

Friend saves drowning victim

Possible disaster was averted Tuesday evening when a Kingston man was saved from drowning in a pond on his property.

Walter Sedlak, of S. Kingston Road, Kingston, was listed in good condition Wednesday morning at Marlette Community Hospital.

Sedlak was swimming in the pond and began to struggle in the water at about 9:25 p.m. His daughter, who is unable to swim, attempted to reach him by innertube, according to her mother-in-law, Mrs. John Nickens.

While trying to save her father, Lottie Nickens, 25, told her son to tell the Nickenses, who live close by, what was happening. Brother-in-law Jan Nickens, 22, quickly arrived and helped rescue Sedlak, who had stopped breathing.

Nickens pushed on Sedlak's chest several minutes before the man, in his fifties, began breathing regularly. By the time sheriff's deputies arrived, Sedlak was breathing again. He was then transported to Marlette.

AT LAST! -- The four miles of Germania Road between Bay City-Forestville and Cass City Roads was paved during the past week, ending several years of poor condition of the road. Evergreen township is paying $10,000 per mile for the paving, with the Sanilac County Road Commission paying about $20,000 per mile.

Candidates, millage levies face area voters Tuesday

Voters in the upper Thumb have a large number of choices to make when they go to the polls for the primary election Tuesday.

The usual polling places are township halls. Polls will be open from 7 a.m.-8 p.m.

Although the retirement of some office holders has resulted in a large number of candidates seeking to replace them, this is also a year when many incumbents seeking re-election are facing challenges within their own party.

There are also numerous millage proposals on the ballot.

In Tuscola county, Clerk Elsie Hicks, Register of Deeds John Marshall and Prosecutor Artis Noel are unopposed for re-election, but four Republicans and one Democrat are seeking to replace retiring Sheriff Hugh Marr and three Republicans are seeking to replace Drain Commissioner J. Edward Goodchild, who also is retiring.

Although Mrs. Hicks doesn't have to worry about getting elected, it may be a long wait for those who do. She predicts vote totals for Tuscola county won't be known until 2:30 a.m. Wednesday at the earliest.

There are two primary races for county commissioner, including District 2, where incumbent Republican Royce Russell is being challenged by Shirley Olszak. Both live in the Gagetown area.

IN SANILAC COUNTY, the only "safe" county official is Treasurer Ken Rhead. There are three persons running against incumbent Clerk Lawrence R. Smith, two against Drain Commissioner Stuart Armstead, one against Sheriff Ross Dundas, one against Register of Deeds Maurice Turnbull and one against Prosecutor J. Anthony Sykora. No Democrats are running.

In District 1 of the county Board of Commissioners, three Republicans and one Democrat are seeking to replace retiring Lloyd Severance of Decker.

IN HURON COUNTY, only Treasurer Arnold Schweitzer doesn't have to worry about opposition.

Frances Holdwick, register of deeds since January, has four opponents. Sheriff Richard V. Stokan has two opponents.

There are two candidates seeking to replace retiring Clerk Edward Swackhamer and two running for prosecuting attorney. Incumbent Prosecutor Peter Burns Capling isn't seeking a new term.

Everyone running is Republican.

In District 1 of the County Board of Commissioners -- Sebawaing, Brookfield and part of Fair Haven townships -- Bruce Kuhl is unopposed for re-election; likewise in District 2, which includes Grant, Sheridan and Bingham townships, for William Nugent.

In the 77th state House district, which consists primarily of Huron and Sanilac counties, Quincy Hoffman of Applegate is retiring and four Republicans and one Democrat are after his job.

Loren Armbruster of Caro isn't retiring from the 84th House District, mainly Tuscola county, but Terry Houthoofd is running against him in the Republican primary and James McCann in November.

In addition to legislative and county races, there are also candidates running for township offices and in a few places, as delegates to the Democratic county convention.

VOTERS HAVE A choice besides Republicans and Democrats. In order to get their candidates on the ballot Nov. 4 in Michigan, minor parties must receive .3 percent of the total primary vote, which should be about 4,000-5,000 votes statewide.

The four minority parties listed are Libertarian, Socialist Workers, Citizens, and Anderson Coalition, the latter formed solely to get Presidential candidate John Anderson on the November ballot.

FAMILIAR GROUND -- Chet Muntz takes a last look at the mail sorting area where he spent much of his time, when he wasn't on the route, sorting mail for his customers.

the residents along Cass City's postal route 1, made his last delivery Friday.

One of the best parts of his job was the associations he made with "my people, as I like to call them."

Over the years he got to know everyone on his route and most were on a first name basis with their favorite carrier.

It was this fondness for the people that led Chet Muntz to take a bit longer than usual delivering the mail during his final week. He had to say goodbye to "his people."

"I didn't leave any of them that I didn't have a lump in my throat or a tear in my eye," Muntz said. "They're some of the best people in the world."

If he ran into problems while driving his route, Muntz said he could always count on his customers to lend a hand and vice versa.

Even the dogs, a postman's traditional nemesis, liked Chet Muntz.

"I made a lot of friends of the dogs. A lot of them would come and put their feet right up on the window as I'd pat them on the head."

Now that he will no longer be delivering the mail, Muntz' former job will fall temporarily into the hands of a very competent substitute, Peter Rienstra.

Rienstra was the sub for route 1 when Muntz began in 1957 and filled in whenever Muntz was not there. Now Rienstra will work every Village could finish fiscal year in black

With the year half over, Cass City's fiscal picture became a bit clearer, as presented at Monday evening's village council meeting.

It appears the village will emerge from 1980 in the black, though the budget will be tight.

Compared with the original 1980 budget, Village President Lambert Althaver explained, projected general revenue is down $4,500, to a new figure of $464,500.

The big change comes from a decline in state-shared revenues due to the recession and in federal revenue sharing, due to proposed cutbacks by Congress.

The big decrease was in state shared revenues, down from the original projected $126,000 to $115,000. "I think these figures may still go down (further)," Althaver commented.

Some of the losses were offset by increase in the village property tax levy to 14 mills, which should bring in $216,500.

Some major reshuffling had to be done in order to pay $7,500 to the engineering firm making the state-mandated hydrogeological study of the village landfill. The work had to be done this year but the intent was to pay the firm next year.

Keck Consulting Services informed the village, however, that if it wasn't paid this year, it would increase its $7,500 fee 10 percent, hence the desire to pay this year.

The result was the budget had to be reshuffled in order to come up with the $7,500 and offset the $4,500 loss in revenue.

Some cuts were made, usually previously decided but not shown in the budget until Monday, such as the cutback in summer help, and some items weren't as expensive as originally budgeted. A change in carrier for workers' compensation insurance, for instance, saved $7,000.

"I think it's going to be very tight," Althaver predicted after the meeting. Despite the cuts, "we can do everything we promised to do and still end the year in the black."

DEMOLITION

The village president was notified Monday afternoon by James R. Suchodolski, Wickes Agriculture vice-president for eastern operations, that he has been given the okay by high company officials to award a bid for demolition of the old elevators on Vulcan Street.

The bid should be awarded next week and demolition start soon after.

At the June 30 council meeting, it was reported the Margaret McNeil covered basement house at Houghton and Brooker Streets would be demolished the next week.

It's still standing. The latest hitch, village Superintendent Lou LaPonsie explained, is the county is trying to get Mrs. McNeil to pay the $750 cost before the work is done by the county-hired contractor or figure out a way for the county to pay.

OTHER ITEMS

The council decided to invite a representative of the First Michigan Cablevision Corp. to its Aug. 25 meeting to explain, in the opinion of at least some council members, why there hasn't been an improvement in reception since a rate increase was approved by council last August. The increase was contingent on implementation of improved service, and has yet to go into effect as new equipment has yet to be installed.

Parking meters along the first block of Seeger Street, north of Main will probably be reinstalled shortly. They were knocked down by vandals during Halloween last fall.

The streets and parking committee will consider whether meters should be installed on the block of Main between Maple and Sherman Streets.

Because of the poor condition of Maple Street between Garfield and M Streets because of crossings cut for sewer lines, etc., trustees approved having it sealed this year, at a cost of $1,650.

The wastewater treatment plant construction is basically on schedule. Doerr Road is now ready for paving. Curbing will be installed on Garfield Street this week.

The Grand Trunk has been rebuilding the Garfield Street crossing, it was also reported, eliminating one siding, installing heavy duty rail and raising the tracks so they will be in line with the new pavement when it is laid.

Wastewater treatment plant employee Ken Miller has passed his tests and is now a certified Class D sewage treatment works operator. It is the first time in recent years the plant has two certified operators.

Plant Superintendent Nelson Willy has a Class B license, which will be the classification of the plant when the expansion project is completed. It is now rated Class C.

Attendance at the Helen Stevens Memorial Pool as of July 21 was up more than 1,000 over the same date in 1979.

Village Treasurer Joyce LaRoche reported 56.9 percent of village taxes had been collected as of July 25, compared to 66.9 percent one year earlier.

Both sides still far apart as teacher talks resume

With the start of school in the Cass City district about a month away, the main thing negotiators for the two sides agree on so far is they are far apart.

Talks resume Friday, the last session having been held July 17.

According to Supt. Donald Crouse, who is negotiating for the school board with professional negotiator Al Luce, the talks are still in the preliminary stages and the two sides have yet to reach agreement on anything.

"We are very far apart," commented Phyllis McCoy, head of the negotiating team for the teachers. "Sept. 2 is a long way away and we have a lot of work to do."

The Cass City Education Association is being represented by the Tri-County Bargaining Association (TCBA). Ms. McCoy is a Michigan Education Association (MEA) representative in Flint.

The teachers more than a month ago presented a proposed agreement to the board, which spells out all the changes they seek from its previous contract, which expired June 30.

Although their proposal spells out their financial demands and the board has made some proposals dealing with money, Crouse and Ms. McCoy both said negotiating has yet to get to that stage.

ACCORDING TO THE superintendent, at the July 17 session the board offered a 7 percent increase in pay above what each teacher received last year.

Teachers would not move up a step in the pay scale plus receive a pay increase, 7 percent is all they would get.

What the teachers are asking is somewhat more complicated.

For starters, they want an increase of 5 percent in each pay step, with the teachers advancing a pay step per year as in the past. Then, added to each step will be a cost of living adjustment based on the percentage rise in the consumer price index.

The cost of living adjustment is the percentage increase in the consumer price index since June, 1979, which is approximately 16 percent. That is to be multiplied times each pay step after the 5 percent has been added, which would make the total increase about 22 percent.

In addition, teachers who haven't reached the top of the pay scale (13 or more years of experience) would also advance a step in the pay scale.

A starting teacher with a bachelor's degree who received $9,450 in 1977-78 (step 0), for instance, under the expired contract, received $10,627 in 1978-79 (step 1), an increase of $1,177.

For 1981-82, the teachers want an increase of 3 percent per step, plus a cost of living adjustment computed on the same basis as the one for 1980-81.

The pay scale for teachers during the 1979-80 school year had starting pay for those with bachelor's degrees at $10,921 annually; with master's degree, $11,499. The maximum, for those at the 13th step (13 or more years of teaching) was $17,604 with a bachelor's degree; $18,972 with a master's.

It is, of course, only a proposal. Traditionally in labor negotiations, the union initially asks for more than it expects to get and management offers less than it eventually expects to pay.

"If It Fitz..." The nomination hug

By Jim Fitzgerald

Before the recent GOP convention began, one of the men in charge told a reporter: "The whole idea is to make the event into a TV production instead of a convention."

Ken Rietz said that. He was assistant to the chairman of the GOP convention Program Committee. The chairman was California Lt. Gov. Mike Curb, who, in the 1960s, led the Mike Curb Congregation, a pop singing group, and was later a recording executive handling such musical artists as Pat Boone, the Osmonds and Shaun Cassidy.

Rietz is a political TV producer from California. He and Curb are credited with arranging for Sammy Davis Jr. to hug Richard Nixon on national TV at the 1972 GOP convention in Miami. Naturally, a lot of people were wondering which star would be designated to hug Ronald Reagan when he was crowned.

It was suggested that Reagan, because of his background, could hug himself. But there certainly wasn't any necessity for a self-embrace, as there were plenty of other stars in the Detroit area that week who could have hugged Reagan. Jimmy Stewart, for instance. He appears regularly in TV commercials to say, "The most important things Firestone makes is friends." After hugging Reagan, Stewart could have told TV viewers how to drive 50,000 miles without wearing the tread off a steel-belted friend.

Or how about Ginger Rogers? She was starring in a stage show not far from the convention site. Miss Rogers could not only have hugged Reagan on TV; she could also have danced with him, thus greatly improving his chances of marrying a jockey.

Other entertainers in town for the convention were Wayne Newton, Frank Sinatra, Liz Taylor, Tony Orlando and Gerald Ford. (Ford was once a male model; I find that entertaining.) You might wonder why Rietz and Curb didn't arrange for every one of these stars to hug Reagan on TV, which would really have given Jimmy Carter something to play softball about.

Remember, Richard Nixon was an incumbent president at the Miami convention. He didn't need a lot of hugs from the stars. In fact, there are a few people who think Nixon might have been re-elected even if Sammy Davis hadn't hugged him. On the other hand, Reagan needs all the hugs he can get. He has never been elected anything except governor of California, and everyone knows Californians will elect anyone governor just to keep Mike Curb a breath away from appointing Donny Osmond to the state Supreme Court.

The problem was that extended hugging would have increased the length of the convention and decreased the number of TV viewers. A review of past TV ratings indicated that the shorter the convention, the bigger the audience. The first televised GOP convention, in 1952, was on the air for 56 hours. This year it was on about 18 hours. Obviously, convention planners have learned through the years that it's hard to keep the American public from going to the bathroom for 56 hours, and Walter Cronkite can't do it alone. He needs help from Hollywood.

Show biz stars can keep TV cameras focused on the convention podium, where the politicians want it. This is because the networks know the public wants to see a Wayne Newton, not a Barry Goldwater. And, as Sammy Davis proved with Nixon, if a Newton hugs a nominee, the election is won. In political parlance, this is known as the we-give-a-fignewton strategy.

What had to be decided, in the case of Reagan, was whether to choreograph hugs from several stars, and risk making the convention too long, or to stick with only one hug from, say, Liz Taylor, and risk offending Tony Orlando, not to mention Dawn.

I don't know what was finally decided because, when Reagan was crowned, I was home watching an old Jimmy Stewart movie on TV. That's what steel-belted friends are for.

Ubly sets building millage vote

The Ubly Board of Education Monday approved a $1.295 million bonding proposal to be voted on by the public Monday, Sept. 8.

The bonding proposal will fund a 20,000-square-foot addition which will include a band room, greenhouse, workshops and science rooms, according to Supt. David Landeryou.

The addition will replace obsolete facilities and provide more room in the overcrowded school.

Landeryou said the school has a current enrollment of 1,243 students but facilities designed for only 900.

The architectural firm of Wigen, Tinknell and Associates, of Saginaw, has been hired to design the structure.

Vandals in cars damage area lawns

Robert C. Dilman reported "extensive damage" to his yard and flower garden at 4612 Kennebec Drive Sunday.

Dilman told police that a neighbor reported hearing a vehicle driving on his (Dilman's) lawn around 2 a.m. but did not investigate or see the driver.

Police believe the vehicle was northbound on Leach Street and missed the stop where the street ended, intersecting with Huron Street. There was no curb to keep him from going onto Dilman's yard.

This is the second time this year a car has missed the stop and gone into Dilman's yard.

A sump pump was stolen from the Thumb Area Community Cooperative Grain terminal on Cemetery Road sometime between 5 p.m. Friday, July 18, and 7 a.m. July 21.

The pump, valued at $65, was reported missing by Earnest Cook and had an unknown serial number.

Damage estimated at $150-200 was done to the Kingston High School lawn last week.

Supt. Robert Cameron reported to Kingston Police Officer Thomas Kolb the afternoon of July 21 that the damage had been done the previous night by a vehicle driven across the front lawn, which left deep ruts and tore up the grass.

Similar tracks were also found on the Kingston State Bank lawn.

The vehicle had one regular rear tire in back and one snow tire, which enabled Kolb to find the vehicle and its owner later that afternoon.

The owner subsequently admitted doing the damage. Further action in the case was pending issuance of a warrant by the prosecutor's office.

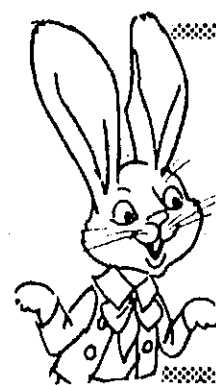

The individual also admitted breaking some windows in Kingston, but a criminal charge was not made depending on his paying restitution of $97.

Mary Miracle of 6825 Gilford Road, Kingston, reported to Caro state police last Thursday that a Gamble's 5 horsepower rotary tiller was stolen from her garden some time since Monday, July 21. It was worth $350.

A Gagetown woman reported to the sheriff's department last Wednesday that there was a hole in her kitchen window made by a BB gun.

The suspected youth, she said, also had shot holes in several windows of the home of a neighbor, shot at cars and killed birds.

Gagetown police and the Department of Natural Resources, because of the birds, were notified of the youth's actions.

Rabbit Tracks

(And anyone else he can get to help)

The story about Jim Brooker that appeared in the Chronicle last week was of particular interest to the Fritz Olsons of Cass City.

The reason is that the Olsons and the Brookers were friends when they lived in Bay City. Mrs. Brooker still lives in Bay City.

Another footnote to the Brooker story was provided by Jim Patnaude, a student at Owen-Gage. He had the records. Brooker vaulted 12-9 9/16 at the Paris Olympics. The year Brooker won the bronze was one of four times that the United States won all three places in the pole vault.

Finally, DeHart Hubbard's first place in the long jump was 25-5 at Paris, Patnaude reports.

Patnaude's best vault during this past season was 13-3, the best of anyone in the upper Thumb.

Sometimes it's hard to be a leader. Just ask Earl L. Warrick. Warrick, of Midland, is district governor of Rotary.

He was trying to impress officers of local clubs with the importance of turning in reports. If they are late, he warned one officer, I'll call your secretary at 2 a.m. to get them. Well, the officer responded, I won't have them then, but I'll be sure to have them when I return your call the next morning at 2 o'clock.

In the last several weeks the Chronicle has published two stories about $5,000 winners in the Michigan lottery.

Papers are continually accused of publishing "bad" news and leaving out "good" news.

This is a switch because the good is published and the bad ignored.

The bad news in this story is the hordes that buy tickets and never win anything.

I'm sure that success stories like that of Isabelle Seelley encourage many to plunk down their hard earned dollars for a chance at the pot at the end of the rainbow.

That makes me uncomfortable because the odds are greater than two to one against getting your money back. Every buck that goes for tickets returns something less than 50 cents in prizes.

The Haire Net

It would be great if we could vote "none of the above" on the three tax proposals that will face us in Michigan and substitute a cut in spending law instead.

On the tax proposals we can all vote no and perhaps that's the way to go.

There could be merit in voting no on the Tisch and Smith-Bullard tax proposals and not voting at all on the Milliken proposal.

The Tisch amendment would be disastrous and the Smith-Bullard option would remove local control of our schools. If they both passed, perhaps the Milliken proposal would pass, too, and the resulting confusion delay implementation long enough so that complete breakdown of government wouldn't result.

In case you missed it, Tisch wants to assess property at 25 percent instead of 50 percent of actual cash value. The state would be required to fund the shortage caused in assessment and special exemptions for senior citizens to the tune of about $2 billion. In addition any state tax increase would require a 60 percent voter margin to pass.

The Smith-Bullard option backed and financed to the tune of over $60,000 already by the Michigan Education Association would establish a maximum of 7 voter-approved mills for schools and a statewide property-tax levy limit of 24.5 mills.

The object, of course, is to shift the financing of schools from the district to state level. The MEA has had trouble getting local voters to approve increases in operating millage.

The Milliken proposal shifts the tax burden from property tax to sales tax. It doesn't promise the moon like the Tisch amendment.

Owner-occupied homes would have a $7,100 reduction in assessed valuation, not a great deal for farmers paying huge property taxes. Renters would receive an average $140 rebate.

To make up the difference the sales tax jumps to 5.5 percent, a tax that is regressive. Lower income persons pay as much as higher income citizens. There are exceptions in necessities that help the poor.

What all these tax proposals signify is the growing revolt against a tax burden that is becoming oppressive, especially now when wages simply haven't been able to keep up with inflation.

Everyone knows the real answer. It's not a shift in taxes, but a reduction in spending that makes the taxes necessary.

Everyone knows what needs to be done. No one knows how to do it. Tisch, Headlee and Milliken haven't been the answer and there is no solution in sight.

Special interest groups and the politicians always manage to stay a step ahead of the ordinary taxpayer.

The options open to us Nov. 4 make it difficult to see any improvement in the years ahead.

An estimated 23 million Americans — 20 percent of the adult population — have high blood pressure. Only about half of these individuals know they have high blood pressure, and only a minority of those who do know are being treated effectively.

Why do so many of us ignore this serious health hazard? Everyone knows that high blood pressure is bad for our health. Why don't we have blood pressure checked regularly? Why don't we begin treatment when the blood pressure is too high?

Swimmers needed
for MDA

Able bodied swimmers will be able to do their part to aid the Muscular Dystrophy Association, Friday, Aug. 8.

The Cass City swim team is sponsoring a 50-mile swim-a-thon that will continue from noon Friday to noon Saturday.

Swimmers participating will each swim part of the overall 50-mile length and each swimmer's contribution will be recorded.

For instance, if the first swimmer swims three-quarters of a mile and the next goes one-half of a mile, that is 1 1/4 of the total distance to be completed.

One mile in the Cass City Pool is 32 lengths. Swimmers will solicit pledges for each mile they swim.

The pool will be open all night for people participating in the event. During regular pool hours part of the pool will be roped off.

Last year, the event netted approximately $600. Anyone can participate and should call the pool at 872-5166 for pledge information.

Because high blood pressure is a silent disease. Unless you have seen a doctor, you don't know you have it. And, even after you find out, it doesn't hurt. So why bother?

High blood pressure is one of the great killers. It can shorten your life by contributing to failure of your heart, arteries, kidneys and brain, the American Medical Association declares.

A nationwide screening effort has been underway for several years in America to locate those persons with high blood pressure and get them started on treatment. High blood pressure can be controlled. And the result is a greatly lowered risk of serious disease and death.

Don't panic about your blood pressure, but protect your health and your life by keeping in mind five facts —

1) High blood pressure is a silent disease; it almost never has symptoms and a person does not feel sick.

2) It is a major cause of stroke, heart failure and kidney failure, but these disorders often can be prevented with control of high blood pressure.

3) It can be controlled by taking medications prescribed by your physician and by following his advice about life style.

4) High blood pressure medication should be taken every day, even if the patient feels well.

5) All adults, every one of us, should have blood pressure checked regularly. It cannot be overemphasized that high blood pressure will not be cured, it will only be controlled.

Thus it is vital to continue the therapy prescribed by the physician even after the blood pressure level has been lowered sufficiently. Abandon treatment and the pressure climbs again.

VILLAGE OF GAGETOWN ORDINANCE NUMBER 102

AN ORDINANCE FOR THE PURPOSE OF CONTROLLING AND ERADICATING NOXIOUS WEEDS WITHIN THE VILLAGE OF GAGETOWN AND TO PROVIDE PENALTIES FOR VIOLATIONS THEREOF.

THE VILLAGE OF GAGETOWN ORDAINS:

Section 1. For the purpose of this ordinance, "noxious weeds" shall include Canada thistle (Cirsium arvense), codders (any species of Cirsium), mustards (charlock, black mustard, and Indian mustard, species of Brassica or Sinapis), wild carrot (Daucus carota), bindweed (Convolvulus arvensis), perennial sowthistle (Sonchus arvensis), hoary alyssum (Berteroa incana), ragweed (ambrosia elatior 1) and poison ivy (Rhus toxicodendron), poison sumac (Toxicodendron vernix) or other plant which in the opinion of the Village Council is regarded as a common nuisance.

Section 2. The uncontrolled growth of noxious weeds within the Village of Gagetown is hereby declared to be a public nuisance which is dangerous to the health and safety of the inhabitants of the Village of Gagetown.

Section 3. The Village President shall have the powers and duties of the commissioner of noxious weeds as provided in Act 359 of the Public Acts of 1941, as amended, and shall carry out and enforce the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 4. It shall be the duty of all owners of lands on which noxious weeds are found growing, to destroy the same before they reach a seed bearing stage and to prevent such weeds from perpetuating themselves, or to prevent such weeds becoming a public nuisance or detriment to public health.

Section 5. The Village President shall each year cause a general notice to be published in a newspaper circulated in the Village of Gagetown directed to property owners that all noxious weeds growing within the Village shall be cut or destroyed on or before July 1 and September 1 of each year, and generally summarizing the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 6. The Village President shall notify by certified mail with return receipt requested, the owner, agent or occupant of any lands on which noxious weeds have not been cut or destroyed after the date specified in the general notice, in substantially the following form:

NOTICE TO CUT OR DESTROY NOXIOUS WEEDS

TO: (name and address of owner)

OWNER OF: (description of lot or tract)

Notice is hereby given that noxious weeds are found growing uncontrolled upon the above described premises in the Village of Gagetown. These weeds must be destroyed by cutting or spraying within five days from the date of this notice. In the event you fail to refuse to comply with this notice the

When the summer sun sets in and the days get long and tiring there's nothing like a vacation to break up the monotony.

And an ideal vacation of 9-year-old Jeff Bliss and his 11-year-old sister Alicia would be a trip to an amusement park such as Disneyland or Cedar Point.

The Bliss family said they had visited King's Island, a park in Ohio similar to Cedar Point, two years ago and had a great time there.

The best part was the rides such as the ferris wheel and others. However, Alicia said her parents would not let her or Jeff go on the roller coasters then.

For the past few years, the two children have been going with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bliss, to the Pigeon River Campground on Sebawaing Road.

The kids said it is a good time with days filled by fishing and swimming, and nights spent by a campfire. However, some aspects of the rough life aren't necessarily for them.

"It's fun but it's hard on the back when you sleep," Alicia pointed out.

Jeff and Alicia have another younger sister at home. Their father works for Herron Builders...

3 attending Blue Lake

Attending the third summer session of the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp are three area students.

Included in the session, which runs July 22 through Aug. 3, are Rita Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sullivan, 4887 South Street, Gagetown; Tammy Iseler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Iseler, 5089 Schwegler Road, and Jeanne Marshall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Marshall, 6631 E. Milligan Road.

The students attending this session have study options of arts, band, dance, jazz, orchestra, piano, or musical theater.

Village President will cause entry upon your land and the destruction or spraying of said weeds. The expense incurred by the Village of Gagetown in the destruction or spraying of said weeds will be as provided by law, and may be placed on your next tax roll as a lien on your property. The penalty for failure to comply with this notice may subject you to a fine of not less than $10.00 nor more than $100.00.

Failure to give such notice shall not, however, constitute a defense to any action to enforce the payment of any penalty provided for or debt created under the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 7. In the event that a third cutting or destruction of weeds is necessary due to unusual growth conditions during the year, the Village President shall cause another notice to be given in the same manner as in the preceding section.

Section 8. In case any such owner, agent or occupant shall refuse or neglect to destroy such noxious weeds or cause the same to be destroyed within five days after service of the aforesaid notice, it shall be the duty of the Village President to cause entry upon such lands and to destroy such noxious weeds or cause the same to be destroyed. Express power to so enter upon such lands and destroy such noxious weeds is hereby conferred upon the Village President. Any expense incurred in such destruction shall be paid by the owner, agent or person having charge of such lands in the Village of Gagetown, and the Village of Gagetown shall have a lien against such lands for such expense, which lien shall be enforced in the manner provided by law for the enforcement of tax liens, or which shall be enforced according to the provisions of the Village Ordinance as hereinafter provided.

Section 9. The cost of entering premises and the destruction of noxious weeds after failure of the property owner to destroy such weeds within the time limit in notice given as aforesaid may be assessed against the lot, premises or description of real property upon which such noxious weeds were located. The Village President shall notify all such property owners of the cost, and the description of the property against which assessed, and demand payment within 30 days. In all cases where payment is not made within the time limit, the same shall be reported to the assessor, who shall spread such amounts against the general descriptions of real property chargeable therewith on the next roll for the collection of Village taxes.

Section 10. Any owner, agent or person having charge of lands in the Village of Gagetown who shall refuse to destroy noxious weeds as provided for in this ordinance, shall be subject to a fine of not less than $10.00 nor more than $100.00 upon conviction thereof.

Section 11. This ordinance shall be effective upon publication.

He who laughs last

By Mike Eliasohn

The wrong government is investigating Billy Carter. If the Libyans had any sense, they would be doing the investigating.

Unfortunately for the Libyans, the government of Col. Muammar Khadafy is a dictatorship and Khadafy is not a benevolent dictator, at least as far as non-Libyans are concerned.

For those who haven't been keeping track of the news of late, Billy finally registered with our government as a foreign agent, after having accepted a $220,000 "loan" from the Libyan government. The quote marks are because Billy has nothing in writing to show it was a loan. We have to accept his word that he was supposed to pay the money back.

Billy also had a deal with a Florida oil company to try to obtain 100,000 barrels of oil per day from Libya, for an annual fee of $5.6 million.

Not bad for the owner, or maybe ex-owner, of a gas station in Plains, Ga., except that he apparently found the well dry.

It has also been revealed that the national security advisor for Billy's brother, Jimmy, otherwise known as the President of the United States, asked Billy in late November to set up a meeting with his friends in the Libyan government in an effort to get our hostages in Iran released.

The result was that Khadafy sent a letter to Iran urging release of the hostages. Maybe Ayatollah Khomeini doesn't read his mail.

All these goings on have so incensed members of Congress that they are going to conduct an investigation.

Even the Democrats are joining the Republicans in being incensed.

Normally under such conditions in an election year, only the Republicans would be incensed.

But as I said in the beginning, the wrong government is being incensed. Jimmy Carter may not have been our best president in handling of foreign affairs, but he isn't stupid.

The oil-rich Libyans apparently were, however. Did they really think that by giving Billy Carter $220,000 he would be able to influence relations between our country and Libya?

Of course not, especially as long as Khadafy keeps supplying money to terrorist organizations all over the world, arranges for the assassination of his political enemies in his own country and elsewhere and threatens to invade Egypt.

Khadafy can do those things because he has lots of money, a lot of which he gets by selling oil to the United States. He has threatened, by the way, to stop selling oil to our country, which gets 8 percent of its oil from his country.

For Billy Carter, the $220,000 is quite a step up from the days he was getting $5,000 to guzzle beer at shopping center openings.

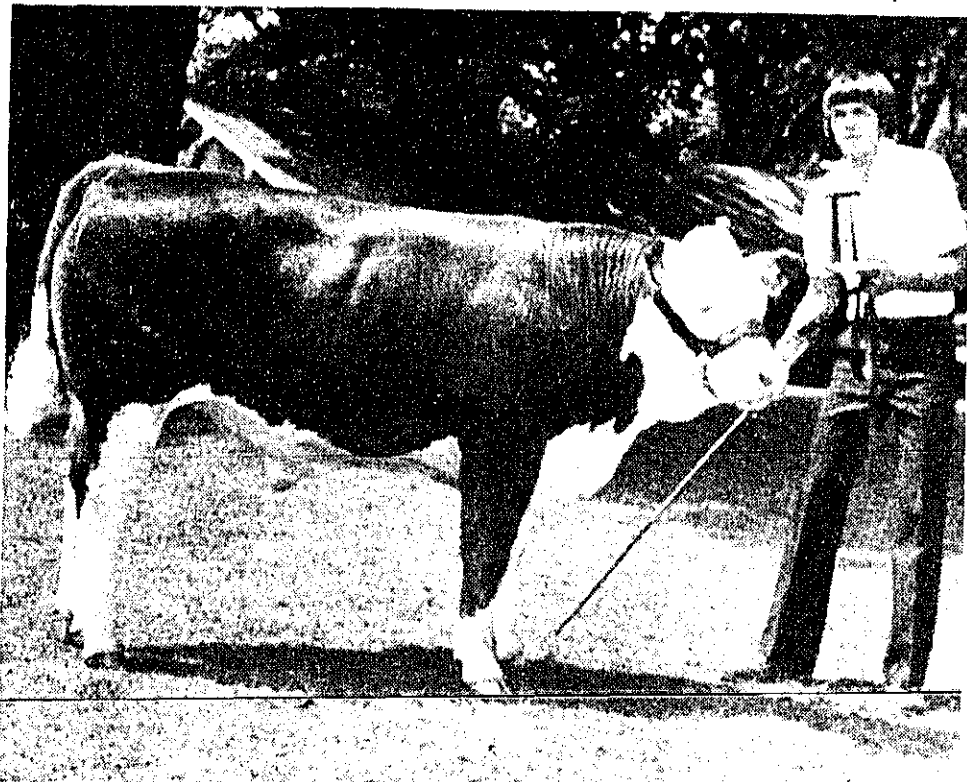

To paraphrase what he said then and repeated recently, "If people are crazy enough to pay me to do things, I'm crazy enough to do them."

The loser in all this will probably be President Carter, who has enough problems of his own without Billy adding to them.

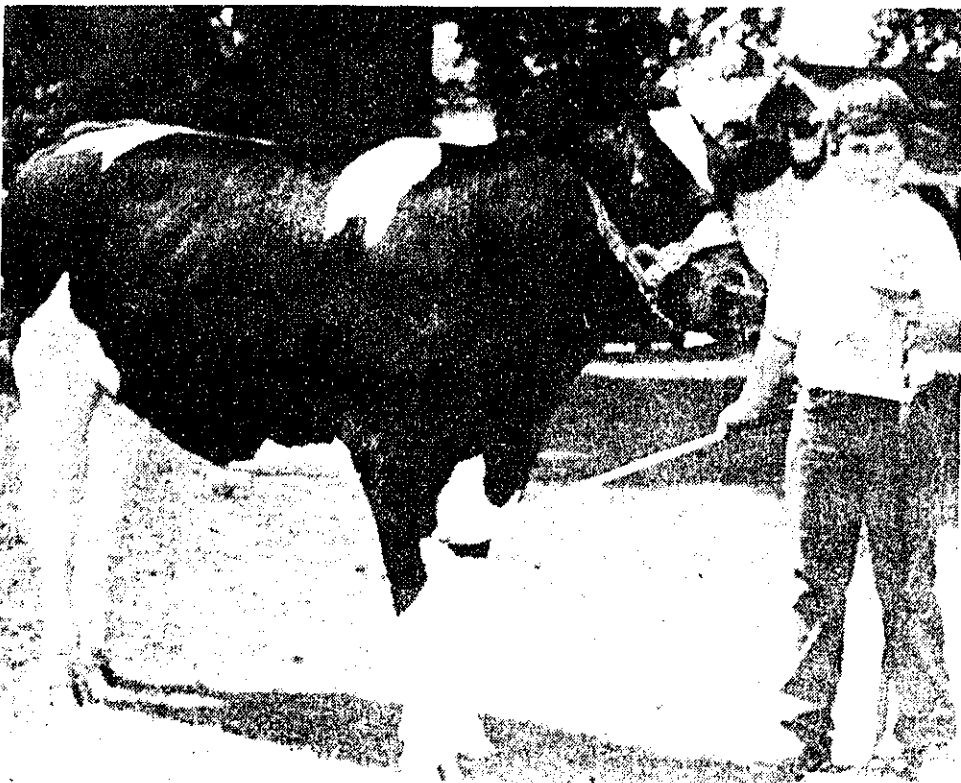

Somehow, this all sounds like a fable, "The Tale of Two Brothers." One stayed home and got into trouble. The other one went to Washington and got into trouble.

As a friend of mine suggested, perhaps Billy can redeem himself by offering to exchange himself for our 52 hostages in Iran.

A reminder to all 4-H club leaders: We would appreciate your sending us the names of your blue ribbon winners from the Tuscola, Sanilac and Huron county fairs.

SENIOR BEEF SHOWMANSHIP winner Tuesday at the Tuscola County Fair was Bob Leslie, 17, with his Hereford-Simmental cross. He also won that title two years ago. He is a Cass City FFA member and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Leslie of Leslie Road, Decker.

JUNIOR BEEF SHOWMANSHIP winner Tuesday at the Tuscola County Fair was Clinton Messingale, 9, in his first year of competition. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Watson of Mayville and the cousin of senior showmanship winner Bob Leslie. He raised his Holstein steer at the farm of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Deering, Cass City.

Both sides still far apart as teacher talks resume Friday

The teacher proposal only covers two years. The contract that expired was for three years.

ANOTHER PROPOSAL the board put on the table July 17 says that if the 1-mill increase on the ballot Aug. 18 is rejected by voters and the board is thus forced to terminate the elementary art and music teaching positions, elementary teachers won't have to be paid extra when they teach music and art which otherwise would have been taught by the special teachers.

Neither Crouse nor Ms. McCoy feel the impending millage vote is hindering the pace of negotiations as both sides await the outcome. The superintendent commented there are school districts without pending millage votes where teacher negotiations are proceeding at a slow pace.

The board's third proposal was for a school calendar consistent with that of the Voters must make numerous choices

Persons voting in the party qualification section of the ballot cannot also vote in the Republican or Democratic section.

Those sticking with the two majority parties can only vote for candidates of one party or the other.

IN ADDITION TO THE numerous candidates, there are also numerous millage proposals on Tuesday's ballot.

Tuscola county has a 1-mill proposal, half of which is for bridges and half of which is for county operations, which if approved, doesn't take effect until December, 1981. Huron county has a 1-mill proposal for bridges.

There is a .2 mill proposal to support senior citizen activities being presented to voters in Tuscola and Sanilac.

Grant, Elmwood, Austin, Novesta and Evergreen townships all have road millage proposals on their ballots. Ellington township has a proposal for fire protection and Grant has one for fire and ambulance protection.

Articles about candidates in all contested races and all millage proposals appear throughout this week's Chronicle.

Tuscola Intermediate School District, primarily due to the opening of the county skill center in September.

THE TEACHERS, OF course, have various proposals of their own, in addition to pay. Among them are:

New teachers shall not be disciplined, including warnings and reprimands and adverse evaluations, without just cause. Such discipline shall be subject to the formal grievance procedure including binding arbitration.

The old contract basically left teacher discipline up to the administrators, with the requirement that grounds for disciplinary action had to be made available to the teacher and union in writing.

The new teacher proposal specifies class size limits, whereas the old contract only required examination of classload on the 13th day of each semester.

The proposed limit is 22 pupils per teacher in kindergarten and first grade, 25 in grades 2-6 and 25 in most secondary classes.

The TCBA is requesting that teachers in grades K-6 receive 50 minutes each day for a duty-free lunch; 30 minutes for those who teach in grades 7-12. No such provisions were contained in the old contract.

The now expired pact gave teachers a choice, paid by the board, of Blue Cross-Blue Shield health insurance or the MEA affiliated MESSA Super Med II.

The new proposal only calls for the MESSA coverage.

In addition to Ms. McCoy, other members of the teacher bargaining team are local teachers James Mastie, Shirley Tuckey and David Hoard, plus as representative of the TCBA, Millington teacher Robert Letts.

Three arrested

Report minor injuries in several area accidents

A Gagetown man was injured and an Owendale man arrested on charges of driving under the influence of liquor early Tuesday when the pickup he was driving struck a trailer on Sebewaing Road, east of Owendale.

Lowell T. Fibranz, 39, of 4134 S. Elkton Road, sought his own treatment after being knocked from the trailer at 12:05 a.m. by Gregory J. Lenda, 23, of 5626 Sebewaing Road.

According to state police, Lenda was passing a truck and could not slow down in time to avoid hitting the trailer being pulled by Minnie Askevich, 31, of Gagetown. She was driving a small garden tractor.

The force of Lenda hitting the trailer knocked Fibranz off, troopers said.

A passenger in the Lenda vehicle, 3-year-old Brett J. Lenda, was injured slightly but not hospitalized.

Lenda pleaded innocent before District Judge John Schubel Tuesday and was released on his own recognizance, pending a later hearing.

A Cass City motorcyclist was treated and released from Hills and Dales General Hospital after a mishap at 9:30 p.m. Friday.

Tuscola sheriff's deputies reported Frederick John Tuckey, 16, of 4353 Koepfgen Road, was northbound on Cedar Run Road after crossing the Hoppe Road intersection when his cycle went off the shoulder of the road into a ditch.

Earl L. Markel of Cemetery Road, Deford, was treated and released from Hills and Dales following an incident at 2 a.m. last Thursday which resulted in his being charged by Caro state police with driving under the influence of liquor.

Troopers reported he was backing from a driveway on the east side of Cemetery Road, south of Mushroom Road, and backed all the way across the road into a wooded area, where his car became stuck.

He was taken to the county jail where he was later released on personal recognizance bond, with arraignment scheduled in district court Aug. 11.

Stephen J. Varosi, 39, of Sandusky, was treated and released from Caro Community Hospital and arrested by deputies on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor after an accident at 12:25 a.m. last Thursday east of Cass City.

According to officers, he was southbound on Schwegler Road, north of M-81, when his car skidded off the east side of the road, became airborne and struck a utility pole. The car landed and traveled 119 feet on the ground before striking another utility pole. The impact knocked both poles to the ground.

Varosi was taken to the county jail, where he was later released on personal recognizance bond pending appearance in district court.

A passenger in his car, Bruce R. Walker, 26, of 5198 Wheeler Road, Snover, was reported as being injured but according to Caro hos-

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Ann Marie Ertel, 22, of Sebewaing, was cited by Caro state police on a charge of careless driving after a 2:50 p.m. accident July 22. Troopers reported she was southbound on Colwood Road, north of M-81, when her car went into the left ditch.

She told officers she had taken headache medicine and may have fallen asleep.

Gerald T. Vanderpool, 26, of 5630 Cartwright Road, Kingston, was ticketed by sheriff's deputies on a charge of careless driving after an accident at 9:30 p.m. that day.

They reported he was southbound on Reid Road and attempted to turn east onto Shay Lake Road but his car skidded off the south side of the latter road into the ditch.

Deputies reported that at 9 p.m. last Thursday, Durrell E. Marquardt, 18, of 3710 White Creek Road, Kingston, was southbound on White Creek Road, north of Denhoff Road, when his vehicle struck a deer.

Muntz retires

day until a full-time replacement is found.

Muntz began his postal service as a substitute clerk in 1943. One year later he began to work for Uncle Sam in a different capacity.

He served in the U.S. Army transportation corps where, among other duties, he worked in the mailroom.

"That was mostly labor, though," he explained. Upon returning, he served as a clerk until 1953 when he was made acting postmaster. Two years later he was officially appointed postmaster by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

He spoke proudly of his appointment certificate that he keeps on a desk at home. In 1957 he found a permanent assignment as a rural carrier. Although on the same route for 23 years, the route changed as the years went on.

"When I began it was 55 miles long and now it is 85 miles long."

Muntz and his wife Bessie have two daughters, Connie Vandemark of Deford and Judy Knoph of Gladwin, and four grandchildren.

Although he could have retired seven years ago,

Muntz said he kept putting it off but finally decided to quit while he was ahead.

With extra time on his hands, Muntz can now concentrate on his bowling game, gardening at his home at 3770 Cass City Road, and visits to their cabin near Mio.

His reluctance at leaving the post office was evident Friday when a reporter apologized for keeping him past the time when he usually would have left.

"It's all right," he said. "I've got all the time in the world."

Kingston man saved

According to Mrs. Nickens, Sedlak was not a strong swimmer but insisted on going in anyway. His daughter decided to watch from the bank.

His mother said Jan had just returned from fishing when the accident occurred. "If it hadn't been for him there, there would have been no saving him," she said.

Grain licenses required

Michigan farmers are warned by Dean Pridgeon, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, that all grain buyers in the state must be licensed.

In addition, under the state law which MDA enforces, grain dealers and truckers are required to provide temporary receipts for the grain to farmers before it is removed from the farm premises.

Pridgeon said he is concerned there may be some problems in the industry because there has been a drop in the number of truck license applications, suggesting some truckers may be operating unlicensed. Because of a reduction in MDA staff, highway surveillance has been reduced.

"The only people who can help us enforce the law are the farmers," Pridgeon says. "Our job is to protect the farmers from fraud, and that's what we're trying to do, but we need help from the farmers if we're going to eliminate problems."

Bean-beet field day set Aug. 6

A Bean and Beet Field Day will be Wednesday, Aug. 6, at the Bean and Beet Research Farm, southwest of Saginaw at the corner of Swan Creek and Thomas Roads, according to Harold D. Rouget, regional extension crops-soil specialist.

Tours will leave the farm headquarters at 1, 2 and 3 p.m., each lasting about one hour. Tours will cover bean variety research, new type beans, bean diseases and soil compaction.

Sugar beet emphasis will be on beet breeding for yield and extractable sugar as carried out by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and new techniques for cloning sugar beets by tissue culture to multiply copies of parents of some beets on test in the field, Rouget said.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

The cost of Cass City's proposed municipal swimming pool has been pegged at $200,000, according to figures made public at the village council meeting.

Some $228 was raised for the upcoming Special Olympics in Mount Pleasant by participants in a Summer Recreation Program-sponsored bike-a-thon.

More than 65 Cub Scouts from throughout the Thumb competed in Saturday's Cub Scout Olympics at the Cass City Recreational Park.

Sixth Street residents living between West and Vulcan Streets should get all the water they can use in the near future, following council okay of installation of a four-inch water line for that section of the street.

Lloyd Severance's retirement from public affairs in Evergreen township was a brief one. Interested township residents have circulated a petition for Severance as supervisor.

Spokesmen for area grain elevators reported this week that local wheat harvesting is producing 35-60 bushels per acre in what most termed an average crop.

Preliminary census figures for Tuscola county for 1970 indicate that because of a significant increase in population, Elkland township may receive upwards of $150,000 in additional state tax revenue.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Fred Maier, a partner in a local meat market for 50 years, this week announced his retirement from business.

Mr. and Mrs. E.J. Cooper were honored on their silver wedding anniversary, when between 80 and 100 friends and relatives gathered to celebrate the occasion.

TEN YEARS AGO

New voting machines are being installed at a rapid rate in Tuscola county. In this year's primary, machines will be used for the first time in Elkland and Elmwood townships.

Gospel group to appear

The Gospel Country-Aires from Yale, Mich., will be presenting a special concert Sunday morning at the Mizpah Missionary church.

Time of the concert is 10:45 a.m. The church is located 3 1/2 miles south of M-81 on M-53.

The Country-Aires have been singing gospel music throughout the state for five years. They have appeared at churches of various denominations as well as many other community functions. The public is invited.

Rites held Monday for F. Agar

Forest J. Agar, 59, of 350 Fifth Street, Owendale, d. Friday at St. Joseph Hospital in Flint.

He was the town's only barber, having taken over the business started by his late father, a bus driver for the Owendale-Gagetown schools and a familiar figure at Owen-Gage athletic events. He was also a member of the Owendale Villard Council.

Agar had the nickname "Judge," according to Postmaster Jeanette McDonald, a carryover from his father who had been a justice of the peace.

He was born Oct. 21, 1920 in Owendale, the son of John and Patience Agar.

He married Vivian Finkbeiner Aug. 30, 1940, in Owendale. She operates a beauty shop adjacent to his husband's barber shop.

Agar was a member of Tyler Lodge No. 317, F. & A.M., Veterans of the Foreign Wars Tip of the Thumb Post No. 2236, and a World War I Army veteran. He received the French Croix de Guerre bronze star.

He is survived by his wife, one son, Lance Agar, Sterling Heights; two daughters, Lynn (Mrs. Jerry) McBride, Roseville, and Carrie Rick, Mount Clemens; six grandchildren; six nephews, and three nieces.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at Shetler-Bussema Funeral Home, Pigeon, Rev. Myra L. Sparks of the Owendale United Methodist church officiating. Burial was in Elkland cemetery, Cass City.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Fifty-five business and professional men of Cass City have contributed funds for premium money for the first annual beef cattle show which will be held in Cass City Aug. 3.

The Shell Oil Co. has sent 92 oil lease renewals for the coming year to local land owners.

Awards were given to 61 pupils at the daily vacation Bible school sponsored by the Presbyterian, Methodist and Evangelical churches.

The twin bill at the Cass Theatre Sunday and Monday is "Salome, Where She Danced" and "See My Lawyer."

Lt. Sophie Kapral, a 1939 graduate of Cass City High School and former Deford resident, is home from England and visiting her parents, now living in Detroit. She is a nurse.

Lounsbury's and Deans hold reunion

The annual Lounsbury-Dean families reunion was held Sunday at the Cass City Recreational Park with 80 persons present.

Coming the greatest distance were Mr. and Mrs. James Halsey of Pickford. Eldest of the Dean family was Harley Dean of Caro and the youngest was Heidi Pomeroy of Roseville.

Eldest of the Lounsbury family was Leslie Lounsbury of Cass City and the youngest was Robbie McClorey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McClorey of Gagetown.

Officers elected for the coming year were: president, Lewis Livingston Sebewaing; vice-president, Robert Walters, Cass City and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Archie Ferguson, Sterling Heights.

The value of U.S. farm exports this year is now expected to reach $36.4 billion. An $18 billion contribution to our trade balance would result.

APPIN SCHOOL REUNION

The 9th annual Appin school reunion was held Sunday at the Farm Bureau Building in Bad Axe with 64 attending. A potluck dinner was served at noon.

The business meeting was conducted by Allen Depcinski. A special welcome was extended to 4 former teachers: Hazel Henderson, Mrs. Earl Jurgess, both of Bad Axe, Clayton Bensinger of Ubyly and Mrs. John Livingston of Marysville.

Officers for the 1983 reunion are president, Allen Depcinski; vice-president, Tony Cieslinski; secretary, Mrs. Edanna Sweeney; and treasurer, Mrs. Bryce Hagen. The afternoon was spent visiting.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tyrrell attended a beef barbecue at the McCrear farm near Bad Axe Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Michalski, Mr. and Mrs. Dave

Michalski and family and Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Robinson and family were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Michalski and family at Deford in honor of Mrs. John Michalski's and Greg Michalski's birthday. Bryce Champagne and Earl Schenk visited Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Talaski Thursday evening.

Dillon centennial farm was built from swamp, trees

If Colwood weren't on the dividing line between Columbia and Elmwood townships -- the apparent reason it got its name -- it probably would be known as Dillonville.

The Dillons were the first ones there.

Now the farm purchased by Edward Dillon in 1879, when the land was basically a swamp and trees, has been designated a centennial farm by the Division of Michigan History.

Its owners are Mary Russell, who still lives on the farm, and her children, Wayne Dillon and Gayle Butzinski. Mrs. Russell's first husband, Steve Dillon Jr., was the grandson of the original owner.

The family doesn't know too much about Edward Dillon, only that he came to this area from Canada, apparently from somewhere around Montreal.

The Dillon clan came to Canada from Ireland, but it isn't known if Edward was born in Canada or the old country.

The original farm was 160 acres, on the south side of what is now Dickerson Road, straddling both sides of what is now Colwood Road.

It is also known that Edward lost his eyesight here, went to a Catholic shrine in Canada and regained his vision.

EDWARD DILLON AND his wife, whose maiden name was Maude Reid, had seven children. It was son Steve, born in 1884, who inherited the farm in the early 1900s. Three other brothers settled on farms nearby and three sisters married.

Steve Dillon married Jane Monroe from Columbia Corners, who gave birth to six sons and two daughters.

They originally lived in the house which still stands across the road from the centennial farm home. The latter was probably built about 1900. The land was tiled in 1910 and the still standing barn was constructed in 1916.

MOST OF THE CHILDREN of Steve and Jane Dillon stayed close to home, with the original farm shrinking to 136 acres as they were given land of their own.

Some of the land either the children owned or sold became the foundation of Colwood. Though the community was never very big, in the early 1900s there were a bank, blacksmith shop, general store, livery, doctor and dentist there. The bank building, constructed in 1916, is now a home.

The only businesses there now are the Colwood Bar, started by Lee Dillon, one of the eight children, about 1936, and the grocery and gas station, across the road from the original general store.

STEVE JR., BORN IN 1905, was the only one of the eight to stay on the family farm and inherited it when his mother died in 1952. His father died in 1948.

He married Mamie (Mary) Seurynek in 1943 and they moved into the centennial farm home in 1948. Steve Dillon Jr. died in 1953. His widow and two children, Wayne and Gayle, became and still are the owners. Mary Dillon married Don Russell in 1960.

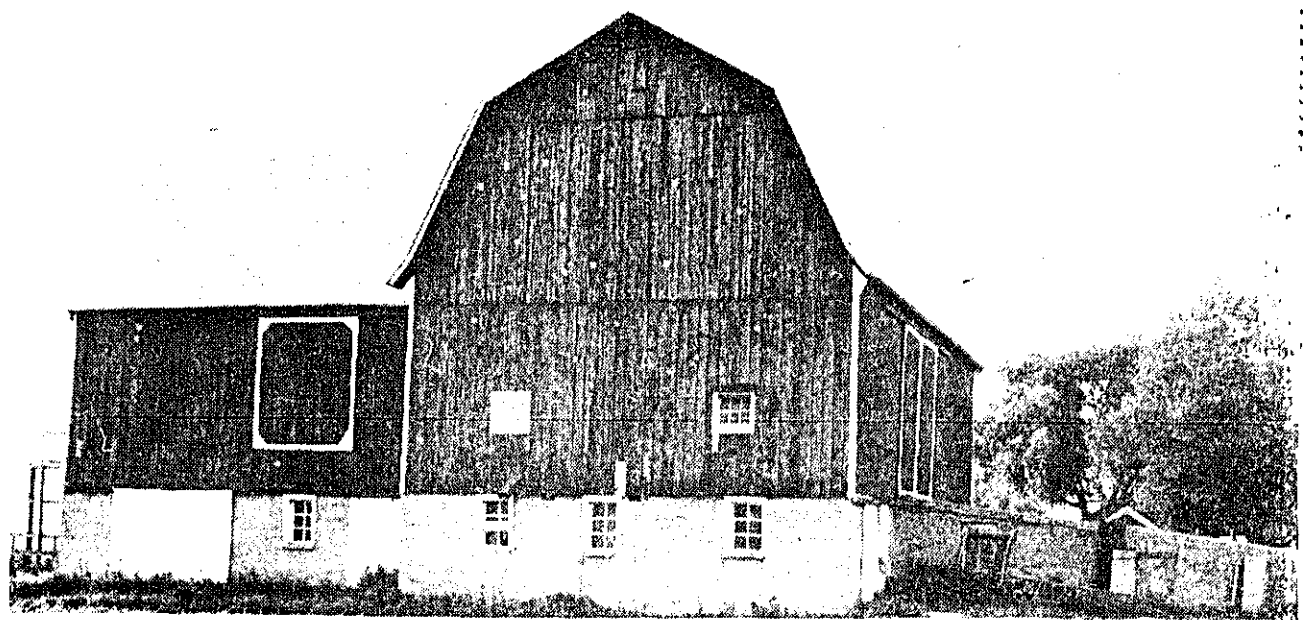

The surviving children of Steve (Sr.) and Jane Dillon are the four youngest, Ed, who lives next door to his sister-in-law, Mary Russell; Mae Secord, living in Detroit; Bob Dillon, Reese, and Leatha O'Brien, Bad Axe.

DON RUSSELL, WAYNE Dillon, counselor and vocational director at Cass City High School, and a cousin, Rick Dillon, farm 420 acres, consisting of the original centennial farm, some land owned by Don and some rented. Farming is also a part-time occupation for Rick, employed by Hunt Construction.

By some of their neighbors' standards, Wayne pointed out, theirs is a small operation. One arm of a neighbor's folding three-section disk, for instance, covers as much ground as their entire disk.

About 200 acres is planted with navy and color beans, with the other crops this year being wheat, sugar beets and oats.

To Wayne Dillon, farming "is a break from one job. It's a whole different world, even when you're hoeing."

THE BARN on the Dillon centennial farm was erected in 1916 and is used for storage of equipment and some grain. The barn and home, built about 1900, are on the Columbia township side of Colwood Road.

Jail or detention - Where do the delinquents go?

By James Iseler

It is 1 a.m. and a 15-year-old boy has been apprehended by police in the act of siphoning gas from someone else's car.

He is taken to the police station where repeated attempts are made to contact his parents. They cannot be found.

The youngster has been complaining all night that his rights have been violated and he is being held against his will. His fervor begins to get more violent and the police can look no longer for his parents.

They cannot keep him at the station and he cannot face a Probate Court hearing until morning. He must be lodged somewhere for the night.

If the above hypothetical situation occurred in Tuscola county, police would then call Probate Judge W. Wallace Kent Jr. for his decision. That decision, which must come in the form of a signed order, is whether to send the boy to jail or the Genesee Regional Detention Center near Flint.

No one wants to see their son or daughter thrown into jail for the evening. Yet the cost to the county for sending him to the center is one sheriff's patrol car and two officers taken off the road.

It takes an estimated 3-4 hours for the deputies to transport the juvenile and return. That will be repeated in the morning when they must bring him back to face a probate hearing before Judge Kent.

All too often, unless the youngster is under the age of 15, he or she is lodged in jail for the evening, separated from adult inmates, according to Sheriff Hugh Marr. He added he does not like that idea. "Jail is no place for a kid."

JAILING JUVENILES may soon be illegal if a new juvenile code is passed by the legislature.

According to Judge Kent, the new code would allow jails to be used only if they are specially adapted for minors.

"But I see that as an empty promise. I don't know of any jail that could be licensed," Kent stated. The idea of a new code has been kicked about the Legislature for some time but if it passes, Kent will have no alternative in cases such as the theoretical one set forth other than to send the youth to Flint.

In addition to the cost paid by the sheriff's department, it costs $81 a day to hold the juvenile in detention in Flint. Half of that is paid for by the county, the rest by the state.

AN OBVIOUS QUESTION arises -- why not build a detention center in this area?

Sheriff Marr said he is in favor of such a center. Cass City Police Chief Gene Wilson also said he would like somewhere nearby where juveniles may be lodged overnight.

But Kent claims the county neither needs nor can afford a short-term detention center in this area.

"We don't have enough kids in detention at any one time to economically justify a center in our county," Kent said.

From October, 1979 to March, 1980, 19 youngsters were taken to the Genesee center, Kent said. Nine were lodged in the jail during that same period.

At both places, juveniles are only detained overnight, for their preliminary hearing the next morning takes priority over everything else, he added.

THE COST TO BUILD and staff a center where there would usually be only one or two juveniles at one time would far exceed the money Tuscola county pays to send them to Genesee, Kent said.

Offhand, Kent counted at least 15 people that would need to be hired for such a center. He did not specifically estimate how much it would cost.

Kent pointed out that Sanilac county has a short term detention home in Sandusky that is manned by a couple who live and work on the premises. However, juveniles there are not under lock and key.

"When we need an overnight, we generally need security. In effect, we need lock and key," Kent said.

SEVERAL YEARS AGO there was discussion of building a center for the three-county area but the idea fell through before any firm plans materialized, Marr recalled.

Even for a tri-county center, the costs would exceed the benefits, Kent pointed out.

He agreed more room should be devoted to housing juvenile delinquents but the problem is a lack of space in an already overcrowded prison system.

Approximately half the crimes committed in the state are by juveniles, Kent stated, adding there are only 800 state-run bed spaces for them compared to the thousands for adult criminals.

The state beds are in addition to about 120 private homes such as Teen Ranch, near Marlette. However, such places are primarily long-term juvenile homes, not designed for short-term detention use.

IN JUDGING THE NEED for a short-term facility in this county it may be useful to look at some figures for Tuscola's juvenile crime activity.

From January through June of this year there were 75 petitions brought before Probate Court for juvenile crime. This compares with 73 adult cases that were processed through Circuit Court for the same period.

However, statistics can be misleading. The juvenile figures are for criminal cases only. They do not include statute cases such as runaways and truancy.

Judge Kent said he has not noticed any rise in the juvenile crime rate over the years although it does seem to fluctuate during the year.

With the advent of warmer weather, the crime rate tends to rise, he said.

In fact, his argument that a detention center in the county is unnecessary may find more support. He claims the occurrence of juvenile crime should begin to drop since census results predict a downturn in numbers of high school age students.

THREE GENERATIONS of the Dillon centennial farm family are Mary Russell, son Wayne Dillon and the sons of him and his wife Sherry, Scott, 8 (left) and Jeff, 10.

New law needed if prison tax defeated

By Warren M. Hoyt
Mich. Press Association

A special legislative task force on prison overcrowding has reported a new law will be needed for early release of prisoners should voters reject a proposed increase in the state income tax for new prison construction.

The legislature recently took action to place before the voters in November the question of increasing the state income tax rate by one-tenth of 1 percent with the revenues earmarked exclusively for new prison construction and updating current facilities.

The tax hike would last only for five years and would produce some $275 million, offenders.

Actual legislation for consideration by the legislature

Task Force Chairman Rep. Jeffrey Padden (D-Wyandotte) said the early release proposal is not the primary item in the package and expressed hope that implementation of other measures would not make it necessary to ever use such a plan.

HOWEVER, DEPARTMENT of Corrections Director Perry Johnson said that the alternative must be made clear to the voters. "You either provide adequate space for prisoners or you set them free," he said. Padden said the early release proposal would only come into play if voters reject the proposal or it proves to be less effective than projected.

Other proposals being considered by the task force include a declaration of a prison overcrowding emergency by the governor when prisons exceed their capacities for more than 30 consecutive days.

Under such circumstances, the last 90 days of a sentence would be removed from prisoners who have served their minimum sentences thus expanding the number of prisoners who would be eligible for parole consideration by the state parole board.

IF OVERCROWDING continued, the proposal allows for removal of additional days from sentences, and authorizes state officials to refuse to admit nonviolent has not yet been introduced or even drafted.

House Speaker Bobby

Crim of Davison said he hoped the existence of the proposal, and its possible enactment, would put pressure on lawmakers and the governor to implement the other parts of the package, particularly the sentencing proposals.

He said not doing anything would invite prison riots or federal court action ordering changes in the state prison system.

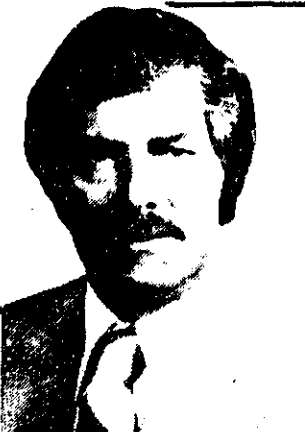

The proposed sentencing structure would provide judges with guidelines based upon average sentences for each crime, with the judges required to justify on the record imposition of a greater or lesser sentence.

OVERCROWDING would be eased by reducing guideline sentence durations or amending guidelines to recommend imprisonment for fewer criminals.

The task force also urged prompt action of the Revised Criminal Code (pending in the House Judiciary Committee) setting presumptive sentences for the most serious crimes and clarifying procedures for alternatives to imprisonment.

Other proposals of the task force include expansion of both community residential programs and community alternatives to incarceration.

The group also urged enactment of a House-passed bill (pending in the Senate Judiciary Committee) broadening authority of judges to order restitution and community service for offenders.

NOTHING HERE -- A fireman inspects for signs of fire at the home of Bernie Viney Thursday. Though smoke was noticed in the house no fire was discovered.

Smoke, yes fire, no

Where there's smoke there's fire? Not always. Elkland township firemen were called to the home of Bernie Viney at 12:20 p.m. Thursday when smoke was reported in the kitchen.

But after a search of the home, located at 6329 4th Street, no fire could be found.

It was assumed by firemen that a motor had overheated on a nearby clothes washer, causing the smoke.

With no harm done, firemen were at the scene approximately 10 minutes.

For Myschock

Jury returns guilty verdict

A Circuit Court jury Friday found Thomas P. Myschock guilty of armed robbery in the Feb. 27 robbery of Zabriskie's Market in Watrousville.

He was also found guilty of possession of a firearm while committing a felony.

The verdicts came at the end of a four-day trial that started Tuesday, July 22. Following the jury's decision, Circuit Judge Patrick H. Joslyn remanded Myschock to the county jail without bond to await sentencing Sept. 2.

Myschock, 34, of 4987 Poplar Street, Fairgrove, claimed during the trial that he was elsewhere at the time of the robbery but the person who was borrowing his car may have committed it.

However, the person he claimed had borrowed his car, Tommy Brown, testified he was driving a truck in Georgia at the time and presented various records to prove it.

Prosecutor Artis Noel also presented other evidence to prove that Myschock was guilty, including the defendant being about the same height and weight as the robber, who wore a ski mask, his car was seen in the vicinity 15 minutes before the robbery, and when arrested in Flint afterwards, Myschock had in his car or suitcase, money from the robbery and the gun used.

Also Friday before Judge Joslyn, Jefferson D. Auvil, 21, formerly of Cass City, appeared on two bench warrants.

One was for his failure to appear for trial Jan. 16 on a charge of breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling.

He is charged with breaking into the Quaker Maid Dairy Store in Cass City June 6, 1979.

Bond was set at $20,000. A new trial date is to be scheduled.

The second bench warrant was for his failure to appear for a probation violation hearing. He was remanded to the county jail without bond, with a hearing date to be set.

Auvil was placed on 12 months' probation Jan. 16, 1979, for use of a motor vehicle without authority, he having pleaded guilty to driving a four-wheel-drive tractor from Caro to Cass City Oct. 5, 1978. The tractor had been owned by Laethem Equipment Co.

Court records did not contain information on whether Auvil was apprehended by police or turned himself in.

Terry E. Brock, 20, formerly of Vassar, also appeared on two bench warrants.

One bench warrant was for his failure to appear for trial Jan. 30 on a charge of unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle. He is charged with having driven away a truck-tractor June 10, 1979, in Indianfields township.

Bond was set at $30,000, with a new trial to be scheduled.

The second bench warrant concerned his failure to appear Nov. 16, 1979, for a probation violation hearing. He was placed on 36 months' probation June 12, 1977, for attempted larceny from a motor vehicle.

He was remanded to the county jail without bond, with a new hearing to be set.

Brock was apprehended by authorities in Dallas, Texas. He waived extradition to Michigan July 16.

Joy club plans meet

The Joy Club is having a Christian adult singles meeting at the United Methodist Auditorium in Elkton, 1505 Main Street, at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Volleyball and other games will be played and refreshments will be served.

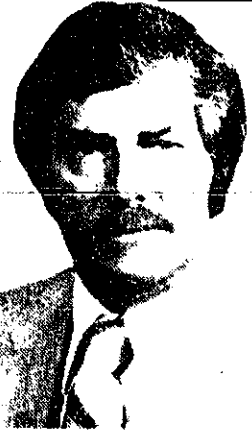

The meeting is open to all singles -- widows, widowers, divorcees -- aged 25 and up.

For more information, call Cass City 872-2683.

Judging starts Friday

Sanilac county fair in action Monday

Although it will not get fully underway until Monday, the 49th annual Sanilac County 4-H Fair in Sandusky

A LIFE-TIME RESIDENT

Sanilac County 4-H Fair

Edward H. Doerr

Let's talk about what Life Insurance can do for you.

Through the Associated General Life Company we have everything you might need in life insurance: low cost term insurance for young marrieds, mortgage insurance, retirement plans—you name it. Give us a call.

Doerr Agency

6265 Main St. Cass City Phone 872-3615

will begin at 9 a.m. Friday with the judging of some 4-H projects.

The Friday judging is an attempt to get some of the judging out of the way and therefore avoid a "slow Monday," according to 4-H Secretary Cindy Bader.

There will be no activities for the fair Saturday. Sunday will feature only a gospel sing at 7:30 p.m.

The fair is sponsored and operated by 4-H groups throughout the county, Ms. Bader said. "That is our main attraction. The 4-H exhibits."

Hopefully, those exhibits and other attractions will bring attendance exceeding last year's estimated 30,000, which she considered a good turnout.

It is hard to judge an exact turnout because gate admission is free for a good share of the day, she explained, and officials get attendance figures from gate receipts.

This year, fair goers will be able to get in free until 5 p.m. on Monday, and until 3 p.m. Tuesday through Friday. The final day of the fair, Saturday, Aug. 9, is free all day.

Gates open at 8 a.m. and will close when the crowd begins to thin out at night, Bader explained.

Midway rides will start around noon.

A breakdown of the main attractions for each day is as follows:

Monday -- 4-H horse and pony judging begins at 9 a.m. Other judging includes 4-H and FFA foods, vegetables, horticulture, crops and entomology. At 1 p.m. is the open class judging for foods, vegetables, horticulture, crops and entomology. Judging of litter barrels and rabbits is at 5 p.m.

The evening program consists of the tractor pull at 7 p.m.

Tuesday -- 4-H horse and pony judging continues along with judging for animal science, veterinary science, hogs and lambs at 9 a.m. The tractor operation contest begins at 11 a.m. with the pony pull at 2 p.m. The 4-H judging of dogs will be at 6 p.m.

The grandstand entertainment for the evening consists of the crowning of the 4-H king and queen, to be followed by the singing group Life.

The Life singers have performed throughout the U.S. with such performers as Anita Bryant, Rick Nelson and Jim Nabors.

4-H'ers and their leaders will be allowed into the grandstands free Tuesday if they have their 4-H passes.

Wednesday -- Judging of beef and poultry begins at 9 a.m. Dairy judging is at 3 p.m. The 4-H judging of dairy goats is at 7 p.m.

A four-wheel drive pickup pull in front of the grandstands will make up the evening's entertainment.

Thursday -- Beginning at 9 a.m., all dairy entries will be judged. That is the only judging that will be going on during the day.

At 5:30 p.m. there will be a small animal sale at the arena. At 6:30 p.m., the 4-H and FFA livestock sale will get underway at the same place. Beef, swine and sheep will be sold in that order.

The evening's entertainment will be rounded out by a demolition derby beginning at 8.

Friday -- Judging of 4-H horses in the fun and sportsmanship classes will begin at 9 a.m. Following, at 10 a.m., will be the Sweepstakes Showmanship Judging and Tabulation.

A bicycle rodeo will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Horse and tractor pulls begin at 2 and 7 p.m., respectively, with the Bean Queen contest beginning at 8 p.m.

Saturday -- On the final day of the fair, open class horse and rabbit shows and judging begin at 9 a.m.

A rodeo gets underway at 1 p.m. and again at 8 p.m.

Langenburg served in Venice

Navy Boatswain's Mate 3rd Class David M. Langenburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Langenburg, Germania Road, Snover, and grandson of Rita Langenburg of Roscommon, recently served with the U.S. Navy boat group which supported President Carter during his visit to Venice, Italy.

Langenburg is normally assigned to the destroyer tender USS Puget Sound, operating from Gaeta, Italy.

The Navy provided water transportation through the Venice canals for the President, his family, cabinet officers and other staff members. They also provided transportation services for various other presidential support personnel, including advance teams, communications specialists and the Secret Service.

He was specially chosen to serve with the boat group by his parent command, and was sent to Venice for the three-week effort.

A 1976 graduate of Roscommon High School, Langenburg joined the Navy in January, 1977.

Golfers compete to help fight cancer

With the women's competition out of the way, the men will hit the links Saturday in the American Cancer Society's Tuscola county tournament.

The tournament, played at the Rolling Hills Golf course, is a fund raiser for the cancer society.

Winners of the county tournaments (each county sponsors one) will go on to a state tourney at Boyne Mountain this September.

Those winners then go to compete in the national tournament at Disneyworld. All competition is for the benefit of the American Cancer Society.

Participants pay a $20 entry fee, part of which goes to the cancer group. Last year the Tuscola tournament raised $2,360, according to JoAnne Wendling.

co-chairman for the ACS Crusade.

Eight teams, made up of four participants each, played last Saturday.

Winners in the handicap division were Colleen Krueger, Dotty Scollon, Betty Carmer, and Elaine Proctor. The team shot a score of 50, 24 strokes under par.

They tied with another team in regular play but took the tournament on the first hole of sudden death overtime.

The team winning the scratch division was comprised of Evelyn Sparling, Sally Bates, Dee Touma and Sheila Everts. They were all from Caro. The team shot a straight score of 84.

This Saturday the men will compete in the same tournament.

HANDICAP WINNERS -- Victorious in the women's competition of the American Cancer Society golf tournament's handicap division are Colleen Krueger, Dotty Scollon, Betty Carmer and Elaine Proctor. With them is ACS Crusade Co-Chairman JoAnne Wendling.

Money available if hunting allowed

Southern Michigan landowners who are willing to allow hunting on their property can receive from 50 cents to $6 per acre for taking part in the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) public access land leasing program.

Anyone with 40 acres or more that lies south of a line extending from Muskegon to Bay City can sign up. The fee paid per acre will depend on the quality of the wildlife habitat and the proximity to urban centers.

Deadline for sign-up is Aug. 20.

Glenn Dudderar, extension wildlife specialist at Michigan State University, says the big advantage of taking part in the program is that it gives landowners a great deal of control over who uses their land.

To get the list of landowners who are willing to permit public access to their land, hunters should inquire at the local DNR or Cooperative Extension Service office. Then they have to get the landowner's okay to use his land.

Landowners can restrict hunting to certain times and certain parts of the land. They can also set limits and restrictions on the hunters' take.

The landowner's liability in case of accident is limited to instances of gross negligence or willful misconduct on his part.

Anyone interested should call the Caro DNR office, extension or Farm Bureau office or the local conservation officer.

April estimates show U.S. farmers will plant 82 million acres of corn this year. That's 79 percent more than in 1979.

ONE OF THE bits of knowledge Gre Snoek, 22, of the Netherlands hopes to gain by her visit with the family of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Doerr is how to play the piano. Miss Snoek will be staying with the Doerrs through Aug. 11 as part of the 4-H International Foreign Youth Exchange program.

SCRATCH WINNERS -- The winners of the ACS tournament's scratch division from Caro are Evelyn Sparling, Sally Bates, Dee Touma, Sheila Everts and JoAnne Wendling.

Meals-on-Wheels worker seeks to clarify letter

Dear Sir,

In answer to the letter in the Chronicle dated July 24, headed "Senior millage needs support," I would like to clarify it, somewhat. It states that if the millage passes, $45,000 would be used to expand services to Cass City and other areas.

These other areas referred to have been enjoying these services, whereas, Cass City was cut off two years ago.

The Meals on Wheels program in Cass City has been run by non-paid volunteers, Rosie Langmaid as coordinator, myself as treasurer and several volunteer drivers, funded by local contributions. Pinney State Bank serves as custodian of the funds.

The recipients pay a portion of the cost or not at all, according to their means.

Hills and Dales General hospital prepares the meals at a cost of $2.15 per meal. At the present time, there are 12 recipients.

The Meals on Wheels program in Cass City has been locally funded for the past two years by contributions. The year of 1980, it has been solely supported by the Lions Club and the Community Chest.

I would hope that if the millage passes, Cass City could expect some definite assurance that they would be on the receiving end of monies available for expansion.

Ron Keegan, treasurer Meals on Wheels program

Letter to the Editor

Ron Keegan, treasurer Meals on Wheels program

Editor's note: The letter by Margaret Weaver, president of the Tuscola County Council on Aging, referred to by Ron Keegan, said the $45,000 would be used to establish meal sites in Cass City and Millington, neither of which has them now, and expand the meals-on-wheels program here. The millage proposal is explained in detail in an article elsewhere in this issue.

Cass City tankers post mediocre summer season

After two area meets and two invitationals, the Cass City swim team cannot exactly boast of a winning season.

In two meets between Cass City, Caro and Marlette, Cass City lost both times.

Point standings for the three teams so far place Cass City last with 143 points, behind Marlette, 191, and Caro, 243.

Cass City coaches Scott Richards and Paul Guernsey explained the team was handicapped this year by small numbers of swimmers.

Household pumps can save work

You can get the jump on household projects if you have a pump around the house, workshop, or garage. Hobbyists, gardeners, do-it-yourselfers, car and boat owners and anyone who needs to transfer fluids from one place to another can find a pump pretty practical.

An electric pump can eliminate inconvenient and often dangerous siphoning, bulky hoses, and cumbersome storage receptacles.

One new little pump measures only three inches and weighs just 18 ounces, but can pump up to 30 gallons an hour through its own ten-foot plastic hose.

Other half for Tuscola expenses

1-mill levy to partially fund bridges

Tuscola county residents Tuesday will be voting on a 1-mill levy that is and isn't a renewal.

The 1-mill bridge levy of the Tuscola County Road Commission is expiring at the end of next year, however, only a half-mill from the new proposal will go to that source. The other half-mill will be used to help finance general county operations.

Voters will not be given a choice. Both half-mills are linked together in one proposal, Proposition 1. The proposal is for five years, with the levy, if approved, first showing up on tax bills in December, 1981. It is being voted on this year since there is no countywide election in 1981.

County residents approved the first bridge levy in 1970; the second in 1976. The last year of the levy will go on tax bills this December.

A continued millage, though only half as much, is needed, according to the Road Commission, because there are still 62 township bridges that have load limits posted or are closed to all traffic.

The first five-year levy was spent entirely on township bridges, but after that came a new state law requiring sharing of such millages with villages and cities.

Starting with the 1976 levy, the villages and one city in the county have benefited, even if they don't have bridges, with allocations based on their state equalized valuation. From the December, 1979, tax collections, Cass City receives $15,387; Gagetown, $1,876; and Kingston, $2,128.

Approximately 80 percent of the bridge levy goes for township bridge repair and replacement. Since 1970, improvements have been made on 99 such bridges.

For those improvements,

$3,067,978 has come from the bridge millage, $817,464 from the state and federal governments, $435,357 from regular Road Commission funds and $266,409 from the townships.

Passage of Proposition 1 will mean approximately $200,000 each year for township bridge work and $50,000 for village and city street improvements.

The reduction is possible, according to Road Commission Chairman F. William Tuckey, "because additional state and federal funds are becoming available to the county. To obtain this money, the county must have matching funds available and have new bridges designed and ready to be constructed. A continued millage is also necessary to take care of emergencies as they arise."

The Road Commission has already received a promise of $744,000 in state and federal money for bridges for 1980 and 1981.

COUNTY OPERATIONS

Although the Road Commission is confident of receiving continued state and federal money, the same doesn't hold true for general county operations, hence the claim of the county Board of Commissioners of the need for their half-mill, which would bring the county about $250,000 per year.

During the present fiscal year, the county will spend about $4 million, of which about $320,000 will be in federal revenue sharing funds and $557,000 will come from the state.

All money from Washington hasn't gone to county operations. Since 1973, when revenue sharing went into effect, the county board has given $766,000 in revenue sharing and federal anti-recession funds to the Road Commission for local road maintenance and improvements, including snow plowing.

Federal money has also been going to senior citizen activities, county libraries, health department and sheriff's department.

But, Ken Kennedy, chairman of the county board's finance committee points out, money from Washington and Lansing is declining.

The anti-recession program which Congress abolished starting this year used to pour about $80,000 a year into county coffers. Eighteen employees who had been paid with federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act funds went on county payrolls when their eligibility ended.

The board projects that federal revenue sharing funds will be cut from $320,000 this year to $300,000 next year.

State revenues to the county are declining because tax revenues are declining due to the recession. One cutback came at the health department, where the state was supposed to pay 30 percent of the budget this year.

Lansing didn't have the money, so is continuing to pay the 20 percent share it had been paying. That meant the county had to keep paying the 80 percent, instead of the 70 percent it had been anticipating.

(Other than the county contributions, budgets of the health department, mental health department and road commission aren't included as part of the county's $4 million budget for general operations.)

Although money from Washington and Lansing form a big share of the county budget, the greatest portion -- approximately 48 percent -- comes from property taxes.

The 4.2 mills the county levies for its operations, Kennedy said, is the lowest of any of Michigan's 83 counties. If the half-mill is approved, the resulting 4.7 mills may still be the lowest.

If it is okayed, as mentioned, the county won't be benefiting from the higher revenues until 1982.

The trend shown in county spending has been upward each year, with the 1980 general fund budget being about $500,000 more than in 1979.

Pay increases to county employees was one reason and the absorption of the 18 CETA workers onto the county payroll was another. The amount spent on drains will increase about $100,000 this year over last and three countywide elections this year will cost the county about $40,000.

Perhaps contingent on passage of the millage is the board's plan to build a two-story plus basement addition onto the rear of the courthouse annex in order to provide more office space. Primary tenant would be the Cooperative Extension Service, now housed in the jail basement.

A preliminary cost "guesstimate" was $600,000, with a possible means of financing being sale of bonds.

The one thing for certain, Kennedy said, is that if the millage is defeated, though the county board doesn't like to make threats, some cuts in county services will eventually have to be made.

GOP contests in most Sanilac county offices

Sanilac County Treasurer Ken Rhead is the only county official who doesn't face opposition in the Tuesday, Aug. 5, primary.

As for the rest, however, wins the Republican primary races for county clerk, sheriff, drain commissioner and prosecuting attorney will have won the job as none will face Democratic opposition in the Nov. 4 general election.

Rhead, a Republican, is also unopposed in November.

CLERK -- Lawrence R. Smith of Sandusky, clerk since 1976 and Sandusky city clerk for 13 years before that, has three opponents.

Delene Schultheiss of Sandusky is a deputy county clerk and presently assigned to the county Board of Commissioners. Joseph L. McCoy is Minden township supervisor and former district court clerk. Karl E. Buhl of Deckerville teaches elementary school in that community and served one term on the village council.

SHERIFF -- Ross E. Dundas has been sheriff since 1965. He was undersheriff from 1947-48 and 1954-65, serving in the interim as Croswell police chief.

His opponent, William Lakatos of Deckerville, first ran against Dundas in 1976. He was a Detroit police officer from 1964-70. Sanilac county deputy from 1970-76 and now is a criminal justice instructor at St. Clair County Community College.

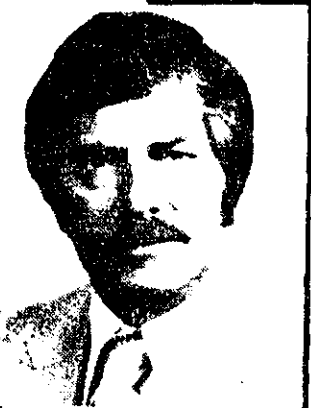

DRAIN COMMISSIONER -- Stuart Armstead of Snover has served in the position for 25 years.

His opponents are Wayne G. Laursen of Marlette, a farmer and Elmer township clerk, and Eugene Mancini, a Croswell insurance agent.

PROSECUTING ATTORNEY -- J. Anthony Sykora of Sandusky, prosecutor for four years and assistant prosecutor before that, starting in 1971, is being opposed by one of his former assistants, Robert Barnes, now an attorney in Croswell.

REGISTER OF DEEDS -- Maurice Turnbull of Deckerville, register of deeds since 1961, is opposed by Joseph J. O'Conner of Minden City, county commissioner from 1972-78 including almost two years as chairman. A retired farmer, he sells insurance and real estate.

$54,000 a year if 3 mills pass in Elmwood township

Elmwood township voters will be asked Tuesday to approve a 3-mill levy for five years for roads.

Based on the township's present equalized valuation of about $18 million, that would bring in $54,000 per year for the purpose. One mill equals $1 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The township board hasn't decided yet what roads will benefit if the millage passes, according to township Supervisor Roy Messer, but is very aware that some roads are in need of repair. The problem is the township doesn't have the money. "We've had so many other bills that come out of the regular budget we can't use as much as anticipated for roads."

What has put a crimp in the township's budget is having to pay its share for five drain projects. Last year, this year and next, Messer said, Elmwood will be paying over $20,000 per year for drains.

In fact, the township isn't spending any money on road improvements this year. What it is doing is paying money owed from work done last year by the county Road Commission. It anticipates spending over $10,000 for that purpose this year.

If the millage passes, the levy will go on tax bills for the first time this December. If it is defeated, conceivably the proposal could go on the ballot again in November, but if approved then, the levy couldn't be assessed until December, 1981.

If the levy is voted down in August, Messer doesn't foresee it going on the ballot again this year.

Present sheriff served 17 years

6 vie to take over from retiring Marr

The retirement of Hugh Marr as Tuscola county sheriff after having served in the position since 1963 has spurred six candidates to seek the position.

Four years ago, when he was seeking re-election, four Republicans and two Democrats ran against him.

This time, five Republicans and one Democrat are seeking to take the reins when Marr steps down Jan. 1.

The Republicans are Paul Berry, Robert F. Eigner, Bernard W. Lenda, Earl J. Scott Jr. and Bruce Tait.

The winner of the Aug. 5 primary will face Democrat Herbert Clancy, the Millington police chief, in the Nov. 4 general election.

PAUL BERRY

Paul Berry, 47, of Caro, ran for sheriff four years ago and lost to Marr in the primary by only 607 votes.

He was appointed a special deputy in July, 1955, and became a full-time officer in the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department in 1956.

The 1951 graduate of Caro High School was undersheriff from 1969-72.

Paul Berry

He is a graduate of the Saginaw Valley Law Enforcement Officers Training School and completed a number of seminars concerning various aspects of police work including police administration and supervision.

He was president of the Fraternal Order of Police chapter for two years, is a member of the National Sheriff's Association, member of the Tuscola County Fair Association board of directors, former special activities chairman for Cub Scout Pack 3652 of Caro and has been involved in scouting much of his life.

Berry was recipient of the Caro Jaycee's distinguished service award in 1966 and is a life member of that organization. He is a member of Caro Moose Lodge.

He and his wife, Ruth, have three children.

ROBERT F. EIGNER

Robert F. Eigner, 33, is a lifelong resident of the Fairgrove area (Gilford township).

He is the owner-operator of a gun shop and sporting goods store and also works on the family farm, a cash crops and certified seed operation totaling 330 acres.

He is a 1965 graduate of Reese High School and attended Michigan State University that year.

He was employed at Saginaw Steering Gear and Chevrolet in Bay City for four years as an hourly worker, Great Lakes Express in Saginaw for three years and the Chevrolet plant in Bay City for three years in charge of shipping and receiving.

He was a precinct delegate to the county Republican convention earlier this year and a delegate to the state Republican convention this year.

He is a member and director of the Gilford Gun Club, member of Richville Conservation and Gun Club, past member of the United Auto Workers and Teamsters, and member of Farm Bureau, National Rifle Association, Jaycees, Elks and supporting member of the Fraternal Order of Police.

He and his wife have four children.

BERNARD LENDA

Bernard Lenda, 54, of Caro, has been special investigator for the Tuscola County prosecutor's office since 1976.

A native of the Owendale area, he served in the military in World War II, and worked for Chrysler Corp. in the Detroit area until 1956, when he became an officer with the Hamtramck Police Department. He retired from there 20 years later as a sergeant in the uniform division.

He received one departmental citation and five commendations for outstanding and meritorious service while a Hamtramck policeman.

Following his retirement there, he moved with his wife to Caro.

Lenda has attended Wayne County Community College, Wayne State University, Southeastern Michigan Chiefs of Police School, Michigan State police criminal investigation school, Federal Bureau of Investigation fingerprint classification and advanced fingerprint schools, and Michigan State University personnel management and industrial relations special training and studied homicide investigation with the Wayne county medical examiner.

Bernard Lenda

As prosecutor investigator, he has completed seminars on negligent homicide and trial, fraud investigation, and intensive criminal investigation.

He is a member of the Fraternal Order of Police, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

League sets mission goal of $65,000

A goal of $65,000 for mission projects for the next two years was set by the 416 voting delegates attending the 18th Biennial Convention of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League July 22-24 at Long's Convention Center, Lansing.

The money for the projects is raised through mite box offerings at the local societies and will be used to buy two vehicles for use by Lutheran Bible Translators in Sierra Leone, West Africa; provide scholarships and other financial aid to students preparing for church work at Concordia Theological Seminary, Ft. Wayne and Concordia College, Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Arthur Nitz, Bach, retiring president of the Thumb Zone was elected Corresponding Secretary for the district.

Bible studies, skits, and a fellowship banquet completed the program. Sixteen delegates and one youth delegate represented the Thumb Zone.

Frank Thomas Hines, the first Administrator of Veterans Affairs, was in charge of 25,000 employees when VA became an independent agency in 1930. On the eve of VA's golden anniversary celebration, VA employment has increased ninefold.

Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Moose Lodge.

EARL SCOTT JR.

Earl J. Scott Jr., 32, of Caro, ran for sheriff four years ago as the Independent Party candidate, is running as a Republican this year and said in June, "I will probably run four years from now."

Earl Scott Jr.

Scott, who is single, has lived in Tuscola county 13 years. After having done "anything and everything. There's not much I haven't done," he presently is a self-employed construction structural steel worker. He was a truck driver at one time.

In 1979, he promoted an unsuccessful petition drive to get on the 1980 ballot statewide a proposal that would have required 10 years imprisonment for persons convicted of selling or distributing any drug other than marijuana to anyone under 16 years of age.

BRUCE C. TAIT

Bruce C. Tait, 54, has been undersheriff since 1973. He had completed 22 years of military service when he retired from the Army in 1965, having joined after graduating from Caro High School in 1943.

He joined the sheriff's department as a deputy in October, 1967, and was a correction officer for about nine months before assuming road patrol and dispatch duties.

He was promoted to detective sergeant in January, 1972, and was named undersheriff the next year.

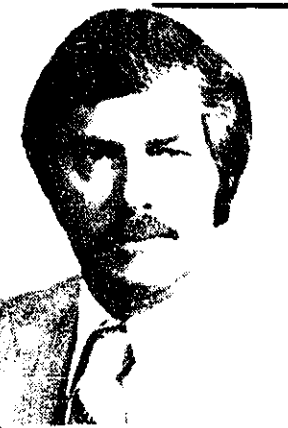

Tait has an associate degree from Columbia College, Mo., obtained through a Veterans Administration program, and has attended conferences and seminars in jail administration, fingerprint, first aid, civil disorders, traffic patrol, arson, bank robbery and hostage situations, bomb threats and police administration.

He is a member of Mt. Moriah Lodge, Royal Arch Masons, Order of the Eastern Star, American Legion, Caro Lions Club, American Red Cross, Republican Party and National and Michigan Sheriff's Associations.

Tait and his wife, Carrie, have two children and five grandchildren.

.2 mill being asked

More senior meals if millage passes

Voters in Tuscola and Sanilac counties Tuesday, Aug. 5, will be voting on a proposed .2 mill levy for four years for support of senior citizen activities.

NOMINATE WRITE-IN CANDIDATE

Richard Erla

For

2ND DISTRICT COMMISSIONER AUGUST 5 PRIMARY

- Democratic Ballot
- Elkland, Elmwood, Ellington, Novesta & Kingston Townships

For the well-being of our people.

Paid for by candidate.

If the levies pass, the money will be used to maintain present services of the Thumb Area Commission on Aging (TACA) and to increase the number of senior citizens served by its meal programs. Some of the added funds will be used to establish a senior citizen meal site in Cass City.

Passage of the proposal means the levies will appear on December tax bills. The Huron County Board of Commissioners decided to put the same proposal on the Nov. 4 ballot so passage will mean the levy there won't appear on tax bills until December, 1981.

The millage proposals in Tuscola and Sanilac both specify that the money raised is to be spent within the respective county. In Tuscola, the levy will raise about $100,000 the first year; in Sanilac, a little over $80,000.

In Tuscola, the money will go directly to TACA. In Sanilac, the county board of Commissioners decided the Sanilac County Council on Aging will decide where the money goes, with the county board having veto power. TACA will apply to the county council for the funds it needs, but so could competing groups, for instance, a municipal government that wanted to run its own senior citizens program.

About 55 percent of the millage money is needed to maintain present services, according to TACA Director Ronald Cassie. The reason is fourfold:

1) A reduction in the amount of federal money TACA receives, especially for the nutrition program. The agency presently receives about $174,000 from Washington for the three counties for meals. For the next fiscal year, which starts Oct. 1, it will receive $26,000 less.

Of a total TACA annual budget for the three counties of about $450,000, 63 percent comes from Washington, 15 percent from the state, 12 percent from the three counties' general fund, and 10 percent in donations from benefiting senior citizens.

2) "Loss" of two employees in Tuscola and Sanilac who are or have been paid with federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act funds who, after their 18 months' eligibility are up, must be paid with other TACA funds.

3) Increase in the cost of providing services, for food, rent, utilities, etc.

4) If the millages pass, the Tuscola county board will no longer give TACA the $20,000 it provides annually from its general fund and the Sanilac board will drop its $17,000.

What happens if the millages fail is a question the two county boards still have to answer. When Cassie presented the proposals to county commissioners, who had to approve putting them on the ballot, some expressed the thought to him that defeat would mean voters didn't feel county taxpayers should fund senior citizen services.

Others interpreted defeat as meaning the voters didn't think the amount of money for the purpose should be increased.

There is precedent for senior citizen millage levies. In east central Michigan, Saginaw, Bay, St. Clair and Iosco counties levy them now. Midland county has an upcoming millage proposal on the ballot. Saginaw county levies the most, .5 mill.

One mill equals $1.00 per $1,000 of equalized valuation, so the .2 mill being requested in Huron and Sanilac, for the owner of a home with $30,000 valuation ($60,000 market value) will mean an increase of $6 per year in taxes.

PRESENT SERVICES

Services presently offered by TACA in the two counties which will be maintained with the millage are as follows:

Senior citizen meal sites -- In Tuscola, a total of almost 36,000 meals served at Caro, Akron-Fairgrove, Kingston, Mayville and Vassar. In Sanilac county, a total of more than 27,000 meals served annually at Sandusky, Port Sanilac, Deckerville and Crosswell-Lexington.

Home delivered meals -- A hot lunch and unheated dinner provided to senior citizens unable to get out of their homes. There are 26,000 meals served annually in Tuscola in conjunction with the meal sites.

Hot line -- A total of 3,600 telephone calls received annually from senior citizens seeking assistance for a variety of problems and concerns.

Outreach -- 1,700 visits made annually by outreach workers to senior citizens' homes to determine eligibility for the meal programs and to help them receive other assistance, from TACA and other agencies, such as Medicaid, food stamps, home weatherization, and legal services.

Transportation -- Volunteer drivers transport senior citizens to the meals sites, medical appointments, grocery shopping, drug store and for other important appointments. In 1979, there were 2,778 such trips made in Tuscola county totaling 19,090 miles and in Sanilac, 1,224 trips and 29,172 miles.

Blood pressure checks -- Volunteer nurses made more than 5,700 blood pressure checks of senior citizens in the two counties last year.

Thumb Area Senior News -- The monthly newspaper reaches more than 10,500 senior citizens in the two counties each month.

EXPANDED SERVICES

Approval of the millage proposals will allow creation of new meal sites in Cass

City for an estimated 40 senior citizens, three days per week; Millington, 50 seniors, two days; Marlette, 30 meals, three days, and Peck-Brown City, 40 meals, three days a week.

The Cass City site, if there is one, has yet to be selected but will probably be a church, "as barrier free as possible," Cassie said.

There hasn't been a demand for the service in Cass City, he explained, but there have been inquiries about whether such a program exists. If one did exist, he has no doubt there will be enough eligible persons wanting to take advantage of it. The only eligibility requirement is that recipients be 60 or older.

It costs TACA about $2.50 to prepare a meal. The average donation per person is about 50 cents. (Federal requirements prohibit making strong appeals for donations. About all that is allowed is placing of a canister.)

So that the Tuscola county millage doesn't support residents of other counties, Sanilac and Huron counties will be billed for those residents who eat at the Cass City meal site.

Passage of the millage will allow expansion of the transportation program, particularly to carry senior citizens to the meal sites.

The final new program will be expansion of the meals-on-wheels program in Cass City and establishment of such a program in Deckerville.

The Cass City program, presently funded by donations, serves 10-12 persons at a time, who receive a hot lunch two, three or five times a week. Hills and Dales General Hospital prepares the meals, and many recipients are recently released patients who aren't capable of yet preparing their own meals.

Passage of the millage will allow roughly doubling of the program to serve persons within 10-12 miles of Cass City with a hot lunch and cold dinner five days a week and possibly seven.

MILLAGE DEFEAT

What happens if the millage proposals are defeated?

The first question that will then have to be answered is whether the Tuscola and Sanilac county boards will continue to contribute their $20,000 and $17,000 respectively to TACA.

"Logic says there will be some cuts," Cassie said. Because of federal aid cutbacks, he said the biggest cutbacks will have to be in those areas that receive the greatest share of funding from Washington, the meal program and transportation.

Huron offices boast bountiful supply of primary candidates

Huron county voters will have a more than ample supply of candidates for county offices to choose from when they go to the polls Tuesday, Aug. 5.

All the candidates running are Republicans, five for register of deeds, three for sheriff, two for county clerk and two for prosecuting attorney.

The only countywide candidate with a free ride is treasurer Arnold Schweitzer of Owendale.

REGISTER OF DEEDS

Francis Holdwick of Harbor Beach is the incumbent, having been appointed in February to replace the late Lorraine Maurer. She had worked in the office since June, 1978, and became deputy register of deeds in January, 1979.

Her challengers are Ronald Good of Sebawaing, a farmer and member of the Owendale-Gagetown School Board for 15 years; Robert W. Hobkirk, Bad Axe, a surveyor and farmer; Joseph McArdle, Pigeon, owner and operator of Joe's Refrigeration in that community, and Larry Schmitt Sr., Bad Axe, a farmer and field superintendent for the Tri-County Public Service Agency, a federally-funded employment program.

SHERIFF

Richard V. Stokan, 40, of Bad Axe, was first elected sheriff in 1972, after having been a deputy for seven years.

His opponents are Herbert Williams, 36, a former Bad Axe police officer with 7½ years' experience in law enforcement, now a self-employed truck driver, and Donald L. May, 41, Port Hope, a sheriff's department employee for 8½ years until he resigned in January, citing differences with Stokan. He was a sergeant at the time.

COUNTY CLERK

Edward Swackhamer is retiring after 33 years as county clerk, though he is now running for county commissioner from the Harbor Beach area.

Seeking to replace him are Helen Lemanski, 48, Port Austin, who has been deputy county clerk since 1953, and is secretary of the county Republican Committee, and Warren J. Krohn, 47, Elkton, certified assessor for Meade township, Huron County Sheltered Workshop board member and a former county commissioner.

PROSECUTING ATTORNEY

Peter Burns Capling decided not to seek re-election. Running for the Republican nomination are Karl Kraus, Caseville, and John Neeb II, Bad Axe.

Kraus, 34, has been in private practice in Bad Axe for six years. A graduate of Michigan State University, he received his law degree from the University of Michigan in 1971. He was an assistant prosecutor in Genesee county from then until entering private practice. Neeb, 31, graduated from Northern Michigan University in 1972 and received his law degree from Thomas M. Cooley Law School in Lansing in 1978. He has been in private practice in Bad Axe since then. Before entering law school, he worked for Active Industries, Elkton, and Hamill Manufacturing, Bad Axe.

FARM BACKGROUND

PROVEN LEADERSHIP

LIFE-TIME RESIDENT

Keith Muxlow with Sebawaing sugar beet farmer Stan Gettel

Keith Muxlow has farmed for 25 years. He knows the problems of farming. He supports the Farmland Preservation Act. Farmers deserve to have property tax relief. He also wants adequate funding for MSU Co-operative Extension and Ag research. We need a farmer representing us in Lansing.

Keith Muxlow has an excellent record of public service. He's served in the Army, Mayor of Brown City for eight years. He has been active in the Co-operative Extension Service, Brown City Public Health Center. He has also helped set up an industrial park in Brown City, providing jobs to the area.

Keith Muxlow is not a newcomer. He grew up in the Thumb, earned a living farming. Muxlow is responsible to his community-giving time unselfishly to make the Thumb a great place to live. He'll be the best representative for the Thumb, because he knows and relates to people.

The Bridge Millage Is Being Proposed Because Additional State And Federal Funds Are Becoming Available To Tuscola County. In Order To Obtain This Money, The County Must Have Matching Funds Available And Have New Bridges Designed And Ready To Be Constructed. It Is This "Matching Fund" Money That The Millage Would Raise. The 1980 Proposal Does Not Request An Increase In Bridge Millage; The Expiring Rate Is One (1) Mill For Bridge Improvements, While The New Proposal Would Actually Reduce The Amount Earmarked For Bridge And Street Improvements To One-Half (½) Mill. (As Stated Above, The Other One-Half (½) Mill Would Go To The General Fund For Operating Expenses.) A Continued Millage Would Also Make Possible The Handling Of Emergencies As They Arise.

Since 1970, Previous Millages Have Made Possible The Improvement Of Ninety-Nine (99) Bridges On Local Township Roads Throughout The County. During The Calendar Years 1971 Through 1979, A Total Of $4,587,208 Has Been Expended For Bridge Improvements. Of This Amount, $3,067,978 Has Come From The Bridge Millage; $817,464 From The State Or Federal Government; $435,357 From The County Road Funds; And $266,409 From The Townships In Tuscola County.

At The Present Time, Sixty-Two (62) Bridges Are In Need Of Improvement. Some Are Posted With Load Limits, Meaning They Are More Restrictive Than The Roads On Which They Are Located. Others Are Closed To Traffic Altogether.

er, Republican Lloyd Severance of Decker, serving his eighth year on the board, isn't seeking re-election.

District 1 consists of Greenleaf, Evergreen, Lamotte, Moore and Argyle townships.

In District 2 -- Austin, Minden, Marion, Wheatland and Delaware townships -- Republican Donald Decker is unopposed for re-election.

EUGENE A. FOOTE

Eugene A. Foote, 52, of 5285 Freiburg Road, was Argyle township supervisor for six years in the 1960s and has been certified assessor for the township the past 10 years.

He served on the Sanilac County Social Services Board for 12 years, having resigned in June to run for county commissioner.

He and sons Dennis and Dave farm 700 acres and feed about 300 cattle. He has lived in Argyle township since he was a small child.

His wife, Hazel, is the present Argyle township supervisor.

ALLEN J. LEWIS

Allen J. Lewis, 62, of 1800 Bulgrien Road, first ran for county commissioner two years ago.

He was ordained as a minister in 1939 and now, semi-retired, is associate pastor of Trinity United Methodist church in Lapeer.

He farmed at one time and taught four years at Sandusky High School.

Lewis has been on the Sanilac County Community Mental Health Services Board since 1976. He has also served on the county Board of Canvassers and county Economic Opportunity Committee (now defunct). He is a member of Lions International, Blue Water Council of Boy Scouts and Farm Bureau.

He and his wife Kathleen have three children.

ROBERT PATTEN

Robert J. Patten of 2240 W. Sanilac Road, has been an electrical contractor (Wagner-Patten, Inc.) for 25 years.

He is a member of the Sanilac County Economic Development Corp., now in its second year, was on the Sandusky Economic Development Corp. for one year and has been on the Sandusky City Airport Board more than five years. He is a member and former president of the Sandusky Flying Club, past master of Custer Lodge 393, F & AM, and member of Elf Khurafah Shrine Temple, Sanilac Shrine Club, and Sandusky United Methodist church. He is a lifelong resident of Moore township.

Patten and his wife, Margaret, have three children and two grandchildren.

3rd try: Grant seeks one mill

"If at first you don't succeed . . ." is the attitude of the Grant township board, which will be trying Tuesday for the third time to get a special millage approved for road improvements.

Such a levy was rejected by voters in 1976 and 1978. The board is seeking one mill for five years for roads.

It also is asking voters to approve for the first time a one-mill levy for three years for fire protection and ambulance service.

There was to have been a third proposal on the ballot, to allow "sale of spirits" within the township, but that measure will now be on the Nov. 4 ballot.

The need for the additional money for roads is "desperate," according to township Supervisor Helen Ellicott. Roads aren't in too bad a shape now, but some are almost impassable in wet weather, she said.

One mill will raise about $35,000 for the purpose.

The township plans to spend about $25,000 this year in general fund and federal revenue sharing monies for roads, but that doesn't go far these days, she pointed out.

She cited figures from the Huron County Road Commission that the charge for grading and graveling a mile of road, necessary ditch work, depending on the work needed, etc., is $25,000-40,000. Preparing a mile of road for eventual paving costs $40,000-65,000.

The supervisor anticipates the township board will still appropriate money from the general fund and federal revenue sharing to augment the millage, if it passes.

Grant township contracts with four fire departments to provide protection in the township. Elkland, Elmwood-Gagetown, Owendale and Oliver (Elkton), paying either a fee for every fire run (plus a minimum "standby fee") or a higher flat rate per year, depending on the department. It has budgeted $5,000 from the general fund for the present fiscal year for the purpose.

If the one mill for three years is approved, the fire protection subsidy will no longer come from the general fund, freeing that money to help pay other increasing expenses.

At present, Grant does not subsidize either area ambulance service (Cass City and Elkton), which means its residents must pay more for ambulance service than those living in townships which do subsidize the service.

The Cass City Area Ambulance Service, for instance, charges $50 per run and $1.50 per loaded mile to persons living within the four townships it serves. Non-residents, including those living in Grant, pay $100 per run, plus $2 per loaded mile.

"People don't realize they need one (an ambulance) until they need one," Mrs. Ellicott commented, adding that that also applies to fire protection.

The $35,000 that one mill raises is much more than the actual cost to the township for fire and ambulance service.

She explained that the money could go into a fund to continue to provide the subsidy after the levy expires in three years or the board doesn't have to levy all of it or even any of it if it isn't needed. "It won't be squandered."

Nomination means election for drain commissioner

The retirement of J. Edward Goodchild as Tuscola county drain commissioner after four years in the post has resulted in three Republicans seeking to replace him.

The candidates are Robert Strye and Stanley C. Henry, both of Caro, and Lionel Roy Emery of Mayville. The winner of the primary wins the job because no Democrat is running against him in the November general election.

LIONEL ROY EMERY

Lionel Roy Emery, 42, is a surveyor for Henderson, Bates and Elrich, Inc., an engineering and land surveying firm from Lapeer.

He has been employed 18 years in engineering design, construction, project manager in land surveying, and mapping and drafting supervision. He is a registered land surveyor and certified engineering technician.

A 1955 graduate of Caro High School, he received an associate degree from Ferris State College in 1959 in surveying and topographical drafting and a bachelor's degree from there in 1976 in surveying.

He has diplomas from International Correspondence School in highway engineering, three sections of civil engineering and one section of electrical engineering. He has also attended business, legal and technical seminars in land surveying.

He is a member of the Michigan Society of Registered Land Surveyors and its committee of the American Congress on Surveying and Mapping, the Watrousville-Caro Area Historical Society, and Caro United Methodist church.

He is a veteran of two years in the Army. Emery and his wife Margaret have one son, Jason.

Seek mill for Huron bridges

"Without the millage, we'll never catch up."

That is why, according to Huron County Road Commission Director of Finance John Martin, a 1-mill levy for five years for repair of bridges is being sought.

The proposal appears on Huron county ballots Tuesday.

Starting with this December's tax bills, if approved, the levy will run five years. It will generate about $560,000 the first year.

With present funding, the agency is replacing or rebuilding two or three bridges a year. If the millage is approved, Martin said, the hope is the pace can be increased to six or seven bridges a year.

Present funding for bridges comes from the county bond, which this year is contributing $300,000 for the purpose, half of which comes from property tax revenue and the other half from federal revenue sharing.

Stanley C. Henry, 55, has been a county drain inspector for four years. A part-time position, the job entails inspecting drainage work in progress to make sure the contractor is complying with requirements, right-of-way work and contacting property owners within drainage district.

When his term expires at the end of this year -- he isn't seeking re-election -- Henry will have served as Juniata township treasurer for 30 years. His work as treasurer involves a lot of property descriptions, he said, which is an asset as drain commissioner.

He was a dairy farmer until five years ago when he switched to cash crops, but turned the operation over to a son when he became drain inspector. He helps his son when not on the drainage job.

As a farmer, he was a member of the Michigan Milk Producers Association, a county director of Michigan Artificial Breeders Cooperative and was an Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee-man.

He and his wife Geraldine have five children and eight grandchildren. Mrs. Henry is the sister of the present drain commissioner.

ROBERT E. STRYE

Robert E. Strye, 60, has a varied background including engineering, tree farming, and electrical contracting.

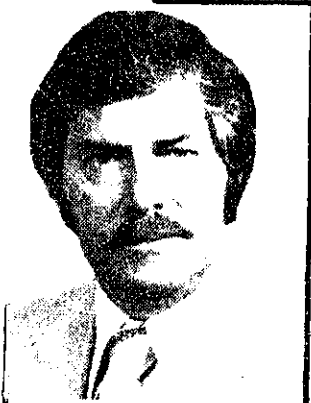

He was living in Bloomfield Hills and was part-owner of a machine tool shop and an electrical supply company and sole owner of a wood pattern shop, all in the Detroit area, before moving to Caro in 1969, having bought the American Motors dealership.

He moved the dealership to Saginaw the following year and closed the business in 1974. He then sold cars for Wilkie-Simpson Chevrolet in Caro before going into real estate. He is now associated with Osentoski Realty Co.

He is president of the Caro Rotary Club, is a member of Sacred Heart Catholic church, Saginaw Shrine Club, York Rite Masons, Masonic Blue Lodge, Royal Arch Masons, Royal and Select Masons, Moose Lodge, Air Force Association and Disabled American Veterans.

He served in the Army Air Corps during World War II. He and his wife, Joye, have three sons and four grandchildren.

Rep. Armbruster faces challenge of Houthoofd

For the first time since he was elected to the legislature to represent the 84th district in 1972, State Rep. Loren Armbruster of Caro is facing opposition in the Republican primary.

His opponent is Unionville attorney Terry Houthoofd (pronounced oud-iff).

The winner of Tuesday's primary will face Democrat James McCann of Akron, who ran against Armbruster in 1976 and 1978.

Armbruster, 62, was elected to the legislature after having served 22 years as executive vice-president of the Michigan-Ohio Sugar Beet Growers Association.

In the legislature, he is vice-chairman of the Roads and Bridges Committee and also serves on the Social Services and Youth, Liquor Control, Conservation, Environment and Recreation, and Drainage Committees. He is the minority whip in the House of Representatives.

A 1941 graduate of Michigan State University, he served 3½ years in the Army Air Force during World War II and 1½ years during the Korean War, taught in high school for two years and was an extension agent for five years, prior to becoming the head of the sugar beet organization.

He and his wife Edna have three children.

Terry Houthoofd, 29, is a 1969 graduate of Unionville High School and 1974 graduate of Michigan State University with a degree in zoology.

While attending MSU, he worked summers at the Chevrolet plant in Bay City and Eaton and Hale foundry in Vassar. He has also worked on his grandfather's farm.

After graduating from college, he worked as assistant plant scheduler at American Hoist and Derrick in Bay City before becoming a student at the Thomas M. Cooley Law School in Lansing.

He graduated from there in January of this year, passed his bar examinations and was admitted to the bar in June and now has a law practice in Unionville.

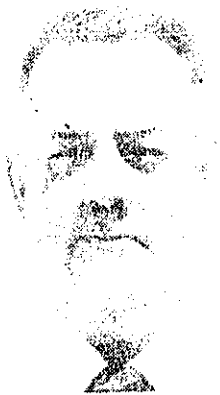

He and his wife, Wendy, have a son, Brandon, 8 weeks old.

The 84th district consists of all of Tuscola county plus a small part of Saginaw and Genesee counties.

4 seek GOP nomination for 77th district state representative's post

The retirement of State Rep. Quincy Hoffman, of Applegate, first elected in 1964, has spurred four Republicans to get into the race to succeed him as representative of the 77th district.

The winner Tuesday faces Democrat Harold Richards of Harbor Beach in the Nov. 4 general election.

The GOP candidates are Kenneth Babich, Marlette; William Mayes, Port Austin; Keith Muxlow, Brown City; and Stuart Parsell, Lexington.

The district consists of all of Huron and Sanilac counties and part of Lapeer and St. Clair counties.

KENNETH BABICH
Babich, 34, is serving his fifth year as Marlette village president. He served on the council four years prior to that.

He was born in Cass City, moved as a child with his family to Manton where he graduated from high school. He graduated from Central Michigan University in 1968 with a B.S. degree in political science and since then has taught American government at Marlette High School.

He is a member of the board of directors of the Marlette Lions Club, member of Masonic Lodge 343, Marlette, former president of Marlette Jaycees, a director of the Marlette Chamber Kenneth Babich Babich and his wife, Ruth, have three children. He has received the endorsement of retiring Rep. Hoffman.

WILLIAM MAYES
Mayes, 32, is principal of North Huron Middle School of Commerce and was active in the no longer functioning Marlette Action Committee drug abuse program.

During his 2½ terms as village president, an Economic Development Corp. and a disaster coordinating board have been formed and zoning board of appeals, construction code board of appeals and planning commission have been revived.

William Mayes

Mayes taught speech and government and was freshman football coach at Fowlerville High School from 1969-72 and was assistant principal there from 1972-74, then was director of instructional services for the Hartland Consolidated Schools. He returned to Port Austin last summer to help establish the middle school, created by the merger of the North Huron and Port Austin School Districts.

Mayes is a member of various education organizations, Bad Axe Jaycees, Port Austin Lions, Michigan Farm Bureau and is secretary-treasurer of the MSU College of Communications, Arts and Sciences Alumni Association board of directors.

Single, he is engaged to be married in December.

KEITH MUXLOW

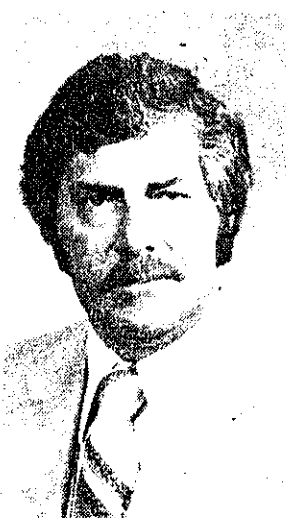

Muxlow, 46, ran against Hoffman two years ago in the Republican primary and only lost by 104 votes.

Muxlow was Brown City mayor for eight years and chose not to seek re-election when his term ended in April. He served on the village council for three years before that.

The lifelong resident of the area was a dairy farmer for 25 years and presently is manager and co-owner of the Brown City Industrial Park, which has attracted five industries to the area.

Muxlow is an Army veteran, treasurer of the Sanilac County Republican Party, co-chairman of the Brown City Community Development Committee, member of the Brown City Area Health Center Board of Directors, was chairman of the Brown City Centennial celebration in 1976, is a member of the Rotary Club and an advisor to the Cooperative Extension Service.

Keith Muxlow

The health center, funded through a federal grant, has been a factor in attracting a doctor and a dentist to Brown City.

STUART PARSELL

Parsell, 51, is chairman of the Sanilac County Board of Commissioners, and is serving his fourth year on the board.

He has been community education director for the Crosswell-Lexington schools for seven years.

Parsell, born and raised in the Thumb, is a graduate of Michigan State University and has a master's degree from there in public agency administration.

He spent 12 years as a college athletic director, coach and professor of physical education, several of which were at Olivet College.

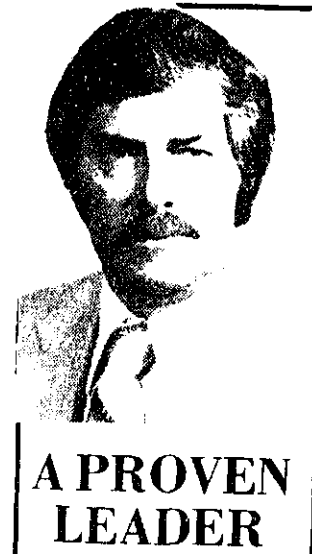

Parsell serves or has served on the Thumb Area Commission on Juvenile Justice, as vice-chairman of the Region 7 Agency on Aging, Human Development Commission board, Thumb Area Commission on Aging, Thumb Area Consortium board, legislative committee of Michigan Association of Counties and is presently chairman of MAC District 7, Sanilac County Education Association and was first chairman of Sanilac County Big Brothers-Big Sisters.

He and his wife Cecelia, a registered nurse, have four children, the youngest of whom are in college.

Challenge Russell in District 2

Whoever wins the Republican primary race Tuesday for Tuscola county commissioner from District 2 may or may not have a Democratic opponent listed on the ballot in the Nov. 4 general election.

Royce Russell, first elected two years ago, is being challenged in the Republican primary by Shirley Olszak.

Dick Erla of Cass City is running as a write-in candidate for the Democratic nomination. No other Democrats are running.

In order to get his name on the November ballot, he must receive at least 5 percent of the highest number of votes cast within the district Tuesday for any Democratic candidate, such as U.S. Rep. Bob Traxler. If he doesn't, he can run again as a write-in candidate in November if he chooses.

The district consists of Elkland, Elmwood, Ellington and Novesta townships, plus the north half of Kingston township.

Russell, 35, of Green Road, Gageton, was Elmwood township treasurer for 18 years before being elected commissioner in 1978.

On the board, he serves as chairman of its equalization committee and as a member of its building and grounds and departmental control committees.

As commissioner, he is also a member of the board of directors of the Thumb Area Commission on Aging and Thumb Area Consortium.

A cash crop farmer, Russell is a member of the Farm Bureau.

He is a member of Tyler Lodge, F & AM, and an elder of the First Presbyterian church in Cass City.

Most incumbents unopposed

Few contests in township elections

Most candidates running for area township offices are unchallenged and a large majority of those candidates are incumbents.

With few exceptions, there is little suspense over who will be running in the November general election as only Republicans are on the ballot.

TUSCOLA

ELKLAND - Present township officers are all unopposed for re-election. All are Republicans. They are: Jack Gallagher, supervisor; Carolyn Vare, clerk; Arthur Randall, treasurer, and trustees, Ray McComb and Allen Merchant.

ELLINGTON - Voters will have a choice in November between incumbent supervisor Jack Kappen, a Democrat, and challenger Elaine Bardwell, a Republican, who was supervisor for six years, until defeated by Kappen in 1978. Both are running unopposed in the primary.

A Republican primary race is between incumbent assessor Dora Rushio and challenger Elaine Bardwell. The winner is assured of victory in November since no Democrat is running.

Republican clerk Clayton Turner is running unopposed as are Trustees Fred Janks and Robert Wood. Both are Republicans.

ELMWOOD - The present all-Republican board is running unchallenged for re-election. The only difference will be Kenneth Blue, filling the trustee position being vacated by Lewis McCree.

Others running are: Roy B. Messer, supervisor; JoAnne Sattelberg, clerk; Betty Russell, treasurer, and James C. Turner, trustee.

NOVESTA - The only contest is among the Republican trustee candidates. Incumbents Fred Knoblet and Arleon Retherford are being challenged by Donald Englehart.

Knoblet is a farmer and has served on the township board for 18 years. Retherford has served for seven years and is retired from Marlette Homes. Englehart is plant manager for Anrod Screen Cylinder in Cass City.

Linda Yost is running unopposed in the Democratic race for trustee.

Other Novesta candidates are incumbent Supervisor William C. O'Dell, Republican; Clerk Nurse Kloc, Democrat, who will be opposed in November by Henry Rock, Republican, whom Kloc defeated two years ago, and Treasurer Everett Field, Democrat. O'Dell and Field are unopposed.

KINGSTON - Four candidates are seeking to replace Treasurer Louis Wenzlaff, who isn't seeking re-election.

Velna Richter is the only Republican. The Democrats running are: Anthony Mileski, a lifetime township resident, is a heavy equipment operator for a Novi asphalt paving firm. He has been a member of the township board of review seven years.

Mary Lou Wolak, presently township deputy clerk, is a 1978 graduate of Michigan State University with a degree in business and formerly employed at Marlette Homes.

--Sally Wood, a co-founder of the Citizens for Decent Road Conditions during the winter of 1978-79, did general office work during her one year of college and has taken a Cass City adult education class in bookkeeping.

In other offices, only the incumbents are seeking re-election: Supervisor Robert Gilmore, Clerk Victoria Wolak, and Trustees Edward Bilicki and John Burns. All are Democrats except for Gilmore.

SANILAC COUNTY

ARGYLE - The major race will be between Republicans Michael Doerr and Jerry Hillaker, seeking to replace retiring Supervisor Hazel Foote.

Other candidates are Clerk Edward Pfaff, Treasurer Cathy O'Connor, and Trustees Eugene Krizman and Dale Mann. All are Republican incumbents.

AUSTIN TOWNSHIP has everyone running unchallenged. The candidates are Supervisor Claire Grika, Clerk John Osentoski, Treasurer Mary Speatzel, and Trustees Roderick Walsh and Sylvester Bukowski. All except Walsh are incumbents.

EVERGREEN - Only incumbents are running, all Republicans. They are: Supervisor Audrey Leslie, Clerk Otis Dorland, Treasurer Wayne Whittaker, and Trustees James Brown and Lloyd Frederick.

GREENLEAF - There will be one contest among Republicans for trustee. Two of the three candidates will be elected. Those running are Vera Nichol, the only incumbent, Judy Doerr and Mark Battel. Also running for re-election are Supervisor Gerald Bock, Clerk Clare Brown, and Treasurer Aletha Fox. All are Republicans.

LAMOTTE township has Republican Jack Gillig running as the sole candidate to replace retiring Supervisor Cecil Hayward. Incumbent candidates are Clerk Wayne Adam, Treasurer Betty Walkowski, and Trustee Charles Roggenbuck. The other trustee position is vacant with no one running.

MOORE township has only one contest, between incumbent David Janssen and Donald McKenney in the Republican race for clerk.

No one is running for supervisor in Moore township, including the present supervisor, Donald T. Bush. In this situation, a supervisor is usually appointed by the board.

Other candidates are Treasurer Barbara Thompson and Trustees Gary Schell and William Strickler, all incumbents.

HURON COUNTY

BROOKFIELD township has one Republican race, for treasurer, between incumbent John Draschil and Robert McPhail. Other offices feature only Republican incumbents running for re-election. They are Supervisor Walton Brown, Clerk Edmund Good Jr. and Trustee Lloyd Kretschmer.

BINGHAM township has a Republican race for treasurer between incumbent Elmer Oberski and John Rutkowski. Others running as unopposed incumbents are Supervisor Aaron Weltin, Republican, and Clerk Joseph Treppkowski, Democrat.

In the trustee race, incumbent Albert Kubacki and James Osentoski are running as Republicans and James Zulauf is the sole Democrat. All three will move into the November election since there are two trustee positions open.

GRANT - Only incumbents are running. Democrats are Supervisor Helen Ellicott and Treasurer Ephraim Knight. Republicans are Clerk Donald Reid and Trustee Donnie Metzger. The other incumbent trustee, Bruce Ricker, is not running, nor is anyone else.

SHERIDAN township has two contests, both among Republicans.

Raymond Wolschlagier, the only incumbent, James Shaw, John Barenic and Stanley Heleski are vying for the two trustee positions.

Doris Dean and incumbent Ronald Hoffman are running as Republicans for clerk.

Other Republican incumbents seeking re-election are Supervisor Robert Becking and Treasurer Winifred Sofka.

Seek one mill for Decker Road in Evergreen

Evergreen township voters will be asked Tuesday to approve a 1-mill levy for two years to pay for the improvement of one mile of Decker Road between Severance and Shabbona Roads.

The road is the unpaved mile running north from the community of Shabbona.

If the levy is approved, according to township Supervisor Audrey Leslie, it will raise about $9,000 per year.

The money won't be used to pave the road, but to prepare it for paving, though there is no guarantee it will eventually get paved.

The township has a contract with the Sanilac County Road Commission, which will rebuild the road this fall, if the millage passes, in preparation for paving.

The township will pay five-sixths of the cost, its share being $21,000, and the Road Commission will pay the rest. Of the township's share, $18,000 will come from the millage, with the rest from the general fund. Evergreen will have two years to pay its bill.

Evergreen has a previous contract with the Road Commission to pave the mile south from Shabbona to Decker Road, with the township paying one-third, the Road Commission two-thirds. Present cost of paving a road is about $30,000 per mile.

With the township having one more year to pay its $12,000 assessment for the Stony Creek Drain, Mrs. Leslie said, the hope is that it can start saving after that so that when the south mile of Decker Road from Shabbona eventually is paved, the north mile can be paved at the same time, for which it would have to pay the entire cost.

If that happens, all of Decker Road running through Shabbona would be paved from Argyle Road to Decker Road.

Rotary governor visits Cass City

Tuesday, Dr. Earl Warwick of Midland, the governor of this Rotary district, visited the Rotary Club of Cass City.

Outlining the global growth of Rotary, the international men's service organization, the district governor called Rotary "the pioneer of the service clubs." Rotary celebrates its 75th anniversary in 1980.

"Rotary club activities improve their communities, aid youth, elevate business standards and further international friendships and understanding," he said. The local club is one of 32 Rotary clubs in this district.

During his visit, Dr. Warwick was informed of the local Rotary club's activities this year including completion of the Rotary exercise trail in the park before Labor Day with a grand opening planned for the entire community.

Concerning activities in this Rotary district, he discussed Rotary International's plans to participate in the District Leprosy Project of supplying part of the cost of the "Rifampicin," a drug used in treatment of the disease.

The district governor also conferred with Fritz Olson, local Rotary club president, and Bob Schott, club secretary, on matters of club administration and plans for future activities.

Levin aide slated in Cass City

Ida Delgado, a member of U.S. Sen. Carl Levin's staff, will be in Cass City Thursday, Aug. 7.

She will be at the Elkland Township Fire Hall from 3:40 p.m. to 1:20 p.m. that day, she will be in the commissioners' room of the county courthouse in Caro.

Persons who would like to make their views known to the senator or have a problem involving the federal government are invited to meet with Mrs. Delgado.

Constituents unable to come Aug. 7 can contact Levin's office at Castle Station, 500 Federal Ave., P.O. Box 817, Saginaw 48606, telephone 754-2494.

Youth wins

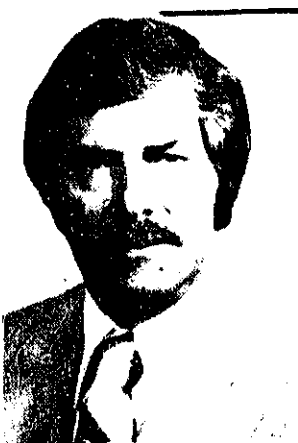

3 awards

at fair

Jon Hayes, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Slover, Porterville, recently took three first place awards in the Eaton county fair.

Slover is a former resident of Cass City and Jon's great-grandfather, Tom Dewey, is a lifelong member of the community.

Although his first entry in a fair, Jon's shorthorn calf took first place in the showmanship and breeding divisions. He was also awarded with having the champion calf.

Novesta road millage on ballot

Novesta township residents are being asked Tuesday to approve a 1½-mill, two-year levy for road improvements.

It was the opinion of the township board in putting the proposal on the ballot, Supervisor Bill O'Dell explained, that the people should be given a chance to vote on such a measure because of anticipated reduction in federal revenue sharing funds to the township in the near future.

Based on the township's present valuation, the first year of the levy will bring in $16,587. If approved, it will go on tax bills this December.

Even if the millage is approved, O'Dell said, the township will still spend money from its general fund on roads. This year, $28,000 is budgeted for the purpose from the general fund, plus $6,000 in federal revenue sharing.

The added revenue, if the millage passes, will mainly be used on rebuilding side roads, according to the supervisor, although no firm decision has been made by the board on how the money will be spent.

Make safety a family affair. If an accident or near-miss occurs, find out why and take preventive steps.

New books at the library

SOLO, by Jack Higgins (fiction). Katherine Riley doesn't know much about her new lover yet, only that he is John Mikali, the acclaimed concert pianist and international celebrity. If she does learn all there is to know about him, he will have to kill her. For the terrible irony is that Katherine, a specialist in the psychology of terrorists and violent revolutionaries, has unwittingly opened her arms to the most accomplished terrorist at large anywhere.

LIVING WITH HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE: THE HYPERTENSION DIET COOKBOOK, by Joyce Daly Margie (non-fiction). In most instances, hypertension can be controlled or significantly reduced by diet modification. Even in severe cases, major dietary alterations are usually necessary. Joyce Margie provides a comprehensive introduction to hypertension and its dietary factors, followed by more than 1,000 carefully designed recipes. Generally, these recipes are modifications of common fare that enable the hypertensive patient to enjoy a familiar and varied menu. Eight appendixes provide nutritional data aiding in the implementation of this regime.

PORTRAITS, by Cynthia Freeman (fiction). A powerful, passionate family saga by the best-selling author of "A World Full of Strangers." Scarred by an impoverished childhood, Jacob arrives in America and is soon obsessed by ambition. His dream of wealth is shared by his willful wife, Sara, until she becomes the victim of his neglect. Seeking vicarious fulfillment through her three daughters, Sara must deal with their eventual rebellion as, from the uncertainties of New York to the promise of California, they too pursue the "American dream."

Ellington fire millage a decrease

In this day and age when everything with a dollar sign attached to it seems to be increasing, Ellington township residents will be asked Tuesday to approve a millage decrease.

For the past nine years, according to Supervisor Jack Kappen, the township has been levying 1 mill for fire protection, but with some money in the bank, the board decided only three-quarters of a mill is needed this time.

The proposal is for five years, starting with this and hot dog cookout Thursday, July 24, at the Sanilac County Park No. 3. There were 14 present for the dinner. The afternoon was spent in visiting. Ron Cassie, area chairman, was present and talked to the group. The next meeting will be Aug. 28 at the park.

Mrs. Frank Pelton attended the golden wedding for Mr. and Mrs. E.J. Cooper at Kingston High School Sunday.

WHEELER REUNION

The Wheeler family reunion was Sunday, July 27, with Mr. and Mrs. John Fleming. There were more than 30 present to enjoy the cooperative dinner at noon.

Gifts were given to oldest grandfather, Duane Kyser, oldest grandmother, Irene Pickett; Clayton Matthew Thompson, youngest boy, and Esther Fleming, youngest girl. The ones coming the farthest were Mr. and Mrs. Duane Kyser and the largest family, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Wheeler.

Plans were made for the next reunion the last Sunday in July at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Fleming with Mr. and Mrs. Duane Kyser as hosts and Grace Wheeler as secretary.

Mrs. Andy Hoagg attended a baby shower for Mrs. Kim Hill at the home of Mrs. Bill Wills Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Van Norman visited Mrs. Neta Van Norman Tuesday. She is a patient in the McLaren Hospital, Flint.

Pam Sawdon and Cindy Smith attended the ninth grade youth camp last week at the Woodland.

Mrs. Frank Pelton attended the bridal shower Sunday for Ann Ballagh at St. Joseph Hall, Argyle.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Van Norman attended the Flannigan reunion Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Jacobs'.

Cliff family reunion held in Caro

The 29th annual Cliff reunion was held at Beith Memorial Park in Caro Sunday with 55 relatives attending.

They came from Lapeer, St. Louis, Elkton, North Carolina, Gagetown, Cass City, Westland and Alma.

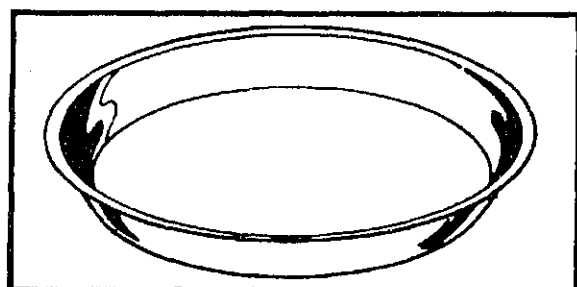

Traveling the farthest distance were Mrs. Ed Bilicki, Ed and Heather, from Raleigh, N.C.

Four new births were recorded during the past year: Thomas Fulcher, Kelli Diebel, Jeremy Powell and Katherine Hughes.

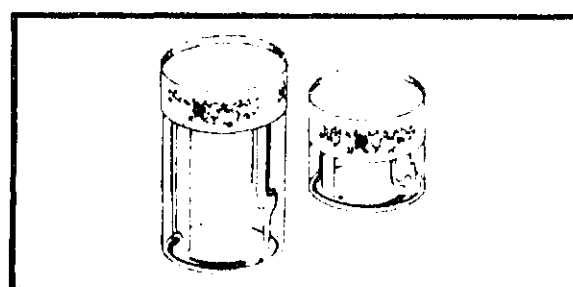

The 1981 reunion will be held in the same place on the fourth Sunday in July.
