Stone struck on the stone foundation with the bent upon him, breaking several of his bones. He lived for several hours, dying Sunday. The unfortunate man was about 30 years of age and married.
A case was tried before Justice Dawson Monday. Attorney Curgess looked after the case of the People during the absence of the prosecuting attorney. The defendant was unrepresented. The case was to make the defendant furnish bonds to keep the peace, the complaining witness being his own wife. Later the defendant sent word to his family to come down and the property would be divided among them, each to take their own way.
