Halloween tips offered by police

Traditionally, Halloween night has been a time that children have looked forward to with great anticipation.

In recent years, however, it has also become a time when parents and law enforcement share a common concern: the safety of children.

Unfortunately, there have been a number of senseless and tragic incidents reported to law enforcement agencies throughout the country that justifies this concern. The concern regards the placing of dangerous or harmful objects in Halloween candy and treats.

The Caro post of the Michigan State Police offer the following suggestions to help insure the safety of children.

1) Instruct your children not to consume any treats they receive prior to their arrival back home.

2) Inspect all candy and treats your children receive while trick or treating. Closely examine any treats that are not commercially wrapped, such as fruits, cookies and homemade candy.

3) Be suspicious of any candy where the paper wrapper is found to be torn or small holes are detected.

4) Discuss with your children the areas they will be visiting while trick or treating. Confining trick or treating activities to the homes of neighbors and friends is suggested.

5) Younger children should always be accompanied by an adult or teenager while trick or treating, as an overall good safety practice.

If you find any foreign or harmful objects or substances in your child's candy or treats, do not discard it. Contact the police immediately.
