Board ponders hike in school millage

Details of the long awaited millage boost that will be presented to the voters in the June 9 election were unveiled Monday night at the regular meeting of the school board at the high school.

If passed it will mean an increase in taxes for local electors. Exactly how much more is complicated by the variables affecting educational funding in Michigan. They include the Headlee tax limitation law, expected cuts in State Aid by the State and the enrollment next year at Cass City Schools.

The board will decide at its May 12 meeting the amount of increased millage it will seek. There are 3.5 mills expiring so the increase would be in addition to that.

It's much easier to pinpoint the number of dollars that Supt. Donald Crouse feels will be needed than it is the number of mills that will be needed to reach the figures.

Crouse said that his computations indicate that the school will need a total of $328,000 more in 1980-81 than it operated on this year to balance the budget.

The increase represents an inflation factor of 9 percent which amounts to $248,000 figured on total revenues in 1979-80 of $2.752 million. This year's deficit of $80,000 brings the total to the $328,000.

Part of that money will come from increases in State Aid and the remainder will have to come from an increased tax.

To meet these costs a total of 21.25 mills is needed. A mill is $1 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation. This year the district raised 19.9775 mills. Originally 21.25 mills was voted by the taxpayers but the Headlee tax limitation reduced it to 19.9775. This accounted for the $80,000 deficit expected at the end of the current fiscal year.

While these figures boil down to about 1.5 mills increase it's very likely that the school board will ask for more than this.

That's because of the variables, Crouse explained. We did this once before, he said, and when it turned out that we received more than anticipated from the state we levied less than was authorized. We would do the same with the current levy, he said.

FEDERAL GRANTS

A major project was approved by the board after it was announced that an energy grant to replace windows at Campbell, DeFord and Evergreen schools was approved. Total cost of the project is expected to be about $132,000.

Cass City will not have to come up with $66,000 cash. Much of the school's share will be "in-kind" costs for installation by school personnel.

Crouse had contacted the same firm that sold and guaranteed the replacement windows at the Intermediate School to furnish new windows.

However, the firm would not guarantee a fit as it did when the previous job was completed. For this reason the superintendent was instructed to investigate other suppliers.

A second program that the board okayed, with restrictions, was a new CETA program that could provide four employees for 18 months.

Crouse was given the green light provided that the school was not obligated to hire these persons after the program ends.

UP CHARGES

J.D. Tuckey and Dean Hoag were appointed to a committee to investigate the costs of driver training cars. The board acted after receiving a notification from Rabideau Motors that it was upping the cost.

The proposed costs would be 2 percent per month of the cost of the car, plus 5 cents per mile. Presently payment is $1.65 per calendar day. Crouse said that the Rabideau proposal would increase costs $350 per vehicle.

Rabideau's also asked for all the van business as Chrysler no longer makes school buses.

CRACKDOWN

The crackdown on students parking in the first aisle of the parking lot in front of the high school will be implemented as soon as the letter authorized by the board is received by the Cass City Police Department.

The authorization was needed before the village could act. Chief Gene Wilson said. Proposed are tickets for parking in the restricted area from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and at anytime in the fire lanes.

OTHER BUSINESS

A hearing before the Michigan Employment Relations Commission for Ron Sieradzki has been set for Monday, May 5.

Sieradzki claims that he was not given a custodian's position when it was available and due him because of seniority. Sieradzki previously worked at the school as a CETA employee.

Mrs. Marilyn Mastie was granted a leave of absence from the first day of school until Sept. 29 next fall.

A FLYING SAUCER it isn't. It's the "book bubble" in the Cass City Intermediate School library, made by librarians Gail Nartker and Donna Emerson (intermediate and elementary school respectively) to create a different environment to encourage reading during National Library Week. A fan keeps the bubble inflated. Trying it out Monday were members of Peggy Flynn's fifth grade class.

CB radios for buses

Owen-Gage to seek renewal of eight mills

The Owendale-Gagetown Board of Education Monday night approved seeking of an eight-mill renewal for school operations at the June 9 school election.

The board accepted Supt. Ronald Erickson's recommendation that the present levy be retained, though he added a precaution. "I'm not sure that's going to be enough."

"We'll keep expenses at a minimum and only levy what we need," he added.

Renewal of the levy -- $8 per $1,000 of valuation -- will give the district a total of 21.5 mills for operations.

The levy will be for two years. Should the courts ultimately decide in favor of Owen-Gage in the Goslin and Elenbaum property transfer cases, it was stated, the millage would be reduced.

The only two persons running in the school board election June 9 will be the incumbents, Ronald Good and Donald Cummins.

The superintendent reported the district is presently in good financial condition. The $350,000 borrowed in the form of tax anticipation notes have been repaid, employees are being paid and no financial difficulties are anticipated for the remainder of the school year.

OTHER ITEMS

The board tentatively decided to buy citizen band radios for all school buses, after hearing a report from Erickson and Good, who investigated use of CBs in the Port Hope district.

Elementary Principal William Britt was directed to obtain bids for nine mobile CB radios and two base station radios.

Construction of the 1967 addition to the high school required moving First Street in Owendale to the east to make room for the addition. The road also forms the entrance to the east parking lot on that side of the building.

The board approved a deed which gives the new portion of First Street to the village in exchange for the old portion.

The legal procedure will allow Owendale to begin collecting Michigan Motor Vehicle Highway Fund money for the affected portion of First Street.

The largest portion of the meeting was devoted to a presentation by Orin Gnagey of Sebawaing on a new type of roof coating called Rapid Roof.

The roof over the old gym, now the cafeteria, at the high school is leaking slightly and the district is exploring various options for having it repaired.

The board now wants to inspect a large roof elsewhere coated with the material. It previously received bids from two other firms for use of conventional re-roofing materials.

The resignation of Leslie Sigsby, home economics and Spanish teacher now on maternity leave, was accepted. She resigned in order to care for her child. She had taught two years.

Carolann Crawford of DeFord was hired as the high school special education teacher for the remainder of the year, replacing Doris Denson who accepted another job.

The board voted that after this year, graduation caps and gowns will be the school colors.

It was announced that a retirement party honoring State Rep. Quincy Hoffman, who isn't seeking reelection, will be conducted from 8-11 p.m. Sunday at Sherwood on the Hill in Gagetown. The party is being given by some of his supporters in the Owen-Gage district. The public is invited. Admission will be charged.

Erickson announced that a computer terminal will be installed at the high school which lists job openings available for seniors in the upper Thumb area. The state pays the cost. The terminal will be installed before the end of the school year.

He also said an effort will be made to get a Headstart program for 3-5-year-olds started in Owendale. The district would provide a classroom at the high school.

March student of the month was senior Dawn Wissner.

The board approved a request from the Huron County Department of Social Services to allow it to use a classroom at the high school once a month for a class in teaching public assistance recipients skills needed to apply for jobs.

Area accidents

County teen killed, local man "critical"

A 16-year-old Millington boy, Ward M. Leach, was killed early last Thursday in an accident between Millington and Mayville.

A Cass City man, Thomas Hawkins, remained in critical condition Wednesday morning at St. Mary's Hospital, Saginaw, where he was taken after being struck by a motorcycle last Wednesday night while he was walking in Caro.

Leach, according to Caro state police, was westbound on Swaffer Road, east of Leix Road, when his pickup vent off the north side of the road and rolled over onto its side.

The driver, not wearing a seat belt, was thrown out and pinned underneath the truck.

Officers believe the accident took place about 4 a.m., however, it was not discovered until 8:30 by a passing motorist.

The victim was a junior at Millington High School.

He was the sixth person to die in a Tuscola county traffic accident this year, compared to five as of this time a year ago.

MOTORCYCLE-PEDESTRIAN

Hawks, 65, whose address was listed as the Cass City hotel, was struck by a motorcycle driven by Alan Lee Wisenbach, 20, of Remington Road, Caro.

According to Caro police, Wisenbach was headed southwest on State Street (M-81), near the entrance to fairgrounds, when his cycle struck Hawkins, who was walking in the middle of the traffic lane.

The victim was wearing park clothing and according to two witnesses in a car in the other lane headed in that direction, Wisenbach couldn't see Hawkins until he was almost on top of him.

The motorcyclist was treated and released from Caro Community Hospital or minor injuries.

The accident took place at 8:40 p.m. As of Tuesday, it was still under investigation.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Reva Dillon, 42, of 5658 CicGregory Road, Gagetown, was admitted to Hillsdale General Hospital Tuesday at 1:30 a.m. accident

Sunday.

Deputies reported she was westbound on Hoppe Road, east of Bell Road, when she lost control of her car, which went into the south ditch.

According to the hospital, Ms. Dillon hadn't given permission to release information on her condition or when she had been released.

George P. Janssen, 36, of 5446 Schwegler Road, Cass City, and two passengers in his car sought their own treatment for injuries following a 12:15 a.m. accident Friday.

The passengers were Evelyn M. Adamczyk, 26, and Violet A. Westover, 27, both of Marlette. Two other passengers were unhurt.

Huron county deputies said Janssen was eastbound on Kinde Road, east of M-53, when he lost control of his car, which went off the north END OF THE LINE -- The Grant Trunk railroad depot in Cass City is slowly coming down. The railroad contracted with Mike Bryant (left) and Don Twomey to demolish the structure. They are doing the job by hand and selling the salvaged materials. They started about a month ago and should be finished in another month. Friday, they were chipping the cement off bricks that had formed the chimney.

Owendale Speedway suit finally settled

The judge in the long-standing law suit concerning ownership of the Owendale Speedway has, in essence, declared a draw over the issue of financial damages.

Huron County Circuit Judge M. Richard Knoblock in an opinion issued March 11 ruled that the agreement of Wayne Dubs to sell the track to the Cass Land Co. was rescinded.

The judge's opinion became official March 28 when he signed the judgment prepared by Dubs' attorney.

The agreement to sell the Sebawaing Road track was made in August, 1977; however, the two sides were never able to develop a satisfactory contract to finalize the sale and the matter wound up in court.

During earlier legal proceedings, Dubs regained possession of the track, in May, 1978, and resumed running races there that year.

The Cass Land Co., according to Knoblock's opinion, was the assumed name (for legal purposes) of Florence and David Duncan, operators of Thunder Road

Speedway on M-53, Cass City.

The Duncans were listed as plaintiffs and counter-defendants in the suit, along with Cass Land Co. and Huron County Speedway, their new name for the Owendale Speedway the short time they operated it.

KNOBLOCK'S OPINION and judgment were issued following a trial he conducted to hear the suit, Oct. 15-18 and Dec. 14 of last year.

He ultimately ruled that the plaintiffs (Duncans) were entitled to the $3,000 they had deposited with Dubs as down payment for the track. (The total sale price was to have been $60,000.)

Knoblock further ruled, however, that the Duncans owed $1,573 to Dubs for damage done to the track during a disturbance there

Sept. 4, 1977, when the Duncans were running it, plus $565, the cost of restoring a motocross track there, plus $778, an insurance settlement paid to the court by Central Mutual Insurance Co. pending the outcome of the principal action. That is a total of $2,916.

Dubs was also awarded $97, the costs and attorney fees taxed against the plaintiffs.

Knoblock also held that "plaintiffs have failed to establish by a preponderance of the evidence a right to recover on the remaining counts of their complaint."

Cass Land Co. had sought $10,000 compensation for damage done to the track, claiming Dubs had been the instigator of the disturbance there, plus $50,000 exemplary damages.

Dubs had countersued for a minimum of $10,000, but all he got was the $2,916, plus $97.

ACCORDING TO HIS ATTORNEY, Karl Kraus of Bad Axe, Knoblock's decision ends the case unless the Duncans decide to appeal.

However, Mrs. Duncan told the Chronicle a few weeks ago the trial in October and December was only to decide the issue of damages. The issue of "performance," that is, honoring of the land contract to sell the track, remains and will be pursued.

(An agreement as to the terms of the land contract was placed on the record in May, 1978, by the attorneys for the two sides. According to Knoblock's opinion, "plaintiffs failed to abide by this agreement . . . and possession of the premises was restored to defendant.")

According to Mrs. Duncan, the Cass Land Co., in which her husband was a partner, owned some farms and was involved in the purchase of the Owendale Speedway, but did not own the Thunder Road Speedway.

SHE WAS THE SOLE owner of the latter and in February sold the track on a land contract to John R.

CASS CITY FLORAL
Helping you say it right

"If It Fitz. . ." No mother-in-law jokes

By Jim Fitzgerald

Through the many years of his married life, the husband has done countless things to indicate he is not too smart. But he has never been stupid enough to tell a mother-in-law joke.

He thought about this in church on Easter. It was a homecoming of sorts. After two years' absence, his wife returned to her hometown to sing again in the choir where she had been a member for 35 years. Her mother was there to hear her.

The husband always encouraged his wife to sing in the choir. It gave him a great excuse for not going to church. "I don't like to sit alone," he explained. He could hardly join her in the choir, as his musical skills are limited to drumming his fingers on a piano bar.

So the only time he went to church during the 25 years he lived in her hometown was when their children performed in a Christmas play. He did this graciously, realizing a good father should be present to see his favorite bathrobe worn by a nine-year-old Wise Man. The husband never protested these command appearances, not even when the wife embarrassed him by saying he was the first parent in the history of the church to extinguish a cigar in the Sunday school sandbox.

Things changed when they moved into the big city, leaving the children behind to hark their own herald angels. The wife announced her choir career was over, and she didn't want to sit alone in church every Sunday. Again, the gracious husband didn't protest. He quickly became a steady churchgoer, and he hardly whimpers about it anymore at all. This is because he discovered he likes church music. He realizes music isn't the best reason for going to church, but he figures shepherds aren't that particular about a flock's motives, otherwise he'd never have found that sandbox.

Given these musical circumstances, it wasn't surprising that the husband enjoyed being present for the wife's return to her old choir. He didn't even mind sitting alone, which was necessary because there wasn't room for him to sit with his mother-in-law, two daughters, two sons-in-law, and three grandchildren.

Obviously, a few things have happened to the wife since she first sang in the choir, at age 14, and the length of the pews hasn't kept pace with the growth of her family. The only notable absentee on Easter was the former Wise Man who skipped town with his father's bathrobe.

The choir sang the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's "Messiah." The husband loves those loud hallelujahs and he was properly tingled to watch his wife's great pleasure at letting 'er rip with old friends one more time. But he got even a bigger charge from watching the beam on the face of his mother-in-law, the only member of the congregation who remembered her daughter's choir debut, 38 years earlier.

The mother-in-law remembers traveling the roads near that church in a horse-drawn buggy. She is 83 now and gets around unsteadily, with the aid of a cane. Many days she doesn't feel like getting out of bed at all. Her doctor and her children know she shouldn't be living alone, but she doesn't want to leave her home and her possessions, and no one can blame her.

Her income is scant but she gets angry when her kids try to help her. She doesn't want to be a bother. She wants to clear the table and wash the dishes and always give more than she's got. When pressed, she admits it's an unlikely marvel that every one of her several grandchildren and great-grandchildren is a perfect person, but that's what happened. She is so optimistically enchanted by her progeny, for lord's sake, she still thinks sainthood is a probability for the missing Wise Man.

The husband thinks his mother-in-law must be the ideal that God had in mind when He decreed there should be mothers, grandmothers, and great-grandmothers to love the younger people.

This is what the husband was thinking in church on Easter as he watched his wife let 'er rip. Hallelujah! He'll never tell a mother-in-law joke.

THE PROPOSED ADDITION will be constructed onto the rear of the courthouse annex, at right. The building was originally the Tuscola Intermediate School District office, from 1969-76.

County still needs extra office space

Despite the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners' decision last week to do away with living quarters in the county jail for the sheriff as of 1981, that won't eliminate the need for more office space in the proposed addition to the courthouse annex.

With Sheriff Hugh Marr retiring at the end of this year, the board voted April 8 that as of Jan. 1, the new sheriff and those who follow him in office won't live in the jail.

About 1,900 square feet in the jail, built in the mid-1960s, is devoted to living quarters for the county's chief law enforcement officer.

The tradition of the sheriff living there goes back to the days, probably before the turn of the century, when his wife was responsible for cooking meals for the inmates.

According to Commissioner Ben Colton of Caro, chairman of the board's public affairs committee, which includes building and grounds, no decision has been made yet on what use will be made of the newly available space, other than that it will be used for offices.

The board also hasn't decided whether the new sheriff will get a boost in pay in lieu of the loss of living quarters.

Despite the gain of the space, the board is proceeding with plans to eventually build a proposed three-story addition onto the rear of the courthouse annex. One story would be the basement.

The building hasn't been designed yet by architects, but being talked about is 3,600 square feet of space on each floor and a cost of $600,000.

In order to finance it, the board last week authorized the beginning of legal procedures to establish a county building authority.

Once in operation, the authority would issue bonds to finance the construction of the building.

The authority would rent the building to the county, with the revenue used to pay off the bonds.

According to Colton, the board feels the county still needs the annex addition, even with the added space in the jail.

The prime tenant in the addition will be the county Cooperative Extension Service, now occupying cramped quarters in the jail basement.

In addition to that, Colton also mentioned the space needs created by the addition of a third circuit judge at the beginning of 1979.

In 1978, the board hired a Saginaw architectural firm to conduct a study of the county's future office space needs, projected to the year 1990.

There presently is 20,660 square feet of space in the courthouse, including hallways, entranceways and circulation areas, and 5,320 square feet in the annex.

The architects projected a need for 13,500 more square feet of space, only a little more than would be gained from the annex addition and added space in the jail (total of 12,700 square feet).

Colton expressed hope that it might be possible to start construction of the annex addition before the end of the year.

That hope would appear to be a slim one. Even if a petition drive isn't launched to force a public referendum on whether the building authority should be organized, it still will be late May at the earliest before it is in operation.

An architect must then be hired to design the addition, and the design stage would obviously have to take a few months. After that comes the bidding process, which adds another month or two.

The Chronicle is observing a birthday this week. It's our 74th.

Every year I feel that I should do something to commemorate the long life of the Chronicle, but outside of a trivia item like this I never do.

Maybe next year when we'll be observing our 75th year will be the time.

Fred Pinney clued us in on Jim Brooker, an olympic pole vaulter from Cass City. We were holding the story in reserve until the summer games in Moscow when we planned to review his achievements.

That's gone down the drain now, of course, but one of these days we'll tell you all about one of Cass City's most famous athletes anyway.

Cass City's athletic department underestimated the largeness of the Cass City Lions.

The school originally planned to hire a special bus to take players to the quarterfinals of the State basketball tournament, the money coming from the athletic department and donations from others.

The Lions heard about it and volunteered to help. It was thought that the club would pay part of the expense. The item was on Monday's agenda to reimburse the club for part of the cost, but quickly ignored when Supt. Donald Crouse said that the club had paid the entire shot and no money was needed from the district.

Speaking of the Lions, they'll be on the street this week selling white canes. None of the money collected by members will go towards paying expenses for basketball teams.

It's for something far more important . . . the Lions sight conservation program.

That's the program for which Lions International is justly renowned, and one where most of the money goes for what donors intended. To help the blind. Administration expenses don't skim the cream off the top of this program.

CMU jazz band here Tuesday

The Central Michigan University jazz ensemble "Studio 12" will be performing Tuesday, April 22, in the Cass City High School gym.

The performance, sponsored by the Band Boosters, begins at 7 p.m. and should last about an hour.

Admission is free, however, donations will be solicited to help the Band Boosters defray the cost of bringing the ensemble here.

The jazz band has about 20 musicians and will be performing a variety of big band, jazz and other selections.

Cass City School District has received an energy grant to replace windows at three school buildings.

A new CETA program may make more Federal funds available for school workers. A huge grant was authorized for Cass City's sewage disposal plant. One of the principal jobs that Roland Pakonen, assistant principal at Cass City High School, has is to investigate and apply for the various Federally funded projects available.

Chances are that if local taxpayers were given an option nearly all or all of these giveaway projects would be abandoned. It's sure they would if the programs were hinged with a local tax assessment to pay for them.

You don't hear many complaints about these programs. The complaints are saved for the cost of programs that we pay taxes for annually or semi-annually. The taxes that pay operating costs and capital expense costs. The places where we get the most for our dollar.

We get the most for our money because every penny spent must be justified every time it's spent. It's simple. We pay the bill, we have the control.

There's a move afoot by Robert Tisch to cut property taxes some outlandish amount and limit any future increases.

A program like that receives almost instant support. Everybody wants to pay less taxes.

It doesn't make any real sense to believe that taxes can be cut like Tisch suggests. Not and continue to operate. Tisch's tax cut proposals help in one positive way. It goads politicians into coming up with a reasonable alternative to limit spending and taxation. Several are under discussion now as the politicians squirm to avoid the Tisch disaster.

The reason that Tisch is receiving attention again is the disappointment with the Headlee tax limitation plan. It tied tax increases to inflation and with inflation running upwards to 20 percent, became largely inoperative.

Most of us realize that to cut our tax bill we must curb our spending.

One way that would really help is to do away with Federal funding of school programs. If we could assume control of the purse strings from Washington and Lansing it's sure that there would be a revolution in the cost of operating our schools.

Without sacrificing a single iota of the quality, the amount it would cost to educate a pupil would plunge unbelievably.

But no one has found a way to return to us control of our schools, so we jab away at the only option available, our local taxes.

And all the time more and more of the funding gets away from us and the real villains, taxes and inflation, fueled by spending, continue to erode our standard of living.

Funds needed for two-year stay

Moody's aim for Africa to serve the Lord

David and Janet Moody have taken on a big selling job -- themselves. They, along with their three children, hope to be in Togo, West Africa, in less than a year as missionaries with the Association of Baptists for World Evangelism (ABWE). To do that, they need to raise more than $30,000.

Why Togo? Why be missionaries? The Moodys weren't intending to become missionaries when they went to church camp last summer near Houghton Lake.

There, they met Dr. David Clutts of Wyoming, Mich., who had been to Togo for two weeks and was back soliciting money and equipment to establish a hospital there through the ABWE.

"The Lord spoke to us through various ways that we should go," David said, in explaining what happened at the camp.

The Moodys applied to the missionary organization, which was delighted when they did so.

Moody has been a printer for 18 years and has operated a print shop in the basement of his Deckerville Road, Deford, home the past two years. His wife is a registered nurse, employed at Hills and Dales General Hospital. The ABWE missionaries in Togo have been wanting to establish a print shop as there are no such facilities in the nation of 2.5 million people.

Printed materials now must be brought from France. French is the official and trade language of the Ex-French colony, which became an independent nation in 1960. Most natives of the country speak one of the various tribal dialects, most common of which is Ewe (pronounced "ay-vay"). Printed materials in that language are few and far between, hence the need for the print shop.

One of Moody's tasks before departing is selecting the equipment to be sent there, including two printing presses, one of which he owns, camera and plate burner (both used in making the offset printing plates) and typesetter, plus a two-year supply of paper.

The equipment will probably cost $35-40,000. Raising money for that is primarily the responsibility of the ABWE.

The Moodys must, however, raise the money to pay their own way to and from Togo, plus living expenses for the 24 months they and their three children will be over there.

As of January, their living expenses were figured at $1,315 for each of the 24 months they will be in the nation, plus, Moody said, "whatever inflation gets us for and that's unpredictable as anything."

HOW WILL THEY RAISE the much more than $30,000 needed?

The Moodys are presently preparing a slide program to present during their fund raising efforts. Slides showing the people and terrain of Togo were obtained from Dr. Clutts. Moody is adding ones of him and his family and the printing equipment needed.

They will be writing to churches, primarily Baptist or those of similar denominational beliefs, seeking invitations to present their program and then asking for their support. The Moodys are also willing to present it to non-church groups.

They should be ready to give their first presentation in May, probably starting with their home church, Novesta Baptist church on Lamton Road.

The pastor, Rev. John Lange, has expressed the possibility the church will be able to pledge 10 percent of the support the Moodys will need, although that isn't official yet.

In most instances, the Moodys will be receiving support from churches, as opposed to individual donations, though they will obviously accept those also. (Donations are tax-deductible, but must be made to the Novesta Baptist Church or ABWE and earmarked for the Moodys.)

They actually don't need $30,000 plus to start, only enough to pay their travel expenses and first few months of living expenses. They do need pledges, however, that once over there, they will receive the rest of the money on the regular basis.

The family hopes to be in Togo by fall or early winter.

DAVID AND JANET Moody, ages 37 and 39 respectively, were married in 1962. They have three children, Daniel (D.L.), 15, Alan, 12, and Lucinda, 7, all of whom attend Juniata Christian School.

How do the children feel about going to Africa for two years?

Daniel was reluctant at first, his father explained, but is now looking forward to going. "The others are just excited."

At least initially, they will be taking correspondence courses designed for missionary children by the Pensacola (Fla.) Christian School.

However, the wife of Dr. Clutts and the wife of a registered nurse from Flint who is also raising funds to go to Togo are both certified teachers, so it is anticipated they will be starting a school for missionaries' children.

After that happens, Mrs. Moody anticipates she will be able to spend less time with her children helping them with their schoolwork and more time working as a nurse, possibly at Dr. Clutts' hospital.

In order to be closer to the tribal people, the hospital will be 35-40 miles (via paved road) from the city where Moody will be setting up his print shop.

Living in Togo, in the city of Kpalime (pronounced "pol-a-mee"), will mean some changes for the family in addition to living in a land with a different culture and language. Temperatures are 70-90 degrees year-round and it is very humid.

Houses, which do have electricity and flush toilets, are built of cement blocks. Anything built of wood would be eaten by termites.

AFTER THEIR TWO years in Togo, the Moodys plan to return here for a year, during which time they will attend the ABWE candidate school in New Jersey for four weeks and solicit support for a stay of four more years in Togo.

"If we've done a good job," said Mrs. Moody, "it shouldn't be any problem," said her husband in finishing the sentence.

But first, the devout couple must raise more than $30,000 to get to the African nation for the first years.

Do they have any doubt about being able to raise that much?

"There's no question about it in my mind," Moody said.

"The Lord promised that who received the call, He provide the means," his wife added.

Germ warfare

By Mike Eliasohn

Sometimes I think the big fear in this country is not war with Russia, economic catastrophe or a shutoff of our imported oil, but germs.

I'm not talking about the germs that give people diseases, but dirt germs.

It seems like for every kind of dirty germ, there is a product to get rid of it.

Older women, correct me if I'm wrong, but didn't housewives at one time get all their cleaning done with a box of laundry soap, bottle of bleach, box of Spic and Span or equivalent, can of floor wax, cleanser and some bars of soap?

If you go back far enough in American history, probably all they had was one all-purpose cleaner. After all, homes built with dirt floors didn't need to be washed or waxed, people only took one bath a week, and for kids with only one set of clothes, mom washed those while they were washing themselves.

How times have changed. For instance, as I type this, I am looking at a Lysol ad.

One of their products is toilet bowl cleaner. I won't argue with that.

However, they also have a basin-tub-tile cleaner, a deodorizing cleaner for anything you missed with the basin-tub-tile cleaner and then, if there are still any germs left, you can get rid of them with the disinfectant spray.

After all that, you would think one's bathroom would be pretty clean. However, I'm sure Dixie would like to sell you some of their paper cups for use in the bathroom for prevention of SPREADING OF GERMS.

It's probably some company other than Lysol that makes the product for getting rid of MOLD AND MILDEW in the bathroom. Granted, I would rather not use a shower with walls covered with green slime, but I have never heard of a person dying from mold or mildew.

Let us switch to the kitchen, where there now are not only cleaners for inside the oven, but on top as well. In addition to the cleaners for oven and counter tops, there are cleaners for sinks (can't scratch the porcelain) and for the chromework.

I'm sure some company will develop a special cleaner for cleaning the insides of refrigerators. ("Gets rid of those MUSTY ODORS.")

Then there is the laundry. A box of soap and container of bleach isn't enough any more. There are soil and stain removers and special whiteners. Plain white isn't white enough anymore, or plain anything.

After the clothes are finally washed -- hopefully after adding everything else, you didn't forget the soap -- it is time for the dryer.

But one doesn't just put their clothes in the dryer anymore. A piece of tissue paper with some magical qualities must be added so that the clothes come out bouncy and soft.

That's quite a change from the old clothes line, off of which clothes came stiff and scratchy.

As for bouncy and soft, that sounds fine for cheerleaders, but I don't bounce in my clothes.

I would rather have them slightly wrinkled. I call it the lived-in look.

Hobby Club

Fourteen members of the Hobby Club and one guest attended the Monday evening meeting of the club at the home of Katherine Crane.

With Betty Jo Agar as co-hostess, the meeting began with a potluck dinner.

Exchange student from Holland, Caroline Swart, showed slides and gave a talk about her native country.

During the business meeting, officers elected for the coming year were Dorothea Quick as president and Caroline Garety as secretary-treasurer.

AARP installs officers

The regular monthly meeting of the American Association of Retired Persons was held last Thursday with 45 members attending.

Blood pressure readings were taken by volunteer nurses Irene Freeman and Helen Kelly. Floy Hampshire from the Commission on Aging was in charge of this project.

Hymns were sung with Esther McCullough at the piano. Mary Kritzman gave the invocation. Avis Youngs won the door prize.

Jessie M. Hall, of Flint, AARP training specialist for Area 5, installed the new officers:

President, Charles Beckett (unable to be present); vice-president, Hugh Wells; secretary, Helen Little; assistant secretary, Frankie Anker; treasurer, Margaret Beckett, and assistant treasurer, Martha Durham.

Board of directors members are Earnest Beardley, Marie Roch, Mary Kirtton, Blake Sackett and Donna Wernette.

Mrs. Hall also showed slides of the organization's activities.

The May 8 meeting will be held at the Good Shepherd Lutheran church fellowship hall. Ken Jensen, Hills and Dales General Hospital administrator, will be the guest speaker.

Chuck Simon, Noreen Partridge, Mildred Herr and Vera Bearrs will be in charge of arrangements.

NEW OFFICERS of the American Association of Retired Persons Cass City chapter were sworn in last Thursday by Jessie Hall (right) of Flint, AARP training specialist. Officers are, from left, Martha Durham, assistant treasurer; Frankie Anker, assistant secretary; Helen Little, secretary; Margaret Beckett, treasurer, and Hugh Webb, vice-president. The new president, Charles Beckett, was absent due to illness.

Gerald Parks

Death of teacher mourned in Ubley

Classes at Ubley High School were cancelled Monday because of the funeral of band teacher Gerald D. (Gerry) Parks, who died last Thursday after a fall in his home.

Parks was only 23 and was in his first year of teaching, having graduated in December, 1978, from Central Michigan University with a bachelor's degree in music education.

About 80 persons, administrators, teachers, band members and members of the Ubley Band Boosters, traveled in two school buses Monday to Shepherd, south of Mount Pleasant, for the afternoon funeral.

High School Principal Fred Ruthko described Parks as a "pretty nice young man," very likeable and easy-going, who got along well with his students, fellow teachers and parents.

Parks also taught music at the elementary level. His wife, Cathy, told authorities she was washing dishes about 6:30 p.m. while her husband was hanging drapes in the living room. Their home was on Union Street in Ubley.

She heard a noise, went to investigate and found him on the floor, next to the drapes and a footstool he had been standing on.

One ambulance emergency medical technician and two Huron county sheriff's deputies began cardiopulmonary resuscitation at Parks' home. The CPR continued in the ambulance while on the way to Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe.

Parks reportedly responded in the ambulance.

Resuscitation efforts at the hospital lasted for more than an hour, but the teacher could not be revived.

Cause of death listed on the death certificate signed by Dr. Kenneth B. Herrington, M.D. of Bad Axe, was "acute pulmonary edema" due to or as a consequence of "inhalation of gastric juices (regurgitation of above)."

The death certificate was signed after results of an autopsy performed Friday in Saginaw were received, according to the doctor's office.

Reportedly, it is felt that Parks, who had just finished eating dinner, had either started to choke on his food and fell from the stool or the opposite.

Thumb spared in road cutback

Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties apparently have been spared from a Michigan Department of Transportation imposed cutback in federally funded projects.

From May through September, according to DOT Director John P. Woodford, new contracts on federal aid projects will be limited to about $70 million instead of the $220 million that had been planned. Federal funds provide an average of more than 75 percent of the project costs.

A complete list released by the department of projects scheduled to go under contract in the next five months, which will now be delayed, does not list any from the three upper Thumb counties.

The cutbacks were necessitated because of President Carter's efforts to reduce the federal budget. In turn, the Federal Highway Administration trimmed all

The teacher was born Feb. 1, 1957, in Grand Rapids, the son of Beatrice (Chaffee) Parks and the late Chester A. Parks.

He was salutatorian of his senior class at Shepherd High School in 1974.

He and Cathy Wonsley were married July 23, 1977, in Shepherd. Mrs. Parks is expecting her first child next month.

Her husband was active in band in high school and college, was a member of Phi Mu Alpha fraternity at CMU and belonged to the Ubley Jaycees.

He is survived by his wife and mother. His father and a brother, Elton Parks, preceded him in death.

states' obligated authority, that is, spending commitments made by the states on behalf of the federal government.

Michigan's obligated authority from May through September was reduced from $187.6 million to $56.7 million, a cut of 69.8 percent, hence the cutback in state projects.

Contracts for $123 million in federally-funded projects so far this fiscal year have already been awarded and projects slated for bid opening this month won't be affected.

13 join Owen-Gage honor group

Thirteen students from Owendale-Gagetown High School were inducted into the National Honor Society March 26.

The traditional candle-lighting ceremony took place in the high school cafeteria.

The new members welcomed into the society were: Seniors -- Kirk Carolan, Carol Goslin, Tamara Kain, Lori Mandich, Richard Powell, and Dawn Wissner.

Juniors -- Marcello Bruno. Sophomores -- Kimberly Diebel, Julie Enderle, Karla Kretschmer, Tina Mandich, Teresa Schmidt and Bonnie Wells.

Members were selected by the faculty and administration for meeting high standards of character, leadership, scholarship, and service.

A reception for parents and friends followed the ceremony.

The food was prepared by the advanced home economics class and their advisor, Muriel Barr.

MUSICAL MINISTRY

Sharon Brumbaugh and Robin Howard, two gifted musicians, will share their musical ministry at 11:00 A.M. on Sunday, at the Mizpah Missionary Church, 3 1/2 miles South of M-81 on M-53.

Their ministry has taken them from coast to coast in numerous churches, clubs, high schools and conferences.

Sharon's background has included music degree study at Indiana University followed by completion of her degree at Fort Wayne Bible College. After her graduation, Sharon traveled on behalf of the College for one year, ministering in music in many churches and organizations.

Robin's background includes a childhood career beginning at age 5 involving many local and national talent shows and several symphony orchestras. She studied piano at Butler University in Indianapolis.

Together the Lord has blended the two talents into one message in a variety of musical styles and in testimony.

The concert is free to the public.

Your Neighbor says

Interest rates need gradual reduction

Dennis Hurley is a victim of high interest rates. Despite that, he doesn't think it would be prudent if they were reduced suddenly to spur the slumping economy.

He has been laid off from Marlette Homes, manufacturer of mobile homes and double-wide units, since Nov. 2.

"If mortgages went down to 10 percent, they'd be calling me back tomorrow."

However, he feels if interest rates were dropped suddenly, that would start a rush of buying, which would add to inflation.

"I don't think there should be any drastic reduction in interest rates. They should be gradually reduced. It's got to be a slow turnaround."

He feels the increasing number of unemployed workers, who naturally are buying less, is having the effect of starting to slow the inflation rate.

"When people are stuck with inventory, it seems prices and interest will come back down. We all say a little prayer and hope it will be tomorrow."

The latter was said with tongue in cheek. When interest rates and inflation do drop, he commented, that should mean good news for Marlette Homes and its employees as the assembly line methods used there can produce housing much cheaper than can a private contractor, hence there should be more demand.

His wife, Theresa, works at Walbro, so there is still one source of income.

Though Hurley has lots of time now, he had to stop remodeling his house because he cannot afford to buy more materials. "When I'm working, I've got the money and I make the time."

The one advantage of his being out of work, he said, is, "I've been able to watch my two little ones grow up and that's nice."

The "little ones" are Nathan, 3, and Brooke, 1.

The Hurley family lives at 4222 S. Seeger Street.

Meredith Auten remembers

We left the Grand Canyon and passed through a wilderness of arid sand with mountains and craters in the distance to the beautiful irrigated gardens of California.

We arrived at Riverside about noon and immediately piled into 20 automobiles which took us on a long drive to the summit of a mountain overlooking the town and ocean, down the famous Magnolia Avenue between long rows of palm trees, orange gardens and English walnut orchards.

Here it was that we also succeeded in securing a bath, which was truly one of the pleasures of the trip for we sorely needed a scrub after our mountain climbing the day before.

It was 94 degrees during our drive, but we didn't mind it terribly.

From Riverside, we rolled on to Los Angeles, where we found cars ready to take us to the Hotel Angeles.

The next day, Friday, found us ready for our trip to Cataline Island. We had a fine boat ride of about 20 miles to the island and after lunch there, we went out in the glass bottom boats.

As we came into the harbor, 15 or 20 native boys came swimming out, yelling. "Here with your nickels, dimes or quarters."

Of course, a lot were thrown overboard and under the boys would go, bringing up the coins almost without fail.

When I went out swimming, a little ways from shore, some sea lions came along tossing huge fish several feet out of the water.

I watched them pass and when I thought they had departed, I started swimming leisurely to shore. I had gone hardly 50 feet when I saw them coming back. Well, I was scared to death and expected a leg to go anytime, so I started swimming faster. I went just fast enough so that they all passed about a foot beneath me and I actually touched one.

I guess they never hurt any person, but that didn't help me at the time.

We returned to Los Angeles and spent the evening any way we saw fit. The moving pictures were all the excitement I cared for.

The next day we went to Santa Barbara, which had an excellent bathing beach. At its back were the Santa Inez Mountains.

In the afternoon, we took a drive in a five-seat wagon drawn by four horses along the coast and up to an old mission.

The next morning, we woke up with the porter yelling, "Breakfast is now being served in the Del Monte." There was a scramble on my part and soon with the rest, we were taken there from our hotel in a large six-cylinder Peerless car.

After breakfast, we went on a long drive in a Packard. When we returned, three of us took a little stroll around the place. The gardens were so large that we got lost two or three times.

They had a maze, built up with large hedges which lead to a little park inside. It took me about a half-hour to find my way in because the paths lead every which way and you ended up nine times out of ten in some little corner.

They said that bellboys sometimes had to get people out of it when they got lost.

One of our fellows got in there and it began to rain. He had to stand it all because he couldn't find his way out.

Walbro declares dividend

The board of directors of Walbro Corp., at the regular meeting Feb. 25, declared a first quarter dividend of 10 cents per share payable April 25, to stockholders of record, March 21.

President Lambert Althaver noted that the first quarter dividend is a continuation of a three-year trend of 10 cent quarterly dividends.

The announcement of first quarter earnings will be made at the company's annual stockholders meeting in Cass City April 21.

Althaver added, "Sales for the first quarter continue their strong growth trend of 1979. However, the outlook for the second and third quarters is clouded by the general economic uncertainties."

Bean Day in Lansing June 11

The Michigan Bean Commission has announced the biennial Capitol Bean Day has been scheduled June 11.

Objective of the event is to redefine the importance of the Michigan dry edible bean industry to the Michigan legislators and policy makers in state government.

Gerald Elenbaum, Owendale bean grower and chairman of the commission, said, "This year's event will be somewhat different from previous years, in that we plan to erect a tent on the east lawn of the Capitol, where capitol staffers and the general public will be served."

Bean Day is sponsored by the Commission and the Gratiot County Farm Bureau women.

There will be several new and different bean dishes prepared, such as a bean dip, three bean salad, and desserts made from bean puree, along with some of the traditional bean dishes, such as baked beans and bean soup to be served by the state Bean Festival group of Fairgrave, from its giant soup kettle.

Kretzschmer participating in seminar

Karla Kretzschmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kretzschmer Jr. of Owendale, has been selected as a participant in the Michigan Youth Leadership Seminar at Marygrove College, Detroit, Friday through Sunday.

This seminar is sponsored by the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation of Los Angeles. Karla is one of 100 Michigan high school sophomores chosen to attend the seminar. The students are chosen on the basis of leadership exhibited in their school and community.

Two participants will be chosen to represent the state at the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation Leadership Seminar in Los Angeles July 5-12.

Karla is a sophomore at Owendale-Gagetown High school.

Funeral held for Mrs. Endersbe

Hildred Adeline Endersbe of Owendale died last Thursday at her home after a long illness.

She was born Feb. 10, 1896, in Petersburg, Va., the daughter of Joseph and Viola (Young) Bingham. She came to the Owendale area with her parents as a small child.

Miss Bingham married Manley Endersbe Sr. March 28, 1919, in Owendale. Following their marriage they made their home on a farm near Owendale. Endersbe died Aug. 22, 1965.

She was a member of the Grant Methodist church. Mrs. Endersbe is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Ruth Wittse of Roy, Utah; one sister, Mrs. Sara McIntosh of Caro; seven grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren. One son, Manley, one brother and four sisters preceded her in death.

Funeral services were conducted Monday at 1 p.m. from Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with Rev. Joel Hurley of the Elkton United Methodist church officiating.

Burial was in Grant cemetery.

Youth labor law

By Bernard Jardot

Persons 16 and 17 years old may find more restrictions and fewer job opportunities on certain farm jobs, if a new proposal by the Michigan Department of Labor is enacted into law.

Currently, federal law covers Michigan youth under 16 working on farm jobs which are declared hazardous by the U.S. Department of Labor. The proposed Michigan youth employment standard surpasses the federal law affecting young workers by including those 16 and 17.

Public hearings on the Michigan proposal - Youth Employment Standards, Part 3, Hazardous Occupations in Agriculture - are being held at the following locations: Caro Regional Mental Health Center, Administration Building - ground level, May 19; Department of Public Health, Olin Baker West Building - Room 1-B, Lansing, May 20, and Central Michigan University, University Center, Preston Road, Mt. Pleasant, May 27.

Persons unable to attend the hearings can make their opinions part of the hearing record by sending written comment to: Mrs. Dorothy Ransom, Court Recorder, Office Hearings, Michigan Department of Labor, State Secondary complex, 7150 Harris Drive, Lansing 48909.

Written comments, for or against the proposed rules, are considered equally with those who appear in person at any public hearings. Even those who appear at the public hearings are urged to submit written comments at the hearing in addition to any oral comments they make.

Winners never seem to find fault with the referee's decision.

Easter Seal telethon nets over $2,000

More than $2,000 was raised in Tuscola county during the national Easter Seal telethon March 22-23.

In the five-county area served by the Thumb area unit, including Tuscola, more than $11,000 was raised.

A telephone call-in center was set up during the event at the Sears and Roebuck catalog center in Caro, with the phones manned by volunteers.

Pledge center coordinator was Ron Laeder of Caro.

Singles dance on Saturday in Bad Axe

The Tip of the Thumb Singles Club will conduct a dance Saturday from 8:30 p.m.-12:30 a.m. in the Methodist church gym in Bad Axe.

Music will be furnished by the Harley Scott Band, with emphasis on round and square dancing.

Baguley sentences two to terms in county jail

Two persons received jail sentences Monday when they appeared before Circuit Judge Norman A. Baguley. Donald D. Taylor, 22, of 1650 Ambrose Street, Mayville, received concurrent sentences of one year in the county jail for felonious assault and assaulting a police officer. He was credited with 37 days served. Baguley found him guilty of the charges Feb. 6, of having sprayed gas from a "gas ejecting device" into the eyes of a state police trooper Dec. 24, 1978, in Fostoria.

Judith R. Schniers, 21, of 500 S. Almer Street, Caro, was sentenced to six months in the county jail for violation of probation. She was credited with 15 days served.

She previously pleaded guilty to the charge, of having failed to seek and maintain steady employment.

She was placed on 36 months' probation March 6, 1978, for uttering and publishing.

Also Monday, Leon G. Doyle, 21, of O'Brien Road, Mayville, stood mute to a charge of delivery of marijuana.

A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing scheduled May 12. Bond was continued.

He is charged with delivery of the controlled substance Feb. 22 in Mayville.

DISTRICT COURT

In cases Monday before Judge Richard F. Kern:

Gerald Bennett, 33, of 6288 Brenda Drive, Cass City, pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving (1st offense).

His plea was accepted and he was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail, 15 to be served now and the remainder deferred. He was fined $100, assessed $150 court costs and placed on probation.

He was arrested on the charge Feb. 22 in Caro.

Naomi J. Beyette, 46, of 1706 Montague Street, Deford, pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving. Her plea was accepted and she was placed on six months' probation, assigned to attend alcohol classes and others as may be deemed necessary. She was also fined $100 and assessed $150 court costs.

She was apprehended on the charge April 5 in Dayton township.

Gary Spencer, 18, of 3472 Pine Street, Kingston, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving under the influence of liquor.

He was placed on six months' probation and ordered to attend alcohol classes and others as may be deemed necessary. His license was suspended for 60 days, except for driving to and from work and the alcohol classes.

Spencer was fined $100 and assessed $150 costs.

He was arrested on the charge March 30 in Vassar township.

William W. Goss, 29, of 5644 Snover Road, Decker, was found responsible March 26 of having driven 72 miles per hour in a 55 mph zone.

Goss then had 14 days to pay fine and costs totaling $35 but failed to do so so his license will now be suspended until he pays.

He was ticketed on the charge by deputies Dec. 15 in Wells township.

Trend Vendors family business for Olsons

Editor's note: this is one of a series sponsored by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce about community boosters who are members of the organization.

Fritz Olson has been in Cass City since 1973 when he purchased the Cass City Vending Co. and changed its name to Trend Vendors.

He quickly became a community booster and can be counted on to help in any civic projects of the community.

A member of Rotary since 1954 he joined the Cass City club after coming to the community and is the president-elect of the organization.

Before coming to Cass City, Olson was in business in Flint and Bay City. He operated two supermarkets in Bay City for five years.

He was a comptroller of the Industrial Mutual Association in Flint for 11 years.

A native of Rapid River he attended junior college in Bay City for two years before attending Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., where he graduated in 1942. He served for three years in the Navy, emerging as a full lieutenant.

Trend Vendors is a family business. Mrs. Jean Olson is the general assistant in the office for the company. A son, John, is general manager of the corporation. The Olsons have a daughter, Judith, of Atlanta, Ga.

The Olsons are members of the First Presbyterian church in Cass City. They were members of the McLaren General Hospital in Flint and General Hospital in Bay City. Olson also served on the board of Goodwill Industries in Flint

HEALTH TIPS

Ipecac is treatment for some poisoning

By Frank Chappell
 American Medical Association

What every American home needs is a small bottle of Syrup of Ipecac.

This is to induce vomiting if someone, usually a small child, accidentally drinks or eats some household product that is poisonous.

But not all poisonings should be treated by inducing vomiting.

Some are corrosive, caustic substances that burn the linings of throat and stomach. Bringing them back up would merely add to the damage, so, the American Medical Association points out, it is most wise to make a quick call to your family doctor or pediatrician before administering the Syrup of Ipecac.

The label on your small bottle of Ipecac should give the name of the product, proper dosage and poisoning conditions for which it should not be used.

If you suspect someone has accidentally taken a poisonous substance in your household, have someone phone the doctor. Save and give to the physician or hospital the poison container with label intact.

New books at the library

ONE CHILD, by Torey Hayden (non-fiction). When Sheila, age 6, sets fire to a neighbor boy, she is put in Torey Hayden's class for disturbed children. But nothing in her experience has prepared Torey for such a child—abandoned by her mother, abused by her father, a skinny filthy waif. The first day in Torey's class is a disaster: Sheila refuses to speak, mutilates the class's goldfish and terrifies the other children. But she will sit and read, and when Torey tests Sheila, she finds her I.Q. is 182. Slowly, Sheila starts to respond to Torey's patience, fairness and gritty determination. She begins to control her anger, play with other children, and even learn what love is. A remarkable story of real people, harrowing in its details but ultimately inspiring.

MY COUSIN DEATH, by Mary McMullen (mystery). A strange passage of love and death returns to haunt the members of an Irish family. Eight years ago, having received word that his old love was dying, Paul Kinsella left his wife, ostensibly on a business trip, in order to be with the dying woman for a few days. Now, after Paul himself has died, a stranger arrives at the Kinsella household, lets Mrs. Kinsella in on the secret of her husband's visit, and tries to blackmail her. The countryside is suddenly rocked by a series of murders and Mrs. Kinsella becomes convinced that she's harboring a murderer. A tale told with charm and an odd, piercing sadness.

PRUNING, by Christopher Brickell (non-fiction). This excellent manual guides the gardener through the basic pruning principles and methods. Instructions on how to prune roses, deciduous shrubs and trees, evergreens, hedges, and fruit bushes and trees are simplified with step-by-step diagrams, so that anyone can prune garden plants and achieve positive results. These illustrations show the plant prior to pruning, indicating which branches are to be removed, as well as the pruned plant. Tool and equipment recommendations are made.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Obituary should not have been altered

Mr. Eliasohn:

I want the people of the Cass City community to know that you took it upon yourself to alter the obituary report I gave you for my husband, Robert. When I gave you the report, it was typed EXACTLY as I wanted it printed in the paper. What gives you the right to change an ordinary obituary report into a headline story? Don't you think my family and I have been through enough to have to see this in our own community paper two weeks after my husband's death?

Veronica's break-in attempt Friday results in arrest

James E. Hagood, 21, of 5163 Lakeside Drive, Cass City, will be arraigned in district court Monday, charged with attempted breaking and entering at Veronica's Restaurant early Friday.

Police Officer Phil Klaus, after spotting a suspicious vehicle parked on Weaver Street about 1:40 a.m. Friday, started checking windows of businesses in the vicinity.

He discovered four windows broken on the west side of the Main Street restaurant and called for a backup unit after he saw the suspect vehicle was gone.

Owner Veronica Gaszczyński was also called. She came to the restaurant, but could find nothing disturbed other than the windows.

When Caro police officer James Giroux arrived, the closest officer the sheriff's department could find to dispatch, Klaus asked him to look for the suspect car on Doerr Road.

Giroux did and soon reported back the car was parked at a mobile home in Huntsville Trailer Park.

Police went there and the occupant volunteered to go with them. After questioning, he was placed under arrest and taken to the county jail.

Hagood appeared Friday before Magistrate Donald Smith, who scheduled the Monday, April 21, arraignment before District Judge Richard F. Kern and set bond at $5,000 personal recognizance.

Saturday that while his Corvette was parked on West Street from 10:30 p.m. to 1 a.m., someone removed the two T-bar roof sections. They were worth $150. There was also damage done to the driver's door and a ripped front seat.

Layonne E. Holcomb of 6730 Pine Street, reported to village police early last Wednesday that someone put an 8-inch hole in the rear window of her car between 11:45 p.m. and 12:15 a.m. The loss was estimated at $80.

A shoplifter walked out of the Gamble's store on Main Street with a hair dryer last Wednesday afternoon. Store owner Mike Papp told police it was valued at $14.

LOCAL ITEMS

Carl Gibbard Sr. of 6950 Wheeler Road, Uby, reported to Cass City police that tools worth $200 were taken from a toolbox in his car. They were taken between March 7 and April 5 when the car was at Ouvry Chevrolet-Olds and then at the Robert Rabideau Bumpshop for repairs.

Pamela M. Gilliam of 6595 W. Shabbona Road, Decker, reported to Cass City police last Wednesday that while her pickup truck was parked in the Walbro lot from 4 p.m. to midnight the previous day, someone removed the engine drain plug and let all the oil run out. When she started to drive away, there was resulting damage to the engine, listed as more than $100.

Owner of the pickup was James Gilliam, 274 Froede Road, Deford.

Eric M. Engler of Saginaw told village police early

OTHER ITEMS

Sadie Ann Pelton of 3567 Shaw Road, Kingston, reported to sheriff's deputies last Wednesday night that while she was in the Crestwood Bar, M-81, Caro, someone took her purse. Contents included $20 and medication for her son.

The next morning, John Baker of Graf Road, Caro, reported to the sheriff's department that he had found a checkbook with Ms. Pelton's name on it along Graf, north of Fairgrove Road.

He and Detective Larry Walker then went to the site and there along Dutch and French Roads found the rest of the missing items of Ms. Pelton's.

Gene Beitz of 2185 Bay City-Forestville Road, Gagetown, reported to Caro state police last Wednesday morning that about 80 gallons of diesel fuel were removed from a storage tank on property he owns on Riek Road, Unionville.

The tank was broken on the tank, with the stolen fuel worth $88.

IMPROVEMENT - The front entranceway to the Cultural Center is looking better. The Cass City Area Historical Society hired Wayne Dewey to fix the crumbling steps, which was done last week. (Light color cement blocks are the new ones.) The village a few weeks ago repainted the sign and put it back up. The building will be 100 years old next year.

Lutheran women

Eighteen members attended the April meeting of the Lutheran Ladies Aid at Good Shepherd Fellowship hall Monday evening.

Mrs. James Van Dellen, president, conducted the meeting and the May 4 dedication of the new education wing was discussed. Mrs. Helen Avery reported on the turkey dinner served April 13.

A film on the Bethesda Lutheran Home at Watertown, Wis., was shown. Bethesda is for the mentally handicapped.

The April committee, Mrs. Jean Bills, Mrs. Adeline

Butler and Mrs. Nora Frederick, served refreshments. The Van Dellen family will be leaving for Lake Orion where he will be pastor of Good Shepherd church there.

Downings both are graduates from college

Gregory and Kimberly Downing, brother and sister, graduated from Ferris State College and Michigan State University respectively at the end of the winter terms. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Downing of Gagetown.

Greg received a B.S. degree from Ferris in pharmacy, graduating with high distinction.

He was the recipient of the Dr. Sunkes Memorial Award as the outstanding 1980 graduate of the School of Pharmacy. He was also selected for Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities.

Downing was a member of the Pharmacy Honor Society and Rho Chi Society. His future plans are indefinite.

He is a 1975 graduate of Owendale-Gagetown High School.

Kimberly Downing graduated with high honors, receiving her B.A. degree in telecommunications with a dual major in political science.

She was a member of Alpha Epsilon Rho national honor society and was a student representative for the Department of Telecommunications.

Miss Downing has been accepted into the master degree program at MSU starting with the spring term. Her graduate studies will emphasize telecommunication policy analysis and research.

She is a 1976 graduate of Cass City High School.

Time to thicken up your lawn!

Everyone likes a thick lawn, but before your grass can start to thicken, it's got to get growing. That's what Turf Builder fertilizer is all about. It helps get your grass off to a fast start, so it can send off new branches which will form new grass plants to thicken up your lawn. The sooner you get it growing, the sooner it's going to thicken up. How about this weekend?

NOTICE

The Michigan State Mechanical Code became effective on April 5, 1980.

The Construction Code, Act 230 Public Acts of 1972, makes counties responsible for the administration and enforcement of the code.

The Mechanical Code provides for the design, installation, maintenance, alteration and inspection of mechanical systems including heating systems, cooling systems, steam and hot water systems, process piping, boilers and pressure vessels, appliances utilizing gas, liquid or solid fuel, chimneys and vents, mechanical refrigeration systems, fireplaces, barbecues, incinerators, fire suppression systems, air pollution control systems and systems utilizing solar or geothermal energy as an energy source.

Permits must be obtained from the Tuscola County Department of Public Works, Building Codes Division located in the Courthouse Annex Building, 207 E. Grant St., Caro.

For more information you may call 517-673-7711, Monday thru Friday, 8:30 A.M. to 5:00 P.M.

Temperance union holds spiritual day

Members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of District 8 observed "Spiritual Life Day" at a meeting April 8 in the Mizpah Missionary church.

Mrs. Leonard Dorman opened the meeting directing pledges to the American, Christian and Temperance flags.

In charge of the program was Mrs. Harold Sanford, District 8 director of Christian Outreach.

Rev. David Burrows, pastor of the Mizpah church, was the speaker in the forenoon session. A potluck lunch was served in the fellowship hall at noon.

Rev. Harold Smith of Decker was the speaker in the afternoon. Musical numbers by Mr. and Mrs. Smith were contributed during that session.

Schools to get back taxes

The Cass City schools will be receiving $39,190 in delinquent tax payments as a result of the sale last Thursday of $2.1 million in general obligation limited tax notes by the Sanilac County Treasurer's office.

The money represents the amount of property taxes owed by Cass City School District property owners in Sanilac county as of March 1.

Purchasers of the tax notes at an interest rate charged to the county of 9.8037 percent were Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith and the Sanilac County Bank.

The treasurer's office will now collect all delinquent taxes due in the county plus penalty fees and pay off the tax notes.

The $2.1 million will be used to pay to all governmental units in the county the delinquent taxes due them, so that they don't have to wait for the revenue.

In addition to the money Cass City will receive for the portion of the district in Sanilac county, the Uby

Elkland discusses road needs

The Elkland Township Board Monday night discussed roads that might need graveling this year, either in spots or entire one mile lengths.

The list will be sent to the county Road Commission for a cost estimate.

The board will then decide what roads it can afford to have gravelled, with priority given to those in the worst shape.

Half the cost of a new resuscitator for the fire department will be paid by the township, the board agreed, with the Cass City Jaycees to pay the other half with proceeds from their recent jelly week sale. Cost will be about $2,000 total.

The board gave its consent to granting of Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act agreements to Amasa Anthes Jr. for parcels of 66 and 40 acres in Section 7, and Kenneth and Laura McRae, 80 acres in Section 12.

School District will receive $38,041.

The amounts area townships will be receiving in delinquent tax payments are: Argyle, $1,359; Austin, $2,923; Evergreen, $868; Greenleaf, $1,504; Lamotte, $1,719, and Moore, $2,235.

Census takers starting home visits

Census takers for the 1980 census are easy to identify, according to the U.S. Bureau of the Census.

They wear red, white, and blue cards with the U.S. Department of Commerce seal and "Census Enumerator, Official Credential" printed on them. Their cards also have their signatures, certifying that they have sworn to keep confidential all information they collect for the census.

Census takers have started making their rounds, calling at residences from which householders have not mailed back their census questionnaires.

They are using the telephone to reach most householders who mailed back questionnaires inadequately filled out.

Anyone without this official identification card who claims to be a census taker should be reported to the police or to the district office. Dial information for the local census number to call.

Questionnaires were mailed to every household March 28 and most people were instructed to mail back a completed questionnaire April 1.

People not counted in the census will in effect be "invisible" when census statistics are used to reapportion seats in the House of Representatives and to guide the distribution of federal funds - their tax dollars - for programs in communities across the nation.

There is no penalty for a late return to the census questionnaire, but census answers should be given as of the April 1 date regarding births, deaths, changes of address and other facts.

Berlin drops out of race for Congress

Republican Congressional candidate Jeff Berlin announced Monday his withdrawal from the 8th district race.

The Saginaw resident announced his candidacy March 26 for the seat now held by Democrat Bob Traxler.

According to Berlin, "The campaign has failed to get on track the early financial support that would have enabled me to be effective in a bid to unseat the incumbent."

Although he is withdrawing from the race, Berlin said he is "still convinced that a Republican can defeat Bob Traxler; however, without the strong support of a Republican campaign that objective cannot be realized."

day, Monica spent Saturday overnight with her grandparents. Sunday, they were all dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Smith. Mrs. Mary Jean Pickett and family of Waterford were Easter guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Fleming and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Moore and Laura were Thursday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith.

Dakin new district conservationist here

Philip S. Dakin is the new U.S. Soil Conservation Service (SCS) district conservationist for Tuscola county, having assumed his new duties April 7.

He takes over for Gerald LeMunyon, who left to assume a position with the SCS as agronomist for 19 eastern Michigan counties, including Tuscola.

Dakin comes to Caro from Traverse City, where he was soil conservationist in Grand Traverse county.

A native of Grass Lake, near Jackson, he served in the U.S. Air Force for four years as an electronics technician, after which he attended Michigan State University. He obtained his degree in forestry and natural resources from there in 1974.

He went to work for the SCS in August, 1975, as soil conservationist in Manistique in the Upper Peninsula. He was there about 15 months, then served about the same period of time as soil conservationist at Coldwater (Branch county).

He then took a year's furlough to attend Navy flight navigator school, but decided he didn't want to make that a career, so rejoined the SCS and was assigned to Traverse City, where he was for 11 months before coming to Caro.

In Tuscola county, he directs a staff consisting of William Siems, soil conservation technician; Tom Adams and Vicki Smith, soil conservationists, and Mary Lou Earl, district aide.

Dakin's wife, Karla, is a native of Saline, near Ann Arbor, and has a registered nursing degree from Foote Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in Jackson.

They have two children, Aaron, 5, and Theresa, 3. The family will be moving to the Caro area as soon as housing can be found.

Phil Dakin

ONE OF THE MOST coveted awards presented to varsity athletes is the most valuable player designation. It is voted by the teammates of the players. Winners of the awards and the sports they participated in were, from left: Tim Fahrner, basketball; Beth Sieradzki, volleyball; Kristy Deering, gymnastics, and Guy Nanney, wrestling. The awards were announced Tuesday night at the annual winter awards night.

O-G begins track season with Lakers

The Owen-Gage boys' track team won 13 of 16 events when it hosted Lakers in a non-league meet Friday to open the outdoor season.

The Bulldog girls won only two of 12 events.

As Lakers students were on spring vacation last week, they did not compete in all events and total scores were not available.

Owen-Gage winners in the boys' events were as follows:

Shot put -- Pete Klemkowsky, 43 feet.

High jump -- Jim Glidden, 5'8".

Long jump -- Jeff Hallock, 16'6".

Pole vault -- Jim Patnaude, 12 feet.

120 high hurdles -- Scott Gaeth, 18.4.

100 yard dash -- Jeff Hallock, 11.5.

880 relay -- Dave Ondrajka, Brad Erickson, Hal-lock, Glidden, 1:47.

440 yard dash -- Glidden, 58.1.

440 relay -- Gaeth, Lennie Hallock, Joey Zaleski, Robert LaFave, 50.8.

330 low hurdles -- Erickson, 46.4.

880 yard run -- Chris Hulzar, 2:25.

220 yard dash -- George Vargo, 27.3.

1 mile relay -- Erickson, Vargo, Hulzar, Ondrajka, 4:15.

Events won by the Owen-Gage girls were:

Shot put -- Bonnie Wynn, 25'9".

Long jump -- Jennifer Errer, 12'8 1/2".

Next meets were this Wednesday at Akron-Fairgrove, with North Huron also competing, and Friday at Caro, with Mayville also there, and Tuesday, when the Bulldogs host Caseville, North Huron and Akron-Fairgrove.

United Way takes joint effort steps

The four United Way organizations in Tuscola county took a step last Thursday towards mutual cooperation in future fund raising drives.

Elkland-Novesta United Way President Iris Tuckey, who attended the meeting in Caro that day, said representatives of the four United Way groups agreed to take back to their boards a proposal for future cooperation.

Present organizations are in Cass City, Akron, Fairgrove and Vassar. Efforts are underway in Caro to revive United Way there after a three-year lapse.

The proposal that will be presented to the individual United Way boards, Mrs. Tuckey said, calls for all of the fund drives to be conducted at the same time, mutual help and some means of reaching the parts of the county not covered by the present groups.

Each would still run its own fund drive, she stressed, instead of forming a single countywide United Fund.

None of the representatives there saw any problem in mutual cooperation, but Mrs. Tuckey said it would be premature to predict what the local United Way board will do.

The board will meet April 29, prior to the next county United Way meeting the following week.

School gets grant for conservation

The Cass City School District has received a $66,000 federal Department of Energy energy conservation grant.

The money will be used to replace each of the present single pane windows at Campbell, Deford and Evergreen Elementary Schools with an insulated upper panel and a small window on the bottom, similar to what is presently installed at the intermediate school.

The school district had to appropriate an equal share in order to get the grant, which the school board approved last November.

However, it won't actually cost the district $66,000, as some of that amount will be in the form of a credit for wages paid to its custodial employees for their time spent helping to install the new window units.

The district is now soliciting bids from contractors and hopes to have the work done before next winter, preferably this summer, according to high school Assistant Principal Roland Pakonen, who is in charge of federal grant programs for the district.

Because of heating fuel savings, the district should recover its investment in the windows in about five years.

A SOFT TOUCH.

GTE Touch Calling is easier to use.

Are you interested in taking it easy? If so, perhaps we can interest you in Touch Calling, the fast, efficient way to make calls.

With Touch Calling, instead of dialing your calls, you'll have the fun of using push-buttons.

That means you'll have a really soft touch. And speaking of soft, the cost of having Touch Calling won't be at all hard to handle since it's surprisingly inexpensive.

What about colors and styles?

You're in luck, because we've got a versatile, vast selection of both. To add a nice touch to your home or office. Your desk, your wall or your night table. In fact, you might want to think about putting Touch Calling in all those places at the same time.

Because it'll cost you less that way. So if dialing the phone happens not to be one of your cherished chores, consider Touch Calling.

After all, why have a hard time when you can have a soft touch instead?
