

'Legislature oks county prison camp funding

Funding for a state Department of Corrections work camp near Caro has been approved by the legislature and now awaits Governor Milliken's signature.

According to Luella Burke of the corrections department, the legislature has authorized $2.1 million for the facility, of which it has appropriated $1.9 million for the current fiscal year.

The remaining $200,000 will have to be appropriated later, for the 1980-81 fiscal year, which starts Oct. 1.

The appropriation was contained in the capital outlay bill, which includes funding for various state projects. It was passed earlier this year, and the governor reportedly only has about a week left to decide whether to sign or veto it.

On the assumption he will approve it, Ms. Burke said, the facilities bureau of the Department of Management and Budget has begun advertising for bids from architects.

The building to be used for the work camp is on the Caro Regional Center grounds. A former residential facility, it hasn't been used in more than 10 years. An architect is needed to plan needed repair and remodeling of the building to serve its new purpose.

The timetable, according to Ms. Burke -- provided the governor approves the funding -- calls for architect's bids to be in by the end of March and naming of the successful bidder in May.

The architect's work should be done in time to allow work at the site to begin in late summer or early fall.

The camp should be ready for occupancy by the 80-100 inmates by fall, 1981.

Those assigned there will be within four years of their parole dates and be classified as "low risk" or "next to low risk."

About half of them will be working at Department of Natural Resources facilities, mainly state parks, within a 45 mile radius.

Of the remainder, some will work at the camp, some might attend classes full-time (the staff will include teachers) and some might have civilian jobs, depending on the state of the economy in the area.

The camp will be unfenced.

Police seeking obscene caller

"Hang up" is the advice being offered by Cass City Police Chief Gene Wilson to women who have received telephone calls from a sophisticated obscene caller.

He is requesting that all women who have received a call from the man or receive one in the future notify him.

Wilson was first told of such a call early last week and since then has learned of four more women who received the calls. One was called six months ago.

All have received only one call.

The caller has used the same method of operation in each. The calls have all been in the morning and the man says he is a student at Delta College, who is taking a survey for its psychology department. No such survey is being made.

The man starts questioning the women about their sex lives. Answering all of his questions takes about 15 minutes.

According to the chief, the women who received the calls said the man sounds like he is in his mid-20s, has a nice sounding voice, and by the way he talks, is educated. He uses the proper clinical terms, as opposed to obscene ones.

The chief is working with General Telephone in an attempt to track down the caller. They are sure the calls are being made locally.

Women who have had contact with the obscene caller can contact Wilson at the village hall, 872-2911.

Road worker negotiations proceed slowly

Negotiations between the Tuscola County Road Commission and its hourly employees are proceeding at a snail's pace, at best.

The 44 laborers, equipment operators and mechanics, represented by Local 21-M of the Service Employees International Union, requested the presence of a state mediator in late January to help resolve what it called an "impasse."

Since then, according to Arthur (Jim) Saeger, president of the local unit, there has been only one negotiating session. The next one is scheduled March 10 at the Road Commission office, south of Caro.

The reason for only one session so far, he explained, is the difficulty in getting schedules to coincide, particularly those of the state mediator and the attorney doing the negotiating for the Road Commission.

He indicated the two sides are "inching" toward a settlement but still haven't gotten very far.

Saeger declined to go into detail as to what issues are unresolved. At the time of the union's request for a mediator, it stated the outstanding issues included a comparable wage to surrounding counties, overtime compensation, retirement, cost of living, life and sickness-accident insurance policies and binding arbitration.

The contract under which the employees were working expired Dec. 31. They have continued working since then and Saeger indicated they will continue to do so.

Gagetown orders new signs for streets

The Gagetown Village Council Monday evening voted to purchase new street name signs, to replace present signs and ones that should be there but were "torn."

It will cost about $2,700. The signs will be made by a Minden City firm.

The council also worked on the 1980-81 budget, in preparation for the public hearing on it Monday, March 31, at 7:30 p.m.

The budget will go into effect the following day.

Some additional work has to be done on it prior to the hearing, Clerk Elery Sontag indicated.

Microfilm marvel means 200,000 books for Cass City library users

The Rawson Memorial Library has expanded its offerings from 13,779 books to 200,000, without adding an inch of shelf space.

It's all because of something called Com Cat, which arrived at the library last week.

Com Cat stands for Computer-Output-Microfilm Catalog. In simple terms, what it is is a microfilm reader. On the microfilm contained inside the machine will eventually be listed every book belonging to all 49 libraries and branches in the nine counties that belong to the White Pine Library Cooperative.

That includes the Rawson library, as well as the one in Kingston and others in Tuscola and western Huron county.

As of last week, all libraries in the system now have the Com Cat microfilm readers.

Once the project is complete, there will be more than 300,000 book titles listed, according to White Pine Director Sue Hill. The project is about two-thirds complete, which means at least 200,000 titles listed.

HOW DOES THE SYSTEM work?

If a library patron wants to borrow a book that his local library doesn't have, he goes to the Com Cat. If he finds the book listed there, he writes the basic information on a form and gives it to his librarian.

White Pine contacts each of its member libraries each day via its toll-free telephone line to find out which books have been requested.

If a Cass City patron wants a copy of Book X, which only the library in Oscoda has, that library is notified. The Oscoda library then sends the book via United Parcel Service to Rawson library.

How long will it take to get a book?

If a book is ordered early enough in the day, according to Rawson head librarian Barb Hutchinson, it possibly might be delivered the next, though most times that won't happen.

Depending on whether the book desired is on the shelf or on loan at the library which owns it, more likely delivery time will be 3-7 days.

THE COM CAT SYSTEM is also an aid to persons who aren't sure what book they want.

A student writing a term paper on, for instance, Bolivia, can look at the microfilm and easily ascertain which books are available that tell about the South

No contest Cass City; village elections Monday

With the exception of Uby, village elections Monday are lacking in excitement.

None of the candidates in Cass City and Gagetown face opposition and in Kingston and Owendale, the only question to be decided is one seat on the village council.

Polls are open from 7 a.m.-8 p.m. The voting place in all communities is the village hall, except in Cass City, where it is the Elkland township fire hall.

CASS CITY -- Everyone running is a Republican.

Lambert Althaver, village president since 1965, is seeking re-election.

Joyce LaRoche is running for clerk and treasurer. She has been treasurer two years and was appointed acting clerk by the council when Lynda McIntosh resigned as clerk in December.

Mrs. McIntosh, now operating a health salon, is running for the seat on the village council vacated by Nat Tuttle, who decided not to seek re-election.

Seeking re-election to the Village council are Richard Hampshire and James Ware.

Seeking a new term as assessor is Dan Erla.

Trustee positions are for four years. The other terms are for two years.

UBLY -- Two party government is alive and well in Uby, where incumbent village President Earl Longuski, a Republican, is being challenged by Democrat Jerry Holmes.

The three incumbents on the village council are all seeking re-election. They are Lana Gordon, a Democrat, and William Roberts and William Murdock, both Republicans. Also running for the three spots open are Democrats P. Les Teel and Kenneth Sweeney and Republican Donald A. Schneider.

Running unopposed are incumbents Christopher Tyll (D) for clerk, Florence Schrader (R) for treasurer and Henry S. Krueger (R) for assessor.

Trustee terms are for four years; the others for two years.

Running for the two six-year terms on the library board, non-partisan positions, are Lila Misco and Madeline Zulauf.

GAGETOWN -- The only positions on the ballot are for three four-year terms on the village council. The three incumbents, Leroy Stapleton, David Abbe and Richard Carroll all are seeking re-election. All are Republicans.

OWENDALE -- The only contest is for village trustee, where Carol Howard, running as an independent, is challenging the three incumbents, Robert Ricker, Martin Blondell and Walt Howard.

Except for Ms. Howard, everyone running is a Republican.

Seeking re-election as village president is Donald Dorsch, and treasurer, Lois Blondell. Running for clerk is Marie Susalla, winner in the Republican primary over incumbent Bill Putnam, and for assessor, Forrest Agar, also new.

All terms are for two years.

KINGSTON -- The only thing to be decided is the write-in candidate who will be elected to the village council.

Only two persons are listed on the ballot for the three seats open, Patricia Soper (Democrat) and Don Barden (Republican). Both are incumbents.

The others running, all Republican incumbents, are: President, Arlo Ragles; treasurer and assessor, Mildred Parrott, and clerk, Rev. Kenneth Boileau.

All terms are for two years.

American country.

It was possible before the new system to order books from other libraries, but there weren't as many titles available and the system was more complex.

Provided the patron knew what book he wanted or it was listed in the standard reference used by all libraries of books in print, it could be ordered from White Pine's own library or through it, from the Saginaw or Bay City libraries, both members of the cooperative.

The last resort was the state library in Lansing.

ACCORDING TO WHITE Pine Director Hill, planning for the project began in 1976 with actual work beginning the following year.

About $100,000 has been spent directly so far, with $24,000 of that coming from the Kellogg Foundation, the rest from the federal government.

The biggest single expenditure out of those funds was $45,300 for purchase of 60 microfilm readers at $755 each.

In addition to the $100,000 mentioned, about another $100,000 was spent in labor costs, either in pay to regular White Pine staff who devoted time to the project or in federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act funds for added personnel.

The CETA help had the laborious task of recording information from the library cards for all of the books in all 49 libraries so that it could ultimately be entered into a computer and onto the microfilm tapes.

That part of the project is complete. It won't all be done until 1983, however, with Ms. Hill estimating it will cost about $20,000 a year in computer time and $15,000 per year in staff time.

When done, more than 300,000 books will be listed. The listing is being updated every six months.

Local libraries pay the postage whenever they send out books in the Com Cat program. They also contribute towards the operation of the White Pine Cooperative. Rawson Memorial will pay $1,800 this year.

Individual libraries will continue to do their own book purchasing. Ms. Hill has hopes they will be able to someday coordinate their purchases of books of limited interest, so as to be able to expand offerings to all 49 libraries, yet avoid duplication.

The idea is that each library would specialize in certain subjects, for instance, railroads, and then do most of the purchasing of books concerning that topic.

BOOK LOOK -- Searching for a book on the Com Cat microfilm reader is Dawn Mulrath, 9. Listings projected onto the screen do not show up in the photograph. There are separate listings for adult and children's topics, by author and title and by subject.

New books at the library

THE BRETHREN: INSIDE THE SUPREME COURT, by Bob Woodward and Scott Armstrong (non-fiction). Taking a look at what is often termed the least public and most secretive element of the federal government, Woodward and Armstrong investigate the internal workings of the U.S. Supreme Court from 1969 to 1975. The personalities of the justices and the manner of their decision-making come in for some penetrating analysis and critical comments from court insiders—the justices themselves, their law clerks, and other court employees—as well as from outside observers.

JAMES HERRIOT'S YORKSHIRE, by James Herriot (non-fiction). A popular British veterinarian shares some favorite scenic spots in northern England, using lavish color photographs by Derry Brabbs to illuminate his moving reminiscences and descriptions. Photos of places that stimulated Herriot's creation of sites for his books are designated, as are locations where the televised version of "All Creatures Great and Small" was filmed.

THE RIGHT STUFF, by Tom Wolfe (non-fiction). The story of the first American astronauts has been told before, but never quite as Tom Wolfe tells it. For him, the original Mercury astronauts possessed the right stuff—the perfect combination of talent, ambition, guts, and daring—to make them instant heroes. But their celebrity status may just have turned into an Achilles' heel, as shown in this dissection of their public and private lives describing how they were selected, trained, and shot into space.

Hospital honors auxiliary

Hills and Dales General Hospital paid tribute to members of the Hospital Auxiliary last Thursday at a first ever luncheon, intended to become an annual event.

The luncheon, held in the hospital meeting room, was attended by 44 auxiliary members.

Following the meal, hospital Administrator Ken Jensen and Jane Mitchell, RN, director of in-service education, expressed their appreciation for the volunteer work done by the auxiliary members.

That includes, according to Mrs. Mitchell, manning the gift shop and messenger service, sponsorship of the Vial of Life program, and assisting at the diabetic screening. Hospital Week and health fair programs.

Next year, an award will probably be presented to the volunteer who has worked the most hours during the preceding year.

Auxiliary members conducted a business meeting after the luncheon program.

Letter to the Editor

Mrs. Holmberg remembered

A tribute to Mrs. Holmberg:

Her soft voice that never discouraged, only encouraged us to be achievers. She encouraged us to learn to enjoy the finer arts. We may not have seemed enthusiastic at that time, but it carried into our adulthood. When we see certain paintings today, we remember her.

We as fourth graders didn't realize how important this sort of special person can be. But as we grew older and shed our fourth grade clothing, we learned to appreciate and understand how fundamental and important this woman was in our everyday functioning.

We didn't merely move on and relinquish all that we absorbed as fourth graders. We are still carrying with us many of the finer qualities she naturally embodied us with.

We're still those fourth graders she took aside and gave encouragement and helped to instill confidence in. We didn't forget her.

Most of us would have loved to have told her what she has meant to us but living in this fast and crazy world today we all somehow never got to it.

It is now when we most remember her. She didn't have to be that kind, that patient, that special person she was. Mrs. Holmberg may be gone from us now, but her spirit will always run deep in our hearts.

"All her 4th graders everywhere"
Name of author with held upon request.

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

The annual election of members to the Cass City School Board is not until June 9 but the time to think about seeking one of the two vacancies on the board is now.

The deadline for filing petitions is April 7 at 4 p.m. Petitions are available at the superintendent's office.

Twenty valid signatures are needed before a name can be placed on the ballot. This year the terms of Dr. E. Paul Lockwood and Art Severance are expiring.

Frank Butler called to report seeing a Redwing Blackbird Tuesday. Since it wasn't a robin, the traditional harbinger of spring, the staff wondered just what was especially significant about seeing it.

Just wanted to call, Frank said, to cheer you up in case the big snowstorm predicted for tonight (Tuesday) hits. (It would take more than a blackbird.)

If we had to goof up an ad it was better us than them. The Chronicle ran an ad two weeks ago saying that subscription prices would rise March 1.

Last week we corrected that and said April 1, the date we wanted to advertise in the first place.

How many of you noticed, there is no way of knowing. That one of you did is unquestioned. That one is Leveret Barnes who, with his wife, came in and called us to account about it.

But all's well that ends well. After we explained, Leveret renewed for two more years. (My kind of people.)

Tom Herron can usually be found hustling away promoting this or that, sometimes for himself, sometimes for the community.

Monday he was out digging away for the community. His concern this week is the upcoming Chamber of Commerce banquet, March 22.

Tell the people that the proceeds for the event will be used to help defray expenses for the 4th of July celebration and that anybody can go.

Tickets are $10 for the dinner and everybody is welcome. Tickets are at Krizmans, Konrads, both Cass City drug stores and Albee's.

The odds are great, very great against it, but it's conceivable that Cass City could be playing in the state finals of the basketball tournament that same night.

If that should happen I'd bet a cookie that the dinner would be postponed. I'd bet another cookie that Marv Winter, who owns the Colony House where the event is scheduled, would be one of the first in line to get a ticket to the game.

SPINAL CHECK -- School nurse Lynn Babich checks a Cass City Intermediate student for possible scoliosis, lateral curvature of the spine. She and the other school nurse, Janet Bixler, will complete screening of more than 800 4th-8th graders by the end of next week. At about the two-thirds mark, fewer than 20 had been referred to doctors for further examination. Scoliosis can be treated without surgery if detected at an early age.

Rita Tyrrell now a volunteer in Kenya

Rita Tyrrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tyrrell of Huron Line Road, Uby, returned home from Belize, Central America, Feb. 17, to spend a week with her parents.

Rita worked in Belmopan, Belize for two years as a Peace Corps volunteer with the 4-H programs. She acted as assistant national 4-H supervisor working with the Ministry of Social Service under Elaine Middleton, social development officer.

Rita helped to supervise seven staff members and worked closely with Belizean staff at the National 4-H Training Center helping Belizean youth to gain more knowledge in agriculture and leadership skills.

Her experience proved to be exceptionally worthwhile, both professionally and personally.

Rita left Tri-City Airport Feb. 25 for Philadelphia and went by bus from Philadelphia to New York. She left New York Feb. 28 and arrived in London, England, on the 29th. She departed March 1 for Nairobi, Kenya, Africa.

Rita will be attending a 3½ month intensive training program in cross cultural, language and technical skills, after which she will begin working with the rural women's extension program in Kenya. She will be in that country as a Peace Corps volunteer for two years.

Rita will be teaching gardening, nutrition and other general home economic skills.

Rita is a 1971 graduate of Uby High School. She attended Central Michigan University, Mount Pleasant, graduating in December, 1976 with a degree in home economics and sociology.

"If It Fitz. . ." Ralph would understand

By Jim Fitzgerald

I should take my friend Ralph to lunch. He would understand that I am a patriotic American even though I didn't see one minute of the Winter Olympics on TV and didn't know the United States beat the Russians at hockey until almost two days after the game. (Is it true that, as a result of the defeat, Russia has recalled all of its hockey players from Afghanistan?)

It is time for a confession. Often I have written about my friend Ralph as though he were one person. Actually, since 1977 there have been two Ralphs. One of them was really a man I'd never met, Franklin Donegan of Bloomfield Hills.

Donegan had some thoughts he wanted to see in print, but he didn't want any personal publicity. So he mailed the thoughts to me and suggested that, if I used them in a column, I could pin them on my old friend Ralph. Why not? The original Ralph would never know the difference because he never reads newspapers. He just sits in saloons and tells everyone what is wrong with the world. I often sit next to him, which is how we became friends. He knows I work for a newspaper, but he thinks I deliver it.

So, the Ralph who would understand about my not watching the Olympics on TV is Franklin Donegan. During the past three years he sent me dozens of letters from which I quoted many erudite thoughts. His last letter complained about the changes in our life-style caused by television. He was also upset by typewriters and electronic calculators.

"I admit it's a lot easier for a kid to sink into his coccyx, flip to a channel by remote control and drowse through a sitcom than it is to hike to the library or bookstore, make a literary decision and turn the pages of a heavy book," Donegan wrote.

"I'll also concede that the use of a typewriting machine (electric, of course) makes communications more legible if less personal. The only need for penmanship today is to endorse checks and sign your Visa receipt. Never mind if Messrs. Spencer and Palmer are rotating in their crypts.

"And electronic calculators make the multiplication tables and long division unnecessary, let alone algebra, fractions and calculus. They also come in pocket size, so you can take them to restaurants to check checks or to racetracks to total totes.

"Far be it for me to stand in the way of progress, but I can't help feeling something valuable is being lost in the enjoyment of fine prose and poetry, the beauty of fine handwriting and the satisfaction of balancing your checkbook manually."

Obviously, Franklyn Donegan wouldn't think I'm a communist for not watching the United States hockey team win the gold medal. He would understand how a person might prefer something else to watching a game on TV. A person might prefer making a literary decision. A person might even prefer writing a poem explaining why it helps the cause of world peace to play games with Russia in the winter but not in the summer. Myself, I preferred going to a movie.

As I said, I should take Donegan to lunch, meet him face-to-face for the first time, and seek conversation from someone who won't accuse me of being disloyal to Kate Smith. In fact, I should have taken my friend Franklyn to lunch many months ago to thank him for sending me good ideas to pin on my friend Ralph. But I never did.

The other day, a phone caller told me several things I hadn't known about my friend Franklyn. He was retired, in his '70s, and very sick for the past few months. And on Feb. 6, he died.

The phone caller said Franklyn Donegan had enjoyed it when I quoted him and called him my friend Ralph. It made me feel good to hear that. But I'd feel a lot better if I had invited him to lunch at least once. I know I should have. I'll always know that.

The next time I sit next to the original Ralph in a saloon, I'll tell him what's wrong with the world is there's no Olympic event that awards a gold medal for being kind to someone before it's too late. Ralph will tell me to go peddle my papers.

Did you read the story that broke Monday about the lawyer that was paid $100 for each of three trips he took to Southeastern Michigan Prison in Jackson to visit clients who were never jailed there? He was assigned to the case as a public defender, paid for by tax dollars.

That was a front page story of great interest to any reader.

It compares to stories coming out during war years. Stories that detailed the heroic efforts of one or a small group of soldiers.

You can relate to that. But what any small group does has no practical effect on what happens in the war. But big battles are too remote, too impersonal to make really good stories.

It's the same way with the story about the public defender. What he did was small potatoes in the larger picture.

In our system anyone can sue. Lawyers take cases on a contingency basis. If the client collects, they collect. If they don't, the lawyer works for nothing.

On the surface that appears fair to all concerned. The lawyer gambles his time against a possible substantial reward.

What many never stop to think about is that while the lawyer with the plaintiff gets paid only if he wins, the lawyer with the defendant gets paid, period.

In practically all auto injury claims and many other types of civil actions that means that cost is paid by insurance companies. And guess who pays the insurance companies.

So even if you win, you lose. The court can assess costs on the plaintiff, providing the party has anything to assess.

There's no way that it won't take days and days of the time of all parties concerned, regardless of the merits of the case. No one pays for that.

Certainly everyone is entitled to a day in court. Few of us would change that.

What's needed is a way to eliminate "stab in the back" cases where a suit is filed in the hopes that a modest settlement would be cheaper for the defendant than going to court.

It goes without saying that this is easier to say than do.

There's one way that might be effective. That's to make the attorney share the expense of a civil damage suit if he loses the case and is directed to do so by the judge or the jury hearing it.

That would effectively deter nuisance cases that clog the courts and up the cost of insurance. It would do what "no-fault" insurance was designed to do and didn't.

It might just help hold the line a little in the hike of premium payments that are becoming more and more of a burden to the motoring public.

Family reunion to take place at Ice Capades show

Helen Avery of 4279 S. Seeger Street will be viewing the Ice Capades show at the Saginaw Civic Center Saturday with more than casual interest.

Her grand-niece, Leigh Ann Davis, is a featured performer in the show.

The show will be a family reunion of sorts. Mrs. Avery will be attending the show along with her sisters from Sebewaing and Mount Clemens and their husbands, her son Bruce and family from Pleasant Lake, and assorted cousins and second cousins, a total of 20 people.

After the show, they will be meeting with Leigh Ann and her parents, Don and Marilyn Davis, who will be flying in from California and staying with Mrs. Davis' aunt in Midland.

Leigh Ann is only 18, having graduated from Paramount High School in Paramount, Calif., last June. She was born in Yuma, Ariz., and her hometown is Huntington Beach, Calif.

Mrs. Avery's brother, Walter Wissner of Yuma, is her grandfather. He is originally from Michigan, as are Leigh Ann's parents.

Leigh Ann began skating at age 7 and competed in several southwest regional and Pacific coast competitions for junior novice and intermediate women. In the top meets, she placed as high as second behind Linda Fratianne, who won a silver medal in the Olympics Saturday.

According to Mrs. Avery, who last saw her grand-niece when she was 16, Leigh Ann decided after graduating from high school to turn pro, rather than continue with her amateur career. The Cass Cityan has never seen her skate.

According to her Ice Capades biography, the 5-foot, 5-inch blonde Californian was a little shocked when she found she had been chosen to be a featured skater in her first year with the show.

"I would have been very pleased if I had just gotten a job to skate in the line," she explained, "but then they said they wanted me to skate a solo number, and I just couldn't believe it."

Miss Davis portrays "Miss Galaxy" in the "Celestial Voyage" number, in which the skaters journey to the interplanetary Ice Station Zebra.

In addition, she also performs the show's featured solo when the Ice Capades star performer, Dorothy Hamill, does not perform. The 1976 Olympics gold medal winner does not travel with the show the entire season and won't be performing in Saginaw. The show will be there through Sunday.

Leigh Ann sees the show as an opportunity to see the country before she some day settles down, gets married and teaches skating.

"I've always enjoyed traveling, but except for a few vacations, never had the opportunity to do very much. I intend to do as much sight-seeing as possible."

LEIGH ANN DAVIS, performing in the Ice Capades show.

Tait announces for sheriff nomination

Bruce C. Tait of Caro has announced that he will be a Republican Party candidate for the office of Tuscola county sheriff.

Tait, 54, is presently undersheriff with the department, having served under Sheriff Hugh Marr since January, 1973. Marr recently announced that he will not seek re-election. He has been sheriff since 1963. A native of Caro, Tait graduated from Caro High School in 1943 and enlisted in the U.S. Army a month after his graduation. Twenty-two years of continuous military service followed with his Army retirement taking place in June, 1965.

Returning to his hometown, Tait was hired as a deputy sheriff in October, 1967. He worked as a correction officer for approximately nine months before assuming road patrol and dispatch duties. He was promoted to detective sergeant in January, 1972, and was named undersheriff the following year.

Bruce Tait

Since joining the Sheriff's Department, Tait has obtained an associate degree from Columbia College, Mo., through a program offered by the Veterans Administration, and attended conferences and seminars in jail administration, fingerprinting, first aid, civil disorders, traffic patrol, arson, bank robbery and hostage situations, bomb threats and police supervision.

As undersheriff, Tait has been involved directly in jail operations, personnel management, public relations and law enforcement education.

He is a member of Mt. Moriah Lodge, Royal Arch Masons, Order of Eastern Star, American Legion Post No. 7, Caro Lions Club, American Red Cross, Republican Party, and the National and Michigan Sheriffs' Associations.

Tait and his wife, Carrie, have two children and five grandchildren. They reside at 674 Burnside Street.

Two other candidates have announced so far for the Republican nomination for sheriff, both from Caro. They are Earl Scott, 31, and Bernard Lenda, 54. The latter is a former Hamtramck police officer and presently an investigator for the Tuscola County Prosecutor's office.

PEDALING AROUND

10 minus
10 = 0

By Mike Eliasohn

I was planning to write a column about Bo Derek, but now that I have finally seen "10," I don't think I'll bother.

The best part about the movie is Dudley Moore, who is, and makes the movie, hysterical.

As for Mrs. Derek, her part could have been played by any of the hundreds or thousands of pretty young women who, rumor has it, populate Hollywood. (If I weren't afraid of earthquakes, I would go there to check out the rumor.)

Bo Derek may be a 10 in some men's eyes, but not in mine. Maybe an 8 or 9, but not a 10.

It is all a matter of taste, of course. I once knew a man who liked the 1959-61 Chevrolet with the gullwing tailfins, which were, in my opinion, among the ugliest cars Detroit has ever produced.

For those who wonder, my definition of a 10 is model Cheryl Tiegs, whom I consider a 14. Even nicer is that he is almost as old as I am. Unfortunately, the last time I read about her in People magazine, she was going with a man in his 40s (in age, that is). Can I help it if she likes older men?

Among the more mundane 10s of the world, I can recall having met only one. If I had met more than one, I'm sure I would remember.

I don't wish to demean other women I have known, but for purposes of this exercise in verbiage, I am talking only about looks -- the kind that result in an increase in my heartbeat and shortness of breath.

In the history of the motor car, I'm sure many beautiful cars have been built which had trouble getting around a corner without turning over. (In other words, looks aren't everything.)

Back to the one 10 I met. It was when I was in college and we met while exiting a religious service. I forget, but I probably first noticed her during the service (there are limits to my devotion), and made a point of making sure our paths crossed afterwards.

I walked her back to her dorm. I remember she lit a cigarette, a necessity where she lived (New York City), she explained, to ward off attacks from muggers. She was studying to be a doctor.

For reasons of modesty, I won't repeat what she said she thought of me, but after that, I thought I had it made.

I left her at her dormitory door because in those days, women had to be left at their dormitory doors. (The ones to the outside, not the hallway doors.)

I did leave with her telephone number and about a week later, I called with bated breath. Her roommate answered. My 10 (I would use her name, only I don't remember it) wasn't there.

The roommate babbled on and I soon concluded she was drunk. (Drinking was the only way college students got high in those days.) I apparently made a remark about her lack of sobriety, asked her to tell her roommate I had called and hung up.

The next time I called, my beloved answered, and she was mad -- mad at me for having insulted her roommate. How was I to know she sounded drunk even when she was sober?

Somehow, that ended what could have been a beautiful relationship. I never saw my 10 again.

I wish it had worked out. That was 15 years ago and by now, I'm sure she is a successful surgeon somewhere, making $100,000 a year.

If I had married her, I could be driving around in a beautiful and expensive car -- one that CAN get around corners.

motor vehicle and unlawfully driving away an automobile.

A plea of innocent was entered with pretrial hearing scheduled March 17. Bond was continued.

The first charge involves entering of a bus Jan. 17 owned by the Juniata Baptist church; the second, driving away of a van belonging to the church.

Kenneth W. Reinke, 19, of 4890 E. Block Road, Reese, stood mute to a charge of breaking and entering, in connection with a Jan. 30 break-in at the Reese IGA.

A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing scheduled March 17. Bond of $4,000 was continued.

Larry G. Dill, 28, of 1060 Riley Road, Caro, was sentenced to 20 days in the county jail, with credit for one day served, for violation of probation, which was revoked.

He was found guilty Feb. 4 of violating probation for having consumed alcoholic beverages.

He was placed on 18 months' probation in August, 1978, for assaulting a police officer and resisting arrest.

Richard L. Moore, 39, formerly of Mayville, pleaded guilty to having violated probation by consuming alcoholic beverages and failing to make court ordered payments in November, 1978-March, 1979.

His plea was accepted and sentencing scheduled March 17.

He was placed on 24 months' probation in January, 1978, for malicious destruction of property over $100.

Vollmar injured as car hits trees

An accident at 12:20 a.m. Saturday in Cass City sent Randy Vollmar, 16, to Hills and Dales General Hospital.

He was discharged from there later in the day.

Police said Vollmar, of 4442 Cedar Run Road, was eastbound on Main Street, turned left onto Sherman Street and lost control. His car hit a tree on the east side of the street, continued on and struck a second tree.

Vollmar told police he had to turn wide because of a vehicle in the middle of Sherman Street.

He was given a ticket charging him with failure to stop in an assured clear distance ahead.

Joan I. McConnell, 47, of Bay City, was charged with driving under the influence of liquor after an accident at 4:40 p.m. Monday.

Deputies reported she was northbound on Garner Road, failed to stop at the M-138 intersection, and collided with the eastbound auto of Isla May Cook, 70, of 4645 Oak Street, Cass City.

A passenger in the Cook car, Thelma Pratt, 72, of 4123 S. Seeger Street, was reported to have suffered injuries but not having needed hospital treatment.

Lavonne E. Holcomb, 37, of 8730 Pine Street, Cass City, was arrested by village police on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor after an accident at 1:40 a.m. Sunday.

They reported she was eastbound on Main Street, veered into the westbound lane, then crossed into the parking lane by the south curb. Her car ran into the rear of a parked car, owned by Seeger Street, owned by Richard S. Jones Jr. of Shabbona Road, Deford, one of three occupants.

Both Ms. McConnell and Ms. Holcomb were taken to the county jail and have since been released after posting bond, pending appearance in district court.

At 11:55 a.m. Feb. 26, according to Cass City police, Kathleen Guilds, 17, of 6178 Shabbona Road, Deford, was backing up on Oak Street, near Houghton, and backed into a parked car. Owner of the car was Don Erla of 4705 Seeger Street. Officers reported that at 5:55 p.m. last Wednesday, Rita Gutierrez, 18, of 6669 Main Street, was backing into a parking place on the south side of Main, east of Leach, and backed into the car behind it, damaging its grill. Owner of the parked car was Calvin MacRae of Cass City.

At 8:55 a.m. Feb. 26, according to deputies, Ray D. Periso, 18, of 4617 State Street, Gagetown, southbound on Lincoln Street in that community, was attempting to turn into a parking place near Mr. Kelly's Foodland and slid on snow and ice into a parked car. Owner of the other vehicle was Lloyd Raatz of 4681 State Street.

At 6:50 p.m. Saturday, according to deputies, Dennis D. James, 34, of 3175 Cemetery Road, Kingston, was westbound on M-46, east of Hurds Corner Road, when his car struck a deer.

A witness told Caro state police that at 2:55 a.m. that day, a car southbound on Lincoln Street in Gagetown knocked down the stop sign before turning east onto State Street.

Deputies reported at 7:20 p.m. Sunday, Danny Mills, 25, of Lapeer, was westbound on Deckerville Road, east of Plain Road, when his vehicle collided with a deer.

Hire Manatron Corp. to spread and prepare taxes

The Novesta Township Board Monday evening approved an agreement with Manatron Corp. of Kalamazoo for spreading of the tax roll and preparation of tax bills.

Tuscola county will pay half the cost of the computer service, as it is doing for all of the county's townships. Cost to Novesta, Supervisor Bill O'Dell estimated, will be about $600 a year. Exact cost depends on the number of parcels in the township. The board worked on the 1980-81 budget, which will be about $65,000.

The meeting for settling of bills for the past year (settlement day) will be 7 p.m. March 18. The annual township meeting will be at 1 p.m. Saturday, March 29.

HEALTH TIPS

Warning signs of heart attacks

Frank Chappell
Science News Editor

It was near midnight when Kenneth W. walked into the hospital emergency room, obviously in excruciating pain and moving with great effort.

The emergency room physician on duty quickly got Ken into a bed and began running tests. His first suspicion was confirmed -- heart attack.

He conferred with Ken's wife and brother. "Ken has had a massive heart attack. I can't believe he actually walked in here under his own power."

"He's a pretty strong guy -- worked hard all his life," said his brother. "He hasn't been feeling good for a couple of days," his wife said. "He'd been laying in bed off and on and finally asked me to bring him here. We thought it was indigestion, or maybe pneumonia. Can I see him?"

Mrs. W. talked with her husband briefly at his bedside in the coronary care unit, then at his urging went home for the night, planning to return in the morning.

The call came at 5 a.m. It was the hospital. "Get over here as quick as you can." Velma was there in less than 20 minutes. But it was too late. At age 64, Kenneth W. had died of a heart attack, leaving a grief-stricken widow, four grown children and one teenage daughter still at home.

The doctor, in talking to the family, determined that Ken had probably been having warning signs -- actually "little heart attacks" -- for at least six weeks.

He later voiced his frustration to a fellow physician. "It happens all the time, especially to these strong, silent types. They think it's just indigestion or whatever, and they don't want to complain, so they end up not telling anyone -- and this is what happens. If I'd seen Ken six or eight weeks ago, he might well be alive today."

Dr. Daniel Anbe, M.D., Henry Ford Hospital cardiologist and president of the Michigan Heart Association, said, "Many, many thousands of lives could be saved if only people with heart attack warning signs would recognize their symptoms and act immediately."

The warning signs of heart attack are:

--An uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of the chest, lasting two minutes or more.

--Pain may spread to shoulders, neck or arms.

--Severe pain, dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea or shortness of breath may also occur.

"Anyone who experiences these or similar signs should get to a hospital emergency room immediately," Dr. Anbe said. "Too many people think they'll only feel foolish if they go to the hospital and it's not a heart attack."

If you're having these signs, don't stop to wonder -- just get help."

Meredith Auten remembers

While at Camp Meade, I had a company of my own in a development battalion, where all the men had trouble with their feet.

One had shot his toe off, either accidentally or intentionally. I never knew which.

An order came through that all men should be out on the drill field. I had left a few in the barracks when the colonel came through. He told me the orders were for all the men to be on the drill field.

The next hour called for a hike. I lined up my men as per orders. We started off. The last squad was a sorry looking group. A couple of men were on crutches. Some others were limping so badly they got strung out far behind.

I again met the colonel, who was on horseback. He asked if those were my men. "Yes, sir," I replied. He shyly smiled and said, "Send them back to the barracks."

It got to be very hot - 115 degrees on the drill field. I sent word to the orderly room that if we had to keep drilling, I would run out of men.

Some were overcome with the heat and others had heat prostration. On the one, you applied hot towels and on the other, cold. You were cautioned to make sure you knew what you were doing.

I had to send six to the hospital and then received word to talk about military courtesy. That went on for several days. I soon had told the men all I knew about military courtesy so I got a book telling of the 10 greatest battles and lectured on that. I became quite enamored of Joan of Arc and read all the books I could find on her.

She became fascinating and a great enigma to me. How a little girl who could neither read or write could answer all the questions put to her without fail and always be successful in battle was certainly a baffling phenomenon.

In the next few days, the whole cantonment was down with the flu. We were to sail Oct. 11, 1918, but instead they made all the barracks into a hospital and the few who were well were put into tents.

It was Sunday and I was officer of the day, so I took the temperatures of all the men who might have the flu. I found one man with a temperature of 104. He was a PhD from New York University. He didn't want to report on sick call, but I explained he couldn't stay with the other men since they would catch it. He died that night with 173 other men. They ran out of embalming fluid and caskets.

A few days before, I was driving past the Roosevelt Hotel when my attention was attracted to a marvelous looking officer. I looked twice and then called, "Hello, Ernest Perkins," and then drove a little way past him.

He came out to the edge of the sidewalk and looked up and down. I whirled around and sure enough, it was Ernie Perkins, who lived across the street from me and whom I hadn't seen in 11 years.

He was in a machine gun battalion at Quantico. Less than two weeks later, I read in a camp paper that he had been shipped overseas and died on board ship from the flu.

Your Neighbor says Prices are going out of sight

Presidential candidate Sen. Edward Kennedy, U.S. Rep. John Conyers of Detroit and Barry Bosworth, former director of President Carter's Council on Wage and Price Stability, are among those calling for imposition of mandatory wage and price controls to stem inflation.

Olive Nicholas feels something has to be done about inflation. "They (prices) are going out of sight. You won't be able to afford to drive a car pretty soon."

She feels wage and price controls may be a good idea, but, "It's hard telling."

When President Nixon imposed wage and price controls in 1971, she said, "It probably worked a little bit."

She feels the biggest inflation crunch is in the cost of food, gasoline and in the future for her and her husband, sending kids to college.

"Look at the farmers," she added. "They're not getting nothing for their crops and everything is going up."

She and her husband Gerald operate a farm on Maxwell Road, Owendale.

Their children are Jerry, a senior, and Renee, a sophomore, at Owen-Gage High School.

Inflation, Mrs. Nicholas said, is especially hard for young couples starting out when they want to borrow money to buy a car or house. "Look at the interest they pay."

Part of the solution to inflation, she feels, is to reduce government spending. Part of the reason for excessive government spending, she said, is because most government employees "make too much now."

Missionary group meets

Twenty-two ladies attended the Monday night meeting of the Baptist Missionary Society, held at the church. Project time was at 6:30 and the business meeting at 7:30, with Mrs. Pat Wells presiding.

A quilt made by the group is to be presented to Mrs. Arnold Olsen when the Olsens visit Cass City in April. A committee was chosen to formulate a point system which will enable visiting missionaries to select gifts from the "missionary cupboard" which the ladies' group maintains. Serving will be Mrs. Rosella Kretzschmer, Mrs. Carol LaPonsie and Mrs. Vivian Mosher.

Prayer time for missionaries was led by Mrs. Shirley Shaw. Mrs. Deb Parrott, in charge of Informations, told about the Baptist Children's Home at St. Louis, Mich. Devotions were given by Mrs. Lillian Hanby, and Mrs. Vera Bearss closed in prayer.

Refreshments were served by Miss Mary Hanby and Mrs. Kathleen Hartwick.

People who learn to do without things they can't afford are already on the road to success.

Meet Brown City Thursday

Champions ready for tourney trail

Hawks place 2 on all-loop team

Cass City dominated the annual Thumb B Association all-conference basketball team with two first team selections, a second team pick and an honorable mention selection.

The teams are selected by a vote of the coaches in the league. No coach can vote for a member of his own team.

The teams are chosen on the basis of the number of votes received. The top votes make the first team and then descend through honorable mention. To be named a player must receive at least one vote.

Cass City was represented on the first team by Ken Martin and Craig Tonti.

Coach Ron Nurnberger was voted coach of the year for guiding his team to its second straight Thumb B Association title.

Top vote getter in the league was Doug Block of Caro. He edged second place Ken Martin by two votes.

Others named to the first team were Todd Wisenbaugh, the Lakers' all-around star, and Charlie Woycik, who led a talent-rich Bad Axe squad.

Tim Fahrner was the choice from Cass City on the second team. Others were: Randy Richmond, North Branch; Pat Soffredine, Sandusky; Jim Evans, Vassar; and Todd Dubey, Lakers.

Steve Richards, Cass City, top rebounding forward was on the honorable mention list. Others included: Rick Fulton, Caro; Tim Harper, Vassar; Rob Lyman, North Branch; Todd Wallace, Vassar; Tony Brown, Marlette; Mark Bekemaier, Vassar, and Allan Spring, Bad Axe.

When the trophy symbolic of the Thumb B Conference championship was presented to the Cass City Red Hawks Friday night at Sandusky it was almost anticlimactic.

After the Hawks rolled past the Redskins, 81-45, the boys dutifully took the trophy and paraded around the floor for the benefit of their fans.

But the enthusiasm was restrained. Nothing compared to the previous year when many of the same players participated in the same type of parade after the Hawks topped the favored Lakers for the title.

The reason for that was the Hawks expected to win and clinch an undisputed conference title, and oh hum, that's what happened.

Except that it's possible that the victory was even easier than expected.

Craig Tonti whipped in 8 points in the early moments of the first quarter to get Cass City moving and after that it was simply no contest.

At the end of the first period the Hawks were in front, 23-7, and the margin grew steadily until all the regulars left the game.

In the third quarter the host team was able to score only two field goals. It was in the middle of that period that the reserves started to take over the floor.

Tonti was the first to take to the bench for the night. He scored 14 points in the first half on his way to a game high 18 points before retiring for the night.

Also in double figures were Ken Martin, 12, and Randy Ferris, 10. Eleven of the 12 players that saw action broke into the scoring column.

Martin, with 10, Rob Clarke and Tim Fahrner, with 9 each, paced the Hawk rebounds to a wide, 43-20, edge in rebounding.

Only in one area was the team suspect. That was in foul shooting where it has been super all year. Cass City converted just 42 percent of its tries. Usually reliable Tonti, was 0 for 3; Fahrner was 1-3, and Tim Johnson, 0-2.

That made no difference Friday but it could be crucial in tournament games ahead.

The Hawks face tough Brown City in their opening game in the district tourney at Mayville.

The game promises to be the stiffest facing Cass City in the tournament. The game starts at 7:30 p.m.

Coach Ron Nurnberger says that Brown City plays much of the same type game that Cass City does. You can expect to see them pressing all over the floor using a variety of defense if they follow the same pattern they established during the regular season.

Bulldogs bow to potent Fairview

The Bulldogs ended the regular season Friday night with a non-league loss at Fairview, 76-51.

It would have been a major upset had they won, as the Oscoda county school finished its regular season at 19-1 overall and in winning its league, went undefeated.

Owen-Gage, which took third place in the North Central D League with a 9-5 mark, finished at 11-9 overall.

The team had a hard time finding the basket Friday as it shot only 23 of 71 from the floor, 32 percent. It did much better at the charity line, five of nine for 55 percent.

The only Bulldog in double figures was Brad Erickson with 16.

Rob Shantz scored 20 points for the victors, followed by Brian Layman with 16. The team had a field goal mark of 51 percent, 35 of 68, and was 75 percent at the free throw line, six of eight.

The Bulldogs won the junior varsity contest, 53-49, to finish the season at 10-10. They were 8-6 in the league.

PLENTY OF ROOM

There's room for everybody in this big, wide world, but we all can't have front row seats.

CRAIG TONTI slips by Sandusky's Pat Soffredine on one of his patented drives to score Friday. The victory clinched the Thumb B Association championship for the Hawks.

Hawk spikers end season with win over Sandusky

The Cass City Red Hawks ended the regular season last Thursday with a sweep of the Sandusky Redskins and finished second in the Thumb B Association race.

The Hawk spikers took the first game, 15-12, and then won the second game, 15-6. In the second match the victory totals were 15-10 and 15-7.

Sandusky has one of the weaker teams in the league and Coach Michelle Ancomb was able to play all the girls suited for the game.

Cass City finished with a 10-4 record in the league.

The Junior Varsity also won. The first game was close as the young Hawks won 16-14. The second was no contest as Cass City won, 15-4.

DISTRICT CHAMPS -- Owen-Gage girls were the happy recipients of the trophy Saturday after winning the district volleyball title in their own gym by defeating Akron-Fairgrove in the final match.

With first quarter blitz

Ubly rolls to win over USA

Host Ubly Bearcats jumped off to an early 10-point lead in the first quarter and then withstood several challenges by USA Patriots to win its district cage game Tuesday night.

The Patriots couldn't find the hoop in the first quarter and trailed 12-2 with less than half the period gone. At the end of the first quarter the Bearcats were in front 22-11, and the Patriots never recovered.

USA righted itself in the second period and closed the gap to five points midway in the period as USA's superior height started to pay dividends... especially when Ubly's Terry Camp was on the bench with mild foul trouble.

But just when it looked as if the Patriots would get back in the game Ubly scored a key basket to set the losers back on their heels again.

A questionable basket at the buzzer by the Bearcats moved them back into an 11-point lead at the intermission, the same margin they enjoyed after the first 8 minutes.

In the opening minutes of the third quarter it looked as if Ubly were going to run USA right out of the gym.

The shorter, quicker Bearcats fast broke and used an aggressive pressing defense to score three unanswered baskets and then kept rolling to a 22-point margin with 4½ minutes gone in the third quarter.

But USA refused to buckle and made one final charge. Paced by Mark Zimmer, who hit 15-foot jump shots from the side, and aggressive rebounding, the Patriots came back to cut the margin nine points when the final period started.

Ubly was equal to the challenge. Switching to a control ball offense the Bearcats controlled the game and slowly added to the lead.

With three minutes left the issue was decided and Ubly fans were assured that their team had survived a tough test and would be back again tonight (Thursday) to play Kinde North Huron in the second round of competition.

Ken Pichla, a sweet pure shooter from outside, paced Ubly with 33 points on 12 baskets and 9 of 9 free throws. Camp scored 20 points and was a demon on the boards. USA was paced by Zimmer with 17 points and Terry Winter with 10.

Bulldogs bow to potent Tigers

The basketball season came to an end for Owen-Gage Monday night with a 72-59 loss to Carsonville-Port Sanilac in the opening round of the district tournament at Owendale.

Despite the seemingly lopsided score, it was a hard-fought game all the way and victory didn't seem out of reach for the Bulldogs until the final quarter.

The host team was ahead through most of the first half. The Tigers didn't go into the lead to stay, 30-29, until there were only 16 seconds left in the half.

Carsonville, which has lost only one game this season, pulled out to a nine point lead at the three-quarter mark, 52-43.

The Bulldogs managed to get a few points closer early in the final stanza. What put the game on ice for the Tigers was Bulldog fouls. The latter team made all of its miscues in the fourth quarter, only a couple of which were made deliberately in an effort to get the ball back, according to coach Phil Gray. The victors collected 12 points out of their 19 chances at the charity line, a 63 percent average.

From the floor, the two teams were almost evenly matched. The Tigers shot 30 of 64, 46 percent, while the Bulldogs connected on 28 of 65 shots, 43 percent. All of Owen-Gage's chances at the foul line came in the first half, when they collected three points in seven attempts (42 percent).

Carsonville's big gun, 6-4 senior Jim Olesnavage, collected 26 points and 12 of his team's 27 rebounds. Tim Travis and Dave Bannhard each scored 15 points.

In double figures for Owen-Gage were Alan Haag, 18, Pete Klemkowsky, 12, Brad Erickson, 11, and Kirk Carolan, 10. Klemkowsky collected 12 of his team's 34 rebounds.

The Bulldogs finish the season at 11-10 overall. The game was the final one for seniors Haag, Klemkowsky, Erickson, Carolan, Jeff Hallock, Tom Menzel, Miles Thorp and Rich Powell.

Carsonville, now 19-1, plays Akron-Fairgrove Wednesday in the district tournament. The winner then plays the Caseville-Port Hope game winner Friday night.

Score by quarters:

Vendors' bid for upset over loop leaders just misses

The leaders of the Cass City Recreational Basketball League remained tied for the top in games played this week but one of them narrowly averted an upset.

People's State Bank was forced to come from behind in the final seconds to wrestle a 68-67 win from Trend Vendors.

The league co-leaders were behind by five points with a minute left. They rallied with six points to go ahead and were the winners when a last second shot by Vendors rolled in and out.

For Peoples, Tim Bates and Dave Holder netted 18. Chuck Smith, 16, and Chuck Peterson, 10, helped the winners. Randy Rife burned the nets for 29 points for the losers. Roy Calahan scored 18 and Lou Calahan, 14.

In the other Wednesday game, Gus's Party Store topped Brown's Party Store, 103-79. The winners went ahead in the first period and kept adding to the victory margin until the game was safely in the win column.

Terry Diegel netted 27 for Gus's. Mike McKellar scored 20 and Paul Treiber, 22. For the losers Kevin Bitzer whipped in 24 and Gary Zeller netted 16.

Thursday night the Advertiser bested Charmont, 76-71, in overtime. Rick Tuckey scored 28 for Advertiser which came from behind to send the game into overtime and then won, as Charmont was in foul trouble.

Helping the winners were Dave Doerr, 18, and Tim Severance, 15.

Jeff McKenzie scored 22 and Craig Helwig, 21, for Charmont. Al Romig, 14, and Scott Hartel, 13, were also in double figures.

In the final game of the week Mutual of Omaha had little trouble with tail-end IGA. The insurance five rolled to a 92-51 decision.

Jim Krohn led five Mutual players in double figures with 14 points.

Record minor damage in 3 chimney fires

A chimney fire Saturday evening had burned itself out by the time Elkland township firemen arrived. It was reported about 6:30 p.m. at the Robert McGuire home at the corner of Kelly and Dodge Roads.

The chimney pipe led to a woodburning stove. No damage occurred, firemen reported.

Firemen stood by while it burned itself out, according to Fire Chief Chuck Wright. There was no damage.

Firemen were there about a half-hour.

At 4 p.m. Tuesday, they were called to a home on Ellington Road, east of Colwood Road, because of a smoking fuse box.

The smoke was because electrical circuits had overloaded, causing the fuses to blow and then smoke. There was no fire.

Damage was estimated at $1,000 because of a chimney fire at 10 p.m. Monday at the Lloyd Messing residence on Atwater Road, four miles west of Uby.

Bingham Township Fire Chief said it would cost that much to replace the chimney and repair minor smoke damage.

Creosote in the old chimney which ignited was the cause of the fire.

Firemen were there almost two hours.

Community booster

Dick Jones

Native Cass Cityan stays home to enter business

Editor's note: this is one of a series sponsored by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce about community boosters who are members of the organization.

When Dick Jones opened Richard's TV and Appliance in Cass City in 1968 he knew what kind of a business town he was getting into.

He did because he is a native of the Cass City area and a graduate of Cass City High School.

Before opening his business here he worked in various factories in the Thumb area while taking electronics courses.

Opened as an appliance store, Jones made his first expansion in 1975 by adding a furniture line.

The next year he moved to his present location, the expansion made necessary by addition of merchandise to all lines to better serve customer needs.

In July of 1977 he purchased an additional building on Main Street which was used as a warehouse and TV repair shop. In the fall of 1978, a complete stereo sound room was added.

Richard's is a family affair. Gerry Jones is the furniture buyer, interior design consultant and bookkeeper for the business. Their son, Richard, manages the stereo sound room.

Involved in civic affairs, Dick is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, vice-president of the Cass City Retail Committee, member of the Cass City Lions and charter member and past president of Cass City Federal Credit Union.

FOR SALE BY B. A. CALKA REAL ESTATE

STATELY HOME AMONG LARGE SHADE

deBeaubien's car is roomy — when you consider 60 miles per gallon

Dick deBeaubien has the perfect car for the energy crisis.

Not only is it economical, "It's a fun little car to drive."

His little roller skate is a 1971 Honda 600 sedan.

The Japanese car, which he purchased used, gets 30-40 miles per gallon in driving to (and around) Cass City from his Doerr Road home. He doesn't use it for highway driving, but a son once did, driving back and forth to Northwood Institute in Midland. On the open road, it can get 60 mpg.

The car is slightly over 10 feet long, is 52.5 inches wide, 52.4 inches high, and weighs 1,356 pounds.

"As little as it is, it's amazing how roomy it is," deBeaubien said, adding that that only applies to the front seat. The back seat only has room for two very small persons.

The front wheel drive car is pulled along by a 2-cylinder, 36-horsepower engine, displacing 36.5 cubic inches (598 cubic centimeters — hence the model designation, "600").

The tiny engine has more than enough power, according to the owner, to drive the car 70 miles per hour "and maybe more." (The owner's manual lists top speed at 75.) It has a four-speed transmission.

BACK IN 1971, HONDA was better known as a motorcycle manufacturer, though it is as well known today for its cars.

The air-cooled engine looks like a motorcycle engine and is the same size as many motorcycles, but none of its parts are interchangeable with Honda motorcycle engines, to deBeaubien's regret.

Despite the fact, it is still possible to get parts for the car, though the car hasn't been imported here for several years. Honda car dealers don't stock parts, but can order them.

According to Barney Prince, a salesman at Westbay Honda in Saginaw, the company sold the cars in this country in 1970-72. The dealership wasn't around then, or at least didn't sell Hondas, but he believed the sedan sold for under $2,000.

In addition to the sedan, like deBeaubien's, there was also a more streamlined coupe version.

THE RETIRED LUMBER yard owner purchased his car for $625 from a Bay City man about two years ago. He (deBeaubien) was in Bay City watching the St. Patrick's Day parade and spotted the car parked with a "for sale" sign on it.

The car now has more than 52,000 miles on the odometer. Since he has owned it, the only major mechanical work done was a rebuild of the engine, done early on, which he suspects might have been necessary due to it having been driven extra hard prior to then.

Since the rebuild, he has had few mechanical problems. A mechanic at a local service station does the repair work.

The only rust is on the front fenders, which he plans to replace eventually.

AS MENTIONED, deBeaubien only drives the car around town, for reasons of comfort and safety. "You're going to come out second best (in an accident), no matter who you tie up with."

He describes the ride as firm, but comfortable, but not so comfortable he would want to take it on a long trip, even if the safety aspect didn't bother him. (For highway travel, he prefers his several years old Cadillac, purchased used but in mint condition for only $2,500.)

His wife, Nancy, is the only other one who drives the Honda.

Despite its light weight, deBeaubien said the car handles well, even on a windy day. "It holds the road as well as anything I've ever driven."

He has driven it on snow covered roads with no problems, thanks to its front-wheel drive, but never through deep snow. That might be a problem because of the car's small wheels. (The wheels — not the tires — are 10 inches in diameter.)

Honda apparently never sold many 600's in this country, and now sells a line of larger (but still considered small) cars.

Compared to when the car was sold in this country, deBeaubien said, "I would assume there would be more of a market now, because people are so gas conscious now." Back when the car was new, gasoline was selling for 30 cents a gallon.

"It's a fun little car," he concluded. "It is economical. There's no question about that."

Holdup results in armed robbery charge in court

Thomas Myshock of Flint is facing a charge of armed robbery in Tuscola County District Court as the result of the robbery of Zabriskie's Market in Watrousville, southwest of Caro, shortly before 8 p.m. last Wednesday.

A lone bandit, armed with a large derringer type pistol, escaped with about $600 in small bills.

According to the sheriff's department, a neighbor of the store thought a vehicle parked nearby looked suspicious and wrote down the license plate number.

That led police to the suspect, who was picked up by Flint police the day after the robbery.

An undisclosed amount of money was found in Myshock's possession, the sheriff's department reported, but at this point it cannot be established the money was taken in the robbery.

Myshock is a former Fairgrove resident.

Myshock was brought to Tuscola county Friday, where he was arraigned by Judge Richard F. Kern, who remanded him to jail without setting bond. A pre-preliminary examination was scheduled March 10 and preliminary examination March 14.

Ask county for road money the cost for the paving program.

The chairman of the board's community services committee speculated his fellow commissioners will go along with matching the amount contributed by the townships.

That would mean a total of $8,000 per mile, still far short of the $30,000 needed.

That throws the ball of wax back to the Road Commission, which says it doesn't have the money. Its funds come from state gasoline taxes and license plate fees, not from normal county revenue sources.

Decker expects the three road commissioners will have stated an official position by the time of the March 12 meeting.

At $4,000 per mile, the county would have to pay a total of $108,000 for the 27 miles. He added that all of that won't be paved this year (if money is available), thus it won't need that much money now. It does have enough money, however, to pay for some paving this year.

Whether some paving gets done is a question presumably to be answered March 12.
