

ACCIDENT CAUSED DEATH OF A. A. FITCH

HAD JUST RETURNED FROM 10-DAY VACATION.

Member of Detroit Fire Department Nearly Four Years. Funeral Thursday.

Arthur A. Fitch, a fireman connected with Engine Company No. 24, Detroit, was fatally injured late Monday night by the explosion of a fire extinguisher which he was holding in his hand while attempting to fight a blaze in the basement of a house on Pasadena Ave., Highland Park.

One side of the young man's body was entirely crushed in, and it was at first thought the fireman had been killed instantly. Later he was partly resuscitated, a police ambulance rushed him to Grace hospital, where he died a few minutes after being brought in.

The body of the unfortunate young man was brought to Cass City Tuesday evening and taken to the home of his mother, Mrs. Edward Fitch, on Third street east.

Arthur A. Fitch was born on a farm, two miles east of Cass City, on Aug. 20, 1884. He received his education in the Cass City schools, and when he reached his majority, he entered the employ of a navigation company and spent a few seasons on the lakes. Nearly four years ago he entered the service of the Detroit Fire Department.

Last Sunday evening he returned from Buffalo where he had spent a portion of a ten days' furlough visiting relatives. Monday morning he reported to the Fire Department for work, about seven o'clock in the evening he called his brother, Herman, by telephone telling him of his trip and inquiring whether he had received word from home, and less than five hours later he was the victim of an accident which caused his untimely death.

The young man was a strong specimen of manhood and his Fire Chief speaks well of his work and says he was especially well qualified as a fireman for the few years he had been in the service.

Arthur is the third member of the Fitch family to die within 10 months. His father, Edward Fitch, passed away Oct. 23, 1910, and his sister, Mrs. Gaylord Shagena, died a few weeks later.

The funeral of the young man was held at the Evangelical church Thursday at 1:30 p. m. Rev. J. A. Schweitzer, pastor of the church, officiated, preaching from the text found in Luke 7:14, "And he said, Young man, I say unto thee, Arise." The speaker mentioned the many walks in life in which young men may be found doing deeds of mercy and heroism. He closed by dwelling upon the occupation of the city firemen and the noble sacrifices often made by them.

The floral offerings consisted of numerous designs and cut flowers and were most beautiful and abundant.

The remains were carried to their last resting place in Elkland cemetery by six members of the Detroit Fire Dept. in uniforms. Deceased is survived by his mother, Mrs. Edward Fitch, four brothers, Herman, of Detroit and Roy, George and Edward of this place, and two sisters, Nellie and Gladys, also of Cass City.

Relatives present from out of town were Mrs. John Scheffler and daughter, Amelia, of Townline, New York, and Gaylord Shagena of Orion.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES.

Pastor Townsend will close his work here next Sunday to enter into the employ of the State Board. His first work under the supervision of the State Board will be in Crosswell where he will move with his family Sept. 1. Although Mr. Townsend's pastorate has been short, it has been one of marked success. Seventy-five new members have been added to the churches, here and at Elmwood, and every department of both churches has been wonderfully strengthened.

The Cass City and Elmwood churches have extended a unanimous call to Rev. H. C. Hayward of Decker-ville to succeed Mr. Townsend and he has accepted. He will begin his pastorate here October 1.

Rev. F. L. Perry of Ithaca, a former pastor of Cass City, will preach here August 20.

A large congregation will be very much appreciated next Sunday morning and evening by Mr. Townsend.

NEW BEAN ELEVATOR BEING ERRECTED AT DEFORD

New Building Will Be 24 by 26 Feet and Bins Will Hold 8,000 Bushels.

The increase of the business of the Deford Grain and Lumber Co. has made it necessary for the company to erect a separate elevator to care for the bean crops which are brought to that market. The present elevator will be devoted entirely to handling the company's grain purchases.

The foundation for the new building has been laid and I. W. Hall is now engaged in erecting the structure. It will be 24 by 26 feet in size and the bins will be of sufficient capacity to hold 8,000 bushels of beans.

CAMPAIGN TO SECURE ELECTRIC RAILWAY

THUMB TOWNS TO CO-OPERATE IN MOVEMENT.

Proposition Discussed Informally When Saginaw Wholesalers Were Here Wednesday.

A vigorous campaign to secure an electric line running from Saginaw through Vassar, Caro, Cass City, Bad Axe and to Harbor Beach is one result that will immediately follow the fine trade extension trip taken by Saginaw wholesalers and manufacturers Wednesday. This was assured at an enthusiastic session here when several of the local business men were guests of the Saginaw party at dinner and the question of transportation was discussed. It is planned to have business associations in each of the important points named work with the Saginaw Board of Trade and with this co-operation it is believed that the project will be pushed to a successful issue, either by securing an extension of the present S. & F. line to Frankenmuth or by providing an entirely new line.

While there were no formal speeches, remarks were made, briefly during the progress of the dinner. President J. D. Swartwout of the Wholesalers & Manufacturers' association paid his respects to Cass City as the best city of its size in the state and introduced Secretary J. P. Tracy of the board of trade.

Mr. Tracy referred to the evidences of thrift and prosperity that had been

NUMBER OF DEATHS FROM RABIES NOT NUMEROUS

Persons Who Are in Danger of Disease Should Be Given the Pasteur Treatment.

Robert L. Dixon, secretary of the state board of health, sends out the following information regarding rabies or hydrophobia:

"Whenever a person has been bitten by a dog the first thought is and ought to be the possibility of rabies. Because of an old superstition it has become common practice to have the dog immediately put to death. Whenever the animal is suspected of having rabies, this procedure is highly fallacious and cannot be too strongly condemned, as it often makes the positive determination of whether or not the dog had the disease impossible. Rabies can only be communicated by animals affected with rabies and only a short time before the appearance of symptoms. The dog should be tied or locked up and closely watched. If symptoms do not appear in the suspected animal within a week, the wound has not been inoculated with the virus of rabies. If the dog dies within the period mentioned, the brain, or better, the entire head, should be immediately removed, packed in ice to prevent decomposition, and sent to the Pasteur Institute at Ann Arbor, Michigan, for examination, and if the suspicion is confirmed by laboratory findings and the diagnosis is positive, the individual who was bitten should without further delay be given the Pasteur treatment.

"While the number of deaths from rabies occupies no conspicuous place on the mortality tables of our state, the horror of the disease, its inevitable fatality and its gruesome termination makes it one of the most dreaded infections known to man.

"Nearly all animals are susceptible to rabies. About 80 per cent of the cases occur in dogs, about 15 per cent in cattle. Wolves, skunks, cats and other mammals are occasionally infected. The contagious virus is present in the nerve tissue of infected animals and is most often communicated through the saliva. The bite of a rabid animal brings the contagious saliva in contact with the nerve fibres, through which it travels.

STATE EDITORS FOR TAFT, OSBORN, SMITH

POLL SHOWS SENTIMENT IN FAVOR OF TRIO.

Of 300 Republican Editors Polled by Grand Rapids Herald, 241 Name Osborn for Renomination.

The Grand Rapids Herald announces the result of its fourth statewide poll to ascertain Republican sentiment in Michigan regarding successors to President Taft, Gov. Osborn and Senator William Alden Smith. This poll included the Republican editors of the state, and out of three hundred whose opinions are secured, there is but a scattering few which do not subscribe to the Taft-Osborn-Smith ticket for next election.

Governor Osborn has more individual followers than either the President or Senator Smith. He received 241 with 37 scattering and 22 without a choice, in a total of 300 votes. Senator Smith received 238, and the President 230 out of the same number. Governor Osborn also received two votes for president and two for United States senator. Congressman Jos. W. Fordney of Saginaw received one vote for governor and senator.

The pronounced sentiment of the Michigan editors in favor of President Taft, Governor Osborn and Senator Smith is practically the same as on all three previous polls taken by the Herald, these including state committeemen, county chairmen and members of the last state legislature.

Of the results of this and previous polls The Herald says:

"On the question of what candidates are desired as Republican nominees for these three big positions, the result would indicate a very positive desire for the renomination of Pres. Taft and Senator Smith and an equally insistent demand that Governor Osborn shall reconsider his announced one-term decision and permit his name to go before the people for a second term.

EVANGELICAL ASSEMBLY PERMANENT FEATURE

Over $1,000 Subscribed Sunday to Build Pavilion and Improve the Grounds.

Over $1000 were subscribed Sunday by those in attendance at the Evangelical Assembly at Bay Port towards the building of a pavilion and the improvement of the assembly grounds. This is an assurance that the Evangelical people and their friends in the Thumb counties want the assembly to become a permanent feature and it will be so maintained.

Messrs. Wallace and Orr, the Bay Port business men, offered to lease the grounds for a period of 20 years without remuneration and the management gladly accepted their generous gift.

Sunday concluded the ten-day session of the first assembly and the large tabernacle where the services were held could not hold half the people on the grounds. The services were well attended each day and the ablest speakers in the Evangelical Association, not only of Michigan, but of Ohio, Illinois and other states as well, were on the program.

The grounds were well filled with tents all occupied by persons who came to attend the assembly and enjoy a few days' outing on the shore of the bay. There were over 80 of these tents.

Rev. F. Klump of this city is responsible for the assembly movement and it was through his efforts that the excellent program was arranged and the success of the venture was reached. Rev. J. A. Schweitzer, also of this city, was in charge of the Headquarters Office and the grounds were under his supervision. He was the busiest man on the grounds.

Saving Fifty.

Joseph E. G. Ryan, the Chicago story teller, was on a train going across the continent that was held up near Reno, Nev. He says: "When the robbers came in the front end of the car, wearing masks and commanding everybody to shell out, I noticed two drummers, who sat at the far end of the car. They had opposite seats. As the robbers came down the center of the car and all the passengers obligingly shelled out the two drummers became very much excited. One of them tried to stuff his money in his shoe. A robber saw him and harshly commanded him to stop it. Just before the robbers reached the drummers one of them dug into his pocket, pulled out a roll of bills, peeled off three or four and, reaching over quickly, thrust them into the hand of his friend across the aisle, saying hoarsely, 'Here, old man; here's the fifty I owe you.'—Saturday Evening Post.

HERE, OLD MAN.
The little cares that fretted me, I lost them yesterday
Among the fields, above the sea,
Among the winds at play,
Among the lowing of the herds,
The rustling of the trees,
Among the singing of the birds,
The humming of the bees.
The foolish fears of what may happen, I cast them all away,
Among the clover scented grass,
Among the new mown hay,
Among the husking of the corn,
Where drowsy poppies nod,
Where ill thoughts die and good are born,
Out in the fields with God.
—Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

Out in the Fields With God.
An old Scotty who was in the habit of calling each evening at the village inn for a "drap o' the best" found the landlord one night putting a shine on the taps. After a few remarks about the weather he received his nightly dram. After he had gone the landlord discovered, to his horror, that he had supplied Donald with a half gill out of the bottle of sulphuric acid which he had been using for cleaning the taps. Every moment he expected to hear of old Donald's death, and his relief was great when the old worthy arrived next evening. "Donald, what did you think o' the whisky ye got last night?" "It was a fine dram, a good, warming dram," said Donald, tenderly caressing his straggling beard, "but it had wan fault. Every time I coughed it set fire to ma whiskers."

Fine, but Sultry.
Mr. Blouddelle-Burton, the author, has told of unsuccessful endeavors to persuade the compositor to distinguish between the u's and the n's in his manuscript. In despair he hit on an ingenious scheme. Opposite every doubtful "u" he wrote "This is a hen" and neatly sketched a plump fowl. Opposite every doubtful "u" he wrote "This is a ewe" and added a nice little drawing of a fat ewe to make quite certain. He looked forward happily to the next proof. It began, "The scoewehendrel siewehenk away."

CONQUERED AT LAST

By R. PEMBERTON SLADE
Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

When Mike Dugan left the courtroom for a two years' term in the Arizona penitentiary for horse stealing—the vigilance committee had missed him or he would have been hanged—he turned to Billy Stokes, who was responsible for his arrest, and said: "When we meet again, Billy, it will be from behind a couple o' guns. Two years behind the bars won't improve my already soured disposition toward you."

"I'll be ready for you, Mike, but I'm afraid you'll have to seek me in the city where I was born and brought up. I advised you long ago to stop monkeying with other people's property and go to work. If you had taken my advice you wouldn't have been about to do time for horse stealing."

"The prisoner was led away, and Billy Stokes prepared to leave for the east. Billy from childhood had been one of those boys who need a wider range than a city affords. While there was nothing bad about him, he was very unruly. Finally his father, feeling that his son would not make an ornament to civilized society, concluded to send him out among the cowboys and desperadoes. Billy found himself quite in his element and remained in the wild and woolly west five years. Then his mother couldn't stand her darling's absence any longer and begged him to come home. Her pleadings were re-enforced by an offer of his father to take the boy into business with him if he would settle down, and this brought Billy round.

A couple of years passed, during which the young man had got on fairly well as a humdrum business man. He lived at home with his father and mother, the idol of both. Though he was fond of them, they might not have been able to keep him had it not been for a girl. At any rate, the three held him chained. One night Billy, whose room was over the rear entrance to the house, heard a singular sound. It was like the turning of an auger in wood. It ceased and was followed by the sound of a saw. Both sounds were very faint, but Billy had fine ears, sharpened by his western experience, and he was satisfied that a burglar was at work at a rear door. His 42 caliber revolver that he had used in the west was in his bureau drawer, and, taking it in one hand and an electric lamp in the other, after slipping on a dressing gown, he stepped downstairs and into a vestibule at the rear. There he could hear the sawing distinctly. An arm was put through a hole in the door, the key in the lock was turned, the door swung silently open, and the watcher saw the silhouette of a man entering the room.

A flash of electric light revealed the intruder's face, and at the same moment came the words "Hands up!" Being lighted and covered, the burglar obeyed the order.

"Well, upon my word!" exclaimed Billy.

"Yes, I'm Mike Dugan, and I know that voice of yours. You're Billy Stokes."

"At your service. Now, I remember when we parted a couple of years ago you said that when next we met a pair of guns would be between us. You hit it right, but it's I who have the drop on you instead of you having it on me. I suppose your coming here is intentional."

"Yes. As soon as I got out I came here to find you. I concluded that the best way to cover my tracks with respect to the move would be to burglarize the house you were in."

"I see. You could murder me, and if you could make a successful exit without being known you'd get your revenge and go scot free."

"That's about it, Billy."

"But instead of revenge you'll get ten years this time."

"I don't care much. What can a man do who has once been convicted? Only my wife and kids are having a hard time of it with no one to take care of 'em."

"Yes, there's the rub. That's going to bother me in turning you over. I wouldn't mind sending you up again, but you know very well that I sympathize with your family."

"Couldn't you give me a chance to live honest?"

"What! Help a man who has come here to murder me?"

There was no reply to this.

"Mike, you're a fool. I knew you before you took to the bad, and you were a good man, too passionate and revengeful, but I know how you loved your wife and kids, especially the boy you named for me. Now, I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll give you a place in my father's business and enough wages to support your family. I know I'm a—no; I'm not a fool. I'll bet my bottom dollar that within another year you will be living comfortably with your wife and children, the kids growing up to make useful citizens. What do you say?"

"Oh, Billy, what a dunce you are! You'd only get yourself into trouble." "I'll take the risk. You're a better man than you think you are." Billy tossed his revolver on to the table. "Now fire away. You came here for revenge. Take it." There was the thud of Mike's revolver as it dropped on the floor. "Billy," he said in a trembling voice, "you're a royal flush."

AND since we've thought about it, we mean to have a care, and always in our pleasant things, Let others have a share.

AIM IN WORK.

The old proverb, "Work begun is half done," has been tried and proven true in all kinds of work. To be well begun, it is necessary that work should be well planned, the haphazard, the slipshod, half-hearted worker never can reach the standard of excellence. In the minds of many women there still exist the idea that housekeeping can be done, and done well, by any one without much training and with no study. Let us hear what Rose Terry, cook, says on that subject: "After much meditation and experience, I have divined that it takes as much sense and refinement and talent to cook a dinner, wash and wipe a dish, make a bed and dust a room as goes to the writing of a novel or shining in high society."

Housekeeping is an art, a science, and needs careful thought in planning as does all effective work. There are so many good women drifting along in the world with not much thought of why they have certain work to do, nor do they realize that they are important factors in the great scheme of existence. We are so apt to think our influence and impress upon society is small, yet it is just as important in its way as those who have a greater place.

We could make this an ideal world if each were ready to do his duty to the very best of his ability, keeping in mind and working toward a high ideal. When we are ready to do a little more than is required of us, to strive to make each piece of work a little better than the last, we are on the high road to a successful life.

One of the most important things for housekeepers to remember is that their work is one of utmost importance and it should be regarded with dignity. There is hard work in anything that is worth doing, whether it be the making of a statue or a loaf of bread. What sort of a statue would a sculptor make who took his block of marble and aimlessly cut away with no definite idea in his mind of what he wanted to make? The reason for so many of life's failures is that we do so much of our work with neither aim nor preparation.

Nellie Maxwell.

YOU don't have to be a painter to do this. You can make a great deal more than the painter without doing any of the work yourself.

YOU pay hundreds or thousands of dollars for a house or barn. If it is kept properly painted it will last twice as long. We would like to figure costs with you and show you how much you will be ahead. Not only this but any building has a greater value at any time if it looks right.

YOU apply business methods to your other affairs. Why not to paint?

"Can't do it," snorted the conductor as he raised his hand to signal the engineer. "B-but, conductor, she's going away to stay six months," cried the thin man. "If she doesn't go now she may change her mind."

The Most Beautiful Thing.
 A newspaper recently invited its readers to state in a few words what they considered the most beautiful thing in the world. The first prize was awarded to the sender of the answer, "The eyes of my mother." "The dream of that which we know to be impossible" suggested an imaginative person, and this brought him second prize. But the most amusing thing was that which read, "The most beautiful thing in the world is to see a man carrying his mother-in-law across a dangerous river without making any attempt to drop her in."

RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE.

Whereas, it has pleased the Great Creator of the universe to call Brother Oscar C. Wood from labor on earth to rest and immortality in the Grand Lodge above, where the Supreme Grand Master himself presides; therefore Resolved, That we acknowledge the wisdom and goodness of our Supreme Grand Master, and bow in humble submission to the inevitable edict from the Supreme Grand East; yet we mourn the death of our brother as of one whom we shall nevermore meet at the altar of Masonry until we gain admission into the Celestial Lodge on high where he has preceded us; and we deplore his loss in the fraternity, to his family and friends, and to the community in which he lived. He was a just and upright Mason, a kind husband and father and honorable and useful citizen, a sincere friend, a courteous and obliging neighbor, a man who endeavored always to perform every duty—to his God, his country, his family, his lodge, his neighbor and himself,—honestly, faithfully and well.

Resolved, That in token of our sincere friendship and sympathy in the dark hour of this great affliction, and as a pledge of our fidelity to the memory of our deceased brother, we extend to the bereaved widow and children and relatives, the fraternal right hand of Free and Accepted Masonry; and with it the assurance that the Great Light, given of God to man will guide them and us safely to that spiritual building eternal in the heavens, where their loved ones now dwell, where the broken circle shall be reunited never again to be parted, and where they shall dwell together in peaceful happiness forever and ever.

THE END OF TUBERCULOSIS

Early Cases of Consumption.

By ALBERT H. GARVIN.

Tuberculosis occurs, unfortunately, at the time of life when most people have assumed their life responsibilities. The progressive case in whom there is neither a personal fault nor a fault in the environment that can be discovered, who becomes accidentally overwhelmingly infected, represents a loss of life that is due only to infection by the bacillus and a loss which need not have occurred if it is really possible to cause this germ disease to disappear. We know that we can alter this situation according to our knowledge of the disease and its nature, and we can correspondingly promise a hopeful outlook provided we can obtain the patient in the early stages of his infection. Remove any personal bias that objects to the acceptance of the necessary discipline called the simple life and remove responsibilities that the patient is unable to cope with, and he will usually get well.

Derivation of Blue Monday.
The term blue Monday was derived from a custom prevalent in the sixteenth century of decorating the churches in Europe with blue colors on the Monday before Lent. The fashion of making a holiday of this particular Monday, especially for those whose vocations compelled them to work on Sunday, was subsequently transferred to all Mondays. Excesses produced by the celebration resulted in stringent enactments on the subject, and finally the custom was abolished. One tradition has it that the name originated from the Monday holiday revels, which generally left blue marks upon the faces of quarrelsome persons.—New York Telegram.

My sympathy for weak men in the early years of my experience that I have made it a special study, and formulated two prescriptions, one for men under 50 and one for men over 50 years of age. In my declining years, I want every man to have the benefit of my long years of careful study, research and long experience. I am now 52 years old and as strong and vigorous as at 40 and the rest of my life will be spent adding suffering mankind. I realize that my time is short, but will do all in my power to aid men and women who are helpless and seeking relief. I know there has been a great many disappointed when they thought relief was near, but let me send you my free prescription and booklet of private lectures to men which is the result of study since I began lecturing to student classes, way back in '71. Since that time I have cured many cases that are now pleased to recommend me.

THE END OF TUBERCULOSIS

Systems That Resist the Germ.
By DR. PARKER MURPHY.
Men who lead clean, temperate, sensible and sanitary lives, who give the body the attention which is its due, will stand the best chance against the germ of consumption.
The single exception might be the individual inheriting a weak or enfeebled constitution. Even here a knowledge of the weakness and an effort to overcome it will go far toward safeguarding the individual.
Alcoholism—that is, drunkenness—will weaken the body so that it is particularly susceptible.
Privation—that is, lack of proper and nourishing food—will effect a condition which cannot successfully resist the germ.
Intemperate habits—that is, excessive use of drugs, tobacco, stimulating beverages, etc., lack of proper rest, indulgence of physical passions, etc.—will engender a condition which cannot resist the germ.

Cuts and bruises may be healed in about one-third the time required by the usual treatment by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. It is an antiseptic and causes such injuries to heal without maturation. This liniment also relieves soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains. For sale by all dealers.

NOT A BARGAIN SEEKER.

Adelbert—Why doesn't your friend look with favor on George's suit?
Gertrude—Because she saw one just like it in the window of a clothing store marked $6.99.

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt-rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Calif. "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c at L. I. Wood & Co.'s.

'Tis a little early or we would call these days buckwheat blighters—but we know they are bean blossom killers.

A barber shop where they make a man of seventy look like a freshling of twenty is what we have. Any old fellow who thinks of marrying better come in, get a shave and a shine up.

Detroit Journal and Detroit News are having a sham battle for advertising purposes and if they carried it on in genteel language the people might be amused but harsh words are not entertaining to any but vulgar minds.

Maud and Nellie, one the McArthur girls whom everybody liked but married and left us long ago, are now here with their husbands visiting with mother, brothers and friends and musing over old times.

On the 5th Chas. Ashby raised his barn that will take the place of the one destroyed by lightning a few years ago. It is a fine structure and placed on same ground where the other stood.

The dredge moves on and makes a good drain on Mud Creek. It will be cold weather ere they reach the town line but as they are doing a good job we must not find fault and get stricken with hurry and worry for that has killed more people than the sword.

Deford has a brass band organized. A Mr. Shaw of Caro is the trainer. It is said he is a clever tutor and will bring out musical talent if it is in the man. It remains to be seen "what the harvest will be."

On the first day of August the infant babe of Reginald and Annie Courliss was placed in Novesta cemetery. It was a sad occasion like all similar afflictions that mortals here are called to bear, yet the kindness of friends and neighbors, the abundant and beautiful display of flowers did much to assuage the load of grief for which the parents return heartfelt thanks to all.

Northeast Kingston and Novesta and Kingston town line correspondents, don't think for a moment that there are bad results by breaking over each other's lines occasionally. More often it pans out well. The reader takes in an item at a glance and if they see the same twice are not worried but feel confirmed of its correctness. Last week you both gave notice that the Leak Aid would meet with Mrs. George Boughton on Aug. 10 and a party questioned the place of meeting but a Chronicle reader said it will meet at Boughton's sure for two correspondents placed it there and both can't be mistaken. Don't you see, children? Go on with the good work. Piety is found in congregational singing more than where there is select nicety.

Do not allow your kidney and bladder trouble to develop beyond the reach of medicine. Take Foley Kidney Pills. They give quick results and stop irregularities with surprising promptness. L. I. Wood & Co.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN
Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as strictly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce that they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.
Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.
It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.

CAMPAIGN TO SECURE ELECTRIC RAILWAY

seen on every hand during the trip and expressed his despair of counting the number of new barns.

"A most important advantage to any community," he said, "is good transportation facilities. You are in the midst of a flourishing district. Saginaw is the metropolis of this territory. For an automobile it is only 45 miles away from here and the trip is a good one. Unfortunately by rail you have no direct communication. Until the last few weeks there were no adequate shipping facilities between the two cities. These have now been provided and you are getting prompt freight service.

"We need better passenger service. We want to be more intimate. An electric line has been projected from Saginaw through here. To secure this the activity of Cass City is needed. I have felt, too, that this proposed line might profitably go through to Harbor Beach."

Village President Corkins warmly approved the plan to bring the two cities more closely together and advance an electric line. John C. Farrell also strongly endorsed the railroad project. "Here is one of the richest sections of the state," he said, "a fertile tract with no railroad for ten miles on each side. It ought to offer splendid opportunities for capital. Naturally the section that builds the line in here is going to get the business."

Other speakers were E. A. McGeorge and Jos. Frutchev of this city and J. A. Cimmeric, S. E. Symons and F. J. Fox of Saginaw. Other local business men at the dinner were A. A. Hitchcock, E. W. Jones, B. F. Benkelman, D. Losey, Jas. Tennant and A. J. Knapp.

Speaking of the trip, the Saginaw Courier-Herald says:

"The route lay through one of the most fertile farming sections of the state. On every hand were evidences of prosperity and thrift. A noticeable feature was the number of new barns being constructed everywhere, while the fields themselves gave evidences of bumper crops, recently garnered or now in prospect. The farms and buildings were as a rule in fine condition, while the towns were all thriving.

"The enterprise of Cass City became evident even before the city was reached, for the road leading into that place was for the last four miles especially, among the best encountered on the entire trip. The same was true of the road leading out, on the way to Elmwood. The city itself has broad streets, with excellent roadway, while the buildings are substantial and largely of brick."

Grant Thompson, the 19 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson, died at their home one mile and a half west of Yale, early Saturday morning of lockjaw. About two weeks ago, while wrestling with a neighbor boy the young man fell on a sharp pointed stick, inflicting painful injury. His condition seemed improving until a few days before his death the fatal tetanus germ got in its fatal work.—Melvin Gazette.

The marsh fires east of Sandusky caused several narrow escapes of loss of life. Tuesday high winds drove the fire into the huckleberry marsh where there were a large number of berry pickers, starting a panic among them. Thos. Harvey and Henry F. Odum, both of Carsonville, were two who had a thrilling experience. While picking berries in the marsh they were surrounded on three sides by smoke and fire, and in running to make their escape Odum was almost suffocated by smoke. John Thompson and wife of Forester were also in the marsh, and when they started for their buggy were driven back by the fire and had to flee for their lives. When the fire had subsided and they were able to return for their horse they found it burned to death.—Sandusky Republican.

Fire broke out in the barn of James Sting two miles west and four miles south of Kilmanagh. A heavy wind was blowing and everything being dry it was but a few moments before the building and its contents were at the mercy of the flames. From there the fire took a course over the stubble fields and attacked the house and barn of Mr. Cabitzka which was also destroyed together with the contents and outbuildings. Next in the path of the fire were the barns and houses of John Cramer and Fred Boltzman, who also lost nearly everything the buildings contained. The buildings were all good substantial structures and the loss is a very severe one. It is estimated that the total loss will be in the neighborhood of $30,000, which is partially covered by insurance.—Pigeon Progress.

els to the cells of the brain and spinal cord. The period between infection and the appearance of the first symptoms of rabies varies from a few weeks to several months, and during this period Pastur's treatment may be given and the disease prevented.

"Over 90 per cent of all cases of rabies results from being bitten by dogs. It is therefore of highest importance that the muzzling of dogs be enforced. In Great Britain the number of cases of rabies in 1889 was 312, at which time muzzling began to be enforced. In 1892 the number of cases had been reduced to 38 and the muzzling ordinance which had met with a great deal of opposition was relaxed. After this the number of cases rapidly increased to 672 in 1895, after which muzzling was again enforced and the number of cases was reduced to none in 1900. Let us profit by the experience of Great Britain and remove this terrible affliction from our midst. When animals cannot bite they cannot communicate the disease and the contagion of rabies will die, with the dying of the last infected. Many of the contrivances sold as muzzles are not effective and are simply attempts to evade the law. In a town where a muzzling order is in force unless a dog wears an efficient muzzle, one that prevents the dog from biting, he should be looked upon in the same light as a dog that does not wear one."

EASTERN MICHIGAN HONORED.

Big National Guard Encampment at Port Huron.

For the first time in its history the entire military force of Michigan is to assemble in the eastern part of the state at Port Huron for a period of ten days, from August 9th to 18th. This great encampment of the Michigan Guard will afford the citizens of Eastern Michigan the opportunity of seeing the vast improvement made in military lines, and also lending encouragement to the men who comprise the state's military power.

This year the State Military Board selected Port Huron on account of its accessibility from all parts of this section of Michigan, and its splendid opportunities for maneuvering. Over 3,000 infantry, cavalry and artillery will participate, with the addition of 300 regular army soldiers and the Michigan state naval brigade. The grand review by Governor Osborn and staff takes place on Sunday, August 13, and on Monday, August 14, the entire brigade will parade the city's streets on its way to the Beard hills for the great sham battle between the "Browns" and "Blues."

HAY MEN PAT FORDNEY FOR OPPOSING PACT.

Congressman Fordney's attack on reciprocity was the feature of the opening of the eleventh annual convention of the Michigan Hay association at Saginaw.

The congressman declared Canadian reciprocity a discrimination against the American farmer.

The association endorsed the work of Fordney in congress. President Albert Todd of Owosso in his annual address said the past year's business had been satisfactory and that the hay crop this year is good and of high quality.

WASTED WORRY.

Douglas Malloch:
I used to worry quite a lot About the nation as a whole; If North was cold or South was hot The fact lay heavy on my soul. I feared a blizzard south would roll Or typhoon northward, like as not, And smite the corn crop on the jow! I used to worry quite a lot. But I have quit my worryings Concerning Mexico or Nome; Each dawning day sufficient brings To keep me worrying at home. No more I stroke my classic dome And tear out hair because of things That happen in Berlin or Rome— For I have quit my worryings. As long as folks are busy here, As long as people here agree, We needn't worry, needn't fear, For general prosperity. It's really up to you and me And other people who are near— The nation safe enough will be As long as folks are busy here.
