

Daylight time ends Sunday

It will be possible Sunday morning to sleep an extra hour and still get to church on time.

At 2 a.m. Sunday, Michigan and the rest of the nation revert to standard time.

That means that before going to bed Saturday night, all watches and clocks should be set back one hour.

"THE FORUM" is what this open area is called at the new Highland Pines School for Tuscola county's mentally handicapped youngsters. The area will be used for school programs for large numbers of students and parents. Activities in the swimming pool can be viewed through the large windows at left. In the rear are the pool instructor, Doug Blasius, and aide JoNell Beecher.

$3.4 million school opens for handicapped

Special education in Tuscola county entered a new era last Wednesday when the first group of students started classes in the Highland Pines School.

The approximately 275 students are being moved into the new $3.4 million facility on Cleaver Road, Caro, class by class from their former schools. Oct. 29 will be the first day all will be in the new building, according to Principal Allen Jones.

There will be four basic categories of students at the school, who will range in age from 20 months to 26 years:

—About 50 will be severely multiply impaired, with both physical and mental handicaps. All but a few are residents of the Caro Regional Center. Prior to the move, there were four classrooms for such students at the center, and one at Darbee School, east of Caro.

—The first group to move into Highland Pines has been approximately 100 severely mentally impaired youngsters, who previously attended school in Fostoria or the Regional Center.

—The 70 trainable mentally impaired youngsters previously attended Darbee School.

—The program for approximately 50 pre-school handicapped youngsters was also at the Darbee School.

Highland Pines is operated by the Tuscola Intermediate School District (TISD), which operated the programs in the old schools, which will no longer be used.

The Fostoria school building is owned by the Mayville School District; Darbee by Almer township, and the Regional Center owned its own classrooms. It will be up to those units how the buildings will be used in the future.

ADVANTAGES

Consolidating all the activities for mentally handicapped youngsters in one building has numerous advantages, according to Jones:

—The central location eases transportation for students and staff. The farthest any children from Cass City went on buses each day was to Darbee School and the Regional Center, but some from Caro had to go to Fostoria. Itinerant staff based in Caro who had to spend an hour a day traveling to and from Fostoria will now have an extra hour to work with children.

—Programs can be integrated. Severely mentally impaired youngsters for instance, who have a little higher ability than most in their group can be involved in some activities for the trainable impaired.

In terms of ability, the most severely impaired students at the school will function as adults at about the same level as 3-5 year olds. Those classified as trainable will function at about the sixth grade level.

—There are better facilities for physical and occupational therapy. At Fostoria, for instance, the cafeteria was used for occupational therapy. Physical therapists kept much of their equipment in boxes. Now there are both equipment and permanent places to use it.

—Physical education. The Fostoria school had no facilities for physical education. Students at Darbee were bused to the Regional Center, which did have a gym. Facilities at Highland Pines include a gymnasium, playground and swimming pools, for therapy and recreation. One pool is a few feet wide and 18 inches deep. The other is about 20-by-32 feet and a maximum of four feet deep.

—With about 50 students confined to wheelchairs and 10 percent more of the enrollment with other physical disabilities, making the building barrier free was more than just an excuse to comply with the law.

The Darbee and Fostoria schools were both two stories, which meant some youngsters had to be left out of some activities because they couldn't get up the stairs.

THE GOALS

"It's the living skills we're emphasizing, which we never could have duplicated at any of the other sites," explained Elton Mahan, TISD director of special education services.

For the severely mentally impaired youngster, the goal may be to teach him to feed himself. That gives the person some self-esteem and also frees the parent or attendant who would otherwise have to take time to feed him.

Michigan Artrain to make second visit to Cass City

After an absence of nine years, the Michigan Artrain will make a return visit to Cass City in May of next year.

The traveling five-car "art for the people" show will be here as part of a six-month, six-state tour.

It was last here in July, 1972, when 3,677 persons went through the train in four days, an average of just under 920 per day.

Based on the success here the first time around, Cass City was asked by Artrain Executive Director John J. Hohmann to host it again, according to Holly Althaver.

Her husband, Lambert, is chairman of the Artrain board and she is curatorial chairman and sits on the executive committee, but discounts that as the reason why the request was made to have the village play host again. The invitation was made about three weeks ago.

The date in May when the train will be here probably won't be determined until January, but she expects it will be here five days, including a week end.

In 1972, it was parked on a siding near the present site of the Big D Restaurant, but the siding is no longer there. This time, it probably will be parked at the Vulcan Street siding, where the old grain elevators stood until recently. There would be plenty of parking at that site.

In 1972, there were many cultural attractions offered in conjunction with the Artrain.

There were art displays at various locations, crafts demonstrations at the Dillman School, west of town, a driving tour to show off area architecture, performance of two plays and several other activities.

Mrs. Althaver hopes those types of activities can be repeated, though perhaps with a different emphasis. "We'll do what we can. We're going to try."

The local committee is still getting organized, with planning to remain in low gear until the Village Bach Festival over Thanksgiving week end is out of the way.

Volunteers are needed to help with the undertaking and also contributors. There has to be $1,500 raised to help pay local expenses in connection with the Artrain being here. The Cass City School Board has already voted to contribute $500. Solicitations will be made to service clubs, businesses and individuals.

The Artrain, funded partially by the state and partially with donations from various sources, began in 1971 and has been in almost 200 Michigan communities, plus 81 communities in 19 other states.

Its 1981 tour will start in April in Indiana, come back to Michigan in May, be in Pennsylvania in June and July, Ohio in August and Illinois in September.

The exhibits are changed from year to year, so won't resemble what was in it in 1972. There will probably be more examples of world art next year, according to Mrs. Althaver, as opposed to works by state and national artists, although the latter won't be ignored.

Artrain consists of three gallery cars divided into exhibition space; a fourth car containing a studio for artists who travel with the train, plus community volunteer artists, and a power generator system, and a fifth car, a caboose, as a meeting, place for local committees, hospitality area and staff office.

Artrain is open for free, although there is a donation box on board. Donations average $250-350 per stop, significantly less than the $740 Cass Cityans donated back in 1972.

Students charged in school vandalism

Two Akron-Fairgrove High School students started last Thursday in class and ended it behind bars, facing charges in connection with the massive vandalism Oct. 1 at their high school.

Both are charged with breaking and entering and malicious destruction of property over $100.

Kenneth Aulbert, 17, of 2698 N. Ringle Road, Akron, appeared Thursday before Magistrate Donald Smith, who set bond at $15,000, of which he would have to post 10 percent.

The other, a 15-year-old, appeared before Probate

Judge W. Wallace Kent Jr., who sent him to the Genesee county juvenile detention center in Flint pending further proceedings.

Aulbert appeared Monday before District Judge Richard F. Kern, waived examination, and was bound over to circuit court. He will be arraigned Monday, Oct. 27, before Circuit Judge Norman A. Baguley. As of Tuesday afternoon, he was still in the county jail.

According to Sheriff's Department Detective Ronald Phillips, damage was estimated at about $40,000.

Information received by the sheriff's department led to the arrest of the two, who were called from class to the principal's office Thursday, where they were taken into custody.

Phillips said there are no additional suspects, that it is felt no other persons were involved.

Earlier in the school year, several Akron-Fairgrove buses were vandalized. The two boys are not suspects in that incident, which is still under investigation, Phillips said.

Contests are few in election of area township officials

Contests for township offices in the Cass City area in the Nov. 4 election are few and far between.

In Novesta township, Democratic Clerk Nurse Kloc is being opposed by former Clerk Henry Rock, who she defeated two years ago. Democrat Linda Yost is running for one of the two trustee positions open, against Republican incumbents Fred Knoblet and Arleon Retherford.

In Ellington township, Democratic Supervisor Jack Kappen is opposed by the Republican former supervisor, whom he defeated two years ago, Frederick J. Bardwell Jr.

Kingston township has a race for treasurer between Democrat Mary Lou Wolak and Republican Velna Richter.

Under a new state law, terms for all township offices for the first time are for four years.

TUSCOLA

ELKLAND -- Only Republican incumbents are running: Supervisor, Jack Gallagher; clerk, Carolyn Ware; treasurer, Arthur Randall; trustees, Fay McComb and Allen Merchant, and constable Fred Martin.

ELLINGTON -- The race for supervisor is a repeat of two years ago, except that the then Democratic challenger, Jack Kappen, now holds the office and is being opposed by the former supervisor, Republican Fred Bardwell Jr. Kappen won in 1978, 204-167.

Kappen, of 2546 Keilitz Road, Cass City, says he ran against Bardwell two years ago because he "didn't like the way the supervisor was running our township." A full-time farmer, Kappen was formerly in the construction business.

Bardwell said he is running again because "I don't like what's going on" in the township. A senior accountant at Saginaw Steering Gear in Saginaw, he was supervisor for six years before being defeated. He lives at 2979 Dutcher Road, Caro.

Bardwell accused his opponent of not sending out notices to all property owners when their assessments change, as is required by law, though admitting many supervisors don't, and of not holding all the required public hearings in order to receive federal revenue sharing funds.

Kappen responded he only sends out notices for significant individual increases, but not if a uniform percentage increase is applied to everybody in the township. A hearing concerning how revenue sharing funds are spent is held as part of the annual meeting, he said. Since the township is still receiving the federal funds, it appears the township is in compliance with the law.

Both men are certified assessors.

The other candidates, all Republican incumbents, are unopposed: clerk, Clayton Turner; treasurer, Dora Rushlo, and trustees, Frederick Janks and Robert Wood.

ELMWOOD -- All candidates are Republicans and unopposed: supervisor, Roy Messer; clerk, Joanne Sattler; treasurer, Betty Russell, and trustees, James C. Turner and Kenneth Blue. Blue is the only one not presently holding office.

NOVESTA -- Democrat Nurse Kloc, who defeated Republican Henry Rock for clerk two years ago, 194-191, is being opposed by him this time.

Rock, of 5831 Reed Road, is foreman of the Tuscola County Road Commission Deford garage and was clerk for 23 years before being defeated in 1978.

Mrs. Kloc, of 6195 Severance Road, wife of a dairy farmer and mother of 11 children (two still at home), is holding her first public office. She is also active in her church.

The other township race is for trustee, where Democrat Linda Yost is running against two Republican incumbents for one of the two seats open.

Mrs. Yost, of Deckerville Road, mother of two children, is a Cass City school bus driver, president of her bowling league and on the board of the Women's Auxiliary of the Cass City Gun Club.

Fred Knoblet of 5291 Kelly Road is a farmer and has been a township trustee 18 years. Arleon Retherford of Gifford Road has been a trustee seven years. He is retired from Marlette Homes.

Unopposed for re-election are Supervisor Bill O'Dell, Republican, and Treasurer Everett Field, Democrat.

KINGSTON -- The one contest is for treasurer, to replace retiring Louis Wenzlaff.

Winner of the Democratic primary over two other opponents was Mary Lou Wolak, of Legg Road, presently township deputy clerk. A resident of the township for two years, she is a 1978 graduate of Michigan State University with a degree in business. She is on layoff from Marlette Homes, helps her husband do the bookkeeping for their farm and serves on her church finance committee.

Her Republican opponent is Velna Richter, who has been a delegate to the Republican state convention, ran unsuccessfully for township clerk once and twice for the Kingston School Board.

The E. Sanilac Road resident has worked in the county Register of Deeds office, the accounting office at the Caro Regional Center and done office work in Caro stores. She does most of the bookkeeping for the family farm.

Running for the other offices, all unopposed incumbents, are: Supervisor, Robert Gilmore; clerk, Victoria Wolak, and trustees Edward Bilicki and John Burns. All are Democrats except for Gilmore.

SANILAC COUNTY

ARGYLE -- Unopposed, all Republicans, are: Jerry Hillaker, running for supervisor; Edward Pfaff, clerk; Cathy O'Connor, treasurer; Eugene Kritzman and Dale Mann, trustees, and constable, Helene Mann. All are incumbents except for Hillaker, who won the two-man primary to replace retiring Hazel Foote.

AUSTIN -- Running without opposition are: supervisor, Claire Grifka, Democrat; clerk, John Osentoski, Republican.

HAPPY HUNTERS opening day of pheasant season Monday were brothers Brent, 10, and Bryan Beecher, 13, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Beecher of 5225 Cass City Road. Each got his limit of two pheasants -- their first ever -- while hunting about two miles east of Wickware. In the background are proud bird dogs Bobby, left, and Max.

Dennis and Gloria Schulz

Gloria J. McIlhargie of Kinde and Dennis D. Schulz of Cass City were married Oct. 10 at St. Felix Catholic church at Hewelton (Pinnebrog).

Father Joseph Schabel performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Hazel M. McIlhargie of Kinde and the late Cyril McIlhargie. The groom is the son of Vernon D. and Elva M. Schulz of Cass City.

The bride wore an ivory Silesta knit fashion length gown with a lace bodice, over which she wore a lace knit jacket. She carried a flowing cascade of ostrich plumes, peacock feathers and Snow White silk roses. Maid of honor was Deborah A. Lenda, niece of the bride, who wore a fashion length Silesta knit gown in medium jade green.

She carried a bouquet of peacock feathers, in shades of green and blue, with foliage and ribbon streamers to match.

Bridesmaids were Terrill G. McIlhargie, sister-in-law, of the bride, and Peggy Forster, niece of the bride. They wore Silesta knit deep royal blue fashion length gowns.

Best man was Dave Hundersmarck, friend of the groom.

Groomsmen were Ray Dean, a friend, and Brad McIlhargie, brother of the bride. Ushers were Don Stern, a friend, and Conrad McIlhargie, brother of the bride.

Music performed by organist Richard Kain was "You Decorated My Life," "You Needed Me" and "Morning Has Broken."

The bride's mother wore a teal blue suit and multi-point blouse and wore a corsage of blue-green carnations and peacock feather tips.

The groom's mother wore a deep tan suit with ivory knit shell and wore a corsage of blue-green carnations with tips of peacock feathers.

Out-of-town guests attended from Cincinnati, Ohio, and Elk Rapids, Lincoln Park, Southgate and Tipton.

The reception at Colony House, Cass City, was attended by 250 guests.

The new Mrs. Schulz is a 1975 graduate of Laker High School, attended Northwood Institute in Midland and is employed as a clerk at the Farmers Home Administration office in Bad Axe.

Her husband is a 1973 graduate of Bad Axe High School and is employed as a tool grinder at Cole Carbide, Cass City.

After a honeymoon trip to northern Michigan, the newlyweds are living at 2218 W. Huron Line Road, Uby.

Now and then a man with a cross to bear puts it on exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. James MacTavish were in Clarkston Wednesday. They attended the funeral of her brother, Rev. Elden Mudge, who died in a Detroit hospital Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Root, Mrs. Hazel Seeley and daughter Janis were visitors at a Warren funeral home Monday because of the death of Mrs. Blondena Cole, 69. Mrs. Cole died Saturday and funeral services and burial were held Tuesday at Warren. She was born Jan. 15, 1911, in Illinois. Her husband, Malcolm Cole, formerly of Cass City, preceded her in death. She is survived by a daughter, a son and three grandchildren. Roger Root drove them to Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Binder, Craig, Kirk and Kristene of Portage spent from Friday until Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Lois Binder. Other guests Saturday were Mrs. D. Binder's mother, Mrs. James Liston, and Mrs. Binder's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Spreng and son, Kenneth Jr., all of Fraser.

The Golden Rule class of Salem UM church will meet this Thursday evening for a six-thirty potluck supper with Mrs. Grant Ball.

Mrs. Alice McAleer returned to Cass City Saturday. In company with her daughter and granddaughter from Royal Oak, she had been visiting her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. John McAleer and family in Portland, Ore.

The annual Thanksgiving dinner for the AARP group will be served Thursday, Nov. 13, at the Lutheran Fellowship Hall. Mrs. Helen Little is in charge of tickets.

Luck is knowing what you want and going after it.

POOR OUTLOOK

It's amazing how many people look backwards when there are so many things to look forward to.

Miss Betty Jo Agar had as visitors Oct. 14, her sister and husband, Rev. and Mrs. Franklin Allard, of Springfield, Ky.

Installation of officers to serve Echo chapter OES for the coming year will take place Saturday evening, Oct. 25, at 8 p.m. This will be an open installation. Mrs. Clayton Hartwick heads the refreshment committee for the evening and will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Karr, Mr. and Mrs. George Jetta, Mrs. Franda Janik, Mrs. Beatrice Miljore and Mrs. Grant Strickland.

The family and relatives of Mrs. Lilah Wilhelmi surprised her Sunday when 25 came to her home for a belated birthday party. They presented her with a new color TV. Relatives came from Harrison, Applegate, East Detroit, Taylor, Jackson, Plymouth, Ypsilanti and Cass City. The group included all of her children and most of her grandchildren, her brother and his wife, the Carl McConnells, and her sister, Alice Neitz of Harrison, her sister and husband, the Eldon Halls of Jackson and her sister, Bernice Sweet of Applegate.

Mrs. William O'Dell, Mrs. Thelma Pratt and Miss Katie Crane were in Bad Axe on business Monday.

"If It Fitz. . ." FBI movie critic

By Jim Fitzgerald

"What you see on film is not what you see in life. That's what Rep. Michael Myers, D-Pa., said about the FBI movie that shows him selling his political influence to an undercover FBI agent for $50,000. Since the movie is now being shown on national TV, Myers is competing for the Emmy award as best actor in a leading role in a dramatic series.

If Myers doesn't win, he would blame the FBI, which provided a sleazy showcase for his talents.

In the first place, the movie was made in black and white. Only a movie-maker of Woody Allen's ability can pull this off successfully. In a couple of movies, Woody skipped technicolor for the sake of darkness. He didn't want brilliant hues to detract from the reality of his characters. Woody was wise enough to realize that starkness and rosy cheeks do not go hand in hand, not even in movies rated R.

It was unfair of the FBI to make Myers appear stark. The basis of Myers' defense against charges that he accepted a bribe is that he is an alcoholic and, in fact, acted in the movie while under the influence of "FBI bourbon." A common characteristic of a drunk is a red nose. Black-and-white film deprived Myers of the opportunity to display the color of his nose.

Also, the FBI uses subtitles throughout its Abscam movies. The words printed across the bottom of the screen give casual viewers the impression they have tuned in one of those foreign films which are usually shown only in art theaters to audiences made up of espresso drinkers. Following the commandment of their bumper stickers, many TV watchers refuse to watch imported movies. It is likely that they quickly switch channels on the Myers movie, thus robbing him of the viewership most likely to appreciate his acting and to stump for his nomination as an Emmy candidate.

To compound the injustice, the FBI subtitles constantly give the correct time, ticking off the seconds as they expire. People are accustomed to seeing the clock wind down on TV only during the final moments of football games. It is natural that many viewers are dismayed when Myers doesn't know enough to wait for the two-minute warning to be sounded before running out of bounds to stop the clock. Besides, the movie was filmed in a stark motel room (again, Technicolor was needed) reminiscent of a pornographic movie, and it's difficult for an audience to empathize with a quarterback who appears ready to strip down to black socks.

But it's probably unfair to me to carp. The Abscam films are the FBI's first attempt at making movies for TV viewing. Up until now, the FBI's only real experience in show business was creating a scenario for a Walt Disney-type fantasy in which an actress was portrayed as impregnated by a Black Panther. Movies based on fact are tougher to make, but I'm sure the FBI will get the hang of it before too many congressmen are able to retire unjailed.

I hope the FBI is watching the baseball play-offs and World Series on TV. While ballplayers are performing, TV shows close-ups of their wives sitting in the grandstand. It is pure art to let the home audience see the changes in the wives' expressions as their husbands strike out or hit home runs. This technique would be effective in FBI movies.

Specifically, I'm thinking of Rita Jenrette, the attractive wife of Rep. John Jenrette Jr., D-S.C., who also acted as a bribe-taker in an FBI movie. In a news conference after Jenrette's conviction for bribery, Mrs. Jenrette stood behind her husband and stroked his back. She presented the most appealing picture of blind love since Mo Dean stood behind John.

Besides dropping the subtitles and adding Technicolor, when the FBI makes its next TV movie starring a congressman, it should also include close-ups of his wife reacting as he either catches or fumbles the envelope containing the money. This type of poignant, unstarred drama will surely pay off at Emmy Award time. The congressman will probably be invited to immortalize his fingerprints in wet cement in front of the J. Edgar Hoover Building.

UP AND OUT -- Jean and Bill Phillips of Grassmere Road, Grant township, like to grow things big. The two pumpkins weigh 120 and 160 pounds and the tallest of the sweet corn stalks measures 12 ft., 7 in. Holding on to her mother is daughter Beth Ann, 2.

Walbro quarterly earnings increase

Lambert E. Althaver, president and chief operating officer of Walbro Corp., has announced that net sales from consolidated operations for the three months ended Sept. 30, were $9,838,792, compared with $9,482,731 for the same period in 1979.

Net earnings were $187,531, up from $60,636 for the same period in 1979. Per share earnings were 24 cents on 778,820 shares outstanding, compared with 8 cents per share on 778,864 shares outstanding on Sept. 30, 1979.

Althaver reported that sales of Walbro's small engine carburetors, automotive products and plastics parts were lower than during the same quarter last year.

Sales of aluminum and magnesium die castings produced by Walbro's Auburn Diecast subsidiary were up considerably over the same period in 1979. He attributed the increase to automotive industry purchases and to the fact that Diecast experienced a two-month strike during the corresponding period in 1979.

Althaver pointed out that while overall sales volume produced some increase in earnings during the third quarter compared to 1979, continued increases in costs and interest charges resulted in a drop in earnings as compared with the second quarter of 1980.

He expects sales of all Walbro product lines to continue at present levels during the fourth quarter.

An active interested school board with the proper objectives can be a boon to any educational system.

An active interested school board with improper objectives can stymie the best of systems.

If that's so, the next question, obviously, is what are the proper objectives and how are they best achieved?

The objective is the best education possible for the children and the board's proper role should be the insistence upon policies that reach it.

It appears that the current Cass City board is wrapping itself in details of operation to the detriment of the school and the kids.

The current squabble over Mrs. Joyce Crouse's beef with the board and the wrestling with the question of fringes for supervisors are cases in point.

I'd agree that Supt. Don Crouse probably showed uncharacteristic questionable judgement in attempting to place his wife in the system.

The flip-flop of the board leaves a lot to be desired, too.

Those things happen. It's over and what we have is face-saving holding up the final solution. Let's sign the apology and get on with the business at hand. It would be very hard to rationalize an expensive court case for the system for such a meager cause.

It's the same with the fringe benefit question. It would be hard for the board to justify a decision delay to taxpayers if it resulted in union organization of all the supervisors in the system.

But the problem facing the board is greater than these issues.

It appears that some board members are attempting to involve themselves in the day-to-day running of the system. That's something which they are unqualified to do even if they are willing to devote the hours necessary to do so, which they haven't in the past.

It's mandatory that the board let the administrators run the school.

If that's so, why have a board at all? There are plenty of areas where the board can be effective. The board has a right, a duty, to see that the administration looks for new avenues for a better education.

For instance, if a member takes the time to study a system for a special course for bright children that's effective in another school he can bring it to the board and the members can insist that the program be studied for the system.

Then when the cost is known, the board can reject or accept it in the light of what it perceives is best for the kids and the community.

It's true that the present administration has not been overly active in this field. It's equally true that it's very doubtful if this community wants to pay for more than the basic system.

That's the only conclusion you can come to when you consider the reluctance of the voters to vote one more mill for operation at the time when the operating cost per pupil was among the lowest in the state.

That shouldn't be an excuse for either the board or the administration to stop trying. They need to work together for a better education and forget about personalities and petty differences.

We don't know how the figure is obtained but Marty Rauscher, vice-president of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce, says that one industrial job breeds 7 more in firms serving the industry.

I always pause for a second when writing about girls' basketball. I pause when talking about defense. Should I say man-to-man or not?

My mind was made up when I heard one of the girls shout to the team, "Watch it, man-to-man defense." If it's good enough for them it's good enough for me.

Fritz Olson is one who feels that Michigan should have the oil in the Pigeon River State Forest. Is an elk worth $5 million, Fritz asks?

My answer is no, but the people's right to determine how their land heritage is handled is.

Olson, a reasonable guy, can see both sides to the question and we both agree that a series that ran in the Detroit News early this week laid it all out for Michigan residents.

If there were a race of Cass Cityans on a course from here to Reese my money would be on Doug Grezeszak, teacher at Cass City Schools.

Ron Nurnberger, a health buff himself, reports that Grezeszak ran in the 26-mile marathon in Detroit last week end. . . and finished.

After watching the football game against Marlette Friday I thought, wouldn't it be great if high schools had a 30-point two-quarter rule much like baseball's 10-run agreement.

If at the end of 2 quarters the margin is 30 points or more pack it in for the night.

The Bridge Millage Is Being Proposed Because Additional State And Federal Funds Are Becoming Available To Tuscola County. In Order To Obtain This Money, The County Must Have Matching Funds Available And Have New Bridges Designed And Ready To Be Constructed. It Is This "Matching Fund" Money That The Millage Would Raise. The 1980 Proposal Does Not Request An Increase In Bridge Millage; The Expiring Rate Is One (1) Mill For Bridge Improvements, While The New Proposal Would Actually Reduce The Amount Earmarked For Bridge And Street Improvements To One-Half (½) Mill. (As Stated Above, The Other One-Half (½) Mill Would Go To The General Fund For Operating Expenses.) A Continued Millage Would Also Make Possible The Handling of Emergencies As They Arise.

PLEASE REFER TO MAP A

Since 1970, Previous Millages Have Made Possible The Improvement Of Ninety-Nine (99) Bridges On Local Township Roads Throughout The County. During The Calendar Years 1971 Through 1979, A Total Of $4,587,208 Has Been Expended For Bridge Improvements. Of This Amount, $3,067,978 Has Come From The Bridge Millage; $817,464 From The State Or Federal Government; $435,357 From The County Road Funds; And $266,409 From The Townships In Tuscola County.

PLEASE REFER TO MAP B

At The Present Time, Sixty-Two (62) Bridges Are In Need Of Improvement. Some Are Posted With Load Limits, Meaning They Are More Restrictive Than The Roads On Which They Are Located. Others Are Closed To Traffic Altogether.

TO DATE, THE COUNTY HAS RECEIVED OVER $817,000 IN STATE OR FEDERAL MONEY FOR LOCAL BRIDGE CONSTRUCTION. AN ADDITIONAL $744,000 IS PROMISED FOR 1980 AND 1981.

PEDALING AROUND

Yes, no and maybe

By Mike Eliasohn

My mind is numb and my eyes are blurry as I write this.

No, I have not been drinking. I have been reading a 28-page analysis of the seven statewide ballot proposals.

It was as exciting as reading the telephone book and after reading the descriptions of the three major tax proposals, I still only have a hazy idea of what they mean.

Unless I change my mind, I plan to vote against all three, if for no other reason than because I don't believe in voting for something I don't understand.

Our present tax system as its faults, but compared to other states, it apparently isn't that bad. A 1978 national study rated Michigan's system as second best in the nation in terms of fairness and equity.

Property tax relief is built into the system, for those whose property taxes exceed a certain percentage of their income, including farmers whose land is enrolled in the Public Act 116 program.

Thus I wonder if the three tax proposals -- Tisch, Smith-Bullard and coalition plan -- are examples of fixing something that isn't broken, that is, that the solutions may be worse than the problems they are designed to cure.

I find it hard to conceive of passage of the Tisch Amendment (Proposal D) will mean closing of all state universities except the University of Michigan, Michigan State University and Wayne State University, as Gov. Milliken has predicted, but I do feel the repercussions on the state and local level would still be disastrous.

I prefer to leave it up to my elected representatives to decide when to raise marriage license, parking meter and building inspection fees. By defining all such fees as a tax and requiring voter approval of all taxes, it means voters would have to go to the polls in order to raise parking meter fees from 5 cents per turn to a dime.

It is conceded that passage of Proposal D will mean a large increase in college tuition in order for state colleges and universities to stay in business. This can be interpreted to mean that increases in college tuition, and for that matter, dormitory room and board, as it is a "user fee," would have to be approved by public referendum.

Smith-Bullard (Proposal A) moves in what I feel is a preferable direction, less dependence on property taxes for support of schools and more equitable funding for the education of all school children, regardless of where they live.

However, the proposal seems so complicated, I fear the consequences of the unknown. There is also the possibility of increased taxes on business. If Michigan is going to attract and create more jobs, it does not need more taxes on business.

The coalition plan (Proposal C) also apparently will increase the tax burden on businesses, or at least it will not share in the benefits. I may change my mind by election day, but as of now, why rock the boat?

I do favor the fourth tax proposal, to increase the state income tax from 4.6 to 4.7 percent for five years to finance new prison construction and some related items (Proposal E).

The vote by Michiganders two years ago to require serving of minimum sentences has contributed to our prisons being 10 percent overcrowded. Two prisons are more than 90 years old and need to be replaced.

From a personal standpoint, I lived in an apartment building in Monroe whose tenants, in addition to some nice elderly ladies, included two men who were sent to Jackson prison, a woman who was sentenced to the state women's prison, a man on probation for selling heroin with a wife on probation for using it and two roommates arrested for growing marijuana. I would hate to think of any of those people walking the streets because there wasn't room in a prison for a judge to send them.

It may seem like coddling prisoners to build them new prisons, but remember, the average prison term is only 32 months. Better to not have them come out mad at society after 32 months of sleeping on a mattress on a floor.

U.S. farmers' total tax bill in 1979 was $9.5 billion on real estate, personal property, federal and state income and purchases.

Millington men receive prison terms for rape

Two Millington men found guilty Sept. 12 of the rape of a Richville woman were both sentenced Monday by Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements to the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson.

James J. Paquette, 20, of 10269 Sheridan Road, was sentenced to 12-20 years. Alvin E. Thrasher, 22, of 10370 Oak Road was sentenced to 6-10 years. Each was credited with one day served.

Clements said at the sentencing that he was giving Paquette the longer term because he was the instigator of the attack and, unlike Thrasher, had a prior criminal record.

The jury, at the conclusion of the four-day trial, found both guilty of criminal sexual conduct (1st degree).

The woman, who was 4-5 months pregnant, had run out of gas March 28, north of Millington. She testified the pair picked her up, drove her into Vassar to buy a container of gasoline, then drove south into Arbela township, where they assaulted her.

In other court cases Monday:

Terry E. Brock, 20, of Sebawang, was sentenced to one year in the county jail for absconding while on bond. He was credited with 98 days served.

Tuesday before Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn, Brock was sentenced to six months in the county jail, concurrent with the other sentence, with credit given for 99 days served, for joy riding.

He was also placed on three years' probation, fined $200, assessed $200 court costs and ordered to pay restitution.

He pleaded guilty Sept. 2 to the joy riding charge, for having driven away a truck-tractor June 10, 1979, in Indianfields township.

He was originally charged with unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle in connection with that incident but failed to appear for his trial Jan. 30. He was apprehended in Texas in July and waived extradition to Michigan.

Robert L. Trisch, 44, of 2633 W. Deckerville Road, Caro, stood mute to a charge of criminal sexual conduct. A plea of innocent was entered by Judge Clements, who scheduled a pretrial hearing Nov. 3. Bond was continued.

Trisch is charged in connection with a reported incident July 29 in Almer township involving a teenage girl.

Sara J. Sprague, 25, of Bay Port, stood mute to a charge of no account - check. A plea of innocent was entered, with pretrial hearing scheduled Nov. 3. Bond was continued.

She is charged with cashing her personal check June 9 for $35 at Bigelow's Hardware in Cass City, but not having a bank account.

William A. Enos, 24, of 427 Fremont Street, Caro, pleaded guilty to forgery. His plea was accepted and sentencing scheduled tentatively Dec. 1. Bond was continued.

He was charged with forging a check June 21, for $100, paid to Barriger's Travel Stop at M-46 and M-24, south of Caro.

Keith A. Basherian, 22, no available address, was placed on two years' probation for joy riding. He was also sentenced to 60 days in the county jail, with credit for 26 days served, fined $200, assessed $200 and ordered to pay restitution of $3,500.

He was charged with driving away a 1980 car from Fred Jones Chevrolet in Vassar.

Leon G. Doyle, 22, of O'Brien Road, Mayville, was sentenced to one year in the county jail for breaking and entering a motor vehicle and unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle. He was credited with 10 days served.

The first charge involved entering a Juniata Baptist church bus Jan. 17; the second, driving away a van belonging to the church.

The sentence is concurrent with one he received Oct. 14 from Circuit Judge Norman A. Baguley of one year in jail for delivery of marijuana.

Michael E. Phelps, 22, of 2760 Phelps Lake Road, Mayville, stood mute to charges of assault with a dangerous weapon and possession of a firearm in connection with the assault.

Owendale bike-a-thon raises $259

A check for $259 was mailed Monday to St. Jude Children's Hospital in Memphis, Tenn., proceeds from the Sept. 27 bike-a-thon in Owendale.

Chairman Joan Andrakowicz, who mailed the check, said 13 children rode in the event, who received pledges for each mile they rode.

Collecting the most money were her daughters Maurine, 61, and Kathleen, 55, followed by Randy Jo Salcido, 338.

Riding the farthest, 19 times around the one-mile course on Owendale streets, was David Erickson.

It was the second annual event. More money was collected last year, although the number of riders was the same. Mrs. Andrakowicz said, because persons pledged more per mile last year, thinking the riders wouldn't pedal as far as they did. This year, contributors were more cautious and didn't pledge as much per mile.

Business women have calendars

Twenty-three members attended the Oct. 15 meeting of the Cass City Business and Professional Women's Club.

President Antoinette Stachura called the business meeting to order, which opened with the pledge to the flag.

Gloria Hartwick, calendar chairperson, distributed the 1981 calendars to members with the request that they have distribution and collection completed by the November meeting.

The president discussed the proposals on the Nov. 4 ballot. Leota Anthes reported on the district meeting held Oct. 13.

Nina Davis, activities chairperson, showed bibs which members will be making for Provincial House patients.

Oct. 19-25 is Business and Professional Women's Week and the local club has a display this week in the Clothes Closet window.

The meeting adjourned with the emblem benediction.

OPENING DAY -- Art Davidson of Romeo, with assistance from his dog, "Crash," bagged this pheasant on the opening day of pheasant season Monday while hunting in the Holbrook Road area in northeast Greenleaf township. He also shot a partridge and squirrel.

Hunters find fewer birds than expected opening day

The opening of pheasant hunting season Monday was about as expected, according to Department of Natural Resources area wildlife biologist Carlton (Bud) Jarvis. Unfortunately for the hunters, the expectation was that there would not be a lot of birds to be hunted.

The statewide prediction had been "rather dismal," and it appears that's how conditions were in the upper Thumb.

"There seemed to be quite a few hunters," he commented, but pheasants were a "bit scarce."

The best hunting appeared to have been in southern Sanilac county. Of 80 hunters surveyed, 40 had birds.

In contrast, Jarvis said, of 30 hunters questioned in the Cass City-Gagetown area, only one had shot a bird.

However, that was only a couple of hours after the season began.

Checks were also made by DNR personnel in southern Huron county and results were "not that great."

The reason for the poor results, the biologist explained, was severe winters in 1977-78 and 1978-79, when many pheasants died. Last winter was a mild one and most birds survived, but the breeding population was low to begin with, so the number of birds didn't increase significantly.

What there was a lot of, Monday, according to the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department, was complaints made by property owners of hunters hunting illegally on their property, trespassing and careless use of firearms.

Pheasant season ends Nov. 11. Partridge season which started Sept. 15, ends Nov. 14 for deer season, the resumes for all of December.

CASH dedicates solar kiln

Caro Creations Group, a marketing subsidiary of Caro Area Services for the Handicapped, Inc. (CASH), dedicated its new solar kiln Monday. Congressman B. Traxler was the featured speaker.

According to Ted Hull, CASH, the kiln is designed to dry approximately 15,000 board feet of wet lumber at a time. The lumber to be dried is used in the manufacturing of primitive original furniture, which in turn provides training and employment for the county's handicapped.

"To my knowledge," said Hull, "this is the only solar kiln of its size and sophistication in the state. The energy generated from its seven large collector panels will also be used to supplement the heat in the CASH building, located on Cleave Road. He indicated his organization could not afford to have materials dried in the conventional manner."

Most crops increasing in yields

September's adequate moisture supplies continued to fuel high expectations for corn yields in Michigan, according to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service.

Over 242 million bushels of corn are anticipated to be picked on 2.45 million acres. The 2 percent increase in production, if realized, would be due to a record state average yield of 99 bushels per acre, eclipsing last year's yield by 4 bushels.

Despite a 2 percent decrease in acreage, soybean production is forecast to be virtually unchanged from last year. The 28.5 million bushel crop will average 30 bushels to the acre on 950,000 acres.

Dry bean production is forecast at 7.28 million hundredweight (cwt.). This 6 percent increase from a year ago is due to a 14 percent jump in acreage planted. The 560,000 acres are expected to yield an average of 1,300 pounds per acre.

The 21 percent increase in sugarbeet production to 1.88 million tons is due to a 6 percent increase in acreage and expected higher yields. The 94,000 acres are forecast to yield 20 tons to the acre.

Alfalfa hay production is pegged at 3.264 million tons, up 1 percent and other hay at 580,000 tons, down 5 percent.

Nationally, corn production is expected to total 6.47 billion bushels, down 17 percent from last year. Soybean production is projected at 1.76 billion bushels, 23 percent down from a year ago. Both were records in 1979. Sugarbeet production at 23.2 million tons expected is up 5 percent from last year.

"NO HUNTING" Signs 13 for $1 at Chronicle

Although most weather prognosticators are predicting a relatively mild winter, that's no reason to ignore preparing your home for the coming heating season, says James A. Albertson, manager of Consumers Power Company's Bay City District.

Albertson points out that adequate preparation and wise use of energy will keep down your energy bill. He says there are a number of steps you can take to insure that your house will be warm and snug during the cold winter months.

He suggests: --Check the amount of insulation in the ceiling. If your house has less than four inches in the ceiling or attic, you should add additional insulation.

--Check for cracks between window frames and between door frames and the wall, and for places where pipes or wires pass through walls. Caulk them if necessary.

--Weatherstrip outside doors or doors to unheated areas. A one-eighth-inch crack around a standard door frame allows as much heat to escape as a hole the size of a grapefruit.

--Check and repair any broken windows and install storm windows.

--If you can't remove room air conditioners from windows, weatherstrip or caulk around them and cover them.

--Check dampers on fireplaces, kitchen and bathroom exhaust fans and dryer vents to see that they close tightly when not in use.

--Prepare your furnace for winter operation now. Don't wait until something goes wrong this winter. Have a reputable serviceman check your heating system for efficient operation.

Some furnace preparation steps recommended by Albertson to make for a cozier winter include:

--Cleaning and lubricating the blower fan and replacing air filters.

The regular meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held Sept. 29, 1980 at 7:00 p.m. at the Municipal Building. All Trustees were present.

The minutes for the regular August meeting and the special meeting of Sept. 2, 1980 were approved as presented.

Donald Ball was present to request that the council review a petition from property owners for paving of the alley from West St. to Brook-er St. south of Main. This will be considered for the 1981 budget.

Alan Kleo was present to inquire as to the procedure to follow in regards to a Bingo tent in the park for the July 4th, 1981 Festival. Council requested Village Superintendent, Lou LaPonsie review the matter with the Village Attorney.

The August financial statement was reviewed.

The treasurer's report was reviewed showing 95 percent of the taxes have been collected. A motion was made by Trustee Helwig and supported by Trustee Ware that the collection period be extended to Oct. 20, 1980. Motion carried 6 yeas, 0 nays.

The Streets and Parking Committee recommended that the request for a right of way from Mrs. Ronald Nicholas be denied. A motion was made by Trustee Hampshire and supported by Trustee Rawson to accept the committee's recommendation. Motion carried 6 yeas, 0 nays.

The Public Safety Committee reported that President Lambert Althaver had received a letter from the Fraternal Order of Police stating that the 4 full time Police Officers had signed show of interest cards indicating their desire to be represented by the F.O.P. Village Attorney, Clinton House replied to the letter stating that the F.O.P. or the police officers should follow statutory petitions or procedures.

The personnel committee recommended that Dave Erla be hired to replace Ken Miller at the WWT plant at the starting salary of $15,126.00 and advancing to step 4 in Jan. 1981. A motion was made by Trustee Helwig and supported by Trustee Ware that the recommendation be accepted. Motion carried 6 yeas, 0 nays.

There has been no action on the McNeil property. A motion was made by Trustee Ware and supported by Trustee McIntosh that we accept the Grant Offer from DNR in the amount of $30,800.00 for the construction of 4 new tennis courts. Motion carried 5 yeas, 0 nays.

--Cleaning the furnace humidifier and checking and cleaning the thermostat.

--Checking air ducts and registers for leaks and blockages.

--After you have prepared your furnace and heating system," Albertson says, "there are a number of other ways to help hold down heating costs":

--Setting your thermostat as low as is reasonably comfortable. Turning the thermostat down one degree can save about 3 percent of your annual heating usage.

--Reducing the thermostat setting at night or when the house is unoccupied for more than a few hours. A set-back thermostat that does this automatically can be installed, if desired.

--Closing drapes in the evening and on cloudy days and opening them on sunny days on windows that face the sun.

--Closing off unoccupied rooms.

--Making sure that furniture or drapes do not obstruct the free movement of air from heat registers and cold air returns.

--Closing all exterior windows and doors including those to your attic, basement and garage when the heating system is operated.

Drivers charged in theft and chase

Mitchell R. Pierson, 18, of Kinde, has been charged with unlawfully driving away an automobile in connection with an incident early Saturday in Wilmot in which a car was taken for a short while and damage done with it.

He was arraigned Monday before District Judge Richard F. Kern, who set surety bond at $5,000, which has since been posted. Preliminary examination was scheduled Oct. 27 and preliminary examination Nov. 7.

Betty Kline of Clifford reported to Caro state police that she had spent the night at her son-in-law on Montague Street in Wilmot, during which time someone took her car, drove it around, damaged some property and then returned it. The keys had been left in the ignition.

The person who took the car, investigation revealed, had driven to Wilmot with another man and a woman to visit friends.

He took the Kline auto at 12:30 a.m. When headed west on Howard Street, he was going too fast to turn right onto Bond Road. The car ran over a road sign and then on the lawn of Rachel Caverly, 5766 Bond Road, before returning to the road. Before returning the car, he drove over the lawn of Mrs. Kline's son-in-law, Michael Gilmore.

The man and his two friends then got back in the car they had come in, but had a difference of opinion and the woman got out, although she was the owner of the car.

Mrs. Caverly, informed the culprit was on Montague Street, went over there and stopped the car from leaving. The two men then got out and ran through a corn field.

Sheriff's deputies later apprehended the pair when they were walking along Cemetery Road.

Pierson's companion, Steven M. VanValkenburgh, 19, of Kinde, was wanted by Bad Axe State Police on a bench warrant charging him with failure to pay fine and costs for a traffic offense.

POLICE CHASE

Joseph D. Howard, 21, of 4261 Oak Street, was arrested by Cass City police early Saturday on charges of reckless driving and attempted fleeing and eluding after a chase early Saturday.

He was taken to the county jail after his arrest. He was later released on bond, but as of Tuesday, arraignment information was not available in district court.

According to police, Officer Phil Klaus was running radar checks on Doerr Road about 12:20 a.m. when a motorcycle went by at 47 miles per hour in the 35 mph zone.

Klaus gave chase. The motorcyclist, headed north, turned left onto Main Street without stopping, then south on Koepfgen Road and east on Elmwood Road.

The officer finally got close enough a quarter-mile west of Doerr Road to turn on his flasher light. The motorcyclist continued on. When he got to Doerr, he headed north, turned east on Garfield Street, then south on Seeger at more than 100 mph.

A half-mile south of River Road, the rider turned off his lights and turned onto a trail or driveway, but stopped after 30 feet.

He was then taken into custody. Asked why he had stopped, he told officers he had run out of gas.

BOAT STOLEN

Donald Reid of Grassmere Road, Cass City, reported to Huron county deputies Monday that an 18-foot aluminum boat, trailer and 50 horsepower outboard motor were stolen from his barn some time between Oct. 1 and Monday.

They were worth $2,500 and belonged to his son, Richard Reid of Caro.

3 sentenced Monday in Tuscola Circuit Court

Ex-Cass Cityan Jefferson Auvil was sentenced Monday to 2-4 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson.

He was sentenced for aiding and abetting larceny in a building and absconding while on bond. He pleaded guilty to both charges Sept. 26.

The sentences pronounced by Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn were identical for each charge and will run concurrently. Auvil was credited with 103 days served.

The aiding and abetting charge was in connection with the June 6, 1979, break-in of the Quaker Maid Dairy Store in Cass City.

He was originally charged with aiding or assisting entry without breaking with intent to commit larceny and receiving and concealing stolen property over $100. He was scheduled to go on trial Jan. 16, but failed to appear and was not taken into police custody until July.

Auvil, who has also had a Snover address, pleaded guilty to the two charges he was sentenced on in a plea bargain with the prosecution.

Also Monday before Judge Joslyn:

Kenneth H. Diener, 20, of 3670 Pine Street, Akron, stood mute to charges of larceny and breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling. Pleas of innocent were entered and a pretrial hearing scheduled Nov. 3. Bond was continued.

The first charge involves the theft of more than $100 from Dolores Vermeesch Aug. 6, 1979, in Akron. The second is in connection with the break-in of a house March 29, 1979, in Akron.

William W. Brown, 19, of 704 N. Huron Street, Vassar, received concurrent sentences of 305 days in the county jail for uttering and publishing and forgery. He was credited with 205 days served.

A jury found him guilty Sept. 5 of the first charge, involving a check for $155. The defendant pleaded guilty Oct. 1 to the second charge, involving a check for $316. Both checks were written in March with Richard Brown of Vassar as intended recipient.

Bryan S. Huizar, 20, of 4195 Elmwood Road, Akron, stood mute to a charge of larceny over $100. A plea of innocent was entered, with pretrial hearing scheduled Dec. 1. Bond was continued.

He is charged with the Aug. 1 theft of $112 in cash and a check from the Black Dahlia Bar in Akron.

Joan E. Dennis, 43, of 3330 Lee Hill Road, Caro, pleaded guilty to non-sufficient funds - check. Her plea was accepted and sentencing scheduled Dec. 15. Bond was continued.

She was charged with writing three checks totaling $70 to a Caro service station in July, for which she did not have adequate funds in her bank account.

David A. Seelman, 18, of Otter Lake, pleaded guilty to receiving and concealing stolen property. His plea was accepted, with sentencing to be scheduled.

The charge was in connection with a Sept. 20 break-in of a Watertown township grocery.

Douglas G. Mitchell, 19, of Flint, was sentenced to 5-10 years in Jackson prison for assault with intent to commit great bodily harm less than murder. He was credited with 372 days served and vocational training was recommended.

A jury found him guilty Sept. 12 of assaulting Clyde Shingler Oct. 9, 1979, near Millington.

Sentencing of Valencia McCaw, 22, of Saginaw, for forgery was delayed one year. Vocational training was recommended during the interim.

She pleaded guilty Sept. 2 to forging a money order for $170, which she cashed July 20 at Paul's Party Store in Kingston township.

Victor A. Freeman, 21, of 804 Ninth Street, Sebawaing, pleaded guilty to conspiracy to receive and conceal stolen property over $100, in connection with an April 23 larceny at Churchill's Bar in Akron.

His plea was accepted and sentencing was scheduled

Dec. 15.

Vicki Lynn Nowak, 22, of Bay City, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny in a building, in connection with a March 1 theft from Richardson's Saddlery in Fairgrove township.

Her plea was taken under advisement, with sentencing scheduled Dec. 15 if the plea is accepted. Bond was continued.

James A. Randall, 17, of 909 W. Burnside Street, Caro, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny in a building, in connection with the Aug. 13 theft of two bicycles and a motorcycle from an Almer township garage.

His plea was accepted and sentencing scheduled Dec. 15.

Milliken announces $116 million in budget cuts

By Warren M. Hoyt
Mich. Press Association

Using budget powers abrogated by the legislature, Gov. William G. Milliken has announced another $116 million in budget cuts. Some $31.4 million of the total will come from the state's welfare programs.

The cuts, which Milliken said were necessary because of the legislature's failure to approve additional revenue measures, include such things as a 5 percent reduction in general assistance grants, a 15 percent cut in fees paid to medical providers and cutting back funds to higher education below the levels provided in 1979-80.

The program cuts were implemented under the powers granted under a three-month continuation budget, although the savings are calculated on a full-year basis.

They bring to $770 million the amount of cuts the governor has recommended for 1980-81.

Milliken, addressing the state on a statewide radio-television hookup, reviewed the continually worsening state of the economy.

He said the full-year budget must include new sources of revenue and expressed confidence the legislature will work cooperatively in November to complete that task. The Legislature reconvenes Nov. 12.

Those same revenue measures were being pushed in September when the Legislature was trying to complete the new budget prior to the beginning of the state's new fiscal year, which began Oct. 1.

Not only was the legislature unwilling to raise taxes before facing the voters in November (all members of the House are up for re-election this year), but they were also unwilling to complete a new budget which would be less than the current year's budget.

The governor has recommended measures that would raise another $116 million in revenue on a full-year basis, but those measures will now not provide that level of revenue because they would not be in effect for the full fiscal year.

Milliken has not decided whether to propose more cuts or more revenues to handle that problem.

PRISON TAX

Attorney General Frank Kelley has ruled the constitutional ban on public votes on appropriations bills does not apply to a proposal increasing the income tax to provide funds for new prison construction.

Despite the proposal's specification that the money raised by the tax can only be used for prisons, Kelley said additional action is required by the legislature in order to actually control the use of the money.

That requirement, he said, distinguishes the income tax proposal from motor fuel taxes, which the state Supreme Court has repeatedly held to be appropriations, and thus not subject to voter approval.

Proposal E, placed on the ballot by the legislature, would raise the income tax to 4.7 percent from 4.6 percent until Dec. 31, 1985, with the increased revenue to be used for new prison construction and improving current facilities.

Kelley said the Supreme Court has drawn a distinction between merely authorizing an activity and actually appropriating the money to make it possible.

He said in contrast to the fuel tax, the income tax pro-positional cannot be read in conjunction with another act that would authorize the expenditure of the tax for correctional purposes.

He concluded the law only expresses intent to appropriate the proceeds of the taxes, therefore, is not an appropriation bill.

Some folks don't seem to realize that they can learn a little every day and still not know it all.

Staff of 120 working at special education school apartment type unit, to teach less severely impaired youngsters such skills as cooking, cleaning and making beds. The more independent they can be, the less costly burden they will be to society.

Diagnostic testing of pre-school children who may have handicaps will be done at the school.

The administrators hope to eventually make the facilities, such as the pool, available to handicapped adults and possibly the community at large. "Our philosophy is, we want the facilities used more than six hours a day," Jones commented.

COST

Total cost of Highland Pines, according to Jerome Thienes, TISD assistant superintendent and director of business and finance, was $3.53 million. That includes construction, architects' fees, equipment, etc.

Of that amount, $1.8 million came from the state to cover its share of the cost for providing facilities for the teaching of residents at the Regional Center.

The rest of the money is coming from the .6 mill approved by county voters in February, 1976, which first appeared on tax bills that December.

Some money from that source has been spent directly for the building. In addition, revenue from the millage is being used to pay off the four-year bonds sold to help finance construction. There are two years remaining to pay off the bonds.

Including that levy, a total of 1.6 mills is levied within the county for all special education. It is all a charter millage, with no expiration date.

The state also pays part of the operating cost at Highland Pines. It pays 100 percent for the Regional Center residents enrolled there.

The state subsidizes all special education programs, which works out to about 40 percent of the cost per child at Highland Pines who is a county resident. The remaining 60 percent comes out of the 1.6 mills.

Jones and Mahan are hopeful the total cost of educating the mentally impaired in Tuscola county will be reduced, through such means as energy savings, bus transportation and maintenance.

The new building has a staff of 120, including teachers, therapists, aides, bus drivers and custodians. That is a few less than were employed last year for the same programs, due to fewer students.

As for whether the 1.6 mills for special education can be reduced once the bonds are paid off in two years, Thienes said, that is the goal of the TISD Board of Education, but with the state of the economy and uncertainty over future state funding, that can't be guaranteed.

Set open house for facilities

The public will be able to see the new Highland Pines School and the $4 million Tuscola Area Skill Center, which opened in September, at an open house from 1-5 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 9.

The buildings are side-by-side on Cleaver Road, north of M-81 on the east edge of Caro.

Dedication ceremonies for the two buildings will take place on a yet-to-be-decided date in the spring.

THE MESS was only temporary last Thursday as furniture and equipment formerly at Darbee School was being put into place in the early awareness room at the Highland Pines School. In the background is Shirley Warren.

THE BALL BOUNCES the same in the carpeted gymnasium, but it sounds different. The carpet provides a cushion for students who fall due to seizures, is warmer than a regular gym floor, necessary because many activities will be conducted with students sitting on the floor, and is cheaper to maintain.

WHIRLPOOL BATH is needed for some students to relax their muscles before they exercise. Operating it will be licensed physical therapist Linda DeGrow.

SWIMMING POOL -- Highland Pines Principal Allen Jones at the rail of the 20-by-32 foot pool. Two smaller one are used for therapy as well as recreation. Both have ramps so wheelchair users can be wheeled into the water.

Law now demands special ed.

A happier, more independent life can begin with getting a good job—particularly for disabled young people. Fortunately, laws now provide for education that offers proper job preparation.

The laws guarantee disabled students in the public schools the right to an opportunity to obtain vocational education that will permit them to obtain employment and lead a more fulfilling work life after graduation.

According to the Education for All the Handicapped Children Act, an individualized education program must be provided for all handicapped students who need special education services at the secondary level. The Act includes the right to prevocational and vocational experiences in the "least restrictive environment."

Nondiscrimination on the basis of a handicap is required by the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (Section 504) at all schools where education programs receive federal financial assistance.

Another law—the Vocational Education Amendment of 1976—provides that ten percent of vocational education funds be set aside to help provide "quality" vocational programs for handicapped students.

For free information about the improved vocational prospects for disabled young people, write to the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, Washington, D.C. 20210.

ENTRANCEWAYS into the new Highland Pines School are covered to protect students getting on and off buses. The school is off Cleaver Road, behind the Tuscola Intermediate School District office and next to the Tuscola Area Skill Center.

Your Neighbor says

Foreign car sales should be limited

Should tariffs or quotas be imposed to limit sales of foreign cars in this country? "Definitely," responded Pam Goodman, "so more American cars can be sold, so the unemployment rate will go down."

The U.S. International Trade Commission recently completed hearings examining whether restrictions should be imposed on foreign cars.

A Federal Trade Commission economist testified at the hearing that imposition of quotas or tariffs (tax) would cost consumers from $3.6 billion in higher car prices, either by limiting supply in relation to demand or because tariffs would be passed on to the buyers.

Even if the restrictions made car prices higher, Miss Goodman felt it would be worth it if it would put more Americans back to work.

She does feel tariffs or quotas should only be for a few years. "I think it should be just temporary, until the economy gets back together."

A May graduate of Cass City High School, Miss Goodman drives a 1980 American 4-cylinder car to get to classes at Delta College. She did look at a foreign car, but bought the American one because it was cheaper.

She lives with her parents, Steve and Irene Kruchko, on Schwegler Road.

Fellow Tuscola County Voter:

As you probably know, I want to be your next Sheriff. If elected, I will keep present Undersheriff Bruce Tait on the job . . . not for what some would call political expediency nor for personal reasons. No, not for any reason other than I strongly believe that Undersheriff Tait is the best man available for the job. And I challenge any man to look me squarely in the eye and say otherwise.

I believe a Sheriff's election must not be a closed game, reserved for old-line insiders. It must not be a reward for seniority. It must not be an "endorsement" contest. And, it must not be a plum for any special interest group.

No, none of that will do. Indeed the public interest is at stake in this election, as never before. Your vote must be for the best law enforcement team . . . for the best leadership, and for the best common sense answers that work.

In a nutshell, your vote must be for somebody with stamina and vigor who is capable of working long and tiring hours. For somebody who will lead the charge and make the right things happen. For somebody who will call for an all-out declaration of war on crime. For somebody who will tell the dope peddlers to stay away from our schools and hit the road!

With a deep sense of humility, I say to you: I am that Somebody. I feel that I have both the training and the experience to get the job done right. If you believe, as I do, that Tuscola County deserves the Number One Law Enforcement Team, then please tell your friends and neighbors that we need their help.

Thank you for your consideration of my candidacy.

2 women plead guilty to welfare fraud in circuit court

Two women pleaded guilty to welfare fraud when they appeared Oct. 14 before Circuit Judge Norman H. Baguley.

Mary Lee McCall, 32, of Saginaw, pleaded guilty to defrauding the Tuscola County Department of Social Services of more than $500 between September, 1975, and June, 1976.

Caroline E. Tallman, 35, of 2227 N. Graf Road, Caro, pleaded guilty to defrauding the department of more than $500 between May and August, 1979.

Both women's pleas were accepted. Sentencing was scheduled Nov. 24.

In other cases Oct. 14 before Judge Baguley:

Wesley D. Pero, 18, of 542 Birch Street, Vassar, pleaded guilty to larceny in a building, in connection with an Aug. 21 larceny at Jack's Party Store in Vassar.

His plea was taken under advisement, with sentencing scheduled Nov. 24 if the plea is accepted. Bond was continued.

Bobby Gene Johnson, 19, of 500 S. Almer Road, Caro, pleaded guilty to larceny in a building, which was accepted. Sentencing was scheduled Nov. 24.

His plea was in connection with an Aug. 13 break-in of a garage on Remington Road, Caro.

Thomas P. Caruthers, 21, no available address, pleaded guilty to joy riding, which was accepted. Sentencing was scheduled Nov. 24.

He was charged with driving away the car of Sue Thane Jan. 24, in Caro.

Albert J. Mattice, 42, of 621 Burnside Street, Caro, pleaded guilty to charges of driving under the influence of liquor and driving with license suspended. He was arrested on the charges Sept. 23 in Caro.

His plea was accepted and he was remanded to the county jail without bond to await sentencing Dec. 8.

William R. Dorman, 19, of 318 Green Street, Caro, pleaded guilty to attempted breaking and entering, in connection with the April 27 break-in at Farmers Petroleum Co-op on M-81, west of Caro.

His plea was accepted and he was remanded to the county jail without bond to await sentencing Dec. 8.

Under a plea bargain with the prosecution, two charges of breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling are to be dismissed, in exchange for the guilty plea. Dismissal of the charges was taken under advisement.

The charges are in connection with break-ins of an auto repair shop and the Hiser Mobile Homes sales office, both in Caro April 27.

Daniel V. Brigham, 20, of 4300 E. Sanilac Road, Kingston, pleaded guilty to larceny in a building. His plea was accepted and sentencing scheduled Dec. 8.

The charge was in connection with a break-in at Laethem Equipment in Caro June 13.

PROBATION

Robert C. Keen Jr., 31, of 3115 Cemetery Road, Kingston, was placed on three years' probation for felonious assault and malicious destruction of property under $100. He was also sentenced to 90 days in the county jail, credited with one day served, fined $200, assessed $200 court costs and ordered to pay $125 restitution.

He pleaded guilty to the charges Aug. 11, of having threatened Michael Wedge with a knife and slashing the four tires of the car of Thomas Wadsworth of Sandusky, in which Wedge was a passenger. The incident occurred in Cass City Feb. 9.

Larry Spencer, 35, of Otisville, was placed on two years' probation for driving under the influence of liquor (2nd offense). He was assessed $200 court costs.

He was arrested on the charge Nov. 22, 1979, in Indianfields townships and pleaded guilty Feb. 11, after which sentencing was postponed six months.

JAIL TERMS

Leon G. Doyle, 22, of O'Brien Road, Mayville, was sentenced to one year in the county jail for delivery of marijuana. He was credited with 10 days served.

A jury found him guilty of the charge Aug. 14, for which he was arrested Feb. 22 in Mayville.

Thomas L. Kemp, 17, of 149 W. Grant Street, Caro, was sentenced to one year in the county jail for aggravated assault. He was credited with 18 days served.

He pleaded guilty to the charge Aug. 25, of having assaulted Henry Bohm in his (Kemp's) home June 9.

Janis Murphy, 28, of Rose City, was sentenced to one year in the county jail for violation of probation. She was credited with 160 days served.

She pleaded guilty Aug. 25 to having violated probation by her guilty plea in Flint the previous month to soliciting. She was placed on three years' probation in June, 1979, for attempted obtaining of morphine by forged prescription.

Michael J. Linder, 22, of Waterman Road, Vassar, was sentenced to one year in the county jail for probation violation. He was credited with 110 days served.

He was placed on 36 months' probation Oct. 10, 1977 for attempted receiving and concealing stolen property over $100. He pleaded guilty Aug. 13 to violating probation by associating with someone he was not supposed to have contact with.

Terry E. Brock, 20, of 9222 Overton Street, Reese, was sentenced to 20 months to 2½ years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for violating probation. He was credited with 122 days served.

He was placed on 36 months' probation June 12, 1978, for attempted larceny from a motor vehicle.

He was found guilty Aug. 13 of having violated probation by his guilty pleas in July, 1979, in district court to charges of driving under the influence of liquor and possession of marijuana.

2 injured in 4-car crash

A four-car accident west of Kingston last Thursday resulted in injuries to at least two persons.

Taken to Hills and Dales General Hospital for treatment was Debra L. Lester, 25, of 3738 Ross Road, Kingston. She was released from there Monday.

Possibly injured, according to sheriff's deputies, was her daughter, Sara Jane, 3.

Seeking her own treatment for minor injuries was Leslie J. Roberts, 65, of Marquette.

Officers reported that Mrs. Lester, eastbound on M-46, started to turn left onto Phillips Road.

A car driven by Earl D. Odoerfer, 47, of Croswell, passed her on the right.

The eastbound Roberts vehicle, unable to stop, slammed into the rear of the Lester auto, pushing it into the path of a westbound car driven by Scott J. Dorman, 20, of 1811 Decker Road, Decker.

The accident occurred at 7:45 p.m.

THREE-CAR CRASH

An accident at 8:10 a.m. last Wednesday sent one person to Hills and Dales.

Treated and released was Steve Steely, 15, of Leslie Road, Decker, a passenger in a car driven by Michael W. Jones, 16, of Pringle Road, Decker.

According to the Sanilac County Sheriff's Department, Jones was northbound on M-53, south of M-81, when he lost control of his car on the wet pavement while trying to slow down for a vehicle that had just pulled out of a driveway, headed north. Driver of that one was William J. Brown, 24, of Cumber Road, Ubyly.

Following was James R. Brown, 31, of 5933 Pringle Road, Cass City, who upon seeing Jones go out of control, tried to turn into the driveway.

But the Jones car spun around, struck the James Brown car, glanced off it and hit the William Brown auto.

Cass City police took charge of the accident scene until Sanilac deputies arrived.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Two persons were reported as receiving possible injuries, but not requiring hospital treatment, in an accident at 4:40 p.m. Friday.

They were Foster R. Plane, 65, of 6011 Legg Road, Kingston, one of the drivers involved, and his passenger, his wife Christine, 61.

Tuscola deputies reported Plane, westbound on Legg, had turned right onto Kingston Road.

Boyd H. Vollweiler, 20, of Mayville, who was northbound, tried to slow before passing the Plane auto, but then saw a bicyclist ahead. He didn't have time to stop and his car hit the left side of the Plane vehicle, sending it off the road.

David W. Palazzola, 18, of 4815 Germania Road, Snover, was ticketed by Cass City police on a charge of failure to stop within an assured clear distance ahead after an accident at 8:20 a.m. Tuesday.

Police said he was northbound on Seeger and ran into the rear of an auto which had stopped for the red light at Rose Street.

Driver of the other car was Scott W. Harmon, 16, of 4360 Leslie Road, Decker.

CAR-DEER

At 7 p.m. Friday, according to deputies, Steven D. Goodrow, 26, of Caro, was eastbound on Deckerville Road, east of Orr Road, when his car struck a deer.

Viola Lee Begeman, 52, of Phillips Road, Kingston, was westbound on Bevins Road, east of Ryan Road, Caro state police reported, when a deer ran into the left side of her car. The mishap took place at 8:20 a.m. Saturday.

At 8 p.m. Saturday, Cass City police said, Richard J. Tuckey, 22, of 4533 Downing Street, was westbound on Kelly Road at Englehart Road when his vehicle struck a deer.

Elkland fire chief tells how

Avoid disaster—learn wood stove care

Winter came early for the Elkland Township Fire Department. It was Sept. 14 when firemen extinguished a fire at a S. Seeger Street home which had spread from the fireplace where it was supposed to be into the wall, where it wasn't.

The increasingly popular use of fireplaces and wood burning stoves the past few years in order to offset the ever increasing cost of conventional heating fuels has made life unpleasant for firemen.

During the winter of 1979-80, firemen responded to 16 house fires stemming from the burning of wood fuel. Only one house was a total loss, and it wasn't provable the cause was the wood stove, but even a few hundred dollars damage is damage that need not have occurred if proper precautions had been made in installation of the heating unit and its use.

Fire Chief Jack Hartwick is afraid there may be even more such fires this winter. Many wood stoves were installed a year ago and the owners got through the winter without maintenance, primarily cleaning the chimney. But no maintenance this winter will mean that the creosote that has built up inside may eventually ignite.

During the heating season from October, 1979, through March, 1980, according to the Michigan State Police Fire Marshal Division, 18 persons died in the state from house fires related to woodburning stoves. There were 235 persons treated for injuries from such fires, with an estimated 10 times that many unreported injuries.

There were 1,199 reported fires directly caused by "solid fuel appliances," including fireplaces, causing $6.1 million in damages, plus 1,279 chimney fires related to burning wood.

Improper installation is one contributing cause of such fires. Hartwick recalled one fire last year, where the stove pipe went directly through the outside wall of the house, with no insulating pipe (thimble) around it. The pipe had rusted through where it went through the wall and when the pipe got hot, burning creosote fell into the wall and started a fire.

A mistake he has seen in old homes is to connect the stove pipe with the old chimney, without firing the chimney or installing a pipe inside. Mortar has fallen out and even more falls out if the fire is extremely hot. Burning creosote can then escape through the cracks into the house.

Burning green wood which creates more creosote is another error he has seen. In addition to being highly flammable, creosote also reduces efficiency. As little as 1 millimeter can reduce a stove's efficiency as much as 15 percent.

Homeowners can hire chimney sweeps to clean their chimneys — there are at least three or four in this area — or buy brushes, available at some hardware stores, and do the job themselves.

Following are some safety tips from the state Bureau of Construction Codes, National Fire Protection Association and State Police Fire Marshal Division, as reported in the Michigan Department of Labor Laborer magazine:

INSTALLATION

—Observe manufacturers' recommended clearances.

—Keep the connector pipe from the stove to the chimney as short as possible.

—Use at least 24 gauge steel stove pipe.

—Sections of pipe should be fastened together with at least three wood screws.

—If pipe is more than six feet long, other mechanical support is required.

—If masonry chimney is used, the stovepipe should extend to the inner surface of the masonry wall, but not into the flue space.

—Clearance between the connector and any combustible materials should be at least 18 inches.

—If more than one section of pipe is used, the upper pipe should be fitted over the lower one to prevent air leaks.

—Try to avoid 90 degree angles in the stovepipe (they tend to accumulate creosote), use a few 45 degrees turns if necessary.

—Do not reduce the size of the stovepipe from the stove outlet to the chimney. This could cause backup smoke.

—If the stove is not equipped with a damper, one should be built into the stovepipe to control draft.

—The chimney, whether masonry or factory built should extend at least three feet above the roof and two feet above any ridge of the building within 10 feet. There should also be at least 16 feet from the stove outlet to the chimney top.

—Never vent more than one heating appliance into one flue.

—A metal ventilated thimble must be used where the pipe goes through walls and ceilings and should be at least 12 inches larger in diameter than the connector.

MAINTENANCE

—Before firing the stove, inspect the chimney and connectors for creosote buildup or other blockages and defects.

—Clean the chimney once a year and the stovepipe twice or three times during the heating season.

PROPER USE

—Never use gasoline, kerosene, charcoal starter or any other flammable liquid to start a fire.

—If your home is tightly insulated, you might want to open a window a crack to assure proper draft for the safe and efficient operation of the stove.

—When starting a fire, place a small amount of paper in front of your pile of kindling and then place larger logs on top of the kindling.

—Open the draft and damper wide to make the fire start quickly and prevent large amounts of back-up smoke in the room. Soon after the fire catches, the damper controls should be adjusted down.

—When stoking the fire, it is a good idea to open the damper control, but adjust it downward again soon after.

—Never overload a stove. Solid fuel appliances do not have automatic safety shut-offs when the fire gets too hot.

ADDITIONAL TIPS

—Place an approved fire extinguisher near the stove.

—Place a smoke or fire detector near your sleeping quarters but far enough away from the stove to prevent it from sounding during normal heat radiation.

—Keep a container of coarse salt near the stove. In case of a chimney fire, call your local fire department. Flames can often be slowed down or extinguished by dumping cups full of salt in the firebox.

—Place portable, folding escape ladders under your bed or windowsills for emergency use.

ENJOYING THE HEAT from the Franklin wood burning stove in the home of Elkland Township Fire Chief Jack Hartwick is son Rob. The stove is elevated off the floor, sits on slate, is a safe distance from the walls, which are covered with fireproof imitation brick. The smokestack (inset) as it goes through the roof is surrounded by two larger pipes.

Increase wages for CETA workers in public service

The Thumb Area Consortium will have to get by on leftover funds until Congress gets around to appropriating more money.

The agency which administers the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) program in the upper Thumb finished the 1979-80 fiscal year Sept. 30 with 1,497 participants in various job and job training programs and $823,673 in the bank.

Executive Director Frank Lenard told the consortium administrative board last Thursday that before Congress adjourned recently, it passed a resolution authorizing continuation of CETA spending at the 1979-80 level, but appropriated no new funds. It will appropriate money when it reconvenes after the Nov. 4 election.

That means his agency will have to get by on the $823,673 until new funds are received, which could mean it could be in trouble by December, he said. The preliminary report for the now ended fiscal year showed the consortium was authorized almost $7.8 million in CETA funds, of which it spent $6.97 million.

The new wage standard for CETA public service jobs, set by the U.S. Department of Labor, is $7.84 annually, which works out to $3.77 per hour for a 40-hour week. The standard for 1979-80 had been $7.765.

CETA recipients can be paid more than that, but the overall average must be $3.77 and all wages must be at or above the minimum wage of $3.35.

The higher wage, according to Lenard, will still eliminate some potential jobs as employing units can't pay CETA employees less than they pay their own employees for the same job.

The executive director reported that the agency program monitor Roy Allen has uncovered instances of consortium sub-contractors using CETA funds to pay for travel that was not CETA-related, including at least one trip out of state.

Accordingly, the board approved a new policy requiring prior written approval for all travel outside of Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties.

Also prohibited will be paying for meals or lodging within the three counties with CETA funds.

The three sub-contractors, which run various CETA programs, are the Human Development Commission, Caro; Huron Intermediate School District, Bad Axe, and Tri-County Public Service Agency, Sandusky.

Lenard said after the meeting the travel, though not proper, was not illegal.

The board approved purchase of five five-drawer 30-inch lateral files and four five-drawer 42-inch lateral files for a total of $4,375 from Thumb Office Supply of Bad Axe. It was the only one of three firms asked to submit bids which did so.

Lenard said the added filing cabinets were needed because the state is requiring a separate file for each CETA participant, dating back to 1974, which must be updated quarterly.

Purchase of an IBM electric typewriter for $922 was approved.

Purchase of three desks, three desk chairs and some other chairs and folding tables, at a maximum cost of $2,000 was authorized. The furniture is needed because an assessment worker, classroom training counselor and clerk-typist are being added to the staff.

400 at facility's open house

Sunday afternoon, Oct. 5, more than 400 residents, employees, families and friends enjoyed an open house and quilt show at Provincial House.

More than 75 quilts and other hand work were on display. Quilts shown were from 110 years old to new ones.

Music for the afternoon was provided by Dean Strieter of Unionville and Ruth Esau of Cass City, who played the piano, and the Merry Music group from Caro.

Dona Strieter, administrator of Provincial House, honored 10 residents who have lived at the home the past seven years. Honored were Mary Mikich, Ada Scott, Betty Gerber, Anna Woldan, Gladys Lounsbury, Victoria O'Neil, Helen Stec, Theresa Schweiss, Lillie Lamphere and Gertrude Taylor.

Provincial House in Cass City opened seven years ago, Oct. 8, 1973. Refreshments were served.

Arrest pupils for school vandalism

partment in the investigation were the Akron Police Department and Michigan State Police crime lab.

The vandalism included destruction beyond repair of 24 electric typewriters, 10 manual ones, six calculators, photography equipment, broken furniture, windows, glassware and shelving in the chemistry room, and most of the dishes in the cafeteria. The destroyed electric typewriters alone were worth $24,000.

Some electric drills, sanders, tape recorders, calculators and other items were stolen but were later found in a cornfield behind the school.

Gagetown scouts seek new members

Gagetown Boy Scout Troop 589 held membership recruitment night Oct. 7 in the meeting rooms over Mr. Kelly's Market in Gagetown.

The regular scouts attending were Ricky Zimmerman, Steve Voltz, John Shope and John Olsak; Scoutmaster Roger "Rusty" Martindale and Assistant Scoutmaster Dave Kirby. Also attending were committee chairman Bill Fischer and guest speaker, District Executive Bob Whelton.

Whelton showed a movie about the 1977 National Jamboree.

There was discussion afterwards about Jamboree and summer camp, the Showando coming soon and the different badges that can be earned.

Discussed were having special service projects such as community services.

Boating, hiking, camping and gun safety are a few of the other projects planned.

Also discussed were handicapped awareness trials, in which the boys must do things on crutches, in wheelchairs (playing basketball) and going over obstacles blindfolded to better understand some of the difficulties handicapped persons encounter.

Any boys and parents of boys interested in joining the Gagetown Scouts can contact Martindale at 665-2596.

Four boys and two scoutmasters from Troop 589 participated in a Thumb district junior and adult leadership training session in Caro at Camp Pine Acres, Oct. 3-5.

Purpose was to teach adults and boys how to perform their respective roles as leaders in scouting.

Included in the training were how-tos of: cooking, knife and axmanship, orienteering (maps and compass), campsite preparation and nature studies.

Attending from Gagetown

Local library board plans improvements

Four board members and the librarian were present Tuesday for the monthly meeting at the Rawson Memorial Library.

The budget was reviewed. Upcoming improvements will include eaves troughing on the front of the library and more storage cupboards for periodicals. The Cass City Area Historical Society will share the expense of the proposed cupboards, so they can be used for storage of its materials.

Plans are being made again to show movies during winter. They will include movies for children, some on travel and others on topics of current interest.

were scouts Olsak, Shope, Steve Root and Dave Laurie, Scoutmaster Martindale and assistant Scoutmaster Kirby.

The scouts made their own meals, took care of the camp site, set up all the tents, cut and split firewood and organized entertainment.

At the end of the three days, Troop 589 was recognized as most improved troop by the staff of the training session.

The boys also earned their first award, the camping skills award.

Pvt. Guilds completes training

Pvt. Kenneth Lee Guilds, son of Charlotte Kitchin of Deford, a graduate of Cass City High School, has completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C., and advanced individual training at Fort Campbell, Ky., with the 101st Airborne Division.

Kenneth Guilds

Guilds enlisted in the U.S. Army in June and is expected to be home on leave at the end of October.

Marlette bows in tune-up game

Vassar-Cass City collide — title on line

It all boils down to one final game for the Cass City Red Hawks. Everything that has gone before means little if anything.

At least a share of Thumb

B Conference championship will be riding on the outcome of the game between Vassar and Cass City Friday.

The stage was set for the showdown last Friday when the Vulcans rolled past Caro and the Hawks cruised past winless, in the league, Marlette, 48-6.

There's no telling how large the final margin could have been if Coach Don Schelke hadn't pulled the regulars early.

At the end of the first quarter Cass City was in front 21-0 and at the half it was 41-0. There's a question if an easy game like that one is good for a team before a major encounter like the Hawks face when Vassar comes to town.

Vassar had to go all out to defeat a good Caro team and some observers feel that it may be to their advantage coming into the title tilt with Cass City.

The Hawks came through the Marlette game in good physical condition although Steve Steeley, a guard, was injured in an auto accident.

Cass City should be at an emotional high against Vassar. The game is the first real chance Cass City has had to take a grid title since the undefeated team of 1972. Whatever happens Friday the chances are that the winner will share the title with North Branch which now shares the top spot.

There wasn't much to the game against the Red Raiders. The Hawks scored early and often in the first half and then coasted home as Schelke used some of the players who will be the mainstays of next year's team.

The scoring started with 7:12 left in the first quarter. Brian deBeaubien hit Bob Leslie with a 37-yard scoring strike and the TD parade was on.

The next time the Hawks got the ball Rob Sawdon capped a drive with a 270-yard run to paydirt. The Hawks struck again with just 17 seconds left in the first quarter.

Taking advantage of the wind, deBeaubien hit Leslie again. This time Leslie was behind the safety over the center and gathered the pass in untouched and trotted across.

Marlette went to a variety of trick formations in the second period, but none was successful. One of the plays with the line spread across the field resulted in an interception by Brad Hartel and he galloped in from 20 yards out.

Leading 35-0, Cass City added one more marker in the dying moments of the first half. The pay-off play was a pass from junior Jim Crickon, substitute quarterback, to Randy Severance that covered 18 yards.

With the Hawk forward wall opening huge holes in the Marlette line, Sawdon had no trouble running for 120 yards in 15 carries. Phil Zawilinski ripped off 79 yards in 9 tries to pace the Hawks on the ground.

An oddity of the game was the passing attack. Cass City tried just four and completed them all. Leslie was credited with 103 yards in three receptions and two touchdowns. For his effort he was named Red Hawk of the week.

CASS CITY ran almost at will against Marlette when the regulars were in the game in the first half. Phil "Buck" Zawilinski picked up 8 yards on this play before being driven out of bounds by Red Raider defenders.

Face Tigers Friday

Napoleon conquers O-G in non-league game, 29-16

It was a long ride to Napoleon, near Jackson, for Owen-Gage Friday and even longer coming back as the Bulldogs lost the non-league game, 29-16.

The Bulldogs, now 4-3 overall and 3-2 in the North Central D League, end their league schedule this Friday night at Carsonville-Port Sanilac.

The Tigers are 2-3 in the league and 2-5 overall and a win will give the Bulldogs second place, tied with the winner of the Akron-Fairgrove-North Huron game. The winner of that one will tie with Peck for first.

Carsonville coach Ken Sullins changes his offensive strategy from week to week, Besonen said, relying on his ground game one week and throwing the ball the next. "What can you practice against?"

"If we play like we played the second half (at Napoleon), we'll be all right," he predicted.

Including a stop for dinner, it took the Bulldogs five hours to get to Napoleon, which left them groggy in the first half. In the second, although it wasn't enough to overcome the first half deficit, Owen-Gage came alive with 178 yards gained, versus 78 by its opponents. The team didn't get back to Owendale until about 3 a.m. Saturday.

Napoleon, 1-5 going into the game, with several close losses, is a big C school that plays in a Class B league.

In the first quarter, Pirate Bill Young passed 45 yards to Trent Anderson to score. Joe Messerly then kicked the extra point.

Later in the quarter, Rick Mahaney scored on a 4-yard run. The extra point kick attempt was blocked.

Messerly kicked a 24-yard field goal to start second period scoring. Anderson scored again after catching a Young pass, the play totaling 26 yards. Messerly kicked the extra point.

Owen-Gage got on the scoreboard in the third quarter when Jim Glidden grabbed a pass from Craig Gettel in a 47-yard play. Gettel then ran the ball over for two more.

Joe Messerly collected Napoleon's last touchdown, on a 9-yard run. The extra point kick attempt was blocked.

The final touchdown came in the fourth quarter on a 19-yard pass from Gettel to Glidden, to cap a 68-yard, eight-play drive. Scott Gaeth ran the ball in for two points.

Owen-Gage collected nine first downs, rushed for 165 yards in 31 carries and gained 90 yards in the air, on four completions of 10 attempts, with one interception.

Its opponents made 15 first downs, gained 235 yards in 46 carries on the ground and 66 in the air on four completions of eight attempts, with two interceptions.

Jim Glidden was top rusher for Owen-Gage with 68 yards in 10 carries, followed by Gaeth with 58 yards in 11 carries. Messerly was tops for the Pirates with 95 yards in 20 carries.

Glidden was also the top pass receiver with three catches good for 73 yards. Anderson caught two Napoleon tosses for 37 yards.

Owen-Gage recovered its one fumble and was penalized five times for 55 yards. The host team didn't fumble and was penalized five times for 32 yards.

Glidden made 10 tackles and blocked one point-after-touchdown kick. Gaeth blocked the other and made nine tackles. Gary Erickson also had nine tackles and Gettel had eight.

Anderson and Tim Kutawa of the Pirates each made nine tackles.

CHARACTER TEST

The surest way to test a man's character is to find out if he lives up to his promises.

IT WAS A PICTURE fast break by Cass City against Sandusky. All three Hawks beat the defense down the floor as Padgett Randall takes the shot. Number 12 is Shelley Rabi-deau and Number 10 is Kelly Seurynek.

Wins keep cagers in loop title fight

Cass City chalked up a pair of cage victories in Thumb B Association competition during the week to set the stage for a title showdown with the Vassar Vulcans. The Vulcans were to have played at Cass City Wednesday night. Both teams have a 6-1 record in the league.

The Hawks used a big second quarter last Wednesday to roll past Sandusky, 40-29. The two teams played about even for the first 10 minutes although the Hawks led all the way.

Coach Lloyd Schinnerer used a full court press to speed up the tempo and it paid off with several easy baskets. At the half Cass City was in front 25-14 and then played the visitors on even terms the rest of the way to post the victory.

In double figures for the Hawks were a pair of seniors, Padgett Randall with 12, and Shelley Lapeer, 10 points. Ann Bradley and Ann Soffradine led the losers with 10 points each.

Michelle Fahrner led all rebounders with 7. Randall, Lapeer and Kelly Seurynek netted 5 each. Cass City shot a poor 26 percent from the floor and was able to convert just 36 percent from the charity circle.

Cass City remained on top with Vassar in the league with a close 34-29 decision over Marlette. Again it was a spurge in the second period that spelled the difference.

The Hawks outscored the Red Raiders 14-8 in the second quarter and that was enough for the win.

Randall was the only player in double figures with 12 points. Lapeer and Betty Sieradzki netted 8 each. Cass City improved its shooting percentage against Marlette, converting 15 of 47 from the floor for 32 percent and 4 of 6 from the line for 67 percent.

Kelly Seurynek led all rebounders with 9.

Bulldogs win to retain loop lead

The Bulldogs tightened their hold on first place in the North Central D League last Thursday with an easy 58-23 win at Akron-Fairgrove which saw Becky Howard set a new school scoring mark.

The 5-8 senior pumped in 34 points, one more than her previous mark, which she scored twice. She was the only Bulldog in double figures, her points coming on 14 of 31 shots from the floor and six free throws.

Julie Andrakowicz dominated the boards, pulling down 17 rebounds. Howard grabbed 10.

Top scorer for the Vikings was Tracy Barriger with 12 points.

Owen-Gage is now 7-1 in the league; 11-1 overall. The Bulldogs won the junior varsity contest, 22-12.

The Bulldogs play at Uby in a non-league contest Thursday and are at Kingston Tuesday.

Breeding stallions don't come cheap

Horses not just a hobby for Doug Halls

Doug Hall is used to the pitter of feet — and the clip-clop.

The fifth grade teacher at Evergreen Elementary School and his wife Judy breed horses.

It was horses, in a sense, that brought them together. Both were raised on farms and both rode the animals as youngsters. Doug is a native of the Yale area, in St. Clair county. Judy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Tuckey of Elmwood Road, Cass City. She said her father had her on a horse before she could walk. They met when both were attending Bethel College in Mishawaka, Ind. "Even when we started dating in college, that (horses) was one of the subjects we discussed," Hall said.

He and his wife have been married 14 years. They have three sons, Brent, 9, Bart, 6, and Blake, 3.

Hall taught nine years in Marlette and is now in his fifth year at Evergreen.

The school is only a few miles from where the family lives, on M-53, south of Deckerville Road.

IT WAS 10 YEARS AGO that the Halls bought their first two quarter horses for riding. "We weren't even interested in showing at that time," Hall explained.

"One thing led to another and we started breeding," Hall explained. Their first two horses were mares so they had one of them bred.

From that beginning, his wife explained, "Each year we try to upgrade the quality."

Their present breeding horse, Super Roan Bar, which they have had a year, is their fourth stud. Their previous ones, Hall explained, produced average foals, but not the outstanding ones that were their goal.

Their last one produced excellent working horses, but not excellent halter (strictly for show) horses, whereas the new one, provided the mother is of equal quality, produces horses that are good for both.

IN THE WORLD OF horse shows, there are two basic categories, halter classes, where the horses are judged strictly on looks and the performance classes, where the horses are ridden and are judged on how well they (and the rider) perform. Some horses are better at one or the other.

"It's the goal of every breeder to breed for both... a good all-around horse," Hall explained.

With Super Roan Bar, he feels he has a horse that can do both.

THE SEVEN-YEAR-OLD horse was born in North Dakota and "discovered" in Iowa. Jim Miller, a Romeo trainer, saw the horse there and some of its offspring and decided it had excellent potential as a sire so purchased it for a Canadian.

The horse never went to Canada but was shown last year in Michigan, along with some of its offspring, by Miller for its owners in order for it to become known.

Miller told the Halls of the horse's availability and after a few weeks of negotiations, it was purchased by them a year ago.

Hall won't say how much money he and his wife paid for the horse, only that it was VERY expensive. (The price was in the five digit range.)

"We didn't buy it as an income tax write-off," he explained. "We bought it as an investment."

THE HALLS ARE RE-couping their investment, and paying off the loan needed to buy the horse, two ways. One is through stud fees and the other is through breeding it with their own mares and selling the offspring.

In a season, from late February to June, their prize stud can service 40-50 mares, as many as three a day.

That can mean long hours for Hall, who takes care of the breeding. If the time is right and there are three mares to be serviced, that means getting up early to take care of the first one before school and doing the other two afterwards, the second late at night.

The two horses simply aren't put in a pen together and told, "Go to it." Each must be cleaned beforehand and the mare's tail wrapped.

Although that aspect of the operation means long days during the school year, Hall finds that teaching otherwise fits in well with the horse business.

Summer vacations give him lots of time to do his farming. On the 40 acres he and his wife own, he raises all of the hay needed and some corn and oats, although most of that is purchased.

SO FAR, THE FARTHEST anyone has brought a mare to be bred is from such places as Utica and Oxford, north of Detroit, although the Halls did receive a call once from a man in Iowa who was interested. He finally decided it was too far to trailer his horse.

Owners of mares seeking a breeding partner often come for a visit to inspect the stud. They can also trace his pedigree. Super Roan Bar's has been traced back to 1940.

Some stallions can breed until they are as much as 20 years old. Their peak usually lasts five or six years.

DESPITE ITS VALUE, Hall does ride the animal, which he describes as a very good riding horse. One reason it is ridden is that it needs to be exercised at least every other day.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall don't see themselves as ever going into horse breeding as a full-time profession.

Mrs. Hall, in addition to the normal duties of being a wife and a mother, helps with the horse operation and is also a supervisor-distributor for a household products company.

As for her husband, "I enjoy teaching too much to give it up entirely."

3 jailed in Tuscola district court cases

Three Deford men were sentenced when they appeared last week in Tuscola County District Court.

At a trial Thursday, Judge Richard F. Kern found Daniel Spencer, 20, of 7633 Mushroom Road, guilty of charges of driving with license suspended or revoked and possession of open intoxicants in a motor vehicle.

On the first charge, Spencer was fined $33, assessed $22 court costs and sentenced to three days in the county jail. On the second charge, he was fined $63, assessed $37 in costs and sentenced to a concurrent three days in jail.

Spencer was arrested on the charge April 5 in Caro.

Michael McKenney, 20, of 286 Crawford Road, pleaded guilty Tuesday to a charge of larceny under $100, in connection with taking of a pair of boots Sept. 21 from Fisher's Big Wheel store near Caro.

He was fined $63, assessed $37 court costs, placed on probation and sentenced to three days in the county jail.

James A. Nicol, 18, of 7314 Deckerville Road, pleaded guilty Tuesday to driving under the influence of liquor. He was arrested on the charge Sept. 26 in Caro.

He was fined $100, assessed $150 court costs, placed on six months' probation and ordered to attend alcohol education classes and other classes as may be deemed necessary.

Thomas McGee, 32, of 6225 Lakeside Drive, Cass City, pleaded guilty Tuesday of last week to a charge of impaired driving - subsequent offense.

He was sentenced to four days in the county jail, fined $100, assessed $150 court costs and placed on probation.

He was arrested on the charge Aug. 1 in Cass City.

Long distance intra-state phone rates up

All Michigan telephone customers who make long-distance calls to other locations within the state are affected by the recent rate increase approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission for Michigan Bell, according to General Telephone Co.

An across-the-board increase of 8.37 percent went into effect for Michigan Bell Sunday. It applies to all intra-state long-distance service.

The increases for the first minute of a call range from a penny for calls up to 25 miles, 2 or 3 cents for calls of 26 to 100 miles and 4 cents for longer distances. Additional minute rates were similarly adjusted.

Intra-state long-distance rates established for Michigan Bell, which handles nearly 90 percent of the long-distance calls placed, are applied to customers of all companies to ensure rate uniformity.

Final rites Thursday for J.C. Hutchinson

J.C. Hutchinson of Cass City died Tuesday at Provincial House.

He was born May 27, 1904, in Elmwood township, the son of Smith and Eliza Ann (Andress) Hutchinson.

He married Pearl West Frantz July 23, 1949, in Cass City. They made their home here until 1968, when they moved to Tucson, Ariz., then returned to Cass City in 1976. Mrs. Hutchinson died March 27, 1977.

Hutchinson was a member of Trinity United Methodist church, Farm Bureau, Tyler Lodge No. 317, F. and A.M., and Echo Chapter No. 337, Order of the Eastern Star.

He is survived by three nephews, Don Hutchinson and Dean Hutchinson, both of Cass City, and Norman West of Bow, N.H.; one niece, Mrs. Nancy Bauer of Jackson, and 13 grandnieces and nephews. Two brothers and two sisters preceded him in death.

A Masonic memorial service was to have been held at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, under the auspices of Tyler Lodge.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Thursday at the funeral home, with Rev. P. Thomas Wachterhauser of Trinity United Methodist and Rev. Eldred Kelley of Salem United Methodist church officiating.

Burial will be in Elkland cemetery.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Village of Gagetown intends to prepare a pre-application for HUD's Small Cities CDBG program. This is a competitive program and more pre-applications will be received by HUD than can be funded. The Village intends to apply for funds to be used for Housing Rehabilitation.

The Village invites suggestions of alternative projects.

A public hearing will be held Nov. 3, 1980 at 7:00 p.m., at the Village Hall to provide residents an opportunity to submit their views and proposals and to more freely explain the program.

The program can fund a broad range of activities including; street, water supply, drainage and sanitary sewer improvements, park acquisition and improvements, demolition of unsafe structures, rehabilitation of housing, neighborhood facilities, and the like. The activities must be designed to benefit low-moderate income persons and to eliminate or prevent slums and blight.

Please attend these meetings and help the Village plan this program.

Auto-Owners for Mobile Home Insurance

If your present mobile home insurance protects just your mobile home, talk to us at Auto-Owners. You could be skating on thin ice.

Auto-Owners mobile home insurance protects more than your mobile home. If you own a garage or other structures on your dwelling property (which are not used for business, rental or lease), an Auto-Owners policy automatically covers it. For up to 10 percent of the value of your mobile home. At no extra charge.

Ask your independent Auto-Owners agent about mobile home insurance. He'll help you get your bearings.

Ballot proposals meeting

The Tuscola County Farm Bureau women's committee was to have sponsored a "Know Your Issues" meeting at Caro High School, room 803, this Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m.

The speaker was Robert Craig of Lansing, manager of commodity research division of Michigan Farm Bureau.

Purpose was to acquaint voters with the proposals which will appear on the ballot Nov. 4.

Refreshments were served.

Money can't buy a bit of love, but it can finance lots of sympathy.

O-G senior citizens eat at church

Fifty members attended the Owen-Gage senior citizens' lunch at the Gagetown United Methodist church last Thursday.

Rev. Myra Sparks led the blessing and gave a prayer. Returning to the Gagetown fire hall, Mable Ondrajka called the meeting to order.

Get-well cards were sent to Frank Doan, Grace Roberts, Millie Mosack and Mary Rathje.

Door prize winners were Beatrice Miljare and Floyd Ziehm.

Euchre prize winners were: high, Mary Blondell and Glenn Deneen; low, Jerry Carolan and Bill Ashmore.

Traveling prize winner was Stella Pisarek.

The next meeting will be at the Elmwood-Gagetown fire hall Nov. 6. Blood pressure readings will be taken.

Baptist class meets Friday

The Judson-Berean class of the Baptist Sunday School held a potluck dinner meeting Friday night in the church fellowship rooms.

Guests were Jean Graham and Ruth Edgerton, from the Thumb Area Commission on Aging, Rev. Jerry Ferris, class teacher, and Mrs. Ferris, and deacons Harold Rayl and Stan Gunther and their wives.

After the meal, George Fisher Sr. conducted a business meeting. Stan Gunther gave a devotional talk and introduced Mrs. Graham, who discussed services available through the Commission on Aging.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Ziehm returned Sunday after a three-week bus tour of Montreal, Quebec, Nova Scotia and various points of interest of the eastern states.

The winning pumpkin in the Chamber of Commerce contest last week was grown by John R. Graham of rural Caro.

It's a rosy picture for Cass City school finances. The district has plenty of money for operation and necessary improvements and still boasts the lowest tax rate in the area.

Kathy Jo Johnston, sophomore at Northwood Institute at Midland, was a member of the homecoming queen's court. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnston of Cass City.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Kirm met their son, Michael Kirm, U.S. Navy, at Tri-City Airport Thursday evening when he arrived from Rota, Spain, to spend a 30-day leave.

TEN YEARS AGO

Grover Laurie of Gagetown, has been named to a six-year term on the county Road Commission, and Lambert A. Althaver, Cass City village president, was named to a three-year term on the county Planning Commission by the county Board of Commissioners this week.

Cindy Strickland was named homecoming queen Friday night during half-time ceremonies at the Cass City-Lakers game.

Gerald and Don Stilson have purchased the Quaker Maid Dairy Store in Cass

City.

The Tuscola County Road Commission is mulling a million dollar move toward construction of 19 new bridges in the county.

25 YEARS AGO

Fuelgas Co. announced this week it is nearing completion of its new retail store and gas sales at the corner of M-81 and M-53.

The Tuscola County Board of Supervisors has gone on record as opposing the controversial moving of the driver's license bureau from the sheriff's to the secretary of state's office.

Telephone subscribers in the Cass City area exchange of General Telephone Co. will have a new type of service after 11 p.m. Oct. 22, when battery telephones replace the magneto type.

Janet Caister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Caister of Decker, will reign as Cass City High School queen at Friday's game against Sandusky.

Charles Weaver, 85, Cass City school superintendent from 1898-1901, recalled some of his experiences when he spoke at the Cass City Rotary Club meeting.

35 YEARS AGO

Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Reifel left Cass City Saturday for Jebba, Nigeria, West Africa, where they will serve as missionaries.

Those home from the armed services and either recently discharged or soon to be discharged are Mildred Fritz, Sgt. Doris Klinkman, Pfc. Ralph L. Stone, Cpl. Don H. McLeod, Gordon L. Anthes and Earl Ballagh.

New officers of Gifford Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, Gagetown, are Mrs. John Doerr, worthy matron; William Profit, re-elected worthy patron; Jean Wallace, associate matron; Robert Osborne, associate patron; Mrs. Vina Wallace, secretary; Mrs. Joseph McDermid, treasurer; Mrs. Leslie Beach, conductress, and Mrs. Audley Rawson, associate conductress.

Sen. Riegle in Sandusky Saturday

The public is invited to meet U.S. Senator Donald Riegle, D-Michigan, who will be in Sandusky Saturday from 4-5 p.m.

He will be in the county conference room, 37 Austin Street, in the former Bader Building.

It will be the senator's first visit to Sanilac county, according to county Democratic Chairman Eileen Riess. He will also be meeting county Democratic candidates.

Riegle will be stopping in Sandusky while on his way from Port Huron to Saginaw.

New books at the library

BEST RECIPES FROM THE BACKS OF BOXES, BOTTLES, CANS AND JARS, by Ceil Dyer (non-fiction). Her at long last, is the cookbook you would have put together if only you had had the time. All of those wonderful recipes that you meant to clip and save from that jar, can or box. Remember Rice Krispies marshmallow treats, Bacardi Rum Cake, Perfection Salad? These are American classics, recipes that have stood the test of time and the supermarket shelf. And the best thing about these recipes is that they come out perfect every time. The recipes in this book remain popular because they are fast, simple, and economical, ideally suited to today's pace and pocketbook.

A WAYSIDE TAVERN, by Norah Lofts (fiction). Sixteen centuries of English history unfold in this panoramic novel about a wayside inn, The Bull, and the Gildersons, its proprietors. Generation after generation, from the last days of the Roman occupation to the present, there has always been a Gilderson at The Bull to offer food, drink and lodging to the weary traveler, be he centurion, courtier, squire or simple yeoman. Through every kind of misfortune the inn and the hardy countrymen who run it prosper, changing with the times as England grows in wealth and power.

BURN OUT: THE MELANCHOLIA OF HIGH ACHIEVEMENT, by Dr. Herbert Freudenberg (non-fiction). Nationally recognized psychoanalyst Herbert Freudenberg explores a form of therapy now being developed to treat people suffering from the psychological dysfunction known as Burn Out depression. Burn Out, Dr. Freudenberg explains, strikes superachievers and highly motivated individuals who devote vast energies to a job, a goal, or a relationship, and fail to attain the expected rewards. Using actual case histories he shows how dedicated, committed human beings who are involved in parenting, working and loving relationships gradually become bored, unenthusiastic, angry and withdrawn. And how if properly treated, Burn Out can actually become a positive force in approaching tasks and responsibilities from a whole new perspective.
