3 millage proposals on ballot Monday

Cass City School District voters will be asked Monday to approve three millage proposals.

Even if all of them pass, Supt. Donald Crouse warns, some budget cuts may have to be made.

Two of the proposals are simple to understand.

● Proposal I requests renewal of the 3.5 mills that are expiring.

● Proposal II asks for an increase of .6 mill.

Both proposals, as is proposal III, are for one year only, that is, their passage will be reflected on tax bills to be received this December. One mill equals $1 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation.

● Proposal III repeals provisions of the Headlee tax limitation amendment. Last year, because assessments had risen higher than the rate of inflation, the district had to roll back its normal 20.9 mills for operations to 19.9775, a rollback of .9225. (Debt retirement added another 1.1 mills.)

Approval of all three millage requests will mean an increase for taxpayers of 1.5225 mills over what they paid last year.

Passage of all three will mean a total millage rate for operations of 21.5 mills, which Supt. Donald Crouse points out is still comparatively low compared to other area school districts.

Last year, Cass City had the lowest operational levy of the nine local districts within the Tuscola Intermediate School District.

In fact, even with the rollbacks applied, only one -- Vassar at 20.93 -- had a millage rate below the 21.5 the Cass City district is asking for this year.

If only Proposal I passes, the district will have less millage than it had last year. The Headlee rollback applies only to the millage of previous years. Last year, it applied to the 12.5 mills then in existence but not to the 8.4 mills that was renewed. This year, it will apply to 17.4 mills -- everything but the 3.5 mills up for renewal.

If only Proposals I and II pass, the district probably won't gain because the rollback will likely offset the additional .6 mill. It isn't known yet what the rollback will be should Proposal III fail.

The district does not gain from an increase in valuation because for every $1 gained from boosts in property assessments, it loses $1 in state aid.

TAX BREAKS

The millage increase if approved, Crouse also points out, may not have the financial impact on all taxpayers that it would appear.

Senior citizens are entitled to a state income tax credit or rebate of their property taxes paid on a sliding scale.

Senior citizens (at least one spouse 65 or older) are entitled to a state income tax credit or rebate on a sliding scale. Those with an annual household income of more than $6,000, for instance, must pay their property taxes equal to 3.5 percent of their household income, but receive a rebate or credit on their state income tax of 100 percent of their property taxes above that figure, to a maximum of $1,200.

Non-senior citizens are eligible for a credit or rebate of 60 percent of their property taxes in excess of the property taxes they pay equal to 3.5 percent of their household income. The maximum is again $1,200.

Farmers whose property is enrolled in the Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act program have all of their taxes rebated which are in excess of 7 percent of their household income.

GRIM OUTLOOK

Even if all three millage proposals pass, the financial picture for the 1980-81 school year is still unclear.

The big question mark is what state aid will be for the upcoming school year.

For the 1978-79 school year, the latest for which figures are available, state money provided 44 percent of the schools' operating revenue. Property tax revenue provided 51 percent and federal money, the remaining 5 percent.

Crouse estimates that of the $2.8 million budget for the almost completed school year, the local share climbed to 55 percent, with state revenues declining to 40 percent, with federal money still at 5 percent.

He expects that expenditures will exceed revenues by possibly $30,000.

As for the 1980-81 school year, he commented, "I really honestly feel with the millage increases, we are still going to have to tighten our belts more." He expects some cuts will have to be made, even if they all pass, such as by not replacing some teachers who leave.

UNSURE FINANCES

When Crouse prepared his 1980-81 financial forecast in order to make a millage recommendation to the board, which it approved in May, the governor was recommending a state aid formula to the legislature of $385 plus $46 per mill assessed, which would have been an increase. That would have given Cass City $1,374 per pupil in state aid, if all three millage proposals pass.

But with the state's financial picture growing ever

James VanDellen of the Good Shepherd Lutheran church and his wife, Judy, examine the quilt given to them by church members Sunday, when he gave his last sermon after almost 10 years there. Most of the families that belong to the church each prepared a square, with the quilt then being sewed together, primarily by Sharon Rockwell, Audrey Leslie and Eileen Krug. The VanDellens are moving to Lake Orion, where he will be installed Sunday as the pastor of the Lutheran church there.

Six for Tuscola sheriff

Candidates galore file for August 5 primary

When voters go to the polls Aug. 5 they will have a wide variety of candidates to choose from.

Tuesday was the filing deadline for candidates running in county and state legislative races.

One of the close contests will be the Tuscola county sheriff's bid where six persons are attempting to fill the position when Hugh Marr steps down.

In Huron county, five persons are vying for the position of register of deeds, including the incumbent Frances Holdwick of Harbor Beach.

The state representative race in the 77th district has five candidates trying to take over from the retiring Rep. Quincy Hoffman, R-Applegate.

STATE REPRESENTATIVES

In the 77th District, five persons are campaigning for the job of representing the district which includes Huron and Sanilac counties. They are Keith Muxlow, Brown City; Kenneth Babb, Marlette; Stuart Parsell, Lexington; William Mayes, Port Austin, and Harold Richards, Harbor Beach. All except Richards are Republicans.

In the 84th District, primarily Tuscola county, two people are challenging the incumbency of Rep. Loren Armbruster, R-Caro. James McCann of Akron is a Democrat while Terry Houthoof of Fairgrove is a Republican.

Judge Norman Baguley is running uncontested in his bid for the 40th judicial circuit.

TUSCOLA COUNTY

In the contest for Tuscola county sheriff, five Republicans, along with Millington police chief Herbert Clancy, a Democrat, have declared their candidacy. They are Earl J. Scott Jr., Caro; sheriff's deputy Paul Berry, Caro, Undersheriff Bruce Tait, Caro; Bernard W. Lenda, Caro, investigator for the county prosecutor's office, and Robert F. Eigner, Fairgrove.

Three Republicans are in the race for county drain commissioner. They are Robert Strye of Caro, Lionel Roy Emery of Mayville and Stanley C. Henry of Caro. Incumbent J. Edward Goodchild is retiring.

All of the county commissioners are running for reelection but party contests exist in only two districts.

In District 2, which consists of Elkland, Elmwood, Ellington and Novesta townships and the north half of Kingston township, incumbent Royce Russell is being challenged by Shirley Olszak. Both are Republicans from the Gagetown area.

Donna Rayl, of Akron, the Republican incumbent in District 1, is being challenged in the primary by Larry F. Humpert of Reese.

Margaret A. Wenta of Fostoria is running uncontested in District 2 which includes the village of Kingston and southern half of Kingston township.

Running unopposed for county offices, all Republican incumbents, are: Elsie Hicks of Deford for county clerk; John Marshall of Cass City for register of deeds and Artis M. Noel of Caro for prosecuting attorney. Noel is running for the first time having been appointed in January, 1979.

HURON COUNTY

Four people are challenging incumbent Frances Holdwick for register of deeds. They are Ronald Good of Sebewiang, Larry Schmitt of Bad Axe, Joseph McArdle of Pigeon and Robert W. Hobkirk of Bad Axe. Mrs. Holdwick was appointed to the position earlier this year.

Schedule takes shape for annual July 4th festival

Cass City's second annual July 4th festival is just a month away and plans are falling in place for a repeat of last year's success.

The almost-definite lineup of events took shape last Thursday at a planning committee meeting attended by about 20 persons at the Charmont.

The traditional kickoff for the festival, which will be on a Friday will be the parade, of which Mike Weaver is in charge.

It will begin at 10 a.m. It wasn't decided at the meeting whether the lineup will be on Comment Drive or Doerr Road.

Weaver reported 35-40 antique cars and farm machinery have been lined up so far for the parade, but only a few floats have been entered. More are needed from businesses, organizations, etc. He has also had trouble getting bands to march, with the only definite one as of last week being the Cass City High School band.

Linda Herron reported that only 24 persons had signed up for spaces in the arts and crafts building, of the 34 available in the storage building behind the village hall. Last year, about 50 persons had displays, but the space was free. This year, there is a $15 fee.

Set-up will be at 9 a.m. with exhibitors technically open for business as soon as they are ready, although the "official" opening apparently won't be until after the parade. The booths will be open until 7 p.m.

The other event with an early start will be the softball tournament, which will continue Saturday and Sunday. Twelve teams will be entered, according to event chairman Jim Turner.

The parade will end at the village park. Antique cars and farm machinery will be parked in a roped-off area in the football infield, where they will be on display for the day.

Cable employees okay new contract

Members of United Steelworkers of America, Local 6222, ratified a new three-year contract Friday with General Cable Co.

Local President Grace Nemeth declined to give the vote, but said the pact was approved by a "substantial margin." The contract took effect Tuesday, the old one having expired Monday.

(Reportedly, the vote was 190-60.)

According to the company, the pact will mean a gain of slightly over $2 per hour in wages and fringe benefits for the 342 employees covered over the three years.

A joint announcement by Mrs. Nemeth and Plant Manager H.W. Ardler stated improvements in the contract, in addition to adjustment of wages and percentage increases, covered such areas as improvements in insurance benefits, pensions, meal allowances, family vision care programs and increase in safety shoe allowance.

The union president said negotiations took place over the course of about a month, with tentative agreement being reached last Thursday afternoon. The ratification meeting was held Friday afternoon at Cass City High School.

Although the contract covers 342 employees, not all will be able to immediately enjoy its benefits. Seventy-two are presently on layoff, according to the union president.

General Cable is a division of GK Technologies, Inc., which has its headquarters in Connecticut.

West Point grads united at Academy

The U.S. Army's decision allowing women to attend the U.S. Military Academy at West Point had special significance for Mrs. William Anker of 3840 E. Caro Road, Cass City.

The day after she graduated in the first West Point class to contain women, Lt. Karen Ciuchchini became the wife of Lt. Dean Anker, Mrs. Anker's grandson.

It will be a while before the new Mrs. Anker will be able to live with her husband, who is stationed in Germany.

She must first attend ordnance training at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds in Maryland.

According to Mrs. Anker, the wedding, which took place last Thursday in the Most Holy Trinity Chapel at West Point, was a traditional military affair with all the flash and flourish associated with the Point.

As the couple left the church, they walked under a canopy of crossed swords, a tradition at the Academy.

Mrs. Anker attended the graduation and wedding with her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Don Anker of Bay City. Don Anker is also a graduate of the Academy and is a retired lieutenant colonel.

The bride is the daughter of Col. Michael J. Ciuchchini of Cocoa Beach, Fla.

Mrs. Anker said numerous weddings were taking place at West Point following graduation.

Her grandson had a short leave after which he had to return to Germany and his wife reported to duty in Maryland.

Once her temporary duty is over, the Ankers should be able to reside together, Mrs. Anker said. She was not sure when that would be.

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Norb Seeley brought in a couple of Chronicle statements issued to J. A. Caldwell in 1912. One was a bill for 150 calendars for $19.63. The other was for advertising that included a 52-inch ad for $4.68.

Advertising probably costs 20 times that today while circulation is four times or more greater.

Just for fun I checked the ad in question. It was to sell stoves, no price listed. The same issue had ads for men's suits for $10 and new shoes for men and women at prices listed from $1.00 to $3.75. Children's new shoes started at 20 cents a pair and sold at up to $2.50 a pair.

Thanks to Mrs. Devere Rakestrae of Lupton, Mi., the owner of a Cass City High School "key" has a chance to get it back. The ornament was found in the laundry building at Rose City.

Mrs. Rakestrae sent the key to Principal Russ Richards of Cass City and it can be claimed by identifying it.

*****

Cass City Schools will be saying good-bye for good to Dale McIntosh when school closes this spring. After 10 years, McIntosh is quitting to accept a position with a local bank.

The school loses a fine teacher and coach and the Cass City Teachers' Association loses its president.

Elsewhere the Chronicle has devoted the better part of 2 pages to statements from the school board candidates.

It's sure that there will be plenty of other items in the paper better read. That doesn't mean that we begrudge the space. If it helps a few thinking voters make an informed decision next Monday it will be worth it.

The lion's share of local tax dollars go to run our schools and it's worth a little time and effort to try and pick the best available.

For the first time in years the school is asking for a millage increase of 1.52. We all know that doesn't mean that taxes haven't raised. Increases in valuation have upped the cost to all of us.

But the bottom line is still how we compare with other districts and there we look good. Our taxes are among the lowest in the area and with the bleak State Aid picture this year the money is necessary to maintain the system.

The board returns to the taxpayer each year for money to run the school. That's all to the good. If every user of our tax dollars were forced to justify the way they spend our money the same way I'll guarantee that we'd be getting more for our money, much more for our money, than we do today.

Too soon to tell effect of governor's cutback

It's too soon yet to know the effect of Gov. Milliken's $97 million slash in state spending. Cass City village Supt. Lou LaPonsie said Tuesday.

The governor's cutback, out of present fiscal year spending, was announced last Wednesday and includes a $23 million reduction in aid to local governmental units.

It appears, LaPonsie said, the village will lose all of the $2,500 in intangibles tax revenue it had anticipated, plus there will be reductions of as yet unknown amounts in income tax and state shared revenues Cass City would otherwise receive.

The 1980 budget had anticipated receiving $16,500 in income tax and $45,000 in state shared revenue this year.

In preparing the budget, he pointed out, these amounts had already been reduced from what the village might have received in prosperous years, in anticipation that this year would be a bad one financially for the state.

TURNAROUND -- Recent rains have been a boon to crops already planted, but a hindrance to planting the rest of them, such as this farmer was doing along E. Morrison Road near Ubyly last week. According to Tuscola County Extension Director Bill Bortel, it's getting very late to plant corn and colored beans, excluding black turtles, but farmers still have a couple of weeks left to plant navy beans.

Sewage survey in Gagetown Saturday

Members of the Gagetown Village Council and representatives of Edmands Engineering are scheduled to conduct a survey in the village Saturday, needed in order to apply for federal and state funds for construction of a sanitary sewer and treatment system.

They will be asking such questions of homeowners as whether they have a septic tank, are their drains connected to the storm sewer, etc.

Representatives of the Bay City engineering firm told the council Monday that if all goes well, funds might be obtained to allow ground-breaking for the lagoon sewage treatment system and sewers by spring of next year.

In other action, the council designated June 23-27 for pick up of brush, tree limbs and leaves in the village. The items should be left by the curb during those days.

Only those items will be accepted, as they are the only things that can still be dumped at the old village landfill.

Installation of new sidewalk on South Street in front of the homes of William Ehrlich and Doug Comment was approved.

The certified public accounting firm of Anderson, Lynch, Nietzke and Co. of Bad Axe was hired to do the audit of the village books when the current fiscal year ends.

The Haire Net

Jim Wagner is a national spelling bee director and has been for 21 years.

You'd think that when he talks about spellers and spelling you are getting the straight dope right from the horse's mouth.

I suspect that he's a pretty good speller himself. He must be because he hasn't the foggiest about what makes a good speller.

He says that one of the keys to a good speller is that as a child he was a voracious reader.

What a crock. If there ever was a voracious reader, I'm it. If there ever was a lousy speller, I'm it.

By ultra conservative estimate, I've read 1,000 books plus a mile high list of magazines, starting with the Saturday Evening Post when 12 years old.

The big boss in the family did little reading until she started in self defense after talking to herself while I was reading.

Yet she can spell just about anything you ask her to (and I ask her plenty!).

Good spellers are like good athletes. Born, not made. It's a God-given talent like being agile, and 7-foot tall with an uncanny ability for putting the ball through a basketball hoop.

You can get better with practice, but that's all. Today I imagine that if you took 100 persons off the street I might range about at the midway point. When I graduated from high school I probably would have been in the bottom 10 percent.

Using words everyday has helped me with some of the simple words and some of the unusual words like faux pas, clique, pique. Those I can spell.

But for years, literally years, I struggled with until. Was it until or untill? Another toughie was suppose. Was it suppose, suposse or suppose?

If you're not a speller you instantly know what I'm talking about. If you can spell you don't understand it at all.

There is one aid to the poor speller (besides the dictionary). It's to strive to enunciate words distinctly.

Take the word strictly. More times than not you'll hear it pronounced strictly and that's the way I used to spell it.

If you're asking why a poor speller is in the news business the answer is no matter what the field there are areas where we excel and areas where we do not.

My answer was to surround myself with people with the talent and hope for the best.

(Note to proofreader: Be SURE that only the deliberately misspelled words are left uncorrected.)

"If It Fitz. . ." Finding myself

By Jim Fitzgerald

A reader named Carol Murray figures writing a column takes only a few minutes a day, and she wonders what I do with the rest of my time. What I do is look behind bushes and under beds, searching for myself. Hoping to weather the male midlife crisis, I am trying to find my identity so I can have it altered.

Carol put her question this way:

"If your job is to help me start out my day on the right foot, then you are successful. But I imagine you typing some funny short story, which would take about an hour, and the rest of the day is spent sitting with your feet up on the desk and drinking coffee. Somehow your job seems too easy. There must be more to it than what I can think of. Please describe your job. . ."

Carol's description is accurate, except I don't drink coffee. In my younger years, I worked much harder. I was an assembly line worker for Chrysler, a mailman, an advertising salesman, a sports writer, an editor and several other things. I didn't have all these jobs at the same time, but sometimes it seemed that way. In those days, the only time I put my feet on a desk was to change a light bulb on the ceiling.

But about five years ago, I suddenly realized I was middle-aged and I still didn't know who I was, or where I was. I decided to cut my working hours so I'd have sufficient time to find myself. As a steady reader of interviews with psychologists and movie stars and other experts on functional living, I knew how important it is for a person to find himself or herself, which ever the case may be.

Once I read that Burt Reynolds didn't find himself until he was 40 years old. At the time, this made me feel smug. I had thought I found myself when I was only 30, while looking in a mirror. But, after serious reflection, I decided my mirror image was of no real substance. I realized it was shallow of me to think I could polish my image simply by rubbing it with Windex. I kept looking.

My concern deepened when I read about Dom DeLuise, the chubby comedian, who said: ". . . It's so easy to lose who you are."

This raised the possibility of more than one search for the same me. Even if I did find myself, I could later lose myself. Repeated searches would leave me no time for work at all, not even as a one-hour-a-day columnist. I vowed that once I did find myself, I would never let myself out of my sight.

Then I read an interview with Michael E. McGill, a PhD from the University of South Carolina. He wrote a book called "The 40 to 60 Year Old Male," in which he said every male has a midlife crisis. By age 50 I had experienced no hot flashes and no impulse to wear a pizza-sized medallion around my neck, so I naively hoped I had slept through my midlife crisis. Dr. McGill convinced me I was mistaken.

"The midlife crisis stops when the man alters his identity in such a way that he is no longer vulnerable to threats to that identity which brought about the crisis in the first place," Dr. McGill said. "If there is no fundamental alteration in his identity, the man will remain ever vulnerable to those same threats, ever vulnerable to crisis."

This means when I finally do discover my identity, my task won't be completed. I must also take it in for alterations. Naturally, there is no way I can know whether I should be shortened or lengthened until I find me. Maybe all I will need is a tuck under the chin.

Obviously, my time is running out. I don't want to be an old man before I know who I am. Certainly, I don't want my survivors to say I died of midlife crisis, at the age of 80, without ever knowing who I was.

So, in answer to Carol Murray's question, that's what I do when I'm not writing a column. I try to find myself.

And that's all for today. Not only is my hour up, but I just glanced out the window and I think I saw me walking down the street, toward a saloon.

PEDALING AROUND

Being judged

By Mike Eliasohn

Recession turns Tuscola youth towards military

I hope the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners doesn't approve breaking away from Lapeer county in order for Tuscola to have its own circuit judge. If they do, the only thing that can save us is the common sense of the Lapeer county commissioners.

There presently are three judges for two counties, but at the urging of State Sen. Alvin DeGrow, the legislature has approved and the governor has signed a bill that will allow Lapeer county to have two judges and Tuscola, one.

DeGrow didn't start pushing the measure until he first checked with Tuscola commissioners to make sure they still wanted a solo judge for the county, it must be pointed out.

The basis for my argument is that the judicial system in Tuscola county will be more efficient sharing three judges with Lapeer county than with one here full time.

Part of the argument raised by the Tuscola board two years ago is now meaningless.

At the time, the two judges were both from Lapeer county and commissioners thought Tuscola should have its own judge, one reason being that it would save deputies from having to make long trips at night to get legal papers signed, such as for a search warrant.

That argument went out the window when Patrick Joslyn of Caro was elected two years ago. His term has eight years to run.

Admittedly, there might be a cost saving if there were only one judge. There would be only one judge's salary to supplement (in addition to the wage paid by the state), instead of three, and Tuscola would only need one circuit courtroom instead of the present two.

But the second courtroom, added in 1978, is already there and careful planning would allow it to be used more for non-judicial purposes to help resolve the county's office space crunch.

As for the extra pay, each circuit judge gets $4,500 each additional from Tuscola county; $8,500 each additional from Lapeer. If Tuscola had to pay only one judge an additional $13,000, it would save $500 over what it shells out now to three judges, which certainly isn't much out of a county budget of more than $4 million.

One disadvantage of having a lone judge is that if he is away, due to illness, vacation, etc., the court system shuts down. A visiting judge can be brought in, but that can't be done overnight and sometimes additional expense is involved. With three judges, there is no such problem.

More importantly, when the issue first came up two years ago, a study showed more than a third of the cases introduced in the two counties originated in Tuscola.

That is still true, which means a lone judge in Tuscola won't be able to keep up with his case load.

The addition of a third judge has resulted in enough manpower to start chipping away at the backlog of civil cases.

According to Judge Joslyn, he has been handling cases three and four years old.

Instead of the backlog decreasing, with a lone judge here, it will increase. If there is a logical reason for Tuscola county to have its own circuit judge, I would like to hear it. So far, I haven't.

Lutheran women hold picnic meeting

Good Shepherd Ladies Aid met at the Cass City Park Monday evening for a picnic for its June meeting.

Business included the decision to hold a coffee hour on Sundays throughout the summer prior to worship services. They will begin Sunday, June 15, at 9:30 a.m. Services are at 10:45 a.m.

The group plans a work project of making more Christmas for the Christmas season.

Mrs. Helen Avery conducted the business meeting. She is now president, replacing Mrs. James Van Dellen.

Monday was Mrs. Van Dellen's birthday, which the group celebrated, and she was presented a gift.

Mrs. Jackie Guinther, Mrs. Joan Guinther and Mrs. Dorothy Haire are the committee in charge for June.

Mrs. Tom McComb, Mrs. Elfrida Guinther, Rev. Van Dellen and children were guests and 14 members were present.

With one of every eight Michiganders out of work, jobs are hard to come by. There are some places that are still hiring, but there's a hitch.

The hitch is a minimum of two years.

The places doing the hiring are the Army, Air Force, Navy and Marines, and the recruiters for those four branches in Caro all report business has improved.

Inquiries are up and at a minimum, meeting quotas is easier.

Army Sgt. First Class John Scott and Staff Sgt. Phil Bovin have a total "objective" of seven enlistees a month for their territory of Tuscola county and most of Sanilac.

The last few months, Scott said, they have been achieving about 125 percent of their goal.

"It's been a boom until this month," said Staff Sgt. Jim Markham, Air Force recruiter for Huron and Tuscola county. His "goal" is three persons in a month.

In March, he signed up seven; in April, four, and as of last week, four so far this month.

Inquiries are up "200

Services held Monday for Mrs. Tennant

Funeral services for Ruth (Wiley) Tennant, 77, who died Friday following a brief illness, in the Caro Community Hospital, were held Monday at the Collon Funeral Home of Caro.

She was born Oct. 6, 1902, in Wayne county and had lived in Tuscola county for the last 50 years.

Mrs. Tennant was a former director of nursing at Caro Community Hospital and a night supervisor at Hills and Dales General Hospital, in Cass City. She also served as a Justice of the Peace for Indianfields township.

She was a member of the Kedron chapter 33 of the Order of the Eastern Star. Miss Wiley married Charles Tennant Oct. 16, 1933. He died in 1958.

Surviving are: one daughter, Barbara Smith, of Tampa, Fla., and one stepdaughter, Mrs. Stanley (Ruby) Emery, of Caro. She is also survived by eight grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Rev. Clive Dickens, of the Caro United Methodist church, officiated the ceremony and burial was in the Caro cemetery.

percent," he said.

Chief Engineer E-7 James R. Baker and one other recruiter have a total goal of eight recruits per month for Tuscola and Huron counties. (As of June 1, Sanilac is added).

Instead of eight, they have been enlisting 10-12 of late. Enlistments started increasing six months ago.

The only recruiter who didn't report exceeding his goal is Staff Sgt. Robert Baczynski of the Marines, responsible for Tuscola and Huron counties.

His quota is three or four a month and the poor state of the economy has given him the advantage that recruits are "not that difficult to find." He would have signed up more had they been able to pass the entrance tests or medical examination.

Who is joining the military these days?

As might be expected at this time of year, many are graduating seniors. For the Army, they form a majority of the new recruits.

There is one change this year. In the past, Scott said, it was common to hear seniors say they thought they would try working in the shops (factories) first. Now, however, they know they can't get jobs in the shops so "I hear that very seldom any more."

Baczynski also said he is taking in a lot of high school students. He projects there will be even more this summer after they have been out a while and can't find jobs.

In contrast, Markham said he hasn't signed up that many from high school, that most joining the Air Force have been out a year or more.

One had been employed at a dairy farm and got tired of working 84 hours a week. In March, the sergeant enlisted a husband and wife and another husband, none with children. The Air Force tries to keep married couples together but there is no guarantee.

Baczynski was working in a central recruiting office in Detroit prior to coming to Caro a few months ago, and before then in Midland. The Marine recruiter said there were instances of fathers with children wanting to enlist, but if they have more than one child, it requires special permission.

When in Detroit, he said, enlistments increased immediately after the hostages were seized in Iran. "There was quite a bit of a run on patriotism," he commented. The patriotic fervor eventually died down, but the increased enlistments continued because by then factory layoffs had started.

Starting pay in all branches is $448 a month, but all offer bonuses for those who sign up for special programs (provided they are found eligible).

The Army, for instance, pays a $3,000 bonus for those who sign up for infantry, artillery, armor or signal intelligence for four years.

In the Navy, persons going into nuclear programs and advanced electronics, hospital, welding, mechanics and communications fields enter two pay grades higher. There are also bonuses; however, they must sign up for six years, as well as pass the examination and meet other qualifications.

The Army, Navy and Marines still sign up high school dropouts, though the recruiters for those branches pointed out dropouts often have trouble passing the entrance examination.

Female recruits still form a small part of the enlistment picture. Scott guessed that about 10 percent of Army enlistees are women, for instance.

In the Navy, according to Baker, about 20 percent of those signing up are female.

Day long art fair in Bad Axe

Puppets, magic, artistic displays and hundreds of balloons will be just part of the events planned for an Arts A'Fair Saturday in the Bad Axe City Park.

The event is being sponsored by the Thumb Council for the Arts, and will run from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Among the activities planned for the fair will be tours of an antique log cabin with displays of rug-hooking, crocheting and other crafts by women costumed in authentic 19th century outfits.

R. Brent Woodward will present his show of magic and mystifying illusion and Tom Claar will perform with his puppet theater during the fair.

Many of the events are geared toward the younger set and a highlight of the fair will be the release of hundreds of signed balloons with notes attached asking the finders to send news of the balloon's destination.

Children will have a chance to show off their artistic talents with art being collected from area schools for display. Children attending the fair will also have an opportunity to paint and draw.

The fine art of Polish Easter egg decorating will be demonstrated and lessons offered during the afternoon.

Clowns from the Bad Axe High School drama club will be on hand to keep fairgoers in a jovial mood during the festivities.

New valuation set for Huron county

The State Tax Commission (STC) last week set a new state equalized valuation for Huron county of $578.72 million, about $6 million less than the amount it tentatively approved May 12.

Its original figure was only $1 less than the valuation figured by county Equalization Director George Danks, however, the final and official figure is still $2.2 million more than the amount approved by the county Board of Commissioners May 1.

The latest change was because the STC found commercial property had been assessed at 53.6 percent of true cash value, instead of the required 50 percent.

May pleads guilty

David R. May, scheduled to stand trial July 2 in connection with a March 17 shooting in Owendale, pleaded guilty Friday in Huron County Circuit Court to one of the charges against him.

Judge Richard M. Knoblock accepted his guilty plea to a charge of injury of another person by careless discharge of a firearm. Sentencing was scheduled June 27.

The charge involved his firing a shot through the door of George's Bar, injuring David J. Abbe of Gagetown.

May, 45, of 6631 Koepfgen Road, Cass City, had also been charged with fleeing and eluding in connection with the incident.

Pair charged for wrecking tractors

Two area youths were arraigned before the district court magistrate Tuesday, charged in connection with vandalism of and theft from two tractors in Novesta township.

Charged with malicious destruction of property over $100 and larceny from a motor vehicle is Dean Keyser, 17, of 3036 Warner Road, Cass City. Bond was set by Magistrate Donald Smith at $4,000.

Danny Keyser, 20, of 5303 Cumber Road, Ubyly, was charged with larceny under $100, a misdemeanor. His bond was set at $1,000.

Arraignment for both before District Judge Richard F. Kern was scheduled June 11.

Both have since posted bond.

Warrants charging the pair were issued by the Tuscola county prosecutor's office Monday. The sheriff's department has requested that a juvenile be petitioned into probate court in connection with the incident, but as of Tuesday, that action was still pending at the prosecutor's office.

Jesse J. Bruce Jr. of Barrons Road, Deford, reported the incident to deputies Saturday morning, it having happened some time since 7 the previous evening.

The tractors had been parked across the road from each other in the Warner-DeLong - Phillips - Severance Road area.

In the cab of the large four-wheel-drive tractor, Bruce reported, gauges and controls and a radio console were smashed and some miscellaneous tools taken.

Some bags of Atrazine stored nearby were cut.

An AM-FM radio and two speakers were taken from the tractor across the road.

A total monetary estimate of the damage and the value of the items stolen wasn't listed on the sheriff's department report, but what was listed totaled $715.

OTHER ITEMS

Television and radio equipment, antique telephones and an automobile engine worth a total of $1,150

were reported stolen

Richard Hines of 4765 S. Moore Road, Cass City, told Huron county deputies a citizens band radio, three antique phones from the 1900s era, two metal boxes with television repair parts and numerous other parts had been taken from the storage he uses for his part-time television repair business. The items were valued at $1,000.

The six-cylinder engine, worth $150, was taken from a barn.

In another Grant township theft, James Wissner reported to deputies that a 600-650 pound Holstein heifer had been taken from a pen behind the homes of Ronald and Roland Wissner on Kilmanagh Road. It was valued at $700.

Wissner reported six of 28 animals were shipped out by truck Friday. A count of the remaining animals showed 21 there instead of the 22 that should have been there. James and Ronald Wissner are the owners of the missing heifer.

Robert Ryland of 4242 S. Seeger Street told Cass City police that several items were taken from his pickup camper while it was parked in the rear of the Colonial Inn or in his driveway some time between 7:15 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. Sunday.

Taken were fishing tackle and tackle box, portable radio, camera and film and two fishing rods and two reels. The stolen items were valued at $426.

Dennis Nye of Elmwood Road reported to Cass City police May 27 that a chainsaw and case had been stolen from his pickup. They were last seen May 10 and were worth a total of $180.

Approximately $65 in change was stolen from the Texaco service station in Gagetown between 6 p.m. last Wednesday and 7:30 a.m. Thursday.

Daniel Wood, an attendant at the station, told Tuscola deputies there was evidence of entry through a broken window and that the door was unlocked when he arrived.

The money, which was

Christner stands mute to murder

Glen A. Christner, charged with murder in the March 5 shooting death of his wife, stood mute when he appeared in Circuit Court Monday before Judge Patrick R. Joslyn.

He also stood mute to a charge of possession of a firearm during commission of a felony.

The judge entered pleas of innocent on both charges, refused to set bond and remanded the defendant to the county jail to await a pretrial hearing July 21.

Christner, 31, is charged with shooting his wife to death in their home on M-46, Caro. Joslyn ruled in early May that he was competent to stand trial.

motor vehicle May 1 in Denmark township. A plea of innocent was entered and a pre-trial hearing set Aug. 18. Bond was continued.

Jeffrey S. Edgley, 17, of 6255 Pinkerton Road, Vassar, was sentenced to two years' probation and ordered to pay fines and costs totaling $300. He was also sentenced to 30 days in jail which was suspended without a date to be served. He was credited with one day already served.

Edgley pleaded guilty Dec. 14 to malicious destruction of property over $100, to having broken a Vassar hardware store window last October. Sentencing was then delayed six months.

William R. Vandenburg, 17, of 8403 Vassar Road, Millington, pleaded innocent to charges that he broke conditions of his probation.

He was sentenced in February to three years' probation for larceny in a building. He was charged with violating probation by failure to pay court ordered obligations due in April, maintain a steady employment and reside in an approved residence.

Bond was set at $200 with a hearing date to be set Monday before Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements, Walter R. Oliver, 27, of Lansing, pleaded innocent to a charge of violating probation.

He was placed on five years' probation in April, 1979, to attempted embezzlement of funds over $100; of having taken more than $8,000 from the Arrowhead Country Club outside of Caro while he was employed as manager.

He is charged with violating probation by failing to pay court-ordered obligations from November through January.

A hearing was scheduled June 16. Bond was continued.

DISTRICT COURT

Twomey, of 4679 South Street, Gagetown, had backed his pickup truck into the trailer of a beer distributor's truck in Gagetown May 22.

He was ordered to pay fines and costs totaling $305 and attend alcohol education classes and any others that may be deemed necessary

Photography club to improve skills

Photographers wishing to improve skills and compare talents will soon be able to do so with the forming of the Thumb Area Photography Club.

Such a club should be successful judging from area interest, according to Erlind Nordstrom, assistant director of the Caro Community Services Department.

The benefits of forming a club can be seen in discount rates, often available to members, on such items as film, equipment and processing costs, Nordstrom said.

Competition within and between different clubs also helps to sharpen the skills of photographers, he added.

Persons interested in finding out more should contact Nordstrom at the Community Services Office or call 673-3166, extension 241.

John Borek Jr., S. Phillips Road, Clifford, and Albert Ruggles, E. Sanilac Road, Kingston, are being challenged by Doug McCool, E. Sanilac Road, Kingston, and Wesley Scott, English Road, Silverwood.

The district has two millage levies up for renewal, 14 mills for operations and 1 mill for parking lot improvements. Continuing past practice, both levies are for only one year.

The parking lot levy was on the ballot and approved for the first time a year ago. Supt. Robert Cameron said cost estimates are being obtained from contractors to determine how much can be done with the money from the first year of the levy. Work needs to be done on the lots at the high school and at the elementary building.

Assuming the levy is approved, he anticipates it will have to be on the ballot one more year to complete the parking lots.

The state equalized valuation of the Kingston district is about $26 million, according to Cameron, so one mill will raise about $26,000.

The 14 mills up for renewal for operations, plus the nine allocated mills, gives the district a total levy of 23 mills.

The district had a Headlee amendment rollback applied last year of .25 mill. The superintendent couldn't say yet what the rollback will be this year, but it could be less than last year.

The other big factor in the fiscal picture is state revenue. It was too early as of last week to know how much Kingston will lose from Gov. Milliken's $35 million cut in local school aid, which on a statewide basis is about a 1.1 percent cut in combined state school aid and local property tax revenue.

The governor is also recommending a cut in state aid for the new fiscal year that starts Oct. 1, but, the superintendent pointed out, some legislators are pushing for a higher amount than the governor's recommendation.

Thus it is too early to say, even if the millage passes, how much revenue Kingston will have for the 1980-81 school year. Because of increases in valuation, property tax revenue will increase although the millage rate stays the same.

Combined with reduced state aid, Cameron guesses the district might only have as much money to spend next year as it did during the current school year, but costs will, of course, be up.

What that means, he said, "is real difficult to guess."

"We can take money out of reserves, but I don't know how long we can do that."

As for now, he concluded, the district will just have to be "extra cautious. We'll just have to wait and see how it will affect us."

UBLY

Board president Bernard Puvalowski of Ruth is seeking re-election. He has been on the board eight years, president for two. The other incumbent whose term is expiring, Evelyn Romzek, is not seeking re-election.

Also running for the two openings on the board are Allan Moses, Minden City, and Gayleen Lindquist, Uby.

The district is seeking renewal of 8.65 mills for five years. No increase is being requested.

District Business Manager Mark Tenbusch pointed out that the debt levy for construction of the 1965 high school addition will be on tax bills for the last time this December, so after that, taxpayers will get a reduction. The levy last year was .71 mill.

The financial picture is still unclear.

The total operational millage, including the levy expiring, is 20.9 mills, to which the district last year had to roll back 1.044 mills. It isn't expected the rollback will be as much this year.

As it still wasn't known as of last week what the district's state equalized valuation in Huron county was, it wasn't possible to say exactly how much property tax revenue Uby will receive for the 1980-81 school year, assuming the millage passes.

Even though millage will stay the same with the approval, assessments have increased, of course, thus revenue to the district will be up.

It also wasn't known yet how much state aid the district will get, other than but it will be less than this year because of cutbacks by the financially strapped state.

"We don't know where we're at," Tenbusch frankly admitted.

Because of the various above mentioned factors, it is anticipated the district will spend more money than it takes in in 1980-81 and will have to further dip into its declining reserves to get by.

Elsie Hicks

seeks new term

Incumbent Tuscola County Clerk Elsie Hicks has announced she will seek a third full 4-year term. Mrs. Hicks will run unopposed.

A Republican, she resides at 192 Crawford Road, Deford, with her husband, Gerald, a Novesta township dairy farmer. Mrs. Hicks began working in the county clerk's office in 1962 and served as deputy clerk five years.

She was appointed to fill an unexpired term as county clerk in 1970 and was elected to finish the term in the fall of 1970 and subsequently re-elected to a full 4-year term in 1972 and again in 1976.

Mrs. Hicks is an active member of the Deford United Methodist church where she is past president of the United Methodist Women and still teaches a Sunday school class. She is also an active member of the Farm Bureau group and is a member of the Michigan Association of County Clerks.

She is a lifelong resident of Tuscola county. She and her husband have three married children and six grandchildren.

Ida Gordon dies

Ida Gordon, 85, died Friday, May 30, at Provincial House of Cass City, after a long illness.

She was born Dec. 16, 1894, in Ruth, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert and Elizabeth Vogel.

Miss Vogel married John Gordon Oct. 29, 1930, in Elkton. Following their marriage they lived on a farm in Greenleaf township. Her husband died Nov. 4, 1958.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Gordon taught school in Sanilac county, and later was treasurer of Greenleaf township. She attended the Cass City Missionary church.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Donald (Barbara) Hanby of Cass City; three sisters, Miss Clara Vogel and Miss Alma Vogel, both of Caro, and Mrs. Raymond Spencer of Cass City; five grandchildren, and one great-granddaughter. Four sisters and two brothers preceded her in death.

Funeral services for Mrs. Gordon were Monday at 1 p.m. at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with Rev. Robert Taylor, of the Cass City Missionary church, officiating.

Burial was in Elkland cemetery.

Babies honored at Salem

Honored in Salem United Methodist church Sunday were 15 babies ranging in age from 12-day-old Douglas Grant Ball to 1-year-old Chad Loren O'Harris. Following the opening of the 11 a.m. worship service, Rev. Eldred Kelley officiated at the baptism of Justin Luis Salas and Shawn Douglas Klebba.

Kelley to the parents of the four babies and parents of Chad Michael Phillips, Jamie Lynn Bock, Jamie Lynn Vatter, Laura Jane Trueman, Luther Gabriel Dinsmore, Amanda Lee Lapeer, Kary Lynn Otulakowski, Ryan Joseph Brinkman and Joshua John Brinkman. Two honorees not present were Jennifer Ruth Eyer and Adam Edward Willis.

Schweitzer in good condition

Brent A. Schweitzer, 25, of Owendale, was reported in good condition Wednesday morning at Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe, where he has been since an early morning accident Monday.

Bad Axe state police reported he was southbound on Elkton Road at 1:30 a.m., about four miles south of Elkton, when he swerved to miss a deer that ran in front of his pickup truck.

The vehicle traveled 700 feet along the west edge of the road, struck a culvert and bridge marker, went airborne, landed on the road shoulder, traveled 100 feet into a field, then rolled over three or four times. Schweitzer was thrown from the truck.

Donald D. Booms, 18, and Terrance Gosdzinski, 17, both of Uby, were treated and released from Huron Memorial following an 11:20 p.m. accident Sunday.

Huron county deputies reported they were westbound on Atwater Road when Booms lost control on wet pavement as he was turning right onto Bad Axe Road.

The auto crossed the centerline, entered the south ditch and flipped onto its side.

Kevin R. Krueger, 17, of 4911 Huron Street, was ticketed by Cass City police on a charge of making an improper turn after a 7:55 p.m. accident Monday.

Officers reported Elaine S. Hillaker, 49, of 6350 Greenland Road, southbound on Scotty McCullough Drive, was stopped at Main Street, when Krueger, westbound on Main, turned too wide when turning onto McCullough Drive. His vehicle struck the side of the Hillaker auto.

Robert Hunter, 17, of 4468 Hurds Corner Road, Kingston, escaped injury early Monday, May 26, when his pickup went out of control and rolled over on Cemetery Road, north of M-46.

The Hunter vehicle was northbound when the accident occurred at 3:30 a.m., according to the sheriff's department.

A car driven by Noel G. Powell, 17, of 5566 Decker-ville Road, Deford, ran off the road and hit a sign at the intersection of Unionville and Dixon Roads at 10:30 p.m. Saturday, according to deputies.

He was westbound on Dixon Road when the accident occurred.

Art show Saturday

The Third Annual Sandusky Arts and Crafts Show will be Saturday in the park surrounding the Sanilac county courthouse.

Crafts will be displayed and for sale from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. with a variety of entertainment available during the day.

Demonstrations in various crafts will also take place for children as well as adults.

Wants to keep a representative of Evergreen Schools on Cass City Board. Will represent the wishes of rural people to the School Board. I will try to spend the taxpayers' money wisely while maintaining a quality education program. I would like to work with the elementary program to see that the young people get off to a good start. I will work toward upgrading the English, writing and communication in our schools. I will encourage greater participation in Vocational Training, particularly our new Tuscola Skill Center. I will back our Principals in dealing with disciplinary problems. We need to implement a quality sex education program. We need to give as much encouragement to the performing arts as we give our athletic programs.

1) Age 47, of 2558 Hobart Road, Gagetown. Married with seven children, three previously graduated from Cass City. One graduated this year, three still attending Cass City schools. I belong to St. Agatha's Catholic church in Gagetown of which I am an active member.

I am and have been active in various farm organizations. I am a full-time farmer. We grow beans, beets, corn and wheat.

2) Because I am a father, I want my children to have the needed training I believe they will need to face life. Because I am a taxpayer, I want a good return on my tax dollars and I am willing to spend time and energy to make these two areas compatible.

3) Our board and administrators have been able to give us a good dollar return I think it would have been very hard to get more for our tax dollars. We are spending about right and we will need all the millage issues to pass to continue on course. We need them.

4) Our elementary program is sound. Our intermediate program needs some attention in light of our scores on state assessment tests. At the high school level, we will have to wait until we can see what impact the new skill center in Caro will have. At that time, we can view our own curriculum and make whatever adjustments we should. Overall, we have a sound curriculum.

5) Administrators' salaries are high. One of our strengths is that we are able to have a continuity of administration because our people stay on the job. That also raises their salaries. In reviewing their salaries, we should look at what similar-sized school districts are doing and review our own financial assets, then go from there.

6) In asking for the millage, the board has said it feels that enough money will be available to run our school if all three millage issues pass. I would try to avoid a strike but not at the risk of making the amount of money we have available insufficient for the total school operation.

E. Paul Lockwood

1) Age 45, of Greenland Road, Cass City.

He is the father of five children who are being or have been educated through the Cass City educational system. Debbie has finished her second year at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, while Mary Jo completed her first year at Spring Arbor (Mich.) College. Both daughters graduated as valedictorians at Cass City High School. With three boys still at home, David will be entering the 11th, Tim the eighth and Jamie the sixth grade this fall.

Dr. Lockwood has practiced his profession of chiropractic in Cass City for 22 years. He is an active member of the Michigan State Chiropractic Association, Michigan State Chiropractic Orthopedic Society, Cass City Chamber of Commerce and attends Salem United Methodist church with his family.

He is a present member of the Cass City School Board of Education and is interested in representing and serving the school district for another four year term.

2) The areas in which I feel I can contribute the most to the Cass City educational system are:

-Good policy development at the board level which represents the thinking of the community at large.

-Equitable financial responsibility including all areas of education

-Receiving the most from the dollars spent.

-Help in maintaining a reasonable, friendly working relationship between administrators, teachers, maintenance personnel and students. Efficiency is the key to a good system.

3 and 4) The Cass City School system is maintaining a good curricular program. The education is there for all students who wish to participate and achieve at any level to their ability. To maintain the same curricular program as we now have, the additional millage will be needed. With the Headlee rollback tax formula, the school tax revenue share was down.

5) The question of discussion that administrators' salaries are too high may be logically compared to the salaries of other people in the surrounding communities doing the same or similar work. Our administrators are working hard and have been doing a good and acceptable job for our district. The administrative salaries have been maintained at a median level in measure to the responsibility of that office.

6) Negotiating for a new teachers' contract has become a professional procedure. A reasonable overall costs percentage must be reached. As far as speculating at this time on a given percentage factor, an 8-9 percent increase is in the ball park. Strike procedures are usually not the best way to solve differences in the educational field, but let us look forward to the future that all will be well.

Dave Loomis

1) Age 40, of 4796 E. Cass City Road, 3 1/2 miles west of Cass City on M-81. My wife's name is Joyce and my four children are Mike, 17; Jeff, 15; Julie, 9, and Diana, 6.

I am a dairy farmer and work in partnership with my older brother, Don. Our dairy setup is located on Cedar Run Road.

I have served on the Tuscola County Farm Bureau Board for nine years. Of those nine years, I served as the county president for three years. I was the FB Young Farmer's chairman for three years. I served on the Sebawaing Local Board for three years for Michigan Milk Producers. I have served on various church committees and on the administrative board at Salem United Methodist church in Cass City.

2) I am interested in the education of my children and school activities in general. I feel it's part of my responsibility as a parent to be willing to serve on various boards and committees in my community. At this time I'm only serving on the board of Bay Shore Church Camp and some church committees so I feel I would have time to give towards being a school board member. With our four children in school, I have some knowledge of what is going on in some areas.

I feel I would have some input on the board as far as the rural area goes. I would hope that people would tell me how they feel about issues if I were elected. I could talk for the people's concerns as much as possible then.

3) As far as spending money in the Cass City system, I really can't say it's too much or too little in general. I feel the school system is in a pretty good position for these inflated times. Our millage is one of the lowest in the county so if we have to increase it, it will still be reasonably low compared to other schools. If we want to keep the curriculum at least as good as it is, we no doubt will have to have a millage increase during these inflated times.

4) No response.

5) The administrators' salaries are of concern to myself as well as many people of the community. I know they have a lot of responsibility, but I don't feel it's necessary to give them large increases over what is already considered a high wage.

6) The teacher has as big if not bigger position teaching class every day and trying to keep discipline. The way I see it, a good part of a teacher's paycheck is paid just to get someone to put up with all the discipline problems they have. If the classroom was a more enjoyable place to work, I feel the teacher's salary would not be so much of a problem. From what little I know about the whole problem, I would give the teachers the increase.

I don't have all the answers for the Cass City School Board. I'm just willing to work with others for a continuing good school system.

Frederick Matthews

1) Age 47, of 4871 Hadley Road, Decker. He and his wife have three children, two of whom attend Evergreen Elementary School. He is a dairy farmer. A member of Good Shepherd Lutheran church, he has served as its financial secretary the past seven years.

2) I have been an independent businessman (farmer) the past 26 years, having to live within projected income and expenses and still stay solvent. I expect I could recognize the financial needs and operational complexities of our school district.

3) I feel education is one of the best investments one can make. I think we have about reached the peak of expenditures for athletics.

I think we must direct our spending in the direction of vocational and career opportunities. We must realistically prepare our graduates for what they are going to find when they have to support themselves.

Our spending will be governed by what the taxpayers are willing to spend. We would like to spend more on education if it were available.

I support the request for increased millage. The increased operational costs due to inflation command that we pass increased millage to balance the upcoming budget. The state requires a balanced budget.

4) I think all levels of our school need more teaching of the basics. Reading so they can comprehend, proper grammar so they can communicate and proper writing so it will be legible.

I would like to see more science as it pertains to everyday living. Also, I would like to see a renewed interest in music, both vocal and instrumental.

5) I think our administrators' salaries are high; however, one shouldn't mind paying the price if the administrators are doing a good job and are saving the district money by wise management. I feel their salaries are sufficient for some time to come.

6) I feel the teachers will ask for salaries and benefits along the same line as given the administrators, probably about 9 percent. Any more would raise the public's ire.

I think it is up to the teachers to convince the public they are consumers, too. They buy homes, autos, food, etc., like the rest of us. I would not like to see a strike. It leaves behind too many bad memories for both sides.

Walter Zmierski

1) Age 50, of 6192 Ritter Road, a resident of the Cass City area all his life. He and his wife, Evelyn, have five children, a married daughter, Angie Noble; son Michael, in the U.S. Navy; Mark and Teresa, both 1980 graduates of Cass City High School, and Deanne, a sophomore.

He has been employed at General Cable in Cass City 13 years and is a member and Sunday school teacher at Novesta Baptist church, Decker.

2) The morals and discipline in school are declining. Better communication between parents and teachers can bring about a definite improvement.

3) I support the increase in millage in the June 9 election since this is a contract year with the teachers and because of the steadily increasing rise in the cost of living. I feel their paychecks should be increased to keep up with it.

4) Because of the nationwide studies that have shown students are graduating without knowing how to read, in some areas, I feel it is important that we put more emphasis on the three R's, reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic.

5) I believe the administration salaries should be frozen -- NOW. I imagine there are a lot of administrators that would be totally qualified and more than happy to accept the salaries that are being paid in Cass City.

6) An increase of approximately 8-9 percent would be acceptable to me.

HELLO

I Am Fred Matthews

Candidate
Cass City
Board of Education

I would like to share with you some of my thoughts on parental involvement in our Cass City School System. I believe the parents must play a more important role in making known to themselves the operation of our school. Few people really know the whys and wherefores of the spending of their tax dollars. Also our administration and teachers need a closer relationship with parents about their child's classroom performance.

Last and most important, I would like to challenge parents, ministers, Sunday School teachers to enroll as many children as possible in Sunday School. We have hundreds of little folks among us who have never had exposure to the teaching of the Bible. Many of our young people are turning to drugs, sex and alcohol trying to find a personal fulfillment in life. We must turn this thing around. For when we are right from within, we see a quality life from without.

If you agree with me, I would like to hear from you. Would you support my candidacy for Cass City School Board June 9? Thank You.

Paid for by candidate.

Top athletic awards presented

Honor Hawk athletes at spring awards night

Libby Hartel and Nancy Tonti shared top honors in the voting for the girl athlete award, presented by the Cass City chapter of the American Association of University Women.

Both trophies are awarded in the same manner, according to Athletic Director Roland Pakonen. Members of the administration and all varsity coaches vote on the applicants based on their sportsmanship, leadership and academic capabilities.

in this case Clare Trischler and Deb Rabideau.

Richards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russ Richards of 6592 Houghton Street, received letters all four years as a member of the track, cross-country and golf teams and lettered his junior and senior year on the basketball team.

He holds school records in golf, cross-country and track and served as captain on the cross-country, basketball and track teams.

In addition, Richards was named to all-conference teams in cross-country during his freshman, sophomore and senior seasons, and received the same honor in track during his sophomore, junior and senior years.

He was also given honorable mention all-conference his junior and senior years as a basketball player. He was named all-area, second team, during his senior year in cross-country.

The Smarks trophy was donated in the 1950s by Paul Smarks, who coached at Cass City during the mid-1920s. It was first awarded in 1955.

Miss Hartel, daughter of Lota Hartel, 6861 Herron Drive, and Lee Hartel of Caro, and Miss Tonti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Tonti, 6876 Herron Drive, also had impressive high school records. Miss Hartel received letters all four years as a member of the gymnastics team and lettered three years as a member of the girls' basketball and softball teams.

She was named most valuable player her junior year in gymnastics and basketball and during her senior year on the softball team.

She was also named all-conference, second team, as a junior softball player and was given honorable mention for that sport her sophomore year. Miss Hartel also received honorable mention, all-conference, in her junior and senior season and all-area as a senior on the girls' basketball team.

Miss Tonti participated all four years in gymnastics, basketball and softball, lettering her junior year of basketball and as a senior in gymnastics and softball.

She was named to the first team, all conference, her sophomore and junior year and the second team as a freshman, all for softball.

She also received honorable mention, all-conference, during her sophomore and junior years on the basketball team.

Also announced during the festivities was the naming of Mike Stec and Earney Stoutenburg to the all-region first team in baseball.

Stec is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Stec, 4184 Maple Street, and Stoutenburg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Stoutenburg, 4291 Maple Street.

THE OUTSTANDING GIRL ATHLETE Award is presented to this year's co-winners, Libby Hartel (left) and Nancy Tonti by last year's recipient Deb Rabideau (center).

CASS CITY'S NANCY TONTI lets loose and sends the ball flying but it was all for naught Friday as the Mayville Wildcats beat the Hawks in the district championship finals by a score of 8-3.

Girls fall to Lakers in district softball final

The Cass City High School softball team came on strong in district semi-finals Friday but the formula failed to gel for the championship game in which the Hawks narrowly missed being shut out.

The Red Hawks defeated Mayville 10-0 in the semi-final game but lost 8-3 to Lakers in the championship game. The games were played in the Cass City Recreation Park.

In the second inning at the championship game, Lakers scored on a walk followed by three singles. Two sacrifices rounded out the inning bringing in the last of four runs.

In the fourth, Lakers came through for three straight singles once again. These were followed by a double, bringing the score to a dismal 8-0.

The only Cass City scoring came late in the seventh inning with two out. Vickie Pobanz knocked out a solo home run followed by singles off the bats of Tammie Root, Tammie McKee and Nancy Tonti.

Shirley Fleming was charged with the loss, giving up 10 hits in the losing effort. Cindy Dubs was the winner. She allowed eight hits in the game.

The Hawks fared considerably better earlier in the semi-final game, played at 3:30 p.m.

After only five innings the mercy rule was imposed and Cass City walked away with a 10-0 victory over the Mayville Wildcats.

The mercy rule ends a game if either team is ahead by 10 or more points in the fifth inning.

Cass City started its scoring in the second inning with hits by Shelly Lapeer, Shirley Fleming and Beabe McLachlan. A Mayville error helped bring in the last of three runs that inning.

Three more runs in the third came off two singles, by Sherry Bader and Beth Sieradzki. They scored on a triple by Shelly Lapeer who came in on an error.

Sieradzki came through for one run in the fourth, scoring Bader from second on a single.

A two-run homer by Fleming in the fifth brought the score to 9-0. After knocking out a short single, Tammie McKee scored from first on a three-base error, placing Cass City in the district finals.

Tammie Root, who later came on in relief during the ill-fated championship game, shone as pitcher, giving up only one hit and scoring a strikeout.

Stephanie Lugowski suffered the loss, allowing 10 runs in the effort.

Lakers got into the finals by defeating Unionville-Sebewaing, 11-5.

Hawk girls win twin bill to grab share of title

With a double victory over Bad Axe Monday, the Cass City High School girls' softball team tied North Branch for a share of the Thumb B Conference crown.

The Red Hawks defeated the Hatchets by a score of 7-6 in the first game and 15-3 in the second.

The games played at Bad Axe, were the finale of the softball season, one which coach Dave Hoard termed: "Our best in a long time."

The victories give the girls a 12-2 league record and a 21-5 mark overall.

In the first contest, the Hawks came alive in the third inning as they scored four of their seven runs.

Libby Hartel knocked out a double, followed by a walk to Shelley Lapeer. Both scored on a triple by Shirley Fleming. She then scored on a triple by Vickie Pobanz who came in on an error.

Nancy Tonti scored in the first inning after hitting a single and Fleming came in on an error in the second inning after pounding out a two-base hit.

The Hawks scored once more in the seventh as Tonti came in on a single by Hartel.

Winning pitcher was Fleming with 12 hits and five strikeouts.

Losing pitcher Robin Belew allowed 10 hits and struck out two batters.

The second game saw the five-inning mercy rule go into effect with Cass City ahead by 12 runs.

The Hawks had hot innings in the second and fifth, scoring five and four runs respectively.

They also scored three runs in the first inning, two in the third and one in the fourth.

Beth Sieradzki had four runs-batted-in during four trips to the plate. Julie Carpenter and Tammie Root had three RBIs each.

Tammie Root was the winning pitcher, having given up six hits and striking out one batter.

Robin Belew received another loss. She allowed 14 hits and eight walks. She struck out one.

BEST GIRL BULLDOGS -- Receiving top honors among the Owen-Gage girl athletes were, from left, Julie Andrakowicz, most improved volleyball; Robin Sullivan, good sportsmanship softball, and Carol Goslin and Becky Howard, both most valuable in volleyball and softball.

BEST BOY BULLDOGS -- Receiving top honors among the boys at last Wednesday's Owen-Gage athletic banquet were, from left, Kirk Carolan, most improved basketball and Bulldog athlete of the year; Brad Erickson, most valuable basketball; Scott Gaeth, most improved baseball, and Pete Klemkowsky, most valuable baseball.

O-G places in 4 events at state track meet

Owen-Gage placed in four events at Grand Blanc Saturday to win eighth place in the state Class D boys' track meet.

Jeff Hallock was the team's top performer, with his 21'7" in the long jump good for second place.

Jim Patnaude cleared 12'1/2" in the pole vault for third place and Jim Glidden took sixth in the 100-meter dash at 11 seconds flat.

The 800-meter relay team of Jeff and Lennie Hallock, Brad Erickson and Jim Glidden came in fourth with a time of 1:36.18.

The mile relay team was the only Bulldog team or athlete that qualified for the state meet that didn't place.

Owen-Gage compiled a total of 19 points. Class D winner Detroit DePorres had 110 points, 80 more than second place Covert.

At the eighth annual Thumb Track and Field Meet of Champions May 27 in Caro, the Bulldogs placed in four events, all first place.

Jeff Hallock, in an unsuccessful effort to become the first repeat winner of the athlete of the meet title, took two first places and was a member of the winning 880-relay team. (Sandusky's Jim Zambron with two first places, both meet records, was athlete of the meet.)

Hallock won first in the long jump with a leap of 21'1", the 100-yard dash with a time of 10.2. Teammate Jim Glidden came in second in the latter event.

The two were members of the winning 880-relay team, along with Lennie Hallock and Brad Erickson. Their time was 1:33.39.

Jim Patnaude's 13'1" was good for first in the pole vault.

Stoutenburg's no-hitter leads Hawks to Thumb B crown

Senior Earney Stoutenburg closed out a brilliant high school pitching career Monday when he pitched a no-hitter to pace the Hawks to a 3-0 decision over Bad Axe.

Not only was it the best pitched game of his career the win also clinched the Thumb B Association title for the Hawks.

After that the second game was merely playing out the schedule.

The Hatchets bounced back to take the nightcap, 5-2, in the Thumb B Association games.

Stoutenburg had a little trouble with his control in the first inning when he walked a pair but after that he was simply perfect.

He faced the minimum number of hitters, 15, in the last five innings and struck out the side in the second and fourth innings. Half of the Hatchets were retired via the strike out route.

The Hawks counted all the runs they needed in the second when Brad Hartel reached base on an error and came riding home on Trent Guinther's single. The Hawks scored on single counters in the third and fourth innings but they were merely icing on the cake as Stoutenburg took command.

It was different story in the nightcap when the Hatchets, trailing, 2-1 in the fourth, scored four times on three hits, a walk and an error to put the game out of reach.

Second place in the women's division was won by Nel Maharg and Sherry! Seeley with Esther Reagh and Marilyn Peters finishing third.

Caseville falls in district final

O-G at Waterford Saturday

Aided by rain three pitches past the start of the sixth inning, which ended the game, Owen-Gage won the district softball title Friday 2-1, over Caseville to advance to regional play.

The regionals will be Saturday at Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes High School.

The Bulldogs will play the winner of the Detroit Servite district at 10 a.m.

The team made it to the districts, played on their home field at Gagetown, with a 34-11 trouncing of Port Hope in pre-district play May 27.

In the district opener, Owen-Gage downed Carsonville-Port Sanilac 6-2 to advance to the final.

Starting pitcher Dana Laurie was pulled by coach Judy Campbell after she walked the first three batters she faced. Tammy Kain then came on to gain the win, giving up four hits and two runs.

She had a rough start as the bases were loaded and the first batter she faced connected for a double, driving in what were to be the Tigers' only two runs.

Losing pitcher Linda Draggoo struck out one, walked nine and surrendered six hits.

Terri Sontag had a hot day at the plate, banging out two singles in four times at the plate in the first game, two singles in two tries in the second game. Becky Howard hit a double in the opener.

Caseville won the second preliminary game, 17-7, over Kingston, to advance to the finals.

Becky Howard was the winning pitcher in the title clash, striking out four, surrendering three hits and walking six.

Losing pitcher Michelle McCormick struck out eight and gave up three hits, but walked nine.

In addition to Sontag's two singles, Julie Andrakowicz hit a one-bagger for the Bulldogs.

Caseville was up to bat in the top of the sixth, in what was to have been a seven inning contest, when the rain started.

OUT! -- Carol Goslin's third inning attempt to score for the Bulldogs Friday was unsuccessful as she was tagged by the Caseville catcher.

A .2 mill levy for four years for support of senior citizen activities has now been put on the ballot in all three upper Thumb counties, but with one hitch.

The hitch is in Huron county, where its county commissioners voted 4-3 last Thursday to put the issue on the Nov. 4 general election ballot.

In Tuscola and Sanilac counties, commissioners voted last week to put the proposal on the Aug. 5 primary ballot. If approved, that will allow levying of the millage on December tax bills, with the money going to the Thumb Area Commission on Aging.

In Huron, however, the levy, if okayed by voters, won't go on tax bills until December, 1981, as November is too late to meet the deadline to get it on this year's tax bills.

Huron county commissioners voted the way they did because they didn't want the proposal on the Aug. 5 ballot with their 1-mill, five-year proposed levy for bridge repair and replacement.

In the interim until the senior citizen millage takes effect in Huron, should it be approved, the county will have to finance senior citizen activities through its general fund.

Your Neighbor says Tigers can and should do better

With the baseball season well underway and the Detroit Tigers nestled into the bottom of the American League East Division, Dan Lackowski optimistically looks for a third place finish for his beloved Bengals, but he realizes it's a steep uphill climb.

"I feel the potential is there," Lackowski, of 5876 McAlpine Road, Gagetown, said, adding he has not seen a lot to back his belief.

He looks at the Detroit club with an eye to the future. After a year or two his favorite team should be stronger, he said.

The Tiger fan feels the team's main deterrent to a winning season is poor pitching. Judging from other fans' comments, he is not alone.

"I can't say I expect them to do real rotten but I wouldn't expect them to go real far with the pitching they've got."

Once the season got going the Tigers were not doing too bad, he said. Tiger hitting was alright, along with a pitching staff that Lackowski termed "not bad." But then that pitching fell apart.

Dan Petry and Jack Morris seem to be a couple pitchers that the Tigers could use as a base for a better hurling staff but they "aren't fantastic," he added.

If Detroit has a strength, it is their hitting and among Tiger batters, Lackowski considers shortstop Alan Trammell his favorite.

"He's definitely my man."

To second guess a manager appears to be a baseball fan's sacred right, and Lackowski said he has hollered at Tiger manager Sparky Anderson more than a few times while listening to games with his wife, Karen.

Lackowski is employed at General Cable Corp.

Unfinished tally lists 48 grads with scholarships

At least 48 members of the recently graduated senior class at Cass City High School have received scholarships to attend college.

The list isn't complete, according to high school counselor Curtis (Jerry) Cleland, because some colleges have yet to announce their scholarship awards and some students didn't notify him of scholarships they received.

Scholarships marked with a + are financial scholarships based on academic excellence.

Basic Educational Opportunity Grants (BEOG) are federal grants, based on academic performance and financial need. They do not have to be repaid.

State of Michigan Scholarship Program grants are similar, with the money coming from Lansing. Students who qualified by taking the American College Test but did not meet financial need qualifications received a state certificate of recognition.

Cleland noted that the number of students going on to college this year has increased because some who would have preferred working couldn't find jobs.

He added that some students who graduated within the past few years who have been working are coming to his office for applications, transcripts, etc. to attend college because they are now out of work.

The 48 known college scholarship recipients are as follows:

High school classes find middle ground

Last of series

By James Iseler

Everyone, at some point, has probably wondered about high school, "Why bother? I'm never gonna use this stuff."

The answer invariably given is, "But it's good to know just in case."

Some Cass City High School graduates of recent years feel they do not need much of what they were taught in high school.

Others, even though they may not have used it yet, feel a variety of knowledge has helped them deal with the world beyond Cass City.

It seems that among those former students interviewed, most feel they learned enough to handle themselves outside the somewhat sheltered confines of school.

They agree that Cass City attempts to provide a middle ground where students going directly into the job market and those going on to college can learn together.

Jeff Hartel, a 1978 graduate with two years of college under his belt, said he feels some knowledge learned in high school helped him adjust to a new way of life when he attended Lansing Community College and later Central Michigan University, in Mount Pleasant.

Many classes did not, however.

"To be honest, most classes haven't helped me much. I never really took the books home but still got 'B's,'" said Hartel, of 6861 Herron Drive.

High school courses that did benefit Hartel were in the areas of English composition and business. He said his high school composition class was harder than a sophomore level composition course at Central.

"I think having that composition in high school made that (college composition) class easier."

Hartel is planning a career in business administration and also is studying economics at Central.

The business courses at Cass City were not extensive, he said, but they did give him an idea of how record-keeping procedures are followed. "It showed how precise you have to be in such things as accounting, for instance."

ON THE OTHER HAND, high school level business courses were enough to give Dave Luana the necessary knowledge to open his own retail sporting goods store.

Luana, owner of Cass City Sports Inc., also gave praise to the school's co-op program that allows students to get high school credit while working at area businesses.

Working at a local hardware store, a job set up through the program, gave Luana valuable practical experience in the retail field, he said.

He later left that store for other local jobs which gave him a better opportunity to buy his own store. Since high school, Luana said, he wanted a store of his own and that dream was finally realized in 1977 when he started Cass City Sports.

Although he values most of the business courses he took at Cass City, he said they could have been a bit more in-depth.

Luana said he had problems with bookkeeping at first, "but now I have a secretary and don't have to really worry about that."

Other areas of study, such as English or social studies, are necessary to a point but they did not help a great deal, Luana said.

"They help some but it's not really what I need for what I'm in," he said.

In the retail business, where letters to manufacturers and distributors are commonplace, a command of the language is necessary but not beyond the high school level, Luana added.

ANOTHER PRODUCT OF Cass City High School had praise for its co-op program.

Noreen Hartwick, a teller at Thumb National Bank, for almost a year, said she feels the co-op combined with the Vocational Office Block was enough to prepare her for the job market.

The secretarial skills learned in vocational classes were well suited to her job but at least one could have been better, she said.

The exception she cited was a bookkeeping class.

However, she admitted she did not work to get everything possible out of the class.

"Maybe it was because it was my senior year that I just didn't want to work that hard," Miss Hartwick of 4391 S. Seeger Street, said.

ALMOST ALL THE former students interviewed said they probably could have worked more at their classes but grading was hard enough as it was and they basically just wanted to pass.

"That's the way I saw it then. It was just something that was there to get through with," said one former student who has been working in Cass City since he graduated three years ago.

"But now, well, there are some things I would do different."

After three years in the job market, the man, who wished to be unidentified, said he plans to attend Ferris State College, in Big Rapids, in the fall and take classes in automotive body repair.

However, he said he feels no great loss because he did not take classes in high school that were geared for college-bound students.

"I got through and for what I'm going into I'm sitting pretty good," he said.

One thing everyone agreed upon was that a mixture of academic and vocational classes was necessary, particularly for a school in a community such as Cass City where not everyone goes on to further education.

That appears to be the beauty of the co-op program according to those who have participated in it. Without a vocational trade-school in the area, the program is able to partially train prospective job seekers for life after graduation. (Tuscola county's new vocational education center opens in September.)

"I think if you're not going on to college, it's a great program," Miss Hartwick said.

3 millage ballots face Cass City voters Monday

darker, the governor has since revised his proposal downward once and is now working on a second revision. The ultimate say is up to the legislature.

In addition, the governor last week announced a $35 million reduction statewide in school aid from the present fiscal year budget. The reduction, amount not yet known, will come out of the check Cass City receives in August, when it will be into its 1980-81 fiscal year. (The state's new fiscal year doesn't start until Oct. 1.)

Thus trying to predict how much money the district will get from Lansing for the 1980-81 school year, Crouse said, "is just a big guessing game."

If the amount of state aid per pupil is ultimately the same as last year, it will mean less money for the Cass City schools as he predicts a decline in enrollment. His millage recommendations to the school board were based on a projected loss of 29 students.

Coupled with the questionable financial outlook is the unavoidable increase in expenditures. The district will be negotiating a new contract with teachers for this fall. The cost of heat and electricity, gasoline for school buses, supplies -- "just the price of everything" -- is going up.

What happens if some or all of the three millage proposals fail Monday? "We will just have to live within our means," the superintendent replied.

In reality, the school board will have to consider scheduling another millage election, making cutbacks or both, he said.

followed by a ribbon-cutting for the new addition. Refreshments will be served.

Although in use for nearly six months, the facility's public unveiling was held up until a remodeling of the original building could be completed, according to hospital administrator Ken Jensen.

The final cost came in just under $1.5 million, he said. The new portion of the building contains three major areas:

- An emergency care facility for victims of major emergencies such as accidents.

- Electroencephalograph (EEG) and electrocardiograph (EKG) rooms for monitoring brain and heart activity.
