Harmony Hill loss $500,000

Numerous fires no treat during Halloween week

Halloween in the upper Thumb is still "trick or treat" for kids but it also seems to have become an excuse for arsonists to create havoc.

Fire of still undetermined origin early Saturday destroyed the Harmony Hill bowling alley and lounge, with loss estimated at close to $500,000. Old elevators at Port Austin and Palms burned last Thursday and Saturday respectively, with loss in each estimated at $100,000.

The Elkland Township Fire department extinguished a barn fire early Friday in Evergreen township. There was another fire in the township, but the department wasn't called because it was too late to do anything.

The Kingston Township Fire Department extinguished two fires Sunday evening.

Not all the fires have been attributed to arson.

Shortly before 3 a.m. Friday, Elkland township firemen were called to extinguish a barn fire on Leslie Road, south of Robinson Road in Evergreen township. (Photo, page 4).

Owner of the large barn was Leroy Dockery of St. Clair Shores.

Neighbors couldn't tell firemen much about the barn, only that it was "usable," according to Assistant Fire Chief Jerome Root Jr. When they arrived, the barn timbers were already down.

Firemen were at the scene about 1½ hours. Root said cause of the fire is unknown. Burning of a tool shed belonging to Les Severance on Severance Road in Evergreen township was discovered about 1:30 a.m. Friday.

Destroyed was a new combine header worth $5,200, sitting on an old wagon. Severance estimated replacement value of the shed at about $2,000.

The shed is about a quarter-mile from his house. The fire was discovered, he said, when a car pulled into his driveway, then drove off in

United Way nears fund goal

The Elkland-Novesta United Way has a good chance of achieving its goal of $13,500, according to its president, Dale Deering.

As of Tuesday morning, about $11,000 had been collected.

Still to be received are the contributions from staff and employees at Hills and Dales General Hospital, which usually is about $1,000, he said.

Several canvassers also have yet to turn in their collections.

the direction of the fire. The building had burned flat to the ground by the time he arrived, he explained, so he didn't bother to call the fire department.

He feels certain the fire was started by arsonists. "It kind of perturbs you," he said of their action.

HARMONY HILL FIRE

A fire early Saturday which started in an outside trash bin destroyed Caro's only bowling alley, Harmony Hill Recreation and the Ten Pin Lounge.

"I can't say somebody started it," Caro Fire Chief Don Berry commented, Monday. The fire began in an outside trash container near the steps to the front entranceway, he said, then spread under and then into the building. At the point where the fire entered, the building was elevated off the ground.

Insurance adjusters have estimated the loss at close to $500,000. Although the shell of the frame building was left standing, Berry doubted it was rebuildable. "I think they consider it a total loss."

The fire was discovered shortly before 5 a.m. by a Caro policeman. Firemen left at 10:30 a.m.

The Vassar Fire Department assisted.

Police report 'good' Halloween

Halloween in Cass City was "reasonably quiet," according to Police Chief Gene Wilson. "It was one of the better years."

There were, however, several reports of malicious destruction of property and numerous persons were issued appearance or traffic tickets in connection with various mischief.

Making the job for police more difficult, Wilson said, is that Halloween is no longer a one-night event. "Halloween is getting to be a weeklong affair around here," he lamented.

The first victim was the village itself, which will have to replace three parking meters stolen from the west side of Seeger Street alongside the library. They were taken Tuesday night of last week.

The entire units were ripped out of the ground—meter, post and cement foundation. Two of the meters were on one post.

The meters are valued at $120 each, plus the cost of the pole, cement and labor in installing them.

Last Thursday night, police issued two appearance tickets (to appear in district court) to girls who were throwing eggs at cars. One ticket was issued for running a red light and one for careless driving.

Friday night, seven tickets were issued, four for defective vehicle equipment, one for no proof of insurance and two for traffic offenses.

Reports of vandalism made to village police last week were as follows:

KINGSTON FIRES

Arson is blamed as the cause of two fires Sunday evening extinguished by the Kingston Fire Department. Fire Chief Robert Phillips speculates both may have been set by the same person or persons.

The first, reported at 7:13 p.m., was a barn fire on Cemetery Road between Wilcox and Bevens Road.

Owner of the approximately 60-by-60-foot old wood barn was Murrell Kilburn of Bevens Road, who does not live on the property.

Phillips estimated the barn was worth $5,000. Lost in addition to the building was 1,500 bales of hay stored inside.

One pumper was at the barn fire. The department's second pumper was dispatched to a house fire at 8:53 p.m. on Froede Road between M-46 and Rossman Road.

The wood frame abandoned house was owned by a man from Detroit. No damage estimate was available.

The main concern of firemen was to keep the fire from spreading to a closeby empty house, Phillips said. The grass burned all the way to the house, but no further. Firemen were at each blaze about three hours.

OTHER FIRES

Arson is believed to be the cause of a Thursday evening fire that destroyed a major portion of the old Bad Axe Grain Co. elevator in Port Austin. The building was owned and being used by Paper Roll Products of Southfield for storage. Damage was estimated at $100,000. Firemen from Kinde, Port Hope, Port Austin and Bad Axe battled the blaze.

Damage is also estimated at $100,000 in a fire that destroyed the old wood elevator at Palms early Saturday. Arson is suspected as the cause. The Minden City Fire Department responded at 4:22 a.m. and was there about three hours. The owners had been considering turning the structure into a museum.

Sanilac county apparently had the most Halloween-related fires. Its sheriff's department reported Friday morning that there had been 17 of them during the night. No count was available from Friday night and early Saturday.

The Tuscola County Sheriff's Department reported numerous acts of vandalism between 8:30 and 10:10 on "Devil's Night" Thursday, with most of them in Millington and Vassar townships.

Most millages defeated

Berry new sheriff, Armbruster wins big

Paul Berry will become Tuscola county's top law enforcement officer as of Jan. 1.

The Republican nominee for sheriff, presently a deputy, easily defeated his Democratic challenger, Millington Police Chief Herbert Clancy, 11,822-9,409.

The election Tuesday also saw the defeat of the 1-mill levy for bridges and county operations. Road millages in Ellington and Elmwood townships were defeated.

In Novesta township, a millage increase for various purposes was defeated.

In state and national races, Tuscola county residents voted with the majority.

In the race for sheriff, Berry carried all but four of the county's 21 townships, plus the city of Vassar.

Voters were opposed to all millages in the county. Renewal of 3 mills for four years for road improvements in Ellington township was rejected, 263-184.

Elmwood township voters turned down a 1.5 mill levy for five years for roads, 270-212. In August, residents there voted against a 3-mill levy for the same purpose.

There were 22,914 ballots cast in Tuscola county, which is 70.5 percent of the eligible voters.

NOVESTA TOWNSHIP

Voters there faced three township proposals, plus contests in two offices.

Proposal 1, asking voters if they favored continued operation of the Cass City landfill, located within the township, was approved 322-187.

Proposed purchase of the Church of Christ building for $13,000 for a new township hall, proposal 2, was rejected 397-111.

Levying of 1½ mills for five years to cover the cost of fire protection, ambulance service and rubbish and garbage collection was defeated, 402-104. In August, voters turned down the same amount of millage for road improvements.

Republican Henry Rock was unsuccessful in getting back the clerk's job he lost to Nurse Kloc two years ago. Democrat Kloc won 373-156.

Three persons were running for the two trustee positions and the two Republican incumbents won, Fred Knoblet and Arlon Retherford, with 299 and 273 votes respectively.

Democrat Linda Yost finished out of the running with 237 votes.

Unopposed were Supervisor Bill O'Dell, Republican, who received 307 votes, and Treasurer Everett Field, Democrat, 331 votes.

COUNTY BOARD

Second District County Commissioner Royce Russell, Republican, received 1,920 votes to defeat his Democrat challenger, Richard Eria, who received 1,190 votes.

In Elkland township, Russell received 940 votes to 473 for Eria; Ellington, 236 (172 for Eria); Elmwood, 329 (179); Novesta, 282 (229), and Kingston township Precinct 2, 133 (137), the only precinct Russell lost.

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners will have one new member Jan. 1. In the Vassar area, District 6, Democrat Robert Russell was defeated by Republican George Bill Clark Jr., 1,548-1,471.

In the Caro area, Republican J. Benson Collon defeated his Democratic challenger, V. Michael Higgins, 1,741-455.

In District 7, in the Millington area, Democrat Ken Kennedy won over write-in challenger Robert Fong, 2,203-218.

STATE, NATIONAL

For the third time, State Rep. Loren Armbruster, R-Caro, defeated Democrat

James McCann. The lawmaker garnered 15,465 votes in Tuscola and Saginaw counties to 8,185 for his opponent. Results from the small portion of the 84th District in Genesee county weren't available as of press time.

Loren Armbruster

U.S. Rep. Bob Traxler, D-Bay City, easily won reelection to Congress over Republican Norman Hughes. With a majority of the vote in, Traxler had a lead of 62 percent to 37 percent for his opponent. The vote in Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties is given in the chart elsewhere in this issue.

In the 77th District, Republican Keith Muxlow was the easy winner over Democrat Harold Richards. Muxlow won 13,241 votes in

Sanilac county and 10,666 in Huron, to 3,626 and 3,736 respectively for Richards.

Results from the small portion of the district in St. Clair and Lapeer counties wasn't available as of press time.

The seven statewide ballot proposals were defeated in Michigan, and the upper Thumb followed that voting pattern, with the exception that Sanilac county voters narrowly approved the Tisch Amendment (proposal D).

In Tuscola, Tisch was approved in Wisner township and one of two precincts in Watertown and Arbelia townships.

Re-elected to the Michigan Supreme Court were Justices Mary Coleman and Charles Levin. They also received the most votes in Tuscola county of any of the five candidates, 9,653 and 9,517 respectively.

TOWNSHIPS

Former Ellington township Supervisor Fred Bardwell, a Republican, lost his bid to get his old job back. The present supervisor, Jack Kappen, was re-elected, 260-176.

The one contest in Kingston township was for treasurer, with Democrat Mary Lou Wolak receiving 394 votes to 166 for Republican Velna Richter.

Everyone running in Elkland township was a Republican incumbent. Vote totals were: supervisor, Jack Gallagher, 1,138; clerk, Carolyn Ware, 1,173; treasurer, Arthur Randall, 1,140; trustees Fay McComb, 1,107, and Allen Merchant, 1073, and constable, Fred Martin, 1,077.

Only Republicans were running in Elmwood township: supervisor, Roy Messer, 362 votes; clerk, Joanne Sattelberg, 382; treasurer, Betty Russell, 370, and trustees, Kenneth Blue, 322, and James C. Turner, 306.

"If It Fitz..." Aglow on Halloween

By Jim Fitzgerald

One Halloween, when I was a boy, the largest theater in town staged a midnight show, advertising that "ghosts will suddenly appear in the audience, sitting right next to YOU!" That fascinated me.

The theater marquee also promised a horror movie and a stage show featuring a spooky magician. I could understand that kind of stuff. But how could a ghost suddenly appear in the seat next to mine? I found out.

There was no chance of my paying to see the show. Tickets cost 75 cents and my entertainment budget was limited to one 10-cent movie a week. If someone had told me then that one day it would cost $4 to see one movie — not even a double feature, and with no cartoon or serial — I would have committed suicide by throwing myself out of the second balcony of the Majestic Theatre.

Then, as now, movies were my favorite entertainment, and the thought of someday having to live in a world where I could afford only one movie a year would have been terminally depressing. And I would have found it exquisitely appropriate to plunge to my death on the main floor of the Majestic, close to the huge screen upon which Betty Grable had frequently tap-danced grievous indentations into my quivering heart.

In 1938, it never would have occurred to me that someday my weekly disposable income might exceed 10 cents. Forty-two years later, I still don't think such a remarkable day will ever come. Leaping to my death in the Majestic at the age of 12 might have been a good idea. At least I wouldn't have lived to see the extinction of theater balconies and the showing of movies inside rows of identical Thom McAn shoe boxes.

Anyway, when I went out trick or treating on that long-ago Halloween, with not one cent in my pocket, I knew there was no way I could end the evening sitting next to a ghost in the Majestic. This was during the Great Depression, and people didn't give coins to Halloween beggars. Most people didn't even give candy. They gave an apple and closed the door quickly before the beggar discovered the part of the apple that was brown and mushy.

The only place a kid might get a penny candy bar (in 1938, they were bigger than today's theaters) was in a downtown poolroom. And that's where four friends and I were when magic struck. A stranger asked us if we'd like to see the Halloween show at the Majestic. He said we'd have to do "only a little work" to earn admission.

As instructed, we appeared at the theater 30 minutes early. Backstage, something greasy was wiped on our hands and faces, and we were ordered to sit in the auditorium, widely separated. We received no explanation of what we were supposed to be doing, so we were bewildered, but it didn't matter because we were also in free.

You guessed it. The greasy stuff was phosphorous. After the crowd came in, and the lights went off, I glowed in the dark. I wasn't sitting next to a ghost, I was a ghost.

I didn't catch on until a woman leaned into my face and said, "My God, kid, what happened to you?" Then I saw my friends shining in other rows, and I realized I was in show business. I waved my ghostly hands in the air and said boo and laughed menacingly. People were so frightened they giggled. It was marvelous.

I went home and glowed for my family, and told them about My Life in the Theatre. My big sister, Terrible Jean, came home with nothing except brown, mushy apples. She was so jealous she turned red. I glowed green. There was no caution signal.

For many years later, my mother periodically suggested that I wash my face. My answer was always the same: "What, and give up show business?" Now you know who Debbie Boone was singing to.

That 1938 Halloween was easily the most memorable of my life. Today I'm aging and stuffy, and my show business career is far behind me. But still, each Halloween, I reach back toward my childhood, and remember. I reach back by going out into the night in search of penny candy bars larger than Thom McAn, and I return home with a little glow on.

DOWN AT LAST -- The covered basement house, long vacant, of Margaret McNeil at Houghton and Brooker Streets, which the village had been trying to have torn down since June, 1977, finally was demolished Saturday. Various legal entanglements were the reason for the long delay. Chuck O'Dell was the contractor for the demolition.

Pair face charges in district court

Cass City police made two arrests during the past week.

David M. Barber, 22, of Lansing, was arrested on a charge of driving with license suspended at 11:15 p.m. last Friday after his car was stopped on Pine Street because of a loud exhaust.

Richard E. Eisinger, 29, of Bad Axe, was arrested on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor at 2:50 a.m. Sunday on Cemetery Road, south of town, after his car was observed breaking the speed limit.

Both men were taken to the county jail and later released after posting bond, pending appearance in district court.

George and Lois Hawley of 2732 E. Caro Road, Ellington township, reported to deputies that someone had spilled black paint over their car while it was parked in their yard. The paint was removed without damage.

Jumper cables require caution

Starting a dead car battery with a jumper cable can be dangerous to your eyes.

The National Society to Prevent Blindness recommends that before attaching the cables, you should:

- Put out all cigarettes and flames.
- Make sure cars don't touch. Turn off ignition.
- Add battery water if needed.
- Don't jump-start unless both batteries are negatively grounded and the same voltage.

This is Monday, the day before the election. I know how I will vote tomorrow but have little hope for improvement if my candidates win.

At home I'm convinced that double digit inflation will continue under Carter or Reagan. There will be little difference in employment other than the cyclical ups and downs that come like the seasons.

It may well be that the party in power may do well if they keep the domestic economic scene from getting any worse.

All factors that have led us to our present position are still in force and if you believe that a Republican president working with a Democratic congress can really make significant changes meet me at midnight south of town. I've got a deal for you on the Cass River Bridge.

If Reagan is elected there could be a further escalation of the arms race and Carter's posture in the heat of the election indicates he will go that route, too.

Consider that one study indicates what will happen if both the United States and Russia insist upon primacy rather than parity in the arms race.

"Superpowers have stored between them 50,000 nuclear weapons, enough to destroy the world a dozen or more times - each side spends more than $100 million a day enlarging its arsenals."

The study says that a continued arms race must end in bankruptcy or war.

It's always been that a country that continuously prepares for war ends up in war.

There doesn't appear to be any abatement in the current arms race and it really doesn't make any sense at

Ah, the joys of newspapering. One reader called to tell us it's illegal for a 10-year-old to be hunting and what did we mean to be publishing a picture teaching the kids to do wrong?

Another irate reader was peeved because we didn't print a team-trophy picture of the football team. It should have been on the front page, she said, instead of that silly picture of a kid on a pumpkin.

You can please some of the people some of the time.... (maybe).

The Chamber of Commerce is busy compiling a brochure telling about the community. Among the many facts secured is a rundown on the weather.

Quick now, what are the driest and wettest months of the year here? Based on 30-year records January is driest with 1.8 inches of rainfall and June is wettest with 2.94 inches. Average yearly rainfall is 28.82 inches. July (69.4 degrees) is the hottest month and January (21.5 degrees) is coldest and the average is 46.2 degrees.

Tell them you read it here first.

According to the census, Cass City has added just 100 persons in the last 20 years. From 2,100 to 2,200 population. When you look at all the new houses in the community it's apparent that either there are many, many homes with owners rattling around in empty rooms or the census people blew it.

The line wasn't long when I voted but I did have a moment to visit with another voter while waiting. He remarked that he could vote in a hurry because he knew all the candidates running.

I said that was remarkable because I'd have guessed that few if any voters could tell who was running for the Wayne State University board of regents.

He backed off a little after that, but I didn't feel a bit superior. I didn't know either.

I've often thought that it would make more sense to have the governor appoint college boards instead of the "pin the tail on the donkey" approach that is, in effect, what happens in the voting booth.

PEDALING AROUND

Reaching the goal

By Mike Eliasohn

History was made about 5:40 p.m. Monday, a couple of miles west of Cass City. My 1970 Gremlin rolled its 100,000th mile.

A lot has happened since I took possession of the car June 19, 1970. Including sales tax, I paid $2,546.36 for it. When I buy a new car, probably this spring, it will probably cost me three times that and I won't be buying a fancy car.

Every time I buy gas, I write down the price, gallons and mileage. I goofed the first time I bought gas for my car, and only wrote the price, but the second time, I paid 38 cents a gallon for lead-free gas.

My car doesn't need lead-free. It's just that back then, I was concerned about lead poisoning our environment. I am still concerned about our environment, but now I am also concerned about price, so it has been a long time since I paid for unleaded gas. Leaded regular, expensive but still cheaper, is good enough for me.

The cheapest I have ever paid for gas is 23.9 cents per gallon, but I don't remember if that is when I had my present car or the one before that, a Volkswagen beetle.

The Gremlin is only the second car I have owned. If the rest of the public were like me (cheap), America would be in a permanent depression, instead of what we hope is a temporary one. Obviously, the economy will improve when I buy my new car.

My Gremlin was not perfect when I got it, so sloppy workmanship is nothing new. The gas gauge didn't work, the clutch pedal didn't work right, the shift linkage needed adjustment, the knob on one of the window cranks fell off and the seat belts were installed backwards.

During the 10 years, my car was involved in two accidents, only one of which was my fault.

In 1972, I was working as a volunteer in an election campaign and I emerged from election headquarters about 2 o'clock one morning to find the left front fender had been viciously attacked by another vehicle. The metal wasn't just dented, it was ripped.

The second mishap occurred in the winter of 1975 or 1976. I forget. While returning to Monroe on US-23, north of Milan, I spun off the road when I hit a stretch of ice. My car got stuck in the snow and before I could get it going again, another car spun off the road into the front end of mine.

I was car-less for about a month. I made the unfortunate choice of the wrong body shop in Monroe. The workmanship was okay, but they managed to throw out my mudflaps, return the fender brace they had ordered to the distributor because they forgot which car they had ordered it for, and did a few other things wrong, which I no longer remember.

For those of you ninny drivers out there who think the only way to stop a car is with the brakes screeching and the only way to get one going is with wheels spinning, I modestly point out that my car is on its second set of tires (granted, I use snow tires in winter), the front brake linings were replaced at 90,000 miles (the back ones are original) and I still have the original clutch.

I better stop bragging or I will be tempted to try for 200,000 miles.

Slipcovers can reduce costs

Building owner David Luana reported Tuesday that there was a small hole in a window at Hobart's Shoes, apparently made with a BB gun. The 4 1/2-by-6 1/2-foot window will cost $150 to replace.

While on patrol Thursday morning, Wilson noticed a hole about the size of a watermelon in the Schneeberger-owned building on Maple Street. On the floor inside, he found a sugar beet. The window was valued at $150-200.

Marilyn Woodward of 6950 Severance Road reported Friday morning that while her son's car was parked behind Cass City Floral Thursday night, someone shot two holes in the windshield with an air gun. Replacement cost will be $200-250.

Margaret Biebel of 7537 Bay City-Forestville Road told officers Friday that while driving through Cass City at 8:50 p.m. Thursday, her car was hit by eggs, which removed some paint. Damage was estimated at $50.

Alice Finkbeiner of 4463 Lamton Road told officers while her car was parked on Houghton Street, near West Street, from 7:30-9:40 Friday night, someone cut her left front tire, apparently with a knife. When she returned, the tire was flat.

Murill Shagena of 6470 Houghton Street told police that at 8:45 p.m. Monday, an apple was thrown through a storm window. The window was valued at $20.

Gagetown village council's apartment plans foiled

The Gagetown Village Council unknowingly eliminated any possibility it had of getting federal funds to purchase the old St. Agatha's School to convert into apartments for senior citizens.

The council, which first tried to get funds a year ago, decided in October to apply for $150,000 to convert the building into five apartments. The Gagetown Development Corp. probably would have put up the funds to buy the property had the grant been received.

But at the Oct. 6 council meeting, trustees voted to participate in a federally funded housing rehabilitation program, for which Tuscola county is applying for $900,000.

It turned out, however, that by voting to participate in the county program, the village was therefore ineligible to apply on its own for the apartment project, as that money would have come from the same federal program, administered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

"Nobody told us," Village President Bill Downing explained as to why the council took the action it did. Gagetown's federal grants advisor, Leonard Hool, told him of the development a couple of weeks ago.

Downing said the possibility of getting a Farmers Home Administration loan to finance the project will now be explored and Hool will check to see if there might be some other federal program to tap.

If Tuscola county does get the $900,000 grant, or a portion of it, some low-income Gagetown homeowners will be able to get money at low interest or for free to improve their homes.

At the council meeting

Monday, trustees voted to hire the Pigeon certified public accounting firm of Anderson, Lynch, Nietzke and Co., to perform the annual audit.

The council voted to buy candy for Santa Claus to give to children during his annual visit. When St. Nick will be visiting Gagetown hasn't been decided yet.

New books at the library

THE COVENANT, by James Michener (fiction). This time Michener takes a giant sweep through South Africa, funneling the anthropological, social, and political currents that have flowed through that country's history into a factually rooted novel stretching in time from prehistory to contemporary apartheid and black resistance to it. Using a wealth of characters, Michener follows the evolution of several fictitious families, all caught up in the cultural surges and clashes that have marked South Africa's development.

MAKING YOUR OWN MOTOR FUEL WITH HOME AND FARM ALCOHOL STILLS, by Fred Stetson (non-fiction). After much research, travel and home experimentation, Fred Stetson shows how you can legally make your own motor fuel. With nothing more than an old-fashioned pressure cooker, a piece of copper tubing, a container and a few accessories you can distill alcohol fuel in your own kitchen. For the more ambitious, there are details on building and operating a 55-gallon backyard still and for farmers' cooperatives and other groups there are complete descriptions and detailed illustrations of a still that can produce 700 gallons of alcohol a week.

THE OLD NEIGHBORHOOD, by Avery Corman (fiction). Steven Robbins has achieved everything he thought he wanted in life. He's a hotshot advertising copywriter, the best in his field. He has a beautiful wife and two independent daughters. But now, at midlife, Steven Robbins realizes that nothing about his life, not any of it, has turned out the way he thought it would. In an effort to recapture what he feels has been lost in the passage of time, he returns to his old neighborhood in the Bronx. Here, among memories of egg creams and school yard basketball games, of the people and places he used to know, Steven learns the truth about life and about himself. From the author of "Kramer vs. Kramer."

Wedding wait should be required

The Roman Catholic church in Michigan recently decided to impose a six-month waiting period between the time engaged couples first contact their parish priest and the wedding date.

The aim, church officials said, was to assure young couples are better prepared for marriage. Exceptions are to be granted on a case-by-case basis.

Jack Harbec thinks such a waiting period would be ideal for all marriages, between the time couples first apply for their marriage license and when they could wed.

If couples had to wait, they would have to think about marriage more, he indicated.

Such a waiting period, perhaps with counseling required during the interim, he feels, would lead to more stable marriages and fewer divorces.

"Yes, there is," Harbec replied when asked if he thinks there are too many divorces these days. Is it too easy to get a divorce? "That's for sure."

Part of the problem is that couples enter into marriage with the attitude that if it doesn't work out, they will get a divorce.

There is not enough of a financial incentive to stay together, he said. "They part and get on welfare or ADC."

Counseling before couples would be allowed to be divorced, he feels, would help some of them to stay together.

Harbec and his wife of 39 years, Frances, live at 6619 Seed Street.

They have three children, Robert, James and Beverly, all married, and three grandchildren.

Harbec farmed until he and his wife moved into town four years ago, and worked for eight years in the construction business. He is now employed as a custodian at Campbell Elementary School.

Cancer unit plans fund raisers

The monthly meeting of the Tuscola County Unit of the American Cancer Society was held Oct. 27 at the sheriff's department in Caro with Mrs. Joe Young presiding.

Joan Wendling gave the secretary's report. Other reports included the service report by Betty Kochalka, who reported 39 cancer patients are being assisted. Diane Konyak, memorial chairman, reported over $700 is presently in the fund. Memorial money is all added to the crusade in the spring. Contribution envelopes are available at all area funeral homes. Board members were saddened to learn of the passing of Minnie Callahan of Mayville, a longtime volunteer for the Cancer Society.

Division representative Jean Gibson helped the group start plans for the coming year. Crusade material needs to be ordered soon and plans started for special events to help reach the goal in 1981.

Special events will again include the Cancer Bowl Down, Bar Bucks, and the Walter Hagen Golf Tournament. Several new events are being considered: rummage sale, bake sale and an auction of new and used items.

Many volunteers will be needed for these events, to start saving sellable articles and to write news releases. Volunteers can call 868-4578.

Any group or school wishing films or material is asked to contact Sandy Gaudreau at 823-3126 or any other board member.

The next meeting will be Monday, Nov. 24, at the sheriff's office in Caro, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Unhonorable discharges can be changed

Gordon Clowney, director of the Veterans Administration regional office in Detroit, reminds former servicemen and women who received less than honorable discharges that the 15-year limitation on applying for review of such discharges has been waived until April 1, 1981, giving these veterans an additional six months to apply.

Clowney points out that applications for a discharge review, or for correction of a veteran's records, may lead to eligibility for VA benefits in cases where former servicemen and women were previously ineligible.

Applications and a free information package on the review program may be obtained from veterans service organizations, VA regional offices or by writing to: DOD Discharge Review, P.O. Box 21, St. Louis, Mo. 63166. Veterans should include their service number and branch of service.

Lyle Lounsbury in poor condition following farm-related accident

Lyle Lounsbury, 64, of 5103 Cass City Road, Cass City, was reported in poor condition Tuesday afternoon at Hills and Dales General Hospital, where he was taken following a farm-related accident Saturday afternoon.

Sheriff's deputies reported he was the driver of a sugar beet truck which had stopped over a culvert on a private drive on the south side of Dickerson Road, east of Colling. Lounsbury had stopped too close to the edge and when the truck started teetering, he attempted to drive forward. The loose gravel on the edge gave way and the truck rolled over onto its right side into the ditch.

Lounsbury was injured when he attempted to jump to the ground and his heels caught on the running board. His injuries included three broken ribs.

The mishap occurred at 2 p.m. on the Ray Brinkman farm.

At 2:30 a.m. Monday, deputies said, Mary Lou Harneck, 25, of 4653 Clothier Road, Kingston, northbound on Kingston Road, was rounding the righthand corner at Center Line Road.

An unknown vehicle headed in the opposite direction struck the left rear side of her car and continued on. Spots of brown paint were left on the Harneck auto. At 7:25 p.m. Friday, according to deputies, Linda Snyder, 34, of English Road, Kingston, was northbound on Plain Road, south of Harmon Lake Road, when her car collided with a deer.

Officers reported that at 3:30 a.m. Saturday, Jonni Vandemark, 24, of Sebe-waing, was westbound on Bay City-Forestville Road, west of Cemetery Road, when her car struck a deer.

Cass Cityan commutes to Detroit

Trooper Smith urges freeway caution

Crime in Detroit is no different than anywhere else, according to state police Trooper Bob Smith, except that there is more of it.

For two years, the Cass City resident has been commuting 210 miles a day round-trip, five days a week, to the Motor City, where he is one of about 100 troopers assigned to the freeway patrol. "You have the same type of crime all over," he said. "It's just that in the Upper Peninsula, you may investigate something every two years. In Detroit, it's an everyday occurrence."

One result of encountering that much crime is that one gets "almost immune to it."

Smith, 32, began his police career with the Summerfield township division of the Monroe County Sheriff's Department. He was there from 1972-74. He and his wife, Sharon, are both natives of Monroe county (south of Detroit).

He was a Cass City police officer from June, 1974, to February, 1976, drove a truck for a while, then entered the state police academy in January, 1977.

His first assignment was at the Jonesville post in Hillsdale county. He was there a year, during which time he and his family lived in nearby Litchfield and rented out their Cass City home.

When he was assigned to the Detroit post, the family moved back to Cass City, because the Smiths didn't want to send their children to the Detroit schools, homes here weren't selling that well and homes in desirable Detroit suburbs were "very expensive."

The couple has three children. "Other than the driving, I don't mind being in Detroit," the trooper commented.

Depending on traffic conditions, it takes 2-3 hours to make the trip one-way. He drives at a steady 55 miles per hour in order to squeeze the maximum mileage out of his little 4-cylinder car.

STATE POLICE HAVE been patrolling the almost 500 miles of expressways in Detroit for 3½ years now. Prior to then, "If you had a flat tire, you were in trouble."

There still are persons who prey on stranded motorists on the expressways, but they are more "crafty" now. They normally won't prey on motorists who stay in their cars because they know the state police will stop to see if the person needs assistance.

In the daytime, he advised, the expressways are usually quite safe and if a motorist has a flat tire, he or she should get out and fix it.

At night, the situation is somewhat different.

Overall, the best thing to do is to stay in the car with the flashers on. Unless detained, troopers usually go by every 5-10 minutes.

SOMETIMES OTHER motorists will stop to help and sometimes the person in need of help will turn the offer down out of fear the person has ulterior motives. "Sometimes that's good and sometimes that's bad," Smith commented.

A few weeks ago, when he and his partner stopped to help a woman whose car had broken down, they found the man who had stopped was "in just too much of a hurry to leave." The man, who was white, was wearing a business suit and driving a new Cadillac.

They had the dispatcher run a check on the man and found he was wanted on a rape charge.

Then there was the old black man, unshaven and driving a beat-up old pickup truck, who "looked like he hadn't changed clothing in three weeks."

He stopped to assist a white woman who had a flat tire. He removed the wheel, took it to a gas station to get it fixed, came back and put it back on. The man refused payment and said he was "glad to help."

POLICING ACCIDENTS on the expressways can be dangerous and several troopers have been hit by cars.

Smith's patrol car has been rear-ended three times when he stopped at accidents, once by a woman who drove over 82 flares he had placed on the road. She was not drunk, but had been talking to her passengers "and not paying attention to what she was doing."

Most accidents on the expressways take place from 4-7 p.m., especially when it is raining or snowing. Under such conditions, it's not uncommon for each two-man team to handle 10-15 accidents in their eight-hour shift.

IT'S IMPOSSIBLE TO talk about being a policeman in Detroit without talking about race.

Eighty-85 percent of the people he deals with who are in trouble are black, but once stopped, they seldom give him trouble.

In contrast, the trooper finds that 80-90 percent of the resistance he gets from motorists he stops comes from white persons.

He has also found that if someone runs from an officer, it doesn't necessarily mean the person is a dangerous criminal wanted for a major felony. Carrying knives is routine in Detroit, so he routinely asks "give me the knife," and the person hands it over. "It's completely different from what I thought it would be down there." He admits that since he seldom has trouble when making arrests and traffic stops, there is the danger that he can get lackadaisical.

THE HAIREST EXPERIENCE he has encountered was in January of this year when he and his partner of 20 months, Don Couturier, put an end to the "pillowcase gang." The gang committed robberies in suburban areas and got its name because it dumped all its loot into the sheets and pillowcases it pulled off the beds.

Methodist women pick officers

Sixteen United Methodist Women of Salem United Methodist church attended the monthly meeting Monday evening at the church.

Mrs. Stanley Kirm presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Charles Tuckey reported that $265 was raised during October in special offerings in the church, to be used for mission work in Kenya and the Dominican Republic. Proceeds of $40 from the silent auction, at the close of the meeting, will be added to that amount.

Members approved a slate of officers who will assume their duties in January. There will be a joint meeting at the church Nov. 17 for retiring and new officers. New and re-elected officers for the coming year are: president, Mrs. Jude Patnaude; vice-president, Mrs. Ron Nicholas; secretary, Mrs. Ron Geiger, whose office is currently being filled by Mrs. Clyde Weir, and treasurer, Mrs. Maurice Joos.

The lesson on "parables of Jesus, glimpses of the new age," was given by Mrs. Robert Tuckey.

The Christmas meeting, open to all women of the church, will be Dec. 8, starting at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Charles Tuckey.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. Walter Jezewski, Mrs. John Ryba and Mrs. Clyde Weir.

Sang Parks granted citizenship

Cass City has two new United States citizens, Dr. Sang H. Park, MD, and his wife, Myung.

The residents of Cass City since July of last year received notice last Wednesday that they had been granted citizenship, effective Oct. 22.

That was too late, Mrs. Park noted, for her and her husband to register to vote in Tuesday's election, but they will vote in the next election.

Linda Albee helped the Parks prepare for their citizenship test, which they took Sept. 15 in Bay City.

Harold and Ethyl Whitaker went with the Parks to Bay City to testify to their being good citizens.

The Parks returned to Bay City Oct. 14 to take part in an oath of allegiance ceremony.

Dr. and Mrs. Park, 34 and 31 respectively, have two sons, Eddy, 4, and Jimmy, almost 2, both of whom are citizens because they were born in this country.

The couple came to this country from South Korea in June, 1974, two months after they were married.

Park, an obstetrician-gynecologist, received his pre-medical and medical training at Seoul National University. He interned for two years at St. Joseph's Hospital in Towson, MD., near Baltimore.

For the next three years, prior to coming to Cass City, he was chief resident in obstetrics and gynecology at Misericordia Hospital in the Bronx, N.Y.

The Parks live at 6719 Main Street.

O-G cagers win in league; lose to Pirates

Fortunately for Owen-Gage last Thursday, it was a non-league contest, as visiting Harbor Beach won, 72-59.

The loss dropped the Bulldogs to 14-2 overall. The Pirates, 6-2 in the Big Thumb Conference, boosted their overall mark to 9-3.

It was a close contest for the first three quarters. Owen-Gage led at the half, 34-27, but the Pirates climbed in the lead to stay, 48-46, with about a half-minute left in the third period. In the fourth, the visitors outscored the home team 22-13.

Freshman Mary Beth Osentoski led Harbor Beach with 30 points, with Sue Mausolf contributing 23 and Patti Lovejoy, 10.

Becky Howard accumulated 30 points for the Bulldogs. Joan Mosack pumped in 14.

The Pirates won the junior varsity contest, 29-16.

KINGSTON

Becky Howard scored more than half of her team's points Tuesday, Oct. 21, as Owen-Gage crushed Kingston, 85-50.

The senior connected on 21 field goals and six of seven free throws for a total of 48 points, 14 more than her previous school record.

Her output for the night brought her career total to 1,325 points and 384 for the season, a 27.1 average.

Howard also pulled down 17 rebounds and made nine assists.

Julie Andrakowicz added 13 points, 21 assists and 16 rebounds. Joan Mosack snared 11 rebounds.

The Cardinals, playing on their own floor, led at the end of the first quarter, 15-14, but were outscored in the second, 27-8.

Sherry Dereszynski netted 18 points for Kingston and Ginny Engler, 14.

The Cardinals won the junior varsity game, 23-21.

TERRI SONTAG aims for the basket past the arms of a Harbor Beach player last Thursday. Owen-Gage lost the non-league contest, 72-59.

"Fun" season ends for O-G with easy victory at Flint

What coach Arnie Besonen described as a "fun" season ended last Thursday afternoon for the Owen-Gage Bulldogs with a 32-8 win at the Michigan School for the Deaf at Flint.

The team finished the season at 6-3 overall and 4-2 in the North Central D League, good for a second place tie. With many young players, including some freshman and sophomore starters, "We could have very well been 2-7," he noted. "We were quite pleased with the youngsters this year."

Hunting seminar Tuesday

The Caro Community Schools Community Services Office will sponsor a deer hunting seminar Tuesday at the Caro Gun Club on Gun Club Road, south of Caro off M-24. It will start at 7 p.m.

Featured speaker will be Glen Dudderar of the Michigan State University fisheries and wildlife department. His topic will be, "Using deer biology to hunt whitetails more successfully."

Discussed will be how deer behave under different weather conditions, how they move at different times of the day, effects of different types of vegetation and the effect of hunting pressure.

Also, two deer hunting films and a film on Alaska hunting will be shown and a taxidermist and meat cutter will speak. There will be a display of guns, clothing and other hunting equipment.

There will be a small admission fee. Coffee and doughnuts will be served.

Missionary Society makes donations

Sixteen members of the Baptist Missionary Society and one visitor attended the regular monthly meeting Monday evening at the First Baptist church. Women gathered at 6:30 for a work hour preceding the business meeting presided over by Mrs. Clyde Wells.

Devotions were led by Mary Hanby and prayer time for missionary agencies was led by Mrs. Shirley Shaw.

Members voted a $50 contribution to Marge McMillan, a missionary in Africa.

Appointed to the nominating committee were Mrs. Jim Perry, Mrs. Fay McComb and Mrs. Lou LaPonsie.

Members voted to give $50 to the children's home at St. Louis, and the balance to the Teepee Village at Lake Ann, when the dime bank money collected for the year is distributed.

Philip LaPonsie, who had been a part of the Teepee Village, described life there when Mrs. Jim Perry presented "Informissions."

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. John Wood and Mrs. Wells.

Other seniors who played their last game last Thursday were Kevin Nicholas, Daryn LaZar, Jim Kuhr and Robert LaFave. Senior Mike Sullivan missed most of the season due to an injury.

The game at Flint gave all of the Bulldogs a chance to play.

Scoring started in the first quarter with a 9-yard run by Craig Gettel. The kick attempt for the extra point was blocked.

Gaeth then recovered a Tartar fumble and ran 13 yards for six more points. The start of practice, he noted Friday, was only 290 days away.

The coach loses seven seniors from this year's squad, with four of them having played regularly. The big holes to fill will be Jim Glidden at wide receiver and Scott Gaeth, as a runner and outstanding defensive player.

THE CASS CITY CHRONICLE

Hawks just miss play-off berth

Cass City awesome in win over Mayville

The Mayville Wildcats found out how tough the Thumb B Association can be, but unfortunately none of the other teams in the league was impressive in non-conference encounters and the Hawks are on the sidelines in the race for the Michigan Class C football title.

It was especially frustrating for Cass City after last Friday night. For the Hawks never looked better in administering a 31-6 lacing to Mayville, a team that was 7-1 going into the season's final.

Cass City, which improved game by game all year, appeared to be reaching a peak in the final game. The whole team's performance was great, Coach Don Schelke said, and Brian deBeaubien and Phil Zawilinski really came on strong in the final games.

The Hawks came, oh, so close to qualifying. According to the state's computer, it was .2 of a point. According to the coaches, the margin was slightly greater than that.

What was needed, Schelke said, was two other teams in the league to post wins. Or the Lakers to win over undefeated Harbor Beach, which was second in the final rankings and the team that nosed Cass City out of the play-off picture.

The Lakers were ahead 12-0 at the half but squandered the lead, the game and Cass City's entry into the play-offs in the final two quarters.

Judging by the records, Cass City should have had a much tougher game Friday than it did. But the Hawks were ready. On the first play the Hawks jumped off-side and that was the last penalty until late in the game when the team suffered another 5-yarder.

By that time the game was safely tucked away and the only time that the regulars got back in the game was during a series of five straight plays with Rob Sawdon carrying the ball. Those plays gave Sawdon 152 yards in 24 carries and enough yardage to become a career 1000-yard runner.

The second time Cass City got the ball, a 65-yard march netted the first score of the game. In the drive, on the ground all the way, Rob Sawdon picked up two key first downs and Phil Zawilinski added another. Zawilinski scored. Brian deBeaubien ran over for the points on a quarterback option play. Cass City scored again in the dying moments of the first half. Sawdon took a long pass from deBeaubien on the Wildcat 13-yard line, wrestling the ball from the defender for the completion. With 11 seconds left in the half, Brad Hartel booted a 27-yard field goal and Cass City was ahead 11-0.

Mayville gambled to try and get back in the game early in the third quarter. The Broncos tried to run on a fake kick from their own 36 and Cass City took over. A pass from deBeaubien to Bob Leslie covered 12 yards. Sawdon cracked over the middle for 22 yards and the touchdown. Hartel kicked the extra point.

Cass City added a pair of touchdowns by Zawilinski after that on runs of 27 and 22 yards to round out the Hawk scoring.

Mayville got on the board on a 25-yard pass from Phil McLane to Todd Harris in the fourth quarter. Harris became a career 1,000-yard runner in the game.

PHIL "BUCK" ZAWILINSKI made his final game for Cass City a memorable one. He ran for three touchdowns in the Hawks' easy victory over Mayville.

Bad Axe victory tightens Thumb B league cage race

Cass City lost a golden opportunity to virtually clinch a second straight Thumb B Association title Monday night when visiting Bad Axe won a last seconds victory, 34-31.

The game was even closer than the final score indicated.

The game turned when the Hatchets overplayed Padgett Randall in the final three quarters and effectively shot down the Hawk attack.

Randall scored the first 14 points for Cass City and the team was off and running, leading 14-8 at the end of the first period.

Bad Axe closed that gap to 20-18 at the intermission, 20-18.

In the last half it was a see-saw game with neither team able to take command.

With four minutes left the Hatchets went into the lead by a single point. Randall got that back with a bucket and a pair of free throws to put the Hawks ahead by three.

Cass City tried for the good shot in the last three minutes and controlled the ball until there was 1:05 to play. A turnover resulted in a basket by Wanda Sturgis to close the gap to one point and another Hatchet bucket a moment later put the visitors ahead.

The Hawks missed on a game winning try and fouled trying for the rebound. The free throws were converted to ice the game.

Randall with 22 was almost all the Hawk defense. Mindy Cubbitt led Bad Axe and was a tower of strength on the boards from her center position for Bad Axe. She scored 14 points.

Cass City converted 13 of 39 from the floor and 5 of 10 from the charity circle.

Despite the loss, Cass City still leads the Thumb B. The Hatchet win cut the leading margin from 2 games to one and keeps the championship still up for grabs.

THIS SHOT BY Shelley Lapeer failed to go in and the Hawks surrounding the boards didn't get the rebound. That was the way it went as the Hatchets upset the Hawks Monday. Number 24 is Beth Sieradzki and 34 is Michelle Fahrner.

CARO GAME

Last Wednesday night the Hawks rolled past the Caro Tigers, 44-38, with a last half rally.

Trailing by 2 points going into the final 2 quarters, Cass City outscored the Tigers by 5 points in the third and 3 points in the fourth quarter for the win.

Randall whipped in 25 points for Cass City but Caro's Lynette Coon took scoring honors for the night with 27 points. Cass City had a fine shooting night with 40 percent from the floor and 77 percent from the free throw line.

Michelle Fahrner led the rebounders for Cass City with 10.

Cass City was to have played North Branch Wednesday night. The Broncos was the only team in the league to defeat the Hawks in the first round of competition.

Lenhard to anchor college team

Mary Lenhard, a 1978 graduate of Owendale-Gagetown High School, is tabbed to be the starting forward on the 1980-81 women's varsity basketball team at Grand Valley State College, near Grand Rapids.

Coach Pat Baker says it will be a rebuilding year, with the 5-10 Lenhard the only junior on the squad, otherwise composed entirely of freshmen and sophomores.

The Gagetown resident, who played basketball and other sports at Owen-Gage, collected 143 points last season, an average of 5.5 points per game. She was a starter last season.

The team has only two other players back from 1979-80, one of whom was also a starter.

The Grand Valley Lakers, who won the Great Lakes Conference five of the last six years, dropped to third last year with a 6-4 record and overall were 11-16, their first losing season.

HEALTH TIPS Carbon monoxide is winter danger

Frank Chappell Science News Editor American Medical Association

Do you drive around in your auto on cold winter days with all the windows and vents tightly closed?

Do you sometimes warm up the car engine in your garage without first opening the door?

Do you neglect a checkup of exhaust and manifold on your car until something starts rattling or falls off?

If your answer is "yes" to any of these questions, you are flirting with carbon monoxide poisoning, the American Medical Association says.

Carbon monoxide is an odorless, colorless, tasteless gas that comes from your auto exhaust, faulty furnaces, smoldering charcoal in a grill and some other sources.

In the open air it usually is dissipated without harm to anyone. In an enclosed space it can be deadly.

Each winter brings fresh reports of deaths from carbon monoxide poisoning. The gas can seep up through the floor boards from a leaky exhaust. The victim becomes drowsy and "falls asleep." It takes only a short time for an engine running in a closed garage to fill the building with deadly gas.

No one knows how many auto accidents are caused by motorists whose reaction time is somewhat slowed by a small seepage of carbon monoxide into a closed auto. If your exhaust and manifold are in good shape, tightly fitted, you likely are safe. But it's even safer to leave a rear window open a crack.

If your furnace hasn't been checked this fall before turning it on for another winter, you also are running a monoxide risk. There may be leaks from the furnace's exhaust system.

If you enjoy charcoal grill cooking, great. But keep it where it belongs - out of doors. At least on an open porch. Burning charcoal gives off carbon monoxide too. Be certain all coals are burned out before bringing the grill indoors.

92-year-old still active

Hard work agreed with Mike Rusnak

MICHAEL RUSNAK

Mike Rusnak began working when he was 10½ years old.

That was 82 years ago in a country that no longer exists by name.

The Gagetown resident, who celebrated his 92nd birthday Sept. 21, came to this country when he was 17, in 1906.

Rusnak is a native of Slovakia, which after World War I was reorganized as part of what is now Czechoslovakia.

One reason why he came here, he explained, was that had he been three years older, he would have had to serve in the military before he could get a passport to come to the United States.

The other reason, he said with a slight smile, was to "look for a good job."

His first job, in Slovakia, was working on rafts of tied-together logs, being floated from the forests to the mills, a journey that could take from 5-9 days.

He later worked in a textile mill, then went back to the river.

An older brother was working in Pittsburgh, so when Rusnak arrived in the United States, that's where he went.

His first job was at a plant north of Pittsburgh that built railroad freight cars. He recalled that after two weeks on the job, his arms were so tired, he couldn't lift them to his face.

He was there three years, then worked one winter at a lumber camp in West Virginia. He later worked in coal mines and a Wisconsin lumber camp.

Rusnak arrived in Michigan about 1909 to work in sugar beet fields in Durand, west of Flint.

Heavy vote reported

HURON COUNTY

One mill for repair of bridges was defeated, 8,785-5,270. The same proposal lost in the August primary.

A levy of .2 mill for senior citizen activities was defeated, 7,830-6,390.

Two proposals in Grant township were defeated. One mill for five years for roads was rejected, 212-124, and allowing sale of liquor, 219-120.

SANILAC COUNTY

County clerk Lawrence Smith's effort to gain reelection via write-in votes after losing the Republican primary failed. He received 2,714 votes. Primary winner Delene Schultheiss received 10,860.

In District 1 of the county Board of Commissioners, Republican Eugene Foote received 1,331 votes. Democrat Eileen Riess received 508.

In Greenleaf township, 1 mill for five years for roads was approved, 142-136.

In Austin township, renewal of 2.5 mills for roads for four years was okayed, 150-125.

Arson claims 1,000 lives each year

Arson will claim more than 1,000 lives this year, and cause an additional 10,000 to 15,000 injuries in the U.S. The property losses attributed to arson are staggering. Some estimate it's as high as $15 billion.

It's not only one of the most destructive, costly and easiest crimes, but it also ranks as one of the fastest growing. Incidence of arson has risen 400 percent in the last decade.

Besides its toll on human life and injury, arson also creates blighted neighborhoods, unemployment, tax increases for additional fire and police protection, loss of property tax revenue and increases in insurance premiums.

When World War I came in 1917, he was drafted into the Army. As he wasn't a citizen yet, he wasn't sent to fight in the war in Europe. He was stationed in Texas and Washington state.

Rusnak, moving where the jobs were, came to the Gagetown area in 1920 from Swartz Creek.

Starting about 1922, he worked six years for Francis McDonald, a farmer, northwest of Cass City.

For eight years, starting in 1928, he drove a milk route, picking up farmers' milk cans to deliver to the Nestle's plant in Cass City.

Also about 1928, he bought a 20-acre farm on Hurds Corner Road, a half-mile north of Cass City Road. With future land purchases, he eventually farmed a total of 120 acres. The milk route only took half of each day, which left plenty of farming.

IN 1928, RUSNAK GOT lots of helpers -- all at once. A bachelor, he advertised for a wife in a Slovakian newspaper printed in this country.

He received a response from Elizabeth Goda, a widow living in New Hampshire who had also immigrated from Slovakia.

The two corresponded for a while and decided to marry. They never met until Mrs. Goda got off the train -- with her seven children.

Rusnak knew before then that she had that many children, but that didn't bother him, he explained. He was from a family of 14 children.

He and his wife had twin daughters of their own, born in 1931. They are Rose (Mrs. Enoch) Osenoski, Cass City, and Anna (Mrs. Ray) Kubacki, Ubyly.

The seven Goda children ranged in age from 5 to 19 when they arrived here. They are now Margaret (Mrs. Stanley) Walter, Cass City; Elizabeth (Mrs. Frank) Seurnyck, Caro; Mary (Mrs. Aaron) Welton, Ubyly; Joe Goda, Detroit; Frank Goda, California; and John and Paul Goda, both of Bay City.

The first Mrs. Rusnak died in March, 1962, at the age of 69.

ABOUT A YEAR LATER, Rusnak married Elizabeth Janek, a widow from Indiana.

How did they meet? Rusnak ran an ad in the Slovakian newspaper again.

About the time they were married, he sold his farm and the couple moved to their present home on South Street in Gagetown.

The present Mrs. Rusnak, born in a different part of Slovakia, has four children, Mary Berland and Steve, Joe and Mike Janek, all living in Indiana.

As mentioned, Rusnak was one of 14 children. He and his older brother were the only ones to come to the United States. The brother eventually moved to Lansing. He is now deceased.

Rusnak has not heard from any relatives in the old country in several years. He assumes all his brothers and sisters are now deceased.

Rusnak was an active gardener until two years ago. At age 92, he reads occasionally, likes to watch television and enjoys moving his lawn on his riding lawn mower.

He is the oldest member of St. Agatha's Catholic church, which is across the street from his house.

IN THE ARMY during World War I was Michael Rusnak, shown here stationed in Texas.

IN 1911, Rusnak was working in sugar beet fields at St. Johns, near Lansing, when this photo was taken, outside of what were apparently the living quarters. He is the one seated.

HALLOWEEN VISIT -- Twenty-four youngsters from the Cass City Pre-school Nursery visited Provincial House Friday morning to trick-or-treat with the residents, a few of whom are shown here with their guests.

GOOD WEATHER the last couple of weeks has enabled farmers to make much progress in their harvesting. One indicator was this lineup at the Wickes Elevator Friday.
