Crime increases in Cass City over past decade

Cass City has a long way to go to reach big city crime status, but during the 1970s. the number of crimes and other police matters here increased by a substantial

In 1970, there were 178 crimes reported. According to figures compiled by Police Chief Gene Wilson, the number reached 243 in 1973. 329 in 1976 and last year climbed to 416.

The number of minor complaints increased from 993 to 2,253 during the 10 years.

There are numerous reasons for the increase in crime, according to Wilson.

One is that there are more officers, thus they uncover more incidents of law breaking. When Wilson joined the force as chief 10 years ago (as of May 1), he was one of three officers who worked 50 hours per week.

As of early this year, there have been five officers, who work 42½ hours per week.

When Wilson started here, police were on patrol here from 8 a.m. to 4 a.m. the next day. Now someone is on duty around the clock.

The population of Cass City has increased since 1970, and many new residents are from metropolitan areas, including a few, the chief said, who "aren't so good" (law abiding).

He anticipates the declining economy will mean an increase in crime.

The number of services performed increased from 40 to 145 (liquor and vehicle inspections, gun registrations and civil papers

The only category to decrease was in enforcement actions, from 1,244 down to 1,196, but that was due to the big drop in parking meter violations issued, which fell from 958 in 1970 to 547 in

The reason for the decrease, Wilson explained, was his officers haven't had as much time the last few years to check meters as they once did. The trend may reverse now that there is an additional police offi-

Council ups tax mill; oks sewage plant bid

Cass City tennis players are going to have to put up with at least one more year of lousy tennis courts. have to put up with another mill on their summer tax

The good news at Monday evening's village council meeting was that the long delayed sewage treatment plant project will soon get underway, as the council accepted the lowest of eight construction bids opened last Thursday.

The bid of $5.48 million was only slightly over the estimate on which financing for the project was based. which came as a relief to village officials. The council had been wrestling the last couple of months with the question of whether the village could get by with the 13 mills for operations it had levied for several years or whether an extra mill was needed.

By a vote of 4-2 Monday, council members decided to levy the added mill. In addition to the 14 mills for operations, 2.5 mills -- the same as last year -- will be levied to pay off the bonds for the local share of the sewage plant project.

The village charter allows the council to levy up to 17.5 mills without a public vote.

Village President Lambert Althaver explained early in the discussion that after having eliminated sealcoating of park streets and extension of some water lines, plus one less person in the public works department and two fewer workers this summer, about the only item left to trim from the budget was $30,000 for tennis courts. The village has applied for a federal grant for an equal amount, the total of $60,000 to be used for construction of four new tennis courts, in place of the two decaying ones in the park now. It won't be known for at least a few weeks yet whether the federal grant will be offered.

Even if it is, however, council members voted to delay the project until future years, unless enough angels are found to donate the local share. The intent all along had been to solicit private contributions to defray part of the local cost.

The two who voted against the millage increase were Dorothy Stahlbaum and Dick Hampshire.

"Sometimes we have to cut some of the things we would really like to do," she commented, "as opposed to

After the meeting, he explained the council will have this and the next year or two to come up with the $50,000. Some programs or projects may have to be eliminated, or, "Maybe next year it will be a little better (financially). There are just a lot of things that could happen."

Hubbell pointed out that the last construction cost estimate was made in September, 1978. Weber Construction's bid was only 71/2 percent above that, much less than the rate of inflation, and if the one addition to the project since then were eliminated, the bid was only 4 percent higher, much less than the rate of infla-

Final paperwork must now be submitted to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and Farmers Home Administration and state Department of Natural Resources, which should take about 45 days.

· Here's a tale of two tickets. One legal, one illegal. The first was issued to Clarke Haire for driving with expired license plates. That ticket probably will be voided. It was issued when there was no law on the books requiring the licenses. He escapes through a technicality.

The second was issued to Mrs. Martha Emmons, a widow. Five mornings a week she drives to work to the bakery. Her route takes her past the stoplight on Main Street. Each morning the light is on blinker and she travels on Seeger Street where the blinker is red. She says she stopped, as usual, and then proceeded.

Only the timer on the light evidently changed, or she arrived at a slightly different time, and the red blinker was a red light and she went through.

She was ticketed and fined $30. The first ticket she ever received.

The question that may be aired by folks asked to hold garage sales May 14-15-16 is why pay $5 to hold a sale with competition (hopefully) on every street corner? The answer is that dozens of sales held at the same time are more effective than any one or two held individually. Like stores at a mall, there is pulling power in numbers. The $5 helps pay the cost of producing hand bills, distributed free at stores, and advertising to potential bargain hunters.

The event is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

I'm not sure what a wet T-shirt judge must do to determine which shirt is best. But if any Detroit athlete is good at it, his skills should be publicized. Detroit fans need something to cheer about.

Jockwise, things are bad. Our basketball team, the Pistons, just finished the season with a 16-66 record, its worst ever. And, despite their colossal ineptitude, the Pistons still have a good chance to nose out the Detroit Red Wings for a spot in the National Hockey League playoffs.

The local baseball and football teams are just as bad, and, as if all this weren't enough misery for area sports fans, at neighboring University of Michigan, five football players are in danger of bleeding to death because they were crucified by the press.

News of the five crosses was first revealed by Michigan coach Bo Schembechler in a speech given a few days after he suspended the five players for breaking training rules. He said the press had "maliciously crucified five kids."

The press had quoted the players as saying Schembechler accused them of using drugs. Schembechler refused to confirm this, insisting that any disciplinary action he takes against his players is no business of the

It's no wonder that athletes these days are highly cynical, selfish and money motivated. It would be a wonder if they weren't. With coaches like Tommy Vardeman of Centenary around how could they be anything different? Vardeman is the guy who said that the successful basketball team has to have "huggers." "They're the guys you sign but never play. You keep them on the bench so you can hug them after you win instead of those guys who are all sweaty.

Funny, yes? Funny, no. Not if you are one of the guys on the bench who practice their hearts out all week so the players can sharpen up to perform before the crowds.

No matter what the level of basketball these days, in college they have been recruited. Those guys on the bench were sold by someone connected with the program. Told they were needed. Courted and praised.

Now these same players are ridiculed because they didn't prove out to be the best half dozen at that school that particular year. And Vardeman isn't any others of the coaching fraternity. For the players aspiring to be professionals, it may be just what the doctor ordered. Produce or else. Right now, for instance, Mark Fidrych is in the "worrying doghouse for about his pension instead of getting back to the majors."

Detroit Tiger management is aghast that Fidrych would think of such a thing after all the time and money they have spent trying to rehabilitate his wounded

Fidrych should be grateful that he was allowed to come back for brief trials that wouldn't be given most any other pitcher, shouldn't he? He got the chance to try out again before 40,000 fans or so, too. Wasn't that a big break for him? Wouldn't it have been interesting if Fidrych went to arbitration for that threeyear contract for about $75,000 a year? All he was when that contract was signed was the lone drawing card that a dismal Detroit team pos-

Major league players to-day average about $125,000 a year and fans feel that's too much.

They may be right. But better the players than the owners. If the owners are really headed towards financial ruin, it's hard to figure out why the value of franchises keeps increasing, increasing, increasing.

It's harder yet to figure out why, if this is so, the different than hundreds of owners don't open the books for all to see.

That won't happen. If it did perhaps the fans would realize who really is being ripped off.

The suspicion here is that the guys that are paying the bill are bigger suckers than the "huggers" that sit on Vardeman's bench.

Murder victim husband of Decker woman

Robert J. Brauer, the Ferris State College associate professor of accounting, shot dead in his classroom March 26, was married to a Decker woman.

He and Kathy J. Milligan were married Aug. 26, 1978, at the Decker United Methodist church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack and Margaret Milligan of Moriarity Road, Decker.

A student of Brauer's, Thomas D. Kakonis, 20, has been charged with the slaying. He so far has not been found by a judge to be competent to go through normal court proceedings and is being held for psychiatric testing.

The victim and his wife lived in Big Rapids, where she was also employed at Ferris State, as a secretary in the office administration department.

Their future plans were to attend Texas Tech University, where he would obtain his doctorate degree in accounting.

He was born Sept. 25, 1945, in Baltimore.

He had been at Ferris since September, 1976, having been previously employed by the Baltimore Public Schools and from 1968-74, at Baltimore Polytechnic Institute.

Brauer received his BA degree in mathematics in 1967 from John Hopkins University, Baltimore, and a master's degree in education from there in 1970, graduating as a Phi Beta Карра.

He received a master's degree in business administration in 1975 from Morgan State University, Baltimore, graduating with a 4.0 aver-

He was also a licensed certified public accountant in Maryland and a chartered life underwriter.

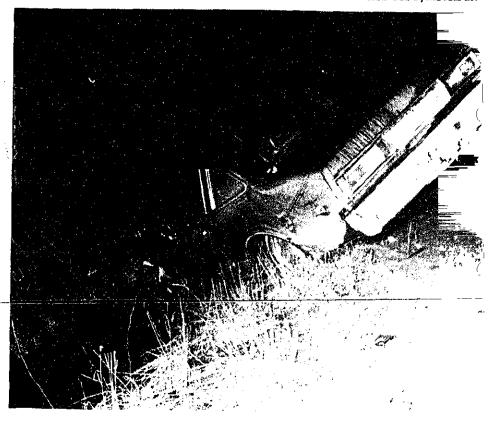

Brauer is survived by his wife; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver W. Brauer, and his brother, Oliver W. Brauer II, all of Baltimore.

Funeral services were held Saturday, March 29, at the Daggett-Gilbert Funeral Home, Big Rapids, with Rev. John Tatgenhorst of the Decker United Methodist church officiating. Burial was in Highland View cemetery, Big Rapids.

A Robert J. Brauer Me-morial Award will be established at Ferris in memory of the accounting professor, to be presented to an accounting major with high scholastic achievement.

Mrs. Brauer has requested that contributions be sent to the memorial fund in care of Robert Leach, FSC Development Office, 205 West Building, Big Rap-

When Roy Tuckey took over Tuckey Concrete in 1977 he knew what he was getting into. Before taking sole ownership he had been connected with the business most of his life.

Born and raised in Cass City, Tuckey graduated from Cass City High School. After a stint in the Army reserve he returned to work for his father, Luke. In 1965 four brothers took control of the business from their father who retired.

The business was divided when Roy took over Tuckey Concrete. The firm produces ready mix concrete for commercial and residential use. In 1978 the new facility

Bell rings after long lull

Ellington Church of the Naz-

It was the first time in at least 10 years that the church bell had been rung. It now will be rung at 10 a.m. each Sunday.

The bell has been there since the church was constructed in 1914, which makes it the oldest Nazarene church in Michigan, according to Rev. Clayton P. Wilson. The congregation was organized the year be-

The A-frames supporting the bell gradually weakened over the years, so ringing of the bell was suspended to keep the framework and bell from collapsing.

Rev. Wilson, who came to the church in September from Akron, Ohio, decided it would be nice to have the bell working again so he and church members Harold Likens and Russ Barriger undertook the needed restoration work.

Over a period of about two weeks, the men climbed the cost of $2,500.

Easter Sunday was a spec- ladder up the 40-foot high ial one for members of the tower, made measurements, climbed back down, cut the required pieces, then climbed back up to do the installation. What they did was add reinforcement to the Aframes to keep them from spreading apart.

Also, the shaft from which the bell hangs had fallen out of its bearings so that had to be lifted back into position, which wasn't easy as the bell and shaft weigh several hundred pounds.

The bell itself was in surprisingly good condition, Rev. Wilson said.

The project was the latest church members have undertaken during the past four or five years. The interior has been remodeled, with paneling installed in places, new carpeting added, new pews in the sanctuary, new paint inside and out and a new entranceway on the back of the building.

Members themselves built the church back in 1914, at a

Police continue break-in probe cutor's office will attempt to Investigation by Cass City police is continuing into the break-in discovered early Friday at the Hills and Dales Medical Clinic, across from the hospital.

Officer Phil Klaus discovered the break-in at 2:50 a.m. when he found a broken window.

The intruder gained entry to the building by breaking a window of the office of Dr. Hoon K. Jeung, MD. Once inside, he got inside the office of Dr. Richard A. Hall, DO, by using brute force against the hallway door.

Damage to the double pane window was estimated at $100; to the door casing, All that was apparently taken was some medicine

Fred Newsome of Deckerville Road, Deford, reported to Caro state police Saturday morning that two Honda cycles worth a total of $1,000 were stolen from his unlocked garage during the

One was a 50cc moped, the other a 70cc machine. The Tuscola county prosehave a Cass City woman sent back to the Caro Regional Center, following her hitting another woman Saturday afternoon.

The victim, Marilyn M. Heater of 6464 River Road, told village police she had gone to visit a friend who lives in an apartment on Maple Street.

The friend wasn't home, but when Ms. Heater got back in her car, a woman who had come out of an adjacent apartment started hitting her through the open car window.

Ms. Heater got away and contacted police, who then interviewed the woman. She admitted hitting the victim and said she thought she was supposed to do it.

Police referred the matter to the prosecutor's office, where it was decided an effort will be made to petition through probate court to have the woman readmitted she was still an outpatient.

Meredith Auten

In September, 1910, I and and went a different route to a train trip to California. I took the train from Cass

City, then met the rest of the group at Chicago.

The train chartered for our trip west was a beauty. down the river and also 3,000 There was a buffet or smoking room, the dining car, a barber shop, four Pullmans (sleeping cars) and an observation car.

The meals could not have been more delicious and the waiters almost fell over themselves trying to "get our goats" as they said and incidentally, to receive good-sized tips.

We spent much of the time in the observation car, singing, playing cards and having a good time in general. The first couple days of the trip were a little bit muggy and damp. The desert which sometimes is as hot as 150 degrees was comparatively cool.

Lots of prairie chickens, prairie dogs and now and then, a coyote were seen. The mountains, seldom snow-capped, were massive and gorgeous, though I could not say they compared with those of Switzerland. Near Albuquerque, we visited an Indian village.

The buildings were up on a sort of a terrace and built of mud mixed with hay. Meat and corn were hanging up on sticks to dry. All of the women came out to sell jugs, pipes, etc., at 10 cents each and charged a quarter to have their pictures taken. Their homes were spickand-span. After a busy hour, we moved on and arrived early the next morning at the Grand Canvon. All of us were up and out at 5 a.m. to see the sunrise over the canyon. It was an impressive sight and we all were greatly excited to start down to its

The large majority fell out, some went no further, and others went back and took burrows or mules. However, eight of us entered into a hot race and the pace that a Nebraska fellow set was not so slow. I believe we broke all records. At the half-way house, my fellow Delta Upsilon what they call the "platfraternity members went on eau," leaving the other four to keep on their run down to the Colorado River and to City, transferred at Imlay even swim over to the other bank,

> We went to a point where we could see far up and feet above it.

It is supposed to be the most beautiful sight in the canyon and was well worth our trek. It is impossible to describe and as one fellow said, all that one could tell about it "Bumps, bumps, oumps!" On our way back heavenward, we stopped at a half-way house and had a couple of glasses of lemonade each and a couple of fellows asked for water. When we asked the price, our pocketbooks trembled considerably at the "twentyfive cents a glass, sir."

We beat it out of there at the thought of what a possible dinner would cost and decided to hustle back to the El Tovar Hotel as we had a meal coupon.

After our run was over, I can tell you it was some hard pull. The height at the top of the canyon is about 7,000 feet and there are some of us who will swear that those feet are long as yards.

We were in time for dinner -- ready would be a more appropriate term. We ate over an hour.

The El Tovar is one of the finest hotels, room $4; room and bath, $8.

There were about 92 in our party, so we took possession everywhere we went, held a "sing" and did as we pleased.

Special services next week

The Novesta Church of Christ has announced special services the week of April

The theme of the meetings "Families for Christ," featuring evangelist Roy Chenoweth.

Chenoweth currently ministers to the First Church of Christ, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., where he has served for 12 years. He is specially trained in the area of counseling and has taught at the college_level_as_well_as_ holding training seminars in clinics and many local churches.

Each evening, Chenoweth will conduct a class entitled "Understanding Yourself" at 6:30. At 7:45, there will be a musical pre-session featuring a variety of music from singing groups, the muppets, and the Master's Melodies (the church band). At 8:00 each evening, the main service will be held with the preaching focus on the family.

The church is located 31/4 miles south of the stoplight on Cemetery Road. Services will be in the new building. A nursery will be provided nightly.

Lutheran women plan spring rally

Plans for the annual Spring Rally and the twoday retreat are being finalized for April by the Thumb zone of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League.

"No, thank you, I'm not interested" is the topic chosen by Rev. Steven Biegel, who will be the guest speaker for the Tuesday, April 15, evening rally at St. John's Lutheran church, Port Hope. Approximately 100 women from Lutheran congregations throughout the Thumb are expected to attend the gathering, which begins with registration and dessert at 6:30 p.m.

Rev. Biegel is pastor of Grace Lutheran church of Fairgrove which he has served since his graduation from Concordia Theological Seminary, Springfield, Ill., in 1976. He is the author of an evangelism manual, Speaking of Salvation, and is area director of Ongoing Ambassadors for Christ, a high school witnessing training program.

Opening devotions by the Rev. Lavern Nutzmann and a short business meeting will be included in the evening's program. The offering will be given to the Lutheran Hour Rally Followup Bible Study Program or to the Michigan District Project Fund.

For the April 23-24 retreat at Lake Huron Methodist Camp, near Jeddo, Rev. Clarence Hinz will be the keynote speaker.

Presently pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran church, Minneapolis, Minn., he formerly served St. John's congregation in Port Hope. He has chosen "Untapped Power" as his topic.

Included in the program, which begins with a 5:30 supper Wednesday, will be Bible Study, group discussions, recreation, singing and fellowship. An informal communion service will close retreat Thursday evening after supper.

Registration forms may be had from local representatives or by contacting Mrs. William Zabel, 6335 Center, Unionville 48767 or calling 674-2194.

2 Walbro employees take course

Two employees of Walbro Corp., Cass City, completed Unit I of Wittenberg University's Management Development Program March 28.

They are Fred Klinkman, 6333 Robinson Road, machine line foreman, and Randy Ruth, 4272 Maple Street, small parts foreman.

The series of five-day courses on the campus at Springfield, Ohio, are designed to strengthen the management competency and provide new insights into the management functions of supervisory personnel in industry. The courses concentrate in four areas -- behavioral studies and motivation, communications and leadership, management functions and methods, and economics and personnel relations. During the past 28 years more than 1,000 different companies representing a wide variety of industrial, commercial and medical concerns have released over 19.950 supervisors from their normal responsibilities and sponsored their participation in the management program.

Tuscola County Big Brothers-Big Sisters needs more volunteers.

Presently there are 41 oys and 16 girls who have asked for a Big Brother or Big Sister, but have to wait for enough volunteers to go around. Men are desperately needed in several different areas of the county.

Potential Big Brothers and Big Sisters need to be 18 years of age and able to contribute at least one year to the program. Very little money is involved in being a volunteer, as involvement in ordinary activities is everyday stressed. Friendship should be developed on a compannonship basis, not on how many fun things a team can find to do each week.

Anyone interested can call 673-6996 or stop by the BB-BS office at 129 E. Burnside, Jaro.

Tetanus is threat to gardeners

HEALTH TIPS

By Frank Chappell American Medical Association

Spring is here again after the long winter and many Americans are getting out of doors again. There are gardens and lawns that need work and outdoor chores that have accumulated during the winter.

With the return of outdoor activities comes once again the hazard of minor accidents, cuts and scratches. Most aren't serious and will heal quickly if properly cleaned and protected.

But sometimes these little scratches can be more serious. Sometimes they are the channel through which you could get tetanus.

Tetanus spores lie dormant in the soil of your garden, the dirt of your garage and the dust inside

Telephone rates are increased

General Telephone of Michigan customers who place long distance calls to other points within Michigan may be affected by the intrastate rate increase approved for Michigan Bell by the Michigan Public Service Commission. The new rates were effective April 3.

Increases in rates for direct dialed long distance calls for distances over 20 miles will range from one cent to six cents. Rates for calls within a 20-mile range will not change.

Some rates for operatorassisted calls will increase. The additional "operator handled charge" applied to calls such as collect, bill-tothird number and requests for time and charges will increase from 60 cents to 80 cents. The additional charge applied for person-to-person and conference connections (in excess of one) increased from $1.10 to $1.30.

To insure that all long distance rates within the state are uniform, General Telephone concurs in the rates approved for Michigan

Discount rates for direct dialed calls are still in effect and the discount schedule is included in the front pages of the telephone directory.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters

This friendly, Akron-Fair-grove area fourteen-yearold likes cooking, swimming, dancing and roller skating. She is a little shy, and would benefit from a one-to-one friendship.

A 13-year-old from Caro that likes to roller skate is waiting to meet you. Doing things with her would be a very rewarding experience.

"Six years old and very friendly," best describes this boy from Reese. He loves trains and would really like a Big Brother to share

Fifteen years old, a variety of interests, and very lonely, this young man from Caro could be your new little brother and friend. If you're into swimming, fishing, bowling, golf or any of these give this young man a try.

R. Colling wins college award

Richard Colling, 4812 Ashmore Road, Unionville, a graduate student at the University of Kansas, in Lawrence, won the advanced phase of the first Cora M. Downs Graduate Student Awards competition, sponsored by the Missouri Valley Branch of the American Society of Microbiology.

Colling was recognized for his immunology research in the laboratory of John C. Brown, KU assistant professor of microbiology.

Six graduate students competed in the advanced competition and four entered the first-year class. Each student read a paper based on his research and answered questions from a judging panel and from professional microbiologists in the audience.

The awards, consisting of certificates and cash prizes, were presented at a banquet March 28.

Deadline nears for mechanics

All Michigan motor vehicle mechanics who want to take June 1980 state certification tests must apply by April 30, according to Secretary of State Richard H.

The tests will be given June 7, June 14, June 21, and June 28 at 26 locations. Michigan's Motor Vehicle

Service and Repair Act requires every repair garage to employ at least one statecertified mechanic in the categories of major repair offered by the garage. Effective Jan. 1, 1981, however, the certification requirement applies to all mechanics doing major repair work.

Mechanics wishing to take the exams may obtain applications from the Michigan Department of State, Bureau of Automotive Regulation, Lansing 48918, all Department of State branch offices and at most Michigan Employment Security Commission offices. Further information may be obtained by calling (517) 373-9064 in Lansing.

competition

In addition to the Cass City High School students pictured, Tom Loomis received a fourth place award in architectural drawing at the Michigan Industrial Education Society (MIES) regional fair at Pinconning High School March 28-30.

Receiving honor awards were Dale Cleland, Louie Arroyo, Todd Comment, Sheryl Franks, Matt Prieskorn, Cort Hartwick, Kevin Downing, Scott Geiger, Jim Hoxie, Tim Smith, John Sutter, Chris Polk, Sherry Bader, Bob Sawdon and Kevin Krueger.

The competition was open to all students in grades 7-12 enrolled in industrial arts classes in Tuscola, Saginaw, Gratiot, Sanilac, Huron, Bay, Midland, Ogemaw and Iosco counties.

Those receiving first or second place awards qualified for state competition at the MIES annual convention Friday and Saturday in Grand Rapids.

BEST IN CLASS -- Receiving a first place ribbon and trophy for best in class for detail and assembly drawing at the Michigan Industrial Education regional fair was Rob Clarke. The drawing will now be entered in the state MIES competition.

Congressman Bob Traxler has announced that a measure providing an additional $2 billion to farmers in insured and guaranteed loans has been signed into law. This money will be administered by the Farmers Home Administration Economic Emergency Loan program.

"I am extremely happy to report to farmers in the 8th Congressional District that they should now be able to get the loans they need to help finance their 1980 farming operations," Traxler said.

"Farmers Home in Washington has advised every FmHA county office that it can now resume processing emergency loan applications now on file, and begin accepting additional applications from farmers.

Inflation is turning America into an army of do-ityourselfers. And whether you work with tools for a living or live for those weekends when you can work with tools, you may soon be involved in the great American metrication. Here are a few measurement conversions you should know: an inch is 2.5 centimeters (CM), or 0.25 decimeters (DM); a foot is 30 CM, 3 DM or 0.3 meters (M); a yard is 0.9 M, and a mile is 1.6 kilometers (K).

$4 billion in lending authority provided under the original Economic Emergency Loan program, hence the need for the added funds.

The new measure tightens the "credit-elsewhere" test by requiring that applicants demonstrate in writing that they were denied credit from private sources. Two such refusals will be needed for applications for more than $300,000. Interest rates will be negotiable between borrower and lender for guaranteed loans, and will follow the prevailing FmHA rates for operating and ownership loans.

proposed DNR Division Program Coordinator Hank Zurburg, after being reviewed by the governor's office, only recently reached the legislature.

The next step is for legislative committees to hold hearings, at which time DNR officials explain their rationale for the budget.

Part of the rationale for the proposed closing of the petroglyphs park is that it supposedly is the least used of any state park.

But, according to Zurburg, even if they were closed, it wouldn't mean that people couldn't use them, only that state money wouldn't be used to maintain them.

Accordingly, the legislator Hoffman doesn't expessaid he has been given the legislature to wrap r assurances funding for the work on the budget until th

The Cass City High School Future Farmers of America held its annual banquet at the high school April 2.

The chapter president, John Gallagher, was master of ceremonies. Invocation was given by Barb Broecker. After the dinner, the outgoing officers opened the ceremonies. First on the agenda was a speech by George Romzek, a state police officer from the Sandusky post. Gallagher and Kim Meredith presented Green Hand pins to Paul Auten, Jon Graham, Cort Hartwick, Terry Sweeny, Jon Churchill and Jeff Willis.

Terry Sweeny was presented the Star Green Hand award by Lyle Clarke, the chapter advisor.

Chapter Farmer pins were given out by Barb Broecker and Dan Hunt to Ken Brown, Jamie Doerr, Scott Hobart, Richard Johnston, Mike Jones, Joe Kappen, Mark Mathews, Brian Moore and Kim Sangster.

Scott Hobart received the Outstanding Chapter Farmer award from Clarke. John Gallagher received the DeKalb award for being the outstanding senior member of the chapter. The last order of business was the installation of new officers by the old officers. New officers for the 1980-81 school year are: president, Randy Severance; vice-president, Scott Hobart; secretary, Kim Sangster; treasurer, Phil Tuckey; reporter, Mike Jones, and sentinel, Terry Sweeny.

FAMILY MATTERS, By Kitty Burns Florey (fiction). Professor Betsy Ruscoe is 34, unmarried and pregnant. When she decides to have the baby, she loses her freespirited lover-and becomes the cause celebre of the campus. But as the feminists and the right-to-lifers battle over Betsy's future, ghosts from a long-ago past begin to trouble the present. Her mother, an adopted child now dying of cancer, begs Betsy to help her discover the identity of her real parents. Searching for her mother's roots, Betsy discovers some disturbing family secrets, a new vision of the bond between mother and daughter, and a new sense of

ALL YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT THE IRS, by Paul N. Strassels, (non-fiction). Why do so many people fear the IRS and dread the thought of an audit? Because the IRS wants them to, says the author, a former tax law specialist for the IRS. He tells you all you need to know about the system to calm your fears and, if you should be audited, to help you handle it with skill and aplomb. Using his years of insider's experience, he tells how the computers read returns, what occupations are considered "high-audit", which deductions the IRS usually ignores. which ones they examine carefully. He then gives you his own lists of 24 safe deductions, 14 danger zones, and 23 rules to follow if you are audited.

LIFE SENTENCE, by Charles W. Colson (non-fiction). Nixon's former special assistant begins with his release from prison after serving time for his role in Watergate. He tells what he has learned as a Christian about repentance and commitment, and describes his pioneering prison

$14 several years ago, that sits on a pole in his backyard, that got him interested in building housing for man's feathered and fourlegged friends. "The reason I got interested is that I couldn't see $14 for a slimsy thing like that."

A son wanted a doghouse, so Sontag built one, patterned after the little red barn storage shed in his back yard. He has now built five doghouses, included an Lshaped one for two dogs. He then started building bird feeders and has built 20 so far. Some he gave away to friends and relatives and some he sold. There are lots of relations he can give his creations to. He and wife Madeline have four children and 13 grandchildren. Their children are sons Jim of Bach and Morris of Cass City and daughters

Marie Smith, who lives in It was in January that Sontag started on his most intricate project, building 12-family, two story houses types of bird houses.

Martins are particular fussy birds, he and his wife explained. A scout bird flies ahead of the other birds when they arrive from the south each spring to look for

If sparrows have taken over the house, the martins won't enter. If, however, they get there first, they will fight off any sparrow intrud-

The Sontags have had a martin house in their back yard for several years but have never had martins in it. Sparrows have always gotten there first.

Although the mothers-tobe like to be alone while they hatch their eggs, they also like to be part of a group, hence the multi-compartment bird houses

The martins also like a clean house, which means that the human owner, after the birds have flown south for the winter, must clean out the birdhouse. For that reason, the structures are built so that they can be taken apart easily. They are normally mounted on a 20foot three-section pole, which allows easy lowering of the house for cleaning.

In exchange for having to put up with the martins' peculiarities, martin house owners get a most practical bird. Martins eat mosquitoes and other bugs and one 12-unit martin house holds enough birds to keep a backyard insect free, according to the Sontags.

In their back yard, incidentally, they have the martin house, two feeders and a bird bath. Bluejays, cardinals and sparrows don't fly south for the winter, so there is plenty of birdwatching activity yearround.

Sontag as much as possible tries to build his dog and bird houses and bird feeders out of scrap materials in order to keep costs down. The former Gagetown village president and council member, and presently its clerk-treasurer, describes his hobby as therapeutic. "When you don't feel too good, you go down there (to his basement workshop). I
