Grass fire blackens 15-20 acres Elmwood-Gagetown firemen were called to their first grass fire of the season at 12:34 p.m. last Wednesday. The fire was three-quarters of a mile north of Gagetown on Walsh Road. The property owner, according to fireman Fred Sullivan, was burning grass and the fire got out of hand. About 15-20 acres burned before firemen extinguished the flames. An assist was requested from the Elkland township department, but the latter's grass fire truck was temporarily out of commission, so the department was unable to help. +++++ The fire siren sounded in Cass City about 11:15 a.m. Monday, but there was no fire. The siren went off for apparently unknown reasons.
