Robert Taylor married Elaine Lehman, Aug. 27, 1955, in Lima, Ohio, with her father officiating.

They have four children, Douglas, Grabill, Ind., Pam LaMee, Midland, and Linda and Marsha, still at home. They have two grandchildren.

Rev. Taylor has pastored the Cass City Missionary church for the past four years.

We Want School To Open On Time

But Cass City Teachers Still Have No Contract.

- *Our contract expired Aug. 15.
- *The Board's team has limited their bargaining schedule.
- *The Board's hired negotiator has rejected intensive and continuous bargaining.

There is still time, teachers are willing to bargain any time if necessary, so we can begin the school year without delay.

Rabbit tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

You'll find some different looking type in this edition. It's not as attractive or as easy to read as the type that regular readers are used to.

It's different because it was produced by a machine we moth balled about 7 years ago and dug out again when one of the regular production machines suddenly ground to a halt.

It proved to be only a minor inconvenience. In days gone by a machine failure sent us scurrying to neighboring plants to work and resulted in all night sessions and missed deadlines.

There's plenty of beautiful weather still ahead but the Labor Day holiday always signifies the end of summer for most of us.

Labor Day is Monday. Most of the Chronicle staff will be vacationing. That means a short work week so all deadlines are advanced so that the paper can be published on time.

All this is a lengthy way of saying, early copy, please.

You think athletes aren't bigger than they used to be? Coach Don Schelke was lamenting the other day that the players will be much smaller than they were last year. A glance at the roster shows five players over 200 pounds.

You won't get much argument about size, but ability is another matter. Many old timers will dispute me when I say athletes are much better today than they were 10, 20 or 30 years ago.

Advance notice. When the Cass City Exercise Trail is dedicated Sept. 7 everyone attending can win two ways.

The first is that the exercise will be good for you. The second is that Cass City Rotary, which built the course, will have free pop and hot dogs for everyone that participates. (Weight watchers can burn up the calories consumed at the free lunch by going around again).

Village council recreation equipment. Both programs have ended for the summer.

There were 606 scheduled softball and baseball games played on diamonds in the park this summer, an average of five games per day (seven days a week schedule).

A proposed ordinance permitting construction of new apartments in downtown buildings, prepared by attorney House, has been submitted to the village planning commission for its review and recommendation, after which the council will conduct a public hearing.

Ken Miller, assistant operator at the sewage treatment plant, has resigned, effective Sept. 1.

The council went into executive session at the end of the meeting to discuss personnel matters.

NOT PAINTING herself into a corner was Margaret Hawkins, who was painting in the direction of the doorway. She was painting the floor Monday of the boys' locker room at Cass City Intermediate School.

Elmwood slates road millage vote

The Elmwood Township Board last Wednesday evening voted to try a second time to get a road millage levy approved by voters.

Appearing on the Nov. 4 ballot will be a requested levy of 1½ mills for five years for road maintenance and improvements.

At the Aug. 5 primary, a request for 3 mills for five years for roads was defeated 119-91.

Some residents had indicated to board members, according to Clerk Joanne Sattelberg, that they thought 3 mills was too much, hence the decision to try for half that amount in November.

If approved, the 1½ mills initially will bring in about $27,000 a year.

The reduced amount, Mrs. Sattelberg commented, won't allow the township to do much more than "try and keep up with (road) maintenance."

If it passes, the levy will not appear on tax bills until December, 1981, as it will be too late by November to get it included this year.

"If It Fitz..." Pay your dues

By Jim Fitzgerald

"That's not fair. I've paid my dues. You're an overnight success. I hate overnight successes."

That's what the grandfather said to his six-year-old grandson. They were at the baseball park, watching the Detroit Tigers lose 3-1 to the Boston Red Sox. The little kid didn't know what the old man was talking about.

In show business, when a performer makes it big, people often say his success happened overnight. But sometimes the performer protests that he has been struggling and starving for years and, therefore, has paid his dues.

On the other hand, some performers make a million bucks the first time they lap dance. They never struggle or starve. They don't pay their dues.

People who succeed without paying dues are bitterly resented by people who pay dues but never succeed.

This is true in any type of endeavor, including baseball-watching. The grandfather has been watching big-league baseball games for 46 years, always hoping to achieve the ultimate success, but always failing. He has paid his dues. If ever he does succeed, and an ignorant bystander calls him an overnight success, he will club the bystander over the head with his grandson.

He began paying dues long before he became a grandfather. His father took him to baseball games when he was a little boy, and he was so eager he wore his fielder's mitt with "Goose Goslin" printed on the palm. He paid most of his dues in Detroit Tigers Stadium, beginning when it was called Navin Field, and then Briggs Stadium. But he has also paid dues at ballparks in Boston, New York, Cleveland, Chicago and Washington.

For the grandfather, the ultimate success is not victory for the home team. He has seen his favorite team win five pennants and three World Series, and these marvelous triumphs filled him with joy. But still, there has always been something missing. After every game, year after year for hundreds of games, he has always gone home knowing he failed again.

A good example of the dues the grandfather has paid occurred last week when Mark Fidrych returned from the minors to pitch again for the Tigers. The grandfather managed to squeeze inside the stadium for the sellout game, but he couldn't find a seat. So he stood in an aisle.

For almost three hours he stood and screamed encouragement to The Bird, never moving for fear of losing his place. He is sure this is the longest he's ever stood without even squatting. His legs still hurt 10 days later. He knows if his government demanded that he stand for three hours to protect world peace, he would fall down and complain to the United Nations.

The Bird lost that game, but even if he'd won, the grandfather's happiness would have been incomplete. It was just one more dues-paying game which failed to provide him with the ultimate success he has been seeking futilely for a lifetime.

But two nights later, back at the stadium, he came agonizingly close. The grandson was along, celebrating his sixth birthday. In the fifth inning, when the grandfather returned to their seats after a trip to the refreshment stand, the grandson said: "Look what I got, Grandpa."

What that kid had, at his very first big-league baseball game, was the success the grandfather had been seeking at hundreds of games for 46 years. It was an official American League baseball, hit into the grandstand by a real, live big-league baseball player. The grandson had caught the foul with considerable aid from his dad, the jock.

The grandfather hadn't even been present to share the glory with his kin, and perhaps grab the ball for himself. After all the dues he'd paid for all those years, the big dummy had gone after a beer and blown his best chance at success.

The grandson took his overnight success in stride. He thinks he'll catch a ball everytime he goes to a game. He doesn't see any reason to pay dues. The grandfather thinks it is important that the little boy be taught that life is unfair, so he plans to steal the grandson's baseball.

Teenager dies when mobile home falls

A 14-year-old Sarnia, Ontario, boy was killed Sunday afternoon in a mishap south of Kingston.

Pronounced dead after an unsuccessful attempt to revive him at Marlette Community Hospital was Kenneth Stewart.

According to Caro state police, the boy had been staying with his uncle, Mark Smith of 3811 Kingston Road, Kingston.

Another uncle, Loy Smith of 5625 Centerline Road, told officers the three of them, plus two others, were setting half of a double-wide mobile home unit on its foundation.

All five were under the unit when it started to slide off the cement blocks. Four of them were on the west side of the unit and were not injured.

The victim was on the east side and couldn't get out in time when the mobile home started sliding. It fell on him, crushing his chest.

The four men used a jack to raise the unit, then rushed the boy to the hospital.

There, Dr. Duane Smith and others tried for about an hour to revive him before pronouncing him dead.

The incident occurred at 2:10 p.m. on private property owned by Mark Smith, south of Shay Lake Road and east of Phillips Road.

The Haire Net

At times when I read about far-away places that I have never seen, I start to wallow in self recrimination.

What am I doing here in Cass City going to work every day while my life flits by with so much to do and not yet started? That kindles a new resolve to get going.

There are a whole raft of places that are high on my list. Alaska for the sights and the fishing. Argentina for the same reason.

I want to drink in the history of Europe, England and the iron curtain countries.

Or, closer to home, Mt. Rushmore and New Orleans at Mardi Gras time. I could go on and on.

Rationally, I know that we've seen as much or more than most of our neighbors and friends.

And if my priorities were really well defined there are none of those far-away places that aren't within reach.

Chances are over the years many of them will be visited if and when it is convenient.

When my occasional moments of wistful dreaming end I realize that it's probably a good thing that all of those places to visit are ahead of me.

While there are many places I want to see, we have managed to visit many others on our list.

Some of those travel vacations have been delightful, some merely okay and some downright disappointing. But they've been fun and I'd do many over again if given the chance. But even the best was not without flaws. Periods of boredom. Poor accommodations. Weather problems.

All those things that any experienced traveler will tell you to expect. I know it, you know it. Isn't it funny that it never pops into your mind when you plan that long-awaited vacation? In my vacation dreams the sun is always shining and the big fish biting.

Last year the trip was into the northern wilds of Quebec for trophy fishing. It was a great experience, but I wouldn't go again.

It was a trip that I've looked forward to for perhaps 15 years. Countless hours spent digesting brochures and reading fabulous stories about the land, the people and the fishing.

Looking back I'd think that the preparation and anticipation were greater than the actual trip.

Another fishing and sight-seeing trip high on the list is to Alaska. We've had this on our list longer than the trip to Quebec.

While other trips have been just a tiny bit less than expected, I know that if I ever get to Alaska, it will be a once-in-a-lifetime trip without flaw.

Sure it will.

Getting drunk

By Mike Eliasohn

There is only one problem in being 35 years old. I don't know how much longer I can keep drinking Coke, Pepsi and other drinks that rot my teeth.

I'm sure if I stopped, that would make my dentist happy and might also make the soft drink companies happy.

It is only an assumption, but from watching their television commercials, I assume they don't want the business of us "older" folks.

All their commercials appear the same and none of them features anyone older than about 22.

Invariably, those in the commercials are at the beach or the old swimming hole and all are wearing swimming trunks. The girls wear bikinis.

Everyone is having a good time playing volleyball, jumping in the surf, or whatever.

The implication is supposed to be that drinking Soft Drink X means good times and makes one feel youthful.

But all I feel is left out. Drinking a Pepsi won't get me a girl in a bikini. All it will get me is arrested.

I could drown my sorrows in a beer, which is what I should be drinking according to the television commercials. That's what all the retired athletes drink.

But having never been an athlete, I don't drink beer.

I think that is why I had a tough time getting through college. Not only did I not drink beer, I also didn't eat pizza.

To be honest, I don't drink soft drinks very much. That way, I don't have to lug returnables back to the grocery. That is why I think the returnables law is such a good idea. It affects other people instead of me.

I also don't drink coffee. The aroma of coffee has never done a thing for me. Nor have I ever taken the Nestea Plunge.

What I drink most is milk (the 2 percent variety,) which makes me somewhat weird. Few adults drink milk, at least in public. Even lots of dairy farmers drink coffee (granted, with real cream).

Milk's problem, from the dairy industry's standpoint, is that it is a drink most people associate with being kids. "Drink your milk and you'll grow up to be strong."

It must be my mother never said that to me. I grew up to be more like Wally Cox (when he was alive) than Alex Karras.

Fortunately, I never grew up drinking beer or I might have resembled Billy Carter. To overcome its image, the milk industry has been promoting its product like the soft drink industry, as one being drunk by teenagers and young adults.

The other two liquids I consume most are orange juice, even though I can't stand Anita Bryant (no, I'm not that weird), and water, which I don't think anyone advertises, except for Perrier water.

Perrier water comes from France, in fancy bottles and is expensive, but as far as I know, still tastes like water. If I ever buy anything French, it would be a car or bicycle. (I don't drink wine either.)

About the only liquid I haven't mentioned so far is lemonade, which invariably is advertised as "like grandma used to make."

But when Grandma made the stuff, she used lemons. Nowadays, the lemonade comes in cans or foil pouches, and in this modern chemical age, they probably use everything but lemons.

Somehow, "tastes like real lemon" isn't the same as real lemon.

I wonder what Ronald Reagan drinks.

Intermediate district staff may strike

Thienes responded that Luce wanted to hold a negotiation session Friday afternoon, but Ms. McCoy wasn't available.

"You're always hopeful before school starts," he said of the chances of reaching a settlement by Sept. 3.

So far, according to the assistant superintendent, all that has been agreed to was that wherever the present contract says "he," it will be changed to "he and she," and that there will be no smoking in the negotiating room.

"Given the desire of the board to settle, the opportunity to settle is there," Ms. McCoy commented.

The TCBA is also representing special education teachers employed by the Huron Intermediate School District, where an impasse has been reached in bargaining.

The association has requested the services of a state mediator for the next bargaining session.

VISITING — Erika Sherman (center) of 6858 E. Cass City Road and her sister, Gerda Thierer (left) had seen each other only once since Erika moved to the United States from Germany about 19 years ago to marry Jim Sherman. Now Mrs. Thierer and daughter Ute, 16, from Langenau, West Germany, are visiting the United States for the first time. Their three-week visit ends Sept. 1.

Board says 'no' to hiring Mrs. Crouse

BULLETIN: Wednesday morning Dick Albee, absent at the Tuesday meeting, called the school to say that he was against hiring Joyce Crouse, making it a 4-3 vote against Ms. Crouse entering the system.

Cass City School Board is split down the middle on whether or not to hire Joyce Crouse, the wife of superintendent Donald Crouse, to fill a special education teaching vacancy at the high school.

The issue was hotly debated at a special meeting of the board Tuesday night and a straw vote indicated that President Geraldine Prieskorn, Dr. D.E. Scollon and J.D. Tuckey were in favor and Thresa Burnette, Dr. E. Paul Lockwood and Dean Hoag were against hiring Mrs. Crouse.

The deciding vote now belongs to Dick Albee who was unable to be reached at the hastily-called meeting. Another meeting seems sure to be called to settle the issue.

It was revealed that before Ms. Crouse applied for the position the superintendent polled the board to see if there were objections. At the time a majority said that if she were the best qualified they had no objections. Later a member evidently had reservations about hiring the wife of the superintendent and the meeting was called.

Meanwhile, Russell Richards, principal, who interviews and recommends hiring of teachers, interviewed Ms. Crouse. There were five applications and none of the others were experienced. Ms. Crouse has a master's degree and is a veteran special education teacher. She would enter like any other teacher in the system. If that offends the superintendent that's his problem, not mine.

Thresa Burnette was against the hiring, saying it was bad public relations, and felt that the school could find another suitable candidate even if the position was vacant for a short period after school opened. Dean Hoag said that Ms. Crouse would come in at the top of the pay scale when most teachers hired start at near the bottom.

That was challenged by Ms. Prieskorn who pointed out that other teachers were hired well up the increment pay scale. We are here to educate kids, she added, and we should remember that special education is an area of teacher shortage. J.D. Tuckey said we should hire the best person available for the job. If Ms. Crouse were still named Keller we would have no trouble with this at all, he added.

OFFER CONTRACT Following normal procedure, after the interview Richards offered a contract to Ms. Crouse. Ms. Crouse told the board that she then unofficially notified the Huron Intermediate District that she was leaving. She said that she would be taking a pay cut to work where she lives.

Richards then asked the board if it was going to take over the interviewing and hiring of teachers. He said there was no problem at all hiring the superintendent's wife. She'll be graded just Schools set to open Unless there is a strike by teachers, school in the Cass City district begins Wednesday, Sept. 3, with a full-day session except for kindergartners.

Class lists of students at Campbell Elementary and the intermediate school will be posted Thursday. Principals are in their offices this week to register new students. Making appointments beforehand is recommended.

Hours in the elementary schools and intermediate school (except for kindergarten) are 8:25 a.m.-3:05 p.m., the same as last year. Intermediate students report opening day to their assigned rooms. Room assignments will be posted at 8:35 p.m. Thursday.

At the high school, hours are 8:35 a.m.-3:25 p.m., also unchanged, unless teachers are successful in getting the school day shortened, which they are seeking. Students report the first day to the gym for a general meeting at 8:35.

Lunch prices are: Grades 1-6, 60 cents per meal ($3 for weekly tickets); 7-12, 65 cents; adults, 85 cents. Unless parents are notified otherwise, buses will travel the same routes as last year to begin the year, with adjustments made as soon as possible.

No teachers lose jobs in cutback

PRICES UP Crouse told the board that the hot lunch program has a deficit of $22,000 and recommended an increase of 5 cents on each of the students' lunches and 7 cents for adults. The new prices are: grades 1-6, 60 cents; grades 7-12, 65¢, and adults, 78 cents to 85 cents, tax included.

In addition the a la carte menu will be increased after a study of costs is completed.

The board also granted the right to seek approval from the state for borrowing up to $725,000 to avert a cash shortage while waiting for new tax funds to arrive. It is not expected that the entire amount will be needed, although the cash crunch at the school will require earlier borrowing this year than at any time in recent years, Crouse believes.

Farm facts The 320,000 combines that work the nation's fields this fall, if lined up wheel to wheel, could have harvested the state of Iowa in a day.

U.S. corn harvested this fall could fill 2 million jumbo hopper cars that would stretch 13 times across the nation.

Immunization clinics set for Tuscola

The Tuscola County Health Department will conduct its immunization clinics each Thursday in September at its office on M-81, west of Caro.

Hours will be 9:30-11:30 a.m. and 1-3:30 p.m., with the afternoon session Sept. 4 extending into the evening. Immunizations are given free.

A flu immunization clinic has been tentatively scheduled in Cass City Oct. 14.

Family planning clinics at the department office will be Friday, Sept. 12, from 10:15 a.m.-3 p.m., and Sept. 26 from 9 a.m.-3 p.m., with a physician in attendance at both clinics.

Soybean tour set in Sanilac

The Sanilac County Cooperative Extension Service announces there will be a county soybean tour Wednesday, Sept. 3, in the Crosswell area in the morning and Marlette area in the afternoon.

There are 41 different varieties of soybeans that were planted in two different locations in the county. The tour group will see them, plus narrow row soybeans planted with a "lye" drill. They will also see the MSU overstate soybean varieties which were also planted in narrow rows.

The morning tour will start at 10 at the Wilson Brothers' Farm at 2665 Wellman Line Road, two miles east of Roseburg and one mile south. From there the group will go to the Harold Furness Farm, one mile north of Galbraith Line Road at 7716 Kilgore Road.

The afternoon tour will start at 1:30 at the overstate soybean trials on the Tom Taylor Farm, two miles east of Marlette on Howard Road and a quarter-mile south. The group will then move to the Goodwine Brothers' Farm on Walker Road right at the Cass River.

Michigan State University personnel will be present to discuss the varieties, narrow row vs. conventional, insects and disease control, weed control and fertilization.

Folks feel put out when they discover they've been taken in.

'Jews for Jesus' to be at local church

A representative of the Jews for Jesus organization will present a program, "Christ in the Passover," at the 11 a.m. service Sunday at the Cass City Church of the Nazarene on Third Street. Purpose of the presentation is to enhance the Christian understanding of the New Testament by showing a Jewish background for the communion celebration. Ancient and modern Jewish customs are discussed and described with an emphasis on the aspect of Christ's redemption. The public is invited.

Militancy not bad, MEA official tells teachers

Nobody brought out a guitar for a round of the old union song, "Solidarity Forever," but the issues of labor contracts and strikes were very much on the minds of upper Thumb teachers Friday night.

About 125 of them from the 11 school districts being represented in contract talks by the Tri-County Bargaining Association gathered at the Colony House, northeast of Cass City, for hot dogs, beer and soft drinks, and a message that striking may be the best way to get what they want.

Delivering the message was Luis Diaz of the negotiations office of the Michigan Education Association, with which the TCBA is affiliated.

Of the 11 districts, as of Friday, a settlement had only been reached in North Huron, and that was still pending ratification by both sides.

The other districts in which the TCBA represents the teachers are Cass City, Owen-Gage, Akron-Fairgrove, Elkon-Pigeon-Bay Port (Lakers), Unionville-Sebewaing, Decker-ville, Harbor Beach, Millington and the Tuscola and Huron Intermediate School Districts.

Other than North Huron, the only optimistic note concerned Akron-Fairgrove, where, it was reported, a settlement is likely before the start of school.

DIAZ HAD NO SOONER started speaking, about 8:45, when about 40 Cass City teachers started coming in, after having met for three hours and decided to strike if no settlement is reached by the start of school Sept. 3. They were wearing "We need a contract" buttons. (See story elsewhere in this issue.)

The MEA executive and former teacher talked about what he termed equity and fairness.

It isn't fair, he claimed, for teachers in these inflationary times to go for a long period without a renewed contract — "You're wiping out your savings." — and it isn't fair for some teachers to make only half as much as other teachers "just around the corner" with the same education and experience.

He drew a chorus of "whews" from the crowd when he said some of the contracts settled so far elsewhere in Michigan provide that in the final year, teachers with master's degrees at the top of the pay scale will make $32,000 per year.

The average teacher salary now in Michigan, he said, is more than $18,000 per year.

THEN HE SAID, "MILITANCY is not bad . . . It provides better contracts."

Last year, there were 70 teacher strikes in Michigan, the most ever. "The increased number of strikes has produced a larger number of settlements early."

For the upcoming school year, Diaz said, the MEA started with 267 locals without contracts. There have been 47 settlements so far and, he claimed, "all create a pattern . . . with some kind of reflection toward the cost of living." Many of the settlements, he said, have provided for double digit pay increases per year, that is, at least 10 percent. (The 1979 increase in the cost of living was more than 13 percent.)

The obvious key to reaching agreement, he noted, is that, "Both parties have got to want to come to an agreement."

He urged the teachers to use all means to reach agreement with their respective school boards and that that "might mean you might have to withhold your services."

He added a precaution that

"sometimes the contracts (resulting) from strikes aren't as productive as we would like them to be" but the next contracts are "unbelievable" as both sides don't want another strike.

"STRIKE" WASN'T THE commonly used term Friday night. Preferred was "withholding of services" and "job actions."

Whatever the term used, such actions are illegal under Michigan law and more than one teacher wanted to know about the odds of getting fired if they went on strike.

That possibility exists, Diaz responded, but the odds are against it happening. Of 600 teacher strikes in Michigan since 1968, teachers in only three districts lost their jobs. (One of them was in Reese.)

He added, in response to another question, that in court cases involving those districts where teachers were successfully fired, the courts have laid out a procedure school boards must follow in order to do so.

That doesn't mean school boards will follow it, but if they don't, Diaz pledged, MEA attorneys will defend the teachers. "If you are on an approved job action . . . everything you need, you will get."

FOLLOWING HIS PRESENTATION, Diaz was asked by the Chronicle if teachers in all districts represented by the TCBA might walk out in support of teachers in districts without contracts.

That won't happen, he said, because such an action could be an unfair (and thus illegal) labor practice.

He wouldn't say if the goal is for the TCBA to eventually negotiate a single contract for all teachers in the upper Thumb, though it would be legal to do so.

He denied that the long-range goal of the MEA is to negotiate a single contract for all teachers in Michigan.

Rotary Exercise Trail Nears Completion

Dedication to be held Sunday, Sept. 7, 2 p.m.

FOR THE BETTER part of two years the Cass City Rotary Club has been working to complete an exercise trail in the woods at Cass City Recreational Park. This was part of the crew one night this summer that worked to complete the project. Top, from left: Newell Harris, Bill Kritzman, Bob Schott, Jim Bauer. Second row: Don Tonti and Jim Jensen, who is helping make trail chips for underbrush. Jensen is the son of Rotarian Ken Jensen and Mrs. Jensen. Bottom row, from left, Tom Proctor and Mike Weaver. (Complete details of the upcoming dedication and how the trail operates will be presented next week.)

Union to help telethon

Members of United Steelworkers Local 6222 of Cass City and other volunteers will be manning telephones Sunday and Monday and conducting other fund raising activities in conjunction with the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon Against Muscular Dystrophy.

The union, which represents employees at General Cable, raised more than $5,000 last year for the fight against the disease, according to Helen Bartle, one of the local organizers. It was the first time it undertook the effort.

Center of activities will be the union hall in the Hahn

Real Estate Building, 6240 W. Main Street, next to Veronica's Restaurant, with hours the same as for the telethon, 9 p.m. Sunday to 6:30 p.m. Monday.

The Cass City telephone number for persons who would like to phone in their pledges will be broadcast during the local station portion of the national broadcast, which will be about 15 minutes of every hour.

In this area, the telethon will be broadcast over WNEM, Channel 5, Saginaw. As there was last year, there will be a fishbowl in front of the Hahn building for persons who would like to drop off their contributions in person.

Children who would like to canvass the town can stop by the union hall at 8 a.m. Monday to pick up canisters.

Nationally, slightly more than $30 million was raised in the Jerry Lewis Telethon last year.

Of the money raised last year, according to the Muscular Dystrophy Association, 83.4 percent was spent for program services, 1.38 percent for fund raising and 2.8 percent for management and general operations.

Of the money spent for program services in 1979, $18.03 million went for research, $33.26 million for medical services, $2.02 million for professional education and training and $3.27 million for public health education.

In Michigan, the association operates a clinic at Midland, summer camp at Port Sanilac for children with muscular dystrophy and related neuromuscular diseases and supports research at the University of Michigan, Michigan State University and Wayne State University.

THE BARN on the centennial farm of Donald and Beatrice Miljure on S. Elkton Road, Cass City, is thought to be about 90 years old, only 10 years younger than the farm itself.

In Grant township Miljures enjoy retirement on centennial farm

When Donald Miljure bought his first tractor, a used one, in 1941, it cost him $185.

The last one he bought, in 1969, cost him $10,000, and he figures it would cost him twice that much today to buy the same tractor new.

But the farm he and his wife, Beatrice, own has seen more changes than that in its 100 years.

Their farm, originally 80 acres and now 120, was recently designated a centennial farm by the Division of Michigan History of the Michigan Department of State.

It is located in Grant township, on the east side of Elkton (Cemetery) Road, north of Bach Road.

It was swampland when Mrs. Miljure's uncle, George Martin, bought it in 1880.

He only owned it a couple of years before he sold it to his mother, Mary, who sold it to another son, Albert, in 1883. The Martins came here from England.

Albert and his wife, Jennie, had nine children, of whom Beatrice, now 68, was the youngest.

Also still living are Clifford Martin, who lives west of Cass City, and sisters Gertrude Beyette, Caro; Edith Harris, Wyoming, Mich., and Hazel Blair, Bad Axe.

Albert Martin grew fruit and vegetables, which he sold in towns in the area. When he died in 1912, his widow ran the farm, with the help of sons Clifford, then 12, Howard, then 14, and another son, Claude, who was married. The farm became more of a cash crop operation then.

BEATRICE MARTIN ATTENDED Herron School at the corner of Bach and Elkton Roads, through the eighth grade, graduated from Cass City High School, then attended Huron County Normal School in Bad Axe for one year in order to become a teacher.

Her first teaching job was at the Sherrard School in Grant township, which paid special dividends. One of her students was the younger sister of the man she was to marry. The teacher met Donald Miljure when he hauled firewood to school one day.

They were married in 1938 and moved into the home on her family farm, where they still live. (It is now about 80 years old.) The farm was being rented at the time and Donald Miljure bought the equipment, three horses and cows from the man who was renting it, Hubert Root.

Mrs. Jennie Martin lived with her daughter and son-in-law for a while. She sold them the farm in 1940 and moved to Cass City. She died in 1962 at the age of 93.

The farm was 120 acres when the Miljures bought it. They added 40 more in 1951 for pasture, but have since sold the 40 to a daughter.

They have two children, Nancy (Mrs. Patrick) Kendall of Bay City and Joanne (Mrs. Terry) Herban of Saginaw, and four grandchildren.

MRS. MILJURE TAUGHT a total of eight years in three rural schools, five years of which were after she married.

Her husband was a full-time dairy farmer, milking about 20 cows at the most, until he sold his herd in 1965 and switched to cash crops.

He had started working in Marlette shortly before that, then worked at Michigan Lumber Fabricators in Elkton until it closed in 1976. He also retired from his part-time farming about that time.

At age 67, Miljure isn't completely retired. He works week ends and holidays as a security guard at General Cable.

Mrs. Miljure worked 11 years at Cable as an inspector, retiring from there in 1977.

When they had the dairy herd, she helped with the milking and washing equipment and their daughters also helped.

Back then, Miljure commented, "Everybody had cattle. Everybody thought they had to have cattle to live." Now, however, very few farms close by have any dairy cows or feeder cattle.

THE MILJURES KEEP busy in their retirement. They have another home near Mio, where Donald can enjoy his hobbies of fishing and hunting. He hasn't missed a deer season in 46 years and missed only one opening day during that time.

Mrs. Miljure has 70 house plants to take care of plus outside flowers. She and her husband also have a large fruit and vegetable garden.

They rent their farmland to Dale and Don Schuettes, Elton and marvel at the size of the Schuettes' operation, typical today, in contrast to the modest one they had.

Compared to their own tractor -- Miljure keeps it now mainly for plowing snow -- the Schuettes have two four-wheel-drives and four or five other tractors. "Then fuel bill would make you head swim," he commented.

The brothers farm at least 1,000 acres, they guess, which now seems necessary. Farmers today, he said, have "got to be big in order to compete."

As for the big debts which seem to be a part of modern farming, that makes farmers work hard, Miljure feels, which is desirable. "The guy in debt works." Those not in debt, "take it easy."

O-G senior citizens see demonstration

Owen-Gage Senior Citizens held a potluck dinner last Thursday in the Owendale Community Building with 37 members present.

The meeting was called to order by Mable Ondrajka. Get well cards were sent to Stella Pisarek and Violet Diebel.

Mrs. Jane Mitchell, R.N., gave a talk and demonstration of cardiopulmonary resuscitation.

Four guests attended the meeting. Door prize winners were Luther Durham and Clara Adams.

A drawing was held in lieu of playing euchre, with prizes won by Frankie Anker, Martha Durham, Jean Mousseau, Glen Deneen and Frank Enderle. The next meeting will be at the Gagetown fire hall Sept. 4. Blood pressure readings will be taken.

Fry finishes Navy Hospital Corps school

Navy Hospitalman Apprentice Timothy L. Fry, son of Betty M. Fry of 2491 Hurds Corner Road, Cass City, has graduated from the Navy's Hospital Corps School.

During the ten-week course at the Naval School of Health Sciences, San Diego, students received instruction on the basic medical procedures used by hospital corpsmen as they assist Navy doctors and nurses.

The students were introduced to all phases of military health services including X-ray technology, laboratory analysis, general practice and surgery.

A 1979 graduate of Caro High School, he joined the Navy in February of this year.

5 YEARS AGO

Al Kuenzli of Cass City won two medals and an honorable mention at the state 4-H horse show at Michigan State University.

Francis J. Darazsdi has been named plant controller at General Cable Corp. in Cass City.

Four Vietnamese refugees arrived Friday to begin new lives in the United States.

Sarah Bentley dies at 80 in Saginaw

Sarah E. Bentley, 80, of Saginaw died Wednesday, Aug. 20, at St. Mary's Hospital in that community.

She was born Nov. 3, 1899, in Deckerville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lapeer, and grew up in Cass City.

She married Kenneth Bentley July 4, 1936, in Detroit. They lived in Cass City for several years before moving to Saginaw in 1956.

She was a member of the Saginaw Valley Church of the Nazarene.

Mrs. Bentley is survived by her husband; one son, George Chapel of Union Lake; two grandsons, Larry and Daryl Chapel of Gaylord; three great-grandchildren; one brother, Elwood Lapeer of Florida; two sisters, Mrs. Amy Hulbert of California and Mrs. Mary Scouten of Snover, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held Saturday in Bridgeport, with burial in Elkland cemetery, Cass City.

Kenneth Martin, 38, a native of Cass City, has returned to the community to open an electrical business on Hurds Corner Road, west of Cass City.

Representatives of several area motorcycle clubs are uptight with the Department of Natural Resources this week after representatives of the department in Tuscola county banned them from state owned land. Spokesmen said that they will appeal to state Sen. G. Rockwell for help.

Cass City Education Association and school administration representatives returned to the bargaining table with little progress reported in talks aimed at a new teacher contract.

Cass City is now in the process of updating its master plan and zoning ordinance under the direction of Vilican-Leman and Associates, community planning consultants.

25 YEARS AGO

Janet Spencer, 17, of Tyre, was selected as Sanilac County Bean Queen at the Sanilac County 4-H Fair last week.

Forty friends and relatives helped Ollie Spencer celebrate his 80th birthday at his home.

Patricia McGarry received her diploma from Mercy Central School of Nursing in Grand Rapids.

Cass City will receive $2,807 as its share of second quarter tax receipts from the state Motor Vehicle Highway Fund.

35 YEARS AGO

Five Cass City men have been inducted into the armed forces, Lawrence Guilds, James Champion, Harold Kilbourn, Charles Auten and John Sommers.

The barn on the Charles Henderson farm was destroyed by fire Sunday night. The building contained hay and about 300 bushels of wheat, which were also burned. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Levin aide in Cass City Sept. 4

Ida Delgado, a member of U.S. Senator Carl Levin's staff, will be in Cass City Thursday, Sept. 4.

She will be in the Elkland township fire hall from 3-4 p.m. She will be in the commissioner's room in the courthouse in Caro from 1-2:30 p.m.

Persons who would like to make their views known to the senator or are having a problem with an agency of the federal government are invited to meet with her.

If unable to be there, they can contact Levin's regional office at Castle Station, 509 Federal Avenue, P.O. Box 817, Saginaw 48606, telephone 754-2494.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters

A 15-year-old from Vassar is eager to have female attention. She enjoys all sports, and any outdoor activities. She has some very special needs, and could benefit from a one-to-one relationship with a woman.

A real cute nine-year-old from Fairgrove has been waiting a long time for a Big Brother. He enjoys fishing, baseball, swimming, and biking. He would be lots of fun for any man, and a very rewarding experience.

A lot of special attention is needed from a man for this little eight-year-old boy. He comes from a large family in Unionville, and enjoys building things, playing football, and basketball.

Cars, motorcycles, football, and fishing are a few of the interests that this boy from the Deford area has. He is a very pleasant boy, and very talkative. He would make any man a great little brother.

Army reserve unit promotes four soldiers

Capt. Kurt A. Eugster, commander of the U.S. Army Reserve Center in Bad Axe, has announced the following promotions:

Promoted to Specialist 4 were Michael Jaworski, Bad Axe and Leland Hoop Jr., Marlette. Promoted to Private First Class were Chris Hill, Cass City, and Brian Goff, Marlette.

The family week end was a success. Approximately 200 family members and guests attended. They observed the firing of various equipment and the incoming rounds upon impact.

POOR POLICY

History proves that telling people things for their own good doesn't improve matters one whit.

Girl Scouts need more leaders

Without some additional leaders, some would-be Girl Scouts will be left out in the cold this year, according to Hilda Koch, Cass City Girl Scout service chairman.

In 1979-80, she said, there were six troops, 13 leaders and 75 Girl Scouts in Cass City and "we could have had more (scouts) if we had pushed."

Mrs. Koch has lost at least four leaders from last season. With the aim of recruiting new ones and helpers, a meeting has been scheduled Thursday, Sept. 4, at 7:30 p.m. at the Cultural Center on Main Street.

Leaders can be male or female, with the only requirement being that they must be at least 18 years old.

"The more we have, the more troops we can have," Mrs. Koch commented.

Some time soon after school starts, Round-Up Days will be held to enroll girls in the scouts for the year.

Interested adults unable to make it to the meeting can call Mrs. Koch beforehand at 665-2536.

Your Neighbor says

Teen has no strike worries

If Cass City teachers do go on strike, it won't upset Jamie LaRoche. She will consider it an extension of vacation.

"I like it," she said of school, "but I don't want to go back."

She has been enjoying her vacation, going swimming and visiting her grandmother in Clare, which is why she isn't looking forward to going back to school. She admitted that she did do all the things this summer that she wanted to do.

She is looking forward to returning to school in one respect, as she will be starting high school.

Although the ninth-grader-to-be insists her parents don't have to nag her to do her homework -- "I do it." -- she said her favorite subjects are gym, lunch hour, and when she was in the elementary grades, recess.

Jamie, 14, is the daughter of Jim and Joyce LaRoche, 6593 Houghton Street.

George Quack dies at 76 after illness

George H. Quack, 76, of Argyle township died last Wednesday at Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe, following an illness of several weeks.

He was born March 29, 1904 in Dafter, Mich., the son of Paul and Carolina Quack. Quack and Mearl White were married in 1930 at Sault Ste. Marie. She preceded him in death in 1944.

He then married Milodean Tarry Hamilton in 1946 in Taylor. She preceded him in death Jan. 1, 1971.

Quack and Doris Darr Krumenacker were married Oct. 7, 1972 at Ubyly.

He was employed for 37 years at the R.M. Paint Manufacturing Corp. in Detroit before retiring in 1965. He moved to Ubyly in 1964 and to Argyle township in 1972.

Quack served for over 25 years as a volunteer worker for the Salvation Army in the Detroit area.

Surviving are his wife; one son, Murray Quack, Detroit; three step-daughters, Mrs. Leonard (Margaret) Lautner, Ubyly, Mrs. George (June) Lapp, Cass City, and Mrs. Robert (Shirley) Hund, Warren; one step-son, Carl Krumenacker, Ubyly; 15 grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; four sisters, Mrs. Louise Murch, Westland, Mrs. Harold (Christina) Waechter, Taylor, Mrs. Helena Robinson, Homer, Ill., and Mrs. Beatrice Wandler, Sault Ste. Marie, and one brother, Arthur Quack, Lansing.

A son, George "Bud" Quack, died in 1958.

Services were held at 11 a.m. Saturday at the Ubyly United Methodist church, Rev. Emerson Arntz officiating.

Burial was in Valley cemetery, near Ubyly.

Arrangements were by Zinger Funeral Home, Ubyly.

HEALTH TIPS

Peptic ulcer major poor health cause

Frank Chappell
Science News Editor AMA

Peptic ulcer is one of the important causes of poor health in man. It occurs frequently, hangs on for years and brings complications.

Peptic ulcer results from the inability of small areas of the digestive tract to withstand the digestive juice secreted by the stomach.

Ulcers occur 10 times more often in the duodenum (the first 8-10 inches of the small intestine) than in the stomach, and occasionally they occur in the lower portion of the esophagus, or gullet.

Each year more than three million people develop ulcers, says a pamphlet from the American Medical Association. More than 15 percent of the population will have ulcers at some time in their lives. Deaths from ulcers and their complications exceed 12,000 each year.

How can you tell when you might have an ulcer? The No. 1 sign is pain. Other symptoms include nausea, heartburn, gaseousness and feeling of fullness and

Reunion held Sunday in Lansing

The annual Hendrick-Downing families reunion was held Sunday at Potter's Park in Lansing.

Officers elected for the coming year were: president, Mrs. Ivan Tracy, Cass City; vice-president, Elnora Sonnenberg, Lansing, and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Ron Fox, Lapeer.

Eldest member present was Theo Hendrick, who will be 88 Sept. 3, and the youngest was two-year-old Lynne Walsh of Lapeer.

Attending from the Cass City area were Theo Hendrick, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Tracy and Mr. and Mrs. Don Whittenburg. Accompanying them were Beth Walsh and daughter Lynne and Mrs. Ron Fox and daughter Abby of Lapeer.

The 1981 reunion will be in the Flint area.

weakness. Pain usually is worse when the stomach is empty and subsides when food or an antacid is taken. Alcohol, coffee and nervous tension make things worse.

The physician's first objective in treatment is to heal the ulcer. This requires neutralizing of the acid by frequent feedings, suitable antacids and control of emotional stress. The ulcer patient can learn to change his life pattern, eliminate from the diet food and drink that inflame the stomach and duodenum.

In some cases of persistent ulcers that fail to heal and continue to hurt, surgery may be recommended. Peptic ulcer is a very individual disease, and treatment must also be individualized.

It's nice to know that the immediate results of comprehensive medical treatment for peptic ulcer are excellent. Unfortunately, the long-term results are less encouraging since recurrence is common with any treatment that does not abolish secretion of acid.

The probability of good results from treatment is enhanced when the patient makes an effort to understand his disease and closely follows the treatment regimen and living patterns prescribed by his physician.

Expectant parent classes set

An expectant parent class will start Wednesday, Sept. 3, at 7 p.m. at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

There will be a series of seven classes given weekly in the basement Meeting Room A.

The following topics will be discussed:

Male and female anatomy -- fetal growth and development.

Body changes in the expectant mother. Nutrition and breast feeding.

Labor and delivery -- breathing and relaxation exercises.

Tour through the maternity department.

New infant and mother. Infant care -- family planning and contraception.

Couples are recommended. If a husband is not available, expectant mothers may bring a relative or friend who can give support and encouragement at home and during labor.

The classes will be presented with lectures, demonstrations, informal discussion and a variety of visual aides and film strips.

There will be a fee of $20 per couple, made payable to Hills and Dales General Hospital, and should be brought to the first class.

A doctor's permission must be given for anyone to take these classes. The forms will be available in the doctor's office or from the hospital and must be brought to the first class.

Everyone must register prior to the start of the classes. For further information, contact Faith Fabner, R.N., at Hills and Dales, telephone 872-2121.

AARP sees Dorman Sisters

The regular monthly meeting of the American Association of Retired Persons was held at the Good Shepherd Lutheran fellowship hall Aug. 14, with 39 members and eight guests attending.

Blake Sackett gave the invocation. Marion McClorey led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Blood pressure readings were taken by volunteer nurses Lucile Stein and Patricia Gee. Floy Hampshire of the Commission on Aging was in charge of the project.

A musical program was presented by the Dorman Sisters, Yvonne Smith, Karen Sawdon and Janice Mika, with Janet Severance at the piano.

The annual senior citizens ball will be at the Ubyly Heights Country Club Thursday, Oct. 9, at 6 p.m. Tickets are available from President Charles Beckett.

The Sept. 11 meeting will be held at the fellowship hall. Mary Kritzman, Rose Worstell and Margaret and Charles Beckett will be in charge of arrangements.

Union complains

No give and take in bargaining for contract

Dear Community Member,

The Cass City Education Association (CCEA) would like to supply each of you with some information concerning the current negotiations taking place between your board of education and the teachers employed in your school system.

As you may already know, absolutely no progress has been made in this summer's negotiations. Sessions have been scheduled from two to three hours in length, and one to two weeks apart. This has been due to the unavailability of the board's chief negotiator. Although the teachers' bargaining team has been willing to meet more often, this has not yet been the case.

No progress has been made at any session to date. The board's negotiator seems to see a need for dealing with only one issue at a time, a practice not favorable to good bargaining. We as teachers feel that many of the issues proposed by the CCEA's team could be handled quickly and "gotten out of the way," allowing more time to be spent on areas where quick agreement is not quite so likely.

Many of the issues in the teachers' proposals are not "money" issues, but deal with changes in contract language. Therefore, cost is not always the main concern in our negotiations.

As in any bargaining situation, the teachers' initial requests may be considered "high," while the board's offers may be seen as "low." This is a common tactic in negotiations, and should not be viewed as a means of stalling discussion and/or agreement. What does cause the negotiations process to slow down, or even come to a complete halt, is an unwillingness to revise one's offers and one's demands.

The CCEA feels that such an atmosphere of mutual give and take is not being encouraged by our school board, our superintendent, or their chief negotiator. Please show your concern by contacting your board members and encouraging "good faith bargaining" to begin at the table. The teachers of Cass City want to see a settlement which is considered fair and equitable to both sides.

If you have any questions regarding this matter, please feel free to contact any one of the members of the CCEA bargaining team, Dave Hoard, Shirley Tuckey, or Jim Mastie.

Gail Nartker, president
Cass City Education Association

EDITOR'S NOTE: An article about the status of negotiations appears on page 1.

Letters to the Editor

Retired teacher supports union

Dear Friends:

Being a retired teacher, I am aware of what is being discussed among the teachers, of the plans and aspirations they have for the coming school year, and I support them.

There are many reasons for their position of no contract, no work, among them the position that people must have a contract to work satisfactorily and peacefully, knowing what are the requirements and conditions of their employment.

Exactly what your position is on the controversy only you know. But you must be aware that if you have children in school you have a deep interest and duty in its outcome.

Your children's satisfactory education depends on a teaching staff that is satisfied and happy with what happens in the classroom. There is no way unhappy teachers can hide their feelings from children's radar. The children may not be aware of what is happening to them, the teachers may smile and sound cheerful, but they know there is something. If you ask such children how they like school, a large percentage of them are apt to say, "Uh, it's alright." Is that good enough for your children?

What can you do about the situation? In the first place, the schools are public institutions that belong to you. The school board members are the people whom you have elected to represent you at official meetings about school business. Unfortunately they are not mind readers and cannot possibly know your feelings about specific situations unless you inform them of your thoughts.

Some of the questions you need to answer in your thinking might be:

What are the most important things I want my child to be taught?

What kind of a classroom do I want for my child to inhabit for that education?

Do I want my child's teacher to have to worry and fight for acceptable working conditions and salary while teaching my child?

Do I want my child educated by a school where my elected officials (the school board), the administration and the teachers will not come to an agreement about my business: my child's education?

Should I be satisfied that my schools spend less on the education of my child than 522 schools in the state? More than only eight schools?

What can you do? Make your feelings known to your school board members. Put in an appearance at the open sessions of negotiations.

Insist that a settlement be reached and that if it is not, if people cannot work together amicably, it is past time some changes were made. Then find out how to make those changes, and make them.

Mayville youth sentence to 2-5 years in prison

Three persons were sentenced Monday when they appeared before Judge Norman A. Baguley in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

Duane R. Spencer, 20, of 5807 Fulton Street, Mayville, was sentenced to 2-5 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for breaking and entering a motor vehicle. He was credited with one day served.

Spencer pleaded guilty to the charge July 8, of breaking into a Juniata Baptist church bus Jan. 17. Larry E. Winter, 29, of Sebewaling, was sentenced to one year in the county jail for driving under the influence of liquor (3rd offense). He was credited with three days served.

He was arrested on the charge Sept. 8, 1979 in Indianfields township. Appeal bond was set at $5,000.

A motion for a new trial for Albert D. Romain, 32, of Dutcher Road, Caro, for uttering and publishing, was denied.

He was then placed on three years' probation and sentenced to three months in the county jail, with credit given for four days served. He was fined $200, assessed $200 court costs and ordered to pay $400 restitution.

A motion for appeal bond was granted, with bond set at $4,000.

A jury found him guilty July 9 of writing a bad check for $400 last December, drawn on the Peoples State Bank of Caro.

Also Monday, Janis Murphy, 28, of Rose City, pleaded guilty to violating probation. Her plea was accepted and she was remanded to the county jail to await sentencing Oct. 14.

She was placed on three years' probation in June, 1979, for attempted obtaining of morphine by forged prescription.

She violated probation by her guilty plea in district court in Flint last month to a charge of soliciting.

A motion for modification of the sentence of Connie D. Tetric Bondie, 21, of Caro, was denied.

She was sentenced to one year in the county jail June 9 for violation of probation. She had been on probation for writing checks without sufficient funds.

At a pretrial hearing, Thomas L. Kemp, 17, of 149 W. Grant Street, Caro, pleaded guilty to a charge of unarmed aggravated assault, without intent to commit murder.

His plea was accepted and sentencing scheduled Oct. 14. Bond was continued.

He is charged with an assault on Henry Bohm in his (Kemp's) home June 9.

Two persons stood mute to charges of larceny over $100, in connection with the theft July 8 in Caro of a radio transmitter-receiver from the Tuscola Intermediate School District.

They were Anthony L. Asher, 17, of 400 Wellis Street, Caro, and Dennis J. Brady, 17, of 3120 Hurds Corner Road, Caro.

Brady also stood mute to a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property over $100, in connection with possession of various radio equipment and 8-track tapes. Pleas of innocent were entered on the two charges and pretrial hearing scheduled Sept. 22.

Bond was continued; however, his mother moved to withdraw the surety she had pledged, so surety bond was cancelled.

Asher also stood mute to a charge of larceny from a motor vehicle, a radio in the car of James Jacobson.

A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing on both charges scheduled Oct. 14.

Both additional charges against the two men to place July 8 in Caro.

DISTRICT COURT Sentencing of Brian Smerdon, 17, of 4764 Jacob Road, Cass City, for larceny over $100 was delayed one week Monday by Judge Richard Kern.

Smerdon pleaded guilty to the charge Aug. 12, of taking two $5 bills from Coach Lig Pharmacy June 19.

He has since paid restitution. He was ordered to pay $100 court costs.

PROMOTED -- Col. Ben I. Gomez, Defense Logistics Services Center commander, starts a round of applause for Frederick J. MacKay after he was promoted to lieutenant colonel in the U. S. Army Aug. 1. MacKay's wife Ann and daughter Tina also attended the ceremony at the Battle Creek Federal Center. He is the son of Evelyn MacKay of Cass City.

Immunizations

Act 299, Public Acts of 1975, authorized the Director of The Michigan Department of Public Health to specify, by regulation, the immunizations and tests required of all children enrolling in Michigan schools for the first time. This year the following immunizations are required:

Diphtheria, Tetanus, Rubella, Pertussis, Measles, and Poliomyelitis.

In addition, each new school entry must have had a vision screening test.

The parent or guardian who, because of religious or other convictions, does not want his child protected from these diseases must submit a signed statement to that effect.

As part of our school admission procedure for your child, we must enforce the law stated above. We must have the health record or a similar statement in order to admit your child officially to school.

If you have questions about this, please consult your local school, your doctor, or the Thumb District Health Department.

Emergency School Closing

Special announcements concerning school closing will be made through the following public service facilities:

Radio WKYO - Caro Radio WMIC - Sandusky
Radio WLEW - Bad Axe

Announcements will be made as soon as a decision is reached.

Guidance and Counseling

The school guidance program is designed to assist students who have personal and social concerns, and to help students design academic programs to meet their individual needs and abilities. College admission and financial aid assistance is provided for students interested in continuing their schooling after graduation. One of the programs designed to benefit both the student and the community is the co-operative education program. Under this program, some students are placed in on-the-job work situations for part of each school day. Students and parents desiring more information are encouraged to contact the guidance offices.

Free Student Lunch Policy

The Cass City Board of Education has Adopted the following family size and income criteria for determining eligibility for children unable to pay the full price of meals and milk served under the National School Lunch, Special Milk Program, and U.S.D.A. Donated Foods Program.

Table with 3 columns: Total Family Size, Scale for Free Meals and Free Milk, Scale for Reduced Price Meals. Rows include family sizes 1 through 8, and 'Each Additional Family Member'.

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown on the scale are eligible for free or reduced meals and milk. If your income is greater than those shown but you have unusually high medical bills, shelter costs in excess of 30 percent of your income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, or disaster or casualty losses, your children may still be eligible.

Application forms are being sent to all homes with a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. Approved applications entitle the applicant to have lunches paid in part or in total by federal funds. School officials may, for cause, verify the information on the application. Application forms contain a statement above the space for signature certifying that all information furnished is correct. Deliberate misrepresentation of information may subject the applicant to prosecution under applicable state and criminal statutes. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year.

In certain cases, foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If you have foster children living with you and wish to apply for such meals and milk for them please notify us or indicate it on the application.

Children of unemployed parents may qualify for free or reduced price meals and/or free milk if total family income including welfare payments, unemployment compensation and sub-pay benefits fall within the prescribed family income guidelines.

All children are treated the same regardless of ability to pay. In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, creed, color, or national origin.

Under the provisions of the policy the school principals will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may make a request either orally or in writing to Donald Crouse, Superintendent of the Cass City Public Schools, for a hearing to appeal the decision.

One gets away, one doesn't in Cass City

One man got away and another didn't in two incidents that occurred in Cass City early Sunday and Tuesday.

Police were notified at 3:40 a.m. Sunday by a resident of a nearby apartment that a subject was attempting to break into the telephone booth coin boxes behind Old Wood Drug.

By the time an officer arrived, the man had left. At 4:01 a.m. came a report that the man was banging on the door to the apartments at 4415 S. Seeger Street and turning the entranceway light on and off.

The man then got into a car and drove off.

Officers discovered that the receiver in one of the booths had been pulled from the cord and then broken into pieces. In the other booth, the receiver, light and light fixture were broken.

At the apartments, the door closer, light switch and doorbell were damaged.

At 3:20 a.m. Tuesday, police received a report a man was going through cars parked behind the Cass Tavern on Main Street. The witness wrote down the license number of the pickup the man drove off in.

The number was traced to a man who lives on Bay City-Forestville Road, so officer Duane Sprague headed north and stopped the subject about four miles north of town.

In the pickup bed were found a Polaroid camera and a locking blade knife, worth a total of $140, that were eventually traced back to a car parked behind the tavern. The owner, Dewain Jones, said papers from his glovebox were also missing.

The suspect was released, pending issuance of a warrant by the prosecutor's office, which was requested Tuesday. Police requested the man's name not be reported until the warrant was obtained.

ARRESTS

Cass City police arrested Phyllis Ann Crowe, 19, of 4905 Lamton Road, at 2:45 a.m. Sunday on charges of driving under the influence of liquor and driving with license suspended. Her car was stopped on Seeger Street.

Angelo G. Dinsmoore, 20, of 6794 Main Street, was arrested on a warrant at 5:20 p.m. Monday, for failure to appear in district court on a charge of failure to replace a mutilated driver's license. His vehicle was stopped on West Street.

Both were later released on bond from the county jail, pending disposition of their cases in district court.

Village police arrested Frank L. Gadaletto, 30, of Lansing, at 11:25 p.m. Monday on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor.

His car was stopped on M-81, a quarter-mile east of town. He was lodged at the county jail.

He appeared in district court Tuesday afternoon, but further information wasn't immediately available.

OTHER ITEMS

Alvin Orner of Frankenthum reported to the sheriff's department last Thursday for insurance purposes two thefts from a field off the east end of Hoppe Road, east of Dodge Road.

Taken some time in May were six rolls of field tile, two utility boxes and, according to the report, "glass to 'grade all'." The items were worth $1,050.

Taken some time in July were seven "cedar layers" and 10 front end weights for a tractor, worth a total of $4,500.

David Graichen of 5671 Deckerville Road, Deford, reported to deputies last Thursday that an AM-FM radio, worth $50, and two tires on rims, $50, were taken the previous evening from a car stored behind his home.

Gary Diebel of 4176 Maple Street told Cass City police Sunday morning that the four tires of the 1980 car parked at his house were punctured during the night.

The car belongs to Ronald Perry of 3442 Cemetery Road.

Joe Harbec of 6593 Church Street reported to village police Friday morning that a window in his garage was broken some time since Wednesday. It was worth $15 and had been installed the previous week.

O-G girls seek North Central title

The Owen-Gage girls' basketball squad will be aiming to recapture the top spot in the North Central D League this year.

It has a good chance to do that, but competition will be tough. The team was 19-3 overall last year and 12-2 in the league. Under coach Judy Campbell, the Bulldogs finished second in their first two seasons of competition, were first the next two and second last year behind Peck.

Aiding the Bulldogs cause will be the three starters back from last year, Becky Howard, high scorer with 17.2 per game average last year; Julie Andrakowicz, the leading rebounder with 18 rebounds per game, and Dana Laurie.

Two other players back, Heidi Rockefeller and Terri Sontag, both started sometimes last year.

Of the four players lost to graduation, three were guards. Sontag is the only guard back from the 1979 squad and will be the fourth starter.

Laurie, a forward the last three seasons, is being switched to guard.

With the 5-10 Andrakowicz at forward and 5-8 Howard at center, the remaining spot to fill on the starting lineup is the other forward spot, expected to be either Rockefeller or Joan Mosack.

"I think Caseville will be tough," Miss Campbell said in looking at the competition. "They've got about everybody back."

She also expects tough competition from Port Hope, who, rumor has it, has a super freshman, and North Huron. She predicts her Bulldogs will finish in the top three "some place."

Peck isn't expected to be a factor as it lost all its starters from its championship team.

Junior varsity team members are Rita Sullivan, Lori Jo Wissner, Bonnie Wynn, Carol Zimmer, Sheila Engelhardt, Vicki Alexander, Jackie Kain, Brenda Schwartz and Jean Shope.

Owen-Gage plays Wednesday, Sept. 3, against Port Hope in the Caseville tournament. If it loses, the team plays again Friday. If it wins, it plays in the championship game Saturday. The other two teams entered are Caseville and North Huron. The event is for both junior varsity and varsity teams.

The rest of the schedule is as follows, with the JV game starting at 6:30 p.m.

- Sept. 9 at Harbor Beach (non-league)
- Sept. 11 Akron-Fairgrove
- Sept. 16 at Port Hope
- Sept. 18 Ubyly (non-league)
- Sept. 23 Kingston
- Sept. 25 at Caseville
- Sept. 30 North Huron
- Oct. 9 at Peck
- Oct. 14 Carsonville - Port Sanilac
- Oct. 16 at Akron-Fairgrove
- Oct. 21 Port Hope
- Oct. 23 at Ubyly (non-league)
- Oct. 28 at Kingston
- Oct. 30 Harbor Beach (non-league)
- Nov. 4 Caseville
- Nov. 6 at North Huron
- Nov. 13 Peck
- Nov. 18 at Carsonville Port Sanilac

Snover resident one of 6 injured in Clifford Road crash

A Tuesday, Aug. 19, accident east of Mayville sent six persons to hospitals, including a Snover woman.

Treated and released from Marlette Community Hospital was Sandra A. Roggenbuck, 18, of 440 N. Wheeler Road, Snover, one of the drivers involved.

The other driver, Clarabell White, 63, of Richville, and two of her passengers were taken to Lapeer County General Hospital in Lapeer. They were Joan Lumley, 42, and Kathy Lumley, 11, both of the same address in Mayville.

Mrs. White and Kathy Lumley were treated and released. Joan Lumley was transferred to Hurley Medical Center in Flint.

The other passengers, also of the same address, were Donald Lumley, 13, who was treated and released from Caro Community Hospital, and Lynda White, 20. She was admitted there, but no further information was available.

Sheriff's deputies reported she was eastbound on Mayville Road and wasn't sure whether she was supposed to continue straight or turn onto Clifford Road, which angles off to the right.

The white car was headed northwest on Clifford. When Ms. Roggenbuck finally decided to turn onto that road, it was too late and the two vehicles collided.

The Snover woman was ticketed on a charge of failure to yield right of way. The accident took place at 3:45 p.m.

Richard C. Kulinski, 26, of 4918 Lamton Road, Cass City, suffered possible injuries, not needing hospital treatment, after an accident at 3:41 p.m. Aug. 19.

Cass City police reported he was northbound on Seeger Street, south of Elizabeth Street, when a southbound car turned in front of him into a driveway on the east side of the road.

Kulinski thought the two vehicles would collide so laid down his motorcycle to avoid that from happening. No collision occurred.

Driver of the car involved was Jeffery Hettler, 22, of St. Johns.

County slates 2nd millage try

tor's hearing to arbitrate the dispute, originally scheduled Aug. 18, has been postponed to October.

A letter from Kent requesting the board to appropriate funds for him to hire an attorney to represent the probate court in all upcoming hearings was placed on file, with the board to seek advice concerning his request from its labor attorney, Michael Ward. The judge wants to hire a Grand Rapids law firm.

A request from the village of Caro for the county to take over the village-owned airport was referred to the county planning commission for study and a recommendation.

Maynard McConkey of Cass City was reappointed to the county health board for a five-year term.

Coach Schelke optimistic

38 grid candidates prep for season

Nineteen lettermen are among 38 candidates working out under the watchful eye of Coach Don Schelke as the Cass City Red Hawks prepare for the 1980 grid season which opens Sept. 5.

Always optimistic, Schelke sees the Hawks in the battle for the Thumb B Conference title despite the loss of several key players and a 6-3 record last season.

One reason may be that the race appears wide open in the Thumb B Conference this season. Defending champion Caro will be tough and so will North Branch, Schelke believes. Cass City lost several close games last season and ended tied for fourth with North Branch.

Most observers believe that last year's squad was better than the final record indicated. A 2-point loss to Caro, a one-point loss to Sandusky and a one-touchdown defeat by Vassar ruined the year for Hawk fans.

Cass City will need a few breaks to better last year's mark, judging by the players lost via graduation. Start with the ends, probably as fine a pair as any to play in Cass City back to the days of Bob Wallace and Tim Burdon, about 30 years ago. Ken Martin was all conference and Tim Fahrner received honorable mention even though he suffered from an injury late in the season.

Another all-conference player gone is Rusty Hoag, the quarterback.

On defense, Cass City's most aggressive player, Mike Vatter, an all-conference linebacker, and Jack Groombridge, all-conference interior lineman, leave hard shoes for Cass City to fill.

Also gone are Jim Nicol and Bob O'Dell, both of whom received honorable mention in all-conference voting.

Schelke says that the depleted linebacking corps and the lack of experience at quarterback are the most pressing needs for the team this year.

At quarterback, a couple of seniors who won letters, mostly on defense, are battling to direct the team. Brian deBeaubien, who showed well on the Junior Varsity as a sophomore, has exhibited a fine passing touch. Brad Hartel also can pass, but has relatively little experience at quarterback. If he doesn't play quarterback, he will probably see action on defense.

Playing with the new quarterback will be a couple of outstanding backs. Rob Sawdon is lightning quick and plays much tougher than his 5-6, 164 pounds would indicate. He's a game breaking halfback. Another back counted on is Tim Sontag. He's probably Cass City's best football player. He loves to hit. Both Sawdon and Sontag will be after their third varsity letter. Another player that could go both ways is Mike Loomis. He'll be in the offensive line and at linebacker on defense.

There are plenty of other lettermen from whom Schelke can mold this year's team. There's some size, too, but the Hawks won't be as big as they were last year. We'll be quicker this season, Schelke promises.

Among the letterwinners with size are Scott Stine, 190 pounds; Jim Jensen, 225 pounds; Dave Whittaker, 210 pounds; Jerry Page, 245 pounds, and Randy Stine, 210 pounds.

The Hawks have just one week to iron out the wrinkles. They open at home, Sept. 5, against Standish-Sterling.

The schedule:
Sept. 5 Standish, home
12 Lakers, away
19 Caro, home
26 Bad Axe, away
Oct. 3 North Branch, away
10 Sandusky, home
17 Marlette, away
24 Vassar, home
31 Mayville, away

Charmont bows in regional tourney

It was a short regional fast-pitch tourney for Charmont of Cass City at Owosso last week end.

The team bowed to Owosso Retailers, 2-0, in the opening round. Cass City was able to collect just three hits. Al Bosch pitched his usual good game for Charmont but his teammates were unable to get anything going behind him.

In the second game Oakland Community College won in 11 innings, 2-1. Charmont had two chances earlier to put away the game but spectacular fielding by Oakland quelled the rallies. Brian Helwig took the loss.

DEFENSE LETTERMEN returning include, front row, Randy Stine, Shawn Papp and Jim Jensen. Back row: Mike Loomis, Tim Sontag, Buck Zawilinski and Brad Hartel. Some of the veterans will see duty both on offense and defense.

LEADING THE TEAM this fall will be these seniors, named co-captains: Tim Sontag, Rob Sawdon and Mike Loomis.

Cass City police team wins 5-county pistol shoot

Cass City police officers Don Miller, Phil Klaus and Duane Sprague won first place Saturday in the Class C division of the Thumb Area Law Enforcement Pistol Shoot near Sandusky.

The trio took first in the three-man team competition.

The first annual event, sponsored by the Sanilac County Sheriff's Department, was open to all law enforcement departments in Sanilac, Tuscola, Huron, Lapeer and St. Clair counties.

The officers shot at the targets at various distances.

Skill center all ready to greet students

Tuscola county's newest school cost $4 million and doesn't even have a football team.

Those in charge of the new facility, however, are aiming to turn out lots of winners — winners in the world of work.

Two-and-a-half years after county residents approved a

1.75 mill levy to help finance its construction and operation, the Tuscola Area Skill Center is scheduled to open Wednesday, Sept. 3, for 11th and 12th graders from the nine high schools in the county.

They will be enrolled in one of 22 programs where they will learn the skills needed to go out and get a job when they graduate, although it is expected some will continue their schooling.

A 23rd skill area, cosmetology, will continue to be taught at Howard's Beauty Academy at Caro, under contract with the Tuscola Intermediate School District (TISD).

The center has a capacity for 925 students, enrolled in either the morning or afternoon session. The students will attend their regular high school the rest of the day.

Students will go to their respective high schools each day, and board buses to and from the skill center. The morning session will be from 9-11:30; afternoon, from 12:15-2:45.

and inability to find an instructor certified to teach it and horticulture.

THE CENTER WAS DESIGNED for a maximum of 22 students per class because that is the maximum number of students the state will provide reimbursement for per instructor. For subjects offered in morning and afternoon, that means a maximum of 44 students.

The number of students each school district can send to the center is based on the percentage of 10th and 11th graders it had the previous year out of total enrollment for those grades in the county. The same formula applies for students in each class. Any vacancies remaining from unused allocations are filled by lottery.

The Cass City district was allocated 124 positions, according to Wayne Dillon, its vocational-career education director, but as of last week, only 42 were going. Four students are on the waiting list because the classes they wanted are filled.

Some who did sign up last spring have since changed their minds about going, but he anticipates some who didn't sign up will do so once school begins.

As of now, Dillon said, Cass City High School will be offering all the same programs that it had in the past. The intent all along had been that Cass City would continue to offer its vocational office block (secretarial) and vocational agriculture.

Whether there will be some changes in industrial education programs, such as drafting, remains to be seen.

As of now, Kingston High School will be sending 48 students to the skill center, according to counselor Jim Priestap, although he expects before the school year is very old, the school's full allotment of 50-52 students will be going.

One of Pratt's tasks as vocational-career director for the county intermediate district, will be to coordinate local programs so that when the student gets to the skill center, he or she isn't repeating what was already learned.

IN CHARGE OF DAY-TO-DAY operations at the center will be Principal Gary Martin, who held the same job as did Pratt for the Sanilac Intermediate School District before coming to Tuscola and before that was assistant principal at the Sanilac Career Center, which performs the same function as the skill center.

There will be 20 teachers. An intensive effort was made for the best instructors, Pratt explained, with three hired from out of state.

A requirement for them to be certified is that they must have worked at least two years in their skill area, as opposed to only having experience in teaching it.

Preference is given to those who also have teaching experience, but that is not mandatory.

In addition to the principal and teachers, there will be directors of student services and instructional services (each equivalent to an assistant principal), counselors and consultants, placement specialists, teacher aides, maintenance workers and secretaries, for a total staff of about 40.

As mentioned, total cost of the facility is about $4 million, of which a little over $1 million is for equipment.

The cost for the bare building was $35 per square foot, of which federal funds paid $12.50, which works out to 35.7 percent. Washington paid 42 percent of the cost for equipment.

State funds pay a portion of the operating cost (staff salaries, etc.), through a complicated formula that pays from 25-40 percent.

What the state doesn't pay in construction and operating costs, the intermediate district pays from the 1.75 mill levy approved by voters. Once the construction bonds are paid off in four years, it is anticipated the 1.75 mill levy will be reduced.

Taxpayers will have an opportunity to view what they are paying for at a dedication and open house on a yet-to-be determined date.

Some of them will also be able to use the facility. Evening classes for adults may begin as soon as the second semester, Pratt said, depending on how smoothly the daytime program is operating.

A HAPPY CHEF is food services instructor Marie Durish, who was food services education coordinator at Flint Osteopathic Hospital before assuming her position at the skill center. Her students will learn their skills by preparing lunch for students in the new special education building next door, which opens in October, for a restaurant in the skill center, open limited hours, and for banquets.

DRAFTING instructor Dan Derfny at one of the many drawing boards in the drafting room. Derfny taught the subject at Cass City High School until a couple of years ago, when he went to work in the Walbro engineering department.

HORTICULTURE students at the skill center will do much of their learning in this 32-by-63 foot greenhouse which adjoins their classroom.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION doesn't come cheap, as exhibited by the four vertical milling machines at left and the six lathes, one of which is partially shown in the foreground. Other equipment includes surface grinders and drill presses, with the total bill for machine shop equipment more than $100,000.

Opening of the center could be delayed if intermediate school district employees go on strike because of lack of a new contract. (See story, page 1.)

The center is on Cleaver Road, on the east edge of Caro.

AS OF LAST WEEK, enrollment was 726, considered "really good for the first year," according to Bill Pratt, vocational-career education director for the TISD, which runs the center.

The reason 726 is considered good the first year is that interest lags in many of the skill areas because potential students aren't familiar with them.

Students readily sign up for such "glamour" trade programs as auto mechanics, cosmetology and data processing, but shy away from others because they aren't as familiar with them.

Once the center is in operation, potential future students can visit and see the classes. After the first year, Pratt doesn't expect to see many empty seats in classrooms, though he admits that could happen in a few skill areas.

Counselors will be employed at the center to help would-be students through tests and other means to determine what skill areas they would be best suited to learn.

PRATT ANTICIPATES enrollment once the center opens will be more than 726, as students who didn't sign up for programs last spring will still be able to do so in those areas in which there are still openings.

As of last week, those were building maintenance, building trades, commercial art, drafting, food management, general merchandising, graphic arts, horticulture, machine shop, stenographic and welding and cutting.

The skill areas in which enrollment is filled, and in some instances, there are waiting lists, are agricultural mechanics, auto mechanics, cosmetology, auto body repair, electrical and electronics occupations, health occupations, child care, food management, heating and air conditioning, nursing aide and business data processing.

Some programs are for one year, others for two. One planned program, agricultural production, was cancelled due to lack of enough interested students and horticulture.

IN CHARGE OF DAY-TO-DAY operations at the center will be Principal Gary Martin, who held the same job as did Pratt for the Sanilac Intermediate School District before coming to Tuscola and before that was assistant principal at the Sanilac Career Center, which performs the same function as the skill center.

There will be 20 teachers. An intensive effort was made for the best instructors, Pratt explained, with three hired from out of state.
