Three Fairgrove teenagers lost their lives in an early morning accident Monday west of Caro.

Killed were Glen S. Kosik, 18, Kimberly Kay Connelly, 17, and Paula Jo Monteil, 16. All were pronounced dead on arrival at Caro Community Hospital following the 12:15 a.m. crash.

The three were passengers in a car driven by Terry L. Campbell, 18, of Fairgrove, who was later transferred from Caro Community to Bay Medical Center, Bay City. He was reported in satisfactory condition there Tuesday afternoon.

Scott Stermer, Tuscola county chief assistant prosecutor, said his office is awaiting completion of the sheriff's department investigation before a decision can be made on whether any legal action might be taken against the driver.

Deputies reported that the Campbell vehicle was eastbound on Gilford Road, east of Unionville Road, when it went off the south side of an S curve, hit a road sign, then a driveway culvert, went airborne and spun around before coming to rest on the south side of the road.

The Caro Fire Department's Jaws of Life hydraulic tool was used to free the victims from the wreckage. Caro and Akron police assisted deputies at the scene.

The death of the three teenagers brings the 1980 Tuscola county highway death toll to 10.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Barb Maxwell, 17, of State Street, Gageton, was reportedly injured in a 1:35 a.m. accident Monday. The Caro state police report said she was taken to Scheurer Hospital in Pigeon, however, the hospital had no record of her being treated there.

According to troopers, she was one of three passengers in a car driven by John J. Stochla Jr. of 4205 Hoppe Road, Gageton, which was southbound on McElldowney Road, north of Bay City-Forestville Road. The car clipped off the right shoulder and went into a ditch.

Stochla was later cited on a charge of failure to report a property damage accident.

Robin L. Pugh, 26, of Vassar, was ticketed by Cass City police on a charge of failure to stop within an assured clear distance ahead following a 3:35 p.m. accident last Thursday.

Officers said the Pugh vehicle was westbound on Main Street and ran into the rear of a car which had stopped, prior to turning left to Comment Drive.

At Walbro, Cable

Factory layoffs come to Cass City

Cass City's two largest employers, which at the beginning of the year had avoided making any layoffs, have become part of the rule rather than the exception in the nation's gloomy economic picture.

Layoffs at General Cable began a few months ago and at Walbro Corp., at both its Cass City and Caro plants, about one month ago.

As of the beginning of this week, according to General Cable Industrial Relations Manager A.E. Ellinger, there were 72 workers on indefinite layoff out of a normal hourly work force of 342.

A "few more" workers were to be laid off at the end of the day Friday, but as of the beginning of this week, he didn't yet know the exact number.

At Walbro, Director of Human Resources Don Tonti said more than 100 employees at the Cass City (carburetors) and Caro (fuel pumps) plants are now on indefinite layoff, but declined to be more specific. Normal work force at the plants in those communities plus the Bad Axe plastics plant totals about 450.

In addition to hourly personnel, some line supervisors and technical layoffs are also sitting home.

"We just don't know for how long," he replied when asked when the workers might be called back. He didn't expect there will be more layoffs at this point. There have also been some voluntary layoff retirements, he indicated.

Walbro's two biggest carburetor customers are chainsaw and outboard motor manufacturers, but both those industries are experiencing slowdowns in sales.

AT EVANS PRODUCTS in Gageton, the situation has improved but still isn't very good.

In January, the manufacturer of parts supply racks for auto plants had only 18 workers punching time clocks each day.

The hourly work force now totals 43, according to plant Manager Carl Vandiver, but at this time of year, when the auto companies are starting to get ready to produce the new model year cars, the normal work force would be about 120.

IN MICHIGAN, THE May unemployment rate was 14 percent, compared to 12.4 percent in April and a national unemployment rate for May of 7.8 percent.

The 14 percent unemployment rate means there were 607,000 workers without jobs.

The jobless situation in Tuscola county, more dependent on the auto industry than the state as a whole, is even worse.

The April unemployment rate was 16.3 percent. The May figure won't be available until early July, but Charles Cramer, Michigan Employment Security Commission branch manager in Caro, expects it will be more than 20 percent.

The April unemployment rate in Huron county was 16.8 percent; in Sanilac county, 21 percent.

THE LAST COUNT available showed 7,010 unemployment claims were being paid at the Caro MESO office each week, but many of those are to persons from more populous surrounding counties who don't wish to stand in long lines to pick up their compensation checks at the MESO offices in their own counties.

This Thursday will mark the start of the second week that the office hasn't been paying any federal benefits, such as Trade Readjustment Act benefits to workers unemployed because of imports, because of failure by Congress to appropriate the additional funds needed.

Laid-off workers can receive a maximum of 39 weeks of unemployment benefits.

Since October, Cramer said, about 45 persons a week have been exhausting their benefits -- having been out of work for more than 39 weeks -- which for many means going on welfare.

Onalee Detwiler, director of the Tuscola County Department of Social Services, estimates that half of the persons presently applying for public assistance have exhausted their unemployment benefits.

4½ teachers lose jobs

Board seeks 1 mill to avoid more cuts

The Cass City School Board met in a special session Monday afternoon to wrestle with thorny financial problems caused by cuts in funds at the local and state level.

The board terminated 4½ teacher positions and will ask the voters for one mill, ($1.00 per $1,000 of state assessed valuation) in a special election Aug. 18.

The teacher eliminations will increase class size to 28-30 students with one class in the sixth grade boosted to 31 students.

Cut from the staff were two teachers from the intermediate school, a teacher and a half from the elementary schools and one teacher from the high school.

The high school remedial reading teacher has been eliminated. There was a lengthy discussion whether to cut the reading program that has shown marked effectiveness, Principal Russell Richards said, or the social study-math teacher combination.

The board finally cut the reading program because a remedial reading program could be added to the continuing education program if enough interest is shown.

Those cuts will be made regardless of whether or not the voters approve the one-mill request. Savings under this program will total $50,500.

The proposal before the voters for one mill will raise an estimated $94,000 from local taxes and increased state aid.

That money will buy a package that includes vocal music in the high school and elementary department, elementary arts, a high school social study and math teacher, a complete sports program and $10,000 worth of library books.

Sports will be wiped out across the board with the exception of boys' varsity and JV basketball and girls' varsity and JV volleyball.

The reason basketball escaped the cutting knife was that it is the only sport that pays its way. Last year it showed a profit.

Girls' volleyball was retained because the board was afraid it would be illegal to offer a boys' sports without one for girls. Volleyball lost $1,600 last year but basketball earned enough to offer the two programs without cost to the district.

If the district loses the math and social science teacher one algebra class will have 38 students.

Supt. Donald Crouse cautioned the board that the figures he presented are tentative and based on the best judgement of the current school scene.

We don't know how much the state will authorize in aid, but the word is that cuts are in the offing, he explained.

In addition, since state aid is controlled by the number of students, a slight decrease or increase in pupils this fall could change the aid picture.

School costs have been figures with a 9 percent inflation figure built in. That's figuring it close, isn't it? Trustee J.D. Tuckey asked. Crouse said that it was.

There was a discussion of a suggestion by Tuckey to ask the voters for 2½ to 3 mills and run the program like it ran in 1979-80.

President Geraldine Prieskorn pointed out that times are getting tougher now and she felt that the taxpayers expected the board to do some belt tightening.

The majority of the board agreed and voted to eliminate permanently the 4½ teaching positions.

The one-mill request will not affect this belt tightening and the people can tell us Aug. 18 whether they want the outlined programs to be abandoned, too, members said.

$94,000 package

Here's what one mill $94,000, will buy for Cass City Schools.

- High school and elementary vocal music.
- Elementary art program
- High school social study and math teacher.
- Sports program. (Except boys' basketball and girls' volleyball.)
- $10,000 worth of library books.

Putting God in the classroom

New Christian school to teach traditional values

Righteousness exalts a nation but sin is a reproach to any people.

Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord.

Keeping these two scriptures in mind, two Bad Axe men have set out to establish a school that preaches the traditional values of God, patriotism and discipline.

The Thumb Christian Academy located a quarter-mile west of M-53 on Rescue Road, will begin classes this fall for 50 students in grades K-8. As soon as a new school, presently under construction, is completed, the academy will expand to high school as well.

The need for such a school is evidenced by the lack of traditional values in the modern public school system, according to Rev. James Willett, superintendent of the school and pastor of the Faith Gospel Tabernacle, the church with which the new school is associated.

"It is time to pour forth the word of God. If not in our public schools then let it pour forth in our parochial schools," he said.

The decision by the United States Supreme Court to ban prayer from public schools is the first step in a process that could lead to the downfall of American society, added A.F. McWilliams, the school's coordinator and principal.

The idea of separating church and state is wrong, McWilliams said. God has been pushed out of the schools and has been replaced by the "humanistic philosophy of man taking the place of God."

It is the intertwining of church and state that the two men hope to achieve at their school.

"Right now there are no absolutes. No standards of morality, no nationalism and no discipline," Willett intoned.

DISCIPLINE RANKS high on the list of objectives for the school, McWilliams added.

Each teacher will be responsible for maintaining discipline in the individual classroom but if necessary, in extreme cases, corporal punishment will be exercised.

In the event corporal punishment is administered, it will only occur in the presence of a board of education member, who will do the punishing, one other adult and the parents of the child, should they choose to be there.

The use of corporal punishment, as well as the other rules of the school are fully explained to parents and students when they enroll.

Evidently, at least some area people feel their children could benefit by a more traditional education. So far, 32 of the 50 available openings have been filled.

THE EDUCATION ONE will receive at the academy is centered around a three-dimensional approach, Rev. Willett explained.

The three sides are comprised of the spirit, mind and body.

A 15-minute devotion period will open each day of classes. The spiritual training will be continued throughout classes during the day.

The classes themselves will be, in many respects, a throwback to the days of the one-room schoolhouse. McWilliams sees the concept as further evidence of the traditionalism they hope to foster.

Until the school is completed and its limit of 300 students is reached, classes will be combined, he said. Even at capacity classes may be together unless their size warrants separating them.

At present, the staff is made up of McWilliams, as principal, and three teachers. All the teachers have been certified by the state and are presently working out financial terms with the school.

In addition to teachers, the school is also working to collect equipment. Desks, supplies and other necessities are purchased from schools that have closed. The books are from the A-Becka Christian Publishers which serve approximately 1,700 other such schools, Willett said.

FINANCES ARE A MAJOR concern.

The new building, expected to be finished by the middle of the upcoming school year, was financed through a series of donations and bond sales.

The church has sold $300,000 in bonds and is relying on donations and tuition to help pay for the estimated $1.5 million structure, Willett said.

He added with many of the donations coming in -- some from people who do not attend the church -- the school should break even its first year of operation.

Another source of income for the school is tuition. It costs $35 to register a child at the academy and then $80 per month. It costs $50 to register two along with a $115 a month tuition.

IT WOULD SEEM THAT only the righteous rich would be able to send their children to the Thumb Christian Academy but that is not true, according to Willett.

He said some families have paid the registration for their children and are "trusting in God" that they can come up with money for tuition payments. Hopefully, a scholarship program will be set up in the future for such circumstances, he added.

The school is interdenominational and accepts students from all faiths. McWilliams said he has Catholics, Lutherans and Mennonites enrolled.

Until the new facility is completed, classes will take place in the old church across the road from the construction site. That is one

JUST A SKELETON presently exists but this structure, part of the new Thumb Christian Academy, will become a combination sanctuary/gymnasium when finished next year. A collapsible wall will run across the middle allowing the gym to do double duty as an extra area for the church, making more than 1,000 seats available.

See The New Way To Wash!

Rabbit Tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Sometimes you can't win for losing. The Cass City Rotary Club is nearing completion of an exercise trail at Cass City Recreational Park.

Signs pointing the way and telling of the various exercises have been posted for about two weeks. One of the signs has been vandalized.

Jeff Prieskorn, Cass City, was eliminated in the third round of the Michigan Amateur Golf Tournament last week.

If you are not a golfer you don't know just how great that is. The tournament features the finest players in the state. Perhaps 150 (I'm guessing) start and play 36 holes. The top 64 qualify for match play. Match play means you must win more holes of an 18-hole match to advance. One defeat and out.

Getting into the third round means that only 16 of the state's best amateurs were left when Jeff bowed out.

Not surprisingly Pepsi won the blind test over Coke in a test conducted in Cass City and pictured elsewhere in this issue.

Is it just general contrariness of all reporters that Jim Iseler, Chronicle staffer, preferred Coke?

Editor Mike Eliasohn returned to the copy desk after a 10-day jaunt to England. He returned (naturally) with copies of several of the best London newspapers. He also sent a post card and (naturally) beat it home.

Just when I start to lament that we have slipped from winter to summer without much spring at all I remember last Thursday. Temperatures of 88 are better than 38 any old day.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Campbell

A Methodist church in Alden, Mich., was the setting for the June 10 marriage of Bertha Wills and Clayton Campbell, both of Ubly.

Pastor Criss Schrader of the Alden Methodist church performed the ceremony.

Deanna Stambaugh, Mrs. Wills' daughter by a previous marriage, and son-in-law Donald served as maid of honor and best man. Both are from Spiro, Okla.

The bride wore a pink rose corsage and the groom wore a matching boutonniere.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hurshal Magee of Bellaire.

The couple honeymooned at Niagara Falls.

Jean Clarke honored for long service

Cass City resident Jean Clarke is one of three women in the state recognized for excellence in community leadership at College Week this year.

She was nominated for the state Silver Salute Award by the Greenleaf Extension Study Group for her outstanding community service. She has served as township treasurer, 4-H leader, ambulance board member and co-host for an extension citizenship tour to Washington, D.C.

Announcement of her award came during ceremonies June 17 on the Michigan State University campus.

She has attended College Week for several years, has led local Extension study groups and is a member of the regional Health System Agency Board.

She and her husband, Lyle, have five children.

The two other women who received Silver Salute honors this year are Mildred Davison of Port Huron, and Mildred Schultz of Coloma.

"If It Fitz. . ." A chauvinist myth?

By Jim Fitzgerald

"Did anyone at work tell you that you looked nice today?" the wife asked the husband.

She is always asking him that. And he always has to answer that no one even noticed he was wearing a new suit. Where he works, the women are always telling each other they look nice, even when they're wearing denim overalls and spike-heel shoes. But no one ever admires the men's clothing out loud.

The husband has studied this phenomenon for many years and in several different locations. His conclusion is that one of the differences between male and female is that women are always saying "I just love your blouse" to each other, but no man alive has ever told another man his shirt is lovable.

This conclusion angers the wife. "You are saying women are more vain than men, and that's just another male chauvinist myth," she says. "Everyone knows men look in the mirror just as much as women do, and they spend more money in barber shops than women spend in beauty shops."

This type of anti-chauvinist argument irks the husband, not because it's specious, but because it's irrelevant. He doesn't claim men are less vain than women. He simply claims men don't tell each other they look nice, but women do.

The husband doesn't know why this is true, anymore than he knows why it's now fashionable for women to wear high heels with long or short pants. For him, it seems like yesterday that only the dumbest women in town wore high-heel shoes at the same time they wore slacks or shorts. He can remember his daughters covertly pointing at these unstylish women in the supermarket and giggling. He can remember when this type of costume was a foolproof way for prostitutes to advertise their profession.

But today, grandmothers go to church in Levis, tottering on spike heels. The husband says this is the same as a man wearing spats with his tennis shorts. Sometimes he says this to people who don't know what spats are, which sends the husband back to the rest home in search of warm milk.

Anyway, his research has revealed that a woman occasionally tells a man she likes his tie and that a man will sometimes tell a woman he likes her dress. But most usually the clothing compliments are strictly between females, never between males.

This doesn't bug the husband one bit. He has seen women spend entire evenings talking about nothing except their clothing. He doesn't think this makes them inferior to males, just different. With a dismaying lack of originality, the husband says vive la difference.

He would hate to waste time talking about some guy's trousers when there are so many more important things to discuss in these troubled times, especially during the baseball season. It is the wife who is bothered when no one compliments her husband's new outfit. When he returns home from work to report another day of no praise for his pants, she is distraught.

The husband doesn't mind that his wife has such a proprietary interest in his clothes. It's a price he's glad to pay, rather than go shopping without her. He is depressed by most men's stores, which offer all the verve and excitement of a funeral parlor. If left to make his own decisions, he buys the first thing the salesman shows him, just to get out of the place before they say the rosary.

And when he gets home, the wife never likes what he bought. It's much easier to take her along for large purchases that require the husband's body for fitting and to let her choose all the tie-shirt accessories while he waits in the poolroom. The only drawback is that she becomes peeved when her selections don't get rave reviews from his peers, and she won't accept his explanation that men are different from women and don't gush over each other's lapsels.

For the husband, it is a conundrum not yet solved. A conundrum is the problem faced by a man who always dresses for dinner, but has lost his spats, and his milk is getting cold.

On the average, an American ate about one-half pound of chicken a year forty years ago. Today he eats 37 pounds a year.

Loss estimated at $1,000 each in 2 area fires

The fire wasn't unusual, but the way it started was.

Damage was estimated at $1,000 in a tool shed fire Sunday afternoon extinguished by Elmwood township-Gagetown firemen. Owner of the shed on Cedar Run Road was Floyd Werdeman. Cause of the fire, according to Fire Chief Chuck Wright, was worn electrical wiring. What caused the wire to wear was a hand saw hanging on a nail with the wiring running behind it. Wind blew the saw back and forth, causing it to rub against the wire and gradually wearing it away.

The 30-by-70 foot shed was metal over a wood frame. The only structural repair needed, Wright said, was replacing a window and the wiring in the end where the damage occurred and some painting. Some tools were destroyed. A pickup inside was not damaged.

The fire was discovered by a passing motorist, who stopped at the Werdeman home to tell the owner. Firemen received the call at 1:12 p.m. and were at the scene about 45 minutes.

Damage was estimated at $1,000 in a fire which damaged an older-model tractor Monday afternoon.

The tractor was owned by Lloyd Grifka of Wheeler Road, Ubly, who was driving it to a field when it suddenly caught fire, according to Bingham Township Fire Chief Elmer Brahmer. The fire took place on Wheeler Road in Austin township.

Grifka told firemen he had filled the fuel tank a few hours earlier and speculated that may have been a con-

Murder no closer to solution

The Tuscola County Sheriff's Department has run out of leads in its efforts to solve the June 4 murder of Tommy Lee Smith, according to Undersheriff Bruce Tait.

The Saginaw resident, 39, was shot to death while fishing near Quanicassee by someone passing by in a car.

The department never had much to go on, as there were no witnesses and no motive, only a green car seen driving away after shots were heard.

Barring some hoped-for new information, Tait said, "we're at a dead end."

The Haire Net

Unlike Jean Dixon, the noted mystic, there is no pretense here of clairvoyance. There's usually trouble when I try to predict about what may happen after dinner.

Despite that track record, here's a prediction for the years ahead. Cass City and other smaller communities off the beaten track will be happy with the removal of regulations in the trucking industry.

In case you missed it, congress has passed, and the president is expected to sign, a bill that will make entry into trucking easier, removes or eases regulations that restrict service and allows rates to be lowered or raised 10 percent in any one year.

The argument presented by the truckers has been that towns like Cass City would pay more for freight because of low volume while cities would pay less.

That sounds reasonable but my crystal ball says that it just won't happen. Today only one trucking company can deliver intrastate goods to the village. A competing line passes through on the way to Bad Axe, for instance, but if it delivers anything but interstate shipments it is in violation of current law.

Switching cargo on trucking lines has to be an expensive proposition. Today's rates are set by firms that meet privately to determine them. That was perfectly legal, too, as long as they were approved by the Feds.

Those are good peripheral reasons for lower rates. The big one is the return of competition.

Under the new law it's easier for the new guy in the block to get in. Since the depression the truck line owners had no worries about an upstart horning in on the business.

Truck routes were determined by law and it was practically impossible for a commercial line to start in opposition.

The best that firms could do was to truck their own and many are doing just that.

Now that the barrier has been lowered there's always the specter of a competitor opening up down the street. In our system that always has been the way that prices and quality have been kept in line and it's the reason our crystal ball isn't a bit cloudy when it says it will do so again now that it has the chance.

tributing factor. Exact cause was undetermined.

A dividend of 10 cents per share on Walbro Corp. common shares was voted by the Walbro Board of Directors at a recent meeting.

The dividend is payable July 31, to shareholders of record June 30.

Lambert E. Althaver, president and chief operating officer, reported that sales and earnings for the second quarter will be lower than for the second quarter of 1979 because of general economic conditions.

PEDALING AROUND

What, me worry?

By Mike Eliasohn

I can relax now. No longer when I watch the news on television will my heart start pounding when there is a report of an airplane crash, a hijacking or a near collision by two airplanes due to air traffic control radar systems malfunctioning or controllers suffering nervous breakdowns.

After having gotten no farther than Kalamazoo the past two years for vacation, I made up for it this year. I returned home Sunday from a week and a half stay in England and now that my feet are firmly on the ground, I no longer have to worry.

Unfortunately, there are only two ways to get to England. Ships are too expensive and take too long to get there, and if they should sink, I can't swim. I also don't like airplanes -- the ground is too far away -- but that was my only other choice.

Shortly after I bought my Pan Am plane ticket in February, a pilot for the airline charged it was using unsafe maintenance procedures. You can imagine how I felt when I heard that.

Fortunately, the Federal Aviation Authority or Civil Aeronautics Board, whichever one has authority over such things, investigated and then exonerated the airline.

Later came a report -- maybe while I was already in England, I forget -- that FAA inspectors are getting lax, with the result airliners aren't as safe as they could be.

I bought my round-trip plane ticket in February for $600. If I had waited until a few weeks before my departure, it would have cost me $693, primarily due to the increased cost of jet fuel.

Once I got to England, I didn't have to worry until it was time to get on the plane for the trip home.

London subways are safe.

I had been told. Unlike in New York City, no one ever gets mugged.

English criminals are more subtle. That's why there were signs posted, "Pickpockets love crowds."

Then there were the warning signs on the subway trains, about what to do if one sees an unattended package.

Wait until the train gets to the next stop, then pull the emergency lever, notify the subway personnel and tell everyone in the car to get off.

Seems like a lot of unnecessary hysteria for a package that no one is holding on to, I said to myself. Then it occurred to me. Those "unattended packages" may contain a bomb placed on the train by an Irish Republican Army terrorist.

I finally got out of London in a car driven by an Englishman who I had corresponded with for several years.

How was I to know that in addition to riding and racing bicycles, he has visions of some day racing cars?

It was the first time he had been in a Ford Capri, the English version of a Mustang, and was interested in checking out its performance.

How was I also to know that English police don't rigorously enforce speed limits?

I now know that a Ford Capri with a 4-cylinder, 1600cc engine is capable of going 100 miles per hour.

Foreign travel is a great way to get away from the tensions of everyday living.

Candidate for sheriff Earl Scott may be accused of having ulterior motives in sponsoring his meet-the-candidates night (see story elsewhere in this issue) but at least the effort was made.

With five candidates seeking the Republican nomination in Tuscola county for sheriff and three for drain commissioner, it would be of great benefit if a responsible civic organization or the county Republican party would sponsor a meet-the-candidates night here (and elsewhere). There is still plenty of time before the Aug. 5 primary and with such a sponsor, candidates will find it to their advantage to be there.

Veterans Administration spending in 1930 -- its first year of operation -- was $785 million, or about four percent of the $21 billion the agency plans to spend in 1980, its 50th year of service to veterans.

SURPRISE SURPRISE -- When the barrier was lifted this Cass City girl found herself in the majority by preferring Pepsi-Cola over Coke when she participated in the "Pepsi Challenge". Though no hidden camera accompanied them, these two fellows tested the tastes of local residents outside the IGA store all day Saturday.

No action taken on probate pact

The next move will apparently be up to Probate Judge W. Wallace Kent Jr. as the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners Tuesday declined to sign the contract he negotiated with his employees.

The official reason for the board's not taking action, according to Commissioner Royce Russell of Elmwood township, was the contract presented to it hadn't been signed by the judge or the union.

The board objects to the 22.8 percent pay increase the judge negotiated with his seven employees for one year, compared to the 8.18 percent negotiated with other courthouse employees for this year.

It is expected that Kent will issue a court order mandating that the board appropriate the additional funds, which the commissioners will then appeal to circuit court.

The board heard from four Kingston women who questioned why it had voted June 10 to organize Tuscola into a separate circuit court circuit with its own judge, instead of the present sharing three judges with Lapeer county.

county.

The Lapeer County Board of Commissioners voted June 18 to approve the split, which means Judge Patrick Joslyn will become the lone judge for Tuscola county in the future.

On the recommendation of Stanley Baldwin, Tuscola's representative on the Region VII Area Agency on Aging board of directors, commissioners postponed taking action on the agency's request for $1,000 from each of the 14 counties in the region. The money is to be used as a local match in order to obtain a federal grant.

Baldwin questioned why all the counties should have to appropriate the same amount when they vary greatly in population. The region includes Bay and Saginaw counties.

Tallmadge dies at 92

Harry E. Tallmadge, 92, died Thursday following a long illness in the Sanilac County Medical Facility.

Tallmadge was born June 8, 1888 in Cass City and spent the last 29 years in Sandusky.

He and Alice Charlton were married in Cass City in 1912. She died in 1916. Tallmadge then married Maud Parrott in 1918 who died in 1972.

A retired dairy and ice cream store owner, Tallmadge was also a life member of the Custer Lodge No. 393.

He also belonged to the Sandusky United Methodist church.

He is survived by one son Donald Tallmadge of Sandusky and one daughter Helen Hoyt of Rockville, Md. Also surviving are two sisters Minnie Hulbert of Lapeer and Irene Livermore of Detroit, as well as six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Two sons, Grant and Clare, preceded him in death.

Funeral services took place Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Sandusky United Methodist church with Rev. Fred Timm officiating. Burial was in the Greenwood cemetery.

Deford church Bible school enrolls 186

The annual vacation Bible school sponsored by the Deford Community church was held June 16-20 with sessions from 6:30-8 p.m.

There were 186 children enrolled from 4-year-olds through sixth grade. The pastor, Rev. Gerald Rodgers, directed the week's activities.

Geraldine Tibbits was in charge of the missions department and an offering for missions was taken each evening, including Sunday evening, following the school.

Other workers included Mrs. Jim Kilbourn, the story hour; Sally Goodall, Joan Hull, Gene Babich and Sue Linderman, crafts, and responsible for refreshments each evening, Mrs. Vi Connolly.

Courage has been defined as hanging on one minute longer.

Tractor sunk in area gravel pit

Vandals gave a tractor owned by William Albrecht Jr. of Snover a costly bath over the week end.

The tractor and attached power takeoff driven water pump were found Monday morning at the bottom of the gravel pit he owns off Ritter Road, about a mile east of M-53 in Greenleaf township.

The machinery was used to pump water out of the pit, out of which Albrecht hauls gravel.

It was last used mid-afternoon Saturday, but when he and his crew returned Monday morning, "all we could find was the hose."

When the tractor and pump were found, they were under 12-14 feet of water.

The Sanilac County Sheriff's Department was called at 8:15 a.m. Its four-man skin diving team was dispatched. The divers attached chains to the tractor, which was then pulled out of the water by Albrecht's bulldozer.

The tractor had been sitting on the pit slope for three weeks, and hadn't moved, so he felt it safe to assume vandals had forced the tractor gearshift into neutral -- the keys were not in it -- and let it roll down the slope into the water.

The tractor wasn't visible from the road but the gravel pit is known in the area and is used by swimmers, Albrecht said. The rebuilt machine was purchased last fall and along with the water pump, was worth a total of $15,000. As of Tuesday, he didn't know what the repair bill would be, but thought much of the tractor would have to be disassembled and bearings replaced.

Albrecht had insurance, but added, "It's getting to be a shame when a person has to have vandalism insurance."

Investigation by the sheriff's department is continuing.

Red Cross picks officers

All four officers of the Tuscola County Chapter of the American Red Cross were re-elected to the Board of Directors during the agency's annual meeting earlier this month.

Re-elected by unanimous votes to their offices for another one-year term were chairman Mary Alice Osgerby of Caro; vice-chairman Mary Hoerlein of Vassar; secretary Mary Lewis of Unionville, and treasurer Charles Spaulding of Caro.

Area residents serving as Bloodmobile coordinators are Ruth Whittaker and Wayne Dillon in Cass City, and Jan Barden in Kingston.

Come And Learn About Our Association "See You There!"

Your home may be hazard to health

By Frank Chappell
American Medical Association

Safe at home? Not really. In the "safety" of the American home there are more than 4,000,000 disabling injuries and 27,000 accidental deaths every year. They're called "accidents," but many of them could have been prevented.

Appoint yourself a committee of one to do something about accident hazards in your home, the American Medical Association advises.

Heading the list of home accidents are four causes — falls, fire, poisoning and suffocation.

Falls produce almost half of the home accidents, mostly in older people. To curb falls, start a family pickup campaign — toys, shoes, newspapers and general litter around the house.

Use solid ladders or step stools, not chairs, for climbing. Light up dark and shadowy areas. Clear and salt icy walks and steps in winter. Have stair railings, even for short stairways. Keep stairs clear of all litter. Slip-proof your rugs.

To prevent fires, provide ample ashtrays. Don't smoke in bed, watch candles carefully and make certain fireplace screens fit snugly. Treat the kitchen stove with caution. Blousy sleeves and frilly aprons invite disaster.

Try to avoid, or handle with care, flammable fabrics. Keep children and pets away from the stove area while cooking.

Keep only safety matches in the home. Clean out attics, basements, closets and garages regularly. Discard old newspapers, boxes, clothes and stuffed furniture. Check extension cords for fraying or loose connections and broken insulation.

Learn how to replace a fuse, but also find out why it blew. Have furnaces and water heaters checked regularly.

Poisoning is a problem for adults as well as children. Proper labeling is vital in poison prevention, plus making every effort to keep poisons out of the hands and reach of children. Under-the-sink storage areas for detergents and bleaches are an open invitation to youngsters.

Carbon monoxide poisoning is an ever-present danger, especially in closed autos with the motor running. Keep one window open a crack. Furnaces and heaters improperly adjusted also can become carbon monoxide sources.

Suffocation is a serious killer for infants and very young children. Sometimes the children will choke on food or some small object. Sometimes they will be smothered in the bedding of a crib.

Keep small toys, beads and other such items away from infants. Check the solid food for lumps and foreign objects. Make certain the crib is designed to prevent strangulation.

Debra plans to attend Western where she will study business and music.

New books at the library

INNOCENT BLOOD, by P.D. James (fiction). A search for identity plunges Philippa Palfrey into unimaginable danger and terror. Adopted at age eight, Philippa has long fantasized an aristocratic father and a dead mother. At eighteen, she finds the truth - her father was a rapist and her mother, a murderer, is about to be paroled from a life sentence. But the father of her mother's victim has vowed to destroy his child's killer. Philippa races time and chance to an extraordinary finish.

MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD, by Erich Segal (fiction). On the eve of a carefree summer, Bob and Sheila Beckwith find their loving marriage shattered by a single telephone call and the resurfacing of a truth which must be kept from their two daughters and the young boy visiting for the summer. A new novel by the author of "Love story."

KANE AND ABEL, by Jeffrey Archer (fiction). Power, jealousy, and revenge set the tone for a gripping tale of corporate politics and personal hatreds. Two men - both born in 1906, but from drastically different backgrounds - vie for supremacy. William Lowell Kane - Boston Brahmin and millionaire financier - and Abel Rosnovski - immigrant and self-made hotel magnate - sacrifice everything to their obsession with destroying each other. The novel follows the two into a shared and relentless ambition and to a confrontation that rocks their families, the financial community, and the country.

LOAN RESOLUTION (Public Bodies)

A RESOLUTION OF THE Village Council OF THE Village of Cass City AUTHORIZING AND PROVIDING FOR THE INCURRENCE OF INDEBTEDNESS FOR THE PURPOSE OF PROVIDING A PORTION OF THE COST OF ACQUIRING, CONSTRUCTING, ENLARGING, IMPROVING, AND/OR EXTENDING ITS Sewer FACILITY TO SERVE AN AREA LAWFULLY WITHIN ITS JURISDICTION TO SERVE.

WHEREAS, it is necessary for the Village of Cass City (Public Body) (herein after called association) to raise a portion of the cost of such undertaking by issuance of its bonds in the principal amount of One Million Two Hundred Fifty Thousand ($1,250,000.00) Dollars pursuant to the provisions of Act 320 of the Public Acts of 1927, as amended

WHEREAS, the association intends to obtain assistance from the Farmers Home Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, (herein called the Government) acting under the provisions of the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act (7 U.S.C. 1921 et seq.) in the planning, financing, and supervision of such undertaking and to purchasing of bonds lawfully issued, in the event that no other acceptable purchaser for such bonds is found by the association:

NOW THEREFORE, in consideration of the premises the association hereby resolves:

- To have prepared on its behalf and to adopt an ordinance or resolution for the issuance of its bonds and containing such terms and in such forms as are required by STATE statutes and as are agreeable and acceptable to the Government.
- To refinance the unpaid balance, in whole or in part, of its bonds upon the request of the Government if at any time it shall appear to the Government that the association is able to refinance its bonds by obtaining a loan for such purposes from responsible cooperative or private sources at reasonable rates and terms for loans for similar purposes and periods of time as required by section 333(c) of said Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act (7 U.S.C. 1983(c)).
- To provide for, execute, and comply with Form FmHA 400-A, "Nondiscrimination Agreement"; and Form FmHA 400-1, "Equal Opportunity Agreement", including an "Equal Opportunity Clause", which clause is to be incorporated in, or attached as a rider to, each construction contract and subcontract involving in excess of $10,000.
- To indemnify the Government for any payments made or losses suffered by the Government on behalf of the association. Such indemnification shall be payable from the same source of funds pledged to pay the bonds or any other legally permissible source.
- That upon default in the payments of any principal and accrued interest on the bonds or in the performance of any covenants or agreement contained herein or in the instruments incident to making or insuring the loan, the Government, at its option may (a) declare the entire principal amount then outstanding and accrued interest immediately due and payable, (b) for the account of the association (payable from the source of funds pledged to pay the bonds or any other legally permissible source) incur and pay reasonable expenses for repair, maintenance, and operation of the facility and such other reasonable expenses as may be necessary to cure the cause of default, and/or (c) take possession of the facility, repair, maintain, and operate or rent it. Default under the provisions of this Resolution or any instrument incident to the making or insuring of the loan may be construed by the Government to constitute default under any other instrument held by the Government and executed or assumed by the association, and default under any such instrument may be construed by the Government to constitute default hereunder.
- Not to sell, transfer, lease, or otherwise encumber the facility or any portion thereof, or interest therein, nor permit others to do so, without the prior written consent of the Government.
- Not to borrow any money from any source, enter into any contract or agreement, or incur any other liabilities in connection with making enlargements, improvements or extensions to, or for any other purpose in connection with the facility (exclusive of normal maintenance) without the prior written consent of the Government if such undertaking would involve the source of funds pledged to pay the bonds.
- To place the proceeds of the bonds on deposit in an account, in a bank, and in a manner approved by the Government.
- To comply with all applicable State and Federal laws and regulations and to continually operate and maintain the facility in good condition.
- To provide for the receipt of adequate revenues to meet the requirements of debt service, operation and maintenance, and the establishment of adequate reserves. No free service or use of the facility will be permitted.
- To acquire and maintain such insurance coverage including fidelity bonds as may be required by the Government.
- To establish and maintain such books and records relating to the operation of the facility and its financial affairs and to provide for required audit thereof in such a manner as may be required by the Government, to provide the Government with such information, a copy of each such audit, and to make and forward to the Government such additional information as reports as it may from time to time require.
- To provide the Government at all reasonable times access to all books and records relating to the facility and access to the property of the system so that the Government may ascertain that the association is complying with the provisions hereof and of the instruments incident to the making or insuring of the loan.
- To serve any applicant within the service area who desires service and can be feasibly and legally served, and to obtain the concurrence of the Farmers Home Administration prior to refusing service to such applicant. Upon the failure to provide such service which is feasible and legal such applicant shall have a direct right of action against the association under this agreement.

The provisions hereof and the provisions of all instruments incident to the making or the insuring of the loan, unless otherwise specifically provided by the terms of such instruments, shall be binding upon the association as long as the bonds are held or insured by the Government. The provisions of sections 6 through 13 hereof may be provided for in more specific detail in the bond resolution or ordinance; to the extent that the provisions contained in such bond resolution or ordinance should be found to be inconsistent with the provisions hereof, these provisions shall be construed as controlling as between the association and the Government.

Your Neighbor says Teachers should not strike

Cass City teachers are in the process of negotiating for a new multi-year contract. An interesting twist would enter the picture if a proposed bill is passed by the state giving public employees, including teachers, the right to strike.

Two years ago, a contract was ratified only after teachers staged a walkout. Another such occurrence would only hurt students, according to Sherry Stec.

A junior at Cass City High School, Miss Stec is one person who will be directly affected should teachers go on strike again.

She said teachers should attempt to get proper compensation but not by such drastic means a strike represents.

"It is not doing us any good to have them out," Miss Stec said.

Even though time off work because of a strike is made up, students have lost a portion of their education during a strike that is not always replaced during the make-up period.

Having gone through one walkout, she pointed out that many people probably would not take a teacher strike for what it really is.

"Nobody took it as seriously as they should have then and probably wouldn't again," she stated.

Teachers should stick with their jobs even through times of financial uncertainty because it is their duty as educators, she added.

"They should want to do it for the sake of teaching," Sherry lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Stec at 4183 Maple Street. She has one brother at home and three sisters who have graduated.

TOO SMALL -- The present Faith Gospel Tabernacle will continue to hold services and classes for the new Thumb Christian Academy until the new building is ready. Rev. Willett claims the building is too small for the congregation's size since he is forced to hold two services every Sunday.

of the reasons the initial enrollment is limited.

Similar schools have been starting recently nationwide, Rev. Willett said, quick to point out that the Thumb Christian Academy is not part of a fad.

It boils down to people expressing a desire to get back to traditional ways and teachings and forego the "agnostic and non-God-fearing philosophies," present with the separation of the church and state, he said.

"God is once again giving the church an ability to educate our community."

Pair stand mute on felony charges

Kurt A. Urban stood mute Monday to charges of receiving and concealing stolen property over $100 and breaking and entering an occupied dwelling when he appeared before Circuit Judge Norman A. Baguley.

Pleas of innocent were entered and pretrial hearing scheduled July 28. Bond was continued.

Deadline near for crop report

July 1 is the last day for Huron county farmers to report 1980 crop acreages to be eligible for program benefits and history credit under the 1980 Wheat and Feed Grain Programs. Benefits include target price protection, CCC Price Support Loans and Disaster payments, where eligible.

Doris E. Western, county executive director, advises that only 400 out of an expected 2,000 farmers have filed their reports. It normally takes 20 minutes per farm to report acreages. Due to the late planting season, reporting by farmers has been slow. Appointments are urged to avoid long waiting lines.

Farmers who do not contact the office before July 1 will be charged $10 plus 10 cents per acre for a farm visit to verify reported acreage.

Mrs. Western also advises the date for filing prevented acreage claims where operators could not get corn planted in 1980 due to weather conditions has been extended to July 7.

Many people waste a lot of time trying to devise cures for other people's bad habits.

Huizar pleaded guilty in March, 1978, to a different charge in relation to the incident, but later appealed to the Michigan Court of Appeals, seeking to withdraw his plea. The court early this year allowed him to do so.

Marilyn D. Ballard, 24, of Flint, was placed on two years' probation for attempted larceny in a building. Serving of a sentence of 60 days in the county jail was delayed without a date being set. She was fined $200 and assessed $200 court costs.

A jury found her guilty of the charge May 7, of having attempted to steal some clothes from Dancer's Clothing Store in Vassar last September.

Isas touched by friendly area people

Editor's note: This is another in the series sponsored by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce about members of the organization.

Michael and Karla Isa have been in several businesses in the area since they moved to Cass City in 1976 from Middlebury, Ind.

All have been successful. However it has not been the business ventures that have been the source of the couple's greatest satisfaction.

What pleased them most has been the friendliness of the people in the area. "Our lives have been touched by it," they said, "it is the greatest place we have ever lived."

The Isas built KarMikel's Dairy Cone which features a full line of soft drinks, sandwiches and ice cream and also own Pizza Villa where a full menu service is offered.

Mike was born and raised in Bethlehem, Palestine, and came to the United States in 1960. They attend the United Methodist church in Cass City. The couple has two children. Both attend Cass City Schools.

At 6:40 p.m. last Wednesday, village police reported, Robert B. Holcomb, 38, of 4413 West Street, was backing from a parking place in the village park, east of Ale and Rose Streets, and backed into a car that was halted while its driver was looking for a parking place.

Driver of the other car was John R. Heard, 23, of 4227 Bach Road.

Robert L. White, 26, of 6571 Houghton Street, was eastbound on M-81, east of Crawford Road, at 5:45 a.m. Friday, according to Cass City police, when his vehicle collided with a deer.

Cheryl and Jeffrey Chambers

Cheryl Lynn Karr and Jeffrey Roy Chambers were married at Trinity United Methodist church in Cass City Dec. 29, 1979. The Rev. T. Wachterhauser performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. James Karr of Cass City and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack O. Chambers of Unionville.

The bride wore a traditional wedding gown of white polyester organza with acetate nylon chantillace designed with a ring band collar of lace and a sheer chiffon yoke, accented with lace appliques. The long bishop sleeves were sheer chiffon and the waist was enhanced with a white satin ribbon.

The attached chapel train was highly decorated with a full flounce and lace borders.

To complete her ensemble, the bride wore a two tier veil of English illusion and chantillace.

Linda Reed, sister of the bride, of Cass City was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Cindy Karr of Cass City, Linda Karr of Caro and Diane Teichman of Traverse City.

They wore floor-length red and white gowns. The white chiffon bodice was trimmed in lace and the cranberry slipper satin skirt was trimmed with a wide ruffle. They wore headbands of white angora trimmed with red ribbon and holly and carried a white angora muff adorned with a red poinsettia.

Sandra Karr, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Her ensemble was identical to the bridal attendants and she carried a basket of red rosebuds.

Charles Thompson of Unionville was best man. David Reed and Russell Rogers were groomsmen.

A reception was held at the Colony House for 275 guests.

The couple are living in Mt. Pleasant where they attend Central Michigan University.

Thieves break into Deford area home

A color television and various guns were among items apparently taken in a break-in of a Deford area mobile home last week end. Albert D. Curtis of 1525 Kingston Road told Cass City police Sunday night that he and his wife were gone from 5 p.m. Saturday until 10 p.m. Sunday. They returned home to find their home had been ransacked, with drawers pulled out and clothing spewed all over.

Entry was gained by breaking a rear window and screen. A wall panel inside the home was damaged. Total damage was estimated at $50.

Curtis was compiling a list of all the items taken, which wasn't available as of Tuesday. A color television and various firearms were among the items apparently taken.

Cass City police arrested Doris J. Warack, 47, of 5651 Walsh Road, Gageton, at 11:50 p.m. last Thursday on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor after they stopped her car on Main Street near Comment Drive.

She was taken to the county jail and later released, pending appearance in district court.

Jesse J. Vincent of 1676 Crawford Road, Deford, was taken into custody by village police on a charge of driving with license suspended at 9:50 p.m. Saturday after they stopped his car on N. Seeger Street. They had stopped his vehicle because of inoperable taillights and license plate light.

He was also later released from the county jail, pending appearance in district court. Further information on him and Ms. Warack wasn't immediately available from the court office.

James Fox, transportation director for the Cass City schools, reported to village police Sunday that two batteries worth a total of $100 were stolen from a school bus parked behind the intermediate school. The batteries were taken between 9 p.m. Friday and noon Sunday.

Raymond Dearing told Cass City officers Saturday afternoon that someone had tried to break in to The Station (Colonial Inn) bar during the night. There were pry marks on the outside of a back door, which was open about six inches when discovered. A table blocking the door prevented it from being opened further.

Village officer Donald Miller had to turn cowboy Friday afternoon.

Joan Brown of Cemetery Road had ridden her horse into town, got off the animal and then it ran away.

Miller caught the horse near the Cass River. It was apparently headed for home as Ms. Brown lives south of town.

The sheriff's department investigated the reported theft of a cement mixer June 17 from a construction site on Crawford Road, Novesta township, but as of Tuesday, no further information was available.

Trade board president says

Farmers need to consider futures

Just as a doctor should understand all the healing arts of his specialty, so should a farmer — who has just as demanding a profession — understand all his production and marketing alternatives.

Those marketing alternatives include trading on the commodity futures markets, says Robert K. Wilmoth, president of the Chicago Board of Trade.

"A farmer who learns the effective use of pricing techniques is in a better position to profit in the long run. A farmer may not use futures markets to hedge his crop every year, but there's no reason why a farmer shouldn't make use of any marketing tool available to him," Wilmoth says.

This is especially true, he adds, because the number of seminars and workshops on hedging held in rural areas have increased in the last few years. In addition to these meetings, sponsored by the futures exchanges, brokerage houses and universities, coverage of the futures markets appears to have increased in the farm press and in the mass media generally.

These efforts are helpful, Wilmoth notes, because a prospective hedger needs to spend some time and effort developing a solid knowledge of the fundamentals of futures before he begins trading. "Learn everything you can about hedging strategies you might use," Wilmoth advises. "Attend hedging seminars, talk with other farmers who have hedging programs, and talk with agricultural bankers who have worked on hedge accounts."

"It will pay to learn all the potential pitfalls and advantages."

When a prospective hedger has a good working knowledge of the intricacies of futures trading, he then should start making arrangements for his hedging program with a good broker and a banker who understands hedging, Wilmoth says.

"The farmer should look upon himself, his broker and his banker as a team," Wilmoth notes.

"It's very important to find a broker and brokerage firm you can trust. When you think you've found the right firm, learn the firm's rules and the pertinent rules of the exchange you will be trading on. Again, if the hedger knows as much as possible beforehand, he will prevent troubles in his relationship with his broker."

The hedger's relationship with his banker is just as important, Wilmoth notes.

Farmers in the futures market usually rely on their bankers for financing the hedging program. Hedgers are required to put up initial margins, which can be anywhere from 3 to 10 percent of the total value of the futures contract. (In the futures market, a margin is something like earnest money. It's not a deposit on a contract.)

Because margin is the broker's guarantee that a hedger will pay for losses incurred in futures trading, the brokerage firm may require additional margin funds each time prices move a certain amount against the hedger's position.

While the hedger eventually will regain the approximate equivalent of this margin money after completing the hedging transaction, he may have a considerable sum of money tied up in margin accounts.

"The banker must understand the need for a reliable source of margin money and be willing to ride through price fluctuations with hedging customers," says Wilmoth, who served 27 years as a banker and banking executive prior to joining the Chicago Board of Trade two years ago as president.

Among the worst consequences for a farmer with a hedge is to be forced to liquidate his futures positions, because of failure to make a margin call at a time when prices are rising, and then watch market prices fall.

In other words, the hedger paid for protection while prices were on the way up, but was no longer covered on the way down, when he really needed that protection. Wilmoth notes further, "A farmer who knows about forward pricing presents a much more attractive credit risk to bankers. When a farmer uses grain as collateral to secure a loan, banks generally will lend a higher percentage of the grain's value if it is price-protected."

For more information on hedging and futures markets, write to: Chicago Board of Trade, Dept. FS1, 141 West Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Ill. 60601.

Rotary celebrates 50 years' service to Cass City

Fifty years of service to Cass City were celebrated Saturday night when the Rotary Club met at Sherwood-on-the-Hill in Gageton for a gala anniversary dinner.

A highlight of the evening was a speech by Meredith Auten who, with vivid memory, recalled the beginnings of the chapter in 1930.

Auten was the only charter member present at the ceremony. Of the original 15, only two survive, Auten and Fred Pinney, who was unable to attend.

Rotary District Governor John Broadfoot presented Auten with an award for fifty years of service in the club and the audience gave him a standing ovation as he went forward to receive it.

A 50-year award was also presented to Phil Keating who accepted for Pinney.

Also, the air of celebration lent itself well to another highlight.

Richard Erla was named a Paul Harris fellow, the highest honor that can be bestowed on a Rotarian. Only three members, James Bauer, Tom Proctor and Auten, have been awarded the honor since the Cass City chapter was founded.

The honor represents many years of exceptional service to the Rotary chapter and no one is more deserving than Erla, according to Tom Proctor, another recipient of the award.

"He is one of those guys that all you have to do is ask and he will always say yes."

Alex Kessler funeral this Thursday

Alexander Kessler, 80, a former Cass City resident, died Sunday morning in Florida.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret; two daughters, Mrs. Robert (Ann) Siebert and Mrs. Robert Jay (Frances) Gelb; three sons, Alexander Kessler, Cass City; Peter Kessler, Warren, and Kenneth Kessler, Roseville, and 15 grandchildren.

Funeral services were to be held at 8:45 a.m. Thursday at the E.J. Mandzuk Funeral Home, 22642 Rayon Road, Warren. Burial will be in the Elkland township cemetery with graveside services at 1 p.m. Thursday.

Proctor said.

Along with the honor comes a donation of $1000 made to the Rotary Foundation in the recipient's name. The donation was made by the Cass City chapter.

The Rotary Foundation is a group within Rotary International that sets up scholarships at the college level for deserving people to travel and study abroad.

In accepting the award,

Erla recognized his wife Christine for all the support she gave him during his years in the club.

"It took my wife to keep me going," he said. "And without her I would be nothing."

Several members of the chapter also set up an entertaining skit during the evening which was intended to recreate the beginnings of the Cass City chapter.

Kilts keep Scotsmen warm

A Scotsman's kilt may not seem like the most sensible attire for arctic weather, but it isn't as silly as it seems. In fact, kilts are worn quite comfortably by Scottish soldiers serving in cold environments. By permitting the knees to be chilled, perspiration is prevented from occurring where it is most dangerous — the feet. If the feet perspire, they are much more likely to freeze, because the moisture in the footgear makes them less of an insulator and more of a conductor, permitting the loss of body heat.

Spending deferral may restore some employment act jobs

A hiring freeze imposed on Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) Title VI positions may thaw soon as a result of action taken Thursday by the Thumb Area Consortium Administrative Board.

The Board voted to defer spending of $75,227 to next year in order to help cover costs for new jobs, should the freeze be lifted, Consortium Executive Director Frank Lenard said.

The freeze was imposed April 25 by the U.S. Department of Labor because of a possible cut in appropriated funds and the fact CETA had exceeded its 149,000 positions nationwide.

However, the freeze came at the worst possible time, according to Lenard. With unemployment rates rising people need jobs, such as those provided by CETA, more than ever.

Lenard said he asked the labor department what could be done to get the freeze lifted and was told the group would have to defer spending from this year's Title VI program.

Although not sure when, or even if, the freeze will be lifted, Lenard told the Board, modifying its Title VI budget should have a positive effect on the department's decision.

If the ban is lifted, Lenard said approximately 50 CETA will open up right away in the area, to be funded with money it would still have available for the current fiscal year.

"We have the jobs, what we don't have is the bodies," he said.

While it could be longer, Lenard said he may hear this week whether the ban has been lifted.

As soon as it is lifted, the Tri-County Public Service Agency will begin hiring the people to fill jobs, consisting mostly of park and road crews.

The board approved four position requests which will either be filled when the ban is lifted or when workers elsewhere are shifted to the new positions, Lenard said.

The jobs are for two workers in the Snover Memorial Park, one in the Sanilac County Historical Society museum and one to help with the Tuscola county dog census.

Workers can be shifted from job to job and still comply with the hiring freeze, he stated, but new workers cannot be hired to replace those that leave the CETA program altogether.

Chairman Calvin Reibling of Huron county appointed a committee to work with Lenard to devise wage and salary schedules for consortium employees for the upcoming fiscal year.

The committee, consisting of Royce Russell of Tuscola county, Bruce Kuhl, Huron, and Harold Hopson, Sanilac, will work with Lenard to set up a program by the end of the 1980 fiscal year, Sept. 30.

Lenard said he wants to start working on pay scales and work schedules now so plans will be ready by the deadline.

The board also approved a plan submitted by Lenard for the 1981 fiscal year.

The tentative plan would give the Tri-County area $5,673,306 to work with next year.

The board also approved a plan submitted by Lenard for the 1981 fiscal year.

The three-man unit will work from within the consortium office but will be independent of its operation, he added.

The manager of the unit will report quarterly to Lenard who will then report the findings to the Board.

OTHER ITEMS

The board also voted to accept $87,555 from the U.S. labor department to offset its vocational educational program.

The consortium arranges to pay for books and tuition of eligible students at three colleges: Delta College, Northeast Michigan School of Commerce and St. Clair County Community College.

The department of labor money will only be used to offset costs at SCCC, Lenard said, to ease administering of the new grant.

He said the labor department funds should take care of costs for approximately 60 students.

He said the labor department funds should take care of costs for approximately 60 students.

DOWN BY THE RIVER -- The Pinney family had this cottage for many years on the north bank of the Cass River, across from where Sanilac County Park No. 3 is now, west of M-53. It was built by Elijah H. Pinney, probably before the turn of the century, according to Fred Pinney, Elijah's grandson. The family sold the property in 1930, so the cottage disappeared some time after that. Photo belongs to William Kitchen, who said the house was moved and later torn down, and was taken by his brother, Jason, about 1912.

Gasohol use urged

A special committee commissioned to study options and prospects of gasohol has urged the state to proceed with initiatives for production and increased use of the gasoline-alcohol blend as an alternative energy source.

The committee's final report made recommendations to aid production and spread the use of the product to make the state and the nation less dependent upon foreign oil.

Sen. John Hertel (D-Harper Woods), chairman of the Senate Environmental and Agricultural Affairs Committee, said the special committee found use of gasohol as feasible and its production and use helpful in meeting energy needs and aiding the economy of Michigan.

He said the committee's work provided scientific and realistic answers to questions, with the facts being meaningful in the state and nation.

James W. Leenhouts, committee chairman and business development manager of the Research and Development Division of Dow Chemical Co., said the committee studied various aspects such as marketability, effects on internal combustion engines, actions in other states and the federal government, technology, by-products and their use, the food versus fuel question and economic effects.

He reported that from the areas of study, the committee is recommending the state promote and encourage the use of gasohol in automobile transportation.

He added the committee supports orderly gasohol development while maintaining the proper food balance and maintaining a positive liquid fuel balance.

League claims cuts hurt poor

The Michigan League for Human Services has declared Gov. William G. Milliken's proposals for dealing with the budget strain due to the recession puts too much of the burden on poor people, who are the least able to cope with the recession themselves.

The league was critical both of the 1980-81 budget proposals and of some of the social services cuts already implemented in the current year.

Zolton Ferency, representing the league, said the governor's proposals mean those who are deprived will have to suffer more heavily than others.

William Marshall, of the Michigan State AFL-CIO, agreed saying his greatest concerns are over the cuts and the upcoming budget reductions coming from those who can least afford it.

The most criticism was leveled at a proposal to save $40-$45 million by simply eliminating general assistance payments during April through September for persons under 45 who are classified as employable.

That would affect more than 40,000 persons or about half the general assistance caseload.

Marshall said the premise of the recommendation—that jobs are more plentiful in the summer—is without basis, since the addition of jobs is more than matched by the number of persons seeking jobs. He labeled the proposal as unconscionable.

Also criticized was a proposed 50 percent cut in funding for the emergency needs program, when inflation and rising unemployment along with lagging increases in public assistance grants point to a need for more funding, the league said.

At the same time, the league criticized the governor for budgeting in recommendations to increase payments to Medicaid providers, with $53.2 million of the increase to reflect an inflation adjustment.

In urging a comprehensive look at the tax structure, Ferency said the league believes, in times of economic distress, tax benefits or loopholes should be closed rather than welfare benefits being eliminated or reduced.

The league suggested taxing military pay, already approved by the state Senate, and lottery winnings, and extending the sales tax to services such as entertainment, laundry and dry cleaning.

PRESIDENT JIM GUINTHER presents the award as the Cass City Lion of the Year to Ken Martin.

Clubs elect officers

Martin Lion of the year

The new officers and new members were installed by District Governor Peter Jensen of Saginaw. tailtwister, Ralph Retherford, and Lion tamer, Wayne Dillon.

Directors: Robert Green, Kenneth Blue, Alvin Seurnyck, David Dunn, Charles Guinther, Curtis Strickland.

New members installed were Wayne Dillon, Raymond Dearing, Michael Shaft, and Marvin Hobart.

Perfect attendance awards were presented to 20 members.

The Lion of the Year award was presented to Kenneth Martin.

Check furnaces to cut high cost of energy

Many furnace technicians put the adjustment of the bonnet or plenum thermostat on oil and gas-fired heaters at the top of their list of cost-effective energy-saving measures. This thermostat turns off the fan that forces warm air up through the duct system into the house. On most heaters, the thermostat is set at 120° or higher, resulting in a loss of furnace efficiency. It can be reset to just five degrees above room temperature for a savings of $9 a year.

If you are unsure about the location of your bonnet thermostat, or how to adjust it, ask your furnace service person during the annual maintenance check.

Proper furnace maintenance, by the way, is another great way to save money. Oil furnaces, especially, can waste a lot of costly fuel if they are not kept clean and in tune. Because of excess soot and/or maladjusted burners, furnace efficiency can drop from 75 percent to below 60 percent, increasing fuel bills by more than one quarter. A furnace technician can do a series of simple stack and burner tests to tell you just what your furnace's efficiency is and advise you on how to improve that efficiency.

One part of the maintenance work you can do yourself. Clean filters are important to both furnaces and to air-conditioners.

Canada sets events to lure tourists

Everyone loves a birthday party. And if more is better—then this is the year to vacation in Canada. There are enough candles for everyone.

Great-granddaddy event of the summer is the 375th anniversary of Samuel de Champlain's Habitation at Port Royal, Nova Scotia, site of the first permanent settlement in North America north of Florida.

The settlement was the cradle of the French-speaking Acadian people. This summer the welcome mat is out for everyone, including all those of Acadian heritage, to "come home" and celebrate 375 years of their culture.

Along the "French Shore"—St. Mary's Bay—in Cape Breton and in Yarmouth and Inverness Counties join the fairs and festivals, dancing and parades and craft exhibitions. Feast on "rappie pie" and dance to the accompaniment of great fiddling, accordion playing and spoons!

Then, on to Halifax to a spectacular salute to the Canadian Navy's 70th birthday. Military tattoos traditionally feature martial music, marching bands and precision drills. But the Canadian Forces designed a show with a contemporary North American flavour for Canada's Centennial which brought down the house.

Colonel Ian Fraser, producer/director of the Centennial performance, promises more of the same for the Naval birthday production, with pipers, comedy, fantasy, music and drama.

Nova Scotia Tattoo '80 will kick off the naval celebrations July 1, followed by a naval assembly and sail-past in Halifax harbor, July 3, complete with NATO ships decorated and illuminated for the occasion. Also on July 3, the Navy will be granted the privilege of Freedom of the City—complete with the right to "parade with colors flying, drums beating and bayonets fixed."

The first week of July will be full of celebrations and nostalgia, especially for those thousands who set sail from Halifax, many aboard ships named after Nova Scotia communities. From July 25-27, the Royal Canadian Naval Association will hold its reunion in Halifax.

Saskatchewan's and Alberta's summer of 1980 also promises visitors something special. Both provinces are celebrating the 75th anniversary of joining Canadian Confederation.

Communities are planning special activities and projects to mark the occasion, in addition to such annual summer events as Regina's Buffalo Days (July 28-Aug. 3) and Saskatoon's Pioneer Days (July 7-12) in Saskatchewan, and Calgary's famed Stampede (July 4-13) and Edmonton's Klondike Days (July 16-26) in Alberta.

Albertans are planning their "Homecoming 1980" events for a welcome on a grand scale. There are rodeos, crafts, music and film festivals, fairs and air shows all summer and special commemorative events and ceremonies planned for the week of Aug. 27-Sept. 1.

Obtain a special "Stamp Around Alberta" passport to qualify for various commemorative medallions.

Of course, not every event this year is a birthday party. Montreal's eye-opener is Florales, the International Association of Horticultural Producers' 1980 show. Outdoor Florales (May 31-Sept. 1) will display the most recent developments in contemporary landscape art. The site—on Ile-Notre-Dame—will remain a permanent exhibition so don't worry if you can't make it this year.

Ontario's season of fun includes an around-the-world trip at Toronto's Caravan '80 (June 20-28), an international food fair, Caribana—a fantastic "jump-up" on the Toronto Islands (July 26-Aug. 4). Come to Upper Canada Village in Morrisburg and stay for the evening show, "A Day to Remember"—a musical Upper Canada "Roots!"

For a birthday party Windsor's International Freedom Festival is a winner—Canada's and the United States' national holidays, July 1 and July 4, rolled into one big celebration.

Whether you prefer three-legged, outhouse, or chuck-wagon races (or the more ordinary kind with horses), theatre-going, camping, shopping, mountain climbing or people-watching—Canada has it all.

Fuelgas declares price war

Fuelgas helped pioneer the portable gas grill business in Michigan. We have always sold quality and serviced what we sold. Now other large merchandisers have moved in on the gas grill business.

To save our industry from receiving a "black-eye," we are attempting to bring the gas grill business back to the gas grill specialists and are cutting the price on a quality grill.

square inches of cooking area gives you more than adequate space for most of your cooking requirements. Unlike many inexpensive models, an electric rotisserie can be added. Truly a quality grill.

Because of the large number of requests for replacement parts on grills purchased elsewhere, we know there are many dissatisfied first time gas grill purchasers.

Fuelgas is slashing the price on the Amberlight Sport Model GA-20-1 to $79.00 until July 4. This grill has a 20,000 BTU input burner with a one-year warranty. Its 252

STATE CHAMPS -- Leonard Briolat (left) and Louis Walsh hold the trophies they won for finishing first in double handicap in the Michigan State Men's Bowling Tournament.

Ubly bowlers win state doubles crown

Louis Walsh and Leonard Briolat of Ubly were awarded top position in the Michigan State Men's Bowling Tournament in Doubles Handicap.

They had a 1,428 total. Walsh, a 145-average roller, had a 171-172-210-553 series. Briolat, who carries a 173 average, shot 191-236-223-650. They had a handicap of 75 per game.

The tournament lasted 20 week ends with over 3,000 teams participating. It was held at the Westgate Bowl lanes, Grand Rapids. Each team participated one week end.

The tournament champions' banquet was held Saturday at the Grand Blanc Country Club.

District director William Vincent presented Briolat and Walsh each with a trophy and a check of $1,400 to split between them.

Their team, Peruski Construction, won $50 for Team Handicap.

Monies awarded to other team members were "singles" to Rich Osentoski and "all events" to Joe Walsh, Ronnie Peruski, and Len Briolat. The other team member was Fred Peruski.

Walsh and Briolat, both farmers, are usually one night a week bowlers during the season. Due to a knee operation, Walsh howled as a substitute in his league during the past season, during which he only bowled five nights.

It was the second year they bowled in the state tournament. They rolled what were to be their winning rounds Feb. 23-24 and although they kept track of competitors' rounds, didn't know for sure they had won until the first week in June.

Briolat bowled his best series ever to take the top prize. For Walsh, it was his second highest ever.

One candidate, 5 spectators

Everyone boycotts Scott sponsored political meet

Dressed in gray pinstriped slacks and vest, cowboy hat on his head and cowboy boots on his feet, Earl J. Scott came to Cass City Monday not accompanied by the other four Republican candidates for Tuscola county sheriff he had invited for his meet-the-candidates night.

The 32-year-old Caro resident had rented the Cass City High School gymnasium for the occasion.

If they all had appeared, they would have been equaled by the number of spectators. Five came, including one couple from Silverwood who had hurriedly milked their cows in order to attend. They got there late, by which time Scott had left, after it became obvious the other candidates would not appear.

It was doubtful they would. Undersheriff Bruce Tait, Deputy Paul Berry and Bernard W. Lenda, prosecutor's office investigator, had all indicated they had prior political activities or commitments. Robert Eigner, a Fairgrove gun shop owner, was committed to attend a scouting activity with his son.

Unspoken was a reluctance to appear at a forum sponsored by one of their opponents.

"I don't think they have enough guts to do it," was Scott's reaction to the no-shows. "Maybe my problem is I've got too many guts. We gave it a good shot and it's not all bad."

Scott, who said he is a self-employed structural steel construction worker, is planning to attempt another meet-the-candidates night July 28 in Caro.

Caro attorney George Holmes was at the would-be session Monday, having volunteered to serve as moderator, had the candidates appeared. He stressed he has endorsed none of them for sheriff.

The winner of the Aug. 5 Republican primary will face Democrat Herbert Clancy, the Millington police chief, in the Nov. 4 general election.

4-H'ers win state awards Solons fail to agree on budget

Three Tuscola county 4-H'ers were named state project winners last Thursday during 4-H Exploration Days at Michigan State University.

Bruce Blake Buckmaster, 19, of Mayville, was the poultry project award winner. He is a member of the May-King 4-H Club. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Buckmaster.

Mary Ann Green, 18, of Caro, took top honors in food preservation. She is a member of the Birch Valley 4-H Club and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith W. Green.

Janet Safford, 17, of Vassar, was the bread making project award winner. A member of the North Vassar 4-H Club, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Omer Safford.

As state award winners, the trio may be eligible to attend the National 4-H Congress in Chicago in November and compete for national honors against other winners in their project areas from across the country.

They were selected as state winners by a panel of judges and specialists in their project areas.

The Legislature, for the first time in recent history, will recess for the summer without writing a new budget for the fiscal year 1980-81.

The Legislature has always taken great pains to complete a budget prior to the lengthy recess, even though the new fiscal year doesn't begin until Oct. 1, to allow public schools and colleges and universities knowledge of the state funds available to enter teachers and other contracts.

The state's sinking economic conditions are playing havoc with the budget writing process.

Just when the Senate or House fiscal agencies have put together figures to use, a new round of layoffs hit the automobile and related industries, increasing unemployment and welfare case-loads while decreasing proposed state revenues for the year.

The state Senate, however, is writing a complete budget using its best figures available at the time. The entire budget will be sent to the House where no action is expected to be taken until after the Labor Day holiday.

The Senate version of the budget, at best, will give the educational community an idea of what to expect next year and allow state department directors base figures on which to plan operations for next year.

The upper chamber is using revenue projections of $4.771 billion for the year however, prior to adoption of the budget bills, revenue figures softened to about $4.687 billion.

To cover the lost revenue, the Senate simply placed identical language in the bills indicating the Legislature's intention to close approximately $100 million in tax credits and loopholes.

The language continued that if the credits and loopholes are not closed, the governor by executive order, will cut the $100 million from the legislatively approved budget levels.

One such credit already closed by the Senate, and now residing in the House Veterans Affairs Committee, would eliminate the income tax exemption for military pay of persons domiciled in Michigan.

All military pay, except the first $1,500 per year earned by members of the Michigan National Guard and reservists in Michigan, would be subject to state income taxes.

This would raise between $15 and $23 million per year.

While the Senate was putting on the finishing touches of its budget levels, the governor met with department heads and informed them that further cutbacks are in order for the upcoming fiscal year.

He made it clear to department heads there will be less dollars to go around next year than in the current fiscal year--something that has not happened in the state budget since 1939.

A spokesman for the governor said the executive office would not revise budget figures until at least July. Reports are expected from the departments outlining how lower spending levels would be implemented, with the governor then issuing revised recommendations, in August or September.

Meanwhile, the House of Representatives is conducting business as usual as if it were not time for the budget process to be all consuming.

House leadership has decided not to process a budget prior to the summer recess due to the crumbling revenue picture and the pressures of an August primary and November general election which all 110 members must face.

NO VACATION

What looks like a vacation in the school of experience often turns out to be another lesson.
