Unfinished tally lists 48 grads with scholarships

At least 48 members of the Alumni Scholarship+. recently graduated senior class at Cass City High School have received scholarships to attend college. The list isn't complete, according to high school counselor Curtis (Jerry) Cleland, because some colleges have yet to announce their scholarship awards and some students didn't notify him of scholarships they received.

Scholarships marked with a + are financial scholarships based on academic excellence.

Basic Educational Opportunity Grants (BEOG) are federal grants, based on academic performance and financial need. They do not have to be repaid.

State of Michigan Scholarship Progam grants are similar, with the money coming from Lansing. Students who qualified by taking the American College Test but did not meet financial need qualifications received a state certificate of recognition.

Cleland noted that the number of students going on to college this year has increased because some who would have preferred working couldn't find jobs.

He added that some students who graduated within the past few years who have been working are coming to his office for applications, transcripts, etc. to attend college because they are now out of work.
