

OSCAR C. WOOD IS MUSTERED OUT

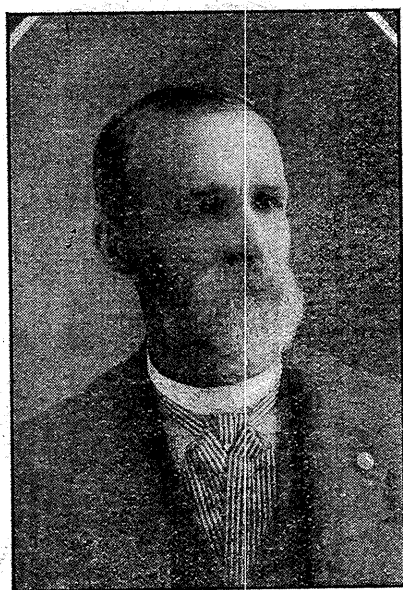

DIED SUDDENLY AT HIS FARM
MONDAY AFTERNOON.

Was Member of the Fifth Michigan
Cavalry During the Civil War.

The ever sounding taps, which day by day, year by year, are reducing the straggling ranks of the noble heroes of the days of '61 were called for Oscar C. Wood on Monday afternoon when that comrade passed his Commander in final review and joined the hosts in that last encampment on the other shore.

The call came suddenly and as a shock to Mr. Wood's many friends. His health has not been of the best since he gave up his active management of his farm three years ago. An injury received while in the army resulted in the displacement of his heart from its normal position and that organ has been the cause of his suffering which had been more pronounced during the last six weeks.

On the morning of Monday, he did not feel as well as usual, but after dinner decided to go to his farm, ½ mile west of town. While there, he became interested in some changes which were being made in the hay car and track and he went up into the loft of the barn to adjust a pulley. Shortly after he descended to the floor of the barn, his son, Perry, noticed that his father appeared ill and hastened to his relief, but before he reached his side, Mr. Wood had sunken to the floor. He was carried to the house by the son and M. L. Gulick, who was assisting in the work at the barn, but life became extinct when they reached the residence.

O. C. WOOD.

Oscar C. Wood was born in Bruce township, Macomb county, on Dec. 31, 1840. When the war cloud hung over the country in the sixties, he enlisted in the Fifth Michigan Cavalry serving with his comrades bravely and well throughout that bloody strife for the welfare of his country. Following his army career, he returned to Macomb county, and in 1866, he was united in marriage with Miss Belle Munson. To this union four children were born. Mr. Wood followed the occupation of farming in Macomb county until 1884 when he and his family moved to Wayne county. After four years' residence there, they came to Cass City. He purchased a large farm west of town and lived there until about three years ago when he and Mrs. Wood decided to move to the village.

Mr. Wood was an active member of the M. E. church, serving that society as trustee for several years. He has also been a member of the local school board and served Elkland township as highway commissioner. For several years he has been a member of Tyler Lodge, F. & A. M.

The funeral services were held in the M. E. church Wednesday afternoon. Rev. W. B. Weaver, the pastor, preached the sermon and was assisted by Rev. J. W. Fenn and Rev. S. Gilchrist of Yale. The latter, who was formerly pastor of the church here, testified to the Christian character of the deceased and to the high regard in which he was held by his fellow citizens. A male quartette composed of Messrs. Usher, Bigelow, Keating and Yakes sang beautiful selections. The pall bearers were P. A. Koepfen, I. A. Fritz, W. T. Schenck, N. Bigelow, G. E. Perkins and E. W. Keating.

Mr. Wood is survived by his wife, three sons, Perry and L. I. Wood of this city and C. H. Wood of Eugene, Oregon, and one daughter, Mrs. C. R. Simkins, of La Grande, Oregon.

Out of town friends and relatives who were in attendance at the funeral were Mrs. Clara Dodge, a sister, of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wood, the former a brother of the deceased, and Mr. and Mrs. George Richmond, all of near Pontiac.

GOES TO TURNER.

Bert Bertrand, who left Cass City a little over a year ago, to engage in the clothing, shoe and men's furnishings business at North Branch is removing his stock from that town to Turner, Arenac county, where he will embark in the general mercantile trade as a partner of L. E. Rater, who has been established in business there for some time, under the firm name of Bertrand & Rater.

ONE OF THE FIRST SETTLERS OF ALMER TWP.

Chas. M. Delling Came to Tuscola
County in 1858 and Lived
Here 53 Years.

Charles M. Delling died Thursday, July 6, at the home of his son, H. E. Delling, 4 miles west and 1½ miles south of Cass City. The funeral was held Sunday, Rev. Hiser officiating and the remains were interred in Almer cemetery.

Mr. Delling was born in Farmington, Oakland Co., in 1831 and moved to Almer in 1858 where he lived until about 12 years ago when he moved to Ellington where he died. He was one of the first settlers of Almer, having moved there when the place was a forest. On Dec. 1, 1857, he was married to Miss Martha June.

He leaves a wife, one son, Harvey E. Delling, and a sister, Mrs. M. Richards, of Caro.

Mr. Delling united with the Methodist Episcopal church, when a young man and remained an active member until his health failed.

Thumb Notes

The corner stone of the new M. E. church at Sandusky was laid last Tuesday, Rev. W. J. Balmer officiating.

The prosecuting attorney of Lapeer county has issued a warning to all dealers in soft drinks in that county that all near-beer drinks sold in that county will be considered as violations of the local option law, and that all offenders will be prosecuted.

Wm. Baker and family of Lexington had as close a call to death one day last week as they will ever get. While riding to Croswell in their auto to they ran squarely into a passing train, striking the engine with terrific force. The occupants were thrown out but only slightly injured. A clump of trees hid the train from sight.

Ed. O'Mara, a prominent and well known farmer of Forester township, was severely injured by a bull at his home on Wednesday. Mr. O'Mara was alone in the field with the bull at the time and had it not been for his faithful dog he would have undoubtedly been killed. The dog heard the bellowing of the animal and went to his master's rescue and fought the bull off. Mr. O'Mara has two broken ribs and other painful bruises as the result of the encounter.—Decker's Recorder.

The common council of Sandusky ordered a special election to be held in that city on Monday, July 31, for the purpose of voting on the proposition of bonding the city in the sum of $5,000 for a period of ten years, with interest at 5 per cent per annum, to raise funds to pay present indebtedness and completing and extending waterworks system; also to bond in the sum of $3,000, for the same period and rate of interest, to apply on present indebtedness and completing and extending electric light system.

FIRST EVANGELICAL ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

BAY PORT THE PLACE; JULY 27
TO AUGUST 6.

Program of the Assembly includes in List of Speakers Three Bishops of Church.

"Beginnings are always interesting," writes Rev. F. Klump announcing the First Evangelical Assembly at Bay Port in a 28-page booklet, which has just been completed by the Chronicle Printery, advertising the assembly. "There is an element of uncertainty in every human project," continues the writer. "Just enough questioning as to results to keep the mind alert and the attention fixed. The beginning of our First Evangelical Assembly at Bay Port, to be held July 27 to August 6, is no exception to this rule. This movement is being watched with a great deal of interest as it is the first large religious gathering of this kind in this part of the Michigan conference. We are glad that we are on the way and hope to have a profitable time at the first gathering. That there is a need for such a movement is generally acknowledged.

"Because of these felt needs the young people and the ministers of Flint district at their respective conventions last year appointed strong committees to co-operate with the Presiding Elder in securing a place at Bay Port for summer meetings. It is at this juncture that we desire to acknowledge the kindness and liberality of Messrs. W. H. Wallace and W. J. Orr, who have placed themselves at our disposal to do anything and everything reasonable in the establishment of this assembly. Mr. Wallace will provide land which is a guarantee for the permanency of the project if our people desire to make it such."

The program for the assembly includes many talented speakers among them being Bishop Thomas Bowman, D. D., Dr. G. J. Kinn, Rev. J. B. Kanaga, Dr. S. J. Gamertsfelder, Rev. Geo. Johnson, Bishop Wm. Horn, D.

MANY ARE RENEWING THEIR SUBSCRIPTIONS.

The Chronicle is much gratified by the action of many good patrons of this paper who have during the past few weeks paid their subscriptions for another year. This is the best evidence obtainable that these subscribers are satisfied and feel that they are getting good value for their money when they pay their subscriptions to the Chronicle. This office does not approve of the method of some publishers who are constantly "dunning" their subscribers in their columns, believing that such a course detracts from the dignity and self-respect which should properly be sustained. As many excellent and perfectly responsible people will forget their obligations in this regard, a little reminder is at times not out of place—like this one, for instance.

NO ADMISSION FEE FOR COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Voters Recommended School Board
Not to Appropriate Funds for Annual Commencement

Twenty-five persons attended the annual school meeting held at the town hall Monday evening when I. A. Fritz was re-elected a member of the board of education for a term of three years.

The subject of engaging a special teacher for the study of music was thoroughly discussed, and when put to a vote, the voters decided to dispense with that feature for the coming year.

Mrs. Edward Pinney advocated that the commencement exercises he held without charging an admission fee, the parents of graduates being sufficiently burdened at that period without this added expense. The recommendation was adopted, as was also one which asked the school board to discourage the unusual expenditures of the graduates and that the board should not appropriate any funds for commencement.

The financial report of the district and the recommendations of the board for the coming year in the matter of financial outlays were accepted. The report is printed in another column.

DOG DAYS

(Copyright, 1911.)

PRINCE OF PEACE IS COMING!

The Washington Times of a recent date gives a report of the raising of a fresh flag of the Stars and Stripes on the old Bull Run battle field. The new flag was given by the Duryea Zouaves of the Fifth New York regiment, which maintains a flag there constantly.

On the actual anniversary of the battle of Bull Run July 21, fifty years ago, it is expected there will be a large representation from all the old soldiers of the Confederate and Union armies. Both the north and south sent delegates for the preliminary meeting reported, where they sang together "The Star Spangled Banner" and "Dixie."

Lieut. George C. Round, of the United States signal corps, in a speech said: "They should abide by the old Mosaic custom in which every one met and wiped out their debts and grievances once every fifty years."

This celebration is called "The Jubilee," and the movement is endorsed by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the Daughters of the American Revolution and many influential persons.—Elizabeth Fenn in Michigan Advocate.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

"Oddfellowship!
Working in manhood's prime and ardent youth
In that sublimest, most ennobling strife,
To show for man, best Friendship,
Love and Truth."

In memory of Wm. F. Seed, who died June 28, 1911.

"So let him sleep that dreamless sleep,
Our sorrows clustering 'round his head;
Be comforted, ye loved who weep,
He lives with God—he is not dead."

Once again Death hath summoned a Brother Odd Fellow, and the golden gateway to the Eternal City has opened to welcome him to his home.

He has completed his work in the ministering to the wants of the afflicted, in shedding light into darkened souls and in bringing joy into the places of misery, and as his reward has received the plaudit, "well done," from the Supreme Master.

And Whereas, The all-wise and merciful Father has called our beloved and respected Brother home, and Whereas, He having been a true and faithful brother of our Mystic Order therefore be it

Resolved, That Cass City Lodge No. 203, I. O. O. F., of Michigan, in testimony of her loss, tenders to the family of the deceased brother our sincere condolence in this deep affliction, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family. Committee:

P. A. Schenck.
A. O. Knapp.
H. S. Wickware.

Green be his memory, in the Order's heart
He loved so well, through all his true life's span;
Bless'd be his rest, who acted well his part,
Who honor'd God in doing good to man.

BETTER PLEASED WITH CASS CITY THAN BEFORE

Improved Farms Average Better in This Vicinity Than in Older Sections.

John C. Farrell says his trip to his old home in Clinton county last week has made him better pleased with Cass City and vicinity than before. Crops on the improved farms here average better than in the older sections and one of the most encouraging features of this vicinity is the new modern buildings being put upon the farms. In a 20 mile drive Mr. Farrell saw only three new barn roofs. Enterprising farmers throughout the central part of the state anticipate good prices and can see nothing in the future but the brightest prospects. The opinion of manufacturers and merchants in the state is that everything will continue at fairly high prices as long as labor is as scarce and wages as high as now yet no one seems to wish to see wages lowered.

Painfully Polite.

A Washington trolley car was getting under way when two women, rushing from opposite sides of the street to greet each other, met right in the middle of the car track and in front of the car. There the two stopped and began to talk. The car stopped, too, but the women did not appear to realize that it was there. Certainly.

STOPPED AND BEGAN TO TALK.

tain of the passengers, whose heads were immediately thrust out of the windows to ascertain what the trouble was, began to make sarcastic remarks, but the two women heeded them not.

Finally the motorman showed that he had a saving sense of humor. Leaning over the dashboard, he inquired in the gentlest of tones:

"Pardon me, ladies, but shall I get you a couple of chairs?"—Lippincott's.

Surgery, "Painless Charity."

The surgery of a not remote past was radically different from the practice of today and fell little short of actual torture of the patient. Burning the severed veins with hot irons to stop bleeding, opening gaping wounds wider to promote long continued suppuration, inserting tents and compresses between the gaping lips of wounds to prevent healing by first intention, filling gunshot wounds with boiling oil, etc., to counteract the supposed poisonous character of missiles propelled by gunpowder—with a host of salves, ointments and similar medicaments, it was not until late in the nineteenth century that military surgery became the soothing, beneficent, almost painless charity of today.—National Magazine.

MONEY AND PLEASURE.

The art of living easily is to fix your scale of living one degree below your means. Guard against the notion that, because pleasure can be bought with money, money cannot be spent without enjoyment. What a thing costs is no true measure of its worth.

BUDGET OF USEFUL HINTS

Valuable Bits of Advice for Housekeepers and Others, Given by English Magazine.

Some new hints for the housekeeper, or for any woman for that matter, are given in an English magazine called the Matron. For example, one needn't be a housekeeper, or even a woman, to be glad to know what to do when a fishbone is stuck in one's throat.

According to this authority the proper thing is to hand the sufferer a lemon. If it is sucked for a little while the bone will move on. In one case it succeeded after the bone had been in the throat two days.

Another use for lemon juice is to remove warts. This is done by dropping it on twice a day.

To retain the color and gloss of a white silk blouse after washing put a teaspoonful of alcohol into the rinsing water. This keeps it from turning yellow and gives it when ironed the gloss of new silk.

To clean the lace yoke and sleeves of waists sprinkle the lace freely with powdered borax, then roll it up and fasten with pins. Let it remain for at least twelve hours, then shake out and brush with a clean soft brush.

To remove ink stains from carpets take a saucer of fresh milk and a clean soft rag. Renew the milk if necessary and wash finally with clean water.

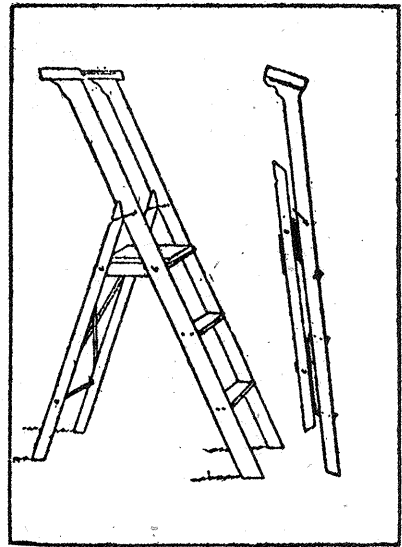

To take coffee stains from any material rub a little glycerine into the stain and then wash with hot soap and water.

To prevent milk from scorching when it is being boiled sprinkle a little sugar into the saucepan after the milk is poured into it. Do not stir the milk even though the pan is a very thin one. The milk will not burn, but will leave the saucepan as clean as if only water had been in it.

CONVENIENT FOR ODD JOBS

New Type of Stepladder Has Elevated Shelf on Which Pails or Tools Can Rest.

A convenient type of stepladder is that which a Michigan man has recently put on the market. It is especially adapted for odd jobs about the house. There are only three steps to the ladder, but the sides rise as far again above it, and at the top is a shelf, on which may be kept tools, nails, screws, pails or whatever appliances required on the work at hand. This shelf is large enough to hold a bucket of water or a pan, if the ladder be used for cleaning walls or high woodwork. A rim around the shelf keeps objects from falling off. The upper part of the sides, rising above the top step, form hand rails, to which the worker may hold to steady himself or herself. The ladder has a new style lock, which holds it perfectly secure, and when unlocked and folded up it becomes almost entirely flat, and takes up little room.

Banana Whip.

When a change is wanted for dessert, try banana whip. Peel the bananas and scrape off the coarse threads and press the pulp through a sieve. Add sugar and lemon juice to taste and cook over the fire, stirring constantly until the mixture boils. Remove from the fire and chill. Beat some cream until it is firm. Fold the banana and cream together and chop some pistachio nuts fine and sprinkle over the mixture after it is put in glasses.

To Set Colors.

In washing light summer fabrics, the one hope of every woman is that they will not fade. Follow these suggestions and you need not have any anxiety on this point: In washing blue put a handful of salt into the water; green, a lump of alum; gray or brown, a bit of oxgall; tan or linen, hay water—pour boiling water over a handful of hay; reds and pinks, use vinegar.—Home Department in the National Magazine.

Some Veal Pointers.

Veal seems to take other flavors well. It lacks fat and for that reason is apt to dry in cooking. To counteract this tendency many cook it with strips of pork laid over the top or larded through it. As every cook is supposed to know, veal should be cooked until thoroughly done.

Potato Salad.

Potatoes boiled in their skins make nice salad than those pared raw. Cold baked potatoes likewise make better fried potatoes than when cooked raw or boiled.

The Housewife May Use As Much "Gumption" in Spending the Family Income as The Husband Does in Earning It!

"Gumption" is not a slang word, by any means. It is Americanese for "Practical Sense."

If the housewife doesn't use it, generously, in making purchases for the home, she will find the family income ALWAYS insufficient--growingly insufficient!

Imprudence--which is a form of non-gumption--will discount and make futile even an increase in the family income. For the easiest thing in the world is to drift along, paying a dollar too much for this thing, and a dime too much for that! And this is the invariable practice of those buyers of family supplies who think it "too much trouble to read the ads."

For, you see, the ads are as important to the "buyer" of home supplies as are the market reports to a broker.

1911 RACE MEET IN PORT HURON TO BE BEST EVER

Four Events Each Day Including the Daily $1,000 Stake Race--Meeting Will Be Held July 18 to 21.

The banner race meeting of Michigan's half-mile track circuit will be held at the Driving park in Port Huron, July 18, 19, 20 and 21, and on these dates lovers of the track sport will have an opportunity to witness three races each day in addition to the $1,000 stake feature, the races to be participated in by some of the best horses that ever faced a start.

The racing throughout the Canadian circuit towns has been of a high class from the time they started at Chatham on June 6, and the racing on the short ship circuit thus far has been fast. But in Port Huron the horses that have been racing in the Michigan towns and the Canadian horses will come together for the first time, making the Port Huron meet one that is well worth while.

One of the features of the meet in Port Huron will be the $1,000 stake races, one of which will be pulled off each day. These stake races alone will be well worth the price of admission and when it is considered that other Michigan towns held good meetings without the expensive stake races, some idea of the worth of the local meet with these as added attractions, can be realized.

The training conditions during the present year have far surpassed those of other years. The weather for the development of speed has been perfect and when the American and Canadian contingent of horsemen meet with the speed marvels at the International Mecca, the Port Huron Driving park, there will be something doing every minute.

The association has made an especial effort for the comfort and convenience of ladies during the meet and they have shown their appreciation of the same by their liberal patronage during past meetings.

A Charming Woman

is one who is lovely in face, form, mind and temper. But it's hard for a woman to be charming without health. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation and kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches, eruptions and a wretched complexion. But Electric Bitters always prove a godsend to women who want health, beauty and friends. They regulate Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, purify the blood, give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion and perfect health. Try them. 50c at L. I. The Smuggler's Treasure

An Encounter With a Ghost on Eastern Island

By Howard Fielding
Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

My story of finding buried treasure on Eastern Island, in Penobscot bay, includes two other adventures much more interesting than mine, and both are essential parts of the record, because one of them explains the presence of the gold and the other shows how I happened to go in search of it.

Sixty years ago or more, in the forties and fifties of the last century, smuggling was a rather lively industry along the Maine coast. Seizures of $40,000 or $50,000 in value were occasionally made, and life aboard a revenue cutter was not destitute of romance, spiced with the smoke of gunpowder.

There was a brigantine called Les Trois Freres, presumably French, unless she was an out and out pirate, which gave the authorities much trouble, but was never captured. Her master's name, undoubtedly assumed, was Jacques Lenoir, a burly sea dog, almost as dark as a negro, with conspicuously white teeth and a crisply curling black beard.

In May of 1853 the Trois Freres was observed at anchor under the lee of Gunner's island in a hard easterly blow, and the news was brought to Castine, where the revenue cutter was snugly harbored in the storm. In the early morning hours a heavy fog shrouded all things. In the midst of it the cutter got under way, but was soon totally becalmed. A boat with muffled oars towed the vessel some distance, and she was supposed to be nearing the smugglers' anchorage when a voice hailed cautiously in French, and there was Captain Lenoir and two of his men in a dory close aboard.

No doubt Lenoir had mistaken the cutter (a topsail schooner) for his own brigantine, but he perceived his error instantly and tried to get away. He was fired upon and wounded along with one of his sailors, and the dory was captured by the boat's crew that had been towing the revenue vessel.

The point that chiefly interests me is that Lenoir dropped a crumpled piece of paper into the bottom of the dory, probably supposing that he was throwing it overboard, for he was not fully conscious, and that a sailor of the boat's crew picked it up and put it into his pocket, unperceived by anybody. Upon that paper, scrawled in rude French, is a sentence which may be translated thus:

"South point white ledge to tall spruce line forty mark thirty west."

After capturing Lenoir the cutter sent out two boats in search of the brigantine, but did not find her, doubtless because the shots had been heard, and the Trois Freres had slipped her cable and drifted or been towed away in the fog. Lenoir and his two men were detained for some weeks, during which time the captain recovered from his wounds, and then all three were released and took passage for some port in New Brunswick in a small vessel that was never heard of afterward.

While the three prisoners were in custody a story was circulated that the Trois Freres, when seen at anchor, had already landed her cargo and that Captain Lenoir had been paid for it in gold; that, finding himself becalmed and knowing that the cutter was after him, Lenoir had put the gold into a sea chest and had buried it on Gunner's island. In consequence of this tale there are pits in the sandy soil of Gunner's island even to this day.

One man who heard the story did not waste time digging on Gunner's island—the sailor who had found the paper. He was a shrewd youth named Gilbert Barker, commonly called Gil, then about eighteen, and not without education. His acquirements included a few words of French, enough to enable him to get an idea of the value of the document which he had found and to assure him that it did not refer to Gunner's island, upon which there was no "white ledge" and no especially tall spruce tree.

Gil knew that Lenoir's anchorage had been between Gunner's and Eastern islands and nearly as convenient to one as to the other. Gunner's was much more frequently visited. There were two fishermen's huts on the shore, as Lenoir could readily see, but the other island had no sign of habitation, chiefly because there was no water on it. Moreover, there was a ledge of white rock on the highest part of Eastern, with a very tall spruce tree near by.

Gil's service on the cutter kept him a prisoner, and the days dragged on. Lenoir and his seamen were released and sailed on the little fishing smack, which was speedily reported lost in a gale. A rumor arose that his ghost was already haunting Gunner's island and had been seen standing on the water at the point where his brigantine had lain at anchor. "Probably walking across to Eastern," said Gil to himself when he heard the tale.

He was as superstitious as most people of his class and time, but his chief anxiety was based upon the possibility that the figure seen on Gunner's island might have been the real Lenoir and not a ghost. Immediately upon hearing the story, therefore, Gil was taken sick, and the revenue cutter sailed away upon an errand of Uncle Sam's without our friend's services. Then Gil started on his expedition with all possible secrecy.

His boat was already in an out of the way cove, with a basket of food, a jug of water and some digging tools concealed on board, and in the late forenoon he set forth to seek his fortune. When he got out into the bay the fog was advancing, a vast gray pall over a black water streaked with lead color. The wind was against him. His boat compass was of little use, and when he stumbled upon Eastern island near the close of the afternoon he was amazed to find that it was not some other land.

Gil made a sort of camp in a thick clump of spruce trees, weaving some boughs for a shelter overhead and laying others on the ground for his bed. Here he deposited the basket of food and jug of water with the spade and pickax, and as there was still some light he decided to have a look at the white rock and the tall spruce. In the fog he lost his way and approached the spot by the most inconvenient access, finally scrambling up a steep bank to the top of the white ledge.

When he rose from all fours after this scramble he saw, barely ten feet distant, the seafaring man with the black beard. This must have been a considerable shock to Gil, and I doubt whether his nerves were ever in normal condition during the remainder of his adventure. He seems to have believed at first that what he saw was a ghost, and, though he himself carried a double barreled shotgun while the apparition bore no weapons, Gil had no thought that the advantage lay with him. He advanced because he dared not stand so near the edge of the steep rock, and he tried to circle his adversary merely with the idea of getting into a better position for retreat.

The figure remained still, except that it turned slowly to keep its face toward Gil; then suddenly it rushed upon him. He saw a knife in its hand.

Of the struggle which ensued Gil retained no accurate memory except of the enormous relief which came to him at the contact with a human body. This was not a ghost—it was a man. The knowledge ran through Gil like fire in his blood and gave him a giant's strength. Yet it was his adversary and not himself who was probably responsible for the result. Gil is sure that he did not fire his gun; it went off while the other was trying to wrench it away, and there lay the black bearded man dead in an instant with such a wound as blanched Gil's lips to describe more than fifty years afterward.

Gil took one look at this horror and fled. He ran until the limits of the island checked him, and then, collecting a part of his wits, he tried to find his way back to his camp.

The last daylight was now dying in the gray sea fog, and Gil could see no more than ten feet before him. He must therefore have been very close upon the second apparition when he perceived it. The seafaring man with the black beard stood in his path, precisely as Gil had seen him first upon the rock, except that his breast was now stained crimson.

"This is a ghost for sure," thought Gil, and fled again. "He wasn't a ghost before, but now he is. I've killed him, and I'm haunted by him."

By chance he ran toward the ledge, and when he burst through some bushes and found himself almost upon the spot where the encounter took place a dreadful curiosity took possession of him. Did a ghost use his own body or another one? Was the corpse upon the rock or walking? He went to the spot where the body had lain, and it was gone. This was conclusive; the man's ghost was using it.

Gil found his way back to his camp. He had been shaking as if with cold; he was now burning with fever. Thirst consumed him, and he thought first of his water jug. It was gone.

As he had come toward the camp he had been conscious of being attended by the specter, although it remained invisible except for one instant at the very last. Gil had then seen it or had imagined that he saw it and had rushed in pursuit, he knew not why. But this had been a brief folly, and he had not gone far. The ghost meanwhile must have stolen the water jug, a fearful vengeance, for there was not a drop of drinkable water on the island.

"I can't stay here," said Gil. "I'll die."

He left all his possessions except the gun and made his way toward his boat. Thirst now that he knew there was no water to be had was tenfold more intense.

When he came to the beach and saw the mast of his boat with the sail brailled upon it he felt a sense of safety, followed instantly by the most dreadful terror. The boat was some distance from the shore and was floating slowly away in the light air under the lee of the land. This, indeed, was death visibly confronting him. Without a moment's hesitation he flung down his gun and plunged into the water.

The boat was moving slowly. He overtook it without great exertion. He was an exceptionally expert swimmer and of such vitality that the cold of those waters did not affect him excessively. It was with vast relief that he raised up his hand and grasped the rail of his boat. But instantly a black bearded face appeared above him, a hand seized his wrist, and he was thrust back into the sea.

This is the extent of Gil's recollection. A gap of several years succeeds. I know from other sources that he swam to Gunner's island and was found there unconscious the next day. When revived he was out of his wits and raving about Lenoir's ghost. It was supposed that he had gone to Gunner's island to search for the treasure, had capsized his boat and swum ashore and had encountered supernatural adventures which had overthrown his reason. Nobody guessed that he had really been to Eastern island. The scrap of paper with the French writing remained hidden in the lining of his hat.

Gil's madness subsided into a mild and harmless form, accompanied by loss of memory. For fifty years he was a local character; latterly a sort of gypsy and fortune teller.

I made his acquaintance two years ago and treated him in an illness by consent of the local practitioner and won his good will. His partial restoration to reason was not due to my ministrations alone, but to a combination of causes too obscure to be very relevant even to the professional mind. Suffice it to say that he experienced a considerable restoration of memory regarding the events of his youth, although the middle portion of his life remained a blank to him.

Perhaps his liking for me had some effect in removing the subconscious impulse toward reticence. At any rate, he told me, piece by piece, the adventure which I have here described, and on the day before his death he gave me Lenoir's paper, which had lain hidden and forgotten I knew not how long. Gil himself could not remember when he had discovered and concealed it.

As to what happened on Eastern island fifty odd years ago the reader has doubtless already formed the correct opinion. The smuggler's vessel was not called the Three Brothers idly, but because there were three black bearded seamen who owned her. After Captain Lenoir was drowned the other two went in search of the treasure, and Gil Barker encountered them. One was shot. I found his moldering skeleton. The other, after dragging his brother's corpse into some shelter, "haunted" Gil, but kept away from him in fear of his gun.

Perhaps the two had been set ashore upon the island and had no boat with them; perhaps their boat had gone adrift. At any rate, they probably expected to find water on the island and had begun to suffer from thirst. So the survivor took risks to steal the water jug from Gil and then stole the boat. He had just cast it off and got into it when he heard Gil coming. Fearing the gun, he lay down in the bottom of the boat and let her drift until Gil overtook her, swimming, when the last brief encounter took place.

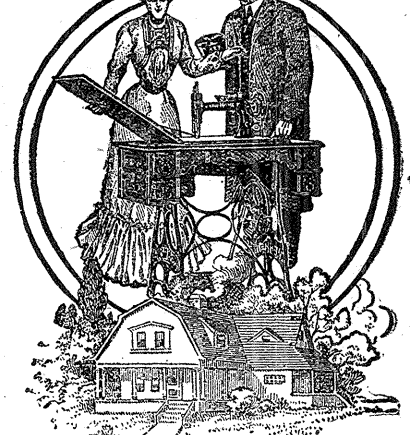

Gil's boat was never seen again. Perhaps she sank with the last of the Lenoirs.

As for me, I visited Eastern island and readily found the white rock and the stump of the spruce tree. I took a line forty fathoms long and fastened an end to the extremity of the white rock and the other to the stump. There was a good deal of slack. I had put a mark on the line at thirty fathoms, and I pulled this over to the west as far as it would go. At the spot indicated I dug diligently and eventually disinterred a sea chest in a fair state of preservation containing gold coin to the value of about $25,000.

I had bought the island for a song. Gil Barker had no heirs. The Lenoirs are lost in the mists of years. I regard the money as my own.

It Beats the World to cure Rheumatism

Aching and enfeebled muscles should remind you of slowness of tissue repair. Eruptions of the skin and catarrh of the mucous membranes show diminished nerve power in the tissues.

In health or disease there is need of an internal bath. This is best obtained by drinking a glass of pure water with one or two teaspoonfuls of San-Jak 30 to 60 minutes before breakfast, washing the blood. This passes quickly from the stomach and stimulates the bowels to increased peristalsis, overcoming constipation and its attendant ills. It is quickly absorbed and entering the blood stream bathes the cells of the liver and heart, then passes to the brain and washes out the cobwebs and awakens to new life every cell in the body.

San-Jak dilutes theropy secretions and dissolves all abnormal crystalline substances that may be in the blood and urine. SAN-JAK greatly promotes elimination, creates downward peristalsis, stimulates a flow of digestive juices. It dissolves the sticky mucous in the mouth and throat, allowing the membranes to be bathed in their natural secretions. San-Jak is the great medium of exchange in the body, by enabling the kidneys to absorb and eliminate alkaline sulphates which are the products of intestinal decomposition and in renal weakness or the real cause of Bright's disease.

Man does not wear out like a piece of machinery by constant disintegration for he is self renewing. When he loses his ability to self-renewal or fails in process of making young blood, the nerve tissue is not sufficiently nourished and his strength and health fail.

SAN-JAK is the only medicine which will enable you to keep a perfect balance between elimination and renewal of the body. Decay of the body at any time of life is unnatural. Permanent waste of the system can be avoided by the use of SAN-JAK.

Rheumatism, catarrh and bladder trouble, the source of trouble to humanity, is due to a too high or low specific gravity which may be regulated to normal by taking SAN-JAK. Swelling under the eyes, grayish white or waxy color of the skin denotes granular disease of the kidneys. The cure is SAN-JAK.

An English Wart Charmer.

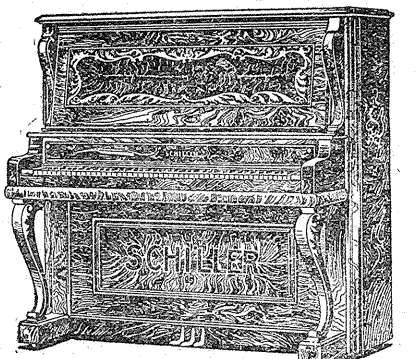

Of all country charms against disease the greatest is the wart charm. This writer knows a man in a little village not far from Windsor whose power to cause warts to disappear brings sufferers to him from many miles round. He simply looks at the warts, says something to himself, and after a few weeks his "patient" finds they have all disappeared. You must, however, be careful to tell him the exact number of these excrescences you possess, for if you have, say, ten and declare only nine the nine will vanish, leaving one which the wart doctor is powerless to remove. As in bridge, the declaration is the important point. —London Chronicle.

Your Neighbor's Experience.

How you may profit by it. Take Foley's Kidney Pills. J. S. Spencer, 1823 Beach St., Flint, Mich., writes: "I have suffered from kidney trouble with dizziness every morning on arising. My kidney action was too frequent and when Foley Kidney Pills were recommended to me, I took them according to directions and in a very short time I was cured. My dizziness ceased, my kidney action became normal and regular. Foley Kidney Pills cured me, and I shall be glad to recommend them to others." For sale by L. I. Wood & Co.

Improvements in Ocean Travel.

When Charles Dickens went to America he was stuffed into a miserable little cabin and bunk, as comfortable as Falstaff in the buck basket, and was bumped more unmercifully than was Sancho when tossed in the blanket. Then a winter voyage in the ships of that day facing high gales was an inconceivable horror, and many a voyager sailing to join the family group at Christmas never came home. Now ocean voyaging is safer and more luxurious on the whole than any other form of travel without exception. —London Telegraph.

$8,000,000 CROP OF SUGAR BEETS

MICHIGAN'S CROP THIS YEAR TO BE GREATEST EVER OBTAINED IN THE UNITED STATES.

APPROXIMATELY 150,000 ACRES ARE PLANTED.

Michigan Now Ranks First Among the States in Production of the Plant—Crop is Two Weeks in Advance This Year.

Michigan will harvest the greatest crop of sugar beets ever harvested in any state in the Union this year. Approximately 150,000 acres are planted, and next fall farmers will receive more than $8,000,000 for their beets. The crop prospects were never better, the dry, hot weather advancing the beets in sugar percentage.

Farmers estimate that the crop is now two weeks in advance of its usual condition. The tops cover the ground, and in all parts of the state, from the Menominee region southward the fields are showing health. About 15,000 weederers are caring for the crop, the daily wage ranging from $1 to $1.50. It costs Michigan farmers about $35 an acre to harvest their beets. The usual return from an acre doubles the tilling cost.

As a beet sugar producing state Michigan now ranks first. Up to 1910 California occupied the first round of the ladder, but last year Michigan jumped far ahead of the southern district. California and Colorado each produce two crops of beets yearly.

Factories in various parts of Michigan are now being overhauled in readiness for manufacturing the heavy yield. Additions are being constructed to practically every one of the 16 plants, and the indications are that the campaign next fall and winter will last three or four weeks longer than customary.

The growing of sugar beets has become the great farm industry of the state. More acreage was offered manufacturers last spring than they would accept, and the probabilities are that next year a still greater acreage than planted this year will be devoted to the crop. Farmers grow beets because they get greater profits on their investment. It costs more to grow beets than it does wheat or any of the coarse grains, but the returns are five and six times what is received for the other staples.

The seed from which Michigan farmers grow beets is furnished by the sugar manufacturers. It is imported from Germany and is of the finest quality. It is sold to the farmers for what it costs the manufacturers. The reason for this is that manufacturers are desirous of bringing the sugar percentage to as high a point as possible, and if they permitted the farmers to buy their own seed there would be many growers who would purchase a cheap grade and take chances on its producing heavy.

"The crop prospects are the best in the history of the state, and that means they are the best in the history of any state in the country," said an official of the Michigan Sugar Co., which operates six plants in various parts of the state. "The beet sugar industry means the retaining of more than $20,000,000 in Michigan. This is shown by the fact that the sugar is worth probably $12,000,000. Michigan farmers get $8,000,000 or more for their beets, and there is the cost of cultivation, etc., to say nothing of the interest on the money."

Score Dead, Fifty Injured.

Many lives, probably a score, were crushed out in an instant, and probably three times as many persons were frightfully hurt, when the Federal express, on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, was hurled over the viaduct at Bridgeport, Conn., by an open switch.

The road blames the dead engineer for the accident. In an official statement the road said that he violated the rules in taking a cross over on the viaduct at too great a speed.

Fire broke out in the wreckage, but the Bridgeport fire department quickly put this out, and the men lent assistance to rescue the injured. Ambulances and doctors, hastily summoned, did their best to save those who were under the debris.

The express was going at a high speed when the open switch, a mile and a half west of the Bridgeport station, was struck. There was one tremendous crash, an instant of intense silence, and then the shrieks and groans of the wounded.

The wreck was almost complete, five cars having gone over and only three Pullmans of the long train being left on the track. The engine, twisted into junk, was 200 feet south of Fairfield avenue.

The day coach was entirely crushed and in it the deaths were many, five bodies being removed at once.

Three Pullmans were almost completely crumpled up but the passengers were in a measure protected by the strength of the cars.

For the first time in the history of the New York state department of health, no cases of tetanus have been reported as a result of Fourth of July celebrations this year. There were 18 cases a year ago.

Whittaker Thompson, of Philadelphia, Pa., has received a check for $40,219 from the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad company, the payment bringing to an end the demurrage suits instituted against the Lehigh Valley Railroad company, the Bethlehem Steel company and the Reading, the government winning a complete victory.

GAGETOWN.

R. S. Brown returned Friday evening from his visit with friends at Ann Arbor, Pontiac and Port Huron. His trip on the Steamer Toledo from Detroit to Port Huron reminded him of the many such, when he lived at Lexington and St. Clair in the years 1862 to 1866.

Mr. and Mrs. McLean of Centerville, Mich., arrived for their summer vacation and the professor proceeded to Argyle to help out on his farm at that place.

Dr. Sugnet's new house on State street is certainly going to vie with the dwellers on Gage street.

Glen Rogers and Johnny Hughes caught two wild ducks on the pond near the station in the forenoon and in the afternoon caught woodchuck and their elation is unbounded.

Ex-Governor Warner was in the city Saturday on a business inspection of his cheese factory here and at Owendale.

F. D. Hemerick was in Detroit on Monday and Tuesday on business.

Mrs. C. F. Stearns celebrated her 54th birthday Monday by inviting in a few of her friends and Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Orr of Gifford came in the afternoon and Mrs. Orr presented her mother with an elegant crystal water set.

Gagetown celebrated the Fourth by receiving and placing at the plant the 11-ton boiler for the water works.

George Carolan is building a brick residence house on his farm west of town.

NORTHEAST KINGSTON.

Affa Leek and Vera Rawson visited with Neva and Nina Johnson on Friday.

Mrs. James Scrimger is visiting her sister, Mrs. John Hickey, this week.

S. Mitchell supplied the pulpit here Sunday in the absence of Elder Beedon.

Mrs. Jas. Perry is suffering from an attack of rheumatism.

Inis Whale is able to walk again with the aid of crutches.

Robert Brown of Detroit is spending his vacation at his parental home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ashley visited at Curtis Cooper's Sunday.

Charlie Dodge visited John Leek Sunday.

J. Whale's new house is rapidly nearing completion, being now in the hands of the plasterers.

Wood's Hammocks are great for the money.

DOUBLY PROVEN.

Cass City Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence.

This grateful citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of lasting benefit.

The facts are now confirmed. Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

Mrs. C. F. Krisler, Goodrich St., Vassar, Mich., says: "I am pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as a first-class kidney remedy. The chief symptom of my trouble was weakness of the kidneys, which was very annoying and inconvenient me both day and night. I often had dizzy spells and believe they were caused by my kidneys. I had often heard Doan's Kidney Pills highly spoken of and I finally began their use. They acted just as I expected—restoring my kidneys to a normal condition." (Statement given November 18, 1906.)

A LASTING CURE.

Mrs. Krisler was interviewed on September 1, 1909 and she said: "The cure effected by Doan's Kidney Pills in my case has been permanent. My health was never better than it is at the present time."

SMALL COTTAGE AT SMALL COST.

Design BC, by Glenn L. Saxton, Architect, Minneapolis, Minn.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW—FROM A PHOTOGRAPH.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN.

This is a very practical cottage home to build for a small amount of money. There are three splendid rooms on the first story besides the reception room. A combination grade door is underneath the stairs to the second story. The fine closet space, as a rule, is not found in a house of the same dimensions. There is hardwood finish in the first story, pine to paint in the second and birch or maple floors. Cost to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing, $1,800.

By special arrangement with me the editor of this paper will furnish one complete set of plans and specifications of design No. BC for $15.

Very sultry weather here Sunday

Chas. Shaw, who spent a few days in Detroit, thinks the atmosphere around here discounts the city. He was glad to get back home, sweet home.

Bert Chard and his sister, Jennie, entertained a few friends at their home here Tuesday evening, the 4th. A fine lunch and ice cream were served and fireworks and music was enjoyed by the company until a late hour.

Wheat harvest is here and presents fine fields of golden grain ready for the reapers.

Only a few of the apple orchards here appear to promise an abundant crop.

H. Foster with his new auto gave the Sabbath school children a fine ride after school was dismissed Sunday making a merry time for the little folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Zilkie and children of Owosso are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Raduschel. Little Miss Minnie Zilkie wonders where our sidewalks are but thinks the flowers and trees make up for their absence.

Mrs. Wm. Lewis reports her large blackberry patch has sustained quite a lot damage since the extreme hot winds of the past week.

Shaking Hands at French Funerals.

A most painful custom at French funerals is the posting at the exit door of the church wherein the ceremonies take place of the male head of the deceased person's family, the widower or the eldest son or brother, whose duty it is to shake hands with every person who has been present at the obsequies when once they are over and people are going away. It is not etiquette for the gentleman to speak to anybody, but if he is moved to tears his weeping is considered a most appropriate action.

There is one medicine that every family should be provided with and especially during summer months; viz, Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed. It costs but a quarter. Can you afford to be without it? For sale by all dealers.

Different Smiles.

"I assure you, my dear," he protested, "that I do not care about the smiles of other women."

"But I do," sobbed the wife, "and that's why I think it hateful of you to make me wear such a shabby old hat as this."

Deford Items

Mrs. O. Clark, formerly Nellie McArthur, is spending the week with her mother, Mrs. C. McArthur. She will be joined Saturday by her husband and they will go to Port Huron to visit Guy Woolman's.

Mrs. Harvey Wilcox and little daughter and Miss Mabel Wilcox of Yale visited their aunt, Mrs. J. W. McCain, over Sunday.

Geo. Livingston spent last week in Pontiac visiting his uncle, Geo. Hamilton.

Mrs. Georgiana Kilgore's two nieces are visiting her for a short time.

Miss Mae Bruce has been engaged to teach our school for the coming year. Miss Bruce has given excellent satisfaction and all are pleased to have her for another year.

Theron Spencer has been very sick but is better at this writing.

Misses Leafa and Leah McCain of Pontiac are visiting relatives here for a while.

Miss Pearl Nutt spent a few days last week with her sister, Mrs. Orson Valentine.

Miss Edna Hack is very sick with the mumps.

H. Daugherty of Marlette visited his brothers, Peter and B. D., a few days this week.

Items scarce this week. Everybody busy.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. D. Watson and family of near Wickware visited the latter's father, E. Bigham, west of town, over Sunday.

Miss Bessie Enigh of Brown City was the guest of Miss Lottie Bigham on Monday.

Mrs. Geo. Martin is improving.

The white crow is talked of as a joke but we have them. If you do not think so drop a dove when you see them on the corn field and the crop be full of sprouted maize.

Hiram Daugherty of Marlette was a visitor here Sunday and Monday.

Machinery broke. Condenser still for a while. Moving again.

Dredge moving right along now on the Mud Creek.

Two babes at once at Reg Courliss' home. Dr. Hays of Cass City was present and did well but he does not treat every family with such abundance.

Dry! Everything up but the gossip.

Sugar beets look well.

H. H. Goodrich preached a mile west of here on Sunday.

Reg Courliss' horse which was hurt some time ago, is recovering.

No preaching on the Town Line Sunday. Elder Beedon was gone and the supply he left skipped the Town Liners and made the points that were in deeper need of spiritual counsel.

Wheat harvest is on and the crop bids for a good yield.

John Pringle has a fine looking barn with its new coat of red paint.

As we go through the land it looks as if one half of the spring crops were beans.

"Lit" Lester cares for a lame hand punctured with a pitch fork.

The late potatoes come up just as the first setting of a hen's teeth—by spells. All account of lack of moisture.

The trouble between Deford and a fraction of Kingston at the latter place on the 4th is to be regretted. It may not be forgotten till we all get more religion.

Both Winked.

Boltschauser—Why the mischief didn't you introduce me to your friend Quisby just now? Didn't you see me wink at you?

Snarger—Yes, and I would have, my dear boy, with pleasure; but, you see, Quisby winked at me first.

F. S. Rexford, 615 New York Life Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., says: "I had a severe attack of a cold which settled in my back and kidneys and I was in great pain from my trouble. A friend recommended Foley Kidney Pills and I used two bottles of them and they have done me a world of good." L. I. Wood & Co.

No Wonder He Was Ugly.

"What's your husband so ugly about?"

"He's been out of work six weeks."

"I should think that would suit him first rate!"

"That's it! He's just got a job to day.—Meggendorfer Blatter."

Very Easily Satisfied

Say! passing up any argument about the chap in the picture being easily satisfied, how is it with yourself, when you buy lumber? Is any old thing good enough for you, or do you want the best your money will buy?

If you've never paid much attention to quality, sit up and take notice of the fact that we have a "pull" with the people of this vicinity merely because we are always boosting for quality. You can buy better material from us at the same price than you can get elsewhere.

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising whatever, upon them. Write without fear as without fee, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

FOREST FIRES WIPE OUT OSCODA AND AU SABLE GREAT LOSS OF LIFE IS FEARED, THOUGH NONE IS REPORTED.

Alpena Also Suffers, Flames Sweeping in From Outskirts Destroying Property Valued at Half a Million Dollars.

Cities of Oscoda and Au Sable, lying across from each other at the mouth of the Au Sable river, completely wiped out by fire. Not a building left standing, and many lives may have been lost, so rapidly did the flames sweep through the towns.

City of Alpena swept by fire which causes half a million dollars loss, with danger not yet over.

Both these fires started by forest and brush fires in the vicinity, being swept by high winds into lumber or slab piles, whence flames spread with tremendous rapidity and fierceness.

All over the northern half of the state forests and fields are so dry from the recent long hot spell that fires are springing up everywhere.

High winds are prevalent, and are fanning these fires into conflagrations that are likely to cause the loss of thousands upon thousands of dollars, and may result in great loss of life, as was the case in the forest fires in Presque Isle county in September, 1908.

Fires have cut off all wire communication on the Detroit & Mackinac railroad north of Oscoda.

All along the line of the Michigan Central in the northern part of the lower peninsula towns are threatened by the forest fires which surround them. Bridges have been burned, as well as many freight cars on sidings.

East Tawas, Mich., July 11.—Oscoda and Au Sable were wiped off the map this afternoon by fire.

Forest fires northwest of the towns were swept into the slab yards west of Au Sable by the fierce gale which was blowing, and in spite of everything that could be done the business section and most of the residences of Oscoda were burned.

Not a business place is standing in Oscoda tonight. The two mills of the H. M. Loud's Sons' company were burned, together with about 3,000,000 feet of lumber piled on the lake shore.

During the evening the wind changed and swept the flames down into Au Sable, and it is expected that every building in that town will be burned.

Hundreds of people are homeless and have nothing except what they had on when they escaped. The fierce rush of the flames drove hundreds into Lake Huron, and while it is impossible to ascertain whether any lives were lost, it is feared that many have perished.

Fanned by the fierce gale which was blowing at the time, the fire swept over the doomed cities with such rapidity that all the citizens could do was to get away with what few belongings they could snatch up in their mad haste. A relief train was sent from East Tawas by the D. & M. railway, and hundreds of the homeless people will be brought here to be cared for.

It is impossible to estimate the loss, but it will mount into millions, as practically the whole of the two cities are burned. The business of the H. M. Loud's Sons' company is wiped out and every industry in the town is gone, and the citizens are left without a means of livelihood. The charitable citizens of the state will have to care for them until such time as they can look after themselves.

Hundreds of the people driven from their homes by fire took refuge on board the freighter Kongo, which was lying at the dock when the fire broke out. The steamer took on board as many as possible and will probably bring them to this port.

Many more were taken on board the regular southbound passenger train of the Detroit & Mackinac, which made its way around the stricken towns safely by means of some abandoned spur tracks, and reached here all right tonight.

The heat from the flames was intense, say those on board the train, so intense that they had to close the windows and doors of the coaches until they had passed out of the heat zone.

When the train was at Oscoda, the flames were mounting a hundred feet into the air and roaring like a furnace. Everything had been rendered dry as tinder by the intense heat of the past ten days, and once flame touched anything, its destruction was the work of but a few seconds.

Village of Lewiston, on Michigan Central, is in Serious Danger

Bay City, Mich., July 11.—A fierce wind is sweeping the central portion of northern Michigan and tonight the town of Lewiston, on a Michigan Central branch, is in serious danger. The M. C. has sent assistance to the town. The fire is on the borders of the village and the entire population is engaged in an attempt to control the flames by back-firing.

The little town of Lovells, on the same branch, is tonight reported out of danger, owing to a shift in the wind and back-firing. The M. C. also sent a crew to Lovells, but returned, reporting that the town was safe for the time being.

At Richardson, on the Trowbridge branch of the M. C., a bridge and 40 freight cars were destroyed this afternoon, and at Hawkwood, near Wolverine, an overhead bridge was burned.

At Sallings, also near Wolverine, the roofs were torn from a string of cars by the high wind.

Towns of Alger and Turner Are Reported in Danger From Fire

Bay City, Mich., July 11.—Forest fires are again breaking out over the north end of the state. Reports are on the Michigan Central, and Turner, on the D. & M. railroad, both in Arenac county, are reported tonight in danger, a brisk breeze fanning the flames through the underbrush. Farther north, near Michelson, other forest fires are reported.

Forest Fires South of Cheboygan Cut Off Communication

Cheboygan, Mich., July 11.—Forest fires are raging on the D. & M. south of here. Reports have it that Millersburg, Larocque and part of Onaway have burned. All wire and rail communication is cut off. A relief train left here at 4 o'clock for the stricken section.

Mrs. Adam Hald, of Niles, daughter of City Physician J. D. Greenmayer, paid a fine of $5 and costs on her plea of violating the scarlet fever quarantine.

A year's leave of absence, which may result in his resignation from the presidency, has been granted A. Gaylord Slocum, for more than 25 years head of Kalamazoo college. Though President Slocum refuses to say whether he will retire from active work, his age and recent failing health make such a course seem probable. Dean Stetson will be in charge during his absence.

The federal grand jury in session at Los Angeles has indicted Jack Mosby, a leader of the Mexican insurgents in Lower California, on a charge of violating neutrality laws. Rhys Price and Ricardo Flores Magnon were reindicted on the same charge.

The Standard Oil company in the district court at Manhattan, Kans., confessed judgment in the suit brought against it by Attorney-General John S. Dawson, charging violation of the anti-trust laws. The company will pay a $500 fine and $150 attorney's fees. Similar suits are pending in other Kansas counties.

COMMUNICATION.

To the People of Cass City.
As there is much talk in regard to the Five County Ex-Soldiers' and Sailors' reunion which was to have been held here August 16, 17 and 18 next, the committee, speaking for the comrades at large, feel we wish to explain why it is not to convene.

First, we most heartily and sincerely thank each and every one who so willingly and liberally subscribed towards the expenses of said meeting. We take the will for the deed and are just as grateful to you as though the money had already been used for the purpose donated.

We would also thank the minister and officers of the M. E. church and the Ladies' Aid who willingly granted us the use of the church, the parlors, with all they contained, given without question or thought of remuneration.

It certainly grieves us to be compelled to abandon our undertaking especially so since we have been so royally entertained at our sister towns for several years past. Some certainly have in some way gotten a misconception concerning soldiers and expressed their fear of their contaminating their homes. How any person, who lives in a town where soldiers also reside, can retain the idea that soldiers attending a reunion would be any more unclean than one who as a delegate attends a church convention, is entirely beyond my comprehension. The men who attend are not from the lumber camps, hospitals or our prisons but are a sober, decent, respectable people, coming from as neat, comfortable homes as the average ones in our own town, being mechanics, merchants, farmers and often men of profession. One can easily judge as the comrades from here who usually attend are good samples of what the meetings are composed of, as: Chas. McCue, J. W. Penn, Dr. D. P. Deming, W. J. M. Jones, George Perkins and our lamented comrade, O. C. Wood, who so lately answered to the last roll call.

However, should there be an individual exception, the committee would not send to another home, one whom they would not care to have in their own.

We have used much time and been to some expense, but we are more than repaid for our trouble for through these efforts we have learned who are our friends.

For we know that
Some one some day will stand alone,
His comrades all by gone;
And he the last of that brave band
Be waiting for the dawn.

The marching will be over then,
The ranks no more be known,
A veteran, wearing blue or gray,
Will some day stand alone.

D. M. HOUGHTON.

A frightened team of horses driven by Will Spaulding, attached to a wagon loaded with cans returned from Caro creamery, dashed around the corner of Frank and State streets on Saturday afternoon, a heavy wheel came off and bounding on the curb, was projected straight through one of the large plate glass windows of B. H. Smith's new garage, shivering the glass into a thousand pieces. The wagon then struck the barber pole of Arthur Karr against which a new bicycle belonging to M. G. Atwood was standing and both wheel and pole were badly smashed. Mr. Smith had fortunately taken special insurance on his windows only the day before.—Caro Advertiser.
