Played like champions

Dear Mr. Haire,

Please allow me to use you and the paper as a vehicle to transmit my congratulations to the Cass City basketball team. True they didn't win the state championship but from the limited exposure that I had to them, I feel they exhibited the poise and manner of champions as did their coach and fans. With a team such as that and boosters such as the Cass City people, it is almost 'impossible not to get swept along and join with them.

My family enjoyed meeting and seeing many of my old friends and classmates from Cass City as did I. I certainly enjoyed the vicarious thrill that a champion calibre team from my old high school provided. In closing then, let me say, congratulations and thank you.

Dear Mr. Haire:

I wish to renew my subscription to the Chronicle. I am so thankful for a publisher like you who prints a good clean hometown paper without cigarette and liquor ads. A few weeks ago, I noticed on the front page an item stating that the school board voted 3-4 to refuse the Gideons permission to pass out the little red New Testaments to the fifth graders as they have done in other heard him say, "I never knew Bible class could be so interesting."

My children looked forward to being fifth graders when they would receive their own little red testaments, a gift from the Gideons.

When my son David Schember was inducted into the service of his country, the Gideons were at Caro to present each serviceman with the special New Testament just for the men in the armed forces. I appreciated each school board member who voted in favor of permitting the fifth graders the privilege of receiving the Gideons New Testament. How I hope the school board will reconsider their decision and grant our fifth graders the privilege of receiving the testaments

Respectfully,

Mrs. Ruth (Knoblet) Dorman Snover
