Porch Was Torn from House and He Went with It to Next Lot.

Lloyd is employed by Nicholas & Shepherd, a large wholesale house in Regina. When the storm was in progress he was swept some distance on the porch of the house in which he made his home. He was about to enter the building when the porch was torn away and he with it. He says he placed his hands up over his head and was unconscious until he awoke in the next lot. He was not seriously hurt, but his forehead was cut in two places which required several stitches in being dressed. His clothing was torn to pieces and his body bruised and covered with mud and blood. He was unable to have his wounds cared for by a physician until the following day. At present he is improving rapidly and expects to resume his position in a very short time.

Since leaving Cass City, Lloyd has completed a three years' course in Newburgh college, Oregon, and a year's course in a business college in Moose Jaw. He is much valued by his employers and received a raise in salary this month. They are anxiously awaiting his return to their offices.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

Since the little children of Fred Smithson have come to Cass City to live for a time, the wife and relatives have heard errors unkindly reported in regard to Fred's death. Now, Mr. Dunham attended the inquest and heard the verdict of the jury which was that no alcoholic substance was found in the stomach and that his death was purely an accident. Several months previous to his death he had been employed by the D. U. R. and had put in his time learning the sub-depot work and was to take the position there the first day of the year. His wife and family went home for two or three weeks for during that time he was doing relief work all along the line and when not on night work he ran down to Dunham's every night it was possible and had left there just the night before the accident.

Mrs. H. P. Lee was elected vice president for Tuscola Co., of the Michigan Music Teachers' association which convened at Detroit June 25-28. One of the most important business matters considered by the association was the framing of a bill requiring the registration of music teachers which will be presented to the state legislature. NEW LOCK BOXES WERE INSTALLED

225 COMBINATION BOXES ADDED TO LOCAL POST FFICE.

Other Improvements Made in Equipment and Other Changes Contemplated.

A force of carpenters and postal employes took advantage of the Fourth of July holiday and made many changes in the local post office equipment.

The stamp and general delivery windows and the money order department were brought much closer together, thereby saving many steps for the postmaster and his employes. Two hundred twenty-five combination lock boxes were installed in the place of a section of call boxes of which there were originally 320, with only about 70 in use.

There are now 270 lock boxes of which 45 are locked with keys and the remainder with combination locks. There are also a number of call boxes, but since the installation of the new combination lock boxes several patrons have changed from the former to the latter.

Postmaster Corkins announces his intention of continuing the partition which holds the mail boxes up to the ceiling of the building. When this is accomplished, it will be possible to leave the office open for a few hours on Sunday and for longer hours on holidays for the convenience of those possessing lock boxes.

TWO MEN BADLY BURNED WHEN LAMP EXPLODES

J. E. Cramer, a Pigeon grocer, and Henry Hartman, a jeweler, in the employ of the former, were severely burned Wednesday noon when an alcohol lamp, which they were filling, exploded. The explosion set fire to the store fixtures, but they were quickly subdued by John Campbell and Samuel Champion. The attention of those who gathered at the store was then directed to the injured men. Hartman's chest, arm and face were so badly burned that his flesh fell from him and his condition was serious. Cramer had both arms burned. Dr. Yale attended the two men.

On the evening previous to the above accident, a man employed in the sugar beet fields near Pigeon attempted to commit suicide in front of Cramer's store. He fired three shots, but only received a slight flesh wound from one of them.

The man was intoxicated at the time and said his reason for the attempted self destruction was that his wife was nagging him continually. He was taken to the county jail at Bad Axe.

On Wednesday ground was broken for the foundation of the new Arlington Hotel at Pigeon.

QUIET HOME WEDDING

On Wednesday, July 10, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. D. P. Deming occurred the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Harriett Deming Haviland, to Duane D. Bancroft of Detroit. The ceremony was performed at six o'clock in the morning by Rev. S. H. Edgcumbe of the Presbyterian church. Only the immediate relatives were present.

Orrin Deming played the bridal march on an aeolian and during the music Mrs. Haviland, escorted by her brother, William, and Mr. Bancroft accompanied by Mr. Edgcumbe, took their places under a bower of white roses and ferns. The bride carried a bouquet of bridal roses and looked very pretty in a gown of cream silk.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served after which Mr. and Mrs. Bancroft left on the morning train to visit with friends in Pontiac and Detroit. They will be at home at 904 Rockford Apartments, Hudson Ave., Detroit.

Gustave Damm, of Chandler township, while working putting eave boards on his barn Tuesday the scaffold gave way and he fell to the ground, a distance of about 18 feet. His back was injured so that he is unable to walk. It is not known at this time whether he sustained any internal injuries.—Pigeon Progress.

The Fourht of July brought a very serious accident to a boy of this county although it was not due to fireworks. Walter George, six year-old son of Fred George, a farmer living three miles east of Vassar, was riding on the mowing machine when he fell off the seat in front of the knives, both hands being mangled before the horses could be stopped. Three fingers and the thumb of the left hand had to be amputated and the injuries to the right are such that its use may be lost.

The democratic mass meeting called for July 2nd at the court house was not very largely attended. Those present represented a great many sections of the county, however, and a prospective county ticket was discussed and a tentative agreement was reached on most of the officers. For those offices for which no candidates seemed available a committee was appointed to select them later. The committee consists of Geo. M. Deady, Jno. Ryan and Jno. T. Murphy. As near as can be learned Tuesday's meeting will result in nominating petitions being circulated for the following: sheriff, Rd. Lamb, Harbor Beach; register of deeds, Ed. Ahearn, Kinde; clerk, Burr Lincoln, Sand Beach; treas., Robt. Wahla, Ruth; drain comm'r., R. R. Bradley, Sigel; representative, W. F. Engle, Bad Axe; state senator, George M. NEW THIRD PARTY FORMED UNDER OAKS

GOV. OSBORN REFUSED TO LEAD PROGRESSIVES AT THIS TIME.

Leaders in Session in Lansing Plan Nomination of Complete National State and County Ticket.

Plans for the organization of a national progressive party in Michigan, to provide a way of supporting Col. Roosevelt, were agreed to by those who attended the conference in Lansing. A convention will be held under "The Oaks" at Jackson, July 20, to nominate presidential electors, perfect a state organization and take up such other matters as are deemed necessary. The result was not brought about until the convention had been in session all the afternoon, with threats of bolt by some delegates and many extended arguments.

The clash was over the question as to whether the call should provide for organizing a new party and the nomination of a complete national, state and county ticket, or should simply make certain that Roosevelt electors will be named and leave the decision as to a permanent organization for consideration later. The latter plan carried, after Gov. Osborn had announced that he proposed to remain in the Republican party and would not consent to lead the progressives at this time.

Knox Wins Point.

W. F. Knox urged the simple provision for Roosevelt delegates. Once the delegates adopted a resolution definitely cutting loose from the Republican party, but after an afternoon's wrangle in which Sybrant Wesselius, of Grand Rapids, and Theodore Joslin, of Adrian, opposed Mr. Knox, the latter won. An executive committee was named, consisting of two men from each congression district, to go ahead with the plans for the Jackson meeting.

The struggle will be taken up again under "The Oaks." That the framing of a new party, which will include all state officers, will be contested was evidenced by the conference at which prominent state politicians, including Gov. Osborn, took an active part.

After hours of discussion and manuevering, the resolution which called for the formation of a third party, including every office from coroner up to governor, was adopted by a vote of what was apparently 62 to 1. Gov. Osborn up to this time had said nothing. Frank Knox held that governors are nominated by primary in Michigan. Before Gov. Osborn spoke there was a decided cry among those in attendance for the formation of a third party, which would include all state, county, city and township officers. When the governor had concluded opposition to such a program was evinced.

Fritz & Ricker

Is now the name of Cass City's Real Estate Agency. Mr. Parr has sought larger fields and greener pastures and in order to take care of my professional duties, and attend to the real estate business, I have found it necessary to look up a new man to take Mr. Parr's place, and have done so in the person of Arthur Ricker. Mr. Ricker is a young man and until the past 18 months has followed the plow. Since retiring from the farm he has taken a course of study at Detroit Business College, and for the past year has been dealing out something good to eat from behind the counters of E. W. Jones' store. Having made a success selling small packages, we believe he will be equally successful selling larger ones, but do not expect him to handle so many a day. To the public we wish to say, that we have no intention of doing anything but an honorable business, and on the square with all persons concerned. We are at present preparing a new list of farm properites for sale, and should you have any land that you would like to dispose of, we would like to see you and get it on this new list which will be out in about a week. We will assure you that your interests will be looked after, for we expect to reach as many of the buyers in this section of the country as it is possible to do.

FAST HORSES AT PORT HURON

GREAT GALAXY OF PACERS AND TROTTERS.

Some Grand Circuit Horses Have Been Named Among the Entries.

The greatest galaxy of pacers and trotters ever seen on the local track will participate in the Port Huron race meet, July 16, 17, 18 and 19, of the prediction of Secretary H. C. Knill, of the Port Huron Driving Park association is not incorrect, and Mr. Knill has the reputation of being some dopster all over the Michigan Short Ship circuit.

Entries are coming by the scores, and the names of the horses which will take part indicate that records are likely to be shattered when the meet actually takes place. All over the state Port Huron has the reputation of being the town where the best collection of horses in the circuit race, and this year will be no exception to the rule, it is believed.

All the horses which have been at Marshall this week in the opening meet of the Short Ship season, together with those which join them at the Bay City meet next week will be entered in the Port Huron races. The Grand Circuit horses which have been racing at Lansing this week will also be in the local races, while the first appearance of Canadian animals on the American tracks will be at the Port Huron meet, all which race at the London meet next week being carded for the local events.

From all over the District have come communications indicating that the interest in races exceeds any of previous years and banner crowds are expected if the weather is anywhere near fair. Officials who have heretofore proved satisfactory will again be engaged for the local meet, and unless present indications are away off the meet will be the most successful ever held in Port Huron.

Reports are from Mrs. Henry Smith from Harper hospital, Detroit, that she may be expected home in about two weeks. The doctors there found it necessary to remove a piece of bone from the knee and the delay in healing will be caused by the ligaments being badly broken. We enjoyed the letters from old Beauleyites, H. L. McDermott and R. Parr, jr. We are not surprised that H. L. finds it all so beautiful with the cool nights. We would be pleased with even cool nights here in summer but we think with all he sounds a little as though he may not live there always. Although we have always heard a good deal against Edmonton, Alta., or the C. N. W. but never had any desire to move there to live. We are glad to hear so favorable an account as R. Parr writes, but that feature about the English capitalists of which he speaks makes us glad again that our people moved us away from Britain while we were young.

PLEASURE comes through toil and not by self-indulgence and indolence. When one gets to love work, his life is a happy one. —Ruskin.

FOOD FOR THE INVALID.

The problem in the home where there is a sick one is the serving of food that is well prepared and palatable. To cater to a fickle, unreasonable appetite is not the pleasantest mission in life, but one which must be accepted and worked out with study and patience.

Milk Shake.—Put a cup of milk in a glass jar, sweeten to taste and flavor with fruit or vanilla. Pack in ice until very cold, then shake until it froths well on top.

Hot Lemonade.—Bake a lemon in the oven until very hot, remove and cut out the pulp with a spoon; sweeten and add a cup of hot water. Strain and serve.

Hot water added to the juice of one lemon and two tablespoonfuls of sugar (to a pint of water), served boiling hot, is another manner of preparing lemonade.

Egg Nog.—Separate the yolk from the white of an egg, beat the yolk until thick. Add to three tablespoonfuls of milk or cream. Stir in the beaten white and flavor to taste with lemon juice, nutmeg or vanilla. Sweeten with a tablespoonful of sugar.

Toast Water.—Make dry toast, break into small pieces, put into a bowl and cover with water. Cover the bowl with a plate and let it stand a few minutes. Drain the water off and serve hot or cold.

Custards and soft cooked eggs are dishes easy of digestion, and as custards may be varied by different flavors one may have a different kind often served.

Flaxseed Water.—Pour a pint of boiling water over a tablespoonful of flaxseed, and let it steep two or three hours. Strain, flavor with lemon juice and serve.

HILLES CHOSEN AS G. O. P. CHAIRMAN

J. B. REYNOLDS CHOSEN SECRETARY; HEADQUARTERS BOTH EAST AND WEST PLANNED.

HILLES SELECTION DUE TO PROGRESSIVES' WISHES.

Headquarters of the National Committee Are to Be Opened in New York City the First of Next Week.

Charles D. Hilles, President Taft's secretary, was chosen chairman of the Republican national committee. James B. Reynolds, of Massachusetts, a member of the tariff board, was chosen secretary. These selections were made in Washington by the nine members of the national committee, acting as a sub-committee, after conferences with President Taft.

Chairman Hilles and the full national committee will meet on Friday, July 19, at the Waldorf-Astoria, in New York, to appoint a treasurer, other officers, an executive committee and an advisory committee.

Mr. Hilles will resign as secretary to the president. It is thought unlikely that Mr. Taft will appoint a successor.

Headquarters of the national committee are to be opened in New York the first of next week. The opening of a middle western headquarters at Chicago and a Pacific coast headquarters at Portland, Ore., was practically decided on.

Ralph E. Williams, former Republican national committeeman for Oregon, was practically selected to take charge of the far western offices.

The American government and people began the new fiscal year with $3,640,407,621, of which all but $363,621,008 is in circulation and the balance held in the treasury vaults as the assets of the federal government. This vast volume of real money breaks all records, so far as the treasany statements show, for the winding up of a fiscal year, and it beats a year ago by $4,500,000.

The treasury officials, estimating that the population has grown to 95,656,000 up to last Monday, say that a pro rata distribution of this money would give each person $34.26, or six cents more than a year ago.

The total stock of gold in the United States is $1,813,499,440. Of this amount $607,554,193 is in circulation, an increase of $13,500,000 during the year. The country has $732,163,173 in silver.

New York Congressman Found Dead.

George R. Malby, of Ogdensburg, N. Y., representative in congress from the twenty-sixth New York district, was found dead on a couch in his room at the Murray Hill hotel, New York. The coroner was notified, and an inquiry into the cause of death was instituted.

Mr. Mally, who had a long career in the state senate before going to Washington, was considered a leader of the "old guard" there, and was speaker in 1895. He was a lawyer by profession.

New Design for Five-Cent Coin.

The design of the five-cent piece which has been jingling in the pockets of American citizens for many years does not coincide with the treasury department's conception of art and it will be changed in its entirety. Secretary MacVeagh has decided to replace the goddess of liberty on the face of the nickel with a buffalo. The reverse side of the new coin will contain the head of an Indian. J. W. Fraser, of New York, is making the design.

Big Liner Strikes Warship.

The big passenger-laden Fall River liner Commonwealth, Capt. B. W. Appleby, soon after leaving Newport, R. I., for Fall River today, rammed the big U. S. battleship New Hampshire, Capt. James H. Oliver, in Narragansett bay, inflicting damage to both that will necessitate their going to drydock. Luckily there were no casualties.

Camorrists Found Guilty.

The verdict in the Camorra trial was handed down in Viterbo, Italy. Nine of the accused were unanimously declared guilty of the murder of Gennaro Cucolo and his wife. The remainder of the band were found guilty of belonging to a crimnal association.

Mexican Rebels Reduced to 3,500.

Only 3,500 men are estimated as comprising the remnant of the Mexican rebel army. Desertions because of lack of food and money, and federal triumphs have greatly reduced the insurrecto columns within the last week.

The Northern Michigan Building & Loan association will build a modern banking house in Hancock.

A heavy fall of rain near Cadillac will probably save a big potato crop from destruction in that part of the state. The farmers faced a $2,000,000 loss.

Lansing's city council adopted the assessed valuation as determined by the state tax commission, which raised the valuation of $18,500,000 as determined by the local assessor, to $37,500,000 or more than double what it was last year. This does not mean an increase in city taxes, but rather will help out the resident taxpayers as the corporations have been boosted more than double what they were formerly taxed at.

LITTLE FAULTS.

Beware how you regard as trifling faults which appear of but little consequence. You weigh them and think them nothing, but count them and and you will be frightened at their number. Why not look yourself over frankly and honestly, discover your little faults and correct them? These cleared away, you may more easily see the larger ones, if there be any.

Since then he has worked his way through school, until he could get sufficient education to teach school and after several years teaching in Illinois and the Quarry school west of here, he went to Valparaiso, and took up a law course. 21 KILLED AND 30 HURT

Twenty-one persons were killed and 30 were injured, a large number fatally, when a passenger train on the Ligonier Valley railroad was smashed from behind by a double-header freight train. Only one passerger escaped without injury.

The passenger train had started from Ligonier. It consisted of an engine and coach, the engine pushing the coach. The freight train was made up of many coal cars and was being pulled by two heavy locomotives.

The impact was terrific. The passenger coach was practically laid open, and the passengers either crushed or thrown like shots through the air.

It was the first fatal accident, it is said, in the history of the Ligonier road for the past 40 years.

Confessed He Shot Dearborn Man.

Jerry L. Jersey, corn doctor, admitted to Assistant Prosecutor Voorheis in Detroit that he is the man who shot down Fred Degen, barber and village treasurer of Dearborn. He admits that he shot him down from ambush with intent to rob him, but that he lost courage and ran away, leaving the victim lying wounded. Jersey is a little, insignificant looking fellow, not by any means the type of desperate criminal one would expect to resort to murder. Weakness would appear to be his principal characteristic.

After Wild-Cat Brand of Insurance.

State Insurance Commissioner C. A. Palmer, in the forty-second annual report of the insurance department, deals with several recommendations which tell in no uncertain way of the needs of laws in Michigan to prevent the continued promotion of wild-cat insurance companies now finding homes in Michigan for the only reason that there are no laws to prevent them continuing business.

Man Killed and Depot Burned.

Frank Brockhaus, a prominent hotel man of Niles, was killed by a high tension wire carrying 64,000 volts, during an electric storm. The Southern Michigan interurban station was struck by lightning and was soon in flames.

Brockhaus was watching the blaze when the wire fell on him.

Fined $14,000 for Lumber Rebating.

The Grand Rapids & Indiana railway was fined $14,000 by Judge Sessions in United States court in Grand Rapids on 14 counts for rebating to lumber companies. The railway was recently found guilty and the fine is the minimum which could be assessed.

Two years ago Mrs. William Schiebel lost a pocketbook containing three diamond rings, while picking berries near Lake Mitchell. The missing jewelry was found Monday by Willie Moore, aged 8.

In a hotly contested election in Richland opponents of the unit system of school taxation elected five members of the board. The losers now threaten to send their children to the Kalamazoo schools.

After being closed all this season, Mackinac island officials have at last consented to allow the slot machine operators to resume business. The machines were ordered discontinued last fall when several made complaints.

Martin E. Fall, aged 55, of Flint, an itinerant vendor of patent medicines, who was arrested June 28 and since that time has been held in the county jail, attempted to end his life by taking poison. His condition is serious, but it is thought he will recover. He is charged with a serious offense.

Points to Need of Leper Colony.

That a leper colony is not a remote possibility, but almost a certainty, is the opinion of Secretary R. L. Dixon, of the state board of health.

The doctor says that with but little effort several more lepers could be added to the known list in the state.

"Leprosy is not to be dreaded for the present, btu for the future," said the doctor.

Dr. Dixon has recommended to the Bay City authorities that they build a detention home for Samuel Izen, the leper suspect who returned home after several weeks of wandering. Unlike Hirschfield, who is quarantined at his home, Izen is practically penniless and lives in a small rented house in a thickly settled foreign quarter. This condition forces him to remain constantly within the house.

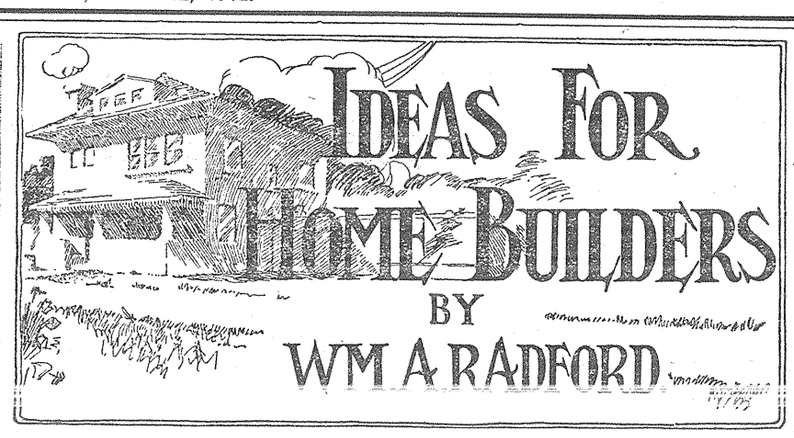
Ask to Keep School Funds in Treasury.

Gov. Osborn, Attorney General Kuhn, Auditor General Fuller and Superintendent of Public Instruction Wright will hold a conference to determine what disposition will be made of $140,000 primary school money that has been placed in the general fund of the state treasury.

Superintendent Wright has made a demand for the money, but it is hoped he will withdraw his request as the general fund would be badly crippled if the money is paid out at the present time.

Two Drown in Huron River.

Miss Mildred Sabin, 21, and Frank Calkin, 23, were drowned in the Huron river, two miles west of Ypsilanti, while canoeing. Miss Sabin was a student at the Norman college and her home is at Tower, Cheboygan county. Calkin's home is a few miles from Tower.



Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 178 West Jackson boulevard, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

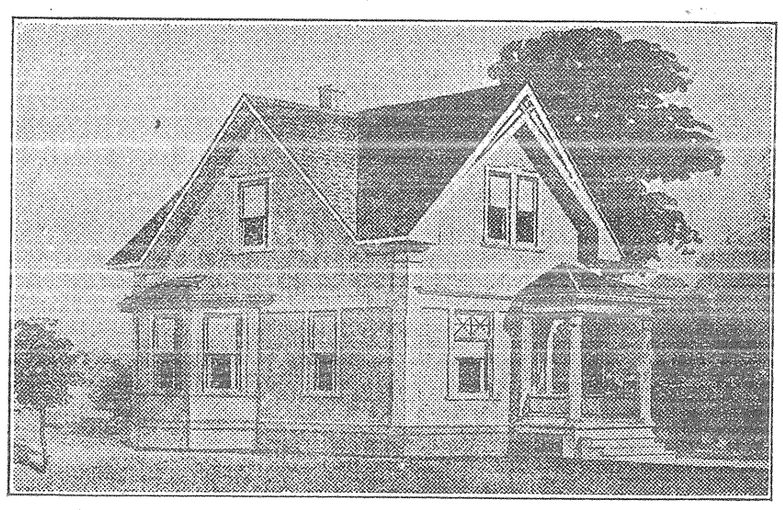
Did you ever get married, and start housekeeping in a neat little cottage that you could dress to your liking, making it look comfortable and cozy? If have never had that pleasure, you will regret your misfortune as soon as you study the possibilities of the little house design here shown, unless you already have something along this line in prospect.

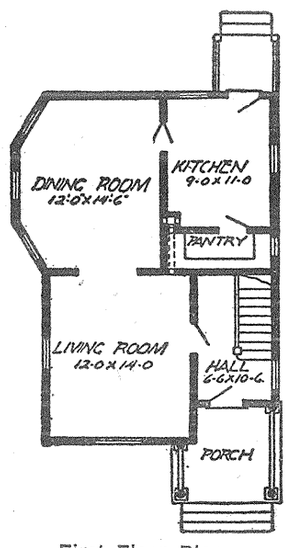
The time was, when life in a cottage meant discomfort, confinement to two or three rooms that were awkward, badly arranged, and barelooking, in spite of every effort to make them homelike. There was a shivery bedroom opening off the kitchen, and a squeaky, boxed-in stairway which led to the unfinished or rough-plastered loft where the other sleeping quarters were found. But women demanded so many changes for the better in small houses, that architects have wonderfully improved their designs for homes of this class in recent years. They have found out how to put lumber and other building materials together to form very pretty five-room and six-room houses—a thing they considered unworthy of their time and ingenuity not many years ago.

The fact is, it is much more difficult to make a good, little house than to make a good, satisfactory, large house. The planning of a small house runs into a thousand difficulties; in fact, architects are checkmated about every third move when they try to make a thousand-dollar cottage cater to the refined and cultivated tastes of girls who have been accustomed to good homes.

Formerly love in a cottage meant happiness during warm weather only. At the approach of fall it was necessary to go and visit mamma or hunt boarding house. The sympathy of friends followed the young turtle doves into their little suburban seclusion, because their friends knew that inconvenience lurked in every corner of the little habitation of four walls, bare and utterly devoid of artistic beauty, and as innocent of modern conveniences as the cabins of our forefathers, without their redeeming big, wood-burning fireplaces. But the old-time sympathy has changed to new-time envy. The girl with a five-room modern cottage now has as much comfort, less worry, and more time for social duties and fancy work, than the more ambitious young lady who marries into an eight or ten-room house with the usual responsibilities.

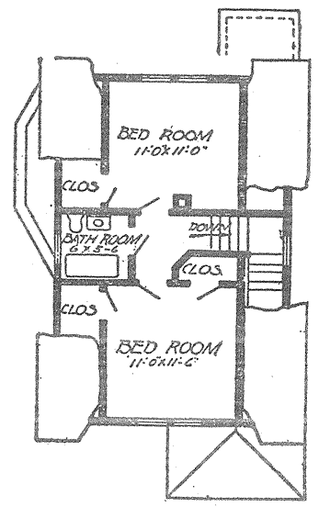
For about $1,100 this cozy little combination of three rooms downstairs and two bedrooms and a bathroom upstairs can be built in almost any of our smaller cities or towns. The living room, dining-room and kitchen are perfect in arrangement. They are large enough for two at all times, with room for occasional company; and they are light and airy, and can be made very pretty.





First Floor Plan.

Nobody wants a "parlor" any more; parlors are out of date. We want a large, pleasant "living room" that we can decorate with pearl-tinted wall and ceiling decorations, and furnish with good, comfortable, every-day conveniences which are good to see and not too good to use. We want a big couch or davenport, with at least a dozen pillows of appropriate sizes, covered with soft material in colors to match the other decorations. We want a morris chair by the window, and, in one corner, shelves containing our favorite books. We like to decorate the walls with pictures that smile back our ideas of cheerfulness. In this room we receive our friends, and enjoy our evenings together when at home alone.



Second Floor Plan.

We go upstairs from the front hall in a Christian-like manner, where we have a bedroom for ourselves, with another to spare, and a good, comfortable bathroom between. Advantage is taken of the low roof to design several clothes closets. Every girl wants plenty of such accommodations whether she needs them or not. Where you have plenty of storage room of this kind, you don't need an attic; so these closets are economical as well as useful.

What an interesting little home this is for young folks! It is not necessary that they should always remain in a little cottage. They may branch out when prosperity smiles if they want to; but in after years, when the silver hairs appear and they have quit romping with the children, they will confide to their friends that they never enjoyed life anywhere as they did in the little five-room cottage they began with.

DENTAL ART IS AN OLD ONE

People of Early History Not Only Knew All About It, but Also Did Good Work.

Dentistry, though considered peculiarly modern, has been found highly developed in the past. Actual specimens of ancient dentistry may be seen in various European museums. The most interesting of these specimens, because the oldest, is a Phoenician example of bridgework found in a tomb at Sidon. The specimen is now in the Louvre at Paris, and consists of a woman with the teeth united by gold wire. Two of them are transplanted teeth fastened in by gold wire. In the museum of Corneto (which was the ancient Tarquinii, the capital of the Etruscan federation) may be seen a number of marvelous specimens of dental work of the sixth and seventh centuries before Christ. They consist mainly of bridgework done by riveted bands of metal.

The satiric poets of Rome, especially Martial, refer frequently to artificial teeth. Martial speaks of an old woman who was so scared that as she ran away her teeth fell out. In one epigram he answers the question why one woman's teeth are dark, while another's are white, though both are of the same age, by saying that one of them buys her teeth, while the other has her own. The Romans had a number of different kinds of dentrifices, and took great care of their teeth.

A terrible storm came up. The hunter ran for shelter. But there was none. It began to rain. He crawled into a hollow log. It fitted snugly.

It rained and rained. Then it rained some more. The water soaked through the wood. It began to swell. When the storm was over, the hunter could not get out.

He strained till he was blue in the face. But the log held tight. Exhausted, he gave up. He knew that he would starve to death.

Like a drowning man, his whole life flashed before him. Especially his mistakes. He suddenly remembered that he had never started a bank account. And that his wife and baby, penniless, would starve.

It made him feel so small that he was able to crawl out of the log without difficulty.

Sea Serpents.

Sea serpents date back to the days of Aristotle, who wrote: "The serpents of Iibya are of enormous size. Navigators along the coast report having seen a great quantity of bones of oxen, which they believe without doubt to have been devoured by the serpents. These serpents pursued them (the seamen) when they left the shore and upset one of their triremes."

Olaus Magnus wrote in the middle ages of a sea serpent 200 feet long and 20 feet thick which haunted rocks and caves near the seacoast, the old writer adding, "And he puts up his head on high like a pillar and catcheth away men, and he devours them."

TWENTY YEARS-

Makes a great difference in most women. They are troubled with "nerves"—they suffer from backache, headache, sleeplessness, a sensation of irritability or twitching, hot flashes, dizzy spells, or many other symptoms of female weakness. The local disorder and inflammation should be treated with Dr. Pierce's Lotion Tablets and the irregularity and weakness of the female system corrected and strengthened with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The strain upon the young woman or the woman of middle age—upon the nerve and blood forming structures—may be too great for her strength. This is the time to take this restorative tonic and strength-giving nervine and regulator. For over forty years sold by druggists for woman's peculiar weaknesses and distressing ailments. The one remedy so perfect in composition and so good in curative effects as to warrant its makers in printing its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. The one remedy which absolutely contains neither alcohol nor injurious or habit-forming drugs.

MRS. SCOTT.

Following letter selected at random from a large number of similar ones and cited merely to illustrate these remarks:

"In the winter of 1908, I became greatly run down and irregular," writes MRS. HENRY SCOTT, of Swan Creek, Mich., Route 1, Box 49. "I slowly but surely grew worse, and, at last, resolved to apply to the doctors for help. The doctor said I had inflamnation, enlargement and laceration. I was in bed eleven weeks and got no better. The doctor said I would have to have an operation, but to that I would not listen. My husband purchased two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When I started to take this remedy I could not walk across the floor, but after I had taken three bottles I could feel myself gaining, so I dropped the doctor and took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Only for it I think I would have been dead—I really believe it saved my life, I feel better now than in twenty years."

SOME GOOD SUBSTANTIAL DISHES FOR THE FARM HOME.

For the busy farmer's wife who has much work and many mouths to feed dishes which may be prepared with the least outlay of time and money are welcomed by her. When a large family of hungry men and boys are to be fed there is no dish more filling and wholesome than:

Potato Pot.—This is an English dish and a great favorite across the water. Put equal parts of round steak and fresh lean pork, cut in serving pieces, into a frying pan and brown; dredge with flour and cover with boiling water and simmer for an hour; add an onion, a carrot, and turn all into a baking dish, cover with quartered potatoes, add water and bake until the potatoes are brown. The amount of meat and vegetables used depends on the size of the family.

Another dish which is new to America is:

Sausage With Pudding.—Take sufficient pork sausage for the family to be served, place in a baking pan and cook in the oven until the fat has been well tried out; drain off all but two or three tablespoonfuls of the fat and pour over the sausage.

Yorkshire Pudding.—Take two cupfuls of milk and add gradually to two well beaten eggs. Mix with a cup of flour and a teaspoonful of salt. Pour over the sausages and bake. If the sausages are cooked in a serving dish it may be carried to the table and served from it. This is a good dish to piece out with, when unexpected company arrives.

Potato Doughnuts.—Cream three tablespoonfuls of butter, add three-fourths of a cup of sugar and the yolks of three eggs beaten, then stir in a cup of freshly mashed potato and a fourth of a cup of milk. Add two and a half cups of flour, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, half a teaspoon or salt and ground mace and a fourth of a teaspoonful of nutmeg. Roll out and fry in deep fat.

Baseball Curver

Greatest invention in baseball since the discovery of the curve. Worn on either hand it aids in giving the ball a rapid, whirling motion, thus causing a wide curve. With it you can strike out the batsmen as fast as they come to bat—so small as is not noticed—and they all wonder where those awful curves come from. Effectually Suspended.

Only one dog has ever had the audacity to enter parliament during the proceedings. A hundred years ago the lords were thrown into consternation by a dog's entry. Lord North was addressing the house, and the dog promptly proceeded to bark furiously at him. Lord North, considerably upset, moved that the member who was interrupting him should be suspended. Thereupon the dog was driven out and suspended in such a manner that he never interrupted again. — London Opinion.

A Prominent New York Politician Near Death

"About fifteen years ago I was taken with rheumatism, which affected my heart producing what was called valvular trouble. Three doctors told me I would never do another day's work. While I had many remedies recommended to me I got a bottle of Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy and it helped me inside of 48 hours. At the end of the week I called on my doctor and asked him to examine me. He said I was better than he ever expected to see me and asked if I was taking his medicine. When I told him I was not, but was taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy, he said, 'Thank the Lord for Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy.' I continued to take it, and while I realized my heart was damaged so I could not expect a permanent cure, for fifteen years I worked every day, notwithstanding I had been told I would never work again. In July, 1911, I was taken with rheumatism again, and it went to my heart as before. I got so bad that one of the Albany papers wrote up my life and said I could not live but a few hours. I again took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy with very satisfactory results, and have not missed a day at business or in the legislature since January. I feel that Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has saved my life and cannot recommend it too highly."

ARCHBALD INDICTED

Chairman Henry D. Clayton of the committee on judiciary of the house of representatives presented the house 13 articles of impeachment against Judge Robert W. Archbald, of the U. S. court of commerce. Mr. Clayton's report was unanimous from his committee, Republicans as well as Democras voting for bringing the judge to trial.

It constitutes the ninth impeachment of a judicial or civil official of the U. S. since the foundation of the government, and is the first since the impeachment of Judge Charles Swayne of the northern district of Florida, who was acquitted on Feb. 27, 1905.

"The conduct of this judge has been exceedingly reprehensible and in marked contrast with the high sense of judicial ethics and probity that generally characterize the federal judiciary," the committee said in summing up its findings of misbehavior in office against Judge Archbald.

Don't Be Taken In

If somebody tells you that he can sell lumber or building material at a lower price than we offer you, don't be "taken in" without investigating. He's offering you "bait."

We don't believe there's a dealer in the country who makes prices lower than ours. We don't see how he can ---and stay in the business. But you know there's a big difference in lumber, and quality cuts a big figure. We will never slight the quality in order to cut the price. We want your confidence and your steady trade, and that we know we are not entitled to unless we give you a square deal all around and all the time.

Sharing An Orphan

(Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press)

"And there is no hope?" asked Burke softly.

Eunice Telford shook her head.

"I like you very much—very much," she said slowly. "But I don't think that it is more than liking, Burke."

Burke Edwards gritted his teeth hard as he looked out over the water for a moment, but when he turned his head again the pain had gone from his features and he was again the Burke that Eunice liked so well.

For a long time they had been good friends—Eunice liked to call it chums—and more than once he had asked for a reconsideration of his proposal, but Eunice always shook her head. She liked Burke; liked him better than any of the other men she knew, but he seemed to lack tenderness and that was the quality Eunice most admired. She was sorry to inflict pain and suggested that they might go in if he wished.

"No, thanks," he said evenly. "It's more pleasant out here on the drive."

Across the road three boys were playing ball. On the curb sat another boy of about their age dressed in the gingham apron that was the uniform of the orphanage up the street.

'How absurd," said Eunice. "That boy must be twelve and yet he is wearing an apron like a little boy of six."

"They all have to wear them," explained Burke. "They are easily washed and they are cheaper than coats. They wear them the year 'round."

"Not in winter," gasped Eunice.

"Sure," explained Burke. "My sister's house overlooks their yard and you can see them playing in the snow. I don't think there is an overcoat in the place. Mostly they tie the aprons about their waists in a vain endeavor to suggest a shirt waist when they are let out. It's the reward of especial merit to be permitted to come over to the drive alone."

The ball slipped from one of the players' hands and came rolling toward the orphanage boy. He sprang up to toss it back, but the player came rushing up.

"You leave that ball alone," he demanded hotly. "We ain't goin' to have you charity kids swiping our ball, are we, fellows?"

The others had joined the first and the assent was unanimous. "You girls are getting too fresh," went on the first speaker. "Why don't you stay in your prison and play by yourselves? We don't want girl-boys over here. Who wants to play with a boy who wears dresses?"

The orphan had sprung to his feet at the first approach. There was cold welcome to the orphans from the boys in the fashionable apartments along the drive and the first demonstration of hostility was sufficient warning. Now he faced his tormentors hotly.

"I'm no girl," he cried, "even if I do have to wear an apron. I'm not to blame for that."

"You are a girl," insisted the aggressor. "You don't wear a coat and you do wear a dress. Go on. I could lick you with one hand."

By way of illustration, his fist shot out and bruised the pale cheek of the orphan. With a cry, Eunice sprang up, but Burke's arm held her back.

"Wait a moment," he said quietly. "It would be a treat to see some of those young snobs get thrashed."

The boy had answered the blow and the fight had become general. It was three against one, but that one was holding his own bravely and Burke looked on approvingly. The orphan, smarting under a sense of wrong, was a match for the three and fought them savagely.

He had them in retreat almost before Eunice realized that the battle was over. The elevator boy in one of the houses bordering the drive, came running over, seeing in prospect a fat tip for taking the part of the tenant's sons, but Burke was beside the boy as he came up and the newcomer hesitated.

"Those youngsters got what they deserved," he said shortly. "Clear out of here."

"I've been wanting to see some of these young bullies trimmed up for some time," he said with a satisfied smile. "Those kiddies cannot help the absurd fashion in which they have to dress and the young snobs know it. I'm going to adopt that boy."

Burke turned to her with a new expression on his face, a light in the kindly blue eyes that she had never seen before, though the men he worked with knew it and were warned.

"Because he has the spirit to avenge his wrongs," he answered. "Because he deserves a better chance than he can get in that institution. I am going to give him the chance that is his heritage because he has in him the makings of a man."

Eunice put out her hand. "Forgive me," she cried. "I did not understand. I want to share your orphan, Burke. It was because you seemed to care so little for others that I feared to marry you. I am not afraid now, dear."

His hand closed over hers as he softly quoted: "And a little child shall lead them."
