CABBAGE DISEASES.

Susceptibility to Rot and Infection Due to Soil Conditions. In a bulletin on "Cabbage Experiments and Culture" issued by the Maryland agricultural experiment station it is asserted that the susceptibility to rot and disease of cabbage growing on very rich, highly cultivated land seemed to be due more to something unsuitable in the soil rather than to the direct attacks of bacteria or fungi. During very rainy weather in the heat of summer young and apparently vigorous cabbage plants will wilt and die. If the weather is moderately dry and the soil loose and well cultivated, cabbage will grow vigorously and seemingly resist disease even if the soil is known to be infected with germs. It was noticed that a patch of cabbage planted on a piece of land that had been used to grow celery for several years grew very well until heavy rains began to fall in

PATCH OF CULTIVATED CABBAGE.

August. In the bright sunshine which followed the plants wilted and died. The crop was a failure except a portion of the lower corner, which was on a poor clay knob, and there a few good heads matured. Due consideration was given to the fact of poor drainage and also to excessive amounts of water about the roots, to which might be attributed much of the failure. Still it seemed a plausible conjecture that there might be extraordinary amounts of soluble salts in the soil and that they would have a poisonous effect on the roots. A piece of rather stiff clay land, one-eighth of an acre in size, that had been manured and planted to truck crops for many years and upon which cabbage had rotted badly the preceding year was again treated with ten tons per acre of rotted manure. This was plowed down and the land was prepared for the crop. Plots were marked off and treated as follows: Plot 1—Complete fertilizer, 1,000 pounds per acre. Plot 2—Check, no fertilizer. Plot 3—Lime, sixty bushels per acre. Plot 4—Sulphate of potash, 300 pounds per acre. Plot 5—Muriate of potash, 300 pounds per acre. It had been noticed in some other work under similar conditions that muriate of potash seemed to have the effect of promoting the vigor of the plants. Fifteen varieties of cabbage were planted across the plots, nine varieties of French and six of American origin. The plants were set June 23. They started off nicely and grew well until the first week of August, at which time there were incessant rains, followed by bright sunshine. All the plants on all the plots wilted down and only a few recovered. Most of those wilted died in a short time with black rot. A few lingered on, but did not make satisfactory heads.

HINTS FOR BEEKEEPERS. If you expect to get a crop of honey take good care of your bees. Don't imagine that you know it all and cannot learn anything by reading a bee journal. In the production of extracted honey give seven frames in the eight frame super and nine frames in the ten frame. Don't put on your supers before the bees are ready for them, as you gain nothing by doing so, but only render it harder for the bees to keep up the necessary heat. The necessity of having a neat and attractive label with the name and address of the producer on every package of honey put upon the market is well understood by the enterprising beekeeper. The long top bar is better for use in old homemade hives, as the staple spaced frames require accurate inside dimensions. Fruit culture cannot be carried on successfully without bees to effect fertilization through carrying pollen from one blossom to another. The disposition of an unprofitable colony to store honey may be materially increased by giving them several combs of hatching brood from an industrious hive.

Heart to Heart Talks. By EDWIN A. NYE.

A WOMAN'S SACRIFICE. Almost surpassing belief is the true story of Mrs. F. M. Foster, who went down into the lowest depths in order that she might save unfortunate girls from the horrors of white slavery. It is not a pretty story—save in its divine spirit of self sacrifice. Mrs. Foster risked her good name and all that a woman holds most dear by entering the foul underworld and consorting when necessary with the denizens of the slums and appearing as one of them that she might get evidence against the white slavers. Fancy the sufferings of a refined woman—she is a graduate of Radcliffe college—under such conditions! Passing through scenes and experiences that baffle full description, she was sustained by the consciousness that all her powers had been dedicated to the cause of her sex. In conjunction with a New York detective she went to Seattle, where the two passed as buyers of girls. Gaining the confidence of the Seattle barterers, they got letters to the headquarters of the gang in New York and all the information they sought. In New York city they followed a like course of procedure. Sometimes as Mrs. Foster told her story in court—it was her first appearance on the witness stand—she blushed and stammered as would any other good woman, and then, remembering the purpose of her oblation, held up her head like a queen as she told how she was compelled to dance and ride in taxicabs and drink beer with the low whites and the depraved negroes.

It was an awful experience. But this brave woman got her reward in the conviction of some of the guilty parties. The gang was dispersed, some fleeing to Europe. She got her reward in the reawakened public sentiment that is compelling national and state governments vigorously to detect and punish the betrayers of innocent blood. Certainly no American woman has ever before made such a fearful descent into Avernus to seek and save the lost and those in danger of being lost. Without implety her sacrifice for her sex may be compared with that of the Son of man, who ate with publicans and sinners if by any means he might save some. Mystery of atonement! Sacrifice seems sometimes the only way by which humanity may be saved from its sins and sufferings.

A Bath a Year. The bath, it is said, is the measure of civilization. He who bathes once a day must be a better human being than he who bathes once a week, once a month or, like the Mexican Indians, once a year. There is a belief among these people that to bathe is to court sickness and death. There was a sick boy in a hut where a friend of mine stopped one day, and my friend suggested to the father that a bath might cure him. The father held up his hands in horror. "A bath! That would kill him!" he exclaimed. "I never bathed in my life, and my children never bathed and never will." Down in the Low Countries, however, they do bathe once a year.—Outing.

"I see you had a perfectly lovely time at the matinee," said the unfeeling person. "How do you know?" asked his sentimental wife. "Because you have cried until your nose is red."—Washington Star.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

Contributed by Local Union. Nearly all Christians hold to the righteousness of prohibition. It is God's method of dealing with all kinds of evil. When a thing is wrong, no divine authority can be found for tolerating it, far less from deriving revenue from it and still less for licensing it. Christians also favor prohibition because it is for the best good of the largest number. It proposes to make it difficult for the weak to injure themselves, and for the wicked to injure others. It is a just feasible and practicable method of dealing with the greatest curse the world has ever known. Those who oppose prohibition tell us that it "doesn't prohibit," but the wish is father to the thought, for such persons do not want prohibition to prohibit. The real reason for their opposition is that they are dreadfully afraid it will prohibit, and it will always prohibit if given half a chance. The American people ought to take hold as one man and make prohibition prohibit. They could at once put the distilleries, breweries and wholesale liquor houses out of commission, and they could make the retail traffic a criminal and disgusting business. The educational influences of a prohibitory law upon young men and upon the immigrants pouring in upon us would be worth a world in one generation.

FOR THE WOMAN WHO IS FOND OF OUTDOOR LIFE AND SPORTS

VERY smart and fetching and setting off well the lines of a good figure is the sweater suit shown in the illustration. It is the latest development of the sweater that has found such favor as the handiest sort of wrap when one is needed at home or on outings. But there are variations in sweaters, as in all things else, and the woman who is not happy unless she is up to date in everything must choose for a separate sweater one of the very long garments that come down well over the hips. The sweater suit combines a short length sweater with a knitted skirt. It has found favor with the outdoor woman and is being sold for yachting use, mountain climbing, etc. The body of the sweater and the skirt are white, of course, and the suits may be had with skirt and sweater hems and button bands of royal blue and dark red. They are very stunning.

The skirt in the cut is one of the most useful of the season's styles, especially for outdoor use. It is made with panel back and front and finished with inverted plaits at the sides. The buttons are dome shaped. The skirt is the creation of one of the leading English houses. The suit in the cut is smart and trim when correctly cut and tailored. For yachting there is nothing to be had that will render better service. The material may be linen, gingham, lawn or any suitable wash goods. AMANDA RIDDLE.

HERE'S THE AUTO HABIT COAT

Years ago when it was decided that the automobile would speedily find favor in feminine eyes the fashion designers found a fertile field for their talents in the designing of special garments for use in the machine. One of the latest results of their efforts is seen in the accompanying illustration.

It is a "habit auto coat," and it almost speaks for itself, embodying as it does some novel and useful lines. It fastens down the back, and there is a fullness at the knees that enables the wearer to sit down easily. When she stands the fullness gives a graceful draped effect. The weight of the material and the pattern of the lines of the auto habit coat give the wind no chance to creep in under the front edges of the garment in the manner that is so annoying when one is going fast or alights at a time when there is more than the average amount of breeze.

Speaking of auto garments naturally brings to mind the latest development in traveling machines, the aeroplane. Some of the best designers of France are at work on garments to be worn when up in the air in one's monoplane or biplane. The habits produced are extremely businesslike.

Changed Her Viewpoint.

"When I was cold and hungry in New York and my husband was a struggling young lawyer without employment I felt like an anarchist and wanted to throw a few bombs. Now that prosperity is with us and everything is splendid and beautiful I find that my viewpoint has changed, and my feelings toward all the world are of the kindest nature."

This is what the wife of one of New York's most successful lawyers said the other day. It does make a difference whether one views the world's prosperity from the inside of the plate glass window or the outside, doesn't it?

Cleaning Jewelry.

Gold rings, brooches and other articles of jewelry that are set with precious stones can be cleaned with warm water and a white soap and a very little ammonia. Use a soft old toothbrush to get in between the setting and the stone. For rings set with turquoises and pearls the water cleaning should be avoided, but for the hard, transparent gems it is allowed. Polish the rings and pins with a soft chamois, and they will be wonderfully bright and sparkling.

Getting R'4 of That Onion Flavor.

Knives that are used in peeling or cutting an onion should be immediately plunged into boiling water, then rubbed with sand soap and well rinsed or they may flavor the next thing that is cut with them.

YOUNG BUFFALO'S WILD WEST CO.

America's Most Novel and Moral Amusement Enterprise.

With a program replete with thrilling exhibitions of rough riding, the subjugation of vicious bronchos, feats of daring in the saddle, expert work with the lariat, realistic Indian fights dances and massacres, a portrayal of the historic Deadwood stage-coach holdup work by a marvelous trained equine, an exhibition of sharpshooting in which a young woman risks her life as a near-target and other exciting events, Young Buffalo's Wild West and Texas Rangers will show in Caro, Tuesday, August 2, in the afternoon and evening. The exhibitions will take place on the Fair Grounds.

Big Aggregation.

Early life on the frontier as it was when the hardy spirits, undaunted by bloodthirsty Indians or renegade outlaws, laid the foundation for the peace and prosperity which has replaced the lawlessness and bloodshed, will be portrayed by the show's big aggregation of cowboys, cowgirls, Indians, broncho "busters," rough riders and other dare-devils from Montana, Wyoming, Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

In twenty big cars the 300 performers and attaches of the show, with more than 150 range horses, bronchos, burros, Indian ponies, oxen, wild cattle and steers will arrive in Caro Tuesday morning.

Show to Parade.

Shortly after the arrival of the show it will parade through the principal streets of the downtown section, starting from the show grounds at 10 a. m. The performances will be given "rain or shine," it is announced.

Among the other features of interest will be a sensational wrestling match with a Texas longhorn, the riding of wild steers, a presentation of the "pony express," feats of skill and daring in the saddle, sports and pastimes of the cowboys and cowgirls, fancy rope throwing and spinning and many other events which, it is declared, will keep the spectators in alternate spells of laughter and excitement. Besides the attractions in the main tent, there are two side shows filled with strange freaks of nature. The events will be run off in rapid succession, accompanied by the stirring strains of Young Buffalo's Celebrated Cowboy Band.

Durand formerly lived in Pennsylvania.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.

Many residents of this vicinity endorse them.

Mrs. V. Powell, Union St., Sebawaing, Mich., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been very beneficial to me.

About a year ago I had a severe attack of kidney trouble and my back became so lame that I could hardly get around to attend to my housework.

The remedies I tried brought me no relief and it was left for Doan's Kidney Pills to drive away the trouble.

Since they cured me I have had no cause for complaint. Other members of my family have taken Doan's Kidney Pills for similar difficulties and in every instance the results have been of the best.

I take pleasure in recommending this excellent kidney medicine."

THE REAL RACE.

This Picture Shows Who Is Who By Strong Contrast.

The Ludington Chronicle, one of the ably edited papers of northern Michigan, reviews in a late issue the gubernatorial situation in the following language:

"The merry three-cornered race for the Republican nomination for governor of Michigan is now on in real earnest, and all over the state the people are beginning to take a lively interest in the contest."

"A few months ago Mr. Kelley, who represents Gov. Warner and the state machine was conceded to hold first position in the race, and everything was coming his way.

WHO IS MUSSELMAN?

Plain Facts About the Man Who Aspires to Become Governor. Amos S. Musselman of Grand Rapids, Kent county, is a candidate for governor of Michigan.

If not the leading candidate, his strength is growing at a rate astonishing to his friends, annoying to his opponents.

Upon announcing his candidacy for governor, he resigned the presidency of that company in order to be free to devote his time to his campaign, and, in case of his election, not to be hampered by business cares or alliances, and thus be in shape to devote his time and energies to the duties of the office of governor.

Amos S. Musselman was born of sturdy old Dutch stock twelve years before Lee invaded Pennsylvania and fought the great battle of Gettysburg.

AMOS S. MUSSELMAN.

trapped over the battlefield, and but a few months later still, when the battlefield was dedicated a national cemetery, he stood by the speakers' stand while Lincoln delivered his immortal address.

What Sort of a Man is Musselman?

Amos S. Musselman is first and foremost a business man. He is a business man of the highest type—conservative, far-seeing, careful, accurate, square-dealing, honest with all.

What Does He Stand For?

- 1.—The governor shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed. 2.—The application of sound business methods and principles to the affairs of the state.

NO TRUCKLING.

Perry F. Powers, of Cadillac, is one of the most ardent and persistent Osborn men in Michigan.

There may be differences of opinion touching questions of state taxation and as to just what procedure in that direction will produce fairest and most satisfactory results.

PAPER TO THE RESCUE.

It Saves Laundry Bills and Cuts Out Dishwashing.

Are we approaching a paper age in housekeeping? Is the revolt of woman against the endless washing of dishes to be met with paper plates, cups and service shells, and are laundry bills to be lessened by the use of paper table covers and doilies?

But they are very attractive, these service cups. They come in all possible devices, and as they are fashioned of handmade paper, impervious to grease and damp, any sort of food can be put in them.

There are fancy shapes to serve jellies and ice creams in, with lace paper doilies under them.

As for the plates, while at first thought the idea of eating off paper plates does not seem inviting, no one can object after seeing them, for they, too, are proof against damp and grease, and they are very decorative.

Housework Made Easy. It is clearly every woman's duty when the days of summer approach to lighten her domestic labors as much as possible in order that she may enjoy the open air pleasures and so store up strength and health for the comparatively shut in winter days.

One piece house dresses of calico or lawn are nice because they are cool, easily laundered, do not fade and are always becoming.

To keep the house cool and clean in the easiest way we should have bare floors, small rugs which are easily shaken and simple muslin draperies.

Heavyweight sheeting with wide hems all around make dainty bedspreads. They are light and easily laundered.

The kitchen floor may be scrubbed with an ordinary scrub brush fastened to a mop stick, so that one need not get down on hands and knees.

On the sill she keeps a small pot of growing parsley, and she always has green on hand to flavor soup and to decorate the meat platter.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured with LOCAL APPLICATIONS as they cannot reach the seat of the disease.

As for the plates, while at first thought the idea of eating off paper plates does not seem inviting, no one can object after seeing them, for they, too, are proof against damp and grease, and they are very decorative.

These and the service cups are to be had in designs suitable to the seasons and the different holidays as they come. Hostesses in the country, where help is difficult to procure, will find it a great convenience to have a supply of these paper devices on hand.

The Social Side

Miss Vida Patterson entertained for her guests, Misses Lucile Cruise and Beatrice Pulford of Detroit, at a thimble party Tuesday afternoon. After the afternoon had been spent in sewing a novel form of entertainment was introduced in the preparation for the supper. Each guest was given a slip of paper telling her to look in some definite place in the house. She would look only to find another direction and start off on another search. After looking all through the house, porch and lawn, the last direction lead to a daintily wrapped bundle which was to contribute to the supper. When all the parcels were gathered, a table-cloth was spread on the lawn and the guests grouped on pillows to partake of a very delicious picnic supper.

Members of Venus Rebekah Lodge gave a party in honor of Mrs. Geo. Purvis Monday evening. She was presented with a silver meat fork and a souvenir spoon. Refreshments were served. Mrs. Purvis is a Past Grand officer of the society.

Misses Florence Hill and Ethel McGregory, Pierce Lewis of Ionia, Meredith Auten and Leslie Koepfgen were entertained at supper at the home of Miss Lola Fritz Monday.

Mrs. W. L. Schenck gave a four-course supper to the Owl Club Friday evening.

Mrs. Hugh Seed, sr., entertained the Owl Club at supper last Thursday evening.

BACK TO THE STATES.

Tide of Immigration Turning From Canadian Northwest.

The tide of immigration of home-seekers to Canada, which has been the subject of great concern to the administration of the public domain for the past few years, has turned in the opinion of the officials of the reclamation service. Thousands have returned and a great many more are expected back soon.

Clarence J. Blanchard, statistician of the reclamation service reports that he has interviewed a great number of settlers in Montana, who had tried the Canadian experiment, but were glad enough to return home. They stated that practically every American farmer in the neighborhood of Alberta, where the Canadian government maintains an irrigation project, was anxious to get back if he could sell his holdings in the dominion.

The American settlers were dissatisfied with the character of the lands, the crops of which consisted chiefly of alfalfa and such hardy grains as winter wheat and even these were not sure. The form of government did not appeal to them and they considered the railroad freight rates exorbitant. The climate also was a source of dissatisfaction, ice and snow in August and September of last year adding to their discontent. During the last 8 months 15,000 settlers have returned to the United States from Canada and the prospects for a general backward movement are bright.

NEW EXCESS BAGGAGE RATES.

Must Be Issued by All Railroads Before Aug. 1.

Under the ruling which was made public by the state railroad commission recently, all railroads in Michigan must issue before August first new schedules for the carrying of excess baggage. The decision is the result of the hearing which was held before the commission by all the roads of the state, when complaints, made chiefly by the upper peninsula, were heard. It was alleged that the roads were charging exorbitant rates in many cases and that some of them were refusing to check surplus baggage beyond the junction point with other roads. The commission has decided that the rates have been too high in some cases and sets the following:

One to 10 miles per hundred pounds, eight cents, this being the minimum charge; 391 to 400 miles, per hundred pounds, $1.30 the maximum charge. No charge of less than 25 cents to be made. All roads are compelled to check excess baggage through to destination of ticketholders. The ruling also covers roads operating under the three cent fare as well as those under the two.

JOHN Q. ROSS IN THE RACE.

John Q. Ross, attorney of Muskegon, has been put forward by the business men of the Ninth Congressional District as a candidate for the nomination of lieutenant-governor on the Republican ticket. He was the first president of the West Michigan

John Q. Ross.

Development Association, was president of the Muskegon Chamber of Commerce and organized a company which set out enormous orchards in Muskegon County. His friends say that he has always been active for the public good and that he is not in a combination with any other candidate nor with any other interest than that of the commonwealth.

Nearly Killed As Fork Falls—

Gilbert Smaldon, engineer of one of the Woolman construction dredges, narrowly escaped death. A large portion of the business section of Unionville was endangered when the warehouses of J. H. Kemp & Co. and their contents were totally destroyed by fire. Gagetown Girl Shot—

Pearl Freeman, the 13 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Freeman, was accidentally shot in the back of the head Wednesday noon by a younger brother who was playing with a rifle which had been loaded and placed in a shed and was used for killing rats. The child not knowing the danger of the weapon took leave of his own accord and had planned for a little fun. The girl is resting easy at present and it is hoped nothing serious will result.—Gagetown Times.

He Felt Better—

A traveling man for a Chicago paper house who "makes" St. Johns regularly told The News this story the other day: He was in a smoking car on a train between Flint and Durand when a man rushed in from the car behind, evidently in great agitation, and said: "Has anyone in the car any whiskey? A woman in the other car has fainted." Instantly a dozen flasks were produced and the man who asked for it picked out the largest one, drew the cork, and put the bottle to his lips. With a long satisfied sigh he handed the flask back and remarked: "That did me lots of good. I needed it, for if always makes me sick to see a woman faint away."

Made "Experience" Drive—

Mrs. Will Hoodless of Crosswell was the winner last Sunday of one of the $25 prizes given by the Hudson automobile people to ladies who would make an experience drive with one of their cars a distance of 100 miles without aid of any kind from a member of the sterner sex. The lady accompanied by her husband and two other passengers left Crosswell in the morning and drove her machine to Detroit and then out to Belle Isle park and back to the city, then to Mt. Clemens and home, a distance of 203 miles, handling the machine herself without assistance of any kind. It was a nice run and a nice reward and one the lady has every right to be proud of.—Jeffersonian.
