ACCIDENT ON FARM RESULTS IN DEATH

CHARLES YOUNG OF GRANT IN- given by the Baptist Sunday schools JURED IN HARVEST FEILD.

Was Found by Fourteen Year Old Daughter and Expired Before Entering Home.

Charles Young, a Grant township farmer, was fatally injured while engaged in harvesting grain on his farm, two miles east and one-half mile north of Owendale, Tuesday afternoon. He was found by his daughter. Violet, a gird aged 14, in the field conscious, but unable to speak. When help arrived he was carried to his residence and he expired when he reached his home.

Little is known regarding the details of the accident. Mr. Young has SWINDLERS MAKE BIG always been a good teamster and delighted to drive good horses, full of life. It is thought that while he was down in front of the binder, either oiling or repairing the machine, the Nicholas Owen of Yale Dropped Neat been unusually successful in their automobiles and teams on public anyone give name and address of the horses became frightened and ran away, pulling the heavy machine over him and probably dragging the man with it for a distance.

Chas. Young, aged about 46 years, was born near Dresden, Ont. When parents to Grant township. Here he was united with Miss Lottie Hinton and to this union five children were born, four of whom survive the father. An infant child preceded the father in death but a few days ago and was laid to rest on the morning of the day in which the father met with the terrible accident.

The funeral of Mr. Young was held in the Latter Day Saint church, three miles east of Owendale, Thursday afternoon. Mr. Young was a brother of Mrs. James McKenzie of Cass

PLAN TO VISIT CASS

Merchants and Wholesalers of Sagi naw Will Take Auto Trip Through Rich Thumb Section.

The members of the Merchants' and Wholesalers' Association of Saginaw have planned to make a trip through the rich Thumb section of the state on Wednesday, August 9, and their route will include a visit our representing the company in evto Cass City, Caro and Vassar. This will be the third trade extension trip made by the Saginaw business men this summer.

President Swartwout of the association believes that enough success has attended the first two junkets to make the third a decided improvement and with that idea in view efforts will be made to have even a larger party than attended the first two trade jaunts.

RAIN DIDN'T SCARE THE BAPTISTS WEDNESDAY.

a In spite of the rain Wednesday morning, 85 persons went from Cass City to Bingham's grove, northwest of town, to participate in the picnic of Cass City and Elmwood. About the same number of picnickers came from the Elmwood district.

Races and a "hit and miss" ball game afforded lots of amusement during the day. The boys' foot race was won by Daniel Striffler and the girls' race by Anna Belle Dodge. In the three-legged race, Roy Striffler and Frank Dodge were the winners, while Earl Moon came off victorious in the apple race.

The table spread was the popular feature of the day and the way the 22 to 25. boys and girls enjoyed this event showed that the mothers knew what was necessary to make a picnic a successful one

I spend on you, den you leave me vaiting for you in such disgracefulmess on der corner!" Daphne tried to explain.

"Honest, County," she said, at which pet name he flinched. "Honest, County, I didn't mean to disappoint you, but a traveling gentleman I hadn't seen for a long time came through, and as I hadn't seen him for so long, I went to supper with him. You see, the trouble with you and me was the way we talked. Half the time i couldn't understand you and the other half you couldn't understand me." The Count looked at her blankly.

Her explanation did not explain at all. "Such a deceitfulness!" he said. ""And after I gave you my ring. How dared you keep it?'

The Count's haughty indignation cover her having kept his ring was tinctured with a little twinge of conscience over the fact that, separated from them by only a thin door, was another lady to whom, that very day, the had given a similar ring. The he shoved her back into the room Count had the habit of "wishing on" a ring, as an incident of his various flirtations. And no sooner did he wish it on then he began to wish it back. "I didn't keep your old ring!"

Daphne retorted "You didn't?" "No. I gave it away to a gentleman

Daphne and the Count meekly entered the library, and Harry ran to the door of his bedroom and was about to open it when he heard Carolyn calling him:

"Oh, Harry, where are you?" Mrs. Blazes, hearing him at her door, opened it and was now coming out, when, to her utter astonishment and pulled the door to.

Sisters in affliction and adversity, Mrs. Blazes and Daphne were not long whispers, the reasons for their presence. Daphne's position was one well calculated to upset her nerves. Outside were two men with whom she had flirted, one of whom wanted a ring he had given her and which she had presented to the husband of the lady with whom she was talking.

On the other hand, Mrs. Blazes was not happily situated. Without a per fect duplicate of her hat she felt that she could not go home. She could not leave the room now, to go home, any "Varily," said Mr. Medders, "a junk bunk room must be interesting." And before Harry could stop him he had opened the door and started in, only to step back and say:

"Why, there is some one in here." "Is there?" Harry asked, affecting surprise, hastily trying to think how big the headlines would be in the papers the next day.

"Why, who can it be?" Lucy asked. Harry, feeling that all was lost, still racked his brain for some half-way reasonable explanation of the presence, as he thought, of Daphne as well as the Count, in his library.

"Why, you see," he began, "they they are-"They?" Medders said. "There is only one man in here.' Harry was lost for language and bereft of thought when the Count stalked majestically from the door. No one else could be seen in the library. Harry looked swiftly through the doorway into every corner of that room, asking himself: "Where the dickens has she gone?" She was no longer there, that much was certain. And he turned to see the Count bowing stiffly to Mr. Medders and Lucy. The Count held a book in his hand, and as his head rose from one of his deep bows he winked earnestly at Harry-a helpful, friendly wink, which was as though it said for him not to worry, that the Count would back him up in any story he told.

"I beg your pardon." Harry rallied. 'I had quite forgotten the Count. Miss Medders, Mr. Medders, this is the Count von Fitz."

The Count bowed beautifully, Lucy courtesied, her father shook the Count's hand-and still everything was not explained.

"And is the gentleman thy instructor, perhaps?" Medders asked, noting to be a real holiday, Count, and I rethe book the Count held, and associat- fuse to study any more." ing it with the fact that the Count had been in the library.

THE END OF TUBERCULOSIS

By GEORGE F. CANFIELD.

The school is probably the most hopeful field for our labors against tuberculosis. For immediate practical results in lowering the death rate the hospitals, dispensaries and visiting nurses are perhaps more important, but for the achievement of final victory the school offers the best opportunity. There we can apply ourselves to forming right habits instead of trying to change bad ones. There we have the best chance to arrest the germ before it starts on its deadly work. There through the education of the children we can most thoroughly and effectively educate the whole community.

The manner in which the fruit is placed in the package also is important. The arrangement of the California cherries, plums, and pears in the package as seen on the market adds much to their attractiveness and salability. Twist of the Pretzel. The pretzel is capable of infinite pos sibilities in the matter of shape. It shows almost as many forms as do the leaves of trees. The construction of the pretzel may be not inaptly described in sailor terms. Its peculiar shape is attained in this way: A bight is taken in a roll of dough, and the ends are given a half twist and brought back upon the opposite sides of the bight. This process gives to the pretzel a heart shaped appearance, but no one ever ventured to hint that any sentimental reason existed for assigning this shape to such a prosaic thing as a pretzel. When the pretzel has been duly "varnished" it is subjected to a process of salting, and the thing is complete.-Harper's.

THE END OF TUBERCULOSIS

Stamping Out the Disease.

By HOMER FOLKS. There is absolute unanimity, too, among our expert authorities (as there was not a decade ago) as to just what we need to do in order to prevent tuberculosis. We must have general public education as to the nature and symptoms of the disease, and we have it. We must have reporting of cases by physicians, and we are getting it. We must have free dispensaries in every city and considerable village at which any person can secure an expert and thorough diagnosis of his condition and adequate instructions as to what he must do, and we are getting dispensaries. We must have visiting nurses to visit the patients in their homes and instruct them. not once, but many times, in the protection of their households. We are getting visiting nurses. A FREE Prescription

From a physician of 52 years' experience in colleges, sanatoriums and general prac-tice. Weak, nervous men, regain your strength and vigor. tice. Weak, nervous men, regain your strength and vigor.

So great was my sympathy for weak men in the early years of my experience that I have made it a special study, and formulated two prescriptions, one for men under 50 and one for men over 50 years of age. In my declining years, I want every man to have the benefit of my long years of careful study, research and long experience. I am now 73 years old and as strong and vigorous as at 40 and the rest of my life will' be spent in aiding suffering manhood. I realize that my time is short, but will do all in my power to aid men and women who are helpless and seeking relief. I know there has been a great many disappointed when they thought relief in their grasp, but let me send you my free prescription and when they thought reher in their grasp, but let me send you my free prescription and booklet of private lectures to men which is the result of study since I began lecturing to student classes, way back in '71. Since that time I have cured many cases that are now pleased to recommend me.

YOU NEED AID. Let me help you to regain your former standing among men. In short, let me assist you to be yourself once

If you are suffering from failing memory, lame back or weakened manhood or nervous difficulties, LET ME SEND YOU A RECIPE in a plain sealed envelope that you can use in your own home. I am confident that you will thank me every day in your life after you have tested it for yourself.

Attend to the Little Things

They need it alright. You can find lots of little things about the place that need attending to right now. Maybe a few shingles for the roof; a bit of well curbing; some new strips for the corn crib; a few fence posts; a better tool and machine shed, and a dozen and one other odd jobs that should be looked after at once.

Or, maybe you're figuring on building. Alright! Then let us make an estimate on your lumber bill. The chances are that we can save you some money.
