

BRIDGING THE GAP-- Beams for the Deckerville Road bridge over Mud Creek, east of Cemetery Road, were installed Friday. The bridge may be open in about a month. Eisenhour Construction Co. of East Lansing is the contractor, with the approximately $75,000 project being paid for with 80 percent federal funds, 10 percent state and 10 percent from the Tuscola County Road Commission.

Half-mill reduction

Millage, enrollment both decline in Owen-Gage

Property owners in the Owendale-Gagetown School District will be getting a slight break on their tax bills come December.

On the recommendation of Supt. Ronald Erickson, the school board Monday evening approved a total tax levy for 1980-81 of 25.4 mills, half-mill less than what was levied last year.

The reduction came in the 1967 bond debt levy, reduced from 1 mill to .5 mill. The reduction was possible, he said, because of an increase in property assessments and a big enough current balance in the fund. There could be an increase next year, he cautioned.

The 1976 debt levy of 3.4 mills and the 21.5 mills for operations remain the same as last year.

The 1967 levy was computed on the basis of a state-qualified valuation of the district of about $46 million, but the 1976 levy was based on an SEV of $36 million because of the deletion of the Goshin and Elenbaum territories.

Owen-Gage contends those two properties are still part of the district, but for purposes of computing debt levies, he deleted them. Erickson commented during the meeting, "because we never know what the courts will do."

Afterwards, he explained, "That's a bill you have to pay, so I have to be careful on that." The necessity to pay the amount due didn't allow him to take the chance that the needed revenue wouldn't be there, should Owen-Gage ultimately lose its court cases on the property transfer issue.

The 1967 levy is based on the higher SEV because that was before the Goshin and Elenbaum transfers were made so there is no question about property owners there paying the half mill.

The superintendent said after the meeting that the district finished in the black financially in 1979-80, if operating revenue from the Goslin parcel is included. The audit for the fiscal year which ended June 30 will be presented at the October board meeting. The board will also approve the 1980-81 budget then.

ENROLLMENT

Elementary Principal Bill Britt reported enrollment in grades K-6 is 215, the same as the fourth Friday count last year, although enrollment ultimately reached 222.

At the high school, Principal James Barr said, enrollment was down 30-40 students. The count totaled 215, which would be 31 less than last year's official count.

The big losses, he said, came in the seventh and 12th grades.

Owen-Gage doesn't qualify for per student state aid, so the enrollment drop won't affect it in that regard.

OTHER ITEMS

Higher lunch prices were approved of 50 cents for grades K-6; 75 cents for 7-12, and $1 for adults, a reported increase of 5, 10 and 25 cents respectively.

Erickson said the lunch program is still in the black because of a surplus in the elementary program, but was starting to run in the red.

With the Band Boosters agreeing to pay half the debt for the high school yearbook, the school board agreed to pay the other half. Total debt is $1,892.31, which had accumulated over five years.

There was discussion about the theft of four music instruments from the band room, discovered during the Owendale 75th Anniversary Celebration over the July 4th week end.

Barr said three were later found in the downtown area, so only one was permanently missing. Another instrument was taken Monday, but was found in the bleachers.

Erickson said the tumbler being changed in the instrument room lock, with one key to be kept by band director Laura Witczak and the other by Barr.

At the request of the Band Boosters, who conduct weekly bingo games in the Gagetown gym, mercury vapor bulbs will be installed there, if possible, to improve lighting.

The 1980-81 athletic budget was approved, with $12,500 budgeted for expenditures, plus $1,000 for contingencies, the same as last year.

Barr reported that due to fewer students and not enough participants for football, there won't be a junior varsity team this year. Forty-five players were anticipated but only 31 showed up. The coaches found that some JV players were needed for the varsity games, so there weren't enough players left to form a JV team.

Alice Smith of Sandusky was hired as the elementary

Intermediate strike begins second week

The strike by Tuscola Intermediate School District teachers and other professional staff began its second week Wednesday, with an apparent guarantee it will be at least one more week before it ends.

The next negotiating session isn't scheduled until 10 a.m. Tuesday of next week.

The 103 members of the Tuscola Intermediate Education Association (TIEA) have been on strike since Sept. 3, the scheduled start of the school year, to protest lack of a new contract with the intermediate district Board of Education.

Directly affected from all over the county are 340 special education students and about 725 students scheduled to be attending the new Tuscola Area Skill Center.

The last negotiating session was Sept. 2, the day before classes were to start. At the more than eight hour session, agreement was reached on all issues except salaries and insurance.

LATE LAST WEEK, ACCORDING TO TIEA President Robyn Romatz, the union requested the services of a state mediator "because there has been no movement on the side of the board."

The mediator, Gordon Lee, was willing to meet with the two sides Saturday, she said, but the board's professional negotiator, Al Luce, was unwilling to work on the week end.

Intermediate District Assistant Superintendent Jerome Thienes responded that Luce had said his comment to Phyllis McCoy Friday about not working week ends was meant as a joke, as he had met with the teacher bargaining team on Sunday of Labor Day week end.

Ms. McCoy is the chief negotiator for the Tri-County Bargaining Association (TCBA), which is representing the TIEA in the negotiations.

ACCORDING TO Thienes, Luce asked her if the TCBA had changed its position and she said "no." Since the intermediate board also hadn't changed its position, he couldn't see the sense in meeting Saturday.

The next day after Saturday that Lee and Luce were available was Tuesday, Sept. 16.

At the intermediate school board meeting Monday, Miss Romatz said, the teachers offered to negotiate any time this week, with or without the mediator.

Thienes told the Chronicle Wednesday morning that the board would consider meeting this week if the request came in writing from the TCBA, that it could be charged with an unfair labor practice if it deals with anyone other than that organization. "We don't feel we should be talking to the TIEA," he commented, referring to Miss Romatz, who doesn't speak directly for the bargaining association.

Asked if she thought final agreement could be reached in one more negotiating session, she replied, "We most certainly could. We're not that far apart."

"I really feel with a mediator, we might make some progress," Thienes commented, adding that

New committees approved

Mrs. Crouse, board reach like accord

It appears as if the touchy question of whether or not Mrs. Joyce Crouse, wife of superintendent Donald Crouse, should teach has been settled.

The matter was resolved Monday night at the regular meeting of the Cass City School Board. Appearing before the board was Forrest Walpole, Caro attorney representing Mrs. Crouse.

He told the board that Mrs. Crouse was prepared to drop all charges against the board if the board would apologize for her embarrassment and set a policy so future teachers could not be placed in her position.

Dean Hoag and Dick Albee, two of four board members who objected to hiring Mrs. Crouse, quickly agreed with the terms, as did the three members who supported hiring her.

Two others, Thresa Burnette and Dr. E. Paul Lockwood, wanted to see what form the apology would take before committing themselves.

Walpole said that Mrs. Crouse was taking the action to try and heal a split on the board that could affect the education of Cass City children.

Walpole will draft a letter to be signed by the board and it will be considered at the next regular board meeting. Mrs. Crouse had been offered a contract by Principal Russell Richards and later, after much deliberation, the board voted 4-3 not to honor the contract.

After the discussion with Walpole, the board instructed Richards to interview candidates for the special education position that is now open.

There was discussion about the board not automatically approving contracts as has been the practice in the past. The procedure was followed Monday night when the contracts of Eugene Lukshaitis, intermediate counselor, and Donald Markel, high school social studies and mathematics, were approved.

In the discussion about interviewing teachers, Superintendent Crouse said that if the board did not want to accept the opinion of the principals and the superintendent that it should take over the interviews.

What it boils down to, Crouse said, is that if the board is not satisfied with the job of the administrator, it should get a new one.

APPOINT COMMITTEES

The appointment of standing committees, under discussion for two months, was approved. The committees are personnel, curriculum and finance and property. The idea is to have certain board members specialize in one or more of the fields covered by the committee and report to the board.

One of the sticklers for the board was the evaluation of teachers by the personnel committee. Members wanted that to come to the entire board so this duty for the committee was stricken in the committee guidelines adopted.

WANTS SERVICE

A district resident that lives about a half mile west of Deford on Deckerville Road requested bus service for her two children that attend kindergarten and first grade at Deford Schools.

Normally the bus does not pick up children that close to the school but an exception may be made if investigation indicates that the children have to walk on the shoulder of the road.

OTHER BUSINESS

Low bids were accepted for the sale of three used buses. A 1971 Chevrolet was sold to Ed Hill of Cass City for $1,200. A 1972 Chevrolet was sold to Skipinski Garage, Uby, for $469.94, and a 1972 Ford went to Alfred Creason of Snover for $703.

Low bidder for bus insurance among three bidders was Farm Bureau, which offered complete coverage for $5,811.38.

The board approved establishing a community education program at Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port. It is expected to be self-sustaining if started.

High school completion course teachers were upped 50 cents per hour to $8.50. A 25-cent incentive pay is offered provided the students enrolled are still in class when the official count comes on the fourth Friday of September. That's when payment from the State is figured on a per capita student basis.

Guidelines for the awarding of credit for work at the skill center were adopted. For two years and one summer of work, 10 credits will be earned, the board decided.

This week there were 42 students enrolled at the skill center and they are doing nothing for half of each school day. That's because the skill center is on strike.

Trip ends in tragedy, seven die near Millington

A Clio couple and five of their grandchildren, returning from a long day's outing to Sault Ste. Marie, died inside their burning car early Sunday after crashing into a concrete bridge railing in the southwest corner of Tuscola county.

Killed were Philip D. Smith, 51, and his wife,

Frances, 48; Shelly Renee Tanner, 7, of Clio; sisters Melissa Shawn and Kristen Lynn Smith, 8 and 6 respectively, and sisters Amy Frances and Jennifer Leah Tanner, 6 and 2. The latter four were from Flint.

The seven had left early Saturday for the long one-day trip to the Soo Locks and were within about 10 miles of home when the accident occurred. From Clio to Sault Ste. Marie and return is about 540 miles.

According to the sheriff's department, the car was eastbound on Birch Run Road, a quarter-mile west of Lewis Road at 2:10 a.m., when it went off the south side of the road, traveled 100 feet and rammed the end of the bridge railing over the ironically named Dead Creek.

The 1980 model car then rolled over into the creek and landed on its roof.

The first person on the scene, William D. Levitt of 9624 Birch Run Road, Millington, told deputies he arrived moments after the crash, but was unable to get a door open. The interior of the car and engine compartment were already engulfed in flames.

He tried to get passing motorists to stop, to no avail, then went to a neighbor's to get a hammer and fire extinguisher, but was unsuccessful.

He returned to the scene and got Dennis Valentine and his passenger, Thomas Betz of Birch Run, who were driving by, to stop. Bernie Osborn of Sheridan Road, Millington, apparently also driving by, also helped and the four finally got a door open.

Flames shot out and there was no movement or sounds from inside the car. The flames were raging so high, it was reported, the men

PICKETING IN THE RAIN -- Striking members of the Tuscola Intermediate Education Association were picketing Tuesday at the Intermediate School District complex on Cleaver Road, Caro, rain or no rain. The picketers survived the weather better than did some of their cardboard picket signs.

Uby voters say no to building

By an overwhelming margin Monday, 722-316, voters in the Uby School District defeated a $1.295 million bonding proposal for construction of an addition to the high school.

Approval of the levy would have added an average of 2 mills a year to tax bills for 16 years.

The proposed 20,000 square foot addition would have provided classrooms and work areas for agriculture, band, industrial arts and science classes, bus school offices.

It would have replaced 11 portable classrooms, a large metal building housing three classrooms and one trailer.

The board will discuss the defeat at its Oct. 13 meeting, according to Business Manager Mark Tenbusch, and whether to schedule another vote.

Monday's turnout of 1,038 voters was much higher than usual, Tenbusch said, as only about 600 usually vote in June school elections.

Election inspectors found some persons were voting in a school election for the first time in eight years.

About 2,500 persons are registered to vote in the district.

Old-fashioned Sunday held at Deford church

Four hundred and forty-three persons attended the morning worship service in the Deford Community church Sunday when the second Old-Fashioned Sunday was observed. The afternoon picnic was well attended and the evening service was a singpiration led by Dale Bullock and Mrs. Harold Kilbourn.

Various antiques, loaned for the day, were on display in the rear of the church. A prize to the couple whose old-fashioned dress was judged the best went to Mr. and Mrs. James (Vera) MacTavish and also to Mrs. Lynn Babich.

DOUBLE TIME

The hardest work in the world to do is that which should have been done yesterday.

Rabbit tracks

By John Haire
(And anyone else he can get to help)

The Chronicle has been doing its best to bring to Cass City District residents the cost of the pact tentatively approved by the district and the teachers.

The real cost, that is. The amount of increase is 10 percent, but that doesn't include increments for length of service or a slight increase in the insurance package.

Supt. Don Crouse says that he doesn't have the cost breakdown yet and won't until the teachers start being paid on the new scale. That won't be until the payday after the next one.

We negotiate on the basis of staying in the middle of what districts around us pay, Crouse says, not on the ability to pay.

When I know, you know, says the superintendent. When I know, you'll know, says the publisher.

Gourmets like to boast of vintage wines, but how about vintage tomato juice?

Tomato juice? Yup. The Leonard Damms came across some recently and wanted the jars the juice was canned in. So they opened it, found it perfect and drank it. It was at least 40 years old.

Those premier Cass City women golfers are at it again. Last week they played in the state finals of a cancer benefit tourney and finished second.

Playing at Boyne Highlands were Toby Weaver, Nelle Maharg, Esther Reagh and Mary Rabideau.

While it's certain that the Lakers will play Cass City Friday in football, it wasn't sure before Tuesday's board meeting at Laker High if the regular coaches or substitutes would be at the helm when the whistle blows.

While varsity football is alive and well, junior varsity football has been scuttled by the teacher strike at Lakers.

If the Lakers hadn't been able to field a team, Cass City would have played anyway. Ready to go was Goodrich, that has an open date due to millage problems that cancelled sports at one of the schools on its original schedule.

The Laker situation is just the opposite of the problem encountered at Harbor Beach. The Pirates were to play Uby this week and the coaches were willing but the school board wouldn't allow it. So, no game.

That just doesn't seem to be the right approach. It isn't, because it's making the kids pawns in a squabble between adults and isn't likely to have any effect on the final outcome.

Harbor Beach evidently had a fine team, too, judging by the lacing it handed Bad Axe before the program went kaput.

We're strong on sports related items this week, so here's another. The Bay City American Legion Post 18 captured the women's Class D fastpitch championship at Ludington over the week end.

Two of the big stickers for the champs were Sharon Deering of Deford and Elaine Stoutenburg of Cass City.

FAST CUTTER — The Elkland Township Fire Department is the owner of this new rotary saw, which can cut through steel, cement and various construction materials. The Lions Club paid the $679 cost. Holding it are, from left, Ron Keegan, club secretary; Don Erla, president, and Fire Chief Jack Hartwick. One use of the saw will be in rescuing victims trapped in wrecked cars.

"If It Fitz..." Feminist of the year

By Jim Fitzgerald

A co-worker stopped at my desk and said, "I hear it has been decided that you can be feminine for a year. When are you going to have the operation?"

He was confused. Actually, the local chapter of the National Organization for Women had decided I was a "Feminist of the Year" because of something I wrote.

My wife was also confused. I'd told her we'd been invited to a party at the mayor's home, and she was impressed. She'd always wanted to see the inside of Manooogian Mansion, and she'd always been sorry she hadn't married anyone important enough to be summoned into the mayor's presence. I hadn't told her it would cost me $20 to get through the front door and Mayor Young wouldn't be home.

The money went to NOW, a worthy cause, so the donation wasn't begrudged, but it had to be explained. My wife also wondered why the mayor didn't greet us and why the party was in the backyard instead of inside the mansion. I told her the party was outside because it was too hot inside, the mayor was in Washington seeking federal funds to buy an air conditioner and the $20 would help save her granddaughters from a fate worse than what happened to her when she worked for Detroit Edison.

The mayor's home belongs to the taxpayers, so it's not unusual that a civic organization be allowed to use it free for a party. All you have to do is get permission from the mayor's office and bring your own bottle. I don't know how choosy the mayor is about who drops hors d'oeuvres on his lawn, but Phyllis Schlafly and Elaine Donnelly may try to find out.

Those two women are national leaders of the Stop ERA Committee which is the antithesis of NOW. Mrs. Donnelly, who lives in the Detroit area, might find it interesting to test the equality of Mayor Young's hospitality, seeing he has forbidden city employees to represent Detroit at functions held in states that haven't ratified the Equal Rights Amendment (with the exception of Nevada which contains Las Vegas where the mayor is sometimes positively unable to avoid the responsibility of attending a prize fight.)

Not coincidentally, I mentioned Mrs. Donnelly and Mrs. Schlafly in my acceptance speech at the mayor's mansion. I said if it weren't for them, I would never have won the feminist award. This is true.

NOW gave me a plaque for writing columns rapping Mrs. Donnelly, Mrs. Schlafly and other ERA opponents. Admittedly, this is a rather negative achievement, especially when compared to the positive contributions made by the other award winners honored at the NOW party, but what the hell. As John Wayne often said (but never at a NOW meeting), a man must do what he must do, and what I must do is grab any prize I can get and run.

I also gave credit to my wife in my acceptance speech, which is where Detroit Edison comes in. About 30 years ago, she worked for Edison, but had to quit because she got married. It was a company rule. If she hadn't had that experience, I wouldn't be so aware of why our granddaughters are lucky there is NOW and ERA.

Besides, males can be hurt by discrimination against females. If my wife had been allowed to continue at Edison, and was as good at working as she's been at being a wife and mother, she'd be company president by now and I wouldn't have to work for a living.

That's the type of sweet stuff I told the NOW audience, and my wife seemed impressed until we got home to watch ourselves on TV. Channel 2 had filmed us both as we walked up the mayor's front walk. But on the screen, all you could see was my fat face. Except for one elbow, (the world's greatest wife and mother was edited completely out of the picture.

"How does it feel to be married to an elbow?" she asked. She had a point. For women there's still a long way to go. I guess I won't have the operation.

Novesta puts three proposals on ballot

The Novesta Township Board voted Monday evening to put one millage proposal and two advisory proposals on the Nov. 4 ballot.

The millage proposal will be 1 1/2 mills for five years to offset costs for fire protection, ambulance service and use by township residents of the Cass City-owned landfill, which is located in Novesta township.

If approved, the levy won't go on tax bills until December, 1981.

A 1 1/2-mill levy for two years for roads was defeated by township voters Aug. 5, 1979.

Residents will be asked for an opinion concerning the landfill "and the problems which can occur in the future to our township by continuing such an operation," according to Supervisor Bill O'Dell. Several area townships pay a fee to Cass City for the right for its residents to use the landfill to dispose of their trash.

The second advisory proposal will be whether the township should purchase the old Novesta Church of Christ building on Cemetery Road for use as a township hall, in place of the present one in Deford.

The asking price now is $13,000.

At the annual meeting March 29, electors voted 24-14 against buying the church building. The price back then was $20,000.

The audit for the fiscal year which ended March 31 was presented, prepared by the Bad Axe certified public accounting firm of Anderson, Lynch, Nietzke and Co.

The township records were given a clean bill of health and the township finished the year in the black. A few changes were recommended by the auditors, O'Dell said, in procedure and record keeping.

Rowe Engineering of Caro presented the surveyed plan for the River Drive Subdivision.

The board gave tentative approval to the plan as presented. It will be updated and presented for later permanent approval.

Granting of Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act status was approved for the farms of Carl and Helen German and Jack and Iris Kappen.

The resignation of David Moody as sexton of the township cemetery, effective Oct. 1, was accepted with reluctance.

The Haire Net

As little as five years ago it was unthinkable that high school sports as we know it wouldn't always be with us.

It appeared to be inextricably woven into the fabric of the educational system never to be separated. It's still probable that sports programs will continue on and on.

Probable, but not sure. Not anymore.

Consider the strong forces at work eroding the foundation of interscholastic competition as we know it.

There's the waning of interest among the students. When Cass City High School was considerably smaller than it is today, there were more candidates for the football team than there are today.

That's true even though the football program has flourished in terms of numbers the last few years. More than it has in many previous years.

At many schools the varsity has less than two full teams out and several smaller schools have given up on football.

More important are the economic pressures. Each year school budgets get tighter and tighter. The cost of education is skyrocketing as union pressure ups salaries and inflation takes its toll.

There is a sizeable minority out there that says give us reading, writing and arithmetic and forget about the rest.

In addition to the apathy of the students, there's a lessening of interest among the teachers. More and more athletic directors are having trouble finding assistant varsity coaches and coaches at the junior varsity and junior high level.

Interscholastic sports as we know them are unique to the United States. None of the other countries have it and we could get by without it, too. With high energy costs, you could make a case for abandoning the program and substituting intramural activities.

It would be undoubtedly cheaper and involve more students.

I'd hate to see it come to that. The 200 or so students that participate would be missing an experience that comes just once.

For the vast majority it is the only chance that they will get to experience the heady wine of stage front, center.

The majority of us feel that way and are willing to pay.

But there's a limit and judging by the turmoil in schools across the state, we're approaching it.

It's sad, but abandoning sports is no longer an unthinkable alternative for money-starved school systems.

THE DEVIL IN TARTAN, by Elisabeth Ogilvie (fiction). Visit to Canada to research the ancestry of her stepmother's husband takes Noel Paige into the comfortable, welcoming arms of the Kendrum clan. But her genealogical investigations quickly take a murky turn when she stumbles into ESP contact with a Scottish Kendrum ancestor whose life is replayed in her dreams and whose long-kept secret she uncovers, along with the fact that someone else has unearthed it as well. Romance and mystery combine with a touch of the supernatural.

LAYING WASTE: THE POISONING OF AMERICA BY TOXIC CHEMICALS, by Michael H. Brown (non-fiction). The environmental danger of toxic waste dumps in Niagara Falls, New York, and in other locations throughout the U.S. is studied in a shocking expose of ecological indifference and inaction by corporations and the government. Brown is a journalist who reported the poisoning effects of the Hooker Chemical Company's dump in the Love Canal in Niagara Falls. Here he expands his original investigation to show how great and extensive a threat chemical disposal techniques pose to the health of many Americans and how little is being done to avert this enormous danger that perils plant, animal, and human lives.

ALONE AROUND THE WORLD, by Naomi James (non-fiction) young adult. James doesn't fit the stereotype of a single-handed world sailor. Not wealthy brilliant, or well educated, nor a sailor of long standing, but rather a rural New Zealander who has always been a misfit (not an achiever at school, not socially adept, not ambitious), she undertook the voyage, which ultimately set a record for speed, to prove to herself that she was a worthy, capable human being and that "it is not necessary to accept the way of life that is expected." Her introspection adds much to the dangers and trials she encountered in her solitary circumnavigation. Photographs and diagrams illustrate this first-rate adventure.

PEDALING AROUND

Not so real people

By Mike Eliasohn

It finally happened. Television has run out of human beings to talk about.

It started a couple of years ago with NBC's "Real People," the show that makes real people look like real weirdos.

In television, imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, so next we were blessed with "That's Incredible." ABC's incredible rip-off.

Then the creators of "Real People" started imitating themselves and came up with "Speak Up America," which features Marjoe Gortner, who should have stuck with evangelism; Jayne Kennedy, who fortunately didn't stick with football, and Rhonda ("Hi, yall!") Bates, who seems fascinated with human depravity.

Admittedly, I haven't seen the show. The promos are sickening enough. All I have to hear is Ms. Bates saying, "On the show, we go out and talk to some real Hollywood gigolos," and I know I don't want to watch.

She is probably a secret agent for Ronald Reagan, trying to make all Southerners look like buffoons. "What's it like to walk around in sheets? Tonight, we go and talk to some real Klu Klux Klansmen and find out."

CBS couldn't be left out in the cold, so developed "That's My Line," which dwells on persons with unusual occupations. The weirdest occupation of all belongs to the man who developed the show, or perhaps the television executive who agreed to put it on the air.

"Games People Play."

One of the "games" on the opening show was about one or two men trying to escape from a car loaded with dynamite.

That's a game a lot of people play. "Hey, Harvey. What do ya' want to do tonight?"

"I don't know. How about loading a car with dynamite, setting it on fire while we drive down the road and see if we can escape before it blows us into little pieces."

The producers of the show should have known better than to put such a stunt on the air.

"That's Incredible" is being sued by the idiot who was seriously burned while trying to run through a 150-foot tunnel of flames for the cameras. The would-be daredevil proposed the stunt and is now suing the producer for disregarding his safety.

If Mr. Not Flame Repellent's attorney wins the suit, that would be incredible.

That brings us to "Those Amazing Animals," the show for people to watch who are tired of looking at other people looking foolish.

In this show, the animals gain revenge for all the nasty things human beings have done to them.

The sneak preview episode featured a shark biting naturalist Valerie Taylor in the leg.

At least the shark had good taste.

Arthur R. Bean, 34, of 6484 River Road, Cass City, stood mute in Circuit Court Sept. 2 to a charge of non-sufficient funds over $50.

He is charged with giving a check for $1,529 from Fawn's Country Kitchen April 30 to a delivery driver for Gordon Food Service of Grand Rapids, despite there not being enough money in the restaurant's bank account.

The restaurant is located at M-24 and M-46, south of Caro.

Judge Patrick R. Joslyn entered a plea of innocent and scheduled a pretrial hearing Oct. 20. Bond was continued.

Valencia McCaw, 22, of Saginaw, pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery. Her plea was accepted and sentencing scheduled Oct. 20.

She is charged with forging a money order for $170, which she cashed July 20 at Paul's Party Store in Kingston township.

A jury Friday found William W. Brown, 19, of 704 W. Huron Road, Vassar, guilty of uttering and publishing.

Joslyn, who presided over the two-day trial, scheduled sentencing Oct. 20 and continued bond of $5,000.

He was charged with falsifying a check March 19.

Another jury Friday found Terry L. Burrows, 30, of 1114 E. Caro Road, Caro, innocent of a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property over $100.

Judge Martin E. Clements presided over the two-day trial.

Burrows had been charged with possession of a stolen garden tractor Aug. 23, 1979, in Vassar township.

A trial in March on the charge was declared a mistrial by Clements after a juror disclosed she or he knew or was related to the defendant.

At education committee hearing

Senators consider Owen-Gage bill

By Alan Bloomfield Special to the Chronicle

About 35 people attended a Senate Education Committee meeting last Thursday in Lansing, held to consider a proposed bill which would aid the Owendale-Gagetown School District.

The meeting, held in the capitol building, was recessed after only 40 minutes when the senators there were asked to return to Senate chambers for a re-convening of the Senate. The committee plans to hold another session to consider the bill, but no date has been set.

Owen-Gage attorney Dennis Cawthorne told the committee the proposed legislation, House Bill No. 5411, would correct the "terrible unfairness" inflicted on Owen-Gage and would also protect other small school districts. The bill, he said, would prevent the "erosion and bleeding" of a school district against its will.

The state House of Representatives "overwhelmingly passed" the bill earlier this year, he continued. Introduced by State Rep. Quincy Hoffman (R-Applegate), the bill passed the House last spring by a 75-6 margin.

Present state law, subject to interpretation and barring a reversal by the state Supreme Court in Owen-Gage's final appeal in the Goslin property transfer case, requires public approval of a property transfer if the parcel to be transferred is more than 10 percent of the district's state equalized valuation. The land must be contiguous to the school district to which it is to be attached.

Hoffman's bill would change that so once more than 10 percent of the original district was "transferred away, a public vote would be required on all subsequent transfers.

Property transfers have reduced the Owen-Gage school district to 57 percent of its original 80-square mile size, Cawthorne indicated.

State Senator Edward Pierce (D-Ann Arbor), a member of the education committee, wanted to know why property owners desired their property to be transferred from Owen-Gage.

Mary Jane Voelker, of Owendale, replied the basis of her property transfer to another school district was "to provide children with a better educational opportunity."

Owen-Gage Supt. Ronald Erickson said the Owen-Gage schools had just as much to offer as the school districts to which property had been transferred. There were people who resided in transferred areas who objected to the areas being transferred, he added.

State Board of Education President Barbara Roberts Mason said the bill pertains to matters which the state Supreme Court will consider. Until the court has ruled on the property transfer issue, the bill should not be acted upon, she felt.

"I believe it would be a denial of due process if property owners couldn't request a transfer of their property to a contiguous district," she said. Even if the bill were passed, she added, "The State Board (of Education) would still have the right to look at appeals" of property owners whose transfer requests had been denied by intermediate school district boards of education. The bill has not addressed the appeal issue, she said.

The state board did not support the bill when it went before the House earlier in the year.

Katherine Asher, Tuscola County Democratic executive committee member, told the senate committee she supported the bill and

Wilma Groth retires from Gen-Tel

Wilma Groth of Cass City has retired after 29 years and 11 months as an employee of General Telephone and its predecessor company here.

She began working for the Michigan Associated Telephone Co. as an operator in 1947, a position she held for 15 years. The company was purchased by General Telephone in the early 1950s.

Wilma Groth

She became a service and assignment clerk in 1962, about the time dial phones were installed in Cass City. Until then, local as well as long distance calls had to be made through the operator.

Mrs. Groth was a janitor at the local office the past seven years, the last six of which were part-time, which were counted as three years by the company in computing her almost 30 years of service.

Fifty of her fellow employees honored her at a retirement dinner July 1 at Wildwood Farms. They attended from Cass City, Owosso, Davison, Imlay City, Harbor Beach, Deckerville and Elkton.

Mrs. Groth and her husband, Bob, live at 4138 S. Seeger Street. They have one son, Dale, who lives next door. He and his wife, Sharon, have two children, Jesse and Julie.

His home is the third place north from Waterman Road on the east side.

A progress report will be given on the seminar scheduled from 8-11 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 23, at the new Tuscola Area Skill Center, Cleaver Road, Caro.

Purpose of the state-funded free seminar will be to advise businessmen how they can save money on their energy bills. Local businesses will underwrite the cost of workbooks, etc., and coffee and rolls. Volunteers from the society will be making telephone calls to assist in getting a big turnout for the seminar.

Purpose of the society is to promote energy conservation and alternative sources of energy.

AROUND THE FARM Treating seed

By Don Kebler

Anyone who has ever had bunt, also called stinking smut, ruin their wheat field will be sure to plant treated seed henceforth.

Fortunately, our area did not have a big problem with bunt until the last 3-4 years; however, this wheat disease has really been a hazard recently.

There are several excellent bunt control seed treating fungicides and wheat growers should be treating their wheat seed for bunt control.

We're confronted with a considerable amount of wheat that may have to be used for seed this fall. Therefore, in order to help insure a good catch of wheat, we need to be sure to treat this fall's wheat seed automatically for bunt control.

Some concern has arisen as to seed germ injury from treating sprouted wheat seed with the wet slurry method.

I have it from Larry Copeland, extension specialist, that according to Michigan Crop Improvement Association tests, that when using the recommended fungicides, no germination reduction occurred whether the treated wheat was sprouted or not, provided the seed was below 14 percent moisture before and after treating.

A last note on seed treating is the recommendation that if you don't plan to treat your own seed, be sure to order early enough the treated seed you will be planting this fall.

While I am on the subject of good seed, disease of wheat and beans, let me expound on next year's bean seed.

We do not know how much good, disease free bean seed will be available in 1981. There is a good possibility bean producers may be forced to go to their 1980 crop beans for seed.

This procedure has always been potentially a hazardous procedure. It will be more so this year with all the diseases we've had.

Sessions set for parents, pre-schoolers

"Make it-Take it" sessions are being planned by the Sanilac County Cooperative Extension office for preschool children and their parents.

The sessions will help parents learn how a preschool child's play fosters the child's development. Each will contain ideas and handouts for children and parents.

The programs will take place from 7-8 p.m. on Mondays, Sept. 29 and Oct. 6, 20 and 27, in the county conference room in Sandusky.

A small fee will be charged to cover the cost of supplies and materials. Reservations are required. Call the extension office at 648-2515.

Small business tax workshop set Sept. 19

A small business tax workshop will be held in Saginaw Friday, Sept. 19, beginning at 9 a.m., sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service.

State of Michigan tax authorities will also participate.

The workshop is open to any current or prospective small business owner. There is no charge to attend, but IRS recommends that interested persons make reservations in advance since seats are limited. The program will be held at the Multi-Purpose Center, 222 N. Warren.

The five-hour program includes discussions on subjects such as federal income tax withholding requirements, and other federal employment taxes proper recordkeeping, filing requirements for various federal business tax returns, methods of legally minimizing taxes, and features of the IRS assistance program available to small business persons.

Topics discussed by state tax authorities will include the state single business tax, estimated income tax, and sales and use taxes.

Interested persons can register by calling IRS toll free at 1-800-482-0670, extension 3674, and asking for Helen Madro, taxpayer education coordinator.

It was promotion day and Bud Inbody, co-superintendent of curriculum, presented Bibles to those going from the mid-levels class into the junior-high class: Darin Monroe, Lana Harris, Eric Inbody, Kathryn Leino, Lisa Nicholas, Robert Richez, and Deanna Hutchinson.

Jude Patnaude, superintendent of programming, presented a banner to the Golden Rule class for the greatest attendance for the day. The attendance contest will run for eight weeks.

Teachers for the coming year were announced by Rev. Eldred Kelley.

Nursery, Terry Weir and Marcy Brinkman; kindergarten, Louise Buehrly and Ellen O'Hare; primary, Lora Gutierrez and Mary Inbody; middle, Betty Powell and Joyce Loomis; juniors, Larry Robinson; progressive, John Ryba and Bud Inbody; couples and careers, Rev. Kelley and Joanie Umpfenbach; seekers, Iris Tuckey and Sandy Nicholas; junior high, Muriel Addison and Rita Gutierrez; senior high, Roy Leino and David Lovejoy, and golden rule, Mrs. Clayton Turner.

The 200th anniversary of the beginning of Sunday schools which was in England is being celebrated in 1980.

UP AND AWAY — Members and Sunday School students at Salem United Methodist church Sunday launched 288 balloons in connection with their Rally Day and the 200th birthday of Sunday School. A postcard was attached to each balloon, with each "launcher's" name on it, for purposes of a contest to determine whose balloon goes the farthest.

Grant delay for study in county court wage fight

State Court Administrator Einar Bohlin Tuesday granted the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners' request for an extension of time to allow completion of the wage and classification study of county employees, needed as ammunition in its continuing dispute with Probate Judge W. Wallace Kent Jr.

In addition, Donna Rayl, chairman of the board's personnel committee, said Tuesday she will recommend to her fellow commissioners Tuesday, Sept. 16, that they grant the seven probate court employees a pay increase equivalent to what all other courthouse employees receive under the contract negotiated by the board and the employees' union in December of last year.

The increases will be retroactive to Jan. 21, the time when commissioners decided to continue the probate employees at their 1979 pay levels until the dispute was resolved. (They were paid at the higher rate from Jan. 1-20.)

Kent has the right to negotiate wages with his employees, the board has conceded, but it has refused to pay what he negotiated, which it says is much higher than is paid other courthouse employees.

Bohlin conducted in Lansing Tuesday what Rayl termed an "informal meeting" to find out where both sides stood.

According to Mrs. Rayl, the Tuesday session was originally to be a formal hearing, but the county board requested a postponement until its study is done, so Bohlin scheduled the informal session instead.

Commissioners have contracted with the Virginia firm of Yarger and Associates, Inc., to conduct a wage and classification study of all county employee positions, including probate court.

The study is expected to be completed in early October. Upon its receipt, Bohlin will review it and Kent's administrative order directing the county to pay the higher salaries and other fringe benefits.

The court administrator's office conducted its own wage study and the judge's administrative order calls for paying what was recommended in the study, which is less than what he negotiated in January.

If Bohlin ultimately gives Kent authority to issue the order to the county board, it will cost the county $10,476 more this year than probate court employees would receive under the contract negotiated for other employees.

Neither Rayl nor Kent, both of whom attended the session, could say whether Bohlin, after receiving the study, will conduct a formal hearing or make his decision on the basis of the information submitted by both sides.

Any decision by the state court administrator is subject to appeal to the courts.

Kent's position was that Tuesday's session was a hearing, though not one requiring giving of testimony, which is why he didn't have a lawyer present to represent him, whom, he feels, would have had to be paid by the county.

The board had its labor attorney there, Michael Ward of Kalamazoo.

Kent expressed satisfaction that Mrs. Rayl will be recommending the pay increase for his employees, that it will show "some recognition the court employees have been suffering from lack of any raise."

He added that accepting it won't preclude them from receiving an additional increase, if Bohlin allows the judge to order county commissioners to pay it.

At Cass City

Adult courses start Monday

The Cass City Public Schools adult high school completion program begins Monday.

Enrichment, recreational and cultural activities for teens and adults begin on varying dates throughout September.

A fall program for youngsters begins in early October. Several important areas are being focused upon this fall: physical and emotional health and fitness, home arts, vocational skills, the arts and cultural programs.

The high school completion program is expanding this year to include a satellite program at Laker High School, in cooperation with the Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port Schools. Classes will be held for adults interested in completing their high school diploma. The number of classes to be offered is dependent upon the number of area residents registering now through Sept. 25th. The Laker center will offer several specialty classes and those are, machine shop, auto shop, and carpentry. The more traditional classes such as English, math, history and government are also available.

The Cass City program will broaden its curriculum to include a class to enable those individuals interested in successfully taking and passing the General Educational Development Test, as well as French and health (advanced first aid).

Daytime and evening appointments are currently underway in Cass City. Individuals interested in the Laker Center classes are urged to contact either Cass City Community Education Office at 872-4151 or Laker High School for information and planning sessions.

Physical and mental health and fitness programs include the following: Aerobic Dance, to begin Sept. 17, a form of dance and exercise.

Tap dancing for women will be taught by Mary Ellen Miller.

Early bird physical fitness scheduled for 6:30-8 a.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday, tennis, and the community education pacesetter running clinic are other offerings.

"Oh, My Aching Back" is a class targeted at individuals who would like to better understand the mechanics of back problems and how to alleviate the problem or live more effectively with it.

Sports conditioning and fitness, coping with stress and senior citizen conditioning classes are being postponed until the winter term as the instructor is moving.

Family lifesaving and cardio-pulmonary resuscitation are designed to give you the know-how to deal with everyday emergencies and are sponsored by Hills and Dales General Hospital.

Yoga will relax you and provide good exercise.

In home arts, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Cleland will again teach chair caning and furniture upholstery and Katie Jackson will teach antique furniture refinishing. The Cooperative Extension Service is sponsoring a program focusing on working mothers and how they and their families cope effectively. "Families Make a Difference."

"This Old House" is aimed at helping individuals save money by fixing things themselves, when the furnace goes out, minor plumbing problems, roofing, fuses, etc.

Dog Obedience (beginning and intermediate), wood-working and Middle East cooking are other selections. The arts classes include some unusual offerings by several talented individuals: Batik (fabric design using wax), soft sculpture which involves creating oversized stuffed decorator items such as a giant Oreo cookie pillow, printmaking and photography, taught by area professional photographer Tim Downing, and art studio, which focuses on design, drawing and multimedia experiences will be offered by artist Cinda Schantz.

The amateur author writers' workshop will help develop hidden talents. Gravestone rubbings will bring a tri-county artist to share his expertise in creating decorator wall hangings while developing skill in this historical art form. Class will be held in area cemeteries.

A travel club has a fall line-up of trips, starting with a boat color tour of the AuSable area. A trip to Meadowbrook dinner theatre for "Thieves Carnival" and a Christmas tour of the mansion, to the Renaissance Center and Greenfield Village at Yuletide and to Midland Center for the Arts and the musical "Hello Dolly" and the comedy, "Move Over Mrs. Markham," as well as a Children's Theatre production are other trips. Reservations are being taken now and must be in advance in order to secure the group rates.

The Business classes include accounting, office machines, secretarial refresher and typing I, II, and shorthand. They may be taken for credit, if desired

The only one still there Tuesday afternoon was Ida Edwards, 76, of Pontiac township, who was reported in satisfactory condition.

She was a passenger in a car driven by her reported son-in-law, Steven Mihalko, 67, of Port Hope, who was not injured. The other passenger was his wife, Helen, 57, who was treated and released.

The driver of the other car involved, Dorothy Savage, 17, of Caro, was released from the hospital Tuesday. Her passengers were her brothers, Patrick, 11, released Monday, and David, 15, and Jeff, 13, both of whom were treated and released.

Sanilac county deputies reported Miss Savage was westbound on Snover Road, failed to stop at the stop sign, and collided with the Mihalko auto, which was northbound on M-53.

Two persons were treated and released from Caro Community Hospital following an 8:30 p.m. mishap last Wednesday. They were Judith Titus, 40, of Caro, and daughter Janelle, 12.

Mrs. Titus told Caro state police she was eastbound on Akron Road, east of Colwood Road, when she apparently had an epileptic attack. Her car went off the south side of the road into a ditch.

An accident southwest of Cass City took place at 3:45 p.m. last Thursday.

Deputies reported Dale A. Wright, 16, of Walnut Trailer Park was northbound on Warner Road. An unidentified vehicle turned south from River Road, stopped, then backed into a driveway just south of the road.

Wright, unsure what the driver was doing, slammed on his brakes. His car went out of control and rolled over onto its right side into a ditch.

At 5 p.m. Saturday, Cass City police reported, Allie Mae Monson of 3680 Hadley Road, Decker, turned onto Church Street from the Erla's Food Center parking lot, started to turn right onto Weaver Street, didn't yield the right of way and collided with an eastbound car.

Driver of the other car was Marian L. Croft of 4677 Huron Street.

At 10:30 p.m. Saturday, according to deputies, Wado Allan Caverly, 19, of 5495 Rossman Road, Kingston, was eastbound on M-46, east of Phillips Road, when his vehicle collided with a deer.

Cass City credit union folds; depositors protected

The Cass City Federal Credit Union (CCFCU), in financial trouble for more than a year, is being liquidated.

Members will be receiving checks in the mail, probably the first week in October, for the amount they had on deposit, according to Harry E. Bellew, agent for the National Credit Union Administration, which is handling the liquidation.

The NCUA insures deposits with credit unions for up to $100,000, per account, much more than anyone had on deposit.

Persons who had outstanding loans with the credit union still have to repay them. If they are working and their payments were being deducted by their employer from their paychecks, the payments are now being forwarded to the NCUA.

If they are not working, they have to mail their own checks to the NCUA, and if they have trouble repaying the loan, they will have to work that out the same as they would with any financial institution.

In about a month, Bellew said, the NCUA will be advertising for bids to sell the CCFCU loan file to a bank, savings and loan or another credit union.

Persons with loans to repay will then owe the purchaser of the loan file, if it is sold, but under the same terms as when the loan was taken out with the CCFCU. The defunct credit union has about 300 members and $100,000 in assets, according to Bellew.

How much it will cost the federal government, through the NCUA, to bail it out isn't known yet and won't be public information when it is.

The amount the agency receives from sale of the loan file, if it is sold, will be deducted from its cost in making refunds to the credit union members.

THE VOTE BY THE CCFCU board of directors to liquidate was made July 31, after two efforts to merge with other federal credit unions had failed.

The first merger attempt was with the Caro-based Tuscola Federal Credit Union, which ended when its membership voted to back out of fear the merger would damage its own financial health.

Next came an effort to join with Active Credit Union in Elkton, but its directors, who first approved the merger, voted in July not to go through with it, out of fear doing so would mean an "enormous bill" for the ACU, according to its manager, Keith Rothfuss.

The Cass City credit union's problems, discovered by a routine NCUA audit in spring, 1979, have been attributed to the then manager, who let the record keeping fall apart when she was in poor health. There was never evidence of deliberate dishonesty, according to one of the temporary managers who followed her, Stacy Dalton, and a board member, who didn't wish to be named.

Apparently as a result, too much money was loaned out, which cut into operating capital.

Compounding the problem was that once its troubles became known, some members closed their accounts by withdrawing all their money.

THE CCFCU OFFICE was closed for three weeks in November and December of last year. When it reopened Dec. 14, it no longer could afford to make any loans and could only allow members to make withdrawals totaling the amount of cash it had on hand for that day.

The office closed for good about the time the board voted to liquidate, according to a board member, who didn't wish to be named. At that time, no transactions at all had been made in about two months.

Notices were sent Aug. 4 to employers to stop making payroll deductions for employees who had outstanding loans with the CCFCU. Individual members were also notified of the liquidation.

If there are any creditors, and none are known at this time, according to Bellew, they have four months to present to the NCUA evidence that the credit union owes them money. A legal notice stating that appears elsewhere in the Chronicle.

THE CCFCU WAS founded about 17 years ago for employees of General Cable in Cass City.

It shared office space in the Hahn Real Estate Building with United Steelworkers Union Local 6222, which represents General Cable employees.

Membership was opened to the public about 10 years ago, but the greatest portion of members remained General Cable employees, followed by those of Hills and Dales General Hospital and Products in Gagetown.

Teen Ranch sets annual open house

Teen Ranch will hold its annual open house Saturday with Dale Evans as special guest.

The program will be held on the Kingston Ranch campus, four miles south of Kingston on S. Kingston Road.

The Marlette High School band will play at 12:30 p.m., with the formal program starting at 1. The Teen Ranch documentary film, "Those Who Care," will be shown and Miss Evans will speak.

Dale Evans

Dale Evans and her husband, Roy Rogers, of television and movie fame, have raised nine children. She has written 14 books in the inspirational field, with her first one, "Angel Unaware," selling almost 2 million copies. She has also recorded three religious albums.

It will be a return visit for her, having attended an open house several years ago.

Joining her will be the recently crowned Miss Michigan Teen World, Donnie Richie.

Spectators should bring a blanket to sit on.

Guided tours of the Kingston Road, Mayville Road and Barnes Road campuses will be conducted from 3-4:30.

Teen Ranch consists of a total of 10 homes on three campuses, each housing 10 boys, ages 11-17, and their houseparents, and 325 acres.

Boys are referred there by the state Department of Social Services, Department of Mental Health or are wards of individual counties.

The Teen Ranch staff is dedicated to building each boy's self esteem and through professional counseling, preparing him to return to his home environment with the promise of a brighter future.

The boys are trained in various skills — animal husbandry, mechanics, cooking, building maintenance, etc. — attend public schools and church on Sundays.

Teen Ranch is a non-profit, tax-exempt charitable corporation.

Farm produce value decreases, census shows

The 1978 market value of agricultural products sold by the 1,563 farms in Tuscola county amounted to $60.7 million or an average of $38,835 each, down from $64.5 million in 1974, according to a preliminary report of the 1978 Census of Agriculture released last week by the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce.

A breakdown of the county's total agricultural sales for 1978 followed by that for 1974, is as follows: crops, $41.5 million compared with $48.3 million; livestock and livestock products, $15.4 and $11.7 million; poultry and poultry products, $3.8 and $4.4 million. Expenditures for fertilizer for 1978 were $10.1 million, compared to $7.3 million; costs of gasoline, diesel and other petroleum products were $3.4 million, compared to $2.5 million. Farm energy costs of all types totaled $4.1 million for 1978. The estimated market value of machinery and equipment per farm increased from $28,101 in 1974 to $48,840.

Of the total farms in the county, 409 had gross sales of $40,000 or more and 680 had sales of under $10,000. Farms operated by individuals or families represented 89 percent of the total; farms operated by corporations accounted for 2 percent. Some 91 percent of the operators owned all or part of the land they operated.

In 1978, the average age of a farm operator was 48.4 years. Since 1974 the proportion of operators listing farming as their principal occupation changed from 63 percent to 56 percent.

Data in the reports for acreage and inventories for 1978 and 1974 are generally comparable; however, improved coverage in 1978, especially of smaller farms, should be taken into consideration in making direct comparisons of farm counts. Dollar values have not been adjusted for changes.

Other results of the census show the 1,563 farms counted in 1978 had an average size of 221 acres. For 1974, 1,798 farms were counted with an average size of 187 acres.

The land in farms totaled 344,694 acres in 1978 and 335,408 acres in 1974. Crops were harvested from 264,116 acres in 1978 and 255,069 acres in 1974. Land irrigated increased from 1,127 acres in 1974 to 2,235 acres in 1978.

The inventory of cattle and calves changed from 28,006 in 1974 to 23,607 in 1978; the number of hogs and pigs changed from 9,902 to 16,488. Hens and pullets of laying age decreased from 480,686 to 430,043.

Sales of dairy products were reported by 164 farms and totaled $8.5 million. The number of milk cows reported was 7,616 in 1978 vs. 8,261 in 1974.

Acreages of crops harvested for 1978 and 1974 were as follows: corn for grain, 92,828 acres vs. 76,952 acres; wheat, 12,926 acres vs. 40,089 acres; hay, 27,445 acres vs. 24,021 acres; soybeans, 14,907 acres vs. 4,228 acres; oats, 15,171 acres; dry field and seed beans, 66,843 acres in 1978.

Production of corn for 1978 was 7.5 million bushels compared to 6 million bushels in 1974.

The figures are for farms qualifying under the definition: any place from which $1,000 or more of agricultural products were sold, or normally would have been sold, during the census year.

The agriculture census was conducted in 1979 to obtain data on the nation's farm production and sales for calendar year 1978. Information from the farm census, the 21st of a series which began in 1840, will be used by federal, state and county agencies, agricultural colleges, agricultural and business groups, and farmers to help make a variety of decisions about agricultural programs and policies.

Dedication

75 attend official opening of Rotary-built exercise trail

An estimated 75 persons attended the dedication of the Cass City Exercise Trail at Cass City Recreational Park Sunday.

The group heard Rotary President Fritz Olson tell how the trail started and was finished.

He said that Tom Proctor reported how other clubs had worked out a trail and the club voted to construct one. Early planning was under the direction of Bill Malone before he left the community.

About two years of work, spearheaded by Ken Jensen, went into the completion of the trail, Olson told the group.

Village President Lambert Althaver then introduced two members of the council that were present for the ribbon cutting ceremony.

All persons who went around the trail were presented with "inaugural" ribbons with the date of the official opening on them.

All persons participating were rewarded with free pop and hot dogs. The hot dogs were furnished free by Rotarian Dick Erla and the pop secured by Olson.

couldn't get closer.

Another witness to the tragic aftermath, Eva Stevens, who lives close by, told deputies the impact of the crash sounded like an exploding bomb. She was watching television at the time.

She ran to the scene and could hear from inside the car a combination of screams, yells and crying.

The sheriff's department received the call at 2:13 a.m. and had its first car at the scene at 2:24.

The Millington Fire Department was called to the scene to extinguish the fire.

The state police fire marshal's office is assisting the sheriff's department in the investigation.

The bodies of the victims were taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw for autopsies to be performed.

No cause of the crash has been determined so far, although speculation is that Smith fell asleep at the wheel. According to the sheriff's report, there were no skid marks at the scene and no apparent attempt at braking.

There was fuel leakage, a contributing factor to the fire.

The deaths of the seven brought the 1980 highway death toll in Tuscola county to 17, compared to 13 as of this date a year ago.

It was not the worst traffic accident in Tuscola county history. Eight persons were killed March 29, 1968, including all seven members of the Leo Parker family of rural Owendale.

THE EXERCISE TRAIL is for all ages. Participating in the inaugural Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Perry.

Free legal aid

Taxpayer funded organization ready to serve upper Thumb

Dr. Janney is a representative of Christians in Washington, D.C. He serves as the president of several leading Christian organizations. He has an office in Washington, D.C., and is regularly in contact with Congressional leaders, communicating the views of Christians of various important issues. Dr. Janney is in great demand as a speaker on "God and Country" topics. Dr. Janney will show Christians how they can preserve the freedoms they now enjoy and have a voice in government. Everyone is invited to this special meeting. The service will begin at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 14. A nursery will be provided. The church is located one mile west of M-53 on Decker-ville Road, then south on Lamton Road to the church. Adv.

Free legal aid for the poor in the upper Thumb may be available in two to three weeks, according to Frederick Swegles, executive director of Lakeshore Legal Services, which will be providing the service. Lakeshore announced in June that it received a grant from the federally funded Legal Services Corp. to provide the service. The non-profit corporation (Lakeshore) presently provides legal aid in Macomb and St. Clair counties. The original target date to have a lawyer serving the upper Thumb was Sept. 1. One of the reasons why that deadline was not met, Swegles said, was a change in executive directors since the announcement. Sept. 1 became the deadline for attorneys to apply for the new job in the upper

Minor thefts plague Cass City area

Investigation by Caro state police is continuing into the break-in early last Thursday of the Kingston Party Store, 5967 State Street. Two suspects are in custody, having been arrested in other cases. Doris Distelrath reported the break-in late Thursday morning. The intruders apparently tripped over the electric cord to a clock, which was stopped at 4:55 a.m. The store had closed at 10 p.m. Wednesday. Entry was gained by forcing open a screen door in the rear, which led to a foyer, then pushing open a wood door which led into the store. Taken was an undetermined amount of change from the cash register; unknown quantity of cigarettes and beer in cans and bottles; four or five pairs of men's sunglasses, worth a total of $35; five or six disposable cigarette lighters, $5, and eight sets of necklaces and earrings, $56. John G. McIntosh of 4409 Brooker Street told Cass City police Sept. 2 that a $300 Stihl chainsaw was stolen from his home. It was last seen Aug. 31 and kept near an unlocked rear garage exit. Elaine Hendrick of 6711 Houghton Street reported to village police Saturday morning that a 10-speed yellow West Point bicycle was stolen from her porch during the night. It was valued at $130.

Fay McComb reported to village police last Wednesday morning that a window on the north side of the Masonic Temple, 6470 Garfield Street, was broken. It was worth $75. The damage appeared to have been done with a basketball, probably by boys playing in the parking lot.

Deputies arrested Daniel V. Brigham, 20, of 4300 E. Sanilac Road, Kingston, at 1 a.m. Sept. 2 on a warrant from the Caro Police Department, charging him with breaking and entering. He is charged with breaking into Laethem Equipment Co. on Montague Street June 13. He was arraigned Wednesday, Sept. 3, before Magistrate Donald Smith, who scheduled a preliminary examination in district court Sept. 19.

Bond was set at $4,000. As of Tuesday afternoon, Brigham had failed to post the necessary 10 percent of that or surety and was still in the county jail. Gerald Limberger of 6555 Third Street, Cass City, reported to deputies last Thursday that the battery was stolen from his car while it was parked at Caro Truck and Diesel on E. Sanilac Road.

It was taken some time since 9 p.m. Wednesday. Two wheels were removed, but were left at the scene. Kenneth Pierce of 6093 State Street, Kingston, told Caro state police Friday that the four hub caps were stolen from his car that morning while it was parked in his yard.

COUNCIL PROCEEDING

A special meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held as advertised for the purpose of reviewing Ken Miller's resignation and staffing at the Wastewater Treatment Plant, Sept. 2, 1980 at the Municipal Building at 7:00 p.m. All Trustees were present. A motion was made by Trustee Ware and supported by Trustee Stahlbaum that the council go into an executive session. Motion carried 6 yeas, 0 nays.

The meeting was called back to order by President Lambert E. Althaver.

for them is still uncertain. Mrs. McGrath is temporarily staying with friends on Lamton Road; son Joe, 17, with friends on Cemetery Road, and Bill, 14, with friends on Robinson Road.

"The biggest problem is finding a place to stay," she said.

Their home was heavily damaged inside, though intact on the outside, and probably can't be rebuilt.

Her hope is to install a mobile home on the site, but she can't afford to do that until she receives her settlement from the insurance company.

That is awaiting determination by the company of the value of the home and contents and the cause of the fire.

The Aug. 26 fire apparently burned for several hours before being discovered about 4 p.m. Firemen and Mrs. McGrath believe the cause was electrical, but the insurance company must make its own determination, she said.

She indicated frustration in waiting for the settlement.

Primarily due to the intense heat, everything inside was destroyed with the possible exception of a buffet, which may be restorable.

Friends donated clothing to the McGraths. "I can't complain about people," Mrs. McGrath said. "They've been really great."

Until she and her sons have a new home, she continued, they have no immediate needs. "I just kind of take it day by day," she said of the situation.

HEALTH TIPS

Marijuana smoking hazard to health

"Marijuana smoking constitutes the greatest single new threat to the health of our lungs in the United States," says an article in the September issue of the American Lung Association Bulletin.

"In the next 10 years, the potential exists for an enormous worsening of the respiratory health of Americans, unless we do something about it now," says Robert L. Dupont, M.D., author of the article. Dr. Dupont is the former director of the National Institute on Drug Abuse.

While most new drugs are considered dangerous until proven safe, for marijuana, the assumption has been the reverse, says Dr. Dupont. It has been assumed to be safe until proven harmful.

Dr. Dupont points out that marijuana smoke contains more tar and known cancer-causing agents than tobacco smoke. He presents the findings from a study showing that a single marijuana cigarette smoked for 15 minutes produces as high a level of carbon monoxide in the blood as do 10 to 20 tobacco cigarettes smoked in the course of a day.

"American young people are literally the only population in the history of the world in which large numbers of an entire generation have smoked marijuana," he says in the Christmas Seal publication.

"The use of marijuana in other countries does not involve an entire society; generally its use is limited to either religious groups or social classes that are relatively isolated and generally looked down on in the society." He believes the lung health of this generation of Americans is in jeopardy.

"The most bizarre thing that strikes me about young people is that so many are concerned about pollution, worried about the environment, believers in eating natural foods, crusaders against the problems of nuclear energy -- and yet they continue to smoke marijuana cigarettes," Dr. Dupont says. "There is a growing body of information about health risks, and we need to get that across."

Your Neighbor says

I like the Lions when they win

Whether Brian Osentoski is a Detroit Lions fan this season depends on whether the team is a winner.

"I guess you couldn't call me a true fan. If they lose, I just say, 'They're no good.'"

But with Gary Danielson healthy at quarterback and Billy Sims as running back, he thinks the Lions "should have a pretty good shot at taking the division, but I still think Tampa Bay will take it."

Countering the Lions' good offense is the loss of defensive standouts Doug English to the oil business and Al (Bubba) Baker in a contract dispute.

Osentoski's favorite pro teams are the Houston Oilers and Tampa Bay, both of which came close last season to playing each other in the Super Bowl. If they had played each other, he commented, "That would have been something."

"I think they have good quarterbacks and I think they play better," he said of his favorite teams.

If and when they play the Lions, "I would just watch them. I wouldn't care either way."

Osentoski doesn't follow college football as much, but said his favorite teams are Michigan State and the University of Houston.

He doesn't think winning a college bowl game is as prestigious or important as a pro team winning the Super Bowl, but admitted college football "is more wide open. They do anything. Pros, they're more conservative."

A senior at Bad Axe High School, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Osentoski of 4250 S. Van Dyke Road, Ubyly. He is employed part-time at the First National Bank of Bad Axe.

Osentoski does go to Hatcher football games, but doesn't think his high school will have a very good team this year.

New barn a reminder of farm structures of the past

It looks like an old barn, sort of, or at least it will when it's finished. In these days of metal farm buildings with straight angle roofs, the gambrel roof barn of Laurence and Helen Bartle now under construction on their Cass City Road farm, east of Cass City, presents a reminder of the old days. It is being built by Bartle, son-in-law Roy Tuckey and, sometimes help from brothers and employees from his (Tuckey's) concrete business.

Although the 36-by-60 foot structure will resemble an old barn, it isn't like them, which were all-wood with normally a loft on each end. The first floor is constructed of concrete block. The upper level has a solid floor, with storage capacity for 4,000 bales of hay.

The decision to build a barn with an old style gambrel roof was a joint one between Bartle and Tuckey, they said. "I'm just old fashioned," the latter explained, adding, "I like to build stuff." Tuckey drew the plans.

The lumber was cut from trees on property they own. (Tuckey lives next door to his in-laws.)

The new barn is a replacement for an old one on the property, which was torn down.

The project fits into Bartle's retirement plans to raise Hereford cattle. The barn will have capacity for 30-35 of them, who will be able to wander outside to graze. He presently has two of them plus some Holstein steers.

Bartle retired Jan. 1 after 30 years at Saginaw Steering Gear.

He and his wife own 200 acres. Raising cattle will allow him to switch to hay and corn, less tasty to the numerous deer in the area that feed on the dry beans he grows now.

Construction of the barn began a few weeks ago. There is no timetable for its completion, other than that Tuckey would like to get it enclosed before winter comes.

WOOD WORK -- Nailing on a temporary brace, high up on the rafters, is Roy Tuckey. Holding it is Lawrence Smith. The barn of Laurence and Helen Bartle measures 36-by-60 feet. It is located on M-81, east of Cass City.

THE GAMBREL SHAPE of the roof of the barn can be clearly seen in this end view, as well as the intricate bracing needed. The lower level will have room for 30-35 cattle; the upper level will have storage capacity for 4,000 bales of hay.

Trucker objects to board ruling

The Elkland township Board Monday evening granted a variance to Tom Kostanko to allow him to operate a diesel and truck repair business on his property on M-81, east of Cass City.

The land is zoned agriculture-residential and the township Planning Commission had rejected his request to have it zoned commercial as that would have been spot zoning.

The variance contains certain restrictions, according to Township Clerk Carol Ware, among them that he cannot sell the business with the variance zoning.

Kostanko indicated to the board he probably will appeal the Planning Commission rejection of his rezoning request to the Zoning Board of Appeals instead of relying on the variance.

The board approved the request of the Tuscola County Road Commission that Elkland pay one-fourth of the total $8,000 cost for a new bridge over the Shebeon Drain on Huron Line Road, west of Ritchie Road.

The Road Commission will pay $6,000 and construction will probably be done this year. The present bridge is closed to traffic.

Transfer of $26,500 from the general fund to the fire fund for the last of two annual payments for the fire department's newest pumper truck was approved.

Granting of a Farmland and Open Space preservation Act agreement with William and Rosa Krohn was approved for their 164 acres in Sections 11 and 14, east of Schwegler Road and north and south of Daus Road.

Shed saved from fire Saturday

Gary Spencer almost got rid of more than he wanted to Saturday.

The resident of Seeger Road, northeast of Cass City, was burning a junk pickup behind his house. The winds picked up, and he was afraid the flames would spread to a closeby shed.

The Elkland Township Fire Department was called at 12:25 p.m.

Until firemen arrived, Spencer used a garden hose to keep the shed wet.

After they arrived, they sprayed water on the burning camper to cool down the flames.

The only damage was some tarpaper on the roof which melted from the heat.

The past and the future count—but not as much as today.

THROUGH HOLES like this one Rob Sawdon rambled for 119 yards against Standish-Sterling Friday. No. 12 for Cass City is Brian deBeaubien. The Hawks won, 33-0.

Panthers bow, 33-0

Hawks for real? Lakers may provide answer Friday

The question that coaches in the Thumb B Conference, Cass City fans and Coach Don Schelke are asking this week is, "Is Cass City really that good or is Standish-Sterling an exceptionally weak team?"

The Hawks lifted the curtain on the 1980 grid season and literally demolished Standish-Sterling Central, 33-0, in near-perfect weather at Cass City Recreational Park.

At least part of the answer will come this Friday when the Hawks face the Lakers in the first road game of the year.

The Lakers showed plenty of power by rolling over USA in their opener, 32-14. A shroud hangs over the game if a teacher strike in the community is not settled. That's because the coaches are withholding services. School officials say plans are complete to play the game with volunteer coaches to replace the regular striking staff.

In recent years the Laker football squad has been tough for Cass City. Last year the Hawks suffered their worst defeat of the year at the hands of the Lakers, 38-7.

If Cass City plays like it did in the opener it's hard to see how they could be steamrolled like that this year.

The Hawks dominated every phase of the game as they made it no contest against Central. The Panthers were a confused, inept football team, especially in the first half when Schelke used his starters.

In the second half the game got sloppy and was slowed by numerous penalties.

The tenor of the game was set early as Cass City marched down the field to score almost before the fans had an opportunity to get well settled in their seats.

The first marker was posted with 9:57 left in the first quarter. The drive was on the ground all the way. Rob Sawdon ripped in for the marker from two yards out. The run for the point failed.

After holding the Panthers the Hawks mounted another drive on the next possession. Starting on the Central 35 Cass City rolled on the ground to the 14 before a fumble stopped the drive. It was only a momentary delay. On fourth down the Panthers attempted to punt and a bad pass from center was covered and run to the 2 from where Quarterback Brian deBeaubien ripped over. There was 3:08 left in the first period. The run for point failed.

Buck Zawilinski scored the first varsity touchdown of his career in the second period when he capped another drive by scoring from close in. With 1:58 left in the first half Cass City started to turn the game into a rout with another score. It was Zawilinski who took it in from six yards out. A neat reverse with Sawdon carrying added the extra points.

Cass City took over where it left off in the third period and scored the final touchdown of the game with ease. Zawilinski dashed for 60 yards and Sawdon followed with a 20-yard jaunt for the marker.

Next were Joe Decker and Tom Loomis with 12 each. On offense Sawdon was the workhorse with 119 yards in 16 carries. Zawilinski carried 7 times for 88 yards, about 12 1/2 yards gained every time he carried the ball. In all, eight backs gained yardage for Cass City.

Hawk cagers still winless after 2 non-league games

If Coach Lloyd Schinrer's basketball team is to shake its early season slump, next Wednesday would be a good time to start.

That's when the girls open defense of their Thumb B Conference title at Laker High. Going into the game the Hawks have nothing to show but a pair of defeats in the first two games of the season.

The second loss came Tuesday at Kinde when North Huron registered a 50-45 decision in overtime. The Hawks looked like champs in the opening period, but it was all downhill after that.

At the end of the first eight minutes Cass City was in front 16-4 and it looked like a laugher all the way. Kinde changed all that the rest of the game. By the intermission the Hawk edge had fallen to 25-18. The winners cut three more points from the margin in the third period and then tied in the final quarter to set the stage for the victory.

Cass City hit just 14 of 46 from the field for 30 percent and 17 of 33 from the free throw line for 52 percent.

Beth Sieradzki, 14, Jill Root, 12, and Shelley Lapeer, 10 points, paced Cass City while Mary Theresa Goretzki and Barb Irwin scored 13 each for North Huron.

The Junior Varsity is also without a win yet this year falling to Kinde, 35-15.

HARBOR BEACH

A pair of talented high school basketball players met head-on in the opening game of the season at Harbor Beach Thursday.

Red Hawk Padgett Randall won the individual duel with the Pirates' Sue Mausolf, but the Beachers won the game, 59-52.

Randall scored 31 points for Cass City and Mausolf netted 28 for Harbor Beach.

The Hawks went stone cold dead in the second period and that was enough to push the Pirates to the victory.

The hosts netted 18 points while Cass City scored just five points. The spurge came after a tight first quarter which saw Harbor Beach post a narrow, 16-14, edge.

Trailing 34-19 at the intermission, the Hawks came back in the third period to make a game of it and closed the gap to nine points at the end of three periods. But the winners stiffened in the final period to preserve the win.

Besides Randall, Beth Sieradzki was in double figures with 11 for Cass City. Randall picked off 8 rebounds.

Harbor Beach made it a clean sweep with a 29-26 decision in the junior varsity game.

School strike continues

nounced Tuesday that TIEA members will be circulating petitions calling for direct election of intermediate school board members and is considering filing an unfair labor practice grievance complaint if the board continues to refuse to meet before Sept. 16.

In a procedure outlined by state law, each local school board within an intermediate school district sends a single representative to an annual meeting, at which they elect intermediate board members. There are nine local districts within the Tuscola ISD.

Thienes called the TIEA threats "common tactics." The TIEA membership is composed of 20-25 skill center teachers and staff, with the rest being special education teachers, consultants and nurses.

During the strike, Cass City High School Principal Russ Richards said, students who will be attending the skill center half days can stay or go home during that time or go to the library. That affects at least 42 students.

O-G wins opener, preps for Eagles

Owen-Gage traveled around Saginaw Bay last Friday night to open its football season with a 25-8 win at Twining Arenac-Eastern.

This Friday, the Bulldogs open defense of their North Central D League title when they host Caseville, which lost to Owen-Gage last year, 15-8.

"Caseville gave us our toughest game last year, barring any, because of the rivalry," Bulldog coach Arnie Besonen said. Because of that rivalry, he expects another good contest Friday.

At Twining, the Bulldogs had to rely on their quickness, he commented, to compensate for the larger size of their opponents.

His team made a lot of mistakes in the first half. The junior varsity played most of the second half.

Arenac had a win-loss record of 1-23 going into the game, he said, but is improving.

Vince Salcido scored the first two points for Owen-Gage on a safety in the first quarter.

In the second, Jim Glidden collected six points when he caught a 40-yard pass from Craig Gettel, who then kicked the extra point.

The junior signal caller scored on a 15-yard run in the third quarter and again kicked the extra point.

Mike Sullivan scored two more points on his team's second safety of the night.

In the fourth quarter, it was Dan Glidden (Jim's brother) who caught a 33-yard Gettel pass for his team's final touchdown of the night. Gettel then added his third point after touchdown of the game.

Arenac collected its only touchdown in the fourth quarter when Robert Lee recovered an Owen-Gage fumble and ran six yards to the goal line. Ed Dembrosky ran the ball over for two more points.

Both teams fumbled once in the game.

Gettel, starting his first game at quarterback, had four pass completions of eight attempts, with no interceptions, for a gain of 166 yards.

On the ground, the Bulldogs gained 186 yards in 33 carries, for total offensive yardage of 352.

Top ground gainers were Jim Glidden, nine rushes and 56 yards, Gettel, five and 56 yards, and Scott Gaeth, nine and 54 yards. Jim Hively carried the ball 12 times for 25 yards for Arenac. His team rushed for a total of 49 yards in 27 carries.

In the air, the squad completed three of nine passes for a 56-yard gain, with four interceptions.

The Bulldogs' six penalties cost them 50 yards. Arenac was penalized three times for a total of 25 yards.

Robert LaFave made eight tackles for Owen-Gage; Scott Gaeth, seven. Top tacklers for the losers were Hively with seven and Gary Morgan with six.

O-G girls start right, win 4-team tourney

The Owen-Gage girls' basketball team started its 1980 season off right by winning the four-team Caseville invitational tourney last week.

The Bulldogs defeated Port Hope, 41-28, Wednesday night and won the championship game Saturday to Caseville, 29-19.

The Bulldogs start their North Central D League schedule at home against Akron-Fairgrove this Thursday and are at Port Hope Tuesday. They were to have played Tuesday of this week at Harbor Beach but the school board has cancelled all sports events during the teachers' strike.
