Our Watches "Make Good"

No matter what price you pay us—whether $1 or $25.00 the watch we hand you for your money will do as we say it will for the length of time we say.

Of course, the more you pay, the longer service you'll get—that's natural.

But the point of this adv. is this—you can't waste a cent of money by spending it here on a Watch.

Now, if you are reasonable, that's all the promise you need.

The wise watch plan is to pay a fair price for something good.

We are anxious to show you just what we can do.

AN EDITOR'S LOVE LETTER.

"Dear darling delinquent! Our precious subscriber in arrears! You are so shy! Do you think we have sold out and gone? No, little sugar-plum, we could not get away if we wanted to. We are still at the same old stand dishing out to the advertisers on sweet promises and bright expectations. They make an excellent diet, darling, with a little pudding flavored with a word of encouragement to serve as a dessert. We are waiting and watching for thee, our turtle dove. We long to hear thy gentle footstep on the office step and to hear the ring of the happy dollars within our office. Dear one, we feel unusually sad and lonely without you, dear. Now little pie-crust, will you come? Do we hear your answer so sweet and beguiling, 'I'm coming,' or is it only the winds that around our office roar? We pause for further development.—Ex.

THERE'S NO LACK OF ORATORY

MANY PROMINENT MEN AT RE-UNION AT MAYVILLE.

All Indications Pointed to a Large Attendance From All Parts of the Thumb.

All indications pointed to a large attendance of members of the association at the Five County Veterans' Re-union at Mayville yesterday and today. Every mail for several days brought cards to the secretary from the "boys" located at different parts of the Thumb saying they would be present.

There certainly will be plenty of oratory. The committee sent out a large number of invitations and there has been a most generous response. Congressman Townsend has sent word that he cannot come, but Senator Arthur Tuttle of Lansing appears in his stead. Senator Burrows was expected yesterday. Congressman Fordney is in the west, but his secretary has telephoned that Riley Crane, a prominent Saginaw attorney will speak for him. Emory Townsend, Mr. Fordney's opponent, is scheduled for an address. L. C. Crampton of Lapeer, a candidate for congress from the seventh district, is one of the speakers and several of the candidates for lieutenant governor are also expected. Others who will give addresses are Ex-Senator Brown, C. W. Smith and Frank Elroy of Lapeer and Hon. W. E. Ivory of Hadley.

A particularly sad incident of the death was the fact that his son, Charles, had been married on the previous Wednesday and was on his wedding trip at the time of his father's death.

FORMER RESIDENTS IN DOUBLE TRAGEDY

MR. AND MRS. J. C. SEELEY SHOT AT LOS ANGELES.

J. C. Seeley is Dead. Mrs. Seeley Reported in No Danger Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Seeley, the latter a daughter of Geo. E. Perkins, and both former residents of Cass City, figured prominently in a double tragedy at Los Angeles, California, Friday. The dailies on Saturday contained an account of the affair, substantially as follows:

"Jacob C. Seeley, 37, of West Branch, Mich., a lunch room proprietor, who came here two months ago with his wife to visit his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Frankland, at 4303 Halldale avenue, tonight shot and fatally wounded her and then shot and killed himself.

"The police were unable for several hours to gain admission to the house, because an undertaker's assistant held them off with the revolver with which Seeley did the shooting. He was finally tricked into leaving his post and the police rushed through the door and overpowered him.

"Two weeks ago Seeley went to Mt. Hebron, Wash., to visit friends. He returned Monday unexpectedly, and since that time he has acted strangely toward his wife. Today he went down town shopping and on his return to the house shot his wife, who was waiting for him, the bullet taking effect in the left eye. He then shot and killed himself. Mrs. Seeley was rushed to the hospital where it was stated she was fatally wounded. No cause is known for the tragedy."

Relatives sent a telegram Sunday afternoon and received a reply three hours later from Los Angeles which reported Mrs. Seeley's condition in the following words: "Doing nicely. No danger at present. Will write details." The telegram was sent by Florence Franklin, a step-sister of Mr. Seeley.

Mr. and Mrs. Seeley were in Cass City last April and visited with friends here before leaving for California. They have one daughter, Madeleine, about eight years of age, who accompanied them to the west.

"SIS PERKINS" COMING.

Hoosier Lass Will Appear in Cass City Aug. 27.

"Sis Perkins," a refreshing comedy drama of Indiana rural life, is the next attraction at the opera house. The play reveals the adventures and experiences of a Hoosier lass at her home and in Chicago.

While the comedy element predominates and laughter compelling situations are the rule, there is a touch of sentiment, a vein of heart interest and a story which takes the auditor from the peaceful life of the farm to the hustle and noise of the city streets.

The company will play at Cass City one night—Saturday, Aug. 27.

We have 6 village lots for sale, located on west side of street from the Evangelical church. Will sell separate or together. I. A. Fritz.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

THE COST OF LIVING.

Said my neighbor:

"Do you know the cost of living is simply tremendous? Certainly there must be something wrong in this big, prosperous country, where we raise so much."

I agreed there was something wrong. He went on to speak of monopolies and trusts and transportation rates. And I agreed with him that these things were wrong and should be corrected by a government of the people. But—

I said, "Are you sure it is the high cost of living rather than the cost of high living?"

He did not think so.

I said: "I see by the paper that the Milwaukee road has borrowed $50,000,000 in France. The other day the Lake Shore borrowed $20,000,000 from the same source. Do you know the Pennsylvania and the Hill and the Harri-man systems got their money to make improvements from France?"

"Why France?" "Because the French people always have a surplus."

"Their wonderful prosperity is shown by the way they paid that five thousand million of francs indemnity to Germany following the Franco-Prussian war. Such a debt would have bankrupted almost every other country, but France paid it easily."

"But," said my neighbor, "what has that to do with the cost of living here?"

"Why, thrift, Horatio, thrift!" France is a little country. You could stow it away in one corner of one of our big states. Its farms are very small; we would call them gardens. But every acre produces as much as ten acres here and even more.

But that doesn't explain it. The French people save! A big family of the French will live, and live well, on what a small American family throws away. It matters not how small a French farmer's earnings, he always has a surplus.

The secret of the tremendous well being of the French people is in their practice of economy. However poor the family, every daughter must have her "dot," her marriage portion, even if it be small. The French live within their incomes.

On the contrary, we make more money than any people on earth, spend more and save less.

It is true. And, while there are wrongs to be redressed and laws to be corrected, we need another "Poor Richard" to teach Americans the virtues of economy and thrift.

Cautious.

An old lady always courted in church whenever the word "devil" was mentioned. The parson asked her why, and the old lady said:

"Well, sir, civility costs nothing, and one never knows what may happen."—Illustrated Bits.

The Lacebark Tree.

The lacebark tree grows in the West Indies. It is a lofty tree, with ovate, smooth leaves and white flowers. It is remarkable for the tenacity of its inner bark and the readiness with which the inner bark may be separated—after maceration in water—into layers resembling lace. A governor of Jamaica is said to have presented to Charles II. a cravat, frill and ruffles made of it.

The Best Hour of Life

is when you do some great deed or discover some wonderful fact. This hour came to J. R. Ritt, of Rocky Mt., N. C. when he was suffering intensely, as he says, "from the worst cold I ever had, I then proved to my great satisfaction, what a wonderful Cold and Cough cure Dr. King's New Discovery is. For, after taking one bottle, I was entirely cured. You can't say anything too good of a medicine like that." It's the surest and best remedy for diseased lungs, Hemorrhages, LaGrippe, Asthma, Hay Fever, any Throat or Lung Trouble. 50c. $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by L. I. Wood & Co.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

SUCCESS seems to justify the means. Still, you occasionally meet a man who feels like keeping the means out of sight.

Blessed are the uses of adversity, and we piously hope that our enemies only may enjoy them.

It takes herculean efforts to raise a man, but most any old chump can pull him down.

We can run away from our plain duty, but consequences have an extremely ugly way of hunting us up and driving us into a corner.

Attending to others' business is certainly worth a salary. Either see that you get it or let them run the job themselves.

Sometimes the difference between a man and a dog is largely in favor of the latter.

Some men seem to be entirely immune from any amount of sense or reason that you may attempt to infect them with.

Poverty is said to be a barren thing, but it breeds discomfort and disease very rapidly.

The Problem.

Mother thinks she'll make a doctor out of Jim.

Father thinks he'd better fill a judge's chair.

Uncle John would mold a preacher out of him.

Really choosing a profession is a care.

Cousin May would like to see him grace the state.

Uncle George is sure a soldier's trade would fit.

Charley says that millionaires are all the rage.

For a fine profession that is surely it.

Mother says that able doctors heal the sick.

And are useful to the world in many ways.

Father says the legal trade is still his pick.

For the lawyers have such fine and winning ways.

Uncle John is sure his choice would be the best.

Uncle George is pleading strongly for the gun.

Cousin May is just as certain as the rest.

Charley's pick appears to him the only one.

Oh, it's surely lots of trouble picking out a profession for the little coming man!

Each relation is a self appointed scout.

With a diagram his future life to plan.

You may wonder when they all are taking hold.

Why they do not give the lad himself a show.

There's a reason—he is only six weeks old.

How is one of tender years like that to know?

While He Waited.

"Are you the girl that took my order?" asked the old grouch as the pretty waitress tripped in under the weight of her load.

"I sure am," replied the girl, who wasn't addicted to slang, but could use it on occasions.

"I want to compliment you on one thing."

"What's that you're giving me now?"

"It is this: You don't look a day older than when you took it."

Cautious.

"You never kissed a girl in your life?"

"Never."

"You don't know what you are missing."

"Yes, I do."

"What?"

"Microbes."

Easy.

"He has resisted every temptation so far."

"My! He must be strong."

"Not necessarily."

"Why not?"

"His special brand hasn't happened along."

His Way.

"Women are terribly hard to understand."

"Oh, I don't know."

"How is that?"

"I never try, and then they come in flocks and explain the whole thing."

Florida.

"Has he good taste?"

"No."

"That's too bad."

"Yes, but that isn't the worst."

"What could be worse?"

"He has so much of it."

Trials of a Father.

"I thought you were going to retire at fifty."

"I did expect to, but not yet."

"But you have made money."

"Yes, and I have two more sons-in-law to support."

Not Exactly.

"Have you seen his new magazine?"

"Yes."

"He said it was to be different. How is it?"

"Indifferent."

It's a Crime

To neglect your health and there is a severe penalty attached when you allow constipation, biliousness or any liver or bowel trouble to run on. It is poisoning your entire system and may lead to a serious disease. Take Dr. Herrick's Sugar-Coated Pills and get absolutely well. A Squirrel Barometer.

A merchant in a western city has a queer barometer. It is a domesticated fox squirrel. He keeps the little pet in a large paint barrel, all inclosed with the exception of a small round hole in one end. Inside the barrel is a good supply of straw, old paper and leaves. During a run of weather of any kind, hot, cold, wet or dry, the little animal is in and out of the house, keeping an open door.

But should there be a change coming, say ten or twelve hours off, the squirrel plugs up his hole with the matter from his bed and keeps it closed until the change comes. It is claimed the squirrel never makes a mistake and that he gives no false alarms to his keeper.

Hanging Gardens of Babylon.

The hanging gardens of Babylon were one of the seven wonders of the world. They were gardens of the most beautiful description, but raised high in the air above the Babylon plain on walls so gray that from a distance it seemed as if there were no support beneath the towering foliage and that the gardens were in reality floating above the earth. They were built in terraces that reached, it is said, a height of 300 feet. The gardens were built by Nebuchadnezzar, the king, for his wife Amy

Millinery for All

SO MANY girls are trying their hands upon hat making at home that a few examples of those hats which are likely to be most successful in the hands of the amateur, are interesting just now. These are the hats made of embroidery or lace or Swiss and batiste which have come to be a staple for midsummer, and are known as "lingerie" hats. New models this year show many fabrics which have not been used heretofore. Fine dimities, lawns and mills, in fact any sheer, pretty midsummer material, such as are used for midsummer gowns, is considered available for the lingerie hat. The prettiest models show combinations of all-over embroidery and the materials I have mentioned.

The safest designs for the amateur are those made of edgings of lace or embroidery, either wide or narrow. All the hats are made over wire frames which are first covered with very sheer mull or with chiffon. This first covering is either shirred over the frame or made into a fitted casing for the brim and laid smoothly over the crown. A scant ruffle of wide edging is laid about the brim falling over the edge about the depth of the scallop. In such a hat the crown is made by sewing two rows of edging together and making a small puffed crown of them. A band and bow of wide ribbon and a cluster of familiar garden flowers finishes the hat, which is quite as satisfactory when made at home as when made elsewhere.

If narrow edging, of lace or embroidery, is used it is sewed row on row and quite often the under brim is faced with scant ruffles sewed in the same way. Very sheer batiste or other embroidery is often laid in a full double ruffle over the brim, for girlish wearers.

The lingerie hat, by the way, is worn by maid and matron alike. It has been called the "baby" hat because it was first made for little girls when they graduated out of bonnets and took on the dignity of hats built on a frame. It is durable and beautiful and may be taken apart and the materials laundered. Study the lingerie hat for, like the lingerie waist, it has come to stay.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

PRETTY IDEA FOR DRESS WEAR HAT IN HOT WEATHER

Important for the Girl Who Has a Dislike for Hair of Different Shades.

Do you want streaked hair of 17 different shades when next autumn comes around?

If you do not you must make up your mind to wear a hat during the summer.

A bother, you say? Of course. Did you ever know anything connected with keeping fresh that wasn't a bother?

And it is not half as hard as spending time and money later getting over the effects of sunburnt hair.

Too strong a dose of sun acts on the hair by drying natural oils in the scalp and then burning just as a hot flatiron scorches linen.

If it is impossible for you to wear a hat, oil must be rubbed regularly into the scalp to counteract this drying effect.

Remember that the most beautiful hair in the world comes from the peasant women of Brittany, who keep their heads covered with their little white caps.

A Summer Coat.

A simple but beautiful coat for wear over a lingerie gown in the summer evenings is of black chiffon, cut three-quarter length and slashed at the sides, the slashings being connected by taffeta silk tabs. The half sleeves are slashed and caught in the same manner, and in front—the neck is cut very low—the only fastening is a tassel of silver cord. All the edges are embroidered in a wave design in the silver. The chiffon may be mounted over light taffeta silk, and net may be substituted as the coat material. This wrap may sound difficult to make, but it is not so; and with the help of a lucky remnant or two the expense will be slight.

Irish Lace Collars.

With the return of warm weather the fashion has swerved back to Irish lace collars. We will wear more of them this summer than for years. The girl in her new suit has mostly Irish lace around the neck. For this reason she wears a four-inch Irish lace collar around her coat and a four or six inch one around her blouse, which is collarless. This collar dips down for an inch in front and is finished with a plaited jabot of Irish lace and linen.

ROMANCE OF KOREAN PRINCE

Man Who Defied Laws of His Country and Married Chinese Maiden in Chicago.

Chicago.—Yun Tchi Ho, a prince in Korea by birth, who addressed the Men's National Missionary congress, held in that city recently, became a center of interest to the delegates when it became known that he has played a role in an international romance for which he was forbidden to enter the domains of the royal family of which he was a member, or his own country.

"While the Chinese empire shortly following his return from the United States, where he graduated from Vanderbilt university at Nashville, Tenn., and later from a school in Georgia, where he went to study arithmetic, Prince Yun Tchi Ho, or as he calls himself, T. H. Yun, met and fell in love with a girl from a prominent Chinese family," said the prince's friend. "He knew the law in Korea which forbids the marriage of a Korean and a Chinese, but his love for the woman was none the less ardent. Finally, in desperation he wrote to a girl acquaintance in Nashville, with whom he had become acquainted while attending Vanderbilt, and asked her for advice.

"Marry her and let things take their course," was the cable response, and the prince followed his American friend's advice.

"Promptly he, and his bride, as well, were forbidden entrance to the Korean realm. The prince then became a school missionary in China and performed such notable work that his government finally relented and both he and his wife were requested to take up their abode in the prince's home land. He became a factor in governmental affairs and was finally placed on an important commission to one of the neighboring countries. While a member of their ministerial party, he became dissatisfied with the workings of the committee and he left abruptly.

"Then because of his failure to carry out the mission upon which he was sent, he was again barred from Korea. Again he became a school missionary, and after several years the attitude of his government changed, and he and his wife were once more reinstated in its good graces."

OFFICER'S LEGS TOO LARGE

Leggings Too Small for Other Member of Force and He Refused to Mount.

Summit, N. J.—The fact that the calves of Patrolman William Kelly's legs measure three inches more around than do the calves of Patrolman John Gannon's legs tied up the one horse traffic squad here. When Chief of Police Brown bought the equipment for the traffic squad, which consists of one man and one horse at a time, he bought the leggings to fit Gannon's calves, seemingly accepting those calves as standards. It was Kelly's turn to be the traffic squad and when he tried to put on the leggings he discovered that the boxes they came in would have to come nearer fitting him. To go out on duty wearing leggings that gaped three inches was not to be thought of. To go out without any would be a disgrace to the traffic squad. Therefore he and the lone horse remained off duty.

Chief of Police Brown tried to induce Kelly to sink his prejudices and go out any way.

"I'll not do it," Kelly said. "If you want me to be the traffic squad you must get leggings that will fit me. I have entirely too much respect for my legs to have them laughed at. I knew when you were taking Gannon's legs for standards of measurement you were making a mistake, but I did not say anything. I'll give up my job before I will give up my respect for my legs."

Gannon volunteered to go out, but the chief would not permit it. Instead he kept the traffic squad indoors and sent to New York a hurry order for leggings of varying sizes from the largest to the smallest.

TELLING CRIMINALS BY HAIR.

Paris.—Professor Bertillon, the famous criminologist, whose inventiveness is inexhaustible, has thought of a new device further to facilitate the identification of criminals.

His suggestion is that samples of the criminals' hair should be classified, graduated minutely according to the shades.

M. Bertillon is collecting samples of hair from all over the world to aid him in his task. Yesterday a large consignment arrived from Tunis. The eminent professor has not yet hit upon a method for identifying the bald.

War Began on Moths.

Albany, N. Y.—Commissioner Pearson of the state department of agriculture has announced he has completed arrangements with Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture in Washington for two "scouts" trained in searching for gypsy and brown-tail moths, to assist in efforts being made by the state department to prevent the entrance of these pests into New York state.

Town Without Mortgage.

Canton, O.—Linville, one of the smaller villages of Stark county, is free from mortgages. The report of S. C. Winder, quadrennial appraiser for the town, shows that not a single home or piece of real estate is plastered with mortgage indebtedness.

FOR THE CHILDREN

What Time Is It?

It requires two players who understand this game, a leader and his accomplice. The accomplice leaves the room, while the leader and the rest remain inside. The leader asks the players what hour they will choose for the accomplice to guess. Suppose some one says "Four o'clock." The assistant is called in, and he questions the leader, saying, "Well, what time is it?" The leader answers thus: "Don't you know?" and then, "Doubtless dancing time." The assistant immediately says "Four o'clock," to the general mystification of the company.

The key is that each hour from 1 to 12 o'clock has been named according to the letters of the alphabet in rotation from A to K. The leader in answering must be very careful to begin each answer with the letter indicating the chosen hour. Thus in the above the assistant noticed that each answer began with "d." and "d." being the fourth letter of the alphabet, indicated that 4 o'clock was the time chosen.

Only the exact hour can be chosen. As the different players think they have solved the trick they may take turns in being assistant, and many funny mistakes will result till the game has been explained to all.

Fox and Geese.

This is an old game, but one that children always enjoy. It can be played indoors, but better out.

One of the party, called the fox, goes a little way off, and the rest of the children arrange themselves in a string, one behind the other, the tallest first and the smallest. The first one is called "Mother Goose." The game begins by a conversation between the fox and Mother Goose. "What are you after this fine morning?" says she. "Taking a walk," the fox answers. "What for?" "To get an appetite for breakfast." "What are you going to have for breakfast?" "A nice fat goose." "Where will you get it?" "Well, as your geese are so handy I'll take one of them." "Catch one if you can."

Mother Goose then stretches out her arms to protect her geese and not let the fox catch one. The fox tries to dodge under, right and left, until he is able to catch the last of the string. Of course the brood must try to keep out of reach of the fox. As the geese are caught they must go over to the den of the fox, and the game continues till all are caught.

Sahara.

The desert of Sahara covers 2,500,000 square miles between the Atlantic ocean and the Nile valley.

"A Stitch In Time Saves Nine."

This is an old saying, but its truth is as well illustrated in the use of fertilizer as anything else.

Begin now to fertilize a wasted soil. This is the only way to restore it to its natural fertility and keep it so. It will cost you twice as much in the end if you delay.

Why Fertilizing Is Necessary.

A plant is like a human being. It eats, drinks and breathes, and as it eats and drinks, the nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium in the soil, through some mysterious process of nature, are converted into wheat, corn or oats, and later, when fed to stock, into flesh and blood and bone.

When a farmer has harvested the crop he has removed from his farm a computable amount of plant food. Soil fertility has been taken. New deposits must be made or the supply will become entirely exhausted. The farmer must put back into the soil the food elements which have entered into his grain and into his live stock.

With every crop a portion of the materials of nutrition are removed. This must be replaced if good crops are to be obtained year after year.

Use Fertilizer.

Swift & Company's fertilizers are produced from blood and bone. These fertilizers and the elements they contain were produced from the elements in the soil. They are organic in their origin, consequently will decompose in the soil and help to maintain the life of the land.

Swift's Fertilizers are soil builders—Always reliable. It pays to use them.

Mount Pilatus.

In Switzerland the peak of Mount Pilatus is said to be haunted by the ghost of Pontius Pilate, the Roman governor of Jerusalem. The story is told that Pilate was banished to the wild lands in the north of the Roman empire and came to this mountain, where he threw himself from a crag into a lofty lake. The ghost appears once a year in the formal robes of a Roman governor, and the person that sees it is doomed to die within the year.

The Dancer.

She dances like a dandelion,
Fluff upon the breeze,
As gaily as a butterfly
And quite as much at ease.
And surely she was always meant
To fly upon her toes.
There never was another
That could go as Doris goes.

The flowers she is scattering
Are no lovelier than she.
They fall in yellow showers
As she gaily sets them free.
And she beckons them to follow
To the land where all is young.
Where a thousand sprites are singing
In the eerie faerie tongue.

Origin of an Old Saying.

"In apple pie order" is traced to Puritan times, to the good housewife Hephzibah. Every Saturday the good woman baked two or three dozen apple pies, which were to last her family through the week. These she placed in her pantry, labeling one or more for each day. The pantry thus arranged was said to be "in apple pie order." With all due respect for Mrs. Hephzibah, one is inclined to think that her family must have got very tired of apple pies.

A Sure Proof.

"Tell me all about it," said the woman who was ill and couldn't attend the wedding.
"Twasn't much," said her husband.
"There was no best man, and the bridegroom forgot the ring and had to go back home for it."
"Lucky girl!" she exclaimed, with woman's intuition. "She is marrying a plumber."—Buffalo Express.

The Arctic Sea Cow.

The arctic sea cow, an enormous kind of walrus, used to herd in large numbers on Bering island. But in 1742 it was discovered by a passing ship and hunted with harpoons. Other ships arrived after this, and the startled sea monsters were pursued and speared with such persistency that in thirty-eight years there was not one left.

An Evergreen township girl has the latest invention, a device to hang in the family dining room. It is called the gum board. It is a neat circular board, plain or decorated, fastened to the wall. The name of each of the family is painted on the circumference, and marks the spot where the gum is left until wanted. This saves carrying the gum to bed and getting it in one's hair or swallowing it in the night. It is obvious that the gum board supplies a long felt want, and he who invented the new fad will have the best wishes of the young ladies of this town.

SCOTTISH BAND ONE OF FREE ATTRACTIONS

Celebrated Canadian Organization to Be Heard During State Fair.

It was in 1903 that the 91st Scotch Highlanders band began its active concert work, and, starting in with the first season, this organization has traveled thousands of miles each year, pleasing vast throngs wherever they have appeared and winning for themselves a warm spot in the hearts of the music-loving public.

It was because of the excellent reputation of this Canadian organization and because of the policy adopted this year that the management of the Michigan State Fair, which is to be held in Detroit, Sept. 19-24th, secured the famous Scottish band. Good band music is a very vital feature of any big fair, and the Highlanders by their work at other big exhibitions demonstrated that they are a drawing card and a popular addition to any amusement enterprise.

The personnel of the band is of the highest, each member of the organization being a skilled musician. Not only must recruits pass a rigid examination as to his skill, but he must be of good appearance and unquestioned personal habits. The uniform worn by the Highlanders in all their public engagements is picturesque in the extreme and one of the finest combinations of Scottish colors obtainable. The tartans worn are patterned after the renowned Argyle and Sutherland clan and, everywhere the band appears they win unstinted praise on their appearance, aside from their entertainment.

Fifteen hundred standard compositions by well known composers comprise the library of the band, and new features are being added continually. H. S. Stares, the bandmaster, is a musician of acknowledged ability and by his magnetism, leadership and judgment in selecting his programs has been personally responsible for a large measure of the band's success.

Two daily concerts will be given by the band during the fair, and in addition to the band numbers, there will be soprano solos by Miss Gertrude Stares, a well-known Canadian singer, who has appeared with the band for several seasons. Gordon Fleet, a youngster who dances Highland flings, sailors' hornpipes and other picturesque dances, also contributes largely to the success of the band's entertainment.

The 91st Highlanders will be one of the best of the many big free attractions.

GLASSBLOWERS UNIQUE FEATURE OF STATE FAIR

Entertainment Extraordinary Promised by John's Glassblowers.

One of the most unique exhibits to be seen at the big Michigan State Fair, which opens Sept. 19 for a week, is the performance given by John's Glassblowers, a company of trained artisans from Toronto, who show to what lengths human skill can be developed in manipulating liquid glass.

This act is considered one of the greatest in the country and is seldom seen outside of Toronto. In fact, it is appearing at but two fairs this year, Toronto and Michigan. The art of glassblowing is little understood, and it is safe to say that to a large percentage of people visiting the Fair glassblowing is an absolute novelty.

During the exhibition all sorts of articles are made by the glassblowers. Wield forms handled skillfully in the quick hands of the performers, assume shapes unthought of. Myriads of colors play through the molten glass until suddenly, with a final touch, the completed article is held before the eyes of the audience.

DID ANYONE SAY PORK?

Just a few of the fine specimens to be seen at the coming State Fair at Detroit, Sept. 19-24th. The livestock department will be especially interesting this year. Entries in all classes have been heavy.

Farm and Garden

DOUBLING THE CORN YIELD.

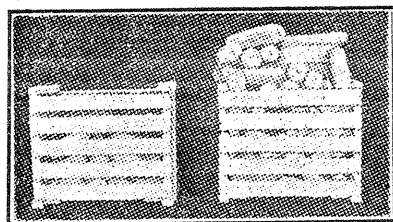

Every Farmer Can Breed Better Grain, Says Wisconsin Authority.

If it is possible to increase the yield of corn from ten to thirty bushels per acre we should all be made aware of that fact in the shortest possible time, for it makes a great difference to the farmer who is on high priced land whether he is growing thirty-five bushels of corn per acre or sixty, says Professor R. A. Moore of the University of Wisconsin, writing in Farm and Fireside.

A large portion of the advanced yield of corn in Wisconsin has been brought about by using definite select breeds of kiln dried seed that has high energy and vitality. Better culture has of course contributed to the result.

We cannot emphasize too much the importance of having seed corn grown in close proximity to where it is to be used. It usually takes several years' continual growing before corn becomes thoroughly acclimated to the surrounding environment of soil and climate, and if a radical change is made the corn will deteriorate.

As far as possible every farmer after getting started with highly bred seed should grow and develop his own seed from year to year. His first efforts should be toward selecting for an ideal corn plant. He should have in his mind those special characteristics he desires to perpetuate. Such ideal corn plants are to be found in his general field. Their selection is the first step in corn breeding.

In order to do this well the farmer should go through the field, following definite rows, at a time when the plant will show its general characteristics to the best possible advantage. This is usually when the corn is in the milk, as then the leaf, ear and stalk can be studied to good advantage. We should select a medium stalk which puts out one good ear about three feet above the ground. The stalk should have numerous broad healthy leaves.

When the ideal stalk is found it should be marked so as to recognize the plant after the corn has ripened. After the first plant is found other plants are selected that conform closely to the first selected stalk. In this way 200 or 300 stalks are marked, and after the corn is well ripened the ears from them are picked and husked. The ears that are not uniform in character are rejected, and only those that show good type are saved for the second year's work. These ears should be thoroughly cured and put away where mice will not molest them or where they will not be subject to frequent variation in temperature.

The second step in corn breeding is known as the ear to the row method of breeding. For this we use the ears selected the previous year. The ears are tested for germination and only the strongly germinating ears kept. Of these the butts and tips are rejected, and the middle two-thirds of the ear is generally used.

Ground should be selected upon which similar crops have been grown from year to year so that the soil will be in a uniform condition. Each ear is planted in a separate row until 50 or 100 ears are used. The hills are an equal distance apart, and the same number of kernels, usually three, are planted to the hill.

The outcome is astonishing. Some of the ears of corn planted have energy, vitality and projected efficiency to produce as much as ten times the amount of select seed corn that other sister ears are able to produce. The rows that are to be the heavy yielders of good seed corn early become noticeable for the general uniformity which they hold throughout the entire row.

The next year's seed corn should be secured from these high yielding rows, and it will transmit this special function of yield and perfection of ears to its progeny of the next year's crop.

In some instances every alternate row is detasseled, so as to prevent close fertilization, and the seed corn selected then from the detasseled rows.

Good seed corn does not, of course, guarantee good crops. Poor soil poorly cared for will give a poor crop no matter how good the seed is. But using good seed you are sure good care will not be wasted by the failure of the seed in germinating or breeding power.

Thousands of Dollars Wasted.

Small grains should be shocked securely. Thousands of dollars are lost every year on account of poor work in shocking grain. Brace the sheaves firmly and press the heads together closely at the top. When well braced, cap to cover the grain and protect it from rains, storms and depredations of birds. See that the shocks are put up in good condition for curing.

A TRIBUTE TO HON.

CHASE S. OSBORN

(From One Who Knows Him). To My Friends in Hillsdale County:

I have felt that I wanted to say a few words to you, giving my opinion of Chase S. Osborn's qualifications for governor of this state, and take this way of doing so. My reason for this feeling is that Mr. Osborn has been my close friend for many years, and I have great admiration for him as a marked character. He is so preeminently fitted for the duties of chief executive of our state that I am confident if you all knew him as I do you would at once be his loyal friends and supporters—that the dignity of his character would commend him to you. He is a man of wide sympathies and is a deep and conscientious student of civic and social problems; in this particular he has few equals. He is honest with himself and all others. In any position of trust which he has held he has never been swayed or influenced by personal consideration, but has had an eye single to his duty and responsibility to do the best possible as he understood it. He is a thoroughly trained statesman, an educated gentleman, a graceful, polished orator, a successful man of affairs, and, above and beyond all, he is true to himself and, as Shakespeare says:

"This above all: To thine own self be true, And it must follow, as the night the day, Thou canst not then be false to any man."

I take much pleasure in saying this to you because it comes from the heart. Hoping that in the interest of good government you may give to him your support, I am,

Yours sincerely,
WALTER H. SAWYER.
—Hillsdale Standard-Herald.

OSBORN SENTIMENT IN WAYNE.

The one feature of the North End Taft club's picnic at Tashmoo park, Thursday, that stood out in bold relief from the ordinary round of handshaking and speech making, was the pronounced Osborn sentiment, which began to manifest itself as soon as the boat pulled away from the Detroit dock, and continued throughout the day, waxing stronger every moment. It reached its height after his speech in the grove, when men, women and even the children joined in giving him what was little short of an ovation. His earnestness and his eloquence won the hearts of all, and the burst of applause that followed was spontaneous and heartfelt.

Mr. Osborn's address was not a political harangue in any sense. It was more in the nature of a heart-to-heart talk between friends, and his remarks were addressed to the children as well as to grownups.

"In the old days," he said, "they used to judge a man by the size of his arm. Later they came to judge him by the size of his girth, and I want it understood that this is no reflection on anyone present (with a glance at Congressman Denby). Then there came a time when the head was the standard of measurement and still later the mouth, and that is no reflection on any of the men on this platform. Now in these later days we have come to measure men by their heartiness and the warmth of their souls, and I believe that is the best standard of measurement."

In concluding he said: "If my candidacy makes for a better understanding between the great north country of ours, known as the upper peninsula, and the lower section of our state I shall be happy. And now may God bless every one of you." —Detroit Times.

It is evident that the newspaper men of Michigan would like to see one of their number made governor, and for this reason the great majority of them are doing all in their power to have Chase S. Osborn nominated at the September primaries. They know that the late Governor Johnson of Minnesota was one of the best governors that state ever had, and that he was a newspaper man. His administration attracted favorable attention in every part of the Union and was regarded in the light of a model one. Mr. Osborn is a good deal of the stamp of a man that Governor Johnson was. He is a clean-cut, manly man, who understands the needs of the state and knows that the people are looking for an administration that is not bound up in selfishness and one that will have in mind the good of the people in general. Mr. Osborn is well equipped for the place; he has been a close student of all public questions and believes thoroughly in a square deal. The newspaper men of the state want to see him given a trial, as they feel that the people will be more than satisfied with him, and that he will stand the test.—Fremont Review.

The Chippewa county member of the executive committee of the State Grange, the home county of Chase S. Osborn, says he will vouch for Mr. Osborn in every spot and place and states to his fellow Grangers that he regards him the safest man before the people today in which the farmer can repose trust. This gentleman, Jerry Lawson, has known Osborn many years and is willing to stump the state for him and donate his time on the ground that Osborn has been unjustly assailed by people who are trying to in this manner capture the vote of the farmers' organizations.—Howard City Record.

Athletic Clubs For Women.

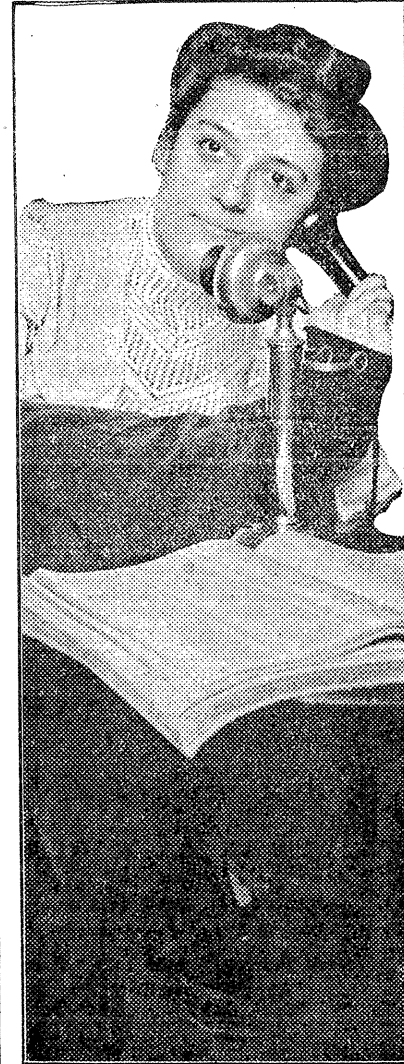

Athletic clubs for women are growing all over the country. Some of the best organizations are in the west. The Spokane (Wash.) Athletic club devotes two sessions a week to women's classes in light athletics, and here is where the housewife, who imagines she has all the exercise at home she needs, finds she is mistaken. Some of the most enthusiastic members of the S. A. A. C. class are matrons with extensive family affairs on their hands. Their notion is that they handle these affairs all the better for the gymnasium training.

"Women show the benefits much quicker than the average man," says Director Bullivant. "Improvement is noticeable as soon as they begin to breathe properly. It is a fact that most women breathe only with the upper part of their chests, which is always an invitation to lung trouble and a cause of poor circulation. Digestion is also a weak point usually with the average woman, and here is where the most marked improvement results from faithful work in the gymnasium. Women who exercise regularly eat regularly."

"The club is credited with having the best women's class course in the northwest, with the exception of the Multnomah Athletic club at Portland, which supports an annex exclusively for physical culture for women."

missing hands. She can even write letters with them. She answers the telephone by holding the receiver to her ear with one of her feet.

Famous Women as Vegetarians.

The Countess of Warwick is one of the latest converts to a vegetarian diet. One is inclined to believe that her ladyship has renounced flesh food in order to preserve the superb lines of her figure. Lady Warwick was getting very stout before she adopted a vegetarian diet. Since then her surplus fat has melted away.

Mme. Sarah Bernhardt renounced flesh food for the reason that she found a vegetarian diet was conducive to a more youthful appearance. She now eats nothing but uncooked foods. Vegetables are grated raw and made into delicious combinations of salads for her. She eats raw peanuts and uncooked cereals and avoids wines and all other alcoholic beverages.

Among other well known women vegetarians are the czarina of Russia, Princess George of Greece, Cleo de Merode, Marie Corelli and Mme. Maeterlinck.

Old Time London Bank Clerks.

Formerly the dress of the ordinary bank clerk was knee breeches, silk stockings, shoes with silver buckles, tail coat and often a white tie. Messrs. Coutts drew the line at the clean shave and a frock coat. Hirsute ornaments were regulated by strict orders from headquarters, beards or the mustache not being tolerated for many years. Nearly every one walked to and from business at that time, three, four or five miles being no uncommon distance. One gentleman lived in Friday street, Cheapside. He used to saunter down to the bank about 8:30 in dressing gown and slippers, sign the "appearance book" and then return home to shave and breakfast at his leisure.—London Standard.

"Natural Life."

A poisoner in a western state has been sentenced to imprisonment, as the news dispatches put it, "for the rest of his natural life." That phrase "natural life" bothers some people, who wonder if the law recognizes any "unnatural life." It does not, but the old common law did recognize an unnatural death as well as a natural one. When a man or woman takes the monastic vow people still speak of it as "leaving the world." In mediaeval times that was considered a form of death, and the phrase "natural life" came into use to describe an existence terminated by the grave, not by the convent or the abbey.—New York Mail.

When the Eyes Sting.

Inflammation of the conjunctiva, or membrane which shields the front of the eyeball from the air and takes the rub of the eyelids, is indicated by the glued state of the eyes in the morning and more especially by their bloodshot condition, the vessels being bright red in color and winding about in great irregularity, with no discernible order or plan.

Staggers Skeptics.

That a clean, nice, fragrant compound like Bucklen's Arnica Salve will instantly relieve a bad burn, cut, scald, wound or piles, staggers skeptics. But great cures prove its wonderful healer of the worst sores, ulcers, boils, felons, eczema, skin eruptions, as also chapped hands, sprains and corns. Try it. 25c at L. I. Wood & Co.'s.

Goldfish.

It may not be generally known that there is cruelty in the keeping of goldfish. Half of such captives die from sheer want of rest. As fish have eyes so formed that they cannot endure the light, in a glass vessel they are in an entirely wrong place, as is evident from the way in which they dash about and go around and around until fairly worn out.

Dysentery is a dangerous disease but can be cured. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has been successfully used in nine epidemics of dysentery. It has never been known to fail. It is equally valuable for children and adults, and when reduced with water and sweetened, it is pleasant to take. Sold by L. I. Wood & Co.

Imagination.

Recently a lecturer before one of the classes of the medical department of the University of Louisville told his pupils that he had had a case not long since in which, while the patient was able to do nearly everything for himself, it was necessary to keep an accurate record of his temperature for a certain time. He left with him a thermometer and instructed him in its use, though he did not tell him what the instrument was for.

"One morning when I went to see him," the professor concluded, "his first greeting was: 'Well, doc, I kept that darn thing in my mouth all night, and I feel a heap better this mornin'. Great stuff, ain't it?'" —Louisville Times.

They Have a Definite Purpose.

Foley Kidney Pills give quick relief in cases of kidney and bladder ailments. Mrs. Rose Glaser, Terre Haute, Ind., tells the result in her case. "After suffering for many years from a serious case of kidney trouble and spending much money for so called cures, I found Foley Kidney Pills the only medicine that gave me a permanent cure. I am again able to be up and attend to my work. I shall never hesitate to recommend them." L. I. Wood & Co.

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Cass City People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them.
Health is gradually undermined.
Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes, and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in this locality.
William Singleton, 621 South State St., Cass Mich., says: "I was afflicted with kidney trouble for two years and I suffered intensely from pains in the small of my back. On arising in the morning I was very lame and the least work tired me. Headaches and dizzy spells were other symptoms of my trouble and sometimes my sight became blurred. The kidney secretions contained sediment and passed too frequently, breaking my rest. In a week after I commenced the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, I improved and the contents of five boxes of this remedy effected a permanent cure. I consider Doan's

A DEADLY REPTILE

The Fer-de-lance the Most Venomous of All Serpents.

ITS STING A DEATH WARRANT

Little Chance For a Victim of the Fangs of This Terror of the Island of Martinique—The Cat and the Mongoose Its Most Formidable Enemies.

Every one is perfectly well aware that there exists a large number of venomous serpents—we have many of them right here in the United States; the rattler, for example—but probably no other spot in the known world has such a death dealing reptile as has the French island of Martinique, nesting in the limpid blue waters of the Caribbean sea. It is the fer-de-lance, scientifically known as Trigonoccephalus lanceolatus, that can beyond the shadow of a doubt lay claim to being the most deadly serpent of the earth. Its sting means almost certain death.

There are eight distinct varieties, the most common being a dark gray and black speckled, which coloring enables it to conceal itself easily among roots and stumps of trees. Another variety is a clear, bright yellow, and when hidden in the freshly cut cane it can hardly be distinguished from the stalks. It may also be a dark yellow or coal black with a yellow belly.

It is not a large snake, rarely exceeding five feet in length and in circumference approximately the size of a child's arm. To repeat, the sting means almost certain death, and should not the service of a physician, or "panseur," as the natives call him, be obtained within a very short time the venom does its deadly work—the flesh grows cold, softens, becomes puffy, changes in color, quickly begins to spot, and a great chilliness creeps through the blood. This lasts only a few minutes—possibly half an hour—then death.

If the victim is fortunate enough to get a physician upon the scene post-haste and no artery or vein has been pierced there is hope—just a faint hope—but even if life is saved the danger is not entirely removed, for in many cases necrosis of the tissues follows. The flesh corrupts and falls from the bones, and the body molder as does a tree.

There is, however, a heroic method of treatment often brought into use by the Martiniquans. It is the immediate amputation of the leg or arm if the sting happens to be in either.
Even this has to be done at once and before the venom circulates through the system. There are to be seen today upon the island many natives with limbs missing, and in the majority of cases it is the result of having the machete, or cane knife, applied after an experience with a fer-de-lance.

The fer-de-lance is a fighter—and no mistake about it—aggressive and pugnacious, and domestic animals, with the cat as the one exception, stand a very poor show in a battle. Pussy, in about nine cases out of ten, will come out of the scrap with colors flying because of the fact that it is apparently quite as quick in movement and at the same time uses what may be termed ring generalship.

There is but one animal other than the cat that successfully wages war upon the fer-de-lance. It is the mongoose (ichneumon), imported from India a number of years ago for the sole purpose of getting rid of the snakes.

Of the weasel family and looking very much like it, this little animal is absolutely fearless so far as snakes are concerned and will just as readily tackle one five feet in length as one a foot long. From the mongoose the fer-de-lance will flee, but if cornered will put up a great fight, using every trick at its command—a useless sort of contest, however, for within a short time it will be stretched out lifeless.

A battle between these two natural enemies is well worth witnessing. It is never a "limited" fight, but to a finish always, and probably the snakes by this time have come to understand that when they enter such a combat it is with the odds greatly against them.

The mongoose is quite as clever a ring general as the cat and uses that gift to advantage. Strategy more than strength is its asset.

When they meet, and if the snake sees no avenue of escape, it prepares for battle, as does the mongoose, but in a more leisurely manner. It takes about one minute for them to get fully prepared. There is no shaking hands, so to speak, as by prizefighters.

The mongoose circles about the reptile, always at a safe distance and "drawing fire," inviting it by moving closer and closer to dart out its head and then quickly jumping out of harm's way. It torments in every possible manner, causing the snake to change position time and time again, tiring it by forcing a strike again and again without ever reaching the objective point. At last, seeing its opponent at some particular disadvantage, the mongoose springs forward quick as a bolt of lightning, catches it firmly with the teeth behind the triangular head—a shake, possibly two, no more—and in less time than it takes to tell it the fer-de-lance is dead, its vertebrae severed.—New York Times.

The gods have attached almost as many misfortunes to liberty as to servitude.—Montesquieu.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. J. H. Hays on Friday, Aug. 26.

Two towns in Wyoming upon the same railroad and about ten miles apart are candidates for a freight division point which is to be established soon. But good authority says that the town which is seemingly the most favorably situated has been cut out of consideration because it has three licensed saloons. The other is a dry town, and yet we are constantly told that it takes the saloon to make a live town and good business.

A very interesting meeting was held at the home of Miss Faustina Brown Friday afternoon. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Wm.
McKenzie presided. The special numbers of the program were a song, entitled, "We'll Make the Map All White," by the Misses Florence Jones, Miriam Fritz and Flossie Koppelberger; a recitation by Miss Jessie Duncanson and readings by Mesdames Hart Mickle, Jos. Martus and H. F. Lenzner. Mrs. Lang, president of the W. C. T. U. at Linden, was present and addressed the society in a pleasant and interesting talk, giving some very helpful suggestions in regard to temperance work.

While waiting to see the mayor in one of the county seat towns of the state, I fell into conversation with a young man shoeing horses in the mayor's shop. His first assertion was that he had been shoeing horses for seventeen years, receiving good wages and he had not a cent ahead.
"Where have your earnings gone?"
we asked. He pointed across the street to a row of saloons and mentioned, incidentally, some of the horses of infamy such as can be found wherever the saloon has cast its shadow. There was where his earnings of seventeen years had principally gone. "Do you think it pays to thus squander your wages, to say nothing of the physical and moral injury?" we inquired. "Pay! Why I know it don't pay, and I'm a fool for doing it, but it seems like I can't help it while those open doors are before me." And then he added, as tears came to his eyes and trickled down his grimy cheeks, "I have some letters up in my room now I can't read; I break down every time I try it and cry like a baby. The letters are from my old father and mother who are dependent and I ought to be helping to support them, yet I never send them a penny." His last remark as I bade him good-bye was, "If you can get a county option bill or anything else that will give me a chance to vote against the saloon, I assure you you can count on me."—American Issue.

BEWARE OF SWINDLERS.

Pair of Sharps Collect in Advance on Alluring Soap Offer.

Many farmers' wives throughout the state have been victimized lately by a pair of swindlers who, representing themselves as agents of a certain soap company of Chicago, have been taking orders for fifty bars of a well known brand of soap for $2 and a set of dishes with each order of soap. The agents have been collecting $1 down, with the understanding that the remainder would be collected upon delivery of goods, Aug. 20. It now develops that there is no soap company of the name given in Chicago, the soap for which the pair of agents have been taking orders being manufactured in another city.

Farmers' wives and others can save money and trouble by patronizing their home merchants. But the idea that you can get something for nothing still prevails. However a little experience is a good teacher, but the tuition comes higher.

Fourteen autos were in line on the trip and the expression seemed to be in favor of Hanna at most of the places.

J. Sugden of Mayville secured the contract of the H. & S. drain let on Monday at the price of $2.80 per rod for the main drain and branch No. 2, both about four miles in length. F. A. Turner secured branch No. 1 at $2.05. There are 112 rods.

A Bumper—

Robert Kirkpatrick of McGregor, Sanilac county, has the bumper crop of wheat, or at least straw, it taking one and one-half days to thresh 10 acres. The crop was so heavy it had to be cut with a mower, as it couldn't be cut with a binder.

Careful Driver—

They do say that Frank Brown is the most careful automobile driver in all this country 'round. When he meets a horse that shows any signs of being frightened and the driver throws up his hands, Frank stops the machine, gets out and take it apart and hides the pieces in the grass.—Uby Courier.

Subscribing Liberally—

At the close of business last Wednesday in the office of Village Treasurer Cross of Caro, more than $1,800 of the $3,000 pledged in aid of the new railroad from Bay City had been voluntarily paid in cash by taxpayers of the village who are loyal in support of its institutions and are prompt to do their share toward such an enterprise for the general good as the new road will be.

Called Them "Hissing Geese"—

A county meeting of the Lady Maccabees was held at Imlay City last week at which Mrs. S. J. O'Brien was present to explain the new rates a decided increase over what the ladies have been paying. Rumor has it that the meeting was marked by several lively tilts and that Mrs. O'Brien delt in several uncompromising remarks concerning our ladies. A breach of decorum she will doubtless regret. Many of the members of the order are not pleased with the new rates and nearly 20 have already dropped from the membership.—Times.

Given a Decent Burial—

Many years ago when this section was an almost unbroken wilderness a woodsman who was employed in getting out timber was struck by a falling tree and killed. Far as known nobody living here at the present time knew his name or where he had lived. The remains were buried on land owned by W. J. Webber south of the Hotel Colonial, and the matter had been forgotten until this week when the skeleton of a man was unearthed which it is believed was that of the man referred to, and by direction of the local authorities it was given a decent burial.—Reese Review.

TRADE MORAL.

Trying to win a girl's love by taking her aunt buggy riding is like an attempt to do business without advertising. The aunt enjoys the buggy ride, but it doesn't help your cause with the girl. The merchant who wants to win the home folks' trade will win if he plugs persistently through these columns.

OLD TIME PUNISHMENT.

Agency of a Day in the Stocks For a Fit of Bad Temper.

A record on file in the library of congress contains an account of the adventures of a certain Hubbard, who was sentenced in Boston to the stocks for having indulged in an unwarrantable fit of ill temper, says Harper's Weekly. When he had taken his seat for the day there came along a drove of swine, which seemed to cast upon him those leering looks that only a fat pig can bestow. A dog followed, sniffing at the prisoner's feet and making feints—unpleasantly approaching reality—of biting him. Then a cock, mounting to the very top of the stocks, crowed his derision upon the victim below, and presently a rough fellow, after indulging in ugly taunts, threw at him fetid toadstools and a dead snake.

Then an Indian appeared, who in a drunken rage, stimulated by some fancied injury, rushed at Hubbard with a tomahawk, probably intending nothing worse, however, than to give him a severe fright, which he certainly succeeded in doing.

Help came from an unexpected quarter, for at that moment an old bull came tearing down the road. His attention was attracted by the stocks, and with a roar he prepared for a charge.

Alarmed in his turn, the savage dashed off. The bull made a dash at the stocks and carried away the corner post, but without even grazing the object of his apparent wrath. Whether he was disgusted by the little he had accomplished or his animosity was thus satisfied, he started off, bellowing and shaking his head, much to the relief of the said Hubbard.

And then the unfortunate man was left in comparative peace to his own meditations and the cutting sleet of a November day.

Turtle Eggs.

Turtle eggs are an acquired taste with most people, although they are not so with bears. They have a rough yellow yolk and a white like any other egg, but you can cook them for a year and the white part will remain liquid. Notice a curious dimple in the side of each one. If you squeeze it out, the dimple appears on the other side, and you can never get hold of a turtle egg which hasn't got a dimple in it.

Knew His Place.

"Are you the head of the family?" "No; I'm only the subhead."—New York Press.

DEFORD.

Quite a large number were present at the drain letting Monday.

The Deford Grain Co. are erecting a store room 24 by 60 feet at the south end of their elevator property. It will be used to house flour, feed, lime and cement. The building is being erected by the elevator employees and it looks as though the boys are going to do a first rate job. Hersey Young, the manager of the plant, superintends the work.

George Robert's foundry and machine shop is a busy place, three men being employed at the present time. This institution is one of which a much larger town might be proud.

The Deford Creamery of W. M. Neeper & Son is manufacturing 14 to 16 cakes of cheese a day, besides a quantity of butter. This is a pretty good run for the good old summer time.

A. L. Johnson is feeding 70 hogs on his farm in Kingston township. Thirty-four of the animals he is preparing for the market this fall and the hogs are enjoying the fattening elements in a peafield. "The 34 hogs have averaged an increase of 500 pounds a week during the past three weeks," said Mr. Johnson Tuesday.

A Point For Willie.
A Capitol hill woman went out in the garage back of her home the other day and found her ten-year-old son playing cards with pennies with a neighbor boy.

"Why, Willie," she said, "what are you doing—gambling?"

"We're jist playin' cards with that new deck you won over at Mrs. Mason's playin' bridge last week," replied the boy.

The woman picked up the cards and went back into the house. She had nothing to say.—Denver Post.
