Gagetown Country Days on tap Friday - Sunday

Summer may be coming to a close, but celebrations in the Thumb will continue this weekend with the annual Gagetown Country Days, slated for Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Organizers promise fun for all ages during the festival, which also provides area residents with an opportunity to help out a neighboring community because all proceeds from the event pay for vari-out the weekend. "Friday night we start with the ball tournaments, which is always popular. We have 16 teams coming in," Koch said.

Starting at 4 p.m., cruisers are welcome at Elmer Parrish's place, corner of Dodge and Bay City-Forestville roads, to line up for a 7 p.m. cruise. "Elmer opens his collection of race T Pocket Pullers at 5 p.m. memorabilia and allows the entitled, "A Day in the Life" of ... " which will provide insight into the careers of various professionals in the Cass City area.

Local builder of 32 years, Tom Herron said the pride he feels from the homes he has built is worth more than the money he makes.

Herron has built over 500 homes in the area including various subdivisions like Country View Haven, Hillcrest, Northwood Estates, Northwood Lake condominiums and industrial sites like Walbro.

In 1996 he established Northwood Modular Homes Inc., where he sells Modular Homes, "Modular homes are a wave of the future," Herron said. "People do not want to wait for a house to be built anymore. When I was building houses I could build 10 to 12 houses a year, the same struction is not held up by modular homes are always unfavorable weather conditions and waiting for building permits.

Herron has a selection of models on display at Northwood Modular Homes Inc. Customers can select the modular home they want to purchase and have it custom made. Customers choose a lot of the interior features like the color scheme, carpet, trim, and can select different windows, doors and cabinets if they want something different than what the home is equipped with. Once a home is ordered, the factory builds it in 6 weeks. Once the home is on the work site it takes the crew about 2 weeks to finish the home and build the garage and porch. Modular homes and manufactured homes are not built the same way, Herron explained. Modular homes follow the same building codes put on a foundation like a basement or crawl space, he said. The modular home arrives on site in either 2 or 4 pieces. Each side is lifted by a crane and placed on the foundation, Herron said. It takes about 5 days to dig and lay the foundation. The homes are built square and level so it is critical that the basement and foundation is square and level or the house will not fit, he said. It is also important to make sure the electrical service is in the right spot. The homes are also reversible, and so it is important to make sure they are set up the right way. "My fear is ordering a house backwards,"

Herron said. Once the home is on the foundation and put together, the crew does various tasks like drywalling the marriage walls together, shingling the plans, coordinating sub-contractors and selling houses. "I would rather be out swinging a hammer, but I am too. old. I miss the challenge of building houses and working outside with the guys,"

he said. Dick LeValley, Northwood Modular Homes site manager, said one of the biggest challenges he faces is making arrangement with the crew to set the house on the foundation. It can be challenging to schedule the crane because the company works all over the state.

Not everything is under the builder's control. Once the house is finished sometimes the customers have to wait to move in until the subcontractors get the gas and elec- . tricity hooked up, he said.

Working around unfavorable weather conditions can also be challenging, he said. When it's foggy the home cannot be shipped and when it rains it cannot be set. Some days everything

Metzger among Engaged college scholars

Jessica L. Metzger

Jessica L. Metzger, a 2002 graduate of Cass City High School, has been accepted into membership in the National Society of Collegiate Scholars and will be honored during a ceremony this fall at Michigan State University. Metzger is majoring in landscape design and minoring in agri-business management. The daughter of Dave Metzger of Owendale and Patty Peruski of Minden City, she will be a sophomore at MSU in the fall.

The National Society of Collegiate Scholars (NSCS) is a highly selective, national, non-profit honors organization. Founded in 1994, NSCS recognizes firstand second-year undergraduate students who excel academically.

The society was established on the principle that with scholarships comes a responsibility to develop leadership and a duty to perform service.

"NSCS provides the opportunity for students like Jessica to be recognized for their outstanding academic accomplishments early in their college experience," said Steve Loflin, NSCS executive director. "Jessica will also have the opportunity to join other high achieving college students in developing leadership skills and a sense of civic responsibil-

A REAL BUSINES Meg's Peg Flying tips by Melva E. Guinther

Flying is to date the best way to get where you want to go quickly, although it can be a tedious, nervewracking experience. Some people find flying scary even without the added possibility of terrorist activity.

It's understandable. After all, they're trusting everything to laws of physics they don't comprehend, the designers of the aircraft, whom they don't know, as well as the pilot and crew, who may or may not be reliable. Perhaps it will ease their minds to think the pilots have learned these tips that appeared on the "You Make Me Laugh" website (or maybe not).

TIPS FOR STUDENT PILOTS

* Takeoffs are optional. Landings are mandatory. * If you push the stick forward, the houses get bigger.

If you pull the stick back, they get smaller. * Flying isn't dangerous. Crashing is dangerous. * It's always better to be down here wishing you were up there than up there wishing you were down here.

* The only time you have too much fuel is when you're on fire.

* The propeller is just a big fan in front of the plane used to keep the pilot cool. When it stops, you can actually see the pilot start sweating.

* When in doubt, hold on to your altitude. No one has ever collided with the sky. * A "good" landing is one from which you can walk away. A "great" landing is one after which they can use the plane again. * Learn from the mistakes of others. You won't live long enough to make all of them yourself

You know you landed with the wheels up if it takes full power to taxi to the ramp. The probability of survival is inversely proportionate to the angle of arrival. Large angle of arrival equals a small probability of survival talking about might be another airplane going in the opposite direction.

Reliable sources also report that mountains have been known to hide out in clouds. * Never let an airplane take you where your brain didn't get to 5 minutes before.

There are 3 simple rules for making a smooth landing. Unfortunately, no one knows what they are.

* You start with a bag full of luck and an empty bag of experience. The trick is to fill the bag of experience before you empty the bag of luck.

Keep looking around. There's always something you've missed.

* If all you can see out of the windscreen is ground that's going round and round and all you can hear is commotion coming from the passenger compartment, things are not at all as they should be. * In the ongoing battle between objects made of aluminum going hundreds of miles an hour and the ground going zero miles per hour, the ground has yet to lose.

Good judgement comes from experience. Unfortunately, experience usually comes from bad judgement. * It's always a good idea to keep the pointy end going forward as much as possible. * There are old pilots and there are bold pilots. There are, however, no old, bold pilots.

Remember, gravity is not just a good idea. It's the law. And it's not subject to appeal.

* Always try to keep the number of landings you make equal to the number of takeoffs you've made.

* The 3 most useful things to a pilot are altitude above you, runway beneath you, and a tenth of a second ago. * And a final tip: Helicopters, can't fly. They're just so. ugly, the earth repels them.

Two weeks ago the big news on the school scene was changes in the regulations that promised to increase the cost of operation. One was requiring a lap top computer for every sixth grade student and the other requiring a union employee for minor school repairs.

It now appears that these costly changes will not be implemented. The computer for sixth graders has faded away like many of the schemes floated without consideration of costs. The requirement for union labor for easy-to-fix minor repairs is now considered to be in effect for new construction. We won't be changing a thing, says Cass City School Superintendent Ken Micklash.

In the west it's easy to get up and go. In Montana the legal expressway speed limit is 75 miles per hour. If you travel at the legal rate cars whip by like you are standing still, much like they do on Michigan Interstate highways when you observe our 70-mile speed limit.

How's this for a potent one-two punch? In Montana, the basic requirement to operate a gaming casino is that the owners have obtained a liquor license;

At nearly every major intersection there are casinos, often across the street from each other.

I was hoping to come up with a comparatively unknown gem of a restaurant to tell you about, but nothing was discovered along the highway.

I did have an outstanding breakfast, but it's not available to the general public. It was at an assisted care facility in Loveland, Colorado. We stayed in the guestroom for 2 nights to be close to my wife's sister who is a resident in the nursing home section of the complex.

The room (actually a 2-room apartment) included breakfast. It had fresh fruit, hot and cold cereals, and choice of traditional breakfast dishes. Included were homemade rolls that were simply delicious.

An added bonus was that the deluxe room cost only $60 a night, one of the less expensive rentals during our vacation.

The highpoints of vacations often are the unexpected incidents that change perspectives or become unforgettable memories of the time spent on the road.

Returning after an 11-day safari, a couple of incidents stand out. If you are on I-80 at Council Bluff, Iowa, be sure to stop at the welcome center. It's a great stop anytime, but it's a tion canister was jammed with dollars from observers that were impressed by the performances.

That took perhaps an hour of our time and it would have been easy to hang around for a couple of hours more if time permitted.

Trying to crowd too many activities into a brief vacation is a mistake, one that has occurred on previous vacations. In our 11 days on the road, we covered 6,774 miles, including a planned 2 1/2 days in Loveland, Colorado. It forced us to ignore stop-that there is one big bonus.

You are really happy to get back home.

"I'm just south of town near the old, round barn," he'd say.

We ventured into the world of high tech this week. We got caller I.D. on our phone. This doesn't mean I won't answer when someone calls. There is a good chance of that, however.

I've resisted these telephone company gimmicks for years, but I finally had to do it. It was getting to the point where I felt like a human answering machine.

The customer service representative sensed I wasn't used to a lot of frills on the phone. He pulled up our file and laughed, "You really have been basic over the years, haven't you?"

I didn't tell him what drove me to caller I.D., but I think he could tell. It wasn't just the telemarketers, either.

Even friends and family were calling several times a day. (My wife's friends and family.) I have friends, too. But not very many. That's understandable, I guess. My family isn't very talkative, either. I was talking with my brother this spring, and when we finished our visit we hung up.

"How can you do that?" Connie asked. "You must have more than that to talk about?"

"Not really," I said. "I found out they got the corn and beans planted. I'll call back in the fall to see if they got them harvested."

I blame a lot of today's chatter on the proliferation of cell phones. The last time I traveled by airplane half the folks in the airport were talking on their cell phones.

Most of them were telling someone they just arrived at an airport, were just leaving an airport, or they just sat on a French fry. I can remember the days when we only called if a flight was late. Now people call to describe which seat they're in.

What did folks do before they had cell phones? They found a real phone to call on, or realized they didn't need, to call in the first place. I remember my dad talking about one of the local guys when I was a kid. This man minutes. For some reason they feel a need to use up their minutes.

A minute or so later, he would call again. "Now I'm crossing the railroad tracks. I should be home in about two minutes." (Talk about useful information.) Now everyone has a cell phone with unlimited long distance and a jillion free

I don't know why people consider these free minutes. There's no such thing as free minutes (or a free lunch), it seems to me. They paid for those minutes, and now the rest of us are paying for them, too.

What is depression? It is a mental illness that affects the mind and the body. It is common, and affects millions of people each year. Yet, depression is widely misunderstood, ignored or untreated. It can be treated successfully and the person can lead a normal productive life.

People who are depressed may:

- lose interest in activities they normally enjoy
- isolate themselves from others.
- find little pleasure in life
- feel sad, disappointed, confused, anxious or feelings of self harm
- have aches, fatigue, loss/increase of appetite, or sleep problems

Most of us feel down from time to time but, if these feelings occur every day for 2 weeks or more a person should seek professional help. Tuscola Behavioral Health Systems can help. living in Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola counties will be called from May 2003 through March 2004," said Kay Balcer, assistant network facilitator. She noted that not everyone who receives a letter will be called. "If you are called, please

Relay for Life on tap

The Relay For Life of Tuscola County will take over the Caro Fairgrounds Saturday, Sept. 13, from 10 a.m. until Sunday, Sept. 14 at 10 a.m.

Relay For Life is a community-based event that recognizes cancer survivorship, celebrates life and remembers those who have died of cancer. Relay empowers the community to fight back against cancer by forming teams to walk for 24 hours and raise life-saving funds. While team members take turns walking the track, a celebratory atmosphere will be created by camping team members enjoying entertainment, food, games and community camaraderie. One out of 3 Americans will be touched by cancer during his or her lifetime. This event raises funds that will be used toward cancer research and various community outreach services and programs.

Make village good place

To the Editor:

First, I'm writing in regards to the controversy concerning the mural painted on the VFW building in our village. A village, by the way, I've been proud to live in with its strong patriotic beliefs and values.

Controversy may not be the correct word. I put it in the same category as an amateur terrorist attack. When I see that mural I get the same feeling of patriotism that I get when I see the colors flying. That kind of lump in my throat to see a great tribute to America; the greatest country in the world;

One of the reasons my son came back to Cass City with his family to live was because of its traditional patriotism and family values. I'm ashamed of the action of our village leaders.

I understand going strictly "by the book", but when it involves slapping our country in the face I wonder what'll be next. Will we be asked to remove signs and boards at churches honoring God and country. Let's not forget going, "by the book", but let's turn another page and take our good community back. When we look at the mural that was done beautifully and in good taste, let's give a silent salute to the men and women who defend and have defended our country. Their service has given us the right to voice our opinions and try to right wrongs as we see them.

Secondly, many people don't seem to be aware of the millage for Cass City promo that's been tacked on to village taxes. Seems I was mistakenly informed in thinking of the village council as a tive of the people. We don't mind paying taxes, but feel we should be informed of what they are for and also where each council member stands on the issues. Thirdly, we need new leadership. Other than someone

The Rotary Youth Exchange Program offers high

Roy Jaster Jr. and Dr. Paese

"After six short weeks the pain was completely gone."

Roy Jaster Jr. is in the family business with Jaster Construction. Over the years, he had continuing difficulty with lower back pain. Then, on vacation to the Indian River, a water skiing accident was the final straw.

The agony had finally just become too much. A friend referred Roy to Dr. Paese of The Knee & Orthopaedic Center. The diagnosis was three herniated disks of the lower lumbar region of the back. In 1992 Roy had back surgery, which Dr. Paese also had to consider before treatment was decided upon.

Dr. Paese decided AXIAL Decompression was the treatment of choice. The DRX9000 is one of only three machines in the state of Michigan and is an extremely sophisticated piece of equipment. After four weeks of this unique treatment, Roy was feeling much better. The numbness and tingling were gone and after six weeks the pain had completely disappeared.

Roy is back to work full time with no limitations thanks to The Knee & Orthopaedic Center. Roy continues to do daily stretches to stay in shape. "Thank you Dr. Paese, for giving me back the ability to wrestle and play with my boys again without pain."

This island is the biggest island off of Ubatuba and is known not only for its beauty and beaches, but also for the prison on the island that is no longer in use, just like Alcatraz off the coast of California. We first toured the old prison then relaxed on the beach all day. The water was so clear we got the chance to play with tropical fish swept in by the current. The water was really cold, that is why I think they were attracted to our warm body heat. It was the coolest thing to watch the school of fish swim around my feet and legs without them sensing a bit of danger. We then collected a few seashells and caught the three o'clock boat ride back to shore. After dinner with the family we went to the all too famous Ubatuba party called Red Beach held every Saturday night. Sunday morning we all slept in, packed and went home. We arrived in Taubate at 6 p.m. and Leila

(my host mom) picked me up from Julio's house and my vacation was over. From that time on I started to prepare my bags to come home.

GETTING READY

In preparing to come home I also had three going away parties. The first one was with' my friends. It was after our last day of school for winter break. We went to my friend's

A few days later, my first host family had a little gettogether with everyone for dinner. It was really a great time. I got many meaningful gifts from them, which reassured me how I will always be a part of their family, and they will be a part of mine as well! It was sad, but they let me know it would not be the last time I would see them before I headed home. After dinner I went to the Forro dance_one_last_time_with_ Fernanda and our friends.

The last party was with my current host family at the time. It was another dinner including their family and my third host mom too. It was the same thing, beautiful gifts and reminiscing. Then we had cake for desert to top it all off.

It was an emotional night for me because it was my last night left in Brazil. For them it was just another night, but I took in every last minute. I hated so much saying goodbye to everyone, but it had to be done. It was easier not to think about it, I would just hug them and get a tear in my eye, as they would look at me and say "see you later". And someday I hope to.

LAST DAY

July 3 was my last day in Brazil. I didn't waste one minute, I got up early, left a note for my mom and then went to visit some friends who planned to see me one last time. From there I went straight to lunch with my first host family. My host maid had a special gift and beautiful letter for me, she is a very special person to me, I hated leaving her. It was so hard for me to actually leave my first home, but I had to go back and get ready to leave. I did my final preparations and as soon as my dad got home we left, but I made them stop at my first host family's house one last time. We were in a hurry and I thought I could do it without drying, but one look at Ferhanda and we both lost it, then my host maid and dad joined in. My first host mom, brother. brother's girlfriend and my first host mom's friend all followed us to the airport. The worst part was when I got in the car and looked behind through the rear window and watched the blurry. view of my family and everything I loved and first knew fade away. I look back now and it seems I was in a movie. I was completely torn

We got to the airport where my friend Julio was waiting at the door. We checked my bags in and there was one small problem, they were too heavy. A $100 fine, thank God I had my Rotary jacket on, I just stared at the man and exclaimed, "How can I fit one year of my life into 3 bags?" He understood and then passed them without any charges!

The time passed quickly as the eight of us talked untilmy flight was announced to start boarding. I gave my hugs and let them know how much each one of them meant to me. We cried so much together earlier, nobody cried at this moment, which made it easier. Then with my last good-bye I passed through the gate and I felt my journey to Brazil had come to its conclusion, but I know I will never forget the friends I have and the fun we had together.

BITTERSWEET

We made memories to last a lifetime and I have the pictures to prove it. And with that thought and being all alone I started to bawl and bawl, I felt so empty, and it only got worse when the plane started to take off. I got the same thought as when I left the states, "there's no turning back now."

After I calmed down I thought of how great it would be to see my family again waiting for me in Michigan and that made me much. feel a lot better. As I got closer to home the excitement grew and I found myself crying tears of happiness instead of tears of sadness. Then when I arrived at the MBS airport 4165 Rescue Road gates to see my family anxiously waiting, watching through the window knowing that at any minute I could be the next person they see, and at first look my whole body was overwhelmed with relief, it was so long since I had seen them and now my exchange year was finally over.

It was so great to see everyone, my mom, dad, step-dad, step-sisters, and some friends, only one person was missing, my older sister Dawn in California. As we went to pick up my bags I requested to call. her as I had promised on my dad's cell phone, then I got the biggest surprise of my life. Dawn jumped on my back and when I turned around and realized it was her, I simply couldn't believe my eyes! I had no idea, and she looked so beautiful! I will never forget that moment.

I have been home about one month now and seem to be readjusting just fine to the homeland I know so well. I am driving and working again, and having a great summer and looking forward to school in the fall.

Thanks to everyone for everything this past year. With your help and prayers, I had a successful exchange and am back home safe.

To all the young, courageous people out there, I highly encourage you to go out on the edge and experience living in another land. One year goes by so fast and I think you will learn so

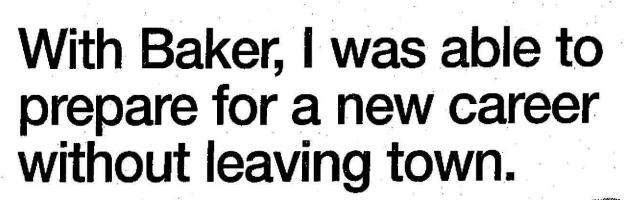

I wouldn't change this past year for anything. I hope you enjoyed my letters. Lauralouise85@hotmail.com farm about 20 minutes out of town for a barbecue. Almost-everyone was there for the rest of the day. We all had great fun preparing the food together, then eating it, playing soccer, swimming, playing cards, watching T.V. and reminiscing about all the good times that had passed. By ten at night I got a ride home with a friend, but the party lasted all night.

Immunizations

Act 299, Public Acts of 1975, authorized the Director of the Michigan Department of Public Health to specify, by regulation, the immunizations and tests required of all children enrolling in Michigan schools for the first time. This year the following immunizations are required: Diphtheria, Tetanus, Rubella, Pertussis, Measles and Poliomyelitis.

In addition, each new school entry must have had a vision screening test.

The parent or guardian who, because of religious or other convictions, does not want his/her child protected from these diseases must submit a signed statement to that effect.

As part of our school admission procedure for your child, we must enforce the law stated above. We must have the health record or a similar statement in order to admit your child officially to school. If you have questions about this, please contact your local school, your doctor, or the Thumb District Health Department.

The information provided by the household is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility and verifying data, or qualifying children for other federal and state programs, as authorized by the United States Department of Agriculture. Applications may be verified by the school or other officials at any time during the school year.

If children are approved for free or reduced price meal benefits, the household must report to the school increases in household income over $50 per month ($600 per year) and decreases in household size. Households may apply for benefits at any time during the school year. If a household is not currently eligible but has a decrease in household income, an increase in household size or if a household member becomes-unemployed, the household-should-fill-out-an-application-at-that time.

In most cases FOSTER CHILDREN are eligible for these benefits regardless of the household's income. If a household has foster children living with them and they wish to apply for free or reduced price meals for them, the household should contact the school for more informa-

Under the provisions of the policy the building principal will review applications and determine eligibility. Parents or guardians dissatisfied with the ruling of the official may wish to discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis. The household also has the right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling or writing the following official: Kenneth J. Micklash, Superintendent, 4868 N. Seeger St., Cass City, MI 48726. (989) 872-2200

The computerized debit system for the breakfast and lunch program will enter into its fourth year. One of the best features about this program is the security it provides. No one will be able to access another student's account.

Envelopes for this program will be provided to the students. Please fill out the information on the front of the envelope so the money is put in the right account. Checks or money must be sealed in the provided envelopes and put in a drop box in the principal's office of . each school before 9:30 a.m. Money received after this time will not go on the student's account until the next entry date.

Elementary and high school cafeterias will open on Tuesday, August 26th. The price for lunches at Campbell is $1.25. The price for middle and high school student lunches is $1.30.

Milk is available for all students who carry their own lunch at a cost of 25 cents a carton.

Lunch Purchase Incentive Option:

The lunch purchase incentive option is to encourage a balanced hot lunch for students and to assure that they will not have to charge. Parents will have the peace of mind knowing that the money they send for hot lunch will be used for a balanced diet and not snack bar items. For each 43 day ticket purchased per quarter students will receive two (2) free days.
