea was accepted and pretrial hearing scheduled March 24, to be preceded by hearing of pretrial motions. Bond was continued.

Spencer is charged in connection with the entering of a bus Jan. 17 owned by the Juniata Baptist church and the driving away of the church's van.

In cases Feb. 19 before Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements:

Jacqueline DuRussell, 20, of 909 Monroe Street, Caro, was placed on one year probation for attempted larceny over $100.

She was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail, with credit given for two days served, fined $100, assessed $200 court costs and ordered to pay $500 restitution.

The charge was in connection with an attempt to draw $500 from the savings account of another woman at a Caro bank. She pleaded guilty to the charge Jan. 21.

James D. Sandoval, 21, of Saginaw, pleaded guilty to attempted larceny in a building.

The plea was accepted and sentencing scheduled March 17. A motion for reduction of bond was accepted and bond was reduced to $3,000 personal recognizance.

The charge was in connection with the theft of $267 from a Richville gas station Dec. 21.

Timothy S. Piazza, 19, of 105 Main Street, Vassar, pleaded innocent to charges of felonious assault and larceny in a building. His plea was accepted and pretrial hearing scheduled March 3. Bond was continued.

The charges stem from an assault on a man in Vassar Jan. 6 while armed with a barbecue fork and theft of cigarettes from a store in that community that day.

Jerry L. Franz, 18, of 3854 Hanes Road, Vassar, was placed on two years' probation for attempted breaking and entering of an occupied dwelling.

Serving of a 90-day jail sentence, with credit given for one day served, was delayed until the end of probation, at which time it may be suspended. He was fined $50, assessed $200 court costs and ordered to pay minimum restitution of $157.

Franz pleaded guilty to the charge Jan. 21, in connection with his entering a house on Hanes Road last September.

Bluegrass benefit Saturday

Four bluegrass groups will be donating their musical talents Saturday, with proceeds from their concert going to Thumb Area Easter Seals.

The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Kingston High School cafeteria.

Groups or individuals performing will be Al and the Country Fiddlers, Bill Montague, Springtime and the Hula Rangers.

Karen Koester is the concert organizer.

Easter Seals provides therapy, equipment and research to aid handicapped children.

Youth work funds received

There will be a youth employment program in the upper Thumb this summer.

The Thumb Area Consortium has received $62,704 in federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) funds to begin planning for the program.

It won't be known for a while yet how much money it will receive to conduct the program, but Executive Director Frank Lenard is anticipating the amount will be about $500,000. That will be enough to provide jobs for about 400-425 youngsters.

If the program is the same as last year, the jobs will be for youth ages 14-21, from low-income families.

The consortium administrative board last Thursday approved a contract with the Human Development Commission in Caro to run what is called the Summer Youth Employment Program this summer. The HDC ran it last year.

It was given $40,000 of the $62,704 for purposes of hiring staff, lining up jobs for the youth, setting up hiring procedures, etc.

The jobs are with schools and government and non-profit agencies. Lenard expressed concern that there might be a shortage of jobs in Tuscola county this summer because of problems with another federal youth job program, the Youth Employment and Training Program, which is coordinated in the three upper Thumb counties by the Huron Intermediate School District.

The program is basically aimed at providing jobs and career training for low-income youth during the school year. Due to staffing problems in Tuscola, Lenard told the consortium board, the program was slow to get underway this school year.

The result may be youth still employed under YETP this summer because funds for it will still be unspent, which would make fewer jobs available under the summer youth program.

Two participants in the 1979 summer youth program in the upper Thumb won state awards. Louis A. King, supervisor at Vanderbilt County Park at Quincasssee received a plaque for being judged the best supervisor.

Susan Stoldorf of Palms, who worked at the Sanilac County Sheriff's Department, received a plaque and $500 savings bond as the best employee.

In other action, the board authorized pursuit of prime sponsorship status for the consortium, despite being told it probably won't result in receipt of any more funds.

Such a designation will allow the agency to deal directly with the federal CETA agency, instead of through the state Bureau of Employment and Training (BET), which it must do now.

Lansing presently takes a minimum 5 percent cut out of CETA money headed for the upper Thumb to pay the state's administrative costs.

Prime sponsorship status will eliminate loss of CETA funds to the state. However, Lenard was told at a recent meeting with BET officials that as a prime sponsor, the consortium will no longer be able to get money that other consortiums in the state are not able to spend.

In the past, that has amounted to $750,000-$1 million additional.

There are, however, advantages to the prime sponsor status, according to the state officials.

The loss of money from being under state control, Lenard indicated after last Thursday's meeting, will be offset by the not losing a percentage of funds to Lansing for administration and more flexibility in planning programs to meet local needs and more time to plan.

SMILEY'S PEOPLE, by John LeCarre (fiction), Paris, London, Germany, and Switzerland are the settings for a tale of espionage in which a final, conclusive confrontation takes place between George Smiley and his Russian adversary, Karla.

THE FEAST OF ALL SAINTS, by Anne Rice (fiction). A novel about New Orleans in the 1840s, a teeming city still French in its language and customs and with three castes: Free whites, black slaves and "people of color." The protagonist is Marcel Ste. Marie, an artistic young man who lives in the hope that his father, a white plantation owner, will keep a long-standing promise and send him to Paris, where he can live and study as a gentleman.

MEMORIES OF ANOTHER DAY, by Harold Robbins (fiction). Daniel Boone Huggins - "Big Dan" - rises, through violence, ambition, lust, and a drive for justice, from the poverty of West Virginia's hills to the leadership of America's largest union.

The Monday night film: "Flash, the Teenage Otter," a Disney animal adventure.

Althaver reports Walbro sales, earnings up in 1979

Lambert E. Althaver, president and chief operating officer of Walbro Corp., reported a 23 percent increase in consolidated net sales for the year ended Dec. 31.

Community booster

Khoury operates Quaker Maid

Editor's note: this is one of a series sponsored by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce about community boosters who are members of the organization.

Most area residents know only what they see and read about the problems of Palestine and the middle east.

Two Cass City residents know about them first hand. They are Kareem Khoury and his wife, Tahani.

Both were born there. Khoury was raised just outside of Bethlehem and his wife comes from the same area.

He moved to the United States in 1972. He graduated from Northwest High School in Flint and then joined the Army serving for two years, stationed in Germany.

He attended Macomb College before moving to Cass City in 1976 where he became owner of Quaker Maid Dairy Store.

In 1977 Khoury returned to Palestine to marry Tahani. The couple has two sons, Kareem II, 19 months, and Joseph, 6 months.

Khoury is a member of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce and attends the Presbyterian church in Cass City.

Tahani and Kareem Khoury crease in consolidated net sales for the year ended Dec. 31.

Sales in 1979 were $40,823,157, up from $33,096,210 in 1978. Earnings for the period were up to $1,436,394 from $1,302,446 in 1978.

On a per share basis, earnings for the period amounted to $1.84, compared to $1.68 for the previous 12 month period. The 1979 cash dividend payout was 40 cents, as in 1978.

In 1980, Althaver expects the company's operations in Singapore and Mexico to strengthen Walbro's position in the small engine fuel systems market. The Automotive Products Group is expanding its product line to serve the rapidly growing fuel systems aftermarket.

Additionally, the Die Casting Group has several productivity programs underway that are improving its profitability, and the Plastics Group has shown substantial increases in sales at a time when the industry generally is in a depressed state.

Freezing rain downs power line

Elkland township firemen were summoned shortly after noon Saturday to Jackson Road, east of Hadley Road in Sanilac county, where ice on a utility line had caused it to break and fall to the ground.

The line was arcing where it touched the ground. In turn, that had melted the ice, causing the grass underneath to burn.

Firemen stood by until a repair crew from Thumb Electric Cooperative arrived to repair the downed line.

NATURE'S DECORATION -- The freezing rain Friday added this interesting decoration to the outside stairway along the Leach Street side of the Kritzman's Clothing Store.

Building authority may clear way for extension building

A new and larger office for the Tuscola County Cooperative Extension Service may become reality.

The county Board of Commissioners Tuesday discussed the possibility of organizing a county building authority, which would have authority to issue bonds to finance construction.

Proposed is building of a three-story structure (one story being the basement) as an addition to the rear of the courthouse annex. Each floor would have 3,600 square feet.

Cost of the building has been estimated at $600,000, that being a very rough estimate from architects. The building has not yet been designed.

The board met with Detroit bonding attorney John

Axe, county Prosecutor Artis Noel and Building Codes Administrator Paul Lefler to discuss the building authority proposal.

Axe told commissioners the Headlee amendment would not apply to the building authority's power to issue bonds, that is, no public vote of approval would be required.

The authority would issue bonds to pay the construction cost, with the building, when completed, being leased to the county. The lease payments would be used to pay off the bonds.

If that approach is used, the county board will have to budget the annual payments in advance for the length of the bond issue, perhaps 10-15 years.

The interest rate, the board was told, will be higher than if county voters approved a millage to pay off the bonds.

At the end of the discussion, Axe was directed to prepare a payment schedule for issuance of $700,000 in bonds. Of that, $600,000 would be for the extension office and $100,000 for materials, etc. for construction of the proposed PATCH House, run by the county mental health department for youngsters with emotional problems.

That proposal calls for the county to buy the materials, with the home to be constructed by building trades students.

In other action, the board approved entering into an agreement with Manatron

Corp. of Kalamazoo for providing property tax computer services for spreading of taxes and preparing tax bills.

The county will pay half the basic cost, with the townships having already agreed through the county Townships Association to pay the other 50 percent.

Any special services desired by participating units will have to be paid entirely by the unit.

After the first year start-up cost, the annual cost should be about $7-8,000 a year, according to Commissioner Royce Russell, chairman of the board's equalization committee.

The move to the computer service was necessary, he explained, because changes in the state law for 1981 will make the taxing procedure too complicated to handle with the county's present equipment.

The computer service will save time for township supervisors and treasurers and might reduce the need for extra help in the county treasurer's office in the fall.

Circuit Judge Norman A. Baguley told commissioners he didn't feel the supplement paid by the county to court reporters was adequate. It presently is $1,000 each, in addition to their state-mandated salaries of $12,000 annually.

Iris Tuckey of Cass City was appointed to the county Community Mental Health Services Board, replacing the late Treva Kirk.

Maharg: winter olympics spectacular sports event

The opening ceremonies of the Winter Olympics were "probably the most spectacular sporting event I've ever seen," according to John Maharg.

The Cass Cityan has a different perspective of the Olympics than did most Americans. He was there.

He and brother Jeff, a senior at the University of Michigan, were at Lake Placid from Tuesday, Feb. 12, the day before the official start, through Friday of that week.

Maharg, owner of Rolling Hills Golf Course, decided after watching the 1976 Summer Olympics in Montreal that he wanted to go to the Lake Placid Winter Games. He ordered his tickets in April of last year.

Jeff, however, went along at the last minute and didn't have any tickets. At first they weren't worried. "I've been to a lot of sporting events that were supposedly sold out, but you could get tickets," John explained.

But as the event got closer, they started to get worried. It wasn't necessary.

They arrived in Saranac Lake, the closest they could get to Lake Placid, about 4 p.m. Tuesday and soon discovered the Saranac Lake Chamber of Commerce had lots of tickets to sell -- at $10 more than the printed price, despite it being printed on the ticket they were not to be sold for more than the face value.

Jeff bought a ticket for only one event Wednesday, because he and his brother had heard lots of tickets were available in Lake Placid. They were.

It was necessary to have a ticket to an event to get on the bus to Lake Placid, hence Jeff's purchase. Driving of private vehicles into the community was prohibited.

Saranac Lake was about 10-11 miles from Lake Placid, a half-hour trip because of the hills and winding roads.

THE FIRST EVENT THE Mahargs saw was the opening ceremonies.

The colorful outfits worn by the participating athletes, the skaters and sky divers that were part of the program, something going every minute -- it all added up to, as mentioned, probably the "most spectacular" sporting event Maharg has ever seen. "It was really beautiful."

Despite the preponderance of American spectators, the biggest ovation for any group of entering athletes was for the Canadians, Maharg said, because of that nation's help in getting six American diplomats out of Iran. "Thank you, Canada," signs were numerous.

There was no booing for the Russians. "I think most people were there for the competition. They didn't care about the politics," he explained.

Tickets for the Olympic events were expensive, for instance, $28 for speed-skating and $56 for figure skating.

THE OPENING CEREMONIES were the most spectacular, but the "best event we saw" was the 7-3 victory Thursday night by the U.S. hockey team over Czechoslovakia, the team's first big win in the path to the gold medal.

"The whole crowd was going 'USA, USA' the whole night," Maharg said.

Neither he nor his brother had tickets in advance for the game, which officially sold for $28. They found scalpers trying to unload them for $35 each and $75, but they got theirs for $20. They came across eight fraternity brothers who had two extra tickets, purchased by two frat members unable to attend.

IN ADDITION TO THE hockey game, they also saw the men's downhill skiing event, bobsled and luge and speedskating, the latter when Eric Heiden won his first gold medal.

In the downhill, bobsled and luge, they couldn't see much because the participants went by so fast -- a "woosh" and they were past. The curves and banks along the bobsled and luge courses also made viewing difficult.

The downhill required a half-hour bus ride from Lake Placid (after the bus ride from Saranac Lake), and then a trek of at least a mile through five inches of snow up the steep slope to a good viewing point.

White Face Mountain, where the event was held, was "one of the prettiest sites you've ever seen."

AS FOR THE CONTRO-versial bus system, the Mahargs had no complaints. John thinks the troubles may have been with the buses to other communities where spectators were staying, not to Saranac Lake.

He also speculates that those who had trouble getting to the events didn't leave early enough and that there may have been more trouble during the first week end, when there were more spectators there and after he and his brother had left.

"When you think of 40,000 people and 250 buses in a town about the size of Cass City, I think they did a pretty good job," he commented.

Although he had tickets for events on Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 16 and 17, by the end of the day Friday, they were pretty tired, plus Jeff needed to get back to classes, so they departed.

They spent that night with the sister of John's wife, Kalli, who lives in Rochester, N.Y. (with whom they also stayed going to Lake Placid) and returned to Cass City Saturday.

JOHN FIGURES THE trip cost him about $400, including $100 for gas, and $200 for Jeff.

Compared to what some spectators paid, they got by cheap. Their big saving came in lodging, as they slept in John's van, the only charge being a $5 per day parking permit.

They also tried to save by not eating in Lake Placid, where prices were exorbitant. They were much less in Saranac Lake. Coffee, for instance, was 40 cents a cup there, versus $1 in Lake Placid.

Once home, John was able to see the rest of the Olympics on television. Although he feels ABC did a good job, he said it was impossible to broadcast the beauty and the excitement, that wasn't as good as being there.

Winners of $400 in prizes told

Prize winners in the Wasington's Birthday sale sponsored by the Cass City Recreation committee were announced this week.

Top prize of $100 in travel went to Helen Root of Cass City. Two $50 trade awards were won by Lorraine W. Nowinski of Uby and Maril Hobart of Cass City.

$25 awards went to Fern Dubs, Bay Port; Betty Ellington, Bay Port; Vicky Meininger, Owendale, and Ellen Lounsbury, Cass City.

$10 awards were won by Phil Copeland, Cass City; Mary Lou Thack, Gaytown; Terri Hulbert, Davison; Linda Reed, Cass City; Theresa Micklash, Cass City; Sally Morrish, Cass City; Mrs. Lawrence Buehly, Cass City; Martha D. Blois, Kingston; Norma Navarro, Snover, and Dorothy Taylor, Cass City.

Governor's budget criticized

Governor William G. Milliken's proposed executive budget for fiscal year 1980-81 has been the subject of much legislative criticism with House Speaker Bobby Crim (D-Davison) going as far as calling it unrealistic and unbalanced.

Crim charged the budget, totaling $4.9 billion in state general fund money and $10.8 billion overall, short changes needed state programs by nearly $159 million.

Much of Crim's criticism paralleled earlier charges leveled by the Senate Fiscal Agency, the financial research arm of the Democratically-controlled Senate.

Crim further said the proposed budget does not include potential costs for state programs and activities such as toxic waste cleanup, which will require between $110-192 million.

MEANWHILE, SENATOR Jerome Hart (D-Saginaw), chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said legislative fiscal agencies will be meeting with officials of the Department of Management and Budget and several departments on the funding gap identified by the agencies.

Such a review has never been done before, Hart said, and should help officials get a better idea of exactly what figures can be used for the different departments.

Hart added he hoped the departments and legislators can reach agreement on the budget.

Crim listed 16 areas where the proposed budget was underfunded.
