

Turnout could be a record

A record number of Tuscola county residents are registered to vote in Tuesday's election. Whether that means a record number will vote remains to be seen.

According to County Clerk Elsie Hicks, there are 32,516 persons registered to vote. Not only is that the most ever, it is 3,155 persons more than were registered in July.

The number of registrations always climbs before a presidential election, but the number who registered prior to the Oct. 6 deadline was more than normal. One reason why there are more persons registered, she explained, is because they can register when they renew their driver's license, instead of only with their township clerk. The change has been in effect about two years. Although that makes it easier for persons to register, "Whether or not they're going to vote is another thing," she commented.

The record turnout in Tuscola county was in November, 1976, when 79.6 percent of the registered voters (more than 20,000) went to the polls, attracted by the presidential race, a close sheriff's race and four state ballot propositions.

This year, Mrs. Hicks is predicting a turnout of at least 50-60 percent adding that turnout in Tuscola county is traditionally more than the national average.

HAPPY HALLOWEEN ---- Luke Taylor, 3, is all ready for Halloween with these pumpkins, grown by his grandparents, Dean and Lena Tuckey of Koepfgen Road. The biggest weighs 125 pounds and is 74 inches in circumference. Luke is the son of Arnold and Susan Taylor of Cass City.

Board leaves biology decision to a journey

After an hour of debate Monday in a special meeting the Cass City School Board voted 4-3 to place the question of an apology for Mrs. Joyce Crouse in the hands of a Saginaw attorney.

Voting to hire the attorney were Mrs. Thresa Burnette, Dr. E. Paul Lockwood, Dean Hoag and Dick Albee. Against were Dr. Ed Scollon, Board President Geraldine Prieskorn and J.D. Tuckey.

The motion to refer to the attorney was made by Lockwood, who said that all releases to the press should be from the lawyers.

Mrs. Prieskorn attempted to get the matter resolved without an attorney because of the expense. It could cost us $5,000 or more, she said, to get it settled.

There apparently was a moderation of the stand taken by Scollon and Hoag after discussion by the board.

Dorland Kuntz, one of the members of the personnel committee that sat in on the discussions under the direction of Burnette, said that the resolution by the three board members (Hoag, Burnette and Lockwood) was not to sign an apology under any circumstances.

At the conclusion of the meeting, both Hoag and Lockwood said they would sign an apology if that was the course decided upon by the Saginaw law firm.

Burnette said that she would not be committed to signing even if the lawyer advised that it was the best option for the school.

Albee reiterated an earlier stand by saying that he had nothing against signing an apology but voted to refer to the lawyer because he was afraid of the school's liability. Perhaps if this is signed anyone will be able to sue the school for discrimination, he explained.

A motion was made by Lockwood to have Hoag and Burnette meet with the lawyer and the superintendent but it was withdrawn after the rest of the board members said they wanted to sit in on the discussion, too.

GRANT FRINGES

On the recommendation of the personnel committee, fringe benefits to supervisors in the system were authorized by the board that exceeded the request made for the group by the superintendent.

At a previous meeting, a request was made for major medical insurance policy under a group program offered to supervisors. This program for full family would have raised the cost to taxpayers to $127.22 per month, up from $104.00 the current Blue Cross policy costs. Granted to the supervisors was a choice between that policy and the policy issued to the teachers. The teacher group policy costs $131.12 per month, $3.90 per month per person more than the plan for supervisors.

The board increased the sick leave benefits as suggested in a previous meeting. The number of sick leave days was upped from 12 to 16. The rate of pay was increased from $25 per day to one-half the daily rate of pay. Supervisors can use vacation days for sick days if they desire.

The benefit increase was in addition to the 9 percent pay increase that was granted when new contracts were signed.

Estimated budget tops $3 million

It is estimated that the cost of operating Cass City's schools for 1980-81 will be over $3 million, according to a budget adopted by the Cass City School Board Monday evening.

The annual meeting and budget hearing attracted few members of the district and the budget adopted Monday was more tentative than budgets usually are.

That's because the legislature has not acted on state aid for schools and the amount listed is at best an educated guess. It is likely that the budget will be amended when state revenues are known.

Supt. Don Crouse told the board that he anticipated less revenue from the state this year than was received in 1979-80.

The loss, coupled with an increase in expenses, means that the school will end the year with a deficit.

Crouse said that revenues increased 6.4 per cent while expenses are up 11.4 per cent. The increase came in spite of a cut-back in the teaching staff.

These figures mean, according to the projections, that the school will be $153,000 in the red. The school ended the year with a cash surplus in the general fund of $306,172 to defray the estimated loss.

The fund balance was revealed in the annual financial statement of Barry Vallee, accountant with the school auditors, Rehmann, Robson, Osburn & Co.

He told the board that the financial condition of the schools was the best of any of the 15 schools that his company audited.

He also said that the operation run by the superintendent was the best that he was associated with.

Downtown apartments ok'd

Council, customers promised, cable television improving

Cable television reception in Cass City is getting better, the Cass City Village Council and several disgruntled customers were told Monday evening.

The council also approved a new ordinance allowing apartments in downtown buildings and got a dim preview of village finances for 1981.

Appearing before the council was Arnold Witherspoon, president of First Michigan Cablevision, and its engineer, Bob Stevens.

Witherspoon first appeared two months ago and promised improvements were forthcoming.

One of the improvements was made Tuesday of last week when a satellite reception dish was installed at the Cass City antenna site.

The dish, he explained, enabled broadcasting of WTVS from Atlanta to begin within the past week. Home Box Office (special programs) will start Saturday for those customers paying the extra charge. The antenna to receive Channel 28 from Flint (public broadcasting station) is in but the equipment to process the signal so it can be broadcast locally is still on order.

Customer Jerry Vegosen of 4574 Hill Street then complained that although reception of Channels 2, 7 and 50 has "improved remarkably," reception of 5, 19 and 25, which had been good, no longer was.

Other complaints were similar, with John Maharg of Brenda Drive commenting that the shadow on Channel 5 was so bad, the apparent reason why the Philadelphia Phillies won the World Series was because it had 18 men on the field most of the time.

Stevens explained the problem with 5, 12 and 25 is poor equipment used by the previous owners of the cable network. New equipment is on order, due by Nov. 6.

As for Channels 2 and 7 from Detroit, he and Witherspoon explained the problem is they are too far away and there is sometimes interference from other channels 2 and 7 elsewhere, so consistently good reception cannot be guaranteed.

Developer Tom Herron wanted to know why cable television couldn't be installed in his Northwood Village and Estates subdivision.

Witherspoon responded that the cost to do so would be $12,377 and with only 10 homes there now, "There is absolutely no way at the current rate we can do that." He added that the subdivision was constructed after the original cable firm was given the Cass City franchise.

The council did agree to installation of a message channel keyboard in the municipal building at no cost to the village, as part of the new Channel 3.

The channel, replacing one out of Caro, will give current weather information for Cass City. By typing messages of public interest on the keyboard, they will be broadcast as a "crawl line" along the bottom of the picture. Delivery of the keyboard is expected in 30 days.

First Cablevision currently has 475 subscribers in the village.

In August, 1979, the council authorized an increase in the monthly rate charged from $7 to $8, contingent upon improvement in service. Witherspoon said after the session with councilmen, the rate increase will go into effect Dec. 1.

Berry vs. Clancy: Sheriff's race only one of countywide interest

Come Jan. 1, for the first time since 1963, Tuscola county will have a new sheriff.

The question voters must

Trick-or-treat hours Friday

Friday is the one night of the year the ghosts and goblins wait for. It's Halloween.

Trick-or-treat hours have been established in area communities.

In Cass City, "Halloweening" hours will be from 5:30-7:30 p.m.

In Gageton, they will be from 6-8 p.m. and in Owendale, 5:30-7:30 p.m.

Youngsters in Kingston ca: trick-or-treat from 6-7 p.m. When the fire siren blows, they should go to the village hall for the party and costume judging.

Hours in Ubyl will be from 5:30-7 p.m. The Lions Club party for children 14 and under will start in the school gymnasium at 7:30.

answer Tuesday is whether it will be Republican Paul Berry, a deputy in the sheriff's department, in which he has served 25 years, or Democrat Herbert Clancy, the Millington police chief.

Both men first ran for the job four years ago. Berry lost in the Republican primary to the now retiring Sheriff Hugh Marr by 607 votes and Clancy lost to Marr in the general election by 322.

In August, Berry defeated four other candidates to win the Republican primary. Clancy did not have any opposition.

The man who finished second to Berry by 617 votes, present Undersheriff Bruce Tait, has been selected by Clancy to serve in the same capacity should the Democrat be elected. Berry hasn't announced who his undersheriff will be.

The election of a new sheriff is the only countywide contest. The others running, all Republican, do not have opposition. They are: clerk, Elsie Hicks; treasurer, Elgene Keller; register of deeds, John W. Marshall; drain commissioner, Stanley Henry, and prosecutor, Artis Noel.

Henry, who defeated two opponents in the primary, is the only one not presently holding office. Presently a drain inspector, he will take over for retiring Drain Commissioner Edmund Goodchild.

Mrs. Hicks has held office 10 years; Mrs. Keller, four; Marshall, eight, and Noel, two.

Also on the Tuscola County ballot will be Circuit Judge Norman Baguley, unopposed, running for a six-year term. He has held the office since 1969. The vote will apparently be meaningless because as of Jan. 1 he will serve in Lapeer county exclusively, due to a change in the state law, instead of in Lapeer and Tuscola as in the past.

To aid voters in making a choice for sheriff, the Chronicle asked each to respond in writing to three questions. The first two questions were the same for each. The candidates' backgrounds are described first, followed by their answers to the questions.

PAUL BERRY

Berry, 47, was appointed a special deputy in the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department in July, 1955, and became a full-time officer the following year. He was undersheriff from 1969-72.

Berry graduated from Caro High School in 1951 and is a graduate of the Saginaw Valley Law Enforcement Officers Training School. He has completed several seminars concerning various aspects of police work, including administration and supervision.

He is a member of the Fraternal Order of Police chapter, of which he was president two years. He is also a member of the National Sheriff's Association, has served for many years on the Tuscola County Fair Association Board of Directors, is former activities chairman of Cub Scout Pack 3652 of Caro and has been involved in scouting much of his life.

Berry was presented with the Caro Jaycees' distinguished service award in 1966 and is a life member of the organization. He belongs to the Caro Moose Lodge. He and his wife, Ruth, have three children.

HERBERT CLANCY

Clancy, 50, is a Millington native who retired from the Army as a first sergeant in 1972 after 20 years of service. He was a member of the military police and trained both military personnel and civilians in police technology.

In 1965, while serving in Germany, he was presented with the Army Commendation Medal for meritorious service as chief clerk and training noncommissioned officer in his unit, part of the headquarters branch of the Seventh Army.

After his return to civilian life, he was a deputy in the Tuscola Sheriff's Department from early 1972 until he resigned in March, 1973, to become chief of police in Millington.

Clancy holds certificates in police administration Please turn to page 16.

Sales increase at GK Technologies

GK Technologies, Inc., parent company of General Cable, has reported sales for the third quarter were $291 million, up 2 percent from $284 million for the comparable quarter last year. Net earnings for the quarter were $14.8 million, compared to $30.4 million for the prior year. Primary earnings per common share were $1.10 as compared to $2.52 per share reported in 1979, based on 11.5 million average shares then outstanding.

The decline was primarily attributable to the non-recurring gain realized in the prior year amounting to $15.8 million from the sale of GK Technologies' investment in Mostek Corp. Robert P. Jensen, chairman and chief executive officer, commented, "Sales in major market areas for Sprague Electric and Automation Industries have continued generally to reflect healthy demand."

"However, the effects of high interest rates on new construction and housing starts have unfavorably impacted General Cable's sales of telephone cable, although strong demand has continued in the cable television market."

Shabbona fire damage loss $500

Damage was estimated at $500 due to a fire in Shabbona Friday morning.

The fire was at the home of Dan Owens, at the northwest corner of Shabbona and Decker Roads.

Elkland township firemen said the cause was a gas water heater in the utility room which apparently backfired. The floor around the heater was scorched, as well as one ceiling tile, and there was minor smoke damage.

Firemen received the call about 7:15. The occupants of the home and a passing motorist who knew them had the fire out, using water and a fire extinguisher, by the time firemen arrived.

Rabbit tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Perhaps you caught the ad last week announcing Ed Baker's retirement from the electrical business after 50-plus years.

That's a long time to hold a "temporary job." Mrs. Baker recalls that when they were first in Cass City it was to be just a short while. They planned to move on.

Mrs. Baker also took a "temporary" job teaching school at Owendale for one year and stayed for more than a decade.

Besides running the successful business the Bakers have been a strong force in the community's social and civic endeavors.

We don't want to be tied down anymore, says Mrs. Baker, and that's why we are quitting.

Back in the days when the Chronicle used a cantankerous Intertype to produce type for the paper, Ed Baker spent many a night and early morning hours working on the machine so that the paper could meet its deadlines.

That story can be repeated by many of the businesses in town.

He'll be missed.

The school board passed a resolution by a 4-3 vote that said in part that any releases about the case that Mrs. Joyce Crouse may have with the school should come only from the Saginaw law firm hired by the board.

There's probably been a good deal of heat taken by members over this issue and it is understandable why Dr. E. Paul Lockwood, who introduced the motion, would like to see nothing about it in the media. If nothing were printed until the lawyer came up with a statement your right to know would of course be abridged.

But the issue won't go away. While there will be no announcements from the school, when the bills come pouring in from Mellinger and Mahiberg that's a public record and we'll pass the information on to you.

When the full board meets with the lawyers that's a meeting that is open to the press, according to the freedom of information act, and we'll be there for that, too.

I suppose it will be several days before the political pundits really get a handle on who "won" or "lost" the great debate Tuesday night.

I thought they both presented their cases well. Ronald Reagan is certainly in his element in front of a television (or motion picture) camera.

The feeling that he is what his early record says he is and not what he says he is today persists and I'm just afraid to vote for the former governor.

President Carter will get my vote even though my political philosophy is closer to the Republicans than the Democrats. For me, some things override the pocketbook issue.

Huron tries again for bridge millage

Close doesn't count, which is why Huron county voters will be asked for a second time to approve a 1-mill levy for five years for repair of bridges.

The measure was defeated in the Aug. 5 primary, 4,075-4,030, and with that close a margin, the county Road Commission asked the county Board of Commissioners to place it on the ballot again.

The one difference is that if the millage had been approved in August, the levy would have appeared for the first time on tax bills this December. If okayed this time, it won't be able to go on tax bills until December, 1981, so money won't start flowing to the Road Commission until 1982.

Based on the present state equalized valuation of Huron county, 1 mill would bring in about $560,000 a year, but if any of the three statewide tax proposals should pass, Road Commission Director of Finance John Martin commented, "Who knows?" With present funding, the agency is replacing or rebuilding two or three bridges a year. If the millage passes, with $560,000 or so a year, according to Martin, the pace should increase to six or seven bridges.

There is an "if" in that.

Present funding for bridges comes from the county board, which this year is contributing $300,000, half in federal revenue sharing funds and half from the general fund (property taxes).

The Road Commission contributes a minimal amount in the form of engineering services, administration, etc.

It is assumed that if the millage passes, the county will still make its $300,000 contribution, but that is a decision it must make each year.

Building six or seven bridges a year also depends on how much federal and state bridge money is received.

The Road Commission recently was notified it has received funding for replacement of a bridge north of Pigeon, which will cost an estimated $162,000, but that is only one of 22 bridges for which it applied for funds. Of the total cost, federal money pays 80 percent; the state, 10 percent, and the Road Commission, 10 percent.

Last year, Road Commission Engineer Robert Tufts studied the county's 131 bridges and rated 24 of them as in excellent condition, 22 good, 29 fair, 39 poor and 17 very poor.

Prior to the county board's putting the millage on the ballot the first time, he warned that without it, 35 bridges would have to close within a year.

The Road Commission started 1979 with a priority list of 59 bridges that needed repair or replacement, based on amount of traffic, condition, whether used by school buses, etc. At the end of this year, there will be 54 bridges to go.

At the end of the five years, if the millage passes, whether it will need to be continued partly depends on how much federal and state bridge money is received in the interim.

Likely it will have to be continued for a few more years, Martin indicated.

The Haire
 Net

In the 200 plus years of the republic, the closest that United States citizens have come to a dictatorship probably was Richard M. Nixon.

Really, that wasn't close at all. Certainly not as close as he attempted to make it.

The legacy of individual freedom is the natural state of affairs here. The way it is, the way it always has been.

It's like a good job and good health. If both just fall into our laps, we tend to forget how great it is, how difficult life would be without them.

We're the only country that I can think of that hasn't been under the rule of a dictatorship under one name or another.

We're just a babe in arms when measured by history. 200 years is a mere nothing compared to the European countries or the East for that matter.

If history repeats itself, as many students suggest, our time is coming. We may not be old enough to have the wisdom or the interest to prevent it.

Maybe it's because the English, Germans, Italians, French, etc., have a totalitarian regime in their histories that they take more interest than we do in participating in deciding who will govern.

There may be doubt about the reason for the interest in elections. There is no doubt about the greater participation.

Most of the European countries routinely record a turnout of 90 percent or better. Compare that to the 50 to 60 percent that vote in presidential elections here.

You don't have to look very hard to find voters who say that they probably won't vote this year because they don't like the choices. Or they forgot to register.

After the election the excuse will be they couldn't get away from their jobs. The lines were too long. Or they just plain forgot.

Whatever the reason, every election the result is the same. A little over half the voters make it to the polls.

Even the pocketbook issues fail to up the vote totals significantly.

Bringing it closer to home, consider Cass City School District millage elections.

It's a big turnout when over 1,000 voters go to the polls. That's not over a third of the persons who could vote if they were registered.

In the primary election in Tuscola county with hot local elections, about 31 percent of the registered voters were at the polls.

It's a shameful record. It's not likely to get any better.

About all that you and I can do about it is to see that we are one of the minority that does vote next Tuesday.

Human rights at home

By Jim Fitzgerald

My Cousin Al sent me a clipping from his hometown newspaper, the Lapeer County Press. Publisher-columnist Bob Myers wrote:

"This country makes a big stink about 'human rights' in faraway countries like Chile and Argentina. The first human right, especially to older people, is the right to live in peace, without constant fear. That's what civilization is all about. When cities like Flint and Detroit and Pontiac are as crime free as, let's say, Japan, we will have the right to preach about human rights elsewhere..."

Verily, Cousin Al was looking for an argument. He expected me to jump to the defense of the safe life in the big city where the art museum, theaters and Coney Island hotdogs make life a cultural ball. Al will be disappointed to learn he wasted bait.

Life for me, working and living downtown, is grand, and I enjoy it. But I also feel guilty about it. I see all the improvements made or planned downtown, and I worry about the neighborhoods. The big-shot investors get tax breaks from the city while living in the suburbs. The city peasants get head breaks from the crooks while trying to survive in housing projects crawling with dope dealers.

I hear regularly from people afraid to leave their homes. A typical quote, from a news story describing an east side neighborhood: "It's almost like being in jail without bars. Your freedom is limited, you have to watch your every step..."

At the Oakman School, on Detroit's near west side, some physically handicapped fifth graders have been learning to type on electric typewriters because they're unable to operate manual typewriters. Burglars hit the school three week ends in a row, and six electric typewriters are now gone, along with other expensive equipment.

There is no insurance, which isn't unusual. Many Detroit schools can't buy theft insurance because there are too many thieves working their neighborhoods. The electric typewriters haven't been replaced, and some kids with muscular dystrophy won't learn to type.

If you have an electric typewriter that could be more useful, phone Oakman Principal Mary Harms at 933-4457 between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.)

Michael Chmielewski of Hamtramck went shopping at his neighborhood supermarket. He saw a man put two apples in his coat pocket to free his hands to carry cheese he was ordering from the delicatessen counter. It never occurred to Chmielewski that the man might be shoplifting, but a large-size store employe made the accusation. When the customer protested his innocence, claiming he'd intended to pay for the apples, the employe shoved him, and the customer shoved back, and the employe began using a billy club.

"The club against the customer's head made a dull, wet thud sound, not the crack I expected," Chmielewski told me. "As the customer fell to the floor, hollering, the employe raised the club again. I turned my head away and heard a slightly wetter thud... The customer climbed over a counter and ran to the parking lot where he collapsed."

Chmielewski phoned a report to police. "They told me to complain to the supermarket, as only the victim can file a complaint with police. I feel like a victim. Aren't we all victims when this happens?"

Yes. The older people trapped in their homes by fear are victims. The handicapped children without typewriters at Oakman School are victims. By-standers who sicken at the violence in a supermarket are victims. This time, Cousin Al is right, along with Publisher Myers. It is a human right "to live in peace, without constant fear." Until that human right is enjoyed in all our neighborhoods, the United States mounts a shaky pulpit when it preaches human rights to other nations, and our cities are guilty of blind gall when they brag about the shiny new buildings going up downtown.

Big cities like Detroit are festering with neighborhoods full of frightened people who can't find peace. Their human rights are being violated. When President Carter and Ronald Reagan have their big "debate" this week, neither one of them will say one word that will help these frightened people.

Historical Society

The October meeting of the Cass City Historical Society was held Monday night at the Cultural Center.

There were approximately 20 persons in attendance. The program centered around antique guns and a talk given by Jerry Cleland. The guns ranged from the period of the American Revolution to the late 1880s, including muzzle loaders, repeaters, and hand guns.

A few guns were brought in by other members of the society including one that belonged to Travis Leach.

The historical marker for the Cultural Center has arrived and is paid for.

Dedication plans are being set for July 4, 1981 which will also mark the centennial of the Great Fire of 1881.

ON NOV. 4, YOU WILL BE ASKED TO APPROVE A LEVY OF ONE (1) MILL FOR THE YEARS 1981 THROUGH 1985 INCLUSIVE. ONE-HALF (1/2) MILL WOULD GO TO THE TUSCOLA COUNTY ROAD COMMISSION FOR THE PURPOSE OF IMPROVING TOWNSHIP ROAD BRIDGES AND LOCAL STREETS. THE OTHER ONE-HALF (1/2) MILL WOULD GO TO THE TUSCOLA COUNTY GENERAL FUND FOR OPERATING EXPENSES. THIS ADVERTISEMENT IS PRESENTED IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST TO PROVIDE INFORMATION REGARDING THAT PORTION OF THE PROPOSAL WHICH REQUESTS ONE-HALF (1/2) MILL FOR IMPROVING BRIDGES AND STREETS.

The Bridge Millage Is Being Proposed Because Additional State And Federal Funds Are Becoming Available To Tuscola County. In Order To Obtain This Money, The County Must Have Matching Funds Available And Have New Bridges Designed And Ready To Be Constructed. It Is This "Matching Fund" Money That The Millage Would Raise. The 1980 Proposal Does Not Request An Increase In Bridge Millage; The Expiring Rate Is One (1) Mill For Bridge Improvements, While The New Proposal Would Actually Reduce The Amount Earmarked For Bridge And Street Improvements To One-Half (1/2) Mill. (As Stated Above, The Other One-Half (1/2) Mill Would Go To The General Fund For Operating Expenses.) A Continued Millage Would Also Make Possible The Handling Of Emergencies As They Arise.

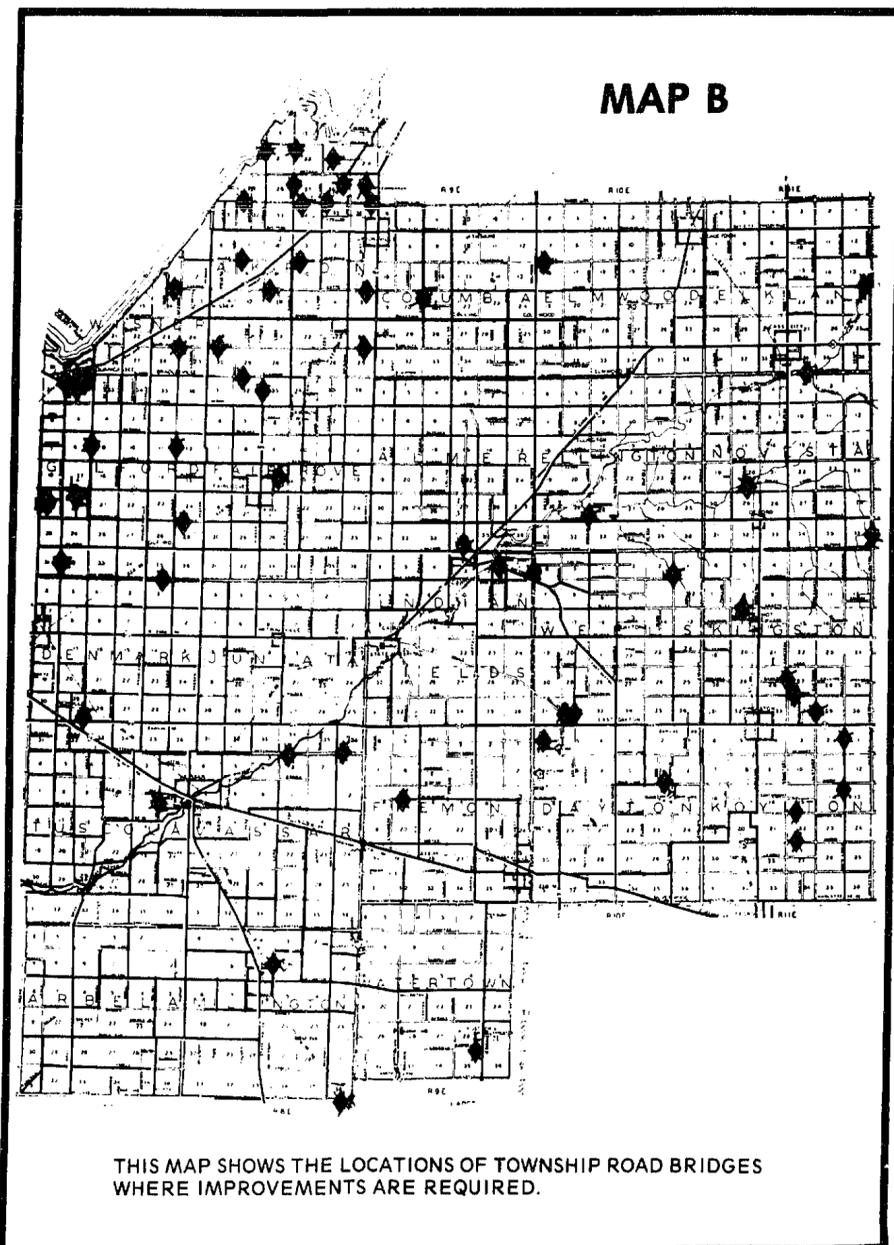

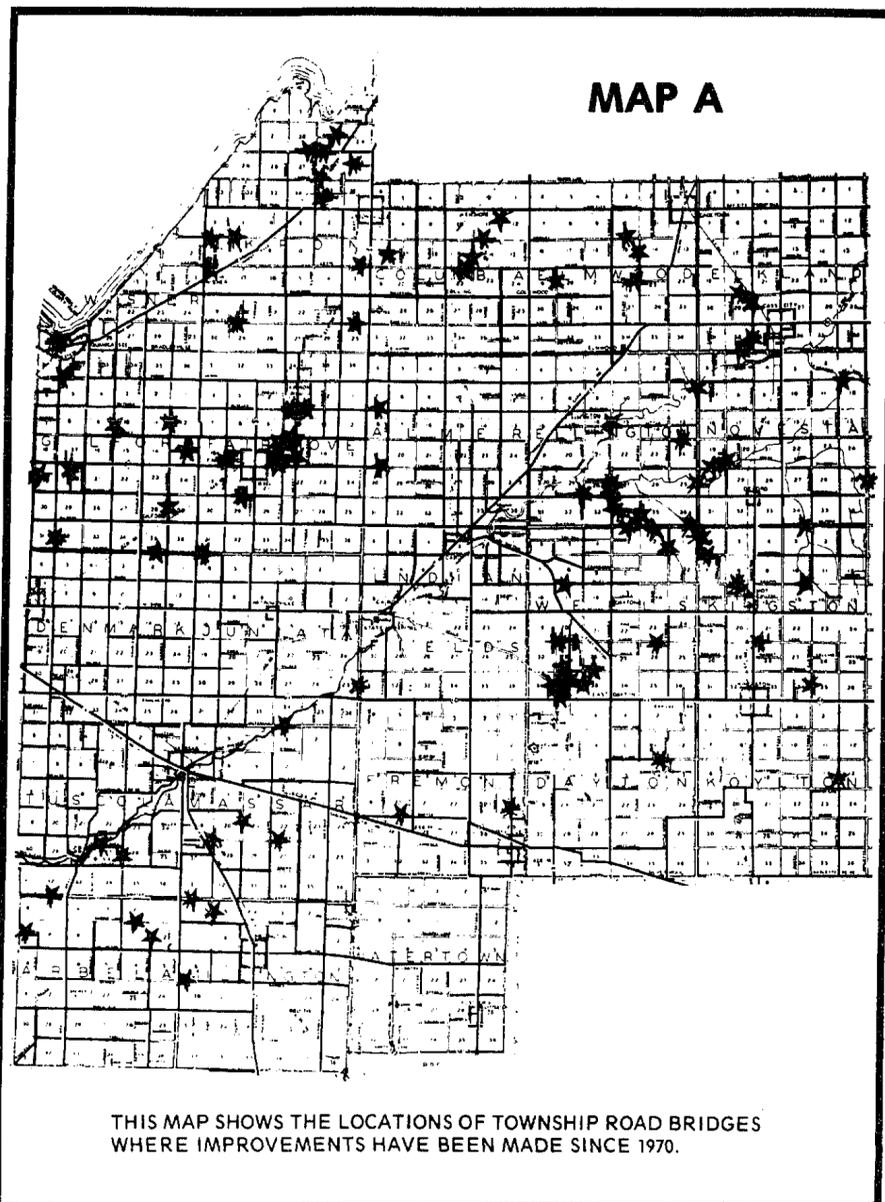

PLEASE REFER TO MAP A

Since 1970, Previous Millages Have Made Possible The Improvement Of Ninety-Nine (99) Bridges On Local Township Roads Throughout The County. During The Calendar Years 1971 Through 1979, A Total Of $4,587,208 Has Been Expended For Bridge Improvements. Of This Amount, $3,067,978 Has Come From The Bridge Millage; $817,464 From The State Or Federal Government; $435,357 From The County Road Funds; And $266,409 From The Townships In Tuscola County.

PLEASE REFER TO MAP B

At The Present Time, Sixty-Two (62) Bridges Are In Need Of Improvement. Some Are Posted With Load Limits, Meaning They Are More Restrictive Than The Roads On Which They Are Located. Others Are Closed To Traffic Altogether.

TO DATE, THE COUNTY HAS RECEIVED OVER $817,000 IN STATE OR FEDERAL MONEY FOR LOCAL BRIDGE CONSTRUCTION. AN ADDITIONAL $744,000 IS PROMISED FOR 1980 AND 1981.

THE PROPOSED ONE-HALF (1/2) MILL (Based On The Present Equalized Valuation) WILL MEAN THAT APPROXIMATELY $200,000 WILL BE AVAILABLE EACH YEAR FOR LOCAL TOWNSHIP ROAD BRIDGE IMPROVEMENTS (And $50,000 For City And Village Streets)

Ayatollah vs. Tisch

By Mike Eliasohn

A chilling thought, isn't it, that the Ayatollah Khomeini could decide who our next president will be.

If the American hostages came marching off the plane a day or two before the election, it would certainly boost President Carter's chances for re-election. It now appears, however, they won't be released before election day.

If it weren't for the Ayatollah, Carter might not have been even the Democratic nominee.

Remember all the talk about a year ago about how the Democrats were going to dump him in favor of Ted Kennedy? Then the Americans in our embassy in Iran were taken hostage and Carter's popularity soared. His popularity didn't soar that long, but it was long enough for him to dim Kennedy's chances of getting the nomination. The Massachusetts senator's own blunders did the rest.

Now if Carter could just get Fidel Castro to agree to take the prisoners and mental patients he sent over here back to Cuba prior to election day.

Since writing last week's dissertation for this space about the three major ballot proposals, I have done some more reading.

I am less confused, but still plan to vote against them.

The more I read about the Tisch Amendment, the scarier it becomes. I mentioned that college tuition might be subject to public referendum and since then read in Michigan Farmer magazine Robert Tisch does indeed intend college tuitions to be included in the provision requiring a public vote, apparently by statewide referendum, since it involves state institutions.

The need for voters within a village, school district, etc., to approve increases in everything from school lunch prices to parking meter fees to dog license fees if Tisch passes is less certain but likely. According to the Citizens Research Council of Michigan, Tisch "does not amend the present constitutional provision which requires that local units of government obtain simple majority approval of the voters for any new tax or tax increase beyond that authorized... as of Dec. 22, 1978. However, the broadened definition of 'tax' in the Tisch proposal... to include user charges, fees, etc., could be construed to include voter approval of each..."

Tisch supporters like to cite what happened in California after Proposition 13 was approved, which slashed property taxes there.

Unfortunately, the situations aren't comparable. California state government had a $5 billion surplus that it distributed to local governmental units to lessen the impact. California's economy was booming with or without the proposition and Proposition 13 did not have a restriction on increases in user fees. Californians are apparently now paying for many services they once received "free" through taxes.

Beyond my specific objections to Proposal D, my general objection to all of the tax proposals is that they are too complicated and try to do too much.

If part of the problem is that the Headlee amendment approved two years ago didn't do what it was supposed to do in terms of limiting state spending and property tax increases, why couldn't we have had a few simple amendments on the ballot to eliminate the shortcomings?

One proposal I do feel voters should approve is the 1-mill Tuscola county levy for bridges and county operations.

The 1-mill that has been in effect since 1971 has enabled the Road Commission to replace or rebuild 99 of the county's decaying bridges. It would be a shame to deny it the half-mill needed to complete the job.

As for the other half-mill of the proposal, for county operations, our county commissioners are not always "pearls of wisdom," but I don't think they can be accused of throwing money away.

Tuscola county has the lowest millage for operations of any county in the state and the handwriting is on the wall that revenue from Lansing and Washington next year is almost certain to be less.

Erla seeks to unseat Russell on county board

Voters Tuesday will have a choice between a Republican and a Democrat for county commissioner from District 2.

The Republican is Royce Russell, seeking election to his second two-year term, and the Democrat is Richard (Dick) Erla.

The district consists of Elkland, Elmwood, Ellington and Novesta townships and the portion of Kingston township east of Kingston Road.

In District 5, which includes the rest of Kingston township, all of Kingston village and Wells and Koylton townships, the only candidate running is incumbent Democrat Margaret Wenta of Fostoria.

Russell, 55, of Green Road, Gageton, was Elmwood township treasurer for 18 years before being elected commissioner in 1978.

Commerce, and has also been a member of numerous other organizations.

He and his wife, Christine, have two children.

Richard Erla

Both candidates said they will vote for the 1-mill levy for bridges and county government operations.

The Chronicle asked each of them to predict the county's financial future, and they both agreed a lot depends on how the public votes on the county millage and the state tax reform proposals.

"The way things are going, it will probably be a tight budget and if elected, we'll have to roll up our sleeves and cope with it," Erla predicted.

Passage of the Tisch Amendment, Russell predicted, "could make things quite interesting as far as the county is concerned." The future of federal revenue sharing will also have an effect on county finances, he pointed out.

Both candidates were asked what cuts in county spending can be made if that becomes necessary.

"That's really a hard one, because I think it's going to take a lot of work by members of the board on where the cuts will be made," Russell responded.

If and when it becomes necessary to make cuts, he explained it will be necessary to analyze each county department as to its workload, as making cut-backs will mean laying off personnel.

Erla's response was similar, that if spending reductions are necessary, it will be necessary to evaluate each department and then decide.

Both candidates expressed the hope that cuts may not be necessary.

The final question is whether additional county office space is necessary should funds be available for its construction.

Proposed has been construction of a two-story plus basement addition onto the rear of the courthouse annex, with a rough estimate of the cost being $600,000.

A county building authority has been established,

Royce Russell

On the board, he serves as chairman of its equalization committee and as a member of its building and grounds and departmental control committees.

As commissioner, he is also a member of the board of directors of the Thumb Area Commission on Aging and Thumb Area Consortium.

Russell is a cash crop farmer. He is a member of the Farm Bureau, Tyler Lodge, F & AM, and an elder in the First Presbyterian church in Cass City.

He and his wife Betty, the present Elmwood township treasurer, have five children.

Erla, 56, of 4633 Huron Street, Cass City, qualified for the ballot by receiving enough votes as a write-in candidate in the August primary.

He is president of Erla's Inc., the Cass City supermarket and meat packing operation, which has been in existence since 1953.

Erla ran unsuccessfully for state senator in 1960 and for the constitutional convention in 1962.

A Navy veteran, he has been a member of the American Legion for 35 years.

X marks the ballot

Voting "yes" may mean your vote doesn't count.

In Tuscola county, there are only two governmental units where paper ballots will be used Tuesday.

In Sanilac county, the situation is the opposite. Only Mariette village and three or four townships use voting machines or punch cards. In the rest, paper ballots are used.

In the August primary, an estimated 10-15 percent of county ballots were spoiled because they were incorrectly marked or electors tried to vote for candidates in both parties.

To try to prevent that from happening again, a citizens committee has been formed in Sanilac county to educate the public in how to mark paper ballots correctly.

Some "no-nos," according to the committee, include writing "yes" or "no" in the boxes for ballot proposals, marking ballots with a check mark or slash or marking the box to vote for a straight party ticket and then voting for some candidates in the other party.

The only mark that can be counted on a paper ballot is an X inside the box.

Rematch in 8th district race

In a rematch of 1978, 8th District Congressman Bob Traxler, D-Bay City, is again being opposed by Metamora building consultant Norman Hughes.

Traxler won in 1978 by about a 2-1 margin. The 8th District includes all of Tuscola county except Arbel township; all of Huron county; all of Sanilac county except Buel, Fremont and Worth townships, and all or part of Arenac, Bay, Lapeer and Saginaw counties.

Bob Traxler

Norman Hughes

Traxler, 49, was first elected to Congress in a special election in April, 1974.

From 1962-74, he was a state representative and was majority (Democratic) floor leader in 1965-66. He was named "most effective House member" by the capitol press corps in 1966.

In Congress, he serves on the appropriations committee and two appropriations subcommittees, one dealing with agriculture and the other with urban development and independent government agencies.

Traxler, born in Kawkawlin, has a B.A. degree from Michigan State University in political science and a law degree from the Detroit College of Law. He served in the Army from 1953-55.

Norman Hughes, 37, is president of Norman R. Hughes and Associates and Metamora Contracting Co. and is an architect, construction consultant and licensed builder.

He has a bachelor's degree in architecture from Lawrence Institute of Technology, has done graduate work at the University of Michigan and Eastern Michigan University and studied law for a year at the University of Detroit.

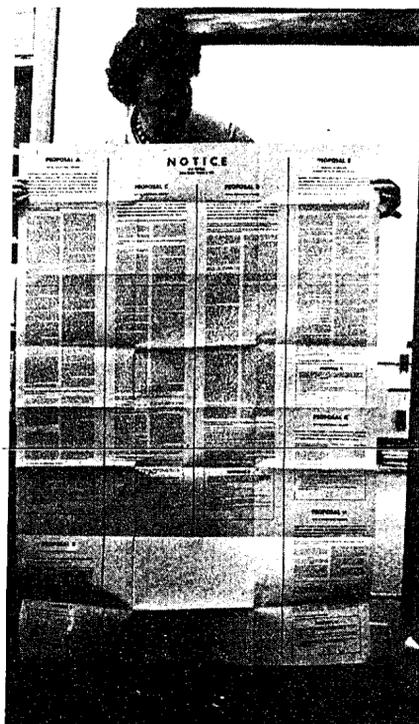

Hughes was a co-founder of Taxpayers United, which sponsored the Headlee tax limitation amendment in 1978.

Novesta township voters to decide 3 local issues

Novesta township residents will be voting on three proposals Tuesday, two of them advisory and one a millage request.

Proposal 1 asks voters whether they are "in favor of continuation of the Cass City landfill, located in Novesta township, being operated as a dump site for Cass City and the outlying area, 'other townships,' and the present and future contamination hazards that could be involved from this operation."

According to supervisor Bill O'Dell, if the proposal is approved, "Then we will proceed with steps that are available to close the dump."

The landfill is about 1 mile south of the south Cass City village limit, east of Cemetery Road. It dates back to before the township had a zoning ordinance, so does not have to be (and isn't) in compliance with surrounding zoning. According to O'Dell, the area is zoned residential.

The landfill serves residents of Cass City and Novesta, Elkland, Elmwood and Ellington townships. The townships pay the village $3.75 per resident per year for the right to use the landfill.

O'Dell said if the landfill were closed, Novesta would contract with a private trash hauling firm which owns its own landfill. There are such firms in Bad Axe and North Branch.

His concern about possible contamination, he explained, stems from problems that have occurred in landfills in other communities and that the Cass City landfill isn't closely watched. "You don't know what people are hauling in there."

He also expressed concern about the effect of the landfill on the nearby subdivision.

If township residents do vote in favor of closing the landfill, doing so may not be easy.

As of Oct. 9, the Department of Natural Resources renewed Cass City's landfill license for two more years.

The DNR inspectors, village Supt. Lou LaPonsie said, found the landfill in full compliance with regulations, with "no marks against us at all."

Furthermore, in compliance with a new state law, test wells have been drilled and an engineering firm hired to do a hydrogeological study, due in to the DNR by July 1 of next year.

Test wells will allow continued monitoring, with samples taken four times a year, to determine if there is any contamination seeping from the landfill.

Soil borings will determine if there is an adequate clay base.

The village owns 40 acres, has a permit to use 5 acres and is using only 2 acres.

Although O'Dell said the township board has received complaints from township residents about the landfill, LaPonsie said, "We haven't had any complaints from anybody out there."

Fred Kellow, chief of the DNR Resource Recovery Division, told the Chronicle by telephone, under the new state law, Tuscola county must submit a plan next year to the DNR regarding solid waste disposal.

If the Cass City landfill is included as part of the county's refuse disposal plan, it could not be affected by local zoning.

If the governmental unit in which a landfill is located doesn't own it, and the landfill is in compliance with state law, getting it closed would be difficult, he indicated.

Normally, a township can't require stricter standards than state law and when a court reviews local ordinances designed to control landfills, it compares them to the state requirements.

CHURCH BUILDING

Proposal 2 asks, "Are you in favor of Novesta township purchasing the former Church of Christ building on Cemetery Road for $13,000 and reconstructing it for a public meeting place and making it the official township hall?"

At the March annual meeting, electors voted 24-14 against purchasing the building. The price then was $20,000.

Arguments used in favor of the purchase at that meeting were the building's central location, larger kitchen, restrooms and that it would serve as a community center.

Arguments against the purchase included lack of parking, the cost to buy the building and then make improvements, other needs in the township, the present township hall in Deford is large enough and that restrooms could be installed there for much less cost than buying the church building.

The reason for the vote this time, O'Dell said, is the board felt the church members wanted to have more persons decide whether the township should buy the building.

The old building is surrounded on three sides by the township cemetery. The new Novesta Church of Christ is across the road.

MILLAGE

Proposal 3 asks for approval of 1 1/2 mills for five years to offset costs of fire protection, rubbish and garbage disposal and ambulance service.

Based on the present valuation of the township, the levy will raise more than $16,500 a year.

In the August primary, the township sought approval of 1 1/2 mills for two years for roads. The measure was defeated, 105-29.

The added revenue needed, O'Dell said, because the township is anticipating reductions in various state funds it receives.

The millage would be enough to pay the present cost for the above mentioned services, but the supervisor anticipates there will be increases in what Novesta pays for them.

The millage, if approved, will go on tax bills for the first time in December, 1981.

Rejection of the millage won't mean the township will stop paying for such services. "We'll pay what we can and cut everywhere else," O'Dell commented.

Art Atwell, 90 succumbs Sunday

Art Atwell, who was in the grain elevator business in Cass City for 62 years, died Sunday at Hills and Dales General Hospital after a long illness. He was 90 years old.

Arthur Clayton Atwell was born Aug. 21, 1890, in Evergreen township, the son of Ogden and Ellen (Shaffer) Atwell.

He married Lena Rice April 26, 1919, in Detroit. Following their marriage, they made their home in Cass City. They lived at 404 Oak Street.

Atwell went to work for the then Cass City Grain Co. in 1906, in charge of plant operations at its elevators on Vulcan Street. It became the Frutchey Bean Co. in 1933.

Atwell became manager of the local elevator in 1921, retiring from that position in 1956. He remained as assistant treasurer and Frutchey board member until the company sold its Cass City facility to Wickes Agriculture in 1968.

The elevators on Vulcan Street, which had stood since the 1880s, were torn down in August.

Atwell sang in area quartets for many years. He attended the Trinity United Methodist church. He was a 67-year and life member of Tyler Lodge No. 317, F & AM. He was a member of the Cass City Rotary Club for more than 49 years and had served as its president, secretary, treasurer, a position he held for more than 12 years, and club historian, for more than 30 years. Atwell served on the village council during the 1930s.

He leaves his wife, one son, Stuart Atwell of Cass City, and one granddaughter, Mrs. Charles Lynn Osgerby of Grand Rapids. Two sisters and one brother preceded him in death.

A Masonic memorial service was held Tuesday evening at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, under the auspices of Tyler Lodge.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the funeral home with Rev. Harry Capps of the First Presbyterian church of Cass City officiating. Burial was in Elkland cemetery.

Vassar falls as Hawks share 1st title since '72

Key plays win grid title for Cass City

The Cass City Red Hawks battled powerful Vassar to a standstill Friday night, making the key offensive and defensive plays when they had to, and hammered out a share of the Thumb B Conference crown.

The host Hawks topped the Vulcans, 15-6. It was the kind of game you'd expect from two teams vying for the championship. It boiled down to who appeared to want the victory the most. Friday, it was Cass City which had not won a title in football since 1972. The Hawks were tough when they had to be tough and they now share the championship with North Branch. The Broncos rolled over Lakers, 30-14.

Cass City won by making the big plays on offense and defense.

The first of those big plays came midway in the first quarter. Tim Sontag momentarily fumbled a Vulcan punt on his own 28-yard line. The defenders swooped down on him and with a Vulcan hanging onto his leg he handed off to Phil Zawilinski who ran around the only man with a possible chance to tackle him and streaked down the left sidelines behind a wall of blockers untouched to score.

On the points after touchdown try, Brian deBeaubien found Rob Sawdon in the left corner of the end zone and Cass City was in front 8-0.

That lead didn't last long. After fumbles stopped marches for both teams, the Vulcans started a drive that ended in a touchdown with 7:32 left in the second quarter.

The Vassar forward wall was punching huge holes in Cass City's line and the Vulcans' familiar power football picked up yardage in big chunks. Quarterback Jim Evans ran the last 10 yards on an option play for the score. A reverse for the extra points failed and Cass

City led 8-6.

That lead didn't look very safe. The next time Vassar got possession they started another drive that was a duplicate of the scoring effort.

The Vulcans moved down the field with precision and picked up a first down on the Cass City five.

That's when the Cass City defense came in. A line play gained nothing. A second play gained about the same but was called back because of off-side and Vassar was second and 10.

A pass failed and another off-side was called. That ended that scoring attempt and was what proved to be the visitors' last real scoring opportunity.

With the ball on the 12 and under four minutes left in the half Cass City rolled 88 yards to score. Most of the distance was covered by air. deBeaubien hit on passes to Randy Severance, Bob Leslie and Zawilinski. Sawdon threw to Severance from his halfback spot for another completion.

There was 31 seconds left on the clock when Zawilinski ran over from two yards out.

Brad Hartel kicked the extra point that made it necessary for Vassar to score twice if they were going to win.

A light rain started to fall at the half and it dampened the scoring. Neither team was able to put on a real scoring threat in the last two quarters.

Cass City was content to sit on its lead and not take any unnecessary chances and the defense did the rest. Helping keep the Vulcans in check was a fine punting game that averaged 33 yards per kick.

Tom Harper led Vassar with 80 yards in 15 carries while Zawilinski paced the Hawks with 87 yards in 10 tries. Rob Sawdon picked up 61 yards in 18 carries.

Randy Severance, who caught three passes good for 59 yards and was the defensive leader with 21 of Coach Don Schelke's tackle points, was named Red Hawk of the week.

There are 40 billion oranges grown in the U.S. each year. That's an average of 80 glasses of juice and 30 eating oranges per person.

TIM SONTAG was punished by a group of Vassar Vulcans moments after he picked up short yardage in a bruising game that netted Cass City a share of the Thumb B Association championship.

Play-off for Cass City if...if...if

The final regular season game at Mayville Friday looms as another important game for Cass City.

That's because Cass City still has a chance of earning a berth in the state play-off despite a loss to North Branch.

Coach Don Schelke says that three teams are ahead of the Hawks in the computer ratings that determine the schools that qualify. They are Flint Hamady, Memphis and Lutheran West.

The schools have games against teams that could defeat them and even if one or more win, Schelke says, there is a chance that Cass City will qualify anyway.

One undefeated team in the Thumb, Harbor Beach, will not qualify ahead of Cass City because of its schedule, Schelke figures.

Any chance that Cass City has, of course, depends on a victory over Mayville. That promises to be no easy task.

The Wildcats have only a 6-0 loss to undefeated Harbor Beach in a game played in the rain that mars a perfect record.

Defeating a team with a fine record like this helps up the point total in the computer ratings, if Cass City can do it.

Extra points pass nets O-G one-point decision over Tigers; End year at Flint

Owen-Gage coach Arnie Besonen's gamble paid off Friday night when he decided to try for two points after what turned out to be his team's only touchdown against Carsonville-Port Sanilac.

Jim Glidden caught Craig Gettel's pass for the winning margin, 8-7. The Bulldog win gave them a 4-2 mark in the North Central D League, good for a second place tie with North Huron, the team the pre-season pundits were picking to finish first.

Akron-Fairgrove and Peck tied for first at 5-1.

The young Owen-Gage team, with several starters being freshmen and sophomores, have the satisfaction of having administered Akron-Fairgrove's only loss.

The team ends the season Thursday at the Michigan School for the Deaf in Flint, which has had a terrible season. The team has only scored 12 points, to its opponents' 424. Game time is 3 p.m. MSD and Owen-Gage played each other five years ago. The Bulldogs won.

The Tigers' only score Friday came in the first quarter on a 16-yard run by Jason Lechnyr to cap a five-play, 65-yard drive. Art Schlichting kicked the extra point.

The Bulldogs got on the scoreboard in the second quarter on a 1-yard run by Gettel to culminate a 73-yard eight-play drive.

Besonen said his decision to try for the two points was because his team was down by one point and defensively, it was safer to try a pass than a kick.

The play was not without drama. The Bulldogs faked a kick, but were then called on a penalty.

They lined up a second time for a fake kick attempt and Gettel tossed the ball to Glidden for the two points.

The closest Owen-Gage got to scoring again was late in the fourth quarter when the team got to the 15-yard line but were stopped when Carsonville intercepted a Gettel pass.

The Tigers then got the ball to the Bulldog 18-yard line before being stopped. Earlier, in their only other scoring opportunity, they got the ball down to the Owen-Gage 12-yard line.

The victors rushed for 147 yards in 37 carries. Gettel completed eight of 11 passes, with one interception, for 131 yards. Total offensive yardage was 278.

Carsonville gained 135 yards in 29 carries and quarterback Dan Fortushniak completed five of 14 pass attempts, with zero interceptions, for 91 yards. Total gain was 226 yards.

The Bulldogs made 14 first downs, fumbled three times, losing the ball twice, and were penalized four times

SHELLEY LAPEER missed on this short shot from the side but she helped the Hawks with a win over Vassar last Wednesday with some strong defensive play. Beth Sieradzki, left, was deadly from about 15 feet out for Cass City. Number 34 is Vassar's Bobbi Fackler, a potent player for the visitors all night.

Hawks widen league lead with 2 cage victories

With one game played in the second half of the Thumb B Association schedule the Cass City Red Hawks boast a two-game lead over the field.

This happy turn of events came when Bad Axe was upset Monday and the Hawks won a key game against Vassar last Wednesday.

The victory over the Vulcans kept the visitors from tying the Hawks for the lead. Cass City won the game with a third quarter rally, 42-35.

The game was closer than the final score indicated. Vassar jumped out into an early lead in the first half behind Bobbi Fackler, lanky Vassar center, who controlled the boards. With just under two minutes left in the half, Vassar spurred to a 19-14 lead, the biggest margin either team enjoyed in the first 16 minutes.

Cass City came charging back with two quick baskets to move within a point and the Vulcans netted a bucket to make the margin three points at intermission, 21-18.

Coach Lloyd Schinnerer pulled his zone defense in tight in the third quarter and Vassar was unable to hit from outside. It proved to be decisive.

Using the fast break to advantage, Cass City streaked for 16 points in three minutes to bury the visitors. At the end of three quarters Cass City was in front 36-25 and that was the ball game.

Padgett Randall, 18, and Beth Sieradzki, 16, led the Hawks. Sieradzki was deadly on short pops from just outside the foul stripe while Randall scored despite heavy defensive pressure. Fackler led all scorers with 20 points.

Cass City hit 19 of 42 from the floor for 45 percent and made just 4 of 11 from the foul line. Randall, 11, Shelley Lapeer, 9, and Kelly Seurnyck, 7, led the rebounders.

LAKER GAME The Hawks kept rolling along Monday with a decisive victory over visiting Lakers, 43-34.

Cass City jumped off to an early lead and was in command all the way. At the intermission the score was 22-13.

Randall and Sieradzki netted 11 points each. Carrie Lautner, 8, a sophomore, netted 8 points and Schinnerer singled her out for a fine defensive effort.

Rebounding honors were shared by Randall and Lapeer with 11 each. Cass City hit just 14 of 46 from the floor but converted a respectable 15 of 25 from the charity circle. The Hawks are now 7-1 in the league and 8-6 over-all.

BE FAIR

VOTE YES ON PROPOSAL B

When you vote yes to Proposal B on the November 4 ballot, you will prove your belief in Constitutional fairness. Proposal B will lower the legal drinking age from 21 to 19.

Responsible 19 and 20-year-olds can already vote, start job careers, get married, become parents and sign 30-year home mortgages. Nineteen is also the age our government now requires draft registration. In Michigan, 19 and 20-year-olds are discriminated against by being denied one right granted to all other citizens since repeal of Prohibition in 1933. Nineteen and 20-year-olds can't legally choose to have a drink with their families, adult friends, or co-workers. That isn't fair, especially when there is no measurable benefit whatsoever for keeping the drinking age at 21.

SUPPORTING PROPOSAL B

- Gov. William G. Milliken
- Secretary of State Richard Austin
- Michigan Board of Education
- Michigan Federation of Teachers
- Thomas Schweigert, Chairman State Liquor Control Commission
- Michigan Office of Substance Abuse
- Detroit Mayor Coleman Young
- Michigan Democratic and Republican Parties

"The endorsement by teachers of lowering the drinking age from 21 to 19 is particularly significant because it recognizes that passage of Proposal B will effectively keep legal drinking out of the high schools while not unfairly denying 19 and 20-year-olds their rights as responsible citizens."

— Rep. Richard Fitzpatrick

"Our poll of 829 registered voters in Michigan found that 61% of the voters agree Proposal B should be passed when 'fairness' is considered. The question states: Nineteen-year-olds are allowed to vote, get married and own their own homes. It is only fair that 19-year-olds should be able to drink legally? 61% agreed."

— Massoglia Associates

"Most young people are able to obtain alcoholic beverage and will drink regardless of what the legal drinking age is. The question is whether we are going to have young people drinking in the back seats of cars or at keg parties in parks or in state licensed and supervised facilities."

— Rep. Casmer Ogonowski

"Studies of traffic statistics in states with legal drinking at both 19 or 21 years of age show that the legal drinking age makes no difference in the number of fatalities. Social norms among youth are changing with or without the sanction of law."

— Richard Zylam, Associate Professor, Center of Alcohol Studies, Rutgers University

"The setting of any legal drinking age will continue to have minimal effects until legal drinkers are willing to conform to a higher standard of behavior regarding their use of alcohol. The fact remains that there is no magical drinking age that is going to solve the problem. Age 21 has not solved the problem; it has not even dented it."

— Kenneth Eaton, Administrator Michigan Office of Substance Abuse Services

2nd time around: Tuscola county seeks mill for bridges, operations

Tuscola county voters Tuesday will be asked for a second time to approve a 1-mill levy for five years to fund bridge repair and county operations.

The same proposal was rejected in the Aug. 5 primary election, 3,518-3,333. The levy is not an increase. If approved, it will replace the present 1-mill levy for local road bridges that will appear on tax bills for the last time this December. (Because of the Headlee amendment rollback, the levy this time will be .9888.)

The new levy, if approved, will appear for the first time on December, 1981 tax bills. The difference between the two is that all of the old levy was for bridges.

The new proposal - Proposition 1 on the ballot - will allocate a half-mill for bridges and a half-mill for Tuscola county government operations. The two are linked together. Voters will only have the choice of all or none, not one or the other.

County residents approved the first levy for bridges in 1970 and the second in 1976. Since 1970, improvements have been made on 99 bridges on township local roads at a cost of $4.59 million, according to the Road Commission. Of that amount, $3.07 million has come from the millage, $817,464 from the state and federal governments, $435,357 from county funds and $266,409 from the townships.

There are still 62 township bridges either closed to all traffic or posted with load limits.

The Road Commission board felt it could get by with a half mill in the future because additional federal and state funds are becoming available, according to its chairman, F. William Tuckey. To obtain the money, however, the county must have matching funds available and the bridges designed and ready for construction. Millage is also needed for emergencies.

Tuscola is scheduled to receive $744,000 in federal and state funds this year for new bridges. If matching funds are available, $1.28 million "may be forthcoming," according to Tuckey. Although all of the 1970 levy was spent for local road bridges, starting with the 1976 one, a new state law required sharing of such countywide millages with villages and cities, even if they don't have bridges.

This year, Cass City received $15,387 from that source; Gageton, $1,876, and Kingston, $2,128. Of the half-mill to be received by the Road Commission if the millage is approved, based on the recent county equalized valuation, about $200,000 will go for township bridges each year and $50,000 will go to the 11 incorporated cities and villages.

COUNTY OPERATIONS

If there was a need for a half-mill back in August, according to Ken Kennedy, chairman of the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners' finance committee, the need is more acute now.

Based on the present state equalized valuation, the half-mill will give the county about $250,000 a year.

The board usually approves its budget in October for the upcoming year. This year, it hasn't even started yet.

The reason is that no one knows how much money the county will receive in 1981.

Passage of the millage won't help the county until 1982, as it won't go on tax bills until the end of next year.

The 4.2 mills levied by the county now, according to Kennedy, is the lowest levied by any of the 83 counties in Michigan. Even if the half-mill is approved, 4.7 mills may still be the lowest. (Because of the Headlee Amendment rollback requirement, the county levy on this December's tax bills will only be 4.1572 mills.)

Tuscola county will spend about $4 million this year for general operations, of which about half comes from property taxes. (Health department, mental health department and road commission aren't included in the general fund budget.)

Passage of any of the three statewide tax reform proposals won't affect the tax bills that will be mailed in about a month, thus won't affect property tax revenue in 1981.

This year, Tuscola is supposed to receive about $557,000 in state funds for general operations, as its share of various state taxes. It receives additional state funds for mental health and public health departments.

But with the state's severe budget crunch, state funds to the county are already undergoing a decrease and could decline even more next year, even if all the state tax proposals are defeated.

Starting in 1982, the tax proposals could have an effect on county property tax revenues, in particular, the Tisch and coalition tax amendments (Proposals D and C respectively).

How much money could the county lose over what it receives now if any of the proposals pass? "I think it's impossible to say," Kennedy responded.

The other big unknown about future county revenues is federal revenue sharing, which contributed about $320,000 to county coffers this year.

Back in August, the finance committee chairman was expecting that would drop to $300,000 in 1981. Now he is afraid it will drop to nothing.

The federal revenue sharing program has expired and Congress won't vote until after the Nov. 4 election on whether to renew it.

Even if Tisch is defeated, he predicted the 1981 county budget "will be tight," but didn't care to speculate on what cuts if any might have to be made.

Reject transfers

The Tuscola Intermediate School District (TISD) Board of Education Monday evening rejected two requested transfers of property from the Kingston to the Caro School District.

It approved one transfer from the Vassar district to Caro.

All the requests stemmed from the Caro district making a careful check of its boundaries and finding four parcels long thought to have been part of the district, which actually were in Kingston or Vassar.

The students living there had been going to the Caro schools, some as long as 10 years, according to TISD Assistant Supt. Jerome Thienes.

The district then notified the property owners they would either have to pay tuition to Caro or request a transfer of their property.

One transfer request, from Kingston to Caro, scheduled to be considered Monday, was withdrawn as the parents involved are now sending their two children to the Kingston schools.

The transfer request from Vassar to Caro was approved, Thienes said, because the Vassar district did not object. Involved was one student and property with a valuation of $5,100.

The two requested transfers from Kingston were denied, he explained, because the Kingston district did object, primarily because of the loss in valuation if the transfers were approved.

The 118-acre parcel of Eugene Krywko on Frankford Road, Wells township, has a valuation of $34,900. Involved were three students.

The 40-acre parcel of Roy Lind, Mushroom Road, Wells township, has a valuation of $17,000. One student was involved.

The parents involved can appeal the transfer denial within 10 days of the TISD board's action to the State Board of Education. Their other options are to pay tuition to the Caro schools or start sending their children to Kingston.

Area accidents

ported he was eastbound on M-46 and his vehicle went straight off the road at a slight curve.

The vehicle went into a ditch, struck a fencepost, sheared off a large tree, rolled into a utility pole and burst into flames. The fire started in the engine compartment and consumed the entire vehicle.

Hisey, 22, of 6510 Moriarty Road, who was still inside when the car burned, was dead at the scene.

Troopers said his vehicle traveled 472 feet from where it went off the road until it struck the utility pole. The Lapeer Fire Department was called to the scene to extinguish the flames. The accident occurred at 3:25 a.m.

What caused his vehicle to leave the road was not immediately known. There were no witnesses to the crash.

Hisey was born July 30, 1958, in Mount Clemens. He had attended Marlette High School and was a tool and die maker at Modular Data Systems in Utica.

He is survived by his mother, Delores Groove, Sandusky; two step-sisters, Renee Clark and Sherri Groove, both of Sandusky; two step-brothers, Mike and Mark Clark, both of Carsonville, and his grandparents, with whom he lived, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hisey of Decker. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from Marsh Funeral Chapel, Marlette. Rev. John E. Larkin, retired pastor of Christian Missionary Alliance church, officiated.

Interment was in White Chapel, Troy.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

James O. Parker, 45, of 6246 Rossman Road, Kingston, was treated and released from Marlette Community Hospital after an accident at 7:30 a.m. Oct. 21.

Tuscola county deputies reported he was northbound on Cemetery Road, north of M-46, when he braked and turned to try to avoid hitting a deer.

His vehicle skidded on the wet dirt road, went off the west side of the road into an embankment, flipped on top to its hood and top part of the cab, then fell back on its wheels.

At 5:45 p.m. that day, deputies said, Jason D. Koehler, 18, of 3850 S. English Road, Kingston, eastbound on M-46, west of English, was turning south onto a private drive.

The car following him, driven by Orville W. Lockhart, 71, of W. Sanilac Road, Kingston, tried to pass on the left but then spotted a westbound truck, pulled back into the eastbound lane and ran into the rear of the Koehler vehicle.

Caro state police reported that an unknown northbound vehicle ran into a General

Telephone utility pole off the east side of Dodge Road, south of DeLong Road, breaking it in two. The vehicle then left.

The incident was reported at 8:30 a.m. Oct. 20.

CAR-DEER

Karen A. Koester, 26, of 6306 E. Rossman Road, Kingston, was eastbound on Deckerville Road, near Crawford Road, according to Caro state police, when her car struck a deer. The incident occurred at 11:50 a.m. last Wednesday.

At 7:15 p.m. that day, they said, Janet M. Kratz, 28, of 4274 Hurds Corner Road, Kingston, was eastbound on M-46, east of Phillips Road, when her car struck a deer.

At 10:15 p.m. last Wednesday, Cass City police reported that Deanne Zmierski, 16, of 6192 Ritter Road, was southbound on Cemetery Road, north of Kelly Road, when her car collided with a deer.

Caro state police reported that at 10:30 a.m. last Thursday, Jeffrey A. Petersen, 25, of Essexville, was eastbound on Deckerville Road, west of Murray Road, when his vehicle struck a deer.

Drop charges in bad check case

A charge of non-sufficient funds - check against a Deford woman was dismissed Friday by District Judge Richard F. Kern.

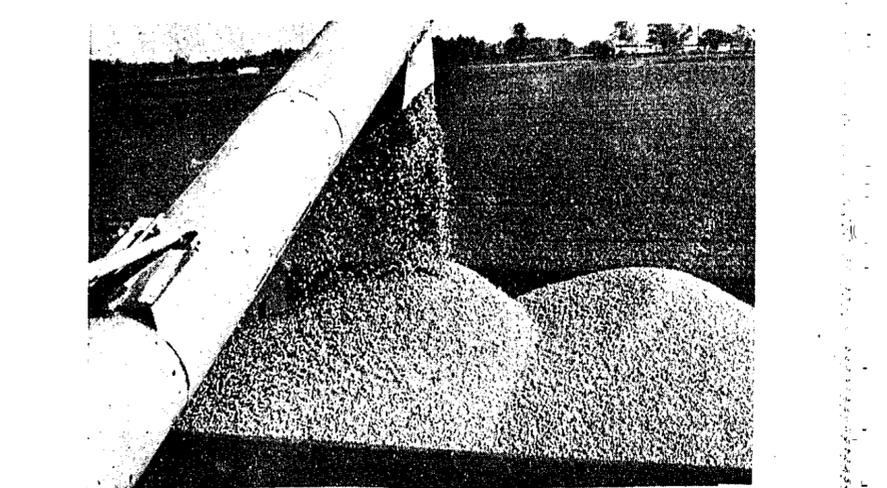

Karen T. Murphy, 24 of 2232 Englehart Road had been charged with writing a check for $81 to the Kroger store in Caro in June for which she did not have enough money in her bank account.

According to Assistant Prosecutor Eric Proschek, he moved for dismissal because further investigation showed there was reasonable doubt as to intent to defraud by the defendant.

Thomas L. Slater, 28, of 4118 S. Seeger Street, Lot 4, Cass City, pleaded guilty in district court Oct. 21 to a charge of impaired driving.

His plea was accepted and he was placed on one year probation and ordered to attend alcohol education classes. He was fined $100, assessed $100 court costs and his driving privileges were restricted.

Slater was arrested by Cass City police Sept. 28 after his car missed a turn at high speed from Cemetery Road onto DeLong Road and went into a ditch.

GOOD HARVEST - Dry weather most of last week and this week has enabled farmers such as Frank Schwartz (above right) of Williamson Road, Gageton, to make much headway in harvesting corn. Photo at left was taken from inside his combine. Tuscola County extension Director Bill Bortel said this year will be the first ever that corn yields will probably average more than 100 bushels per acre in the county. Lack of warm days and a good killing frost have resulted in high moisture content, which means farmers have to pay more to get their corn dried. Schwartz' Grant township field, harvested last Thursday, he guessed, would average 130 bushels, with a moisture content of close to 30 percent. Ideal would be low 20 percent range or less.

Johnson sent to state prison

A Sebawaing man was sentenced Monday to 4-10 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for two breakings and enterings in Caro.

Mark A. Johnson, 20, pleaded guilty Aug. 5 to breaking into an auto repair shop on Congress Street and the Hiser Mobile Homes sales office on W. Caro Road. Both break-ins took place April 27.

Sentence was pronounced by Circuit Judge Norman A. Baguley, who credited Johnson with 219 days served.

The judge granted a prosecution motion for execution of sentence for Rodney Hatch, 19, of Clio.

He pleaded guilty in January, 1979, to larceny in a building, in connection with a Nov. 23, 1978, break-in of a Vassar township home.

Baguley sentenced him in February of last year to one year in the county jail. Hatch appealed, but in June of this year, the Michigan Court of Appeals rejected his appeal as "wholly frivolous."

He was credited with 284 days served.

Also Monday, Ronald A. James, 25, of 4632 Cottrell

Road, Vassar, stood mute to two charges of delivery of marijuana Aug. 22 in Caro.

Pleas of innocent were entered and pretrial hearing scheduled Nov. 24. Bond was continued.

Kenneth Aulbert, 17, of 2698 N. Ringle Road, Akron, requested the court to appoint an attorney for him. His request was granted and Caro attorney Forrest Walpole was appointed.

Aulbert is charged with breaking and entering a building with intent to commit larceny and malicious destruction of property over $100, in connection with the Oct. 1 vandalism at Akron-Fairgrove High School which resulted in more than $30,000 in damage.

A 15-year-old has also been charged in connection with the incident.

As of Tuesday morning, Aulbert was still in the county jail, in lieu of posting 10 percent of $15,000 bond.

Buddy G. Miller, 35, of 3429 S. School Road, Akron, stood mute to a charge of criminal sexual conduct (2nd degree), in connection with a reported Oct. 3 incident in Akron involving a 15-year-old girl.

A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing scheduled Nov. 10. A motion for reduction of bond was granted and bond was reduced to $3,000.

Setting of bond for Michael Richards, 20, of Fostoria or Flint, charged with violating probation, was rejected. Arraignment was scheduled Nov. 3.

Richards was placed on two years' probation in August, 1978, for breaking and entering an occupied dwelling. He is charged with violating probation by failing to report to his probation agent for two months.

Tony W. Welch, 18, of 240 E. Grant Street, Caro, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny in a building. His plea was accepted and sentencing scheduled Dec. 8. Bond was continued.

He pleaded guilty to stealing tools June 13 from Laethem Equipment Co. in Caro.

Martin J. Grifka, 55, retired Argyle township farmer and bridge construction worker, died Monday, Oct. 20, after an apparent heart attack while hunting near his Argyle farm.

He was born Feb. 26, 1925 in Austin township, the son of Albert and Mary (Polium) Grifka.

Grifka and Irene Polega were married Jan. 21, 1950, at St. Mary's Catholic church, Dwight. They lived in Argyle township for the past 30 years.

He retired from the Midwest Bridge Construction Co. in 1978 due to poor health.

He is survived by his wife; six sons, Emmett Grifka, Larry Grifka, Lee F. Grifka, and Gary M. Grifka, all of Snover, and Roger Grifka and Harry Grifka, both of Argyle, and 12 grandchildren.

He is also survived by five brothers, Mike Grifka Sr., Robert Grifka, Stanley Grifka, and Marshall Grifka, all of Ubyly, and Albert Grifka, Chesaning, and four sisters, Mrs. Anthony (Clara) Wonsowicz, Sterling Heights, Mrs. Stanley (Bertha) Osentoski and Mrs. Raymond (Grace) Puvawski, both of Ubyly, and Mrs. Leonard (Marie) Watchowski, Bloomfield Hills.

Funeral services were held last Thursday morning at St. Joseph's Catholic church, Argyle, Father Gerald Kukla officiating.

Burial was in the church cemetery.

7% pay boost for county bosses

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners Tuesday gave county department heads a 7 percent pay raise for 1981.

The one exception was Probate Judge W. Wallace Kent Jr., whose county supplement to his state paid wage was kept at $5,000.

According to Commissioner Royce Russell, the board's finance committee, which recommended the pay increases, felt giving Kent an increase would make the board a "laughing stock."

Commissioners have been engaged in an almost year-long dispute with the judge, who is attempting to pay his employees more than other courthouse employees are paid.

District Judge Richard F. Kern received an increase in his supplement from $6,000 to $6,420.

Come Jan. 1, Circuit Judge Patrick Joslyn will become the sole circuit judge in Tuscola, instead of sharing duties with two other judges in Lapeer and Tuscola.

The three judges this year were each paid a supplement to their state salaries of $9,000 from Lapeer county and $4,500 from Tuscola. For 1981, commissioners added the two supplements together and then added 7 percent, so Joslyn will receive a supplement of $14,450 next year.

Commissioners boosted their pay from $6,500 to $6,950, where it will remain for 1981 and 1982. In addition, they will receive $40 per day when they attend meetings, the same as this year.

Some other pay increases, all 7 percent, were: county clerk and treasurer, each from $17,200 annually to $18,400; drain commissioner and register of deeds, each from $16,500 to $17,660; prosecutor, $30,100 to $32,210; sheriff, $22,000 to $23,540; undersheriff, $20,000 to $21,400; magistrate, $15,800 to $16,910; equalization director, $17,800 to $19,050; building codes administrator, $19,200 to $20,540; personnel administrator, $15,800 to $16,910, and veterans' counselor $14,000 to $14,980.

APPORTIONMENT REPORT

The report of the equalization department showing apportionment of property taxes, as will be reflected on December tax bills, was approved as presented.

In contrast to last year, when there was a delay over acceptance of figures presented by the Owendale-Gagetown School District, they were accepted this year.

The Goslin territory, which Owen-Gage claims is still part of the district, is listed separately in the report but is shown as part of the Cass City district. Valuation of the property is $4,708,400.

Many absentee voters are apparently in the latter category, as voting at home is easier than having to make the many selections inside the election booth.

Thus, whether the high number of persons taking out absentee ballots means more people will be voting or merely that more will be voting at home and less at the polling places won't be known until election day is over.

Application for absentee ballots must be made with township clerks by 2 p.m. Saturday.

Polls will be open at township halls Tuesday from 7 a.m.-8 p.m.

One effect of the large number of absentee ballots, Mrs. Hicks said, is it will take longer to tabulate the votes, since absentee ballots must be counted by hand.

The city of Vassar and Elington township are the only units in Tuscola which still use paper ballots and they especially Vassar -- may not get their vote totals into the county clerk's office until 5 a.m. Wednesday, Mrs. Hicks predicted.

She expects other units will probably have their tabulations in by 2 a.m.

Of the total taxes to be paid by Tuscola county property owners, 69.4 percent will go to local school districts; 8.87 percent to the intermediate school district; 14.14 percent to the county, including the bridge and senior citizen millages; townships, 6.54 percent, and drains, 1.06 percent.

OTHER ITEMS

Gove Associates of Kalamazoo was hired to prepare the county's pre-application for U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development block grant housing rehabilitation funds. The firm's fee is not to exceed $1,500.

Thirty townships and villages in the county have agreed to participate if the grant is approved. The county could get as much as $900,000, to be used to aid low-income homeowners to improve their homes.

Annexation of a 165-by-70 foot parcel on Doerr Road to Cass City was approved. The property and industrial building are owned by Engineered Tools, Inc.

A new secondary road patrol budget was approved for the sheriff's department for the final three months of this year.

The state funds the program, for which the county will receive $15,477 for the quarter, a cut of about 25 percent from the original budget. As a result, only two officers will remain in the unit, with a third one having been reassigned to regular department duties.

Council okays apartments

heard comments regarding changing the village ordinance to allow apartments in downtown buildings.

The present ordinance only allows them in the business district if they were in existence before the zoning ordinance went into effect and have been vacant less than six months.

The proposed change would allow new ones only in buildings two or more stories in height, provided they only be on floors above the ground floor and comply with all applicable building, housing, fire and safety codes.

The proposal brought a protest from Dorothy Stahlbaum, village council member and owner of a downtown business which has a first floor apartment.

She was told that her apartment would still be legal under the "grandfather clause," having been in existence before the zoning ordinance went into effect. The implication was made by planning commission members that if her apartment is ever vacant more than six months, but was eventually rented, no one was going to protest anyway.

The commission recommended to the council that the ordinance change be adopted, which it later did. It goes into effect Nov. 16.

BUDGET

A new state law prohibits spending money without an approved budget, therefore the council will have to approve its 1981 budget by the end of December.

Past practice had been to approve it in February, after the council knew how much money it had left over from the year before.

With three months of this year to go, the financial statement presented at the meeting showed general fund revenue so far of $346,805, versus projected revenue of $464,500 for the entire year.

Based on projected revenue still to come, village President Lambert Althaver commented, "At the moment, we're still in pretty good shape."

After the meeting, he said although revenues won't be as much as originally anticipated, it won't affect programs for this year.

But in 1981, he predicted, "We will see a reduction in services of some kind."

OTHER ITEMS

A request from St. Pancratius Catholic church to conduct bingo games in the village park during the July 4th festival was "regretfully" denied.

The primary objection was that granting permission would lead to similar requests from other organizations. It was pointed out the church can conduct the activity on private property adjacent to the park.

According to the village's attorney, Clinton House, the Michigan Employment Relations Commission has authorized a ratification election conducted by mail of the request by village police officers to be represented by the Fraternal Order of Police in contract bargaining with the village.

A minimum of 30 percent of employees must sign cards requesting such an election. He wasn't told how many signed, but with four officers, at least two had to do so.

The ballots should be mailed by the end of this month and House's understanding is the officers have about three weeks to send them back.

The council agreed to participate in the federal Community Development Block Grant housing rehabilitation program if Tuscola county's application for $900,000 is approved. If that happens, low-income homeowners could get low-interest loans and possibly free grants to improve their houses.

The request of Mary Wilding to have her property on the south side of Seventh Street annexed to the village was approved. The property measures 66-by-132 feet. The county Board of Commissioners must now approve the request.

Next council meeting will be Monday, Dec. 1.

As of Oct. 20, 97 percent of village taxes had been paid, compared to 97.6 percent a year earlier. Turned in delinquent to the county treasurer's office was $9,016 in taxes still to be collected.

Twenty-four members of the Golden Rule class of Salem UM church and three guests attended a business and social meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Grant Ball. Following the potluck supper, devotions were led by Iva Hildinger.

Cards were signed to be sent to church members currently hospitalized, Mabel Jickling, Donna Holm, Fern Silvernail and Shirley Geiger.

Mrs. Maurice Joos distributed material for bibs which members are making for patients at Provincial House.

There will be no November class meeting but the annual Christmas party will be held in December.

Old foes battle again for state representative post

If the contest in the 84th state House district sounds like a repeat of past years, it is.

State Rep. Loren Armbruster, R-Caro, is being opposed for the third time by James McCann of Akron, the Tuscola county veterans affairs counselor.

They opposed each other in 1976 and 1978, with Armbruster the winner the last time by about 5,800 votes out of more than 26,000 cast.

The 84th district consists of all of Tuscola county and small portion of Saginaw and Genesee counties.

Armbruster, 62, was first elected to the legislature in November, 1972, after having served 22 years as executive director of the Michigan-Ohio Sugar Beet Growers Association.

In the House, he is vice-chairman of the Roads and Bridges Committee and also serves on the Social Services and Youth, Liquor Control, Conservation, Environment and Recreation, and Drainage Committees. He is the minority whip.

A 1941 graduate of Michigan State University, he served 3 1/2 years in the Army Air Force during World War II and 1 1/2 years during the Korean War. Armbruster taught in high school for two years and was an extension agent for five years before becoming head of the sugar beet organization.

He is a member of the American Legion and Disabled American Veterans.

He and his wife Edna have three children.

McCann, 51, retired from the Army in 1974 after more than 20 years of service.

He has associate and bachelor's degrees from Columbia College, Mo., the latter in psychology, and a master's degree in education and community leadership from Central Michigan University. He has almost completed work for an educational specialist degree from CMU and has been given permission to begin working on his thesis for a doctoral degree in education.

McCann was recently appointed to the State Labor Board to represent veterans concerning employment.

He is a member of the Democratic State Central Committee, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, Michigan Association of County Veterans Counselors, Michigan Democratic Agriculture Committee and an authorized agent for the Michigan Veterans Trust Fund.

He and his wife have four children.

Seek senior citizen funds in Huron

Residents of Huron county will be voting Tuesday whether to increase their property taxes by .2 mill to fund services for senior citizens in the county.

Voters in Tuscola and Huron counties approved the .2 mill tax increase in the Aug. 5 primary election.

If the levy is approved in Huron, it will not appear on the tax bills until December of next year, so the Thumb Area Commission on Aging (TACA), which runs senior citizen programs, won't receive any revenue from it until 1982. The .2 mill, based on present state equalized valuations of the county, will raise about $120,000 a year. TACA funds its present programs primarily with federal and state funds, with a supplement from the county.

For 1981, the agency requested $36,000 from the county because of a cut in federal funds of $47,000, according to its director, Ronald Cassie.

The county Board of Commissioners, however, allocated only $20,000, the same as it is spending this year.

That has meant, Cassie said, a reduction in the Bad Axe senior citizen meal program from five days a week to four, laying off one of two outreach workers and not putting a person on the payroll who performs various tasks, once federal funding for her position expires in December.

Passage of the millage will allow, starting in 1982, establishment of meal sites in the Ugly-Ruth area (for 35 people, three days a week) and Sebawaing-Pigeon (50 people for three days), expansion of the meal program in Port Austin from two to three days and establishment of a home delivered meal program in the Bay Port-Elkton area, serving 13,000 meals a year.

The millage will also mean restoration of the above mentioned cutbacks and maintenance of meal sites in Harbor Beach and Caseville.

Other programs the millage will help maintain are the senior citizens telephone hot line for information and referral, (1,176 calls a year), outreach (1,224 visits made annually to the homes of senior citizens), transportation to doctors, food stores, drug stores, meal sites and other important appointments (2,352 trips a year), blood pressure checks (1,752 annually) and the Thumb Area Senior News, sent to 5,270 senior citizens each month.

AROUND THE FARM

Drowning in grain

By William Bortel

The hazards of suffocation in flowing grain have increased sharply with larger grain storage on farms, faster grain handling procedures, and automatic restart units.

"Flowing grain is a lot like quicksand," says Dr. Richard Pfister, Michigan State

Marlette OES installs officers

Marlette Order of the Eastern Star Chapter 199 installed officers Oct. 20, with Lucille and Basil Wotton of Cass City being installed as matron and patron respectively.

Other officers for the coming year are Glenna McClatchie and William Pabst, Associate matron and patron; Ruth King, secretary; Karen Hood, treasurer; Mary Frazier, conductress; Dolly Richmond, associate conductress; Gladys Bond, organist; Marian Lytle, chaplain; Audrey Sulaty, Marshall; Emilie Taylor, Beatrice Coupar, Linda Warner, Meta Pabst and Jeanette Knight, star points; warder and sentinel, Pearl and Russell Wilson, and Janet McGray and Clare McVean, auxiliary officers.

Installing officers were Betty Surine, past matron, Kedron Chapter No. 33, Caro, and Don Robinson, Caro, Past Grand Worthy Patron of State of Michigan assisted by Dorothy Tracy, past matron, Echo Chapter No. 337, Cass City; Helen Field, past matron, Decker Chapter 438; chaplain, Carol Furness, past matron Echo 337; organist, Opal Hunter, past matron Kedron 33, and soloists, Leo Tracy, past patron, Echo 337, and Kenneth Crocker, past patron, Kedron 33, and grand inner guard, International Order Job's Daughter, Grand Bethel of Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Wotton were presented a gift from Marlette chapter in honor of their 46th wedding anniversary.

Luncheon was served to 70 guests, following the ceremony.

Special honors were given to Elaine Fuester of Decker for the corsages made by her for the installed officers and installing staff and Christopher Tracy for the gifts made and presented to the installing officers.

Elder Raymond Kitt of the Marlette Latter Day Saints church gave the benediction and mizpah blessing at the close of the meeting.

The first meeting of the Chapter will be Nov. 10 with a potluck dinner at 6:30 p.m., with a meeting of the ways and means committee between the dinner and meeting at 8.

University Cooperative Extension Service agricultural engineer and safety specialist. When a grain storage bin is emptied from the bottom, the grain flows toward the bin center and down toward the outlet at a rate of 1,000-2,500 bushels per hour.

A person can sink knee deep in flowing grain in less than five seconds. Once the grain is 3-4 inches above the knee, a person is essentially trapped, and can be completely buried in 20 seconds. Children can go under even more quickly; 40 percent of the grain drownings occur to children under 16.

The best prevention would be to avoid getting in the bin at all. If you must get in the bin, make sure a lifeline-safety harness is securely fastened to you and held by at least one other person.

Should you still get trapped, try to walk toward the outer edges of the bin where the grain is flowing more slowly. Keep children away from self unloading wagons and bins.

Sometimes during unloading, a "bridge" forms. This is created when the surface of the grain temporarily doesn't flow and a void develops below. Getting into the bin causes the person to break through and the "victim" ends up under an avalanche of grain. If a bridge does form, use a pole or other long-handled object to break it up.

Another common accident is getting caught in augers or in the power takeoff. Consider the hazards of each set-up and warn others. Keep children away from any moving machinery. Make sure all shields are in place. A pant leg or shirt sleeve can get caught in revolving shafts or pulleys. Wear close fitting, comfortable clothes.

Inhaling grain dust can cause serious lung damage, and you may be allergic to the dust. Wearing a lightweight dust mask when transferring grain or cleaning the bin can help eliminate these problems.

New man sure in area district

For the first time since 1965, come Jan. 1, there will be a new representative from the 77th state House district.

Seeking to replace retiring Quincy Hoffman are Keith Muxlow of Brown City, winner of the August Republican primary over three other opponents, and Democrat Harold Richards of Harbor Beach.

Muxlow, 46, lost to Hoffman in the Republican primary two years ago by 104 votes and won the August primary by 4,206 votes over his closest opponent.

Cooperative Extension Service.

Richards, 72, retired eight years ago as a crew leader from Hercules Inc., a milling company in Harbor Beach, where he was employed for 31 years. During 20 of those years, he was president of the United Auto Workers local there.

Harold Richards

He has previously run for state senator once and state representative once. He served on the Harbor Beach Village Council for 2 1/2 years.

Richards was president of the Harbor Beach Community Federal Credit Union for several years and still serves on its board of directors.

He is a member of the Area Agency on Aging Advisory Council and is also on the state advisory committee for senior citizens.

Richards has been president of the Huron County Historical Society, sits on its board of directors, and is chairman of its committee for the Gov. Frank Murphy Museum in Harbor Beach.

He has worked to obtain financial grants for the museum, senior citizen activities in Harbor Beach and for that community's bicentennial celebration in 1976.

A widower, one of his four children is Don Richards of Cass City.

Keith Muxlow

He was Brown City mayor for eight years, but didn't seek re-election when his term expired in April. He was on the village council for three years before that.

The lifetime resident of the area was a dairy farmer for 25 years. He presently is manager and co-owner of the Brown City Industrial Park, which has attracted five industries to the area.

An Army veteran, he is treasurer of the Sanilac County Republican Party, co-chairman of the Brown City Development Committee, member of the Brown City Area Health Center Board of Directors, was chairman of the Brown City centennial celebration in 1976 and is a Rotary Club member and advisor to the

Tisch could cripple county road funds

Passage of Tisch Proposal D could wipe out new highway building and cripple road maintenance in Tuscola county.

Many voters erroneously think Proposal D only affects state government and that constitutionally earmarked gas and weight taxes will not be cut.

The fact is that local road and street funds will suffer drastically and motorists will face steadily deteriorating roads if voters approve Proposal D Nov. 4.

Even the author of Proposal D says it will roll back gas and weight taxes to 1978 levels, reducing state, county, and municipal road funds in Michigan by $85 million annually on top of the 11 percent revenue decrease already resulting from dwindling gas taxes and the trend to smaller cars.

This rollback of 10 to 12 percent would cut Tuscola County Road revenues by about $270,000 annually, which means even less money will be available to maintain the 1,630 mile county road system in the face of continuing inflation that is increasing maintenance cost about 10 percent and construction by 15 percent every year.

In addition, the tax rollback proposed by the Tisch plan will cut local government revenues to 1978 levels, making it unlikely that counties, townships, or cities will have any funds to share in road improvements. Last year, local units in Tuscola county contributed $1,484,000 toward roads and will be unable to do so in the future if Proposal D passes.

County road departments statewide already have cut work forces by 9.3 percent below 1975 levels.

Recognizing the need for prudent economizing, the Tuscola County Road Commission has cut equipment purchases and primary road construction.

Jim Miklovic, clerk
Tuscola County
Road Commission

Drinking age should stay at 21

Dear Sir:

In 1978, the Coalition for 21 and many other groups worked hard and gave generously to secure a referendum on the ballot that would raise the legal age for purchasing or drinking alcoholic beverages to 21. The voters of Michigan passed this.

The year it has been in force has shown great benefits for our young people, ages 18-20. The State Police records show this.

Now the liquor dealers do not want to lose any business. They want the money! They are making an effort to lower the age to 19. They were not successful in getting valid signatures and financial help from young people for a petition referendum.

However, the state legislature has come to their aid and by their vote are putting it on the November ballot. They are, by so doing, saving the alcohol beverage industry much work and expense and are betraying the trust we have put in our legislators.

The liquor dealers want the money! We are concerned for the life, safety, character and future of our 19-20 year old youths.

Please vote no on Proposal B.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Leonard Dorman,

Candidates answer questions

Berry vs. Clancy for Tuscola sheriff

from the Army and Macomb County Community College. He and his wife, Grace, have three children and one grandchild.

THE QUESTIONS

Q: Are you satisfied with the operation of the sheriff's department at present? If not, what changes would you make? If those changes involve additional expense, for instance, hiring more deputies, how would you fund them?

Clancy: No. I believe the overall efficiency may be at an all time low. It reflects upon the way many of the deputies must be doing their jobs. For example, after nine months of operation in 1979, the total number for appearance tickets and citations stood at 2,843. Now, after nine months of operation in 1980, the total number is 2,714. That is a drop of 129, which means that the taxpayers of this county are getting the short end of the stick. If elected, I intend to improve efficiency. I will insist upon an honest day's work for an honest dollar from all employees. And, I will be in the field setting an example for the men to follow.

Berry: I am not satisfied with the operation of the sheriff's department at the present time.

Changes I propose to make if elected will hinge quite heavily on the tax proposal issues before the voters and the resulting outcome as it affects the county budget.

Several changes within the department can be effected by moving some personnel to areas to better utilize their capabilities and experience.

It would be ideal if more help could be hired as it is sorely needed. However, I do not see this happening right away.

Q: This is a period when governments are having to tighten their belts. What potential do you see within the sheriff's department for economizing? If it becomes mandatory that you had to make some budget cuts, what cuts would you make?

Paul Berry

Clancy: I would recommend immediately the introduction of a few compact cars into the sheriff's motor pool. These cars could be used for many routine matters like serving papers, etc. Also, I am convinced that some of these high speed chases are unnecessary when we have a modern communications system at our disposal. In 1979, 437,000 miles were logged by the sheriff's vehicles. Over 42,000 gallons of gasoline was used. This amounts to only 10 miles per gallon, at a time when we are talking about energy conservation.

I have recommended the introduction of an inmate work program on a selected basis. This would involve the cooperation of an agency like the Road Commission. They could put inmates, under deputy supervision, to work on secondary road projects. Under such a program, I believe the judges might consider cutting sentence time for many inmates who volunteer to work for the public benefit. It would cut the soaring costs for board and room, now being absorbed by the sheriff's department.

If after every cost saving measure was taken and the budget still had to be cut, it would have to come from a layoff of personnel. This would be my last resort. I would do everything in my power first to convince the county commissioners that law enforcement should have top priority.

Berry: It has become necessary to reduce the department by one position already this month and it is quite likely that several more positions could be in jeopardy if the secondary road patrol funds and the federal revenue sharing money is reduced by the state and federal governments respectively.

If these cuts in funds come about, the only alternative is for the board of commissioners to come up with local funding or lay people off. If layoffs occur, this will result in reduced services provided by the department. This will mean that services provided by the road patrols will have to be cut back as the state constitution mandates that the sheriff maintain the county jail. In maintaining a fully populated or overcrowded jail, it takes more manpower to handle these jobs and when this occurs, the road patrol and other areas of the department have to suffer.

Q (for Clancy only): Other than about a year spent with the sheriff's department in 1972-73, your entire civilian police experience has been in running a small town police department. The sheriff's department is considerably larger and its functions are more extensive. Why should persons vote for you for sheriff?

Clancy: As I have already indicated, Undersheriff Bruce Tait will remain on the job, if I am elected. Together, we represent almost 60 years of law enforcement experience. I have worked as a county deputy, previous to accepting the chief of police position at Millington. I am very familiar with the operation of the sheriff's department, having assisted it on a myriad of occasions in my capacity as chief of police.

The Army Commendation Medal I received in 1965 while serving with the Military Police, I believe, speaks to my leadership ability. And, leadership is what this sheriff's race should be all about. In conclusion, I believe that I am offering the people of this county a law enforcement team... a team that can deliver top notch law enforcement services. People don't have to vote for me and then wonder about who the undersheriff will be.

Q (for Berry only): Except for three years as undersheriff, from 1969-72, the rest of your 25 years with the sheriff's department has been as a deputy. Being sheriff is primarily an administrative job. Because of your minimal administrative experience, why should persons vote for you for sheriff?

Berry: My 25 years' experience has been in all phases of the department. I am totally familiar with the complete operation as it has grown in that time. My working in the complete operation can only be to my advantage.

Also, I have completed administrative and supervisory courses from the Michigan Law Enforcement Training Council in police administration and supervision. This education and the job experience along with my ability to work with all the police chiefs and the departments throughout the county will give me the ability to handle the job of being sheriff.

Items stolen

Items worth more than $300 were reported stolen from a car last Wednesday parked in the rear lot at Cass City High School.

Taken from his car, James T. Crickon of 3918 N. Cemetery Road told village police, were an AM-FM radio with eight-track tape player, worth $70; "several" cassette tapes and case, $200; two stereo speakers, $50; one hub cap, $25, and one eight-track tape, $3. The vehicle had been locked. The incident was reported at 6:30 p.m.

Village police took Jerry D. Worley, 23, of Detroit, to the county jail after they stopped his car at 10:20 p.m. last Thursday. His vehicle was stopped after he failed to stop on Woodland Avenue before turning onto Main Street.

A check was made and it was discovered Worley was wanted on warrants from Romeo state police for contempt of court and the Warren Police Department for engaging in business as an alteration contractor without a license.

Village police cited Worley on a charge of driving with a revoked license. Monday before District Judge Richard F. Kern, he pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to three days in the county jail, fined $33 and assessed $22 court costs.

He was to have been released from jail if he posted $200 bond for the contempt of court warrant and $100 for the business without a license charge.

Charles O'Dell of 432 Krapf Road, Cass City, reported to Bad Axe state police Saturday morning that tools and a battery were taken and trucks damaged at the gravel pit he owns in Greenleaf township.

The excavation tools and truck battery were valued at $125. Damage to three trucks, apparently done with a hammer, was estimated at $175.

Richard Colling of Ashmore Road, Unionville, told sheriff's deputies Monday afternoon that 50 gallons of fuel were drained from his combine over the week end while it was parked in a field off Seelye Road, north of Cass City Road in Elmwood township.

A YES VOTE FOR TUSCOLA COUNTY PROPOSITION I will assure continuation of county operations. Paid for by Tuscola County Proposition I Committee.

Foote vs. Riess for Sanilac commission seat

Countywide races in Sanilac county were supposedly settled in the Aug. 5 primary, but they weren't. Only Republicans filed, so supposedly whomever won the primaries would take office Jan. 1.

However, County Clerk Lawrence R. Smith, loser to Deputy Clerk Delene Schultheiss by 197 votes, is running as a write-in or sticker candidate in a last-ditch effort to hold onto his job.

Smith was Sandusky city clerk for 13 years before being elected county clerk four years ago.

In his write-in campaign, he is crying foul-play, arguing that Mrs. Schultheiss misled voters in the primary by advertising she has 10 years' experience as a deputy clerk when in fact she has never worked in his office.

Mrs. Schultheiss has been the secretary for the county Board of Commissioners for 10 years, with one of her jobs being taking minutes at board meetings. State law requires that the county clerk or his deputy -- hence her title -- take the minutes.

She has been endorsed for election as county clerk by four of the eight county commissioners, including Lloyd Severance of Decker.

In addition to taking minutes and performing other tasks for the board, she said she helps township officials with filing of tax statements and warrants, a task normally performed by the clerk's office.

The other candidates, running without opposition, are: Prosecutor, Robert Barnes, who narrowly defeated incumbent J. Anthony Sykora in the primary; Sheriff, Ross E. Dundas, who has held the position since 1965; treasurer, Ken Rhead, in office four years; drain commissioner, Stuart Armstead, 25 years, and register of deeds, Maurice Turnbull, 19 years.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Republican Eugene Foote, 52, of 5285 Freiburg Road, Argyle, is running against Democrat Eileen K. Riess, 64, of 3820 W. Downington Road, Snover, for District 1 county commissioner.

The district consists of Argyle, Evergreen, Greenleaf, Lamotte and Moore townships. It is presently represented by Lloyd Severance, who isn't seeking re-election.

Foote, winner of the Republican primary over two other candidates, was Ar-

Eugene A. Foote

Eileen K. Riess

gyle township supervisor for six years in the 1960s and has been its certified assessor the past 10 years.

His wife, Hazel, is the present township supervisor, but isn't seeking re-election.

Foote served on the Sanilac County Social Services Board for 12 years. He resigned in June in order to run for county commissioner.

He and sons Dennis and Dave farm 700 acres and feed about 300 cattle. He has been an Argyle township resident since he was a small child.

Mrs. Riess, chairman of the Sanilac County Democratic Party since 1974, unsuccessfully ran for county commissioner two years ago.

She is a member of the Democratic State Central Steering Committee and the Democratic 8th Congress-sional District Steering Committee.

She has been vice-president of the Sanilac County Extension Homemakers since 1978 and will automatically become president in June of next year. She is vice-president of the Area 14 Homemakers Council since 1979 and will automatically become its president in January, 1982.

Earlier this year, Mrs. Riess received the extension homemakers Silver Salute Award.

For 14 years, she was an office manager and salesperson for a real estate and investment company.

In District 2, which consists of Austin, Minden, Marion, Wheatland and Delaware townships, Republican Donald Decker of Deckerville is unopposed for re-election.

No one knows the impact of proposals

What impact will passage of the Tisch Amendment (Proposal D) or the other proposals have on Cass City village and schools?

No one knows. According to village Supt. Lou LaPonsie, the guess is that passage of Tisch would cut state revenue to the village by 20 percent, plus there would be an additional loss in local property tax revenues.

State revenues to Cass City make up about a fourth of total revenue received by the village.

The Tisch proposal guarantees funding to state schools at the 1980-81 level. The problem, according to Cass City school Supt. Donald Crouse, is that the legislature has yet to approve 1980-81 state aid to schools.

When it does, because of the state's budget crunch, the amount could be less than received previously.

ESTIMATED RECEIPTS

EXPENDITURES

The grand total of expenditures for the school in 1979-80 was $2,847,358 and the estimated cost of running the school in 1980-81 is $3,172,700.

Electors to decide controversial issues

Seven proposals face voters Tuesday

Although the three statewide tax cut or tax shift proposals on Tuesday's ballot have received most of the attention, Michigan voters will have to vote "yes" or "no" on seven proposals.

One of the other four is a tax increase, from 4.6 to 4.7 percent, primarily for new prison construction. The other three involve lowering the drinking age, legislative immunity and powers of the lieutenant governor.

All seven are identified on the ballot by a letter and brief explanation. Those wishing to vote for the Tisch Amendment (Proposal D), for instance, won't find it identified as "Tisch" on the ballot.

The proposals are lettered

A, B, C, D, E, G and H. There is, for apparently obscure reasons, no Proposal F.

Following is an explanation of each, along with advantages and disadvantages. Explanations of Proposals A, C and D were prepared by the public service and information committee of the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

A - SMITH-BULLARD TAX PLAN

Purpose of this plan is to provide a statewide system of equal financing of elementary and secondary schools without dependence on local (residential) property taxes.

To accomplish that goal, residential property taxes would be limited to 13 mills, $13 per $1,000 of assessed value, which could be raised an additional 11.5 mills by a vote of the people. To replace the lost tax income to the state and local municipal governments the proposal would probably result in:

- 1) An increase in individual income taxes from the present 4.6 percent to 6.8 percent (experts disagree).
- 2) An increase in property taxes to industrial and commercial property.

Possible advantages of Proposal A:

-Retirees' property tax reduction due to special exemption of the first $25,000 of state equalized value of their principal residence.

-School districts in geographic areas that are not as well funded as those in a higher revenue base area would receive more income, theoretically producing better students, citizens and workers.

-Provides for local control of individual income taxation.

Possible disadvantages of Proposal A:

-Shift in taxes to business and to individual income taxes.

-Taxes being charged in unequal amounts to businesses and individuals due to higher rates for businesses for property taxes.

-Loss of local control of educational revenues by requiring the state legislature to establish a program of general state taxation for educational operating purposes.

-Certain general terms of the proposal have unclear meanings and there may be a complexity problem in their application.

B - DRINKING AGE

Two years ago, voters approved raising the legal drinking age from 18 to 21. Proposal B, if approved, will reduce it to 19.

Nineteen-year-olds are legally adults, except for drinking alcoholic beverages. Proponents of the lower age limit say teenagers still drink, but instead of doing it in bars, do it in cars, homes, parks, etc.

Allowing 19-year-olds to drink, opponents say, would increase teenage traffic accidents, have a bad influence on minors and make it easier to drink in schools.

According to the Citizens Research Council of Michigan, "There is no clear relationship between the legal drinking age and the number of automobile accidents. Since the drinking age was raised to 21, there have been fewer accidents involving 18, 19 and 20-year-old drivers who have been drinking. However, in the same period, there have also been fewer non-drinking related accidents involving 18-20-year-olds and fewer drinking and non-drinking related accidents involving persons 21 and older."

C - COALITION TAX PLAN

Proposal C, like Proposals A and D, is a constitutional amendment.

Its principal purpose is to shift taxation from residential property taxes and sales tax on utility services. It would offset the lost taxes by increasing the present 4 cents per dollar state sales tax to 5.5 to 9.5 cents (experts disagree) without a significant loss or disruption of services currently being provided by state and local governments.

This proposal, prepared by a coalition of the legislature and governor, represents an attempt by government and civic leaders to address the public discontent expressed with the substantial increase in property taxes over the past few years.

In connection with this proposal, the legislature has passed and the governor has signed nine separate bills implementing Proposal C, which will become effective only if Proposal C is approved in November.

Proposal C contains residential property tax reductions, a tax credit for renters, modifies certain provisions of the Headlee tax amendment and has provisions for replacing the lost revenue with sales taxes specifically earmarked for revenue replacement to local governments.

Proposal C also has provisions that allocate certain revenues to school aid and a "rainy day" fund, provides for changes in assessment methods for agricultural and forestry property, and attempts to better define the taxing powers of local units of government in relation to taxation arising from state authority.

Possible advantages of the legislative-executive proposal:

-A reduction in residential property taxes.

-More stabilization of the state budget due to the constitutional amendment requiring a "rainy day" fund.

-Establishment of a more uniform statewide assessment of property taxes.

-Ease of implementation as a result of the already completed passage of enabling legislation.

Possible disadvantages of Proposal C:

-Increased sales and use tax to individuals.

-Increased sales and use tax to businesses.

-An eventual increase in taxes to everyone, assuming inflation continues.

D - TISCH TAX CUT

This proposal, initiated by Robert E. Tisch, is a constitutional amendment designed to reduce property taxes to 50 percent of their 1978 value and to require the state to reimburse local governments for the lost revenues.

Proposal D intends to accomplish its goal by using 1978 assessments as a base, limiting increases in residential and agricultural assessments to 2 percent annually, removing most property tax exemptions from property that is currently exempt (excluding schools and churches), providing school tax exemptions to persons over 62 years of age and providing additional property tax exemptions to individuals with a low income.

The Tisch Proposal also contains provisions limiting the power of the state legislature by requiring the legislature to submit proposals for new taxes to a vote of the people and by requiring the legislature to have a four-fifths vote in favor of changing existing taxes, credits or exemptions.

There are significant "new" concepts in this proposal from the viewpoint that a 60 percent majority of the voters must approve any tax increases and 80 percent of the legislature must approve certain exemptions from taxation since both of these concepts would be constitutional rather than at the will of the legislature.

Since many provisions of the Tisch Proposal are indefinite, implementation and impact are difficult to assess.

Possible advantages of Proposal D:

-Reduction of residential and business property taxes.

-Providing the individual the opportunity to control taxes.

-Taking taxing power away from the state legislature.

-Forcing a detailed review of state programs.

-Achieving more responsible state government.

-Provides the ability to budget property taxes to the individual.

Possible disadvantages of Proposal D:

-A curtailment of state government services.

-A curtailment of local government services.

-Probable extensive use of the courts to implement the technical aspects.

-Increase in federal income taxes to individuals and businesses because the deduction for taxes paid to the state will decrease.

-Unknown impact on federal aid to Michigan.

-Reducing funds available for education.

-Additional taxes on business property currently exempt and additional loss of the state's ability to attract industry.

E - PRISONS

The proposed law would increase the state personal income tax from 4.6 to 4.7 percent for five years beginning Jan. 1.

During the period it would be in effect, it is estimated the tax increase would yield $360 million. The revenue would be earmarked for the following:

-Construction of four new regional prisons.

-Demolition of the 103-year-old Michigan Reformatory at Ionia.

-Preventative programs and other state and local correctional purposes.

The number of persons sentenced to state prisons during the past decade has more than doubled. A contributing factor was approval by voters in 1978 of the requirement that prisoners cannot be paroled before serving their minimum sentence.

As of Aug. 1, state prisons were housing 15,196 inmates, 10.2 percent more than their intended capacity.

Correction officials predict a shortage of approximately 7,250 beds by 1990 unless new construction is undertaken and some outmoded facilities are replaced or renovated.

Those in opposition argue one of two ways. One is that the legislature should rearrange its priorities and fund new prisons out of existing revenues or by sale of bonds, instead of a tax increase.

Those in favor say that the only way to do it, given the state's present financial situation, is by increasing taxes.

The other argument against the proposal is that instead of building more prisons, the state should look at more humane means of treating certain prisoners, such as more use of community-based facilities, work-release, etc.

G - CIVIL IMMUNITY

The state constitution gives legislators immunity from civil arrest or process during the legislative session and for five days before and after each session.

The immunity includes such matters as traffic violations, negligence actions and other civil lawsuits.

The provision goes back to 1835 and was intended to protect a senator or representative from harassment by the executive or judicial branches of the government or from lawsuits, such as might result from action taken as legislators.

However, the legislature now meets almost year-round and traffic violations, once part of the criminal code, are part of the "civil process."

Proposal G would allow the legislature to pass a law to modify the exemption, thereby eliminating the potential for abuse of the immunity provision, for instance, by a legislator avoiding a citation because of a traffic violation.

The opposition argument is that passage would give authority to legislators to create laws that would exempt them from civil prosecution.

H - LIEUT. GOVERNOR

Passage would:

-Allow an incumbent legislator to be eligible for appointment to the office of lieutenant governor.

-Eliminate the provision making the lieutenant governor the president of the senate with the right to break tie votes.

-Allow the governor to fill a vacancy in the office of lieutenant governor, subject to approval of both houses of the legislature.

The main argument in favor is that the state constitution presently has no provision allowing appointment of a replacement for a lieutenant governor who resigns or dies while in office.

Another provision prohibits legislators from receiving any civil appointment within the state while serving in office.

The opposition argument is that the lieutenant governor's constitutionally mandated duty to preside over the senate and to cast a vote to break ties has worked well and provides an important check by the executive branch over the senate.

The counter argument is that in recent years, the lieutenant governor rarely presides over daily sessions of the senate and even more rarely votes to break ties.

Since 1835, the office of lieutenant governor has been vacant eight times.

Proposal G does not spell out who would preside over the senate, since the lieutenant governor would no longer do so, nor how ties would be broken. Presumably, the senators would elect one of their own to preside.

Clancy for Sheriff . . .

proven LEADERSHIP for Tuscola County!

I think the single most important quality your next Sheriff must have is LEADERSHIP ability. Tuscola County's Sheriff's Department is a large one with a growing budget; it needs a man who can really "take charge." I've always been that kind of man and I'll be that kind of Sheriff.

I believe my background clearly demonstrates my LEADERSHIP qualifications. I served for 20 years in the U.S. Army Military Police and retired as an instructor in Police Technology. In 1965 I received the Army Commendation Medal for outstanding performance in police training and for liaison with local officials of Germany. The lessons I learned — good administration, professionalism and diplomacy — are three crucial aspects of LEADERSHIP and they'll serve me well as your Sheriff.

I observed the day-to-day operations of the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department first-hand in 1972 while serving as a deputy. In 1973, however, I accepted a further opportunity for LEADERSHIP and became Millington's Chief of Police. This is the position I currently hold, and I believe anyone who knows will tell you that I have served the people of Millington honorably.

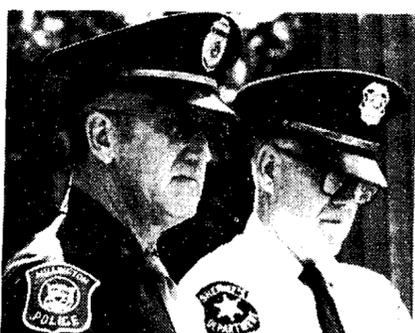

I am asking for your vote on November 4th; in return, I guarantee you that I'll restore real LEADERSHIP to the office of Tuscola County Sheriff.

Thank you,

Herb Clancy

Herb Clancy has a keen interest in saving your tax dollars. Here is he shown with Seventh District County Commissioner Ken Kennedy in a close examination of the current sheriff's department budget.

Herb Clancy believes that good police work should be the FIRST consideration of a county sheriff. Here he is shown with Bruce Tait as he announces that, if elected, he'll retain Bruce (a Republican) in his current position as undersheriff. The voters will thus benefit from over 60 years of administrative experience working for them.

Herb Clancy believes in the importance of the visibility of the sheriff, especially at the scene of major accidents and crimes. He is seen here actively involved in the recovery of a stolen piece of heavy-duty equipment.

Herb Clancy believes in halting the spread of crime before its effects reach epidemic proportions. He is shown here with part of a large marijuana crop he discovered being cultivated in the Millington area, one that will not reach the schools.

Funds sought to reopen canning plants

Plans to re-open the ex-Stokeley-Van Camp canning plants at Caro and Crosswell were outlined by Vernon R. Burnison, Marlette realtor, to Private Industry Council members of Huron, Sanilac, and Tuscola counties who met Oct. 20, at the Charmont in Cass City.

Burnison said $5 million is needed for the project and that financing is being sought from federal or private sources.

The plants would be operated by the newly formed Thumb Producers-Consumers Co-operative of approximately 100 members. The manager would be Al Killian of Fort Wayne, Ind. Burnison said that about 300 jobs would be created, many year-round, for canning peas, beans, red beets and sweet corn, as well as other food lines.

U.S. Rep. Bob Traxler, D-Bay City, the speaker at the meeting, assured Burnison that he would seek prompt consideration of applications for funding by federal agencies.

Traxler told the council that the federal budget, which he estimated at $550 to $600 billion for fiscal year 1981-82, is in conference committee of the House and Senate. He said the budget will have fiscal restraint and that there will be no growth in social programs.

Your Neighbor says Tisch Amendment best of bad bunch

Of the three tax reform proposals on the Nov. 4 ballot, according to Karl G. Heidemann, "There's not really one good one in the bunch, but I would vote for Tisch (Proposal D) just to shake things up."

Our "bureaucratic government," he feels, has reached the point where the only way it can try to solve a problem is to spend money. "Luxury has its limit and if you can't afford it, you don't get it. I think we can be a bit more spartan in our lives." The other two proposals, he commented, don't solve the problem.

As for the claims of Tisch opponents that its passage will mean government services will have to be cut drastically, "This is the big scare tactic the opposition is using... saying it's going to be a disaster, but if we don't do something, it's going to be a disaster anyway."

He does feel passage of the Tisch amendment will create some problems, but those can be resolved over time. "In its present form, I don't think we could live with it very long."

Heidemann will vote for the increase in the state income tax from 4.6 percent to 4.7 (Proposal E), which will fund building of five new prisons. He referred to the need as "a sad commentary on our society" and suggested that prisoners after they are released and find employment should have to reimburse the state for their room and board in prison.

He also plans to vote for Proposal B, to lower the drinking age from 21 to 19. "In reality, youngsters are doing it anyway (drinking alcoholic beverages). We're making criminals out of them."

Heidemann grew up on a farm six miles east of Cass City and graduated from Cass City High School in 1939. He was class president his senior year, editor of the school newspaper and played on the football team.

He has bachelor's and law degrees from Wayne State University and practices law in Troy, a Detroit suburb.

He was in Cass City Friday for a "nostalgic visit" and said he gets back here about once every five years.

He and his wife, Elizabeth, live in Troy. They have four children and six grandchildren.

New books at the library

THE AMERICAN HEIRESS, by Dorothy Eden (fiction). When the Lusitania is sunk with an American heiress among the missing, the young woman's look-alike maid (in reality her half-sister) slips neatly, if somewhat guiltily, into the ready-made role, marrying the heiress' intended with expectations of an idyllic life as lady of an English manor. Unfortunately, such hopes are short-lived as she discovers the lord's mistress is in residence on the premises, the rather self-centered gentleman needs a dowry more than he needs a wife, and there's a plot afoot to cast doubt on her identity. Eden manages to supply an eager following with another diverting addition to her ever-growing list of romantic novels.

A SURGEON'S BOOK OF HOPE, by William A. Nolen, M.D. (non-fiction). America's best-known surgeon-author now gives us a thoughtful book that conveys his own sense of wonder at the greatest of miracles—the human body and its amazing ability to survive almost anything at any stage of life. Taking up the story of his own career since "The Making of a Surgeon", "A Surgeon's Book of Hope" tells the true story of patients who were given up for dead—and lived.

MAYNARD'S HOUSE, by Herman Raucher (fiction). From the author of "Summer of '42" comes a haunting love story laced with occult shocks. When Austin Fletcher first saw the house bequeathed to him by his Vietnam buddy, Maynard Whittier, he had little reason to suspect the horror lurking within. Not until later, when he was visited by a clairvoyant 16-year-old girl, did Austin discover why Maynard was so attached to the house, why he had been chosen to inherit it, and what monstrous fate lay in store for its final occupant.

A PERSONAL MESSAGE

Dear Friends:

Although I have tried, it has been impossible for me to meet and visit with each and every voter in Commissioner District 2, prior to this election on November 4.

As a Cass City businessman, I have a deep affection for the people of this area. . . Novesta, Elkland, Elmwood, Ellington, and Kingston No. 2. I do not believe you have been getting the good representation that you so richly deserve. . . this is why I want to be your District 2 County Commissioner.

Over the course of time, I believe too many of our people have been dealt out of the game on the County Board. . . senior citizens, farmers, business people, workers, and many more. I intend to do everything I can to see that everyone is dealt back into the game and that the rules are kept fair.

Sadly, we are seriously lacking leadership on the County Board today. Old policies need changing. I am fearful of another encore of the same old thing. . . uncertainty, confusion, higher taxes, and business as usual. It does not have to be that way. . . you can do something about it on November 4 by voting for a change in District 2!

With my long business experience, I am confident of making a big contribution to the County Board and to the people I seek to represent. But, I need your help. I need your vote, regardless of political party. If I am elected, I can't promise that we'll win all of our fights for District 2. But, I pledge to you. . . we'll fight them!

Thanks for your consideration of my candidacy.

Sincerely,
Richard Erla

I endorse Delene Schultheiss to be Sanilac County Clerk.

She has shown the knowledge of tax statements, millage assessment, book-keeping, personnel management and record keeping - which are all essential in the County Clerk's Office. She has assisted everyone coming to the Board of Commissioners' Office beyond the call of duty.

New county plat book available

A new plat book is now available for Tuscola county.

The land ownership book contains detailed maps of every township showing land owners, acreage, slopes of parcels, location of farmsteads, plus natural features such as streams and cultural features such as railroads, highways and roads.

The 1980-1981 plat book is sponsored by the Tuscola County 4-H Council and is available at the extension office in the basement of the sheriff's department in Caro.

The 4-H Council will use the profits from the sale of the new plat book for 4-H youth programs, according to Council President Don Boyne.

HEALTH TIPS

Appendicitis still serious ailment

Frank Chappell
Science News Editor
American Medical Association

Acute appendicitis, once a highly fatal infection, can be as much a killer today as it used to be, if it is neglected.

The appendix is a small pouch arising from the first portion of the large bowel. A useless organ in man, it usually is about the diameter of a lead pencil and three or four inches long.

The trouble comes when a bit of bowel content enters the appendix and lodges there. The appendix fills with secretions and swells to an inflamed, pus-filled organ.

If the appendix ruptures, it spills its infected contents into the abdominal cavity. It can spread as a generalized infection to most of the lining membrane of the abdomen, the peritoneum, resulting in peritonitis, a serious threat to life, the American Medical Association points out.

The three chief signs of appendicitis are abdominal pain, nausea and vomiting, and tenderness in the right lower portion of the abdominal wall.

Unfortunately, there is great variation in symptoms and quick diagnosis is sometimes difficult. The doctor, before operating, must rule out a number of other conditions which appear to be acute appendicitis.

Treatment is surgical. Removal of the inflamed appendix before it bursts is a comparatively simple operation and the risk is quite small. If the organ ruptures, treatment is much more complex.

During abdominal operations for other problems, it is common to remove the appendix if this can be done without adding to the surgical risk. This reduces risk of appendicitis later.

Acute inflammation of the appendix is the most common reason for abdominal surgery. Every 15th person (7 percent) becomes afflicted with acute appendicitis at some time in life. All ages are involved, but the most common is between 20 and 30 years. Some 200,000 cases of acute appendicitis are diagnosed each year in the United States.

In children, the recovery rate is very high. Appendicitis is much more severe in older persons.

Tuscola, Huron eligible for disaster loans

The Michigan office of the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) has announced that 13 counties, plus adjacent counties, have been declared a disaster area due to damage from severe weather conditions, ranging from heavy rainfall to freezing temperatures.

One of the 13 is Lapeer county, which therefore makes Tuscola and Sanilac eligible as adjacent counties.

Under the SBA disaster program, homeowners, renters, farmers, and business owners whose homes, personal property, business property and/or business inventory were damaged or destroyed by the severe weather conditions may apply for low interest loans to repair or replace their damaged properties to pre-disaster status.

The amount of the loan is limited to damage not covered by insurance and, in the case of homeowners or renters, may not exceed $50,000 for real property, or $10,000 for personal property, or a combined limit of $55,000 for both.

Businesses that have suffered economic injury as a direct result of the disaster may apply for Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDL). Such businesses are required to submit documents showing that the economic injury suffered was directly attributable to the disaster.

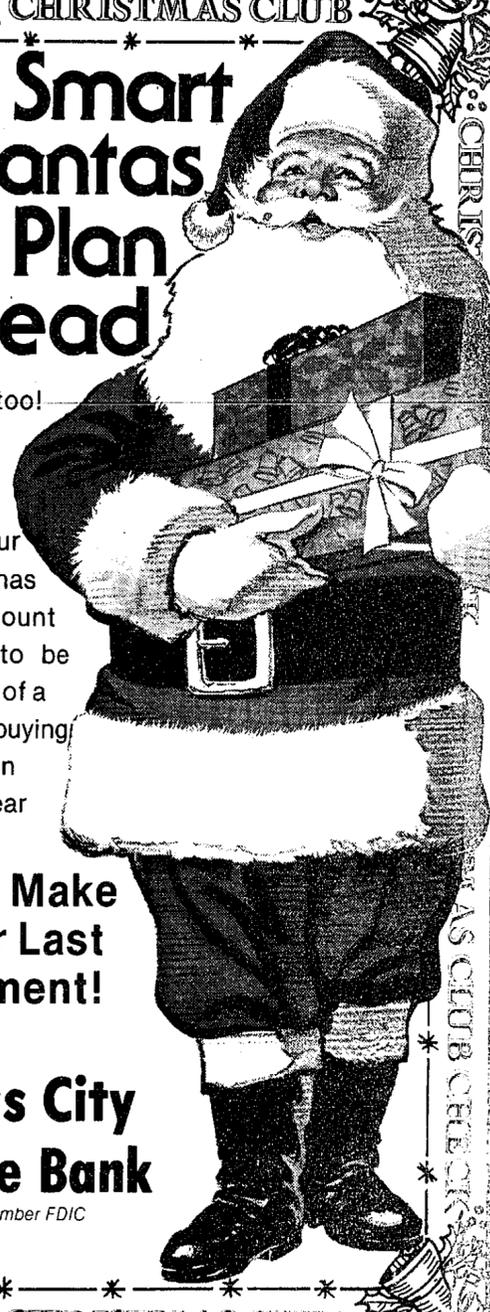

Funds received from these loans may be used to provide working capital and to meet financial obligations that otherwise would have been met had the disaster not occurred.

Where possible, and without causing undue hardship, a business must use its own assets or credit from the private sector, if available at reasonable rates, to meet its financial obligations.

Applications for physical damage or economic injury may be obtained from the SBA Disaster Branch Office on the mezzanine floor of the McNamara Federal Building, 477 Michigan Avenue, Detroit 48226, or by calling (313) 226-7397 or 226-4030.

Based on the township's present valuation, Supervisor Jack Kappen said, the levy will raise about $3,000 a year.

Elmwood township voters will be asked Tuesday to approve a 1½-mill levy for five years to pay for road maintenance and improvements.

In the Aug. 5 primary, the township board spends for roads and bridges, he said, presently comes from the millage and federal revenue sharing. The latter amounts to about $6,000 a year.

Members of Deford Cub Scout Pack 3693 went on a "spooky trail" last Thursday through the woods on the Martin Trunk property on Severance Road.

Popping up at appropriate places were witches, ghosts and werewolves. There was also a graveyard, complete with gravedigger.

The Cubs were accompanied by their families, there being a total of about 50 persons going on the trail. The various spooks were played by older brothers and sisters, who made costumes with assistance from Den Mother Dee Schmidt.

Following the walk down the trail, the group gathered at the Cass City Gun Club, which provided cider and doughnuts.

Marine Cpl. Benjamin R. Finley, son of Raymond R. and Betty L. Finley of 4242 English Road, Kingson, has been promoted to his present rank while serving with 1st Marine Division, Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The money raised from the millage, if approved, will be mainly used for maintaining roads, as opposed to making improvements.

All of the money the township board spends for roads and bridges, he said, presently comes from the millage and federal revenue sharing. The latter amounts to about $6,000 a year.

Based on the township's present equalized valuation of about $18 million, 1½ mills would bring in about $27,000.

As for what the township's valuation will be in 1981, hence what the millage will produce, Supervisor Roy Messer commented, "I don't have the slightest idea what it will be next year."

Presumably the valuation will increase, but if the Trish Amendment passes, farm and home assessment increases would be limited to 2 percent a year.

There are two proposals on the ballot. One is 1 mill for five years to be used for road maintenance and dust control, according to the ballot wording.

It will be the fourth time the township board has tried to get such a tax increase approved.

The first time was in 1976, the second in 1978 and the third in the August primary, when the same measure was defeated, 107-83.

"We need it desperately," Supervisor Helen Elliott said of the $12,162, the millage will raise a year, based on present valuation.

The reason it hasn't passed up to now, she said, is because the roads are in good condition when people vote, but aren't in the spring when they don't vote.

After the spring thaw many wet roads are almost impassable. "Then you should hear my telephone."

Grant's bill from the Huron County Road Commission this year will be close to $35,000, to be paid from the general fund and with federal revenue sharing funds. But state revenue sharing to the township will be less next year and whether there will be any federal revenue sharing must still be decided by Congress, thus Grant won't have as much money to spend for roads next year, and she doesn't feel it is keeping up with needed road repairs because it is paying more than $5,000 for drains this year, paid about that much last year and will have to pay it again next year.

All it could afford to pay for roads this year, according to the supervisor, was revenue sharing funds, which will exist next year.

The second proposal is, "Share the sale of spirits in addition to beer and wine the permitted for consumption on the premises" within the township.

The question is on the ballot, Mrs. Elliott explained, because an individual wants to build a bar in the township, at which liquor as well as beer and wine will be sold.

The township board must give its permission before the Michigan Liquor Control Commission can grant a liquor license to the person.

The board could have acted on its own, the supervisor explained, but decided to let the voters decide whether they want a bar within their township.

On the ballot will be 1 mill for five years "to be used for road maintenance and dust control."

That will raise, according to Supervisor Gerald Book, about $8,400 a year, but none on present valuation.

Without the millage, he commented, "We'll just fall behind on our roads."

The township is seeking renewal of 2.5 mills for four years for road repairs.

The present levy expires with this December's tax bills. The new levy, if approved, will be billed starting a year from now, with revenue coming in in 1982.

In addition to the millage revenue, Supervisor Charles Griika explained, the township spends federal revenue sharing funds on roads, plus money from its general fund, if needed.

The 2.5 mill levy will raise $18,566 a year, based on the township's present valuation.

Austin has levied the millage for many years, Mrs. Griika said.

Without the millage, he commented, "We'll just fall behind on our roads."
